Santa coming to town

ST. JOHNS—December 3 is going to be a big day for all the children of St. Johns and Clinton County.

That is the day Santa Claus arrives. The St. Johns Jaycees are planning a warm welcome for the Jolly Gentleman from the North Pole. Santa is expected to appear at 7:30 p.m. under the escort of John Speck and the Marching Redwing Band.

Santa will spend some time with the children on the night of Dec. 3 and then on Saturday Dec. 11 and 18, the Jaycee Auxiliary will sponsor their annual Lunch with Santa program beginning at 10 a.m. with a story hour in the city library.

FOR THOSE WHO wish to have lunch with Santa between 11 and 12:30 p.m. there will be a 50 cent charge. Lunch will be served in the Municipal Building Auditorium by the Jaycee Auxiliary and Girl Scouts and 4-H girls. The Brownies will also assist by providing some of the decorations.

All kids are invited to attend. There will be free movies again this year to be shown on Dec. 11 and 18, under the sponsorship of the Jaycees. Tickets are free and can be obtained from any Chamber of Commerce member. "Ring of Bright Water" will be shown Dec. 11 and "Basil the Elephant" will be the feature Dec. 18. The movies will be shown at the Clinton Theatre at 1 and 3 p.m. both days.

At 8 p.m. on Dec. 11 the combined choirs from the local churches will present a musical program on the court house plaza. They will be under the direction of Don Valentine. Also participating in the program will be John Speck directing a brass section and presentation of the Nativity by the Lutheran Church. This program will be under the direction of Robert Koeppen.

State wants centralization representatives tell school men

State Representatives Douglas Trezise, of Owosso, and Richard Allen, of Ithaca, both Republicans, met with the Mid-Michigan School Administrators' Association on Thursday in Corunna and told the school men that they were "out numbered" on all fronts.

Rep. Allen said "that the Legislature definitely leans toward state school centralization". Both Trezise and Allen said "if you want decentralization then get involved in the political arena".

Discussing the movement for strict control of schools by the State Board of Education with the twenty-two school administrators, it was noted by the representatives that since the public wanted to pay less for school operation (in local taxes) that there would probably be a decrease in local control. The action of the State Board of Education in the past few years was cited to support this contention.

Both legislators spoke out for the need to support the governor's petition drive for a state wide referendum calling for equal educational opportunities through educational reform.

Sen. William Ballenger, speaking to the same group in October, also expressed alarm and concern for education as local control wanes and concentration of power is concentrated in the hands of the politically isolated State Board of Education.

Count down to start Dec. 1

ST. JOHNS—The St. Johns Post Office has announced a "count down" deadline schedule for mailing Christmas cards and packages to insure delivery by the holiday.

Out of town packages should be mailed by Dec. 1 "We expect a flood of packages across the country. We'll be able to deliver them all in time if you get them to us no later than Dec. 1," noted the news release.

Local packages, and out of town cards should be mailed by Dec. 10 and local cards should be mailed by Dec. 15. "We don't want any one disappointed. So please mail all your local cards and letters by Dec. 15," the release stated.

BEGINNING TO LOOK A LOT...

Yes, it sure is, thanks to the Jaycees, the Boys Club and other volunteers who turned out Sunday morning to put Christmas decorations up on the Court House Lawn and the downtown area. Only 30 days left 'til Christmas!

City votes on parking proposals

ST. JOHNS—Parking, a subject which has caused much controversy up and down main street, was the subject which drew the most attention at Monday night's city commission meeting.

The Commission received the first report of the Parking Board and acted on one of three recommendations and decided to probe further into two others.

The Commission voted unanimously to make improvements in the Spring and Higham St. lot this spring. Improvements will be of a general face lifting nature, including increasing the lighting (with brighter lights), paving, planting of shrubs and installation of signs on Clinton Ave. marking the direction to off street parking.

The Commission also agreed to look further into improvements of the Spring St. Lot (behind the County News Building) and the purchase of property in the 200 block of Clinton Ave. for future parking lot development.

CITY MANAGER HARVEY Weatherwax explained that a parking survey is currently underway and so far, some of the results are surprising.

"We have been observing parking habits on Friday afternoons and evenings and we have found shoppers are not using even 50 per cent of the available space and others are driving around the block looking for places so they won't have to walk a half a block," he said.

Speaking specifically of the Higham St. Lot, Weatherwax said, "There are 38 spaces available and even they aren't being used to 50 per cent capacity. This is also true on Clinton Ave."

Weatherwax said high school students would possibly be hired to check parking patterns on Fridays during the holiday rush season.

"WE DO HAVE parking problems, but they are not in areas where you would think they are," he said. "We will just have to educate the shopper to use these off street parking lots."

Speaking of the Parking Lot Board, he said they have a good start on the problem. "They are getting the ball rolling."

Commissioner Roy Ebert objected to paving the 50 by 90 feet city now owns in the Spring St. Lot.

"I think it would cause water run off problems," Ebert said. "As badly as I would like to see that lot improved, I don't go along with paving just what we own."

WEATHERWAX SAID THE city was working toward paying what they own in the hope that they could get ingress and egress rights from Shell Oil.

The Commission also agreed to look into the possible acquisition of land on Clinton Ave. for future parking, awaiting the recommendation of the Parking Board.

In other action, approval for 250 to 300 of sewer construction on Franklin St. was given and the traffic order which bans parking on the east side of Lansing St. from State to Siskies was made permanent after a 90 day trial period.

The cost of plans for the fire hall addition have gone up from the approved $300 to a minimum of $500. The most expensive would be $1,600. Commissioners rescinded the former resolution which said no more than $300 could be spent, substituting the $500 figure.

MRS. ROBERT RAND again voted against the expenditure of funds.

The Park Board was appointed. They are Ed Schmitt and Lester Lake, one year terms, William Parker and Kurt Becker, two year terms. Dr. James Groat was appointed as the commission member.

Approval was given to the Seventh Day Adventist Church to have a fund raising drive by providing Christmas music on non-business streets of the city from Thanksgiving until Christmas.

Emergency fund opens three jobs

ST. JOHNS — Ernest Carter, Clinton County clerk, said Monday that the Emergency Employment Fund grant of $61,300, which was recently approved, will provide three new jobs at the courthouse.

The positions of clerk in the county clerk's office, bookkeeper in the treasurer's office and inspector in the zoning office will be open to applicants. He did not indicate the salaries of the new positions.

Details on the openings may be obtained by contacting Carter at the Clinton County courthouse.

New teachers contract approved by ed board

ST. JOHNS — The St. Johns Board of Education has ratified contracts with the St. Johns Education Association, janitors, secretaries, bus drivers, cafeteria workers and aides.

The biggest contract, with the teachers, calls for starting salaries for first year teachers with a BA degree at $7,800 and a top salary for a master's degree with 12 years of teaching experience at $13,494.

However, the salaries are still subject to review by the National Pay Board. It is an increase of 6.68 per cent.

The beginning teacher would go from $7,500 to $7,800 an increase of $300 which represents a four per cent increase without the freeze period deducted.

However, if the Wage Board does not allow retroactivity the increase will be $213 or 2.8 per cent.

At the top of the salary schedule, a teacher with 12 years of service and an MA degree will advance from a salary of $12,750 to $13,494, an increase of 5.83 per cent. If the freeze period is deducted the increase will be 4.09 per cent.

The largest single increase is for a person who was on the 9th level of the MA schedule last year at $11,700 and who advances to the 10th step this year at $12,714. This is an increase of $1,104 or 8.65 per cent. If the Pay Board does not allow retroactivity this will reduce to $720 or 6.14 per cent.

Other changes in the contract agreement were that the SJEA will be released for one teaching period per day if desired at Association expense.

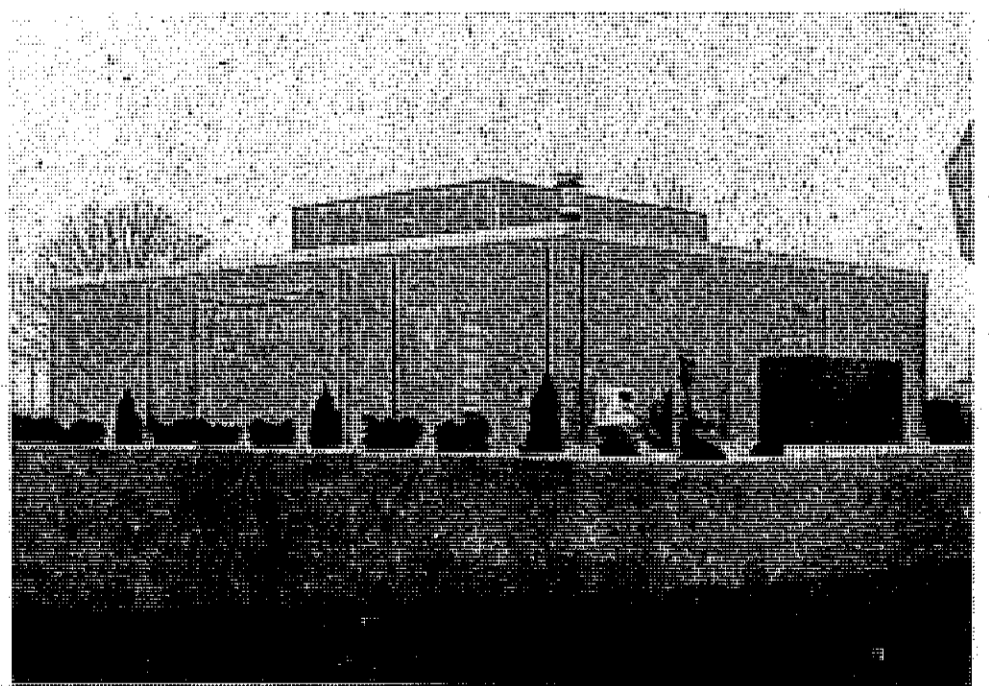

DRIVER TRAINING PAY for the summer of '72 will be at the rate of $6.65 per hour. Time limitations for teacher evaluations were extended to make the process more beneficial and two personal business days per year are not to be accumulative.

In other board of education business, the board appointed the law firm of Thomas and Thomas of Lansing to represent the district in the Judy Wright grievance which goes to arbitration.

And they took bids on school bus bodies from Birch Body Works of Rockford, McFadden Corp. of Lansing and Classrooms Inc. of Lansing. The bids were tabled for further study.

Below is listed the salary schedules of the new contract between the St. Johns Board of Education and the St. Johns Education Association.

Clinton raises $1,750

LANSING — Initial contributions to Michigan's 1971 Christmas Seal Campaign have passed $330,000, said John R. Pettibone, president of the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, state Christmas Seal Agency. The figure represents about one third of the campaign goal of $1,550,000 and Pettibone said prospects of reaching the goal look good.

Christmas Seal contributions from Clinton County residents at the end of the first four weeks have reached $1,750,00, which is 25.4 per cent of the total amount of $6,919,000 contributed in 1970.

Funds contributed to the traditional Christmas Seal campaign help support numerous programs at the local, state, and national levels, Pettibone said. They will be used in part for research and medical education in Michigan at our leading universities, as well as for national research.

They also support activities necessary for the continued control of tuberculosis at the state and local level, new approaches to help smokers kick the habit, activities to get citizens at the community level to unite for cleaner air, and special seminars on respiratory diseases for the physicians, nurses, and other members of the health team which will ultimately provide better care for residents of all counties in Michigan.

FOR OVER 60 YEARS Christmas Seals have provided the funds necessary to continue the work of the national, state, and local tuberculosis and respiratory disease associations in their fight against breath stealing diseases. It is important that people realize where their contribution goes and how it is used. Support of the colorful Christmas Seals featuring the trumpeter, tree, candle, and angel are Clinton County residents' assurance of continued programs designed to benefit them.

Pettibone urged the use of Christmas Seals on all holiday mail and asked that residents who have not mailed in their contribution to do so now. Christmas Seals do more and there is much to do, the state organization president said.

Gravel trains cause concern on Colony

By TOM DEWITT
Co-Editor

ST. JOHNS—A gravel train is a huge rig. It consists of a semi-tractor and at least one, sometimes two, large multi-wheeled trailers.

When loaded, they have a tremendous weight.

A child is a fragile thing. Weighing from 50 to 100 pounds, it is no match for a gravel train. Or even a car.

Gravel trains are driven by adults, who have excellent reflexes and the ability to make snap decisions. But it takes time to stop one.

A CHILD SOMETIMES doesn't think, especially when his mind is on other things—such as crossing a road.

This is the problem faced by three Clinton families on Colony Rd. A bustling gravel industry surrounds the families. Gravel trains hauling loads to Lansing, and some in Clinton County, pass by their homes. Naturally, they fear for the lives of their children.

"I've been trying for two months to get the county to put up a sign warning the drivers that there are children in the area and to be on the lookout for them," said Mrs. Nell Hall, of 4032 Colony Rd.

"I've called the county road commission sign men and they said they have the signs, but installation has to be approved by the engineer-manager," she said.

MRS. HALL, MRS. ELAINE Brockmyre and Mrs. Lynda Wycoff have good reasons to be concerned. Eleven of them in fact. Between the three families, there are 11 children between the ages of 2 and 12.

In October, Lucinda Wycoff, 8, was actually hit by a car while crossing Colony Rd.

"It wasn't the fault of the driver," said Mrs. Wycoff. "The child ran in front of the car without looking."

FORTUNATELY, THE girl was not hurt seriously.

"Our children have 10 acres in which to run," said Mrs. Hall. "And it's next to impossible to watch them all the time."

On the day this reporter talked to the ladies, 17 gravel trains, both loaded and empty, passed the house in a hour and half's time.

"We have called the engineer-manager and have never received any satisfactory answers," they said. "In fact," said Mrs. Hall, "He hasn't returned my call."

FORMER COUNTY ROAD Commission Engineer-Manager Donald Haske said his work schedule had prevented him from calling back, although he sympathized with the problem.

"It's a difficult decision to make," Haske said. "We are flooded with requests like this all the time. The signs are expensive and vulnerable to vandalism. If we granted this request, we would have to grant them all."

Signs like the ones requested, "Caution, children playing," cost approximately $40 each, plus installation charges.

"Although you don't like to do it, sometimes you just have to say no to these requests," Haske said.

THE GRAVEL TRAINS now use Colony Rd. in their travels to and from three gravel pits. Within the near future, Chandler Rd. will be improved to accommodate the heavy trucks, taking them away from the homes of the concerned parents.

"I think the problem will correct itself once Chandler Rd. is completed," Haske said.

There is another problem. The trucks begin rumbling down Colony Rd. about 6 a.m. School buses stop for the children in the morning and afternoon. The children have to cross the road to board the buses.

The bus drivers activate their warning lights, but last year, five of the gravel trains passed the stopped buses, ignoring the warning lights.

"WE REPORTED ALL of the instances to the Sheriff's Department," said Mrs. Hall.

The ladies do not share Haske's opinion that Chandler Rd. will alleviate the problem.

"I think they will use both roads," said Mrs. Hall. "It's not that we are against the trucks or the drivers. We just want something to warn the drivers, who are sometimes driving faster than we feel they should."

To date the problem remains. Haske submitted his resignation to the Road Commission last Monday.

THE PROBLEM WILL have to be handled by the new manager when he is appointed.

Until that time, gravel trains will rumble down Colony Rd. and 11 children, ages 2 to 12, will have to be extra careful crossing the pavement.

Tape taken

OVID—A new semi tractor was broken into Nov. 19 and a new eight track stereo tape player was reported stolen here.

Sheriff's Deputies said the tractor, owned by Robert Harden of 1821 N. Hollister Rd., was broken into between the hours of 12 a.m. and 5 a.m.

Deputies said the culprits also tried to remove the instrument panel of the truck, apparently in an attempt to steal the gauges.

Foreign students, Clintonians may join in Christmas program

ST. JOHNS—Clinton County families will have an opportunity in participating in the Adventure in World Understanding at Kellogg Center, Michigan State University, Dec. 24-26. Families will serve as a host family for a foreign exchange student from Friday, Dec. 24-Sunday, Dec. 26. Farm, rural non-farm or urban will be eligible to serve as a host family this year. This Christmas Adventure is a challenging and satisfying experience when you can share your Christmas joy with some student so far from his home and country. Families will pick up the students at the Kellogg Center to take them home for two days and return the student to Kellogg Center late Sunday afternoon at a time most convenient to them. The "Adventure in World Understanding" was started in 1952 for foreign students who were attending colleges and universities in the United States. Most of the participants range in age from 20-35 years. Since 1953, 1,472 students from 114 countries have participated in this program with 50 expected for this year. One of the objectives is for the foreign student to visit overnight a family in the city or rural area and to exchange ideas mutually beneficial. Clinton County families that participated in this program last year included William Brook-East Lansing, Hugo Fox-St. Johns, Dale Haviland-DeWitt, Ray Peck-Elsie and Mark Day-man-Bath. If your family would like to host either a man or woman foreign exchange student for two days, Dec. 24-26, please, contact the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service, 1003 S. Oakland in St. Johns and ask for an application.

Scholarship program is announced

OVID—"Students win more than awards and scholarships when they participate in the V.F.W. Voice of Democracy Scholarship Program," said Commander Larry Fivecoats of Ovid Memorial Post No. 6964 in discussing the script-writing contest being conducted in the Ovid-Elsie High School.

"One of the greatest benefits to young people who take part in the program is that by thinking, writing, and speaking on freedom's responsibility, they gain a better appreciation of democracy in action," Commander Fivecoats said.

For the state winners, there is, also, the broadening experience of a five-day tour of Washington, D.C. Five national winners are chosen to receive a total of $22,500 in scholarships.

THE PROGRAM IS open to all tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grade students. Anyone interested may contact Miss Richardson of the Speech Department or Mr. Lentz, School Principal. Judges will be Mrs. Everett Rule, Reverend Monroe Frederick, and Robert Lloyd.

Needs name

Have trophy, will travel

ST. JOHNS—A large trophy stood on the head table Sunday at the annual football appreciation night banquet. It drew a lot of stares and comments.

The Redwings did not win the West Central Conference title this year, so that wasn't it. "Perhaps you're all wondering what this trophy is," said Coach Ernie Becker as he started off the program. "We didn't win the West Central, so it can't be that." Becker explained that the final game of most football seasons is usually a big rivalry, or at least a very important game.

"WHERE I CAME from, we called the final game the 'Meridian Bowl'," he said. "And there is a traveling trophy."

"When I heard about the Ovid-Elsie rivalry, I asked if there was a trophy. They said there wasn't, so I said I would buy one if we won," he said.

After a hearty round of applause, Becker explained he hoped this one could be traded in for a larger one, with a big football and large base on which could be inscribed the year, the winning team and the score.

"THIS WOULD BE a traveling trophy, kept each year by the school who wins it," he said. "Perhaps the radio station or the newspaper would donate one."

As he finished speaking, both the radio station and the newspaper said they would contribute, as did the St. Johns Football Club.

"We're going to have to come up with a name for this contest. I thought of the Clinton County Championship, but there are other teams involved which we do not play," Becker said after the banquet.

"Maybe somebody can come up with a name for the contest. I feel this rivalry should be something more than just the last football game of the season," he said.

EDITOR'S NOTE: If you have any suggestions for a title of the annual St. Johns-Ovid-Elsie contest, please send it to the Clinton County News. All suggestions will be carefully considered. If your suggestion is selected, you will receive two tickets to the 1972 St. Johns Ovid-Elsie game.

Janet Barnes receives scholarship

MARQUETTE—Janet E. Barnes, 427 Meadowview Drive, a senior at St. Johns High School, has been selected as the recipient of a Northern Michigan University Scholarship in the amount of $1,500 per year for four years at the university, beginning with the Fall semester of 1972.

Announcement of Miss Barnes' award was made by Robert Pecotte, director of NMU's Financial Aids Office.

"Janet has been chosen as a semi-finalist in the National Merit Scholarship competition, which ranks her among the top students in the Lower Peninsula as well as the state of Michigan," Pecotte said.

"We feel that Janet will prove to be an asset to Northern in its continuing efforts to improve the quality of its student body."

Miss Barnes has been asked to notify Pecotte's office by Nov. 15 if she intends to accept her scholarship. This award could amount to $6,000, with the only stipulation being that she remain in good standing throughout her four years in college.

Phone books delivered

ST. JOHNS—One of the most widely used publications in the United States—the telephone directory—is now being delivered to General Telephone customers in Fowler, Maple Rapids, Muir, Pewamo and St. Johns.

William Graef, district manager for the company, said although there are no major format changes in the new directory, he suggests customers familiarize themselves with the location of important information within the directory.

The alphabetical index and table of contents for the directory appear on the inside front cover and the list for frequently called numbers appears on the inside back cover. A localized exchange area map, printed in conjunction with the Continental U.S. Area Code Map, also appears again in the directory.

"Places for you to write in emergency numbers are conveniently located on page one," Graef pointed out. "We want the location of these numbers readily available and easy to find."

Instructions for all types of calls—station-to-station, person-to-person, conference, collect, overseas, mobile and marine—and a graphic description of both interstate and intrastate long distance rates appear in the introductory pages of the new directory. Included is an explanation of the discounts available for dialing intrastate long distance calls direct.

An explanation of the Michigan State Law concerning threatening, obscene, nuisance or harassment calls also appears in the new directory as well as the procedure to follow in cases where this statute is violated.

low in cases where this statute is violated.

Graef suggested customers carefully leaf through their old directory before replacing it with the new edition.

"Often important papers, letters and even money, are placed in the telephone directory for safekeeping and forgotten," he said. "Remember, also, to transfer that list of frequently called numbers from the old directory to the new one."

The directory is larger this year because of expanded listings in both the white and yellow pages, the manager said. He added that General Telephone would distribute more than 6,000 directories in the St. Johns area this year.

P-W readies new season

Pewamo-Westphalia High School began practicing for the 1971-72 year of basketball this week. We have five squads; 7th, 8th, 9th, Junior Varsity and Varsity. We hope that these teams will work hard and win many, many games.

Another sport that started practice this week were the wrestling squads. This is a sport for boys of all sizes and especially all weights. We hope these fellows, too, will be a mighty victorious group.

ANOTHER SPORT, though not really endorsed by the officials of this school, is deer hunting.

On November 15, opening day, approximately 65 students were absent from school. Of those, 11 were girls. Congratulations to anyone who got a deer. (I didn't.)

On a hungrier note, Thanksgiving is coming. On Tuesday, November 23, the annual turkey dinner, with trimmings, will be served here at school. Then a short, but long deserved, vacation will be Thursday, Nov. 25 through Sunday, Nov. 28.

In case anyone has wondered who the person behind the byline is, it's me. (Valerie Marie Hill) My folks are Calvin and Janet Hill. I also have a brother and six sisters. We live near the town of Matheron.

In school I'm a junior and involved in a number of clubs. They are PAC, GAA, Band, Pep Band and a tackle for the junior powder puff team. In FHA, I'm the reporter on the local level and vice-president on the regional level.

Outside of school I'm on the Central District Council for the United Methodist Youth Fellowship. All in all, I suppose you could say I can be slightly busy at times.

Open Letter from VAN W. HOAG

Dear friends,

It deserves emphasis that the time, the place, the character of the funeral service, the merchandise used, the cemetery selected - these are decisions of the family of the deceased. The funeral director acts only as a representative of the family.

The clergyman should be consulted in matters that concern him before any decisions are made.

Respectfully,

Van W. Hoag

Swimming is added as fulltime sport

ST. JOHNS—Swimming, a relatively new sport to St. Johns, will be running full splash this year as the Redwings will participate in an intra-school competition with other West Central Schools which have swimming teams.

The first meet will be December 9 at Holt, a non-league meet. There will be 13 meets altogether with one a week scheduled.

"This is the first year we are running a competitive swimming program at full strength," said Coach Wayne Morrison. "Last year was our first year and there was little competition. This year we will be competing with schools that have had swimming programs and teams anywhere from three to 10 years."

The St. Johns' team is definitely young. There are only five seniors including Kim Brewbaker, Mike Butler, Bob Elliott, Mark Stephenson and Jeff Springer.

BREWBAKER, BUTLER, ELLIOTT and Stephenson were members of the team last year. They were Juniors Dan Downing and Charley Rehmann and sophomores Wayne Cox, Bill DeCamp, Joe Fernholz, Bruce Hass and Andy Huntley.

Returning lettermen are Brewbaker, Elliott and Stephenson.

The remainder of the team is made up of freshmen Harold Wellman, Paul Butler, Robert Davis, John Gregory, Dale Stephenson, Ed Riley, Mike Moxley, Kevin Knaus, Tom Villarrel and Craig Cole.

This year's diving squad are all freshmen. They are Kirk Robbins, Brian Stork, Joe Gombosi and Gary Strouse.

SINCE SWIMMING IS a new sport at St. Johns, here are some helpful hints to prospective spectators.

Swimming is rated five points for a first place, three for a second, and one for a third. In relay events, eight points are awarded for a first place and four for a second.

The events are a 200 yard medley relay, featuring 50 yards and four strokes. 50 yards at the St. Johns pool is down the pool length and back.

The four strokes used by the swimmers are the back stroke, the breast stroke, the butterfly and the freestyle (the crawl since it is the fastest.)

THE NEXT EVENT is the 200 yard freestyle, followed by the 200 yard individual medley. In the individual medley, swimmers use the butterfly, the back stroke, the breast and the freestyle.

This is followed by the 50 yard freestyle, a speed race. Diving is next, with six dives required. They include the back layout, reverse, inward, twisting and an optional dive, usually the diver's best dive.

The next event is the 100 yard butterfly, followed by the 100 yard freestyle, 100 yard backstroke, the 400 yard freestyle and the 100 yard breast stroke.

THE FINAL EVENT of the meet will be the four man 400 yard swimming 100 yards.

"We expect to learn a lot this year and of course, build for the future," said Coach Bruce Barber.

Barber and Morrison are serious about building for the future. Each day from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. the coaches work with seventh and eighth graders, teaching them the fundamentals of swimming.

"We extend an invitation to all swimming team parents and the community to attend our meets and support the team," said Coach Morrison.

THE COACHING STAFF has prepared a handout for meet spectators to explain the various terminology used in swimming. They will be given out at the meets.

Next week, the full swimming meet schedule will be printed in the Clinton County News.

St. Johns cagers open Tuesday

ST. JOHNS—"We should be quick, small and aggressive." That's what head basketball Coach Doug Japinga has to say about this year's Redwing basketball team—defending champs of the West Central Conference for the third year running.

But this year, that title defense could be a little difficult. For one thing, the team is very, very young. With only three seniors and 11 juniors, experience is lacking. And in this year's West Central league, that could hurt.

They are also comparatively short in size.

PLUS A FOOTBALL injury to Dennis LeVeck will prevent him from playing basketball this season. LeVeck was a returning letterman who led the team in free throw shooting percentages last year and hit 33 per cent from the floor.

What coach Japinga does have is lettermen Ken Schueller, Mike Grost and Rick Hudson. Schueller, a 5-11 guard, had 129 points last year, shooting 29 per cent from the floor and 57 per cent from the free throw line.

Grost and Hudson saw limited action last year. Grost, 6-1 forward, had two points last year and a 7 per cent shooting average. Hudson, at 6-2, is a center, and had 6 points last year and shot 67 per cent.

Coach Japinga will be relying on last year's J.V. team for his depth. The J.V.'s had a 7-5 record last season which was good enough for a second place finish.

STARTERS ON THE J.V. squad who will appear this year in varsity uniforms were Mike Southerland, 6-3 center forward, Dennis Parker, 5-6 guard, Bruce Irish, 6-1 forward, Charles Favior, 6-0 forward and Alex MacKinnon, 5-11 guard.

Other members of the team are Steve Pytlowanyj, 6-0 forward, Mark DeBoer, 6-3 center, Bob Spencer, 6-2 forward-center, Ed Jorae, 5-8 guard, Dan Mohnke, 6-0, and Jim Viers, 5-10 guard.

Last year the Redwings won the conference title for the third year in a row, with a 13-1 record. They compiled a 13-4 record overall.

"It's going to be a good league this year," Japinga said, "And it's going to be a tough league too."

"I GUESS IF I had to pick a pre-season favorite, it would have to be Ionia," Japinga said. "They have everyone back with one exception and they have a 6-8, 6-7 and 6-3 front wall and 6-6 at the guard positions."

Of the other league contenders, Japinga said Waverly will be young but respectable. They have three returning lettermen and three big players off of last year's undefeated J.V. team.

Charlotte has all but one of their starters back, including 6-7 all conference pivot man Rocco Moore. Hastings has two 6-4 players including one returning letterman and the other the best J.V. player in the league last year.

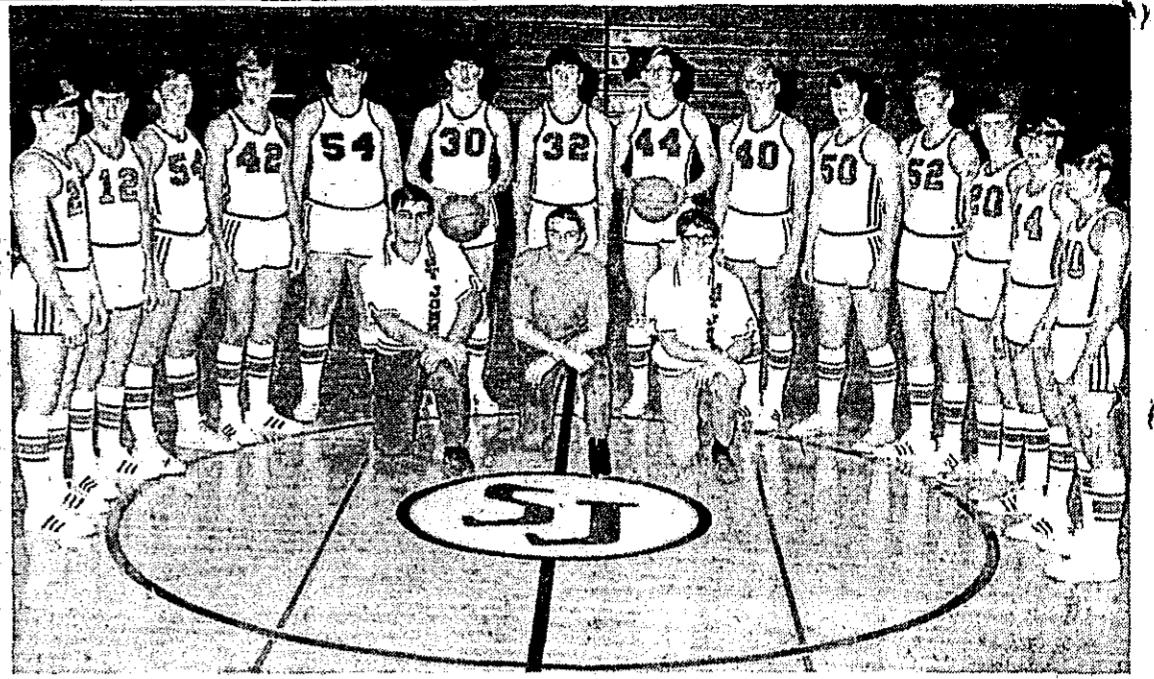

Grand Ledge has three of their five starters back including three-year starter Lynn VanderSteen.

ALMA IS THE only team similar to St. Johns in returning experience. They have one letterman back.

"We should be fairly quick and aggressive as a team," Japinga said, "And we will be small compared to the other teams in the league. We will use our trademark offense—run, run, run and we will rely on good defensive play."

The Wings will play a 16 game schedule opening Nov. 30 with Ovid-Elsie at the home of the Marauders. The first home game will be with Ionia Dec. 3. They will play four non-conference games. Ovid-Elsie, Grand Rapids Forest Hills and two games with Mason.

Football ends

Recently the mini Marauders finished their 1971 football season. The final standing was four wins and three losses. The freshman coach, William Furstenau feels the season went well, and that the boys learned the fundamentals.

The little Marauders also finished their season with a game against Swartz Creek. The J.V.'s final standings were two wins, four losses and two ties. Their coach, Tom Bartol felt they learned a lot. He also said they looked good at times but at other times they could have done better.

The big Marauder team had a 8-0 record for 1971 until St. Johns made it 8-1 Friday with a 21-16 victory. It still left O.E.H.S. with a perfect conference standing of 5-0 and the defeat couldn't take away the MMB championship.

On Wednesday, Nov. 10, Ovid-Elsie High students were entertained at the first assembly of the 1971-72 school year by Mr. Eddie Motter. Although Mr. Motter is blind, he performed several gymnastic stunts assisted by his wife.

COACHES' TROPHY

The team presented the coaching staff with appreciation trophies. Here Coach Becker examines his, while his youngest son and Mrs. Becker watch.

Soil tests discontinued

ST. JOHNS—The Mid-Michigan District Health Department serving Clinton, Gratiot and Montcalm counties, announced today that soil borings and perc tests will be discontinued during the winter months.

The tentative time span on the discontinuance is from Dec. 1 to April 1, depending on climatic conditions.

This move is to assure the potential property buyers, suitable soil for home sewage disposal systems.

St. Johns honors grid teams

By TOM DEWITT
Co-editor

And they showed it too.

ST. JOHNS—It was a time for laughter, praise and honors Sunday night as the parents and fans of the Redwings got together to honor the 1971 St. Johns Football teams.

For 150 boys involved in three football programs in the system, it was the night they found out all of those bumps, bruises and sore muscles were worth it. And it was also the night when they found out those bitter harangues known as coaches were actually pretty nice guys.

PLAYERS FOR all three teams presented their coaches with gifts and words of praise for the past season. In turn, the coaches had some kind, and often humorous, remarks about the players. And letters and awards were handed out.

Head coach Ernie Becker summed it up when he said, "I found out that at St. Johns, no matter what the final score has been, there is a lot of pride."

Becker and coaches Joe Gonzales and Steve Bekholt were presented with trophies from the varsity team as a token of their appreciation for the work they had put in this season. For Becker and Bekholt, it was their first year at St. Johns.

Becker praised Bekholt, as did members of the team for asking if he could help out with the program this year.

"Steve called me at the beginning of the year and asked if he could help out," Becker said. "He wanted to learn all about coaching. I said yes, and he worked all season with us on a volunteer basis."

Others honored were members of the community for their support and team doctors A. N. Saunders and James Grost, were presented with autographed footballs from the team.

and Kurt Nostrand.

Gary Rappuhn, Randy Boss, Mark Crosby, Mark Heller, Bruce Irish, Jim Hebel, John Makara, Dan Mohnke, Randy Devoreaux and Rick Riley.

ALSO HONORED WERE members of the J.V. and freshman teams.

Olympians

Michigan State has had three athletes make three U.S. Olympians each — walkers Ernest Crosbie and Adolph Weinacker and fencer Allan Kwartler.

Ken Schueller is congratulated by Coach Ernie Becker after being voted the Most Valuable Player on the 1971 Redwing Football Team

Captains for the Redwing Football team in 1972 will be Bruce Cameron, Bruce Irish and Gary Mankey.

Schueller K-13 and Miller win

ST. JOHNS—Top awards for the 1971 football season went to three very deserving young men. The awards were presented Sunday night at the annual football appreciation banquet at the high school.

Ken Schueller, senior quarterback for the Redwings this year, was voted the Most Valuable Player by his teammates. Coach Ernie Becker praised Schueller for his performance this past season.

Gary Koenigsnecht, another senior, was honored as the Most Improved Player on the squad. Koenigsnecht led the team in tackles as middle linebacker, getting a total of 94.

Becker also announced one other award—the GUTS Award.

"I'VE HAD PARENTS and fans ask me if I couldn't call it something else, but there just isn't any other name for it," he said.

"To win it, a player doesn't have to play all the time. He just has to show desire and determination," he said.

This year the award went to Dave Miller, who, Becker said, "wasn't afraid to hit anything." Miller is a junior.

Bruce Cameron, junior tailback for the Redwings, was also cited as having won the West Central Conference rushing honor. Cameron led the conference and the Redwings, with 514 yards in six games.

ALSO GIVEN SPECIAL recognition was the Wings' place kicker, Dean Eberhard, a senior. Eberhard kicked a 27 yard field goal against Holt and ran a muffed pass from center into the end zone for the two points that won the Alma game.

Also honored were team managers Dan Downing, Steve Thelen and Harry Holdenauer.

Football club elects prexy

ST. JOHNS—J.W. Staley has been elected as the 1971-72 president of the Football Club here. The announcement was made Sunday at the football banquet.

The first meeting of the club will be Jan. 6 and will be for the entire membership to plan projects for the coming year.

Bruce Cameron was named a tri-captain of the '72 football team and is being congratulated for his rushing performance which led the West Central League this past season. Coach Becker is doing the honors.

DeWitt hosts Judo exam

DEWITT—There was some slam bang action here in the Middle School Gym Sunday as the DeWitt Judo Club hosted the Michigan Regional Examination for black belt.

From 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., some 50 candidates competed for advancement within the judo ranks of the Southern Great Lakes Black Belt Association, one of 24 districts in the United States. The competitors had to prove their proficiency in the various applications of judo before Japanese judges and instructors including Hiro Fujimoto, former National President of the association.

If the contestants were judged proficient enough, they were promoted in the brown and black belt ranks. Promotion from one grade to another depends upon the degree of proficiency in execution of the various holds, throws and moves.

THE CONTESTANTS included both men and women, and persons in various age groups from late teens to middle 30's. In order to compete in the examinations, they had to have time in grade of proficiency and a recommendation from their instructor.

How to build winner? Watch O-E

By TIM YOUNKMAN

QUID-ELISE—How do you go about replenishing a basketball team whose seniors produced more than 1,000 points and almost 700 rebounds? It's easy. According to Ovid-Elsie Head Coach Bob Foreback, you raise a strong crop of tall and fast junior and sophomore players.

That's just about what has happened to the Marauder cage squad this season. Although the senior Marauders of last year blazed the nets for 1,175 points and grabbed 695 rebounds, Foreback hopes to take the Mid-Michigan B championship again this time.

The Marauders, with a 15-4 record last season, tied for the championship with both St. Louis and Bullock Creek. Ovid-Elsie would like to win the title outright this season. "This year will be a rebuilding year at Ovid-Elsie, but we have the nucleus for another championship team," Foreback said.

"We lost four all league players from last year's team, but we have four letter winners back who saw plenty of action. We will build around these four and from a JV team that lost only three games in the last two years," Foreback stated.

The four lettermen on the Marauder team are John Glowney a 6-0 forward; Bill Foran, a 5-10 guard; Randy Byrnes, a 5-8 guard and Tim Bouck, a 6-2 center. Glowney saw duty in 17 games' last season as a junior netting 115 points, hitting 37 per cent from the floor and 81 per cent from the free-throw line. He chipped in with 60 rebounds. "John came on strong last year and was a starter 50 per cent of the time. He is a very hard worker; a good shooter and good ball handler," Foreback said. "He is strong on the boards. He will be our leader this year."

Foran played in 18 of the Ovid-Elsie games hitting for 102 points—a 32 per cent mark from the floor and 63 per cent from the line. Foran added 19 rebounds to the cause. "He is a good ball handler and a good shooter," Foreback said. "He started 50 per cent of the time last year and is a good clutch player. He has great desire and hustle."

Bouck appeared in 12 games during the 1971-72 season and hit for 29 points, a 29 per cent clip from the floor and 41 per cent from the line. He also had 44 rebounds.

"He is very strong," Foreback commented. "He's a good rebound and a good jumper. He is an adequate shooter and if he can stay away from fouling, he could be very strong for us this year."

Byrnes, who slipped a bit last year after starting a few games as a sophomore in the 1969-70 season, has an 18 per cent average from the floor and a 60 per cent free-throw average last year for 23 points. He chipped in with five rebounds.

"This past summer he was our best ball player," Foreback said. "He is very quick with good moves to the bucket and is a good outside shooter. If he recovers from a knee injury, he could be our most valuable player."

Other seniors on this year's squad include Charlie Miller, a 5-6 guard, and Ron Mead, a 6-0 forward. "These two fellows are hard workers with great desire," Foreback said. "They will help us through their attitude and hustle. They will be leaders in practice and can accept their role on the team. They will probably see limited action."

Foreback listed the juniors on the squad and how they will help the Marauder bid for another MMB title. Gary Groom, a 6-1 forward, was the leading scorer over the seasons with the junior varsity squad. Groom, a junior, netted 282 points last year with a 17.6 per game average. He hit 36 per cent from the floor and 68 per cent from the charity stripe. He also had 166 rebounds.

"Gary hit over 30 points on three different occasions," Foreback said. "He is a good shooter, but needs to improve his defense."

Rick Staples, a 5-10 forward, was the team's second highest scorer on the JV's with 194 points—a 42 per cent clip from the court and 60 per cent at the line. He added 126 rebounds to the Little Marauder drive.

Rick McCreery, a 6-2 guard, came in third with 185 points on the Little Marauder squad, hitting 36 per cent from the floor and 63 per cent from the charity line. He helped out with 65 rebounds.

"He came on to be the best JV player by the end of last year," Foreback said. "He is a good outside shooter. He will probably be a starter for us and could be our best ballplayer. He must improve his attitude to make it," the coach cautioned.

Randy Loynes, a 6-2 center, led the Little Marauders in rebounds last year with 167 and put in 155 points for a 10.3 per game average. He shot 49 per cent from the floor and an even 50 per cent from the free-throw line.

"He is very strong and a good rebounder," Foreback said. "He works on his offense but is adequate. If he can develop the right attitude he could give us good depth under the basket."

Foreback said the team weakness "appears to be overall team speed."

The team to watch in the title drive this season is Chesaning, according to the coach. "St. Louis appears to be in for a down year, but I think when the year is over, they will be right up there in the standings. The dark horse this year, I believe, is Ithaca."

The Marauders want a title all to themselves. "Two out of the last three years, we have tied for the league championship," Foreback said. "This year we hope to win it all."

"We are now a more balanced team and psychologically it was a great lift."

Teams in the Tri-Central include Fulton, Carson City, Portland, Saranac, Lakeview, Montabella and Central Montclair. Next season Maple Valley, which was in the now defunct Mid-State League, will join the Tri-Central, bringing it up to an eight-team league.

Miller said the honorable men-last week when he was named to represent the Fulton Pirates on both the offensive and defensive units of the league's all-star team.

Whitford, a three-year varsity veteran, accounted for 108 tackles this season, blocked three punts and recovered four enemy fumbles.

"Jim has great pursuit and he is very agile," commented Head Coach Rod Miller. "He is real strong. He can occupy that neutral zone and stop a play before anybody can get a hand on him. He causes quite a few opposition fumbles—perhaps two or three a game."

Miller said Whitford has an excellent chance of being a standout on a college team. "He has been talking to Albion College, but no decision has been made. He could play for any small college team around."

Miller said he would be an excellent candidate for a defensive interior lineman's job and could handle duties at offensive guard.

"He is a little small for an offensive tackle position, but he is agile and has an ability to trap that is excellent for a guard," Miller said.

Named to the honorable mention squad were Terry Zamarron, Doug Rudd and Bill Nunemaker, all seniors. Juniors listed on the team were Ken Coleman, Bill

Jim Whitford wins Tri-Central honor

MIDDLETON - Jim Whitford Baxter, Gerard Reaume and received dual honors from the Randy Badge. Tri-Central Athletic Conference Miller said the honorable men-last week when he was named to represent the Fulton Pirates on both the offensive and defensive units of the league's all-star team. He noted that Coleman, a 5-10, 165-pound halfback, is one of the finest running backs I've ever seen. He has excellent speed. Baxter, a 5-9, 140-pound halfback, converted to tailback last two games, gained 125 yards per game in the two big wins for the Pirates this year. "Reaume is small and quick," Miller said. We will have to shoot for quickness next season and will need him. Miller will only lose five seniors to graduation for next year's season and will have 17 return from the present squad. The Pirates had a 2-7 season, but the two victories came with the last two games of the year against Vestaburg and Ashley. The seniors on the team had never won a game as freshmen, junior varsity or varsity until the two decision this year. "Now they have it under their belt that they can win," Miller said. "We are now a more balanced team and psychologically it was a great lift." Teams in the Tri-Central include Fulton, Carson City, Portland, Saranac, Lakeview, Montabella and Central Montclair. Next season Maple Valley, which was in the now defunct Mid-State League, will join the Tri-Central, bringing it up to an eight-team league.

Coaches emotions on CMAAC conference

By TIM YOUNKMAN
POTTERVILLE—The Central Michigan Athletic Conference (CMAAC) has a new look. At least it will have a new look next season.

League officials met Monday to formally approve the admission of three new schools into the conference, with athletic competition starting in the 1972-73 school year.

Approved for admission were three class C high schools. They are Bellevue, Olivet and Springport. Bellevue has a student enrollment of 487, while Olivet boasts 460 students and Springport has 415.

They had been participating in a four-team league, the Mid-State League, with Maple Valley High School. Maple Valley will join the Tri-Central conference next year.

The new 10-team CMAAC arrangement takes away one basketball game from the schools' schedule and necessitates a nine-game all-conference football schedule.

"We originally tried to get one team for the league," commented league Pres. Thomas Truscott of Potterville. "But in our discussion it was decided that most wanted a 10-team league. I really don't know why, though," Truscott said.

"They should be better competition," he said.

Under state rules, high schools can only play 25 basketball and football games combined and the 10-team league would make it necessary for all competition to be with other teams in the league.

The new format will kill several long lasting and interesting rivalries in Clinton County. DeWitt and Bath will no longer meet, after this year, in football and basketball. Bath is in the Ingham County League, a conference that DeWitt school officials have been interested in joining if the opening appears.

DeWitt will not be able to compete against Ovid-Elsie in basketball after this season, a game that is usually well-attended and has been gaining interest by fans from those communities.

In fact, some Mid-Michigan B league officials, Ovid-Elsie's league, have indicated interest in having DeWitt join the MMB although no formal contact has been made with DeWitt officials.

"That's the part about the new league that I dislike," Frank Deak, head basketball coach at DeWitt said. "We will not be able to play any non-league games. This year we have some fine games lined up with Bath, Ovid-Elsie and two with Flint Holy Rosary in basketball. We can't do that next year."

He said the schedules have been made up for next year, but only for one year. The league officials will take a "wait and see" attitude for a while, at least, to determine the effectiveness of a 10-team league.

"We always have a good crowd at home, though," Deak said.

Deak is also an assistant varsity football coach. "The nine-game football schedule doesn't really bother me. What does bother me is the possibility of playing a team like Fowler (a CMAAC rival) for the first basketball game. I would rather take our lumps against a non-conference team."

Deak said he would lose nine seniors to graduation this year and will have a young squad next year. He noted that playing a team like Fowler, normally a rugged basketball contender, without prior game experience against non-conference teams would be tough. "Then again, we play three new schools and they are all class C teams. There will be more competition. We get no recognition in beating class D teams, but they get recognition if they beat us."

Away games will be quite a drive for Fowler, Pewamo-Westphalia, Laingsburg and DeWitt fans. Springport is located in northern Jackson County, south of Lansing. Olivet and Bellevue are in southern Eaton County.

Pewamo-Westphalia's Head Coach, Harry Peacock, had other thoughts on the 10-team league.

"As a basketball coach, I hate to lose that one game, but then it is hard at times to fill our schedules. We have had to go all the way to Saginaw to get a game sometimes. So the new league will fulfill our needs."

Peacock said the new format may not last long anyway. "DeWitt has been thinking of pulling out of the league and we don't know about Portland St. Patrick or how long they will remain in the league. So it could go back to an eight-team league anyway."

The Pirates will have to drop their annual opening clash with Portland in basketball and their successful home-and-away series with Saranac. In football P-W will drop the opening test with near-by rival Carson City-Crystal.

"But I guess this is the best arrangement we can come up with at this time. There is much more balance with the new class C schools. Before there were DeWitt and P-W in the Class C. Now we have some others."

Little Pirates show promise next season

PEWAMO-WESTPHALIA—Football prospects at P-W look very bright, at least for the next couple of years. That is, if you can go by statistics of the Junior Varsity team this year.

Coach Harry Peacock's Little Pirates sort of ate up the competition this year, giving growing pains to the members of the teams they will face on the varsity gridiron in the near future.

The Little Pirates won six league games and one non-league contest for an undefeated season. They scored a total of 286 points while limiting their opponents to 49.

To rack up that many points, you have to win by a big margin. And the Little Pirates did just that. They scored the most points in the final game of the season, defeating Webberville 52-6.

IT COULD BE that Potterville has a bleak future as the Little Pirates outpointed them 50-12. They beat county rival Fowler 48-6 and Laingsburg 40-7. They beat St. Pat's 38-6 and DeWitt 32-6. They warmed up to the season defeating Carson-Crystal 26-6.

In their victories, they averaged 32.4 points per game, 210.6 yards per game and 6.5 yards per carry. Sounds a little bit like Woody Hayes' Ohio State teams of the past!

Steve Simon was the leading ground gainer, picking up 387 yards in 63 carries for an average of 6.1. Dan Jones averaged 9 yards per carry, taking the ball 41 times for 367 yards. Quarterback Pat Thelen carried 24 times for 111 yards and Randy Walter carried 23 times for 144 yards and a 6.3 yard per carry average. Thelen and Walter hit 42 and 55 per cent of the passes they threw.

THEY AVERAGED 10.7 pass completions per game for 51 per cent. Dan May was the favorite target as he caught 24 passes for 250 yards and an average of 10.4 yards per pass play. Dave Pung had 10 catches for 204 yard and a 20.4 yard average. Dean Miller caught eight passes for 233 yards and a 29.1 average.

Gary Beachnau caught eight passes for 205 yards, 25.0 average and Phil Piggott caught eight for 178 yards, 22.2 average.

In the scoring department, Dan Jones led the team with 48 points including seven touchdowns and three extra points. May had 40 including five TD's and five PAT's. Pung, 42, seven TD's and Steve Simon, 40, including six TD's and two PAT's. Beachnau had 32, five TD's and one PAT and Walter had 32, including four TD's and five PAT's. Defensively, Mark Spitzley led the team with 190 points. Points were awarded on the basis of seven for a blocked punt, intercepted pass or fumble recovery, four for unassisted tackle and two for an assist.

For the year, the team had 1474 yards rushing, 1307 passing

Freedom is a tradition in our great nation. From the earliest beginnings, the courage of our Pilgrim forefathers made it possible. The will and faith of our people have kept it alive. It will remain ours with vigilance and dedication. So—the past, the present and the future are inextricably woven together. Through freedom. Today we give thanks for this precious legacy. We remember and cherish our tradition. We pray that freedom will become the inalienable right of all nations.

Girls having good season

ST. JOHNS—When one thinks of basketball, a game for men and boys usually pops into the mind.

But at St. Johns High School, basketball is also a game for girls. And this year is no exception.

The girls have been providing a rather impressive season this year under coach Elizabeth Schrauben. Playing two teams, junior varsity and varsity, the girls have won seven games and lost two.

"Our first few games we won with little trouble," says Coach Schrauben.

THEY WON TWO pre-season scrimmage games with Greenville, the last one being won on free throws by Cathy Stoddard, 43-41.

Since that time they have defeated Eaton Rapids, varsity 55-24 and junior varsity, 54-6; Hastings, 72-12 and 62-8; and Ionia, 91-11 and 52-12.

Against West Central rival Lakewood, the girls had their first taste of defeat.

"They were good games and provided our first real competition," said Coach Schrauben. THE VARSITY LOST 38-33 and the junior varsity lost 28-26;

In upcoming games, the Redwing girls will meet Ionia Nov. 23, and Ovid-Elsie at home Dec. 2. That game will be played in the gym at Rodney B. Strahling at 6 p.m.

Other games are a rematch on the home court with Lakewood Dec. 9 and Dec. 13 at Waverly.

New sign

By DOREEN THEROUX
DeWitt High School

The class of 1969 of DeWitt High School has donated money for a sign to be erected. Kent Armstrong, a member of the class, obtained permission and designed and constructed the sign with the help of Kirk Armstrong. The two spent about 3 or 4 weeks working on the sign.

Hopefully, it will eventually be lighted so that it will be more easily seen at night.

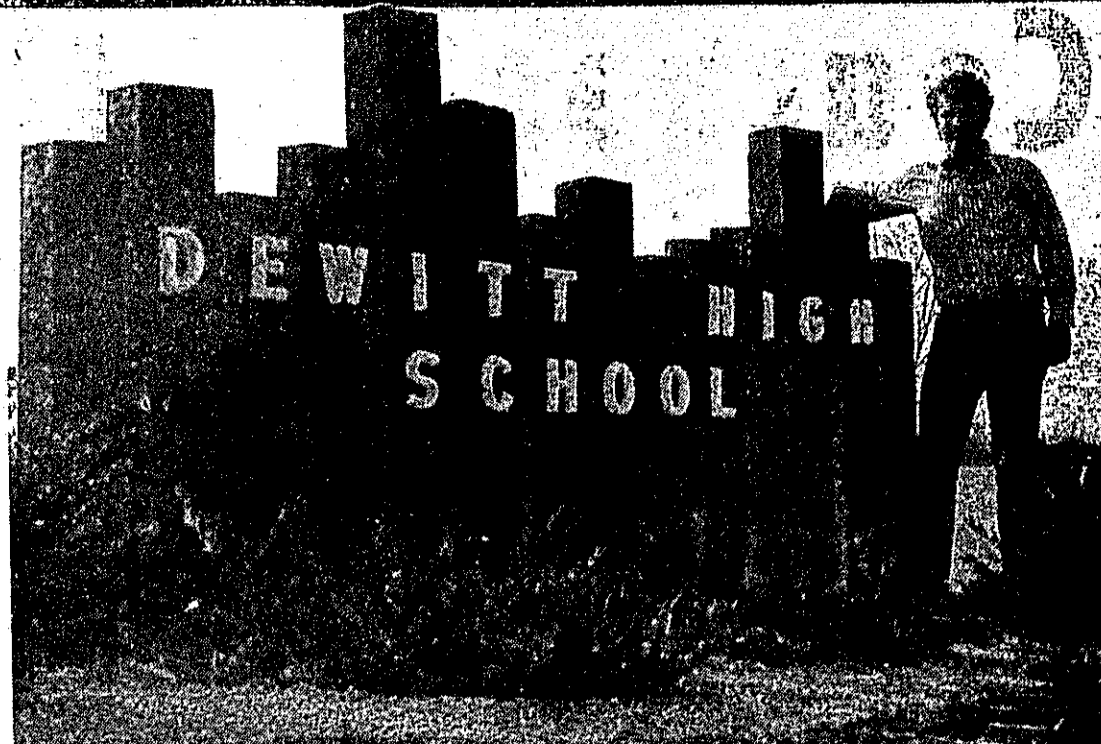

Kent is now a junior at Michigan State University. He is majoring in Landscaping Architecture. The high school and Mr. Don Mueller, principal, wish to express their thanks and gratitude to the class of '69, and especially Kent, for all the time, effort and money.

ABOUT MYSELF

My name is Doreen Theroux and I am a member of the DeWitt High School class of '73. I have been on the honor roll throughout my high school years. I am a member of the band. My favorite subjects are band, algebra and French.

I would like to attend Western Michigan University and major in Occupational Therapy. After that, I hope to travel abroad for a few months.

My favorite sports are swimming, skiing, (water and snow) and snowmobiling. Other activities I am involved in are student council, vice president of the junior class, judo and State Journal Teenwriter.

Thanks to Kent, DeWitt has a new sign.

Panthers plan on running

By TIM YOUNGMAN
Co-Editor

DeWITT—The DeWitt Panthers will be back this year trying to accomplish what no other team has been able to do in the past few years. That is defeat Fowler twice.

The Panthers have gained quite a reputation as Eagle killers during the past two seasons. In the 1969-70 season, the Eagles came out the first game and dazed the Panthers, but DeWitt turned around in the second meeting and tripped up the high flying birds.

Last year it was the same thing. The Eagles took DeWitt apart during the first clash, but lost on a last second shot by Doug Klaver in the league finale.

The Panthers want the title this time, but the only way to do it is to top Fowler twice—along with all of the other Central Michigan Athletic Conference foes.

The Panthers have their two top scorers back this season in Ron Wilcox and Pat Botke. "They both average about 15 points per game," beamed Coach Frank Deak.

DeWitt's scoring output averaged about 78-80 points a game with the Panthers topping the 100-point mark several times last year, Deak said.

Wilcox, a 5-11 senior guard, is an all around ball player, Deak said. "He is very good on defense and has a lot of hustle. Ron, who is one of the team's tri-captains, is a good outside shooter and is good on a drive. He is probably our best defensive player."

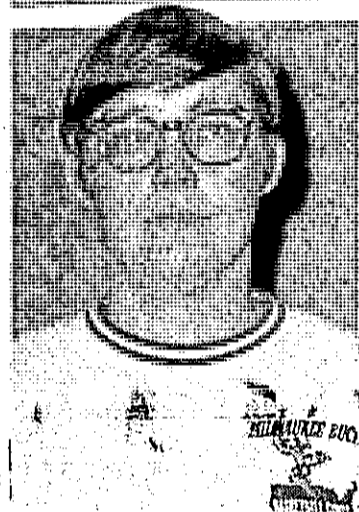

Botke, another 5-11 senior guard, is also an outstanding player. "He is real good from the outside and has developed into a good defensive player. He has a lot of speed. The smaller players depended on the big kids to help out, but with a smaller team we have to have everyone playing defense."

Doug Klaver, 6-2 senior center, played about 75 per cent of last season and was fourth in overall scoring. "He is aggressive big," Deak said. "He has really developed into a good inside shooter and a good rebounder. He can hook with either hand, but needs some work on defense. He has the moves and uses his weight (205 pounds) well to get position."

Forward Mark Simon, a 5-10 senior, started about half of the time last year. "He is a transfer student from Fowler. He is a very good outside shooter and has speed. He is a very aggressive defensive player, even though he is fairly light at 165 pounds."

Junior Tom Ashley, a 6-1 forward, is another good prospect for the Panthers. "He is a good jumper and he's aggressive. He needs work on defense, but is a good team defensive player. He works well in helping cut off passes and fast breaks."

Dan Davis, a 6-0, 180-pound forward, is a worker on defense according to Deak. "He is an excellent defensive player. He needs to hit better on offense, but I had him at the Milwaukee Bucks training camp at Alma College this summer and he is improving very well." Pete Wilson, a 6-1 senior forward, though light shows promise. "He is a good jumper and should see lots of action."

The team attitude is very good, Deak said. "There is a lot of hustle out there. The team is pretty small and we will have to depend on speed and hope for the rebounds. They must play good defense to stop the taller teams." In fact, Deak said, all of the DeWitt opponents this year will have taller players, but the Panther speed will be a big factor in the won-lost record.

"We will have to go to the fast break and press as much as we can—keep putting the pressure on the other team. We will be primarily a man-to-man team, but if we find we can't stay with them we will go to a zone."

Deak said the boys are confident they can win it all this year. He noted that the two toughest contests will start out the season. The Panthers will take on Bath and Ovid-Elsie, schools that will field big teams.

"Fowler, Lansing and Potterville, on paper at least, appear to be the best in the CMAC. DeWitt, St. Pat's, Webberville and P-W, on paper, are all about the same." Of course, that was said last year and DeWitt surprised a lot of CMAC fans by dumping Fowler and capturing second place.

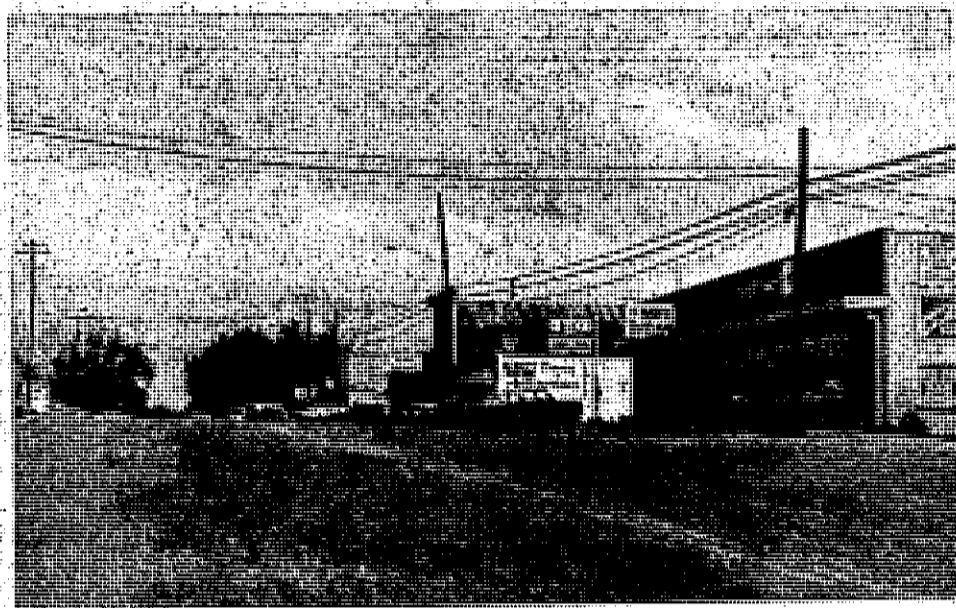

"We will have to shoot long, that's our best shot and hope our speed will make up for lack of size."

The Panthers take on Bath Nov. 30 at the Bees' home court and will return home to face the Marauders from Ovid-Elsie on Dec. 3. They will be away at Potlind St. Patrick on Dec. 10; entertain P e w a m o - Westphalia on Dec. 14 and Potterville on Dec. 17 before the holiday break. Action will resume on Jan. 7 when the Panthers travel to Flint Holy Rosary.

Central National Bank Presents. . . No. 3 In A Series

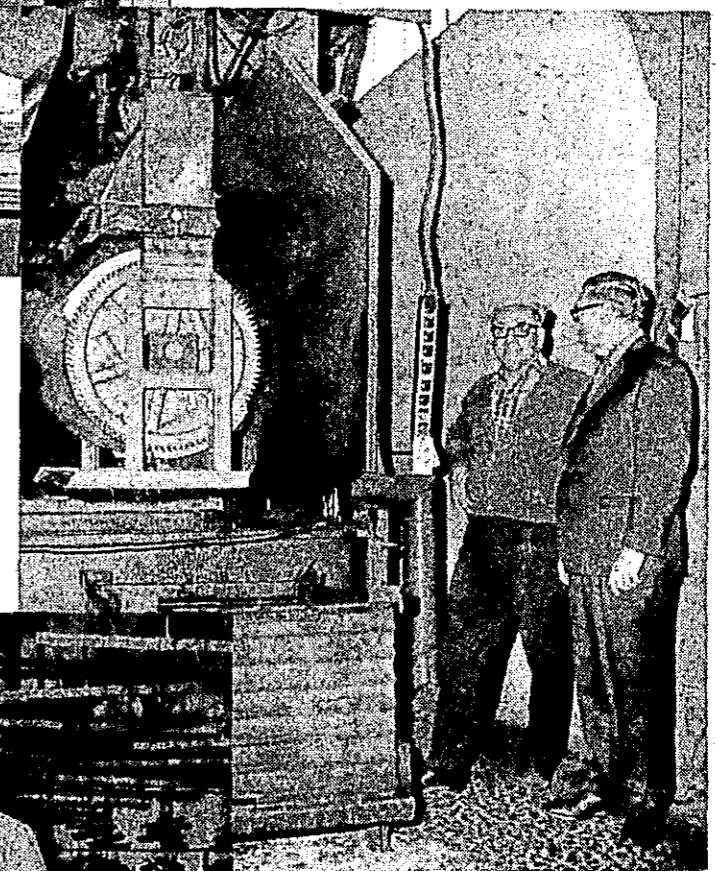

"KNOW YOUR COMMUNITY"

Industrial Phosphating Co.

Ed Spaulding, founder and president of Industrial Phosphating (seated) talks with Harold Wellman, president of Central National Bank prior to a tour of the plant. They are shown in the recently expanded and remodeled offices and plant located at 6035 Krepps Road.

The two presidents watch "the line" and the completely automated Phosphating Process. The time in the tank is preset according to the customer's specifications.

Industrial Phosphating Co. . . . Steady Growth for 9 Years

Original headquarters were in an old 30x40 foot barn. That was back in December of 1962. Today, a modern plant stands in its place at 6035 Krepps Road, tangible proof that conscientious service and quality work has its rewards. Founder and president of Industrial Phosphating is Ed Spaulding, a soft-spoken, easy-going man with a wealth of experience in the metal finishing business.

"About 99 per cent of our business is auto parts," Spaulding explained. The most casual of tours bears this out. A seemingly endless supply of hood latches, pulleys, etc. stream into the plant. The fully automated Loudon System was installed in 1968.

The average coating cycle takes 45 minutes to complete. The length of each cycle, however, depends on the job specification and the metal parts being treated.

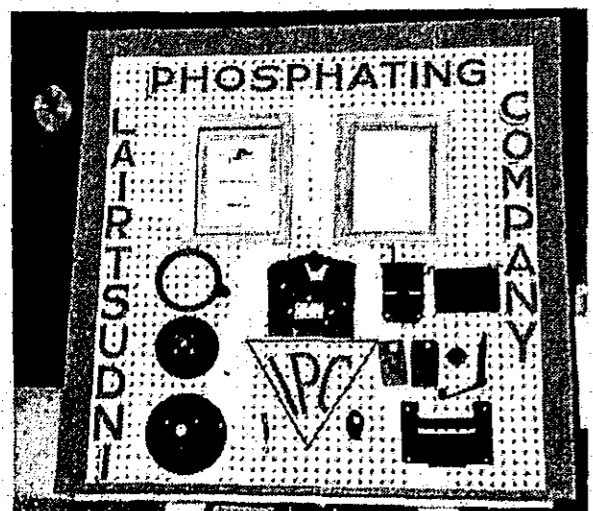

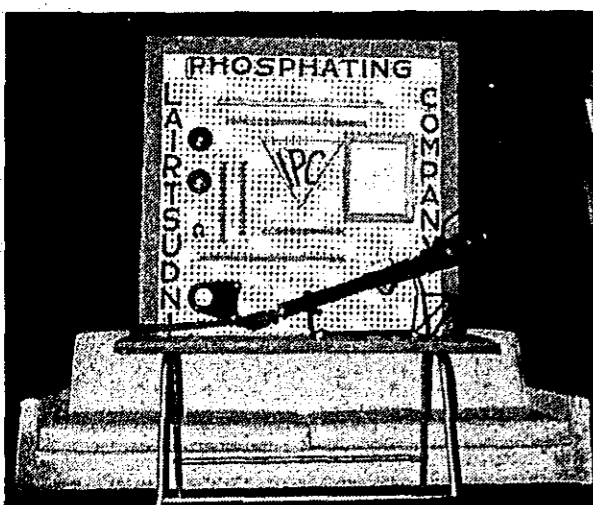

Once the barrels are loaded, the line operator simply presses the appropriate buttons to initiate the automatic cycle. Parts are initially immersed in one or both of Industrial Phosphating's two alkaline cleaner tanks. Parker's Parco Cleaner 2076 is used in both to insure optimum cleaning. This is a one-package alkaline cleaner which simultaneously removes greases, oils and lubricants from the parts.

Once the operator pushes the appropriate button, the automatic line takes over. There is no more manual control required only the mechanical function of the Loudon automatic system. The tumbling barrels are programmed to follow a definite and exact processing sequence, allowing no room for human error. Through the use of this line, Industrial Phosphating is able to provide not only a quality coating, but the promise of continued good results through controlled operations.

Industrial Phosphating's automatic line is programmed at this time, to meet the following customer requirements:

1. A black, heavy zinc conversion coating is applied. A cold water and subsequent hot water rinse are used following the blackening process and preceding the heavy zinc phosphate process.
2. A heavy zinc phosphate coating is dark gray in color and offers excellent corrosion resistance.

John is among the newcomers to Clinton National, having joined the bank this past June. But his business experience isn't hampered by being a newcomer as he holds a masters degree in that field from Michigan State University. In addition he's worked in managerial positions with Michigan Bell Telephone, Xerox Corp., and Diamond Reo Trucks.

But last spring he came with us and after a period of becoming acquainted with our procedures he was made assistant cashier and manager of our Laingsburg office. Being a native of the area has also helped John to help us and we're looking forward to his making even more friends for the bank.

John and wife Pamela — who formerly lived in the Grayling and Williamston areas — have one son, Steven, age two. The family resides on Walters Road in Laingsburg.

On his employee information sheet, John listed no hobbies so we're assuming his main past-time is helping CNB&T customers. Stop into our Laingsburg office sometime and let us know if we're assuming correctly. We think we are.

Cherished custom

One of the cherished customs for this nation is Thanksgiving which has become a solidly entrenched American institution.

Thanksgiving offers firm reassurance of the continuity and stability of all that is good and wholesome in U.S. life today. As families and friends gather together to share the repast of Thanksgiving, they should pause to recall the purpose of that first day of thanks participated in by a handful of Pilgrims centuries ago. That purpose is an expression of simple appreciation for the fact of survival-of being alive.

We are not only alive today, but we have a nation that attained heights beyond anything the Pilgrims could have dreamed. In attaining those heights, our country stands in danger of losing its sense of values. November 25—Thanksgiving—is an appropriate day to pledge their restoration.

Traffic offenders beware

Police agencies that have made a concerted drive against intoxicated motorists are showing good results in bringing to court these most serious traffic offenders.

The Traffic Safety Association of Detroit, as an example, says that drunk driving arrests in Detroit for the first 10 months of this year were 77 per cent higher than the same period of 1970, the result of a police drive against intoxicated motorists.

And while we're on the subject, the California Traffic Safety Foundation notes what other countries do to drunk drivers. In Australia the names of convicted drivers are sent to local newspapers and are published in a column headed "He's Drunk and He's in Jail." In Malaya the drunk is jailed; if he's married his wife goes too. In South Africa the driver is given a 10-year prison sentence or fined $2,800 or both.

In Turkey, drunk drivers are taken 20 miles away by police and made to walk back under escort. In San Salvador, drunk drivers are executed by a firing squad.

From the State House

Fer or agin

By REP. DICK ALLEN

Boozell Are you fer it or agin it?

Much to my surprise, the Legislature is moving rapidly through the items left on the agenda earlier in the year.

A number of bills have come up having to do with a perennial hot topic, beverage alcohol. This subject often divides the Legislature down fairly predictable lines, the fers and agins or the wets and dries. Capitol observers wryly (not dryly) note that many of those who vote driest do not live similarly.

I do not have a record viewed as consistent by many in this area. However, it seems consistent to me. Two drinking bills, H.B. #5510 and S.B. #39, illustrate my view.

Whether one chooses to abstain from alcohol or not is largely a moral issue. To many it is a religious issue. One of the basic principles of our founding fathers was religious freedom. Separation of Church and State was strongly supported by the recent public vote stopping aid to non-public schools.

This much seems clear. We do not have the right to impose our religious or moral beliefs by law. Not just minority beliefs, even majority beliefs.

To me it follows that each citizen has the right to drink or not to drink, and I voted for H.B. #5510, allowing the sale of liquor on Election Day. There is no logical reason to prevent one from taking a shot of booze on Election Day except the passion of the dries to run the lives of the wets.

Certainly if some few would be prevented from ever getting to the polls because of their attachment to "demon rum", so much the better for the dries. Such types would then express their opinion at the bar rather than at the polls.

But, the dries would protest, alcohol is not just a personal matter but a pervading danger to society causing disruption of homes, neglect of children, danger on the highways, etc.

I supported S.B. #39, lowering the blood alcohol level at which one is presumed to be driving drunkenly, from .15% to .10%. Evidence presented convinced me that this move would substantially reduce the number of highway deaths due to reactions dulled by alcohol.

If some will have their rights infringed unjustly by the lowering, so be it. Protection of the innocent is the more overriding concern.

Drinking is a personal, moral and religious issue so long as the person in no way infringes the life or other rights of other individuals. Beyond this, it is a matter of public concern and subject to strict regulation by society.

These seem to me to be fundamental principles. But to others it appears a wishy-washy stand, sometimes wet, sometimes dry.

Washington Reports

Prayer fails

Rep. U.S. Garry Brown 3rd, Congressional Dist.

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The Prayer Amendment to the Constitution failed to achieve the necessary two-thirds vote in the House last week.

The Amendment provided that: "Nothing contained in this Constitution shall abridge the right of persons lawfully assembled, in any public building which is supported in whole or in part through the expenditure of public funds, to participate in voluntary prayer or meditation."

Its supporters contend that two recent Supreme Court decisions have outlawed prayer in the public schools and that the amendment would restore First Amendment guarantees to their original meaning, that is, that they (First Amendment guarantees) were intended to prevent preference for one denomination over another, not to prevent state preference for religion over atheism. Opponents of the Amendment included the National Council of Churches and representative bodies from most denominations in the country.

THEY CONTENDED THAT THE First Amendment adequately protects the rights of school children and others to pray voluntarily without government authorization or supervision. By approving the proposed Amendment, it was argued, Congress would be opening the door for government intrusion into religious matters.

The Amendment came to the floor under the extraordinary procedure of a discharge petition. This permits a measure to be pulled out of committee without the committee's action on presentation of a petition signed by a majority (218) of the members of the House. Generally, the discharge petition is an ineffective and thus little used legislative device. When used, the House must vote on a proposal for which it has not had the benefit of committee hearings and recommendations.

FURTHER, AND OF particular importance in this instance is the fact that the committee report on any given bill is extremely important in any later judicial interpretation of the law. What the committee says in its report is the primary basis upon which courts determine the intent of Congress in passing a given law. Use of the discharge petition thus severely weakens

Debunkers beware

By TIM YOUNKMAN

We've come a long way in eight years.

On Nov. 22, 1963 people were going about their business without much conscious thought to politics or law and order or the war in Vietnam. It was Friday and much thought was placed on the paycheck and how far it wouldn't go.

There were weekend groceries to buy, a car payment to make and vague plans outlined for the Thanksgiving Day feast coming up. Maybe there was talk of the weather or the party Saturday night.

In one moment, the tranquility of normalcy disappeared into the scrambled abyss of reports telling of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. What had seemed to be the start of a regular weekend routine ended at about 1 p.m. with the tragic news of the President's murder.

Across the nation, Americans flocked to the television sets or snapped on the radio to witness the continuing narrative of the darkest days since Pearl Harbor. Through the media, citizens of the world watched the tragedy unfold.

Filmed reports of the frantic dash to the hospital in Dallas, tales of the capture and questioning of Lee Harvey Oswald and on Sunday, before a live camera, the murder of the alleged assassin by Jack Ruby.

It was the stuff of murder mystery—but it was too real and shocking to be considered otherwise.

An immediate mythology developed around the late President—his goals, desires and successes. The public was interested in his family, his private haunts and his private thoughts. His failures were forgotten and he became immortal, along with George Washington and Abe Lincoln.

Now the debunkers have taken over. Debunkers are a special breed of historian who sees a myth or, perhaps an exaggeration, and bursts the bubble.

Dean Atcheson, former Sec. of State, had said Kennedy was "over his head" in foreign affairs. Several other historians insist Kennedy desired war in Indochina to halt the communist aggression that he failed miserably in the Bay of Pigs invasion; that the welfare programs of the New Frontier have failed; and the space program is on its last legs due to the improper planning from the top. The list of books on Kennedy's programs are long and the list of his "failures" are longer.

The problem of all historians in any period has been that of objectivity. And here we have a classic example of that.

Kennedy was not over his head or out of his depth (as the phrase was stated) in foreign affairs. He dealt with the Russians, despite several extreme provocations, with a firm yet not unfriendly hand. He won friends wherever he traveled, as witness the million West Germans who turned out to greet him on his European tour.

He did not desire war for the sake of war. He was not the one to get us committed to Vietnam. That part of the deal came about in 1954's Geneva convention and the creation of SEATO. Again, we are looking back through the eyes of a war-weary nation. At that time, people seemed to want war to halt the communists—whether morally right or wrong, the President followed pre-existing policies.

The Bay of Pigs was another example of Americanism at work. Years before the Kennedy Administration, the Central Intelligence Agency was created to handle details, such as the Bay of Pigs. The President, and rightfully so, took the responsibility for the fiasco, but reports have indicated the President knew little of the planned invasion until it had already started. There was bungling in the chain of command—and that would have happened to any chief administrator.

Domestic programs were in great demand in the early 1960's and a working plan had to be installed to deal with welfare and crime. We still have the problems—as we had them before—and no one, including the current President has been able to adequately cope with them. It could be said that not enough emphasis has been placed on the domestic issues until about 1968—and even now we have tremendous obstacles to overcome.

The space program is floundering due to the lack of real importance placed on the findings resulting from the amazingly high cost projects.

There are dozens of other points that can be made. No one is blundering as the debunkers are trying to make the late President seem to be.

With another generation of young people taking over more and more responsibilities, there is a need to provide them with detached and objective judgments on decisions and decision makers that have preceded them.

It's a good time for debunkers to beware since it's a poor time for them to flourish. It is a poor time because we cannot afford the luxury of long-winded debate on personalities. We need clear and original thinkers that can use the best of the past and present to deal with the dazzling possibilities of the future.

'IF IT FITZ ...'

The dumb cat was dead

By JIM FITZGERALD

Cats are dumb, useless and aggravating. So my mourning was phony when Licky was killed.

Oh, I felt bad because the kids felt bad. It was sad when my daughter tearfully told how she'd just found Licky dead by the side of the road. I put my arm around her and assured her I shared her sorrow.

"That's alright, Dad," she said, "I know you didn't kill her."

She knew I was innocent because I had been out of town the weekend the dumb cat disappeared. Otherwise, I would have been a prime suspect and she would have called the cops on me. I had threatened to kill Licky dozens of times in the past 2 years and, just for kicks, I often kicked her.

Licky had been missing 2 weeks before the corpse was found. During those days of uncertainty I had tried to keep my celebrating to a minimum, out of respect for the feelings of my family. They kept assuring each other the cat would return; it always did. They kept wandering around the neighborhood making strange noises: "Here kitty-kitty-Licky-Licky-kitty-kitty-Licky-Licky..."

Just in case the dumb cat was still alive, I wanted to have the house painted to make it harder for her to find. The kids didn't think that was funny. And they were outraged the day they overheard me joyfully singing "1 down and 1 to go." I was referring to Licky's sister, Chubs. We have always been a 2-cat family but now I was half-way to happiness.

Anyway, once my daughter had discovered dead Licky, my son sped to investigate the corpse. I think he tried artificial resuscitation, despite rigor mortis. When he was finally convinced the dumb cat was dead, he didn't bawl like his sister. But he disappeared into his room and didn't come out for a long time.

I am not an insensitive father. Now that I was certain the dumb cat was gone for good, I put on a splendid show. I thought sad thoughts, about how I'd lost $30 shooting pool the day before, to make my eyes teary. I volunteered to arrange a decent burial. I suggested we all wear black armbands and, in memoriam, drink our milk from saucers for 2 weeks.

So Saturday evening we all returned home from a football game and I was the first to see what was sitting on the porch. "There's a ghost on the porch," I groaned. It was Licky. The dumb cat wasn't dead after all. My wife and kids were uproariously happy. I disappeared into my barroom and didn't come out for a long time.

Unicameralism dealt big blow

By SEN. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

The crusade to scrap the two-house in favor of a one-house Legislature in Michigan was dealt a crippling blow in Cadillac last weekend when the Michigan Jaycees scuttled a move to endorse the concept of unicameralism. They chose instead to stand on their original decision, made last summer in Marquette, to merely support a petition drive to put the question on the ballot.

Members of local Jaycee chapters throughout the state, many of them far from enthusiastic about the petition drive to begin with, were waiting to see if the parent state Jaycee organization would go so far as to actually endorse the Swallow unicameral program as opposed to merely supporting a petition drive to "let the people decide."

Now that it's clear that even state Jaycee leaders are skittish about endorsing unicameralism; the rank-and-file Jaycees who bear the main burden of going door-to-door and hitting the shopping centers to collect signatures, are losing enthusiasm for the idea fast.

THE POLITICS OF unicameralism, how do opponents counter the arguments by Rep. Swallow and Company in favor of a one-house Legislature? The answer is "easily." Here is what they say:

1) A unicameral Legislature would not necessarily cost less than the present bicameral set-up, but even if it did, would the cost to the taxpayer—not monetarily, but democratically—be worth it? Many experts predict that if a big industrial state like Michigan moved to a unicameral Legislature that it would keep moving—to district offices, such as they have in California, to far bigger staffs for individual legislators than is now the case, and to salaries in the $30,000 range. Even if this didn't happen, what would be the savings? Presently, each Michigan citizen contributes a mere 31¢ a year to support 148 legislators. A 76-member single house might reduce this figure initially to 17 cents—or a savings of 14¢ per person annually. That's less than the cost of a soft drink—but still a high price to pay for the comparable loss of representation.

2) Nebraska, the only state which currently utilizes a one-house system, was ranked behind Michigan in the famous two-year, $200,000 study by the Citizens Conference on State Legislatures (none of whose members are legislators)—the most exhaustive such undertaking in American history. Nowhere did this study recommend the unicameral Legislature as a cure for anything. Nebraska legislators have told me personally that while their single house seems to function adequately in largely rural, sparsely populated, homogeneous Nebraska, they doubt that it would be good for a large, diverse, and industrial state like Michigan.

3) Have you thought what it could be like to have a unicameral Legislature headed by a powerful "Speaker" or "president" who, as is the case now in the House with Speaker Ryan, could pretty much get his own way on anything he really wanted?

Remember that this "Speaker" or "President" would not be elected by all the citizens of Michigan. He would be elected to the Legislature by about 125,000 constituents—and maybe all of his constituents would be in the inner city of Detroit, as is the case now with Speaker Ryan. Anyone who knows anything at all about the Michigan Legislature knows that Speaker Ryan operates as he does, not with Clinton County in mind, but primarily to please his own constituency. Should an entire branch of government (the one that controls the purse strings at that) be controlled by a man or a small clique of men who represent very distinct provincial constituencies rather than the people of Michigan as a whole? A unicameral Legislature opens up the possibility of control by a "strong man," with no statewide constituency to which he is accountable, who would be on an equal footing with the Governor and the State Supreme Court.

4) Because legislators are increasingly serving as "ombudsmen" for various problems, private and public, brought to their attention by constituents—and because of an exploding population which means that legislators are serving greater numbers of people every year, the people ought to think twice about any proposal that would slice the number of legislators in half. For instance, in every part of the state there are now two legislators to serve you, and in densely-populated areas several others close by. If one isn't responsive to overtures from constituents on a particular issue, the other may be. But under unicameralism, there would be only one man you could turn to—and you'd just have to hope he'd lend you an ear.

5) The Swallow plan actually makes worse one of the biggest problems of the present two-house Legislature—it calls for an even number of legislators (76). The experience of the House in 1967 with an evenly divided body and the present experience in the Senate with an evenly divided chamber should be sufficient to indicate that a stalemated legislature has a tough time properly discharging its responsibilities to the people. The Swallow plan would saddle Michigan with the equivalent of what could be two deadlocked chambers, not just one—and for a period of four years, not just two as at present.

6) If a unicameral Legislature might speed up the legislative process, the question still remains: Is this necessarily good? A one-house Legislature would eliminate the vital "check and balance" function of each house upon the other. The second house was seen by the Founding Fathers of our nation as a barrier against popular passions and impulses and, perhaps more importantly, guarantees that no legislation will be adopted without at least two thorough studies, discussions, and debates on the issue. Bicameralism also stops measures from being hastily enacted into law by interposing a five-day delay between passage of a bill in one house and its final adoption in the other. This interval is one of the public's most important safeguards in that it allows time for an indication of public opinion on an issue. A person who wants property tax relief and isn't getting it from the current two-house Legislature may be attracted to the idea of a one-house Legislature which might act more quickly on this issue. But if this same citizen opposes abortion law reform, he may be glad that the House is presently holding up—perhaps permanently—the abortion law reform measure passed by the Senate earlier this year. It all depends on whose ox is being gored. I believe most people would prefer that a law making body act too slowly than too hastily and in a way that would inflict permanent damage.

IT'S ALSO INTERESTING to note that no Democratic legislator has as yet publicly endorsed the Swallow plan. The reason? It's stacked against the Democrats. The elections would be held every four years beginning in 1974—a non-presidential year, which is historically always more favorable to Republicans than to Democrats, who turn out in full force usually only in Presidential election years.

In closing, I should point out how ironic it is that Rep. Swallow, who has generally used the present bicameral system to good advantage in legislating for his district, should now bite the hand that's nurtured him. Listen to Rep. Swallow back on Sept. 3, the day the State Senate turned down House Resolution 66, the measure which would have put property tax relief on the ballot in Michigan:

"The Legislature has failed... the system has broken down... the problem is the system is not responsive to today's needs—it's bogged down and will continue to bog down to political bickering and selfish interests. A one-house Legislature... would be a major step in solving all of today's problems."

Which certainly implies that Rep. Swallow favored "GG" and was angry that the "slow," "bickering" and "selfish" two-house Legislature (read Senate) had killed it. So it's fair to ask how "GG" would have fared at the hands of Mr. Swallow in a one-house legislature. This may sound incredible, but the House Journal will show that earlier, when the House passed "GG," Mr. Swallow voted "No!" Like the man said, you could look it up.

Refreshing experience

Rep. Douglas Trezise 87th District

During the past couple of months I have had the privilege of talking with high school students throughout the district. In total, I estimate I have met with more than 900 students in senior government classes and found it a refreshing experience.

My conclusion from these classroom visits is that the young people of the 87th District are ready and eager to accept the responsibilities of voting and adulthood as granted this year by constitutional amendment and action of the Michigan Legislature. I am also convinced that they are able to discharge these responsibilities.

I was reflecting on this feeling last week when we moved a series of 53 bills through the House of Representatives to implement the Age of Majority Act which was passed earlier in the year.

The Age of Majority Act, in itself, was a very simple piece of legislation. The main body was just one sentence which reads: "Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, a person who is 18 years of age but less than 21 years of age when this act takes effect, and a person who attains 18 years of age thereafter, is deemed to be an adult of legal age for all purposes whatsoever and shall have the same duties, liabilities, responsibilities, rights and legal capacity as persons theretofore acquired at 21 years of age."

It also provided that the act would take effect on January 1, 1972. This act alone was sufficient to grant adulthood for all purposes to 18 year olds in Michigan. But after checking through the lawbooks, it was decided that in order to properly implement the act it would be best if all separate laws on the books which stipulated the age of 21 as a condition should be amended individually to incorporate the change.

Thus it was that last week we treated each of the 53 separate bills affecting such things as the age one can become a physician, osteopath, etc., or can own a BB gun, stay out after curfew and other relatively minor matters. At the same time, we approved bills to allow 18 year olds to make wills, enter into contracts and to consume or purchase alcoholic beverages.

I emphasize that the action last week was a housekeeping function and had no effect on these items because the Age of Majority Act supersedes all other age restrictions involving age 21 in law.

These bills and a lot of other items came in for a lot of discussion in my sessions with the school students. Let me assure you that these young people are concerned about many of the same things you and I are and are ready to pitch in and help with the solutions.

Sure, they ask about the things you would expect them to—drugs, drinking, abortion and similar subjects. But so do the adult groups I meet with and the views of the two age groups are not radically different.

The students ask too about their rights to own cars, purchase home furnishings when they marry, be responsible for their own actions, correction of environmental problems and many other problems which concern you and me.

I am impressed with our young people, with their knowledge about what is going on in this world, with their eagerness to tackle the problems they see, and their enthusiasm for participation in the affairs of the state and nation.

I am confident they will justify the faith that has been shown in them and assume their full responsibilities as voters and adults.

Happy Homemaking

By BARBARA BAKER

When painting window frames, cover the glass with a thick paste of soap suds. After the paint is dry, splatters and soap wipe right off with a sponge. A rinse and a polishing will make the windows sparkle.

To be sure of the right shade of paint, paint the inside of a paint can. The color reflects itself to show its intensity in a finished room.

Nice favors for a little girl's birthday party may be made by moistening both sides of a round chocolate mint and pressing a little mint on each side of it. Cut little birthday candles into three pieces, dip one end of each in hot water and stick a candle on top of each "chocolate cake" to place by each little girl's plate.

To paint knobs without hand painting them, push the screw up through the bottom of an upside-down egg carton and reserve the knob onto the screw.

When painting furniture or woodwork indoors, slip a pair of old socks over your shoes. If paint drops on them, just "shake" it off. This gives your shoes a new lease on life.

Strictly Fresh

The next spell of bad weather, we can predict with absolute confidence, will find you in your boots or rubbers at home if you're at work, or vice versa.

Yes, Gwendolyn, it's quite safe to take your boy friend into the department store's shoe department.

Take every chance, either every corner, and you'll get home in time to wait three or four extra minutes until the wife or drives in with the housework keys.

Structure, communication keys to better staff morale

OID-ELISE-The basic structure of a school system and open communication lines are two ingredients to a well-oriented high-morale teaching staff, according to O-E Supt. Donald Kenney, writing in the August issue of MASE Journal.

Teachers are professional people and at times they need to be moved about, placed in situations in which they can be more effective, and both the teacher and the system will profit, Kenney said.

He noted that the situation called for open communication. "Building and district policy should be commonly known. Even a minor decision can become a crisis when a person is not sure. If too many of these crises occur, the communication channel must be cleared, Kenney suggested.

He said morale can be checked through careful observation of the school faculty. When morale is high, production is high. If morale is low, production is low. "In a building of high morale we find people who are cheerful, prompt, dependable and cooperative. They give more than is asked because they know this work will make the total educational program a better one. They have enough assurance and confidence in themselves and others on the staff to feel secure when asked for suggestions.

"There will be a great openness and give and take because of the realization that it is for the common good," Kenney said. Kenney gave his view on the cause of this "esprit a corps." "The morale problem in education has too often been approached with the solutions sought in such traditional teacher benefits as salaries, sick leave and retirement. Material things are important as present negotiations suggest, but compared to human relationships in the development of good building or district morale, they are less than overwhelming. The major process operating in an educational institution is a human one and the final products of this service oriented organization are human beings not material goods. Schools operate best when human relationships are at a satisfactory level."

When an administrator should participate with his team in a continuous plan of self and group evaluation and an examination of motives for actions.

Kenney said the principal should begin to know his staff and make preparations to function as democratically as possible. "There should be a realization that his staff's relationship to him should be as he wishes his relationship to the superintendent and the board to be. That is, a relationship where there is an interdependency and a free exchange of ideas for the common good of educational excellence."

Kenney concluded by adding that an administrator should participate with his team in a continuous plan of self and group evaluation and an examination of motives for actions.

LITERARY CLUB MEETS
 "That's Why They Call Him the Buffalo Doctor", by Jean Cummings was reviewed by Mrs. Lawrence Hess before the Women's Literary Club Tuesday evening in the Elsie Public Library.

Jean Cummings, wife of "The Buffalo Doctor" was inspired to write this true story about her husband after they moved to Michigan. The couple was married when he graduated from college so she worked at a secretarial job to help him through eight years of medical school, residency and internship.

When he learned that a doctor was needed in Stanwood, Mich., he moved there and started a practice. They had three children, Bruce, Brenda and Beth. Mrs. Hess told how the doctor's decision to buy and raise buffalo, led to many exciting, frustrating and rewarding experiences. One was the building of a Superfence with heavy wire stretched to poles nine feet long and one foot thick, which had to be peeled of bark and placed in holes they dug themselves.

He finally located buffalo for sale in Iowa and ordered ten. Then they arrived, there were thirteen on the truck, led by Old Cow and Khatanka, the herd bull, who kept them all in their place.

The author related in her book, that raising buffalo, becomes a way of life rather than a hobby as she told of the arrival of the first calf, what happens when a buffalo gets out of the enclosure, cutting hay for feed and many other events ending with the birth of Khatanka II.

This book, with its homey atmosphere in a Michigan setting is on the shelves of the Elsie Public Library.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Gerald Carroll opened with the members repeating the Club Collect. Mrs. John Zuckschwerdt presented a girls' quintet on clarinet and flute from Ovid-Elsie High in arrangements from the theme of "Love Story", "Raindrops Falling on my Head" and "Christmas Melody". The girls were Nancy Latz, Tracey Bradish, Annette Zuckschwerdt, Pamela Williams and Susan Parmenter.

Mrs. Viva Scott reported on the West Central District Convention at Edmore which she recently attended with Mrs. Hess, Mrs. Orpha Clement gave an interesting report of the recent Fall Trading Post relating that it was the largest and most successful financially, ever conducted in the many years of its operation by the club women.

Aylsworth selected for study program

EAST LANSING — John Aylsworth, Clinton County extension 4-H youth agent, has been selected to participate in a two-year professional improvement program which will combine study with travel.

Called "Quest for Quality," the program is funded in part by a grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation to Michigan State University's Center for Rural Manpower and Public Affairs.

Over the next two years, Aylsworth will spend approximately 230 hours in a classroom or travel-learning experiences. Six, week-long seminars (three each year) will be devoted to subject material drawn from political science, economics, sociology, communications, philosophy, history and education.

During the first year, program participants will travel in Michigan. A 10-day traveling seminar to various parts of the United States is slated for the second year.

According to Dr. R. R. Hepp, MSU associate professor of agricultural economics and group one coordinator, the program has a three-fold purpose: —To build understanding of man—himself, his fellow man, his environment and his personal and group aspirations. —To build understanding of the social, economic, and political systems in which man functions. —To build capacity for extension programming flowing from increased understanding.

New level in glass project

By JOHN AYLSWORTH

The Clinton County 4-H Teen Leader glass bottle collection has now gone over their 200,000 pound goal with the November collection of 18,530 pounds. The total for the 14 months' operation now totals 210,000 pounds.

On Saturday, November 6 the Teen Leaders used their new glass crusher made from an old hammer mill, elevator and auger. The crusher worked very well and would crush the glass as fast as they could dump the bottles in.

The machine makes the crushing a lot more safe than breaking with a sledge hammer. The glass is crushed fine and a person could use it in a driveway without getting cut. The next glass collection day will be Saturday, December 4.

THE FIRST 4-H roller skating activity for the winter program was held Thursday evening at the Ranch Roller Rink in St. Johns with 206 people attending. The next scheduled 4-H roller skating activity will be on Thursday, Any club wishing to go roller skating and has not made reservations for one of the remaining 5 months should do it now.

The Olive 4-H Projects started with nine members in 1952 and now has 60 members as they start their 21st year. The members held their fall achievement program including a family pot luck dinner.

The certificates, Fair premiums, trip awards and pins were presented to the members. Colleen Wood showed slides of her trip to Minnesota this past summer. The club's next meeting will be a Christmas party on Tuesday, Dec. 7, 7 p.m. at Riley School with a 75 cent gift exchange.

THE COUNTY Farm Cut Ups is the new name selected by the girls from the County Farm area for their club. There are 13 members under the leadership of Mary Stevens and Terry Rogers. The members voted to draw names for their Dec. 17 meeting and party. Dues were voted to be 25 cents for the year.

Mrs. Ronald Rogers showed the girls how to make tailor tacks and the members practiced sewing on buttons.

HOW FAR DOWN

American farm families may wonder why their incomes are not more satisfactory. The principal reason is the high cost of farming today. On Sept. 15, the United States Department of Agriculture Index of prices paid by farmers — what it costs to operate — showed an increase of 20 points for the last year and stood at 413 per cent of the 1910-1914 base — the highest in history.

Prices received by farmers are up too, but only 2 points in a year and the index stands at only 282 per cent of the pre-World War I base.

Any grade school child who can add and subtract can plainly figure out just what is happening to farm income with the disparity between prices paid by farmers compared to prices received by them.

Some farm costs haven't gone up as much as others. Taxes lead the list, having risen the highest. Farm wage rates come next on the scale. Then, interest, motor vehicles and farm machinery. Feed has gone up less than any other major item of farm costs, is another farmer's cost for feed is another farmer's income from grain.

According to Under-Secretary of Agriculture J. Phil Campbell, "If a man wants to begin farming today in the U.S., and wants to earn an income comparable to what non-farm people expect to earn, he will be faced with an investment of up to $250,000. By the year 1980 the investment will likely more than double."

Farmers have been hurt more by inflation than any other group, except those on retirement. Farmers continue to see their incomes lowered by deflation in the prices received and inflation in the prices they have to pay. Prices received by farmers have dropped 2 per cent since the wage-price freeze was initiated on Aug. 15 by the President.

If Congress wants to wrestle with a real problem, here's one for the lawmakers, the high cost of farming, and how to slow down its continuing rise.

Damp weather brings blight

EAST LANSING—Reports received by the Michigan State University Corn Blight Information Center show that the recent damp weather has brought a resurgence of corn blight, but corn maturity throughout the state is well beyond the stage where blight diseases could reduce yields.

According to scientists at the Center, almost all Michigan corn

Furs are important

By LORRAINE SPRAGUE Extension Home Economist

Fake furs have become a rather important segment of the fabric departments. You'll also find them in the ready-to-wear departments. Fake furs are almost as important to men as to women in modern wardrobes.

These fabrics, made to look like smooth shiny animal pelts or deep shaggy ones, flat or curly ones are easy to care for and fun to wear. They put "luxury" into an affordable class. Since they are relatively easy to sew, even bigger savings come to those do-it-yourself enthusiasts.

There is plenty of time for home sewers to stitch up gift items for the approaching Holiday. Belts or vests turn a simple dress to a striking outfit. Skirts or pants in the flat furs make lush party wear. Men take to a shaggy vest, a cap or even a tie. Handmade bags, large or small make attractive accessories for teens.

Like any novelty fabric, sewing with fake furs, require a few special techniques. They are handled like any "nap" fabric. Pieces should be cut in a single layer, one at a time. If the pattern is laid on the back, its easy to cut through only the backing fabric. Sharp shears or a single edged razor blade for long-haired furs, are important.

All markings such as for darts, circles, etc., can easily be done with pins or chalk on the wrong side of the fabric. A long stitch and a slightly looser-than-normal machine tension is recommended. Its best to test stitch and tension on a scrap. For a very thick fur fabric it may be necessary to decrease presser foot pressure.

Shearing the pile from seam allowances reduces bulk, and to avoid a "clipped" look, gently pull the hairs from the seam on the right side using a pin.

Since most synthetic fibers used in fake furs are sensitive to heat, finger pressing or a cool steam iron is recommended if pressing seems necessary. Placing the face of the fabric against several layers of terry towel or a needleboard and pressing from the backing side eliminates a crushed appearance.

Have fun and devise unusual fastenings for fake furs. Think up new and different ways to use them. Those lucky persons on your gift list will think you are just the greatest.

Wool support price remains unchanged

EAST LANSING—The incentive payment rate for 1971 marketings of shorn wool is 72 cents a pound stated Nick Smith, chairman of the Michigan State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. This rate is unchanged from 1970.

An extension of the authority for the wool price support program through December 31, 1973, is contained in the Agricultural Act of 1970. This new legislation amends the National Wool Act by requiring that support prices shall be at the above levels for each of the three marketing years through the end of 1973.

Pulled wool will continue to be supported at a level comparable to the incentive price for shorn wool through payments on unshorn lambs, he stated.

Shorn wool payments will be based on each producer's returns from sales. The percentage will be that required to raise the national average price received by all producers from shorn wool up to the announced incentive price of 72 cents a pound.

FOR EXAMPLE, payments on 1970 marketings, which began in April, were made at the rate of 102.8 per cent of the dollar return each producer received from the sale of shorn wool. This percentage was based on the difference between the incentive price of 72 cents and the national average groper price of 35.5 cents a pound or a net payment of 36.5 cents per pound, he advised.

Smith reminded producers that the 1971 marketing year, under the wool program ends December 31. Receipts for 1971 marketings must be filed in the local county ASCS office no later than January 31, 1972, to be eligible for payment in 1972. Sheep and lambs in Michigan produced a total of 1.9 million pounds of wool in 1970, he said, and incentive payments totaled about $637,000 to 3,464 producers.

is now in the dent (last) stage of maturity.

Counties in the state's major corn production areas also report that the amount of stalk rot infections in corn increased rapidly during the week of September 2-9. MSU disease experts feel that stress from blight diseases and the drought is one of the major factors contributing to this increase.

Some Cooperative Extension agents are continuing to urge farmers to harvest corn early to avoid harvest losses that can occur when stalk rots cause corn plants to fall over and become difficult to harvest.

Infestations of the European corn borer are still reported in most parts of the state, but the population of this insect pest has remained stable, producing no threat to this year's crop.

Ballenger sees hope

LANSING—State Senator William S. Ballenger (R-Ovid) told civic groups in Gratiot and Montcalm Counties last week that the Legislature "still stands a chance to redeem its tarnished reputation if it acts quickly and decisively on a batch of unfinished business left over from the regular legislative session which recessed September 10th."

Speaking to the Ithaca Rotary Club and the Edmore Lions Club Ballenger listed the still-unpassed Welfare Appropriations bill, Governor Milliken's Transportation package, no-fault automobile insurance, air pollution control, comprehensive drug law revision, congressional reapportionment, snowmobile regulation, and financial backing for a new downtown domed stadium in Detroit as the top items on House and Senate calendars between now and Christmas.

The day after Ballenger's speaking engagements, the Senate did indeed approve an amended version of the House-passed comprehensive drug reform bill and sent it to a House-Senate Conference to iron out differences.

Ballenger noted that the tentative fall agenda calls for the Legislature to meet until the deer season opens on November 15, then to shut down for a week, return for three work days just

Thanks for the food

By REV. HUGH BANNINGA

For most Americans, at least those above the poverty level, Thanksgiving Day means eating. First, we stuff the bird and then we stuff ourselves. Then we watch a couple of football games on TV, stuff ourselves some more with cold turkey sandwiches and call it Thanksgiving.

Of course, one thing we wouldn't forget before we stuff ourselves is to say "Grace"—to say a proper prayer to God—to thank Him for our many blessings. But then why wouldn't we thank God? Our tables are loaded with good food, our houses are warm, our bodies are covered with decent clothing and life in general is pretty good.

So in the face of all this plenty we'd better take a little time out to acknowledge the Person from whom all this comes.

But what if the situation were not so rosy? What if our country was to suffer another devastating economic depression like in the 1930's? What if there was a major crop failure? What if a deadly plague ran rampant through the livestock of our country? What if famine came to the U.S. as it already has to some parts of the world?

If all this happened would we sit down to our Thanksgiving tables and give thanks to God? Would we say with the prophet Habakkuk (3:17-18), "Though the fig tree does not blossom, nor the fruit be on the vines, the produce of the olive fall and the fields yield no food, the flock be cut off from the fold and there be no herd in the stalls, yet I will rejoice in the Lord, I will joy in the God of my salvation."

Habakkuk said that no matter what troubles came his way, he would still rejoice in the Lord. He would rejoice, because God was the God of his salvation. And Habakkuk would have you and me do the same. In the midst of our great adversity Habakkuk would hope that our faith in God would be like his—that we could rejoice in the Lord, even in the face of bad times.

Of course nothing terrible could happen to us in the U.S.A. Famous last words! Yes, it could happen. We can say that it is happening right now by our own hand—by man's own ingratitude. Man's ingratitude has resulted in the gross misuse of the abundance God has given to us.

I think we ought to thank God this Thanksgiving that He has been so patient with us and so merciful. I think we ought to thank God for not altogether destroying our planet earth, because we have been so thankless.

For example, look what is happening to our forests, lakes, rivers and atmosphere. We destroy forests by careless use of fire, or to make way for new suburbs and shopping plazas. Continued destruction of forest land could become critical in terms of adequate oxygen supply. You see, green plants give off oxygen which you and I need to stay alive. I can just imagine God in His heaven saying, "Boy, if my people don't stop that, they're going to be in big trouble."

Take a look at our rivers. Industry continues to pour waste materials and chemicals into them, making aquatic life impossible. Look at our Great Lakes. Some of them are so polluted right now with industrial waste and human waste that aquatic life is threatened and any human being foolish enough to try swimming does so at his own risk.

I can just imagine God in His heaven saying, "I didn't create the rivers and lakes for these purposes. I didn't mean for them to be gigantic cesspools. My people better stop that nonsense pretty soon."

Take a look at our atmosphere. How many places can you go today and take in a deep breath of air without having a coughing spasm? As the urban sprawl advances toward the 21st century, clean fresh air may be only a memory in the minds of the very old. Again, I can just imagine God in His heaven saying, "I can hardly see my people anymore. They've thrown up such a smoke screen that I get the feeling that they are trying to hide from me. I hope they stop all that pollution before its too late."

What is needed to put a stop to all this pollution and destruction is a genuinely grateful mankind. Only a grateful mankind will be able to prevent the kind of adversity that the prophet Habakkuk spoke about.

Remember, he talked about a great famine—no figs, no fruit, no olives, no grain, no sheep, no herd of cattle—nothing.

If this really happened by Thanksgiving time next year, would you still be able to sit down at your table (or wherever you might be) and give thanks to God for "all His benefits?" Would you still have the faith that Habakkuk had?

Think about this, because it could happen. There is no guarantee that God will continue to bless us with His patience and understanding of our sinfulness. There is every reason to believe that God's judgment on our behalf will not be to our liking. Of course, it would be for our benefit, but it would not be to our liking.

On this Thanksgiving let us be thankful that God has not "had it up to here" with us. Let us be thankful that He is still willing to give us a chance to serve Him by the proper use of the resources He has entrusted to our care, nurture and preservation.

U.S., Canada laws changed

Legislation snowballs on winter vehicles

A review of the most important developments in the States and provinces.

This has been an important season for snowmobile legislation. One reason is that every state legislature and provincial parliament has been in session. And it is at those levels most snowmobile legislative activity is being conducted.

Another reason is that public (and industry) pressure has been growing for better regulation of snowmobiling in particular and recreational vehicles in general.

There are some, particularly among snowmobilers, who look upon any regulation of snowmobiling as something to be avoided at all cost. However, most within the industry recognize the importance of developing laws and regulations which not only protect non-snowmobilers from inconvenience and annoyance, but legislation which opens new areas for snowmobiling while giving snowmobilers better and safer machines and penalizing those who are helping give the sport a bad name through improper operation.

Most snowmobile industry legislative work at the present time is channeled through the International Snowmobile Industry Assn. ISIA is an association of manufacturers who reportedly represent about 95 per cent of all snowmobiles sold in the U.S. and Canada.

A recent report from the association indicates the status of legislation this year in those states and provinces where major snowmobile-related laws are being discussed or introduced. This is the ISIA run-down on current major legislation in those states affected:

VERMONT: Vermont has a fine snowmobile law at the present time, according to the ISIA, and the state legislature is currently working to upgrade it even more. A recently proposed bill which attempted to upgrade the law would have contained two areas which the ISIA considered to be adverse to the snowmobile industry. One would have set a limitation of 18 horse-power on any machine by the 1975 model year, and the second would have limited the sound of a machine to 72 decibels by 1975. However, these proposals were dropped at a recent meeting, and it appears will not be included in the bill. Another concern in Vermont is trespassing, and legislators have expressed a feeling that the trespass law should be upgraded.

PENNSYLVANIA: Pennsylvania currently has before its legislature a comprehensive snowmobile bill which would regulate snowmobiles, and is patterned after the laws of Minnesota, Wisconsin and New York. Snowmobile industry spokesmen consider this to be a good bill which will give much-needed regulation to the state. Under the bill, however, snowmobiles would be regulated by the Department of Transportation, while snowmobile regulations are generally preferred by most industry sources to come under the authority of the conservation department or Department of Natural Resources. However, the Conservation Department has recently undergone some revisions and at this time it is felt it would not be advantageous to put the snowmobile law under this department.

NEW YORK: A fine snowmobile law was passed in New York last session, according to ISIA. It is patterned after the law in Minnesota, which is considered to be the model snowmobile legislation. ISIA said in its recent report that "there will be no need to add any snowmobile legislation this year." However, some sources in New York have expressed concern to SNOW-sports DEALER NEWS over the negative feelings of some top state officials toward snowmobiling, and possibly some unfavorable legislative proposals as a result. However, at this time ISIA considers New York to have good snowmobile legislation.

MICHIGAN: Michigan is considered to have a good snowmobile law, which is being upgraded at the present time. A bill which would have upgraded the law was introduced last session, but did not pass and has been re-introduced in the current legislature. The bill does not change the present law too much. It primarily simplified the highway right-of-way regulation for snowmobile use and redefines the trespass regulation. Michigan will also introduce a new noise code for snowmobiles at the end of the legislation session. This would call for snowmobiles made after 1971 to make no more noise than 86 decibels (on the A scale at 50 ft.)

ILLINOIS: A bill to provide for snowmobile registration under the Conservation Department has been introduced. It also makes the Conservation Department the main governing agency. The law would require basic operation and equipment regulations, and is patterned after that in Minnesota. After June 1, 1972, any new snowmobile sold in Illinois must make no more than 82 decibels of noise. The new law would also provide for an accident reporting program.

WISCONSIN: The state has a good snowmobile law in force at the present time. A few amendments to upgrade the law have been introduced. Some of these include: A bill which would create a 15 member council to study snowmobile problems and come up with solutions; a bill which would provide that proceeds from registration fees go to the building of snowmobile trails, maintenance and enforcement after administrative costs are taken; and another bill which would provide for snowmobile regulations during the deer season to prohibit operation of a snowmobile in areas opened for hunting deer with firearms between 7 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

MINNESOTA: Minnesota has a model snowmobile law at the present time and ISIA encourages other states to pattern theirs after it. An accident reporting system will be established, and a raising of registration fees from $8 to $15 for three years is under consideration. An upgrading of the general trespass law is also being considered. The latter would relieve property owners of liability for any snowmobilers on their property and would empower the Department of Natural Resources to establish trails and other rights-of-way for recreational purposes.

IOWA: Iowa passed a good snowmobile law last year, and legislators are in the process of upgrading it. Although no bills have been proposed during the current session of the legislature, the State Conservation Commission has made the proposal to upgrade the law. ISIA considers that commission's proposals to be good. The Department of Public Safety in Iowa also has a proposal and wants all operators, if they cross highways or use the ditches along highways, to have drivers licenses. The Department of Public Safety seems to be against snowmobiles, according to ISIA, particularly under right of way laws.

SOUTH DAKOTA: A bill in the legislative session last year did not pass, and was scheduled to be introduced again this session. It is much like that of Minnesota, except that the governing agency for snowmobiles would be the Department of Transportation rather than the Conservation Department. Snowmobilers in South Dakota at the present time generally feel that the regulation should lie with the Department of Transportation to avoid the property tax, which is quite restrictive on snowmobiles.

COLORADO: This state is considered to have a good bill, which has been patterned after the Minnesota law. Other bills are being written to govern ATVs and minibikes, and both look as if they will pass. However, there is some attempt to combine the bills into one with the snowmobiles, which ISIA considers to be an unfavorable situation. Snowmobile clubs in Colorado are reported to be doing a good job of keeping the snowmobile bill separate.

WYOMING: Wyoming has a good bill similar to that of Colorado which will give needed regulation to the state.

UTAH: A proposal in Utah is much different than all other states. The proposed bill is similar to that covering boats. The

Snowmobile fashions for 1972

Pity the poor snowmobile clothing designer!

He makes a suit that's as functional as a pull-chain john and the public cries, "Give us some style and color like those fancy skiers have!" He makes a suit to rival the Billy-Kidd-Jean-Claude-Killy-Robert-Redford crowd, and the cry goes up, "Give us something that will keep us warm and not rip apart at the seams!"

But pity the snowmobile clothing designer no more. He's made it, the best of both worlds, for the buyer of '72. Practical, colorful, stylish, warm and flexible snowmobile wear for next season will send skiers from Vall, Colorado, to Mt. Snow, Vermont, tearing off to their local snowmobile dealers in everything from beat-up Volkswagen buses to brand new yellow Porsches.

But, best of all, the lady of the house and all the rest of those sweet young things who pegged snowmobiling as a "gunny sack" sport will, with the sophisticated cold weather wardrobes for '72, necessarily have to change their minds. Take, for example, Ski-Doo Sports' new and colorful tie-dye patterned suits straight from the Pepsi generation. Or take Raven's vivid geometric pattern, Midwest Outerwear's Jester suit, plus a wide offering of military styles from Thermorama, Midwest Outerwear and Ski-Doo Sports.

Back again, after a very successful introduction last season, are the "wet" look, as well as the "western" look to suit the moods of style-conscious snowmobilers. We predict this season will be known as the year of the fur, with the fake variety turning up in interesting combinations in the collections of Arctic Enterprises, Ski-Doo Sports, Stearns Manufacturing and topped off with a show-stealing fake-fur maxi-cape from Midwest that will be carried only as a special order item. If you're the sort that goes after the real thing (in furs), the local Midwest Outerwear dealer will have that too.

All this, and a warm body is in store for '72. If you had trouble with chilly winds whipping under the jacket of your two-piece suit last season, try on some of the new bib-style high waist pants. And don't give a second thought to the weather when you check out those flare legs. Several companies featuring over-the-boot pants this year have a snug-fitting inner lining to keep out the frost.

The snowmobile clothing designer for '72, we must approvingly admit, has been listening to Germaine Greer, too. Refriger-Wear has turned out a new "Lib" suit which gives the ladies a break with two nylon zippers on the outside which continue around to the rear. Ski-Doo Sports also offers a drop-seat on some of

Winter sportsmen should know of broken bones

By JEAN PAYEN
Michigan Snowmobiler

A broken bone itself doesn't hurt at all.

It is the periosteum, a tough but very sensitive layer of tissue around the bone with myriad nerve endings and blood vessels from which the pain originates. When a bone is broken, this covering is usually torn or stretched, causing excruciating sharp pain.

Whenever there is a spill or a mishap the first question that rushes to mind is: "Are there any bones broken?" Whether you're on an isolated trail, on a race track in full view of hundreds, or on your own back steps, it pays to know the clues and symptoms for which to look in detecting a broken bone.

Let's say right here that "fixing" a broken bone is strictly for the medics, but there are things that can be done to detect a broken bone and thus make the injured person more comfortable until professional help can be reached.

Almost any twisting or wrenching injury, fall or blow can result in a broken bone.

HOW TO TELL: A SUDDEN PAIN AND SWELLING OF THE INJURED REGION is a good indication of a fracture. The pain is usually very sharp, as compared to the dull ache of a severe sprain or bruise.

A definite swelling around the suspected break results from damaged muscles and ligaments. All such injuries should be treated as if fractured until x-rays can be taken.

A DEFINITE LIMITATION OF MOTION. Broken bones in the extremities are much easier to detect than such fractures as a broken rib or collar bone. A broken rib often makes breathing difficult and painful, as chest muscles contract to guard the break from painful motion.

A snapping sensation is very likely to indicate a fracture, though not always. Sometimes a sprained joint or torn ligament may snap profoundly.

SHORTENING OR DISTORTION OF A LIMB strongly suggests more than a "little bump" especially where a long bone is injured. The adjacent muscles often contract, pulling the bone fragments out of their normal alignment, causing muscle cramps as well as deeper severe pain. Occasionally the ends of bone even overlap.

Any grating feeling nearly always means a break, as does false motion at a joint.

WHAT TO DO: There are two first-aid measures that can be safely taken, no matter where you are.

First, try to splint or immobilize the fracture to help minimize the pain and prevent further injury.

This can be done with materials on hand. Straight tree limbs or branches will do for legs, using someone's long scarf or ace bandages from that ever-important First Aid Kit. Be sure to pad the splints well if possible. In dire emergencies shirts or under garments can be torn into strips. An arm should be padded well and strapped securely to the victim's chest, or put in a sling.

Strips of cloth, if available wrapped firmly around the chest helps splint a rib fracture. Be extremely careful with this one.

Under no circumstances is it advisable to pull or "traction" a broken bone back to normal, unless you have medical training.

Second, try to combat shock, which very often follows. Keep the injured person quiet, warm if possible, and reassured. Mild analgesics such as aspirin may help. Keep fluids to a minimum, however.

If you suspect any injury to the back or neck, get medical aid BEFORE moving the victim, as very serious damage can be done AFTER an accident. BEST OF ALL—be careful.

Ski-Doo drops racing plans

RICHMOND, Mich. — On the heels of Bombardier's announcement in Minneapolis that their factory team would pull out of racing this year, Heath Recreational Sales in Richmond announced a similar move.

Heath is the Ski-Doo distributor for Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee.

"The time has come in Ski-Doo racing," Heath vice-president Bert Swanson said, "for us to return racing to the level at which it belongs."

"The individually-backed racer is the one who gave snowmobile racing its beginning and he is also the one who suffered most by competing against well-financed factory and distributor teams."

"The new 1972 re-designed Blizzard racing machine will still be available from us," Swanson continued, "and awarded to those serious individual racers who deserve them based on their past performances and also upon their racing intentions in the future."

"We will also continue to maintain a racing co-ordinator at Heath for those Ski-Doo racers who desire aid during the racing season."

Swanson said money previously spent in the racing field could now be re-directed into areas of snowmobiling that need to be improved; ecology studies, safety programs and public relations aid to those interested in promoting the sport.

Legislation Snowballs

CANADA
In Canada, a brief rundown of the primary snowmobile provisions looks like this:

MANTOBA: This province has one of the best snowmobile laws in Canada. A law to upgrade the noise law is currently under consideration.

ONTARIO: Snowmobilers in Ontario have shown a reluctance toward any snowmobile regulation. This has hurt legislative efforts in the province. The existing law primarily covers what snowmobilers can and can't do regarding highway operation. ISIA does not consider this to be good enough, and work and cooperation is needed and being sought in Ontario.

QUEBEC: The only snowmobile legislation in the province is attached to the Motor Vehicle Code, and most snowmobile regulation is concerned with operation on roads. There will be a law passed this year in Quebec, which is now being readied. At this time, the ISIA indicated the law is difficult to assess because the law-making process in Quebec follows a pattern which does not clarify a bill until it is well along in the legislative process.

ALBERTA: Along with Manitoba, Alberta is considered to have a most comprehensive of the provincial laws in Canada. Legislation and regulation are considered to be good.

TRENDS
Several trends in snowmobile legislation in the past few months have been noted by the ISIA. Among these trends are:

ENVIRONMENT: This is becoming an issue in nearly all legislatures and land management agencies.

NOISE: This is the biggest single problem which seems to appear at all levels. A new snowmobile noise level standard which has been set by the Society of Automotive Engineers (SAE) and which is going into effect is expected to cure many of these problems.

TRESPASS: This has become a major issue in most states and provinces for snowmobiles and other recreational vehicles. The major trend is to give exemption to landowners for any liability toward operators of recreational vehicles, except where payment has been made for use of the land.

EDUCATION, SAFETY: This has become of great interest, and several legislatures are implementing a safety training program, and this is being used as a guideline in many states.

ROAD RIGHT-OF-WAYS: Most states and provinces have good regulations to keep snowmobiles off roads and highways except to cross them and use the ditches. State police, however, have in most cases indicated they would like to see all snowmobiles banned from roads and right of ways, or to require drivers licenses if they are used.

ACCIDENT REPORTS: Reporting programs for accidents are being implemented in several states and provinces, and probably will become standard.

HORSEPOWER: Limitations on horsepower have been proposed by several states. Horsepower restriction is a topic of conversation among legislators in nearly all areas.

CANADA GUIDELINES
On the federal level, guidelines for snowmobiles are gaining more attention, particularly in Canada. Canada recently established a series of equipment regulations for snowmobile manufacturers. Although these regulations are guidelines for manufacturers and are not intended as legislative guidelines, they are considered to be highly valuable for dealers and others who are working with local or state authorities on snowmobile legislation. If your councilman or legislator needs technical information or suggested guidelines for safety equipment on snowmobiles, you can write to the ISIA at 5100 Edina Industrial Blvd., Minneapolis MN 55435 and request a copy of the "Safety Standards for Snowmobiles Required by the Federal Government of Canada."

Basically, the Canadian standards require:

-Snowmobilers to have headlamps, tail lights, red stop lights, red reflectors on the side and rear and an amber reflector.

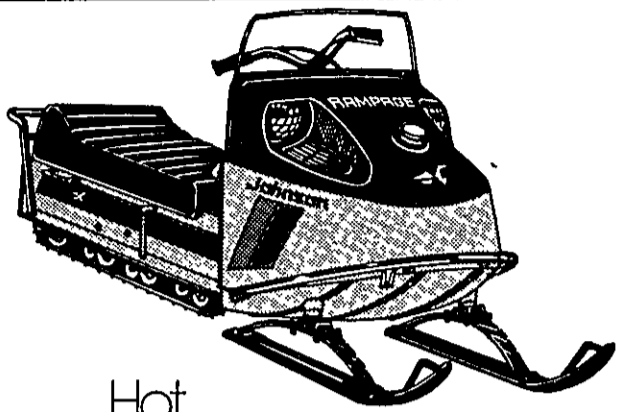

-A vehicle identification number (serial number) for every snowmobile. This is not a registration number, but an identification number put on by the manufacturer.

-Handgrips on the snowmobile to enable passengers to hold on.

-A muffler to reduce noise and a decibel level not to exceed 82 decibels at 50 ft.

-Enclosures for moving parts of the transmission and fan to prevent clothing from becoming caught.

-Controls which include a cut-off switch which can be activated from the handlebar.

Insurance is vital

DEALERS FREQUENTLY rent machines and operate trails for a fee. All have similar insurance problems. For that reason let's discuss both in this article.

No recreational activity has emerged on the recreational scene like the snowmobile. The snowmobile is by far the largest selling winter vehicle. It offers more thrill because of the high speeds, its maneuverability and its ability to get into otherwise inaccessible areas.

HERE ARE SOME of the insurance problems encountered by individuals or organizations involved in the operation or sale of these machines. First, let's discuss the dealer.

1. The stock or merchandise must be insured to protect the investment of the dealer. The dealer that holds stock or merchandise only for sale and demonstration does not need to have as broad of coverage as is normally afforded to an individual who is using a snowmobile.

Usually fire, extended coverage, vandalism and malicious mischief and theft is in order. A deductible is advisable in order to keep the cost down.

A dealer should make sure that the machines are stored in as good a building as possible, that has a low fire rate, in order to keep down the cost of the above insurance coverages. The deductible is suggested to further reduce the cost. The dealer should be primarily concerned with the major loss and not small individual losses. Frequency of small losses will make a risk unprofitable for an insurance company. The dealer should be concerned with a major loss that would deal a blow to his business.

If a dealer has machines that are used for demonstration, either on the premises or away from premises, he might want to have a limited amount of broader coverage to include collision while machines are being demonstrated. If a dealer picks up his machines at a factory and if he delivers machines that are sold, he should have a transportation floater or endorsement to his policy to provide coverage for machines while they are being transported by him to or from his place of business.

It is not usually possible and advisable to obtain physical damage coverage for machines used for racing by a team sponsored by the dealer. The cost is too much and the dealer is usually in a position to effect repairs at a reasonable cost and hence, realize an insurance saving.

2. Customer Goods. Any dealer that operates a repair facility should have customers' goods coverage to protect him in event of damage to or loss of customer's machines while in his possession for repairs, etc. This amount will usually be modest depending upon the amount of machines that he thinks he will have in his possession at any one time. The main concern will be theft, vandalism and fire. Again, the better the building in which the machines are stored, the lower the rate the dealer will obtain.

3. General Liability. Here is the area that poses the biggest problem. A dealer, of course, needs owners, landlords and tenants coverage for the place where his business is conducted. In addition to the OL&T coverage, he needs coverage while machines are:

- A. being demonstrated.
- B. products coverage for protection for services he performs for his customers that could result in later claims for faulty workmanship.
- C. coverage for a race team if he sponsors it. If he sponsors a race team he needs to have spectator liability coverage to protect him and his drivers in event they are involved in an accident injuring spectators at a race. Frequently this coverage is provided if the driving team is racing in events sanctioned by a national snowmobile association. An additional coverage that should be carried, if a dealer has a racing team is accident coverage for the drivers. He can obtain and should have accidental death, accident, medical and weekly disability coverage for the drivers while operating machines in races or rallies.

THE RENTAL AREA is one of the very difficult areas for providing coverages because people who usually rent machines do not own a machine and lack experience in operating machines. Coverage can be written to include or exclude liability for injury to the lessee while operating a machine. Generally third-party liability coverage is no problem. This is liability for injury to another person resulting from the operation of the machine by the lessee protecting the interest of the lessor or the owner. Further, a lessor may want to have coverage for passengers who may be riding with the lessee. This, of course, presents further difficulty. The owner of the machines should have physical damage coverage on the machines, and a deductible is suggested in order to take care of the small claims which are expensive to a company. A dealer who has a good person for maintaining the machines is able to make minor repairs and thus effect a savings in their insurance costs if they will have at least a $50.00 or $100.00 deductible.

Accident coverage for persons riding on machines is suggested. Accident coverage that automatically provides coverage for injury to people while riding on the machine will make the liability coverage a little easier to obtain and will frequently prevent liability suits in case of injury if the medical expenses are automatically paid following an injury.

ANY PERSON RENTING MACHINES should require a hold harmless agreement to be signed by the person renting the machine. The hold harmless agreement should make him responsible for injury to persons that he may injure or to persons riding on the machine with him. A machine should never be rented to a minor without the parent's consent and signature. Hold harmless agreements do not always mean a lot, but they will help eliminate many claims for people who know they have signed a hold harmless.

Liability amounts of $100/$300,000 bodily injury and $10,000 property damage are usually available, however, these amounts are frequently expensive, and if a rental operator can get by with a lower amount of coverage it will usually save him quite a bit of money. It is most important that a rental operator exercise good maintenance on his machines because an accident that is the fault of the lessee will not usually revert to the owner, but an accident that is the result of a poorly maintained machine will usually end up in a claim against the lessor.

Colored Goggles Indispensable

Goggles with colored lenses for bright days are indispensable. Amber or yellow lenses are very useful on dark days or late in the afternoon. These lenses, used in the proper light conditions, can reveal dangerous depressions in the snow. In addition, they give your eyes important protection from lashing branches. They also keep your eyes from watering from exposure to the wind and cold.

Fashion 1972

its high fashion line, and Raven includes a two-piece suit that zips together at the waist into a one-piece. Also worth looking at is Wall's Blizzard Prof suit by Clif-Tex that features non-slip Naugahyde legs and seat for complete water-proof protection.

In April, we found at our '72 SNOW GOER Spring Snow Show at Park City, Utah (where these photos were taken), that a good share of machine manufacturers are paying more attention to snowmobile fashions this year. Firms like Polaris, Sno-Jet, Johnson and Evinrude are all offering the "wet" look as well as completely new styled suits to match their machines.

The designer of snowmobile clothing for '72 has remembered those important apres snowmobile parties, too. Not only is knit wear from Ski-Doo Sports getting sharper and more stylish, but the pile jumpsuit introduced successfully by Midwest Outerwear last season is looking better than ever in a variety of plush colors. Arctic Enterprises did their apres homework also, and for the new season offers to the fireplace crowd such interesting items as body stockings, polyester jumpsuits and purple, black or white ponchos. And this year, of course, what could be more appropriate for with-it snowmobiling gals at the end of the trail than hot pants?
