Moonlight madness fun

These girls indicate just part of the fun last Wednesday night in St. Johns as area shoppers were treated to a moonlight madness sale celebration.

Fire starters should leaf well enough alone

If you've looked out the window lately and seen your leaves on fire even though you never struck a match — you could be 1 of the victims of the latest juvenile prank: leaf arson. St. Johns Police say they and the St. Johns Fire Dept. have had at least 14 cases of leaf arson during the past week.

What happens is that juveniles — or destructive-inclined persons — drive by a house, toss a match out the window and then drive away chuckling about the fire they've set.

Fortunately, St. Johns Police haven't had any cases of a leaf fire turning into a more serious house fire.

However, police say all St. Johns residents should keep an eye out for the leaf arson pranksters or else their property could go up in smoke.

Death claims former school board president

Donald L. Craig, former president of the Ovid-Elsie School Board died at 1:51 a.m. Oct. 16 at the Owosso Memorial Hospital following a 9-month illness.

Mr. Craig, 52, of 2080 N. Hollister Rd., Ovid, was first elected to serve on the Ovid Public School Board in 1957. He was later appointed to serve on the interim school board in 1964 after Ovid and Elsie School Districts merged, and was elected to serve on the new Ovid-Elsie School Board in August of 1964. During 1967-68 he acted as School Board president, and was vice president of the board during 68-69.

Mr. Craig, a farmer, was also a board member of the Corunna A.S.C. and belonged to the Ovid Masonic Lodge #127. He was a MSU graduate and belonged to the Middlebury United Methodist Church.

Mr. Craig was born in Middlebury Twp. Feb. 18, 1923, to George and Clara Willson.

He was adopted when he was 5 years old by Mr. and Mrs. Dale Dale Craig, following the death of both of his parents.

Mr. Craig attended Middlebury and Ovid schools, and resided in Middlebury Twp. until 1973, when he moved to Ovid.

He married Madge Green in Ovid on Nov. 9, 1947.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Brian Knudinger at Houghton Chapel of Osgood Funeral Homes, Inc. Ovid, Oct. 18. Masonic services were observed at the Houghton Chapel, Friday evening, and burial was in Hillcrest Cemetery in Owosso.

Mr. Craig is survived by his wife, Madge; sons, John of Charlotte and Robert of Lake Placid, N.Y.; daughters, Mrs. Karline Ike of Middlebury, Rita and Amy at home.

He is survived also by four grandchildren; one brother, Ward Willson of Lapeer; and one sister, Mrs. Margaret Davis of Owosso.

Nurses charge unfair labor practice at hospital

ST. JOHNS — Unfair labor practice charges have been filed before the National Labor Relations Board against Clinton Memorial Hospital Administrator Paul E. McNamara by the Clinton Memorial Hospital Nurses Organization.

The charges, according to the Clinton Memorial Hospital Nurses Association, stem from a unilateral pay increase implemented by McNamara without notification to the bargaining representative.

The release said the Nurses Organization was certified by the National Labor Relations Board last year as the exclusive bargaining agent for Registered Nurses and Licensed Practical Nurses at the St. Johns' facility, and has been negotiating with the hospital since early this year.

According to the release, both parties had agreed to go to mediation on economic issues prior to McNamara's unilateral action.

McNamara responded, saying, "Basically, I think filing unfair labor practice is ridiculous. We had reached an impasse in our bargaining on economic matters and we did not feel nurses should have to wait any longer for a wage increase. Our real hope is that we can negotiate an equitable settlement quickly and resolve the issues."

Highway department wants more US-27 alternatives

LANSING—The Department of State Highways and Transportation will ask the State Highway Commission to consider a wider range of alternative locations for a proposed new US-27 highway between Lansing and St. Johns than an engineering consulting firm recommended, Department Director John P. Woodford said today.

The Department's recommendations will be submitted to the Commission at its meeting here Oct. 22.

Woodford said the Department, like the consultant, Wilbur Smith and Associates, will recommend construction of an improved highway facility for the 31-mile stretch of US-27 between Lansing and Ithaca. It also supports the consultant's recommendation that the proposed new facility follow the alignment of the existing highway from Colony Road north of St. Johns north to a connection with the existing freeway near Ithaca, he said.

The Department and the consultant also recommend new construction to by-pass St. Johns to the east.

However, in the stretch extending from the existing freeway near DeWitt north to the St. Johns bypass, the Department will recommend consideration for locating the facility within a broad two-mile-wide corridor bordered by Williams Road on the west and Chandler Road on the east.

Upgrading of the existing four-lane divided facility between the two cities also should be considered, the Department said. Another alternative would be a route that crosses from the existing US-27 corridor to the proposed new corridor at one or more locations.

Wilbur Smith and Associates, culminating a 14-month study, recommended an alignment within a half-mile-wide corridor on a route one or two miles east of the existing highway.

The Department, like the consultant, reported on the sharp growth in traffic volumes on the existing highway, an increase in traffic accidents (395 along the 31-mile stretch in 1973) and the difficulty of local traffic in crossing the highway during peak travel periods. The Department also noted that Sleepy Hollow State Park, now being developed east of US-27, is planned to accommodate 1.3

million users annually and will contribute to heavy traffic volumes on US-27.

The Department said the highway should be developed to:

- Minimize "to the extent practical" both taking of farmland and disruption of farm operations.
- Minimize negative social, economic and environmental impacts of the new facility.
- Complement the state's policy of encouraging economic growth in northern Michigan counties, including Michigan's tourist industry.
- Reduce the volume of travel on local county roads.
- "Safely and economically" serve long-distance travel as well as daily commuter trips into the Lansing area.

Assessment fight continues in DeWitt Township

DEWITT TWP.—The fight between a DeWitt Twp. citizens' group and the Township Board of Trustees over a proposed special assessment district isn't over; in fact, it may have only just begun.

The citizens, headed by Joan Calder, are now considering not paying the assessment, going to court and having County Prosecutor Jon Newman and the Attorney General take legal action against the township board because the board voted on Oct. 14 to have Township Treasurer Nancy Cheney collect the 1 mill for police and fire that the assessment calls for.

Earlier that day, the County Board of Commissioners, led by Commr. Max Calder, told the township they couldn't levy that mill because, in the opinion of Newman, it is improper.

Newman's opinion was apparently based on the contentions of the citizens' attorney and former assistant prosecutor, William Jackson.

Jackson told the commissioners that the township millage request was improper because it was unconstitutional and because the citizens had turned in enough petitions calling for a referendum on the assessment.

The township board, however, according to Township Clerk Donna Syverson, voted to spread the assessment anyway because they don't believe the county board has any authority over the township's assessment.

Mrs. Syverson said a special assessment district is different than a millage levy and therefore, a county board has nothing to say about it.

She also said that because the assessment is specified in dollars, not mills, it doesn't violate the state constitution which says local governments can't levy over 15 mills without voter approval.

Voter approval is not necessary for a special assessment district to be created.

As for the referendum petition, Mrs. Syverson said not enough were turned in before the Sept. 15 deadline that Township Attorney, J. Richard Robinson set.

Jackson and the citizens don't go along with the township's rationale.

Jackson termed the township board's Oct. 14 action as "lawlessness" and Commr. Calder vowed to fight it.

"I can't believe that tax is going to be levied," he said.

He also said the citizens will work to make sure that something is done before the taxes are mailed out Dec. 1.

Mrs. Calder indicated that DeWitt Twp. County Commissioner, Virginia Zeeb, could suffer political repercussions because she was the only commissioner not to vote against the township's millage request.

Mrs. Zeeb told the board she didn't think they should rule on something the courts should decide.

Theatre plans celebration

ST. JOHNS — Plans are presently underway to celebrate the 40th Anniversary of Clinton Theatre in downtown St. Johns according to John Cockrum, owner of the theatre.

After a meeting last week with members of a special anniversary committee, Cockrum said that Thursday, Nov. 6, was designated to be the evening to commemorate the theatre's beginnings which date back to Nov. 1, 1935.

Cockrum said it was too early to give a complete schedule of the anniversary events but did indicate that it would be an evening featuring "red carpet" treatment of specially invited guests, surprise entertainment and a showing of a film representative of the era in which the Clinton Theatre started business operations.

More information will be released as further planning efforts develop, Cockrum said.

The County Board of Commissioners have adopted a total figure of $2,740,994 for their 1976 budget.

They haven't, however, decided how they're going to spend that figure.

Commr. Walter Nobis, chairman of the finance committee, said it's his fault that the complete budget isn't available and said it should be ready for public inspection by Nov. 29 in the County Clerk's office.

The board will hold a public hearing on the budget at their Nov. 4 meeting.

Nobis said they could have used last year's figures and held a public hearing in September, but added that the approximate figures he has now are more accurate.

While he blames himself for not having the budget finished, he also said that salary figures haven't been ironed out and that already, he's had requests for over $3 million.

Commissioner takes swipe at police

ST. JOHNS — The St. Johns City Commission last week approved the Fraternal Order of Police contract with the St. Johns Police Dept., but not before Commr. Gerald Wilcox took a verbal swipe at the department.

He said he broke the tie vote a year ago to approve the 1st contract to see if the department, would be "better than it has been in the past".

However, he said then he felt the department was "very inept from the treatment of young people on Clinton Ave. to following people with their (police dept.) headlights out."

Mayor Roy Ebert, along with Wilcox, voted against the contract, but explained that it wasn't a reflection on the performance of the police, but, rather his opinion the police didn't need a union.

Voting in favor of the contract was Donald Roesner, John Hannah and John Arehart. In another action, the Commission voted against joining a Tri-County sewer authority. John Hannah attempted to table the matter, but his motion died for lack of support.

Wilcox then moved to vote against joining, seconded by Ebert. Hannah was the lone no vote, saying he favored the table of the item.

The "Wheel" celebrates 20 years in business

The Wheel Inn

To many travelers on U.S. 27, St. Johns has meant one thing - a rest break over a cup of coffee, a sandwich or a full meal at the Wheel Inn. For 20 years now the "Wheel" has been a stopping place for travelers and truckers and a gathering spot for area residents of all ages. Originally opened as a soft-ice cream drive-in, the business was acquired in 1955 by Juanita O'Leary and converted into a forerunner of the present restaurant. Even in those early days, travelers and locals alike were attracted to the Wheel and deep alliances were established through a combination of tasty food and a warm friendliness. "We have customers who began stopping here right after we first opened," explains Mrs. O'Leary, "who later have moved - perhaps to Florida - but who continue to stop in whenever they come through St. Johns. We get to know our customers and these people have made our work here rewarding." Through the years, the atmosphere of the Wheel has remained the same - cheerful - but the building has changed. In early 1970 Mrs. O'Leary opened a completely remodeled Wheel Inn featuring enlarged dining areas, modernized equipment and an expanded menu. Recently the entire parking area surrounding the restaurant received a concrete cover offering patrons convenience and safety during their visits. While the years have brought change to the restaurant itself, the customers seem to remain the same and their host looks forward to their visits and chance meetings. "I have met some of our customers in surprising places," she explained. "I met a couple in Florida one time who looked familiar and come to find out, they have been regular customers through the years. They recognized me and commented how they always stop in St. Johns on their way north. I've met many others in various parts of the country and it's always pleasant to see a friendly and familiar face. It's also pleasant to learn they place the Wheel high on their list of places to stop while traveling." Recently, employees of the Wheel arranged a surprise party in honor of Juanita's 20 years in business and over 500 persons attended. Customers, suppliers, employees, former employees and friends enjoyed a buffet dinner and dance and shared memories and events of their times together. Guests came for several distant cities in the state and congratulatory calls or messages came in from well wishers throughout the country. "I've never been so unnerved in my life," commented Juanita. "It was simply overwhelming to have that many people express their friendship. I could hardly get myself together for days afterward." While she was pleased with the turnout she has special praise for the suppliers and employees who worked on party arrangements. "There was a lot of planning and effort put into that party and I have an equal amount of appreciation for the suppliers and my employees. They're all just great." Among the guests were Mrs. O'Leary's children, Denise Starck and Nancy Goff of St. Johns; Patty of Holland and Joe who lives in Indiana. Mrs. O'Leary's husband, John, died this past winter following an extended illness.

This week The Wheel will formally commemorate its 20-year existence with an open house and many of the people who surprised Mrs. O'Leary at Highland Hills will undoubtedly be on hand again. They'll be there to honor her and the business that grew from 5 to 50 employees and has helped draw attention to St. Johns through friendly and satisfying service to customers.

Thanks St. Johns . . .

Juanita O'Leary

County has museum

Thanks to the County Bicentennial Committee, the County Historical Society and the County Board of Commissioners, Clinton County now has a Bicentennial Museum at 1009 S. Oakland St., St. Johns. The museum committee, made up of members from the bicentennial committee and the Historical Society, had been looking for a place to house a county museum throughout the summer. Finally, the County Board came up with the Oakland St. house and decided to let the museum committee have it. According to Hila Bross, a member of the museum committee, the house will be in the hands of the committee until Sept. 30, 1976. The committee will pay the utility bills and get the house in shape for the bicentennial celebration. Mrs. Bross said several people have already offered to volunteer their time, as well as some exhibits. She also said the committee hopes to open the museum during the holiday season.

Deer time

BATH — It's that time of year when deer come prancing out of the woods.

Unfortunately, for motorists, they often come prancing too quickly and in Bath this has resulted in 2 car-deer accidents during the past week — both on Upton Road.

According to Bath Police Chief, Gene Reno, the latest accident was Sunday when Steven Frank Arass, 121401 Hunter Road, Bath, ran into a deer, killing it, as he was driving north on Upton, between Clark and Stoll Roads.

Last week, a similar accident took place near the same spot. Bath isn't the only place reporting deer accidents — the County Sheriff's Dept. said a similar accident took place on Thursday in St. Johns.

This time, however, Sheriff's officials say Douglas E. Hass, 907 W. McConnell, St. Johns, swerved off the road, just missing a deer on Airport Road, 1/2 mile north of M-21.

BIRTHS

The family of Lulu Boak of Fowler will host an open house on Sunday, Oct. 26, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the St. Paul's Lutheran Parish Hall in Fowler. All friends, neighbors and relatives are invited. It is requested that no gifts be brought.

TOGETHER

It's how we solve problems and get through bad times.

The funeral is an occasion for family and friends to get together, share their feelings, and help each other as much as they can.

Why Yahshua, not Jesus? Romans called him Esus. Greeks pronounced it ee-ay-sooee (note similarity to their "god" Zeus.) Some returning to pure language as prophesied Zeph. 3:9 calling Him properly Yahshua, as called originally, meaning YAHVEH Savior (Hallelujah).

THE STONE HOUSE 407 EAST WEBB DRIVE

The Stone House was built for A.D. [Del] Rose by Harvey Butler; it was begun in 1936 and finished in 1938. A stock floor plan, modeled in clay was made by Rose's son, Frank, as a guide.

Construction featured reinforced concrete floors and ceilings throughout. Well over 100 barrels of cement was used and mixed in a one wheel-harrel mixer. Stones were hauled from as far as 50 miles away, all stones are whole and the walls are four feet in thickness in places. There is tile and cinder block inside stone. Stones were raised by block and tackle.

There is an air conditioner constructed by C. Brenner of Lansing which takes air from an old cistern. Canvas drops with a spray took the dust from the air.

Total cost of building was $5,000. Top laborers received $1.00 per hour and unskilled laborers received 50¢ per hour. Cement was $1.50 a barrel. The farm included more than 75 ac. and had a large barn which burned during the 1960's. The old homestead that was on the site was moved 2 houses to the East and is still in use.

The first slaughter house in the area was southwest of the house and hauled water from Prairie Creek to wash the meat. The slaughter house furnished cans to DeWitt homes to collect garbage to feed the hogs. This was the beginning of Rosevale Packing Company which has now become Michigan Beef Company.

Vitality and vittles

DEWITT -- If Johnny won't eat his breakfast and Suzie only wants bosco and potato chips for dinner, then the "Vitality and Vittles" nutrition program starting this week in DeWitt Elementary Schools is just what they need.

"Vitality and Vittles", according to DeWitt Elementary Schools Principal Don Powell, is a program that aims to teach nutrition and good eating habits to the kids at David Scott and Fuerstenau Elementary Schools.

The program is being sponsored by the Capitol Area March of Dimes -- they've contributed $520 -- the Michigan Dairy Council and the MSU Cooperative Extension Service in St. Johns.

Chloe Padgett, home economist with the extension service, has been conducting classes for about 40-50 mothers from DeWitt and Ovid, teaching them how to teach the program in their own schools.

According to Powell, the program will get started this week and planned are 10 1 1/2 hour to 2 hour sessions where the mothers will teach the kids about nutrition by allowing them to prepare certain dishes.

The kids will also have posters and booklets from the Dairy Council to learn from.

Powell thinks the program is worth the effort "if it helps them to develop better eating habits".

Powell also praised the volunteer mothers.

"They've given up their own time and gas to drive to St. Johns to get the training," he said.

Tap in time in township

DeWitt Twp. Attorney, J. Richard Robinson is preparing an ordinance that will give residents of Twinbrook Estates subdivision, east of U.S. 27, near U.S. 127, the option of paying their sewer tap in fees by cash or through time payments.

A current township ordinance says residents must pay their $1,400 tap in fee by cash alone.

After the ordinance is written and approved by the Township Board of Trustees, it will be published and will take effect after 30 days.

Even then, according to Township Clerk, Donna Syverson, residents of Twinbrook won't be able to hook into the township sewer system until approval is given by Bath Twp. Twinbrook is right on the sewer line between Bath and the DeWitt Twp. Sewer treatment plant on Herbison Road, and thus will require Bath to okay any Twinbrook hook in.

In a related matter at their Oct. 14 meeting, the township Board of Trustees decided to put off raising the monthly sewer usage rate from $10.50 to $12.00.

Some board members felt that the matter should be left to the sanitary sewer authority which takes control of the Herbison Road treatment plant after January 1.

The meeting was opened with the Pledge of Allegiance. The agenda was approved with additions. The September meeting minutes were approved. There were no public comments.

Local MSU band members find Spartans have different "weigh" of doing things

EAST LANSING -- One of the first things Pamela J. Heskill and Karl Hofmeister of DeWitt did as new members of the Michigan State University Marching Band was get weighed by August Thoma, an East Rockaway, N.Y. senior.

Why? Well, besides a nonstop performing schedule this fall, the band is offering a special note to their performances. "Some lucky person, whose "guesstimate" is closest to the band's total weight, will win a 1976 Olds Cutlass Supreme.

Runnersup will win a stereo music system, a 10-speed bicycle, winter term passes for two to Dooley's Restaurant in East Lansing or dinner for two at Detroit's Rostertail Restaurant.

Contestants must guess the total weight of the Spartan Marching Band, including all instruments, sheet music, uniforms, batons and even the ladders for the conductors.

Band personnel include the 205 players on the field, plus all of the substitutes, managers and directors -- everyone who is in uniform for a total of 250.

Tickets for the contest can be purchased for $1 at all Spartan home games, at the ticket office in the MSU Union Building or at the MSU Band rehearsals every afternoon. Proceeds will go to the band for various university programs.

The deadline for entries is Nov. 12. Winners will be announced Nov. 15 at the MSU-Northwestern game.

Miss Heskill, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Heskill of 906 E. Dill Drive, graduated from DeWitt High School in June. She is a freshman at MSU majoring in instrumental music.

Hofmeister, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hofmeister of 805 W. Geneva Drive, graduated from DeWitt High School in June. He is a freshman at MSU majoring in applied music.

Moratorium on laws

The people who make our laws have a bottom-line responsibility for many of today's economic and social problems. They are the legislators who think their sole duty is to pass laws; the legislators who somehow feel that continuous, whirlwind law-making activity is akin to sexual potency—and that any indication of a slowdown may be misinterpreted by the folks back home as an apparent loss of manhood. Or womanhood.

But our legislators also have a responsibility not to make laws that result in pyramidal bureaucracies which are expensive, wasteful, unnecessary and often counter in action to what may originally have been a good intention.

Sound advertising and promotion can persuade citizens to sample just about any product or service once. It can even get legislators elected, once. Although consumers can react quickly to faulty products and services, by getting money back or by not repurchasing, voters are ham-strung when elected officials fail to live up to the advertised promise. Citizens simply are stuck with them . . . for two, four or six years, during which time those same officials are busy trying to win favor with party leadership, jockeying for power positions to help perpetuate their jobs, and passing more and more laws that may be liked less and less by their constituents.

Let's do something of lasting significance to celebrate our country's 200th birthday: let's declare a one-year moratorium on law-making, starting January 1, 1976. Instead of wasting our collective energy and funds on the worship of Bicentennially-embossed plastic cups and $1,850 sets of presidential miniatures, let's insist that our Federal and State legislators use 1976 to honestly, objectively evaluate existing laws—with an eye toward actually legislating some laws out of existence. And, with them, some of the regulatory bureaucracies that are strangling America's free-enterprise system, and doing irreparable damage to the interests of Michigan citizens.

—Michigan Challenge

Sen. Richard Allen

Report from the Senate

There are some kinds of tragedies that are almost universal to mankind. Every individual and family suffers them at one time or another. Death in the family is the worst. But in the long run it can't be avoided.

A reduction in standard of living must run a close second in terms of numbers who have experienced it. Except, perhaps for very young families who have been in the market place for only a few years, who have not had that bad year; that set back that could only be met by severe reductions in expenditures? Reductions so deep they cut into areas formerly considered essential.

Often it follows after that first child when breadwinners are cut from two to one. For a businessman it may follow an expansion that cost more than anticipated or started more slowly; for a farmer a bad crop year or disastrous prices. For a good many of our citizens it happened in the last year and a half due to loss of a job.

Two things can be said of the experience with only one exception. It is unpleasant. People do get through it, survive somehow without serious long run damage. Afterwards someone may say, "Perhaps it was a blessing in disguise." But at the time, if it's a blessing, it's dam sure disguised.

Michigan's State government is now facing some of those severe cuts; cuts that will hurt. When we passed the budget in July and August, it was rather bare. It did not keep up with inflation costs in many areas such as education, mental health, medical care, and local revenue sharing for roads and other projects.

But now we are back faced with cutting another 100 million or more out of already promised revenues. The first time it pinched, this time it will hurt. Layoffs may be unavoidable.

Some school children will be without supplies by spring especially in special areas like art or science. Athletic programs may be cut, buses may run down every other road, and perhaps an occasional district may end up doubling up classes or shortening the day.

Some people who really need institutionalization for mental problems will have to get along without it, creating a family burden that may even affect the neighborhood. People will be discharged from hospitals and extended care facilities a little faster than would ordinarily seem reasonable.

Your favorite State Park may close for a period of time, you will wait in line a little longer for a drivers license, State tax refunds and all kinds of permits will be delayed, a little extra pollution will go on because an inspector doesn't get around as often. Businessmen from landlords to farmers will have some secondary effects from reduced social services. A few young people will not go to college . . .

It will be unpleasant in a good many ways. However, we will get through it. And afterwards as we resume programs, perhaps, with some beneficial changes and new provisions some people will say, "Perhaps it was a blessing in disguise."

Autumn poet is screened

Editor, Lapeer County Press "by Jim Fitzgerald

The poet in me is awakened annually as the summer changes into autumn clothes, the morning frost paints sparkling pictures on the lawn, and my wife tells me to take down the screen porch.

The screen porch is really a carport. But long ago my wife decided our car didn't need summer shelter as badly as she needed a place to pile wicker. She hired an old man to enclose the space in 4 huge screens, 2 of which he removed every October to let the Plymouth in. Then he would return in June to put the 2 huge screens back up, and so on, year after year, inevitable as a hiccup.

Behind his back I called him "Mr Harbinger." I never met him face to face. He probably thought my wife was a widow, a contrived misconception shared by all repairmen who visit our home. Whenever they show up, I hide behind a locked door and whimper into a pillow. I'm ashamed I'm so mechanically inept. I once tried to turn down a thermostat by shouting NO! at it. I whimper because I know I'll never be able to do as much for my own children as I've done for the plumber's children.

ANYWAY, after many years there came an autumn when the hiccup didn't hic. Mr Harbinger, as old men are wont to do, died. After a suitable period of mourning, my wife announced that if an 88-year-old retiree could put a screen porch up and take it down, so could a healthy, 35-year-old newspaperman, even if he was me. At which point the period of mourning was extended indefinitely.

The job has been mine for about 15 years now. I have never licked it, but I have learned how to live with it. Proper preparation is of paramount importance. Last Saturday was a typical takedown

Before touching a screen, I had to haul the TV to the porch window and position it precariously on a pile of books so I could see the baseball play-offs from every rung of my ladder.

I had to park the car properly so I could hear the Michigan State-Notre Dame football game on the car radio while unscrewing screws.

I HAD TO find my winter gloves. Even in warm weather, I must wear the gloves so I won't scrape my knuckles on the huge screens while unscrewing and/or screwing. Before I hit upon the glove idea, my knuckles were permanently scabby. I could always tell when autumn or spring was approaching, because my knuckles would just be starting to heal. Once I half-jokingly called my most prominent knuckle "Mr Harbinger" which greatly intensified that portion of my interminable period of mourning, sending me to my whimper pillow.

But the most important part of my preparation is mental. Just before taking screwdriver in hand, I had to squat quietly in a corner with my head between my knees and practice transcendental meditation. My mantra, repeated for 10 minutes, always goes like this: "I promise, promise, promise not to lose my temper and swear when I find I cannot get the screwdriver into a screw because my bleep-bleep wire has painted over the bleeping screwhead. Also I promise, promise, promise never to turn my back on a completely unscrewed screen."

An hour later I forgot. One of the huge screens couldn't be freed because 2 screws had disappeared completely under my wife's incessant paintbrush. I turned to yell this delightful news to my wife who was in the kitchen painting the silverware. A sudden wind caught the other huge screen, which was completely unscrewed, and forced it to fall snugly on my shoulders, leaving my scraped head sticking through the hole it had just made.

At that point my daughter stuck her smart face in front of the baseball play-offs and said, "Smile, you're on Candid Camera."

I returned to my squat corner and hollered for my whimper pillow.

A PERSONAL LOOK AT THE NEWS

Between the lines

THOUGHTS THROUGH A TYPEWRITER

BUSINESS STINKS - Not really, but Barry Dean of Dean Hardware relayed that possible condition last week when a skunk established residence in the hardware basement. Barry contacted the Department of Natural Resources whose suggestions centered mostly around the term "cautious". One suggestion was to capture the smelly fella in a live trap, wrap it in a dark covering and remove it. The dark covering such as a blanket is supposed to fool the skunk and prevent him from offending neighboring nostrils. I don't know whether it worked or not, but if you're interested, you might go to Dean Hardware and nose around.

YOU DONE GOOD, FELLAS, TOO BAD WE LOST - Rick Forzano's praise of the Detroit Lions following the loss to Minnesota is not to be criticized . . . however . . . the spirited play he spoke of in the final quarter might have helped win the game in the other 3 quarters. Until that last quarter, the Lions' offense was about as imaginative as a 1-man tic-tac-toe game.

LET'S GET THE SHOW ON THE ROAD - Pat Joslyn, Clinton County assistant prosecuting attorney, has been known to be the type who doesn't like to wait around for people. His son must be the same way - seems when it came time for him to enter the world last week, he wasn't about to wait for the doctor to get there. So, Pat, wound up assisting in the birth of his son. You learn something every day, Pat.

U OF M GREETING - Bumper sticker on a car on US-27 proclaims Ohio-ho-hum.

WET, RED SERIES - Could you say the teams in this year's World Series were enough to make you see "Red"?

FOOTBALL IN HEAVEN - Lion coach Rick Forzano claims there can't be any football in heaven. He says there will never be any referees in heaven.

SPEAKING OF FOOTBALL - Clinton County could have 3 high school conference football champions. St. Johns, Bath and Fowler are all undefeated in their leagues. The only loss among the 3 was the non-conference season opener by St. Johns to Mt. Pleasant.

HERE'S AN IDEA, NEW YORK - If you can't avoid bankruptcy any other way, declare war on the bank of the country, lose and the U.S. will give you post-war loans. Then, like some other countries, just don't pay us back.

Mrs. Charles Palen of Ovid and Mrs. Jennie Loznak of Elsie, president and vice-president, respectively, for the Clinton County Federation of Women's Clubs are attending the West Central District meeting.

Announcement was made of the annual Library Benefit Card Party Thursday, Nov. 6, at 7 p.m. in the Knight Elementary School with Mrs. Paul Platner as chairman. Mrs. Loyal Hinkley handed out tickets for the members to sell.

There was also a reminder of Trading Post dates Oct. 24 through Oct. 27 in the American Legion Hall. Work schedules were distributed to the members for duties as managers, cashiers, salespersons and other workers.

Reports were given by secretary, Mrs. Donald Kenney and treasurer, Mrs. Durward Conklin. Other members of the finance committee submitting the report were Mrs. Robert Bomer, Mrs. Beatrice Kelly, Mrs. Lunsford Melvin and Mrs. Conklin, WLC treasurer. The proposed budget was accepted.

An Elsie man ran into a bridge here with a truck he was driving on Oct. 15, causing it to collapse. The Michigan State Police out of Owasco report that Terry Dean Larson, 3033 Vincent Road, Elsie was south-bound on Austin Road in Middlebury Twp., 1/2 mile south of Simpson Road, when he struck the east suspension rail of a bridge over the Maple River, causing it to collapse. The accident happened about 2 miles from the Clinton - Shiawassee border. Larson received minor injuries and was ticketed for careless driving.

Ovid — Elsie Area News

Report from the capital

87th District

Rep Francis R Spaniola

As most people are aware, there is a regrettable problem facing Michigan's Department of Social Services in the form of fraud, error and waste in our public assistance programs. It is a problem, not just for the Social Services Department, but for all Michigan residents, because it is our tax dollars that support these programs.

The Legislature is attempting to address this problem with the introduction of two bills, House Bill No. 5437 and Senate Bill 576, which are limited to the problem of recipient error or fraud and related administrative errors. The primary target of this legislation is the program for Aid to Dependent Children (ADC).

I am not aware of any Legislator who is not in favor of reducing the error rate or rooting out fraud. It is important to stress that no recipient who is honestly in need should be stereotyped in a negative way or abused. All Legislators, the Chamber of Commerce, Welfare Rights Organizations, and the recipient themselves applaud any effort aimed at clearing up the problems of this system.

It is my feeling, however, that these efforts simply are not broad enough in scope to be effective. It is a fact that the system is being abused by some, but abuse extends far beyond the ADC program. To get an accurate picture of what is happening, one must look at all of the aspects of social assistance programs and not just at ADC.

Recently-established divisions within the Department of Social Services are trying to address some of these problems. They're just beginning to get off the ground, and not many people are aware of them.

Operating within the Department of Social Services is a division which has gained national recognition for its efficiency and effectiveness, and has been used as a model for other states.

This division, the Medicaid Investigation Section, saved the state nearly $1.7 million in their first year of operation, fiscal year 1973-74. Yet their administrative costs totaled only $258,000. This means that, for every dollar invested in this program, $6 were returned to the state. I don't pretend to be a financial expert, but I think a 6 to 1 cost/recovery ratio is an impressive statistic, particularly for a new organization.

The Medicaid Investigation Section is composed of four units: Medical, Para-Medical, Pharmacy and Offices. Together, these units monitor activities of clinics, dentists, chiropractors, pharmacies and non-institutional providers.

Through the efforts of the Medical Investigation Section, Michigan has saved approximately $2.9 million since 1973 by investigating possibilities of error in Medicaid claims made by doctors, dentists, pharmacists and other carriers.

In testimony before the joint meeting of U.S. Senate Committees on Finance and Aging, Mr. Paul Allen, Chief Deputy Director of the Michigan Department of Social Services, indicated that the Medicaid Investigation Section could save the state millions of dollars per year. In addition, the Michigan State Medical Society strongly supports the Department of Social Services in their efforts to limit Medicaid error and abuse.

I think this program, and others like it, should be allowed to expand so they can continue to improve on the fine work they are doing. In order to expand they need better funding, and I believe their past performance indicates such an increase is well-deserved and worthwhile in terms of money saved by Michigan taxpayers.

I am convinced that we can develop and improve the ability to detect error, fraud, and abuse of assistance programs; and the figures above are ample indication that, to do a thorough job, we must look further than the ADC program.

Findlay on MSU judging team

EAST LANSING -- Jim Findlay of St. Johns, has joined the Michigan State University livestock judging team which is competing against other university teams from around the country.

This fall, students will stage a mock session with Ohio State University and then go to Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Dr. David Hawkins, associate professor of animal husbandry and coach for the team, said that students learn to evaluate beef cattle, sheep, swine and horses. They attend classes to learn about livestock and tour farms in Michigan and the Midwest.

For example, in one class, students judge Suffolk breeding ewes by examining the fatness of the ewe, the length of the loin, the depth of the loin, the length of the rump, the plumpness of the leg and the Suffolk breed character.

Findlay, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Findlay, Route 1, North Lowe Road, is an MSU senior majoring in animal husbandry and a 1971 graduate of St. Johns High School.

Although 20 or 30 students may initially sign up for the team, the competition is stiff, and usually only about 10 students stay with the team. Students must make arrangements with the instructors of their other courses for classes they miss.

"By participating on the team, students gain exposure to livestock industry and job opportunities," Hawkins said. "While traveling, they learn to get along with other people."

Students evaluate the animals and though they make take notes during each session at the contests, they may not use them while presenting the reasons for their choices. Winners are determined by how well their evaluations correlate both individually and as a team to government grading.

"Students learn to verbalize their decisions and organize themselves," Hawkins said.

With a background in animal husbandry, students may work as livestock buyers, as 4-H agents, as herdsmen, pursue graduate study in animal husbandry or go to veterinary school.

The Block and Bridle Club and the Department of Animal Husbandry pay for MSU students' travel expenses.

4-H Chatter Local youths become team members

By JOHN AYLSWORTH

Clinton County 4-H youth will participate in a weekend in social awareness October 25 and 26 and November 15 and 16 at Cassopolis and Davidson.

As quoted by a former TEAM participant, "TEAM has opened me up -- both to myself and to others."

"SHOW OFFS" IS THE NAME

TEAM (Teen Enrichment and Maturity) is a statewide personal development program for older youth that was launched in Michigan by the 4-H - Youth Programs. Participants encounter experiences in value clarification, listening and communications, group dynamics, and cooperation, exposure to community problems, and self-enrichment.

The major objective is to help older 4-H youth become aware of problems facing their communities, and what they can do to help alleviate these problems.

Participating in the weekend session from Clinton County are 4-H members Mary Bergdoll, St. Johns and Mark Walsh, Grand Ledge. Mary will participate in the October 25-26 weekend, while Mark will attend the November 15-16 weekend.

Upon completion of all regional meetings a committee composed of field and state 4-H staff will select 25 to 30 outstanding participants to represent Michigan in many areas of leadership as well as to participate in a series of state weekend activities.

Five will attend National 4-H Conference in Washington, D.C.; others will participate in exchange programs with other states; and some will have the opportunity to travel to a foreign country as did four TEAM members in 1974 when they helped build 4-H programs in Belize in Central America. This group will receive additional training to help them serve in this capacity.

Show Offs is the name selected by members of the new 4-H Dog Obedience Club in St. Johns under the leadership of Peg Feeman and Tom Zink. There are 11 members in the club. The election of officers was as follows: Jill Burgis - President; Julie Feeman - Vice President and Ann Vitous - Secretary-Treasurer. Members and their dogs were introduced to the "post" exercise. Each dog is required to perform a figure eight exercise between the two posts. Julie Feeman and Ann Vitous entered the Dog Obedience Show held October 19th at Michigan State University.

VILLAGE ELVES NEWS

The Ovid Village Elves 4-H members learned how to give a demonstration by Mrs. Ray Peck, who is a leader in the Elsie 4 Corners Club. The members found the demonstration and techniques very interesting. The members enjoyed roller skating October 16 at the Ranch Roller Rink in St. Johns. On November 1, the members are going bike riding to Wendy McCreery's house for a picnic lunch.

ELECT OFFICERS

The Kountry Cousins 4-H members have elected the following officers for the 1976 Winter Program: Darlene Devereaux - president; Cory Shinn - vice president; Mike Swanchara - secretary and news reporter; Ann Weaver - treasurer and Kathy Cushing - recreation leader. The members plan to have a hayride on November 1. Members are to bring their own refreshments. The club would like to handle the 4-H glass project some month, but will need to go in with another club, since they have only about 18 members.

OLIVE 4-H REPORT

The Olive 4-H Projects members have elected Paul Howe as their president for the Winter Program. Other officers elected include: Julie Tait - vice president; Beth Ann Hunt - secretary; Cindy Ward - treasurer; and Doretty Huhn - news reporter. A number of the members enjoyed 4-H roller skating on October 16th at the Ranch Roller Rink in St. Johns with February 19th as their next scheduled activity. Telephone and Recreation committees were also appointed. The club's next meeting will include a family potluck dinner on Sunday, November 2, at Riley School.

KNIT-N-STITCH TRIP

The Knit-N-Stitch 4-H Club members and their mothers enjoyed a field trip to Jo Ann's Fabric in Lansing. The members learned what different kinds of material the store had, as well as information about the fabrics such as what it is used for, how to handle it, etc. The members and mothers felt the field trip and tour of the store was quite informative and most enjoyable.

READY FOR WINTER PROGRAM

The Elsie 4 Corners 4-H members have enrolled for the Winter Program with approximately 50 members. Officers elected for 1976 were: Rick Batora - president; Pam Roberts - vice president; Joe Hlorak - secretary; Allen Howard - treasurer; and Theresa Batora - news reporter. The club will hold their Club Achievement night on October 21, 6:30 p.m., at the E. E. Knight School with a family potluck dinner included.

4-H WONDERS OFFICERS

The 4-H Wonders Club members enjoyed a get-acquainted game by saying a food item that started with their first name initial. Officers elected for the 1976 Winter Program are: John Swagart - president; Sharon Schomisch - vice president; Sue Wood - secretary; Jill Swagart - treasurer; Annette DeMarais - news reporter with Michelle Purtiland and Raeann Fleischer as recreation leaders. Marilyn Searles is the club's new organization leader.

Despite drought and rain, '75 corn crop could be 2nd largest in history

Most Michigan farmers are looking forward to a record-breaking corn crop this year, according to Dorn Diehl, State Executive Director of the Michigan State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Office.

There were scattered areas, he said, where cornfields were hurt by drought in midsummer and excessive rain in August and September. However, Michigan's 1975 corn crop will be the second largest in history, topped only by the 142-million-bushel crop in 1972.

Diehl stated that market prices were down nearly one dollar for the first part of October compared to a year ago. He added that with no Government stocks to threaten the market and avid interest by foreign buyers, the corn price should hold fairly steady. He hedged his analysis somewhat by saying there were so many factors affecting the corn market, such as number of cattle and hogs on feed, increased transportation costs, and quality discounts. Each farmer will have to make his own market analysis to determine whether it is best to sell at harvest time or store for a possible better price later on. Diehl pointed out that the county loan rates range from $1.08 to $1.15 per bushel and that commodity loans will be available on the basis of where the corn is stored.

THIS IS INTENDED to encourage the flow of corn into principal consumption areas. Individual county loan rates, Diehl said, are the same as they were for the 1974 crop and information can be obtained from the local county ASCS office. He added that market prices tend to decline during the harvest season, particularly when there are bumper crops.

Producers with storage space available under approved warehouses or on the farm may be interested in holding their 1975-crop corn for market later in the season. He pointed out that many producers who used the loan program in recent years have netted considerably more by marketing their crop later in the season. More and more producers, he said, are taking advantage of the price-support loan program in their marketing plans. Many producers, Diehl noted, have a general tendency to market their grain on the spur-of-the-moment basis which often results in accepting a lower price for their crop.

He noted that any farmer who produces corn in 1975 is eligible to obtain a loan. The requirements for having a corn base or allotment or to sign up under the Feed Grain Program were removed last year. Details for obtaining information on the 1975 commodity loan program is available from the local county ASCS office.

New warnings on hazards without child-safe caps

Clinton County Home Economist

Child-resistant packaging is paying off. According to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, fewer children have been poisoned by aspirin since the new safety packaging regulations went into effect in 1972.

But the child-safe packages are difficult for many older or physically disabled persons to open. So compromise has been made. Now some standard packaging is back on the market. New regulations are in force for the packaging and labeling of potentially hazardous household substances.

Manufacturers now may use their standard packaging for one size of a particular product. But that product size must carry the warning label: "This package for households without young children."

The substance also must be made in another size in child-resistant packaging. The one exception is that liquid drain cleaners with 10 percent or more sodium and/or potassium hydroxide must be issued in child-safe containers.

These warning statements must be marked clearly and conspicuously -- in capital letters within a border -- both on the container itself and on any outer package or wrappers. Items too small to carry this entire statement must read: "Product not child resistant." Labels must include first-aid information too. The warning label law does not apply to prescription drugs.

Government attempts to require safe packaging are helpful, but the final responsibility rests with the consumers themselves. Even with child-resistant packaging, the items are not necessarily child-proof. Some children can figure out a way to get into almost anything.

Many potentially harmful products are packaged in bright, colorful containers. The products may have been scented to increase their appeal. This makes them especially attractive to curious young children.

So check through your shelves. Some of the hazardous items are infrequently used. You may even have some which were purchased before safety packaging requirements went into effect. Once you find the items, make sure they are kept out of the reach of children.

Alfalfa and fertilizer

by William Lasher
Extension Agriculture Agent

A good fertilization program helps alfalfa through the winter. Fall application of fertilizer, especially potash, reduces winter kill, in fact you can see almost to the row where the fertilizer wasn't applied or skipped.

On well managed fertile land seven tons of alfalfa is not out of line, and seven tons will remove 84 pounds of phosphate and 315 pounds of potash, equivalent to 700 pounds of 0-14-42 fertilizer. A good fertilizer program for alfalfa, according to soil test, will not only increase yield, but help protect against winter damage and losses due to heaving.

haven't checked your land or have already noticed erosion problems, it would be a good idea to review some of the causes and cures for erosion.

Perhaps you feel you know the main problem areas on your farm and follow a good conservation plan. However, the land is always changing and new problems can arise by merely changing the rotation or farming a field in a different direction. Even the neighbor above or below you could clear some land or make a change that would affect the erosion hazard on your farm.

You should be aware of the ever changing effect climate has upon the land and do those management practices that minimize erosion and control water flow.

SELF-REFLECTION

The easiest way to forget the faults of others is to remember to count a few of your own.

Have you walked over your land in the past year? Have you evaluated its need for erosion control? Have you studied the drainage pattern of each field and checked for signs of erosion? Perhaps you have already noticed that each year, the ground gets a little higher on one side of the fence than the other or that small deltas of sand and silt deposits get a little deeper and longer where the water spreads out at the end of a natural watercourse. Meet your 4-H leaders

Onalee Kent

Onalee Kent, a former 4-H member in Clinton County, has just completed one year as a 4-H leader. She was the first leader in this county to lead a tube painting project.

Sewing, cooking, fishing, and, of course, tube painting, are favorite pastimes of hers. A few things she has made for her home and family using her tube painting techniques are pictures, tablecloths, clothes and baby blankets.

Her children, Linda, Scott, Angie and Robert, occupy much of her time, as well as her activities in the Congregational Church in Maple Rapids. She plans to continue as a 4-H leader in this project this year.

Robert Kissane

Twenty years of service as a 4-H leader is what Bob Kissane has given to Clinton County. He was formerly a 4-H member in this county. His parents started a 4-H club, of which he became a member, and then he went on to be a Junior Leader, and then a full-fledged leader. Marilyn, his wife, also is a 4-H leader and their older children, Christine, Rita and Pauline, have been 4-H members, with Jim and Jenny, their younger children, waiting to be old enough to join 4-H. Bob has led many different projects, some of them being beef, electrical, woodworking, crops, vegetable gardening, poultry and tractor safety.

He farms 350 acres, raises some livestock and does custom farm work. Traveling, hunting and water skiing are some of his hobbies. Chaperoning 4-H trips and watching kids grow up through the 4-H program are very enjoyable to him, and are just a few of the reasons he has been a 4-H leader 20 years.

Don't turn a deaf ear to noises on the farm

EAST LANSING -- Time was when life on the farm was tranquil, but not anymore. Today, substantial numbers of Michigan farmers are losing their hearing from noisy machine operations.

"By age 65, many farmers have hearing loss enough to impair normal hearing of speech," says Dr. Richard G. Pfister, Michigan State University agricultural safety engineer.

Even boys who operated farm equipment while growing up on farms began showing hearing damage early in life. Too much noise may affect safety and health. It can be fatiguing, reduce work output and produce errors and accidents.

Hearing damage may come from tractors, harvesters, grain mills, grain dryers, chain saws, power saws or other intense sounds such as gun fire, snowmobiles, etc.

"If your ears ring after exposure to loud or prolonged noise, they may have been damaged. Noise-induced hearing loss rarely involves total deafness, and early stages usually don't occur at the lower frequencies. But loss can't be reversed and may affect ability to hear speech as a person grows older."

The risk of hearing loss grows with increase in loudness, frequency and length of exposure to sound. It travels in waves similar to those created by dropping a stone in a pond of water. Decibels (dB) are a logarithmic unit which measure the pressure of the sound wave.

Normal speech ranges from 40 to 60 dB. Heavy traffic is rated at 80 to 90 dB, a shotgun blast or being near a jet taking off (100 feet) is 140 dB -- the threshold of pain, Pfister explains.

Intermittent noise is less damaging than a constant noise -- the ear tends to recover after a short rest. "A person can sustain loud noise up to 110 dB (such as an air blast sprayer) without harm if exposure is less than one-half hour. But risk of damage is much greater if a person is exposed to a tractor noise output of 95 dB all day," he says.

Proposed Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) standards indicate the maximum hours a person can withstand noise without risk of ear damage is as follows:

| Sound Level (dBA) | Maximum Hrs. Per Day |
|--------------------------|----------------------|
| 97.5 - 100 | 2 |
| 95.5 - 97.0 | 3 |
| 94.0 - 95.0 | 4 |
| 92.5 - 93.5 | 5 |
| 91.5 - 92.0 | 6 |
| 90.5 - 91.0 | 7 |
| 89.0 - 90.0 | 8-9 |
| 87.5 - 88.5 | 10-11 |
| 86.5 - 87.0 | 12-13 |
| 85.5 - 86.0 | 14-15 |
| less than or equal to 85 | 16 or more |

Recent MSU tests indicate that operators of 1970 to 1974 tractor models without cabs may reach excessive hearing loss levels in two to four hours of continuous tractor operation unless ear protection is worn.

"Ear protection is needed even more when running most older models that have an output of 100 dB at the point where the operator sits. Under OSHA regulations, such equipment should not be operated more than an hour or two daily without ear plugs or muffs," Pfister says.

With few exceptions, operators of new tractors having cabs provided by the manufacturer, can be operated from 8 to 16 hours without risk of hearing loss.

"However, air conditioning is needed in tractor cabs to maintain noise control because opening the door or window for ventilation destroys the protection provided by the acoustic material in the walls, floor and cab ceiling," Pfister says.

Typical examples of decibel level at the operator's ear from other machinery include: two-row corn picker mounted on a medium sized tractor -- 110 dB; large self-propelled combine -- 105 dB; hammer mill -- 101 dB (at 10 feet) and fan drying system (nearby) 99dB.

If noise measures can't be cut to safe levels, hearing protection should be worn by everyone around the equipment. Though ear protection reduces the intensity of the noise, it won't prevent workmen from hearing conversation or how the equipment is functioning, Pfister says.

There are two basic types of ear protectors -- ear muffs and ear plugs. Muffs reduce sound to a safe level but allow enough through for informational and safety purposes. They can be quickly removed and put back on, ideal when noise exposure is intermittent or of relatively short duration such as running a chain saw or grinding feed.

Ear plugs are available as preformed inserts made of foam rubber, as fiber or plastic. They are less bulky than muffs but must fit properly to be effective and kept clean to prevent infection.

Foam rubber and wax fiber types are low priced and adapt to various size ears, but get dirty and require frequent replacement. Plastic and rubber plugs are more expensive, easier to clean but may not be as comfortable. They should be custom fitted to be effective. Cotton is not effective protection.

"The cost and inconvenience of providing ear protection equipment is practically nothing compared to cost and inconvenience of hearing aids, or, still worse, not hearing at all," Pfister says.

Mary Ellen Cardenas, Jim Wagner and Mari Tracy demonstrate a three-person spin in front of the high school after winning third place in State Competition Oct. 11. St. Johns was the only school in the competition with men on their squad.

The St. Johns Varsity Cheerleaders came back from the Northwood Institute State Cheerleading Competition with a 3rd-place trophy. There were 1200 cheerleaders from all over the state competing in the workshop. Members of the St. Johns Varsity Cheerleading squad are from the top: Mary Koenigsnecht; [2nd row] Lea Ann Palmer and Mary Ellen Cardenas; [3rd row] Wayne Studer, Jim Wagner; [4th row] Sheila Snyder, Steve Showers and Denise Desprez; [5th row] Mari Tracy, Mrs. Darlene Lawrence, faculty advisor; and Suzy Hopke.

Another victory for Redwings, Grand Ledge is next Hastings took first blood, but the St. Johns Redwings came back with touchdowns in the 2d and 3d quarters to win their 3d conference game 12-6.

The Redwings have a perfect record in the West Central League and are 5-1 overall. A victory over Grand Ledge at home this Friday would give

St. Johns undisputed possession of the conference title. In Friday's victory over Hastings Keith Haske ran for 1 pass and passed for another to give the Redwings 12 points. Hastings scored first when Eric Favorite hauled in an 11-yard pass from Armand Ranguette in the 1st quarter. The conversion was no good and Hastings led 6-0.

Haske was 7-for-14 in the air for 60 yards while Hastings picked up 71 yards passing. Mark Geller led the Redwings offensively with 87 yards in 12 carries and another 16 yards on 1 pass reception.

Hastings fumble around the 30-yard-line. The Redwings took advantage of it and Haske tossed a 4-yard pass to Greg Hazle for the 2d touchdown of the game. The Redwings had 220 yards rushing in the game to 133 for Hastings.

Coach Joe Gonzalez commented on the game saying, "We were glad to come out of this encounter with a win. The Hastings club was very good and they were super charged up to beat St. Johns."

He added, "After the Everett game, our players had a slight let down and we seemed to be anticipating the Grand Ledge game. We played a bad first Rink Fink blasts for yardage in a big hole in the Laingsburg line.

Laingsburg is latest victim of Fowler

FWLER -- The Fowler Eagles notched 1 more victory to their string Friday night, defeating Laingsburg 28-6 in the 1975 Homecoming contest.

Fowler paced the victory with 14 points in the 2d period. Rick Fink started the scoring with a 6-yard run. Quarterback Dave Schmitt ran in the conversion to give the Eagles an 8-0 lead.

The 2d touchdown came on another run by Rick Fink, this time for 2 yards. The conversion attempt failed to give Fowler a 14-0 lead at halftime.

In the 3d period, Tony Schafer plunged in from the 2-yard-line to add another 6 points.

Dale Koenigsnecht hauled in the conversion pass from Schmitt to pick up the 2-point conversion.

The final Fowler score came in the final period when John Mueller punched it over from the 2. The conversion attempt failed.

Laingsburg's lone score came on a 5-yard run by Dan Fox and the conversion attempt was no good.

offensively, Rick Fink led the Eagles with 85 yards in 17 carries. Jim Thelen paced the defense with 17 tackles and Glenn Simon turned in 13 tackles. Dale Koenigsnecht also grabbed 2 interceptions.

Fowler now takes on Olivet, 2-4 in the league. However, they've won 2 of their last 3 games and coach Steve Spicer sees the game as a good defensive battle.

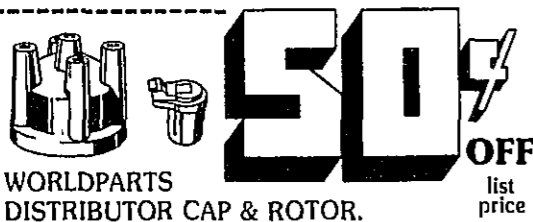

Dave Schmitt takes to the air for Fowler.
