A TIME OF THANKS FOR BOUNTIFUL HARVEST

The harvest is in — colorful Indian corn, bright pumpkins and plump squash. And Mr Turkey reigns supreme. It's Thanksgiving, since days of the Pilgrims a time to count blessings for a bountiful year. The Thanksgiving setting is created by Lisa Barr, 8-year-old daughter of Mr and Mrs Harold Barr of Middleton, and Lynn Bradley, 7-year-old son of the Robert Bradleys of rural Maple Rapids.

Prayerful thanks to God

Many St. Johns area residents will give their thanks for blessings received by attending worship services at several churches Thanksgiving morning.

Four musical groups will be featured at the First Baptist Church on South US-27. The Youth Choir of 34 members from grades four through eight will sing "Thanks to God," the men's chorus will sing "There is Glory in My Soul," the women's ensemble has selected an arrangement of "Count Your Blessings," and the adult choir's number will be Psalm 100, "Enter Into His Gates."

Mrs Roger Harrison, wife of the pastor, will lead the youth choir and women's ensemble, with Mrs Dale Lowe on the piano. Rev Harrison will direct the men's chorus and adult choir. Mrs Robert Dittmer will accompany the men's chorus, and Mrs Edward Loznak will play for the adult choir and the congregational singing. (Photographs of the musical groups participating appear elsewhere in this issue.)

Pastor Harrison has chosen for his text the well-known Psalm 100 with the message entitled "A Clue to Life's Meaning—Thanksgiving." The 9:30 a.m. service will be broadcast over WJUD radio.

Rev Gerald Churchill will give his sermon on "Now Thank We All Our God," at the 9:30 a.m. Thanksgiving service at the First Congregational Church. The senior choir of the church will sing.

All persons who have no family gatherings planned for that day are invited to return to the church around noon for a shared Thanksgiving dinner in Wilcox Hall.

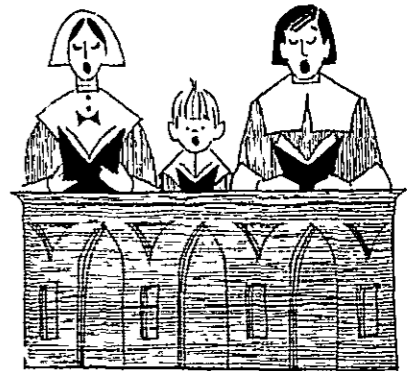

The First Methodist Church will also have a Thanksgiving service at 9:30 a.m., with the Rev Keith A. Bovee speaking on "Blessed Are the Meek." Special music will be furnished by the chancel choir.

St. Joseph Catholic Church will have Thanksgiving Mass at 7:30 and 9 a.m.

St. John's Episcopal Church will have communion service at 10 a.m. Thanksgiving morning.

St. John's Lutheran Church will also have holy communion at the 10 a.m. service.

Review discloses many facets of C of C

By BETTY JANE MINSKY
Secretary-Manager
St. Johns Chamber of Commerce

The St. Johns Chamber of Commerce began its annual membership drive last Wednesday morning, aiming at a goal of $6,000 in membership fees.

A small but dedicated group of members have been out pounding on doors of local business, professional and industrial men in an effort to induce them to become members of the local organization.

Why? Quite simple. We need $6,000 if we are to continue in the months ahead with the program that is necessary to promote our community and its economy in the way that your board of directors feel it needs to be promoted.

To sell our potential prospects, we are using a number of pieces of literature this time which we feel tell the C of C story. One of them, "It's A Matter of Record" is especially good as it highlights the accomplishments of this organization during the past 18 months. It's a record we are proud of and one which we feel more people should know about.

ANYONE WHO desires a copy of this brochure can obtain one by calling our office.

Briefed up considerably, the record contains the following:

C of C initiates first Miss St. Johns contest: Consider this in terms of what these girls are doing in representing us in community events, programs, parades, etc. And, consider how this affects the relationship with these high school candidates, girls who are soon to be the housewives and mothers of this community. It gives them a close working relationship with the organization representing the businessmen and makes for a broader understanding. Money cannot buy this type of good will.

C of C appears on TV in Flint, Cadillac, Kalamazoo, Lansing: Not once, but five times during the past 18 months. Ever tried to buy five to 10 minutes of prime advertising time? If so, we don't have to tell you the worth of this type promotion in selling a community.

C of C welcomes new residents: How much is it worth to have a letter of welcome, along with city map, county map and brochures on St. Johns presented to each new resident in behalf of the business element of our community? Another service of YOUR CC which cannot be measured in dollars and cents, but one that goes a long way in making a community a nice place in which to live.

C OF C CO-OPS IN bringing Grange convention here: and, "If you don't think that was a project, well then you should have been working on it and trying to find housing for the many hundreds who came. Add up what each of these people spent during the four days they were here and you will find it far surpassed what the C of C received in membership dues during the past year. Certainly this alone was a good dividend on the investment made.

Parade, Santa here Friday

That jolby gentleman from the North Pole will be in St. Johns this Friday evening to assist with the kickoff of pre-Christmas activities in St. Johns.

A parade, tree lighting and singing of carols are scheduled. The parade will begin at 7:30 p.m., with the parade group to form at 7 p.m. at the railroad station. The parade will then make its way up Clinton Avenue to the courthouse lawn.

THE PARADE WILL include Chamber of Commerce and city officials, Dorothy Evitts (Miss St. Johns), Boy Scouts and den mothers, a child benefactor of the Communities Chest, new automobiles from St. Johns dealers and the Santa Claus train.

Parade Chairman Bill Patton urged bystanders to get in the parade by following Santa Claus up Clinton Avenue to the courthouse square where the rest of the evening's activities will take place.

C. Lester Jenkins will be master of ceremonies for the program there, and the Christmas tree will be lighted by a child benefactor of the Communities Chest. Rev. Roger Harrison of the First Baptist Church will give the devotional, and the Wilsonaires, under the direction of Gordon Vandemark, will sing several Christmas carols.

KURT BECKER is general chairman for the Christmas program.

Santa will not stay in St. Johns for any length of time this Friday night, but he will be back for visits with children Dec. 3, 10 and 17.

FEATHER PARTY—Fri., Dec. 2 at the St. Johns Firehall—7:30 p.m. Sponsored by the St. Johns Volunteer Firemen. 30-2

But jobs compliment each other

Local health department not state branch

by ROY MANTY, Chief
Division of Local Health Administration
Michigan Department of Public Health

The term "health department" means different things to different people in Michigan. Perhaps this is because not enough publicity has been given to the way our public health organizations are interrelated. As a consequence, it is really not too strange to encounter intelligent and otherwise well-informed Michigan citizens who assume that their local health department is a branch of the state health department—or who think that every county in Michigan has its own separate health department. Neither assumption is true.

While all health departments do work together and coordinate their efforts to get the job done, still there are different kinds and levels of health departments in Michigan. There is the state health department (called the Michigan Department of Public Health) and then there are the local health departments (which may serve a single county, a city-county combination, or a multi-county "district"). In one way or another every county in Michigan is now served by a functioning public health department (either of its own, or in combination with other counties or a city). This was not true as recently as one year ago—before enactment of a state law making local health departments mandatory for all counties in the state.

IN GENERAL, IT IS THE LOCAL health department which actually renders the service to the public, while the state health department's role is primarily one of guiding and coordinating this effort; providing consultation in the various areas of technical specialty; and operating public health laboratories which provide many essential materials and services to local units.

Michigan law provides that the plan of organization and the program and services of the local health department be approved by the head of the state health department (the state director of public health)—who must also approve the qualifications of the local health officer.

Yet the local health officer is actually selected and hired by the county board of supervisors, which establishes the local health department in the first place. Most state laws concerning health are actually enforced by the local health department, along with its own local regulations as adopted by the board of health or board of supervisors.

A GOOD LOCAL HEALTH DEPARTMENT offers a lifetime of health protection to everyone in the community. There services include:

—*baby and child care information and services, expectant parent classes, home nursing visits, and immunization of children

A note from the editor

The Mid-Michigan District Health Department, which has been functioning since last April, is not a specific branch of the State Department of Health. But it does enforce state health laws, and the state does assist the local department with laboratory and other such work, as explained in this article which appeared in the September-October issue of Michigan's Health.

and adults to protect them from crippling and killing diseases.

—*health protection for school children including vision and hearing testing, advice on food and eating habits, and regular sanitary inspections to assure clean schools and safe playgrounds.

—*safeguarding the food that is prepared and served in the community.

—*assuring safe water supplies and proper disposal of wastes through inspection of these facilities on farms, in trailer parks, motels, resorts, camps, and in homes not connected to municipal services.

—*conducting casefinding and control programs for such diseases as tuberculosis, venereal disease, heart disease, cancer, and diabetes.

—*LICENSING AND CONSULTATION programs for nursing homes and homes for the aged to insure a high level of care for older persons. Home nursing services to provide follow-up care of patients discharged from hospitals and to carry out programs de-

SAVINGS BOND QUIZ

Question: Back in the early 1940's, my aunt bought a number of Series E bonds in various war bond drives. We came across them the other day while helping her clean out some papers. Are they any good? Answer: Just as good as the day she bought them; even more so, because interest has been accruing on them since that day and is continuing to accrue. No E Bond ever sold has stopped earning interest.

When A Man Gives Thanks...

When a man gives thanks he is recognizing how small a part he himself has contributed to this world's abundance.

When a man gives thanks he is expressing his affection for and his dependence on those who constantly share the experiences of his life.

When a man gives thanks he is laying aside his discontents to rejoice in the more numerous and more meaningful satisfactions that have marked each passing day.

When a man gives thanks he is escaping from the webs of pride, greed and self-addition that could otherwise imprison his soul.

When a man gives thanks he is meeting God on God's own ground. For God is God! And we are His children.

When a man gives thanks he is discovering his greater need. For all that God has provided is but the threshold to all that God promises.

Welfare seeks home for patients

Expanding service has led the Clinton County Department of Social Services to issue a call for homes for patients. Some of the patients may be those ready to be released from institutions throughout the state; others may be elderly patients in need of nursing care.

Most of the patients are ambulatory, the department said. Some will require medication which must be supervised. "All need kindness, consideration and a sense of being wanted. In an ideal placement the patients feels he is a part of the family setting."

PATIENTS AND HOME operators will be contacted regularly by social workers from the local staff. Any problems arising may be discussed at those regular meetings. Home operators may also contact the department if assistance or advice is needed.

Families interested in providing this type of care may contact the Clinton County Department of Social Services at 1003 S. Oakland Street in St. Johns. A home-finder will call at the house to explain more fully the program requirements, rate of payment and will furnish an application.

Persons wishing to may write the home finder direct, giving complete address and directions to the home. The home finder is Mrs Elaine Harbron, Saginaw Field Office, 924 Houghton Street, Saginaw, Mich. 48605.

Fulton students all smiles!

By JANET MANCHESTER
Fulton High School

Wednesday, Nov. 16, everyone was looking their best. Why? Activities pictures, of course. Teams, cheerleaders, student council and various activity groups smiled pretty for Mr Gleason's camera.

The junior class sponsored a dance last Friday night. Members of the class acted as disc jockeys. They gave away prizes including records and a transistor radio.

THE GIRLS' basketball team has been chosen. On the varsity are: Pam Dean, Brenda Upton, Linda Miller, Anna Ollsen, Marvina Numaker, Sandi Borle, Wanda Blemaster, LuAnne Dodge, Colleen Shinabarger, Karen Cole, Sue Salisbury and Marlene Stewart.

The junior varsity team consists of Diane Antes, Sydney Armstrong, Connie Cooper, Ruth Meyers, Pat Guernsey, Mary Gray, Sue Pendell, Anita Pierce, Mary Pihl, Theresa Proke, Jenette Salisbury, Sue Sattler, Rosemary Smith, Jayne Troub and Jeremy Van Sickle.

The managers this year are Pat Knight and Darinda Penk. The teams play their first game on Dec. 14.

THE FULTON Pirates will travel to Portland Saint Patrick Nov. 29, to begin the basketball season. Students were very happy to see Thanksgiving arrive, especially because it brought about a two-day vacation from school. Turkey dinner was served in the cafeteria Wednesday.

An all school assembly will be held Tuesday, Nov. 29, at 9 a.m.

Woodpeckers have built-in shock absorbers. The bones between the beak and skull of a woodpecker are not rigidly connected. Unlike most other birds, the connective tissue is spongy and elastic.

85 attend sports dinner at Ovid-Elsie

By CATHY ROBINSON
Ovid-Elsie High School

On Saturday evening, Nov. 12, 85 parents with sons attended the first fall banquet of Ovid-Elsie, held at the Elsie gym. The banquet was for the cross-country team, varsity cheerleaders, and varsity football team of Ovid-Elsie.

The banquet was pollock with scalloped potatoes and meat loaf as the main course. Dane Flegel gave the invocation. Mr Foreback, master of ceremonies, introduced all the coaches of Ovid-

Elsie, superintendents, Mr Lentz, principal at Elsie, and Mrs Kukul, cheerleading advisor.

All the coaches gave comments on the team they coached for the past season. They told also how it developed as the season went on.

THE TEAM VOTED before the banquet on who they thought was most numerous, tape kit, most valuable, captain and three captains for next year of the 1966 football team. Bruce Byrnes was most numerous, Mike Seybert for tape kit, Mike Lewis was the most desirous to play, and captains for next year are L. D. Jones, Don Wilson, and Jerry Gazda. ## Hoop activity starts Friday

Without much hesitation, the high school sports year will shift into second gear this Friday with the opening of the 1966-67 basketball season. The Friday schedule is limited, but next Tuesday all Clinton area teams will get into the act. As we did with football season, the Clinton County News is planning wider and more intensive coverage of the bouncing ball sport, including both word and picture stories of the top games each week in the county and wrap-up stories of other games in the four leagues which area teams play in.

For the most complete Clinton area basketball reports, watch the Clinton County News.

Wings "short" but hope for good year

When a basketball team is short on experience and short on height, its fans might look for a 1-0-0-ong season.

St. Johns High School has a Redwing basketball team that possesses those qualities, but Coach William Swears is definitely not wearing gloom. The Redwings aren't short on the most important quality—talent—and Swears is more than hopeful that quality will come to the fore and offset the other drawbacks.

Swears' squad of 12 men consists of only two over six feet in height, only five with varsity experience, only three letterwinners, and only one starter back from last year.

THE TALLEST MAN, and the only starter returning, is 6-foot, 3 1/2-inch center Bill DeGroot. He's a senior who last year led the team in rebounding with 201 and was an honorable mention all-star selection in the West Central Conference. He scored 146 points during the year.

Gary Boyce, who played only about half the season last year because of a football injury, and Randy Humphrey are the only other letter-winners. Boyce is 5-7 in height, Humphrey 5-9. Both are seniors. They are presently "battling it out" with junior John Salemi (5-7) for the starting guard spots when the Redwings meet Ovid-Elsie here next Tuesday night.

The only other senior on this year's squad is forward Brian Swatman (5-10). He played last year, but didn't get enough action time for a varsity letter.

THE SECOND, AND only other, Redwing player standing over six feet in height is junior Steve Gregory, who's 6-1. Jeff Noblis is six feet even, while Don Palmer and Bob Cochran and sophomore John Berkhausen are 5-11.

Berkhausen is one of the top contenders for a starting position as forward; Gregory and Swatman are also working hard to get that spot on opening night. Other new faces from last year's JV squad are John Markman (5-10), Mike McKay (5-5), and Tom Rademacher (5-10). The JVs had a 9-7 record last year.

SORELY MISSED this year will be the Redwings' two outstanding forwards last season, Jim Leonard and Dennis Springer; both boys were on the all-conference team and averaged about 17 points a game. Also gone by way of graduation are last year's starting guards, Gene Rademacher and Bob Ortwein.

"We've got a long way to go," Coach Swears acknowledged last week. "But I've got three guards who could come along and be real strong. They've got the potential, the same as guys in the other positions."

The Redwings, on a rebuilding program, will likely find the going rough in what Swears calls a "strong" West Central League. Defending champions Hastings has two or three starters back from last year, fourth-place finisher Alma has lost only one player and fifth-place Charlotte has everyone back. Ionia and Lakewood are expected to be strong. Swears said he believes Grand Ledge and Greenville will be in a rebuilding year much the same as St. Johns.

BECAUSE OF HIS manpower problem, Coach Swears said there is a chance a couple of sophomores will be brought up from the junior varsity squad even before the season starts next Tuesday.

"We're hoping we can keep them on the JVs until at least after Christmas so they can get more playing experience," Swears said. "But since we are so thin we might have to bring them up early."

Under the watchful eye of Coach Bill Swears, St. Johns Redwing players work out in a dribble, pivot and pass maneuver in preparation for their season opener next Tuesday against Ovid-Elsie.

Fowler looks tough behind 6 lettermen

FOWLER — Fowler High School, who will defend its Central Michigan D championship in the new Central Michigan Athletic Conference this year, will have six lettermen but only one starter back from last year. Coach Charles Trierweiler's Eagles chalked up a 15-1 regular season record last year before bowing out in the tournaments, with a final 16-2 mark. And with a good nucleus of lettermen back, the current season looks rather bright again.

The only returning starter Bruce Thelen, was third in scoring on the team last year with 204 points. He finished behind Fowler's two all-league selections, Luke Koenigsnecht (322 points) and Robert Pohl (213).

THELEN WAS ALSO third in rebounds (115). He'll play forward this season.

Other members of the squad figured to play starting roles will be either Mike Nobach, a senior who backed up Pohl at center last year, or Stan Pohl, a 6-1 junior from last year's reserves, at center.

Joe Koenigsnecht, who earned a varsity letter last year after coming up at Christmas, will be at the other forward. The starting guards will be either seniors Ron Brown or Brendon George or Junior George George. Also counted on for back-up duty will be Neal Thelen at center or forward, Lester Thelen at forward and Bud Conley at guard or forward.

"AS IN THE PAST, we believe in a ball-control type of offense," Coach Trierweiler said. "Since we will be short in height, this again will be a must for us."

"Defensively we will be primarily a man-to-man team. This will ordinarily be an assigned man-to-man with little or no switching. In general we hope to compensate for our lack of height by playing good hard nose defense and controlling the ball on offense."

The height problem is fairly critical. The tallest man on the squad is Stan Pohl at 6-1. Mike Nobach is six feet even, Bruce Thelen, Joe Koenigsnecht and Neal Thelen 5-11 and everybody else shorter yet.

"AS FAR AS PREDICTING the outcome as far as our league is concerned, I really do not know," Trierweiler said. "Since we have joined a new league, I have not had a chance to observe any of the new teams as yet."

"Personally, I do not feel anyone will run away with this year's (Fowler) ball club. We have more depth and team balance than we had last year when we finished 18-2."

Dunkel wins scramble for contest prize

There was a wild scramble last week for the $20 prize in the Clinton County News' final football contest of the year, and once again the tie-breaker score had to be pressed into service. Nine persons wound up with four games wrong on the regular list, but when tie-breakers were checked, the winner turned out to be Woodard Dunkel of R-5, St. Johns. He was one point off on the tie-breaker.

In the regular list he wrongly picked MSU over Notre Dame (tie game), Illinois over Northwestern, Minnesota over Wisconsin and Brown over Columbia.

Other contestants with four wrong were: Carole Kapugia of 1310 Berton Street, Lansing; Jack Danley of 606 S. Baker, St. Johns; Sally Durner of 203 S. Oakland; Gary Robinson of 15698 Longspur Drive, R-3, DeWitt; Mike Montague of 9970 Elm Road, Ovid; Julie Goebel, Paul Goebel and Mrs. Rosemary Goebel, all of 203 W. Court, Ovid.

A total of $200 has been awarded to contest winners of the football contest this year, all made possible by the 20 advertisers who sponsor the contest. Ten different people shared in the winnings, there being no final tie contests and no repeat winners this year as there have been in the past.

Farmers urged to note needs of export market

In view of changes in the export markets for U.S. agricultural commodities, farmers should be on the alert for new varieties, grades and standards to meet competition in world cash markets, according to John Hansen, president of the National Association of County Agricultural Agents.

In a Washington interview, Hansen says foreign trade is so important to the American farmer that the county agents' organization devoted two hours of its annual meeting to market expansion. More than 700 county agents attended the meeting in Honolulu. Included in this group was Gratiot Extension Director John Baker and Clinton Extension Agent F. Earl Haas.

LERCH SAYS that with the current excitement of women shoppers over food prices "farmers have the chance of a lifetime to develop a better public understanding of how you're contributing to a higher standard of living.

"As a matter of fact," Lerch continues, "U.S. farmers probably contribute more to better living for more Americans than any other segment of our society."

Dr. George Irving, administrator of the Agricultural Research Service, and one of the featured speakers at the county agents' meeting in Hawaii, analyzes on the "International Food Report" the role of research in meeting the challenge of building our farm trade with Japan, our largest cash customer.

CAMPBELL GETS MERIT AWARD

William D. Miller, area conservationist (right) presents Lloyd B. Campbell, work unit conservationist, a certificate of merit for work accomplished in conservation farm planning, effective use and management of staff assistance, and effective use of progressive soil survey in working with non-farm groups. The presentation came at a recent area staff meeting in Grand Rapids of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service that gives technical assistance to the Clinton County Soil Conservation District.

Processed potatoes popular

Busy homemakers, who find time is money, find it pays to prepare many potato dishes with dehydrated, frozen, or canned potatoes rather than fresh ones.

With processed potato products you can have your potatoes mashed, french fried, au gratin, scalloped, hash brown, or in puffs and soup form and they take less time than preparing fresh potatoes.

According to Anita Dean, extension foods specialist at Michigan State University, frozen potato puffs can be prepared in three if you start with unpeeled fresh potatoes. Frozen au gratin potatoes require only one minute of preparation time instead of 32 minutes with fresh. This does not include time for thawing or cooking.

Taste panels rated most processed potato products just as tasty as dishes made from fresh potatoes, but noted difference in palatability between brands. Since the amount of the U.S. potato crop going into these products has tripled since 1956, American families must agree with the taste testers.

Processed and freshly prepared french fried potatoes are similar in nutritive value except for fat content, Mrs. Dean noted. Frozen potatoes take up more fat while frying. You can cut down on the fat by reheating the french fries in the oven, however.

Most modern farmsteads can't afford driveways that don't stand up in bad weather. Concrete drives withstand rough treatment from heavy trucks and farm vehicles. They eliminate mud problems and make snow removal easier. FBR-44

All-weather farm driveways essential

All-weather driveways are essential for the farms of today. Trucks and equipment using farm drives are bigger and heavier. A farmstead drive that is axle-deep in mud can bring farm operations to a grinding halt.

Concrete drives provide farms with durable access under all conditions. Wet weather doesn't affect them and they simplify snow removal.

Concrete for farm drives should be 6 inches thick and 10 feet wide. If ready mixed concrete is used, an air-entrained mix should be specified for maximum durability. Air-entrained concrete resists scaling due to freeze-thaw cycles and de-icing agents.

IF CONCRETE is site mixed, an air-entraining cement should be used. Air-entraining agents should be added if air-entraining cements aren't available. Whether concrete is ordered or mixed at the job, it should contain at least 6 bags of cement per yard of concrete and no more than 6 gallons of water per bag of cement.

Concrete is placed on firm earth or gravel subbase. Side forms are well-braced 2x6-inch lumber set on edge. After the concrete is placed and finished, control joints should be cut 1 to 1-1/2 in. deep in the slab every 10 to 15 feet.

Drive carefully - after the wreck comes the reckoning.

Predict plentiful beef supplies in short run, firm hog prices

Mid-November market outlook

In the mid-November market report from Dr. John Ferris, marketing extension specialist at Michigan State University, predictions are for plentiful beef supplies in the short run; a firmer hog market and higher '67 wool prices. Wheat prices probably will not move much above $1.50-$1.60, the economist thinks, and those storing soybeans will want to watch prices carefully.

MILK - Michigan dairy producers received high prices in September. Base prices in the Detroit area were $5.56 a hundredweight, $1.12 over a year ago and equal to the previous record in February 1952. Even with better prices this year, production in southern Michigan continued 7 per cent under last year in September. In other parts of the country, the decline in milk production has begun to level off.

CATTLE - The cattle picture is becoming two-faced with an uncertain near future and a more promising longer run outlook. The near future is clouded a bit by a large inventory of fed steers coming in at heavier weights. Once again, cattle feeders need to examine their selling program. Heavy weights coupled with large numbers can spell trouble with discounts on heavy cattle and a very narrow range between low and high grades of cattle, feeding to heavy weights does not pay. Once this current inventory of heavier cattle is worked off, some price strength should develop. This may come by the end of the year or early in 1967.

HOGS - A step up in marketing in October brought hog prices down to the $21-$22 level in early November. Prices are not likely to drop much further and by late December a firmer tone to the market can be expected.

LAMBS - Some seasonal price increase is anticipated into the winter months, and should carry into the spring. Last year, too many fed lambs were carried into late winter and early spring and depressed the market.

EGGS - The expansion under way in egg production is indicated by the September hatch which was up 22 per cent over last year, bringing the total hatch for the first nine months of the year up 14 per cent. Prices for Grade A large eggs at Detroit dropped seasonally to the low 40's in early November.

WHEAT - USDA analysts expect wheat prices to continue above the loan rate of $1.25 but apparently see little gain over the $1.50-$1.60 level. Farmers storing wheat may want to consider selling well in advance of the 1967 season. Perhaps holding wheat until December would be advisable. The new crop wheat acreage and prospective yields will be better known at that time.

DRY BEANS - Navy prices declined to $5.80 a hundredweight on choice hand picked in early November. Evidence is increasing that supplies of navy beans will be large enough to keep prices near the net loan rate (which increases by storage costs) through the crop year. An estimated 500,000 cwt. was carried over from the 1965 crop. The 1966 crop was a near record of 7.1 million cwt. based on Oct. 1 conditions. Allowing about 5.0 million cwt. for domestic use and seed leaves over 2.5 million cwt. for export. It will be difficult to export this many beans in commercial channels.

Explain certification

The entire southern peninsula of Michigan will now be on certification for compliance with federal farm programs in 1967. This was announced by Frank Light, chairman of the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service in East Lansing.

In certification for compliance, farmers will tell the local ASCS county office the number of acres of crops they have planted and diverted for program purposes. It is no longer necessary for the local county office to visit each farm to determine these acreages.

THE COUNTY OFFICE, however, will spot check a certain percentage of these farms to determine whether or not the farmer has correctly reported his acreages. The farmer will not have an opportunity to adjust his crop acreages after he has certified to them. He will, however, be able to request a remeasurement if he feels the county office has made an error in determining the acreage on the spot check.

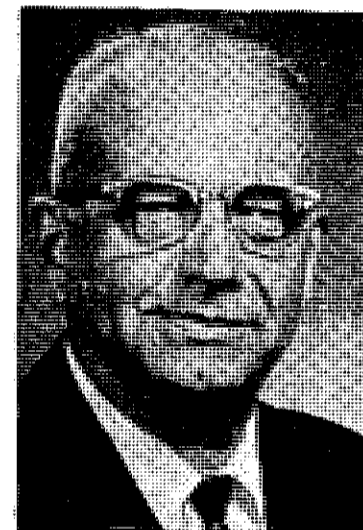

Each farmer who signs up in the wheat or feed grain program will receive a photocopy showing the cropland on his farm. Many of the fields that have permanent boundaries will show official acreages for the fields. This will help the farmer to accurately report his acreages. If the farmer plans to use only portions of these official acreage fields or wants to use fields on which there is no official acreage recorded, he can request the county office to measure these areas for a small cost.

This measurement service is valuable to farmers in certification counties because they may lose their entire program payment if the spot check of their acreages shows non-compliance.

SOYBEANS - The soybean market rebounded somewhat in early November but continued under the pressure of a large crop. Farmer holding may be a more important element in the market this year. This suggests that those storing soybeans will need to watch price movements carefully and take advantage of any substantial run-ups in price before others do.

CORN - While no sharp price increases are expected on corn prices this crop year, prices should increase enough to cover storage costs.

POTATOES - Prices on U.S. No. 1 round white potatoes in 20-pound sacks were 64-65 cents in early November compared with 58-60 cents a year ago. While Michigan and other central states have a smaller crop than last year, production is up in other areas.

Farm Bureau urges state exempt itself from daylight time ruling

Michigan exemption from the new federal law requiring daylight savings time during summer months was urged by the Michigan Farm Bureau at its Nov. 9, 10 and 11 meeting in Lansing.

A resolution urging the Michigan Legislature to take prompt action to exempt Michigan from the effect of the federal law was one of 61 new resolutions acted on by delegates to the Farm Bureau meeting.

The resolution noted that 96 per cent of the geographical area of Michigan lies in the central time zone. "However, since 1946 our state has been on Eastern Standard Time (the equivalent of Central Daylight Time) by action of the Michigan Legislature.

"THE NEW FEDERAL act would require us to move our clocks ahead one more hour to double daylight time," the resolution says.

"Michigan is especially affected, because we are already an hour ahead of the sun. The sun now sets more than an hour later in Muskegon than it will in Boston after Boston's clocks are moved ahead!"

The Farm Bureau objects to daylight time, however, mainly because of the effect on farm work. Says the resolution: "The sun would rise an hour later, by

12 represented Clinton at meeting

Twelve persons represented Clinton County thinking in voting on the 61 resolutions and other business acted on by the Michigan Farm Bureau Nov. 9, 10 and 11.

Delegates, and the areas of the county they represented, were: County President E. J. Bottom from area one; Mrs. David Morris, 2; Mrs. Levi Blaklee, 3; Leon Schumaker, 4; Bob Kissane, 5; Dorothy Ward, 6; Lawrence Maler, 7; David Conklin, 8; Glenn Whitford, 10; Mr. E. J. the clock. Harvest of grain, hay, berries and other crops could not start until 10 o'clock or later because the dew would not have dried.

"AND YET, ANY Hired farm help wants to work the same hours which are normal in the community. This leaves a very short day for work during a very busy time of the year. If the farm family works to take advantage of the sunlight until nearly 10 p.m., they cannot take part in social and civic activities in the community."

Other major points of resolutions passed by the delegates at the Farm Bureau meeting include:

"Continued support of legislative attempts at tax reform "to ensure greater equity of taxation to individual and business."

"Recommendation for legislation that will protect prime agricultural lands and require assessors to consider only agricultural factors in assessing land used for that purpose.

"Recommendation that the state provide financial assistance to adequately maintain the school hot lunch programs.

"ASKING THAT THE state legislation requiring all able-bodied welfare recipients to do a reasonable amount of work in order to qualify for assistance be fully implemented. "Welfare should be considered as an emergency, or 'last resort,' program and should not be allowed to become a way of life."

"An urging that all tolls on the Mackinac Bridge be lowered as soon as possible and, in addition, special consideration on tolls (such as a season ticket) be given to regular users of the bridge.

"Opposition to increasing the terms of congressmen and state representatives to four years. The advocacy of such terms, the resolution said, "causes us concern, as we believe it would make these officials less responsive to the wishes of the people who elect them."

"URGING THE Michigan Legislature to appropriate adequate funds to expand the work of the Cooperative Extension Service.

"Support of an appropriation of sufficient funds by the state government to the Michigan Department of Agriculture "to permit this arm of state government to effectively do its work."

Why dairymen quit farming

Why did about 25 per cent of the dairy farmers in Michigan quit between September 1963 and September 1966?

More than half of 600 who answered a Michigan State University survey related the key reason to a combination of "high investment, low returns, long hours, low prices." Another 13 per cent said they could not hire labor, while 20 per cent tied the reason primarily to age and health. What kind of farmers are quitting?

ANALYSIS BY DR Glynn McBride and C. Ray Hoglund, MSU Economists, shows 60 per cent or more were farming from 100 to 150 acres and only 27 per cent tilled less than 100 acres. More than 70 per cent were milking no more than 30 cows.

Dr McBride says there are indications that most of the producers at one time had milked more cows than they were at the time they quit entirely. "This suggests that the process of exit from dairy production is not a hasty one, but involves some degree of herd reduction before final departure," the economist concluded.

About 65 per cent of those quitting dairying were over 50 years of age, with the average age of all who quit being 54 years. More than 40 per cent were over 60 years of age and nearly 2 per cent of those who quit were 80 years of age or older—no doubt tired of twice daily chores.

MORE THAN 20 PER CENT of those who quit had been shipping milk for 30 years or more and 65 per cent had been producing milk for more than 15 years.

The appeal that "farming is a way of life and living and working in a rural area had value" may be losing out, Dr McBride believes.

The former dairymen expressed concern with low returns on investment and greater interest in "shorter hours, free weekends and vacations." Although reasons were economically grounded, this may mean that a change is taking place in the value system of the farmer.

Because of the high investment in land, equipment, machinery, improvement and livestock necessary for an economical and profitable dairy farm enterprise and if a sociological revolution is taking place in the value system of the farmer, the agricultural economists think this may mean that the organization and structure of our dairy farms of the future will be substantially different than those of the past.

First weeks' attention pays cattle feeders

The first two weeks feeder cattle are on the farm are probably the most important in the entire beef cattle feeding program, according to Clifford Beck, Extension Veterinarian at Michigan State University.

"Cattle that eat and drink well seldom develop serious cases of shipping fever. The cattle feeder should make sure every animal has an opportunity to eat and drink and be moved as little as possible during the first eight to 10 days after arrival," Dr Beck explained.

MICHIGAN FEEDLOTS are now being filled with calves and yearling cattle to be fattened into choice beef for next spring or summer. Dr Beck says automatic water cups, which require "nose pressure" to operate, are not the best for new cattle. They may not have had this experience before, and since cattle need plenty of drinking water, it is not the time for them to learn to operate the mechanical device.

Isolating new cattle in an area away from those on the farm will prevent spread of "shipping fever" or other ailments they may acquire.

THE EXTENSION veterinarian says bright grass hay, or mixed

Raising pH betters potential harvest

Looking for higher yields? Fertilizer alone cannot fill the bill. To get the most out of your land, a balanced program of fertilizer and lime application is essential. Only lime can effectively raise the pH of soil, thus reducing soil acidity and in turn providing higher yields.

To put farming on a sound basis, proper amounts of lime must be applied on soils where lime deficiency is indicated by a soil test.

Calcium and magnesium, both essential minerals to all plants, are supplied in limestone. Lime

Time to make trial accounting

Between now and late December is the time for farmers to run a "trial accounting" of their farm business for 1966 and determine what they can do in December to save money on income tax.

Extension Agricultural Agent George McQueen says an even annual income usually results in less total tax payment. Farmers can easily adjust income by timing sales of livestock and grain and by making or delaying purchases of fertilizer, feed, seed, and supplies around the end of the year.

"IF YOU HAVE had a good year income-wise it would probably pay to buy your fertilizer, feed, seed, and supplies for early next year in advance. It would pay also to hold livestock and grain and sell after Jan. 1," the county agent said.

Income averaging is an accepted practice and farmers need to have an idea of their income to date before they can make logical decisions on whether to make a move before Jan. 1 or wait until after the new year begins.

grass legume hay is ideal for the first two or three days. Afterward, the animals should get one pound of grain per head daily or perhaps some fresh green corn silage chopped. Be sure the silage is chopped fresh daily if it is fed.

Feeders should go to the pens at least three times daily and cut out any animals appearing sick and place them in separate pens for observation and treatment. Feeding time is a good time to watch for sick animals, for those which fail to eat are usually sick, Dr Beck concluded.

also makes soils easier to work, promotes better growth especially in legumes, and increases the activity and growth of helpful organisms in the soil.

EACH YEAR LIME is being leached and eroded from the soil as well as that removed by animals, and crops. Without proper maintenance, lime depletion of some fields could become a reality. Soils that are "lime-hungry" grow poorer crops, making erosion control more difficult.

A leading college of agriculture reported that in tests they conducted corn production was increased by 17.2 bushels per acre by applying required amounts of lime.

To obtain maximum productivity from your farm, have your soil tested.

Liming acid soil is no longer an experiment; it's a success-proven investment.

Drainage vital to good yields

The wet, late spring of 1966 emphasized the need for sound soil drainage in many areas. Properly drained soils dry sooner and warm faster for field work. A good soil drainage system also cuts leaching losses of nitrogen applied in fall or early spring.

Improved drainage with concrete drain tile is growing in importance because of the application of up-to-date cropping practices. Drainage that was good enough to support 100-bushel corn yields may not be able to maintain 125- or even 200-bushel yields of corn year after year.

Improved corn varieties, higher plant populations, and heavier fertilizer applications increase yields and production costs. To get higher yields from these practices and to keep costs from eating up profits, many fields need additional concrete drain tile.

FARMERS SHOULD check their soil types and management practices before planning drain tile installations. They should also get information and recommendations from their local extension specialists and Soil Conservation Service personnel.

Concrete drain tile are an investment that will pay for themselves many times over. They help farmers reach higher crop yields to meet the growing demands for food and fiber.

It's to very little advantage for a man to know the ropes if he doesn't have a pull.

One special day better than none at all

We earnestly hope that if and when some visitor from another planet arrives on earth, "it" doesn't arrange to show up in this country on Thanksgiving Day. If it does, it's going back home with a very erroneous report on how things are going on this planet.

Our visitor will find families on Thanksgiving Day with heads bowed giving thanks for their many blessings. They will give thanks for freedom, for their health, their good jobs, their comfortable homes, their loving families, and the many other things that we in this nation hold dear and important. Our visitor would probably be quite impressed by this outpouring of humble thanks and might be amazed that so many persons living with such abundance could still appreciate their good fortune.

We would wish, however, that someone would take it aside and carefully explain that this day is one that is especially set apart called "Thanksgiving Day," as it only occurs once a year. It is the day on which we give thanks, for what we are and what we have. It should be explained to our visitor that for many of us this is the only time of the year when we feel compelled to give thanks—for the remaining days of the year we are free to revert to a more favorite pastime—that of complaining.

Some of us complain about the problems of remaining free—high taxes, being asked to vote in elections, or to serve our country. We complain about the state of our health and even when we are in perfect health some of us prefer to act sick. We do considerable complaining about our jobs and having to work, and when we don't have jobs, we naturally complain even more.

Our houses supply us with a good number of complaints, from the amount we have to pay in real estate taxes to the fact that our wealthy neighbor has a split-level swimming pool and we are still getting along with a conventional one.

If our visitor gets on intimate terms with the family, it'll get a good barrage of complaints from wives who have husbands that don't understand them and from husbands with wives who are not understanding. Get the parents together and they'll complain about their children—their children will complain about the parents.

There can be little doubt about it—we do manage to do a lot of complaining in this country—always have and always will. But there is one point we do hope this visitor will not lose sight of, and that is, regardless of how we do act throughout the balance of the year, we have set one day aside for giving thanks. That is far better than none at all.

from the HOPPER

BY STEVE HOPKO

A while ago there appeared in some of the daily newspapers a picture of three youths in a protest demonstration. These youths, (I use the term loosely,) wore sunglasses, long hair (unkept) and the general sloppy appearance of what we term beatniks. The placard they carried read, "we are the future generation." As I looked at the picture and read the accompanying cut lines, my thoughts were, "Do we really deserve this?" And the only answer was, I guess we do.

THIS GENERATION that is coming up to take the responsibility of running this country is of our own choosing. The only consolation we have, as adults, is that those who protest and say we are the future generation are in the minority.

By and large, our future generation is growing up to be,

and in the end will be, responsible, probably conservative adults.

FOR THOSE WHO make the headlines and picture stories are in a minority of the up and coming generation, upon whom we must trust our heritage. The majority who do not make the headlines are the ones who, when the chips are down and something has to be done, will get the job done in a manner that we will, probably, all be proud of.

The protestor and his march or demonstration began a while back when there was some validity for this type of protest. It was to bring to the mass of people the plight which they believed they had, and was the only way in which they could get across, to the majority, their problems.

BUT THE protest march and demonstration seems to have long ago left these valid reasons by the wayside.

Today's protestor, in the majority of cases we hear about, have no valid reason for protesting in this manner.

THE MANNER OF which I speak is the trespassing upon private land and the destruction of private property. In many cases it seems that innocent bystanders have suffered the worst effects of these demonstrations.

Of course there is the thought that maybe they weren't so innocent, but be that as it may, innocent or guilty does not give the protest mob the right to trespass or destroy.

THE SUPREME court last week upheld the trespassing conviction of some demonstrators. Possibly, this is the beginning of when law enforcement officials of our land will have the right to deter these unreasonable protests. We certainly hope so.

One last thought on this future generation of ours. I am very fortunate in that of the many members of the future generation whom I come in contact with day after day, I would have no regrets in turning over the responsibilities of leadership when they have reached the maturity that is sure to come to them.

TO THEM WE hold the promise of what we have. I am sure that they will be able to control it in the manner we deem will be right, not in the manner in which those who show no responsibility would like to have it.

School board's rejection of bids commendable

The St. Johns School Board should be commended for their action of last Tuesday night in turning down the first series of bids for construction of the East Essex and Eureka schools.

The low combination of bids figured out to about $24 per square foot,—$6 to $7 higher than what the board anticipated.

It is hard for a group which has worked as long and as hard on the school program as the school board has to have to interrupt the up-to-now smooth continuity of it all. They could have accepted the bids, but they would have had to shortchange one of the two schools or else later ask for more money from taxpayers.

But rather than shortchange the building program—which they had already reduced to as basic as possible for a sound educational plan—they chose to delay the north additions for a month or so.

The move is likely to save the district a considerable amount of money without losing the original educational program. School board members Ray Parr, Leon Schumaker, Alden Livingston, Fred Meyer, Don Bast, Bill Richards Jr. and Wendell Waggoner were unanimous in their decision to reject the bids.

New commission looks like efficient outfit

Watching the new city commission working last Monday night was a strange experience—strange because of the newness of the commission.

Gerry Irrer was in the chair inhabited by Ray Kentfield Jr. for so many years, John Furry was in Irrer's old chair, Mrs Jeanne Rand was in Rex Sitrine's chair, Sitrine in Coletta's chair and Coletta in the seat once held by Jack Smit.

Smit and Kentfield were missing, no longer on the commission. Smit missed a number of meetings over the past years, mostly while on extended vacations, so his absence wasn't as noteworthy as was Kentfield's.

In the past 2 1/2 years that we have been covering city commission meetings, we can recall Kentfield being absent only once. And as we understand it that record went many years back. He was always there to be counted. And while he wasn't one of the foremost commentators on business discussed by the commission, the comments he did make were always logical and reflected sound thinking. Many times this quality of thinking quickly settled arguments and soothed heated tempers.

It will take a while before the strangeness of the new commission wears off, but if last Monday night's meeting is any example, our new commissioners—Mrs Rand and Furry—will fit themselves into the city government picture without any problems. We hope they do as good a job as Kentfield. With Coletta as mayor and the experience of Sitrine and Irrer to help, they should be able to.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

FOUNTAIN, COLO., ADVERTISER & NEWS: "Time was when a private company and/or individual was expected to look after his own welfare, and charity was something to take only when absolutely necessary. America was a strong, moral nation, with parents having sole responsibility for their offspring. Crime was much less than it is today, those trespassing on the rights of others were treated as criminals and not 'victims of society' and the individual had the right to exercise his own free will. Divorce, drunkenness and immorality were not prevalent in the percentages of today."

GRATIOT COUNTY HERALD, ITHACA: Every community is concerned these days with the fate of the young people who drop out of school before receiving their high school diplomas. The problem is being tackled at many levels.

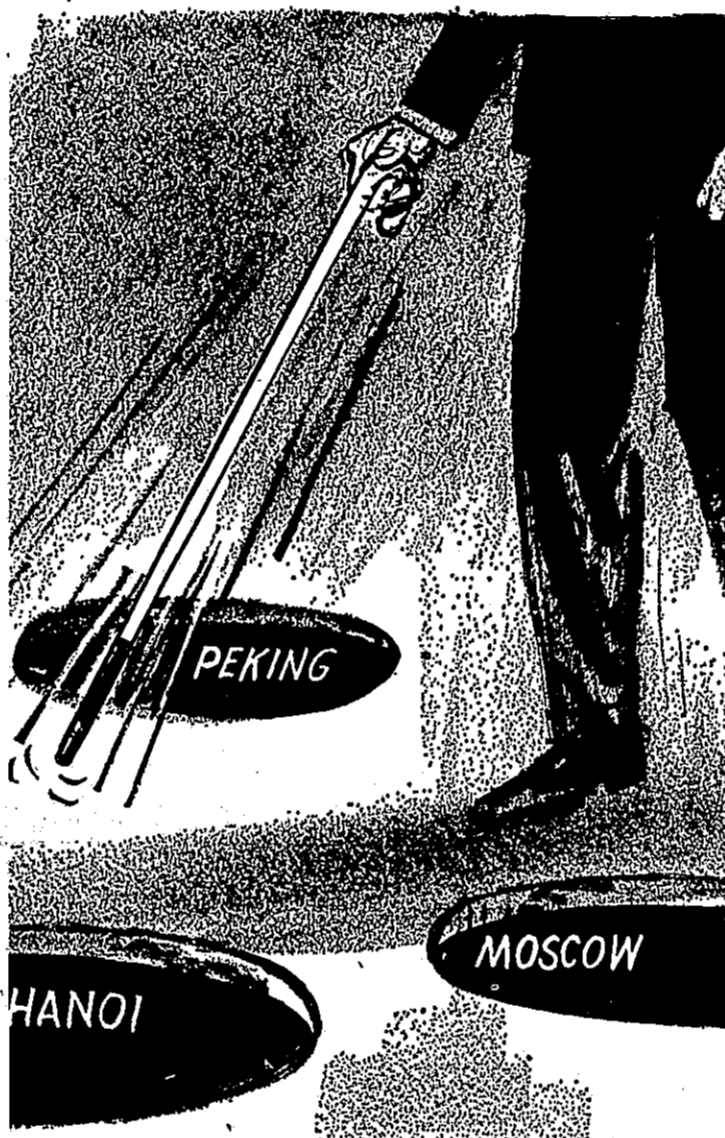

Here is an interesting program being carried out by a group of employers and reported in the Wall Street Journal:

Seven companies in Newark, N. J., working with the board of education, hire dropouts to share a job; operating in pairs, the youngsters alternate a week at work with a week at a special school. Since the program started nine months ago, 14 of the original 100 youth have completed high school after having been out a year or more; eight of the 14 have been hired permanently by the companies that trained them. Only a handful have dropped out of the dropout program, all for "genuine emergency" reasons, the school board says.

Prudential Insurance is training 20% of the total, Western Electric 20%. Other companies involved: Bell Telephone, Esso, Public Service of New Jersey, Westinghouse Electric, Bamberger's department store. Youngsters are hired at regular pay rates; jobs include keypunch operator, gas station attendant.

My fall television watching is enjoyable again. The Dodge rebellion girl is back!

Last Wednesday night she fell out of an airplane, fell off a windmill and slid off a roof. It was the first time I'd seen her have any mishaps since last spring and summer when she fell off a cliff.

She's spunky, I'll say that for her. And so adventuresome. Climbing around cliffs and roofs, getting tangled in ropes and falling out of airplanes isn't for just anyone. I admire her; in fact, I'm in love (under Ann's watchful eye).

BESIDES BEING pretty, the TV Dodge rebellion girl is full pep and energy, and this helps her already winning personality. Her only fault is she's either clumsy or prone to bad luck; otherwise she wouldn't get herself into the situations she does.

I've warned her several times that someday there's not going to be a passing Dodge underneath for her to fall into. Or sometime it's not going to be a convertible, which could be just as bad and a lot more expense for the car manufacturer repairing punctured roofs.

Ever since Pam Austin began the Dodge commercials a year or less ago, other car manufacturers have tried to come up with a similar advertising pitch(er). Sorry, fellows. Despite the many merits of all makes and models of cars, the other models (girl-type) have to take a back seat to my Dodge rebellion girl.

NONE OF THE OTHERS have been able to look as vivacious, as fresh, as pretty, or as natural in her actions and voice as the Dodge rebellion girl. I've fallen in love. And the Dodge rebellion girl wants me; she says so after every rescue.

But, it is just as well that I'm extremely happy with my first love. I found out the other day the Dodge rebellion girl is married. As I understand it, her husband is the guy who always lands in the Hertz cars. A perfect match, I must say.

(Applications from other car manufacturers for equal time will be considered. Personal interviews with their TV models are preferred.)

Even before all the Nov. 8 votes were tallied, the challenge of the year ahead was clear.

Everyone proclaimed the near-sweep a major feather in the political cap of Gov. George Romney. Republicans and Democrats differed beyond this consideration. The former saw only the victory. The Democrats consider it a new challenge.

"Michigan voters chose a potential president rather than a governor and they will be sorry," said one Democrat. "There will be no meaningful legislation passed in Michigan during the next two years," said another.

WHETHER THIS PREDICTION is accurate will not be known for some time, but the spokesman said he based his forecast on two factors.

First, Romney will now be spending much of his time wooing potential 1968 GOP convention delegates. Second, the chief executive will have more difficulty dealing with legislators of his own party than he did with Democrats the two years.

The second half of this forecast is repeated in many quarters, including some of Romney's staunchest supporters within his own party.

SEVERAL OF THE 20 GOP senators and 55 house members elected Nov. 8 are returning legislators who were knocked out in the 1964 Johnson landslide.

They were variously known as old guard, conservatives, and some of them even "mossbacks." Most haven't changed their views on important questions such as whether Michigan needs an income tax as part of fiscal reform.

With such a slim margin in the 38-member Senate and serious trouble with a 55-55 deadlock in the House, it is very doubtful that Romney can keep as tight a rein on Republicans as he did the past biennium, when the GOP was a minority.

It is even more doubtful that the few Democrats, who might normally be inclined to go along with the all-important fiscal reform, will be anxious this year to act in any way which might further boost a national candidacy.

From either side of the fence, the 1966-67 sessions will be very interesting to watch. Even with a near-majority of his own party, Romney will be facing many of the problems which plagued G. Mennen Williams in the "cash crisis" session of 1959.

DEMAND IS INCREASING FOR

state scholarships considerably faster than appropriations are being hiked for this purpose.

Last year some 22,000 high school seniors and graduates applied for the scholarships available under a $1.75 million appropriation. About half of these were seriously considered and some 5,000 scholarships were awarded, averaging about $370 each.

Had more money been available, Supt. of Public Instruction Ira M. Polley said, most of the 11,000 students who qualified as semi-finalists could have been given state aid to continue their education. Only a few of these failed to show financial need.

ADDITIONAL FUNDS will be requested for scholarships next year, but Polley is not ready to commit himself as to how much he will seek.

The initial competition, a written exam, has already been given for scholarships scheduled to be awarded next spring. More than 27,000 students took the examination.

Based on the same appropriation as was available this year, slightly more than one out of every five students who applied will receive financial assistance from the state next fall. Last year the ratio was about one out of four.

LITTLE HOPE IS HELD that Michigan motorists will be able to keep the 1966 highway death toll below last year's record mark of about 2,200.

The worst fatality counts traditionally come in the last and first weeks of the year, when uncertain weather conditions frequently find drivers off guard.

In early November this year, the traffic fatality count was up more than 100 over the same tally period in 1965.

Still ahead are the three holiday weekends, with Christmas Day falling on a Sunday and New Year's Eve hitting on Saturday, both increasing the traffic crush regularly occurring on weekends.

Last year, with the two year-end holidays on Saturday, identical figures of 33 persons killed were recorded for the last two weekends.

Food sales top tax producer

Food sales topped the list of sales tax-producing categories in Clinton County during August. Food sales during July brought in $55,163 in sales taxes. Total sales taxes for the month from 519 businesses amounted to $155,313.89.

Automotive sales was the second highest category with $42,258 in taxes collected by merchants. Other categories include building material $26,377, general merchandise $4,396, apparel $2,611, furniture $5,641, miscellaneous retail $6,311 and non-retail $12,555.

Total use tax collected was $8,353.50.

Road Commission Weekly Report

The labor negotiation meeting scheduled for last week was cancelled. The commission labor relations attorney entered the hospital for minor surgery and was unable to attend. Another meeting is scheduled for the month on Monday, Nov. 28th at 10 a.m.

The Board of Clinton County Road Commissioners held their regular meeting last Friday, Nov. 18. The board discussed equipment purchases and the bids received on motor graders and asphalt distributors.

Two new subdivisions were presented. One was final plans for a new plat in Bath Township and one a preliminary of an industrial plat in DeWitt Township.

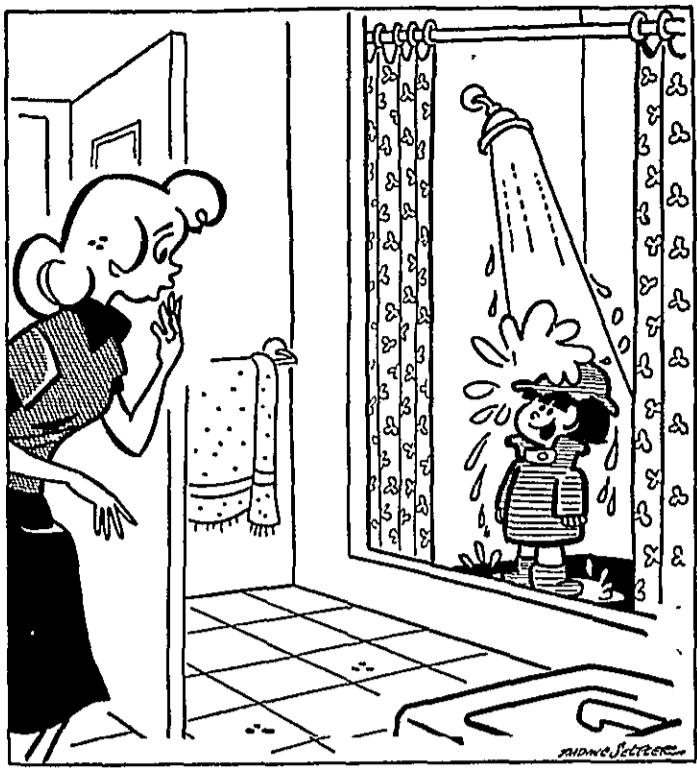

The gravel surface was finished on Howe Road and Clark Road in Watertown Township this week. These projects had been held up for lack of gravel in that area but were finished when we were able to stockpile processed gravel nearby.

Our sympathies go out to one of our longest service employees, Eunice Rice, who has been with the road commission more than 36 years lost her husband, Cliff, last week.

"I'm giving my new rain coat the acid test!"

Congressional committee the other day.

MR. ECKLER, OF course, defended the whole thing. He even added that the bureau would like to ask questions about religion, but probably won't. Not many people would object, he guessed, except that publicity by opponents of the idea has made it an "emotional" issue.

The Census Bureau, Mr. Eckler assured everyone, does not make information on individuals available to outsiders or other agencies. Therefore personal records could not be used against anyone, nor could its computer tapes wind up in any national dossier bank.

Maybe so, but the story has a familiar ring. Look up what government bureaucrats have said about wire-tapping and what was subsequently revealed in court. And just how can Mr. Eckler be so confident about what his successor will do in, say 1984?

DOSSIER BANKS and computers aside, it seems to us the Census Bureau is badly out of hand. A census is necessary to reapportionment, and few citizens probably would object to most questions pertinent to legislation and other necessary government functions. But the bureau's criterion for questions apparently is not why, but why not?

It intends, for example, to study the spread of color television. It wants to know more about the assimilation of the foreign born. Religious questions, their advocates say, would tell about interfaith marriage.

With the spread of government and other violations of privacy, and common decency, the bureau's broad power of compulsion seems ripe for Congressional review. What kind of society would propose to send someone to jail for refusing to say if he voted?

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT
It's in the Congressional committee rooms that the crackpot suggestions of some bureaucrats find their way into the wastebasket. The U. S. Bureau of the Census is not alone in offering suggestions, that if adopted, would make American citizens a little less free. — J. C.

The period of simplicity reveals secrets to man

HAYDN PEARSON

This is the time for man to walk the field, meadows and woodlands and to see the secrets that killing frosts and fallen leaves have revealed. Walls and fences are stark lines above grasses and weeds bending low to the soil that gave them birth. Deciduous woodlands show cathedral aisles among greatboles with overhead arches of intertwined branches.

On a mellow November day while the sun circles its low arc and the rays shine far into woodlands beside country roads, one can read stories that he missed in summer. Heaps of tan soil tell the locations of woodchuck dens; gray squirrel nests are dark blotches in the trees; paper hornets' silvery cones sway from the ends of birch branches.

Along the woodland edge where small evergreens, birches and maples are taking back the land that pioneers cleared, you can see wond-torn nests of the warblers. On the sidehill above the pasture, the old, weathered sap-house crouches among gaunt maples that have yielded a sweet harvest through the years. Down in the swale black pools of water stare at the autumn sky from the alders, cattails and broken swamp grasses.

This is the period of simplicity. It is the time of brown and gray before the whiteness of winter comes to cover the bareness. It is good for a man to walk his acres after the harvest season and to feel the fundamentals. November is not a favorite month, but if one is in tune with the veities, he can feel the faith that comes in communion with nature. For we know it was written long ago that the generations come and the generations go, but the earth abideth forever.

When you're a big telephone company, you don't get to meet too many of the people you serve. So you have to find ways to avoid thinking of a customer as just a line in a book full of numbers. Or a circuit in a complex telephone network. Or an address on a mailing machine.

We decided a long time ago that a communi-

That's why we hire from the communities we serve. Linemen. Repairmen. Operators. Executives. Secretaries.

That's why we keep active in community affairs. With fund drives. Safety programs. Little

And perhaps that's why we feel so close to all the people represented in that telephone book. A lot of them are us.

Mail to military overseas gets new PO boost

Postmaster J. D. Robinson of St. Johns has announced that henceforth all first class mail, personal sound recordings (voice letters), and parcels weighing five pounds or less and measuring not more than 60 inches in length and girth combined, will be airlifted on a space-available basis between the United States and all military post offices overseas.

Also, under Public Law 89-725-The Dulski Military Mail Act which was signed by President Johnson Nov. 2, second class publications such as newspapers and magazines published weekly or more often, and featuring current news of interest to the military, will be airlifted from San Francisco to the armed forces serving in Vietnam.

THE POSTMASTER explained that parcels weighing five pounds or less and not exceeding 60 inches in length and girth combined, paid at surface rates, will be moved by surface transportation within the United States from the points of mailing to the port of embarkation.

To speed up separation and delivery of these smaller parcels falling within this category, Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien directed that all parcels be clearly marked upon acceptance at the post office with the letters SAM (surface airt-lift mail).

This will eliminate the task

C of C brings 1,000 people here in Meet the Expert Clinic and they are coming again this February—with 2,000 expected. Can anyone honestly say what 2,000 people in our community will do to the economy in dollars left here? Remember, this is new money, not money already here. Stop and think of the amount of planning and detail work involved in working with a group of this magnitude. We've been at it for the past two months and have four months still to go. Who would do this type work if your C of C was not in operation. Would groups like this be able to come here inasmuch as we do not have a civic center or other private operation to work with them. Again—another example of your CC in action—bringing many new dollars into the community.

of remodeling and measuring the parcels at the San Francisco Concentration Center prior to dispatch to Vietnam or other overseas military post offices.

The postmaster also reminded mailers that Christmas parcels weighing five pounds and under, though they are given airt-lift priority from San Francisco to Vietnam on a space-available basis, should be mailed no later than Dec. 1. Airmail, he said, should be sent no later than December 10.

ognition: Five plants were visited—all shifts, with our business-endeavors taking coffee and rolls to the employees. Good will? Yes.

C of C sponsors Historymobile here: This found our queen and her court working in our behalf again. Isn't it nice to have an organization already formed, one that can say "Yes, we'll be glad to work with you in bringing the Historymobile here?"

C of C announces Moriarty Buildings to locate here! And a proud day it was, too, one which climaxed months of detailing work including appearances before the county zoning commission and board of supervisors to work out technical problems before we were successful in landing this firm. Sure—we've said it before—but it bears repeating: Take those nine Moriarty paychecks each week and add them up. Add to that what it means in increased tax base and community worth. And, consider the fact that this will continue year after year—a Chamber project who's results are long lasting. Mr. Businessman—the amount of Moriarty's we are able to bring here in the future depends entirely on how well you support the Chamber of Commerce today and everyday.

C of C participates in Michigan Week: Yes—and what a week it was! There was a parade, school contests, 200 here for a senior citizens banquet, Industrial displays, open houses and coffees, a Mayors' Exchange with your CC queen being crowned and much more. Again one of those endeavors that helps to make your community a nicer, more progressive place in which to live. And, heading up the current year's county Michigan Week program is your manager, who is hopeful that the '67 program will be even bigger and better.

C OF C HELPS RE-OPEN Clinton Theatre: That's right, your CC was in there, behind the spotlights, working for four months prior to the time the Clinton Theatre was opened. We are happy to have been instrumental in helping Mr. Kortez open this fine theatre in downtown St. Johns and we proudly mark this one up as a major accomplishment, one of which we are rightly proud.

C of C to co-sponsor home lighting contest with Jaycees: Another goodwill type promotion, but one that is pretty much standard in most communities but which had been dropped here in the past. Revived and with $100 in prizes, this is another example of your CC at work.

C of C manager receives scholarship to U.S. C of Institute: There it was, a $200 scholarship awarded to your CC manager which covered another week's study at M.S.U. in Chamber management and techniques. Now in her third year of a nine-year course, this is another example of your CC bringing you the latest in techniques and training in good, efficient C of C management and programming.

C OF C SPONSORS 225 trailers at rally here: Sure, there were those who said it couldn't be done; those who said St. Johns was not a tourist town; that there was nothing here for tourists to come for. And, there were those who weren't sold on the need for a tourist program. But, your CC, against the odds, did bring in trailers and tourists and one of them, with 225 families, remained for three days and resembled a little city unto itself. Planning and organizing—it was tough work but we did it. Add up what those 225 families left here during their three-day stay and you will find the C of C more than paid its way in this project, too—bringing in new dollars and new people into our community and proving that St. Johns indeed is not only a good place in which to live, but also a nice place in which to visit.

C of C to spend $1,300 on new Christmas lighting: Again—an other example of a progressive community, making the community a nicer place in which to live and shop during the holiday period. We point out that the decorations were chosen with extreme care so that a real center of attention will be evident on our courthouse lawn, being complemented by an avenue of lights up Clinton Avenue.

C of C to sponsor Farm, Home and Sport Show here in 1967: A real show, done up in a professional manner, awaits anyone who wishes to avail himself of the opportunity to exhibit his products and services before a mass market. Another example of your C of C in action, utilizing the very latest ideas and tools available to help local businessmen promote their firms.

C of C sponsors free helicopter rides for Christmas: That was Christmas, 1966. But, we are still pretty proud because it is not every small community that can or will put out $900 to provide free helicopter rides for its children. This year we have a full program, too—three free Saturday afternoon matinees; Santa parades and visits, passing out of candy canes, the tree lighting ceremony. It's all there—a Christmas program any community can be proud of and brought to you by the organization of progressive businessmen—your C of C.

WE COULD GO ON but space is limited. While the list is really endless, each day brings with it new achievements and accomplishments. But mainly, I think what is really important is that your C of C is there—ready and willing to be of assistance to businessmen in planning their promotions; to residents in helping with their problems and to potential new businessmen and industrialists.

Your C of C is the front door to the community. It is there that visitors first stop for information; where firms thinking of expanding send their representatives; where other groups go for information and to co-ordinate community activities.

Yes—your C of C in St. Johns is an organization of which you can be proud.

And its members now invite all of you who aren't members to join with them in making this a still more progressive community. They need you. You need them.

- collecting vital statistics and statistics on diseases,
- laboratory tests of water, milk, sewage, food and provision for distribution of needed serums and vaccines.

The health officer is, of course, the key individual in the local health department structure. He answers directly to the board, and is a licensed physician—usually with a special degree in public health. The health officer is backed up by his staff of public health nurses, sanitarians, and clerks. Larger health departments may also have health educators, dentists and dental hygienists, veterinarians, laboratory technicians, nutritionists, and statisticians.

THE COUNTY HEALTH OFFICER prepares a budget to cover the costs of operating the health department. This budget is acted on by the board of health and the board of supervisors after discussion and explanation.

Where population is sparse and a multi-county district health department exists, each county is obligated for its proportionate share of the total budget. Sharing can be on a per capita basis or on the basis of equalized tax valuation. Each system has its merits and its disadvantages.

Whatever the system, it is generally agreed that there is never quite enough money available to do all of the things which the health officer, and staff, the board of health, and the people want done. In Michigan we think that the public's health must be protected and improved—right where people live . . . in the local community. Therefore we subscribe to local leadership, local initiative, and local responsibility as patterns of living and doing.

We think that these three elements are the foundations upon which adequate communal health must be built. But in Michigan today, the services provided for the local community's health just cannot be paid for entirely out of local funds.

FORTUNATELY, THE COMMUNITY is not expected to provide complete support for all health department activities. State and federal aid is available, under certain circumstances. For example, each county which maintains a state-approved health department or participates in a district health department is entitled to 20 cents per capita, with a basic grant of at least $8,500.

In addition, federal funds are channeled to a county by the state. Funds for basic public health services are allocated to approved health departments on a population basis. These are called formula grants. Special project funds are appropriated by the legislature and congress for special new programs and services.

Our state is fortunate in having some of the finest public health programs in the nation. This is not only a tribute to all the individual health departments in Michigan—state, district, city, and county—but it is also a tribute to the coordination and cooperation these health departments have developed among themselves. Their function is truly a combined effort, even though these health departments are financed and controlled by several different levels of government. We can now say that there is an official public health system in the state which will insure basic public health services to all residents and all visitors to Michigan.

FM station here gets final OK

Ditmer Broadcasting Co. has announced plans for a new FM station, WRBJ-FM, in St. Johns next year. Engineering work and placement of orders for equipment is already underway. Construction will start in the spring.

Approval for the FM station has been given by the Federal Communications Commission in Washington, D.C.

Robert Ditmer, president of Ditmer Broadcasting, said the new station will operate on a frequency of 92.1 megacycles and will serve an area in an approximately 50 miles radius from St. Johns. One of the key purposes, he said, is to provide local programming before sunrise and after sunset, which the present WJUD-AM cannot provide under regulations covering it.

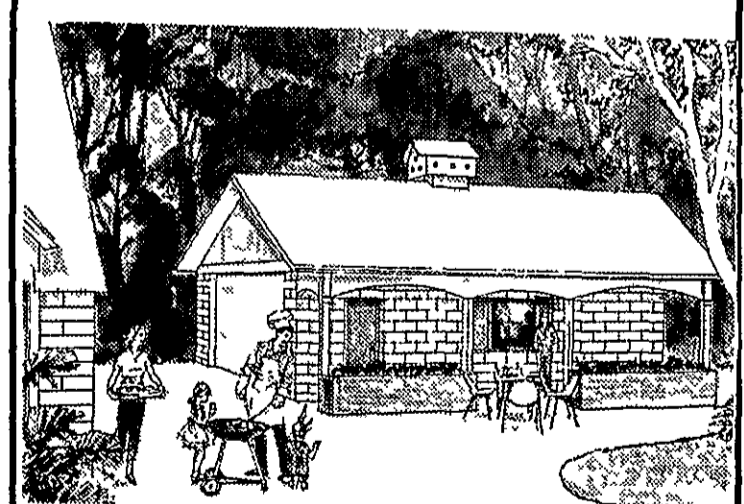

Ditmer said no decisions have been made concerning programming for the station. St. Johns High School athletic events will be broadcast live, and no replays are planned over AM radio as WJUD has had to do in the past.

Those with a real love for their work don't pay much attention to the time it takes to do their job well, and they don't care whether or not they get public recognition for it. Getting the job done is the important thing.

Mrs Beulah Ballantine of 501 S. Mead Street, St. Johns, feels that way about her Red Cross service work.

But 50 years of service to an organization deserves some public recognition, and last Thursday evening the Mid-Michigan Chapter of the American Red Cross gave Mrs Ballantine a special award as the chapter itself celebrated 50 years of service.

"IT DOESN'T SEEM to me that 50 years have gone by," she commented last week. "I felt as if the program was vital then and I still feel needed now. That's important in volunteer work."

Mrs Ballantine has been important to a lot of organizations in the past 50 years, but none so faithfully for so long as the Red Cross. There are several big differences in the system and in the people that have come about in those 50 years, and Mrs Ballantine thinks both are for the best.

"Back then we weren't so organized," she said, "and there was much more organizational work for volunteers to do. Now the professionals take care of the details and leave us free to give real service."

MRS BALLANTINE believes the volunteers of today don't crave recognition like they used to. "They seemed to need it for a feeling of prestige. They wanted their hours recorded and kept track of other people's."

"But," she says, "I've noticed a gradual change in this attitude. People volunteer because they want to help others, not for personal gain. As for me, I've never put down an hour in my life. I just give as much time as I can spare and love every minute of it."

Mrs Ballantine's spare time has amounted to quite a lot over the 50 years, and it has also covered a wide span of activity. In World War I days when her husband, the late Charles Ballantine, was serving as an ensign in the Navy, she joined her mother, Mrs Charles Sowle, in working for the Red Cross. She became knitting chairman and sewed hospital gowns for servicemen. In World War II she served as chapter chairman.

IN 1949 SHE SET up the blood program in the county and also organized the plasma bank program in St. Johns. She's now a volunteer working on the blood program.

Her duties, when signing up prospective donors, are to ask for the donor's blood donor cards, specifying their blood type and health conditions. Whenever there are any fears or qualms on the part of the donors, Mrs Ballantine soothes them quickly, telling them "I'll all be over in a few minutes."

With so much interest in Red

Mrs Beulah Ballantine of St. Johns smiles happily as she is presented with a service pin in recognition of her 50 years of service to the American Red Cross. James Davis, chairman of the Mid Michigan Chapter of the American Red Cross, does the honors.

Cross work, it is inevitable that some of her enthusiasm would rub off on her children. And it did.

"YOU MIGHT SAY," Mrs Ballantine commented, "that the most valuable thing I've contributed to the Red Cross program has been my children. They have all been interested in working for the Red Cross ever since they were small."

Two of them are extremely familiar to area folks who follow Red Cross activities and take part in the blood programs. Mrs Richard (See HONORED, Page 2 B)

Valley Farms area men charged in Monday theft

Three bandits who held up the Clinton National Bank's Valley Farms office Monday afternoon were captured Tuesday morning less than 18 hours after they made off with $27,050.

First one and then the other two were captured after an all-night stake-out of a house at 222 Wieland Road in Valley Farms by 35 state police officers and FBI agents.

The three suspects were taken to Grand Rapids later Tuesday morning for arraignment in federal court there.

They were identified as: James (or John) Stevens Jr., 23, of the Wieland Road address. James Ray Eurbanks, 21. Charles Leon Beckner, 22.

STATE POLICE HAD no addresses on Eurbanks and Beckner, but Clinton County sheriff's officers said they both also lived in the same general area of Valley Farms.

Officers nabbed Eurbanks about 8 a.m. Tuesday when he drove to the Gulf service station at US-27 and Valley Road to get a couple of dollars worth of gasoline.

Stevens and Beckner were captured three houses from Stevens' home after the pair had gone to a neighbor's house apparently to make a phone call.

All three men offered no resistance to capture, and none was armed at the time they were taken into custody.

POLICE WERE tipped off about Stevens, Eurbanks and Beckner by a man who told them Stevens had come to his place Monday evening to pay off a debt. After Stevens left, the man called police.

The 35 officers and agents staked out the house the rest of that evening and throughout the night. They feared to move in on the suspects because of the presence of Stevens' wife and another woman and two small children. The women were apparently not implicated.

Stevens was free on bond from circuit court here, where he's charged with taking indecent liberties with a minor child. Eurbanks and Beckner are also out on bond in connection with a robbery in Indianapolis, Ind.

THE THREE MEN who held up the Valley Farms branch of the Clinton National Bank were armed, however, two brandishing sawed-off shotguns and the other a pistol, according to police reports. They entered the bank about 4:10 p.m. when the bank's manager Robert LaFave of 5800 W. Clark Road, and tellers Mrs Phyllis Rhynard of 15330 Pinehurst Drive, Lansing, and Mrs A. Nell Weaver of 797 Cloverleaf, Lansing, were alone in the office.

The three were forced into a rear employees' lounge and told to lie down on the floor. They were not otherwise threatened, and none was injured.

The three bandits asked where the safe was, and while two of them started to clean it out the other left the bank and went to get their car. Some of the coin was shoved out through the drive-in window to the car's driver, while the two men yet in the bank pocketed the bills.

WARNING THE THREE bank employees to remain on the floor for five minutes, the bandits walked out. But in less time than that, LaFave sounded the holdup alarm and police were summoned.

While it was not immediately known which direction the bandits took in making their getaway, police later determined that they drove on US-27 south to Wieland Road (a couple of blocks south of State Road) and then straight to suspect Stevens' home at 222 Wieland.

They reportedly had the car locked in the garage and were in the house within four minutes of the holdup and before police even had a chance to set up road blocks.

Plan livestock sale for 4-H Fair

A livestock sale for beef cattle is being planned for the 1967 Clinton County 4-H Fair Aug. 14-16.

John Aylsworth, Extension 4-H youth agent, announced the fair livestock sale would be the first of a number of suggested improvements in the county youth fair. Final details on the sale will be worked out at a later date.

THE YOUTH FAIR beef exhibitors who exhibit steers will now have an opportunity to market their animals at fair time.

In the past most of the exhibitors sold the steers on the open market or at the Detroit Junior Livestock Show in November.

Aylsworth said the livestock sale should stimulate more interest in the beef project by boys and girls whether they live on large or small farms. 4-H steers usually sell for several cents above market price at a fair livestock sale.

The exhibitors will need to purchase steers weighing 450-500 pounds now so the animals will reach 900-1000 pounds market weight by Aug. 15, 1967.

Members who have already secured lighter steers will need to feed for faster gains in order to have a finished market weight animal or secure other animals.

MEMBERS SHOULD have their steers on feed by Jan. 1. A rate of gain contest might be started if enough members show interest in this area.

At the present time only beef steers are being considered for the sale but if the hogs and sheep projects increase to a sufficient number, they might be included in the livestock sale also.

Bandits nabbed . . .

Anderson were the first law officers to arrive at the scene, but before long state police and FBI agents swarmed over the bank. News men were not allowed inside until after police had finished their investigation and hunt for fingerprints.

The only original clues were a description of the man and their get-away car, described as a gun metal gray 1964 or 1965 Ford Fairlane. Two of the men were described as 5-10 in height, dark complected and with dark hair; the third man was described as even shorter with the same characteristics. All were wearing short brown coats.

The bank closed its doors to the public immediately after the robbery, but it was open again Tuesday morning at its normal 10 a.m. time.

Even if the money had not been recovered, there would have been no loss to depositors, bank officials said. The bank's own insurance covers holdups.

2 hurt slightly in rear-end crash

A rear-end collision on M-21 at Shepardsville Road resulted in injuries to two people last Thursday afternoon and a ticket for the driver of their car.

Clinton County sheriff's office reported a car driven by John R. Chunks, 21, of Owosso, struck the rear of one driven by Eud W. Daniels, 57, of Muskegon, as Daniels was stopped for a school bus discharging passengers.

Laura Binger, 20, of Ovid complained of pains, and Urza McIntyre, 5, of Ovid, was bruised. Both were passengers in Chunks' car. They were treated at Owosso Memorial Hospital. Chunks was ticketed for failure to stop in assured clear distance ahead.

The Order of the Arrow will have a 7 p.m. meeting Dec. 15 at the State Journal lounge in Lansing.

This is the Clinton National Bank and Trust Co.'s Valley Farms office which was robbed of $27,050 Monday afternoon. The bandits were captured Tuesday morning.

THE OTHER CHILDREN, also active in Red Cross work, are Mrs. Charles (Betty) Luft of Dallas, Tex., and Ralph Ballantine Jr. of Winnetka, Ill.

Mrs. Ballantine, an alumna of Olivet College, is involved in many other community activities outside the Red Cross. She is a member of the St. Johns Library Board, the Clinton County Library Board, the Clinton Memorial Hospital Board and the First Congregational Church.

Spare-time activity includes painting, crewel embroidery, needlepoint, knitting and reading. Mrs. Ballantine received the following letter from Gov. George Romney last Wednesday:

Dear Mrs. Ballantine:

It is indeed a pleasure for me to have this opportunity to congratulate you for the long and faithful service you have rendered the Red Cross.

An organization such as the Red Cross depends importantly upon the dedication and hard work of conscientious individuals like yourself. Your deep concern to work for the Red Cross, which has dedicated itself to outstanding humanitarian service, typifies what Kelen Keller meant when she said, "Not until we can refuse to take without giving can we create a society in which the chief activity of man is the common welfare."

Congratulations for the outstanding job you have performed for these many years in the interest of helping others.

Ovid-Elsie bus hit; no one hurt

An Ovid-Elsie school bus was involved in a collision with an automobile last Thursday afternoon, but no one—including four students on the bus—was injured.

The bus, driven by Emerson Dunham, 40, of 4361 Hollister Road, Elsie, started to turn right onto Colony from Harmon Road when the accident occurred. Sheriff's officers said a car driven by Norman A. Blakely, 51, of 203 S. First Street, Elsie, was in the center of Hollister and struck the left corner of the bus.

Blakely told officers he was thinking of something else and did not see the bus until too late to avoid the accident.

Deer hunting in county described as 'good'

Clinton County deer hunting and Clinton County deer hunters appeared to be on an even par this week—very good and very lucky. Judging from word-of-mouth information floating about the community, many area hunters are coming home with the venison after successful hunting trips north or out and around their own areas.

Conservation Officer Earl Goff of St. Johns described the hunting in Clinton County as "good, particularly in the northwest area around Maple Rapids."

MOST HUNTERS OUT on opening day saw deer, Goff said, although not all got a shot. He expects this weekend to see a lot of hunting activity, what with a four-day weekend for a lot of people and the return of so far unlucky hunters from the northlands.

The deer herd in the county seems to be about the same as in the past, and the deer are in good condition, Goff said, following excellent weather and crop conditions over the past summer. "Deer in farming areas are generally better than those up north anyway, because around here they have not only browse but crops to feed on.

Hunting pressure, too, has been about the same so far this year, Goff said. The deer kill in the permit areas has been light, more than likely because the hunters are wanting to get a couple of whacks at a buck before setting for a doe.

GOOD HUNTING IN UPPER PENINSULA

It was good hunting in the Upper Peninsula for this trio last week. Gordon Matter (left) shot an eight-point buck about 9 a. m. Saturday, Nov. 12; Bob Lublow got an eight-pointer about 8 a. m. Sunday morning, Nov. 13; and Jack Downing (right) got a nine-point buck Nov. 12 about 11 a. m. They were hunting in Iron County in the U. P. along with Carl Matter, who got a four-point buck, J. A. Engle of Constantine and E. C. Lublow of Leonidas.

"THE ILLEGAL KILL has been very high this year," Goff said, "and much of the meat can't be salvaged because the weather is so warm and the animals spoil before we locate it."

The biggest problem, he said, is hunters who drive the roads and hunt on land "where they have no right to be."

The better hunting in the northwest part of the county is reflected in a larger-than-normal number of camps being set up along the Maple River.

So far this year no one has been accidentally shot while hunting in the Clinton area. The deer hunting season runs through Dec. 4.

HUNTER REPORTS:
Tom Harper of 5808 W. Parks Road, a senior at Rodney B. Wilson High School, brought down a 10-point buck about 8:45 Saturday morning less than half a mile from his home.
Robert W. Moon, of 501 S. Clinton Avenue, who hasn't hunted so far this year, chased a spikehorn buck 2 1/2 blocks through the southside residential district of St. Johns Sunday morning. He first noticed it about 10 a. m. at Park and Clinton and tried to follow it on city streets with his car as the deer went cross-lots west on Baldwin and McConnell.

Caris attends Legion meeting on child welfare

Percy J. Carris of DeWitt, member of the The American Legion Children's Home Committee, has just returned from The American Legion's 40th annual Midwestern Area Child Welfare Conference at Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 3-5.

Child welfare leaders of the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary from 12 Midwestern states convened to discuss their child welfare program plans for 1967 and to hear reports from distinguished child welfare leaders. The theme for the conference was "Character Weavers"—which is to illustrate the responsibility voluntary organizations have for helping to shape the character of youth.

Specific areas of interest being considered by the conference were outdoor recreational facilities, improved services for mentally ill children, juvenile delinquency and child safety. FOCUS OF THE conference was directed toward stimulating community action to implement the many new programs developed recently to alleviate youth problems brought on by our increasingly complex way of life and automation.

Carris, who lives on South Bridge Street, DeWitt, is a member of the Legion's Edwin T. Stiles Post No. 153, St. Johns.

SAVINGS BOND QUIZ
Question: Since I have no relatives, how do I go about naming my church as the beneficiary or co-owner of the savings bonds I own? Answer: Unfortunately, you can't. Regulations provide that bonds issued in either case must name natural persons only. But you could write a will leaving the bonds to your church. Bonds may, of course, be purchased by you in the name of the church as sole owner.

Paris C. Copeman and Joseph J. Rich, claim representatives for State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Co. of St. Johns, have returned after completing four weeks of technical study at their firm's home office in Bloomington, Ill. . . .

ZIP-a-List has 50% response

The St. Johns Post Office has had about 50 per cent response so far on the return of the ZIP-a-List cards which carriers delivered to city and rural residences in October.

Each card had 13 spaces for addresses. Household holders could list the addresses of those with whom he frequently corresponds and return it to the post office. Local postal clerks fill in the ZIP code for each address and mail the cards back to the household for permanent reference.

Postmaster J. D. Robinson said well over 3,500 ZIP-a-List cards were distributed Oct. 10-15 to households on the city and rural postal routes.

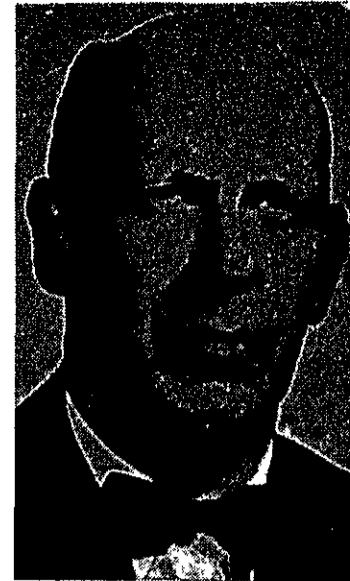

THE INITIAL response to the ZIP-a-Lists was great, Robinson said, and for a while the local office was behind in answering the requests for ZIP codes. They're caught up now and are keeping pace with the requests which continue to straggle in.

There's no deadline for submitting the ZIP-a-List cards to the post office, but Robinson said after Dec. 1 there may be some delay in getting the cards answered because of the usual heavy volume of mail at Christmas time. The aim is to get as many in and answered before Dec. 1 as possible, because using the ZIP codes will help speed the delivery of mail to other areas of the country.

"AFTER DEC. 1 we may have to hold up answering the cards until our rush is over," Robinson said.

While the Post Office Department has not said how much it is costing to answer all the ZIP code requests—or to promote ZIP code—officials are convinced that whatever the cost, it's worth it. "We're certain that whatever the cost is, it will be outweighed by the increased use of ZIP code and therefore more efficient service," a post office spokesman in Washington said.

The department expects to save about $60 million a year with the ZIP code. Much of this saving will result from the pre-sorting of second and third class mail by the mailers. This becomes mandatory Jan. 1, 1967.

MARVIN BARCLAY

Barclay again high priest

Marvin Barclay was reelected high priest of St. Johns Chapter No. 45 Royal Arch Masons earlier this month. Installation has been set for Dec. 8 at the Masonic Temple in St. Johns.

Other officers for 1967 are: Fred Lewis, king; George Frost, scribe; Lawrence Crosby, captain of host; Theodore Bedell, principal sojourner; Raymond Eick, secretary; Lyle Bradley, treasurer; Robert Owen, Royal Arch captain; Horace Welland, master first veil; Sherman Jones, master second veil; James Spousta, master third veil; and Carl Zacharias, master.

The Dec. 8 installation will be preceded by a dinner at 7 p. m. Families of all members are invited to attend, and the installation will also be open to the public.

The installation will be conducted by Grand King Stuart M. Rutter and his staff of officers from the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of Michigan.

Driver, 19, ticketed

Thomas E. Danley, 19, of 606 S. Baker Street, St. Johns, was ticketed for failure to stop in assured clear distance ahead following an accident last Thursday about 1 p. m. Police said his car hit the rear of one driven by Wilma Jean Paradise of 508 E. Sturgis as Mrs. Paradise was making a right turn into a driveway off State Street east of Spring. No one was injured.

C of C plans outlined to Exchange Club members

The St. Johns Exchange Club heard a report at their Thursday luncheon meeting on the activities of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce and saw a slide presentation on what other cities around the country are doing in their development programs.

As guests of the club were Robert Van Ausdall of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, who gave the slide presentation. He was introduced by Mrs. Betty Jane Minsky, manager of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce, who gave a short summary of the accomplishments of that organization during the past 18 months.

In his presentation, Van Ausdall detailed how other communities had built entire new downtown areas, established industrial parks, handled inadequate zoning problems, encouraged residential beautification, and delved into recreational facility construction.

"And, I would urge you to get behind your local Chamber of Commerce and support it, as it is the one organization, by working together, through which you can accomplish a well rounded community program," he said.

Grubbs said another car came across the crossover on Townsend as he (Grubbs) was driving south on US-27, and he had to take to the ditch to avoid a collision. The other car did not stop but continued south.

20 students in co-op education this year

St. Johns High School's and St. Johns business' program of cooperative education gained some strength this year after being revived during the 1965-66 school year.

Twenty business education students are working in the community during school hours, earning and learning at the same time.

"It was proven to be an excellent laboratory for them," said Swears, business education instructor and coordinator of the cooperative program.

"THEY CAN'T learn everything from the book. It's good experience before really going out on a job."

Under the cooperative education program, students work parttime for cooperating businesses — during school hours — and get both pay from the businesses and academic credit from the school.

Students meet regularly with Swears, and their experiences and problems are discussed and shared to give all of them a look at the different jobs that are represented in the cooperative program. Then too it gives coordinator Swears a chance to head off problems that may be developing.

THE COOPERATIVE education program was revived last school year after five years or so of inactivity. Swears took over the coordination of the program this year from John Furry, who's now spending full time in guidance work. The program's success last year with students led to 20 students, all girls, signing up this year.

Students and their training stations this year are:

Barbara Anderson at McKenzie Insurance Agency, Delores Bauer at the Clinton County Soil Conservation District office, Vicki Courser at Central School, Elaine Curtis at Clinton Memorial Hospital, Darlene Dodway at the St. Johns Municipal Building, Diana Griffith at Michigan Title Co.

Share Christmas with foreign pupil

By HELEN B. MEACH Extension Home Economist

Families in our area have a unique opportunity to extend the hand of friendship and learning to foreign students.

This opportunity comes under the title of "An Adventure in World Understanding" when eight foreign students will be assigned to Clinton County. This means that eight of our farm families may have a foreign visitor for a part of the Christmas holidays.

Approximately 70 foreign students from many countries will be participating. These students are presently enrolled in Colleges all over the United States. The "Adventure" will be held Dec. 20-25 beginning on Michigan State University Campus where classes in world understanding are arranged.

A HIGHLIGHT of this experience for the foreign students is a Christmas Eve visit with City families in the Lansing and East Lansing area. This is followed by a two day visit with farm families in the surrounding counties. The dates for this visit are from Monday afternoon Dec. 26 through Wednesday morning, Dec. 28.

In order to qualify as a farm family host, the farm must be a full-time operation. There must be children living at home. New host families are accepted first, in order to widen country families experiences.

The students are brought by bus to our county Extension office where we will have a short get acquainted activity for the farm family and the students.

THIS YEAR A special trip is arranged for Wednesday afternoon for the host families and students. They will go to Battle

Rural teachers meet at 'crazy' restaurant Nov. 7

A group of teachers were entertained at the East Essex School Monday, Nov. 7. A restaurant theme was carried out in which the three hostesses, Mrs Beyerly Baker, Mrs Mary Welton, and Mrs Reva Ward were dressed as cooks and waitresses.

A crazy menu was available for the customers. Anyone wishing tea took her cup of hot water and dunked her tea bag which was strung on a line. For a finger bowl a big dish pan was available along with a man's handkerchief for a towel. When the guests were informed by the waitresses that an inspector was to arrive (he came every five years), they started to clean up the restaurant by swatting flies with an old flyswatter. This caused a lot of laughter by the group. Following their supper, games were played. The group was divided and each discussed different school problems.

A committee of three, Violet Phinney, Gertrude Lietzke and Irma Fritz was appointed to try to get more teachers and ex-teachers to attend future meetings.

The next meeting will be held in the spring at Gwen Walker's School (Ploverman). A date will be announced later.

CHOW TIME FOR ZOO FOWL

It's chow time every afternoon about 4 o'clock at the City Park Zoo. Park Supt. Robert Langlois spreads out celery and cabbage and tomato scraps for the residents of the fowl pen at the zoo.

This buck deer, carrying a six-point rack, is not for shooting. He's the man of the house at the St. Johns City Park Zoo deer pen, chews tobacco and answers, to the name of Ricky.

Newcomers at city park deer pen

There's a "light in the window" at the city park zoo deer pen again following the arrival last Wednesday afternoon of three new residents from Mt. Pleasant.

Ricky, Ticky and Sticky are their names, and they take over a pen that's been empty since a small herd got out of the pen last summer.

The herd of four deer is still around the park area, but city employees haven't been able to coax them back into the pen.

The three new deer—one buck and two does—were obtained from the City of Mt. Pleasant on a sort of mutual deer exchange policy. St. Johns gave Mt. Pleasant a buck and a doe several years ago to start a deer herd at Mt. Pleasant, and now that city is returning the favor.

Ricky (the buck), Ticky and Sticky are the names dubbed on these three new deer at the St. Johns City Park Zoo. They were obtained from Mt. Pleasant last week.

Ricky is a six-point buck who knows his name and loves to eat tobacco. He's extremely tame, and the story goes that he was donated to Mt. Pleasant some time ago by a person who used to transport the deer in his car.

THE NEW DEER came to the St. Johns park last Wednesday, and their home is a large pen surrounded by a newly enforced fence.

The deer pen has long been a favorite attraction at the zoo, and the presence of the new residents is expected to bring a lot of people around for a look. The zoo also includes rabbits, a fowl pen, raccoon, goats and two ponies.

Farmer's Week at Michigan State University will be held Jan. 30 to Feb. 5, 1967...

Savings in state to continue up

Although the rate of growth has declined in 1966, savings in Michigan's financial institutions will continue to climb to a record $12.4 billion by the end of the year, according to a Michigan State University financial specialist.

Dr Richard H. Pettway, writing in the current issue of the Michigan State Economic Record, reports that Michigan's saving institutions will add about $1.3 billion to their savings totals by the end of 1966, compared to a growth of $1.42 billion in 1965.

The decrease in savings, growth, he added, is less in Michigan than the national average.

Dr Pettway said that while banks will probably have a slightly reduced rate of savings growth in the final two quarters, their market share of savings in Michigan will grow to an estimated 67.1 per cent, a bit higher than last year.

8th month sales taxes $161,046

Clinton County merchants turned $161,046.31 in sales tax money over to the Michigan Department of Revenue in September, based on sales in August. Another $4,915.25 was reported in use taxes.

Some 150 or more persons are expected in St. Johns Jan. 7 for a meeting of the Eastern Michigan Conference, Lansing District of the Free Methodist Church...

Open Letter from VAN W. HOAG

Dear friends,
A local citizen recently said, "I just can't make a personal call of sympathy when my friends are bereaved... I never know what to say."

We have observed that it isn't necessary to say anything. Your presence speaks for itself.

Friends mean more to a family, in time of bereavement, than anything else. The act of sharing their grief is deeply comforting.

Respectfully,

Van W. Hoag

Eureka

Mrs Gordon Waggoner

Rev Rupert Lindly of Blissfield visited Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr and Mrs Roy Hyke. Gloria and Linda Waggoner spent the weekend with their grandparents, Mr and Mrs Clifford Clark in Elsie.

Mr and Mrs Gordon Waggoner, Mr and Mrs Wendell Waggoner and two sons Ron and Rusty, Mr and Mrs Dale Randolph and son Larry, Mr and Mrs Hub Meadows of near Perry and Mr and Mrs Howard Waggoner of Houghton Lake hunted deer together at their Eureka Hunting Club near Houghton and Higgins lakes. Wendell and Hub both had got a buck the first morning.

Offer reward for conviction of line vandals

Hunting season could be a time of woe for thoughtless hunters who shoot at electric insulators. Consumers Power Co. this week renewed a $100 reward offer for information leading to conviction of anyone whose careless gunfire causes a power interruption.

Besides interrupting electric service to hundreds of people, the hunter also is taking a big chance, often with his life.

A recent incident near Midland resulted in a power line falling almost to the ground. In its path it left fire and molten metal as the line passed through other lines. The careless shooter was endangered by the flashing electric arc and, if standing near by, could have been electrocuted. Other persons passing through the same woods could have touched the still-live line as it swung at eye level, until Consumers Power employees located the damaged section.

Often, reports Harry R. Wall, vice president for electric operations, the power interruptions are just "outright vandalism."

"Consumers Power is prepared to prosecute vandals who cause electric blackouts. It's not just a matter of homes being without electricity. Often it involves hospitals, police, fire departments, and other essential services", Wall said.

Crash ends police chase

Gary L. Latimore, 20, of 505 Bridge Street, DeWitt, was ticketed for careless driving last Wednesday after his car crashed, reportedly ending a four-mile high-speed chase by Lansing police.

The crash occurred on Turner Road a quarter-mile south of Stoll. Latimore told Clinton sheriff's deputies that as he went into a curve his lights went out and he could not see where he was going. He lost control and the car crashed.

GI wounded

MAPLE RAPIDS - Sgt. James W. Baxter of Maple Rapids, wounded a third time in Viet Nam, is off the "critical" list.

His parents, Mr and Mrs Walter Baxter, say they have heard the local youth is "getting along nicely."

The sergeant was hit in the face and neck by enemy fire. He wrote that he doesn't know whether he will be sent home or to a base in Japan to convalesce.

New District

By Mrs Howard Witt

Don and Dennis McCullough and Harold Taylor of St. Johns spent three days deer hunting in the Upper Peninsula. Dennis had planned to hunt with his dad after the season opened Nov. 19 but Uncle Sam changed their plans; Harold and Dennis both had to report for induction into the army Nov. 16.

Miss Pamela Murton of St. Johns called on Julie McCullough Saturday evening. The girls spent the evening at Mount Pleasant College where Pam is a student.

Mr and Mrs Ted Sooy of Gull Lake and Mr and Mrs Dow Young were Sunday dinner guests of their mother, Mrs Charles Flynn recently.

Mr and Mrs David Steavens and family and Mr and Mrs Marvin Witt were Sunday night supper guests of their parents Mr and Mrs Howard Witt and Lee.

Mr and Mrs Walter Kleinow of Rochester were Sunday night supper guests of Mr and Mrs Clyde Chadwick. Sunday callers in the Chadwick home were Mrs Ronald Lyons of Lansing, Mrs Miles Schoals and Mr and Mrs Rollin Beardslee.

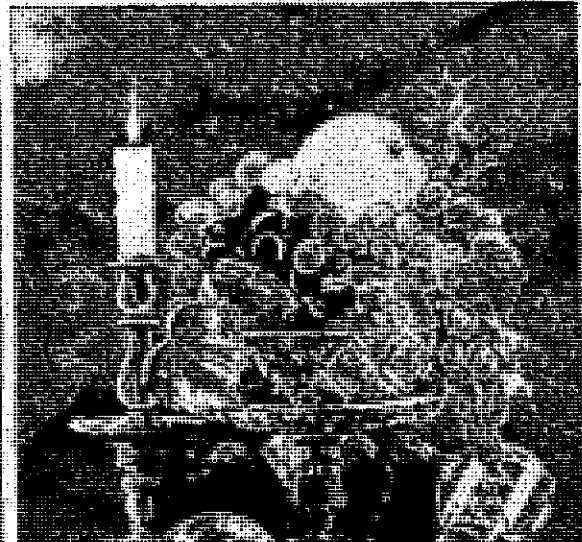

Dennis McCullough left for Detroit Nov. 16 to keep a pre-arranged date with Uncle Sam and the U.S. Army.

A telephone call from Denny that evening to his parents and sister, Julie, let them know he was being sent to Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. He would be there for about five days for initial processing and then be sent to a basic combat training brigade.

Recent callers in the Don McCullough home to wish Denny good luck were Mr and Mrs Harold Letzke, Trudy and Ted; Dale Heavener, Mr and Mrs Edwin Rademacher, Mr and Mrs Joseph Bancroft, LuAnn and Troy; Mr and Mrs Billy Crego, Kim and Kris; Mr and Mrs Robert Smith, Janet and Sharon; Mike O'wen, Miles Schoals and Rev and Mrs William Cessna.

The Rev Mr Cessna presented Dennis a pocket-size testament, a gift from Dennis' church, Emmanuel Methodist Church.

MAR VAN DER MAREL

DeWitt's first exchange student

Mar VanDer Marel of the Netherlands knew he was coming to the United States as a member of the Youth for Understanding program last April.

His American parents, Mr and Mrs E. Lupnitz of R-1, DeWitt, didn't have that much notice. As a matter of fact, they found out the day of Mar's arrival in Michigan.

They had applied to be a foster family for the 67-68 school year. When the call from the Youth for Understanding program came at noon of the day Mar arrived, they said yes and started to make arrangements to go to Detroit to pick him up.

AFTER A FIVE-hour wait in Detroit, Mar became the first exchange student in the DeWitt school system.

Mar comes from Vlaardingen which is about eight miles west of Rotterdam and is the youngest of four. His three brothers are Jan 28, Hans 24 and Slem 20.

His mother is Neeltje Elizabeth Van Der Marel-Steenhoek.

MAR, WHO WILL graduate with his class in DeWitt next June, is taking government, geography, Spanish, humanities, physical education and trigonometry. When he returns to his home next year, he plans to continue his education in a university and major in math and engineering.

He enjoys sports and has a part in the senior play, "You Can't Take It With You."

"It is not so very big a part, only 55 lines," he said.

Mar also works several nights a week after school and during the weekends.

THE SCHOOL YEAR in Holland begins early in September and ends about the first of July. They also attend school Saturdays.

He has found more examinations are given in the American school system.

In the Netherlands there are fewer cars than here and one cannot drive until he is 18. There are no school buses and to get to school one must ride a bike or motor bike.

One thing he was surprised to see at the DeWitt school was a hot lunch program. At his own school there were no facilities for obtaining a hot lunch there.

MR AND MRS LUPNITZ have three sons, Roger 18 in the Marines, Harold 16 and Luis 15.

"Mar will not let a thing slip by him he doesn't understand," Mrs Lupnitz said.
