

See major mid-Mich. terminal

Air authority hopeful for voter support

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles on a number of the major issues facing Clinton voters in the Nov. 3 general election.

Clinton voters may or may not give county commissioners power to financially support an airport authority after Nov. 3, but regardless of the outcome, next July 1 will find the county in the airport business.

Along with Ingham county and the city of Lansing, Clinton county commissioners recently voted to join in the formation of an airport authority and this action paved the way for Clinton to be among the groups crowding the rail in the race for a major mid-Michigan air terminal.

According to Ed Crouse, chairman of the newly formed airport authority, mass transportation and freight demands will bring about the establishment of an elaborate air traffic system somewhere in the mid-Michigan area and supporters of the airport authority are hopeful Capital City Airport wins out.

Crouse pointed out that others in the race are Tri-City Airport serving the Saginaw-Midland-Bay City area and Kent County Airport serving the Grand Rapids area.

"We're hopeful that people will recognize the importance of air transportation and the impact that a major system has to the economic picture of the entire area," Crouse said.

WITHOUT BECOMING specific, he mentioned major production facilities in the Lansing area which are currently planning on product distribution by air in the next few years. "This means jobs and income," Crouse commented, "and an increased tax base which will be of great benefit to the entire area."

Crouse, enthusiastic, young president of Heatherwood Farms and vice-president of the Lansing Chamber of Commerce, explained pointedly that the airport authority does not possess the power to levy millage or assess for revenue. "This can only be done by the county commissioners," he said. "And then, only with the approval of the voters. This is as it should be," he added.

But with or without voter approval Nov. 3, the die has been cast and after July 1, 1971 Clinton county's general fund will become a source of revenue for operation of what the authority hopes will become a major air transportation complex.

The projected plans call for a parent terminal which will be designed to handle even the largest passenger and cargo planes. This facility will be supported by satellite fields situated strategically throughout the cooperating areas to accommodate what could be termed local traffic.

Crouse explained that the satellite strips would not be "feeder terminals" for the principal terminal. "They will be separate airports to accommodate smaller craft and local flights," he said.

WHEN ASKED ABOUT the satellite program Crouse was emphatic in his explanation that enacting legislation specifically directs the authority to enter into the local plan "almost immediately." "The idea," he explained, "is to remove the congestion from the main terminal and this is why we in the Lansing area are hopeful of getting a mid-Michigan terminal. We have some room to move and already have a couple of airports which could serve as satellite strips."

Features of Capital City Airport have come in for close scrutiny in recent weeks since formation of an Airport Authority which will ultimately serve as the management group of the terminal. Harold Wellman, left, and Ed Crouse, chairman of the authority, discuss aspects of the terminal which they hope will become the core of a mid-Michigan system of air traffic. Wellman, president of Central National Bank in St. Johns, is one of two Clinton county residents appointed by County Commissioners to serve on the airport authority board. Crouse is president of Heatherwood Farms Co. and is currently serving as vice president of the Lansing Chamber of Commerce.

Swift justice, no politics are aims of Judge Piggins

A second candidate for a non-partisan position in the up-coming general election visited St. Johns Wednesday morning and was greeted by a number of area residents during a coffee hour at Walker's Restaurant.

Wayne County Circuit Judge Edward S. Piggins spoke informally with his hosts and answered a number of questions on his views as a candidate for a seat on the Michigan Supreme Court.

Changing the method of nominating supreme court justices and the role of that body in the legal system were two of the primary subjects brought out by Judge Piggins. Adding to these, however, he went on to cite other points he, as a candidate feels should be reviewed.

Discussing the nominating procedure, Judge Piggins expressed his belief that the entire process should be taken away from the overtones of political influence by allowing only members of the legal profession to submit names of candidates.

He questioned, to some extent, the average lay person's awareness of the mechanics of the legal profession and stated that "attorneys are the best qualified to know a good judge."

JUDGE PIGGINS spoke several minutes on the nominating process and ended with the observation that it would take "some brave, courageous man to get selection of judges out of politics."

On the other subject of the supreme court's role, Judge Piggins expressed his belief that the highest court should serve not only as a decision-maker but also as a management group to determine that routine matters are handled efficiently.

"The supreme court," Judge Piggins stated, "should serve in a general management role by preparing for emergencies, not waiting until an emergency occurs then working to correct it."

He also expressed belief that members of the high court should not "sit in their ivory towers only reviewing cases" and suggested that they actively oversee the judicial processes of the state.

Other subjects covered by Judge Piggins included a proposal for the establishment of a joint executive-legislative-judicial council which would serve as a liaison group for the

DEATH CAR

Mrs. Deltis Virgil Garvin, 63, of Clinton, Michigan, died in this auto after a four-car collision Friday night while they were traveling north along U.S.-27 at Taft Road. Mrs. Garvin was killed instantly when the auto collided with another in a chain trying to stop for a turning vehicle. (News photos by Ed Cheney).

Night ends in tragedy

Friday night was to be an evening of fun and football in Clinton County.

But for some it didn't end that way.

A four-car chain-reaction crash took the life of a Clinton, Mich. woman and seriously injured at least 10 others on U.S. 27 at Taft Road south of St. Johns.

Killed in the crash was Mrs. Elizabeth Garvin, 63, who died instantly when she was thrown against the dashboard. She was a passenger in the fourth auto of the chain operated by her husband Deltis Virgil Garvin, 61, who sustained serious injuries.

Other passengers in the Garvin auto were Florence Whitehead, 43, of Mt. Vernon, O., and Harold Romig, 46, of Ulrichville, O. They were injured and taken to Sparrow Hospital in Lansing.

The Garvin vehicle collided with an auto operated by John W. Ross, 28, of Grand Rapids. He and his wife Alice, 33, and the other occupants of the auto were injured. They were Alan, 7, Paul, 3, Marlene, 17, Michael,

2 and Ardis Troyer, 19, a friend of the family.

The Ross vehicle in turn collided with an auto operated by Charles E. Buckborough, 59, 927 Johnson St., Lansing. He and his wife Helen, 57, were not injured.

The fourth auto operated by Joyce Paisley, 36, 4357 S. Scott Road, St. Johns was struck in the rear during the chain-reaction crash. Passengers in the Paisley auto were Karen and Jacalyn Paisley.

'Manhunt' ends, juveniles held

A "manhunt" that started Thursday night after a high speed chase from St. Johns south on U.S.-27 ended Friday when Clinton County sheriff deputies apprehended two juveniles.

According to deputies the two boys allegedly took a car belonging to William Karber of St. Johns Thursday night.

A chase developed when a deputy noticed the auto being operated at night without lights and gave pursuit.

During the chase, were speeds exceeded 80 miles per hour, the patrol car collided with the other vehicle and veered into the ditch along southbound US-27.

The collision forced the other car to go out of control and skidded across the median, across the northbound lanes, and finally came to rest against a small tree on the east side of the road.

Within minutes, the boys had escaped and units from the State Police, DeWitt Township, the City of DeWitt, St. Johns and Clinton County were called to the scene.

The combined force spread a three-square-mile net over the area but one of the boys managed to slip through the web.

Damage to the Karber vehicle was estimated at $1,000 and $300 to the cruiser.

Unanimous approval of the 1971 school budget was given by the St. Johns Board of Education last Wednesday at their regular monthly meeting.

Describing the budget and reviewing the revenues, Superintendent Earl R. Lancaster said, "There are many guesses with regard to the revenues."

This guessing arises from the fact that some state appropriations are still scheduled to come into the school system.

A deficit of $40,653 exists in the budget because of the recent Supreme Court free textbooks and supplies ruling for children in public schools.

The textbook cost alone increased from $200 to $32,000, according to Lancaster, with the teaching supplies also becoming much higher at a figure of $35,000. Together, this represents a combined rise of over $51,000. Lancaster added one note of optimism to the spending increase.

He said, "Negotiations are being carried on at the present time with the state legislature to have them grant an extra $10 per student in appropriations to meet the deficit. This allowance per student would erase the deficit since it would bring in an additional $41,000 because of there being 4,100 students in the St. Johns School District."

Total spending for the 1970-71 school year came to a figure of $3,050,165. Major areas making up this total included $939,235 for elementary instruction; $1,163,540 for secondary instruction; $89,725 for special education; $100,185 for administration; $12,800 for health services; $197,550 for transportation; $286,500 for operation of school buildings; $76,730 for maintenance of plant; $108,150 for fixed charges such as insurance and building rental; $39,000 for capital outlay; and $36,747 for federal programs.

Prior to the regular meeting, four schools and two pieces of school property were auctioned off during a public auction held in the auditorium of the St. Johns High School at 7:30 p.m.

Auctioned off to the highest bidder in each case were the Gardner School which sold for $70, the Harper School and adjacent property which brought a price of $1,150, the Price School that brought $70 and the Krepps School and contents which were sold for $135.

Education, crime top priorities

The Republican candidate for state representative from the 87th district, R. Douglas Trezise, listed education reform and crime as the two top priority items facing the state.

R. DOUGLAS TREZISE

Trezise discussed the issues during a campaign swing interview last week.

He said that while some consider Parochialism the main issue, a broader view of education reform in general should be top priority to the voters of Michigan.

"We've only begun to fight the battle of education reform," he said.

He envisioned a revised state pattern of disbursement of funds and said a possible answer would be to limit local taxes for education to 12-16 mills.

Tied to education reform is the campus disorder question and drug abuse.

Along with education reform, Trezise pointed to campus unrest and drug abuse as a top priority subject.

"I am surprised when I talk to the various police departments and hear how big the problem is," Trezise said.

"We have made some progress in the harder drugs," he said but added a review must be taken of the large amount of use of marijuana.

"Educational programs and news coverage have had some effect," he said.

He said that after talking about the problem with people involved in this area of law enforcement "I've concluded that the marijuana laws should be reduced in classification."

He suggested changing the use offense to a misdemeanor and strive for prosecution of the pushers.

He stressed the importance of reducing the punishments dealt to the "one-time user."

He said there should be a new legislative emphasis in the area of crime to provide adequate police training and more rapid disposition of court cases.

Concerning campus unrest, he pointed out that there is little the legislature can do to spur the enforcement of current crime laws.

Trezise noted that the board of trustees and the college president should be charged with the responsibility of enforcing campus regulations rather than from the outside agencies.

"We're showing some improvement" in this area, he noted.

"There is more and more concern for the student not involved in the rioting," he said.

He suggested that the boards must be made more responsive to the people possibly by changing the election dates to the spring ballot to avoid confusion and state ticket landslides.

He also added that trustees could be appointed by the governor.

"We can't assume that riots won't happen again," Trezise said. "But we can effect it a lot."

Another issue in the Trezise campaign is environmental and pollution problems.

"Our environment doesn't come free," he said. He cited a sewage treatment project near Owosso which did improve the sanitation and ecological picture in that area, "but the people had to pay higher sewage bills."

He noted that the prices involved in improving lives will be reflected in the product's costs.

He said he had reservations about the new bill enabling private individuals to sue industries for polluting the environment. He was encouraged by the $500 filing fee clause, he said, which would deter unfounded claims from entering the courts.

Complaints should go through the Department of Natural Resources commission and appeal to the courts.

Trezise admitted that there was a serious amount of pollution in rural areas through fertilizers.

"The industry can develop pesticides that won't contribute to pollution," he said, and pointed to the ban on DDT as a legislative step in forcing better alternatives.

"But the consumers will pay for the new developments," he added.

Recently appointed to the governor's commission on local governmental problems, Trezise told reporters that local governments are having serious financial problems.

"More and more of them will look to the income tax," he said. "There is no simple solution to the problem."

He indicated that a new department of urban affairs could be established as the major contact point between municipalities and the state, but, he added, "it is not going to solve everything."

Trezise, an Owosso city councilman and former Owosso mayor is challenging Richard Duzenberg, a Democrat, and Dale F. Calder, the American Independent Party candidate for the 87th state House seat.

Slow time hinders chest drive start

Money is tight and collections for the annual Community Chest drive are going slow for the first two weeks of the drive.

At their weekly report luncheon, division chairmen voiced a general opinion of slow times so far but hope for better reaction during the latter two weeks of the campaign.

The goal set for Clinton County is $25,000.

Barry Dean, Commercial chairman, announced the names of his section chairmen. They are Charles Huhington, finance; Bruce Lanterman and Leon Brewbaker, real-estate; Mel Warren and Norbert Rehm, clothing and appliances; Rick Anderson and Roger Hammontree, groceries and drugs; Milo Rowell, miscellaneous retail; Virgil Zeeb and Jim McKenzie, restaurants and bars; Red Devereaux and Harold Phillips, auto and implements; Herman Pohl and Tom Lewis, beauticians and barbers; Barry Dean, oil and gas; Herman Pohl, contractors, and Wayne Banner, miscellaneous services.

Area chairman John Alysforth announced his township chairmen as being John Rademacher, Fowler; Mrs. Leon Clark, Watertown; Mike Molder, Ovid; Emil Hegerberg, Bath; Larry Nicholas, Elsie; Bob Cole, Westphalia; Joyce Koepfen, Maple Rapids, and Don Schaldte, DeWitt.

County Chairman Wayne F. Hicks wants to remind citizens of Clinton County that the Community Chest supports 57 different charitable agencies throughout the county, not just the Red Cross and Boy and Girl Scouts.

Karen Paisley was injured and taken to Clinton Memorial Hospital by her father.

According to deputies, the Paisley vehicle had stopped to turn left at Taft Road and turned the left signal light on, but found three autos in the median turn area.

The Buckborough auto also slowed for the intersection and managed to stop in time, as did the Ross auto.

Deputies said that the fourth vehicle allegedly did not stop in time to avoid collision.

Officers indicated that there were 102 feet of skid marks before the crash.

They added that the accident is still under investigation and no arrests have been made.

Bands, conferences, open house mark education week

St. Johns Mayor Robert Wood, left, discusses his American Education Week proclamation designating the week of Oct. 25-31 as the special time for American education. Talking with Wood are St. Johns Education Association Pres. Charles Agerstrand, middle, and School Supt. Earl Lancaster.

American Education Week will get a big boost from the St. Johns schools marching bands during half-time ceremonies Oct. 23 in the St. Johns-Hastings football game.

Band students from St. Johns grades 6-12 will feature American Education in the half-time show.

Education Week's activities in the St. Johns school district will include parent-teacher conferences in all elementary schools, and open houses at both the junior and senior high schools.

The elementary conferences for grades K-6 will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Oct. 26-28. Kindergarten teachers will also have conferences in the mornings of these days.

The open houses are set for Monday and Wednesday evenings Oct. 27-28 from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Several Clinton Avenue stores will have window displays featuring education. Cooperating stores are D&C store, Holden-Reid, Mackinnon's, Quality Discount, Parr's, Gasple's, Kurt's Appliance, Boron's Simon Real Estate Office and J.C. Penney Co.

Radio broadcasts on the event will be held through station WRBJ from Oct. 25-30.

Theme for the week, "Shape Education for the 70's" was proclaimed by St. Johns Mayor Robert Wood.

The Clinton National Bank sign will urge parents to visit the schools during the week.

Little league auction fails to reach goal

Saturday's Little League Benefit Auction at the 4-H Fairgrounds fell quite a bit short of the hoped-for $7,000 proceed total, $3,865.15 to be exact.

Proceeds from the items sold at the auction totaled $2,034 while donations from various businesses, service clubs and private citizens brought in an additional $1,831.15.

Auction chairmen Bruce Fowler and Ed Schmitt attribute this small total to the small turnout of people at the auction, Saturday, Fowler commented that most of the people left before the larger items went up for sale and that this fact kept the total to such a small figure.

Plans are already in the idea stage for another auction of a similar type to be held on a future weekend.

Those people and businesses donating money to the lights fund were St. Johns Rotary, Saylor-Beall, F. C. Mason, St. Johns Co-op, Burton Mixer and Mfg. Co., Advance Castings, A. J. Allaby, Webster Auto, Capitol Savings and Loan, Sealed Power Co., Federal-Mogul, H & H Lounge, The Roadhouse, Harold Chambers, Bruno's Wonder Bar, Wolverine Stockyards, Little League Mothers and other miscellaneous contributors.

Rotarians raise $170 for League

Members of the St. Johns Rotary Club got into the spirit of the Little League Benefit Auction October 10th when they raised over $170 during a white elephant sale conducted as part of their fall ladies night program.

Items for the sale were brought by members and under the goading of Auctioneer Brandon White, each of the items were sold... some for more than actually bid, in fact.

The auction consumed the major portion of the evening's program but other presentations included song selections by Mrs. Jack Stenberg, accompanied by Hila Bross and a scene by the First Nighters from their upcoming play, "The Night of January 16th."

The evening was directed by Club President Bruce Fowler and chairman of the event was Howard Kortess.

'New time religion'

Modern faith series draws interest among Catholics

"Gimme that ol' time religion" is not necessarily the cry among members of Catholic parishes in the Clinton county area, and attesting to this is the large number of people which have been turning out for weekly discussions on the modern church.

What started out as an exploratory discussion on what could be done to acquaint parishioners with changing philosophies has turned out to be a gratifying experience for all connected with the program.

Four parishes from around the county—St. Joseph of St. Johns, St. Joseph of Pewamo, St. Mary's of Westphalia and Holy Trinity of Fowler—are participating each Tuesday night and according to Fr. Larry Parkhurst, director of the eight-week course, average attendance has numbered close to 300 persons.

The lecture series, entitled "Understanding Faith in the Modern Church" is one of several conducted by Fr. Parkhurst, who is assigned to St. Mary's of Mt. Morris.

Fr. Parkhurst expressed satisfaction with the Clinton county interest in the series. "We're fairly pleased with the participation," he said. "This is the largest turnout and it's a joy to see the people putting this effort into their religion. These have been delightful classes and the people have been very responsive."

THE CURRENT SERIES came about through the interests of Sister Agnes, director of adult education at Fowler Holy Trinity. "I thought we should have something like this for the parishioners," she explained, "so we talked it up among the parishes and this is what came out of it."

What came out of it is a well attended weekly lecture followed by a coffee hour sponsored by each of the participating parishes. The gatherings are held in the social hall of St. Joseph Church, St. Johns, and members of the spiritual development committee of that parish have assumed responsibility for seeing that things come off as scheduled.

Dr. Henry Burkhardt, chairman of the committee, also expressed satisfaction at the unexpected response among the county's parishes, but directed credit for the success to others. Among those he cited were Gerald Thelen, Fowler; Rose Smith Westphalia; Carl Smith, Rewamo and Jean Martin, St. Johns. All serve as spiritual directors in their respective parish or as a member of the spiritual committee.

THE SERIES, according to Fr. Parkhurst, is a basic doctrine course taught from the Dutch catechism designed to acquaint the faithful with new developments and lines of thought in the church. While many of the steady attendants are in their mid-years, an impressive number of younger people also have been participating.

Discussion is active, Fr. Parkhurst said, both during the lectures and in private groups afterward. Each of the lectures is supported by visual aids and encouragement is given to interrupt with questions or comments at any time.

From mere numbers alone, success of the series is assured, and this, coupled with the discussions and participation, make it difficult to believe that religion is losing its hold even if it ain't the ol' time kind!

Fr. Larry Parkhurst prepares to address a gathering of Clinton County residents during a recent lecture in a series entitled "Understanding Faith in the Modern Church." Mid-way through the eight-week schedule attendance among parishioners from St. Johns, Fowler, Westphalia and Pewamo has averaged 300 persons.

Farm Bureau supports national policies

Policy making resolutions held the spotlight at the 51st annual meeting of the Farm Bureau held at Smith Hall Oct. 13. During a two hour meeting the members acted upon a slate of 14 resolutions ranging from reorganization of the Electoral College and building up national defense to such affairs of state-wide interest as property tax credit, agricultural land assessment and the Tri-County Airport Authority. They passed a resolution asking for a fixed millage in the county of 15 mills rather than the proposed 16.9 which voters will be asked to accept on November 3.

The meeting began at 7:30 with a dinner served by St. Johns Lutheran church ladies. Rev.

Averill Carson, 1st Congregational Church gave the invocation. Following dinner David Morris led Community Singing and the meeting was opened by Mrs. Dorothy Shook who led the pledge to the flag. A quorum was declared by County president Lee Ormston.

Guests were present from the County news, Dimer Broadcasting, St. Johns Cooperative Co., Farmer's Petroleum, Farm Bureau Insurance Group and the Michigan Farm Bureau. Mr and Mrs Henry Jennings, members of the State Farm Bureau Policy Development Committee were present as well as Rep. Richard Allen and Rep. William Ballenger. E.J. Bottum chairman of the nominating committee introduced the nominees for director to districts where terms were expired. For Bingham-Olive district candidates were Robert Grams, Robert Kissane and Bruce Mehney. In Essex-Lebanon candidates nominated were Francis Dershem and Dennis Phillips. Elected for 3 year terms were Robert Kissane and Dennis Phillips.

RESOLUTIONS WERE presented by the Policy Development committee made up of Andy Cobb, Chairman, Bill Brook, Harmon Cropsey and Stan Baird. The members acted upon resolutions to present to the State Farm Bureau at the November annual meeting of the parent organization.

Ban throw-aways, hit mobile homes, state legislators on tax

Members of Clinton County Farm Bureau went on record on a number of issues during their 51st annual meeting at Smith Hall Oct. 13.

In county affairs, the Bureau registered their opposition to throw-away containers by adopting a resolution urging county commissioners to study banning action by other counties so that similar restrictions may be implemented in Clinton County.

On the question of fixed millage, Bureau members indicated favor for remaining at the present 15 mills rather than supporting the proposed 16.90 mills which will be voted on by county residents Nov. 3.

IN STATE AFFAIRS, members supported a resolution against the secretary of state's office selling motor vehicle registration lists and endorsed a recommendation for the protection of prime agricultural lands in the assessment process.

Intent of the latter resolution is for the requirement of assessors to consider only agricultural factors in assessing land used for farm purposes.

A third state affairs resolution, adopted, was directed at mobile homes. The resolution called for a monthly fee of $3.00 in lieu of property taxes as paid by other homeowners.

Members likewise approved a resolution deploring the action of the Michigan legislature in the deletion of property tax credit from the state income tax. The resolution went on to urge legislators to reinstate the credit during the next session.

Bureau members voted against a resolution banning punch card election balloting, but supported a proposal calling for signed agreement by nominees before their names are placed on primary or general election ballots.

Along election lines, the group also accepted a resolution calling for removal of campaign signs from public view within one week after an election.

ANOTHER MATTER OF state and county concern involved the recently formed airport authority. The Farm Bureau members adopted a resolution opposing the method of financing the authority.

In national affairs the group passes resolutions supporting the strengthening of American national defense—a top priority—so that military gaps between the U.S. and the Soviet Union will be closed; supported the concept of popular elections and the abolishment of the electoral college in favor of a reorganized system call for one elector in each congressional district with each state having two electors, representing the U.S. Senators.

Linda Thayer, 1970 Farm Bureau Queen, receives a standing ovation from the guests gathered at the 51st annual Farm Bureau dinner last week. Congratulating Miss Thayer is Tom Benson, young farmer chairman. Runner-up for the Farm Bureau queen, Mrs. Karen Grams, is at right.

Bureau showed a 50,000 member gain.

Compared with the decline in number of farmers over the country this is a real accomplishment. Kenn Wimmer, regional Representative from Michigan Farm Bureau spoke on the labor situation in Michigan and how we have learned lessons from California and the Grape situation. To control a commodity all a labor group needs to do is shut down the terminal market and it doesn't matter what the workers want or the consumer wants they have gained control over the producer.

Awards were presented to Community Groups who had 100% of their membership paying 1970 dues by January 1, 1970. Winners in the contest for original and beautiful centerpieces on the dinner tables were announced. 1st prize for originality went to Happy Hix 2nd prize to Maple Valley group. The Young Pioneers won the prize for beauty and 2nd place went to the Friendly Fringe Group.

Door prizes were won by Robert Reese, Jr., Mrs. Robert Reese, Oliver Gillespie, Bernard Tolles and Mrs. Florence Bean.

Redwings spoil Waverly homecoming, 27-8

By TOM McELENNEY
 News Staff Writer
 The spoilers were at it again Friday night at Waverly as they bumped the Warriors for a 27-8 homecoming defeat.

Waverly without the able assistance and leadership of Dave Dunham, couldn't do a thing right against the brick-wall defense of St. Johns. Waverly's passing attack was all but absent. Dick Dunham, brother of Dave, completed one of twelve passes with four of those other eleven intercepted by Redwing defenders. It just wasn't Waverly's night.

The win, combined with Alma's 14-12 loss to Hastings Friday, put the Redwing Machine in first place in the West Central Conference all by their lonesome. Their record is 5-0. Waverly received the opening kickoff and proceeded to throw on their first play of the game. But, the receiver was Redwing linebacker Jim Findlay and it was St. Johns' ball in Waverly territory.

The Redwings got bogged down and couldn't move the ball. St. Johns and Waverly traded punts. The Redwings then marched into the end zone on a drive that was capped by Randy Atkinson's TD run.

The second quarter start was similar to the first. But this time, it was Larry Hayes who intercepted the Waverly pass. Hayes was dropped on the SJ 30 yard line.

Two plays later, Atkinson hit Dave Flermoen with a 58-yard touchdown pass with 8:24 left in the second quarter. This was Flermoen's first varsity game of the year, and as he said, "It sure felt good to cross that goal line again." With the extra point failure, the score was 13-0 SJ.

The Warriors took the kickoff and began another march. But, again, the Redwings weren't to be denied. Steve Mead recovered a Waverly fumble on the second play which gave St. Johns the ball on the Waverly 40 yard line.

It then took the Redwings eleven plays to travel 40 yards with the scoring play coming on a 5-yard pass from Atkinson to Hayes with 3:02 left in the second quarter. It was St. Johns 20-0.

The next play was an exact repeat and Hayes intercepted still again, only to have Larry Wakefield be called for defensive pass interference on the SJ 5. Two plays later, Dunham tried a short pass straight over center but Mead jumped up and batted the ball down.

Waverly took a five-yard loss on the next play and St. Johns had held on downs and took over with 1:49 in the half. St. Johns were stopped on their own 20 and had to punt to the Warriors.

With one second left in the half, the Redwings recovered a punt reception fumble by Waverly. The half ended with St. Johns in front 20-0.

Second half action began with a 35-yard kickoff return to the 45 yard line of Waverly. The teams exchanged the ball and St. Johns found themselves on their own 30 yard line.

The Redwings then traveled 70 yards in seven plays for their final score of the night. This came on a 25-yard pass from Atkinson to end John Smit. Atkinson and Smit had combined two plays earlier for another pass of 20 yards that set up the touchdown.

St. Johns then attempted an onside kick but the ball was recovered by Waverly on their 48.

The Warriors then staged their only concentrated drive of the night and went in for a score with 10:02 left in the final quarter. The point after failed and score was 27-6.

Head Coach Jeff Smith freely substituted from midway in the third quarter until the end of the game. Waverly never played their second team all night. St. Johns, after the safety, had to kickoff from their own

A short, high kickoff by Waverly was flied by Steve Marek for St. Johns gave the Redwings possession on their own 40 yard line.

Ken Schueller then assumed the quarterback duties. A five-yard penalty against St. Johns and unsportsmanlike conduct against Waverly gave St. Johns a first and ten on the Waverly 49 yard line.

St. Johns had to punt three plays later. Waverly took over after a 46-yard punt return by Jim Havens to the Redwing 30 yard line. Waverly marched another 25 yards to the SJ 5 but were unable to penetrate the staunch Redwing defense there.

St. Johns held and took over but three plays later, Schueller was tackled in the end zone for a safety. Score, 27-8.

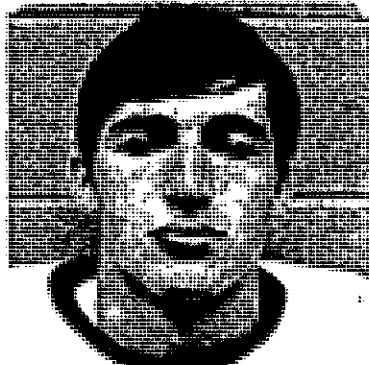

Offensive blocking, according to Smith, was very sloppy all night and the running game of the Redwings suffered. They did pick up 195 yards on the ground to 176 for Waverly but that ground total could have been 300 with some proper blocking.

Lumber with 7. Offensively, Atkinson ran for 63 yards in 11 carries, ran for one touchdown and passed for three more. Larry Hayes was the top ground gainer for the night with 75 yards in 14 carries. These two were followed by Steve Mead with 27 yards and Gary Burk with 21.

Lineman of the week-honors were awarded to Larry Vittek for the fantastic job he did on Waverly's stout halfback Doug Prout who only gained 17 yards total for the evening.

STEVE MEAD

RANDY ATKINSON

There was no comparison in the passing department. St. Johns gained 154 yards through the air while the Warriors were straining for a total of 4.

Total yardage for the night was 349 for St. Johns to 180 for Waverly. Waverly went to a 2-2 record in the conference, while the Redwings sit alone with the conference lead at 4-0.

Individually, it was Mead on defense and Atkinson on offense. Mead made 19 tackles during the game and received close support from Larry Wakefield with 13, Brad Huntley with 11 and Luane of the year by far." Back of the week, according to Smith, has to be given to Randy Atkinson who proved again that he is all there is. Asking Smith for a specific statement on Atkinson, he said, "Put down anything you want about his worth; it will all be the truth."

Captain of the week is Roy Pederson because of the job he also did on defense Friday night. Next on the path to the West Central Championship for St. Johns is the Hastings Saxons, who played the Redwings to a 12-12 tie last year. They came into their own last Friday by beating then conference co-leader Alma on their own turf.

Their starting backfield has been hurt all year but will be ready for the game Friday. The majority of players are back from the team that tied us last year," said Smith. "They seemed to have found themselves last Friday against Alma."

Smith went on to say that both Newell and Chuck Heath, Hastings' halfback brother combination will be back from individual injuries Friday, also.

Friday's game will be a big one for the Redwings to win. Better blocking off the line will be needed if the Redwing running game is to get started again. And, hopefully, this home game won't be as damp as the last one.

Scoring by quarters:
 St. Johns 7 13 7 - 0
 Waverly 0 0 0 - 8

Down Pirates 20-14

Time runs out for P-W, Panthers take league lead

by TIM YOUNKMAN
Editor

The DeWitt Panthers took over sole possession of first place in the Central Michigan Athletic Conference Friday night with a hair-raising final quarter victory over Pewamo-Westphalia, 20-14. "Time ran out," was the sole comment by Pirate Head Coach Bill Marks as his team had roared back in the final minute to the DeWitt 11-yard line. With just eight seconds left on the clock, Pirate quarterback John Bengel rolled out for a pass and hit a wide-open receiver on the two-yard line.

Another first down for DeWitt — Ron Wilcox is moved down after a big 16-yard play that helped sustain a drive for a touchdown in the second quarter Friday night. Finding no receivers open, Wilcox was forced to slip around the right end on a third-down nine-to-go situation.

The ball bounced off the shoulder pads and fell incomplete and the game was over. It reminded DeWitt Head Coach Gary Roberts, and all of the DeWitt fans, of the heart-breaking loss to Bath in the final six seconds during the opening game of the season. A long pass ended the scent of a Panther victory in that one. "We played a pretty good game," Roberts philosophized. "We won."

He said that the Panthers made one glaring mistake in the game and that led to a Pirate touchdown.

"They might have made it anyway," Roberts said. "But that man was wide open for the pass." He was referring to the 43-yard touchdown pass from Bengel to Albert Fedewa late in the third quarter.

On third down and long yardage, Bengel called for a pass with Fedewa heading straight down field.

Roberts said that the line-backer was to hit Fedewa at the line and let him go, with a half-back covering from behind. The Panthers apparently mixed-up their defensive signals, as no halfback came across to cover the play, leaving Fedewa wide open and the Pirates capitalized on the mistake to tie the game at that point 14-14.

From the opening kickoff, it appeared that the Panthers were going to have an easy time of containing the Pirate running game.

That meant stopping tailback Dan Weber, who had run wild against Webberville two weeks before with 322 yards rushing, and nearly 800 on the season.

The first DeWitt drive appeared to end abruptly on three downs, but a personal foul on the DeWitt punt brought DeWitt to the ball to DeWitt's 33-yard-line and excellent-field position.

A couple of quarterback sneaks by Panther Ron Wilcox sustained the drive to the 12-yard-line.

A fourth and three to go situation created some worry for Roberts but a Wilcox dive brought the ball to the one-yard-line and a first down.

The Pirate defense stiffened and held that one yard for three downs before Wilcox burst through for the score with 4:39 remaining in the first quarter.

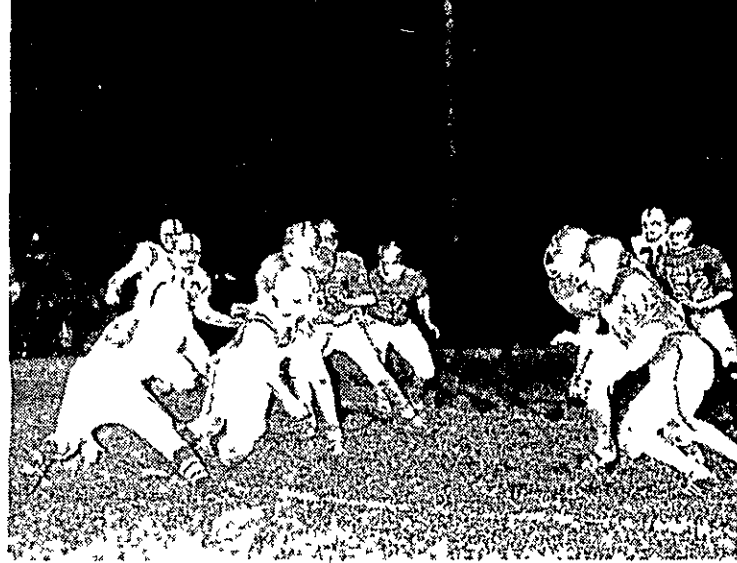

The extra point attempt by Wilcox failed and DeWitt led 6-0.

The Pirates roared right back taking the remaining time in the quarter to set up their first score.

Starting from their own 37-yard-line, the Pirates moved down field to the nine-yard-line as the quarter ended.

It took the Pirates four downs to crack the Panther defense with a quarterback sneak by Bengel.

The first try for the extra two points failed, but pass interference was called against DeWitt, and the second try, a dive off tackle was successful putting P-W in the lead 8-6.

DeWitt's Panthers managed to contain the P-W ground attack Friday night, holding the Pirates to 60 yards. Here tailback Dan Weber tries to change his field direction midway through the first half, but finds a host of Panthers ready to spring on him. DeWitt won 20-14.

DeWitt, not to be outdone, stormed back on a drive from their own 48-yard-line that included a brilliant broken play 16-yard dash by Wilcox who was the Panthers' leading rusher with 60 yards.

The drive ended when Wilcox handed the ball to Mike Moody who slipped through for the one-yard TD.

A two-yard conversion toss from Wilcox to Dan Ruble put the Panthers ahead 14-6. That's the way it ended at half-time.

After several exchanges of punts, P-W began a drive from their own 43-yard line. Getting nowhere with fourth-down and 11 yards to go, the Pirates prepared to punt.

The DeWitt forward line crashed through knocking the kicker down after the ball was away for a quick 15-yard penalty. That sustained the drive, which culminated in the TD pass from Bengel to Fedewa to tie the game.

DeWitt turned around and scored the game winning TD with only 4:27 remaining on a quarterback sneak by Wilcox. The extra point pass from Wilcox to Tews was good but a 5-yard penalty nullified the score. The second attempt at the extra point failed.

With little more than three minutes left, the Pirates fought desperately to regain the lead, or at least tie the game.

At 1:30 in the fourth quarter Dan Weber scampered from his own 49-yard-line to DeWitt's 11 before the ill-fated dropped pass on the two-yard-line with eight seconds left.

Roberts said that Wilcox was the "workhorse" for the Panther attack, running 25 plays and gaining 60 yards and two touchdowns before Chuck Berkimer took over late in the game.

The game gave the Panthers undisputed rights to first place in the league with a 40-record and dropped P-W to one game behind with a 3-1 conference mark.

The Panthers will face Pottersville Friday night at home and Roberts said that Pottersville will be out for revenge.

Two years ago, the Panthers wiped out Pottersville's perfect season and cost them the championship. Last year the Panthers were undefeated and cut down the visitors from the south.

The Pirates broke through for 7 first downs compared with 15 for DeWitt.

P-W rolled for 200 total yards, 63 on the ground and 137 in the air while DeWitt had 191 total yards, 167 on the ground and 24 in the air.

Bengel completed 7 of 18 attempted passes and Wilcox hit on 3 of 5 passes. DeWitt was set back 40 yards in penalties while P-W was charged with 60.

"They would like to knock us off," Roberts said. "We beat them that year with only 20 seconds left in the game."

"We'll have to work hard this week to be up for them," he said. "They have a good passer who likes to throw quite a bit."

"After Pottersville, we play

Fowler. Fowler's going to be tough."

The last game won't be a push-over either as they play Portland St. Patrick away.

P-W is still not ruled out in the race should DeWitt lose. P-W, with a 3-1 conference record, will tangle with Portland St. Patrick Friday night with Owosso St. Paul and Laingsburg remaining on the schedule.

DeWitt 6 8 0 6-20
P-W 8 0 6 0-14

It may look like the end of the line for Pewamo-Westphalia's Dan Weber, but the Pirate senior tailback had about 20 yards more to gain on this last minute drive in the fourth quarter. He came to rest on DeWitt's 11-yard line. Trying to halt the speedy Pirate are Panthers John Black (25) and Bob Jackson (71).

Bath cleans Stockbridge 14-6

Bath took Stockbridge to the showers Friday night as they white-washed the Panthers 14-6 for their second Ingham County League win of the season. Overall, they are 2-1-1.

Bath quarterback Paul Stoll played a major role in both of his team's touchdowns Friday. Stoll, 6'2", 175 lbs., ran for 39 yards and the first score of the evening against the Panthers. This came in the second quarter.

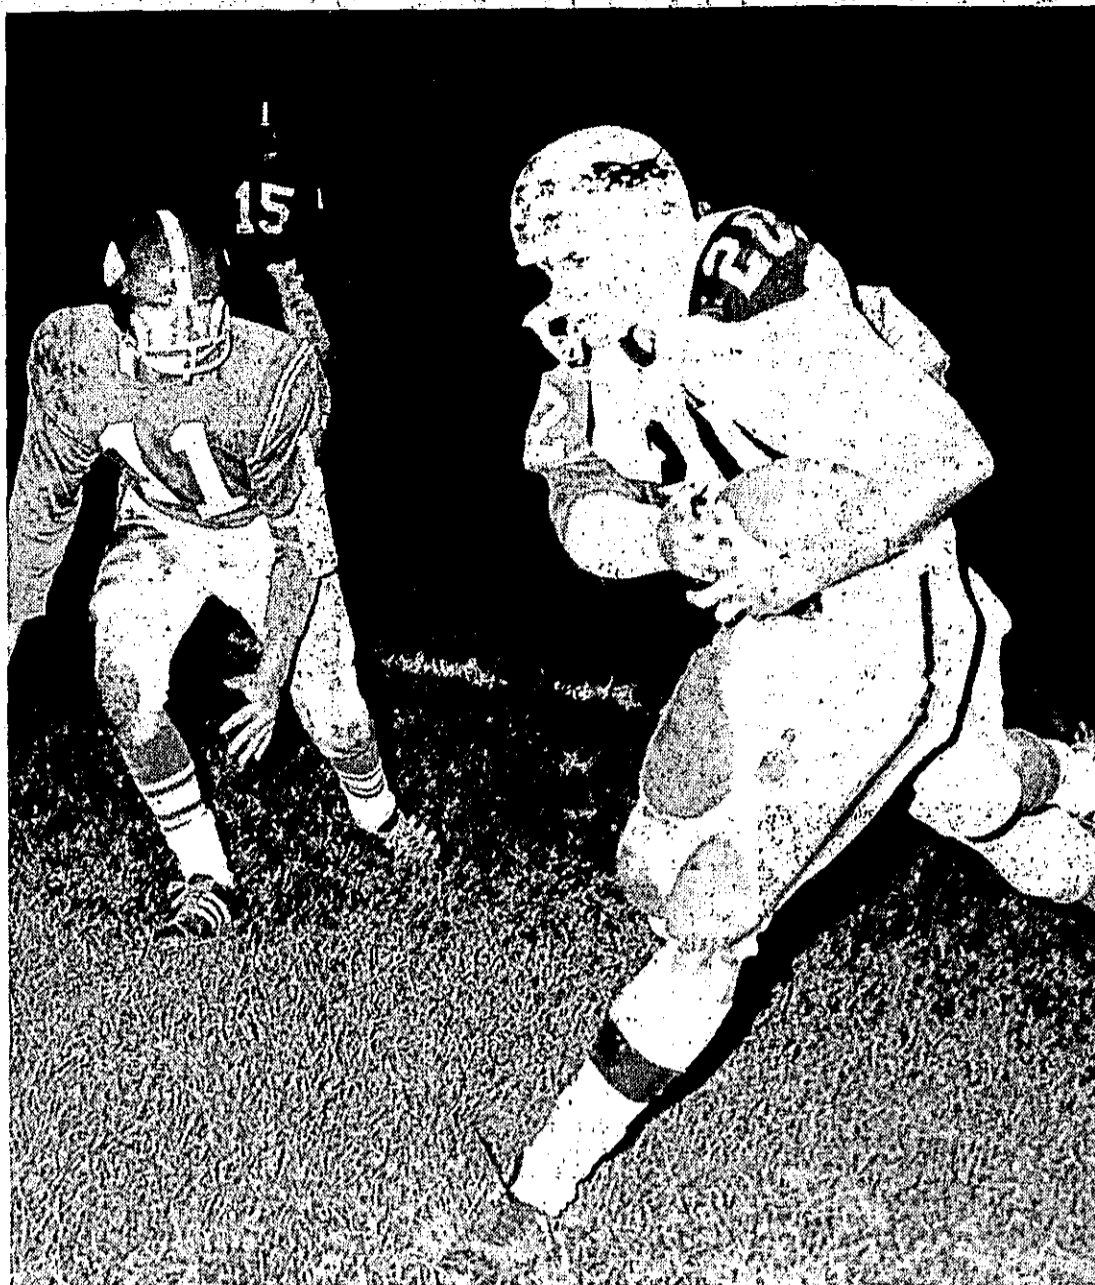

The next Bath score also arrived in the second quarter when Stoll hit Brad Schably with a 35-yard touchdown pass that capped a 51-yard march.

Since both PATs failed, the other two points came from a safety when Rick Smith, 5'8", 160 lbs., a defensive standout for the Bees, blocked Gary Ludtke's punt from the end zone. The ball then rolled over the end line for a safety.

Stockbridge, carrying a four-game losing mark on their backs, worked hard in third quarter and drove 55 yards for their only score of the night. This came on a one-yard plunge by Panther Dave Wilson.

Stoll completed 7 of 18 passes for 57 yards while defensive tackle Terry Duncan was credited with 10 tackles. Duncan, Smith and Dennis Kennedy were all praised for their defensive play.

Stockbridge Panther end John Flannery seems to be having quite a time keeping his legs from folding. Actually the other pair of legs belong to Bath's Gary Shaw (22) who brings down Flannery after a short gain. Bath won the game 14-6. (News photos by Ed Cheeney).

Running back Joe Mitchell (25) is nailed by Rod Owen (22) of Stockbridge during Friday night's game with the Bath Bees. Looking on are Dave Wilson (10) of Stockbridge, 2nd Paul Stoll (15) of Bath.

Fowler wins in waning seconds

Better late than never was the story Friday night as Fowler turned back four tying scores by Potterville with a final TD to win 32-24.

The Eagle's final scores came with just 27 seconds remaining in the game. Potterville had risen to the occasion four times and had tied the Eagles.

Fowler took a 6-0 lead after the first quarter with a 23-yard pass from Clare Thelen to Jerome Pohl. With the second quarter under way, the race began.

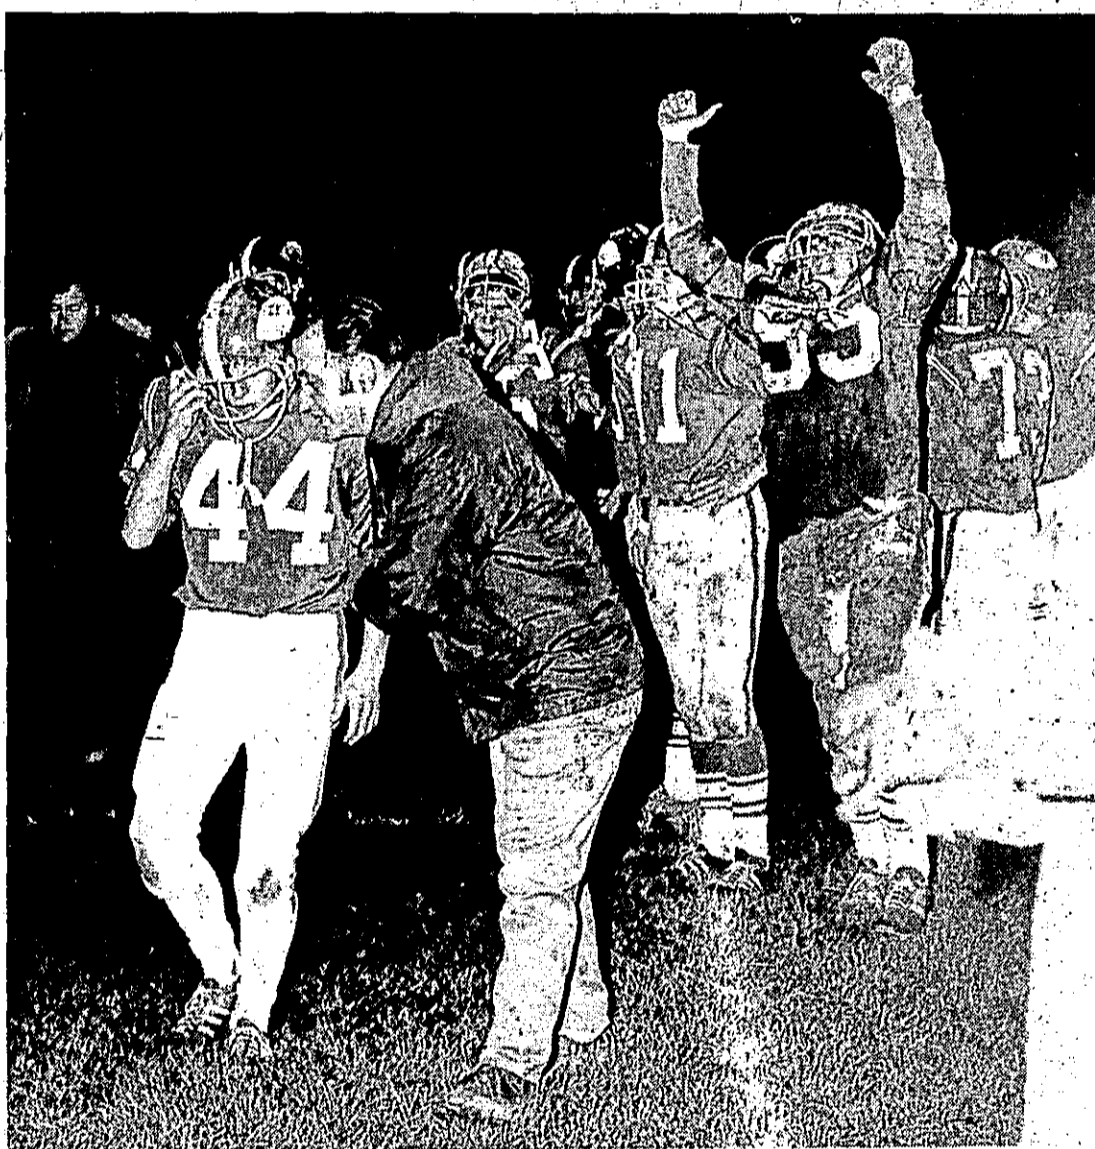

Potterville's Dean Peters passed to Dan Leonard for 19 yards and a touchdown just before Fowler's Steve Feldpausch scored from two yards following a blocked punt. Then, again, Mr. Peters passed 62 yards to brother Dean tying the score at 12-12.

Fowler led the race at half-time with an 11 yard run by Thelen to go ahead 18-12.

Potterville's Peters opened second half action by tossing a five-yard scoring pass to Doug Henney. Feldpausch, undaunted, picked up the ensuing kickoff and rambled 76 yards to put Fowler on top again 24-18.

Peters proceeded to march his team again until he went into the end zone from seven yards out on a keeper. This set the stage for the final Fowler score to ice the game.

A 13-yard running play resulting from a broken play and a successful two-point conversion put Fowler ahead to stay. The conversion attempt was a successful pass from Gene Messer to Pohl.

Bath Head Coach Ron Skorich gives a little sideline talk to Bath running back Doug Sage (44) during the Bees' encounter with the Stockbridge Panthers Friday night. Bath center Jack Brown (55) seems to have found a vent for his high emotions.

Hunting rules can be helpful

Hunting season is here and a few rules of the road can't hurt anybody if they want to come back from the trip in one piece. These rules apply to the governing of firearms and ammunition.

Q.) Can sportsmen on an out-of-State hunting trip carry his rifles and shotguns with him?

A.) The hunter will not encounter any problem in personally transporting his firearms across state lines. However, the Gun Control Act of 1968 and the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 prohibits convicted felons, fugitives from justice, persons under indictment for a felony, mental incompetents, unlawful user of drugs, persons who have renounced their citizenship, aliens unlawfully in the U.S., and anyone who has been discharged from the Armed Forces under dishonorable conditions from possessing or transporting firearms across state lines, or transporting firearms in or affecting commerce.

Q.) May a hunter who is not licensed under the Gun Control Act of 1968 purchase ammunition while on an out-of-State hunting trip?

A.) Yes, such a person may purchase ammunition provided this person is not one of the designated individuals listed in answer to question No. 1 above. In addition, the purchaser of ammunition must be at least 18 years of age for shotgun or rifle ammo and at least 21 years of age for handgun ammo.

Q.) Is a hunter or sportsman who loads ammunition for his personal use required to have a Federal Firearms license?

A.) No, as long as it is for himself and he does not sell it.

Q.) Can a hunter or sportsman ship his personal firearms to a licensed dealer, importer or manufacturer for the purpose of repairing or customizing them?

A.) Yes he can, provided he is not one of the prohibited persons listed in the answer to question No. 1.

Q.) Are gun clubs required to have a Federal Firearms License?

A.) If the gun club does not sell firearms and only furnishes ammunition solely for use on club premises for the purpose of trap shooting, gun handling class etc., the club is not required to have a Federal Firearms License.

Q.) If a hunter or sportsman is on an out-of-State hunting trip of attending an organized rifle or shotgun match or contest, can he obtain another rifle or shotgun if his is stolen, lost or becomes inoperative?

A.) Yes, the hunter or sports-office (sheriff, chief or police, or police precinct captain) of the locality in which the sportsman or hunter resides.

Q.) Can a hunter bring into the United States the firearms he previously took out for hunting purposes?

A.) Yes, the hunter can bring into the United States firearms previously taken out of the United States by him. The Bureau of Customs is authorized to re-lease the firearm without a permit from the Director, Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division upon a proper showing that the firearms were taken out of the country by the person bringing them in.

This proper showing can be accomplished by registering the firearms with the Bureau of Customs on Customs Form 4457 at the point and time of his departure from the United States.

If Customs Form 4457 was not completed prior to departure and the hunter has no evidence other than his word that he previously took the firearms out of the United States then he must complete form 4457 before a United States Counselor or Visa Officer, Notary Public or any Federal Officer authorized to administer oaths.

Q.) Are gun clubs considered to be engaged in the business of selling ammunition?

A.) A gun club which provides facilities for trap shooting, target shooting, gun handling classes, etc., and furnishes ammunition for use on the club premises is not regarded as being engaged in the business of selling ammunition at wholesale or retail. The club would be permitted to provide ammunition to persons including those under the age of eighteen (18) who are shooting at the club and which is for consumption of the premises, and the club would not be required to keep records of the disposition of their ammunition. However, the club would not be able to acquire their ammunition from out of State because they would not be licensed. Such clubs may be issued a license as a dealer in ammunition if they desire to be licensed, permitting them to buy ammunition from out of state. However, licensees must follow the recordkeeping provisions of the law, and dual club members who are not prohibited from purchasing ammunition, may buy ammunition in any state and transport it himself into his home state.

Q.) Are non-residents of the United States able to bring firearms into this country for legitimate hunting or lawful sporting purposes?

A.) Yes, non-residents are able to bring firearms into the country for legitimate hunting or lawful sporting purposes without a permit from the Director, Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms. However, these firearms are to be taken out of the territorial limits of the United States by such persons. Upon conclusion of their shooting activities.

Q.) Is an application and permit required for importing firearm parts?

A.) Authority to import shotgun parts, other than the frame or receiver, is not required since shotguns and shotgun parts are not included under the Munitions Control Act. Rifles and handguns, and parts for rifles and handguns, are included in the Munitions Control Act and therefore an application to import such items is required.

4-H formula aids nutrition education

Right side up or upside down, the 4-4-3-2 formula is a magical way to well-nourished young people everywhere.

And the magic formula is finding wide acceptance among the 664,000 boys and girls enrolled in the national 4-H food-nutrition program.

They find the 4-4-3-2 formula an easy way to learn and practice good eating habits. Borrowing from the nutritionists' daily food guide, the formula suggests: four servings from the fruit and vegetable group; four from the bread and cereal group; three from the milk group and two servings from the meat group.

Although the 4-4-3-2 approach to well-nourished young people is not new, the magic aspects have taken on new meaning.

The Cooperative Extension Service which conducts 4-H together with General Foods Corporation and the National 4-H Service Committee have come up with a series of educational manuals.

Starting with the magic approach in the unit, "Tricks for Treats," the young people move into "All American Foods," "Meals for Today the Easy Way" and "Foods with an International Flavor."

A guide for volunteer leaders supports each unit.

Planning, preparing and serving meals and snacks are covered in the attractive books. 4-H members enrolled in food-nutrition also learn about buy-manipulation, nutrition and foods and customs of America and other countries.

Adding another dimension to the national 4-H food-nutrition program for the 10th year is General Foods Corporation's support through incentive and recognition awards.

The company provides $600 scholarships to six national winners and an expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress to a winner from each state. General Foods also will host the group at the national 4-H event in Chicago, Nov. 29 - Dec. 3.

Four medals of honor are offered in each county. In 1969, nearly 9,400 4-H members received such recognition.

Boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 19 are eligible to participate in 4-H including the food-nutrition program.

For more information about 4-H participation, contact the local county extension office.

P-W students gain national honors

Ruth Blauwikel and Gerald Casari, both Pawamo-Westphalia students, received letters of commendation honoring them for their high performance on the 1970 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMQST).

They are among 35,000 students in the nation who scored in the upper two per cent of those who are expected to graduate from high school in 1971.

The students ranked just below the 14,750 semifinalists announced in September by the scholarship corporation.

Edward C. Smith, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, said, "Although commended students advance no further in the Merit Scholarship competition, their standing in this nationwide program deserves public recognition."

"Their high performance on the NMQST gives promise of continued success in college," he said.

"The Commended students should be encouraged to pursue their education since their intellectual talent represents an important and much needed natural resource," he said. "Both these students and our nation will benefit from their continuing education."

Air authority

Harold Wellman, president of Central National Bank in St. Johns and Richard Marsh of Hughes Flying Service are two appointees to the board representing Clinton county. Wellman sat with Crouse and discussed the airport authority with a News reporter.

"If the airport's growth pattern of the last five years is any indication," Wellman commented, "there can be little doubt as to its potential in the future. I'm sure it can be a self-sustaining operation."

Wellman's comments came during a discussion on the three-quarter mill which is the core of the question appearing on the November ballot as proposal D. According to supporters of the proposal the request is one to be used only under necessity. Adoption would not mean immediate implementation but rather an available reserve.

AS EXPLAINED BY Crouse, the authority is not invested with the power to enact the millage, this must be done with county commission approval. When asked what would happen if a commission denied the funds, even after voter approval, Crouse just shrugged his shoulders and said, "I guess we'd have to figure something else out." But, he added, "on the strength of action taken by the commissioners of Ingham and Clinton counties, we would receive money from the general funds."

Wellman estimates the present value of Capital City Airport at a "conservative" $10 million and expressed a feeling that this is a valuable piece of property for the county to become part owner in when vacated by the state next summer.

The chain of events leading up to next month's vote began many years ago when the state entered the airport business at Capital City. More recent developments indicating their intent to divest themselves of the terminal culminated when Gov. William Milliken signed into law State House Bill No. 4220, an act to provide for the creation of airport authorities.

Aside from Michigan Aeronautics Commission administrative offices and a number of areas on the terminal reserved for state occupancy for craft storage, refueling and maintenance, and a 31 acre tract reserved for use by the state health department, the terminal will come under the direction of the Airport Authority next July.

THE LEGAL formation of the authority is outlined in Bill No. 4220 and, in essence, Ingham county and the city of Lansing could well have been the sole participants in the establishment of the authority. However, Clinton commissioners voted favorably to join while Eaton commissioners delayed action until after the Nov. 3 vote.

Both Crouse and Wellman feel strongly that air transportation is vital to economic development of the mid-Michigan area and both feel that formation of an elaborate air traffic system around the nucleus of Capital City Airport can ultimately prove to be highly successful.

"Detroit cannot handle the steady increase in air traffic into this area of Michigan," Crouse said. "There's no question but what a major terminal based on the satellite plan will be established to serve Michigan and we ought to fight like everything to get it."

According to Crouse a system of matching funds will minimize the expenses of a major terminal-satellite program for whatever area ultimately wins the current airport race. The application of operating funds would eliminate 75 per cent of the cost of operation of any major air traffic system.

THESE FUNDS, Crouse explained, are already being accumulated through federal legislation allowing collection from air transportation tickets for passengers and cargo, as well as from the many and varied licenses—personal and corporate—needed to secure flight status.

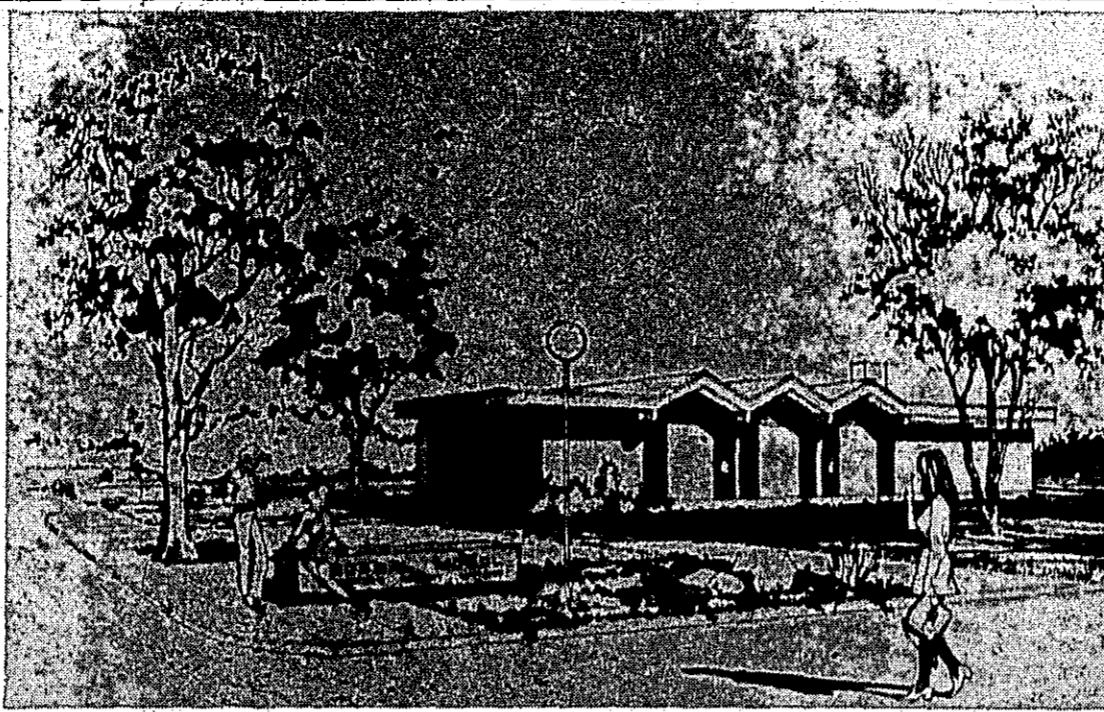

"This money," Crouse said, "is already being accumulated and is earmarked for return to such programs as we're speaking of right now."

"There's really no reason to doubt that within a couple of years this airport could be self-supporting," Wellman proposed.

Proposal D on the ballot, if accepted, will allow Clinton commissioners to extend up to three-quarters of a mill for money to be marked for support of the Airport Authority. None of this money is to be spent on salaries for members of the Authority, all of whom serve on a voluntary basis.

Figuring hastily, Wellman estimates that an average cost per year would be in the neighborhood of approximately $6 per person in the county.

But regardless of the three-quarter mill vote, Clinton county will become part owner of an airport next July 1 and supporters of the major air traffic plan look hopefully to additional support from area voters.

Pesticide picture changing

Pesticide use will nearly double in 1975. Most will be more toxic than DDT to man, but they'll have shorter residual life and will be more carefully monitored.

Dr. Gordon Guyer, director of Michigan State University's Pesticide Research Center, says the big push will be toward "pest management" programs, combining pesticides with the use of resistant crop varieties, insect parasites and other "natural" controls to ultimately minimize pesticide use and disruption of the ecology.

This kind of control is complicated and difficult, so many farm pests will continue to be controlled by conventional chemical programs, says Guyer. A lot of the increase in pesticide use will be in the house, garden and industry.

"While it's been relatively easy to keep agricultural programs informed on appropriate pesticide recommendations," says Guyer, "we anticipate it will be more difficult to inform the heterogeneous group of urban people on the appropriate use and safe disposal of these chemicals."

Guyer says industry must maintain its incentive to develop safe and effective biologically active chemicals for use by agriculture.

"As we've moved away from the use of persistent pesticides, like DDT, we've been moving toward chemicals that are a greater hazard to the applicator and other humans close to the point of application," he says.

He urges educational programs to go along with the shift in pesticide use "to prevent the additional hazards that may exist to human health as well as to the environment."

New pesticide legislation is pending in every state. (In a recent survey Guyer found 70 proposed bills in 24 states.) The proposals include the establishment of review boards for better control of commercial application, for monitoring pesticides and for banning or greatly limiting the use of such materials.

SMV signs cut accident rate

Slow moving vehicle accidents in Michigan have been cut almost 50 percent over the past three years. Big reason: SMV emblems, according to Richard Pfister, Michigan State University safety engineer.

But other types of farm equipment accidents on public roads have increased five percent over the same time.

While less than one-ninth of all U.S. workers are employed in Agriculture, Pfister said, this occupation accounts for about one-fourth of all accidental deaths in U.S. industry.

Over 60 percent of all tractor accidents are tip-overs caused by a necessary high center of gravity. Pfister noted that these fatalities could be reduced 75 per cent by making human compartments (tractor cabs, crush-resistant shells, etc.) standard equipment on farm machinery.

"Tractor cabs cost from $800 to $1,400," he said. "But the farmer would have to drive 25,000 to 30,000 miles in his car to equal the time he spends on his tractor. And he wouldn't let that cost for a proven amount of safety influence his decision with his automobile."

Auctioneer for the sale was Fred Meyer, school board secretary.

Other action at Wednesday's meeting included: —approving the use of the East Olive School for Bible School classes on Sundays.

—tabling of a proposal to initiate a breakfast program at all elementary schools in the district. The motion was to table the proposal till the next board meeting to give the matter some further consideration. School administrative assistant Steven A. Bakita told board members that the children would have to pay 10 cents per breakfast with the state reimbursing the school system at a rate of 15 cents per breakfast.

—a decision to send a letter to interested parties indicating that the school board members would be willing to meet with school officials throughout the county at a designated meeting date and time.

—the setting of a date for the board's annual tour of district schools. The date was set for the morning hours of Nov. 11. They will start at 8 a.m. from the high school.

—unanimous support from the board to switch gas operation rates from rate B to rate C which, according to Bakita, would save the school system around $1,500 per year in gas bills.

A final point was made by Sam Serrell, principal of Rodney B. Wilson Junior High School. Serrell told the board that starting Monday, the school buses would start to be parked double on the south side of McConnell St. in back of the school.

The buses were previously parked on Cass Street where they seemed to be causing a problem. Serrell said they would try out this system to see how it would work.

it's time to put our money where our hearts are

Dick Enslin believes that the greatest Vietnam tragedy occurs here in America. "As long as we continue to commit our money to an undeclared war, it's going to be hard to fight inflation, rising taxes, urban and educational problems, unrest, pollution... When will this end? Where are we going? How many sick, needy, old, incapacitated or hungry people have we lost simply because we have failed to put our money where our hearts are?"

If you agree, vote for Dick Enslin as your Third District Congressman on November 3rd.

County Commission

MONDAY, AUGUST 24, 1970

The Clinton County Board of Commissioners met in regular session Monday, Aug. 24, 1970 at 9:00 a.m. Prayer was offered by Ernest Carter. A pledge of Allegiance was given to the flag. Roll was called and a quorum reported. All members were present.

Minutes of the Aug. 3 meeting were presented. Corrections were made. It was moved by Shepard supported by Hufnagel to approve the minutes as corrected. Voted and carried.

Communications were read:
1. A letter from Eastern Michigan Tourist Association requesting an appropriation of $400 for the year of 1971 was read. The annual meeting will be held Oct. 22, 1970. Chairman Nobis pointed Commissioner Andrew Cobb to attend.

2. A letter from Capitol Area Economic Opportunity Committee directing attention to the appointment of a representative to that body by Sept. 1, 1970. Chairman Nobis re-appointed Commissioner Gerald Shepard.

3. A letter from Department of State Police, Office of Highway Safety Planning stating that the Tri-County area was not selected as an applicant for the Alcohol Action Program.

4. A letter from the Department of Natural Resources regarding applications for sewer construction grants was read and placed on file.

The Board recessed for committee meetings at 9:40 a.m. Upon again being called to order, Commissioner Andrews introduced Roberta Lawrence and Herbert Maier of the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission and suggested that questions pertaining to the audit report, as submitted by Harris, Reams and Ambrose, be directed to them.

Mrs. Lawrence pointed out the fact that the report covered only an 8 month period ending Dec. 31, 1969. She answered questions arising from the report. She stated that the commission is presently operating in the black. Some confusion appears to exist due to lack of proper identification of the different projects in the audit report. Mr. Maier stated that corrective measures will be taken. He thanked the Board for the opportunity to appear and the courtesy extended to him.

Montgomery presented and moved the adoption of the following Resolution, which was supported by Andrews.

RESOLUTION

RESOLVED: That the County of Clinton join and become a member of the Airport Authority as provided in Act 73 of the Public Acts of 1970.

Discussion followed. Commissioner Gove approved the concept of the Airport Authority but he felt that informational meetings should have been held before any action is taken.

Commissioner Andrews felt that the vote by this Board should be taken and then hold meetings to inform the public. Indications show that a referendum will be held on the issue.

The question was called for by Andrews supported by Chamberlain, Commissioner Cobb then called for a vote to determine whether or not the commissioners should vote on the previous question. On a roll call vote, those voting aye were Nobis, Sirrine, Chamberlain, Underhill, Montgomery, Lankford, Andrews and Shepard. Nays were Cobb, Gove, and Hufnagel. 8 ayes, 3 nays. Motion declared carried.

Voting on the original motion on a roll call vote, the aye votes were Nobis, Sirrine, Chamberlain, Montgomery, Lankford, Andrews and Shepard. Nays were Cobb, Gove, Underhill and Hufnagel. 7 ayes, 4 nays. Motion declared carried.

Commissioner Lankford presented and moved supported by Shepard that the following amendment to the rules of the Board be adopted.

SUBJECT: AMEND THE RULES OF CLINTON COUNTY BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS BY ADDITION OF RULE NO. 33.

Rule No. 33 to read as follows: The Presence and/or use of electronic recording devices the official meetings of the County Board of Commissioners is prohibited except with the approval of two-thirds of the members present.

On a roll call vote, those voting aye were Cobb, Nobis, Gove, Sirrine, Chamberlain, Underhill, Hufnagel, Montgomery, Lankford and Shepard. Nays were Andrews. 10 ayes, 1 nay. Motion declared carried.

Shepard moved supported by Montgomery to transfer to the contingent fund, unanticipated income in the amount of $45,130 which is largely derived from unanticipated state income tax. Voted and carried.

The meeting recessed for lunch at 11:50 a.m.

P.M. SESSION

Upon being called to order, before any action by the Board began, Commissioner Lankford called attention to a tape recorder and asked that Rule No. 33 be enforced. Mr. Wainwright was asked to remove the recorder and he declined to do so. Chairman Nobis called for the Prosecuting Attorney to rule on the matter. Prosecutor Kelly appeared to state his opinion.

The Chairman declared a short recess at 1:40 p.m. Upon coming to order, a letter from Robert Dittmer of WRBJ Radio Station requesting the privilege of using a tape recorder at Board meetings, was read.

It was moved by Lankford supported by Andrews to allow the use of tape recorders for today's meeting. On a roll call vote, those voting aye were Cobb, Gove, Sirrine, Chamberlain, Montgomery, Lankford and Andrews. Nays were Nobis, Underhill, Hufnagel and Shepard. 7 ayes, 4 nays. Motion declared carried.

Herman Openlander, Supervisors of Watertown Township expressed his and that of a great many residents of the Township, disappointment in the granting of the permit. He feels that local government is in jeopardy by actions of this nature. He re-asserted that both the Township Planning Commission and the Township Board were unanimously opposed to the project and this fact should have been considered. He and several hundred citizens feel that they have been ignored.

Commissioner Lankford explained that as a member of the prevailing side, he had moved to re-consider the vote, which is legal procedure.

No major changes in GenTel books

One of the most widely used publications in the United States—the telephone directory—is now being delivered to General Telephone customers in Fowler, Maple Rapids, Muir, Pewamo, and St. Johns.

William Graef, district manager for the company, said there are no major format changes in the new directory but suggested customers familiarize themselves with the location of important information within the directory.

"Places for emergency numbers are conveniently located on page one," Graef said. "We want the location of these numbers readily available and easy to find."

The alphabetical index and table of contents for the directory appear on the inside front cover and the list for frequently called numbers appears on the inside back cover.

A localized exchange area map, printed in conjunction with the Continental U.S. Area Code Map, also appears again in the directory.

All types of calls—station-to-station, person-to-person, conference, collect, overseas, mobile and marine—and a graphic description of the rate periods appear in the introductory pages of the new directory.

Graef suggested customers carefully leaf through their old directory before replacing it with the new edition.

"Often important papers, letters and even money, are placed in the telephone directory for safekeeping and forgotten," he said. "Remember, also, to transfer that list of frequently called numbers from the old directory to the new one."

The directory is larger this year because of expanded listings in both the white and yellow pages, the manager said. He added that General Telephone would distribute more than 7,500 directories in the St. Johns area this year.

St. Johns VFW to sponsor membership dinner Oct. 27

In an effort to encourage Vietnam war veterans to join the local Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) Post 4113, Cmdr. Ed Schmitt said the group will sponsor an evening of dinner and entertainment Oct. 27.

Schmitt said the dinner and entertainment will begin at 7 p.m. and admission will be $2 or one-year's membership dues.

"The VFW is the fastest growing organization in America," Schmitt said. "Because the members... have to protect their own rights enacted by Congress and to have new benefits enacted," he said.

Schmitt said that among the VFW accomplishments are the enactment of Compensation, pension, hospital and bonus benefits for World War I veterans.

Others include the GI Bill of Rights for World War II vets and Korean War personnel, the latest GI bill which provides a permanent system of readjustment benefits for veterans, and free mailing privileges for servicemen in Viet Nam.

Aside from its legislative activities, Schmitt said the VFW maintains a nation-wide rehabilitation service staffed with medical, legal and claims experts. It aids all veterans in filing claims for benefits.

He added that the group participates in Loyalty Day and Veterans Day observances, sponsors Voice of Democracy, boy scouts, soap box derby, little league and other activities.

"Service to disabled and needy veterans and their dependents is rendered by the VFW on a nation-wide scale by its rehabilitation service," Schmitt said. "Each year it gains millions of dollars in benefits for veterans by pressing their claims before the Veterans Administration," he said.

"Community betterment is a keystone in the total VFW structure," he said.

He added that if interested veterans have any questions or wish to join the group they are invited to the hall on N. U.S.-27 in St. Johns.

New 'Free Lunch' program adopted

By TOM McEENEY
News Staff Writer

St. Johns Board of Education members gave their approval to a new "Free lunch" program for St. Johns public schools.

The proposed program was presented to the board at their October monthly meeting last Wednesday by Steven A. Bakita, school administrative assistant. Bakita said one person would have to be designated as the person that would determine the eligibility of all children for free lunches and breakfasts under the Nation School Lunch Program and/or the School Breakfast Program. Bakita said this person should be the administrative assistant in charge of the cafeteria program.

A notice or letter will be sent to parents on or about Nov. 1 and near the beginning of each year following, that will contain, as a minimum, the following information:

- the officials designated to make the decision for eligible children,
- a brief resume of the policy statement, including income criteria,
- procedure for applying for free lunches,
- The identity of children receiving the free lunches will be kept confidential at all times. Likewise, they will not be published, posted, or announced in any manner.
- Children receiving free meals will not be required as a condition of receiving such meals to:
 - work for their meal.
 - use a separate lunchroom, serving line or section of the lunchroom.

Sales tax from food purchases accounted for the biggest share of the return with $61,407.

Automotive sales tax returned $54,332 to the state during August while building materials sources accounted for $21,198.

Other sources included non-retail sales, $11,794, furniture, $6,082, miscellaneous retail sales, $9,381, apparel, $3,557, general merchandise, $6,058.

The report indicated that the total tax collected for August was $7,469.31.

The total Michigan sales tax collected from all counties for that month amounted to $62,828,883.04.

enter the lunchroom through a different entrance than is used by children who are paying the full price for meals.

eat lunch at a different time from paying students.

receive a different meal than is provided for paying children.

Children from families, according to the policy statement, whose income level is comparable to or has already qualified them for public assistance as Aid to Dependent Children, shall be determined as eligible for the receipt of free meals.

Bakita told the board that the school involved will use an income scale in determining the eligibility of children for free lunches.

"We are not handing out free lunches to people on strike. All factors are going to be considered and looked into before a free lunch eligibility is determined. Food stamps will be considered as part of the monthly income because, again, we are not handing out these lunches to anybody."

This policy will become effective on or before Nov. 1, according to the statement.

The lovely pink, white and silver 3 tiered wedding cake was cut and served by Lianne VanHorn. The chocolate cake was cut and served by Jane Hulbert. Sharon Hulbert attended the punch bowl and served the coffee.

The long table on which the cakes were served was covered with a white tablecloth trimmed in pink and silver.

JUDGE PIGGINS

branches of government and to advise on the problems and needs of the court. He suggested that this group would go far in alleviating misunderstandings and would generate a "rapport" to avoid petty bickering.

EXTENDED PERIODS of time from criminal arrest to trial also concerns the judge and he feels the need for eliminating such delays is critical and along the same subject, he cited the seemingly irrelevant requirement of 12-man juries. "No one knows how this got started," quipped the judge. "It might have come from the twelve tribes of Jews, the twelve months of the year or the twelve apostles, but six members of a jury, in my estimation, can be just as effective if they are qualified."

The absolute right to appeal was another subject which Judge Piggins discussed. Commenting that appeals cases are paid by the taxpayers, the judge stated that provisions should outline basis upon which appeals could be made. "Certainly, if a trial is unfair, a defendant should be allowed the right of appeal. But there should be good reason."

A final point of discussion involved another element of time. "There should be a rule," commented Judge Piggins, "which requires justices and judges in the court system to render decisions promptly." He also cited the removal of miscellaneous cases from the jurisdiction of circuit courts. Matters such as drivers license revocations and the pre-trial system requires too much "valuable time in circuit courts."

Judge Piggins, whose campaign literature carries the line, "From pickaxe to gavel" worked as a laborer in his younger years before graduating Summa Cum Laude from the Detroit College of Law. He began private law practice in 1936 and in 1954 was named commissioner of the Detroit police department.

He was elected to the circuit court in 1959 and in 1965 was chosen as Grand Jury to investigate alleged irregularities in government, an assignment which resulted in a rash of resignations among Detroit officials.

Judge Edward S. Piggins, center, candidate for a seat on the Michigan Supreme Court, was guest of honor during a morning coffee hour at Walker's Cafe. Chatting with the judge during the informal session are, from left, William Kemper, Conrad Seim and County Treasurer Velma Beaufore. Kemper is serving as chairman of the Clinton County Committee for the Election of Judge Piggins.

We are now the proud owner of a 38-55 lever action Winchester rifle of the 1914 vintage. Our mother-in-law presented it to us this past weekend.

We took it home, cleaned and reblued the barrel, refinished the stock and it is beautiful. We even fired it...and it is true...at least we hit what we aimed at...Big Mama will be out of the hospital in a couple of weeks.

Our apologies to Marjorie Wilcox and the cast of the First Nighters' production of "The Night of January 16th". The night of October 12 Advertising Rep. Carla Vincent picked up the wrong camera on her way to photograph the cast. The result...a series of shots that could be titled "Midnight in a unit coatbin".

Feel the urge to try out your snowmobile. You can Friday and/or Saturday at Bee's Sport Division on south US-27.

Bee's have prepared a 1/4 track of oats stubble and alfalfa seeding and everyone is welcome. They'll even serve cider and donuts and let you try out a '71 Snow Jet or Mercury. The times are 1 to 9 p.m. Friday and all day Saturday.

We're what's known as a fair weather fan...we just don't like to watch or listen to our favorite team getting beaten. We'll jump up and change channels during a game when things look dim.

Lately we've turned off the Lions-Redskins game and Sunday we missed Larry Hand's TD run because the Lions were losing at the time. The only way to have them get and keep an early lead.

This infuriates Big Mama. And she never lets us forget the comebacks we've missed. Like when Cazzle Russell and the U of M beat Indiana in overtime, of the great late-inning rallies the Tigers pulled the year they won the pennant, or remember the year Earl Morrall came off the Lion bench to beat the Colts on the game's final play, we missed it...Anyway what we're leading up to is Hillcrest-Pine Avenue touch-tackle football game for the championship of the entire world including Kansas City.

Our eldest played tight end on offense and tackle on defense... and you may not believe this but he looked like Charlie Sanders and Alex Karras combined. Anyway the Hillcrest 5th graders (our team) came from behind to win and we watched the entire game...most of it in sheer agony. We hollered and screamed and threatened the official (a doltish 6th grader who we're sure was on the take) with s're and instant death if another call went against our team.

But clean living and clear conscience triumphed in the end... and we saw it all...anyway Big Mama had hid the car keys.

MSU's first extension director dies at 86

Robert J. Baldwin, 86, first director of Michigan's Cooperative Extension Service, died Wednesday morning (Oct. 14) at a Pontiac hospital. Funeral services were held Oct. 16, at the Gorsline-Runciman East Chapel in East Lansing.

Baldwin, who resided at 1760 Pine St. in Birmingham, Mich., was a pioneer in leading extension programs aimed at providing information to people in every county of the state. After attending grade school near Brown City, Baldwin continued to pursue his education, but never attended high school. He managed to get into Michigan Agricultural College, now MSU, by passing the entrance examinations.

He graduated with a degree in agriculture in 1904 at age 20 and became director of the Cooperative Extension Service at age 26.

Baldwin was extension director from 1910 to his retirement in 1949, by far the longest period of service of any Michigan extension director. He encouraged extension's first use of radio and television

Raise leader dogs

By JOHN AYLSWORTH

Any youth between 10-18 years of age who likes dogs has a unique opportunity to raise leader dogs for the blind for their 4-H project and do a community service project.

A puppy between 10-16 weeks of age would be furnished to the youth with the breed being either a German Shepherd or another breed accepted for the program. We would like to organize a 4-H dog club of 5 to 10 members who would raise the leader dogs for the blind. The member would raise and train the dog for one year.

At that time the dog would be given his final test and if for some reason the dog washed out the youth would have the opportunity to keep the dog. An adult would be needed to serve as the leader of the club but for the present Daniel Balog of Haslett would serve as the adult leader of this dog training project.

Mr. Balog indicated the puppies provided are top quality animals and many are registered.

If any youth or adult would be interested in participating in this 4-H dog program and community service project please contact John Aylsworth, Extension 4-H - Youth Agent, 1003 S. Oakland, St. Johns or call 224-3288 for more information by Nov. 15.

Clinton county people are reminded of the 4-H Teen Leaders Disposable Glass Container Pickup project that will continue each month.

The next collection day will be Saturday, Nov. 7. In St. Johns the 4-H'ers will pick up the glass containers if the people set them out along the curb by 10 a.m. on the first Saturday of the month while outside of St. Johns people are asked to contact the local 4-H clubs or drop the glass off at the fairgrounds quonset building between 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. on that Saturday.

Although the Glass Container Pickup project is only a small part of the environmental control project, it is creating an awareness that people are looking toward other environmental problems affecting our county and area.

The Arabian Horse Association of Michigan will be holding a schooling clinic on Oct. 24-25 at the Lakewood Farm, Bogie Lake Road, Milford, Michigan.

The schooling is scheduled from 9 a.m. - 10 p.m. on Oct. 24 and from 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. on Oct. 25.

The cost is $2.50 per person per day on days you attend. Lee Caldwell of Colona, Ill. will instruct cutting, equitation, English and western at halter; while Charles Grant will cover the Dressage demonstration and Richard A. Thompson, D.V.M. will cover parasite control and breeding procedures.

The 4-H Teen Leaders will be holding their group hayride on Saturday, Oct. 24, 7:30 p.m. at the home of Jane Smith on Green Road southeast of St. Johns.

Members may bring a guest to this activity and will be asked to share the cost of refreshments. The committee is working out plans for recreation following the hayride.

More details on the glass bottle containers will be explained at this program.

Throughout National 4-H Week, Oct. 4-10, exhibits were placed in several businesses in St. Johns including the Quality Discount House, Central National Bank, Clinton National Bank and in schools while throughout the county the Elsie 4-Corners had an exhibit in Darling's Hardware store in Elsie. The club has placed their Fair litter barrel at the hardware store in Elsie where it will be used from now on.

4-H members planning on having a beef or dairy steer for their 4-H beef project at the 1971 County 4-H Fair Livestock Show and Sale need to have their animals on feed and entered at the Extension office by Jan. 1, 1971.

Prices being paid at feeder calf sales for choice good calves weighing 400-500 pounds has been averaging $35-$40 per hundred.

Gerlynn Favior is the new president of the Jolly Knitters 4-H club for the winter program. The members have a well rounded program which they accepted as presented by the program committee. Demonstrations were given by Marci a Tait on "Care of Knitted Orion Articles" and by Julie Tait on "Picking up Dropped Stitches." Bill Parker will show slides of his trip to the National 4-H Citizenship Short Course at Washington D.C. this past summer at the Nov. 10 meeting at the home of Robert Tait.

Mysterious migrations baffle MSU scientists

The mystery of how birds migrate during migrations is still pretty much unsolved, according to a Michigan State University wildlife expert.

"Field observations indicate that many birds begin their fall migration to the South in response to a change in the period of daylight, rather than in response to a decrease in food supply," says Dr. Harold Prince, assistant professor of fisheries and wildlife at MSU.

"But how do young birds, born in the North, know which route to take to their southern feeding grounds—without the help of their parents? Some species of young sandpipers, for example, travel from Canada to Argentina on flights lasting several weeks, and join their parents in wintering areas they have never seen before. Scientists believe the motivation and the urge to migrate are passed from one generation to the next.

"Exactly how they do it continues to be one of the most puzzling mysteries in nature."

Not all migrations are so long, however. Prince points out that in western mountain ranges songbirds may migrate only a few miles—down to the valleys in winter, and back to the higher mountain slopes in summer. The same situation exists in certain eastern mountain states, such as North Carolina.

Thus the problems of feeding and nesting that cause some species of birds to travel thousands of miles are solved much more easily by others who find great changes of climate by simply moving up and down the mountainside.

On the other hand, some birds, such as woodpeckers, cardinals and chickadees, have solved the problems of survival in a wintry climate and do not migrate at all.

"Many suggestions have been offered toward the solution of the mysteries of bird migration, but as yet we have few proven answers," says Prince.

CITIZENS BAND DISPLAY

Demonstrating the effects of a tornado for the American Red Cross Citizens Band volunteer group are from left Ed Prowant, Clinton County, Mark Kilpatrick, St. Johns and Richard Forman, Eaton County. They took part in festivities during the United Community Chest kickoff parade last week in Lansing. The tri-county communications group assists authorities in area disasters such as the Fowler tornado two-years ago and the Marshall Music Store fire in Lansing this year.

Corn harvest start ahead of schedule

Michigan corn harvest started well ahead of schedule this year due to earlier plantings last spring and in some cases damage by southern corn leaf blight, according to Nick Smith, chairman of the Michigan State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Storage needs for corn this year, he added, may be more critical particularly for producers who have corn that was damaged by the leaf blight.

Producers with corn seriously damaged by the corn leaf blight may find it safer to shell and dry the corn down to about 13% moisture instead of storing it in the ear.

Reports from crop specialists at MSU and Purdue University indicate that blight damaged corn with high moisture, if placed in a crib, may provide a medium for the spread of blight to good kernels of corn.

He reminded farmers planning to use the price support program in their marketing operation that they must arrange for either warehouse space or acceptable farm storage for their corn crop.

With the earlier harvest season, planning for storage must be correspondingly earlier.

Smith mentioned that the county loan rates for Michigan range from $1.06 to $1.12 per bushel, about the same as they were last year.

Dairy alternatives feature of tour

Dairy farmers shouldn't invest a lot of money in new facilities until they have considered all the alternatives.

One way to do this is to attend the dairy farm tour, November 5, in Clare county suggests F. Earl Haas, Clinton County extension director.

The five farm tour features dairy structures and facilities, notes Haas.

Dairy farmers can compare, for example, clay base free stalls with cement base stalls and oxygen-free storage systems with conventional storage.

A new semi-automatic milking system, and milking parlors using heat from milk coolers will be on the tour.

Insulated free-stall barns with up to 220-cow capacity, liquid manure systems and automatic temperature and humidity systems can be compared.

Visitors will also see a variety of vertical feed storage and automatic feed handling-distribution systems.

Host farmers will explain their operations and answer questions. Michigan State University extension specialists and representatives of the companies involved in planning, constructing and equipping the host farms' structures will also be at each farm to answer questions.

The tour starts at the William Walters farm, 5590 East Brown Rd., six miles north of Clare off old U.S. 27, at 9:30 a.m. Free shuttle buses will take visitors to the other four farms.

He added that the recent special crop report indicated that the national corn production would be a little less than 4.2 billion bushels which is down about five percent from the Sept. 1 estimate.

On the other hand, he stated, the Michigan crop is expected to be one of the largest in recent years. The estimated production is approximately 111 million bushels which is 18 million bushels over the 1969 crop.

Normally, he stated, market prices tend to dip during the harvest season and producers who have storage or can obtain storage may wish to hold their corn for marketing later on in the season.

Producers, he said, who stored their 1969 corn or earlier year crops last fall netted more by selling in the late spring and summer than if they had marketed it during harvest.

Smith emphasized that farmers should put as much planning and attention into marketing as they do into production of the crop.

But, he added, there is a general tendency by farmers to let the marketing ride along on a catch-as-catch-can basis, resulting in inadequate marketing plans and a loss by the farmer of the best market for his crop.

Agriculture is the nation's biggest single industry. It employs more people than the utilities, transportation and the steel and auto industries combined.

Shortage of meat inspectors revealed

An increased demand for federal meat and poultry inspection in packing plants around the Detroit area has created an urgent need for inspectors to work for the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"Currently around 25 openings exist in plant locations in Detroit and Quincy, Michigan," according to Dale C. Murray, chief of field personnel operations for USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service.

Murray said that the demand results from the Wholesome Meat Act of 1967 and the Wholesome Poultry Products Act of 1968. These acts extend inspection safeguards to the entire supply of meat and poultry sold in the United States.

Any person with three years experience in livestock or poultry may qualify after passing a written test.

Starting salary is $6,548 per year (GS-5) with a promotion to $8,098 (GS-7) after one year of satisfactory performance.

"Advances in technology and science, which affect our farmers and the meat and poultry industries," have added to the complexity and increased the challenge presented to federal inspectors," Murray pointed out.

Further information about these positions are available by writing Joe McWilliams, Personnel Division, Consumer and Marketing Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, 536 S. Clark St., Rm. 288, Chicago, Ill. 60605.

Farm bureau services name new executive

The board of directors of Farm Bureau Services, Inc. and Farmers Petroleum Cooperative, Inc. announced last week the appointment of Donald R. Armstrong to the position of executive vice president and general manager to the two Michigan Farm Bureau affiliates. Armstrong, formerly vice president of the retail division of Farm Bureau Services, was named following the resignation of William Guthrie who held that position since March, 1966. Guthrie said that he has enjoyed his past four years with Farm Bureau but by his resignation he will be able to move on to fulfill a lifelong dream of establishing his own management-consultant firm. Upon the news of his appointment Armstrong said, "I am confident that growth can be expected in sales, production and profits and I personally am gratified to accept this new position to further serve Michigan farmers."

Armstrong began his career with Farm Bureau Services in 1948 as a warehouseman and later became assistant manager at Yale. In 1951, he transferred to West Branch as manager, then returned to Yale as manager in 1954. In 1958, he transferred to the Battle Creek Farm Bureau Association and later took over the management of Buchanan Farmers Co-op in June of 1966. His appointment as director of the Retail Division of Farm Bureau Services in 1969 was followed with his elevation to vice president before his most recent appointment. He resides in Lansing with his wife, Hattie, and their three sons where he is an active community leader.

With fire prevention week gone for another year, many may forget the service provided by the St. Johns volunteers. Here are several views of the department's work as firemen (above) are called on frequently to extinguish blazes at the landfill site north of the city. Below, testing and retesting of equipment is a vital function of any department, and Fire Chief Claire Maier, left, and Tom Goff are no exceptions as they check St. Johns equipment.

MICHIGAN ELEVATOR EXCHANGE In World War II, infrared photography was used successfully to detect camouflage. It's still used by the armed forces today, but now agricultural scientists are hoping to make it a day-to-day farm tool. Infrared (red color outside the visible color spectrum) is being tested by MSU plant pathologists to spot plant diseases from the air. The researchers feel that it can be used to detect all forms of stress in vegetation—from drought, insect damage, even an underground gas leak. And, says plant pathologist Howard S. Potter, these problems are evident through infrared photography long before they are visible to the naked eye. Since infrared photography is false color, it causes healthy green plant tissue to appear red or pinkish. This is because they reflect light differently than diseased, or unhealthy plants, which show up blue.

BEAN CERTIFICATION This summer, plant biologist Axel Andersen and soil scientist Lawrence Copeland explored infrared photography for use in Michigan navy bean seed certification. With the help of MSU Experiment Station photographer, Phil Coleman, they attempted to detect and follow the progress of bacterial blight in beans from the air. If this can be successfully accomplished, the seed producer could then do one of two things: 1. Withdraw blighted seed from certification. 2. Isolate blighted spots early, even before they are visible to the naked eye, and eradicate these diseased plants so that the remainder of the field can be saved for certification. Other plant pathologists have been examining the use of infrared photography on sugar beets, potatoes and various vegetable crops. At the MSU Lakeview Experiment Station, aerial fertilizer applications were studied, when markers were used. After one week, a comparison of normal color and infrared photographs showed no difference in coverage. However, after only two weeks, 'missed spots'—not visible to the naked eye—showed up on the infrared photographs. The scientists believe that this kind of early detection, which would enable the grower to re-enter his fields soon enough to correct an application problem would apply for pesticides. The plant biologists also hope to do some aerial spray trials on corn. They hope that it can be used to detect the invasion and spread of corn leaf blight. "Infrared photography could be a magnificent tool for both the aerial applicator and the farmer," says Potter, "it would enable the farmer to regulate his control through scientific technology—according to current conditions. Chemicals could be applied in isolated areas before a disease gets started," he continued. "This would save both time and money and reduce the danger of pesticide contamination." "We want to develop infrared photography as a tool, with no mystery to it," the plant pathologist added.

They shoot out insulators, often causing loss of electric service to thousands of homes, as well as stores, factories, hospitals. PETITION INITIATING PROCEDURES FOR THE ADOPTION OF SEPARATE TAX LIMITATIONS

To the county board of commissioners: We, the tax allocation board in the county of Clinton, State of Michigan, year of 1970, hereby petition the county board of commissioners to place before the voters of this county the question of establishing separate tax limitations millage rates (for a period of four years or for an indefinite period), or until altered by the voters of the county, for the county of Clinton and the townships and school districts within the county, the aggregate of which shall not exceed 18.90 mills, as follows:

County of Clinton	6.5
Townships	1.15
Intermediate school districts	.25
Schools	9.00

School districts (a school district located entirely within a city shall receive in addition millage equal to the township millage). Which petition was signed by all members of said Board who are as follows:

GERALD SHEPARD	ARCHIE MOORE
LINUS POHL	RONALD ZEEB
VELMA BEAUFORD	B. STANLEY POCUIS

Pursuant to Section 5D of the Property Tax Limitation Act, I have checked the petition received as to its sufficiency, as provided by Section 552 of Act No. 116 of the Public Acts of 1954, whereby I found the signatures thereon to be genuine and being that of each member of the said Clinton County Tax Allocation Board by unanimous vote of its total membership, and I further found that the petition substantially complied with the provisions of the Property Tax Limitation Act, having been submitted more than thirty (30) days before the convening of the Clinton County Board of Commissioners this 3rd day of August, 1970.

Signed ERNEST E. CARTER
Clinton County Clerk

A letter from Vector Construction Co. requesting re-consideration of their request for a sanitary land fill in Watertown Township was read.

It was moved by Lankford supported by Gove to reconsider their request for a sanitary land fill. Voted aye on a roll call vote, were Gove, Sirrine, Chamberlain, Underhill, Lankford, Andrews and Shepard, Nay were Nobis, Hufnagel, and Montgomery, 7 ayes, 3 nays. Commissioner Cobb was absent. Motion declared carried.

Bruce Love of Vector Construction Company assumed the floor and called for questions. Discussion followed.
Present were Clinton County Road Commissioners Marvin Platte, Paul Nobis, Robert Eldridge, Don Haske; Drain Commissioner, Dale Chapman; Gerald Wilcox, Drain Engineer; Darwin Root, Health Sanitarian; William Coffey, Zoning Administrator; Watertown Township represented by Supervisor, Herman Openlander; Edward Kraft, Rollin Noble and Eloise Ward. Newsre-porters Ray James, Betty Minsky and Tim Younkman.

Kraft pointed out the traffic generated. Wilcox pointed out the solid waste study now being conducted. Haske pointed out the fact that the proposed fill would only serve a small portion of the County.

Coffey states that neither the County Planning Commission nor Tri-County Planning Commission were consulted relative to the proposal.

Chapman states that his opinion dealt with drainage only. Root states that most of the water wells in the area are rock wells and will not be affected by the operation. He says that there are no land fills operating legally in Clinton County at the present time.

Shepard hopes that private enterprise will operate the project and governmental boundaries will need to be crossed to insure a successful operation.

Openlander feels that traffic will become a problem, that a certain stigma will be attached to the operation, valuations of property (at least while the fill is in operation) will deteriorate.

Kraft points out the fact that the proposal has been rejected by both the Township Board and the Planning Commission and feels that this fact should be considered.

It was moved by Hufnagel, supported by Gove, to table action on the matter until the County Planning study is completed. On a roll call vote, those voting aye were Gove, Sirrine, and Hufnagel. Nays were Nobis, Chamberlain, Underhill, Montgomery, Lankford, and Shepard, 3 ayes, 7 nays. Commissioner Cobb was absent. Motion declared lost.

It was then moved by Lankford supported by Shepard that this Board concur with the Zoning Commission recommendations and approve the Vector Sanitary Land Fill. On a roll call vote, those voting aye were Sirrine, Chamberlain, Underhill, Lankford, Andrews and Shepard. Nay were Nobis, Gove, Hufnagel and Montgomery, 6 ayes, 4 nays. Commissioner Cobb was absent. Motion declared carried.

(Legal description and Zoning recommendations in June 15, 1970 meeting Vector Const. Co.)

It was moved by Montgomery supported by Hufnagel to adjourn at this time and to meet again Aug. 24 at 9:00 a.m. Voted and carried.

Meeting adjourned.

Questions & answers on Social Security

Question: For several years I have had a tenant operate my 300 acre dairy on a 50-50 basis. Under this arrangement, I furnish half of the livestock, share equally the expenses, keep all the farm records, and help during the planting and harvesting season. I have always considered this a rental arrangement and the income as rent. Recently, I was told that this income is earnings from self-employment. Is this correct?

Answer: From the general information you have furnished it appears you are a self-employed farmer. The social security act was amended in 1955 to provide that rental income in a taxable year ending after 1955 is includable in net earnings from self employment, if the rental arrangement provides that the owner shall materially participate, and he does participate in the production or management of production of agriculture commodities.

There are several factors to consider in determining if a land owner is materially participating. These factors are, (1) advice and consultation given, (2) periodic inspections made of crops or livestock, (3) management decisions made involving production and, (4) physical work performed in production or management of the production of farm commodities. These are many activities, too numerous to list here, within the broad areas listed above, that can count toward material participation. Therefore, it will be necessary to have more details about your operation before a yes or no answer can be given to your specific question.

Dairy food names tell fat content

Dairy product names can be valuable guides to product fat content, according to Mrs Sheila Morley, consumer marketing information agent for the Cooperative Extension Service at Michigan State University.

"For example, if a carton says table or coffee cream or light cream the fat content is 18 to 20 percent. Whipping cream, however, is 30 percent fat and heavy whipping cream contains 36 percent fat," she said. "Half and half has only 10 to 12 percent fat," she added.

As fat content diminishes, so does calorie count, Mrs Morley said. "Whipping cream has three times the calories of half and half."

"Sour" dairy products are actually cultured fresh cream or milk. Sour cream is made from coffee cream (18 to 20 percent fat). Sour half and half is cultured from half and half (about 10 percent fat).

Yogurt is made from fresh, partially skimmed milk, enriched with additional nonfat dry milk. Plain yogurt is much lower in calories than the flavored varieties, Mrs Morley said.

Question: My husband and I receive social security benefits based on his work under social security. In the past few months my husband has been very ill, and we are unable to pay all the bills with our present income. I'm 63 years old, but I plan to get a full-time job. How will this effect our social security benefits?

Answer: Your husband's benefits will continue regardless of the amount of your earnings. If you earn $1680 or less a year you get benefits for all months of the year. If you earn more than $1680 in a year, the general rule is that; $1 in benefits will be withheld for each $2 you earn from $1680 to $2880. In addition, $1 in benefits will be withheld for each $1 you earn over $2880. Also, regardless of how much you earn in a year, you can get benefits for any month in which you do not earn more than $140.

Individual Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q) I read that if you add a front porch to your house the cost is deductible? Is that right?

A) No, the cost is not deductible. The cost, however, can be added to the basis of your house and taken into account in determining your gain or loss on any future sale.

Q) I filed my return three months ago and my refund still hasn't come. What should I do?

A) Write your regional IRS service center or call your local IRS office. Be sure to give your Social Security number, name, address, and when your return was filed. This information is needed to trace your return. Most refund claims have already been processed and the checks mailed out.

Q) I was married last month and plan to continue working for another year or so. Should I make any change in my tax withholding?

A) You may want to file a new withholding certificate with your employer claiming married status. This will reduce your withholding. However, many married couples who both are employed elect to have tax withheld from each of them as a "single" person to avoid owing large additional amounts of tax at the end of the year. If you plan to file a joint return for the year, as most couples do, your final tax liability will not be affected regardless of whether you or your husband claims your personal exemption.

Q) My daughter started to work last month, but she still lives at home. Will we still be able to claim her as a dependent?

A) It depends on whether she still meets the dependency tests. For instance, you must provide over half of her total support for the year. Regarding her earnings, if they amount to $625 or more you cannot claim her unless she is under 19 at year end or a fulltime student for any five months of the year.

Q) What should you do, if you get a bill for taxes you've already paid?

A) If you have paid the tax recently you can disregard the notice. It was probably issued before the payment had been credited to your account.

However, if the payment was made more than four weeks ago return the notice, indicating when the payment was made and where it was sent.

If you have a cancelled check for the payment also indicate any numbers stamped on the check by IRS. This will help trace the payment.

Q) Is it true that stock market losses are only partially deductible under the new tax law?

A) The new law does make changes in the handling of long-term capital losses. These losses can still be used to offset capital gains, but when long-term capital losses are greater than capital gains, each $1 of the loss can be used to offset only 50¢ of ordinary income.

Short-term capital losses continue to offset ordinary income dollar for dollar.

Q) I work two jobs and both employers are taking out Social Security. Can I do anything about it?

A) The law requires each employer to withhold Social Security tax on the first $7,800 of an employee's wages. If more than the maximum of $374.40 is withheld for Social Security tax in 1970 because you had more than one employer, you can claim a credit for the excess on your 1970 income tax return.

Where we stand

We encourage defeat of Proposal C on the general election ballot.

A vote for the proposed constitutional amendment to prohibit public aid to non-public schools and students could well be a vote against a currently effective system of public and private education in the state.

Michigan voters should, without doubt, to given opportunity to decide the fate of any specific proposal for use of public funds, but the suggested amendment goes much too far to be of public benefit. Originally intended to let voters indicate preference of the legislature approved parochial plan, the amendment as it appears on the ballot, if accepted, would not only void parochial but would eliminate every service presently extended to private schools. Losing these services could be disastrous and for reasons of finance or inability to maintain educational standards many private school students would become public school students as the doors to their schools closed.

In the wake of the parochial hassle, voters have been given a dangerous proposal which, if accepted, can threaten the entire system of education in the state.

We encourage passage of Proposal D, a measure which will allow county commissioners power to participate financially as a member of an airport authority.

The commission wisely voted to participate in the authority which can have much influence on the development of Clinton County and the mid-Michigan area. We encourage voters to support the commission with a vote of confidence for its far-sighted planning.

Letters to the Editor

Sailor thinks paper should be from readers

Dear Editor:

I am a new subscriber to the Clinton County News. Being in the navy I intended to keep up with what is going on back home, but recently an idea occurred to me.

Within the county lies an untapped reservoir of writing talent waiting to be released. Since the Clinton County News is for the people of Clinton County, allow the paper to become a little more by the people. Encourage subscribers to send in their writings for possible printing. Set aside a page or two, according to response, for the purpose of printing these amateur writings. The page would be as varied as contributors' interests; the history buff could send in the result of his research on some aspect of Clinton history, the poet his poems, the cartoonist his cartoons, the comedian his comic writings, the artist his sketches.

I feel the idea should be used for several reasons. (1) It would certainly be as interesting reading material as the remaining town gossip columns still printed. (2) It would create an outlet for frustrated talent. (3) It would make the Clinton County News more of a people's paper.

In the hope of getting the ball rolling I enclose two poems.

Sincerely, LOUIS THELEN

WHAT IS LOVE? Possibly it is to wake in the morning realizing I have someone to live for. The satisfaction of knowing that in some small way I have made you happy. The urge to hold you close forever more. The pang I feel when we must be apart. Or perhaps it is sharing—the sharing of a few hours or a lifetime, a walk on the beach, a picnic, an ocean-side drive, and defeat, sorrow and joy.

I must confess that I don't know what love is. But won't you come with me anyway. For it is more important to live love than to define it.

She wonders what's happening at junior high

Dear Editor,

What is happening to our Junior High? Just recently I stopped by there to have a look at my old locker and rooms and I was very disappointed! Not only was the school full of scribbles on the walls, lockers and rest rooms, but it was just filthy in general. Even the outside is very untidy with a very messy-looking landscape. It seems that with the new high school all attention has been taken away from the Junior High. It is not just the fault of the custodian of the Junior High, but also the students. It seems they should have more respect for their school and the beauty of it.

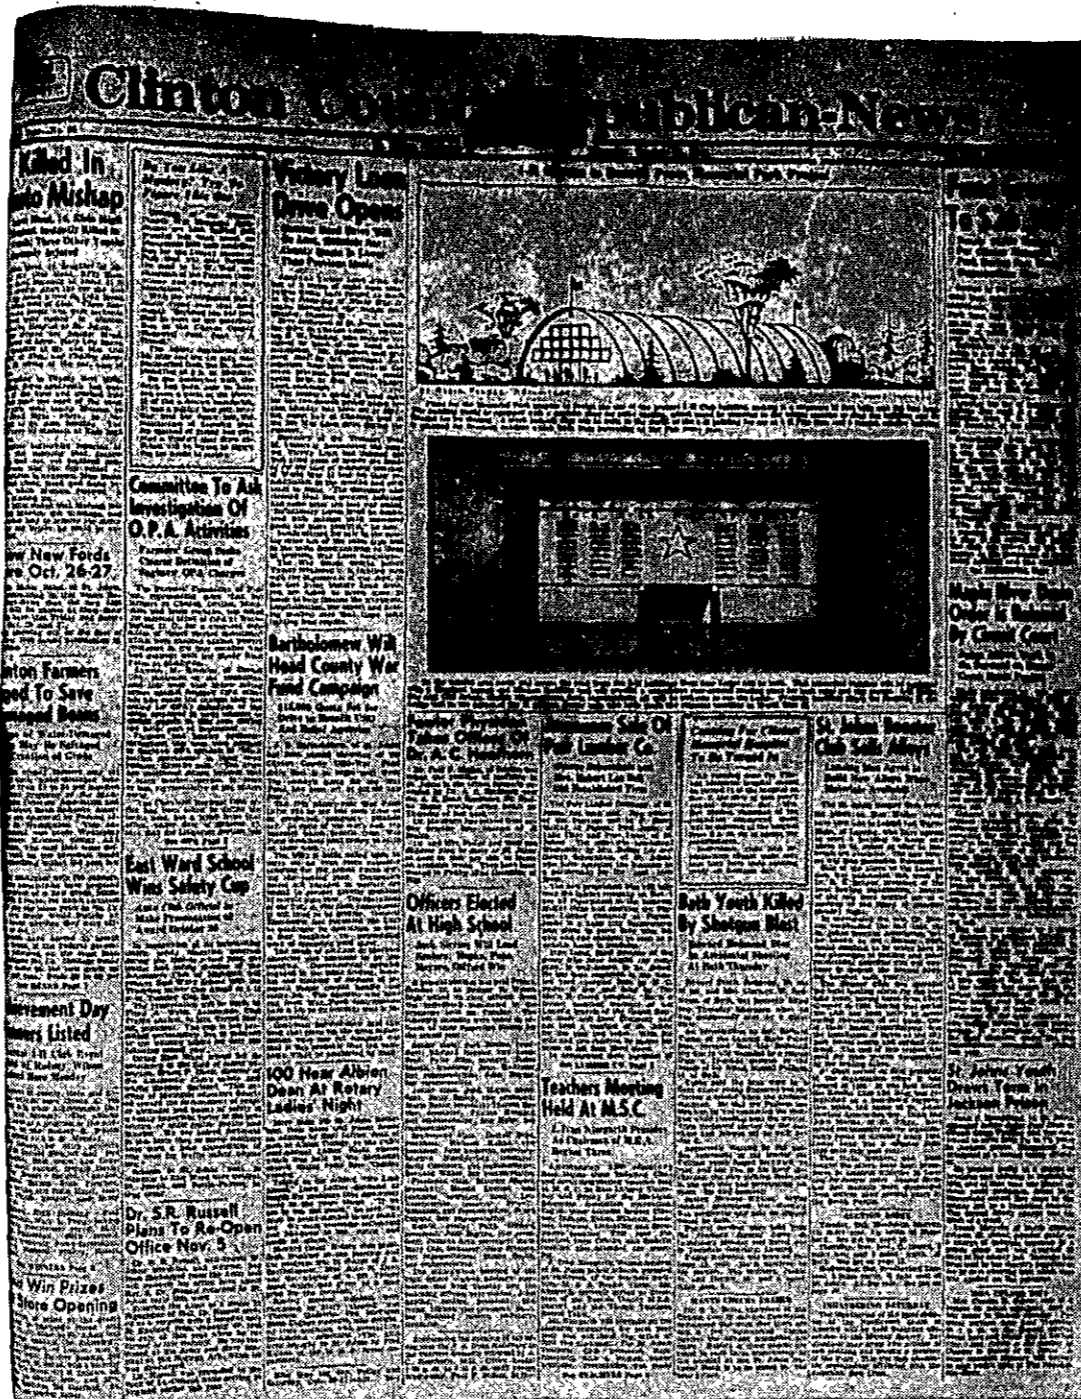

Many people have graduated from this school and I know, since they have all been very proud of it, that they are very disappointed in the school officials who are letting it deteriorate like this. Something should be done now! Some concerned citizens or the alumni should band together and see to it that our Junior High continues to make the students and citizens of our town proud of it as we have been in the past.

Sincerely, CINDY HETTLER

ONE YEAR AGO Oct. 22, 1969

It was announced by the state tax commission that property assessments in the county will stand as approved in April of 1969 by the then Board of Supervisors. According to Clerk Ernest Carter, the county's appeal was considered by the state tax commission at their meeting on October 7. The St. Johns Area Development Corporation assumed informal organization during the week when appointments to a temporary board was announced by chairman Rollin Huard. Named to the temporary board were Harold Wellman, president, Central National Bank; Bob Sirrine, Osgood Funeral Home; Jim Leon, Saylor-Beall Mfg. Co.; Ken Moore, F. C. Mason Co.; Brandon White, president, St. Johns Chamber of Commerce, and attorney James Moore.

General Telephone has recently expanded with the construction of a 24-car parking lot adjacent to the main building. The lot will be hard-surfaced next year after completion of a building addition of 5,600 sq. ft. of floor area on three floors.

Steven Eckert was promoted to the position of Process Engineer at Sealed Power Co. in St. Johns. The promotion was announced by L. G. Sexton, plant manager. State Treasurer Allison Green was a featured guest at the recent Tuesday meeting of the St. Johns Rotary Club. Green told the assembled Rotarians that the state of Michigan taxpayers paid $15.8 million in taxes last year to state, federal and local government.

High School thumped the Comets of Grand Lodge 14-7. Head Coach Jeff Smith said it was the hardest hitting ball game any team of his had played in the previous two years. A penalty against Grand Lodge in the fourth quarter prevented a possible game-tying touchdown by the Comets.

The Clinton County Farm Bureau celebrated their 50th anniversary with a dinner-meeting attended by 350 local members of the organization. The meeting was also the organization's annual business meeting. New officers were elected and a series of resolutions were discussed and acted upon.

TEN YEARS AGO Oct. 20, 1960

A new voter registration high for Clinton County was attained through the big 33 per cent increase registered by DeWitt Township since the April figures of registered voters.

Total registration for the county is 17,699, up approximately 2,600 from the April figure of 15,120 reported by township clerks. Incumbent members of three county commissions were reappointed at a Friday session of the board of supervisors in St. Johns and were all granted pay raises. The returning members were George Libby of Duplain, C. S. Langhorn of Lebanon, Rudolph Mohnke of Bengal, Mrs. Otto Wakefield of St. Johns and Ronald Zeeb of DeWitt.

25 YEARS AGO Oct. 25, 1945

America's Victory Loan Drive, the last of a series of eight such campaigns which have helped so much in the financing of World War II, began throughout the nation on Oct. 29.

Dorr Anderson, of St. Johns, heads the drive in Clinton County, replacing E. W. Fehling, who recently resigned as head of the bond sales committee. Anderson said that he was confident the workers from other loan campaigns would also give their time during this final drive.

Parr Lumber Co. of St. Johns was sold to F. Harry McKay, of Pigeon; Paul Jopke, of Lake City, and Ivan Lutes, of St. Johns. The sale was announced by Mrs. Robert Lee and George Schoenhals, of St. Johns, who have operated the business as a partnership for the past nine years.

The St. Johns Booster Club bowling alleys on East Walker Street was sold to Leland and Wayne Hicks of Lansing, who agreed to erect a building to house new alleys in St. Johns as soon as possible when materials are available.

'IF IT FITZ . . .

Storefront reporters

By JIM FITZGERALD

TV is full of shows about lawyers who work for free and doctors who make house calls to neighboring countries on Hondas after midnight. But whatever happened to the brash reporter with the flask of gold who used to save the world while wearing a hat with the brim turned up?

The newspaper profession is obviously being ignored by TV producers. Something should be done about it and I am just the clown to do it.

My show will be called "The Young Storefront Reporters". My 3 reporters are a Negro woman, a male Indian teenager, and another young man whose nationality cannot be immediately determined because of all the hair hanging in his face. He is my wild-card character. At any time during the series he can get a haircut and reveal himself to be a Jew or an Arab or a Viet Cong or even a conservative Republican, whatever seems politically expedient at the time. These 3 reporters work for a wise, kindly, older (but still sexy) editor who has ink in his veins. This was discovered during World War 2 and he was thrown out of a Red Cross blood bank on his ear.

This wise editor knows everything but he does not force his will upon young Indian, Negro and Wild Card. He lets them make their own decisions and go their own way, as long as they report back to him 1 minute before each commercial.

"It's the only way," the wise editor explains. "These youngsters must have their freedom to do their thing. And besides, this way they do all the work."

I will play the part of the wise old editor.

A typical plot might concern this young girl who comes into the newspaper office to buy a year's subscription. But it costs $5 and she has only $3.

This is a young person with a problem! Indian, Negro and Wild Card leap to her assistance. They really do leap right over the subscription counter, knocking their wise, kindly editor flat on his ink-stained pants.

Besides being $2 short, the subscriptionless girl also has some minor problems. She's pregnant and unwed. She's on heroin and has VD. She ran away from home 4 years ago and her millionaire parents have not yet noticed she is gone. They have been too busy selling Establishment taffy at the PTA Fair. And there's a busted string on her guitar.

It would spoil things if I told you how Indian and Negro and Wild Card solve this girl's problems. But you can be sure they get the job done before the wise old editor is back on his ink-stained feet. For details, watch your TV listings.

However, to keep you eager, I will let you in on the ending. Most of the doctor-lawyer shows end with the heroes running down a street. But no one ever knows why they are running. On my show, you'll know.

Indian and Negro and Wild Card are running after a Red Cross bloodmobile which, by mistake, has accepted some of the editor's blood.

Mac's Moments

A little foresight . . .

By TOM McLENEY

Tragedies occur every day throughout the world. The horrible student deaths at Kent State last Spring and at Jackson State soon after were indeed tragedies. But, when 30 people are killed on their way to a football game in a plane that should have been leased for scrap instead of a trip from Kansas to Utah, that is something else.

I'm talking, of course, about the air tragedy over two weeks ago involving members of Wichita State football team and coaching staff.

A person couldn't stop blaming people for the accident so I'm going to start with a few.

There were so many loopholes in the flying agreement for the football season, anyway. Two separate companies got together, one supplying the aircraft while the other furnished the pilots and stewardesses. Apparently, this was done to make a few bucks on one side and protect against certain types of legal charges on the other.

Whoever was so careful not to be "pinned" in any way certainly didn't give any thought to the flying ability of the planes. Reports say the Martin 404, the plane that crashed, was 20 years old and in moth balls until just prior to the football season.

Another report says the plane had developed trouble the week before the crash when the team had to travel to Texas for a game. It seems the other plane, a Martin 202, had to make two trips to transport all the team. Now you are saying to yourself, "Why didn't somebody at the college or someone from the Federal Aviation Administration, FAA, know of the evident defects on the plane?"

Well, that's my question, too. Why does it always take a terrible thing like this to open some eyes and make people listen? I'm not blowing my own horn, here. I'm just as to blame as the next guy when it comes to a little foresight on a subject.

But, just think of what a little foresight would have done in this case.

First of all, the school officials should have forgotten a little bit about thrift and chartered a legally licensed company to transport the team to away games during the season. $24,000 was the package price for the fall excursions.

Second, a look at the planes by Wichita State officials should have made them a little apprehensive of their air-worthiness. No matter how much polish is put on something 20 years, there has to be some signs that the plane could have malfunctions.

Third, the trouble with the landing gear of the Martin 404 the week before the crash should have spurred a close check of the plane before the trip to Logan, Utah.

Fourth, what about the warning that Wichita State ticket director Floyd Farmer received from an FAA official for attempting to sell tickets on the team flight to the Texas game on Sept. 12.

The official warned that selling tickets in such a manner as that would be illegal because Golden Eagle Aviation, the supplier of the flight crews, held only an air-taxi certificate and thus could not fly planes as big as those required to carry a football team and its fans.

Farmer agreed and the ticket offer was withdrawn but the college still held to its contract with Golden Eagle.

After the crash, FAA inspectors immediately took hold of the Martin 202 that had landed safely in Logan and proceeded to give it a thorough inspection. Sixteen defects were found in the plane by the FAA including excessive oil leakage and a corroded battery. The plane was quickly grounded.

This was good, but shouldn't the other plane have been grounded before the flight to Logan, and for that matter, before the whole season started.

Many grief-filled parents and families in Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Florida probably thought so as they saw their sons and brothers being laid in a much-too-early grave.

Football will begin again on Oct. 24 for Wichita State but the team will be filled with the thoughts of death and the memories of their 13 teammates who died needlessly on the east slope of a mountain ridge in the Rockies.

Maybe all of us should start thinking in a positive vein with a little foresight instead of simply offering our sorrow after something unfortunate has already occurred.

TAKING FIVE

Neat and clean

By RON HUARD

Women are not the only ones up in arms over fashions. The men are too.

Well, some of them anyway. I am.

During the height of the women's lib activity last summer, I couldn't understand why chicks who didn't want to wear bras ditched out so much lip. Their freedom is obvious to even the most casual of observers.

Then when the fall fashions began making the scene, I couldn't for the life of me, understand why there was so much to-do over the mini, midi and maxi skirts. Why, I wondered, couldn't the women just quietly pick out their thing and go about wearing it? Why all the chatter?

My dear mother—even to this day—has a prime fashion requirement. It was branded on us when we felt the pinch of the first diaper and I guess I've grown to believe it: "It doesn't make any difference what you wear as long as it's neat and clean."

I heard that line so often as a kid I thought my dad ran a dry-cleaning shop. I didn't find out differently until, at age seventeen, I heard ma bragging to the neighbor that she'd just out-lived her fourth washing machine, not to even mention the long forgotten washboards. "You gotta keep 'em neat and clean," she hollered to her friend as she headed for the basement.

Well, ever since I found out the saying wasn't a sales pitch, I've kinda adhered to it. And it's on the strength of this that I'm forced to add a few lip movements to those of the ladies who can't seem to quit jawing about the length of skirts.

My crusade is not the length of skirts, but the width of ties. If they get much wider we can fit a piece of elastic around the waist and use 'em as dikkies. The only real advantage to the wide tie is that it keeps the bean-soup stains off the shirt. But most shirts are so dark any more the only spot that shows is the one made by white ink. And who uses white ink?

As can be guessed, I don't own a wide tie and unless fashion changes I'll probably go to my grave in the tattered and shredded remnants of the formerly popular narrow things. The only guy who I ever thought looked half-way nice in a wide tie was Nikita Krushchev. I detracted from his wrinkled shirt. Apparently his mother's saying was simply, "Wear anything."

Unlike the ladies, however, my crusade will not seek wide support. I simply plan to continue wearing my narrow ties with as little fanfare as possible.

I'll probably never make any top fashion lists but whenever I walk up the driveway at my folks' home ma will holler at pa and say proudly, "Doesn't he look neat and clean?"

View from the 87th Proposal C

By REP. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

The controversy and uncertainty continues to build and swirl around "Proposal C," the constitutional amendment to ban public aid to non-public schools. The primary question continues to be, of course, whether the amendment goes farther than even those opposed to direct state aid want to go.

As it has been from the start, the question of non-public school aid is not a clear-cut political issue. From the very beginning both parties have had members opposing the concept of non-public aid, while others have supported it. A limited program of non-public aid was adopted in close voting in the Legislature, and later upheld by the State Supreme Court as valid under Michigan's present Constitution.

But Proposal C, if adopted, would change the State Constitution to specifically prohibit such aid.

The major question remains: How far would this prohibition go? Both gubernatorial candidates have taken positions that would go far beyond eliminating the program of salary aid for lay teachers in non-public schools approved by the Legislature. Both candidates say they personally believe that all auxiliary educational services the state now provides for these schools would be rescinded. The only clear exception would be transportation, which is specifically mentioned in the proposed amendment. They contend that such services as remedial reading, speech therapy, health and nurse services, and special aid for mentally and physically handicapped and emotionally disturbed children, would most likely be eliminated.

Both gubernatorial candidates have made it clear that their positions are personal ones, and are not intended as policy positions for their respective parties.

The full impact of the amendment can only be determined in a court test. That will not come prior to the election.

Attorney General Kelley, after first refusing to issue his personal legal opinion, has reversed his field and responded to the many inquiries to him as the state's chief legal officer.

He said he believes the amendment would definitely prohibit the program approved by the Legislature, as well as other forms of direct assistance to non-public school students, parents or employees. He offered the opinion that most auxiliary services and shared-time or dual enrollment programs would be cancelled.

He stated that he thinks property tax exemptions and other regular government services, such as police and fire protection, and athletic events between public and non-public schools, would not be affected.

The Attorney General's definition of the potential effect of adoption of "Proposal C" pretty closely matches my own personal analysis of the problem. I have said from the beginning that I thought the effects would be limited to areas directly related to education, and would probably not extend to general government services such as police and fire protection.

But again, these comments are only opinion. A final and binding answer can come only from our courts.

As the election approaches, I will continue to include new developments concerning this very important issue in my reports.

The means to an end

By REV. HUGH BANNINGA

In the parable of the Good Samaritan lawyer comes up to Jesus and asks him what he must do to inherit eternal life. Jesus asked the lawyer what was written in the Jewish Law concerning eternal life.

The lawyer answered, "Love God with all your heart, soul strength and mind; and love your neighbor as yourself." Jesus said, "That's the right answer. Do all that and you will live."

But the lawyer wasn't finished. He asked, "But who is my neighbor?" So Jesus, in his patient way, answered the lawyer with the story of the Good Samaritan.

He told the lawyer how a man was beaten and robbed by a gang of thugs and left to die by the road. He pointed out that a priest and Levite (two devout men of the established church) came upon the victim lying by the road and how both of them ignored him.

Jesus then asked the lawyer which of the three men acted as a good neighbor. What could the lawyer have said but that it was the Samaritan? Then Jesus told the lawyer, "Go and do as he did."

This lawyer tried to put Jesus on the defensive. He wanted Jesus to discuss the central point of religion which was the attainment of eternal life. But besides this, the lawyer wanted to know if his learning.

However, Jesus turned the tables on him by telling him to love his neighbor. Since the lawyer wasn't quite sure of who his neighbor was, Jesus told him, by way of the parable.

The lawyer in this story symbolizes the philosophical approach toward religion. He was interested only in the implications of the question, "Who is my neighbor?"

He enjoyed talk as an end in itself. He wanted to talk about the philosophy of neighborliness. With his training in the courts he thought he could put the simple carpenter from the country in his place.

It must have been quite a shock.

The Rt. Rev. Bernard J. Sheil Catholic Bishop once said: "If a Non-Union worker in a partially organized industry is receiving a good income, it is quite probably because his Non-Union employer, in order to keep the Union out, meets, or nearly meets, the higher wage and hours standard of Union establishments. Clearly such Non-Union employees are eating the fruits of others' sacrifices. The workers in the Union shops perhaps risked their jobs to get their Union recognized, and pay monthly dues to keep it going. It is a categorical injustice for Non-Union employees, enjoying the common benefits, to refuse to carry their share of the common burden."
