50 years of printer's ink in his blood

50-Year Printer Gordon Luther

By LOWELL G. RINKER
Editor

They say that when printer's ink gets in your blood, no attempts at washing it out will really work.

Gordon Luther, the veteran mainstay of the Clinton County News' commercial printing staff, has found that out. Back in 1942, Luther had completed 25 years of service with the newspaper, and he told then-publisher Schuyler Marshall he was going to retire and go into farming on the 60 acres of land he owned. But he didn't.

Those were war years, and printing help was hard to come by, and Marshall talked Luther into staying on for awhile. The "awhile" stretched into another 25 years as of Wednesday.

NOV. 1 MARKED THE start of the 51st year of service to the Clinton County News by Luther. He's 64. That's getting close to retirement age, but printer's ink has become so much a part of his blood now that Luther says he will keep working despite having passed his "golden anniversary in printing."

Luther is the mainstay in the job printing department. He keeps the Miehle verticle press or the Heidelberg press rumbling constantly, turning out everything from simple business cards through envelopes and letter-heads to complicated booklets. He operates all of the letterpress equipment in the downstairs back shop except the linotype. He hasn't had much experience on the relatively new offset press, but he's confident he could run it if he had to.

Despite the rapid rise in popularity of offset printing, Luther doesn't yet foresee the demise of letterpress. "Letterpress will always have a place," he said. "There are a lot of printing jobs that can't be run offset."

OFFSET PRINTING is just one of the changes that have taken place in the 50 years Luther has worked for the newspaper. "An awful lot of changes have taken place since I started in here," Luther recalled during conversation Saturday afternoon. There was constant improvement in equipment which the paper used; the upstairs portion of the newspaper building changed from use as a dance hall to a school room, to nurses' dormitory, to a garment works; the newspaper publication date was pushed forward from Thursday printing to Wednesday printing and now to Tuesday night printing; and of course people change.

Through it all, however, Luther has worked under only four different publishers—Coleman C.

Vaughn, Schuyler Marshall, Ink White and now Steven Hopko. Some of the people who worked at the paper when Luther started are still living, and he recalls them easily—Merlyn Black of St. Johns, Black's sister, Jean Hart, who now lives in California, and Paul Sowles. Glenn Tupper worked here when Marshall owned the paper; he now lives in California and runs a paper there.

LUTHER STARTED his printing career as a printer's devil at the age of 14 in 1917 as an eighth grader at Greenwood School northwest of St. Johns. His first tasks included cleaning space bands for the linotypes and washing up presses. World War 1 was on, and school days were irregular—sometimes lasting a whole day, other times a half and sometimes not even opening for a week. Fuel was rationed.

"I finally talked to Vaughn and told him I was tired of monkeying around between school and work, not knowing when I was going to do what," Luther recalls. "Vaughn said he would make arrangements for me to finish my education as a printer if I wanted to. I got a release from school and started full time in January 1918 after my first (See 50 YEARS, Page 3-A)

Girl Scouts buy 135 acres for camp near here

The Michigan Capital Girl Scouts Council has purchased 135 acres of land southwest of St. Johns to use as an outdoor camping site—the fourth such facility for Girl Scouts in the council.

The council took possession of the former Leon Hoppes farm on Parks Road west of Grove Road Oct. 16. The property includes both tillable and wooded land and is crossed at the south end by Stoney Creek. A house and several outbuildings are located along Parks Road.

Janet Stetser, district advisor for the Girl Scouts, said Monday the council hopes to use the property for Girl Scout troops the year around. Considerable tree plantings, plus cleanup of the wooded area and the building of latrines are planned in the near future.

new campsite with Miss Stetser. It was their third of four sessions of a basic leadership training course.

"Troops are free to come out and use the site now," Miss Stetser said, "but we would appreciate the leaders checking first with the office in Lansing so that the dates won't conflict with work crews who will be coming in fairly regularly now."

SOME OF THE FIRST work to be done includes cleaning out a large barn and several other outbuildings on the farm. The barn will be converted for use by the troops and other groups; other outbuildings will be used for storage.

The three-bedroom home on the farm will be rented out. The tillable land between Parks Road and the woods to the south is still a question mark, and the camp board Monday night may also make some decisions on whether to rent it out or perhaps plant it to trees for future campers' use.

The wooded area has a mixture of trees, and Miss Stetser said the council plans to continue with a planting of a mixture of trees on the property.

First winter storm hits trees hard

THE CAMPSITE HASN'T yet been named. The council's volunteer board and camp board will meet at the farm next Monday afternoon and evening to look over the property more closely, and a name may be picked then.

It will be the fourth such campsite that the Girl Scout council operates. Others are "Deer Trails," 201 acres north of Harrison; Hunter Lake Camp, 165

A few dirty clods of snow were still left Tuesday morning to remind Clinton County residents what they went through last Friday in bidding winter a dubious welcome.

A snow storm Friday dumped about 7 1/2 inches of heavy, wet snow all over Clinton County, causing an unestimated amount of damage to trees (some of which still had leaves on) and power and telephone lines.

The storm came a week earlier than the first winter storm last year. People were taken aback by being snowed on in such quantity in October, but it turned out to be relatively mild as far as causing any real problems was concerned.

worked in full force Friday night and all day Saturday, and a partial force worked part of Sunday to complete repairs.

St. Johns street crews are still picking up brush along city streets. They were scheduled to do that anyway Friday, but then the snow came and knocked down so many more branches and limbs that they still aren't caught up.

Ironically, the city's first supply of salt for the streets—40 tons worth—arrived the afternoon of the storm. It wasn't needed because of comparatively high temperatures (in the low 30's). City trucks used their gravel blades, rather than snow blades, to scrape streets. City Manager Ken Greer said the snow blades are on the trucks now and the street department is ready for winter.

A LOT OF telephone and electrical lines fell, mostly between the poles and homes as tree limbs and branches either fell or sagged across them.

Bill Graef, St. Johns district manager for the General Telephone Co., said there were several hundred lines pulled down in St. Johns, mostly by falling limbs between poles and houses. "And the snow load on lines was heavier than what we would get in an ice storm," he said.

acres five miles north of Greenville; and the Looking Glass Camp, 12 acres at Wacousta which the Exchange clubs supervise.

Miss Stetser said the new camp in Bengal Township definitely will be used for a day camp for at least three weeks next summer. The council is hoping to have a two-inch well drilled this fall or winter for the installation of a hand pump so water will be available in the wooded area of the site.

Alton Dann, who is in charge of maintenance at the council's four camps, will build latrines this winter and work on a garbage and trash pit for the camp area.

SOME OF THE TILLABLE land on the farm is located south of Stoney Creek, and Miss Stetser said it is hoped that that acreage can be swapped for more wooded area on an adjoining farm. She said the wooded area is a fine place for girls and their leaders to learn to live in the outdoors.

Some of the Girl Scout local leaders got a chance to learn something about that outdoor living Monday. About 10 of them spent most of the day at the Passersby help to comfort Jack McCurry, 19, of St. Johns as he sits pinned in the wreckage of his automobile on M-21 early Sunday morning. It took nearly an hour to free him from the car. He and a passenger, Betty Motz, 19, of rural St. Johns were both seriously injured, and the driver of the other car involved was killed.

This is the car in which Chester L. English, 31, of St. Johns died early on English's birthday Sunday on M-21. His and another car collided.

2-car crash kills local man, hurts 2

A St. Johns man was killed and two other St. Johns people seriously injured early Sunday morning when two autos crunched head-on into each other on M-21 a half-mile east of Lowell Road in Bengal Township.

Pronounced dead at the scene of the accident was Chester L. English, 31, of 109 S. Lansing Street, St. Johns. He was driver of a car going east on M-21.

Seriously injured and taken immediately to St. Lawrence Hospital in Lansing were the driver of the other auto, Jack McCurry, 19, of 108 N. Mead Street, St. Johns, and his passenger, Betty Motz, 18, of R-2, Walker Road, St. Johns.

They were both described as in "serious condition" yet late Tuesday morning.

THE ACCIDENT occurred about 2:45 a.m., EST. Sheriff's deputies Ray Terpening and Bruce Wilcox reported Mr. English was driving east on M-21 and McCurry was traveling west. Evidence of skid marks, glass, metal and oil point to the impact being in the westbound lane, they reported.

The English car bounced another 135 feet east and came to a stop crossways in the center of the highway. It was nearly struck by another car driven by Ken Penix of St. Johns; he summoned sheriff's deputies and ambulances.

Both drivers were pinned in their demolished cars. Officers and others worked for over an hour with two wreckers before being able to free McCurry from

Clinton County News to sponsor Dale Carnegie course here

The world-famous Dale Carnegie course will begin soon in St. Johns under sponsorship of the Clinton County News, Steven P. Hopko, publisher of the newspaper, announced Monday.

"We are bringing the course to our community because we feel it is in the interest of public service," Hopko said.

During the forming of the class here, the County News will publish a series of four articles by Mike Rothenberger, staff representative of Dale Carnegie and Associates, Inc., of New York. The series, entitled "I will prepare myself . . ." begins on the editorial pages of this week's issue.

THE ORGANIZATION of the Dale Carnegie class will be under the direction of Phil Kline of Lansing; Kline represents Helderman Associates who offer the course in this area.

"The Dale Carnegie Course, for more than half a century, has been helping men and women to live happier, richer and more successful lives through the discovery and development of their hidden talents and potential abilities," Kline said. "These include the development of greater self confidence, a keen memory and more effective powers of communication."

He went on to say that many people take the course primarily because they want a broader understanding of human relations. They want to know how to get along even more graciously with people whether it be in a business or social situation or at home.

Kline reported that the Dale Carnegie course during its 55 years of operation has graduated over a million men and women, and the course is now offered in all 50 states and in many foreign countries.

Anyone interested in more information about the Dale Carnegie Course may write or telephone the Clinton County News; the phone number is 224-2361.

US-127 freeway project cut from 5-year road plan

The Michigan State Highway Commission last week approved a $265 million cutback in the state's highway construction program during the next five years, and the cutback will affect a big project in Clinton County.

Now postponed until after 1972 is 3.5 miles of US-127 freeway from the Ingham County Line to US-27 near Clark Road, estimated to be worth some $4,620,000. A related project of 1.9 miles of the freeway from Grand River Avenue in Lansing north to the Clinton County line has also been delayed.

Acting State Highway Director Henrik E. Stafseth said the cutback was necessary because of lack of funds. He said some of the projects that are now being postponed could be put back into the 1967-72 construction program if the Legislature approves an increase in the state gas tax and license plate fees. But not all of them could be put back even then.

THE COMMISSION'S 1967-72 program for construction on the primary, secondary and urban systems originally amounted to an estimated $594 million. Postponement beyond 1972 of projects totaling $265 million represents a 44 per cent reduction in those programs.

Almost limb by limb, this tall Chinese elm tree in back of the James Moore home at 105 S. Swegles Street, St. Johns, disintegrated under the weight of the Friday snow. It used to provide shade for three back yards.

Winter came early to Clinton County this year, and the 7-1/2 inches of snow that fell on Friday created scenes like this over the area. Here the camera looks west down Steel Street from the corner of Garfield Street. What was ironic was that leaves were still falling from trees and in many cases covered the snow.

NEW MASS SCHEDULE
St. Joseph Catholic Church in St. Johns has instigated a new schedule of Sunday Masses for the winter. They will be held at 7:30, 9, and 10:30 a.m., and at noon and 7 p.m. Holy Days will be 6, 8:30 and 9:30 a.m., and 5:30 and 7:30 p.m.

down—and big limbs," Mrs. James McKeone of East Alward Road told the Clinton County News Friday afternoon. "We never have had anything like this before. It makes me sick to look out at it, you know. Even in February when we have ice storms, we never had the trees fall over like this. It's terrible."

Mrs. Zora Hoffman of 106 W. Lincoln Street, St. Johns, had just picked enough raspberries from bushes in her yard to finish off supper the night before the storm hit. She said she had intended to cover with plastic a lot of green raspberries still on the bushes. "But," she said late Friday morning, "I'm afraid I'm too late now."

Mrs. Lucille Hebeck of R-5, St. Johns, the County News' correspondent in the Krepps area, said there was a single, brilliant flash of lightning and a role of thunder about 8 a.m. Friday. That was during the snow storm, which started about 4:30 a.m., daylight time.

A NUMBER of football games around the county were called off Friday night and were played Saturday night in the mud that followed the snow. The snow melted slowly Saturday and Sunday, and then a steady shower Sunday Night reduced it to only clods along curbs and sidewalks. Some remained, however, even Tuesday.

There were several accidents connected with the snowstorm.

Walter O. Bennett, 26, of 5900 Outer Drive, Bath, was treated and released at St. Lawrence Hospital after a two-car collision at Boston Boulevard and Victor Avenue in Lansing about 6:30 a.m. Friday. Snowy pavement was blamed for the mishap.

About 11:40 a.m., Peter Vanderlin, 19, of R-5, St. Johns, lost control of his car on M-21, east of Shepardsville Road and spun into the path of an oncoming car driven by Alice M. Ensign, 41, of Bannister. Mrs. Ensign was treated at Clinton Memorial Hospital for bruises suffered in the accident.

At 7:30 a.m., Patricia D. Burnham, 19, of R-3, Scott Road, St. Johns, skidded on slushy snow and hit a stop sign at the intersection of US-27 and North Lansing Street just outside the St. Johns city limits. She missed the Lansing Street turnoff as she was coming south on US-27.

Luke F. Weber, 22, of R-2, Kinley Road, Fowler, was taken to Ingham Medical Hospital in Lansing about 3 p.m. Friday after he lost control of his car on Wright Road just north of Fowler and it went into a ditch and hit a tree stump. He suffered cuts and bruises.

Airport authority study starts

Clinton County representatives met with representatives from Ingham County last Thursday to discuss a possible joint authority for operation of Capital City Airport, and another meeting is being planned for this month with Eaton County and the Michigan Aeronautics Commission involved.

Joseph P. Klersey, supervisor from Delhi Township in Ingham, was elected chairman of the joint committee. He said he feels there is considerable support for the authority concept of airport control.

Ernest Carter, Watertown Township supervisor and chairman of the Clinton County Board, restated his position that no one governmental unit should own the airport since it serves an entire region. The aeronautics commission is currently negotiating with the City of Lansing to buy the airport; Lansing is presently the largest local government contributor to the airport.

THE CLINTON County delegation involved in the feasibility study of an airport authority includes Supervisors Reginald Nelson of DeWitt Township, Derrell Shinabery of Greenbush and Elden T. Smith of the City of DeWitt, along with Carter.

They met last Thursday with Ingham representatives at the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission offices, and heard Chief Planner Robert J. Kuehne give data on the predicted future of aviation in the region.

Preliminary conclusions of a Transportation, Land Use and Natural Resource Plan include predictions that three new general aviation airfields will be needed in the region by 1980, with Williamston, St. Johns and the Delhi Township areas being likely locations. Tri-County is preparing the Transportation, Land Use and Natural Resource Plan to guide growth in the region to 1990. The plan will be completed later this year.

Schools get biggest chunk of local tax dollar

School districts receive by far the largest percentage of the tax dollar in Clinton County, according to a report sent to the State Tax Commission and Board of Assessors last Wednesday by County Clerk Paul Wakefield.

On a county-wide basis, schools receive 77.98 cents out of every tax dollar to be paid this winter in winter taxes. Some 18.37 cents goes to county government, and 3.65 cents goes to townships.

Wakefield's figures showed a total of $3,789,962.89 in taxes assessed for all the units of government, excepting cities. Last summer, city taxes in St. Johns and DeWitt totaled $318,999.34.

On the winter tax bills, $896,341.77 is being collected on allocated taxes for county government use. Township tax as allocated totals $101,527.45. School taxes, including the intermediate district tax, total $1,072,025.69.

In addition to the 15 mills allocated, schools also are receiving $1,039,201.53 in extra voted millage for operations and special education and $844,208.71 in taxes to retire bonded indebtedness.

Townships are receiving an additional $35,913.74 (Bath, DeWitt and Watertown) in extra voted tax money, and another $744 is assessed on a special district in DeWitt Township.

Figuring city taxes into the total picture, city taxpayers are paying an average of 16.95 cents of their tax dollar to schools, 3.36 cents for townships, 71.93 cents for schools, and 7.76 cents for city use.

semester in the ninth grade." After about a year at the paper, Luther became janitor and also began running the old two-revolution Scott four-page press. Because of the slowness of the old hand-fed machine, the press run started Tuesday morning and extended through Thursday evening.

"When I first started and learned how to feed press, they gave us what they called an 8x12 envelope press," Luther recalls. "There was a pedal on that and as you fed the press you pedaled your own power. When you graduated up to a motor-driven press, you thought you were making quite an advancement."

AT THAT TIME the paper had a circulation of 2,200 and seven shop employees. The normal work week covered six days and totaled 54 hours.

In 1921 a new Goss Comet press was installed, and the old Scott was sold to the Register-Union at Ovid; it's still there. Luther ran the Goss from 1923 to 1938, again in 1941 and all during World War II. In between times he made ready on commercial press runs and was an advertising compositor. He became foreman of the printing shop in February 1949.

Luther is a careful printer, and as such hasn't had many accidents. One he does recall: "The worst experience I had was when we were getting ready to go to press once. The guy told me the page form was all locked up, but I pulled it off the stone and the type started falling out. And it was the classified page!" Luther has worked on a lot of big printing jobs during his 50 years at the Clinton County News, but probably the two biggest still stick in his mind.

"WHEN WILLIAM M. Smith of St. Johns ran for Congress, we kept three presses running envelopes all the time until we had a couple hundred thousand. At the same time I ran circulars on the Babcock Pony press at between 1,500 and 1,800 an hour. I'd run that as long as I could stand up, then I'd go home and get a little sleep and brighten back at it. They had a whole bunch of girls upstairs at the National Bank Building folding and inserting them in the envelopes, so I had to keep them supplied."

"I know we ran the country ragged for envelopes at that time. 'The biggest job' for a corporation, I think, was about 100,000 booklets for the stockyards. That was back when they first started here, and they put out a 16-page booklet, kind of a tourist propaganda telling all about the towns and areas where they had their stock yards."

BESIDES THE CHANGEOVER to offset, job printing has changed in other ways in the last 50 years, Luther recalls. People don't go in so much for fancy type and artwork any more, and embossing of printed work is seldom seen. But people haven't changed. "They still want their printing right away, just like in the earlier days. We used to have one fellow come in, and every time he came we knew he wanted to take his job with him when he left. He always wanted it yet that day. Sometimes we could fix him up and sometimes we didn't."

Luther's wife, Frances, has had long service to the Clinton County News, too. After they were married 43 years ago, she started coming in once in awhile to help assemble books or fold printed items, and she still does the same thing.

After they were married, they built the home on Whittemore Street where Earl Lancaster now lives, but 14 years ago they sold it to Lancaster and built their present home on Banner Road, only a good stone's throw from Greenwood School and Luther's boyhood home on DeWitt Road. There's a bit of farming mixed with Luther's printing ink and blood, and it was the farming inclination that almost made him leave printing 25 years ago. He had started raising chickens and producing eggs in 1935, and when the war came on and the meat shortage developed, he set about raising chickens to sell. He started with a 12 x 12 building, then advanced to a 14 x 28 structure that turned out 5,000 chickens per year. Luther has reduced that production now to only about 500 per year, but it is still a prime consideration in his life—despite the overriding influence of printer's ink.

Economists meet former DeWitt man

Watching an early morning television show lead Extension Home Economist Helen Meach and Jane Child into quite an adventure.

The program was a farm show. The subject was stripping tobacco. The man in charge was WAVE Farm Director Jack Crowner.

Jack is the son of Mr and Mrs Melvin Crowner of DeWitt. Born and raised in Clinton county, Jack relates that his experience as Clinton county's second IFYE was invaluable to his life and his career. It was this trip to New Zealand that introduced Jack to his wife, Sue, who was an IFYE from Jefferson county, Ky. She and Jack agree that it was not Sue that brought them back to Kentucky but Jack's job.

JACK GRADUATED from MSU in 1955 with Extension Home Economist Jane Child and went to work as farm director at Iowa's radio station, WION. Miss Child went with the Cooperative Extension Service and her first day on the job was interviewed by Crowner on WION.

Jack was drafted and went to Alaska for two years, returning to work with the Louisville, Ky., television and radio station. The Saturday show celebrated Jack's 10th year with WAVE.

Jack met Extension Home Economists Meach and Child at the Kentucky State Fair Fairgrounds, the largest fairgrounds in the nation according to Kentuckians. From there they toured the facilities at WAVE and then Churchill Downs, the home of the Kentucky Derby, was visited.

THE HIGHLIGHT of the Louisville tour was a trip to a tobacco warehouse where the home economists saw tobacco being dried and stripped. When talk-

Schools plan observance of American Education Week

"This education forms the common mind; Just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined."

Never before have Alexander Pope's words seemed to mean District will salute this mutual never before have teachers had so much responsibility for educationally "pruning" the minds of their students nor parents been so charged with the right and responsibility of aiding educators in this task.

The St. Johns Public School District will salute this mutual teacher-parent effort Nov. 6 through 10 with the observance of American Education Week in the St. Johns schools.

VISIT YOUR SCHOOLS

THIS YEAR'S EVENT has as its theme "How Good Are Your Schools?" Parents are invited to visit the schools, especially during American Education Week, in an effort to find out for themselves.

In addition, the high school will hold its annual open house program from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Nov. 6 and 7, and parents will have the opportunity to visit teachers and the school facilities.

"Because large numbers of parents will want to take advantage of the opportunity, two nights have been scheduled for the open house," Supt. Earl Lancaster said. "Parents are urged to come Nov. 6 if their name starts with the letters A through L and on Tuesday night if they start with M through Z. If the schedule is inconvenient, though, parents should feel free to come on the more convenient evening."

THERE WON'T BE any school at Central School Nov. 6, with teachers setting aside the day for parent-teacher conferences. Parents wishing to confer with a teacher are urged to call the principal's office for an appointment.

Parent-teacher conferences will be held in all the city elementary schools on the afternoons of Nov. 6, 7 and 8. Kindergarten conferences will be held all day on those three days, since they have twice as many children in the half-day sessions. Teachers make every attempt to reach every parent by scheduling conferences at other times for those who can't come during the three days.

Some rural schools in the district will be holding open houses during the week of Nov. 6. Parents will receive notice of the times from teachers.

Sponsored annually by the National Education Assn., the American Legion, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and the U.S. Office of Education, American Education Week reminds each parent, teacher, and student that the job of improving the educational, economic, and cultural lot of each upcoming generation is the duty and pleasure of all citizens, with teachers playing a primary role.

"HOW GOOD ARE YOUR SCHOOLS?" is the theme of this year's American Education Week. More than 30 million parents will visit their youngsters' schools to see what education has to offer their children. They will find younger teachers, more male teachers, newer classroom designs, outcroppings of new teaching techniques and curriculum changes that make yesterday's schoolwork obsolete by comparison. They will find teachers who view the whole child—not just his test grades—and teachers who are interested in the individual child for his uniqueness, rather than his ability to fit into the norm.

According to Lancaster "The schoolmarm of yesterday has been replaced by today's teacher, whose horizons are as limitless as the super jet age. Tomorrow's youth will stand taller and stronger than any other generation because of today's educator."

This year's American Education Week, according to Supt. Lancaster, will focus attention on seven questions growing out of the general 1967 theme, "How Good Are Your Schools?"—at shaping the character of youth? at providing learning opportunities for all? at meeting the challenge of change? at providing quality teaching? at stimulating life-long learning? at developing vocational competence? and at enriching human life?

Senior Citizens elect officers, directors

Clinton County Senior Citizens met at the Drop-In Center Oct. 24 with 45 members present.

The main item of business was election of officers and directors. The following were elected as directors for a term of two years: Clarence Hill, Elzie Exelby, Carmen Tranchell, Ernest Root and George Shaw. Those who still have one year to serve are Mike Wesner, Leo Thelen, Mrs Clarence Bauerle, Mrs Carl Harris and Roy Ormsby.

As the Articles of Incorporation provide that the officers shall be elected by the directors the following were elected officers for a term of one year: chairman, Clarence Hill; vice chairman, Elzie Exelby; treasurer, Roy Ormsby and secretary, Carmen Tranchell. Mrs Elzie Exelby was elected program chairman. She has been serving for some years and Mrs Clarence Bauerle and Mrs Lawrence Frees were recently appointed as assistants. They were elected by the directors but as Mrs Frees is ill at present Mrs Clarence Hill was appointed to serve until her return. Mrs Hill was also elected director of the Rhythm Band in place of Mrs Ernest Root, who resigned. Mr and Mrs Mike Wesner will be in charge of the card parties.

DUE TO THE ABSENCE of those who were to participate the whole program was extemporaneous and consisted of music, some dancing and a reading by Mrs Mary Masarik.

All senior citizens may attend the next meeting which will be held at the Drop-In Center Nov. 14 with a potluck dinner at 12.

Viet Nam 4-T (-H) leader to visit 3 weeks in Clinton

Clinton County will have an opportunity to get a glimpse of 4-H work in war-torn Viet Nam during the next three weeks while a national leader of the Viet Nam 4-T program visits here.

The leader is Vo Quang Tam, a professional rural youth leader exchange from Thanh-My-Tay village in Gia-Dinh province near Saigon. He will be staying from Nov. 2-13 with the Peter Kurnez family on East Colony Road and from Nov. 13-24 with the John Aylsworth family at 506 E. Cass Street, St. Johns. Aylsworth is Clinton County 4-H youth agent.

Tam is a national 4-T leader (section chief), supervising all provincial 4-T leaders and training district and local professional leaders. He formerly served as Extension vegetable and rice specialist.

THE 4-T PROGRAM is the equivalent in South Viet Nam to the 4-H program in the United States. The "T's" stand for tri (head), tam (heart), tay (hands) and than (health). The 4-T program was organized in South Viet Nam in 1955.

Tam's visit is part of a two-way exchange of professional rural youth leaders between the U.S. and other countries. In Viet Nam, the exchange is sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service, South Viet Nam Ministry of Agriculture. In the United States, it is conducted by the National 4-H Club Foundation on behalf of the Cooperative Extension Service of the state land-grant universities and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Viet Nam has sent seven Extension workers to the U.S. under this program.

The exchange is made possible through financial sponsorship provided by the Agency of International Development of the United States Department of State.

TAM'S VISIT IN Clinton County is just part of his United States experience. He arrived here in September and after an orientation program came to Michigan State University. He'll spend three days during his stay here back at Michigan State, and on Nov. 24 or 25 he'll travel to Chicago to attend the national 4-H Club Congress.

Mrs Nellie Allen and Mrs Harold Sullivan attended the funeral of an aunt, Mrs Flora David, Thursday afternoon in Lansing. Burial was in North Eagle.

Mr and Mrs Ed Rose spent Tuesday until Friday at their cottage at St. Helens.

Chicago to attend the national 4-H Club Congress.

Between then and Dec. 22 he'll spend time in seminars and in final consultation and evaluation. He'll fly home to Viet Nam Dec. 22.

Tam has an aim of learning more about the following general subjects while in the United States: professional leaders, including subject matter specialists at the county, state and national levels; organization and operation of local 4-H clubs; individual member projects, collective or club projects; voluntary leadership at all levels; program planning; motivation of members; teaching methods; member recognition and awards; legitimization; organization and administration of program; public relations; program evaluation; relationships with other organizations, special events; financing; and recreation.

TAM COMES FROM a rural background. He was raised on a 20-acre rice farm, 16 acres of which were irrigated. Livestock included swine. He has had six years of primary school, seven years of secondary school, three years of practical agriculture and forestry school; and four years of national agriculture, animal husbandry and forestry college.

He and his wife have five sons and five daughters. He studied English at the Vietnamese American Association School and understands it if spoken slowly. He is fluent in Vietnamese and French languages.

Tam is being accompanied in the U.S. by Nguyen Binh, a provincial 4-T leader. Binh will be in Hillsdale County at the time Tam is here.

Open Letter from VAN W. HOAG

Dear friends,
Seven days a week, our clergymen inconspicuously minister to our spiritual needs. They are always available for sick calls, weddings, personal problems and death. We seldom give enough thought to the burdens that our clergymen so cheerfully bear. Although their work is spiritually rewarding, they both deserve and appreciate our expression of gratitude.

Respectfully,

Van W. Hoag

Red Cross unit offers recordings to servicemen

To make Christmas a bit brighter for servicemen and servicewomen this year, the Michigan Chapter of the American Red Cross again offers its "Voices from Home" program, an extension of its services to the Armed Forces.

This holiday program enables families to record a Christmas message for air mail transmittal to that member of their family who is serving in the Armed Forces. These "talking letters" are recorded on a tape, which may be played back on tape recorders where the military person is located.

The Red Cross suggests that those who take advantage of this free service prepare their message in advance so that the recording will go smoothly.

These recordings can be made beginning Nov. 1 at the Red Cross office, 1800 E. Grand River, Lansing. Appointments can be made. Hours for recording are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays. Wednesday recordings can be made until 9 p.m. The program terminates Dec. 1.

Years ago, families who lost someone they loved had to fend pretty much for themselves in handling the necessary details. Today, our role as funeral directors is most important because it assures that no family must ever face the burdens of bereavement without the aid of someone who knows what to do and who cares.

THE FIELD THINNED OUT

There was a full field of runners at the start of last Thursday's cross country meet between St. Johns and-Fulton High, but by the time they got around to about 60 per cent done, the field was thinning out. In the smaller picture, Armando Rositas of St. Johns has a big edge on his nearest opponents as he circles No. 5 green at the Clinton County Country Club course. He was medalist for the meet, which St. Johns won.

Harriers wrap up year with two wins; finish 6-5

The St. Johns cross country team finished the season last week by winning two big meets. The Redwing harriers first faced Lakewood last Tuesday and defeated them 26 to 31. Schray of Lakewood was medalist for the meet after finishing with a time of 10:43 for the two mile run. Reivling Armando Rositas came in second for St. Johns with a time of 11:02. Kirk Simpson, John Burgess, Joe Salazar, and Dennis Schultheiss finished third, fourth, eighth, and ninth respectively. At the last meet of the season, last Thursday, the weather was cold but this didn't seem to hamper the Redwings as they drove on through the weather to win their sixth consecutive meet of the season by defeating Fulton 19-40. Team captain Armando Rositas won medalist honors as he finished the run with a time of 11:17. Redwing harrier Kirk Simpson came in second with a good time of 11:26. Third, sixth, and seventh places went to John Burgess, Joe Salazar and French all of St. Johns. The Redwing harriers ended up the season with six wins and five losses.

JVs turn on power, win 45-6
 The St. Johns Junior Varsity showed what a power house they can really be by defeating Lakewood last Thursday 45-6. After one minute had elapsed in the game, the JVs scored on a 35-yard pass from Randy Atkinson to Dave Gaffney. The Vikings then put up an early drive but a fumble lost to St. Johns cost them a chance at scoring. Junior Wing Chuck Green then rambled 62 yards for another TD. Jeff Sillm scored the extra point. Again in the first quarter the Wings scored; this time Jeff Sillm carried the ball 12 yards to make the TD. Ron Waggoner completed the extra point. St. Johns controlled the ball the whole second quarter, again scoring three times. First Randy Atkinson threw another touchdown pass to Dave Gaffney this time for 30 yards. Chuck Green and Jeff Sillm completed then scored their second touchdowns of the game on short runs. The third quarter proved to be a little rougher for the JVs as a spirited Lakewood ball team returned to prevent St. Johns from scoring further. They almost succeeded but defensive end John Smit picked off a Lakewood pass and went 60 yards for a TD. The extra point was good. Lakewood finally appeared on the scoreboard with nine seconds left in the game. The attempt at the extra point failed, thus ending the game 45 to 6. The junior varsity has one remaining game — tonight at home against Ionia.

3 have perfect papers in contest, but only 1 wins
 "Near perfect" was the best way to describe the winner in last week's Clinton County News football contest. "Almost near perfect" is the description for the two runners-up. Three persons picked every one of the 16 games perfectly, the first time so many have done it in at least four years. But thanks to the tie-breaker score, Leann Martin of 217 N. West Street, Ovid, emerged the winner of the $20 prize offered by the newspaper and participating merchants. She picked 34 points as her tie-breaker score, and that was 10 higher than the actual score of the tie-breaker game. Charles E. Bates of 409 E. Walker Street, St. Johns, also had a perfect score in the regular contest, but his tie-breaker score was two points higher at 36. Gale Perry of 304 Spring Street, St. Johns, also with a perfect paper, had 37 points for the tie-breaker. A check for $20 was mailed

Ovid-Elsie JVs slug Perry 46-0
 OVID-ELSIE — Jerry Ployman scored four touchdowns last Thursday to lead the Ovid-Elsie junior varsity football team to a 46-0 victory over Perry. Ployman had touchdowns on runs of 10 and 58 yards and also caught two touchdown passes. Quarterback Dave Long completed 10 of 13 pass attempts for 227 yards and the two touchdowns. Long also scored one TD on a nine-yard run. Frank Wikler and Brian Parker scored a touchdown each, and Don Mulder added the extra points. Bob Slat led the defense with nine tackles, while Ben Stolt and Charlie Heinze each had eight. Perry was never able to penetrate farther than the Ovid-Elsie 40 yard line. The JVs will be after their sixth victory this afternoon (Thursday) when they meet Birch Run in the final game of the season. It will start at 4 p.m. at Birch Run.

Other West Central games this week has Hastings at Grand Ledge, Charlotte at Lakewood and Alma at Greenville. For local Redwing fans who will be traveling to Ionia, the football field is located about three miles south of Ionia on M-66, then approximately 1/2 mile east.

On their first series after the Redwing score, Lakewood lost ten yards in three plays and again punted. Cary Hambleton gathered in the punt and started upfield, was hit, but as he started to fall lateraled the ball to Salemi who picked up blocking and went 48 yards to the Lakewood two. Romig got one yard, then Green went the last yard to score with 7:13 left in the quarter. Tim Durner passed to Jeff Nobis in the end zone for the extra point.

Following the St. Johns kickoff, Lakewood lost 15 yards in three plays and punted. Snow fails to cool hot CMAC race

Snow Friday night and muddy fields Saturday night made keeping track of football teams, and especially players, the most difficult that it's been this season, but when the mud was all washed off, two tight races in Clinton area football leagues were as tight as ever.

In the Central Michigan Athletic Conference, Bath, Potterville and St. Patrick's continued their tie for first place with victories. Bath defeated Fowler 19-6 Friday night, and Saturday Portland St. Patrick's downed Laingsburg 14-0 and Potterville slipped by Pewamo-Westphalia 8-0.

Bill Harris scored two touchdowns on three- and nine-yard runs Friday night as Bath won their third straight game by a 19-6 score. Elias David pitched a pass for 25 yards to Mike Woodruff and the third touchdown. Fowler's touchdown came on a one-yard plunge by quarterback George Goerge.

WOODRUFF AND Warren Baird were the main cogs in the Bath offense as the Bees avenged a defeat to Fowler last year in the league title game, also played on a snowy field. Woodruff rushed for 118 yards and Baird for 125 yards.

St. Patrick's Ron Ham scored both touchdowns in the Shamrocks' 14-0 win over Laingsburg Saturday night. He picked up a blocked punt and ran 12 yards for one and then was on the receiving end of a 58-yard pass play from Art Baker for the other one.

At Pewamo-Westphalia, the host Pirates were tough, but Potterville managed a touchdown in the first quarter on a pass from Mike Heinze to Vic Amey for 19 yards, and then got a safety in the second quarter when Reuben Chavez and Ray Young tackled a P-W runner in the end zone.

DENNIS BARRETT scored three touchdowns for Ovid-Elsie in their 44-0 romp over Perry Saturday night in the Mid-Michigan B League. Barrett scored on runs of five, 12 and five yards. L.D. Jones scored two others on a six-yard run and an eight-yard pass from Rich Eastlick. Don Wilson intercepted a Perry pass and returned it 28 yards for one touchdown, and Jerry Guysky carried a Perry fumble 20 yards for the other touchdown.

Webberville scored a touchdown in the last 67 seconds of the game to nip DeWitt's strongest bid for a victory thus far. The DeWitt team lost 8-6 at Webberville.

The difference was an intentional safety in the third period that prevented a possible touchdown for Webberville. With that, DeWitt led 6-2 on the strength of Ron Smith's touchdown from four yards out earlier in the game. But late in the game, Webberville put together a 55-yard drive, capped by a 38-yard pass play from Kevin Karikomi to Roy McFarland with 67 seconds left in the game.

Fulton High School played Saturday afternoon after Friday night's snow-out, and they got touchdowns in the middle two periods to beat Montabella High 12-0. Bill Priest scored the first TD on a 46-yard run, and Dick Zammaron got the second with a four-yard burst.

Firemen called 3 times in 3 days

St. Johns firemen answered three alarms over the weekend, none of which turned out to be anything major in the way of a blaze.

Early Sunday morning the department was called out to wash down gasoline from the highway at the scene of a fatal accident on M-21 west of the city. Monday evening the firemen went back to Southgate and put out a rubbish fire behind the laundramat.

CHEST DRIVE NEEDS COOPERATION FOR SUCCESS

The Clinton County Communities Chest Drive is wheeling through its third week this year, and so far the results are rather light in the way of monetary donations. Mrs Marie Thelen, president of the Clinton County Communities Chest, is asking that some 3,000 or more people who haven't answered their contribution appeal letters do so just as soon as convenient. The 1967 Communities Chest campaign has been extended a week to allow for this. Business and industrial campaigns will be wrapping up in the next week.

Ten volunteer Girl Scout leaders spent much of the day Monday helping "break in" the Michigan Capital Girl Scout Council's new campground southwest of St. Johns . . . and also getting in some training on outdoor cooking. Around one campfire are Mrs Fern Waggoner, Mrs Dolores Mack, Mrs Jeri Pope and Mrs Pauline Graham. Another group has a campfire in the background.

New Girl Scout leaders training

Ten Girl Scout leaders from St. Johns, Eureka and Maple Rapids spent Monday at the new Girl Scout council campsite southwest of St. Johns as part of their basic leadership training course.

It was the third of four sessions they'll attend during a training period designed to get them off to a good start with their local Girl Scout troops. The ladies cooked their own meal over campfires and wandered around the 135-acre campsite.

It was the only outdoor session of the four which they'll take, according to Janet Stetsler, Girl Scout district advisor. They'll finish up the 16-hour course next Monday at the Congregational Church in St. Johns.

The 13 Scout leaders taking the training course are:

From Eureka, Fern Waggoner, Pauline Graham and Wilma Farrell; from Maple Rapids, Joyce Koeppen, Vivian Wiseman and Betty Tate; from St. Johns, Kay Schueller, Betty Minsky, Jeri Pope, LaVon Rogers, Dolores Mack, Sharon Rochon and Marilyn Goldman.

P-W board, citizens committee meet

PEWAMO - WESTPHALIA—A joint meeting was held at the Pewamo-Westphalia High School last Wednesday evening by the P-W Board of Education and the P-W Citizens Study Committee. The meeting was attended by approximately 35 members of the committee and several other interested citizens.

Walter Kellen, board president, opened the meeting by giving a report on the school financial situation and the need for additional financial assistance to continue an adequate school program another year.

School officials presented various charts which spelled out the reasons why school costs have increased in the district the past few years. School enrollment has increased from 417 in 1961 to an estimated 712 next year. The school census has increased from 1,080 to 1,453 in the 5-through-19 year age group in the same period. The 1967 census showed there were 547 children under the age of 5.

Several suggestions and ideas were offered by the group for informing the taxpayers of the district of the need for the 7-mill increase next year. Included in the suggestions was a recommendation to hold two or more public meetings in the school district.

In addition to the support of the citizens committee, the County Cousins Farm Bureau group approved and supported the millage issue at their meeting last week. The board of directors of the Westphalia Jaycees Thursday evening passed a resolution to support the issue and will recommend to the membership of the organization total support.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

Richard H. Overholt, son of Mrs. Ruth Overholt of 215 W. Washington Street, DeWitt, has been accepted as a new member of the Honors College at Michigan State University. Named for the honor because of high scholarship in his freshman year, he now has the opportunity to develop his own program of study. Overholt is a junior majoring in social science.

SCHOOL COSTS have increased from $178,710 in 1962 to an estimated cost of $315,333 this year and $380,499 for the 1968-69 school year.

Estimated receipts for the 1968-69 school year were computed at $281,901, thus showing a deficit of $98,598 without additional millage.

The committee, by a show-of-hand vote, recommended that the board request 10 mills for one year at the special election on Dec. 2. It was pointed out that the 10-mill request represents only a 7 mill increase, as a current 3 mill issue will be retired this year. The new issue will not be levied until December 1968.

Plan 6-week course on investments

A six-week course in "Securities and Investing" will be held this fall at St. Johns High School, with classes beginning Tuesday, Nov. 14, in Room 106 of the high school building.

Sponsored by Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, Inc., of Lansing, the adult course will touch on nine different topics during the six-week run. Classes will be held each Tuesday night, with Ronald A. Bonggren of the Lansing firm in charge. The class is an investors information program on the New York Stock Exchange.

Subjects covered in the course will include: Your Investment Objectives; Investors - Owners and Lenders; The New York Stock Exchange and The Broker; Basic Methods of Investing; Investment Facts and Figures; Investing for Income; Investing for Growth; How To Read the Financial News; and Speculation - Not for Everybody.

The course is open to the public. Persons interested in the course are asked to contact Albert LaFevre, St. Johns High School guidance director, so that final arrangements for the number of persons attending can be made.

Kindergarten class gets PTA mascot

Mrs Beagle's afternoon kindergarten class won the mascot for having the highest percentage of parents in attendance at the East Ward PTA meeting Monday evening, Oct. 23.

Mrs Longnecker's first grade was such a close second that they have the mascot in the mornings.

The meeting was attended by 97 parents and teachers.

JACK TRAVIS, art teacher and Mike Humphrey, physical education teacher, presented the program, "What We Are Doing with Your Children."

Travis said parents should take time to look at the art projects their children bring home and if possible display them.

Encourage children to finish every game or project they start and play with them, Humphrey said.

Clinic next Wednesday

DeWITT—The November free immunization clinic for the DeWitt area will be held next Wednesday, Nov. 8, at the Veterans' Memorial Building on West Washington Street in DeWitt. The clinic will run from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Richard G. Steinhaus, 22, of Lansing was fined $100 plus $19.30 costs Friday by Municipal Court Judge Alba Wert on a charge of having improper license plates.

John A. Dalby, 17, of Lansing, paid a $15 fine plus $20.80 court costs and sat out three days in jail as a result of a sentence from Judge Wert Friday for being drunk and disorderly.

Judge Wert assessed fines against Donald J. Spencer, 20, of 4151 Parks Road, St. Johns, for three traffic charges Friday. Spencer got a $50 fine plus $19.30 costs for reckless driving; $25 fine and $19.30 costs for failure to halt; and $50 plus $19.30 costs for driving on a revoked license.

He also got three days in the county jail.

James E. Ballard, 22, of Lansing drew a 60-day term from Judge Wert Friday for driving on a revoked license. He's to pay $15 court costs. Judge Wert also fined him $25 plus $20.80 costs for fleeing from police.

Terry L. Leverett, 20, of Lansing, was sentenced to 120 days in the county jail Monday by Circuit Judge Leo Corkin and placed on three-years probation. Leverett was arrested Oct. 11 and charged with breaking and entering.

RESULTS OF A WEEK OF HUNTING IN CLINTON COUNTY

A group of Romulus and Taylor, Mich., hunters are probably spreading the word this week about the great raccoon hunting there is around the Maple Rapids area. Seven men and their families camped along the Maple River west of Maple Rapids last week and when the left Sunday they took with them 79 coons and sold three others — the result of five nights hunting with their dogs. Pictured here are Ed Moran, Claude Eanes, Robert Walker and Fred Johnson. Others in the hunting party were Charles Page, Herman Harris and Junior Johnson. The biggest coon weighed in at 27 pounds. The families of the men have accompanied them on the hunting trip to the Rapids each year for about four years. Last year the hunting was good, too, but the take was only 50 raccoon.

Mrs Fritz and some of her "Dolls of Yesterday"

Making 'Dolls of yesterday'

Using a doll body pattern that was used by her mother in 1908, Mrs Ernie (Lou) Fritz and her sister Ethel Bishop, who is a housemother at the School for the Blind of Lansing, are making replicas of the dolls of yesterday.

They buy the china heads but the doll bodies clothes and even the flowers used on the hats are handmade.

THE DOLL body pattern had not been used in almost 60 years as Mrs Fritz made the first doll from it in January of this year.

Mrs Fritz in trying to keep the dolls as authentic as possible and even uses the old long shuttle sewing machine when machine stitching is required.

Each doll is enough different to have a name of her own before she is complete and the names all seem to fit.

Mrs Fritz and her sister will show their dolls at the Lansing Craft and Guild hobby show at the Civic Center in Lansing Nov. 9, 10 and 11.

MRS FRITZ of 14540 Bolchot Road, Lansing, is the Clinton County News correspondent for Gunnisonville.

She has lived in the Gunnisonville area for nearly 30 years, has been married for 47 years and is the mother of five, Mrs Alva (Florence) Hartman of Gunnisonville, Mrs John (Ethel) Babula of Grand Rapids, Charles Fritz of DeWitt, Rev Arthur Fritz, an ordained minister, of Mount Pleasant and William (Billy) Fritz of Denver, Colo.

MR AND MRS Fritz are the grandparents of 17 and also have three great-grandchildren. The doll making is only one in a series of unusual careers for Mrs Fritz.

In 1916, Mrs Fritz sang in Billy Sunday's 250 voice choir for two weeks at a revival meeting, as they called it then, at Beaver Falls, Pa.

In the late 30's, when her daughters were in high school and the boys were at Gunnisonville school, they formed a country music band, "Ma Fritz and her Young 'uns" or the "Fritz Family" as they were later known entered an amateur show at Ithaca and won the grand prize.

THEY HAD QUITE a career in music and hit the big time. They entertained at service clubs at Ft. Custer and at Percy Jones Hospital during WWII. They appeared on the National Barn Dance show broadcasted by WLS of Chicago and WHO's Des Moines (Iowa) Barn Dance show. The Fritz Family also did many benefits.

During the past 10 years, since Mr Fritz retired, they have done a lot of church work at the Gunnisonville Methodist Church.

In addition to the doll making and repair business and her church work, Mrs Fritz is in the process of writing a book, she plans to call "Sortin' Yesterdays."

"I LOST a lot of my hearing last February and that was when I really started making these dolls," she said.

"I told the children, 'they can call me Grandma Moses because it looks like I have another career going,'" Mrs Fritz, who is 69, said.

Make whole kitchen useable

Is there a dream kitchen in your life? Do you wish that you might start a revolution in your own kitchen?

If so, you will be interested in the Extension Family Living lesson to be presented Nov. 2 in Corunna at the Casino; Nov. 6 in St. Johns at Smith Hall; Nov. 9 in Ithaca at the Commercial National Bank. Afternoon classes will be taught from 1 to 3:30 p.m. with a repeat evening class from 7 to 9:30 p.m. The time is the same in each location.

If you have a midget-small kitchen and have run out of space, or if in your king-size kitchen you have space to waste, this lesson is for you, says Mrs Helen Meach, home economist.

THIS IS NOT A CLASS in remodeling but rather one in learning how to make the most of what you have within the available space in any particular home, said Mrs Meach, who will present the lesson.

You will find answers to problem storage areas in your kitchen. For example, did you know that deep base cabinets can be the culprits of greatest kitchen disorder, causing waste of time and fatigue? What is the desirable number of work centers for any kitchen and what supplies belong in each area for true working convenience? You don't have to wait for a dream kitchen. Some of your dreams may be realized in your present kitchen with planning and reorganization of materials.

Following the classes, leader-teacher kits containing film strips and script will be made available upon request through the Extension office in each county. The classes are open to all homemakers at no charge. Choose the location and time which would be most convenient for you to attend.

Eliminate wild taste, don't conceal it

By HELEN B. MEACH Extension Home Economist

Who says mom can't cook a meal to remember when using wild meat or game?

Many a homemaker's fears of objectionable and "gamey" flavored venison, for example, can be eliminated when her favorite hunter properly dresses his bagged deer before leaving the woods.

Much of "gamey venison flavor" results from blood-shot meat or blood left in the meat by the hunter.

IT SHOULD not be necessary to make any attempt to conceal the flavor of venison. The characteristic flavor seems to be concentrated in the fat and if it is strong, trimming away excess fat will help.

Venison is rather a dry meat and it is improved by a little addition of suet, butter or other fat when using dry heat methods such as roasting, broiling or frying.

The same methods of meat cooking for beef can be used for venison. Cuts of round, loin and shoulder are best for roasting—this is the dry heat method. The steaks and chops are delicious fried or broiled. The shoulder shanks, neck and breast can't be beat for stewing.

Now a good stew doesn't just happen—it's created. I am sure there'll be many a potful of venison stewing away on the camp cookstove, in the North Woods during the month of November. The stew "ripens" with additions over a period of several days but it begins with cubes of meat browned in flour. The number of meat cubes depends on size and hunger of the group to be fed.

EASY DIRECTIONS to follow: 1. Dip meat cubes into seasoned flour and brown only a few cubes at a time.

2. Add favorite seasoning—such as celery tops, few whole cloves and bay leaf. Add liquid to nearly cover the meat.

3. Now cook in covered pot over low heat until the meat is fork tender.

4. ADD DESIRED vegetables and cook slowly until they are just done. Favorite choices are potatoes, carrots, rutabaga, onions and parsnips for fresh vegetables. Some folks also add processed peas, corn, lima or kidney beans.

5. It's time to remove the meat and vegetables to a hotplate and thicken the liquid with a flour and water paste. Season gravy and pour over the meat.

If you wish additional recipes, your Cooperative Extension Service office can supply you with two bulletins, one entitled "Venison," the second "Good Eating from Woods and Fields".

COMPLETE instructions covering every detail from the time the gun is fired until the chair is pushed back from the table after a hearty meal of venison steak are found in the venison bulletin. It includes details on how to bleed, dress and skin a deer, how to keep it from spoiling before the hunting trip is over and how to package and cut the deer for storage together with recipes for cooking each cut of meat.

"Good Eating from Woods and Fields" bulletin includes directions for care of game and recipes for cooking pheasant, duck, goose, rabbit, woodcock, beaver, woodchuck, opossum, raccoon, muskrat, squirrel and bear. The recipes have been selected to meet the needs of the inexperienced game cook as well as give ideas to the cook who has prepared her hunter's game before.

These two bulletins, "Venison" and "Good Eating from Woods and Fields" are available for 10 cents each from your Cooperative Extension Service Office.

Duplain-Rochester Colony

By MRS. JAMES BURNHAM, Correspondent

Fete former residents

Old friends, neighbors and relatives, of the Park Watson family of E. Colony Road gathered at Community Hall in the Colony Saturday evening, Oct. 28. About 40 guests, many participated in the evening's program, were present, not to bid the Watsons a farewell, but to recall old times and to wish them well at their new home at 201 S. Baker Street, St. Johns. The part was opened by group singing lead by Mrs Hugh Watson accompanied by Mrs Donald Temple at the piano. Mrs Ray Hamer read Edgar Guest's poem, "HOUSE HUNTING" which was slightly revised to pertain to the Watson's search for a town home which would be "just right" after Park's 52 years and Katherine's 38 years in the rural home they moved from.

PICTURES IN THREE different groups, family, school and various organizations to which the honored guests belonged were displayed. Several reminisced their associations with the Watsons: Mrs Frances Hall, a close neighbor and friend commented on Katherine's work in the Rochester Colony Extension group of which she was a charter member and influential in starting the organization; Mrs Don Temple told of her work in the WSCS of the Duplain Methodist Church; George Libey attended rural school with Park at the Watson school, went on to complete high school when his parents Mr and Mrs David Watson lived on N. Watson Road and Luman Hall offered some humor in his related story of Parks' participation on the township board, Duplain Cemetery Association and a few social occasions while living near the Colony.

During the evening Mrs Hugh Watson, unaccompanied, sang a few Scotch ditties, airing the Watson family's pride in their Scottish heritage.

Guests registered with Mrs Glenn Boice and cards were dropped in a basket and read by the honored couple following the program.

DUE TO ILLNESS in the family of their only son, David Watson of Coldwater, was unable to attend.

Another poem by the late Edgar A. Guest, "The Making of Friends," read by Mrs Ray Hamer closed the memorable evening which was followed with refreshments.

Observes UN Day

Only nine members of the Rochester Colony Extension group met at the home of Mrs Robert Fox Tuesday evening.

Observing United Nations Day, each member answered roll call with a greeting from another country and a donation to UNICEF.

The study lesson "Color and Light in the Kitchen" was presented by Mrs Robert Fox. She stressed the need for coordination in lights and colors which change with artificial light and natural light.

Mrs Elmer Thornton, chairman, conducted the business meeting.

With the absence of Mrs Richard Hebler, council member and Mrs Al Rademacher, secretary, Mrs Ray Hamer read the minutes of the last council meeting and also the secretary's report. She also gave a special program on United Nations, prepared by Mrs Al Rademacher.

Mr and Mrs Wallace Temple and baby, Jennifer, returned to their home in Long Beach, Calif., after visiting his parents, Mr and Mrs Clarence Temple of Colony Road, for a week.

Mrs Al Rademacher returned home Tuesday after being a patient at Clinton Memorial Hospital.

Mrs Richard Hebler of Walker Road is a patient at St. Lawrence hospital in Lansing.

New high school close-up

New business ed wing could open new horizons

The business education wing of the new St. Johns High School includes a kind of all-purpose room that makes Bill Swears, head of the business education department, real happy. But he doesn't know how soon it will get used.

As enrollment stands now, the combination business machines-shorthand room will be an overflow room for the rest of the wing. But if it starts out that way, it will quickly take on its intended use as the number of students at the high school increases.

What makes Swears and other school officials happy is that it is relatively inexpensive. There will be counters along the walls of the room, with storage underneath but with space left for knee-room by students using business machines on those counters.

STRAIGHT TYPING tables can be butted up against the counters at right angles to form L-shaped desks that are less expensive than if they had to be bought for the center of the room. There will be combination tables in the center of the room on which typewriters can sit but which have space aplenty for taking dictation in shorthand.

The center tables—set up for 32 students—will also be wired for the electronic Steno-Craft laboratory capable of giving four different shorthand lessons at once to students in the room through the use of tape recordings piped to the various tables. (An article on this equipment appeared on Page 2-A of the Oct. 5 issue of the Clinton County News.)

"Everything is there in that room," Swears said. "There's wired for the electronic Steno-Craft lab. The lab can and probably will be used for both shorthand and typing.

The advanced typing room is one of two typing classrooms in the new wing. They'll be located to the left as students enter the business education cluster through the main corridor. The wall between the two typing rooms will not be a loadbearing wall, so at some time in the future it could be easily removed without damaging the building, if that was desired.

The beginning typing room will have space for 41 typists using manual typewriters. There will be 38 stations in the advance typing room, and they'll have the L-shaped desks and Steno-Craft hookups. The advanced typing room will be somewhat larger in size than the beginning typing room.

nothing in the way. And there's plenty of cupboard space above and below the counters."

The combination room is one of two in the business education wing that will be wired for the Steno-Craft. The other is the advanced typing room, which will also be used for shorthand. It is equipped with 38 L-shaped desks so that typewriters can remain in place while students take shorthand. The typing rooms at the present high school contain some of the L-shaped desks, and these will be transferred to the new building.

"THE TROUBLE IS WE don't know how fast our typing classes will grow," Swears said. "It could force the shorthand classes into the combination room right away, or it could be awhile." At any rate, both the advanced typing and the combination rooms are BOTH TYPING ROOMS will have lots of counter space along the walls on which students can do collating jobs. They'll each have pull-down screens and overhead projectors. Each room will have only two windows, making it easier to darken the room for better use of audio-visual aids. An EDL (educational development laboratory) projector will be available in each of the rooms; it projects lessons on the screen and moves the words at a predetermined pace to help speed the typists along.

Next to the advanced typing room in the business education circular cluster will be an individual study room, actually a combination of three rooms. There will be eight study booths along the wall, and eventually new business machines, small projectors, tape recorders for listening to missed lessons will be used by individual students in this section of the building. There will be four typewriters, plus pamphlets and books.

The room is designed for advanced students to do advanced work on their own and would be used by all classes in the business department. There'll also be duplicating material available. As a part of the entire individual study area will be the department office, including a conference table, and an office for the cooperative education coordinator.

Across the exit corridor from the individual study area will be the bookkeeping room. This will be a basic classroom, with pull-down screen and a special blackboard with lines and columns that follow accounting sheets. There will be a special counter for storage and for business machines along the wall. There will be space for 32 students in the room.

AROUND THE EAST SIDE of the circular cluster will be located the combination business machines and shorthand room, a general business and retailing classroom and the high school special education room. The special ed room will be paid for by county special education funds. It is designed for 15 students. Like the science wing on the other side of the high school complex, the business education wing will also have a central core of rooms. Included here will be boys' and girls' restrooms, custodial storage and storage of department supplies. The main corridor coming from the academic cluster will be 12 feet wide, with lockers on each side. A nine-foot-wide corridor will circle around the core area, and an eight-foot-wide corridor will lead outside. There will be display cases on the walls around the corridors, and a major size retailing display case on the center core wall at the end of the main corridor. Swears is contemplating several curriculum changes once the See BUSINESS ED page 7-B

Sam Sherwood relates summer vacation to Britain, Expo

The following is a day by day account of Sam and Nellie Sherwood's trip to England this past summer.

As Saturday, July 2, rolled around, we had our bags all packed. It was very hot as we left Ovid with Mr and Mrs Dave Houghton for the Metropolitan Airport in Detroit. Never having seen it before, it looked very big to us. We waited our turn to have our suitcases weighed and took some pictures of that big plane, a BOAC, VC 10. At 6 o'clock we went aboard after bidding our twins, Jane and Jerry and Mr and Mrs Houghton and our son, Walter and his wife farewell. It seemed like a dream had come true and at 6:45 the four motors started to run. Our seats were next to a window and we waved good-bye to all.

Once the plane was in the sky and we were settled down we were off. Well, I did have to ask the steward a lot of questions, like how many gallons of fuel have you on this plane, he said a lot, about 19,125 gallons and we were flying 600 miles an hour, at 33,000 feet up. The steward asked us if we would like to see the plane. We said that we would so we followed him to the front, we were in the rear. The plane was 24 seats long, and three seats on each side of the aisle. He slid the first doors and we were in the first-class part, then some more doors and we were standing right behind the four men at the controls. We then went back to our seats, and in a few minutes the stewardess brought sandwiches and an orange or lemon drink. Before we knew it we were in Boston, Mass. We took on about 50 more people and more fuel. There were now 80 people on the plane. At 9 p.m. we were on our way across the Atlantic Ocean and at 9:30 they brought us our dinner or supper of roast veal, tea or coffee. Our tray was hinged to the back of the seat ahead of us. It was a very nice meal with all the trimmings and we enjoyed it. Mrs Sherwood and I had three seats between us. We were moved to the middle of the plane where it was quieter than in the rear.

At 11 p.m. the shades were pulled down and the lights were turned off. The announcer said over the loud speaker that we could have a blanket out of the shelf above our heads and go to sleep. I wasn't sleepy. At 2 o'clock the lights came on and the shades went up and over the speaker came the announcement that we were to set our watches five hours ahead, that it was 7 in the morning.

In a few minutes we had our breakfast. We weren't hungry but we ate anyhow. At 7:50 they said to buckle our seat belts, we will soon be in London. It was 8 a.m. when we landed. It was a nice clear day, and I said to Mrs Sherwood, "Thank God, we are here."

There were a lot of people, because five planes had just landed. We found our cases and went through customs okay. Then we started looking for our cousin's daughter and son-in-law, Mr and Mrs Gerald Lilley. We had no trouble locating them. We embraced and almost cried tears of joy. We sent a cablegram back to Owosso to be phoned to our home Monday morning.

It was now July 3 at 8:15 a.m. Mr Lilley's car was an Austin-Cambridge four door sedan. We got our bags in and got in the back seat. I was scared for a minute because Mr Lilley was on the left side of the road or street. But that's the way they all do. They took us to a hotel and left our bags and the car there.

We took a ride on a double-decker bus to Piccadilly Circus and Trafalgar Square. We walked around a while, had lunch, then walked to Buckingham Palace, through St. James Park and saw the statue of Queen Victoria at Hyde Park. We then took a tube train, underground railway, to the station near the hotel. We See SHERWOOD page 3-B took a nice long nap then went back to the tube train for a ride up to London, Russell Square, had something to eat and walked back through the town to our hotel, very tired.

MONDAY, July 3, we got up all rested for a day of excitement again. We had breakfast, took a double decker bus to the city and saw the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace. We took a lot of pictures. We saw Westminster Abbey, Big Ben, House of Parliament and stopped at No. 10 Downing Street. After lunch we took another bus to Regent Park and spent a nice afternoon there. In the evening we went to the Victoria Palace Theater, where we saw a black and white minstrel show. We got back to the hotel at 11:25, very tired.

Tuesday, July 4, we never will forget that day. We got a London Transport Bus for a two-hour sight-seeing tour around the interesting places and sights. The driver had a mike and talked to the 60 people on the bus. We saw a lot of statues and many pigeons.

AFTER LUNCH we went to the hotel, got the car and our bags and left London, after two and one-half very exciting days. We went then to Stratford-on-Avon, the home of Shakespeare, a distance of 100 or so miles north of London. We stayed all night at a private home, where we had a nice rest and had our breakfast. There are signs along the road that read "Bed and Breakfast."

Wednesday, July 5, we took more pictures and saw the house where Shakespeare was born. Then went down to Slottery where Ann Hathaway, Shakespeare's wife, was born. That night we arrived at our cousin's home, Mr and Mrs Gerald Lilley, another 50 or 75 miles north. We spent the next few days with them, until their parents came for us. That was another big day, meeting them again. They spent about two weeks with us a year ago. We had a big Sunday dinner and Nellie popped some pop corn for the grandchildren, two boys and they thought that was great. It was the first they had ever eaten. Sunday afternoon some other cousins took us to their home another 75 miles or so north to Bridlington, seaside town on the North Sea Side.

Monday, July 10, our cousins took us for a ride to Ganton where my father had a little store or shop, they call it. It still stands made out of stone and is operated by a lady named, Helen Rustin. She showed us all through and we took some pictures. We also were in the old church where my father and mother went and also visited the graves of my grandparents. We also visited one of our cousins, who remembered me as a boy. The next day we went to a show or fair we would call it and saw lots of nice hogs, cattle, horses and sheep. I saw a drill with 47 holes and a 14 foot combine. On the way home we stopped at York at another cousins. We had tea, got back to Bridlington at 8 p.m. and had a very nice day.

WEDNESDAY, July 12 we had our first letter from our daughter, Jane. We were so glad to hear from home, as we left the farm in charge of the twins, Jerry and Jane. We went to the seaside in the morning to find no water and the boats all laying in the mud. They told me the tide went out in the night. In the afternoon we went to our cousin, Lillian's who lives on a 180 acre farm. We spent the rest of the week with them. More cousins came to see us, Max and Hilda Sherwood and Alex and Isabel Sherwood. We had a good old-fashioned reunion. The next day I helped load some baled hay and I was right at home. The men talked to me all the time but it was difficult to understand them at first. In the afternoon another cousin came and took us for a long ride to their farm. Their farm is 190 acres. They raise seed potatoes, barley, oats and hay. They also milk 20 cows, lots of young stock and 300 laying hens. Friday we went to a stockyard auction, similar to St. Johns. There we saw lots of cattle, hogs and sheep. We took pictures and listened to the auctioneer. On the way back we stopped at another cousin's in a village called Settrington. On Saturday we went to Hull, a large shipping port, and saw another cousin. One of the cousins is a nurse and she took us all through a new 14-story hospital. It was just opened and dedicated by the Queen in June. SUNDAY a friend of our cousin took us all around an experimental farm that was operated by the government. It contained 1080 acres and was operated by 12 men. They had several Blue Harvestor S10s. In the afternoon our cousins came to take us back to Bridlington with them. We stopped for tea with another cousin in a village called Wintringham. July 17 we were taken to York. We spent a week there. On Monday we went sight-seeing on a double-decker bus. We saw a quaint old church dating back to the year 1610. We also visited one of the oldest museums in the world. It took four hours to go through it. Wednesday, the 19th, we went to Rowntrees Chocolate factory on the double-deck bus. It took two hours to go through it. They employ 9,000 workers, mostly women and 1,000 on the office staff. The women ride bicycles to work. I never saw so many bicycles in my life. The next day another cousin, Bert Myers, came and took us to his house for dinner and to visit another cousin. We visited another big abbey called Munster and also walked the walls that surround the city of York. It is a large city. The walls are where the soldiers fought off the Germans in World War I.

NOW WE ARE back in Bridlington for another week. On the 26th we went to another show or fair at a town called Driffield. It was very nice. Lots of large equipment and lots of horses and cattle. We saw the Memorial of War called Sledmere with the names of the soldiers who lost their lives. On the 27th we visited a large flour mill and elevator.

We spent an entire day with cousins, John and Maude Sherwood.

Saturday, July 29, we were taken by our cousins, who visited us two years ago, to Scotland on their holiday. We stopped in a town called Skilton, where I was born. We visited the cemetery where my mother is buried but it started to rain and we were unable to locate the grave. We crossed the Firth of Forth Bridge at Edinburgh, Scotland. It is like our Mackinac Bridge. We stayed three days in a town called Balloch. It rains a lot there and it is very hard to get the hay dry. On the way back to England we stayed at a village called Keswick. Here again are those signs "Bed and Breakfast." The people make money keeping travelers all night and giving them their breakfast in the morning. When we got back to Bridlington we had lots of letters from home to read. We then went back to another cousin's where we had stayed three days and spent some time with her.

Monday, the 7th of August, I got up and helped do chores and fed a calf. I was right at home. We then went back to Bridlington for a big supper and a reunion as we were to leave Friday, Aug. 11 and to go to Liverpool, 150 miles by car. We left at 8:30 in the morning Friday and stopped at Manchester for dinner and arrived in Liverpool about 3:30 in the afternoon. We bid our cousins farewell as they had given us a very enjoyable time at their houses. At 4:30 we went through customs and went up the gangplank on the big ship Corinthia and on our way home. The Corinthia is 600 feet long and weighs 22,000 tons and carries 800 passengers plus crew. There are 10 decks, and 98 tables in the dining room which were set six times a day for two breakfasts, two dinners and two suppers. We found our state room No. 408 on the R Deck. We were pretty well to the back of the ship and could hear the big propellers. The port hole in our stateroom was not over 20 or more feet above the ocean. It was a beautiful sight to open the porthole and look out on the ocean.

We had our supper at 6 Friday night. It was a regular "hub-bub" as the people were all strange and it was such a big dining room. Saturday they gave us table no. 4 and the same six people ate together three times a day, just like one big family after we got acquainted with each other. What menus we had! Anything you wished, after supper it was still daylight so we went on deck and watched the men load on all the baggage, on a big elevator. It was on a big rubber endless belt, we thought it would never end. At 8 o'clock, it was still daylight, the anchor was pulled and all the ropes were untied. We started to move out of Liverpool harbor. We stayed by the rail and everyone was waving bye and some had tears in their eyes. We finally went inside and listened to a five-piece orchestra playing in a big lounge room. We were tired and went to our stateroom.

Nellie said to Sam "Pa, you climb the ladder to the top bunk" so went to bed the first night at sea. We were awakened by the steward knocking at the door, telling us it was time for breakfast. We looked out the porthole still seeing land on both sides.

Not every bedroom had a porthole. We had our breakfast and got acquainted with our table-mates. By noon we were well up the Firth of Forth River going towards Scotland to a town called Greenoch, where they stopped after turning the boat around. Again it was time for dinner Saturday. We stayed there five hours while a freight boat brought all the big boxes and bags and big trunks on board with a large crane. It took a long time.

Finally a ship pulled alongside ours and the gangplank was put out and about 170 Scotch people came on board with two dogs and a cat. What a sight, that was!

Parallel lines always converge at the same point on the horizon. If we stand in the center of a highway, and look straight ahead, we discover that the lanes seem to disappear at one central point. The artist must deal with this curious fact when he paints a canvas. We call it perspective. It is the way our eyes see the picture. If we stand at a different position, the scene changes, and the vanishing point is moved to a new place on the horizon. By changing our position we change our perspective.

This is true of life. How we look at our afflictions and our troubles is very largely determined by our inner attitude. In a very real way our ideas about God will determine our perspective.

The Church can help you to place all areas of life in balance. Many people today are confused and disturbed because they see things in the wrong perspective. Visit your church this Sunday and see if the world doesn't look better next week!

new facilities are occupied. The curriculum now includes two years of typing, a year of beginning shorthand with a second year combination shorthand-sec-retarial practice following, two years of bookkeeping, and a cooperative education program in office work.

Swears would like to put his business education department on a semester basis for some of the classes, with the aim of offering more students an awareness of the business fields. In the second year of bookkeeping, for instance, a student might be offered one semester of bookkeeping II and a semester of business management.

A retailing or sales (distributive) course might be offered on a semester basis and could possibly expand into a cooperative education program of its own. Another possibility for a semester course is business law.

"WE HAVE TWO goals," Swears said. "One is to help the terminal student who has to go out and get a job after high school. The other is to prepare a student who goes on to college with some training so he can help earn his way."

"We could offer all kinds of business education courses for the students, but they have to have time to meet their other academic requirements, too. That's why a semester basis in this area could give more students a good look, anyway, at the business fields."

Much of the equipment for the business education department will be transferred from the present high school, including some of the L-tables, bookkeeping desks, a lot of the machines, and the new Steno-Craft lab. Some of the equipment is being purchased early and bit by bit so that federal funds can be utilized in their purchase. The equipment is being put to use right away, too.

The load-bearing walls of the business education wing are now up all the way as construction on the high school progresses.

The five business education rooms in the new high school compares to only three available in the present building.

"The Great Commission of Our Lord" was the theme for the Great Lakes Bible College men's banquet held recently at Reo Auditorium in Lansing. Five men from the Church of Christ attended the banquet and were welcomed by President John Hasty. Group singing was led by Henry Krueger of Jackson with Prof. Elmer Nicholson at the piano. The Journeyman Trio of GLBC provided the special music along with Sam Hastings of GLBC. The message entitled, "How Great Is the Great Commission?" was presented by O. A. Trinkle, retired minister. Prof. Hargrave gave the benediction.

FIFTH SUNDAY RALLY HELD

Sunday evening found a good number out despite the weather. Ralph Woodard led the song service. Prayer was given by Marlon Ellis, minister of West Owosso Church of Christ. Special numbers were presented by the choir, Mrs Jack Hawes and Mrs Wayne Holden, with Mrs Earl Dunham accompanying on the organ. Justin Shepard of Great Lakes Bible College presented the message, "The Chain That Binds Satan for 1000 years." A baptismal service was held following the message.

ENDS 40 YEARS IN 1-24

Over 40 years in the ministry came to an end Sunday as Ralph R. Woodard brought his final message to the congregation at the Church of Christ during the morning worship hour.

Woodard's remarks were based on the First Epistle of John and two young people stepped out to accept Christ as their personal Saviour as the invitation hymn was sung. Thus the era of the Woodards' ministry at Duplain drew to a close. They plan to retire to their cottage at Rock Lake near Vestaburg, Michigan.

Saturday evening found 108 present in the church basement at a supper in honor of the Woodards, Fall leaves and miniature ornaments depicting happenings during the Woodards 40 years in the ministry set the atmosphere for the dining room.

FOLLOWING THE supper hour the group assembled in the sanctuary where each guest signed the guest list and turned in a picture of his family which was then put in an album to be presented to the honored guests.

4 in county earn degrees at CMU

Four Clinton County residents have been awarded degrees at Central Michigan University and will be eligible to take part in mid-year commencement exercises in January.

The students are Thomas M. Isanhart of DeWitt, who earned a bachelor of science degree in education; Thelma M. Kridner of R-2, Elsie, who earned an AB degree; Edwina McDowell of 109 S. Prospect Street, St. Johns, who earned an AB; and Frank H. Rosengren of 304 E. Mead Street, who earned a master of arts degree.

Many a man is blue at this time of year because the high cost of living bleeds him white and keeps him in the red.

The nearest approach to perpetual motion is the older generation fretting over the moral welfare of the younger.

Let's talk about printed fabrics—big news this year in fashions. In the ordinary or direct method of printing fabrics, simple and elaborately colored designs are impressed on the woven cloth by means of engraved rollers. In block printing flat blocks are used instead of rollers and this operation is performed by hand. Stenciling is another hand process of applying colors to fabric. Often the stenciled design is planned to fit a woven pattern, so it looks as though the fabric were composed of two or more series of different colored threads.

What has all this to do with cleaning? A great deal. Your cleaner must make certain that the dyes used in the roller or stenciling process are color-fast—that they will not "bleed." Combination fabrics—like wool-and-nylon, rayon-and-wool, dacron-and-nylon—all require different types of dyes which in turn impose a need for special cleaning formulas.

Every garment you send us for cleaning presents its own special challenge. We'll always make the necessary tests to determine which method will insure safe, satisfactory results. If it can be cleaned, we can clean it... just a little bit better!

Sherwood relates trip . . .

These people were migrating to live and make homes in Canada. I talked with some of them. They said the Canadian government paid their fare if they were unable and they had two years to pay them back. At 5 o'clock we started out very slowly. The average speed was 10.05 knots or about 21 miles per hour. It was again time to eat, and we enjoyed another evening of fun and dancing to the five-piece orchestra. They also played Bingo, using English money, pounds, shillings and pence. Sunday they had Church service in the Big Chatsworth Room with very nice music.

EACH NIGHT after Friday for five nights we had to set our watches back one hour. We did it at 11 o'clock so we had one more hour of entertainment. Monday we were out of sight of land and the North Sea was very rough, really too rough to write a letter. We went up to the dance and watched the people try to walk or dance on such a rough sea. No, I was not a bit afraid. We went to bed and went to sleep. The sea was much smoother in the morning. There was a different movie every day, both in the morning and in the afternoon. There were 140 children below 12 years of age and they had a lot of fun. The master of ceremonies entertained them every afternoon and he sure had his hands full but it was fun to watch him. At night there was always entertainment for the adults. We got acquainted with lots of people from all walks of life.

THURSDAY, Aug. 17, we were pretty well across the Ocean, going toward Quebec on the St. Lawrence River but we could not see land till towards night. It was very foggy. They radioed for a pilot to take over and bring the big ship up into Quebec very slowly. It was 10 p.m. when we stopped and they put out the gangplank and some people got off. It was 2 before we got started again.

Friday, August 18, we got up early, had breakfast and packed our suitcases. We thought we were to get off at Montreal by 9 but because of fog we were not even there. We watched from the decks as we slowly moved towards Montreal. The St. Lawrence River gets very narrow and very shallow, it has to be pumped out. The channel where the big boats go up and the tide has to be going in towards land. It was time to eat our last meal on the boat and bid farewell to our many friends on the Corinthia, we will never forget. Our baggage was unloaded about three o'clock. There was some talk of a dock strike but they seemed to get all those big boxes and trunks unloaded, a very tiring job as we watched from the dock.

Then they finally let us all go, we were carrying out bags and suitcases, go through customs, and turned our English money into Canadian money.

We got a taxi and went to our room in Montreal. This was set up by the Travel Bureau. It was an apartment with a stove, refrigerator and dishes. At 4 it started to rain, so we went to the corner grocery and got some food. We cooked our supper. After supper I walked around Montreal a little while. There are some tall buildings. One I saw was 29 stories high. There was a big crane on the top to pull up the cement and supplies.

We got up early Saturday and got ready to go to the Expo, we were only two blocks from the metro or underground railway that took us right to the Expo ground on the Island. We got in on the grounds after paying $5, then we had to ride the Mini-rail. It is an elevated railroad, above the buildings and the people on the Expo grounds. That took us to the opposite side so we all got off and just walked. It was nine o'clock and by noon the crowds were so big you just had to really elbow through to see and stand in line four abreast to go in buildings. We stayed till two and everything was so high we just went back to our room and called it a big day. We rested after supper and then went window shopping, came back to our room had lunch and went to bed.

Sunday morning we got up early to get a taxi to take us and all our bags to the C and N railway. The train left at 8:45 for Toronto and then we had a 4-hour layover to change trains. At 11:30 we were at Port Huron and the customs officer came on to check everyone. We got into Lansing very tired at 2:30 a.m. Our twins and son Walter, were on hand to greet us home and everything was okay.

LITTLE LEAGUE FIELD WORK DONE BY MANY VOLUNTEERS

St. Johns' new Little League baseball field is now in the process of growing grass. The past few months, however, have seen a lot of volunteer activity in preparing the land for play possibly next summer. The Little League field site is off Townsend Road west of US-27 on property donated for Little League use by Bernard Feldpausch. Lyle French (top left) plowed up the site and Roy Speidel (top right) bulldozed off the rough spots. The Soil Conservation District offered the use of their land planer for final leveling, and other equipment used was donated by Leonard Puetz, Gil Baker and Bob Nurenburg. Don Bast of Clinton Crop Service provided a truck, disc (lower left), spreader and fertilizer, and the St. Johns Fire Department sent trucks up to the field on several practice nights to help get the grass started. Poles for the backstops will be set yet this fall, hopefully. Initial work next spring will include the cutting of base paths and other dirt areas for the fields.

DeWitt board adopts revised school budget

DEWITT—The DeWitt Board of Education adopted a revised budget of $678,482 at their meeting Oct. 24. Supt. Jim Ritchie reported the new budget represents a 7 per cent increase over last year's, but, he said, the district is serving a 16 per cent increase in student enrollment.

The completion of the seven-room addition to the David Scott Elementary is drawing near. The new library and seven classrooms should be in operation in about two weeks. The board voted to pay for the furnishing of these classrooms out of the monies designated for this purpose. A new bus policy was discussed, and the administrative staff is in the process of establishing rules of conduct for the buses. The use of buspasses and the formal rules of conduct will soon be established.

In a unanimous decision, the board acted to reimburse the Methodist Church $125 a month for the temporary use of its building as a classroom.

Another innovation that began Saturday and will continue on each succeeding Saturday is a radio program over WRBJ, St. Johns. This weekly program will feature some aspect of DeWitt's school system at 12:15 p.m. each Saturday.

DeWitt canoeist wins honors

DEWITT—Perry Norris of DeWitt has been named "Most Improved Paddler of the Year" by the Michigan Canoe Racing Assn. Norris teamed up this year with his father-in-law, Verlin Kruger of DeWitt, to win four out of six races during a two-month tour in Canada. Norris began canoe racing last year. Kruger, ironically, won the most improved paddler award last year after his second year of racing competition.

Clinton road report

By ROBERT ELDRIDGE
Road Clerk

Shades of last winter! At least it seemed that way last Friday with some 7 1/2 inches of snow falling during the day. Although the plows did not go out on any local roads, they were kept busy removing snow and slush from the state trunk lines, and the side plows worked on the primary roads.

The old timers around here tell me that never in their memory have the plows been used this early in the season.

This past Wednesday the County Road Commission Clerks Assn. for Southern Michigan held an all-day meeting at the offices of the Eaton County Road Commission. The day was spent listening to four different speakers lead discussions and comment on various aspects of road commission accounting.

These meetings are held bi-monthly and serve a worthwhile purpose in promoting an exchange of information among county road clerks. To someone like myself, a meeting like this is especially valuable.

A resealing job was accomplished this past week on a section of Clark Road east from US-27. In addition to helping maintain the road surface, this should also help eliminate slippery spots that are especially bothersome during rainy weather.

Spartan Asphalt Co. of Holt was low bidder on asphalt paving of .35 mile of State Road east of Wood Street and started work on that project this past week. The snow storm Friday halted the project, but with good weather this week it should be finished very soon.

4-H Club Chatter

By JOHN AYLSWORTH
Extension 4-H Youth Agent

The annual 4-H crop show sponsored by the St. Johns Exchange Club was held last week, with 55 people in attendance. Twenty-one 4-H members with crop projects exhibited 24 exhibits consisting of field corn, soybeans, pea beans, kidney beans, sparmint and scrap books.

A highlight of the evening was the judging of the exhibits, with crop and weed identification contest by the 4-H members, parents, leaders, and Exchange Club members. This new activity stimulated the members to recall their knowledge of the exhibits.

George McQueen, Extension Agricultural Agent, served as the official judge and explained the final placings and identification. A small trophy was given to John Dunham of the Spring Valley 4-H Club and to Winchell Brown of the Exchange Club for the best scoring in their groups. Ginger Simpson showed slides of her experience this past summer as a 4-H delegate to the National 4-H Citizenship Short Course at Washington, D. C.

The Olive 4-H Projects club held their first winter meeting last week and have 55 members enrolled for the winter program. Officers elected include: President Gale Crawley; Vice-President Sharon Stoy; Secretary David Haviland; Treasurer Greg Crawley; news reporter Ron Whitefield; and telephone committee consisting of Debbie Prior, Karen Sommer, Debbie Price, and Colleen Wood. The club held their annual club dinner Sunday at Smith Hall, with the members receiving their fair premiums, 4-H certificates and pins.

The Double M 4-H Horse Club will be holding their achievement meeting on Saturday, Nov. 11, at Smith Hall. The club members helped Lella Clark with her annual community Halloween party Saturday evening. The club will be selling candy for a money-making project. Mrs. Edward MacLuckie and Charles Johnson will be two new leaders in the club this year.

The St. Therese 4-H Club members have elected the following officers for the winter program: President LuAnne Elseler; Vice President Diane Ballard; Secretary Jill Sawatzki; Treasurer Paula Ladisky; news reporter Greg Elseler; song leaders Sharon Schmitt and Linda Kish; and recreation leaders Laura Elseler and David Barrett. The club has 21 members.

The All Thumbs 4-H Club members in the Wacousta community have Mary Lehman as their leader. Officers for the year include: President Joan Schmitt; Vice President Brenda Mair; Secretary Laurie McLeod; and Treasurer Pamela Murphy.

Patty Trierweller is the new president of the Handy Andys 4-H winter club. Other officers include: Vice President Janice Thelen; Secretary Sharon Pline; Treasurer Linda Thelen; news reporter Judy Thelen; telephone reporter Linda Pline; recreation leaders Lou Ellen Pline Susan Schmitt. The girls are taking knitting and sewing as their projects.

The Jolly Knitters 4-H members discussed the use of the new personal 4-H record book. The girls learned how to conduct the business meeting under parliamentary procedure. Premiums were presented to the members by the leader. Recreation was led by Diane and Janet Davis. The next meeting on Nov. 18 will plan their Christmas party.

The Lucky Riders 4-H Club members held a rummage sale and bake sale last Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Kathy and Tom Jubb were awarded the 4-H award trip to Traverse City. Jackie Andrews, the club leader, and Cathy Jubb led discussion with the members on general appearance, head and neck rein of the horse.

The Stitch and Chatter 4-H Club members enjoyed a Halloween party at their last meeting as the members were dressed in various costumes. Cindy Stump, a new member won a prize for the best costume. Twenty-five girls are enrolled for the winter program under the leadership of Esther Plowman and teen leader Ginger Simpson. Officers for the new year include: President Cheryl Bancroft; Vice President Kimberly Sanford; Secretary Debbie Spidel; Treasurer Debbie Spicer; news reporter Kathy Halm; recreation leaders Mary Mihalyi and Brenda Russell; and song leader Andrea Boyce.

The Trill Blazers 4-H Club members are taking the veterinary science project this winter as a club project. The members held a Halloween party last weekend. The barn was gayly decorated for the party.

The members will be receiving a new members personal 4-H record book this winter for them to keep an accurate record of their projects, activities, leadership responsibilities and awards received. These booklets are to be kept by the members for the tenure of their 4-H club work. I would like to stress the importance of keeping the records up to date and complete so the member will be able to fill out reports later when asked to apply for certain awards.

A copy of the new 1968 4-H supply catalog has arrived at the office. Each leader will receive a copy of the catalog in several weeks containing various 4-H awards and supplies for their use in the club. I hope when you receive your copy you will look through the book and know what is available.

INTERIOR SPRUCE-UP FOR SMITH HALL

Members of the Clinton County Extension Women's groups helped add still another new touch to the interior of Smith Hall recently. A dark green paint, complementing the color of drapes hanging from the outside walls, was applied to the lower portion of the walls all the way around the inside of the hall. Phyllis Benedict, Ruth Mehney and Ila Martens were among the volunteer painters.

Long distance telephone rate reductions announced

General Telephone customers will benefit from a $100 million long distance rate reduction effective Nov. 1, P.A. Betty, operating vice president for the company, said today.

The new rates will apply to most station-to-station and person-to-person long distance calls to points outside of Michigan, depending upon the distance involved, Betty said. A feature of the reduction is the new late night economy rate.

Betty pointed out that Michigan telephone users, who have experienced seven long distance rate reductions in less than six years, will be able to call anywhere in the continental U.S. for as little as 75 cents (excluding taxes) during the new after-midnight economy rate period.

THE NEW "ECONOMY call" is designed to stimulate interstate long distance telephone usage during a time when telephone circuits are readily available, Betty said.

To take advantage of the new reduced rate between midnight and 7 a.m., a customer must dial direct, if DDD is available in his exchange, and the call must be to a point outside of Michigan over 354 miles away. The new rate will not apply to collect, pay telephone, credit card, or other calls requiring operator assistance.

In addition to the new rate period, customers will realize further savings because the present lower rate periods are being extended to cover more hours for interstate calls, Betty said.

BETTY LISTED the new rate periods for interstate station-to-station calls, which were effective Nov. 1:

Day rates: Monday through Friday from 7 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Evening rates: Monday through Friday from 5 p.m. until 7 p.m.

Night rates: Monday through Friday from 7 p.m. until 7 a.m., plus all day and night on Saturdays, Sundays, New Year's Day, July 4th, Labor Day, Thanksgiving, and Christmas.

Late night rates will apply to most interstate long distance calls of over 354 miles placed between midnight and 7 a.m. if an operator is not utilized when the call could have been dialed.

Interstate person-to-person calls will have day rates Monday through Friday from 7 a.m. until 5 p.m. and night rates will be in effect from 5 p.m. until 7 a.m., plus all day and night Saturdays and Sundays.

There will also be a reduction in rates for most interstate station-to-station and person-to-person calls placed to points beyond 468 miles.

The new rates are the result of a tariff filed recently with the Federal Communications Commission. The new tariff also provides for increases in interstate long distance rates for some calls of 24 miles or less.

Post office wins award for safety

The St. Johns post office recently received a Motor Vehicle Safety Award for meritorious safety performance during fiscal year 1967. The award was presented by Donald L. Swanson, Chicago regional postal director.

Vehicle drivers in the St. Johns post office improved their performance rate over the previous fiscal year.

Postmaster J.D. Robinson announced the news to his employees with special emphasis on the fine contribution which is being made by his courteous drivers. "Courtesy is the key to good vehicle operations and to patron respect which we have earned as symbolized by this award.

"Our objective," the postmaster said, "is to achieve and maintain the goals of the President's safety program—U.S. Mission Safety '70. This goal is to reduce all accidents by 30 per cent by the end of fiscal year 1970." This year's objective on a nationwide basis is a reduction of accidents by at least 6 per cent.

The St. Johns post office fleet is part of a huge postal fleet which travels more than half a billion miles a year in moving tremendous loads of mail. Nearly half of the total employees in the postal field service use vehicles in their work.

"The safety record and the award received is a credit to our drivers," the postmaster stated, "when you consider that postal vehicles must operate at peak traffic hours in our community."

ASC PROGRAM

Increased interest shown in soybean loan program

W. M. SMITH
County ASC Manager

We are getting a lot in inquiries about soybean loans from producers who have never used the price support program.

Recent market trends for soybeans indicate that the market may go well below the support price. Our county loan rate and support price is $2.46 per bushel support price is $2.46 per bushel for No. 2 or better soybeans with 13.8 to 14 per cent moisture.

There are no special eligibility requirements for price support loans other than producers must have had an interest in the crop at harvest time.

SOYBEAN LOANS are available through our office for both farm-stored and soybeans stored in an approved warehouse. We have six approved warehouses in our county.

Warehouse-stored soybeans will be made on total quantity and actual grade and quality of eligible soybeans shown on warehouse receipts. Premiums and discounts for grade factors will be applied at time loan is made.

Soybean producers wishing a warehouse loan should be sure the warehouse is approved for CCC storage before beans are taken in for storage.

Farm-stored loans are made on 90 per cent of the estimated quantity.

Soybean loans will be available through June 30, 1968. The loans can be redeemed at any time through July 31, 1968.

THE INTEREST rate on loans redeemed is 30 cents per $100 per month, which is approximately 3 per cent per year.

The price support loan program is a marketing tool provided by the government to assist producers in marketing their crops at the most advantageous time which makes more orderly marketing and gives producers funds to meet current expenses.

Producers wishing more information about this program, or any other program we have, should contact our office at 100 S. Ottawa Street, St. Johns.

PURINA Dairy Concentrate 44%
FOR AN ECONOMICAL HIGH QUALITY RATION

There's real economy in Purina Dairy Concentrate 44%—and balanced nutrition, too. Mixed with your own grain, it provides not only highly digestible well-balanced protein, but also builds an economical milking ration fortified with extra vitamins and minerals not found in many protein supplements.

Dairymen know that the best feed buy is the one that rates well in all feeding values. And Dairy Concentrate 44% does just that. It's high in nutrients, high in digestibility, high in palatability. We've got the tests to prove it.

Feeding a quality ration and following a complete dairy program goes a long way toward helping increase production. And more milk per cow is usually the best way to cut costs and improve income—especially when milk prices are favorable.

Come in and see us today. We'll show you how little it takes to build a high-quality, low-cost milking ration with Purina Dairy Concentrate 44%.

You'll find us where you see the Checkerboard sign.

MAYERS EXPANDING DAIRY OPERATION

Work is nearing completion on the Raymond Mayers farm in Bengal Township on this 186 x 50 foot barn where Mayers will keep a 100-cow dairy herd confined with free-stall housing. A new milkhouse at the front and a milking parlor under the roofed area are included. Cows will be milked twice as fast as they are presently. Cows will be confined year-around in this barn, except when they are dry.

Notes on agricultural policy in the 10 years ahead

FARMER'S MINORITY GROUP

For farm approved legislation in the future, the leadership of farm organizations and other commercial agricultural interests will need to do a better job of relating to the present power structure of our urbanized society. The "farm bloc" saw 57 per cent of all congressional seats from a farm district in 1920, dwindled down to a measly 12 per cent today. However, even this small minority could still get needed farm legislation by applying pressure from a politically strategic position that would affect other major issues.

PRICE SUPPORTS TO STAY

Objectors favoring a completely free market for agriculture will likely have to put up with some kind of price support program for the major commodities which make up the bulk of the cropland used in the United States. These include wheat, feed grains, cotton, and soybeans. Price supports will probably continue for commodities with less importance to farm income, and accounting for a small fraction of the land under cultivation, but with strong political implications. Examples are rice, peanuts, tobacco, wool and sugar.

LAND RETIREMENT

Land retirement will cease to be tied to commodity price programs. Encouraging permanent shifts to pasture, timber, and recreation it could be tied in with retirement of the marginal farmer. This would make it possible for a low-income farmer, 5 or 10 years away from social security eligibility, to receive payments for permanently retiring (or until more food is needed) his whole farm.

AMPLE CAPITAL

Capital and credit will be ample

MARKET PLACE MUSCLE

For more farm "muscle in the market place", legislation is expected to broaden and strengthen the market order program, curb the power of big buyers, and allow farmers to bargain collectively with buyers of farm products.

Land power means spreading wealth

One thing that's pretty hard to ignore around any farm with livestock is manure. And getting rid of it used to be an onerous chore. In times past, farmers had to stand on the backs of wagons filled with manure and throw it off with pitchforks. The task got easier in 1865 with the invention of a horse-drawn mechanical spreader. Needless to say, mechanical spreading caught on quickly. Manure is—well, it's here. It must be gotten rid of. Some farmers feel, "Well, gotta do something with it. Might as well spread the stuff." So they do. Grudgingly, they load their manure spreaders, drive to the fields and unload. "It's a nuisance," they think. "Sure, it's good for the soil. But with today's fertilizers, who needs it?"

THE ANSWER, MANY experts agree, is that manure is needed by the smart farmer who knows manure's value, who is farming for top profits, who wants to build his landpower. The more landpower a farmer has, the better his farm, the more crops he grows, the more money he makes. And manure is a terrific landpower booster.

In fact, manure is one of the most underestimated money-makers ever. One ton of fresh manure is equivalent to 100 pounds of 10-5-10 fertilizer which sells for $2.50. Besides its fertilizer equivalent, manure has values harder to measure in dollars and cents. It improves soil's water absorption and water holding capacity and reduces erosion, crusting and clodding.

Trace elements contained in manure help seed germination and root growth. All these properties build landpower and help grow bigger, healthier and more profitable crops.

RESEARCH SHOWS that with a 130-bushel spreader, it costs about $.50 to spread a ton of manure. Subtracting the $.50 from the $2.50 value gives a net worth of $2.00 per ton of spread manure. Spreading 900 tons a year would be about the same as spreading $1800 worth of fertilizer.

In an average year, it is generally assumed that one dollar for fertilizer produces two dollars in extra crop yields. This means that 900 tons of manure, equivalent to $1800 worth of commercial fertilizer, will produce extra crop yields valued at $3600. Who needs it? What farmer needs $3,600? Knock on any barn door.

Johnny will never finish school

Johnny will never finish school if today's educators have any say about it. He'll be going to school the rest of his life. Not long ago the prevailing practice was to force-feed 8 to 12 years of basic facts down Johnny's throat. At that point he either went out to work or on to college. The school door shut behind him.

Educators today are not only keeping those doors open, but are encouraging Johnny to continue his learning until the day he dies. "Life-long learning" is the phrase they're using, and this is one of the seven major endeavors being emphasized during American Education Week, Nov. 5-11.

"We are more interested in why and how Johnny learns than what he learns," said local educators. "We want to discover and bring out the unique qualities in every individual child, stress his importance and significance to society and himself, and encourage his desire to ask questions, probe old and new ideas, and realize that life will continue to teach him long after graduation from school."

During American Education Week St. Johns will open its school doors to parents and other citizens interested in the dramatic changes taking place in the classroom. The theme of this year's AEW is "How Good Are Your Schools?" and 32 million parents across the country are expected to see how today's schools shape the character of youth, provide learning opportunities for all, meet the challenge of change, provide quality education, develop vocational competence, and enrich human life.

AEW is sponsored annually by the National Education Assoc., The American Legion, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, and the U.S. Office of Education.

Educators are doing their best to bring quality education to your child. It is now, more than ever before, imperative that parents actively participate in the effort to create the best educated and most productive generation the nation has ever known. Take advantage of this year's education week events by visiting your child's school during AEW.

Recipe for understanding from the Girl Scouts

A few weeks ago, the 1967 National Senior Girl Scout Conference was held in Indianapolis, Ind. The purpose of the meeting was to concentrate attention on ways of expanding Girl Scout membership in the core areas of cities. Girls from 58 Scout councils in urban areas representing a membership of more than one million attended the meeting.

The riots which have torn our cities have been rooted in fear and feelings of persecution and frustration. The present effort being made by the Girl Scouts of America to bring the opportunities of scouting to all girls living in the densely populated urban centers of our nation is aimed directly at the root of the problem. As young people of different backgrounds can be brought together in the sharing of common experiences and goals, the prejudices of their parents tend to be broken down. For the future, a base of mutual understanding can gradually be built among girls who have worked together with each other to build a bridge of friendship between Americans who are now too often strangers.

The tremendous enthusiasm, dedication and confidence of the girls attending this conference provided compelling evidence that the America of tomorrow is in good hands. In their present effort, the Girl Scouts deserve the thanks and support of all of us.

The Michigan pheasant season has been underway for approximately two weeks. About all one has heard since then has been the complaints of hunters who have seen very little if anything to shoot.

Of course, a few weeks before the season opened, hunters were told that the crop of birds for the coming season would be slim. This information came from the Conservation Department and from practically any farmer one might talk to in the area.

IN MY TRAVELS, I have talked to quite a few hunters over the past few weeks. The majority have had little success, many have not seen birds at all. A few have had good success and have been getting their limit, but these fellows are few and far between.

Many reasons have been given for the lack of birds in all areas of the state. Not being one to have hunted in many areas of the state, I have to confine my opinion to the Clinton County area.

Quite a number of years ago one could get up in the morning, grab his shotgun, hit the fields, get his limit of pheasant for the day and be back in time for school. Today, one can plod through the fields for the best part of the day, and be lucky to get his limit.

The difference between yesterday and today in the pheasant department has been laid to many factors. Too many predators, poor management by the Conservation Department and many more, depending on the individual expressing his opinion.

ALL IN ALL, MANY of these reasons may be the one and only factor, but this I doubt. Actually the reason is probably caused by many factors, but I believe that here in Clinton County there may be one that is more predominant than the rest.

In driving around the county and looking at the areas where we used to hunt and find good shooting, today these areas are now under cultivation; swamp areas have been drained, fence rows are clean, wooded areas do not have the undergrowth of a few years ago. All of these factors I believe are good reasons for our decrease in the pheasant population.

ALTHOUGH SOME GROUPS and I'm sure have striven to maintain a habitat that is suitable for birds, there has not been enough to insure keeping the bird population up.

Pheasants not only need an area where they can have food and water, but they need these near an area where they can have cover, basically from

Writer has questions on income tax

To Editor:

As a non-resident potential city income tax payer I have two or three questions that I, and I am sure quite a few others, would appreciate having answered.

As I understand it, the tax will be collected by the state as part of the state income tax; if so does this deduction apply to all the income of a non-resident tax payer regardless of where he earns it? If a non-resident pays on just that part of his income derived within the city, does it apply to investments such as savings accounts etc?

Where the city is the county seat I assume all county employees will be required to pay regardless of whether their working day is entirely within the city or not due to the fact that the office that they are working out of is within the city. This will, unless contrary to past experience, call for higher wages and mere expense to the county as a whole, involving every tax payer within the county.

These questions, I feel, are pertinent and of interest not only to myself, but to everyone affected by a city income tax.

Whether non-residents pay a city income tax or not is out of their jurisdiction, but I feel quite a few would like to know specifically what benefits they would receive from the tax. We have been informed of quite a few that the residents would receive.

As a matter of public service to the people concerned with this tax, I feel these questions and any others that might be asked should be answered publicly.

WILLIAM R. ALDRICH
Maple Rapids

(Editor's Note: We asked these questions of the city administration, and here are their answers: (There are provisions in the state law on city income taxes that provide for the state to collect city income taxes, if the city wants them to. But the state is not yet prepared for this service. The state would charge the cities, a 2 per cent collection fee for this service, and the Michigan Municipal League says this arrangement would be advantageous to smaller cities.)

(Only that portion of income earned within the city would be taxable. If you have a savings account in the city, the interest on that would be TAXABLE, but possibly it wouldn't be taxed because it may not be a high enough figure. This is a technical phase of the income tax law, but basically if the money is earned in the city it is taxable.)

(County employees wouldn't necessarily pay a city income tax. If they live in St. Johns they would pay 1 per cent. If they live outside they would pay one-half per cent on that which was earned in the city. Most road commission employees, for instance, do most of their work outside the city limits, so their income wouldn't be taxable. If a non-resident county employee worked only about a quarter of the time inside the city, he would pay one-half per cent tax on one-quarter of his income.

The County News will attempt to get answers for any questions writers of letters to the editor may have.)

Some thoughts on leading a Christian life

To Editor:

Reading many recent articles on religion and Christianity I am very glad to see comments of real concern about where this is leading. George Cornell's article mentioned concern of the real Christian faith—not what modern man is being taught, even in some seminaries. We must get back to the dedicated Christian teacher—preacher, priest of rabbi—who is not afraid to read the precious truths we find in our Bibles—not the most recent versions either, and also, who practices their teaching, not only on Sunday, but every day. Phoney Christians are recognized by their behavior, speech and life. Apathy and indifference are the down fall of all who are not sincere in giving their life to Christ.

The "Death of God" phase really showed where He was dead in the hearts of many, because it's easier to go along with the crowd than be different! Even Peter of old denied his Lord, but came back to the fold, through repentance and prayer. Rev John MacKay mentioned "turmoil of anti-Godism" in churches. The Bible teaches "beware of the Anti-Christ" when evil surrounds us. God is and always will be sovereign Lord to those who know Him.

Arch-Bishop O'Boyle speaks of enemies of religion, putting in the doubt which causes complete loss of faith. Those who know God must not doubt, but have the faith that inspired Abraham and Moses to go where God sendeth.

Prayer, trust and reading the Bible will give you that faith to go forward and look up. We need a new crop of Christians, being dead earnest in their faith and willing to accept its disciplines, its work of Love. Then you do not hate your neighbor, or let your heart fill with greed and lust, for if your heart is full of love—God's love—you have, no room in it for anything but the best.

The standards we must follow are the laws given in the Bible and each one can be kept. It begins with Love—not the hippie love-ins. Have all these "wrong-thinking" young people known that God has a purpose for them, to do good in life, they wouldn't be asking "who am I, why am I here"—our Bible gives all the answers. But you must want to know them. No one can do it for you. Enlighten yourself through Him who is the light of the world, the Truth and the Way.

Sincerely—
MRS MARTHA E. MILLER

FOREST CITY, N.C. COURIER: "With the second and third generations of some families still on the welfare rolls, it's time to seek ways to get them off the public dole and onto their own two feet. They will never realize self-respect and initiative until they can stand on their own."

PAYETTE, IDAHO, INDEPENDENT-ENTERPRISE: "We hear a lot about world 'population explosion' but to us here in the relatively wide open spaces it doesn't mean so much. Recently, however, we scanned a census report that does put an exclamation point behind the phrase. World population is currently 3.5 billion persons, it stated, and is increasing at the rate of two per cent per year. That means that world population is increasing at the rate of 70 million per year and that by the year 2000, world population will be nearly double that of today. That's only 33 years away!"

RAMBLIN' with Rink

I try to carry a positive attitude through everything I do and to make my every-day appearance, actions and conversations radiate this positive attitude. I smile a lot and try to be cheerful, even when nobody else is around.

But my patience has been wearing thin in recent weeks over the low quality of Michigan weather, and last Friday morning my patience shattered. Last year we put up with a snow storm in the first days of November, and while there weren't many people rolling on the floor with laughter over it, most everybody was able to grin and bear it. I was among them.

But when automobiles have trouble getting up Spring Street hill in October yet because of snow, then I begin to lose my cool. My quote smiling face unquote loses the grin and assumes more grotesque patterns that resemble cracks and fissures in the side of a volcano about to erupt. My eyes take on a wild glaze, and my speech becomes shrill and hard to understand.

MY POOR daughter was an innocent victim of this state of mind Friday morning. I had arisen at 6 a.m. (a terrible hour for even a smiler) to discover I still had a sore throat which had been bugging me for a couple of days. But because of other commitments Friday morning at work, I smiled to myself and said, "Plug on, old man."

I walked into the darkened kitchen to deactivate the alarm which follows the automatic turning on of our clock radio. Even through that sleepy haze came the reality of life outside the window. It was white, it was just the grass that was white at that point, but I could see in the street light at US-27 and McConnell Street that it was still coming down.

I was nettled. But I determined that a hot cup of tea before venturing outside might make things look a little better, so I put some water on. About that time our dog came prancing out from her bed in the bedroom with that urgent look on her face. The end of the rope which we tie her was, of course, some distance from the front door, so that meant an early exposure to the winter. And the fact that once we got out there the dog wasn't sure she had to go out after all made me begin to seethe.

It wasn't long before daughter arose, and her sleepy smile kind of brightened things a little. Then I had to go and suggest she look out the window. She pulled the drapes back. There was about three seconds of silence, and then her smiling face turned up toward me and she said, "Goody, it's winter already."

OH, GOODY! I stalked away into the kitchen. When my cup of tea began to boil all over again the minute I looked at it, I figured I had better calm down and try to take this weather more in stride. It can't last, I said to myself. It's just a fluke storm.

The fluke storm, however, came Sept. 29 when Elsie got two inches of snow. This was no fluke, and we will have to face the fact winter this year is starting Oct. 27. It's a terrible reality to face, and after the relatively dull and short autumn, I'm not sure I'm up to such an early winter.

To be sure, there is some beauty in a snowfall, but it is rather discouraging to have autumn foliage appearing on the top of a couple of inches of snow. That makes winter just a little early.
Buck up, I told myself. And finally a smile cracked my stony face Friday morning.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Highway accident losses would build 4 'Mighty Macs'

BY ELMER E. WHITE Michigan Press Assn.

Four Mackinac Bridges could be built for the cost of accidents on Michigan's highways during 1966 alone. This loss amounted to $415 million, less than one fourth the cost of Michigan's famous bridge.

There is no way to measure the grief, sorrow and pain involved with the 2,296 people killed or the 156,700 who were injured in 302,000 automobiles last year.

If you think "it can't happen to me," you should also be aware of your statistical outlook. According to figures supplied by Michigan State Police, your chances are these:

ONE OUT OF EVERY 3,571 people in the state was killed last year in an auto accident.

One of every 523 was injured. One of every 7.4 motor vehicles was involved in an accident.

One of every 9.2 licensed drivers was involved in a traffic accident.

A 10-year trend of 1956-66 shows little improvement in safe driving behavior of Michigan's five million motorists. While 1966 indicates the number of licensed drivers is up 37 per cent, the number of accidents increased by 53 per cent. Vehicle miles traveled increased 55 per cent in 10 years; injuries increased 156 per cent; Motor vehicle registrations are up 30 per cent; deaths jumped 32 per cent.

Keweenaw, at the northern tip of the UP, was the only county not recording a traffic fatality last year. Forty-five counties recorded increased fatalities; 30 had decreases and eight had no change.

Five major causes of accidents are responsible for more than 80 per cent of the accidents, say state police. They list these: drinking and driving, speeding, failure to yield, improper signals and following too closely.

AMERICAN HISTORY textbooks most commonly used by Michigan schools will be reviewed this fall to determine whether minority groups are fairly represented.

A new state law provides that all schools consider how fairly the accomplishments and achievements of minority groups are presented in their social studies and history texts.

A five-member advisory committee, appointed by the State Department of Education, has begun a random survey of history books as the first step in determining minority racial and ethnic adequacy. There are some 660 social studies books used in elementary and secondary schools. Following the American history review, scrutiny will be given to civics, economics, geography, government, world history, sociology and psychology.

The committee will use a panel of qualified historians to assist with the evaluation. A report of progress is to be made to the Legislature each year.

GUARANTEED LOANS to college students, administered by the Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority, passed the $10 million mark for the first time in the program's five-year history.

Some 2,000 such loans were guaranteed by the state in September, the largest number ever processed in one month, according to Ira Polley, state superintendent of public instruction.

"Students in the larger metropolitan areas are still encountering difficulty in obtaining loans through the larger city banks, but youths in the rural and suburban areas have had good success," commented Polley.

"The tight money conditions of 1966 when lending institutions could not extend funds at the maximum six per cent interest required under the student loan program seem to have been relaxed a great deal this fall," he said.

SINCE THE PROGRAM'S inception in November, 1962, MHEAA funds have guaranteed 13,140 loans, totaling more than $9 million. Of this number, 1,236 loans totaling $783,360 have been repaid. Students have a maximum of 10 years after graduation or withdrawal from college to repay the loans.

Loans which carry the 100 per cent faith and credit of the MHEAA must be negotiated through one of the Michigan banks, credit unions or savings and loan associations which have signed participating agreements.

First of a series

'I will prepare myself . . .'

By MIKE ROTHENBERGER Staff Representative Dale Carnegie & Assoc., Inc., New York. Copyright 1965, Dale Carnegie & Assoc., Inc.

We have all heard the story of the lad who was born in Kentucky a little over a century and a half ago. He spent his youth in poverty. When he was about seven years of age his family moved to Indiana where, for the first year, they lived in a three sided shed. A buffalo skin was hung across the open side to keep out the sleet and snow. His formal education amounted to a total of about one year. He learned to write, using an old wooden shovel for a slate and a charred twig served as his chalk.

One day he bought a barrel of junk for fifty cents. As he browsed through the barrel he found a couple of old law books. Even though his education was limited, he began to read and to study law. He became intensely interested. In the evening he read by the light of the crackling flames in the fireplace, and in the early morning hours he read by the light that shone through the cracks between the logs of his modest cabin. He made a steadfast resolution. He said, "I will prepare myself and some day my time will come." It is said that he often walked as far as fifty miles to get his hands on a book that he hadn't read. He didn't have the public library downtown, on the corner, as we have today. But more and more, as he became an avid reader, his resolution dominated his mind. "I will prepare myself and some day my time will come."

WHEN HE WAS in his early twenties he moved to New Salem, Ill., where he worked in the post office and in a general store. But he never lost sight of his goal. He persistently kept on preparing himself and his time did come. He became the 16th President of the United States. Because of his keen insight, his profound character and his compassion for humanity, he endeared himself to the hearts of countless thousands of people throughout the world. His remains now rest in a magnificent tomb, in a beautiful cemetery, in Springfield, Illinois. Hundreds of people from around the world go there to visit the place each year. His name will always appear high on the list of the Immortals and, of course, we know that his name was Abraham Lincoln.

This story of success against great odds should be an eternal source of inspiration to each of us. Perhaps we don't aspire to be President, but most of us would really like to make more of our lives than we have. The opportunity for success is far greater now than it was in his day. But it requires something of us. Do we have the desire? Do we possess the tenacity to prepare ourselves, to search out and discover some of our hidden talents and potential abilities, to develop them to the extent that they will enable us to achieve? So many of us are inclined to sit back and wait for opportunity to knock. But, have we equipped ourselves to even recognize the opportunity and then to make good use of it? It was Samuel Rayburn, Speaker of the House of Representatives for so many years, who said, "Readiness for opportunity makes for success. Opportunity often comes by accident but readiness never does." He was so right. Readiness is something that each of us must bring about for ourself through self-preparation, through the development of at least a part of the hidden potential that lies within us.

WHEN WE FULLY comprehend this profound truth, when we realize that self-preparation is prerequisite to successful accomplishment, then we too may be motivated to firmly resolve, as did the immortal Lincoln: "I will prepare myself and some day my time will come."

The "Low Down"

From the Congressional Record By Joe Crump

Hard-working congressmen saluted

Rep. John S. Monagan (Conn.) . . . Congress and Congressmen have been so battered by critics in recent years that it is a unique experience to find a newspaper article which treats us in a sympathetic and friendly manner and gives us credit for industry, high motives and other laudable qualities. . . (The article) was written by Wesley G. Pippert of UPI after his year on Capitol Hill as a Congressional fellow. (The condensed article follows):

The surprising thing about the year I spent inside Congress was that there were no surprises. I found no conspiracies, no secrets being hidden from the American people.

Congressmen and Senators are people, even as you and I. Only they generally work a good deal harder than most of us.

AS A CONGRESSIONAL fellow of the American Political Science Assoc., I spent four months in the office of Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., and four months in the office of Senator Charles H. Percy, R-Ill.

Congress is more a creation than a creator of American life, more a mirror than a torch. The American people demand more of their congressmen and senators these days. These demands have made Congress the overtaxed, overburdened institution it has become.

Both Udall and Percy get letters of the most vitriolic, abusive, caustic sort from extremists who resort to accusations impugning of motives, and name-calling ("traitor," "stupid," "sell-out to the Communists," etc.).

Good replies--this is, letters of substance--take time to research, dictate, type, mail and file. The time which goes into all this often must be subtracted from the time spent researching and examining legislation.

FOR FOUR MONTHS I went

The pay isn't that good, the hours are horrible, there are few days off, and the work load is staggering. Congressmen are permitted no secrets, private or public. Most congressmen have files easily accessible to any intern or volunteer as well as any staff member.

One answer is the satisfaction and dedication many find in public service.

They get to like the prestige that goes with the job. I would, too.

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT Hard working, dedicated men, with hard working dedicated staff members, have a way of making the job look easy. There is much proof that it is not.--J.C.

Continued from page 14-B predators. Predators, whether they catch the fully grown birds, raid nests in the spring or feed on the young in the summer cannot be deterred by anyone except the bird itself--with some good cover.

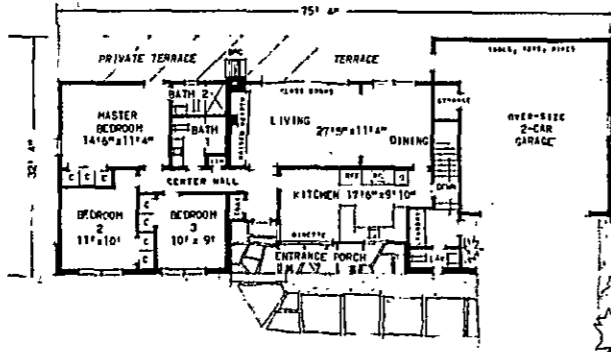

FEWER HUNTERS of predators find these animals increasing in number and competing with the hunter for his share of birds. And, these hunters are better at their trade than the two-legged kind called man. Also he does not have a regulated season to contend with, but hunts as he needs his food.

Whether reversing these trends back to the past would bring the birds to their former state of plenty, is unknown, but I believe these are the largest factors in the scarcity of birds. To correct this, if it needs correcting, would be up to the farmer and the Conservation Department. But, progress in agriculture as in any field has changed many things that we thought were great in the old days, to things we can only recall and say to the present generation, "those were the days."
