

File petitions for referendum

Petitions bearing 360 signatures asking for a referendum on the recently-passed city income tax ordinance were filed Tuesday afternoon with City Clerk Don Clark.

Presenting the petitions were Mrs. Albert Nelson, Mrs. M. Smith, Mrs. Glendon Fitzpatrick, Picture on Page 2-A

John Hannah and Paul Maples. The petitions will now be checked by the clerk for validity and then presented to the city commission if there is a sufficient number. The 360 signatures is the maximum that can be presented, but Maples said a total of 991 signatures were available to be filed if necessary.

The minimum number of signatures needed to file a referendum is 180—10 per cent of the total vote at the last city election.

Once the petitions are certified, the city commission would set a date for a referendum election. The income tax ordinance would then be set aside until the outcome of the election is known.

Area blood donors reflect good will and thanksgiving

Four St. Johns people took a closer look last week at the reasons why they donate blood for other people. They each had individual reasons, but underlying them all were ones of thanksgiving and good will toward their fellow men—reasons certainly in keeping with the season.

They'll all be at the next bloodmobile in St. Johns Dec. 7. Ironically, that's about equidistant between Thanksgiving and Christmas and also on the anniversary of the day 26 years ago when so much blood was needed to save lives at Pearl Harbor.

The Clinton County News last week talked to four St. Johns people—Mrs. Marvin Barclay, Mrs. Edna Flegler, Bill Asher and Jack Downing—about their record of blood donations.

THEY ALL HAD slightly varying individual reasons for donating blood, but they were all along the same general lines.

"I feel it is one way I can help my community and in a small way pay back some of the advantages I have of living here," Mrs. Barclay commented.

"You see and read so much about how blood has to be used," Mrs. Flegler said, "that I feel my contribution is minor. I have a family very near and dear to me, and I'd hate to think that if the time came when they would need blood there wouldn't be any available."

"It doesn't cost me a thing," Bill Asher pointed out, "and for anything as valuable as this is you can't give anything that's any better and that costs any less, really."

SAID JACK Downing: "I guess the big reason is that I like doing things for people, and it gives me kind of a good feeling

Bloodmobile coming

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in St. Johns again Dec. 7 and will be set up from noon to 6 p.m. in the basement of the First Congregational Church. Eighteen beds will be made available to facilitate more rapid handling of blood donors and thus a shorter wait for them. A record 300 pints of blood is being sought.

to think maybe the few minutes I spend a couple of times a year might be saving a friend's life or anybody's life."

The excellent response of blood donors to bloodmobile visits to St. Johns seems to reflect these general attitudes all over the city. At the last bloodmobile visit July 5 a record 243 pints of blood were accepted here, and 37 other people who volunteered were turned down because of medical reasons.

Another common trait among the four people interviewed last week was that they weren't particularly concerned about how much blood they have given. None of them knew exactly what their donations record was, and not all of them could remember how long they have been giving blood.

Downing thought about that for awhile and then remembered that he was a senior in high school and had to have his parents' consent before he gave his first pint. He's somewhere near the three-gallon mark now, but he's not sure just what the total is.

STEEL GOES UP ON NEW HIGH SCHOOL GYM

Steel work that will help support the roof of the new St. Johns High School gymnasium was lifted into place Monday as workmen fought mud and cool weather to progress on the new school. Workmen in the foreground are preparing for the pouring of concrete side walls in the big swimming pool at the high school. This view looks straight south from the northwestern corner of the high school complex.

$250,000 school bond issue falls by 2-1 margin

St. Johns School District voters Monday lashed by a 2-1 margin a proposed $250,000 bond issue to finish the building program, turning the plan down by a total vote of 560 yes to 1,016 no.

The bond issue would have provided money to complete the furnishing and equipping of the four neighborhood elementary schools, finish outside work there, provide funds for site development at the new high school, and build a bus garage.

"Now we'll just have to go along with what we have," school board members commented after the vote outcome was known.

School officials said they expected they could have enough school desks to go around, but many would be ones that are already outdated and not compatible with present teaching situations.

THERE WILL NOW be no hot lunch program for the rural schools, because kitchen equipment and serving tables were part of the equipment that would have been purchased with the bond issue money. And there will be no library furniture, the board members said.

While the total vote was a nearly 2-1 margin against the bond issue, some of the rural precincts beat the issue down by about 3-1. This surprised the board; they had figured on less resistance in the rural areas because of the direct effect the bond issue outcome would play on the four neighborhood elementary schools.

The Olive Center precinct was the most adamant. Voters there defeated the bond issue by a 138-42 margin—more than 3-1. Ironically, Olive Center was one of only two precincts out of five which voted in favor of the original $5.4 million bond issue in May 1966. It passed there by 11 votes and in the district by only 19 votes.

The margin of defeat was less than 2-1 Monday in the St. Johns and Eureka precincts where the count was 615-394 and 119-68 against, respectively.

THE VOTER turnout showed a sense of apathy, at least in comparison with the original bond issue 18 months ago. Monday a total of 1,584 votes were cast, while in May some 2,751 ballots were cast.

Library expands open time

The Bement Public Library has added 11 hours of opening time to the time it will serve the reading public of the St. Johns community every week.

Librarian Mrs. Hilda Bross announced Saturday that the library will now be open from noon to 8 p.m. every day Monday through Friday to accommodate teachers, students and other people who work during the day and are thus unable to use the library during that time.

Previously the library was open only on Tuesday and Friday evenings. The 8 p.m. closing time is an hour earlier than before on Tuesday and Friday, but the library will now remain open during the dinner hour, something that hadn't been done before.

Saturday hours for the library will remain the same—10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

During December, the Bement Library will sponsor a Christmas story hour for children in the children's library (downstairs) every Saturday morning from 10:30 to 11:30. The library will also be cooperating with the St. Johns Jaycees and the Chamber of Commerce on their "Lunch with Santa" program.

Election at P-W only week away

PEWAMO-WESTPHALIA—There won't be much of a lull in school elections in Clinton County, even though the one in the St. Johns district is over. Pewamo-Westphalia School District voters will go to the polls on Saturday, Dec. 2, to decide on a 10-mill operations request.

Yule tree lighting this Friday

The Christmas shopping season will get its official start Friday night in St. Johns when the Christmas tree at the top of Clinton Avenue is lighted and street decorations are turned on.

The tree lighting ceremony will start at 7 p.m. in front of the courthouse and will feature local choirs and community singing.

Santa Claus won't be present for the tree lighting, but he is scheduled to come to town Friday evening, Dec. 1, at which time he'll pass out candy canes to the children. He'll be back Dec. 2, also, for a "Lunch with Santa" program sponsored by the St. Johns Jaycees at 11:30 a.m. and then for visits with children from 3 to 5 p.m. His Saturday schedule will hold Dec. 9 and 16, too.

St. Johns merchants will begin their nightly store hours, in most cases, on Dec. 8. They'll be open to 9 p.m. each night.

ALSO WITH Christmas in mind, the St. Johns Jaycees announced they will sponsor a home lighting contest again this year, with cash prizes awarded in religious and non-religious categories. The top prize in each category will be $25, with prizes of $15 and $10 going to second- and third-place winners.

Traffic, hunting claim 2 county lives

6-month-old boy Wacousta man killed in crash

A Friday afternoon accident claimed the life of a six-month-old baby from Bath and hiked Clinton County's traffic death toll to 12 for the year—equal to the death mark at this same time last year.

The baby was six-month-old Tommy Sanders Jr., who was a passenger in a car driven by his mother, Mrs. Edith Sanders, 19, of 7750 Howe Road, Bath. The accident occurred at 12:20 p.m. Friday at Clark and Upton roads in Bath Township.

Mrs. Sanders reportedly suffered a broken pelvic bone and was taken to Sparrow Hospital in Lansing where she was admitted to the intensive care unit. She was reported in "fair" condition Tuesday morning.

Dixie Barnes, 21, of 6858 Outer Drive, Bath, was hospitalized for treatment of a broken right leg. She was the driver of the second car involved.

State police, who investigated, said the Barnes car was going east on Clark and the Sanders car south on Upton.

Wacousta man killed in woods

WACOUSTA—Charles D. Meier Jr., 30, of 9090 Herbison Road, Wacousta, was one of five persons shot to death in deer hunting accidents on the opening day of the deer season Saturday.

Mr. Meier was killed by a bullet fired by an unidentified hunter two miles west of St. Helen in Richfield Township of Roscommon County. State police said he was pronounced dead at the scene. Roscommon county authorities ruled the death accidental.

State police said a deer ran across a clearing in front of Meier and several shots were fired by hunters from the other side of the clearing. One of those bullets apparently struck Mr. Meier. He was reportedly wearing a dark blue coat at the time.

PETITION FILED FOR REFERENDUM ON INCOME TAX

Petitions bearing 360 signatures of St. Johns residents were filed with City Clerk Don Clark (left) Tuesday afternoon, asking for a referendum on the city income tax ordinance. Teachers hear program on 'Then, Now'

The Alpha Eta chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society met at the Ovid-Elsie High School Tuesday, Nov. 14, for a chicken dinner and an interesting program on "Extending Our Borders."

Mrs. Ethel Huot of St. Johns introduced Mrs. Elsie Vance of Pewamo, Mrs. Nina Waldron of Fowler, and guest, Miss Ruth Swindt of the Ionia Chapter who spoke on "Then." Miss Swindt, who began teaching in 1910, dealt mainly with the clothing worn by the teacher of that time. Mrs. Vance spoke on mode of transportation and Mrs. Waldron on educational requirements of the teacher. She mentioned that the teacher had to go to the moderator for an order and then the treasurer of the district for her check—and walked. She arrived at school early to build the fire and stayed late to sweep the floor. She coached her seventh and eighth graders to pass the county exams so they could be admitted to high school. Old time pictures and books proved interesting.

"Now" (the teacher from 1933 to 1967) was depicted in a skit written by Mrs. Thelma Rule of Elsie and portrayed by Mrs. Geraldine Hawes of Elsie and Mrs. Catherine Race of Corunna. A salary of $1,400 was very good in 1933 and two years of college gave one a life certificate. For recreation, the teacher ice skated and played "flinch." She taught reading, arithmetic and geography.

Visitor here explains problems

War is tough on 4-H, too, in Viet Nam

By LOWELL G. RINKER, Editor

Trying to build a 4-H program in war-torn Viet Nam could be rather discouraging, but the national leader of that program is far from discouraged. He's been visiting in Clinton County since Nov. 2 and taking a close look at the 4-H programs here in hopes of adapting some of it to his country.

The leader is Vo Quang Tam (Mr. Tam to his host families), a quiet, quick-smiling man who has been head of the Viet Nam 4-T program for two of its 12 years of existence. 4-T is to Viet Nam what 4-H is to the United States.

He has learned a lot of things about the way the American 4-H program operates, but, he points out, "The economic and political situation in my country is different from the United States, so some things are very good here but I cannot adapt them."

"I LEARN MUCH too much, but I can adapt a little according to the situation of my country and according to the level of instruction of the people."

Tam has been learning much. He spent the first week and a half with the Peter Kurncz family on East Colony Road; they are local 4-H leaders and their children are involved in 4-H work. Since last Monday Tam has been staying with Mr. and Mrs. John Aylsworth at 806 E. Cass Street; Aylsworth is the Clinton County 4-H youth agent.

Tam has been accompanying Aylsworth on his visits to various clubs and has been talking before numerous organizations outside and inside the 4-H program. He sat in Monday night on a 4-H Council meeting at Aylsworth's home. His waking days have been full of activities that gave him an insight into the 4-H program and American life in general. "I think that it is not that I come here to learn the 4-T but to learn the people," Tam commented last week, "to make relationships, to the friendship between people of different countries to better understand each other."

TAM SEEMS TO HAVE been doing that. In addition to picking up considerable information about the American 4-H program, he's been enlightening Clinton County folks on Viet Nam and its young 4-T program.

The 4-T program, he explained, was started in 1955. He took over responsibility for the program two years ago and now directs a staff of people in each of the 44 provinces of the Republic of South Viet Nam.

The war has played havoc with the 4-T efforts. The 44 provinces Tam has charge of cover all of South Viet Nam, but his staff is unable to get into areas that are now battlefields and areas occupied by the Viet Cong. And so, actual numbers of youngsters under the 4-T program have fallen off from about 60,000 in 1964 to about 25,000 now.

From the inception of the 4-T program in 1955 until about 1960, the 4-T staffers were able to go anywhere in the country day or night. Since 1960 it has been different. Soldiers guard the roads and make it halfway safe for the 4-T people to travel during the day, but at night the danger from the VC increases to the point of stopping 4-T work.

ONLY 15 OF THE 44 provinces of South Viet Nam are now accessible by car, from Saigon, Tam reports, because of the need to travel to the countryside only during the day and return by nightfall. The other provinces now have to be serviced by airplane, with the staffers flying to the provincial capital and then working out into the countryside from there every day. But, despite its numerical problems, the 4-T program in Viet Nam continues to branch out. Last year the program began organizing in the primary schools of the country. Members now range in age from 12 to 20. There are from 15 to 30 members in each of the local clubs, and each club has one and sometimes two adult leaders.

Vo Quang Tam (seated center), the national leader of Viet Nam's 4-T program, and his host families for his Clinton County stay got together Monday afternoon at the Peter Kurncz farm northeast of St. Johns. At left are Mr. and Mrs. John Aylsworth, and their children, Kevin, 9 months old, Susie, 8, and Kristine, 6. To the right of Tam are the members of the Peter Kurncz family — Michelle, 3, Pete, 9, Anne, 14, Mrs. Kurncz, and Gloria, 13.

The 4-H teen leader program is unknown in Viet Nam, but Tam said he plans to start one when he returns to his country about Dec. 23.

The range of 4-T projects is somewhat more limited in Viet Nam than it is in the United States. "In Viet Nam we do not have a machine agriculture," Tam explained, and pointing out that such things as electricity and refrigeration are extremely rare for most of the people. There are some refrigerators in Saigon, but for fresh food the residents of the cities and hamlets must go to market every day. Fortunately, Viet Nam has a climate that can provide much of their fresh food year-around.

AND SO THE SCOPE of the 4-T program is year-around, too. Vegetables are a major 4-T project for individual members.

In the Mekong Delta and southern part of South Viet Nam, rice is the principal crop, being grown during the monsoon season—April to October. The land there is flat and wet. Sometimes two crops of rice are harvested, and as a secondary crop, vegetables are grown after the rice harvest is complete. Temperatures hover around 85 degrees.

Farther north in the central part of the country there are lowlands along the coast and sandy, poor soils farther inland. Despite this fact, two and sometimes three crops of rice can be grown because of the high temperatures and the fact that plenty of water for irrigation comes from the highlands to the west.

In the highlands, the Vietnamese grow all the vegetables that Americans grow. Temperatures are still warm but sometimes get down to 45 degrees. In general, the mile-high climate of the highlands is similar to the United States.

"SOME 4-T MEMBERS grow rice, some rice and vegetables and some rice and rabbits," Tam said. "All is with the support of the parents and guidance of their leader."

There are no strict requirements for 4-T members as to what projects they must take. "But members should have at least one project," Tam emphasized. For boys and girls there are projects available in livestock, agriculture and handicraft; girls alone have sewing and cooking projects available.

"In my country the 4-T program is only 10 years old," Tam pointed out, "so in Viet Nam it is a younger program. So the younger should learn more from the advanced. . . (commenting on his visit in the United States since September).

"I PLAN TO IMPROVE the 4-T program. As you know, before

I worked as a specialist in rice and vegetables for the Extension Service. I was half-time specialist for 4-T, but I did not know about 4-T program. Since I have taken charge of 4-T program I should learn more myself by book, by asking. . .

"So I want to learn more new experiences to improve the 4-T program in Viet Nam. I want to learn many things."

But Tam then cautioned that everything he learned here would not be practical in application in Viet Nam. "I can adapt a little according to the situation of my country and according to the level of instruction of the people. If I teach them something too high for them to reach, well. . .

"The idea of the Extension Service is to follow the level of the people and to develop them."

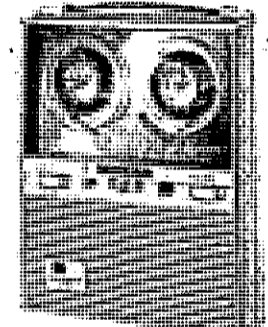

A month from now Tam will be flying home to try out some of his new ideas. He wraps up his stay in Clinton County on Thanksgiving day with the Kurncz family and on Friday will travel to Chicago for the big National 4-H Show. Then will come a series of meetings and seminars leading up to final departure Dec. 22.

DeWitt Planning Commission named

VALLEY FARMS—A DeWitt Township planning commission made up of nine members was appointed last week by the DeWitt Township Board.

Those named included: Robert Zeeb of 2840 E. Stoll Road, Lansing, Forest Wicks of 1378 E. Stoll Road, Bath, and Jack Kzeski of 740 Bolchot Road, three year terms; Roman Kowatch of 13847 LuRoma Circle, DeWitt, Roger Pline of 13590 Tucker Drive, DeWitt, and Joe Donahue of 645 Northrest, Lansing, two year terms; Milton King of 619 Smith Street, Lansing, Robert Moots of DeWitt Road, Lansing, and Joe J. McKenna of 602 E. Wieland Road, Lansing, one-year terms.

The planning commission will meet at least four times each year. Additional meetings may be called by the chairman or by two members upon written request to the secretary. The secretary will then send out written notices to all members at least one week in advance. All meetings will be open to the public.

EACH MEMBER of the planning commission will receive as compensation for his services $5 per meeting attended.

A proposal to change zoning in Bolchot Acres Subdivision No. 3 from residential A to residential B to allow duplex housing received a tie vote of the board so the matter was referred to the county zoning commission for final action.

Capital City Airport Manager Russel Brown asked the township board for police protection at the airport. The airport would pay for the police service on a contract basis, Brown said.

The proposed township pension plan was discussed, and the board decided to wait until the December meeting before taking any action. This plan would cost the township 5 per cent of salaries in effect and would cost each employee 5 per cent.

Ordinance No. 9 of DeWitt Township, regulating platting and subdividing, came in for considerable discussion, especially percolation tests. It was agreed that a need for amending is necessary. The matter is to be studied further.

Downtown collision results in ticket

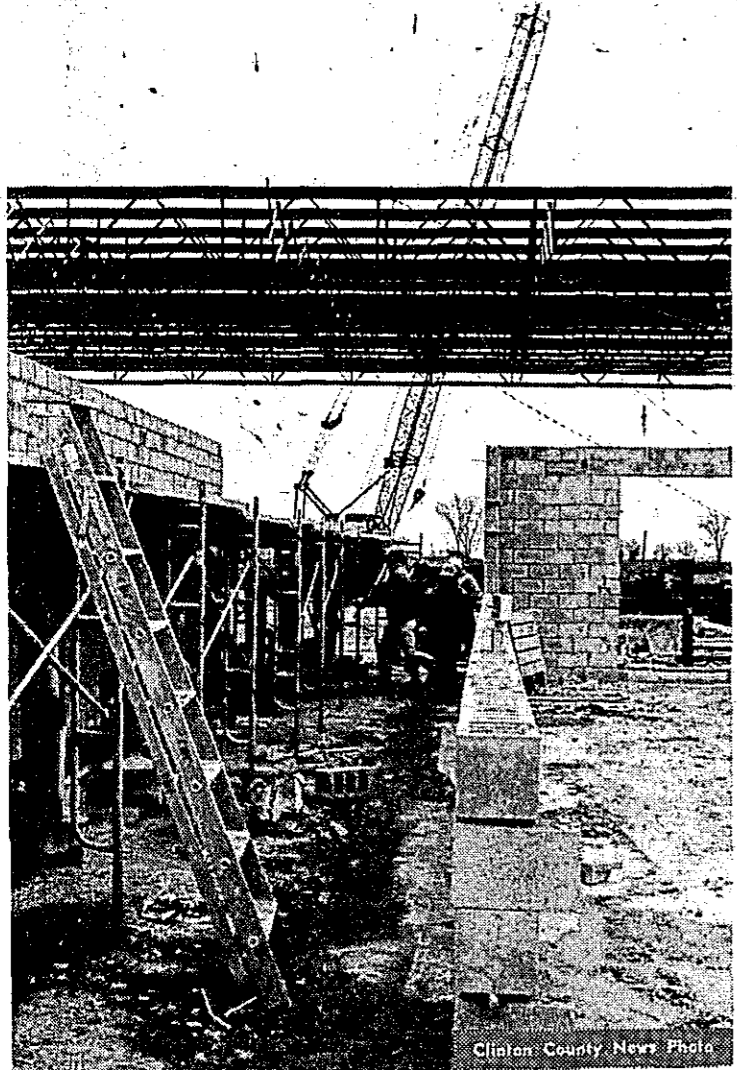

Two cars collided on Clinton Avenue in downtown St. Johns late Monday afternoon, and one of the drivers was ticketed. She was Anna Mae Clewley of 2161 W. State Road, Lansing, whose car reportedly ran into the rear of the other after the other car had backed out of a parking place and then started forward. Mrs. Clewley was ticketed for failure to have her vehicle under control. The other car was driven by Charles Berkhausen Sr., 79, of R-5, St. Johns.

ON THE JOB AT NEW HIGH SCHOOL

Workmen move scaffolding in what will be a hallway of the new St. Johns High School on Sickles Street. Steel for the roof of the gymnasium is being set in place in the background. This hallway will run east and west between the gym and the main academic cluster of classrooms. At the right will be a home ec classroom.

City collision injures woman

Mrs. Larry (Martha) Brown, 25, of Green Road, R-5, St. Johns, was hospitalized several days at Clinton Memorial Hospital last week as a result of a two-car accident at Swegles and Cass streets in St. Johns.

Mrs. Brown was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Larry Brown, 28. Brown's car, traveling north on Swegles, was struck in the right side by an auto driven by Joseph S. Korienek Jr., 49, of State Street, Bannister. Korienek complained of pains as a result of the crash.

Brown told city police he failed to notice the yield right-of-way sign governing traffic on Swegles or to see the approaching Korienek car, and he drove out into the intersection in front of the other auto.

The accident occurred about 6:10 p.m. last Wednesday.

In a minor accident downtown last Thursday afternoon, a car driven by Lewis W. Wolf, 74, of 402 E. State Street, struck the left rear of another car driven by Jack J. Pereiman, 25, of Cleveland, Ohio. It happened on Clinton Avenue

REV KEITH BOVEE

Methodist pastor resigns

A new pastor for the First Methodist Church of St. Johns will probably be named after the first of the year, the result of a sudden resignation last week by Rev. Keith Bovee, minister of the church here since June 1965.

Rev. Mr. Bovee indicated he would be leaving the ministry, at least for the time being. He reportedly made his decision the evening of Nov. 12 and immediately made arrangements to move to Muskegon. His immediate plans were not known.

Until at least the first of the year, the Methodist Church will be "without a pastor, but guest speakers have been arranged for every Sunday between now and Christmas. This Sunday's speaker will be Dr. John Marvin of Adrian, editor of the Christian Advocate.

Several prospective ministers for the church here are being considered, the church office reports.

Rev. Mr. Bovee and his family moved from St. Johns Tuesday.

HE HAD BEEN minister of the Methodist Church here since June 21, 1965, after coming here from a two-year ministry at Lowell. Prior to that he was associate pastor at Muskegon Central Methodist Church.

He started preaching at Fairfield, four miles south of Adrian, while he was a freshman at Adrian College. He was there two years and then preached at Frontier, 11 miles south of Hillsdale, for another two years. From Frontier, he moved to Centerville, south of Kalamazoo and was there three years before moving to Muskegon.

Rev. and Mrs. Bovee have two daughters, Sandra and Sally.

Ashley to vote on street project

ASHLEY—Ashley residents will vote Dec. 11 on a special general obligation bond issue for $33,000 to help finance street improvements in the village.

The aim of the project is to hard-surface all the streets in the village that aren't that way now. The total cost is estimated about $48,000, with the extra $15,000 being raised by sale of revenue bonds. The village would pledge weight and gas tax money for repayment of principal and interest.

If voters approve the project, it would begin next summer. Hunter, Whittier and Solberg of Midland are consulting engineers for the project; Julius A. Hanslovsky is the financial consultant.

Lions Club hears Carnegie philosophy

Phil Kline of Helderman Associates in Lansing, the firm presenting the Dale Carnegie Course in St. Johns soon, was scheduled to speak to the St. Johns Lions Club Wednesday evening at their bi-weekly meeting.

Kline's topic was "Standing Tall," with the subject matter pertaining to the better use of a person's potential. A normal person used only 10 per cent of his latent ability, Kline reported, meaning there is much more that can be accomplished by an individual.

8 auto crashes keep sheriff's officers hopping

Clinton County sheriff's officers investigated eight automobile accidents during the last week. Several resulted in injuries.

Marion M. Case, 48, of R-5, St. Johns, was taken to Clinton Memorial Hospital for treatment after her car overturned in a ditch when she pulled off to let an oncoming truck cross a one-lane bridge ahead of him. The accident occurred Saturday on Taft Road a quarter-mile east of Williams Road.

Mrs Geraldine Stone of R-1, Elsie, remained at the hospital, in "good" condition, Tuesday morning with cuts and bruises received in a two-car collision on French Road just east of US-27 Sunday afternoon.

HER CAR collided with one driven by Bruce Bishop, 16, of 703 N. Lansing Street, St. Johns. Edward Bishop, 14, a passenger in the car, suffered cuts and bruises.

Apparently the right rear tire of Bishop's car blew out as he was driving east on French. Mrs Stone said she saw the Bishop car fishtail and she pulled to the right, but the two autos collided head-on.

Arthur J. Cornell, 50, of 706 E. Higham, St. Johns—the driver—and Albert Schultz of R-4, St. Johns—a passenger—complained of pains as the result of a two-car collision on DeWitt Road south of M-21 Saturday afternoon.

Cornell's car hit the rear of one driven by Barbara V. Kowalk, 16, of R-4, West Clark Road, Lansing. Both cars were going south on DeWitt.

Other accidents didn't involve injuries.

JOHN C. HALL, 68, of 6443 N. Hollister Road, R-2, Elsie, was driving a car which hit the rear of a farm wagon on Hollister Road near the Ovid-Elsie High School last Tuesday morning. The tractor, owned by the schools, was driven by Duane R. Whitmeyer, 18, of 3892 Leiland Road, Laingsburg; the two wagons were owned by Robert Harden.

Hall said he could not pass the tractor, which had slowed to turn into a driveway, because of on-coming traffic.

Theodore M. Decker, 24, of 1555 Taft Road got his deer the expensive way. His car struck it about 11:10 p.m. last Wednesday on Taft Road near DeWitt Road.

A car driven by Audrey J. Schneider, 20, of 7803 Juddville Road, Elsie, reportedly skidded on ice just before striking another car in Ovid last Thursday morning. The other car, stopped on Main Street at M-21, was driven by Douglas H. Behrens, 19, of 9587 Kinley Road, Ovid. The Schneider car was making a right turn onto Main at the time of the accident.

COLIN SCOTT McDanold, 19, of Franklin escaped injury when his speeding car couldn't get around a turn on Oakdale Drive south of Round Lake Road and hit a house early Friday morning. McDanold was arrested and charged with minor in possession of beer. He told sheriff's officers he thought he was still on Round Lake Road and was going too fast to make the curve that suddenly came on him.

Two cars collided at 7:45 p.m. Saturday on Hollister Road at Kinley. They were driven by Kathleen Seconsky, 18, of 1140 Warren Road, Ovid, and Mary A. Behrens, of R-2, Kinley Road, Ovid.

Both were going south on Hollister. Miss Seconsky started to pass the Behrens car and then noticed Mrs Behrens start to signal for a left turn. She couldn't stop in time to avoid the collision, and her car then went off the road 150 feet farther south. Mrs Behrens said another car had just passed her and she didn't see the Seconsky car in the passing lane.

Blood . . .

few years. She's now working on her second gallon.

Mrs Flegler couldn't recall how much or how long. "I don't care how much I've given; I give as much as my conscience tells me I should. I give regularly when I can."

Asher gave his first blood during the Korean War and has been doing it regularly for the last eight to 10 years. He lacks a couple of pints of having given three gallons of blood.

Only Mrs Flegler has had the need to draw blood from the Red Cross bloodbank that is maintained by donations, "and we have replaced that many, many times," she said. Her father, Edward Luecht, used a considerable amount of blood during surgery at Ann Arbor about 10 years ago. "We drew on the bank then and there were no questions asked," Mrs Flegler said.

The others recognize that sometime they may need blood. "I give because sometime in the future I might need it myself or a member of my family might need it," Mrs Barclay said. "This is something to consider, because unless the people in our own county do stay in back of this program, then we are no longer eligible to get blood free when we need it."

"I'VE NEVER needed blood myself," Asher commented. "And I don't think that had I ever needed blood I would have been turned down. So I don't think you could classify giving blood as investing for future use."

There's not much involved in giving a pint of blood. None of the four persons interviewed have ever had any ill effects from it. "The worst that can happen is that you can faint," Downing said, "and I have never seen anybody do that. In fact I think they could take a quart out of me and it wouldn't bother me."

Some people do faint on occasions, and some get a little woozy. "I think that is one reason so many people hesitate," Mrs Barclay said. "They feel they'll have ill effects, which isn't necessarily true."

"Even the Red Cross has come a long way. When I first started giving years ago they specified that we weren't to eat before giving and that we should avoid fat foods. Now there are absolutely no limitations, you see. I think probably that has helped; people who would come in on a completely empty stomach and give blood are bound to be a little dizzy afterward."

"I DO THINK IT'S a shame more people won't give," Asher commented. "Some of us used to go around and contact people, and we'd get some flimsy excuses sometimes. At least they sounded flimsy. I think it's just too much bother in a lot of cases."

"I think if people would try it once they'd find out that all it takes is a little of their time. It doesn't hurt anybody, and it's worth the half hour it takes."

Mrs Flegler has never been dizzy from giving blood. "In fact, maybe it's my imagination, but it seems to me it even makes you feel better—physically, and I think it makes your heart feel better knowing you have given."

Therein lies the feeling of good will associated with donating blood—the spirit of Christmas. And there was a sound of thanksgiving from Mrs Flegler, too.

"Sometimes you get the idea that, well, I've given, now let somebody else give," she said. "But then you stop and look around and inventory some of the other people and you know why they don't give. I consider myself real fortunate to be able to give blood."

Water supply study starts in Clinton

Students give program on experiences abroad

The St. Johns Woman's Club held their November 15 meeting in the parlor of the First Methodist Church with the president, Mrs. John Rumbaugh, presiding. Mrs. Walter Graham, chairman of Home Life and Religion Committee, opened the meeting with a Thanksgiving prayer written by Benjamin Franklin, after which "The Freedom Pledge" was recited by the club members.

In reporting on the West Central District meeting held in Byron on October 26, Mrs. Rumbaugh told of the Esther Hunter Library Scholarship Fund for Ferris State College. This fund was raised to honor St. Johns honored member, Esther Hunter, who also served as State Federation President and as a member of the State Library Board for many years.

The program "International Exchange" consisted of a panel moderated by Mrs. George Judd. Members of the panel were Dorothy Jenkins, Lorinda Lambert, Mrs. Barnum, Jeff White and Mike Galvach.

Dorothy spent the summer living with a Danish family and Lorinda with a Swedish family. They were under the auspices of the "Youth for Understanding" which is sponsored by the Michigan Council of Churches. Under the leadership of Mrs. Judd who has done much traveling in foreign lands, the girls were led to tell of their experiences as part of a foreign family—how customs differ and how they felt they had benefited by their summer in Europe.

Jeff and Mike went to Europe as part of a Foreign Study Group. This group of 180 people consisted of University professors, counselors, nurses and other attendants besides the students. The students were selected from some forty-three states carefully screened for academic qualifications, stamina, personality traits, and interest in new experiences. They attended school in universities in London, Paris, Rome and Geneva. A part of each day was devoted to study for which they received scholastic credit. The rest of the time was taken up with sightseeing. Mrs. Barnum was a counselor with the Michigan group.

All the young people had many interesting experiences to relate and many comparisons to make between countries.

Club members were very interested in these young people and felt we were well represented abroad by our "Ambassadors of Good Will." Mothers of the group were guests of the club.

Tea was served to the members and guests by Mrs. Harold Roberts, Mrs. William Richards and Mrs. Oliver Montague.

The next meeting on December 6, will be held in the Community Room of the Central National Bank. The program "The Silent Revolution" is on mental health. Special invitations have been issued to the ladies of the Hospital Auxiliary and the Red Cross, but any others interested are welcome.

By CATHY ROBINSON
Ovid-Elsie High

Moore to head Ovid-Elsie FFA

OVID-ELSE—President of the Ovid-Elsie Chapter of Future Farmer of America this year is Calvin Moore.

Other elected officers include Duane Whitmeyer, vice president; Rich Eastlick, secretary; Bob Craig, treasurer; Larry Kindel, reporter; and Dale Mulder, sentinel.

Recently the O-E chapter received a silver award for being one of the top three chapters in the state, for which Byron Green and Duane Whitmeyer received the award for the chapter at the national convention in Kansas City, Mo.

Dave Long, Dennis Nethaway, and Craig Gardner also represented the FFA at the annual district tractor driving contest. Dave Long placed third in the four-wheel wagon event and the team on a whole placed second behind Byron.

Laura Green, who attended drama school this past summer, received the leading role.

Others to appear in the play are Thelma Dunham, Duane Whitmeyer, Lynn Binger, Phil Saxton, Helen Squires, Kris Wyrick, Jerry Korienek, Bev Mead, Cindy Lentz, Dave Williams, and Sue Nemans.

The play is to be presented Jan. 19 in the O-E school auditorium.

Tuesday, Nov. 14, the student council from New Lothrop visited Ovid-Elsie. The O-E council took them on a tour of their new high school and they discussed with New Lothrop some problems they have encountered. Main interests of the visiting students were the gymnasium, swimming pool and shop rooms. Toward the end of the day both councils gathered in a room to discuss powers and framework of student council.

ALSO ON TUESDAY the O-E debaters were host to Alma in the debate: "Resolved: That Congress should establish uniform regulations to control criminal investigation procedures." The result was one win and one loss for Ovid-Elsie. On the following day O-E hosted Corunna. Wednesday's result was 3 wins out of 4 for Ovid-Elsie, giving them an overall record of 7 wins and 3 losses.

The debaters are: First team affirmative, Rick Warren and Bob Craig; First team negative, Joe Vostzilzansky and Pam Darling; second team affirmative, Shari Lemke and Dave Williams; and second team negative, Sue Besko and Richard Acra.

The debate advisor for this year is Mr. Geiger. O-E's next debate will be at Bullock Creek Nov. 30; it will be a cross examination style.

Ovid-Elsie hopes to win the debate with Bullock Creek to keep a good season record. O-E's Marauders bowed down in defeat to only three schools — Alma, St. Louis and Corunna. It is figured to be a pretty good record for O-E.

P-W students hear program on alcohol problem

Robert Hammond of the Michigan Alcohol Education Foundation spoke to the Pewamo-Westphalia student body at a general assembly Monday, Nov. 20.

He talked on the effects of alcohol on the human system, explaining how it anesthetizes the brain, dulls motor coordination and relaxes the inhibitions. He concluded by saying that the decision to drink must lie with the individual, but he said a wise person gets all the information he possibly can on the effects of alcohol, seeks advice from reliable sources, and spiritual guidance before making that decision.

"What's a GAS INCINERATOR got that I haven't?"

"Maybe I don't look so good... but I do lend a bit of atmosphere to the place. And I'm quite a drawing card when it comes to flies and varmints! What's so great about a Gas Incinerator... always bragging about its health and cleanliness—that it doesn't even smoke when it consumes rubbish and refuse. Well, I'm not taking any more 'garbage' from them! You'll see... replacing me with an automatic Gas Incinerator will make a big difference in their life!"

Quick success told by some deer hunters

St. Johns area deer hunters claimed quick successes, in some cases, last Saturday morning in their hunting.

Probably the first person to come up with a kill in the mid-Michigan area was Ed Young of St. Johns who shot a six-point buck about 7:28 a.m. Saturday. He estimated it weighed about 180 pounds. He shot it west of Ithaca on Washington Road in Arcadia Township in company with Harold Zimmerman and Rod Suttin.

Just before 8 a.m. Jerry Reha of 1501 N. DeWitt Road, St. Johns, brought down a three-point buck with a single shot near Ashley.

Reha is a veteran hunter but said his success Saturday was the earliest ever for him.

Bruce Durbin of 310 S. Lansing Street brought down a five-point buck while hunting with Emerson Stockwell on the Stockwell farm on Paxton Road south of the East Essex School. They figured it weighed in at about 175 pounds. Durbin shot the deer about 8 o'clock.

The first woman deer hunter in the area to report her success was Mrs. Hilda Bancroft of 615 W. Sickles Street. She got a five-point buck weighing about 140 pounds. She shot it northwest of St. Johns about 4 p.m. Saturday. She usually hunts every year, and this deer was her fourth of her hunting career.

John Werbish Sr. of 408 Giles Street brought down an eight-point buck Saturday afternoon while hunting at Lake George. Lyle Austin of R-2, St. Johns was hunting near Fowler Saturday morning when he got his sights on a seven-point buck and killed it.

Jerry Reha of 1501 N. DeWitt Road with a three-pointer shot Saturday morning near Ashley.

Bruce Durbin of 310 S. Lansing Street with his five-point buck shot northwest of St. Johns.

Ed Young (left) and Harold Zimmerman with the six-point buck Young shot Saturday morning in Gratiot County.

2 split final grid contest cash

The last Clinton County News football contest of the season ended in a tie last weekend, with Mrs. H.W. Lundy of 201 E. Clark Street and Andy Henning of 401 E. Walker both seven points off on the tie-breaker score.

They each missed only two selections out of the 16 regular games, and, ironically, they were the same games. They each missed the Navy-Vanderbilt game which ended in a tie, and they missed the Buffalo-Denver pro game.

The correct tie-breaker score was 48 points; Mrs. Lundy gave a tie-breaker score of 41, and Henning's was 55. So the two winners split the $20 prize; checks were sent to them Wednesday.

List proper steps for on-time mailing of letters, parcels to U.S. servicemen

Clinton County postmasters are urging their patrons to be sure to use the correct address on their letters and packages going to servicemen overseas to avoid serious delays in delivery.

Millions of letters and packages going overseas have been delayed because they were insufficiently addressed. One of the biggest problems has been the failure of persons to include the very important five-digit APO or FPO number in the military address. Mail not containing this number is incorrectly addressed. Last year more than 9 million pieces of mail were delayed in delivery. Of this number 3 1/2 million pieces failed to include the complete five-digit APO or FPO number in the address. This improperly addressed mail had to be sent to a military locator directory where time-consuming searches were made to determine the proper addresses.

- 1) Grade, full name and service number;
- 2) His military unit, complete;
- 3) Gateway post office—New York, San Francisco or Seattle;
- 4) APO or FPO number—a five-digit number.

- 5) ON PARCEL POST, put the addressee's name and address and the return address of the sender inside the package so that in case the package cover is torn off, the item can still be sent on.

When any of the first four elements is missing, the letter or package will be delayed in delivery.

DOUG BROOK

Brook chosen meeting delegate

Doug Brook of East Lansing will be one of the two delegates from Michigan who will be attending the 17th annual 4-H Grain Marketing Conference January 31-Feb. 2, 1968, at the Chicago Board of Trade.

Brook is from Clinton County; the other delegate is Daniel Brown from Ingham County. Brook was selected for this award following an interview at the State 4-H Show at Michigan State University.

The two delegates from Michigan will join delegates from 11 other states in three days of intensive briefing, guided tours and demonstrations to learn how billions of dollars worth of commodities are brought and sold annually at the world's largest trading center. The Chicago Board of Trade sponsors the conference and provides funds to bring to Chicago the 4-H'ers and an adult leader from each state.

AMONG THE THINGS the teenage farmers will discuss are how grain prices are determined; when and why grain should be stored; how to use futures market as farm management tool; when and how to sell.

Besides being brought up-to-date on grain marketing practices, the Chicago visitors will see places of interest in the city, tour a large grain processing plant, and attend a dinner to which Chicago 4-H members will be invited.

Brook has been a member of the Bath All-Purpose 4-H Club for eight years. He is the son of Mr and Mrs William Brook. Presently he is a senior at Bath High School and plans to attend Michigan State University next fall majoring in agriculture.

Hospital Auxiliary plans cookie sale

The Clinton Memorial Hospital Auxiliary Board meeting was held Wednesday Nov. 15, and definite plans were made for a cookie sale. Homemade cookies will be available. The Hospital Auxiliary Board will have the cookie sale Friday, Dec. 15, in the Central National Bank community room. The sale will begin at 11 a.m. and last until the cookies are gone. A cookie may be purchased to eat with the serving of coffee. Auxiliary members and former Board members are invited to send in their homemade cookies and the recipes. Mrs Idzkowski has charge of the cookie pick-up for those who are unable to deliver their cookies.

The patients' tray favors for Thanksgiving are being made by the Westphalia and Pawamo Schools. The Christmas tray favors will be made by the Central School.

2 women report purses missing

Two women reported to St. Johns police last week the apparent theft of their purses.

Sunday Linda Ebright of R-1, DeWitt told police the purse she had accidentally left at the Golden 8 Ball in St. Johns was missing when she returned for it. It contained $15 in cash plus a watch and numerous papers and identification.

Mrs Arthur Howard of 506 S. Scott Road told police Monday that she had left her purse in her car overnight on the 10th and it was gone the next morning. There was no money in it, she said, but it did contain charge cards, pictures and her driver's license.

The Gift Cart is operating three times a week for the present time. Santa Claus puppets will be given in Pediatrics during the Christmas holiday.

More plans will be made in the early part of 1968 to finish payment of the Coronary Care Unit as well as other things needed in the hospital. There will be no Board meeting until Wednesday Jan. 17, 1968.

'School closing' stations listed

When snow flies to the extent that schools have to be closed, St. Johns School District administrators will get the word out to district residents over possibly six different radio stations.

School closing announcements will be made over radio stations WJR in Detroit, WILS, WJIM, and WILX in Lansing, WRBJ in St. Johns and WFYC in Alma. Steve Bakita, administrative assistant, pointed out that heavy use of toll circuits on bad-weather mornings sometimes prevents the announcements from getting to some of the stations, but they are always heard on WRBJ and most of the time on WJR.

Senior Citizens hear R. W. Sleight

The regular meeting of Clinton County Senior Citizens was held at the Drop-In Center on November 14.

After a short business meeting Mrs Elzie Exelby, program director, introduced the speaker, Rolan Sleight. He told of the work of the Council of Churches in a program of systematic contacting of elderly persons living alone. He mentioned instances where such persons had become ill or were injured and had gone for two or three days without help. If certain persons were responsible for calling some of these persons they could get help when needed. He solicited the aid of the Senior Citizens group in this project. He also asked them to notify the Lions Club if they know of anyone in need of a Christmas basket, white cane, glasses or medical examination.

Mr Sleight's talk was followed by readings by Mrs Roy Ormsby and Charles Lapham. The program closed with community singing.

All senior citizens are cordially invited to the next meeting which will be held at the Drop-In Center on November 28.

Mrs Barnum chaperone Student study tour to Europe planned

Mrs Beatrice Barnum, elementary teacher at Swegles School in St. Johns, has been selected for the second year in a row to be a counselor-chaperone for high school students from Michigan on a six-week study tour of Europe next summer.

Five St. Johns students have already been accepted to take the tour, sponsored by the Foreign Language League Schools.

The local students are: Rick Warren, son of Mr and Mrs Mel Warren of 307 E. Clark Street; Bob Cartwright, son of Mr and Mrs Robert Cartwright of 407 E. Higham; Kurt Hildorf, son of Mr and Mrs Robert Hildorf of 410 Meadowview; and Jane and Pete Allaby, daughter and son of Mr and Mrs A.T. Allaby of 410 E. Baldwin Street.

MRS BARNUM and her students, along with about 160 students, counselors and instructors from all parts of the United States, have enrolled in a study tour of comparative government. They will spend 10 days each in Rome, Geneva, Paris and London.

The Foreign Language League is the oldest and largest non-profit, tax-exempt international high school in the world. As part of its continuing program, the league charters jets, leases dorms and school buildings and schedules trips and tours. The students spend three to four hours a day in the classroom learning about the area. The remainder of the day, evenings and weekends are filled with planned excursions, field trips, and tours. There is also free time for shopping and sight-seeing. The league has 31 different campuses throughout U.S. and Canada will participate next summer.

Mrs Barnum states that she will be able to accept five or six more applications within the next two weeks. The comparative government course is very popular and fills up fast. Any student between the ages of 15 and 19 with a good academic record from any high school is eligible to make application. It is desirable to have a desire for culture, history and adventure. For further information, contact Mrs Beatrice Barnum, 601 N. Clinton Ave., St. Johns.

Rev Lougheed slated to speak Sunday

Rev D.L. Lougheed of Flint will be guest speaker this Sunday at the evening worship service at the St. Johns Baptist Temple on East State Street. A former pastor at the church here, he will show slide pictures of the Holy Land, with particular emphasis on the "Four Hills of Jerusalem."

Rev Mr Lougheed's sermon subject will be on the reasons behind the conflict between the Jews and the Arabs.

Next summer

It's never too early to make plans, and four of the five St. Johns students who will tour Europe next summer on a comparative governments study trip got together Saturday morning with Mrs Beatrice Barnum to do just that. Mrs Barnum will chaperone the students from Michigan. Rolling the globe for a closer look at Europe are Jane Allaby and Kurt Hildorf; standing are Pete Allaby, Rick Warren and Mrs Barnum. Not present for the picture was Bob Cartwright, who will also take the trip.

PARTNERS IN GROWTH...

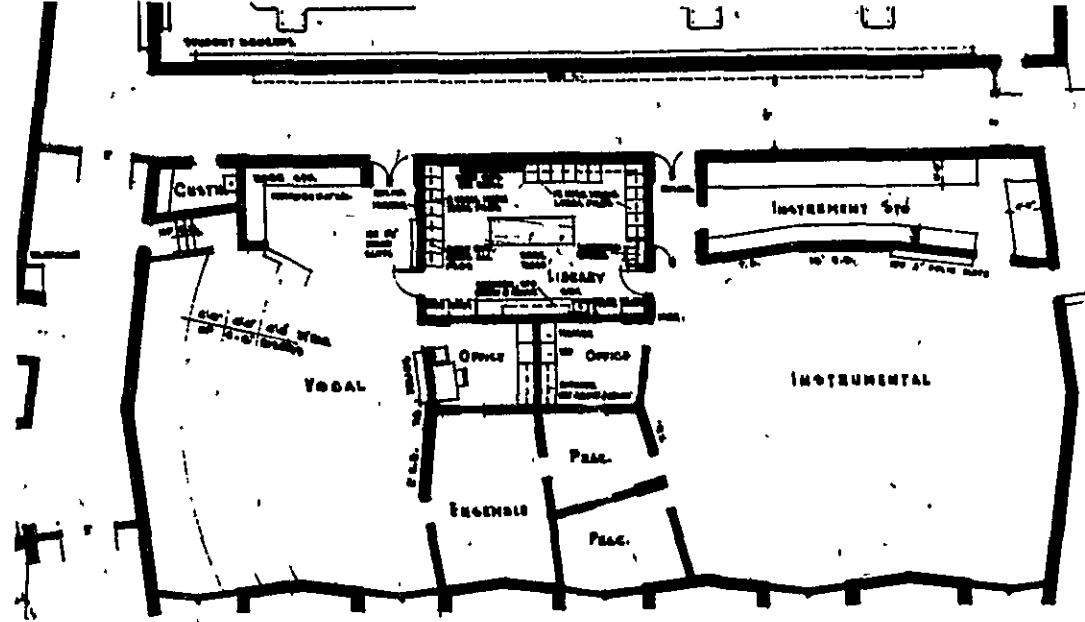

During 1963 Michigan farmers harvested and delivered over one million tons of beets to the state's five sugar factories for processing. This crop produced nearly 280,000,000 pounds of pure sparkling sugar for sale exclusively in Michigan during the current marketing year.

In an average year, the beet sugar industry of Michigan will derive from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 from the sugarbeet crop. From this crop Michigan sugarbeet growers will receive approximately $15,000,000 in company and conditional payments.

These dollars which the sugarbeet growers and processors of this state receive for sugar produced in Michigan affect economic units all around their own horizons and far beyond Michigan's 17 county beet producing area. Remember, every time a sugar beet grows—so does Michigan.

The instrumental and vocal music departments will be located in these rooms in the northwest corner of the high school. Library workroom and practice rooms in the center will be shared by both departments.

High school close-up—Part V

New music department area 'in harmony' with self, school

Four hundred thirty-three students use the single music room at St. Johns High School every day. Scheduling is a problem, because the band, orchestra and vocal groups must all get an opportunity to use it.

Because it is busy every hour, individual groups which want to practice must find places all over the school to do it in. The auditorium is used during the noon hour and at other times. Empty rooms are commandeered for a quick practice.

Such problems should be alleviated in the new high school on West Sickles Street. Ample room has been designed into the new building to allow not only separate areas for the vocal and instrumental departments but also a proximity that should make for good "harmony" between the two related areas.

Walter Cole

Gordon Vandemark

THE MUSIC department at the new high school will be located in the extreme northwest corner of the huge building. It is "by itself" there where the practicing won't interfere with the other classes, and yet it is adjacent to the high school auditorium where much of the musical activity before the public will take place.

Walter Cole, head of the instrumental music department, and Gordon Vandemark, head of the vocal music department, can hardly wait to get into their new facilities. For the first time they will have separate music rooms designed specifically for their own purposes.

For instance the vocal music room will have built-in risers along the east side of the room. The vocal groups use the risers in their performances and like to have them when they practice. The instrumental groups don't use risers in their concert performances, and so the floor in the instrumental music room will be level.

THE TWO departments will share some facilities, including a library workroom that is located between the two music rooms. Both vocal and instrumental music files will be kept in that workroom and both departments will share equipment there. There will be two listening carrels for listening to recordings and tapes and for reading magazines and books pertaining to music.

Repairing, sorting and filing music will be done in the workroom, as well as some minor repairing of instruments. A "tremendous" amount of music will be stored there because, as Cole and Vandemark explained, "it has to be available." Ditto work for the music classes also will be done in the workroom.

Presently such music storage, repair and even instrument storage is done in tiny offices for Cole and Vandemark at the present high school. The two men will have separate offices in the new building, each with windows looking forward into the work room, to the slides into their respective classrooms and back into the small practice rooms.

THE OFFICES, for a change will be their own. They won't have to share them with students for practicing or for storage of music and instruments.

Back of the offices, or to the north, will be practice rooms. One will be for ensembles and is designed to hold 24 students. Two small rooms are designed for up to nine students each. All are inter-connected so that students from either the vocal music or instrumental music areas can use them.

The nearness of the two music rooms also lends itself to sharing, when the need arises. As Cole pointed out, his instrumental room would be available for use by individual vocal groups to practice in when it isn't being used. And the same applies to the vocal music room for instrumental groups.

"And for the first time we'll have an adequate amount of room where we can divide the kids up and let them proceed with their own practice without interrupting the work of others," Cole said. "The individual approach is much easier when the kids can be separated."

BOTH ROOMS CAN be entered through large double doors, which facilitate the moving of equipment, including pianos, in and out with relative ease.

The instrumental music room, the western-most of the two, is basically the same size as the present music room (about 45 by 50 feet), but there will be no risers. "Because we have a flat floor we'll have a much better classroom situation," Cole said. "And there will be less time wasted because we won't have to set up and take down our equipment to make way for the vocal classes. This will save wear and tear on our instruments."

The storage situation will be vastly improved. Now musical instruments are stored along the walls in the music room; in the new high school only the big drums and basses will be stored in the big room itself. The smaller instruments will be stored in a long room at the south end of the instrumental music room. Students will enter at the southeast corner of the room, walk through the instrument room, leave their cases there and come into the main room with only their instruments.

"BECAUSE OF THE construction, the room will be acoustically better than ours is now, and we'll be away from the other academic areas," Cole pointed out. "Our nearness to the athletic field will eliminate our bussing problem during the marching season, too."

The vocal music room—about 45 by 30 feet in size—will be three tiers of risers, each six inches high, and 4 feet 8 inches deep.

The depth of the riser tiers is also an improvement, Vandemark said. They can better be used by the band when necessary, and then, too, students can be spread out more than what the present conditions allow.

In front of the risers will be a flat floor area. Vandemark hopes the room will be furnished with folding arm chairs.

There will be two entrances to the room. From the east hallway, there will be three steps up onto the top tier of risers. The other doorway will be off the hallway to the south and will be level with the hall. Along the south wall will be robe storage space and a full-length mirror in the corner so the choral groups can get themselves ready before going on stage in the near-by auditorium.

THE COMPACTNESS of the department and its location would make it available for public meetings while at the same time the rest of the high school building could be shut off. The vocal music room particularly, with its risers and flat floor area, would be ideal for meetings where a speaker could be slightly elevated, Vandemark pointed out.

The music department will have its own sound system. Each of the rooms will also be connected directly by telephone with the stage of the auditorium, so that groups awaiting to appear on stage can wait in the music rooms until it's time. There will be both plain and musically-scored chalkboards in the music rooms. There will be pull-down screens in each for use of visual aids.

"We feel these rooms will be functional for a change," Cole and Vandemark said. "Each of our departments will have more entropy because we will have

Standing over the waste basket while opening the mail has become standard operational procedure for most people these days. A super-abundance of advertising mail, with seemingly inevitable duplicate copies of everything, is glaringly noticeable at the library, with a multiplicity of many items; one copy being addressed to the library itself, one to the present librarian, one to the librarian who preceded her, and even one to her predecessor's predecessor!

Every once in a while, however, some unbidden item arrives in the mail which proves to be both interesting and useful. Such was the case three times during the past week.

From the University of Arizona Press in Tucson came a copy of their quarterly Journal of History. This particular issue is entitled ARIZONA AND THE WEST, and is filled with anecdotes about the part that state played in the settlement and development of our great west.

OUR LIBRARY already has a subscription to the monthly magazine, ARIZONA HIGHWAYS, (a gift from one of our loyal patrons), so we probably won't subscribe to the Arizona Quarterly Journal of History, but we are enjoying this particular copy.

From Little, Brown Publishers there came a free copy of a full-size, hard-bound book entitled SMALL WONDER. The subtitle claims that "this is the story of the...". The "blank" is one of the small European cars, and the story of its development and subsequent success does make interesting reading, even though the book is actually advertising.

Another unsolicited arrival in the same week's mail was a little book sent as a gift from one of the major oil companies. It has the provocative title ARE YOU A WOMAN DRIVER? It is packed with good tips on driving an automobile, for men as well as women.

Maria Montessori has been highly regarded by educators and psychologists all over the world for many years. She was the first woman in Italy to receive a doctor's degree, and she became a pioneer in psychiatry and child psychology.

Her educational theories continue to be studied and discussed with respect. In 1949, Dr. Montessori delivered a series of lectures in India, and from these lectures developed the material for her book THE ABSORBENT MIND. Now in 1967 comes the first printing in English in the United States of this outstanding book. Teachers and parents will all find this a provocative and challenging book, which makes a plea for the nurturing and care of the mental and spiritual nature of children.

If you're getting ready for Christmas, or if you feel that you ought to be getting ready, then BEHOLD THAT STAR is just the book for you to read. It is a collection of 15 Christmas stories which may be read and enjoyed by adults and children alike, but perhaps more by adults.

BEHOLD THAT STAR is stunningly illustrated with handsome black and white wood cuts, and much care has gone into selection of the material it contains. Included in the anthology are original stories by such writers as J. B. Phillips, Ruth Sawyer, Elizabeth Goudge, Selma Lagerlof, and others, as well as some legendary material.

There are wood-cut drawings of a number of poems and carols. All in all it is a charming vehicle with which to begin the journey into the Christmas season.

And, speaking of Christmas, there will be a Christmas story hour in the Children's Library on the first four Saturday mornings of December, from 10:30 to 11:30. Following the story hour, members of the Jayettes will serve public luncheons upstairs in the Municipal Building, after which the Chamber of Commerce will show movies and arrange for a visit from Santa Claus. All in all, children of the community may look forward to some exciting Saturdays during December.

From Little, Brown Publishers there came a free copy of a full-size, hard-bound book entitled SMALL WONDER. The subtitle claims that "this is the story of the...". The "blank" is one of the small European cars, and the story of its development and subsequent success does make interesting reading, even though the book is actually advertising.

Another unsolicited arrival in the same week's mail was a little book sent as a gift from one of the major oil companies. It has the provocative title ARE YOU A WOMAN DRIVER? It is packed with good tips on driving an automobile, for men as well as women.

Maria Montessori has been highly regarded by educators and psychologists all over the world for many years. She was the first woman in Italy to receive a doctor's degree, and she became a pioneer in psychiatry and child psychology.

Her educational theories continue to be studied and discussed with respect. In 1949, Dr. Montessori delivered a series of lectures in India, and from these lectures developed the material for her book THE ABSORBENT MIND. Now in 1967 comes the first printing in English in the United States of this outstanding book. Teachers and parents will all find this a provocative and challenging book, which makes a plea for the nurturing and care of the mental and spiritual nature of children.

If you're getting ready for Christmas, or if you feel that you ought to be getting ready, then BEHOLD THAT STAR is just the book for you to read. It is a collection of 15 Christmas stories which may be read and enjoyed by adults and children alike, but perhaps more by adults.

BEHOLD THAT STAR is stunningly illustrated with handsome black and white wood cuts, and much care has gone into selection of the material it contains. Included in the anthology are original stories by such writers as J. B. Phillips, Ruth Sawyer, Elizabeth Goudge, Selma Lagerlof, and others, as well as some legendary material.

There are wood-cut drawings of a number of poems and carols. All in all it is a charming vehicle with which to begin the journey into the Christmas season.

And, speaking of Christmas, there will be a Christmas story hour in the Children's Library on the first four Saturday mornings of December, from 10:30 to 11:30. Following the story hour, members of the Jayettes will serve public luncheons upstairs in the Municipal Building, after which the Chamber of Commerce will show movies and arrange for a visit from Santa Claus. All in all, children of the community may look forward to some exciting Saturdays during December.

Standing over the waste basket while opening the mail has become standard operational procedure for most people these days. A super-abundance of advertising mail, with seemingly inevitable duplicate copies of everything, is glaringly noticeable at the library, with a multiplicity of many items; one copy being addressed to the library itself, one to the present librarian, one to the librarian who preceded her, and even one to her predecessor's predecessor!

Every once in a while, however, some unbidden item arrives in the mail which proves to be both interesting and useful. Such was the case three times during the past week.

From the University of Arizona Press in Tucson came a copy of their quarterly Journal of History. This particular issue is entitled ARIZONA AND THE WEST, and is filled with anecdotes about the part that state played in the settlement and development of our great west.

OUR LIBRARY already has a subscription to the monthly magazine, ARIZONA HIGHWAYS, (a gift from one of our loyal patrons), so we probably won't subscribe to the Arizona Quarterly Journal of History, but we are enjoying this particular copy.

Bears learn quickly that ants, a brain delicacy, are best sought on sunny days. Ants, indefatigable nurses, bring their eggs up to warm them. The adults stay to protect the eggs and stand guard under a flat stone or rotting log.

Homespun Philosophy of a Duplain Township Housewife

Thanksgiving . . .

It's no fun to keep something to yourself! Sharing doubles the pleasure. Agree? How often we want to share a thought or mood with a receptive mind or kindred spirit. It would not have to require any explaining yet a smile or merry eyes would show we were in accord. Funny thing about this is that we wouldn't even have to agree. . . just understand. Understanding! What a long word that is and how much ground it covers. No wonder it's a long word.

If you've come this far reading this you may be wondering, "What's she got to share that is fun? Or good? Or pleasurable? How about getting on with it?" Well, this wanting to stop and write this right now came to me while doing dishes. So I stopped and here I am. . . just as easy as that.

Dishes do things to me. They bring on long thoughts and far away places, persons and things. Could I be seeing a mirage in the dishwasher?

SOMETIMES it's a relief to do a job and not have to think even one tiny atom of anything. There seem to be times for that in every woman's life. Dishes are good for that. No thinking required for that, at all. But not this morning! I was singing as I went to the sink. There are dishes to do because I have a husband and son, I'm so thankful that I have folks who used those dishes. For a very special reason I'm doubly thankful this morning.

Interlochen scholarship bids sought

THE APPALLING discovery came to me years and years ago (during home-made soap days of real dishpan hands with no commercials!) that dishes were a forever and forever thing. And you couldn't EVER do them a-head. Neither were they something that was going to go away by themselves.

Then I would upgrade dishes! It works to the degree of effort put into it. Some days it isn't as good as others, for obvious reasons. We've tried to make it cheery and pleasant in the kitchen. We've also worked on the view out the windows. . . because that helps a lot too. . . (but that is another story in itself).

It would be lying and you'd know it to say that I LIKE to do dishes every time. I can say that the kitchen sink area has become a very special place to me. It's my sanctuary. I can go there and think better somehow away from distracting things. The children consider it that kind of a place too. Odd and nice that they picked this spot and its time there as a highlight of childhood with its reading aloud, singing, suds that wouldn't quit running over, jokes, good-by for school hugs, prayers, and talks and on and on.

The St. Johns Morning Musicale will hold its annual competition for an Interlochen music scholarship in March 1968. The auditions committee consists of Mrs. George Brooks, Mrs. Kenneth Jones and Mrs. Roy Briggs.

All applications to compete must be given to them in writing and signed by one parent by Jan. 31. The competition is open to all students in the ninth, 10th and 11th grades of the St. Johns School District. Students may compete in voice, piano, strings, wind and percussion instruments, and other instruments as permitted.

The scholarship pays half of the cost of a week at Interlochen. The student is expected to pay the other half. Any requests for further information will be welcomed by the committee in charge.

PREPARE FOR METHODIST CHRISTMAS BAZAAR

Ladies of the First Methodist Church in St. Johns have been busy in recent weeks preparing items for the church's annual Christmas Bazaar, scheduled for Dec. 7, at the church. One such group which worked with stuffed toys consisted of these ladies — Mrs. Kenneth Moore, doll and toy booth chairman; Mrs. Richard Rutter, general chairman; Mrs. Bruce Fowler, gift booth chairman; and Mrs. Robert Lublow and Mrs. Russell Sharai. The bazaar will run from 4 to 8 p.m. Dec. 7 at the church; a supper will be served.

Post-Holiday Turkey, "planned-over" foods

By HELEN B. MEACH Extension Home Economist

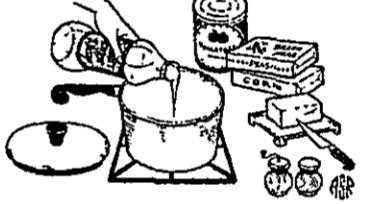

Roast turkey, cranberry sauce, pumpkin and mince pie spell Thanksgiving for many families in America. The counting of our many blessings comes first, followed by the feasting. Then comes the day of decision for Mom — what to do with the remaining food. A homemaker is considered a good manager when she has "planned over" foods — foods which were called left overs in a less modern day.

Good managers plan carefully for the storage and use of the planned overs. Following are the pacy and sensible suggestions for storing the roast turkey, stuffing and gravy. Soon after dinner it is wise to place the turkey, stuffing, and gravy in separate containers in the refrigerator to chill. As soon as time is available, remove the turkey from the bones. Slice or dice it and place premeasured amounts in freezer containers. Roast turkey, properly wrapped, may be stored in the freezer for about 2 months for maximum flavor. Gravy and stuffing should not be stored in the freezer for more than one month because the gravy may develop off flavors and the stuffing will begin to dry out.

1/3 cup aged Cheddar cheese
6 green pepper strips, cut 1/2 inch wide

Melt butter in sauce pan. Sauté onions in butter until tender. Blend in flour and seasonings. Remove from heat. Gradually add milk. Stirring constantly, cook until mixture thickens. Add 1/2 cup cheese and pimiento, stirring until cheese melts. Add mushrooms and liquid to white sauce. Place a layer of spaghetti in a 2 quart casserole. Cover with a layer of turkey and a layer of sauce. Repeat and finish with a layer of spaghetti. Sprinkle 1/3 cup cheese over top. Cover and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) about 20 minutes. Garnish with green pepper strips.

Vegetables Extraordinary

A trick practiced by good cooks is that of adding a touch of sweetness when cooking tomatoes, corn and peas. Newest wrinkle to this tried-and-true technique is to add just a little corn syrup poured right from the bottle. Something inexplicable and extraordinary happens, something a family will like.

Lighting topic of meeting at Smith Hall

Add Charm With Light! What a dull, dreary place this world might be with no light. No color to lift our spirits, no visible beauty to cheer our souls. Artificial light brings additional enjoyment especially at Holiday time.

An opportunity to view many ways to use artificial light to enhance homes, both inside and outside, is offered through the cooperation of the Family Living Education program of the Michigan State University Extension Service and Consumers Power Company in a program "Add Charm with Light—Holiday Lighting". The program is scheduled for 1:00 to 4:00 p.m., November 30, in Smith Hall, City Park, St. Johns. It is open to the public with no charge.

The Area Council of the Extension Family Living Education program composed of representatives from Clinton, Gratiot and Shiawassee Counties are sponsoring the presentation. Study group members are urged to invite their friends and acquaintances. Miss Frances Lough, Mrs. Dorothy Carter and Miss Robert White, Home Service Advisors from Consumers Power Companies in Lansing, Alma and Owosso are the featured speakers.

They will have demonstrations, displays and picture slides to illustrate the points under discussion. Topics to be included are Exterior Lighting, Interior Lighting and Lighting for Holiday tables.

The Area Council is providing door prizes to be drawn following the program. There will be refreshments and additional time for viewing the displays.

JIM'S SUPER SERVICE

Serving Ovid Since 1955—James S. Ball, owner
 M-21 and Elsie Rd., Ovid Ph. 834-2335

Mrs Whittemore's book on sale
*New 'years book' brings
 Ovid's history alive again*

OVID—It looks like a school yearbook, but it could more correctly be called a "years book" or history book for the whole community.

Inside the golden hard cover is a wealth of information and pictures about the Village of Ovid, the culmination of over a year of intensive research and writing by Mrs James Whittemore of Ovid, a retired kindergarten teacher.

Some 1,500 copies of the Ovid history book went on sale last Friday at $4.25 each. The Ovid-Elsie Jaycees are spearheading the sale and will receive 25 cents for each copy sold, with their proceeds to go toward community projects.

The Village of Ovid is underwriting the history book, and any profit made from it will be used to develop a new village park along the Maple River where the dump used to be.

THE BOOK contains 74 pages, including one blank one set aside for personal clippings for whoever buys the book. Throughout the rest of it are thousands of words of history and a multitude of pictures about old-time residents, businesses, churches and schools.

Mrs Whittemore compiled it all. She started work in June 1966 after Village President Harvey Darling suggested making up a historical booklet. "The idea was to write a history of Ovid before all the older people were gone," she said, "and so it could be left to posterity."

Between June 1966 and September of this year when the book went to press, Mrs Whittemore put in countless hours of work. "I haven't any idea of the time involved," she said. "Some days I would work all day and into the evening, and some days only a few hours. But it took a lot of running around."

"I THOUGHT MR DARLING wanted just a little pamphlet written up, but when I got into it we needed pictures, and then the representatives of the publishing company said we needed lots of pictures." So much of Mrs Whittemore's time went into hunting up old pictures and taking photos of present people, buildings and events.

"It was fascinating," Mrs Whittemore says. "The more I got into it the more interesting it was."

All of Mrs Whittemore's time was donated; she'll realize no monetary profit from the Ovid history, but she's already getting a good deal of satisfaction from seeing all her effort finally in print. "This is my civic contribution to the community" is the way she put it.

The history of Ovid dates back to 1836. Some of the most interesting points of the book to her include the stories about the four schools that burned and the establishment of the Baptist Church, the first one in Ovid.

AND MRS WHITTEMORE

found out that the community was first settled by a group of people who came from Ovid, New York. A carriage factory was the first industry in Ovid and was located in the building now occupied by the Vaughn Seed Co. At one time there were seven doctors with a practice in Ovid, and there were two hotels—The Reten House and Clinton House—operating at one time.

Because of its architectural designs and craftsmanship, the Congregational Church has been recorded in the Library of Congress. The Village of Ovid was incorporated in 1869.

The history is titled simply "Ovid." The cover is a crispy gold and features the letters of the title plus three large wheels. The design, too, was Mrs Whittemore's. As an abstract representation of the community's history, they refer to such things as the carriage factory that once operated in Ovid, to "wheels of progress," and to the many trucks which daily roll into the Michigan Milk Producers Assn. plant at Ovid.

"I just thought wheels might be a good symbol," Mrs Whittemore said.

FOR THE INITIAL sales, the book on Ovid history will be on sale at Dean Austin's barber shop, the Ovid Public Library, the Central National Bank and at Darling's Hardware in both Ovid and Elsie.

Jerry Ross, president of the Ovid-Elsie Jaycees, asked that persons ordering the history book by mail include an extra 25 cents to cover postage and handling costs. Checks should be made payable to the Village of Elsie.

Mrs James Whittemore autographs a copy of the book on Ovid history which she compiled during the last 17 months, while Ovid Village President Harvey Darling (left) and Jaycee President Jerry Ross look on. Some 1,500 copies of the gold-covered book are now on sale.

Church of Christ welcomes minister

Fall colors and a Thanksgiving theme set the mood for the family night supper held Friday evening at the Church of Christ which was an official welcome to Mr and Mrs Justin Shepard, Jr, minister at the Church of Christ who assumed their duties November 1. Jack Hawes had the invocation as approximately 110 sat down to the turkey supper.

Following the meal the group assembled in the sanctuary for a short program. Lyle Acres presided as Lonnie McCullough led the congregation in several songs. Special numbers were rendered by a quartet composed of Connie Burnham, Robin and Kathleen Reynolds and Bonnie Kimball, as they sang, "We've Got a Great Big Wonderful God," and "His Name is Wonderful."

Terri Bunce rendered two instrumental numbers, "Bringing In the Sheaves," and "The Lord is My Shepherd." Mrs James Burnham gave a reading of Welcome to the New Minister and Mrs Howard Fisher sang, "I Know Who Holds Tomorrow."

Luman Hall spoke a few words of welcome and Duane Bunce presented the gifts which were in the form of a pantry and miscellaneous shower.

Mr Shepard expressed his thanks to the congregation for their welcome and for the gifts and spoke briefly about his work. Jack Hawes pronounced the benediction. Other special guests for the evening were Mr and Mrs Justin Shepard, Sr of Mason.

Duplain group hosts area youth rally

Duplain Youth hosted the area youth rally on Saturday evening and were triumphant in winning back the banner with 21 youth present. Carol Buckled the group in several songs, Dennis Schultheiss offered prayer, and the Henderson Quartet minus one sang. A courtroom scene, Trial of Mr Nominal Christian, was presented by the Duplain Youth with the help of some members for the jury from the two Owosso Churches. Following the business meeting, refreshments were served in the church basement to the 80 present.

Gets first deer
 on first day,
 of first trip

Kirk Buri, Shepardsville Road and Mr and Mrs Harold Pease, North Watson Road, left Friday for a weekend of deer hunting with Peases parents, Mr and Mrs Donald Pease, St. Johns at their cottage at Silver Lake.

Harold, an ardent sportsman, had never been successful in interesting his wife Janice to accompany him on his annual hunting trips. This year, however he persuaded her to get a deer license. She also applied for an antlerless deer permit and was one of the lucky ones to have her name drawn.

Opening morning found the hunting party in section 35 near Clare. And who in the party was the only one to bag a deer? You guessed it, Janice! Reportedly, she had always thought the sitting and waiting required in deer hunting would be a bore, without the miserable weather she experienced Saturday a.m. But after her husband's teaching, training and demonstrating all the rules and tactics of deer hunting one perfectly aimed shot through the shoulder brought the doe down and Janice had bagged her first deer, on the first day of the season.

Eager to show her family and friends the deer, Mrs Pease returned to the cottage, dried out,

KITCHEN STUDY

The Rochester Colony Extension group will meet with Mrs R. G. Spiedel, Hall Road, 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 28.

The study lesson, "Make Room in Your Kitchen" will be extended to the members by Mrs Elmer Thornton.

Plans have been made for members and invited guests to visit Consumers Power Kitchen in Owosso, December 5, instead of the previously stated November date.

Mrs R. G. Spiedel urges a large member attendance at the meeting to complete the program year books.

SPEC/4, Mike Rademacher is spending a week's leave from duty at DeWitt Army Hospital, Fort Belvoir, Va., with his parents, Mr and Mrs Al Rademacher of North Watson Road.

Mike Fox, son of Mr and Mrs Robert Fox, Farragher Road celebrated his 5th birthday Nov. 16.

Pvt. Stanley Jorae, is spending a week's leave from the US Army with his parents, Mr and Mrs Eugene Jorae of St. Johns.

He arrived Friday evening, Nov. 17, in time to be among the opening day deer hunters. After a day of hunting with Mike Rademacher, he was a dinner guest of the Al Rademachers on North Watson Road, Saturday evening.

Mrs Walter Kaufman, Sr., East Colony Road, underwent surgery Friday a.m. at Clinton Memorial Hospital. After a fall in her home, further x-rays disclosed a broken hip bone. Cards from her friends would help timepass more quickly while she is recovering.

Mr and Mrs Robert Fox attended a dinner at Daley's Wednesday, Nov. 15, when dealers and their wives were entertained by a seed corn company. A discussion and business meeting following the dinner revealed the results of test plots of corn in the different dealers locality.

Deer hunters
 brave elements

It takes more than a cold rain and a strong wind on the opening day of deer season to dim the enthusiasm of hunters in this area.

Many hunters left Thursday for their favorite spots in the Upper Peninsula to set up camp. Unlike last year, when deer hunting opened a week earlier in the U.P., the start of the firearm season this year is uniform throughout the state.

According to the conservation department, the deer population is up this year in southern areas of the state, compared to 1966. Highway deer kills during the first eight months of the year increased 28 per cent over last year. Given some luck, hunters are expected to top their bag of about 35,000 bucks and 17,000 antlerless deer last year in Michigan.

Mrs Howard Fisher of St. Louis spent the weekend with Mr and Mrs James Burnham and family while her husband was deer hunting in the north woods.

Mrs Nell Hall is a patient at Clinton Memorial Hospital at this writing. She expects to undergo surgery early this week.

Mr and Mrs Justin Shepard, Sr were Sunday guests of their son and wife, Mr and Mrs Justin Shepard, Jr at 5621 Colony Road, St. Johns.

The Pioneer class of the Duplain Church of Christ presented the church service at the Ovid Nursing Home on Sunday afternoon.

Mike Buck, son of Mr and Mrs C. R. Buck returned Thursday from his stay at Owosso Memorial Hospital and is recuperating at home.

Elsie gets option on possible site for sewage plant

ELSIE—Planning ahead for a future sewage treatment facility, the Elsie Village Council last week approved taking a five-year option on 27 acres of land northwest of the village limits that could be the site for such a facility.

The property is owned by Robert Martin. The city has taken an option on it for $10,000, with the option to cost them $100 a year.

The village is still awaiting official word from the FHA on an application for a $301,000 loan, and a $222,170 grant to finance a sewage facility.

North Cobb Street and a section of West Oak between Knowlton and North Cobb were officially abandoned by the village. The streets were platted on the original village map but have not been used as streets for many years.

Police Chief Welsenberg reported to council on Halloween, and said that he thought on the whole the young people were very orderly, and that the village should be proud of their youngsters.

The Chief recommended that should not be any parking on the entire length of Main Street between the hours of 2 a.m. to 5 a.m., he also suggested that the village residents should refrain from parking on any streets all night, especially during the winter months when the street crews have to get out early with the snow plow to clear the streets.

How much corn in a cornfield?

Bobby was raised in the city. It wasn't until recently that he had ever set foot in a cornfield. Oh, he'd seen hundreds of cornfields from the window of a speeding car. And, shopping with Mother at the market, he'd seen the golden ears peeping through their green jackets. But when we visited the Stoner's farm Bobby actually set foot in a cornfield. And Bobby looked at our host as though he were a millionaire. "Gosh, Mr. Stoner," he said, "God sure gave you a lot of corn." The other day we had a note from the Stoners inviting us to have Thanksgiving dinner with them. "Please bring Bobby along," they wrote. "He helped us appreciate just how much corn there is in a cornfield—and where it comes from."

SGT. LARRY J. THEIS

Fowler GI
wins
silver star

Sgt. E-5 Larry J. Theis of Fowler received his discharge from the U.S. Army Nov. 2 but not until after he had received three medals, including the Silver Star for gallantry in action in Viet Nam.

Sgt. Theis served in Viet Nam from August 1966 to August 1967, and it was on Oct. 4, 1966, that he was involved in the military action for which he received the Silver Star. His action was described on the award issued Sept. 19 of this year.

"Sgt. Theis distinguished himself by exceptionally valorous action on 4, October 1966, while serving as a grenadier with Company A, 5th Battalion, 7th Cavalry during a search and destroy mission in Binh Dinh Province, Republic of Viet Nam.

ON THIS DATE, when a scout helicopter was downed by a well-entrenched North Vietnamese Army force, Sgt. Theis' company moved forward to rescue the injured pilot. However, the unit became pinned down by heavy enemy fire from fortified bunkers.

"During the initial contact, Sgt. Theis exposed himself to the withering enemy fire as he stood up and encouraged his fellow soldiers forward. He then moved across the open field with the rest of the platoon following close behind him. When he had exhausted his supply of grenade rounds, he raced through the hostile fire to obtain a machine gun and return with it to the front of his platoon.

"With this renewed fire support for his unit's advance, Sgt. Theis moved forward to the enemy emplacements. Demonstrating exceptional skill with the weapon, he neutralized two of the insurgent bunker complexes. This action enabled his unit to overrun the North Vietnamese positions and led to the rescue of the pilot of the downed helicopter.

"SGT. THEIS' GALLANT action is in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflects great credit upon himself, his unit and the United States Army."

The Silver Star award announcement was signed by Donald W. Connelly, LTC, AGC, adjutant general of the 1st Cavalry Division (Airmobile).

Sgt. Theis is the son of Mr and Mrs Herman Theis of Fowler. He and his wife, the former Diane E. Thelen, daughter of Mrs Bernita Thelen of Westphalia, live in Fowler.

The sergeant also received two other awards while in Viet Nam. He was awarded the Bronze Star for his duty from August 1966 to August 1967 and the Air Medal for duty from August to November 1966.

Spec/4 MICHAEL MORIARTY, son of Mr and Mrs Joseph Moriarty of 308 N. Clinton Avenue, St. Johns, has been awarded the "soldier of the month" award in his battalion. He entered the service in August 1966. He is a 1965 graduate of Rodney B. Wilson High School. He enlisted in the Army for a three-year term.

Seaman Apprentice MIKE MARTINEZ, USN, son of Mrs Helen O. Martinez of 122 W. Williams Street, Ovid, has returned to the United States after a seven-month deployment to the Far East aboard the anti-submarine support warfare aircraft carrier USS Hornet.

During the deployment the Hornet participated in three maritime exercises with navies from six nations including Australia, Great Britain, New Zealand, Philippines, and Thailand.

Bollerman Fireman JAMES W. NICHOLS, USN, son of Mr and Mrs Maurice W. Nichols of 14650 Center Road, Bath, has returned to the United States after a seven-month deployment to the Far East aboard the anti-submarine support warfare aircraft carrier USS Hornet.

During the deployment the Hornet operated as a unit of the Seventh Fleet in the Gulf of Tonkin with the mission of halting the flow of supplies from North Vietnam to enemy forces in the south.

Seaman Recruit DEAN P. ACRE, USN, 19, son of Mr and Mrs Paul O. Acre of 8364 French Road, Elsie, has been graduated from nine weeks of Navy basic training at the Naval Training Center at Great Lakes, Ill.

In the first weeks of his naval service he studied military subjects and lived and worked under conditions similar to those he will encounter on his first ship or at his first shore station.

Army Corp. JEFFREY B. WIEGEL, 20, son of Mr and Mrs C. Bruce Wiegel, 224 N.E. Court Street, Ovid, was assigned to Company A of the 25th Infantry Division's 65th Engineer Battalion near Cu Chi, Vietnam, Nov. 3.

Three Clinton County soldiers have been assigned to Company D, 18th Battalion, 5th Brigade at the United States Army Training Center, Armor, at Ft. Knox, Ky.

They are Army Privates LE-ROY B. HARR, son of Mr and Mrs Edwin J. Harr of Price Road, R-2, Fowler; LAWRENCE W. PIERCE, son of Mr and Mrs Umbra Pierce of R-2, St. Johns; and DOUGLAS M. MICHELS, son of Mr and Mrs Homer M. Michels of 700 W. State Street, St. Johns.

They will spend the next two months learning the fundamental skills of the soldier—firing live ammunition under simulated, combat situations, learning protective measures and first-aid for chemical, biological and radiological attacks, as well as being schooled in the use of modern arms.

After basic training, they will receive an additional eight weeks of advanced instruction or on-the-job training to qualify them for specialized military skills.

Army Pvt. RICHARD M. BYRD, 18, son of Mr and Mrs Marion P. Byrd, 15080 Tallman Road, Eagle, arrived in Viet Nam Oct. 22 with his unit, the 503rd Infantry's 3rd Battalion.

The battalion, which was formed at Ft. Bragg, N.C., has joined the 173rd Airborne Brigade near An Khe.

Prior to arriving in the country, the paratroopers received intensive training in helicopter assaults, weapons firing and field maneuvers.

Pvt. Byrd is an assistant machine gunner in the battalion's Company C.

Offer free
recordings
to send GIs

OVID—Families of servicemen overseas, aboard ship or hospitalized can send them their voices again this year on a record made at Shiawassee Red Cross headquarters.

Last year John W. Totman, who is now out of the service and home, wrote to the chapter that the record was "the greatest thing my wife could have sent. 'I hope other lonely GIs like myself will get one next Christmas," he went on. "It warmed me very much."

Sgt. William H. McCraner wrote the chapter that he enjoyed the record of his wife, daughter, father, sister and brother-in-law. "The voices sounded as if they were talking to me in person," McCraner said.

THE SMALL RECORDS produced on a Sound Scriber will carry up to six minutes on each side. "It is a chance for families to share their love, affection, reassurance, encouragement and comfort with their servicemen and bring them closer to home for a few minutes," Mrs B.D. Prendergast, executive secretary of the Shiawassee chapter said. "The records make a nice keepsake and can be played over and over, she said. Servicemen have written the Red Cross that they have no trouble finding record players on which to play the records.

Red Cross personnel will be available, by appointment, to make recordings in private at chapter headquarters, 1302 W. Main Street, Ovid. Appointments for recordings will be scheduled from Nov. 20 to Dec. 15 from 10 a.m. to noon and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. Suggested instructions for preparing for the recording will be mailed at the time the appointment is made.

There is no charge for the recording.

Central School Principal Sam Serrell and English teacher Mrs. Barbara Bair chat with author John F. Carson last Thursday following a talk by Carson to students at Central School. Carson also spoke to the PTA at Central Thursday evening.

Author speaks to students here

John F. Carson, professor of adolescent psychology at Central Michigan University and well-known author of books for young people, spoke to the Central Junior High Student body and later to the PTA group from that school last Thursday.

Professor Carson's prime interest is in basketball, having been born a Hooster and having taught in Indiana schools as well as being principal in the type of school he describes in his books.

Many of the books are filled with characters whom he traces to students and faculty members in his own background. The students responded well to the author, whose books include "The Coach Nobody Liked," "Court Clown," "Hotshot" and several mystery and science fiction books.

An interesting lecturer, Professor Carson was asked to come to Central Junior High to speak by a former student of his, Mrs. Barbara Bair of Central's English Department.

An area teen leader training workshop will be held on Saturday, Dec. 2, at Smith Hall in St. Johns. The workshop will be from 9 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. Teen leaders from Clinton, Grafton and Shiawassee counties are invited to attend this training session and learn more about how to be a more effective teen leader. Any youth 14 years or older is welcome to attend; they need not be enrolled in the 4-H teen leader project.

Topics to be discussed include the role of the teen leader, leadership skills, program planning, working with younger members, demonstrations, action exhibits, communicating with adults and the psychology of persuasion. Any youth who plans on attending this workshop should send in their reservation to the county Extension office by Tuesday, Nov. 28. Members should bring a sack lunch. A beverage will be furnished.

Four Clinton County 4-H'ers and chaperones will leave Friday, Nov. 24, at 8 a.m. from the Extension office for Chicago on a 4-H award trip for four days. The 4-H'ers include Cindy Smith, Judith Whitlock, Tom Kehr and Robert Wesner all from St. Johns. The chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Nichols of DeWitt. While in Chicago the group will visit the livestock exposition, Museum of Science and Industry and the Chicago Board of Trade, tour the city, attend a top play or movie, eat in some of the outstanding restaurants and visit other points of interest during the four days.

A youth benefit dance will be held on Saturday, Dec. 2, from 8 - 11:30 p.m. at Smith Hall in St. Johns. Music will be furnished by the Bent Scepters of DeWitt. Any profits from this dance will be used toward the construction of the future horse barn at the fair grounds. All youth in the county are invited to attend this dance.

An electrical training meeting for 4-H members and leaders interested in the electrical project will be held on Monday, Nov. 27, at 7 p.m. at the Central National Bank building in St. Johns. Truman Surbrook, Extension agricultural engineer from Michigan State University, will be in charge of the program. Project plans, program ideas plus other topics will be discussed at this meeting.

The Double Bar E is the name of the new 4-H saddle horse club in the Elsie area. Officers for the club include: President Dana Lannen; Vice President Rose Mary Bors; Secretary and Reporter Ann Myers.

Dr. Richard Lannen showed movies of a trail ride and horses in general. The club discussed the possibility of purchasing a popcorn machine as a money making project but did not make a decision at this meeting. The club leaders are Rex Teferthiller, Jo Ann Teferthiller, Dr. Richard Lannen, and Bob Glinter. The next meeting will be Dec. 11 at 7 p.m. at the Elsie grade school.

The Country Corners 4-H club members will hold a Christmas party at their next meeting Dec. 12th at 7 p.m. at the home of their leader, Mary Snyder. Members are to bring gifts costing between 50 cents and a dollar. The following new members were initiated into the club: Paula Beck, Robin Clark, Debbie Howard, Cindy Lewis, Cindy Miller, Linda Miller, Sheila Snyder and Rita Wickwire.

The St. Therese 4-H members discussed money-making projects at their meeting Tuesday evening. The club will hold the meetings at the member's home instead of the school during the winter. Booklets and materials were passed out to the members.

The Double M-4-H club members presented a silver tray to their leaders, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Amos, at their achievement program on Nov. 11. The members showed their appreciation to the Amoses for their leadership to the club over the past several years with this gift.

The Happy Hustlers 4-H club members held their annual potluck dinner for members and parents. Vo Quang Tam, national 4-T leader of Viet Nam, was the speaker for the evening. I had the opportunity to present certificates, fair premiums and awards to the members. Kathy Schaefer gave a demonstration on milk called "Taking Milk Apart." Members and leaders enjoyed a wiener roast and party following the meeting.

The Prairie 4-H club has elected officers for the winter program. They are President Rosemary Barrett; Vice president Kathy Wakefield; Secretary Pamela Smith; and Newsreporter Janet Price. The members set up the program for the year.

The Pioneer Trail Riders 4-H members discussed feeding and caring of their horses during the winter at their last meeting. The members decided to discontinue meeting in the winter and will resume meeting next spring.

William Drouin of DeWitt is the new chairman of the county 4-H saddle horse leaders, and Jackie Andrews of Bath is the new secretary. Drouin is a leader in the Glackmore Riders 4-H club and Jackie Andrews is the organizational leader of the Lucky Riders 4-H club.

The committee discussed the future horse barn to be built at the fair grounds when sufficient funds are raised. Presently the leaders have $1,500.00 towards the barn. The size of the barn being considered is 60 x 90 feet and would house 90 horses at the fair.

The leaders are planning a winter meeting for members, parents and leaders in late January or early February. A committee will work out the program.

A clinic is being planned for next spring for 4-H members in the three-county area.

The SHCH and Chatter 4-H club members received their fair premium, pins and certificates at their last meeting. The county 4-H trip award winners were announced from the club. The club will hold a Christmas Party at the home of their teen leader, Ginger Simpson, on Dec. 12.

"Let's talk dry cleaning"

by Dana Anfes

Thanksgiving is a family occasion . . . a celebration which is uniquely American in its origin and purpose of pausing to give thanks for our blessings. It's truly one of the happiest holidays of the year. We hope your family will enjoy a wonderful Thanksgiving.

Chances are you'll have a traditional turkey dinner with all the trimmings. As dry cleaners, it just naturally occurs to us that these special meals often mean an unusually high ratio of food and gravy and beverage stains on ties and coat sleeves, blouses and dresses.

Since you'll probably be wearing some of your better finery for this occasion, you'll want to be sure to have it cleaned promptly so it'll be ready for the holidays coming up next month. Don't let food and gravy and drink stains "set".

If the clothes are washable, wipe off with a damp cloth—using water only. Never iron or apply heat on a stain. If the clothes should be dry cleaned, DO NOTHING. Never wipe or rub at a stain, for you'll just make matters worse.

Removing spots and stains is a part of our job. We're specialists at it, and we take pride in doing a job that's just a little bit better. Play is safe . . . call us to be sure!

But it's too early to tell effectiveness

Special services team off to smooth start

By LOWELL G. RINKER
Editor

Some St. Johns School District youngsters who are having problems in school are being affected by such basic situations as a failure to eat breakfast before they come to class.

A special services team working in two schools of the St. Johns district under a federal pilot grant are pin-pointing such problems and eliminating them.

"We run across a lot of kids who simply don't eat breakfast before they come to school," Director John Furry commented last week. "This can very seriously affect a child's attitude and his alertness in school, especially if there is a consistent habit of not eating breakfast before coming to school."

"For instance, we're working with a child now whom we feel certain that part of his problem is that he doesn't bring any lunch to school. He doesn't eat any lunch."

WHEN PROBLEMS SUCH AS THIS are diagnosed, both the teacher and the parents of the child are made aware of it by direct contact with members of the special services team.

There have been several "little victories" so far, but it's really a little early yet to tell what the real effectiveness of the "team approach" to special services will be.

"We can see some definite results," Furry said, "but when we're talking about such intangible things as attitudes and values, it's pretty hard to determine whether we caused them or whether they would have come along anyway."

On its pilot basis, the "team approach in special services" involves only the elementary students at Central School in St. Johns and the students at East Essex School. It is being funded by a $51,000 grant made to the school district last July under Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. The grant covers only the first year of the program.

The "team" consists of an elementary counselor (Ralph Conine), school social worker (George Janzen), school psychologist (Pat Clifford) and school nurse (Gertrude Buehler). Furry is director of the program.

Conine is the only full-time member of the team. The others work on the team half the time and spend the other half of their working hours at other jobs. Furry is guidance counselor at the high school; Janzen is a graduate student at Michigan State University; Mrs. Clifford is a diagnostician for the Clinton County Special Education Office; and Mrs. Buehler is a nurse for the school district.

"The idea of this team approach is that all the services will be directed and consolidated and worked together," Furry explained. "We have had in the past these same services, with the exception of the elementary counselor, who is new."

"THEY STILL WORK TO A great degree, individually with the student, particularly the counselor, but the advantage of the team is that we have weekly meetings to discuss case problems and come up with a course of action as to how we might be able to best help the child."

"More contact is made with the parent, and we're vitally interested in involving the parents in the process of helping the child. We also feel that by this approach we can be of greater assistance to the teachers in handling the responsibility of educating the child and helping him grow."

There's a definite advantage in having "others' heads" available for sharing information, Furry contends. "For one thing it makes the elementary counselor's job much easier and much more effective by having additional information. Normally he'll have information from the teacher as to her observance in the classroom and his own observance. He will talk with the child and attempt to get some insight from the child about what seems to be the problem. But without the assistance of the social worker and the school nurse, he might never uncover the problem that could stem from a physical handicap or an organic handicap."

So far the special services team is working with 22 children in the two schools. Most of them come from Central School, mainly because there are more teachers there and more referrals have come from East Essex. At Central the referrals are a combination of both city and rural youngsters.

"THIS ISN'T GUIDANCE IN THE sense that we're guiding them in their curriculum," Furry pointed out. "This is a program designed more for the social adjustment. I don't know if this is just the right phrasing to be using, but essentially this is what it is."

The procedures of the team are outlined in the second of a series of newsletters which Furry plans to send out to parents and teachers of the two schools involved.

The team approach in the area of special services program is a service to the child who has a social, emotional or behavior difficulty. Any child who, in the opinion of the parent, the teacher or any member on the team, does not benefit fully from his school experience is eligible for the services.

Typical difficulties are lack of academic progress (not due to lack of ability, necessarily), excessive fighting, shyness, temper tantrums, crying, laziness, chronic tardiness and absenteeism, stealing and other such anti-social behavior.

The staff and steering committee for St. Johns Public School's federal pilot program on the team approach to special services met together recently for the first of a series of advisory meetings. The steering committee members are seated around the table; they are, in clockwise order, Jim Rashid, Gordon Iacovoni, Dale Knight, Steve Bakita, Albert LeFevre, Sam Serrell, Helen Brown, Beverly Baker and Ann Briganti. The staff includes Ralph Conine (standing left), George Janzen, Pat Clifford, Gertrude Buehler, Ruth Nostrant and John Furry, who is director of the program. Mrs. Ruth Barclay, a part-time secretary, was not present for the picture.

The referring person, whether it be the principal or the teacher or the parent, is asked to sit down with a member of the special services team and discuss fully the child and his problems in order to determine the best plan of action. A referral form is filled out.

THE SPECIAL SERVICES TEAM WILL THEN confer and suggest action to be taken concerning the child. The teacher and the parent will be kept fully informed as to the progress of the case.

Just how far the team should go in their studies and recommendations is a topic they themselves seek guidance on. A steering committee has been appointed to act in an advisory capacity. Some of the members were on the original planning committee, when the project was conceived. They are all primarily oriented in education, "but first and foremost they were chosen because they are parents," Furry said.

The committee includes: Sam Serrell, principal of Central School; Beverly Baker, principal at East Essex; Mrs. Roderick Brown, lay parent; Gordon Iacovoni, lay parent and probation officer; Mrs. John Briganti, lay parent and former visiting teacher for the school system; Albert LeFevre, high school guidance director; Dale Knight, junior high counselor; Dr. Gilbert DeRath, psychologist for the Lansing Mental Health Clinic; Furry; and Steve Bakita (ex-officio), administrative assistant for the schools.

"WE STILL HOPE TO HAVE A representative of the medical people on the steering committee," Furry said. The committee held their first meeting Nov. 2.

The steering committee likely will be called upon to make recommendations on the future of the special services team after its first year of operation is completed in the spring. Decisions will have to be made then about whether the program goes ahead at full steam or is "phased out" entirely as federal participation is phased out during the three-year cycle of the pilot program.

(The exact costs and some philosophy behind the formation of the pilot program will be discussed next week in the second installment of this Clinton County News "In Focus" feature.)

Fowler delays decision on watershed group ties

FOWLER—When describing the work of the Michigan Grand River Watershed Council to village trustees here last week, John H. Kennaugh, executive secretary, stated that the area was losing many streams due to soil erosion.

He explained that the problem stems from developers not considering the consequences as they plan their developments, often stripping the top soil.

Working toward local governmental units, the council would like to see soil erosion controls included in building ordinances to alleviate the problem in the future.

Kennaugh also stated there were 48 governmental units supporting the council this year, with a total of 103 representatives.

Cost for membership of the units is 4.4 cents per capita, with the cost to Fowler $37.58 if trustees decide to join. Desiring to study the annual report given them by Kennaugh, the trustees decided to take no action as yet.

INCLUDED IN OTHER action the village council discussed and made these decisions concerning other projects and interests.

Postmaster James Halfmann was asked to obtain regulations from the U.S. Postal Department relative to whether the village can regulate postal boxes along the roads within its corporate limits.

Halfmann is already suggested phasing out such boxes, stating they constituted a hazard to rural mail carriers who had to stop to service them. He suggested to the trustees that they should not issue any permits for such boxes in the future.

The councilmen then decided that they thought this would be discriminatory and that they should either continue allowing them for all or ban the boxes altogether.

Other action included authorizing Timothy Green, village attorney, to draw up a proposed impaired driving ordinance for consideration at their next meeting.

THE COUNCIL OK'd parallel parking for one block on South Main Street, between Second and Third Streets. This will replace vertical parking now permitted in that block.

They passed a resolution making it mandatory that all new buildings be hooked for water and sewerage utilize outside remote water meters with the $15 meter charge to be paid at the time hook-up fees are paid.

Last business included authorizing new strings of Christmas lights for the 15 poles in the downtown area at a cost of $3.55 per 15-light string.

Fowler Jaycees plan gun safety course for kids

FOWLER—The Fowler Jaycees are planning to sponsor a course in safe gun handling, marksmanship and sportsmanship for boys and girls aged 7 to 14.

A preview presentation will be made before running the project in an effort to determine the community's response. Dick Fink and Bill Braun will head the program as chairman; other committee members include Dave Cole, LeRoy Schafer, Lewis Bushamp and Dick Frechen.

At a recent Jaycee meeting, the membership decided to purchase a blackboard for the town hall. A Jaycee Christmas party for the entire family of members will be held Dec. 9 at the K of C Hall.

Twenty boys and two den mothers are enrolled in the Cub Scouting program sponsored by the Jaycees. Cubmaster this year is Stan Platte.

US-27 widening contract awarded

The State Highway Commission last week approved contracts for the widening of US-27 in Lansing and southern Clinton County.

The highway will be widened from four to five lanes and paved with bituminous concrete for 2.8 miles from Douglas Street in Lansing north to Northcrest Rd. in DeWitt Township. The completion date has been set for Dec. 15, 1968.

The lowest of three bidders—Eisenhour Construction Co. of Lansing and T.A. Forsberg of Okemos, bidding jointly—were awarded the contract for $1,587,119, which was 3.7 per cent higher than engineering estimates.

Other bidders were Charles J. Rogers of Flint $1,677,102, and Weisman Contracting Co. of Detroit for $1,698,959.

ASC PROGRAM

No Cropland Adjustment Program planned for 1968

W. M. SMITH
County ASC Manager

We are getting a lot of requests for information about the Cropland Adjustment Program for 1968.

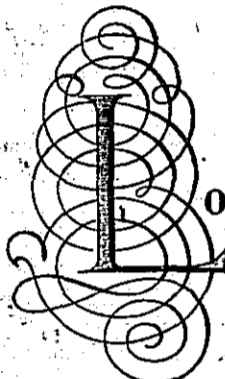

There will be no new Cropland Adjustment Agreements made for 1968, unless Congress votes funds for the program at a later date. All agreements made in 1966 and 1967 will continue for the number of years stated in the agreement.

This program had become popular with farmers who wished to gradually retire from farming while continuing to live on the farm.

At this time, it looks as though those producers planning on participating in the long range Cropland Adjustment Program will have to participate in the annual Wheat and Feed Grain Programs. For many producers, the return is about the same.

I WANT TO REMIND wool and Lots to be thankful for!

As we gather with friends and relatives for the annual Thanksgiving Day feast, we will be counting our blessings. Sure, we all have our problems and our sorrows, but we have many, many reasons for joy and thanksgiving.

Important among our personal blessings is the privilege of having so many of you as customers and friends of our business. It is our pleasure to serve your needs.

HAPPY THANKSGIVING!

Late harvest is accident cause

The late corn harvesting could result in an increase of farm accidents during this year's harvest, says Richard Pfister, Michigan State University extension and safety engineer.

Hurrying your late harvesting and working longer hours to make up lost time will only increase your risk of accidents, warns Pfister.

With the uncomfortable cold days and working in heavier clothing, farmers are tempted to take more chances than usual, the extension and safety engineer explained.

FROZEN STALKS that have been damaged by cornborers will break easier so it is important to keep the speed of snapping rolls and ground speed coordinated, Pfister advises.

He warns farmers to be careful of frozen ruts in the field that could cause fall-off accidents.

The days are shorter now, so farmers will have to travel on the highways after dark moving grain to storage. Pfister advises farmers to keep Slow Moving Vehicle emblems clean and in place, and to be alert for oncoming motorists.

He reminds farmers to keep equipment in proper operating condition, to shut down equipment before dismounting and to have pressurized dry chemical extinguishers mounted on equipment.

Clinton has winner in state FB contest

Miss Jeanette Mehney of St. Johns has been selected as state-wide talent winner in the Michigan Farm Bureau contest and will receive an all-expense-paid trip to Chicago. The announcement came last Tuesday at the reorganization of the Michigan Farm Bureau Board.

David Morris, Clinton County cattleman, was re-elected to the executive committee.

Elton R. Smith, Kent County dairyman, was re-elected to his fourth one-year term as president of the state organization, and Dean Priddy, Branch County swine producer, was re-named vice president.

Also re-named were Dan E. Reed, secretary-manager; William Wilkinson, assistant secretary; and William Beattie, treasurer. All are from the Lansing area.

FIVE NEW DIRECTORS, elected at the annual meeting of the Michigan Farm Bureau Nov. 7-8-9, were welcomed to their first formal session of the board of directors of the state's largest farm organization.

They included Andrew Jackson, Howell; James Thar, Decatur; Harry Nye, St. Joseph; Mrs. Jerrold Topliff, Eaton Rapids; and Michael Satchell, Caro. Jackson represents district three on the board, replacing Frank Smith, Jr., Carleton, who did not seek re-nomination. Thar holds an "at-large" position on the 16-member board, replacing Robert Zeeb, Bath. Nye represents district one, replacing Francis Finch, MISS JEANETTE MEHNEY Mattawan, who did not seek re-nomination.

Mrs. Topliff represents the state Farm Bureau Women's Committee, replacing Mrs. William Scramlin, Holly. Satchell replaces Raymond Launstein of Williamston as the Young Farmer representative on the board. In both cases incumbents were not subject to re-election under terms of their office.

The civil defense made a survey on the available food in America above the farm level. It was discovered that in case of a national disaster we had only 16 days food above the farm level if people cut their calorie intake to 2,000 calories per day. If they maintained the present diet of 3,000 calories per day we would have only 10 days of food above the farm level.

Recently Alvin Hamilton, former Canadian agricultural and resources minister, stated that a beef inventory prepared jointly by the Canadian and United States departments in 1961 projected a need for an additional 75 million feeder cattle by 1975. But we have raised the inventory about 7 million and we are about halfway through the period, he said.

From a world market report position, we are going to be forced to face the fact in Canada and the United States that unless dramatic, radical and expensive things are done, we are going to have to import beef cattle.

THE NATIONAL Catholic Rural Life Conference Executive Committee at Covington, Ky., reported that "The need for American wheat at home and abroad continues to exceed the present supply. The major phases of our food for peace efforts are being hamstrung by the wheat shortage."

In most American publications we read about the over-production of food by American farmers. Yet statements like the above are being printed frequently. The facts are we have not produced enough red meat in this country to feed our own people since 1952.

The United States imported 18 per cent of its red meat last year, and yet we hear that we have too many cattle and hogs and sheep and therefore our markets are down.

We hear the statement that we must keep our price down or we will price ourselves out of the world market. The support price for corn in the U.S. is $1.05 per bushel, South Africa $1.23, Kenya $1.25, Argentina $1.27, Columbia $1.34, and up the line to France at $2.17 per bushel.

WHO IS KIDDING whom about the U.S. farmers pricing themselves out of the world market? It is plain that the American people are being successfully brainwashed into accepting low farm prices by interests who are making fortunes at the farmers' expense.

Government spending driving food prices up

Food prices are rising again, but it should be remembered that the total bill at the checkout stand of a supermarket is a poor gauge of food prices.

Moreover, despite rising food prices, the long-term trend in the percentage of family income that goes for the purchase of food has been declining markedly for more than 20 years.

The cost of food, like the cost of everything else, is directly related to the spending and fiscal policies of government.

OUR CONGRATULATIONS to the Village of Ovid for the comprehensive new history of the community published by the village.

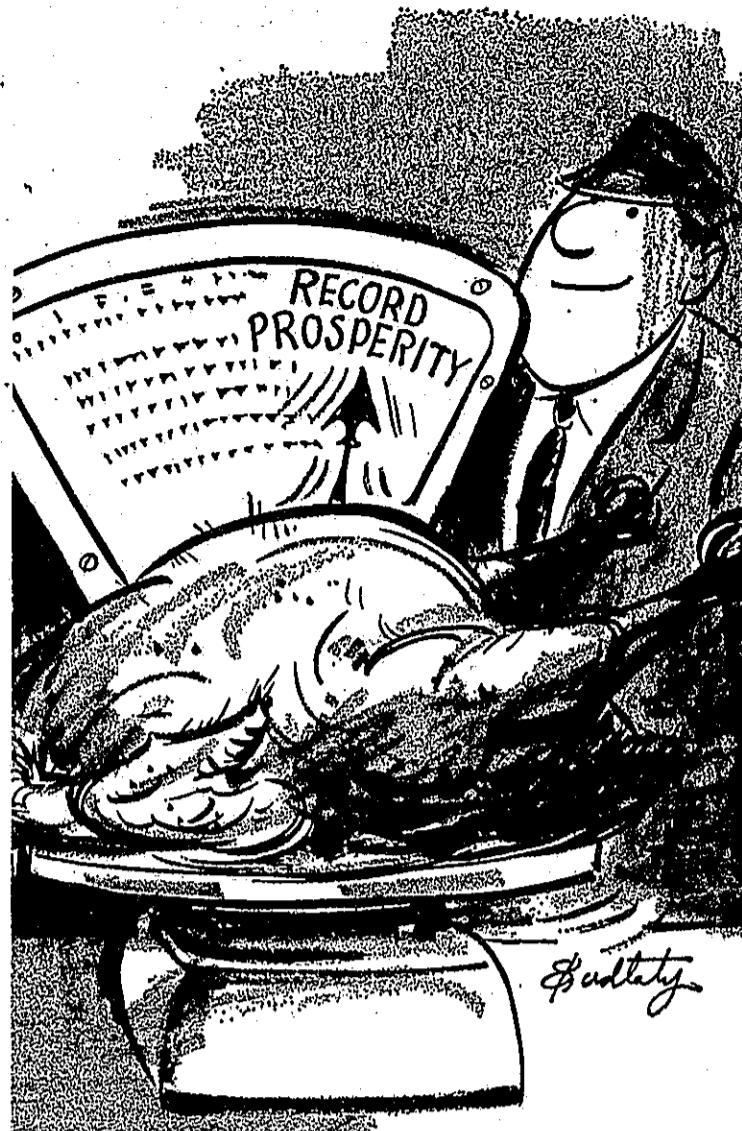

A real issue

Representative Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said there must be a halt in the growth of federal spending.

"Spending cuts in this fiscal year or in 1969, welcome as they would be, are not really the central objective.

SHOPPING EARLY for Christmas is probably a wise thing to do, but putting up Christmas decorations on the streets of our cities and villages six weeks ahead of time is a little too much.

A Real Heavyweight

from the HOPPER

By STEVEN HOPKO

The other day Mrs Harry DeVore of 417 Meadowview Drive in St. Johns brought in a newspaper column written by Frank R. Mills and published in the Hoopston, Ill., Chronicle-Herald.

To My Great Great Grandson, Frank R. Mills: Inasmuch as we shall never meet, I want to leave you this note of appreciation.

You see, it was during my lifetime that the leaders of the United States decided to spend some of the money that your great grandparents, grandparents, and parents (most likely your descendants, too) would have to pay.

Our practice of deficit spending was started during a financial depression, and continued through a great conflict called World War II.

We voted ourselves benefits but not taxes to pay for them. We popularized "welfare" as a position of honorable acceptance rather than charity.

blew in millions on people overseas. We wanted them to come down out of the trees and jungle and learn the enjoyment of gasoline, toothbrushes, unemployment pay, free medicine and higher education.

In 1963 a tax cut seemed good political thunder, so our leaders offered us a $10 billion slice, notwithstanding our deficit in 1962 was greater than that.

I hope you won't hate the memory of my generation. Mostly, they were darn fine people. They would have liked to leave you the same rich, debt-free heritage that they received, but in the name of progress we had to get the money from someone. We took it from you, Thanks.

With fond appreciation, Great, Great, Grandpa Frank.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Big battle looms on who will run schools in Michigan

BY ELMER E. WHITE Michigan Press Assn.

Who will run the schools continues to shape up as a major issue. It must be dealt with in the near future.

The hassle at Northern Michigan University where some students and some faculty people refused to attend classes to demonstrate their objection to an administration decision is only one feather in a big wind of controversy. The "strike" dissipated in the face of an apparent not-so-empty threat from a legislative committee to close down the university altogether.

Teachers' strikes at the local level made a serious problem earlier this fall. Those are settled now. But another fall is coming.

The elimination of local school boards is the aim of one militant teacher union. According to Thomas Hill, Michigan Federation of Teachers, the local boards serve no function and should be destroyed. Since there is bound to be those who disagree violently with this concept, it is possible a battle can take place that will shake many communities to the roots.

PARENTS AND TAXPAYERS might take new interest in the idea that the school system really belongs to them because it is their children who "are being educated and it is they who pay the bills.

If they insist on expressing this concern and control through a local school board of elected representatives, they might resist to great degree the thought that any group of employees should take over the responsibility of running the local school.

Teacher organizations hold that they have the student's interest at heart just as much as parents do; and that they are in the best position to know what will help students most. This may be true, but there are those who are concerned the teachers will help themselves too much in the process.

The record of some school boards supports the position the militant teachers take. Many have been slow to act; slow to modernize the system; certainly slow to pay teachers salaries a community can be proud of. Some have been slow to demand teaching of a quality they can be proud of, too.

A MORE MODERATE position is taken by Michigan Education Assn., an older, larger organization than the Federation. MEA wants professional educators to have a good deal more control of the system, but not at the expense of eliminating the boards. The official MEA position is that their members will obey laws in their battles with school boards and others. The official position of MFT is that they will disregard laws which interfere with their goals.

Success of teachers at the local level in recent strikes has not been lost on some college professors. It can be expected that some of these might decide the strike is the best way to win the points they think are justified.

The issue may not be resolved in the near future, but it will be live, hazardous and important. If pressures connected with the school issue can develop a more basic interest among the parents and taxpayers, if the teachers are not too unreasonable or too adamant in their demands, it is possible a better education will result for young people of the state.

A GALLANT EFFORT to thrive is underway by a relatively small segment of Michigan farmers. Even though Michigan is third in the production of wine, it is a long ways behind California and New York. Grape growers are fighting to gain the market for their product they think it deserves.

In March 1966, after prodding from a young MSU Ph.D., Sigmond H. Schanderl, the Michigan Wine Institute was revitalized. Dr Schanderl had come from California where he was active in wine production and was anxious to build both the quality of Michigan's wine and a market.

Snob appeal of imported wines is now the biggest problem the Michigan product faces. Michigan-produced wine can be sold for less because of a tax differential of 4 cents per gallon compared to 50 cents for imported wine; and because transportation costs are lower.

Koyal has held wine tastings where people rated unlabeled wines. In some instances, he reports, the Michigan-produced wine was rated best.

THERE IS MUCH ROOM for progress. Per capita consumption of wine in Michigan has been increasing, but sales of Michigan-produced wine has not increased accordingly.

So grape growers in southwest Michigan, where soil and climate conditions are right for the hybrid plants which produce the finest wines, are joining in this new campaign to increase acceptance of their product.

Two of the rarest coins—each said to be worth $29,000 now—are the California Slug, a $50 gold piece privately minted in 1851, and the 1804 silver dollar.

Keys

I reckon I'm a hayseed With a real hayseed outlook, I'm not quite hep to modern ways 'N modern slants on crooks.

The rural background I confess Before I moved to town, Ne'er felt the need to lock each door 'N bolt the windows down.

The neighborhood was not afraid As we've become today, That folks would take advantage 'N cart the place away.

The early cars as I recall In which we took much pride, Was not so tight you'd wreck 'em If you left your key inside!

In school we did not need to lock Each book we used today, 'Er figger all our worldly goods Would up 'n walk away.

Nowadays you're liable to find If your car is found unlocked, You musn't leave a thing to chance— 'Er it will sure be "hocked"!

They even have a buzzer now To make like rattlesnake, 'N warn if you should leave the key— As though you're not awake.

Some churches where we worship, Keeps their rest-rooms locked to see That nobody can use 'em Without they have a key!

I think they call it progress This mania fer locks, That trusts nobody anywhere Until he's in a box.

And I, though I despise it, Must join the ill-at-ease, 'N spend all my declinin' years Forever jangling keys.

RAMBLIN' with Rink

By LOWELL G. RINKER

There has been a big change at our house in recent weeks, mainly because of our daughter. And that particular change is because she is learning things and apparently having a ball doing it.

The most noticeable change to the person driving or walking past the house is probably the array of "artwork" in the front window of the living room. No longer can we have clear vision when we look outside.

Crayon-colored and water color-colored papers have been taped to the window by our little artist, and any attempt to take them out would be met with quick replacement.

Kathy is constantly coloring. She always has and seems to be doing it more now. Most of it is fairly good work, and all of it is colorful, sometimes to the point of being loud. A lot of the "artwork" in the window was colored at home and is out of coloring books; other pieces of art were done at school, free-hand I suppose.

WE DON'T REALLY mind the window being cluttered up. Despite the fact it makes the room somewhat darker than it was when the drapes are open, it is all rather colorful. (We haven't asked the dog her opinion yet; her chair is in front of the window, and we're sure her view of the outside world is hampered by the presence of all the paper.)

Inside the house there are changes taking place that the outsider wouldn't see. One of the biggest has been from my reading stories to Kathy to Kathy reading stories to me. This is a startling change after about five years of being saddened doing the reading.

The plot of the stories she reads leaves something to be desired, but not her enthusiasm. Last Thursday evening she crawled up on my lap to read the swashbuckling adventures of Dick and Jane. "Oh, look, see Spot run. Oh, oh, oh." Etc.

AS SHE jerkily read through the chapters, she would periodically run across a word she didn't know. "We haven't learned that word yet, Daddy," she would explain.

"Sound it out," I replied, knowing the teacher had been working with the children on this sort of thing. Then would come a series of guttural sounds that sometimes did and most-times didn't provoke the correct word. (The sounding-out instructions of her teacher have apparently been taken seriously by Kathy; frequently she will be playing in her room and we will hear her trying to sound out a word in her color book or story book.)

Last Wednesday night Kathy called me into the bedroom where she was writing on her chalkboard. "I can spell 'pop,'" she said. And she did. "How do you spell 'mom'?" I asked. When she didn't know, I told her to sound it out, and she wrote down "m-i-m." I corrected her on that and then asked her to write "dad." She did, and this evoked such great joy that she immediately called her mother away from the dishes to show her the words she could write. But she forgot how.

The learning process surely is exciting for a first-grader . . . and for her folks. —rink

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Reader admires action, not just anti-talk

To Editor: Since I moved back to St. Johns seven years ago I have heard many remarks concerning the city government. Nothing visible has ever been done.

Now it appears a large number of citizens oppose the city income tax and a committee has been formed to get a referendum so the people may vote on the issue.

Many remarks have been made about the professional people on this committee. I admire this committee (professional and non-professional) for having the "gumption" to do something other than talk if they feel the people of St. Johns have not been represented fairly.

MARY EWING 102 N. Morton Street

DELPHI, IND., JOURNAL-CITIZEN: "Today you asked me for a job. From the look of your shoulders as you walked out, I suspect you've been turned down before, and maybe you believe by now that kids out of high school can't find work. But, I hired a teenager today. You saw him. He was the one with the polished shoes and a necktie. What was so special about him? Not experience; neither of you had any. It was his attitude put him on the payroll instead of you. Attitude, son; ATTITUDE. He wanted that job badly enough to shuck the leather jacket, get a haircut, and look in the phone book to find out what this company makes. He did his best to impress me. That's where he edged you out."

THERE IS MUCH ROOM for progress. Per capita consumption of wine in Michigan has been increasing, but sales of Michigan-produced wine has not increased accordingly.

It was an interesting conversation to hear. A young lady of 18 was talking with a learned man. He had asked her about her career, what line of training she wanted to pursue. She said, "Well you know, sir, I would like to become a psychologist, but it requires so much time in school that I am afraid I would be too old." The wise man sat in silence for a few moments and then asked, "Young lady, how long would it take you to become a psychologist?" She said, "Probably seven years." "How old would you be then?" was the next question. "I would probably be about 25." Then the man asked, "How old will you be in seven years if you don't become a psychologist?" Of course, her answer was, "Well, I guess I would be about 25."

A provocative thought. How many people have cheated themselves? How many have relinquished their desires and forfeited their dreams because the voices of procrastination and failure whispered negative thoughts into their ears? This is where many fall into the trap of growing old when they are, in reality, still young. They grow prematurely old because, in their early years, they start planning to grow old. If you were to drop your left arm to your side, let it hang limp and not move a muscle for six weeks it would, of course, wither and become useless. But, in contrast, if you chin yourself 20 times before breakfast each morning, or lift the bar bells, your muscles will become strong and responsive. Our mind is like our muscles. If we allow it to get lazy and inactive, then it will lose its keenness, but if we exercise it regularly, it too will become strong and responsive. It was Frank Battger who said, "The man who keeps learning stays young. The greatest thing in life is to keep the mind young." Henry Ford put it this way, "The man who stops learning is old, whether he be 20 or 80."

We have but to look around us, no matter where we may live, and we can spot evidence of this great truth. We can see people young in years, but old in mind and spirit, simply because they allowed themselves to fall into a mental rut. They stopped exercising their minds, they stopped learning. Look just a little further. Pick out that vibrant, happy older man or lady who has lived more years but is still young in spirit and comparatively young in body. Study that person. You will probably find him, or her, to be one who is always looking for new experiences. One who is interested in things, and in people, and in life. You will probably find him to be a person who is constantly wanting to learn. He has exercised his mind. This is why youth has blessed him all these years and will probably continue.

What we do with our lives today, what we do to discover and develop our hidden talents and abilities now, when we don't have to, this will determine what and where we will be when the day comes when we can no longer help it. This is a part of the self-preparation that is so vital to those who want to make the most of life.

The "Low Down"

From the Congressional Record

By Joe Crump

Retail lobby winning revolving credit fight

Rep. Leonora K. Sullivan (Mo.) . . . It is obvious that unless the automobile dealers in every city and town in this country, and the banks—big and small—get busy and let their members of Congress know the vital importance to their businesses of having all credit grantors treated the same in the legislation, the department stores and chain-stores and mail-order houses using "revolving credit" may win a great victory over competing types of consumer credit.

"The retailer's lobby has been working diligently, and with great effect, in trying to convince Congress that revolving credit is so different from other types of credit that it should enjoy the special exemptions voted by the Senate, and not have to disclose finance charges on an annual percentage rate basis.

"UNDER THE Senate-passed bill, the banks must give an annual rate, the automobile dealers must do it—even on those accessory items on which the department stores compete with them for business—the small loan firms will have to give an annual rate, the furniture stores and other installment houses, which also compete with department stores, will have to do it, but the department stores and Sears, Wards, Penney's and other users of revolving credit will not. . . .

"Testimony before our subcommittee on consumer affairs showed that most consumers believe a monthly rate of 1 1/2 per cent on credit charges is very low. In shopping for credit they almost always choose such a rate in preference to one of 18 per cent a year. Of course, they are the same rate, but the customer does not realize it.

"If the automobile dealers and the banks and others which extend credit do not want to lose business or at least spend a large proportion of the time and effort in completing a credit transaction in trying to explain why their rate is competitive with the department store rate, they had better let their members of Congress know quickly why they feel the Senate-passed bill is terribly discriminatory.

"Otherwise, I am very much afraid the nonusers of revolving credit may lose this battle. We are divided six to six in the subcommittee on this issue. Most of us have received very few letters on it from businessmen except from furniture dealers. The others have not been heard from in any volume. . . ."

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT
It's a little odd to find the banking lobby out-manuevered. The automobile dealer's lobby, The National Automobile Dealers Assn., also appear to be resting on their oars.—J.C.

LESTER J. ALLEN
STATE REPRESENTATIVE
D-18 DISTRICT

RECESS SET FOR
CONSTITUENT POLL

The House Republican caucus last week decided to call for a legislative recess until December 12 to give members an opportunity to establish a dialog with their constituents on the important issues now before the Legislature.

Many representatives felt that they had not had ample time to explain the content and implications of the "fair housing" and "court reorganization bills" to people in their districts. So for the next couple of weeks, legislators will fan out across the state to explain the issues and measure reaction and opinion in the various districts.

"GOOD ROADS" BILLS
SIGNED INTO LAW

Governor Romney last week signed the "Good Roads" bill package into law. The measures will provide some $60 million in additional funds for highway construction and allow tolls to be lowered on the Mackinac Bridge.

Because of the approval of the new revenue-producing bills, the State Highway Department has indicated that previously announced delays in the state road program will be reconsidered. Many of the projects will now be restored, although no announcement has yet been made by the Department on which portions of the master road-building plan will be affected.

A significant part of the package is the amendment which pledges $3.5 million annually toward retirement of outstanding Mackinac Bridge bonds. This will allow the lowering of passenger car tolls from $3.75 to about $1.50, and reduction of other tolls accordingly. This is a major step in economically revitalizing the Upper Peninsula, and will forge a stronger link between Michigan's twin peninsulas.

New funds under the "Good Roads" program will begin coming in after Jan. 1, 1968. Tolls will probably be lowered around the start of 1969, after first year revenues from the package have built up.

NEW LAWS FOR
DEER HUNTERS

Michigan's deer hunting season opened last weekend, and there were several new laws passed during the regular session this year which are of special interest to deer hunters.

First of all, the Legislature eliminated the split seasons for hunting in the Upper and Lower Peninsulas. Previously, the Lower Peninsula season ran for 16 days from the third Saturday in November, and the U.P. season was 16 days beginning with the Saturday nearest Nov. 15. This year, by a quirk of the calendar, both starting dates were the same, so there was a uniform statewide deer hunting season of Nov. 18 to Dec. 3.

Next year, and in each subsequent year, this new hunting law (P.A. 293 of 1967) will establish a uniform season for deer hunting of Nov. 15 through Nov. 30.

The same bill also provides that the Conservation Commission has authority to declare open deer seasons in areas where there is serious danger of collisions between motor vehicles and deer.

Another provision of this revision of the hunting statutes provides for a change in the bow and arrow deer hunting season. Previously the bow and arrow season ran from Oct. 1 to the opening of the firearms deer hunting season in mid-November. Now bow and arrow hunters will also be able to take deer in Zone 3 (Southern half of the Lower Peninsula) from the end of the gun season until the end of the year. This year, the extended bow hunting will be from Nov. 4 to Dec. 31 in Zone 3.

Another revision of the State Hunting Law passed during the regular 1967 session (P.A. 110 of 1967) changes deer hunting firearms regulations in the South half of Lower Michigan and cracks down on "deer shiners".

The new law allows use of flintlock or percussion cap muzzle loading rifles of .44 caliber or larger in the "shotgun" deer hunting zone, South of highway M-57. Previously, shotguns and rim fire .22 caliber rifles could be used in the zone. However, the new law now prohibits use of the .22 caliber rim fires in the "shotgun" area.

This legislation also places more stringent regulations on the use of artificial lights in hunting, in an attempt to thwart "deer shiners". The "shiners" attempt to confuse and stun deer and other game by using such artificial lighting as auto headlights. Deer, with powerful lights suddenly flashed in their eyes, often freeze momentarily, making them easy targets for the "shiners."

This same new act also contains provisions regarding special hunting permits to amputees and disabled persons, and levies sterner penalties for illegally killing game animals.

A third new law affecting deer hunters (P.A. 25 of 1967) allows servicemen home on furlough to obtain a small game or deer
