City appoints six to boards

ST. JOHNS — The City Commission Monday night named six persons to serve on four different city boards.

Appointed to the Planning Commission for three year terms were Gordon Van-

ST. JOHNS—Mrs. Gall Goetze has been appointed St. Johns chairman of the 1971 march for muscular dystrophy. Mrs. Goetze will head Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc. annual appeals here for funds to support a broad attack on the problems created by muscular dystrophy.

In accepting the position of St. John's Chairman, Mrs. Goetze urges residents and community groups to give generously in response to Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc. appeal scheduled for Nov. 16.

Mrs. Goetze said funds raised from the house-to-house appeal will go towards purchase of prescribed appliances.

demark and William Morris. Vandemark succeeds Gerald Wilcox and Morris was reappointed.

Donald Britton and Leon Brewbaker were appointed to the Zoning Board of Appeals for a three year term. Britton replaces Ink White and Brewbaker was reappointed.

Donald Gilson was appointed to the Board of Review for the three-year term and Mrs. Barbara MacKinnon was reappointed to a five-year term on the Library Board.

THE COMMISSION SET up the terms for the park board and appointed four persons, but then tabled the appointments because one of the appointees is involved in an alleged dispute with the city.

The term change would have the first two members appointed for one year and the second two for two years. After that, all appointments would be for two years.

Those being considered are Harold Lundy, Edward Schmitt, Lester Lake and Kurt Becker.

Clinton football official views job as ref

By TIM YOUNKMAN

OVID-ELSIE—"Kill the ref." "You're all bought and paid for -- by them."

"Roll down your socks, ref, so you can see the game."

Those are just a few of the kind remarks a football referee listens to during the course of a high school game.

And John Oberlin, a teacher and coach at Ovid-Elsie High School, has lived through them all. He's not only a football official, but handles basketball games and baseball.

John's officiating career began while learning the trade by watching his father who was a football and basketball official in the Jackson-Ann Arbor area.

How does a person go about becoming an official? "It's not as easy as you might think," Oberlin said. "First, the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA) must register you. Then, with a fee involved, they will instruct you for 10 weeks and then you have to pass a test. The regulations here could be stronger for becoming an official, but that's the way it is now."

Oberlin said the association does not furnish officials with a set schedule of games to cover. "The games are pretty much up to your own public relations. The schools hire you and it just depends on the school's integrity not to pick up a 'homer.' Some men really do favor the home team and we call them homers."

He noted that most schools prefer an honest official and will ask you to come back. "For example, my football schedule was filled up for next year five weeks ago," he said. "I do feel that the MHSAA should monitor the officials and spot check their work."

Currently, schools rate officials on a point system of 1 to 5, with 1 being top notch and 5 being very poor.

"Most people at a game are biased . . . It's hard to keep the changing rules in mind . . ."

How do officials react to crowd reaction on various calls?

"Well, at times I have to chuckle to myself. If you let a crowd get to you then the official becomes less efficient. If you know you are right and realize that the fans have paid to get in, you will be alright."

In this particular game I faked out on a play and called a touchdown back because I had blown the whistle. When the whistle blows the play is dead regardless of what happens." So that play came back. To make it a bad day, he made the same call later in the game and called another TD back. "But there wasn't a penalty." Fortunately, Oberlin said, the game didn't depend on those TD's. The team eventually got the scores anyway and all was forgotten.

Teachers await board contract approval

ST. JOHNS—St. Johns teacher and administration negotiating teams have announced a tentative agreement on their 1971-72 contract. Robert Holzhe, president of the St. Johns Education Association announced Friday that the teachers have ratified the agreement.

The School Board will meet Monday night to vote on ratification of the pact. No details will be revealed until after the board ratifies the agreement.

"This has been a very difficult year for all parties due to the uncertainties of President Nixon's wage-price freeze," Holzhe said. "Although we don't know how much of the package will be granted by the wage-price council, the St. Johns teachers received their normal experience increment plus a slight cost of living adjustment."

Holzhe said the teachers expected to receive some word from the wage price council by the end of this week on what increments would be allowed.

Supt. Earl Lancaster said, "We think it is a reasonable settlement. It is a lesser increase than in years past, but this is because the economy is leveling off. And let's face it, when we started this thing five or six years ago, teachers' salaries had to come up because they were low."

Lancaster said in comparison with contracts in 17 other comparable size school districts in mid-Michigan the package is about in the middle.

"We feel we are just about in the middle with our BA salary level, but we are nearer the top at the tip of the MA scale," he said. "We have always rewarded furthering of education."

4-H Banquet held to honor leaders

Eighty leaders and the Clinton County Road Commission were recognized for service to 4-H programs Monday, Nov. 8 during the annual leaders award banquet held in Smith Hall at St. Johns.

The event, co-sponsored by the Clinton County 4-H Council and Clinton National Bank & Trust Co. drew an attendance of 295 persons who enjoyed a turkey dinner prepared by the ladies of St. Johns Lutheran Church. Most of those present also participated in an election which saw leaders chosen for the various 4-H areas in the county. Named to one-year terms were Bob Vitek, northwest; Bob Kissane, northeast; Mildred Stoy, southwest and Emily Brook, southeast.

In addition to presentation of awards and election business, the evening's program included musical interludes by members of the 4-H. Greg and Jeff Hazel and Leisa Bessel of Bengal Community 4-H presented three selections by their trio comprised of trombone, trumpet, and organ. The Eagles' musical group of Linda and Patricia McCrumb and Jean and Mark Miros presented a medley of popular and polka music arranged for accordions.

Awards for the evening were given in three major categories. The 4-H Alumni Award and 4-H Friend Award were in addition to the honored leaders. The Alumni Award, sponsored by Citgo in 12 states besides Michigan, was presented by Don Strouse to George Hazel, Virginia Davis, Norman Blakely and Margaret Shaefer. This honor is based on 4-H achievement, personal development and the individual's participation and awareness of community activities.

The Friend of the 4-H award, given this year to the Clinton County Road Commission, is also an annual recognition honoring individuals or groups who support Clinton County 4-H activities. The Road Commission this year was specifically cited for their participation and assistance in the 4-H glass recycling program.

MSU band joins varsity festivities

ST. JOHNS—There will be a hot time in the old town Saturday night when the Redwing Marching Band will join forces with bagpipes, Dixieland and members of the Michigan State University Marching Band for Varsity Nite.

The annual affair will be presented in the high school gymnasium at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 13.

The show has all of the ingredients of being one of the most exciting and entertaining programs ever presented. All of the halftime performers, including the twirlers, flags, pom-pom girls and cheerleaders will be featured as well as sections of the band and the entire band.

Also included in the program will be the high school stage band, and a re-activated faculty dixie group called the Firehouse Five.

TWO FEATURE ACTS are Fred Lewis and several members from the Bagpipe Corps and an ensemble from MSU's Marching Band will appear in full uniform.

TICKETS ARE AVAILABLE at the door or from band students for $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. There are no reserve seats.

Commission eyes new fire hall

By TOM DEWITT

ST. JOHNS—A new fire hall, or at least the addition of some extra square feet onto the present structure, almost became a reality instead of just a study plan Monday night.

Commissioner Roy Ebert opened the meeting requesting that $300 be spent for the plans and engineering seal and then to build the building. However, that's as far as it got.

Commissioner Dr. Grost said he was not totally convinced that this was the route to take. Neither did Mrs. Jean Rand.

"I'm not ready to see us proceed with building it," Grost said. "The building and the addition are not on the same level and anything parked there would have to come out of the alley."

The present fire hall floor is six feet above the ground where the proposed addition would be added.

With that, Commissioner John Hannah withdrew his support of Ebert's motion and the motion died. Ebert then made a motion which called for the city to go ahead with the plans, but the cost of those plans should not exceed $300.

The commissioners all agreed with this motion, except for Mrs. Rand. She voted no.

In other commission action, a 1967 unpaid bill of $5,000 charged to the St. Johns School District, was officially taken off of the audit books Monday night. The bill was for sharing of a recreation program. However, the city never performed the services they were billing the school district for. Auditors recommended the commission remove the bill from the books.

Rev. Harold Homer, representing the Ministerial Association, appeared briefly before the commission to find out if anything was being done on providing an ordinance which would permit traveling ministers to park trailers in St. Johns at the churches.

The Commission told him they were working on it and may have something by the Nov. 22 meeting or at the first meeting in December.

Jaycees seek nominations

ST. JOHNS—The St. Johns Jaycees would like your help.

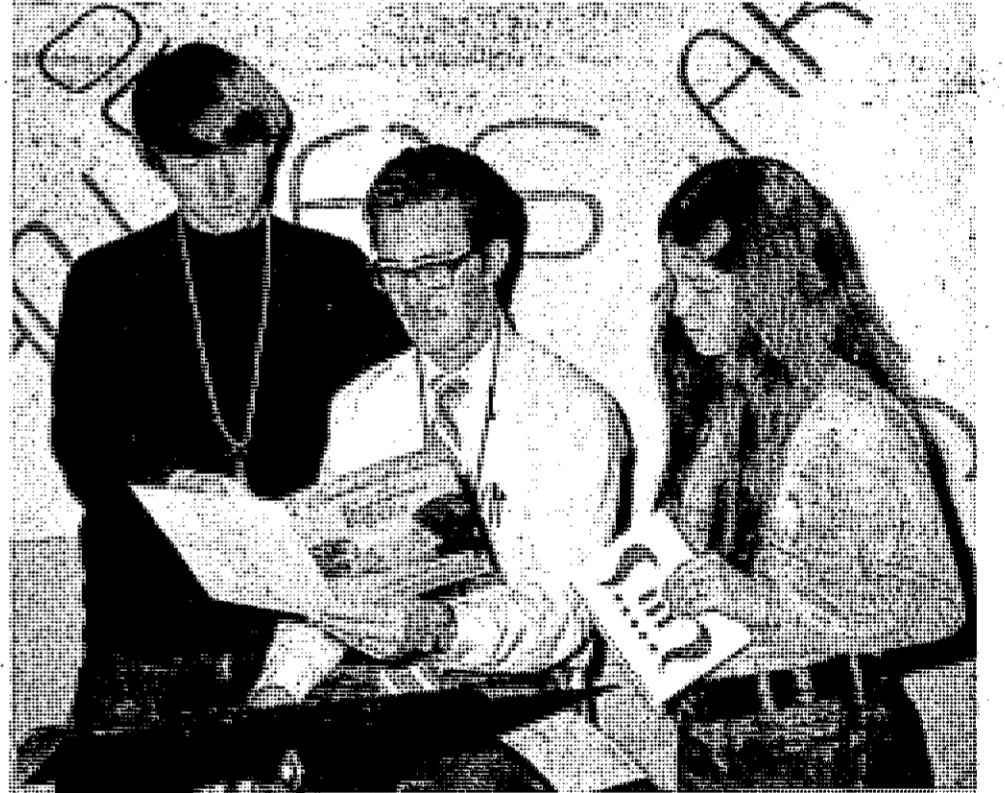

They are taking nominations for the city's most distinguished young man to be honored in January as the outstanding young man for the past year.

The Distinguished Service Award is presented annually to a man between the ages of 21 and 35 who exhibits meritorious service to his community, state and nation. The DSA is the highest award presented by the service club.

"The names of young men of all fields of endeavor may be submitted by an individual, organization, association or institution," said Keith Harrison, chairman of the DSA committee. "The winners will be selected by a group of distinguished citizens."

RULES FOR NOMINATION are that the nominee not become 36 before Jan. 1 of 1972; he must be a U.S. citizen, or applied for citizenship before Jan. 1, 1971; he must work or live in St. Johns and he must have shown exceptional achievement to his community, state or nation.

Nomination forms are to be mailed to Harrison at Federal-Mogul Corp, and entries must be post marked no later than Monday, Dec. 13.

GETTING READY

Mark Cowan and Cindy Lanterman check over some of the beautiful music to be presented Saturday night at the high school band's annual Varsity Nite. With them is Marching Band Director John Soeck (center).

What's it really like, Ref?

for an official is when he knows he has called a good game and "you hear someone who knows the game say you've done a good job."

Oberlin said there was little backtalk tolerated from the young players during a game. "You just have to warn the players and the coaches. You don't really like to throw kids out of a game unless they are really fighting and not just ruffling their feathers. If the player is tactful and polite with the official, you try to be a little more sympathetic to his problem."

For those who aren't experts at knowing exactly what the official is supposed to do, Oberlin explained their duties.

He is the Head Referee and lines up in the offensive backfield at the start of play. "I am the one who communicates between captains and administrators the penalties. I am responsible for the final judgment, I give the penalty signals and mark off the yardage. Basically, I am in charge of the game."

There are three other officials in high school football. The Head Linesman stands on the line of scrimmage, nearest the chain crew. He checks for offside and illegal procedure penalties and is responsible for covering the passes in his area.

The Umpire checks the interior line play and all passes in the half of the deep zone. He lines up three to four yards behind the center in the defensive backfield.

The Field Judge stands three to four yards off the line of scrimmage on the side opposite the Head Linesman. He checks the kicking and passes into his half of the deep field.

It's not easy, being a football official, Oberlin said. The basic problem that officials encounter is the misapplication and misunderstanding by everyone of the rules. "In football, the rules are more clear cut than basketball. However, there are judgment calls. The more information a person can get the better you do in applying it to the game."

JOHN OBERLIN

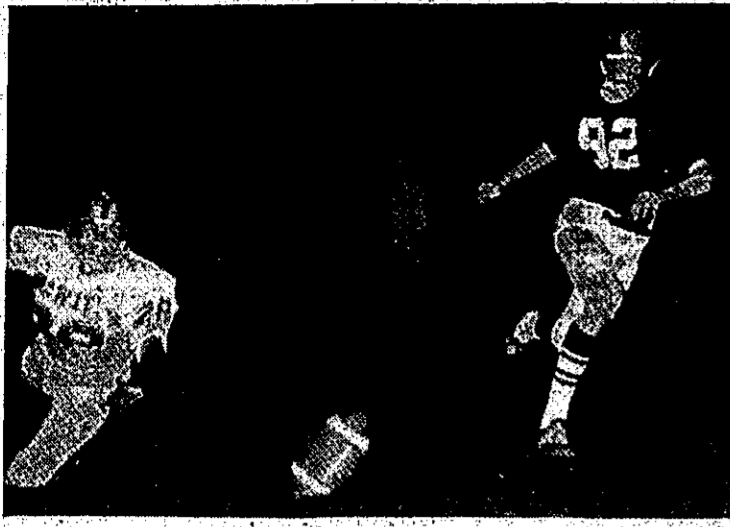

Michigan State University freshman games. He will also officiate in the high school district tournaments.

Basketball officials find the game much more demanding than football. "For one thing, you are closer to the crowd. You must make decisions quicker and sell the people on the fact that you are right," Oberlin said the game

Pop Parma Western 28-6

Seniors end school careers in style

It was almost a DeWitt TD, but the ball was just overthrown. DeWitt's Tony Vettrai stretches for the errant aerial.

By TIM YOUNGMAN

DEWITT—It was a sad night for "DeWitt Head Coach" Tom Isanhart Friday night, even though his Panthers destroyed the visiting Parma Western Panthers, 28-6.

Fourteen seniors played their last game at DeWitt, including one of the best quarterbacks to ever wear a Panther uniform. Ron Wilcox who took over the quarterbacking chores almost three seasons ago, guided the Panthers to a non-conference victory over Parma, a team added to the schedule a few weeks ago to replace defunct Owyosco St. Paul.

Parma Western opened the scoring with their only TD in the first quarter when quarterback Craig Clark jumped over from the one-yard-line. The conversion failed and that was as close as Parma would come to scoring again.

Dan Davis tied the game in the second quarter for DeWitt on a two-yard run. Wilcox flipped a pass to Tony Vettrai for the conversion, giving DeWitt the lead 8-6.

Just before the half, with only 40 seconds to go, Wilcox hit Chuck Berkimer on a 45-yard sideline pass for another TD. DeWitt led at halftime 14-6.

Ron Brown added to the margin in the third quarter on a nine-yard run and Wilcox added insurance with a 15-yard pass to Tom Couling who lateraled to Vettrai. Vettrai scampered 15 yards from that point to the end zone for a TD.

On the conversion attempt,

Wilcox tried to bust over but lost the ball. Several Parma players jumped on it, but the ball squirted into the end zone. Another Western player pounced on it but couldn't control the bounce and finally Couling landed on it for the two-points.

Wilcox finished the season with 1,726 yards, according to Isanhart. The quarterback completed 72 of 108 pass attempts for a 56 per cent average. He rushed for 701 yards of that total on 79 rushes for an 8.8-yard average. Wilcox added 456 yards in kickoff and punt returns.

"He has had a pretty good debut as a football player here at DeWitt," Isanhart said.

In two seasons, Wilcox has accounted for 36 touchdowns on running and passing and has had 124 points this year—a good share of the team's 198-point output.

At the moment, Wilcox hasn't decided where he wants to go to college, although it will be somewhere he can play football regularly. He has been approached and might be leaning toward Central Michigan University, Isanhart said, but declined to elaborate on the prospects of other medium size colleges grabbing the scrappy quarterback.

Other seniors who will be missed by the Panther fans are Chuck Berkimer, Lloyd Isham, Tony Vettrai, Dan Davis, Ron Brown, Mike Moody, David Graves, Robin Cole, Bob Anderson, Keith Merrill, Chuck Gorman, Jim Tews and Kim Kelly.

With both Wilcox and Berkimer gone, the Panthers will rely on the services of Randy Lankford and Rick Moody next season. "Of course, Wilcox is hard to replace, but I think we can do the job with these boys," Isanhart said.

There are many bright spots in the Panther future. Among them are the driving style of fullback Duane Shooltz, a 155-pound junior; the defensive efforts of Gary Bouts, a 190-pound junior tackle; and the pass catching ability of end Tom Couling, a 140-pound junior.

Others on the squad who will be returning next season are Rich Albertson, Jon Simpson, Craig Miller, Murry Brockway, Rod Shepard, Don Strat, Jerry Marriott, Kent Wolfe, Tom Ashley, Joe Cavanaugh, John Bridgewater and Chris McNelly.

DeWitt won its third straight Central Michigan Conference Championship this year with a 5-1 league record. Tied for the title is Potterville with the same mark. The Vikings accounted for the only Panther loss this season in conference play. The Panthers were 6-2 overall, losing the opener to Bath in September.

Even though he was a bit sad, Isanhart, fans say, has a fine base to work with next season. This was his first year as head coach of the Panthers after Gary Roberts left the team to take on the top spot with Harry Hill High School in Lansing.

DeWitt schools may lead state

DEWITT—DeWitt School Supt. James Ritchie may have come up with a unique concept in high school education.

In a Tuesday morning interview, Ritchie said the future expansion of DeWitt's schools will depend on the efforts and recommendations of a citizen's committee.

"Everything is in the hands of the citizen's committee and I guess we really shouldn't get involved ahead of time," he said.

But the outspoken superintendent did add "a thought that could revolutionize the current concept of educating children at the high school level."

"We are asking people in a ninth grade next year. Then we should limit the enrollment in the high school and what they think the school's needs will be," Ritchie said.

"Maybe the people would rather have two class B size schools than one large class A." That would be unique to Michigan education since there are no other districts in the state that do so.

Every district allows the high school to grow to well over 1,200 children which is the class A designation.

"Sure, there would be some duplication of facilities with two class B schools, but I think we could stand the challenges in education that this would bring, and there are advantages in having smaller schools."

"For one thing it would double the amount of people who could participate in all high school activities. There would be two bands, two varsity first string teams in each sport, and so on. It is, at least, a worthwhile thought."

Whatever the results of the citizen committee recommendations, Ritchie said that something would have to be done soon. Monday night, during a regular board of education meeting, Ritchie told members that there would be a critical shortage of facilities in 18 months.

Board members agreed that something should be done and the board would have to wait until the citizen's committee offers suggestions and guidelines for action.

"Our immediate concern is in the high school," Ritchie said. "We now have 490 youngsters. We will graduate 100 seniors this year, but we will have 140 eighth graders moving into the ninth grade next year. Then we are talking about 530 students, not counting newcomers to the district. The next year we will graduate about the same and take in more eighth graders."

That year (1973) we would have 580 youngsters in high school, not considering the new students from the various subdivisions in the area and other newcomers.

Ritchie said the figure could possibly jump to 650 by September, 1973. "We know that with that many students, the high school will have outlived itself. The current building capacity, including recent additions, is 500."

"Next September we will have 530 and that will be stretching it a bit. When we have more than 600 students, we can't possibly operate without drastic changes, as split shifts."

He said that the elementary situation will have to be studied also. "We have plenty of classroom space, but we have to look at other facilities. Right now there can be no large group activities due to lack of facilities."

Goshen rep due here Nov. 19

ST. JOHNS—Prospective college students at area high schools will have an opportunity to hear about Goshen College's study service trimester overseas and other programs Nov. 19 at Rodney B. Wilson Junior High School.

Robert Zuercher, admissions counselor of the college will be stopping in St. Johns as part of a visitation trip to lower Michigan high schools during this month.

Man arrested in station robbery

ST. JOHNS—City Police and the Clinton County Sheriff's Department Friday arrested a 20-year-old Lansing man on suspicion of armed robbery Friday.

Police arrested Larry D. Sanford, 20, of 907 Lenore St., Lansing at his home Friday night. Sanford demanded examination on the charge Saturday before Judge Roland Dugway. He was placed on $15,000 bond and returned to jail.

Sanford is charged with the October robbery of the Clark Service Station on south US-27. Police said another suspect is being held on three separate charges in the Ingham County Jail.

Man dies in farm accident

LAINGSBURG—Joseph D. Barrett, 33, was killed in a corn picker accident Sunday at his farm at 8954 S. Hollister Rd.

Police said he was found dead by his wife Sally about 3:30 p.m. where he had been harvesting corn in a field less than 100 yards from his house.

The accident occurred when Barrett was attempting to clean out the corn picker and his clothing became entangled in the mechanism. He died instantly according to Lee Rummell, Clinton County coroner.

Barrett was in the news two years ago when his house burned down and friends, including a group of fellow workers, helped him build a new home. As many as 50 persons worked on the volunteer project.

SERVICES WILL BE Wednesday at 10 a.m. in St. Isadore Catholic Church.

Zuercher will visit Rodney B. Wilson on Friday morning Nov. 19 to explain the programs and answer questions. The 14-week Study Service Trimester abroad, emphasizing international education in a developing country like Costa Rica, Honduras, Haiti, Jamaica, or South Korea, has been accepted enthusiastically by the students at Goshen College. Ten credit hours toward graduation may be earned.

Help meeting planned here

ST. JOHNS—A meeting for the parents of hyperactive children in Clinton County will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 16, at 9:30 a.m. in the basement of the Episcopal Church in St. Johns, located on the corner of Walker and Mead Streets.

This is a county-wide meeting arranged by the staff of the Clinton County Intermediate School District and baby-sitting service will be available.

Hyperactive children are those who are overly active as far as behavior is concerned. They can't stay in one place. Sitting still is impossible. They may tease or bully other family members or schoolmates. Such a child will interrupt others and wants to be heard now. In short he's probably driving his teachers, parents and others to distraction. Parents with children like this should find the meeting helpful

O-E board hires new teacher

OVID—The Ovid-Elsie School Board Monday hired Mrs. Judith Witt of St. Johns, as a replacement teacher for fifth grade at E.E. Knight School in Elsie.

The Board took the action to replace a teacher who has left the state, said Supt. Donald Kenney. Mrs. Witt is a graduate of the University of Arizona.

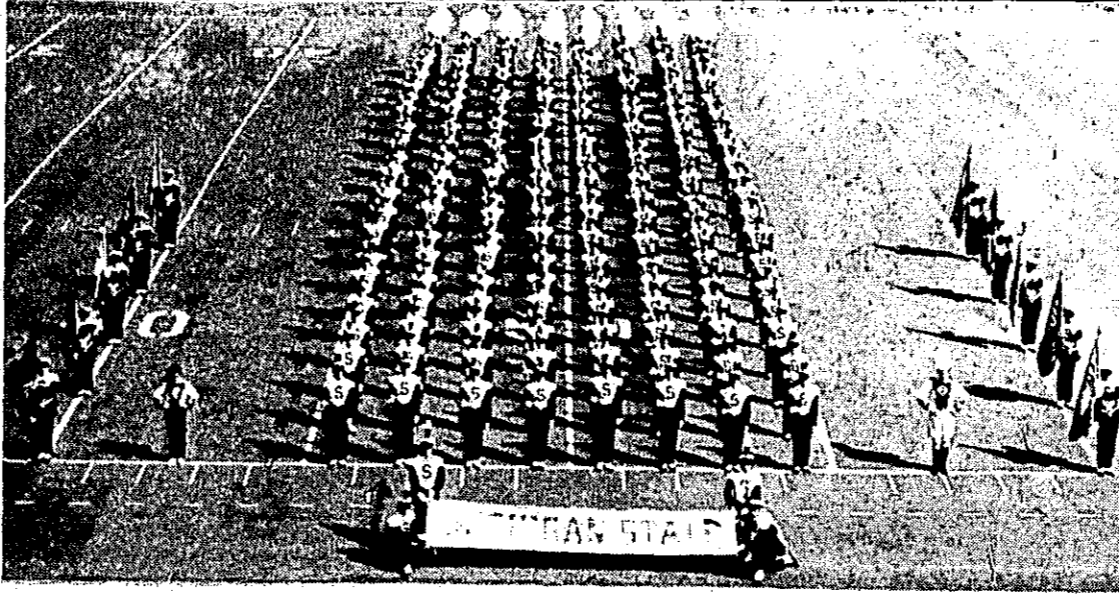

In other action, the board paid some of the "fund-bills" and acknowledged a "thank you" for sending flowers to the funeral of an employee's relative.

An executive session was conducted to discuss the budget and the progress of negotiations with building administrators.

KENNEY SAID A public hearing on the budget would probably be scheduled for the next meeting.

tory, and geography. The other half is field work supervised by a national at a rural school, remote clinic, adult literacy program, community development project, agriculture research station, or similar post. Fewer than 3 per cent of the graduating class of 1972 have elected the on-campus alternative to the trimester abroad.

Goshen College, at Goshen, Ind., is owned and controlled by the Mennonite Church. It is a fully accredited four-year liberal arts college serving 1207 full-time students this year, its 78th.

COMING ATTRACTION

Members of this famous marching band will be on hand Saturday night in St. Johns for the Redwing Marching Band's Varsity Nite. Graves damaged

FOWLER—Clinton County Sheriff's Deputies are investigating a case of malicious destruction at the East Plains Cemetery, west of here on the county line.

Deputies said a number of tombstones had been tipped over and some were broken. It happened either Thursday or Friday. There is no estimate of damage at this time.

its citrus fruit sale in response to the many requests from last year's customers and to the huge success of last year's sale.

The orchestra students will be taking orders for the large Texas oranges and grapefruit until Nov. 28.

The fruit is top quality, U.S. No. 1 fruit and will arrive in St. Johns, freshly picked, by refrigerated truck directly from Texas approximately Dec. 18, in time for the holiday season.

Twenty pound boxes will sell for $3.25 and 40 pound boxes are $5.50, plus a small freight charge. The fruit will be delivered right to your door.

BESIDES OBTAINING this delicious fruit, you are also helping the orchestra raise funds which are necessary for the success of its program. Anyone wishing to order by phone can call 224-4269 between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. or 224-7543 between 2-3 p.m.

$400 taken

ST. JOHNS—St. Johns Police are investigating the theft of approximately $400 in cash from the Burger Chef on US-27 Oct. 5. Police said the culprit entered the rear of the building during working hours and made off with the cash which was apparently lying on a table awaiting deposit.

First from Fowler adult program

Labor strike leads to diploma

By TIM YOUNGMAN Co-Editor

Fowler—"It was something I've always wanted to prove to myself—a matter of personal pride."

That was the way Raymond Luttig, 46, described his feelings as he received his high school diploma from school officials here Monday afternoon. Luttig, who is employed at Oldsmobile in Lansing, is the first graduate of the Fowler High School adult education program.

Luttig caught onto the idea during the long auto workers' strike that shut down Oldsmobile and most other General Motors plants during the fall of 1970. It was at that time that Fowler High School officials announced the adult education program and urged local residents to take part in the plan.

"It was my wife—who really urged me to go to school," Luttig said. "And I'm glad I went. The feeling is wonderful," he said holding onto his new white-leather covered diploma.

Luttig, who had dropped out of school after the eighth grade, said he was sorry he didn't get his diploma 20 years ago. "It would have opened up more opportunities for me," he said. "There are times when certain jobs, even at Oldsmobile, require you to go to college for more education. With an eighth grade background you can't go to college, but with this diploma you can."

Luttig received credit for work experience that erased half of his course load. He took courses in English, math, history, science and psychology. "Some of them were pretty tough courses, especially the advanced English course," Luttig said.

In fact, he is so happy about the adult education program, he urged his brother to take some courses at the school. Now

Andrew Luttig is a student and should complete the courses next year for his diploma.

"I would advise any kid now to finish his high school education. It is so important. There are definitely a lot more opportunities for those kids with diplomas," Luttig said.

Currently there are 15 adults enrolled in the program for the 1971-72 school year. "We urge anyone interested to enroll next fall in our adult program," commented Harvey Middleton, who is in charge of the adult education department.

The program is reimbursed by the state aid program for fees and tuition costs, Middleton said.

Luttig, resides with his family at R-2, Fowler. He and his wife, Willa, have four children. They are Barbara Ann, 23, Allan Lee, 21, Susan Marie, 16, and Nancy Jean, 14.

Fire guts station Sunday

ST. JOHNS — An early morning fire ravaged a St. Johns gas station on the city's south east side Sunday. The St. Johns Police Department, patrolling the area, discovered the blaze at Wes's Gulf Service, south US-27.

Fire Chief Clare Maier said the department received the alarm at 5:33 a.m. Four pieces of equipment and 17 volunteers fought the blaze for two hours before bringing it under control. Maier said he believed the fire started in a combination storeroom and furnace room, possibly from a defective furnace or furnace pipe.

"The blaze had broken through the roof by the time we arrived," Maier said. "We could see the flames going down US-27."

THE DAMAGE WAS confined to the roof, men's restroom and the storage room. No estimate was made of the damage.

Mrs Edward Kraft—627-2039 Colleen Adams was honored at a bridal kitchen shower Thursday evening, given by Kathy Smith in her home. Sixteen neighbors and friends attended. Miss Adams will be the bride of Gene Miller of Grand Ledge in December.

Donald Forward of Boulder, Colo. visited his parents Maurice and Veda Forward. Mrs. Forward is in the Medical Center in Charlotte.

Parking board asks for lot improvements

ST. JOHNS — Improvement of the city parking lot at the corner of Higham and Spring streets and a feasibility study for the development of a new parking area at the corner of Spring and State streets were two of three recommendations advanced by the recently formed city parking commission during their meeting last week.

The third proposal involved long-range planning and calls for investigation of possible development of new parking areas in the downtown sector of the city.

The proposals, which will be forwarded to the city commission for their consideration, came in the wake of a survey conducted by the parking commission among most merchants and business places downtown.

According to chairman Robert Thompson, results of the survey indicated that most merchants felt improvement of present parking facilities along with a plan for future needs is the type program the parking commission should follow.

Information in the sample survey was supplemented by data provided by police officer Robert Ott who, under the direction of city manager Harvey Weatherwax, has taken count of spaces and their use over recent weeks. Officer Ott's check involved hourly observation of parking sites in present facilities as well as along the main and side streets in the central business district.

The newly formed parking commission is directly responsible to the city commission and was appointed to serve as an advisory board for the parking needs of the city. Serving on the commission beside Thompson and Weatherwax are Ed Idzkowski, Ed Mankey, Don Roegner, Ron Huard and John Hannah.

Findings of the board will be reviewed by the city commission and that group's decisions will be returned to the parking commission for implementation.

SCD helps apply conservation methods

Improving the quality of the environment is not new to the landowners who cooperate with the Clinton County Soil Conservation District. In the past year, the district, with assistance from the Soil Conservation Service, has helped 229 landowners apply conservation practices on their land.

Accomplishments by landowners is evidence of the emphasis placed on the protection and management of our natural resources. District Conservationist, Lloyd B. Campbell, St. Johns, reports that in the past year, 42 acres of critical eroding areas were stabilized by seeding or sodding. This involved planting recommended grass and legumes on raw roadsides, eroded slopes, and other severely eroded areas.

To control or prevent gullies, two erosion control structures were installed. The usual function of these structures is to lower the flow of water from one level to another using pipe or concrete to absorb the cutting power of the water.

One mile of grass waterways were constructed. Their shapes similar to the cross section of a saucer and they are built in draws where rain water concentrates as it leaves the land. The roots of the grasses in the waterway hold the soil in place while the blades of grass filter out sediment that is carried by run-off water.

One landowner installed a system to collect farm animal wastes to prevent pollution of our lakes and streams.

To provide for our future woodland needs, wildlife improvement, and add to the beauty of our countryside, 60 acres of trees were planted and 111 acres of land were managed for wildlife improvement.

The selection of lands and the control of soil losses during a change to an urban use is receiving increased attention from the responsible governmental agencies and officials. Resource data, including the suitability of soils for various urban uses, and conservation practices for erosion control have been supplied to fourteen units of government.

The contribution of the Clinton County Soil Conservation District cooperators, added to those of the other 83 SCD's in Michigan, results in impressive accomplishments toward an improved environment. Over 2,400 acres of critical eroding areas were stabilized with vegetation; 112 miles of trees and shrub windbreaks were established for wind erosion control; over 400 miles of grass waterways were constructed; 12,000 acres of trees were planted; 60,000 acres of land managed for wildlife; and approximately 1,000 units of government were given assistance on the use of natural resources for developing land use plans.

Conserving and managing our natural resources to improve the quality of our environment for the good of the future continues to receive high priority from the cooperators of the soil conservation districts throughout the State of Michigan.

Karen Rossow now Mrs. John Burgess

MR. AND MRS. JOHN H. BURGESS

ST. JOHNS—Karen Fay Rossow became the bride of John H. Burgess on Sept. 25 at a double ring ceremony performed in the St. Johns United Methodist Church at 4 p.m. Rev. Harold Homer officiated at the service before an altar decorated with yellow and white gladiolus.

Organist Barbara Davis accompanied soloist Ilene Gibson aunt of the bride, who rendered "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Promise Me."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Rossow of R-2, DeWitt and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Burgess of R-5, St. Johns.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and chose a full-length empire-style gown of nylon sheer and acetate and nylon lace over acetate taffeta featuring a stand-up collar, sheer Bishop sleeves, designed with detailed pointed cuffs and a full detachable chapel-length train, edged in lace. The sheer bodice was trimmed with lace and the soft full skirt was enhanced with lace bands. Sheer nylon with loops and petals of cotton and nylon lace accented with simulated pearl and crystal trim secured her bouffant elbow-length veil of nylon tulle and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

June Hilly of Florida, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor and assisting as bridesmaids were Sharon Rossow of DeWitt, sister of the bride, Debbie Burgess, sister-in-law of the groom, and Clare Butler, friend of the bride, Kathy Smalldon, cousin of the groom, was flower girl. The attendants wore yellow gowns designed with an A-line silhouette, stand-up neckline and a softly fitted yoke which formed the empire-style waistline. Lace and pearl trim accented the waistline and was repeated on the sleeves and cuffs. They wore yellow flowers and net headpieces and carried cascade bouquets of yellow and bronze mums. The attendant's gowns were made by the mother of the bride.

Mike Burgess, brother of the groom, was best man and serving as groomsmen were Don Kraemer, Jody Hetler and Mitch Louth, all friends of the groom.

Scott Rossow, brother of the groom, was ringbearer and seating the guests were ushers Tom Ladisky, brother-in-law of the groom, and Neil Rossow, brother of the bride.

The couple rode to the reception, which was held at the VFW Hall, in a horse driven buggy.

Special guests at the wedding and reception were Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Rossow and Mrs. Mable Sehke, grandparents of the bride, all of St. Johns and Mr. and Mrs. John Smalldon of St. Johns and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hawkins of Oscoda, grandparents of the groom.

Following a wedding trip in Northern Michigan the couple will make their home on Pratt Road in St. Johns.

The bride is a 1970 graduate of St. Johns High School, attended Lansing Community College and is employed at Central National Bank.

The groom is a 1967 graduate of Rodney B. Wilson High School, served a two year tour of duty in the army and is employed at Oldsmobile.

Prior to the wedding the bride was the guest of honor at various showers. A grocery shower was given on Sept. 8 by Katherine Sehke, Leona Tiedt, Sharon Rossow and Edna Hayes. A miscellaneous shower was given by Karen Ladisky and Debbie Burgess on Sept. 12 and a kitchen shower was given by Connie Richards on Sept. 15.

MR. AND MRS. KARL HECHT

Celebrate anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Hecht of 800 Church Street, St. Johns will be guests of honor at an open house Saturday, Nov. 20 from 2 to 4 p.m. in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary.

The event will be held in Wilcox Hall of the First Congregational Church in St. Johns.

Hosting the open house will be their son, Donald Hecht of St. Johns and their daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Lomason of Lake Orion and their families.

Mr. Hecht and the former Vera Eisler were married on Nov. 22, 1921 in St. Johns and lived most of their married life in Bengal Township where Mr. Hecht was engaged in farming. They moved to St. Johns in 1966.

The couple has five grandchildren.

Friends and relatives are invited to attend and it is requested that there be no gifts.

Clinton County Social Events

Mrs. Jackson W. Bates and Mrs. Carl Sauber were co-hostesses at a miscellaneous bridal shower honoring Karen Rumbaugh, of St. Johns. The event was held Thursday evening, November 4, in the home of Mrs. Bates. Mary Alice Bates and Debbie Kusenda assisted the hostesses.

Refreshments were served at individual card tables, each one centered with a miniature floral arrangement. The large centerpiece of yellow and white daisies was presented to the bride-elect.

Games were played, with prizes awarded to Mrs. James Bolton, Patricia Rivest and Miss Rumbaugh.

Debbie and Diane Kusenda assisted Karen in opening her many useful gifts.

Miss Rumbaugh and Dan Kusenda will be married Dec. 4, in St. Johns.

Lansing Chapel site of wedding ceremony

LANSING — Mary Sabina Chapel of Central Methodist Church was the setting for the Sept. 25 wedding ceremony uniting in marriage Susan Elizabeth Gould and Thomas William Welsh. Rev. Robert Bates performed the single ring 5 p.m. service before an altar decorated with carnations and gladioli in fall colors.

Organist, Frank Bartlett accompanied soloist Dave Schuurmans who rendered "Because," "O Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gould of 300 West Miller Road, Lansing and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Russell Welsh of 801 East McConnell Street, St. Johns.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and chose an ivory colored floor-length gown covered with English Galloon lace featuring long sleeves, an empire-style waistline and a chapel-length detachable train secured by a satin bow in the back. The neckline and the hemline were trimmed with scalloped lace and satin buttons accented the bodice. An ivory colored satin bow accented with seed pearls secured her elbow-length veil and she carried a bouquet of gardenias and orange tea roses.

Delores Fritz of St. Johns was maid of honor and serving as flower girl was Karen Sue Hebert of Lansing. The attendants wore floor-length pumpkin colored gowns featuring a boat neckline, long sleeves and streamers accenting the front of the gown. Brown velvet ribbon trimmed the empire-style waistline and the cuffs. They wore brown velvet ribbon bow headpieces and carried straw baskets of carnations, tea roses and mums in fall colors.

Douglas Boak of St. Johns was best man and seating the guests were ushers Kenneth Gladstone of St. Johns and Neil Welsh of Mooretown, Ont., brother of the groom.

A 6 p.m. reception was held in the church hall for 200 guests. Special guest at the wedding and reception was Helen Neel of San Francisco, Calif.

For travel on their wedding trip to Copper Harbor the new Mrs. Welsh chose a two piece ensemble designed with a brown paisley print dress and brown coat with brown accessories.

The couple are making their home at 310 North Lansing Street, St. Johns.

The bride is a 1965 graduate of Grand Ledge High School and attended Lansing Business University.

The groom is a 1963 graduate of Rodney B. Wilson High School and attended Ferris State College.

David Fitzpatrick presented Eagle scout award at ceremony

An Eagle Court of Honor was held Wednesday, Nov. 3 in Wilcox Hall of the First Congregational Church in St. Johns for the purpose of presenting the highest award in boy scouting to David Fitzpatrick, a member of troop 81.

The seventeen year old scout, who has been in scouting for the past six years, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glendon Fitzpatrick, of 109 West Steel Street, St. Johns and is a junior at St. Johns High School.

ST. JOHNS

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Welton were in Lansing Saturday to attend the State Conference of the Friends of Michigan Schools, held at the Reo Club House.

Mr. and Mrs. Alden Livingston spent Sunday afternoon with their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. David Livingston, at their home in Orchard Lake.

Elsie

The Elsie Community Choir held election of officers Sunday evening when they met in the choral room of the Ovid-Elsie High School.

Serving as president for the coming year will be Merle Baese and others elected were Jean Cobb, vice-president; Joanne Sturgis, secretary and treasurer and Dick King librarian.

The group meets each Sunday at the school at 7 p.m. and is open to all interested persons who like to sing. The group especially needs male members.

Mrs. Harman was born Aug. 22, 1921, in Flint, the daughter of Eugene and Theresa (Hesch) Thereau. She attended Flint, Clio and Mt. Morris schools.

She married James Harman in Angola, Ind., in October of 1937. She had lived in Shiawassee County for 10 years.

Mrs. Harman attended the Durand Baptist Church.

Survivors include: her husband; three sons, James E. of Durand and Robert J. and Gerald T. of Owosso; two daughters, Mrs. Dale (Linda) Willett of Ovid and Diana at home; four brothers, Kenneth Thereau of Vassar, Fred of Flint, Dick and James of Clio, and five sisters, Betty Thereau of Flint, Mrs. Walter (Theda) Sproul of Birch Run, Mildred Thereau of Flint, Mrs. Gerald (Leona) Glassburn of Clio and Mrs. Ace (Patricia) Pennington of Midland.

Preceding her in death were daughter, Joyce, in 1941, a brother, her mother and father, of Flint.

Anna Kopacek

Anna Kopacek, 75, of rural Bannister died Saturday, Nov. 6 at Clinton Memorial Hospital following an illness of several weeks.

Funeral services were held at the Carter's Funeral Home on Tuesday, Nov. 9 with Rev. George Serour officiating. Burial was in Ford Cemetery.

She was born in Czechoslovakia on April 27, 1896, the daughter of Steve and Antonette Talack and had resided in the United States since 1912 and in the Bannister area for the past 40 years.

She was first married to Frank Fornusek who preceded her in death in 1929. She later married Louis Kopacek in Chicago on Oct. 31, 1931 and he died in 1947. She was a member of the ZCZB in Bannister.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Mildred Houska of Elsie; a son, Eddy Fornusek of Bannister; two sisters, Antonette Zucker of Florida and Mary Polak of Czechoslovakia; two brothers, Steve Talack of Bannister and Frank Talack of Czechoslovakia; four grandchildren; five great-grandchildren.

He was born on Feb. 18, 1917 in Gratiot County, son of Elmer and Ellen Howell. He attended country schools and moved to Clinton County in 1950.

He married Irma Elem, June 15, 1940 in Gratiot County. He was a member of the North Shade United Brethren Church and was employed at Motor Wheel Corp. as a Bullard operator.

He is survived by his widow Irma, two daughters, Mrs. Betty Putz and Miss Joanne Howell, both of Lansing, and one son Lawrence Howell of St. Johns, and two grandchildren.

Rev. Brian Sheen will officiate at the services and burial will be in the Payne Cemetery in Gratiot County.

Curiosity and a desire to escape from reality were two strong factors that drove him to experiment with drugs, a former drug addict and veteran of Vietnam told the St. Johns Woman's Club and guests Wednesday at their meeting in the home of Mrs. Van Hoag, 409 S. Whittemore.

Once he had realized what he had been doing to himself, he began to look for someone to talk to. A friend brought him to the Penway Church's Rev. Earl Van Sipe who also works on the staff for alcoholism and drug addiction at Sparrow Hospital.

During his rehabilitation the young veteran explained that he had no withdrawal problems — probably because he had not been on heroin that long, he added. "Heroin is the most physically addicting," he explained.

With the Rev. Van Sipe at his side, as he casually chatted with an audience of over 50 women and answered many of their challenging questions. He told more about why he feels people turn to drugs. "Of course," he said, "the reason depends upon the person." He listed immaturity, a feeling of insecurity, a need for love and communication which can begin in the home with the parents, and a desire "just to experiment," with side effects from parents over — reacting to this curiosity factor.

Rev. Van Sipe elucidated on a child or any young person's need for love in the home: "Oftentimes a parent's concept of love is different from what the child needs." He then named three misconceptions of parental love: (1) giving things instead of communication and sharing, (2) over love or doting love, which takes on a perverted view in a child's mind, and (3) the negative aspect, "I love you, so don't do this."

The minister admitted that in his time-consuming efforts to try to help others he had to strain not to cut off his own children. "Drugs are a natural to cover up rejection," he stated. "Everybody's equal on drugs — in the clan."

He stressed the need for a "teachable communication with children" and learning "to listen at their level."

When questioned by the audience, the young convert explained that he was reared in a family of alcoholics where he did not get the love, communication and companionship from his parents. He added that he was not "shown how to cope with reality in society."

His needs were not met outside the home, he said, because his friends and associates were either like his parents or came from the same kind of homes.

Other factors brought out in the open discussion of what contributes to the drug usage problems were: (1) more affluence makes money available for drugs, (2) a softer civilization makes us more vulnerable, (3) the controlling power of organized crime, and (4) the willingness of communists to allow junkies to operate freely to psychologically destroy us and our form of government.

Commenting on the Mafia, the Rev. Van Sipe stated, "Fear is their tool. Brutality and force control a pusher and kids do a lot of the pushing."

Then in comparing the legalization of marijuana as a deterrent to organized crime with the repeal of prohibition in the '20's, the minister stated that although he is not a supporter of prohibition, he is definitely against legalization of marijuana.

This man who works with both alcoholics and drug addicts at Sparrow, said that he thinks education, training, and showing is the answer to our drug problem in the U.S.

He agreed that we "have to take away the curiosity factor,"

but did not feel that freedom to smoke or not smoke marijuana was a safe or sure way to accomplish that aim. "Drugs are going to be around a long time," he admitted, "and we also need to learn better means of rehabilitation."

Then the minister warned his audience, "any of you women on diets, you like the energy the amphetamine give you; they're so dangerous." He went on that as a society we are used to relying on aspirin and "it's the biggest drug that's really abused."

Then he summed up the practical approach to the alcoholic or drug addiction problem, "Taking (away) the bottle or drugs, doesn't help the person. You don't lick the problem dealing with externals — understand people, love people."

He said he hardly knew anyone in the service who did not use drugs. "It grows wild there. The Vietnamese kids who sell it call it 'dingy-dow' which means 'crazy cigarettes.' LSD, heroin, and 'speed' (amphetamines) are on the (Vietnam) battlefields. It really is bad there."

Stating emphatically that he felt marijuana should not be legalized in the U.S., he said, "It would be disaster."

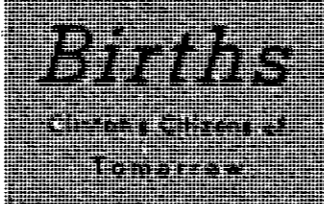

He characterized the influence of marijuana as "a cancer inside, really. Your whole personality changes. You have distortion of time and space, loss of memory, and hallucinations can occur after heavy use. You think you can control everything around you; you even act better toward people and feel more aware."

But then he warned how even though he intended to limit himself to marijuana, how "wound-up - in the -feeling-it-gives-you" he became, he then felt ready to advance to strong drugs.

Describing the effects as the stronger drug overtakes your body, the young man said he lived in "a plastic world (where) everything is artificial." He said he became so psychologically, mentally and physically rundown, he could no longer stand it. In the past eight months, after going off drugs, he has been able to gain back 30 pounds on his slim frame, he added.

This young man was constantly referring to the personal strength his recent conversion to the Christian faith had given him. He had found the love, understanding and patient acceptance he had sought in communion with other drug addicts now in Christianity at the Penway Church of God in Lansing.

Open Letter
from VAN W. HOAG

Dear friends,

It deserves emphasis that the time, the place, the character of the funeral service, the merchandise used, the cemetery selected — these are decisions of the family of the deceased. The funeral director acts only as a representative of the family.

The clergyman should be consulted in matters that concern him before any decisions are made.

Respectfully,

Van W. Hoag

There is a sign in the window of Hub Tire. . . "Closed Nov. 15, Unless Snow."

I figure our Christmas tree will cost about $40-50.00 this year. We have decided to cut our own. In the Upper Peninsula, I can remember how I would set out from our camp in the U.P. and get "just beautiful" trees. And since my boys have never seen the North in the winter, and since the hot chocolate places are now open year round and since my cousins now have 3 snowmobiles I thought it would be nice to set out from camp early in the morning and cut a real tree.

Alice has announced since she is still sane she will keep the home fires burning. She muttered something about if she wanted to live in the ice and snow she would have married an Eskimo.

Redwings shade Alma

The Redwings' Bruce Cameron cuts up field through a host of Alma defenders.

ALMA--The Redwings held off a determined Alma Panther team last Friday night to win their final West Central Conference game. An Alma quarterback fumble on the PAT run attempt gave the Redwings an 8-6 victory.

After a scoreless first quarter, Ken Schueller made like a magician and hid the ball on his hip romping 26 yards for the touchdown. Dean Eberhard was the hero as he scored the two point PAT. The score capped a 65 yard drive for the Wings. Alma scored in the third quarter as Tom Folsom went over from the four. The Redwings had a pass interference penalty called on them and it cost them 15 yards. They weren't happy with the call and another penalty was called on the Redwing bench. That put the ball on the four and set up the Alma score.

The Redwings were hard pressed in the penalty department, losing 115 yards. Alma was penalized for 45 yards.

BRUCE CAMERON WAS the leading rusher for the Wings picking up 130 yards on 23 carries. Cameron faked well on Schueller's score. Schueller had 62 yards in 14 carries and Gary Mankey had 15 yards.

Defensively, Gary Koelgknecht had 11 tackles and Bruce Irish 10. Kevin Hayes added 8. Coach Ernie Becker credited Rudy Rosner with having a strong game including five tackles.

The Redwings had 15 first downs and 206 yards rushing. They failed to complete any of the four pass attempts. Alma had 12 first downs, 54 yards through the air on four of nine pass attempts and 82 yards on the ground.

The Wings will close out the season at home Friday night against Ovid-Elsie.

COACH BECKER SAID, "We are going to have to have our best effort of the year to beat them."

The Marauders are big, fast and play an all around good game. They are going for a 9-0 perfect season.

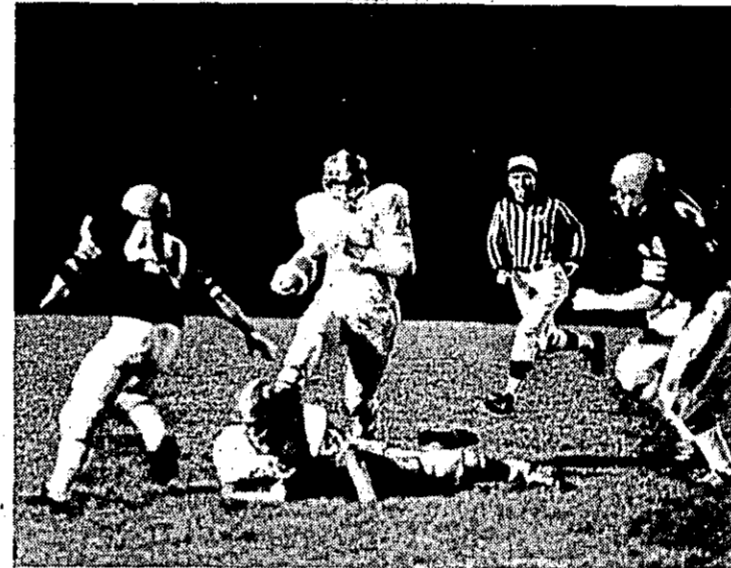

"They are a strong team," Becker said. "Exceptionally strong. In fact, they are a super team. We're going to be fighting for our lives."

Game time is 8 p.m. at St. Johns.

CMU frosh top Ferris

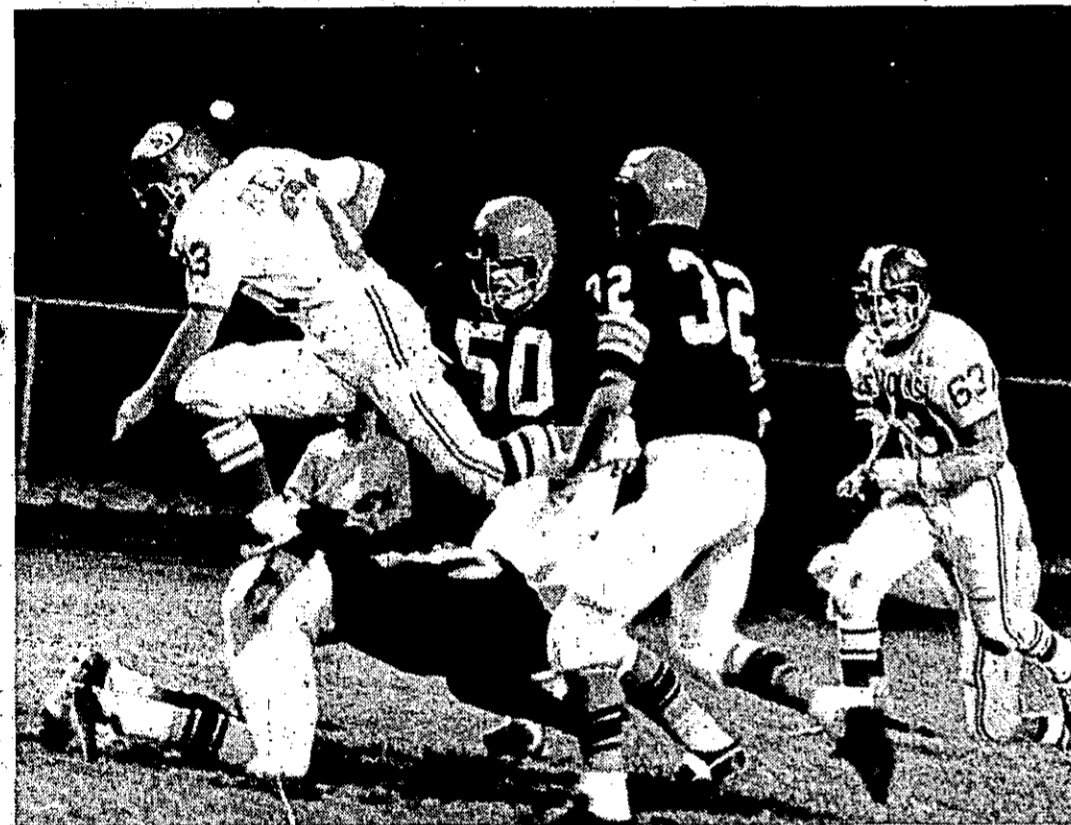

MOUNT PLEASANT -- Central Michigan University, scoring twice in each quarter, blitzed Ferris State College 56-0 here Thursday in the freshman football finale for both teams.

Ferris, unable to move the ball consistently on the ground, was led by quarterback Mark Rose (Ferndale) who completed 12 of 24 passes for all 121 of the Bulldogs' air yards, while McGinnis' other signal caller John Adamski failed to connect in seven tosses.

George Rosner (41) clears the way for Bruce Cameron who moves up field for a few yards against the Panthers.

DON WILLIAMS, a freshman from Detroit Northwestern, topped Bulldog runners with a modest 23 yards in five carries, while workhorse tailback Steve Feldpausch of Fowler was limited to five yards in 11 attempts.

It's Cameron again, this time hurdling a downed Panther on his way to 130 yards rushing for the night.

The late Sonja Henie, one of skating's true immortals, was closely associated with Holiday on Ice during her final years as a performer. Ted Shuffie, the creator-director of the 26th edition of Holiday on Ice International was her skating partner and also co-producer of the Sonja Henie show. Because of the tremendous contribution Miss Henie made to both the competitive and performing phases of figure skating, Mr. Shuffie and Holiday chose the opening production of the 26th edition to salute the memory of the famous Norwegian.

The combined efforts of the Holiday on Ice production team in the salute to the Queen of Skating will be seen when Holiday comes to the Lansing Civic Center from Wed. Nov. 17 thru Sat. Nov. 20.

The setting for the "Henie" special is Sun Valley where she made one of her best liked motion pictures, "Sun Valley Serenade." The music from the picture, played by the Glen Miller orchestra, is highlighted in the presentation.

Showtimes are Wed. through Sat. at 8:00 p.m. with a Sat. matinee scheduled at 2:30. Mail orders are accepted when accompanied by a stamped self-addressed envelope and sent to the Civic Center.

Eagles end season with win

PORTLAND — The Fowler Eagles closed out the 1971 football season on a winning note last Friday night as they defeated league rival Portland St. Pat's 20-12.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Eagles broke the game open as Larry Haltmann capped a 60-yard drive with a 30-yard run for a touchdown.

In the same period, Bob McKinnon took a St. Pat's punt and returned it 60 yards for another score to give the Eagles a 14-0 edge at halftime.

St. Pat's scored their first touchdown in the third period, but the Eagles also added a little insurance when Randy Simmon blocked a punt and returned the ball to St. Pat's nine yard line.

McKINNON SCORED AGAIN from seven yards out a few moments later, and Leon Schneider ran a PAT for another two points. St. Pat's scored in the final quarter but it wasn't enough to overcome the Eagles lead.

The Eagles had 133 yards rushing, nine first downs and 13 yards through the air on three of 13 passing attempts. Alvin Koenigsnecht and Denny Kramer each intercepted St. Pat's passes during the night.

St. Pat's had 11 first downs, 137 yards on the ground and 42 yards through the air completing four of 19 passes. Both teams fumbled twice, recovering their own miscues.

Halfmann was the leading rusher for the Eagles picking up 68 yards while Kramer added another 43.

DEFENSIVELY, THE Eagles played a good ball game. Coach Steve Spicer credited Rich Epkey, Tony Tholen, Frank Koenigsnecht and Al Simmon with an outstanding job.

For the year, the Eagles finished 3-5 and 2-4 in the Central Michigan Athletic Conference.

"We feel the year was a success as far as what we were trying to accomplish," said Coach Spicer. "We were a young squad and we needed experience. I think we got it."

The Eagles will be tough next year. They will have all of their players coming back with six exceptions.

is 20 per cent knowledge, 30 per cent hustle and being in position and 50 per cent judgment.

He said there are fewer rules governing the game and the pace is much faster.
He cited the best time he's had in officiating games was during the regional and district competition. "Getting through a one-point ball game and not receiving any negative comments was a good feeling. I also remember a game between Montabella and Lakeview about three years ago. They have an intense rivalry and I was able to make both sides happy. It was a situation where rationalization was offset by emotionalism."

He noted another game that didn't go so well. "It was a Christmas tournament varsity game. A tight game. And I couldn't be right or wrong on this particular call."

He said a team called time out during a penalty shot where no rules governed the situation. "With more experience, I could have handled the situation. It took almost 15 minutes to straighten the thing out."

Things could be made a bit easier for officials and players if the people watching the games became more informed, Oberlin said. "Sometimes the people are being foolish with what they say and do at a game."

What does an official receive in compensation for running a game? "The fee runs from about $15 to $25 depending on the school." He noted that the officials have to pay for their own equipment and uniforms--and that could run to about $75. College officials fare much better. Their fees run from $25 to as high as $200 and the schools usually pay for travel and expenses.

That's what it's all about and John Oberlin is heading for that big time college circuit and another step forward in his officiating career.

No argument here! These Fowler players aren't giving John any trouble about this penalty. It was against Webberville. It's the Head referee's job to mark off the penalty yardage and give the signals to both benches.

Laingsburg's title grasp ended by Potterville

LAINGSBURG—It was pretty gloomy out Friday night. What had promised to be a season ending victory romp and a title-clinching evening for the Wolfpack ended in despair as Potterville's Vikings lowered the boom to slip past Laingsburg 20-14.

The winner of the game was set to share the Central Michigan Athletic Conference title with DeWitt who easily handled Parma Western Friday night in a non-conference tilt.

The Laingsburg defense yielded two TD's before the half which was enough to give Potterville the edge. The Wolfpack just couldn't come back long enough or fast enough to nail down the Vikings.

Quarterback Dean Peters led the Viking attack as he capped a 78-yard drive with a two-yard touchdown. Peters also flipped a five-yard pass for a TD to end Bob Nemeth and tossed a conversion pass to John Long for two points.

He added another TD on a one-yard quarterback sneak ending a 67-yard drive in the second half. Ron Goetschy, the Wolfpack's standout rusher, scored both Laingsburg touchdowns and had another nullified by a holding penalty, a score which could have meant a victory for the Pack.

He scored on runs of three yards and 15 yards, while the nullified TD went for 45 yards. Goetschy raced another 45 yards later in the game on a breakaway play.

Jack Hurst hit Randy Wrobel for the conversion points after Goetschy's fourth quarter TD. Laingsburg ends the season with a 4-2 league record and 6-2 overall to tie for third place in the CMAC with Fawcett-Wesphalia who topped Webberville 36-0 Friday night.

Potterville ends their season with a 5-1 league record and 7-1 overall, equalling DeWitt's record.

Blast Swartz Creek 28-6

Marauders look for perfect season

By TIM YOUNKMAN

SWARTZ CREEK — The Ovid-Elsie Marauders decided not to have a repeat cliffhanger like last year's 6-3 victory over Swartz Creek and they proved their point.

The Marauders swept away the defending Flint Metro League champs 28-6 to up their season's record to 8-0 with only one game standing in the way of O-E's first undefeated season in the school's history. The final test will come Friday night against St. Johns who barely defeated Alma 6-6 last week.

The Marauders rolled up 294 total yards with a rushing attack of 241 yards and adding 53 more in the air.

The defense was rugged again, throwing back the Swartz Creek rushing game to a minus 11 yards and yielding 137 yards in the air and one TD, the third score against the Marauders this season.

Ovid-Elsie's first drive in the game came to a sudden halt on the three-yard-line. With fourth down staring at them, Bill Foran came on to boot a 13 yard field goal, giving the Marauders an early 3-0 edge.

On the next Swartz Creek series of plays, junior Dan Egbert intercepted a pass at mid-field and returned it to the Swartz Creek 20-yard-line. On the next play, junior quarterback Tom Kirinovic stepped back and tossed a TD pass to senior end Tim Bouck to make the score 10-0 after Foran added the extra point.

In the third quarter Kirinovic set up another touchdown with a 27-yard toss to senior end Ron Mead, who was hauled down on the one-yard-line. Kirinovic then dove over for the score.

Swartz Creek threatened only once when they scored on a 12-yard-pass after they were forced from their regular set to a shotgun formation, just as O-E Head Coach Mark O'Donnell predicted. A 40-yard screen pass and two 15-yard penalties set up the Swartz Creek TD.

But the Marauder defense stiffened and that was all the Swartz Creek scoring for the evening.

Gordon Baker added an O-E touchdown on a 21-yard running play and Gary Groom capped the night's scoring with a six-yard dash.

Three juniors led the Marauder defense as Randy Loynes had 10 solo tackles, Dan Egbert had seven and two pass interceptions and Rick Staples added seven tackles.

fensive player award for the hardest hitting exhibition — his third award this season.

Fullback Glen Bensinger and Staples, a tackle, got the best blocking awards for the game.

The win brings Ovid-Elsie to an 8-0 season record mark after taking the Mid-Michigan B Conference title last week, drubbing Chesaning 12-0.

The Marauders travel to St. Johns Friday for the final game of the season, which will be the last high school football game for 15 Marauder seniors.

If Ovid-Elsie defeats St. Johns it will be their first unbeaten season in the high school's history. Coach O'Donnell had two undefeated squads at Elsie before the district was formed in 1966. His last unbeaten season was 1965.

"The team, since the middle of the season, has promised Coach O'Donnell a free toss in the swimming pool if they go undefeated," said assistant coach Russ Pope. Pope and backfield coach Bob Foreback said they would leave the swimming pool door unlocked — "just in case."

The Ovid-Elsie Little Marauders dropped their game with the Swartz Creek JV's 14-6, to finish the season with a 2-4-2 record.

The Mini-Marauders, O-E's frosh squad, found the going rough against Swartz Creek's frosh and were downed 30-0. They finish the season with a 4-3 record.

P-W High School

PEWAMO — WESTPHALIA — A field trip, Powder Puff football, a new teacher, and the end of the first marking period all returned up this week at Pewamo-Westphalia High School.

Approximately 200 students from the Science and Mass Media classes went to view the Hellstrom Chronicle at the State Theater in East Lansing on Wednesday, Nov. 3. Accompanying them were two teachers and four buses. It made for a near full day field trip.

The junior and senior annual Powder Puff football game will be on Nov. 12 at 7 p.m. The teams are practicing hard, so they wish a lot of support on Friday.

FRIDAY, NOV. 5, was the end of the first nine week marking period. On Wednesday, Nov. 10, Parent-Teacher Conferences will be held in all of the P-W system's schools. Parents can see any or all of their children's teachers between the hours of 1 and 4 in the afternoon, and 7 to 9 in the evening.

P-W students are happy to welcome back Mr. Virgil "Sam" Smith. Mr. Smith taught from 1964 till 1968 at St. Mary's school in Westphalia. He then taught one year in the newly formed P-W Junior High.

In 1969 he decided to teach elsewhere. For the school years, '69-'70 and '70-'71, he taught on the island of Amchitka. The island is one of the Aleutian Islands chain off the coast of Alaska. This past summer he returned to Michigan and taught in Grand Rapids.

MR. SMITH'S father was a minister, so he moved quite a bit, but he calls Minnesota his home grounds. He received his Bachelor of Arts Degree from St. Cloud State College, St. Cloud, Minn. He conducts two classes of eleventh grade American History, and three classes of eighth grade Science. Welcome back, Mr. Smith.

Foerch named in Who's Who list

KALAMAZOO — Bruce Foerch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Berl Foerch, 141 W. High St., Ovid, has been selected for the Who's Who Among Students In American Colleges and Universities publication.

Foerch, a senior at WMU and president of the student body, will be among 29 other WMU students who's name and biographical sketch will appear in the publication. The names are included for extra-curricular programs and academic excellence, according to Richard Billingham, spokesman for the selection committee.

The honor was announced Nov. 3.

P-W bombs foe 36-0

WEBBERVILLE — The Pewamo-Westphalia Pirates ended their 1971 football season on a whopping winning note last Friday night as they shut-out Webberville 36-0.

The Pirates ended the season with a 4-2 record in the Central Michigan Athletic Conference and a 5-3 record overall.

In the game Friday, Roy Piggott started off the scoring in the first quarter with a TD on a one-yard run. This was followed by another one yard run by Mike Gross in the same period.

In the second period, Piggott passed for 24 yards and a touchdown to Al Fedewa. Gross picked up the second score of the quarter, this time on a 30 yard run.

ewa threw a 25 yard pass to Al Fedewa and Tom Fedewa scored in the final period on a two-yard run.

The Pirates dominated the statistics as well as the score board. They picked up 15 first downs to Webberville's two, 313 yards rushing to minus 19 for Webberville and 103 yards through the air on six of 10 pass attempts.

Webberville had 14 yards through the air on three of 10 pass attempts and Roy Piggott was credited with the only interception of the game.

Gross was the leading rusher for the Pirates with 157 yards in 19 carries and Piggott was second with 42 yards in 11 carries.

DEFENSIVELY, TOM Thelen led the charge with 15 tackles and Al Fedewa had 13.

He said the new middle school would be set for the next two years and by then the citizens will have to re-examine that facility for needs. The current high school was built in 1965 and additions constructed in 1969. "We began the high school expansion program in 1967 putting in six classrooms, expanded the industrial arts area and added a stage to the cafeteria." The district also purchased two mobile classroom units to allow expansion of the educational materials center. Committee recommendations will not be available for some time, since the group is still touring various facilities in the state to determine the best course for DeWitt. Friday the group visited Thornapple Kellogg

High School in Middleville, a Grand Rapids suburb. Board members and citizen group members said they were amazed at the construction of the buildings, which included a swimming pool, all-weather track and football field. The cost, they said, was less per square foot than the construction of DeWitt's Middle School last year. DeWitt paid about $1.5 million on the facility which was considered to be about $20 per square foot. The Middleville complex was built for $16 a foot and with all of the extra (athletic field, track, pool and paving) about $18. Board members said they were going to visit Haslett High School next and study their building plans and the specific uses of their facilities.

Soap Box date announced

DETROIT — Chevrolet today announced the championship finals of the 35th All American Soap Box Derby will be held in Akron, Ohio, on Aug. 26, 1972. "Interest in the Derby is running at an all-time high this year," Robert D. Lund, Chevrolet general sales manager, said. "More than 50,000 youngsters took part in 272 local races from coast to coast last year. This year we're placing major emphasis on increased participation in all local races." Famed as industry's longest running youth activity, the All American Soap Box Derby is an activity for youngsters between 11 and 15, who build and race gravity-propelled cars of their own design. Last year, Chevrolet awarded $150,000 in scholarships and U.S. Savings Bonds to local and national derby winners. Local soap box derby races are sponsored by Chevrolet and its dealers along with participating community organizations. Each local winner receives a $500 U.S. Savings Bond and a trip to the national "Gravity Grand Prix" championships which are held in Akron, Ohio. To date, 51 communities have constructed permanent soap box derby tracks for local competitions. DETAILED INFORMATION on local soap box derby programs may be obtained from Bee's Chevrolet.

MRS. JULIA RICHARDS

DeWitt Past Mairon's Club will meet with Mrs. John McCrum, 11150 W. Second St., Fowler, Friday, Nov. 12, for luncheon and cards. One hundred fifty DeWitt seventh graders returned to their classes last week, after spending a busy week at the "Yankee Springs Recreational Area," at Hastings. Classes were held on, creative writing, ceramics, geology, dramatics, crafts, and taking field trips. They were accompanied by Mrs. Lella Congleton, the teacher in charge and the following instructors: Dave O'Dell, Jack Shlagel, J. Jewett, W. Walters, Mrs. Jean Welch and Jan Signor. Mrs. Fern Wellington, Mrs. Russell Janz, Mrs. Ford Schavey, and Mrs. Dan Bolow were the cooks.

CALL TO ORDER

Dale Levy, standing, president of the Elsie Improvement Association, calls the November meeting to order. The group meets once a month to organize efforts at local improvement and to coordinate business affairs in Elsie. Members shown here are Elsie area businessmen interested in the welfare of the village and its citizens.

Saylor-Beall's people

It takes people to make industry work. It takes people of all walks of life, with the many skills of life, to guide and direct the success of any product. In these pictures are some of the over 100 workers at Saylor-Beall. They are your friends, perhaps relatives, productive members of the community.

Grinding the journals on the compressor cranks is the job of Tom Martin and Ronald Patterson.

Welding is the job of Leon Exelby.

Emma Blaha, machine operator, bores holes in the pistons of Saylor-Beall air compressors.

Open house marks bank remodeling

A NEW LOUNGE

Mrs. Duane Bunce and Mary Kiger, CNB & T employees pause to chat in the new customer lounge area on the third floor. The area serves as a reception point for persons wishing to examine and discuss their accounts.

ST. JOHNS—Completion of a major remodeling program at Clinton National Bank and Trust Company will be officially recognized this week with a schedule of tours conducted during two open houses planned for Thursday evening and all day Friday.

The two-day affair comes in the wake of a $100,000.00 remodeling program which began nearly two years ago, bringing about many physical and operational changes in the St. Johns office of Clinton National.

ACOUSTIC CONTROL

Complete remodeling of the main teller line included removal of dated decorative materials and replacement with modern fabric panels and laminated coverings. The combination provides acoustic control and ease of maintenance along with eye appeal.

According to Gayle Desprez, vice president in charge of operations, the program began in July 1969 with an engineering and feasibility study which affirmed structural soundness of the bank's present building. On the basis of this, extensive planning for enlargement of work areas throughout the entire building was undertaken with at least three major departments being moved into an adjacent building formerly occupied by Consumers Power Co.

"Practically every area of the bank has undergone some element of change," Desprez commented. "We've been shuffling equipment and people for nearly two years and it seems good to have things back in order and in what we hope to be permanent positions—at least for a few years."

The new decor hints of a Mediterranean theme and the most prominent presence of this design is at the entryway which leads to the enlarged parking lot at the corner of Spring and Highways. Cooper, stained panels and heavy wood trusses accent the interior and exterior design which is further enhanced by a park area near the entrance completed in crushed rock and shade trees.

The parking lot surrounds the auto-bank, a new and modern building replacing a smaller structure which had become inadequate. Location of the new building provides for four lanes of off-street drive up service through a system of pneumatic tubes extending between lane stations and teller windows. An auxiliary tube also connects the auto-bank building with the main office for transfer of materials and supplies.

According to Desprez, expenditures for remodeling the main building went to local and area contractors. A total of 22 firms participated in the project. Some of the local contractors and their work included the following: Rademacher Construction Co., general contractors; Schmitt Electric, wiring; Smith Painting Co., painting, decorating, papering, carpet installation and stair treading; Benson Plumbing and Heating, heating and air conditioning and concrete work by Randolph Redi-Mix.

Other suppliers included Central Michigan Lumber Co., E. F. Boron, carpeting and installation, Karber Block Co. and St. Johns Furniture.

Friday's open house will extend from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Refreshments and favors will be passed out to all who attend.

NEW DEPARTMENT

The all-new loan department of Clinton National Bank is located in the building formerly occupied by Consumers Power Co. Loan Tellers Virginia Shawnee, left, and Susan Keener perform their duties amid modern surroundings accented by vari-colored room dividers providing sound-proof privacy for customers and loan officers.

SECTION B WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 10

THIS IS RALPH LYNAM WEEK

From member to national director. That's a capsule sized resume of Ralph Lynam's participation in Lions Club work and we can't help but believe that the spark behind this success has been his enthusiasm. But Ralph is enthusiastic about any venture he undertakes, whether it's for his favorite organization or for anyone of the varied community projects he has worked on through the years. It is for this sincere desire to participate that we have chosen Ralph as our citizen of the week and we again extend congratulations for his recent election as a national director of Lions.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Billings of Greenville were in town, Friday evening when the electricity went off for a couple of hours more or less. Barbara Jean put her mother to bed with her flashlight before returning home. Iva is not so well at this writing.

Sgt. Douglas Cusack and Sgt. Jerry Case of Ft. Benning, Ga. spent a weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Manual Cusack and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Case.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Stoddard, a mail carrier in Harrison, W. V. and two sons, Michael and Dennis, also Harold Stoddard of Elk Rapids spent last week with their mother, and grandmother, Mrs. Edgar Stoddard and family and friends around town.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Burns of Detroit spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Tait and Mr. and Mrs. Owen

Burns. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cusack and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lipe and family in Flint, recently.

MR. AND MRS. PETER W. HANSEN

meet Betty Hansen, a busy executive secretary

Being a mother of three daughters and one son, all now married, is among Betty Hansen's most notable achievements, but beyond that a background of bookkeeping, capped by ten years as a legal secretary, gave her the inside track when the need for an executive secretary arose at CNB&T.

Betty's varied experience began in 1936 when she graduated from high school and began working in the office of the Secretary of State in Lansing. It carried from there to bookkeeping duties in a dry goods store, a newspaper in Columbus, Ga., a tire store and finally to work as a legal secretary.

Betty came with CNB&T in 1964 and presently serves as an executive assistant and secretary. She is in charge of buying and selling bank stock, issuing certificates, making all transfers and issuing dividend checks. She also purchases or sells stock for bank customers as well as cashing and issuing savings bonds and travelers checks. When you take all this, throw in the maintenance of records relating to these transactions, then mix in her routine secretarial work, you'll find she has a pretty full day. But even then, she's found time to complete two American Institute of Banking study courses in Effective English and Trust Services.

Still Betty finds time to pursue her hobbies of sewing things for her grandchildren, reading a book or two and making plans for annual traveling vacations. Incidentally, the last two itineraries included such inviting locales as British Columbia and Florida.

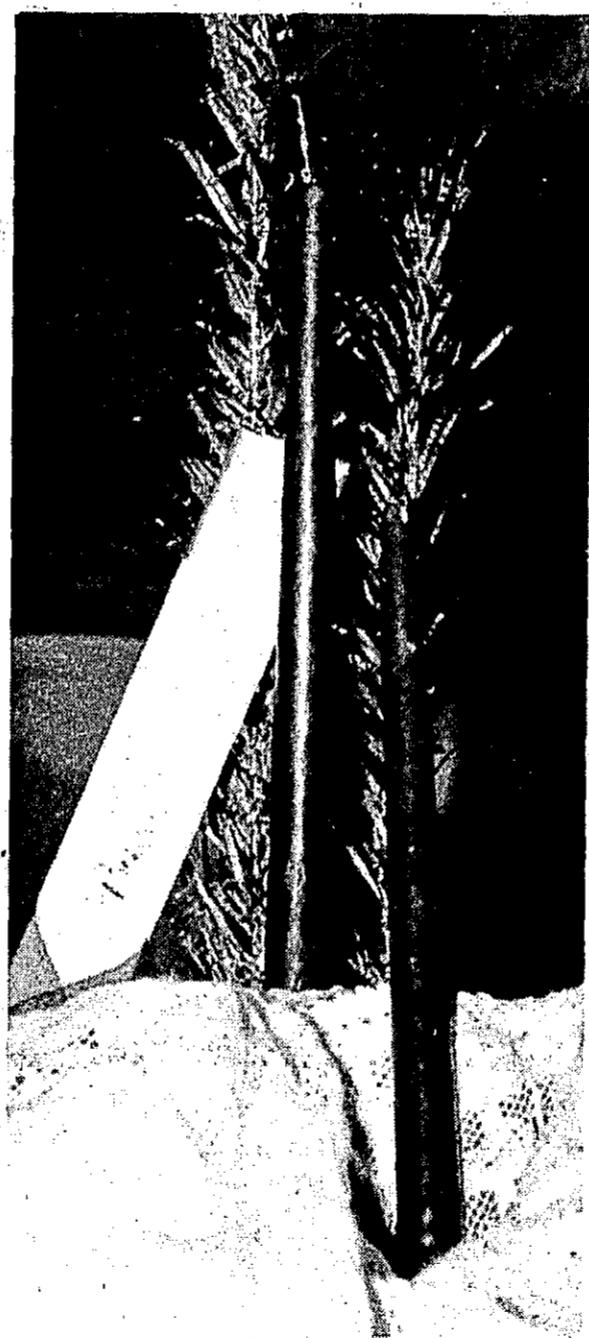

Betty is a life-long native of Clinton county. Pete has been here since 1940. Mrs. Hansen has become a familiar figure in our main lobby and it's easy to see why... we keep her so busy she can't leave her desk. Give her a break and say "hello" next time you stop in.

Divergent feelings

For those persons who wish to live in a sort of Utopian frame of mind (and it would be nice) then the rumblings and the public utterances of those who would raise questions or disrupt the status quo are looked upon with no compassion.

Like it or not, communities will be disrupted occasionally when a change is desired by a group of people within the area who think a change is needed. Whether or not they are correct in their thinking or may be going about getting a change in what some may consider the wrong way, is not always the important fact.

The Clinton Memorial Hospital and its Board of Directors and Trustees have been taking it on the chin lately. Some changes are sought, and the immediate reaction has been one of 'taking sides' or as some fear, splitting the community.

Criticism has been focused on news media in reporting the purported inadequacies of the hospital's operation as claimed by some of Clinton's residents. We do not report news to bring us criticism, nor is news printed with the purpose of flooding our ears with praises.

What is often overlooked in such a situation is the possible legitimate gripes that some may have on any institution serving the public. A hospital is pretty important and people have a personal need to have confidence in its operation. Clinton Memorial has been an important institution to this community for years, and no one can discount the dedication of its staff members.

As so often is the case, personalities become involved in personal incidents such as the current hospital operation discussion, and this doesn't make things any easier. We are all human and do not take criticism lightly.

We are not advocating any particular changes, nor are we siding. It is our duty, as we see it, to inform, and to aid where we can in getting a community problem solved. To overlook, or not bother to recognize, that there are divergent feelings, is to play ostrich. And this isn't our role.

We do believe that when people have questions, then they should be given answers. Not that there will always be responses that will satisfy, but everyone deserves honest, forthright answers from those to whom a community has entrusted authority.

Busing: too emotional

By SEN. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

The people of Michigan have had more than their share of emotional issues in the past few years—civil rights, open housing, Parochial, abortion law reform, and deer herd control.

But none has been any more controversial than that of forced busing of children to achieve racial balance in the state's K-12 public schools.

It is one of those issues on which anyone—especially a legislator—who takes one side or the other is almost immediately termed either a "bigot" or a knee-jerk radical liberal communist by proponents of the other side.

White parents who, although they have no objection to black children attending school with their own, want their children educated in the schools in the neighborhood they chose to live in and are paying taxes to support, are invariably tabbed "racists".

It doesn't matter that the rights of their own children are taken away by court order and given to other children to save the cries of the latter's parents that they don't want their children attending a school at which a majority of the children are of their own race.

No reasonable person wants any one segment of our school population to have less of an educational opportunity than any other segment. But forced busing is clearly not the only way—or the best way—to achieve equal educational opportunity.

If money used to force-bus children miles from their homes were used to good purpose, educational opportunities for all children might be equalized, or nearly equalized very soon.

The most frustrating part of the federal courts' determination to use forced busing to solve the problem of inequality of education is that it runs counter to the grain of what the American people want.

For instance, the latest nationwide Gallup poll shows that 76 percent of the American people oppose forced busing to achieve integration of schools. They aren't opposed to integration itself—they are opposed to the method by which the rights of the majority are taken away and given to the minority.

It is interesting to note that even a majority of Negroes questioned by Gallup expressed opposition to forced busing. Gallup said 47 percent of blacks polled opposed it and 45 percent favored it, with no opinion expressed by 8 percent.

In response to heavy demands from a frustrated public that doesn't know how to cope with the federal courts, the Legislature by a strong majority vote of both Houses took dual action last week to: 1) Convene a national convention to change the U.S. Constitution by specifically outlawing forced busing of children because of race (SR 133); and 2) Demand that the State Board of Education appeal the Roth busing decision to the U.S. Supreme Court (SCR 172).

I voted "No" on the first resolution, which read like a script from the Theatre of the Absurd, and "Yes" on the second, which in my opinion embodies the only valid recourse which the Legislature has at its disposal.

The Roth decision, after all, is simply a suggestion that he (Roth) may—I repeat, may—go beyond anything the U.S. high court has yet sanctioned to end de jure segregation. Like Attorney General Frank Kelley, I tend to doubt that an order for cross-district busing would be sustained by the Burger court if we'd just bother to appeal it. And this is exactly what the Legislature has now asked the State Board of Education to do—and that's why I supported the second resolution (SR 133) referred to above.

But the other resolution (SCR 172) I opposed. This resolution calls for the most fundamental question of American government—changing the U.S. Constitution. The danger of such a resolution is matched only by its quixotic futility. Author of SCR 172 was the slick Democratic State Senator from Macomb County, John Bowman, who wants to run for Congress. Bowman claims that even if the resolution were passed by 33 other state legislatures, Congress could call a constitutional convention only for the purpose of considering his anti-busing amendment.

Personal Inventory

There's a song in our old song book We don't sing much anymore Though it still contains a message On which we could put much store; It's the simple "Count Your Blessings" That I'm thinking of today There's no chance to over do it As we daily watch and pray.

I would not prescribe for others Remedies I scarcely know So I dote on other blessings When I'm feeling sort of low; There is solace for every sorrow There is balm for every pain If we only count our blessings Be it sunny day—or rain.

The excitement of the moment Causes us oft to forget That for all our meagre living We've a lot of blessings yet; Though our goals seem not for winning There is still much we can do As we once more count our blessings We can see the sun shine through.

St. Johns Redwings rose to their heights Friday night and concluded the season with a 7-6 win over Ithaca's strong eleven. The annual football banquet and dance is scheduled to be held honoring the players, coaches, faculty men and board of education.

Lois Pixley, librarian and instructor at the Rodney B. Wilson High School entertained faculty members at a tea and program in conjunction with National Book Week.

Mrs. J.D. Robinson was elected president of the Evening Circle of the WSCS of the St. Johns Methodist Church in St. Johns. Others serving with her for the year were Mrs. Morton Halsey, vice-president; Mrs. Alton Warner, secretary and Mrs. Ford Kuhns, treasurer.

George H. Brooks was named mayor of St. Johns at Monday night's organization meeting of the city commission. Mr. Brooks was also named to serve on the committee of public affairs and finances. Rex Sirrine was named vice-mayor and commissioner of public utilities. R. G. Matthews who was elected to the commission at last Tuesday's election was named commissioner of public improvements.

Conrad Selm, James Matthews and Chester Teske were presented membership certificates as new members of the St. Johns Rotary Club.

Rev up the wheel

By TIM YOUNKMAN

And the Wheel of Fortune begins its first revolution. The "Wheel of Fortune" could well describe the first in a long series of bandwagon, breast-beating patriotic gestures to get someone reelected.

We already know what we will hear. The long glowing praises, the tribute of colleagues; the endorsements of the party's loyalists; and the wisdom of voters who pull the proper lever to elect or reelect their candidate.

It is one unique concept in American politics (or perhaps Western democracies) that spans all parties. A shining example of how our system of election really works was displayed Saturday night in Michigan.

It started out to be a birthday party for Michigan Sen. Robert P. Griffin — and ended up a huge fund raising gimmick in 14 cities.

Griffin, in his first term as U. S. Senator, was elected two years ago to the position of minority whip, the second highest rank in the Republican side of the Senate. And he has what's known as political clout — evidenced by the 17 GOP senators, 12 congressmen, two governors and other GOP brass in attendance.

There was even a filmed address by President Nixon, delivered in each of the 14 dinner halls simultaneously.

Griffin, who is up for reelection in the November 1972 election, wants to raise $1.25 million to finance his campaign, with more than $400,000 of that by this year.

He came close with the "testimonial" dinners. No one was saying exactly how much he collected but tickets for the affairs went for $500 a couple in one location and $25 per person in others. That's a lot of chicken.

Griffin aides admitted that many of the tickets sold were to those representing big business, especially the auto makers. Democratic critics charged that Griffin was buying his reelection with the courting of big business interests in this state.

Most people realize that there are some things wrong with the way we pay for our senators and representatives and their campaigns. The ability to run for office even at local levels, has become prohibitive to all except the wealthy of the society.

Events such as Griffin's "birthday party" should not be necessary — now should legislation be advanced or stalled depending on who fills our campaign chest.

Words about action or words of praise really have little meaning any more, especially in our society. As Americans in this troubled era, we find ourselves demanding action and getting little for our efforts. Those who represent us, ideally, are now leading us. They have, in a sense, put a clamp on our progressing and evolving democracy.

Where will it end? It could start now — by not voting for those who have blatantly insulted our intelligence by securing their positions with a "privileged class." As long as these officials get the support of that class and the misguided vote of the working class we will continue to be led by the nose into detacles like Vietnam.

The real power, to this date at least, rests in the hands of the voting public. It's time we elected officials who will do our bidding and not the other way around.

'IF IT FITZ . . .'

Love, honor and grease

By JIM FITZGERALD

The boys at the car wash are making out with my sex symbol. But I don't care. Just so long as they don't sue me for any social diseases they might catch. A Delaware professor, Dr. George Basalla, gained national publicity recently when he declared that fast cars are replacing women as sex symbols. Dr. Basalla, who has done extensive research with plenty of pit stops, says men generate "a highly emotional and erotic relationship" with their cars. The doctor reads sexual connotations into such terms as "hot rod, Body by Fisher and bosoms of the bumper."

The Sunday ritual of washing and waxing the car also has sexual significance, he says, representing "the male caressing his mechanical mistress with 'balsam' and oils." (That sounds so sexy, maybe the boys at the car wash should pay me.) I've never cared much for cars. In 21 years of driving, I've owned only five. As long as the car I now own gets me where I'm going in reasonable comfort, I see no reason to trade for a new one. Some of my fondest enemies are car salesmen. They have long regarded me as un-American, even subversive. Now, thanks to Dr. Basalla, they probably think I'm queer, too.

How come I'm not having a hot affair with my Oldsmobile? I never pet it or even fondle the bosom of the bumper. The awful truth is, I don't have any more affection for my car than I do for my lawn mower.

If I were looking for a mechanical mistress, I'd probably start making suggestive moves toward the refrigerator. But really, anything with moving parts turns me off. If I ever go steady with an appliance, it will probably be a can opener.

I have never understood why men fall in love with cars. I used to think the Indianapolis 500 race, 'round and 'round they go, was the all-time dumbest sports event. But then someone invented drag racing. Grown men spend all day Sunday roaring down a short stretch of blacktop, competing to see who can make the most noise and waste the most rubber. Incredible.

I know a man who was so romantically attached to his car, he could not bear to part with it, even when it began falling apart. Instead of selling the parts for junk, he sent for a priest and buried the car in his backyard.

Bucket seats and stick shifts prove Dr. Basalla is right. Healthy young Joe Crankshaft will insist on buckets so he can sit zoomy, like Mario Andretti. And Joe wants that stick hard beside him, so he can grab the power and thrust it forward when, the second the light turns green. Which means Joe's girl can't cuddle up to him unless she straddles metal and risks embarrassing involvement if not serious injury.

Now I ask you. When a young man prefers hard steel to soft flesh, this country can stop worrying about the population explosion. But there are greater worries. To each his own, but I am not raising my son to marry a Chevrolet. Not even if he can get Ralph Nader to give the bride away.

Don't tell my wife I said so, but there is still something about a girl, even when the warranty runs out.

From the State House

The new breed

By REP. DICK ALLEN

Us country folks have been environmentalists for a long time. Recently we have gained support from a host of city folk. But sometimes I wonder.

Not that farmers have done a perfect job of conservation by a long ways. But at least we have strived in that direction. We have realized for a long time that nature cannot be endlessly abused and remain productive. For the most part it has been a century or so in this country and many centuries in most of the world, since agricultural people abandoned the "foul the land and move on" philosophy.

Farm families generally have had an environmentally sound attitude towards more than their soil. Homes are repaired, improved and passed from generation to generation. If they become inadequate they are likely to be demolished and replaced on the same spot rather than left unpainted and deteriorating.

NO DOUBT THEY DO so to remain close to their work. Since they live nearby, there is also a tendency to make production facilities attractive. Barns are generally painted and often surrounded by trees and scrubs. The owner of a factory living away from the production site has not had the same attitude towards either his home or his factory. Efficiency overrules esthetics at the factory. Both the owner and the worker easily leave their house when it becomes inadequate.

Now city people are becoming environmentally concerned. But strangely they often seem more concerned about the countryside where we have been doing a half decent job, than they are about their own fouled environment! Senate Bill No. 517 regulating outdoor advertising is a perfect example. I have known for some time that legislation to regulate billboards was coming before us. It is necessary both for esthetic reasons and to continue to qualify for federal road funds.

I HAVE EXPECTED to support this legislation but now that I see the Bill I am agast. There are strict regulations but they apply primarily to the countryside. Industrial and commercial areas are almost completely exempted!

The attitude seems to be this. We will make our living all week in the cities. Anything to make a buck is ok. So what if it's ugly, we will keep the countryside beautiful and go there on the weekends!

A 'Chew Redman Tobacco' sign on the side of a barn would be illegal, but perfectly legitimate on the side of a bowling alley!

WELL, I CAN'T BUY it. Ugly is ugly. And the owner of a factory or bar is in no more need of the few bucks derived from a sign on his building than the farmer.

The recent "environmental" attitude of city folks is welcomed. As soon as they get over the idea that it is merely something to impose on rural and northern Michigan.

Let them learn from the farmers and get over their own "foul it and flee it" life style at the same time.

Death rate on highways drops 6 per cent

Auto safety devices apparently had less to do with Michigan's nation-leading traffic-fatality reduction last year than law enforcement, unemployment, driver improvement and lower-than-expected alcohol sales, according to a just-released Automobile Club of Michigan study.

These same factors continue as major reasons for the six per cent highway death drop so far this year over 1970, Auto Club states.

The study states that while the volume of alcohol consumed in 1970 rose 2.9 per cent above the 1969 level last year, this was short of the usual five per cent annual rise.

"The lower-than-usual alcohol sales apparently played a positive role in the death drop," states Fred Rehm, Auto Club general manager.

"Even with an alcohol sales lag last year, drinking drivers were a factor in half of the traffic deaths," Rehm adds. "Because of this, we now are studying the problem in more detail and will publish 'Portrait of a Drinking Driver' next year."

"Portrait of a Year 1970," the latest Auto Club study, shows that motorists drove more miles during 1970 than ever before, reducing deaths 13 per cent as compared with the record-high fatality year 1969 and recorded the lowest highway death rate in Michigan's history.

This 13th in a series of "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" studies since 1966 tells what effect improved traffic engineering, increased law enforcement, the economic slowdown, lower alcohol sales, car safety and driver improvement had on Michigan's unprecedented highway fatality drop.

"The 13 per cent decrease is significant when it is considered that vehicle registrations were 1.2 per cent, licensed drivers increased five per cent and the number of miles traveled jumped four per cent," states Rehm.

Michigan led the nation in auto death reductions, accounting for 26 per cent of the 1,100-person national drop compared with 1969, Rehm adds.

It is pointed out in the study that 60 per cent of Michigan's decline in deaths in 1970 took place in Wayne, Oakland, Genesee and Jackson counties.

Selective traffic enforcement along with the economic slowdown were cited as the major factors for significant death decreases in Wayne, Genesee and Jackson counties last year. These three counties accounted for 159 of the 310 statewide fatality reduction.

The most significant traffic death reductions were registered in Detroit (Wayne County) and Flint (Genesee County), where a total drop of 141 deaths—or nearly 50 per cent of the state total—occurred. Fatalities were reduced by 72 in Genesee County and by 69 in Wayne County last year as compared with 1969.

Auto Club points out that the major reason for Wayne and Genesee counties' impressive traffic safety marks last year was a program of selective law enforcement that allowed police agencies to concentrate on the types of traffic violations that cause most accidents and where auto crashes most often occurred.

Jackson County, where deaths were down 18 from 1969, or 40 per cent, also made use of selective traffic enforcement that included increased vigilance at high-accident locations and added emphasis on issuing tickets for moving violations and drunk driving.

"The Jackson Police Department utilized two radar units as part of its enforcement, with special attention given major accident causes," Auto Club's study states. "As a result, the number of motorists charged with driving over the influence of liquor rose 205 per cent last year over 1968, from 71 arrests to 217."

"Only in Oakland County—especially Pontiac—was stepped up law enforcement not a major factor in reducing deaths," the report shows. "Although Oakland had the third largest decrease in Michigan fatalities with a drop of 29, from 201 in 1969 to 173 in 1970, law enforcement in most of the county was below 1969 standards."

The study points out that Pontiac had to eliminate its entire traffic bureau in November last year due to the GM strike causing loss of city income tax funds.

However, drunk driving enforcement was up substantially in Oakland County. For example, the three-year jump (1968-70) for drunk driving arrests in Pontiac was up 81 per cent while at the county level the arrests by deputies in 1970 increased 31 per cent over 1969.

Unemployment is suggested as a factor by almost all persons concerned with safety when explaining the reason for the statewide 1970 death drop.

"Why deaths usually decline when the economy turns downward perhaps is explained best by those who maintain that people drive more conservatively when the employment level drops and drive faster, killing more persons on the highway, when employment is at its peak," according to the study.

Auto Club points out that during three previous recession years, traffic fatalities declined in Michigan when compared with preceding years of prosperity.

"For example, deaths were down 33 percent in 1938, five percent in 1949 and 11 percent in 1958, when compared with 1937, 1948 and 1957 respectively," the study states. "The three years when deaths dropped were initial recession years."

In the study's final chapter, seven high-ranking state officials cite 14 reasons why traffic deaths dropped last year.

"Auto Club finds it notable that more persons mentioned traffic safety programs and the attention traffic safety has been receiving through the news media as reasons for the dip in fatalities than anything else," the study states.

"Auto Club feels that its 'Bring 'Em Back Alive!' program, especially through the news media, is one of the major factors that encouraged drivers to improve," the study adds.

"Although the 'Bring 'Em Back Alive!' program reaches the public through television, newspapers and magazines, it is through radio that it has had the biggest impact on the driver," it is stated. "No other state in the nation had an information-educational safety campaign such as that provided motorists in Michigan through 'Bring 'Em Back Alive!'"

Concerning alcohol consumption and its relation to the 1970 death drop, Auto Club states: "It should be noted that although alcohol sales dropped in bars and restaurants from July through December last year as compared with 1969, they went up 2.4 percent at package stores."

Auto Club believes that where alcohol is consumed has a direct effect on the traffic death toll. When a person drinks alcoholic beverages at home, a car usually is not involved later. An automobile is almost always a factor when alcohol is consumed at a bar, lounge or restaurant. The drop in alcohol sales at bars during the last half of 1970 coincides with the period when deaths dropped most, it is pointed out.

Concerning highway engineering improvements, Auto Club states that spot safety improvement projects ranging from application of skid-resistant material at high-accident locations to construction of left-turn lanes were important factors in the 1970 death drop.

A before-and-after study of 16 spot safety projects shows the number of accidents alone were cut 25 percent last year with an eight percent drop in deaths.

New cars were involved in only half as many fatal accidents as older cars on a ratio last year, Auto Club points out. However comparative statistics from past new-car years are not available to see if the 1970 experience is unique.

"Padded car interiors, collapsible steering columns and other safety devices certainly have played a role in this year's death reduction, but in most cases statistics are not available to show proof," Rehm states.

"To single out any one factor such as car safety devices—would grossly ignore many other factors which highway engineers and law enforcement and safety officials know help determine how safe of unsafe driving can be," the study states.

Auto Club adds that what affects the number of deaths on a highway can range from weather conditions to the level of law enforcement.

"By isolating the reasons deaths dropped in Michigan more than any other state last year, these factors can become building blocks for continuing the downward trend," Auto Club concludes.

Busing

But no one knows that to be the case. When the late U.S. Senator Everett Dirksen was leading his attack on one man-one vote, many legal scholars warned that there was no way to limit a convention once one was called into session.

If Bowman succeeds in getting a constitutional convention, it is legal scholars warned that there was no way to limit a convention once one was called into session. If Bowman succeeds in getting a constitutional convention, it might even throw out one-man-one-vote.

As Bowman's Democratic colleague, Basil Brown of Highland Park, put it in the Senate floor: "If we want to get rid of the rat in the barn, we don't burn the barn down. . . . You and I both know there are groups on both ends of the political spectrum which would like nothing better than to have the opportunity to lobby and change the federal Constitution both on the extreme liberal end and the extreme conservative end."

Commenting on the good news of Christmas, this same writer says that "God is, and that He cares. Neither His reality nor His love are contingent on our awareness of them. He goes right on existing and caring, however little attention we pay to Him, and He loves the militant atheist no whit less than the devout believer. To believe, this is to be joyous."

Yes, Christians get together for joyful human fellowship. This is why we have Sunday worship; this is why we have church school and adult discussion groups; this is why we have coffee hours; this is why we have women's guilds, youth groups and choirs. Everything we do together as Christians, we do for the purpose of having joyful human fellowship. We do it also, because Christ tells us to do it.

Jesus went to the wedding reception at Cana to demonstrate joyful human fellowship. While He was there, He also demonstrated how quickly He responds to the needs of others.

When He arrived at the bridegroom's house, the wine supply was depleted. To run out of wine before the celebration was over would have been a great embarrassment to the bridegroom. So Jesus saved the day and turned water into good vintage wine. This helpful act sums up the life of Jesus. His way was to serve others—to help others with their problems.

JESUS SAID THAT HIS WAY—the vintage wine way—must include deeds of service to those in need. He tells us that when we meet the physical needs of others, we do it for Him and He says, "Come and receive the kingdom which has been prepared for you." If we don't meet the physical needs of others, then Jesus says we "will be sent to eternal punishment."

If you don't understand this, the following story ought to clear things up for you. "An attractive woman, the wife of a prosperous executive, was arranging flowers in her home for guests who were coming to dinner—one couple particularly important because his influence could mean a large government contract for her husband's firm."

"The maid" announced the guests, and in a few minutes laughter filled the air as cocktails were served and men and women mingled in the relaxed anticipation of good food and exciting companionship. (On the surface we might say that these people were Christians, who were meeting for joyful human fellowship.)

"During the beautifully prepared and served dinner, a maid came to the lady of the house, leaned low, and whispered something in her ear. A shadow of annoyance crossed the hostess' face as she replied, 'Tell them to ask someone else. This is not time to interrupt me. They should know that we have guests for dinner.'"

"THE EVENING PASSED with laughter, and with a friendly hand of bridge, followed by final drinks before the friends left. "As they were preparing to go to bed, the executive asked, 'Jane, what was the maid whispering to you about during dinner?' His wife replied, 'Oh, those Smiths down the road had a sick baby they wanted to take to the hospital. It was too far for a taxi, and the buses only run every hour. They asked if someone here could drive them in one of our cars. They should have seen that we were entertaining guests.'"

James Fleming (R-Jackson), Chairman of the Senate Highways Committee in announcing the date for a public hearing on House Bill 5706 and House Bill 5707, two of the three bills comprising Governor William G. Milliken's 1971 Transportation package.

Joint Senate-House hearings will be held from 9 a.m. until noon on Wednesday, Nov. 10, reconvening from 9 a.m. until noon on Thursday, Nov. 11, if necessary. The hearings will be held in the House of Representatives, Capitol Building, Lansing.

House Bill 5706, which is the same as Senate Bill 1072, would increase the Michigan motor fuel tax by 1.3 cents per gallon, thereby providing approximately $52 million in additional revenue to meet the growing transportation needs of the state. A unique aspect of this bill is the proposed earmarking of a half-cent per gallon of the motor fuel tax for a state transportation discretionary fund to be used in solving the transportation problems in urban areas at the lowest economic and social cost.

House Bill 5707, which was introduced simultaneously in the Senate as Senate Bill 1071, sets forth the procedures for administering the state transportation discretionary fund by a new office of Urban and Public Transportation within the Department of State Highways. The bill also contains a revised formula for distribution of motor fuel tax revenues to the 83 county road commissions in the state.

By holding hearings in Lansing, rather than throughout the state, it is hoped that representatives of both urban and out-state transportation interests will be brought together to discuss these important proposals and the effect their passage could have on Michigan's total transportation program.

Rep. Trezise urged all interested citizens and groups to attend the Lansing hearings.

9 out of 10 new Chryslers registered in the last 10 years are still on the road.

That should tell you a lot about the cars we sell.

Whether you own a big or small car, pay a little or a lot, the one thing you don't need from a car is trouble. You want a car that will hold up. A car that's built to last.

Well, we're with you. Just look at this figure: 9 out of 10 new Chryslers registered in the last 10 years are still on the road.

This includes all the various owners; any kind of terrain, and numbers of miles. But every Chrysler is designed and built the way you want it—to last. So even if you won't be keeping a car for years and years, it's good to know you've got all that quality going for you in your first year as well as in later years.

Newport Royal 2-Door Hardtop

You gotta have heart. The quality of a Chrysler starts deep down in the heart of the car. That's where you've gotta have it. That's where you get it. With such time- and road-proven features as Chrysler's torsion-bar suspension and Torque-Flite automatic transmission. The rigid strength of unibody construction. And a 7-step dip-and-spray anti-rust process. Extra care like that is why so many Chryslers stay in great shape.

Every Chrysler Imperial is road-tested at the factory.

If our cars aren't right, we don't want you to have them. For example, every Imperial is put through a road test at the factory that includes over 100 different checks before it reaches you.

This year every Chrysler car offers a new optional electronic ignition system that does away with the points and condenser that can wear out. This helps keep the engine tuned longer. And a tuned engine means cleaner exhaust.

From our lowest-priced Chrysler Royal to our big, luxurious Imperial, Chrysler cars are built to last. The same is true of every Chrysler-engineered car we sell—Valiant, Duster, Cricket, Satellite and Fury.

We think that's the kind of car America wants. That's the kind of car we'd like to show you. Come see us today.

Coming through with the kind of car America wants.

Carpet style

"Choice of style in a carpet is almost as varied as choice of fiber - if not more so," says Margaret Boeschetti, Extension Specialist in Human Environment Design, Michigan State University.

Style may be distinguished on the basis of texture, or surface effect. Some styles have better appearance retention under conditions of heavy use than others. For example, densely constructed low loop pile carpet would maintain its heavy traffic areas while a plush, cut pile carpet would have high aesthetic value, but low resistance to the visible effects of soiling and foot traffic. Between these two extremes you can find many others showing variations in density, pile height, amount of yarn twist and cut and loop.

Density probably has the most significant effect on wearability. Fibers densely packed on the carpet face support each other and resist the action of wear. They also protect the ground structure from excessive abrasion due to the weight and pressure of foot traffic and the grinding action of soil deposits. Pile weight affects carpet density. Due to differences among individual fibers 20 ounces per square yard of one fiber may provide equivalent covering, capacity to 30 ounces of a less dense fiber.

Though pile height is less important than density, an increase in height can add to a carpet's wearability, providing the density remains constant.

Tightly twisted yarns have greater resistance to wear than yarns with little or no twist. So-called "twist" carpets have one or two tight twist heat set in to create a public life texture which doesn't show traffic and wears well under heavy use.

Unset or loop yarns show effects of wear, soil and foot patterns to a lesser degree than cut yarns.

Carpet constructions create a surface pattern by different methods. A high-loop pile results in the hazy, textured effect of multi-loop styles. Cut and loop yarns result in patterns referred to as Random Sheared, or Tip Sheared styles. A combination of

Green Meadows has top cows

BATTLEBORO, VT. - A report of milk production levels attained by dairy cows in the area has been received from Holstein-Friesian Association of America. The actual food production output, recorded in the DHR program, by these local Registered Holsteins:

Green-Meadow Charmer - Top 5623888, a four-year-old, produced 19,890 lbs. of milk and 870 lbs. of butterfat in 353 days. Green-Meadow Maple Bay 7022846, a two-year-old, had 16,820 lbs. of milk and 801 lbs. of butterfat in 353 days. Green-Meadow Maple Bay 7022846, a two-year-old, had 16,820 lbs. of milk and 801 lbs. of butterfat in 353 days. All six included in the herd tested for DANE and Velmar Green, Elsie.

These new production figures may be compared to the estimated annual output of 9,388 lbs. (4,500 quarts) of milk and 245 lbs. of butterfat by the average U.S. dairy cow, notes the National Holstein Association.

Production testing is made available through cooperative efforts of the state and local testing associations and Holstein-Friesian Association of America. Dairymen enrolled in the program pay for the service.

Marilyn Simon gains high honor

KALAMAZOO—Marilyn Simon daughter of Mr. Clarence Simon of 11685 W. M21, Box 133, Fowler was recently admitted to the Honors College at Western Michigan University.

To be eligible to enter the Honors College a student must have a better than "B" academic average.

Provisional and full members of the Honors College are expected to pursue programs of study which will widen their intellectual interests and competence, and to undertake a field of specialty.

Honors College members are to maintain a "B" average while in the College. In their senior year they must write an Honors College paper (or produce a creative work of art) and be orally examined by their faculty.

Men who take one step at a time eventually reach the top.

By MRS. ROBERT VALENTINE — Phone 862-4342

The annual United Nations Family Night was held Monday evening at the Bannister United Methodist Church. A film on UNICEF was shown and a report made concerning the MYF collection for UNICEF. A dessert luncheon was served. Mrs. Wayne Walters was in charge of the evening.

Many parents from this area attended the open house at the Ovid-Elstie Area Schools Tuesday.

A Halloween party for the children was held Saturday at the Bannister United Methodist Church from 6 until 8 p.m. Afterwards a party was held for the adults. Adults attending were Mr. and Mrs. Ken Swanson, Mrs. Rex Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Peck, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Valentine, Mr. and Mrs. David Green, Rev. and Mrs. Wm. Cox, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Miller. Mrs. Walter Miller and Mrs. David Green were in charge of both parties. Mrs. William Rando and family were Saturday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Valentine and family. The three Rando children spent Sunday with the Valentines. Mrs. Floyd Glowney held a surprise masquerade birthday party Saturday evening in honor of Tim Glowney's 16th birthday.

Service Personnel

Army Specialist Four ROBERT J. DePOND, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. DePond, 142 Front St., Ovid recently received the air medal in Vietnam. Spec. DePond earned the award for meritorious service while participating in aerial flight in support of ground operations in Vietnam.

Spec. DePond has been serving as a crew chief with Company C, 159th Aviation Battalion of the 101st Airborne Division (Airmobile). He entered the army in October 1970, completed basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky., and was last stationed at Ft. Eustis, Va. The 19-year-old soldier is a 1969 graduate of Ovid-Elstie High School.

Army Staff Sergeant MICHAEL O. CAESAR, 22, son of Carl C. Caesar, Route 1, Fowler, is participating with more than 11,000 troops in exercise reforger III in Germany. He is a platoon sergeant with Company C, 1st Battalion, 63rd Armor of the 1st Infantry Division at Ft. Riley, Kan. His wife, Susai, lives in Ogdan, Kan.

The "Big Red One" division consists of three brigades. The 1st and 2nd brigades are based at Ft. Riley and the 3rd brigade is permanently stationed at Augsburg, Germany.

The men of the 1st and 2nd brigades, with support units, flew to Germany to join the 3rd and move to the exercise area extending from Munich to near the Czechoslovakian border. Emphasis in the exercise was placed on testing procedures for receiving, assembling and deploying army units once they arrived, rather than on rapid air transport from the U.S. In the field maneuver phase of the exercise, units of the 1st Infantry division and the Canadian 4th mechanized battle group engaged in simulated combat with the "Aggressor Forces" of the U.S. 1st armored division (regularly stationed in Germany) and the German 35th Panzer Grenadier Brigade. The exercises are designed to fulfill U.S. commitments to NATO and those made in the 1967 trilateral agreement between the U.S., the United Kingdom and the Federal Republic of Germany. (Editor's Note: The movement to the exercise area began Sept. 26. Ft. Riley troops will return by 1st week in Nov.)

Army Sergeant BRUCE D. CRONKHITE, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Cronkhite, 504 W. Baldwin St., St. Johns, recently received the Combat Infantryman Badge in Vietnam. The badge is a unique and cherished award that is highly coveted by its recipients. The award was originated during World War II to recognize the role of the Infantryman. The CIB can be awarded only to a member of an Infantry unit of brigade, regimental or smaller size unit who satisfactorily performed in active ground combat against a hostile force for a period of time.

In honor of its singular meaning, the badge is worn above all other awards and decorations, over the left breast. It is a blue rectangle with a silver rifle mounted on it, superimposed over a curved wreath. Subsequent awards are represented by stars at the top center of the wreath. Sgt. Cronkhite received the award while assigned as an assistant squad leader with Company E, 1st Battalion, 52nd Infantry of the 23rd Infantry Division's 11th Infantry Brigade near Chu Lai.

Army private HAROLD R. HAMPTON, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Hampton, 1308 Sheppardville Road, Ovid, recently completed eight weeks of basic training at the U.S. Army Training Center, Armor, Ft. Knox, Ky. He received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, combat tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and army history and traditions.

Army private first class JOHN M. CHVOJKA, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Chvojka, R-1, Ashley, is participating with more than 11,000 troops in exercise reforger III in Germany. He is a repairman in Company D, 1st Maintenance Battalion of the 1st Infantry Division at Ft. Riley, Kan. The "Big Red One" Division consists of three brigades. The 1st and 2nd brigades are based at Ft. Riley and the 3rd brigade is permanently stationed at Augsburg, Germany.

EXAMINE GIFT

George Bishop, left, media director at Ovid-Elsie High School, takes a look at part of some new audio-visual equipment donated to the school system. Along with Bishop is School Supt. Donald Kenney. The equipment, which includes a closed circuit TV camera, recording equipment and a monitor, was a gift from Michigan School Services of Lansing, represented by Dave Hoffman of Owosso.

TV windfall 'exciting'

By TIM YOUNKMAN
OVID-ELSIE—Smile, You're on candid camera!

Well, pretty close. The Ovid-Elsie High School has a new television camera, recording equipment and a monitor set—all a gift from a Lansing school equipment firm.

George Bishop, high school media director, said that the Michigan School Services representative, Dave Hoffman of Owosso, donated the equipment to the school.

"This equipment will have many educational purposes," Bishop said. "One department that will make use of it is the athletic department to record sports events and to film games. The equipment has stop action which is good for analysis in such sports as track for pole vaulters and high jumpers."

The academic uses the equipment will add are unlimited, according to the media director. "It will be useful especially in speech classes where students can see themselves and can see their problems."

Bishop said the camera equipment could be used in the FFA organization for training in parliamentary procedure, establishing program in leadership and give individuals accurate ideas on speaking.

In the area of music, Bishop said the marching band could use the television to study band formations from a press-box vantage point "so they could see exactly what their audience sees." Bishop pointed out it would be possible to tape all instruments for the elementary and junior high students so they could decide on exactly what instrument they want to play.

"With this equipment, 30 or 40 students could watch experiments or assignments from a microscopic - TV attachment. During an elaborate experiment, four or five classes could view a repeat tape of the experiment, eliminating duplication," Bishop said.

Bishop noted that the high school is wired throughout for closed circuit television, and with a few more monitors, could provide elaborate service to all students, at relatively little expense.

Supt. Donald Kenney also found the new equipment "exciting." I anticipate all sorts of interesting developments with this," he said. "Such as athletic contests and science classes."

Kenney also suggested the equipment could be used for the drama classes where rehearsals could be taped and studied before an actual performance.

"We can remove programs from the regular television and tape them for our own use here, so that everyone could have an opportunity to view assigned programs." The equipment was the most recent in a series of gifts given to the school system in recent years.

Other gifts include the Campbell Memorial Fund, a $10,000 principal in trust for the purchase of library books and materials; the Green Memorial Fund; and the Merle Clark Memorial Fund, which consists mainly of stocks and bonds for general fund expenditures.

Kenney said that anyone interested in donating gifts, which are tax deductible, should contact the superintendent's office.

Sealed Power profits decline

MUSKEGON—Sales and earnings of Sealed Power Corporation for the third quarter ended September 30 declined from last year's record levels, President Gordon E. Reynolds said today. He attributed the decrease to the effects of a strike which extended into the period.

Net earnings for the three months totaled $720,000, or 41 cents per share, on sales of $16,641,000. That compared with the previous year's $1,041,000, or 60 cents per share, on sales of $17,481,000.

For the nine-month period, earnings were $2,271,000, or $1.28 per share, on sales of $53,680,000. That compared with earnings of $2,545,000, or $1.47 per share, on sales of $51,964,000 in the comparable period of 1970.

"Although third quarter results were down, we are gratified that they reflected a considerable improvement over the second quarter," Reynolds said. "We expect the fourth quarter to show an appreciable improvement over the third quarter, although it would be unrealistic to expect year end results to equal last year's excellent performance."

He said the company's profit margins have been affected by the wage and fringe benefits settlement that ended the strike, and that the Presidential Price Freeze precluded the possibility of alleviating the situation through upward price adjustments.

Reynolds added that the sales and earnings of the company's two other groups—General Products and International—were excellent during both the third quarter and for the nine months.

HE ALSO ANNOUNCED that the company has discontinued the manufacture of pistons for original equipment makers, adding that this represented only a very small portion of Sealed Power's total business. The company will, however, continue to serve the replacement market with pistons obtained from an outside supplier.

Sealed Power, headquartered in Muskegon, is a leading manufacturer of piston rings and other precision parts for various industries.

REYNOLDS SAID THE work stoppage at the company's Muskegon plants was not resolved until the end of July and extended to the middle of August at its Rochester, Ind., facility. Additional production was lost during the time it took to return the plants to normal operation. "During the second quarter," Reynolds said, "The strike hurt the Engine Parts Group and adversely affected its sales to original equipment manufacturers, but had little effect on Replacement sales. In the third quarter, however, we were not able to supply the parts necessary to keep replacement channels filled and this depressed our sales to the aftermarket as well as to O.E.M."

Feed grain program opens choices

ST. JOHNS--Between now and the sign-up period for the 1972 farm set-aside programs, January 17-February 25, local producers will be carefully studying all their farm management options, according to Clinton county farm program official.

Details of the Feed Grain Program for 1972 were announced in mid-October by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The 1972 Wheat Program had been announced by USDA in mid-July. Essentially the 1972 set-aside programs expand on the policy of leaving to farmers the determination of what "mix" of crops to plant on their farms. At the same time the programs are designed to increase farm income, help farmers get maximum return on investment, and reduce excess carry-over supplies.

For feed grains, the 1972 program raises the qualifying set-aside to 25 percent of the base acreage and offers farmers two new options for additional voluntary set-aside. It also raises the feed grain set-aside payment. Included in the 1972 Feed Grain Program are corn, grain sorghum and barley.

A WIDER CHOICE in making their 1972 plans is offered to farmers with feed grain bases or wheat allotments since they may sign up for program participation and plant soybeans, corn, grain sorghum, barley or wheat -- singly or in any combination -- to protect their farm base or allotment history.

As in 1971, set-aside programs put no limits on crop acreages after the participating farmer designates his set-aside and acreage equal to the conserving base on the farm. On feed grain grown on participating farms, loans will be available on all production, with National average loan levels of $1.08 per bushel for No. 2 corn, and 86 cents per bushel for barley. The loan level for soybeans will continue at $2.25 per bushel for oats at 54 cents per bushel and for rye at 89 cents per bushel. All soybean, oats and rye production is eligible for loan without being tied to farm program participation.

Details of the feed grain set-aside program for 1972 are as follows:

FOR CORN --FARMERS who sign up will set-aside a qualifying acreage equal to 25 percent of their farm's corn base, for which they will earn payments of 40 cents a bushel on the established farm yield times 50 percent of the corn base. At sign-up, a farmer may also, if he chooses, agree to set-aside up to 10 percent more of his corn base, for which he will receive payment of 52 cents a bushel times the established farm yield on this additional acreage.

To assure that sufficient land is taken out of production, Secretary Clifford M. Hardin is asking farmers, also at sign-up, to offer to set aside an additional 5 or 10 percent of their corn base at the 52-cent-a-bushel rate. If the regular set-aside is less than 38 million acres the Secretary of Agriculture will announce by mid-March whether one or both of these offers will be accepted.

For barley--farmers who sign up will set aside a qualifying acreage equal to 25 percent of their farm barley base, for which they will earn payments of 32 cents a bushel on the established farm yield times 50 percent of the barley base. At sign-up a farmer may agree, if he chooses to set-aside up to 20 percent more of his barley base, for which he will receive payment of 42 cents a bushel times the established farm yield on this additional acreage.

FARMERS HAVE MANY choices to make in the 1972 set-aside programs, emphasized Laurence J. Hart, Chairman of the Clinton County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

First of all, he said, is the choice by farmers who have feed grain bases or wheat allotments on whether to participate in one or more of these voluntary programs. If a producer has a farm with feed grain bases and wheat allotments, he could participate in none, some, or all of the programs as he chooses, without penalty for non-participation.

For corn and grain sorghum farmers who decide to participate, another choice will be whether to sign up for voluntary set-aside up to 10 percent of their bases, and also whether to offer to set-aside 5 or 10 percent more at the option of the Secretary of Agriculture. Barley producers who decide to participate will be choosing whether to offer voluntary set-aside up to 20 percent of their farm base in addition to their qualifying 25 percent set-aside for participation.

OTHER CHOICES TO be made in relationship to program participation include decisions on: what crops to plant in view of potential farm yields and markets; what financing will be sought; whether to put in new farm storage facilities, buy new machinery, lease or buy more cropland; how to manage storage and marketing of previous-year crops; whether to plan for more intensive input per acre, in terms of fertilizers, herbicides, pesticides, land preparation, and crop cultivation.

"The set-aside farm programs are designed to give farmers as much latitude as possible, consistent with the aim of improving farm income. It means producers make their own farm management decisions. The government doesn't decide for them."

He added, "It also means for 1972 that a lot of decisions must be made this winter, since sign-up for the 1972 Feed Grain and Wheat Programs is set for January 17th through February 25th. Because of the options which the Secretary of Agriculture must decide on by mid-March, that sign-up period will not be extended, and farmers who may want to participate should under-score it on their calendars right now.

"As soon as official detailed program information is received in the county ASCS office, we will get it out to farmers via mail, meetings, and all news channels. Phone calls, visits and letters of inquiry from farmers will be welcome."

REAP-72

EAST LANSING--The Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP) is programmed for dynamic action in 1972 according to Nick Smith, chairman, Michigan State ASC Committee. Conservation and protection of the land, air and water have never been more important, Smith said. Smith stated that the emphasis of the 1972 program will be on practices that provide significant pollution abatement and enduring conservation benefits. Some of these practices include animal waste management practices that prevent or correct water, air or soil pollution problems, building holding ponds, diversion terrace detentions or other structures to control sediment or chemical runoff, and establishing permanent stands of grass or legume cover to hold soil in place and prevent runoff. A lower priority will be placed on short-term or temporary practices.

County Development Groups will be meeting soon to develop the county programs. The soil and water conservation needs inventory will be taken into consideration when the practices are approved. REAP practices will be oriented to meet the specific conservation and pollution control problems of the county.

Feed grain program details announced

EAST LANSING--Details of the 1972 Feed Grain Program have been released by the Secretary of Agriculture, Clifford M. Hardin. This announcement was made by Nick Smith, chairman of the Michigan State ASC Committee.

The 1972 program raises the feed grain set-aside requirement to 25 percent of the farm's feed grain base. This compares to the 20 percent requirement effective in 1971. The basic set-aside payment rate has been increased to 40 cents per bushel as compared to 32 cents this year. Barley, which was not considered a feed grain in 1971, will be included in the farm feed grain base for 1972.

The set-aside payment for barley will be 32 cents per bushel. These basic rates will be applied to established farm yields and determined on 50 percent of the feed grain base. The new program continues the corn loan level at a National average of $1.08 per bushel on No. 2 corn and 86 cents per bushel for barley.

Another important change in the 1972 program Smith noted, is that a participating farmer can agree to set-aside an additional acreage up to 10 percent of his corn or grain sorghum base and up to 20 percent of his barley base. This additional voluntary acreage set-aside will be accepted at sign-up time.

THE ADDITIONAL ACREAGE set-aside from the corn base will qualify for a payment of 52 cents per bushel times the established farm yield on the additional acreage. For grain sorghum the rate will be 49 cents per bushel and 42 cents for barley. This will also be figured on the farm yield times the additional set-aside.

The farmer will also be offered another option to designate another 5 per cent or 10 per cent of his corn or grain sorghum base. The Secretary of Agriculture will announce by mid-March whether this acreage will be accepted. This will give him greater flexibility in reducing acreage to make the program more effective. The set-aside rates for this acreage, if accepted, will be the same as for those producers who may have exercised the option to set-aside additional acreage up to 10 percent of the corn base. It should be noted that this final option to set-aside additional acreage does not apply to barley. In announcing details of the 1972 program, the Secretary stated that it is designed to achieve a feed grain set-aside of at least 38 million acres as compared to the 18.2 million acres set-aside this year. He emphasizes that the 1972 program offers greater flexibility than the 1971 program both to the farmer and to the Department of Agriculture. The farmer is allowed to plant whatever crop he wishes on that part of his farm not designated as set-aside or maintained in conserving base crops. In releasing this information it should be noted that the sign-up period will begin on Jan. 17, 1972, and continue through Feb. 25. It is important that these dates be noted as they have been changed from those announced when the information on the 1972 Wheat Program was released late in July.

INK WHITE - President

JOHN RUMBAUGH - Executive Vice President

BRANDON C. WHITE, JR.
Administrative Vice President

The new quarters for the executive officers of Clinton National Bank are now located on the second floor providing much needed privacy for customers who wish to discuss their affairs. The growing demand for space in our main lobby was another consideration that prompted moving the offices, but for those who prefer, an office near our front door remains and an officer will always be present to assist in any way.

GAYLE DESPREZ - Vice President and Cashier

a busy place . . .

One of the busiest spots at Clinton National is our auto bank. The new, modern building, equipped with pneumatic tubes for efficient customer service, replaces a smaller structure and is more appropriately placed to minimize on-street traffic tie-ups. This worm's eye view suggests also that we didn't forget the importance of landscaping as we went about our planning—what else but pleasant surroundings for one of our busiest places.

CNB&T Auto-Bank

makes it all so easy.*

We're quite proud of our newly remodeled St. Johns office but the area surrounding our auto-bank is something special. Here we have provided for fast, efficient drive-up service along with parking space for 68 autos. Modern mercury vapor lamps provide after-dark lighting and the Mediterranean theme of our new parking lot entry to the bank offers an inviting atmosphere. The middle photo on this page shows the parking area and auto bank, viewed from the steps of our parking lot entrance. Lower photo at left is a reversal of the scene, showing the steps and entryway as seen from the parking area.

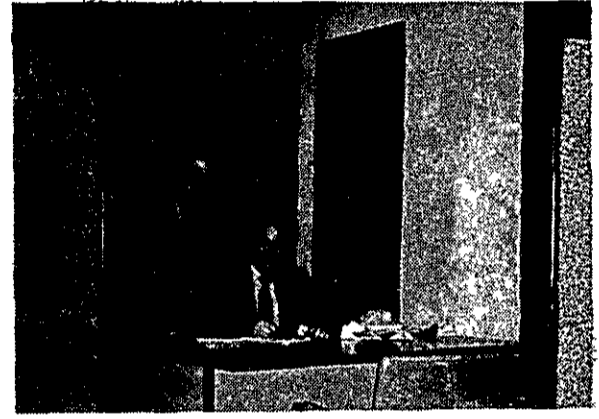

when it comes to loans . . .

. . . our new loan department
makes it all so easy

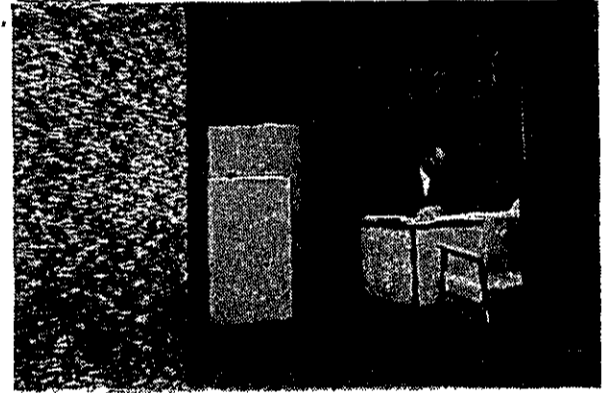

Loaning money is one of our primary functions, but we don't become so wrapped up with our business that we forget the desires of our customers. And when it comes to borrowing most customers prefer privacy. It was with this in mind that our loan department was moved from the main lobby to a more private area where loan officers and customers could conduct their business in less distracting quarters. We've taken a bit of teasing about our carpeted panels which serve as dividers between desks, but their sound absorbing qualities have already been proven and their mobility allows rearrangement for even greater privacy. The pictures on this page present some idea of the design and decor of the loan department. At top right vice president Paul Schueller is seated at his desk examining loan applications. As senior loan officer, Paul oversees all functions of the loan department. In the next photo vice president Les Jenkins and assistant cashier Jim Cathey discuss a loan transaction while, in the third picture, Bob Bogdan enjoys semi-privacy provided by the movable dividers. Bogdan is in charge of real estate loans. Charles Halfman, commercial loan officer is shown in next photo. The two girls in the fourth photo complete this brief resume of our loan department. They are loan tellers Virginia Shawnee and Susan Reed and in some respects they're like secretaries to the loan officers. They, along with a third teller, Irene Speck, accept loan payments, complete paper detail on loans and, in general, see to it that the routines are followed. When it comes to loans we think CNB&T has the perfect combination, people who know their work and are ready to assist and a loan department which is bright, comfortable and - most important - private.

tellers are busy people . . .

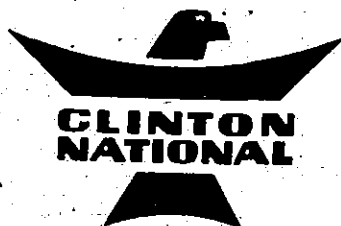

Waiting in line is not a favorite pastime and the growing demands on our tellers' time served as the foundation for the remodeling of our main lobby. In fact it was an important consideration that led to enlarging or redesigning all of our teller stations. The photo at upper left shows the inside view of our walk-up teller window on Walker St. as Gladys Baker prepares to open for the day's business. The photo immediately left is a view drivers would have little chance to see. It's taken from the inside of our auto bank where Carolyn Coffman and Kay Atkinson provide teller service from greatly enlarged and modernized quarters.

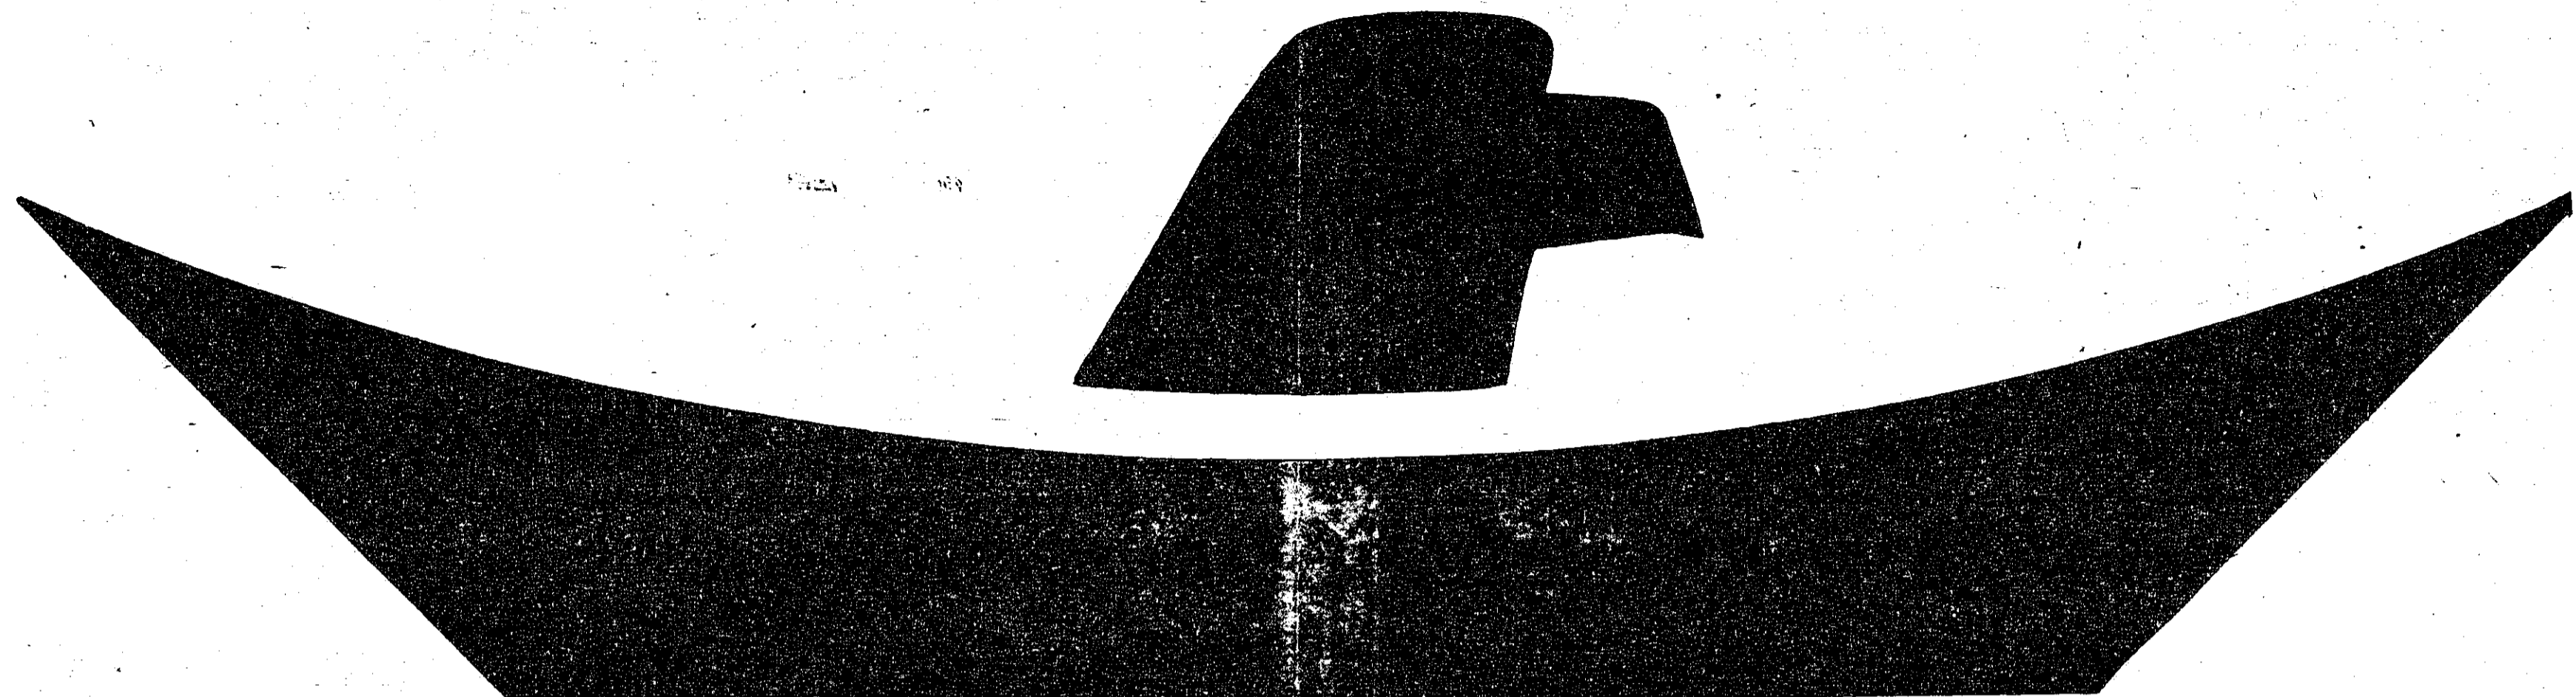

Perhaps the most familiar area of CNB&T is the teller line in our main office which, because of its area, presents the most dramatic effect of our new look. Accented by hues of gold, black and green in a variety of modern materials, the appearance of our main lobby has taken on a new and relaxed atmosphere.

. . . and so are the gals who open new accounts

Aside from the tellers, others you might meet when you visit our lobby are Betty Hansen (lower photo) or Dawn Frost and Betty Allen, assistant cashier and main office manager. The three ladies, among other duties, assist in the opening of new accounts and also serve as receptionists, making certain that bank visitors are directed to the appropriate office or area in the building.

some facts about the growing eagle

- Completion of the remodeling program marks the second time in approximately ten years that improvements totaling $100,000.00 have been made to better serve customers and the community.
- The current program was undertaken in July, 1969 when a feasibility study ultimately brought about a board of directors decision to remodel. The study showed the present building to be structurally sound, but lacking in adequate modern facilities such as air conditioning and efficient heating system.
- Usable space in the bank was increased from 16,000 sq. ft. to 19,000 sq. ft. and the improved facilities are estimated to be sufficient until 1977.
- The growth pattern in the past ten years is clearly reflected in the bank's operation. During the 1961-62 remodeling program 45 employees operated a bank with $13,000,000.00 in deposits. Today over 100 employees provide county wide banking service on the strength of $46,000,000.00 in deposits.
- The recent remodeling was completed by local contractors and suppliers, consequently most of the money spent was distributed in the Clinton County area, supporting local payrolls and taxes in the communities we serve.

a few comments . . .

The roots of Clinton National Bank begin nearly 106 years ago—in 1865—under the name of First National Bank and from then to the present nearly a dozen financial enterprises have merged resulting in today's $46,000,000.00 firm. Among the mergers are included banks in Fowler, Elsie and more recently, Laingsburg. In addition to this pattern of growth, CNB&T has established an office in the Valley Farms area of north Lansing and is among only a handful of banks in the entire country to operate a mobile service unit. The CNB&T vehicle provides banking service through regular visits to the communities of Bath, Eureka, Hubbardston, Maple Rapids and Wacousta.

The names of the present board of directors, as well as the names of those in the past, read much like an historical resume of Clinton County, securing the growth of the bank with that of the area and this pattern is not without mutual benefit, for as the bank grew it could better serve the financial needs of the county, its people and its governments.

That spirit of community support is not lost in the interest of development. A list of area suppliers or contractors who worked on our recent remodeling shows clearly that CNB&T values the benefits derived from patronizing area businesses. We're most pleased with the results of the efforts of the following firms: Rademacher Construction Co., Schmitt Electric, Bob Smit Painting Co., E. F. Boron, James Glass, Oliver Gillespie, Central Advertising, Karber Block Co., General Telephone Co., Steadman Surveyors, St. Johns Furniture, Selleck Office Supplies and Spartan Asphalt Co.

some things you might see . . .

lobby lounge area

Our main lobby lounge area has already served a number of purposes, not the least of which is a convenient spot for displays. It's comfortable seating units and pleasant furnishings sometimes give way to such things as snowmobiles or 4-H projects, but we're pleased to contribute space to these community activities.

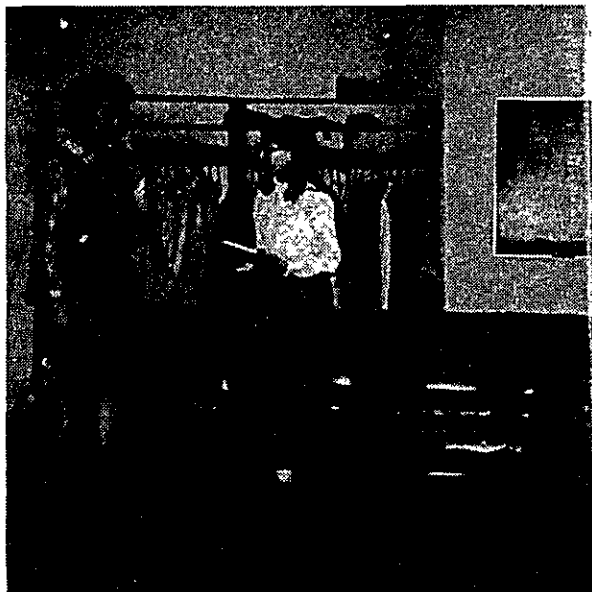

safe deposit area

The safe-deposit area is conveniently located between our Walker St. entrance and the new parking lot entrance. In addition the area serves as a focal point for the bank's operation as phone operator Julie Slim is located here. In the background Jeanette Argersinger and Helen Fowler are shown at the safe-deposit time desk.

third floor lounge

Among the new additions since remodeling is this third floor lounge area where customers may relax while waiting to visit with someone in our bookkeeping department. Using the area for a brief chat are Leora Bunce and Mary Kiger, both Clinton National employees.

and some things you might not see . . .

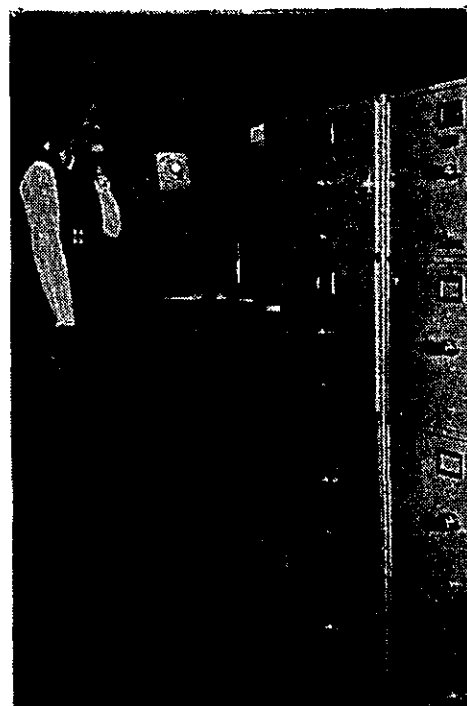

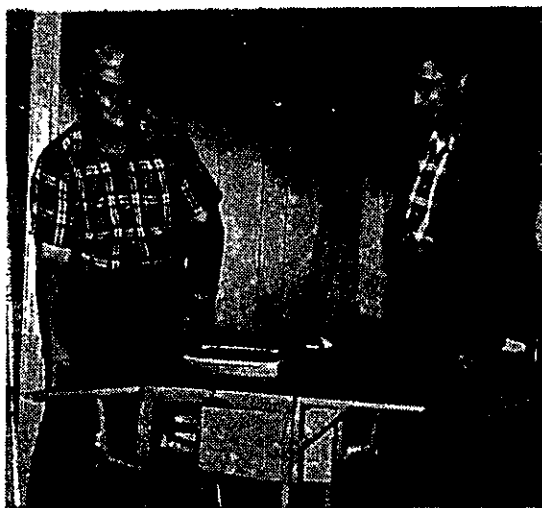

employee's lounge

This room doubles as an employees lounge and employee meeting room. The lounge is equipped with cooking units and a refrigerator as well as vending machines and as might be guessed is in constant use.

the real workers

Behind the scenes there are always those whose task it is to get the job done and Gaylord Desprez and Ray Geller comprise the CNB&T "get-it-done" team. The two are responsible for building maintenance.

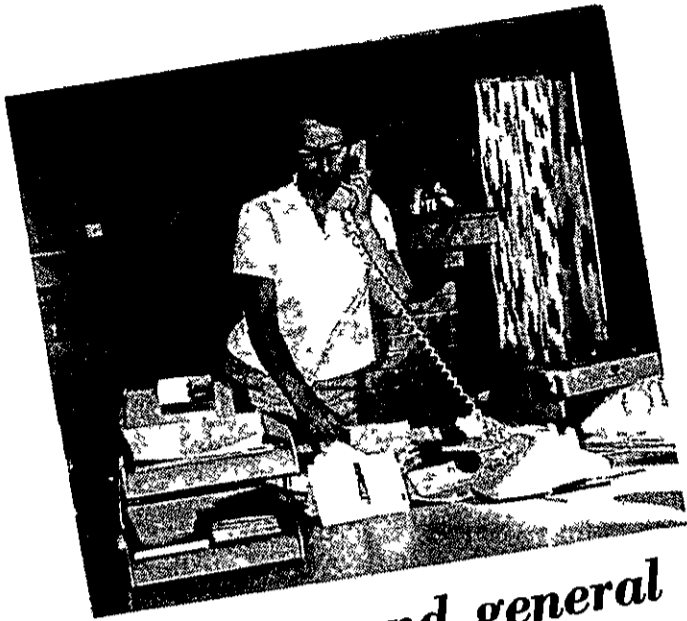

a secret place

Well, it's not really secret, but it is out of the way. Connie Lundy is shown using the telephone beside the cabinet which houses a sending-receiving station for the pneumatic tube system connecting our auto-bank with the main office, eliminating the safety hazard of tellers walking through the auto-bank traffic to transfer materials.

on the second floor . . .

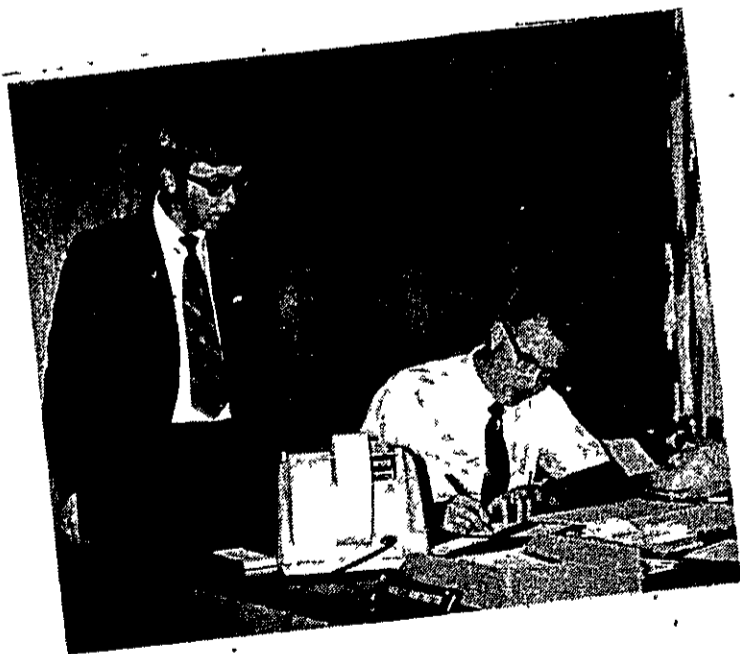

trust and general accounting

Jean Loomis handles the trust accounting department at CNB&T and sharing office space with Jean Is Gerry Workman who is in charge of general accounting. Their office is conveniently located adjacent to the auditor's.

credit and adjustment

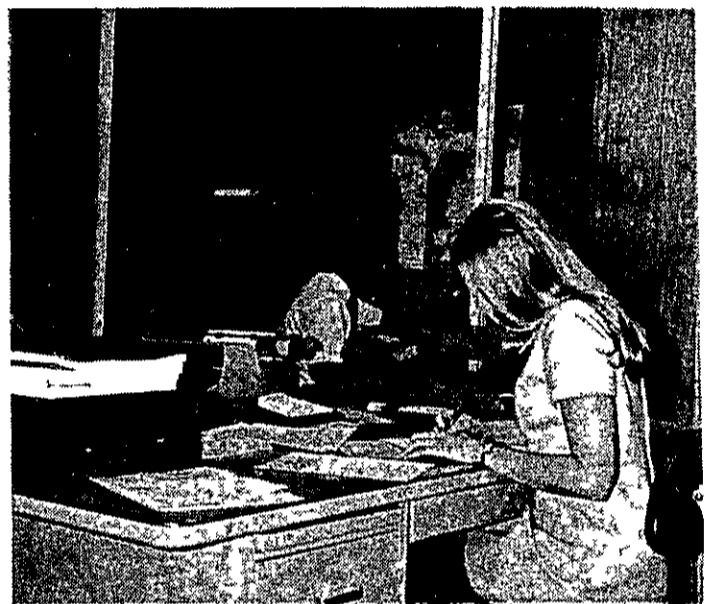

The credit, adjustment and loan accounting departments are located over the building formerly occupied by Consumers Power Co. Here Tom Ebert and Connie Frost (not necessarily camera shy, just busy) handle adjustment matters and clear loan credit applications.

auditing

Assistant auditor Tom Nemeik and auditor Charles Huntington work closely and share office space on the second floor. The auditing department, while not frequently visited by customers, comes in for a fair amount of traffic and is situated conveniently near the elevator.

Aside from the executive offices, board room and employees lounge, a number of other bank functions are located on the second floor. The auditing department under vice president Charles Huntington is among these as are other activities which include credit, adjustment, trust accounting and general accounting. This page presents some photos taken in these various areas.

library

Another new addition to CNB&T is this library where bank personnel may research banking information. The library contains a growing number of banking profession volumes as well as periodicals, regulations and study course texts. Ron Huard examines a new publication that has been placed in the library.

on the third floor . . .

By previous standards our third floor is almost empty but that appearance comes from the sharp contrast of present spaciousness compared with the former crowded conditions. Yet a number of bank functions continue to be performed on the third floor as suggested by pictures on this page. Even then these photos depict only the general activities as many other behind-the-scenes operations are completed on this floor.

bookkeeping

Perhaps the operation on this floor which is most frequently visited by CNB&T customers is the bookkeeping department where checking accounts are maintained. Betty Rademacher, supervisor of the department completes one of her daily functions while other employees in the background sort checks for eventual distribution and filing.

proof dept.

Most everyone knows that banking and the term "balance" are almost synonymous and the proof department helps determine that all is in balance at day's end. Three proof machines - two electronic, one mechanical - serve daily transactions of all offices of CNB&T and catch those which may cause difficulties.

mail - imprint

Ella Diltz stands before the mailing equipment maintained in the mail and imprinting room on the third floor. It is in this department where appropriate imprinting is completed to insure proper mailing of account records and communications.

This special section is only a glance into the many changes our remodeling has brought about. We know you'll be interested and surprised at what awaits your visit during our open house. Now that you've scanned these pages won't you stop in sometime Friday and view our bank firsthand. We'll be looking forward to seeing you.
