Hospital questions unanswered

ST. JOHNS—A scheduled meeting between the Concerned Citizens Group and the Board of Trustees of Clinton Memorial Hospital did not take place Friday night. The Citizens showed up, but the trustees didn't.

However, the Trustees did reply to the request for the meeting through a letter sent to Co-Chairman Mrs. Sharon Reha.

In the letter, Trustee President Alan R. Dean said, "Advice of the Board of Trustees will be asked to determine how the members wish to dispose of the requests contained in your letter. After such advice, I will give you an answer as to if, and when, there can be a meeting."

THE CONCERNED CITIZENS Group had requested the Board of Trustees of the Hospital Association to meet with them and go over the points mentioned in a petition which the group had circulated during the first part of November.

It was asked in that petition that a meeting between the two sides be held no later than Nov. 30.

A spokesman for the Citizens Group said if they have not been contacted by that date, they would meet with an attorney and determine what further action should be taken.

Hospital gets maximum accreditation

ST. JOHNS—Clinton Memorial Hospital has received notice that it has been given full accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

Administrator Harold B. Reed made the announcement last Wednesday.

The accreditation is for a period of two years, which is the maximum period

Hospital won attention during controversial '20's'

First in the series

By MRS. HILA BROSS

ST. JOHNS (c) — Back in 1926, people in this community wanted a hospital. A couple years earlier they had wanted a new high school and they had gotten that. If people really want, something, they don't give up until they get it. You might say that was the spirit of '26, and in that spirit Clinton Memorial Hospital was conceived.

They didn't let a little thing like the weather keep them from going out and starting the job, although the Winter of 1925-26 was a rough one. Trees on the Court House lawn hung heavy with snow, and bushes around Central School bent and broke under their burden. Rodney B. Wilson High School was only a year old, and the new shrubbery planted around it was completely buried.

There were no buses then, so students got to school under their own power. Town youngsters walked, their high black galoshes unbuckled and flapping, as was the style (hence, the word flapper).

Come country kids walked into town to go to high school, but most of them banded together and drove in, and there were enough in each car to push or shovel when necessary. South of town, some farmers hitched up sleighs and drove the neighborhood young people as far as the interurban tracks, but even the cannon ball—as the kids called the interurban car—had trouble bucking the drifts between St. Johns and Lansing.

But all that winter, night after night, certain men in St. Johns got up from the supper table, poured hard coal into the glowing base burner in the living room, or shoveled soft coal into the furnace, then left their cozy homes and walked down town to spend the evening in some drafty meeting hall talking about a hospital for Clinton County.

Sometimes they drove out in the country to speak in a church or a Grange hall, or sometimes they left their own business for a day or two and took the Grand Trunk train to some other town to visit the hospital there.

It had all begun in December of 1925, with the public announcement that the St. Johns Hospital would soon close. Operated privately by a group of doctors, the 25-bed facility was being discontinued because of the falling health of the senior partners, Dr. A. O. Hart and Dr. Eugene Hart. Also connected with the institution were Dr. F. E. Luton, Dr. Charles T. Foo and Dr. T. Y. Hoj, and there had been others over the 15-year period it had operated in the brick building at 108 Spring Street, now an apartment house owned by James Fedewa.

Early in January of 1926, 20 citizens met informally to discuss the situation, and formed a committee consisting of Coleman C. Vaughan, former publisher of the then Clinton Republican, and formerly Secretary of State for Michigan; Dr. A. C. Henthorn, a physician in private practice; Dr. Eugene Hart; Theodore Townsend, City Manager of St. Johns; Schuyler L. Marshall, Co-Editor of the Clinton County Republican News; and R. V. Gay, St. Johns architect.

During the next six weeks this committee visited hospitals in Lansing and other communities, taking special interest in Owosso, Hastings, Albion and Sturgis, where new buildings had recently been erected. Costs and locations were investigated, and the advantages of building from scratch were weighed against those of remodeling some large residence, several of which were then available in St. Johns.

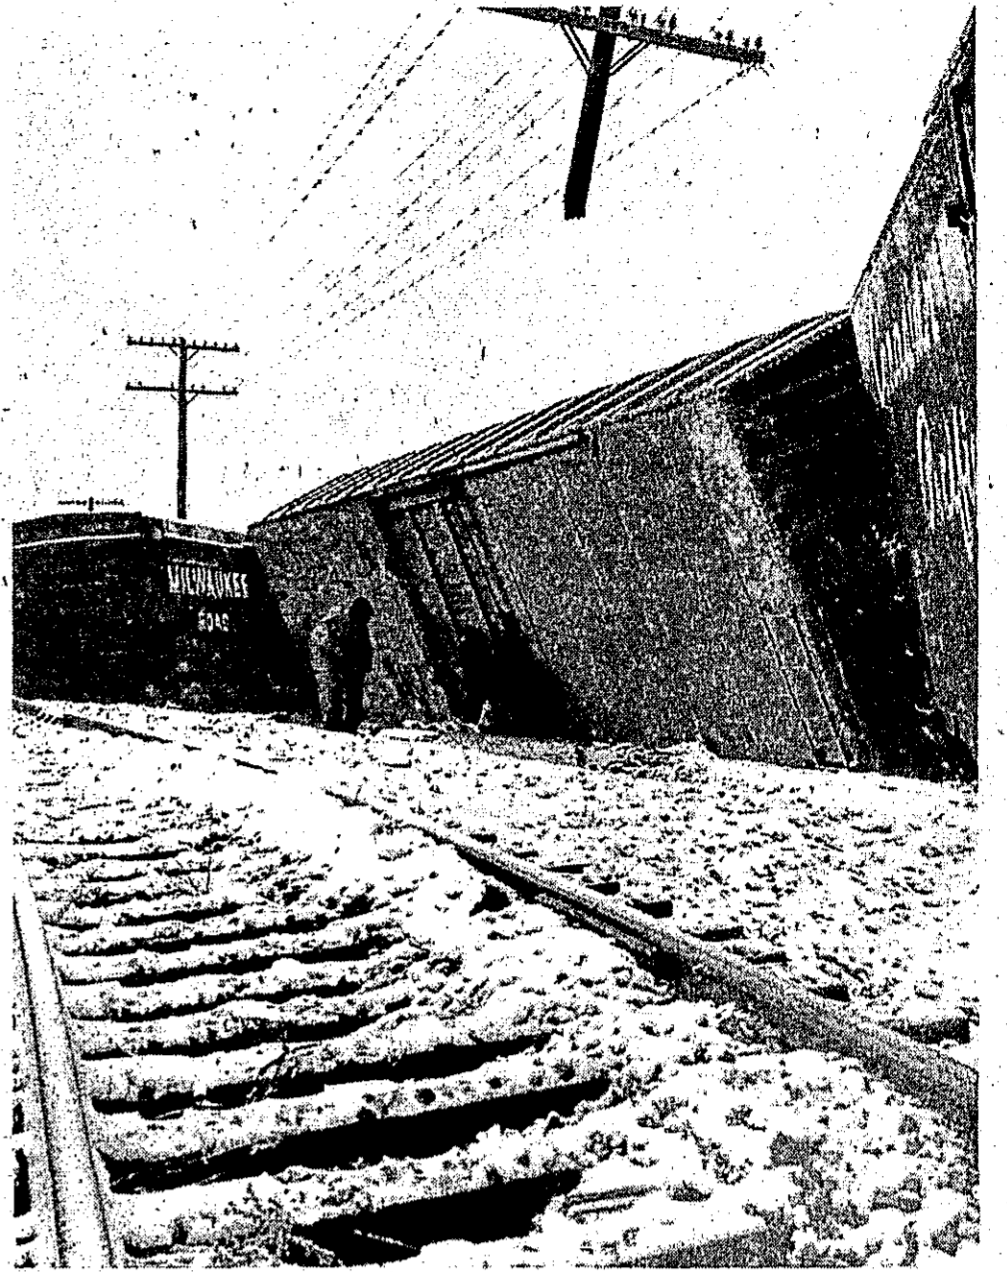

The February 25th issue of the Clinton County Republican News reported another meeting which took place in the City Council room over the Fire Hall.

R. V. Gay had drawn up two sets of preliminary plans, one for remodeling an existing large mansion, and another plan for a new building which would house 52 patients. The remodeling plan was estimated to cost 8 per cent more than the new building, so it was decided that night to go ahead with the campaign for a new hospital, the matters of location, exact size and final plans to be determined later.

A new committee was then formed, Coleman C. Vaughan remaining chairman. In addition to Dr. Eugene Hart, Dr. Henthorn, Theodore Townsend and S. L. Marshall, the new committee also included the Rev. M. L. Fox, D.D., Minister of the St. Johns Methodist Episcopal Church; Arthur E. Wilson, president of the State Bank of St. Johns and member of the school board; and John C. Hicks, president of the St. Johns National Bank. Both Mr. Wilson and Mr. Hicks were also proprietors of local stores and owners of other businesses.

Mr. Hicks was on the boards of other banks and later became president of the Michigan Bankers' Association. The front page of the Clinton County Republican News for April 15, 1926, carried a reproduction of R. V. Gay's drawing of a proposed 50-bed, fireproof hospital to serve the people of Clinton County. Beside the picture was an account of a meeting held April 12 in the dance hall on the third floor of the St. Johns National Bank.

In the early morning hours Monday, nine cars on this C&O freight train were derailed when a switch to another track was left open. A loaded tanker car full of ammonia was involved in the wreck south of old US-16 east of Clinton Road in extreme southern Clinton County. Lansing firemen were called to the scene but the liquid did not ignite. See related photos on page 16A.

Woman's scream results in capture of DeWitt thief

DeWITT—A 39-year-old Lansing man is being held on $7,500 bond in the Clinton County Jail on charges of breaking and entering of a rural DeWitt home Nov. 24.

Charged is Severin John Boubede, 39, of 1112 Maryland St., Lansing. Another suspect is being sought at this time.

Det. Sgt. Richard May, of the Clinton County Sheriff's Department credited an alert housewife with making the arrest possible.

May said at approximately 1:25 p.m. last Wednesday, a car drove into the driveway of the Carlos Peterson residence at 1770 Alward Lake Rd.

the car port and two men got out," May said.

Mrs. Peterson, home at the time, did not recognize the car or the men, and when they knocked on the door she decided not to answer it.

"The next thing she knew, the back door window glass was smashed out and she started to scream," May said.

The suspects fled to their car, driving out through the back yard and around the house and out to US-27. But Mrs. Peterson got a license number.

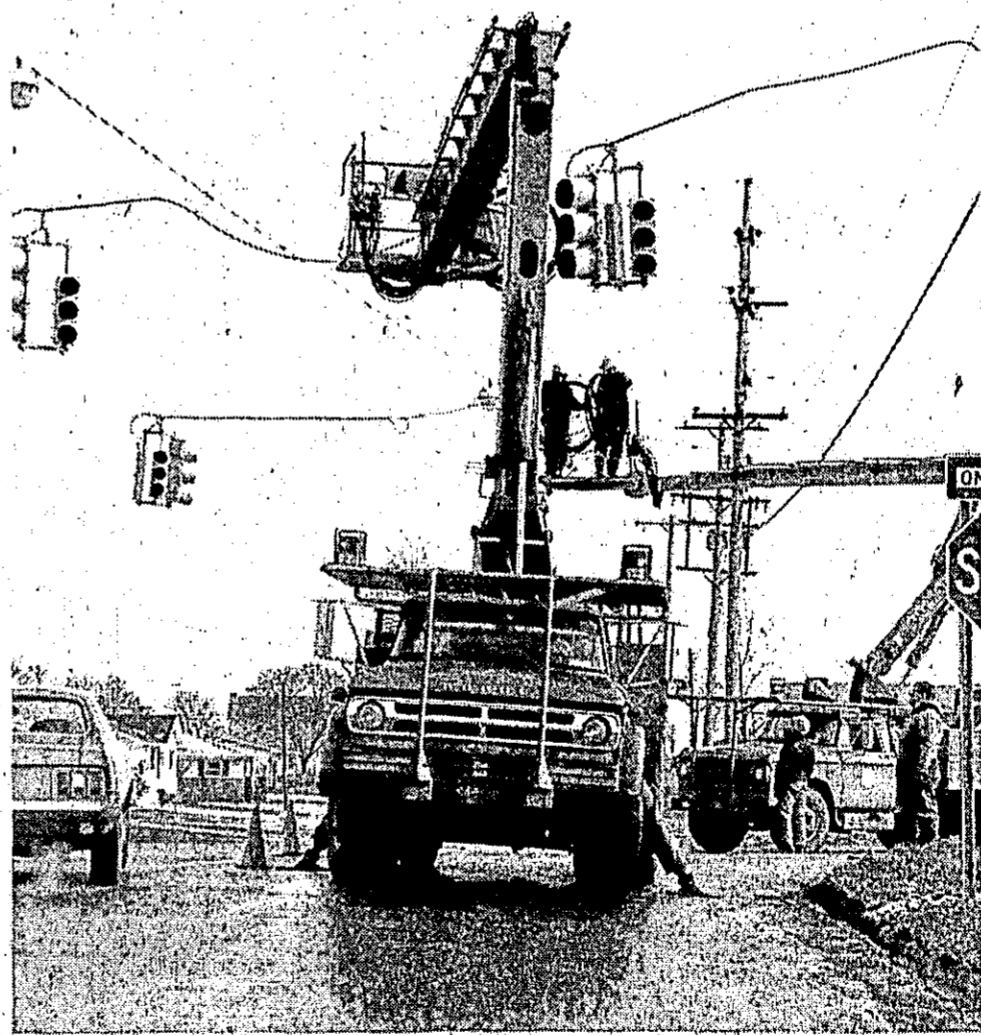

THE CAR WAS checked out and Mrs. Peterson identified Boubede from police mug files. He was arrested Monday by Clinton officers working in cooperation with Lansing Police detectives and the Michigan State Police Intelligence Unit.

A series of daylight breakins and thefts have been under investigation by Clinton Deputies for the past two months. Many residents have reported loss of thousands of dollars in household goods taken from their residences in broad daylight.

"We've been trying to educate the public not to answer their doors right away when someone comes into the yard that they do not know," May said. "This is a good example of what can happen."

May said Boubede is not charged with any of the other thefts at this time. The other suspect being sought was not named.

NEW LIGHTS

State highway workers installed a set of new traffic lights at the intersection of US-27 and Sturgis Street in St. Johns after a concerted effort by a local action group, People Who Care, demanded traffic control at the corner. A young boy on a bicycle was killed at the crossing last year when he rode the bike into the path of a motorist. The group was formed shortly afterward to demand a change.

Reed quits

ST. JOHNS—Harold B. Reed, 49, administrator of Clinton Memorial Hospital since 1958, announced Friday he will resign from that post effective Nov. 30.

Reed said he was submitting his resignation for "personal reasons."

He said he will practice law in the city of St. Johns.

Reed joined the hospital staff in 1955 as business manager and was named to the post of administrator in 1958. He is a graduate of Wayne State University Law School.

REED AND HIS wife Bobbie, reside at 305 E. State St. in St. Johns.

Winter tax statements are mailed

ST. JOHNS—Winter tax bills totaling $957,350.03 were mailed out to City of St. Johns tax payers November 30 according to Eugene Simon, City Treasurer. Included in this figure are unpaid 1971 City Summer Tax and penalties in the amount of $35,442.25.

The School and County tax portions are based on a State Equalized Valuation of $19,096,526 for real estate and $6,477,800 for personal property in St. Johns.

Tax payers were billed an even $37 per $1,000 State Equalized Valuation, for the School-County Tax, according to Simon.

St. Johns July-City Taxes totaled $13 per $1,000 which combined with the Winter Tax Rate makes this year's total tax rate $50 per $1,000 equalized valuation as com-

WINS "HIS AND HERS" CARS

Mrs. Jennifer Jorae of Marshall Road in St. Johns, center, accepts the keys to a 1972 Gremlin and a 1972 Sportabout from Bob Demko of Bob Baker American Motor Sales in Lansing. Mrs. Jorae won the pair of "his and her" cars by entering a contest at Dean's Hardware sponsored by the National Hardware Association in conjunction with American Motors Corp. Mrs. Jorae deposited the winning ticket at Alan R. Dean Hardware in St. Johns and was one of four grand prize winners in the "Golden Value Days" sweepstakes contest. Her ticket was drawn from over one million entries submitted nationwide. Looking on are from left, Thomas Aitken, manager-treasurer of the Michigan Retail Hardware Association, Mrs. Jorae's husband, James and Alan R. Dean, owner of Dean's Hardware.

Santa changes his hours

ST. JOHNS—Basketball and Santa have worked out a compromise. Santa will arrive a half hour earlier than announced this Friday in order that all of the loyal Redwing fans can turn out for the first home game of the new basketball season.

The St. Johns Jaycees said they had received word from the North Pole that Santa will make his appearance on Clinton Ave. at 7 p.m. instead of 7:30.

He will be accompanied by the Marching Redwing Band and boy scouts will assist Santa by passing out candy canes to the kids of the community.

"Santa agreed to come a half hour earlier this year so those persons wishing to attend the home opener at the high school will be able to do both," said a Jaycee spokesman.

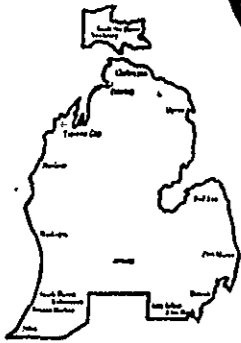

STORES IN ST. JOHNS will begin their Christmas season hours on Friday by remaining open each night until 9 p.m.

ON TOUR

These two talented St. Johns girls will be on their way this summer to participate in an international concert tour in Europe through the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp. From left are Denise Maier, Ray Schaberg, director of wind ensemble at Blue Lake, and Sharon Barnes.

Local girls win spots on tour

TWIN LAKE—Two St. Johns girls have been selected for membership in the International Wind Ensemble from the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp which will tour Europe in 1972.

Sharon Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnes, 427 Meadowview, St. Johns and Denise Maier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Maier, 210 W. Lincoln St., St. Johns, will make the concert tour under the leadership of Albert Schalberg of the State University of New York at Potsdam, N.Y. The group will rehearse periodically throughout the year at Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp here.

The students will assemble at Blue Lake in June for an eight-day period of intensive preparation for the performance tour which will take them to Holland, Germany and Denmark. Accompanied by a professional staff of eight, the international group is scheduled to leave Detroit on June 26 and jet to Amsterdam.

Prior to their departure, the students will perform several times at Grand Rapids, Muskegon and the camp.

The international program is composed of 130 students from throughout Michigan and neighboring states. Director of the program is Gretchen Stansell.

Wellman attends conference

CHICAGO, Ill.—Harold Wellman, president of Central National Bank of St. Johns attended the 25th Annual Conference of Bankers, held at the Conral Hilton Hotel in Chicago, on November 21 and 22.

The conference was sponsored by the First National Bank of Chicago and covered the current economic trends of the United States and the outlook for a new monetary system for the international economy.

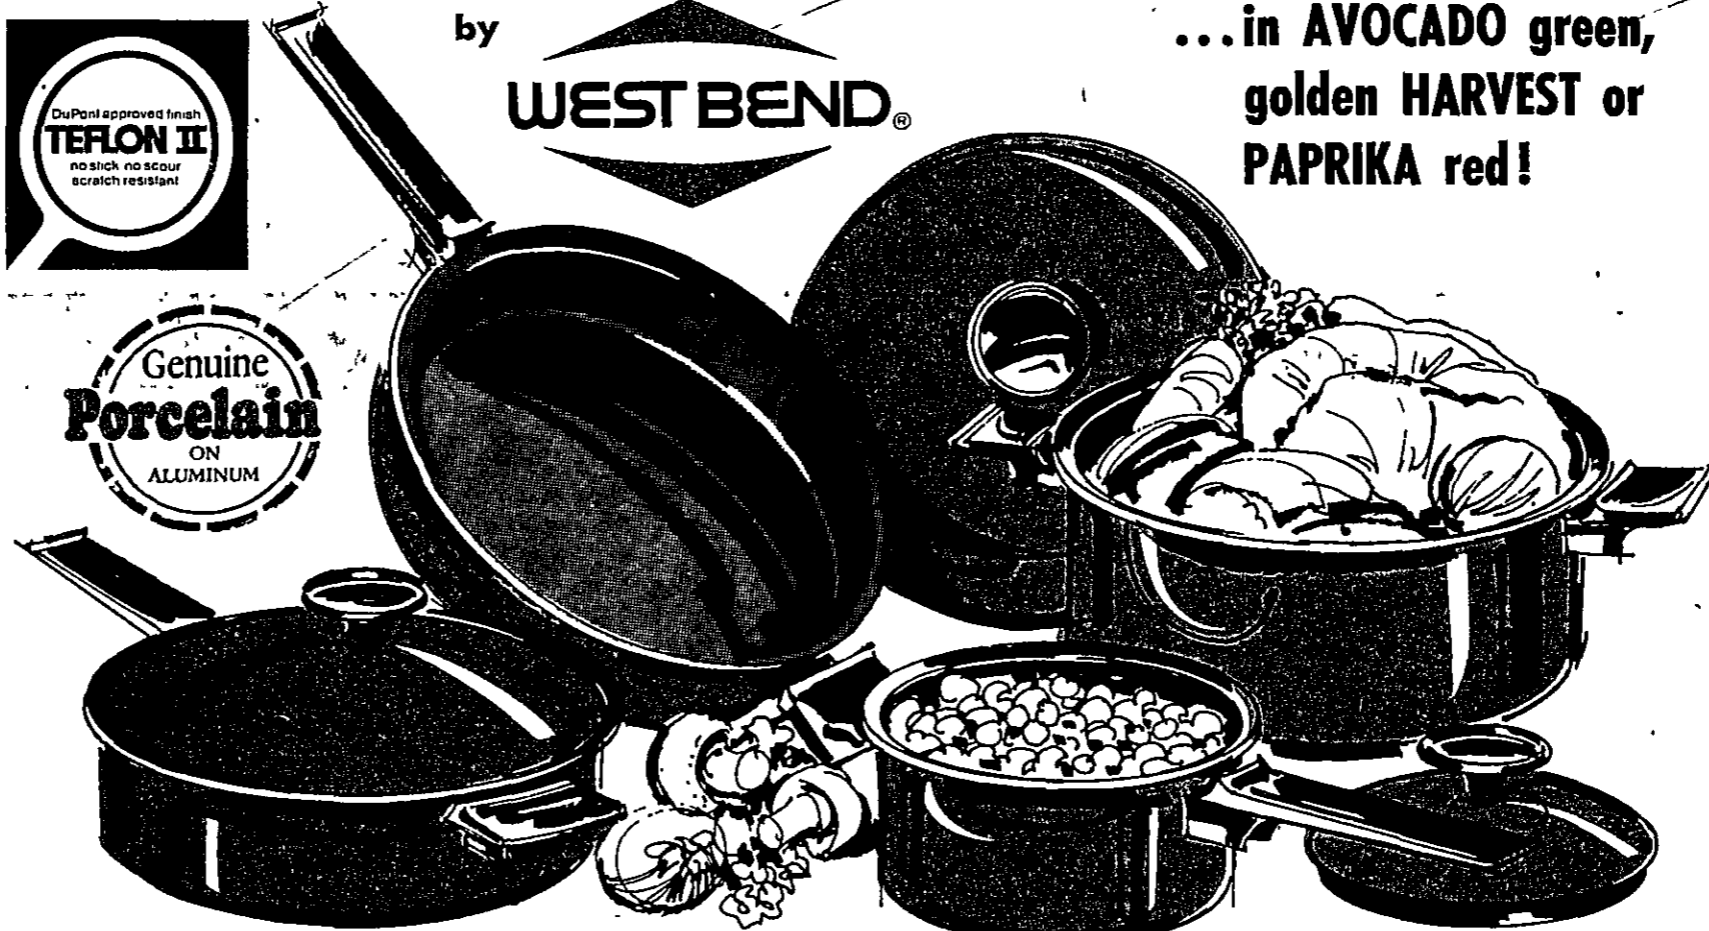

The general consensus of the bankers in attendance indicated a further weakening of the interest rates during the next six months and a gradual increase of money costs during the second half of 1972 and through the first half of 1973.

INASMUCH AS THE cost of money is a reflection on the overall economy, it follows that a continual sluggishness in the economic indices will follow for a short period after which there again will be a general rise in the economy some time during the middle of 1972.

Coleman Vaughn: force behind hospital idea appointed to the State Board of Health.

By MRS. HILA BROSS

From the beginning, Coleman C. Vaughn was a force in the movement to build a modern hospital for Clinton County. He was elected chairman of the original committee formed in January 1926, and as the movement grew and larger committees were formed, he was elected chairman each time.

Mr. Vaughn had been publisher of the Clinton Republican since 1889. Always Republican by persuasion, in 1894 he received his first political appointment, when Governor John T. Rich named him to the governing body of the Michigan Asylum for Dangerous and Criminal Insane at Ionia (now called the Ionia State Hospital).

In 1898, Governor Hazen S. Pingree appointed him to the Board of the Ionia Reformatory. Otis Fuller, a former publisher of the Clinton Republican, was also a member of the first Board of Trustees of Clinton Memorial Hospital.

When Governor Fred M. Warner was elected in 1905, a third political honor came to Coleman C. Vaughn as he was

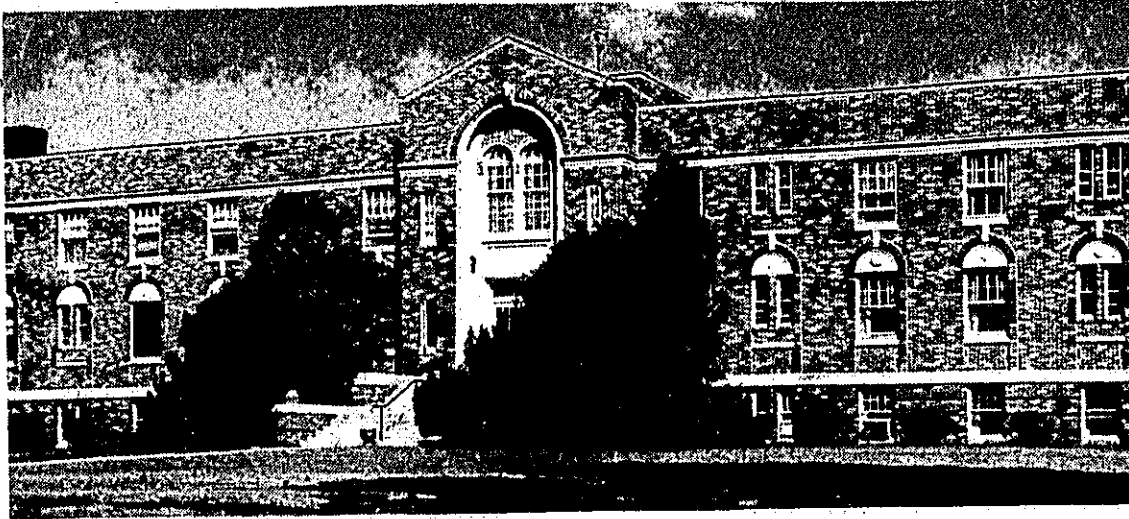

In 1914, Michigan Republicans persuaded him to leave the ranks of political appointees and run for the office of Secretary of State. He was elected and in 1916 was re-elected. It was customary at that time to hold such an office no more than two terms, but state Republicans felt it would be a mistake to change their nominee for this office while the country was still at war, so he was elected Secretary of State again in 1918 and served till 1920.

In 1923, C. C. Vaughn sold the Clinton Republican to Schuyler L. Marshall, and enjoyed a brief period of retirement with his wife, the former Nettie Davies, at their home on West State Street. He once more entered public life with the election of Governor Fred W. Green, and in January 1927 he was appointed to the Michigan Prison Commission.

The same month, at the first Annual Meeting of Clinton Memorial Hospital, he was elected the first president of its Board of Trustees, a position to which he was annually re-elected till his death in 1933.

COLEMAN VAUGHN

This is the way the Clinton Memorial Hospital appeared following completed construction in 1925.

Hospital wins sentiment

About 50 citizens were present at this meeting, among them several physicians who spoke in support of the project. They were Dr. Eugene Hart, Dr. Henthorn, Dr. Luton and Dr. Guy France, who was County Health Officer. Also speaking favorably were W. H. Osgood, furniture store proprietor and funeral director, also member of the school board; Paul E. Smith, Ford automobile dealer; Adrian Ahearn, Byerly Grocery store manager; Leo G. Benson, local manager of Consumers Power, and C. H. Moore, then owner of the Superior Garment Co.

The doctors were especially enthusiastic about the proposed capacity. Those who practiced independently had not been able to take the privately-owned St. Johns Hospital. Moreover, its 25-bed capacity had limited its use to surgical and obstetrical patients. Those who were merely sick had to be treated at home or sent to Lansing or Ann Arbor.

Such was the enthusiasm at the April 12th meeting, that it was voted unanimously to start the ball rolling at once. A block of time designated as Hospital Week was set aside later in the spring for the purpose of securing financial subscriptions. Already $25,000 had been promised.

In an editorial which appeared in the Clinton County Republican News about this time, Schuyler Marshall wrote: "Soon this community will be given the opportunity to express its love for mankind in providing such a hospital as other communities have. It will be then that we should remember that these institutions mean more than stone and concrete, more than surgery and medicine. Hospitals are for the relief of human suffering and prolongation of human life. I can think of nothing more valuable in this world. Can you?"

NEXT WEEK: How the money was raised for Clinton Memorial Hospital.

Today, the former St. Johns Hospital located at 108 Spring Street, is occupied as an apartment dwelling. It had served as the only hospital in the county for 15 years back in the 1900's.

Leone Koenigsknecht weds Mark Hufnagel

Agnes Koenigsknecht of Fowler sister of the bride, was maid of honor and assisting as bridesmaids were Mrs. Lucy Higgs, of Lansing, sister of the bride, JoAnn Hufnagel of Westphalia, sister of the groom, and Louise Thelen of Fowler, friend of the bride. The attendants wore identical empire-style green velvet gowns with long sleeves with fitted cuffs, a high fitted collar, and lace trimming the bodice. Each wore a flower headpiece and carried a basket of yellow, white and green mums.

Serving as best man was Bill Simon of Westphalia and groomsmen were Bob Hufnagel of Westphalia, brother of the groom, Fred Smith of Westphalia, friend of the groom and Marvin Koenigsknecht of Fowler, brother of the bride.

A 5 p.m. reception was held for 450 guests at St. Mary's Hall in Westphalia.

For travel on their wedding trip to Canada and Niagara Falls the new Mrs. Hufnagel chose a dress styled with a light lavender bodice and cummerbund and a deep purple velvet skirt.

Following their return they will make their home in Westphalia.

The bride is a graduate of Fowler High School and the groom is a graduate of Pewamo-Westphalia High School.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and mother and approached the altar wearing an empire-style floor-length gown of silk organza featuring a high ruffie collar, long full Bishop sleeves and a detachable chapel-length train secured at the waistline. Daisy embroidery accented the entire gown and edged the hemline and train and a band of embroidery trimmed the neckline and cuffs. A daisy headpiece secured her elbow-length veil of triple sheer illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of red sweetheart roses, white carnations and green streamers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Koenigsknecht of R-2, Fowler and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hufnagel of R-2, Portland.

Woman's Club enjoys program on Norway

Three distinct feminine personalities brought Michigan history, literature and foreign travel vividly alive at the St. Johns Woman's Club meeting of Wednesday, Nov. 17 at the home of Mrs. Edward Sulka.

Mrs. Floyd Anderson (Ione), who was recently honored for more than 31 years membership in St. Johns Woman's Club, charmed the group with her Thumbnaal Sketch, which turned out not to be her own personal history, but excerpts from the history of her family, early St. Johns area settlers. She softly chuckled and explained how her children and their families had been nagging her to write this for them—a tale beginning with her great-grandfather Webster, a "Yankee" who came to Ionia, Mich. in 1834 and built a sawmill. He valued a good education for his nine children and arranged to have the eldest of these taken to and from the somewhat distant school by a friendly Indian squaw.

Mrs. Corey Vance (Elsie), drama chairman, used her background as an experienced librarian, to give a sensitive insight of Ernest Hemingway, the good and the bad. She summarized the analysis his biographer, Baker, had made of this Pulitzer and Nobel Prize winning American author. "He speaks to all people, to humanity, celebrated life and its sensuousness, but was obsessed with death." She explained how this daring adventurer's life had been an example of the model American's life, but how Hemingway himself had been tortured with anxieties about his own virility and ability as a writer.

Then Mrs. S.R. (Edith) Russell, the program speaker for the day, employed a natural dramatic flair as she related the trip she and her husband took to Norway last May. She colorfully characterized "the land of the midnight sun" and its people, showing slide photographs she and her husband had taken on a boat trip through the fjords and to the open sea around the North Cape. "Of the 3.9 million people in Norway, eighty per cent live near the fjords. The people have a saying, the sea unites us, but the land divides us. Ranking fourth in fishing in the world, they are always looking for new markets, trade routes, keep their ships new and modern."

She related some amusing experiences such as an elegantly served luncheon of shrimp with their heads on, "eyes, feelers, and all," which can be a surprise to a traveler. Breaking into an appropriate dialect, she depicted the jolly sea captain and his stories about the people's ancient belief in trolls and how mountain peaks were formed by trolls being turned to stone when the sun came up.

Mrs. John V. Davison added to the program on Norway with some slide pictures from her son in Norway and was aided in details and descriptions by Mrs. George Judd and several guests who had also visited the "land of the Vikings, Edward Greg and trolls."

The pre-Christmas meeting of Woman's Club will feature "Madonnas" a program by Mrs. Walter Ekers of Sparta and a bake or buy sale to raise funds for Girlstown on Dec. 1 at the home of Mrs. Clifford Lumbert, 808 W. Park.

Janice M. Heuer now Mrs. Douglas Walton

ST. JOHNS — Janice Marie Heuer became the bride of Douglas Lee Walton in a double ring candle light ceremony held in The First Congregational Church on Saturday, Oct. 16. Rev. Averill Carson officiated at the 7 p.m. service before an altar decorated with hurricane lamps, white gladolus and purple full mums. Organist was Mrs. Frances Delbert and soloist, John Anderson rendered "Because," "The Wedding Prayer" and "For All We Know." The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Heuer of 704 South Swegles Street, St. Johns and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Walton of 701 West McConnell Street, St. Johns. The bride was given in marriage by her father and chose an ivory peau de sole gown accented with Chantilly lace panels in the skirt, bodice front and inserted over a sheer background in the Bishop sleeves. A Chantilly lace headpiece secured her chapel-length mantilla veil which was edged with the same lace and she carried a white Bible with a cluster stephanotis, purple full, and ivy tied with satin streamers.

Mary Jo Durner, of St. Johns, was maid of honor and assisting as bridesmaids were Jackie Heuer of St. Johns, sister of the bride, and Sue Palmer also of St. Johns.

The attendants wore identical gowns featuring a high neckline and full sleeves with a ruffle cuff. The orchid chiffon bodice was attached to an amethyst colored velvet skirt and a deep V-

Married

Musicale relives World War I spirit

The Spirits of the leg-wrapped doughboys of World War I and the families they left behind materialized at the home of Hila Bross on Thursday, Nov. 18.

Their songs sung by the members of the Morning Musicale and the reminiscent stories of that time in our history brought them there.

"Smile Awhile," "Keep The Home Fires Burning," "Over There," and "How're You Gonna Keep Him Down on The Farm After He's Seen Parris?" told a lot about how that war affected the people of America.

Recollection of the hard tuck ration the American soldiers ate in their trenches and recipes using egg substitute in baking back at home reminded many of the small changes people knew then.

Mrs. Jean Woodbury had some mementoes from her dad's service in that war, a railroad ticket from Camp Custer at Battle Creek and his official permission to be absent from duty to be married in 1917.

Mrs. Evangeline Caudy's dad was a doctor in that war and recalled how he slipped up to the front lines to man a machine gun because he wanted some action. She read a poem written to her by a relative to comfort a little girl whose daddy went to war.

Mrs. Goldie Brooks told how her husband went to war in 1914 after they had been married only four months and remembered how the strong national reaction against anything German prevented Fritz Kreisler from performing in this country.

The Morning Musicale is tracing music through our holidays for this 1971-72 program year and the commemoration of the World War I Armistice on Nov. 11 provided the theme for this historical program.

A contrast to the modern day feelings about war was evidenced by anecdotes contributed to the group discussion about young men who sneaked in to the service, even lying about their age, because they wanted to go abroad and be in it. Mention was made about how American farm boys were brought to Europe for the first time and began speaking French and German with strange accents.

Mrs. Ginny Stenberg sang two art songs of the period that showed how strong the American sentiment was about their involvement in the war and how the allies cheered their coming.

From "Cradle Song 1915" (originally Caprice Viennois) by Fritz Kreisler came such works as, "soldiers brave must fight and fall for their native land; they must leave their loved ones all in their savior's hand." And the reaction of the french to the arrival of American troops was sung by Ginny in "The Americans Come" by Fay Foster: "who can it be that our people greet with joy and laughter? God be praised, the Americans come."

Piano accompaniment for the program was provided by Mrs. Martha Lundy and Mrs. Bross played a recording of the John Philip Sousa marches that were so important in the World War I time period, as members prepared to go home.

The annual Christmas coffee, to which guests are especially invited, will be held on Dec. 9 at the home of Mrs. Albert Nelson.

The next to the last winner of the County News' Football Contest is Jeff Price of St. Johns. Jeff and Randy Humphrey of St. Johns each missed two games, but Jeff was 13 points closer to the Army-Navy tie breaking point total.

The Football Contest in this issue will be the final one for this year. So this is your last chance to pick up $20.00 for Christmas shopping.

Wednesday, December 1 is the day for the St. Johns Co-op's annual Open House. And on that one day only special discounts will be offered on seed, fertilizer, chemicals and baler twine for all who order early.

Farmer's Petroleum will also take part in the open house with specials on snow tires, rear tractor tires, duals and motor oil.

Co-op manager, Art Romig stressed two points . . . that the Co-op is interested in booking the spring needs and delivery is at the customers' convenience . . . and that the specials are effective Wednesday, Dec. 1 only.

I didn't make it hunting but one fellow who did and is still walking about twenty feet off the ground is Earl Frechen of Fowler. Earl got a little buck with a pretty fair rack.

Well really, the buck wasn't little . . . it dressed out at over 150 pounds and the rack was a lot more than pretty fair. It was according to Earl and the folks who saw it, the most perfect 10-point rack they had ever seen.

Years ago I hunted with my uncle and cousin John in the Eastern end of the Upper Peninsula. And it was there on a bitterly cold day that I learned a lesson of life.

The three of us walked a couple-three miles from camp to an area of hills and gullies. We'd make little drives...two would wait while one would see what he could jump and push out.

When it was my uncle's turn to take a little walk, cousin John and I stationed ourselves on opposite sides of a little gully. It was cold, so cold I decided to light up a cigarette. Cousin John came bounding over to my side and insisted that I not smoke . . . "the deer will smell it."

Instead, he offered me a chew of tobacco. "Just put it inside your lower lip." Like a fool, I did.

It was cold, so cold I was wearing about four sets of clothes.

But standing there intently watching and listening for any movement or noise I started to feel a little warm. Very warm. Almost hot, I started to sweat . . . opened then took off the big red coat...unbuttoned the two shirts I was wearing and took off my cap.

Sick? I thought I was going to die.

And weak...I could hardly lift the rifle...and I know that walk back to camp took at least three weeks.

The only person in worse shape was cousin John...he was weak from laughing.

I've thought about that incident for years and have come to two conclusions. My cousin is not a very nice person and someday...I don't know how or where... I'm going to get him.

Koenigsknect and Matter are promoted

ST. JOHNS—Roman Koenigsknect, 39, has been promoted to St. Johns District plant supervisor for General Telephone according to an announcement by W.F. Graef district manager. Succeeding Koenigsknect as St. Johns District construction and maintenance supervisor will be Gordon Matter, 36, former chief combinationman. Both appointments were effective November 1.

Koenigsknect joined the company as lineman in 1957. He worked as frameman, testman and chief combinationman before his promotion to district construction and maintenance supervisor in 1967. Koenigsknect and his wife Mary Ann live on West Townsend Road, Fowler with their children Carol Ann 15, Diane 14, Thomas 12, Daniel 10, Denise 8 and Debra 7.

Matter began his career with General Telephone (then Union Telephone as lineman in 1953. He subsequently worked as combinationman and testman before promotion to chief combinationman in 1967. He is married to the former Janette Martin of St. Johns and lives at 2605 South Williams Road with their four children Eric 15, Kurt 13, Jill 10 and Amy 7.

Rodney B's students help out

ST. JOHNS—The 8th grade class of Rodney B. Wilson Jr. High sponsored a community clean-up day Saturday, November 20. Fifty 8th graders met at the Junior High and divided into 10 work forces that combed through the city looking for odd jobs.

The enterprising students took part in raking leaves, baby sitting, cleaning out garages and basements and believe it or not—baking cookies.

One of the residents whose lawn was cleared of leaves said he was proud to see such wonderful kids in his community and with that he donated $3 to the class treasury. No charges were levied, but no donations were refused.

The work day was followed by a dance later that night which was also very successful. Free admission to the dance and self gratification were the only wages received by the participants.

WINDOW NIGHTS

Sally Mulder of the Villager shop and Audrey Bancroft of Bancroft Clothing Store in Ovid show how the winning numbers will be displayed in the store windows during the annual Christmas Window Night promotion in downtown Ovid. Anyone holding number 670 is not a winner, however, since the bonus number was added for decoration. The real winning numbers will appear beginning Dec. 4.

NEW LAWYER

Patrick R. Joslyn (center) reads his oath of office before Circuit Court Judge Leo W. Corkin Monday in St. Johns. Joslyn was admitted to the Clinton Bar Association and will practice with the firm of Walker and Moore. With Joslyn are his new partners, James Moore and Jack Walker.

St. Johns has new lawyer

ST. JOHNS—There is a new lawyer in town. Circuit Court Judge Leo W. Corkin administered the oath of the Bar Association to Patrick R. Joslyn, 30, of 716 S. Lansing St. The ceremony took place Monday afternoon in the circuit court room. Attending were members of Joslyn's family and his law partners, Jack Walker and James Moore. Joslyn was born in Lansing and graduated from Rodney B. Wilson High School in 1959; he graduated from Michigan State University in 1968 with a BA degree in social science and secondary education and he graduated from the Detroit College of Law in 1971. Joslyn and his wife Judith have three children, Wendy 5, Susan 3, and Robert, six months.

Tom Fowler to solo with CMU chorale

MT. PLEASANT—Tom Fowler of St. Johns has been selected to sing four tenor solos with the Central Michigan Chorale when the group performs at the First Presbyterian Church here Dec. 5. The Chorale, under the direction of Dr. Stephen Hobson, will present Heinrich Schütz' "The Christmas Story" or "Historia von der Geburt Jesu Christi."

It will feature organist MaryLou Robinson, a CMU faculty member, plus bass, tenor and soprano soloists. Fowler will share the soloist honors with roommate Edward McCallum of Union Lake, who will sing four solo selections. Fowler recently completed five appearances in Leonard Bernstein's contemporary opera "Trouble in Tahiti," and has been touring in Michigan on weekends with an ecumenical group from CMU. They have been presenting the production "Natural High," which has played in St. Johns. Their last performance was last week in St. Louis and the group is set to go into rehearsals for "Show Me" after the holidays. Fowler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Fowler of St. Johns.

Open Letter
from VAN W. HOAG

Dear friends,

It deserves emphasis that the time, the place, the character of the funeral service, the merchandise used, the cemetery selected - these are decisions of the family of the deceased. The funeral director acts only as a representative of the family. The clergyman should be consulted in matters that concern him before any decisions are made.

Respectfully,
Van W. Hoag

CMAC ALL-Conference team named

POTTERVILLE—The Central Michigan Athletic Conference announced its 1971 all-league team last week with seven juniors and 15 seniors on the 22-man first squad.

DeWitt placed eight Panthers on the team.

DeWitt, co-champion for the season with Potterville, placed eight players on the first team and two on the second team.

Named from DeWitt were Gary Bouts, a junior tackle; Chris McNelly, a junior guard; Ron Wilcox, a senior quarterback; Duane Shoeltz, a junior back; Chuck Berkimer, a senior defensive end; Dan Davis, a senior linebacker; Wilcox as a defensive linebacker; and Tom Ashley, a junior defensive back.

Named to the second team from the Panthers were Chuck Gorman, a senior offensive guard and Mike Moody, a senior offensive back.

Pewamo-Westphalia had four players listed on the first squad and two on the second unit. Picked were Al Fedewa, a senior end; Chuck Bengel, a junior defensive lineman; Frank Spitzley, a senior defensive lineman; and Tom Thelen, a senior defensive guard and Tom Thelen, a senior linebacker were named to the second squad.

Others named to the first unit included Randy Wrobel of Laingsburg, a senior end; Steve Rickle of Potterville, a junior Pat Stump of Portland St. Patrick, a junior guard; Ron Baldwin of Potterville, a senior center; Ron Goetschy of Laingsburg, a senior back; and Al Schrauben of Portland St. Patrick, a senior back. All of these were on offense.

Listed on the first defensive unit were Wrobel, at defensive end; Al Simon of Fowler, a senior lineman; Dean Vieth of Laingsburg, a senior linebacker; and Chuck Ordway, a senior back from Laingsburg.

Picked to the second team of more center, is the tallest Eagle player this year. "Let's face it, last year he was a little lazy," Trierweiler said, "but he made up his mind to play and has looked real impressive. He won the job over two or three other guys. He has put out better and has shown more desire."

Alan Harr, 6-2, 186-pound senior forward, is the only regular to return to the Eagle squad this season. In 1970, he burned the nets for 144 points in 22 games for a 6.5 average and 66 rebounds. Trierweiler said he was the only player who had a starting assignment wrapped up due to his playing experience.

John Pohl, a 5-7, 137-pound senior guard, will see some action, especially in a man to man type game. He was a varsity player last year.

On paper, Trierweiler picks Laingsburg and DeWitt to have very strong teams again this year in the CMAC. "The league is much more balanced this year. DeWitt has three players back and their JV's only lost one or two games last year. St. Pat's has three starters back. P-W will have quite a bit back and Webberville didn't lose too much." He declined to predict Fowler's finish in the CMAC title race, but other coaches have the Eagles as a solid favorite and pick them as the team to beat if they are to take the title away.

"We are going to win some games, though," Trierweiler commented with a touch of a smile crossing his face.

Fowler opens CMAC bid Dec. 14

Coach has title hopes

FOWLER—A well balanced, but inexperienced, Fowler Eagle cage squad will begin its Central Michigan Athletic Conference title defense Dec. 14 against Portland St. Patrick at the Eagle home courts.

The Eagles lost only once last season and the year before to DeWitt by slim margins in the last seconds of the two games. Those were the only losses in the regular season play for the Eagles.

"We are inexperienced," commented Head Coach Charles Trierweiler. "We have only one senior in the starting lineup. We had all state and all-league players last year, but we have lost them. I'd like to have some of them back again." He noted he would like to have all-stater Nell Thelen back on the team.

After the Eagles complete their first two non-conference clashes with Freesoil and Springport, Trierweiler said the players should indicate what kind of season Fowler will have.

"Our weakness right now is seeing how well our guards will come through. Our strong point would have to be balance. We again have seven players that can play with the best of them."

Trierweiler said he is really worried about the team's future performance. "They'll compete with them (other CMAC teams). They will be a factor in who does win the league championship. Under the boards, we don't sweat that. We have five kids that can hold their own. I'll tell you, I'd hate to get in there against them."

The team is not without a Thelen this year. They have two on the starting five, Tony and Glen.

Tony, a 6-0, 160-pound junior forward, was a part time starter for the JV squad last year. "He's a real scrapper and he's looking real good. He beat out a couple of good kids for the starting job," Trierweiler said, "Glen, a 6-2, 198-pound sophomore center, is the tallest Eagle player this year. "Let's face it, last year he was a little lazy," Trierweiler said, "but he made up his mind to play and has looked real impressive. He won the job over two or three other guys. He has put out better and has shown more desire."

Three gridders win Ingham honor

BATH—Three Bath Bees were named to the 1971 Ingham County League all-conference team, it was announced last week.

Quarterback Paul Stoll, end Fritz Ordway and lineman-linebacker Karry Feguer were picked for the 22-man team. Feguer was picked on both the offensive and defensive units. Others named to the team were Joe Sober of Fowlerville, end-defensive halfback; Ken Klefer of Perry, lineman; Dave Christin of Stockbridge, lineman; Bob Smith of Fowlerville, lineman on offense and defense; Rick Steadick of Perry, back; Mike

McClure of Fowlerville, back; Ken Klingler of Leslie, back; Mark Schultz of Stockbridge, defensive lineman; Mike Konkil of Williamston, defensive lineman; Scott Towsley of Pinckney, defensive lineman; Bill Bradley of Perry, defensive lineman; Dave Beckman of Pinckney, line-

Eagles win opener over Freesoil 72-60

SCOTTVILLE—The Fowler Eagles opened their 1971-72 basketball campaign with a victory Saturday night as four Eagles hit double figures to down Freesoil 72-60.

The game was close one all the way until the final three minutes when the Eagles finally managed to forge ahead for the victory. Up until that time, it was tied or within three points.

The Eagles were led by Alan Harr with 17 points, while Glen Thelen added 14 and Bill Thelen and Bob MacKinnon each added 11.

Coach Charles Trierweiler said, "We killed them on the boards."

AND THEY DID. The Eagles outrebounded Freesoil 58-29 with Thelen getting 19 and Harr 12.

At the end of the first period, the Eagles led their opponents 21-18. The second period scoring was even as each team poured 20 points through the hoop and the Eagles had a 41-38 edge at the half.

In the third period, Freesoil outscored the Eagles 14-13 to cut their lead to 54-52. But with three minutes left in the game, Freesoil blew a layup and the Eagles forged out into a stronger lead to win the game.

Harr dumped in seven field goals and three of four free throws for his 17 points while Thelen had six field goals and two of four free throw attempts for his 14. MacKinnon had five field goals and one of four charity tosses and Bill Thelen had five field goals and one free throw for their 12 points each.

OTHER SCORERS for Fowler were Mel Pohl with 6, Tony Thelen with 8 and John Simon with five.

For Freesoil, Jim Papes had 20, Roger Chappel, 17 and Dave Morong, 15. The Eagles had 25 fouls called against them while Freesoil had 13.

In garnering the victory, the Eagles scored 30 field goals and 12 of 19 free throws, shooting 43 per cent from the floor; Freesoil hit 19 of 43 field goal attempts for 37 per cent and 22 of 39 free throws.

In the J.V. game, Fowler won 51-35.

THE NEXT GAME for the Eagles will be with Springport on Dec. 7 at Springport.

Portland overpowers P-W fouls hurt in 74-60 loss

PEWAMO-WESTPHALIA—The Portland Raiders bombed the P-W Pirates in the second quarter and then held off a Pirate threat in the final half to win the opening game of the season for both teams Friday night. The Raiders won 74-60.

Portland, led by Chuck Durrant with 18 points, opened the game by taking a five point lead at the end of the first quarter, 15-10.

In the second period, the Raiders unloaded for 26 points while holding P-W to 16 to take a 41-26 lead at the half.

THE THIRD PERIOD belonged to the Pirates as they forged back, scoring 16 points while holding the Raiders to 9 to trail 50-42 at the end of that period. The Pirates also scored 18 points in the final frame, but the Raiders scored 24 for the 74-60 victory. It was a bad night for the Pirates in the foul category as they were whistled down 31 times while the Raiders were called for 12 infractions. The Raiders shot 47 times from the free-throw line, hitting 26 of them while the Pirates shot 14 times, hitting eight.

Chuck Durrant was the big gun for the Raiders as he hit seven field goals and four of six free throws for 18 points, leading all scorers. Don Davids had 15 points for the Raiders.

FOR P-W, STEVE Wirth hit six field goals and one of two free throws for 13 points and Mike Cotter hit six field goals for 12. Doug Walter hit five field goals for 10 points.

The Pirates hit 28 field goals while the Raiders hit 23. In addition to the scoring, Portland also dominated the boards with 6-5 John Doherty and 6-3 Bruce Zimmer, grabbing most of the rebounds.

Portland had eight other players in the scoring column. They were: John Piercefield, 7; Zimmer, 6; Kevin Goodwin, 5; Doherty, 5; Dennis Bellinger, 3; Dick Coe, 3; Jeff Phillips, 2 and Bill Spitzley, 1.

P-W HAD FIVE other players score for the night. They were: Roy Piggott, 4; Randy Fedewa, 4; Jim Hengesbach, 3; Mike Thelen, 8 and Mike Miller, 6.

1971 BATH CAGERS

The Bath Bees are expected to be the only team that could take the Ingham County League cage title away from pre-season Stockbridge. The Bees are tall and fast with a lot of muscle under the boards. Regulars this year are, front row from left, Dale Cantwell, Randy Markham, Joe Mitchell and Jack Brown. Absent from the photo were Dan Hosford, Brad Schaibly, Ray Truman, John Kugel and Larry Anderson.

Best in years, Bee's want ICL crown

BATH — The Fighting Bees from Bath High School should have one of the best teams they have had in many years. That, according to Coach Richard Wilt, is the prediction of followers of the Ingham County League cage scene.

In fact, the Bees could be the only team with a good chance at stopping the high powered Stockbridge Panthers, with their high school All-American stand-out Jesse Campbell.

Of the 14 Bath cagers, only four are under 6-0 and only three weigh less than 160 pounds.

Back for the third time is senior Paul Stoll, 6-2, 180 pounds. He is a two-time all-league player with a 21.1 points per game average and 23 rebounds per game. Stoll rolled up 417 points last year for the Bees and added 419 rebounds to the cause.

"He has no glaring weaknesses," Wilt said of the senior forward. He will be one of the team's co-captains, along with Randy Markham.

Markham, a 6-1, 180-pound guard, averaged 12 points a game and seven rebounds. The scrappy senior put in 212 points and had 110 rebounds last year. "He is a real good jumper," Wilt said. "He has grown a lot and has good speed. He is a good shot inside or outside." Markham was a starter for last year's squad.

Joe Mitchell, a 6-0, 170-pound senior forward, had a 10-point per game average last year and averaged seven rebounds a game. He netted 191 points and 108 rebounds. "He looks real tough and is our best outside shooter. Last year he lacked steadiness, but has improved real well."

Fritz Ordway, 6-3 and 180-pound center, is the only sophomore on the team. "He is probably the best sophomore in the league," Wilt said. "He jumps real well and is a fine shooter. He should improve this year and needs some work on defense." As a JV player last year, Ordway averaged 24 points a game, carrying the team to a 13-3 record.

Dale Cantwell, 5-11, 160 pounds, will fill out the starting assignments at guard. The little junior had a 23 point average as a JV last year. "He is a good outside shot and excellent ball handler," Wilt said. "He will be the team quarterback."

Two other Bees who will see plenty of action are Royal Dobson and Tom Townsend. "They will both push Mitchell for the position. They are both fine outside shooters, too."

Dobson, a 6-0, 165-pound senior, did not play last year due to a broken arm sustained in the football season. He will be rotated at guard and forward.

Townsend tallied 40 points in the Bees campaign last year and helped in the team's 13-6 record. Townsend, 6-2, 150 pounds, is a senior forward.

In looking at the upcoming season, none of the Ingham County League teams can afford to take Stockbridge lightly—nor can they afford to take Bath lightly. "You must consider Stockbridge as the favorite, but I think everybody could have a shot at them this year," Wilt said. "Pinckney, Leslie and Williamston all look good. We are real optimistic here and I don't think that anyone will embarrass us."

The Bees will have a chance to see the Panthers first hand when they take on Stockbridge in their first conference home game Dec. 10. If the Bees look good against the Panthers, there will be no stopping them this time.

Card of Thanks

HECHT—We wish to thank our relatives and friends for the lovely cards, gifts and money we received on our 50th wedding anniversary. Thanks to our children, grandchildren and all who helped to make our day such a happy occasion. We can never forget the day.—Mr. and Mrs. Karl Hecht. 31-1p

SIMMON—I wish to thank Drs. Jordan and Smith, the Carson City Hospital nursing staff for the wonderful care, also Fr. Schmitt for visits and blessing, all the neighbors and friends, relatives for all the cards and food brought in during my stay at the hospital and after my return home. Clare Simmon. 31-1p

ACKER—We would like to thank all our friends and relatives who were so kind and thoughtful at the time of the death of our loved one. The food, cards, visits, flowers and donations to the Lansingburg Congregational Church and The Cancer Society in Memory of Elaine were so very much appreciated. Each and every gesture has helped ease the pain of our great loss. Her courage and faith shines through each of us. The family of Elaine Acker. 31-1p

RADEMACHER—I wish to express my sincere thanks to the nurses, aides, dietitians and all workers at Clinton Memorial Hospital for their personal and kind services. Also my thanks to Dr. Grost and Russell for their care and to Rev. Carson for his visits and to friends and relatives for cards, flowers, gifts as well as visits. Margaret Rademacher. 31-1p

In Memoriam

In memory of our husband and father Elmer D. Cutler who passed away one year ago Dec. 3, 1970. He bid no one a last farewell. He said goodbye to none. His loving heart had ceased to beat. Before we knew it, he was gone. Every day we sadly miss him. Deeply we feel our loss. Lonely we are without him. Help us, God, to bear our cross. Wife and family. 31-1p

In loving memory of our father and grandfather, Herman Keek, who passed away one year ago, December 4, 1970. Those whom we love go out of sight, But never out of mind; They are cherished in the hearts, Of those they leave behind. His family. 31-1p

Marauders warm up for mat title defense

OVID-ELSIE—The Ovid-Elsie Marauders began a warm up for their Mid-Michigan Championship title defense in wrestling Monday night when they were to meet Perry in the first non-conference match of the season. The Marauders will have eight lettermen and three of these boys were conference champions last season. They include Mike Buck at 145 pounds, who has 32 wins and four losses. He won the regional, district and regional before being defeated in the state finals. Larry Bush, in the heavyweight class at 220 pounds, led the team with 25 pins last season and had a 27-5 record. Glen May, another returning conference champ at 132 pounds, looks good again this year, according to coach Jim Maidlow. Dan Pumphord, who was second in the league at 98 pounds "will probably move up to the 105-pound weight class this year."

Larry Byrnes, who won the conference championship last year at 112 pounds, has quit wrestling for personal reasons, but Coach Maidlow feels he has enough depth to fill this vacancy and the vacant spot created by the graduation of Tom Roof, O-E's first state champion at 98 pounds. The Marauders had an 11-1 record last season in dual meets. They won top spot in the Haslett Tournament, the Shepherd Tournament and the Clinton County tournament. They were third in the regional and ended up eighth in the state in Class B's rankings.

Other letter winners returning to the squad are Al Cobb, Jay Southwell, Cayle Reha and Ernie Carr. Maidlow, who was second in the state in his junior and senior years at Sexton High School in Lansing, said O-E should have a good year again barring a rash of injuries. He added that desire and speed are the two main ingredients of a good high school wrestler. The Marauders' first home meet will be Dec. 6 against St. Johns beginning at 6:30 p.m. Admission charge is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Four win recognition DeWitt's Gary Bouts named to AP all-state first team

Four county football standouts received state-wide recognition this week when the two press service polls, Associated Press and United Press International, released their all state teams for 1971. Three DeWitt players were honored. Gary Bouts, a 6-0 190-pound offensive tackle and defensive linebacker was picked for the AP all state first team. Bouts, a senior, was a fine blocker and was a standout on defense, according to Coach Tom Isanhart. The rugged Panther lineman broke plays and bottled up the defensive line so well that DeWitt averaged 70 yards a game through his tackle position. On defense, Bouts bagged the opposing runners on an average of nine times a game this year. "He has the potential to play big college football," Isanhart said. "He has been interested in the Air Force Academy."

Leader dog week Nov. 28-Dec. 4

ROCHESTER—Nov. 28 through Dec. 4 has been proclaimed "Leader Dog Week" by Governor William Milliken. During Leader Dog Week attention is called to the important rehabilitation program being conducted at the Rochester, Mich., Leader Dog School.

The non-profit school, Leader Dogs for the Blind, was founded in 1939 by Lions of Michigan — and has since trained over 3,300 Leader Dog "teams," Leader Dog and blind person. Leader Dogs are furnished without charge to all eligible applicants.

A Leader Dog enables its owner to enter fully, despite a handicap, into the life of the community — to live an active and contributive life of their own. Lions arrange the enrollment of every eligible person who expresses an interest in obtaining a Leader Dog. Lions sponsor projects that are largely responsible for the success and growth of the unique school that provides happiness and confidence to blind men and women.

In addition to furnishing operating funds, Lions are always on the lookout for good, friendly German Shepherds, Labrador and Golden Retrievers, between the ages of one and two years, for the Leader Dog training program. All dogs are contributed; none are purchased.

Anyone knowing of a blind person interested in obtaining a Leader Dog — see a member of the local Lions Club. Anyone interested in contributing a potential Leader Dog — write: Leader Dogs for the Blind, Rochester, Mich. 48063.

Cheryl Ginther of Elsie shows off her training dog, Josh, who was taken last week to Rochester training school to complete preparation for aiding the blind.

Daniel Cable, left, of Bath, holds up his nine week old pup, while Lori Webster of St. Johns displays her five-week old pup.

The St. Johns Lions Club has agreed to sponsor what might be the first in the nation program to pre-train seeing eye dogs before they enter Rochester's training school. The program, called the 4-H Tail Waggers club, meets each week to discuss ideas and train the dogs. From left are Mr. Daniel Balog of Haslett, leader dog representative, Mary Bruin of St. Johns, club leader, Gayle Desprez, St. Johns Lions Club representative, and Jeannine Seeger, 4-H club president.

This fellow is learning how to respond to orders. Here the dogs are to rest quietly and can only move upon command.

Livestock show set

EAST LANSING — Michigan boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 18 can exhibit and sell market steers, lambs and hogs during the annual Junior Livestock Show at the Michigan State Fairgrounds in Detroit Dec. 8, 9 and 10.

The 1971 show, sponsored by the Livestock Improvement Association of Michigan, is coordinated by volunteer 4-H Club leaders.

Entrants may exhibit up to two steers, four lambs, and four hogs. Each entrant may exhibit all three kinds of livestock. All entries will be judged Thursday, Dec. 9, and will be sold at a special auction Friday, Dec. 10.

Information regarding the event is available at county extension offices or by writing Mrs. Mulholland, Route 3, Charlotte, Mich. 48813.

Clinton receives gas tax

LANSING—Third quarter Motor Vehicle Highway Fund collections are being distributed to Michigan counties and cities and villages, the State Highway Commission reports.

State Highway Director Henrik E. Stafseth said net receipts of the Highway Fund during July, August and September of 1971 amounted to $81,461,406, an increase of $3,695,257 or 4.8 per cent, compared to the same period of 1970.

Clinton County's share totaled $159,915 while area cities and villages received $51,943.

All State gasoline and diesel fuel taxes and license plate fees to the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund.

AFTER DEDUCTION OF collection costs and the State Waterways Commission's share 1 1/2 per cent of gasoline taxes, the money is distributed with 46 per cent to the Department of State Highways, 34 per cent to the state's 83 counties and 20 per cent to the 529 incorporated cities and villages.

Under this formula, the Highway Department will receive $37,472,246 as its share of the third quarter collections. The counties will receive $27,696,878 and the cities and villages will get $16,292,281.

The shares for Clinton area cities and villages are as follows:

DeWitt—$6,000; Elsie—$3,547; Hubbardston—$2,550; Laingsburg—$4,427; Fowler—$2,876; Ovid—$5,132; Pewamo—$2,427; St. Johns—$19,331; Westphalia—$2,748; Maple Rapids—$2,305.

DeWitt, Bath matmen clash in E.L. tourney

EAST LANSING—DeWitt and Bath wrestlers will be competing Dec. 11 in a wrestling invitational "takedown" tournament, hosted by East Lansing High School.

Approximately 300 high school matmen from the central Michigan area will compete in the first annual East Lansing Invitational Tournament, open only to four year high schools. Each school may enter two wrestlers in each weight class for both the varsity and the freshman divisions. Medals for first, second and third places will be awarded for all classes in each division.

Besides Bath, DeWitt and East Lansing, wrestlers from Mason, Okemos, Owosso, Ionia, Haslet, Fowler, Holt, Portland, Durand, Grand Ledge and Williamston have been invited.

A takedown tourney differs from standard meets in that matches are won by takedowns, rather than the usual point system. Wrestlers will compete in Olympic style pairings, guaranteeing at least two matches and a maximum of eight. The matches, beginning at 12 noon, will run consecutively until the final championship rounds are completed.

Admission prices are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. East Lansing High School is located on Burcham Road, south of M. 78, between Abbott and Hagadorn roads.

East Lansing Head Coach Don Behm will be the tournament host and Joe DiBello is the tournament manager. Seven mats will be used to begin the competition, with 14 referees officiating in two gyms until elimination makes it possible to move the matches to the main field house.

Weights begin at 9 a.m. Meals and snacks will be sold by the East Lansing Wrestling parents from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Ovid

OVID—The United Church of Ovid will hold a Christmas festival Dec. 11 from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., sponsored by the Women's Fellowship. It was announced Wednesday.

The festival will be held at the church building, located two blocks north of the Main Street Light.

Featured at the festival will be a fish pond, a white elephant booth, a candy cane tree, a Kiddies' Korner (with items of $1 and less for holiday gift buying), silhouette drawing booth, a bakery shop, candy store, Christmas Boutique, a stitch and sew booth, special door prizes and a country kitchen, complete with food service from a light snack to a dinner.

Workshops have been held to prepare for the event. At work session, 50 red Christmas stockings were made at the home of Gertrude Martin Nov. 23.

A children's craft workshop for Sunday school children was held Nov. 27 at the Front Street church during the afternoon.

A hard Christmas Candy workshop will be held Dec. 7 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Main Street Church. Candy making ingredients will be provided and soup will be served at noon. Those wishing to take part are asked to bring scissors to cut the candy.

Another session will be scheduled for craft items and stuffed toys if there is an interest.

GenTel opens Fowler, Pewamo exchange Dec. 1-2

William Graef, right, district manager of the General Telephone Company in St. Johns, checks over some of the switching equipment with Wilson. The Fowler office has the capacity of 2,200 units, of which 800 are currently in service.

Stephen Wilson, test engineer for Automatic Electric Company, North Lake, Ill., was called in to set up part of the Fowler-Pewamo exchange operation for General Telephone Company. Here he displays some of the test circuits from the computer.

ST. JOHNS—General Telephone's first electronic central office, installed at a cost in excess of $975,000, will begin serving the communities of Fowler and Pewamo on December 1 and 2, it was announced today by W. F. Graef, district manager for the company.

A computer-controlled facility, the new central office will handle all local and long distance calls for the new combined Fowler-Pewamo exchange.

Graef said the major service improvements will include expansion of the area that may be called without toll charges and a reduction in the number of parties on rural lines to no more than four parties per line.

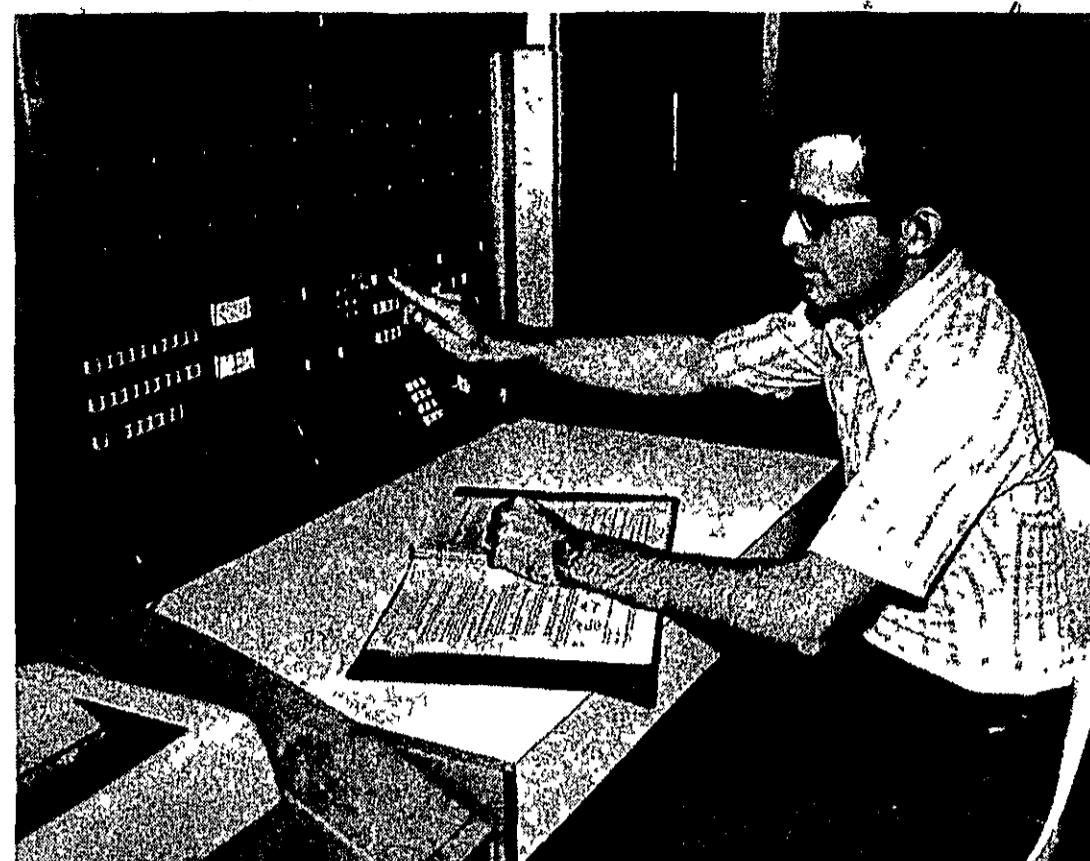

The latter will be known as "suburban service."

Code ringing will be eliminated by the electronic office and each telephone number will have its own individual ring. Dialing of long distance calls will also be simplified.

Instead of dialing "120" to place the direct distance dialed calls, customers will only have to dial the digit "1". Another new service that will become available is touch calling. Also known as pushbutton calling, the service will be offered at a slight increase in monthly telephone rates.

The base rate of the combined exchanges has been expanded to include an area 1/2 mile north and south of M-21 between the villages of Fowler and Pewamo. Graef explained that within a base rate area urban one- and two-party service is furnished without mileage charges. The new base rate area covers 6 1/2 square miles. Four-party service will be eliminated inside the new base rate area and customers in that area will be called after December 2 to determine if they want one- or two-party service.

General Telephone serves over 470,000 telephones in 538 Michigan communities located in 61 of the state's 83 counties.

ST. JOHNS—William A. Smith, French Road, St. Johns, a switchman for General Telephone, has recently completed a special study course on the function, operation, testing and maintenance of electronic telephone exchange equipment.

The specialized course attended by Smith is a part of General Telephone's continuing program to provide constantly improving service through well-trained, highly-skilled employees. He was among employee-trainees from all parts of the United States during the training session which was held at GTE Automatic Electric Incorporated, Northlake, Ill., a suburb of Chicago.

GTE Automatic Electric, Inc., the equipment manufacturer for GTE telephone companies, and General Telephone are both subsidiaries of General Telephone and Electronics Corporation.

Smith, who began with the company one and one-half years ago, and has also gained experience as an installer in that time, is currently engaged in the maintenance of central office telephone equipment.

He is a graduate of Rodney B. Wilson High School and a veteran of the U.S. Air Force.

This is Bernie Feldpausch Week

If ever there is formed a St. Johns area booster club, Bernie would have to be its first president for there are few who hold such optimism and support so readily the advantages of living and working in our community. As a businessman and area resident he has been very active in numerous civic projects ranging from youth groups to senior citizens. His untiring efforts have been inspiring to those working with him and this fact was recognized recently when Chamber of Commerce members selected him as outstanding member for 1971. We, too, at CNB&T add our appreciation for his community spirit by naming Bernie Feldpausch as our citizen of the week.

meet Jean Pardike, another of CNB&T's "gal Fridays"

MR. AND MRS. CARL PARDIKE

Jean Pardike is another of the "gal Fridays" around Clinton National. As an executive secretary she works closely with our top officers but it is not infrequent that she's asked to fill in or help out in other areas of the bank. These requests are always met with an engaging smile and a willing attitude . . . just two of the reasons she was named "Miss Clinton National" for 1969.

Jean completed her fifth year with the bank last August but only recently returned from a leave of absence taken in deference to Paula Lorene, who is now 3 1/2 months old. Her years with CNB&T have seen her in a number of duties including her work as a teller which brought to her the honors mentioned above. In addition Jean has completed two American Institute of Banking study courses and has maintained membership in the National Secretaries Assn.

Jean is a 1965 graduate of Rodney B. Wilson High School and later attended CMU. Husband Carl is a native of Rogers City, is a computer operator at MSU and shares in at least two of Jean's three hobbies which are sewing, remodeling their home and watching football.

Jean's station at the bank is on the newly remodeled second floor. It's a spot where - despite the newness - we thought an engaging smile was needed. Jean was the final touch.

We want representation

We noticed with some disappointment that U.S. Rep. Garry Brown (R-Kalamazoo), who represents most of Clinton County, did not see fit to name anyone from the Clinton area to his Service Academy Advisory Board.

office of civil defense, Kalamazoo County; Col. E.D. Howk, USAF, deputy commander, defense supply agency, defense logistics services center, Federal Center, Battle Creek; and Walter J. Jones, Jr., assistant director, civil defense office, Kalamazoo.

The board is scheduled to meet Friday and Saturday to pick 10 applicants for each vacancy at the four academies.

We think it would be more appropriate if a position on that board would be filled by a representative from Clinton County and another position for Eaton County. The current structure represents about 310,000 residents of the 416,000 residents in the Third District (Calhoun, Kalamazoo, Clinton, Eaton and Barry counties).

We would hope that next year, Clinton County will be represented in the selection process.

'Sell' the community

A strong, an active, and an enthusiastic Chamber of Commerce is the best and most effective way of "selling" your community. And it also has many advantages to the residents of the area.

without near 100 per cent participation, it sours and can cause the opposite effect a community may desire.

And perhaps the most discouraging aspect is the merchant who will not join the association of fellow business people, nor cooperate in special projects through the giving of ideas and time, but then comes in strongly to benefit by the labors of others.

For a merchant to be blind to the value of cooperative efforts in the business life of a community, indicates that he is oblivious to his own future which definitely will include the continued growth of big city competition.

Voters can quiz officials soon

By SEN. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

Michigan residents will have an opportunity within the next week to begin asking questions about Gov. Milliken's proposal to change the basic method of raising taxes and distributing money for the operation of our K-12 public schools.

districts now are willing to pay that amount in taxes. What will they say about having less money spent on their children's education?

On the other hand, if the per pupil allotment is to be raised uniformly to the $1,400 level, it will cost Michigan taxpayers an estimated billion in new taxes—which would probably come by increasing the present 3.9 per cent levy up to 9 per cent or 10 per cent. Do Michigan taxpayers want to pay that much more in income taxes just to be relieved of paying some property taxes?

The answers citizens get at these meetings and their reactions to them may well determine whether they ultimately throw out the present system of taxing property locally as the primary means of financing public school education.

Meanwhile, the physical petitions themselves will be in my hands (and the hands of State Representatives within my 30th Senatorial District) on Dec. 1. At that point, I plan to begin immediately coordinating a massive, broad-based petition drive to collect the signatures necessary to get this critically important question on the ballot in the November, 1972, General Election. To accomplish this, I desperately need the help of all my constituents. If you are interested in helping, please contact me immediately by writing me c/o The State Capitol, Lansing, Michigan 48902, or by phoning 373-2421 in Lansing.

MSU medical students to work in Lansing

LANSING—An affiliation agreement between Lansing General Hospital and Michigan State University was approved by the Michigan State University board of trustees at the November board meeting.

The agreement provides for students in Michigan State's College of Osteopathic Medicine to receive learning experiences from area practitioners as well as from university faculty. Besides expanding the medical education program at the hospital, the college will aid the hospital in providing more complete service to the Lansing community.

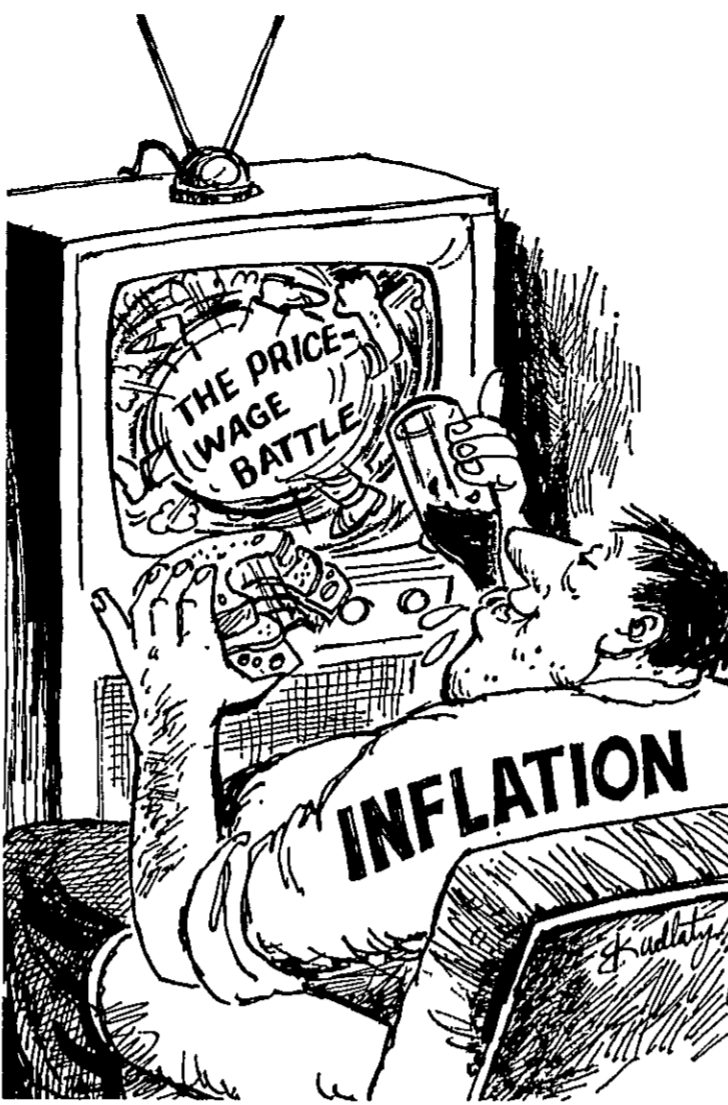

Dr. Myron S. Magen, dean of the College of Osteopathic Medicine, noted that "we want our students to learn what it is like to practice medicine in a community setting and we expect to develop a close and effective relationship with Lansing General Hospital."

Robert E. Miller, administrator of Lansing General, said the hospital is firmly committed to education. In addition to interns and residents, it trains students from the colleges of osteopathic medicine in Chicago, Des Moines, Kansas City, Kirksville and Philadelphia. The hospital is also affiliated with the nursing programs at Lansing Community College and MSU, Miller said.

"LOOKING AHEAD to eventual effects on patient care," Miller said, "many of those engaged in the teaching program may decide to remain in the Lansing area, thereby adding additional physicians for the area."

If you except to be popular you can't do just as you please.

25 Years Ago

Rev. Ray T. Caldwell, of St. Johns, was re-elected as chairman of the Clinton County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis at the unit's annual meeting at the Steel Hotel.

The annual "winter tax" rate for the city of St. Johns has been set at $22.70 per $1,000 valuation. The tax rate is $1.20 higher this year than last and city property owners will pay a total of 10 per cent more this year than a year ago.

Lloyd Atkinson was chosen to head the St. Johns Masonic Lodge for the coming year. He will succeed Worshipful Master Richard Harris.

And I remember several manly sergeants who often suffered from a morning sickness you wouldn't believe. A weekend in town would render them useless to the war effort until Wednesday, at least. But they were not discharged. They were put in charge of the recreation hall where they locked everyone out until they had slept their way back to health.

Obviously, there is no decent reason why a female soldier can't be granted maternity leave for, say, a month. Then it could be back to duty, the same as a male soldier returning from R & R in Hawaii.

Women's Lib should strike hard for Capt. Struck.

ALSO, SOMETHING should be done about female jockeys. A gross injustice was recently revealed in the case of John Bacon and his wife Mary. Both are jockeys. Both wanted to race at the Hazel Park Race Course.

But the track stewards ruled it is "against policy" to allow husband and wife to compete in the same race. This regulation is enforced at all tracks, it is feared the public would distrust the result of any race in which spouses were pitted against each other.

But get this. Brothers are allowed to race against each other. And sons are allowed to race against their fathers. It happens fairly often. The implication is clear. Two male jockeys can be trusted to race against each other, even if they are Siamese twins. But bring a female jockey into the family and all bets are off, call the cops. It that isn't discrimination I'll eat my NAACP membership card.

Mary Bacon is probably lucky she didn't show up at the track pregnant. They would have dragged her off her horse and shot her.

Onward and Upward, Women's Lib.

The Dream came true

By TIM YOUNKMAN

Some thought it was fantasy and to others it was very real. Thousands of families happened to catch the late evening Thanksgiving fare on CBS Television after the usual day long eating spree and TV football. It was quite a sobering production.

The CBS documentary, "But What If the Dream Comes True?" depicted a "model" American family that had realized much of the stuff of our American Dream. They had good looks, expensive clothes, fine house in an "upper class" Detroit suburb and had reached most of their goals in life.

The show portrayed them as, at first, happy and unaltered by success. What emerged later was an insecure struggle to hold on to the top of the hill—to keep clutching to the accomplished Dream.

The most fascinating moment in the entire production came near the end, when the head of the family, Sam Greenawalt, a highly successful bank executive in Detroit, examined some of his motives for moving the family from "fine house" in Birmingham to an even "finer" address in Bloomfield Hills. He didn't especially want to make the move but he was forced, in a way, by success to take that action. He had reached another level in the ladder of success—and had to step up whether he wanted to or not.

Sam Greenawalt and his family, once the show was aired, received an 18-hour steady stream of crank phone calls from neighbors and strangers, many of whom were also locked into the upper class, denouncing Greenawalt's attempt to explain his life for the cameras.

They were forced to retreat to the upper Michigan woodland where the family holds some land and a "second home" or cottage. No one was saying where that is located due to the seriousness of the harassment.

Some critics cried foul at CBS's version of the Greenawalt existence. Sam, himself, had said he came across as quite materialistic and shallow, although he felt their lives contained more than materialism and competition.

That part may be true, but he did display that facet of his life for the cameras—and viewers could not deny that much of the Greenawalt life style revolves around materialism and competition.

He was serious when he told viewers that the pressure of competition was one of the foundations of his family's success.

There was a small segment where the pressure was exerted on their son, Sanny, 11, who was being guided into the area's football program. Another showed the pressure of Mrs. Greenawalt as she struggled to solve her "identity crisis," as she put it. She had to climb back up the social ladder when Sam was transferred from his banking position in Grand Rapids to Detroit.

Part of the film dealt with the teenage problems in the sophisticated suburb. Many of the children had resorted to shoplifting and drugs to pass the time and put some "excitement" into their often boring lives. One of the Greenawalt children said she knew children who shoplifted and were on drugs. She added that she "might" try drugs in the future, depending on the pressure. She concluded that she probably would try drugs, unless the circumstances, which she did not discuss, changed.

In another segment, Greenawalt, alarmed that his children would grow up not knowing people of other races or beliefs, invited three black youths to his home for dinner.

One of the Greenawalt's teenage girls, expressed delight that they were "so cool." She noted that all of the kids at her school would welcome them to the school (where there are no blacks) because they were cool. One of the youths was dismayed because, he said, he wasn't cool and could not go to the white school and be himself. He would have to put on a show for the other high schoolers before he could be "accepted."

The production, while leaving out parts of life in Birmingham, portrayed the family accurately—although a stereotype image easily could be developed from viewing the show. It is obvious that the Greenawalts have more to their lives than they had indicated, but CBS did a good job in describing what had been at the root of their drive to the top and what type of pressure and life style it takes to keep the Dream, once it comes true.

'IF IT FITZ . . . How about a pregnant jockey?

By JIM FITZGERALD

A few thoughts about a couple of wronged women, God bless them. . .

The U.S. 9th Circuit Court of Appeals recently ruled there is "a compelling public interest in not having pregnant female soldiers in the military establishment."

As an army veteran, a member of the public, and a fan of Women's Lib, I protest this decision.

The court was ruling in the case of Capt. Susan Struck, "the first U.S. Air Force officer to give birth to a child while on active duty."

That sounds as if Capt. Struck delivered her baby while dropping bombs on Laos, which could hardly be the truth. I'm sure she went back to the barracks for the occasion and was probably, even late for reveille the next morning.

Anyway, the court decision means it's OK for the Air Force to discharge Capt. Struck simply because she got pregnant. That's not fair.

I've known male soldiers who were AWOL 9 months and weren't discharged. They were slightly incarcerated for a few months, and demoted. But they kept their jobs.

And I remember several manly sergeants who often suffered from a morning sickness you wouldn't believe. A weekend in town would render them useless to the war effort until Wednesday, at least. But they were not discharged. They were put in charge of the recreation hall where they locked everyone out until they had slept their way back to health.

Obviously, there is no decent reason why a female soldier can't be granted maternity leave for, say, a month. Then it could be back to duty, the same as a male soldier returning from R & R in Hawaii.

Women's Lib should strike hard for Capt. Struck.

ALSO, SOMETHING should be done about female jockeys. A gross injustice was recently revealed in the case of John Bacon and his wife Mary. Both are jockeys. Both wanted to race at the Hazel Park Race Course.

But the track stewards ruled it is "against policy" to allow husband and wife to compete in the same race. This regulation is enforced at all tracks, it is feared the public would distrust the result of any race in which spouses were pitted against each other.

But get this. Brothers are allowed to race against each other. And sons are allowed to race against their fathers. It happens fairly often.

The implication is clear. Two male jockeys can be trusted to race against each other, even if they are Siamese twins. But bring a female jockey into the family and all bets are off, call the cops. It that isn't discrimination I'll eat my NAACP membership card.

Mary Bacon is probably lucky she didn't show up at the track pregnant. They would have dragged her off her horse and shot her.

Onward and Upward, Women's Lib.

When U and I spell We

By WARREN E. DOBSON

There's lots of crazy spellers In the areas I know 'N some is worse'n others So statistics tend to show; But one curious combination Is the one we often see When U and I together Somehow spells out a "we."

The U is one or many The I has limits quite But U and I together Serve to multiply in might; The obstacles that lie ahead Are fearsome in degree But they shrink in size and number When U and I spell "we."

Most I's are pretty feeble Until U come along But U and I united Join strengths to make both strong; There is no able substitute The experts all agree For U and I together To join and spell a "we."

Rep. Douglas Trezise 87th District

Extent of emotion

When I joined several months ago with some 40 other Representatives in introducing a bill which would repeal the Michigan Teacher Tenure Act, I did it with the realization that it would not be a particularly popular move as far as the school teachers of the 87th District were concerned.

To many of the teachers, the Tenure Act is the only thing between them and their discharge at the whim and caprice of school administrators and school boards.

There could be some merit in all of these views. For that reason, I feel the Tenure Act as we know it should be repealed, but we should make another attempt at accomplishing the avowed objective of all three groups which is providing the best possible education for our children through high standards of competence and professionalism in the classroom.

The original Teacher Tenure Act was passed by the Legislature in 1937. Many of us can remember some of the restrictions that were placed on teachers during those days and can appreciate the need for some protection for teachers against demotion or discharge based on such things as their smoking or drinking habits outside of school and many other reasons not related to their classroom performance.

By legislative act in 1964, it became applicable to all school districts in the state. The Tenure Act provides basiically that, after serving a probationary period of two or three years (the third year only after unanimous action of the local school board), a teacher has tenure. Once tenure status is achieved that teacher will normally be permanently employed by the district as long as he wants or until retirement age, except for demotion or discharge for reasonable or just cause.

It provides that the charges for that discharge or demotion shall be in writing and submitted to the local board of education for action. The teacher affected may then request a hearing before the board of education and if the decision remains the same may appeal to the State Tenure Commission for a hearing. The decision of the State Tenure Commission is final and binding on both parties.

One of the sections of the law provides that a teacher cannot waive any of the rights or privileges granted him under the act through a contract or agreement with his school board.

There are other provisions of the act relating to probation periods, tenure of administrators and other procedural matters. It is noteworthy to me that, of the 16 cases decided by the Tenure Commission between January and early October of this year, 10 were based and decided on the basis of these procedural things rather than the issue of whether the teacher did a good job in the classroom.

In 1965, the Legislature enacted a significant piece of legislation affecting public employees in general. This was Act 379 of 1965 which granted public employees to organize unions and ostensibly restricted their right to strike. As a result of this legislation, teachers have banded into unions and negotiated contracts in practically every school district in the state. These contracts, in addition to establishing salary scales, include a grievance procedure for resolving disputes.

It is in these contracts that I feel the provisions for teacher job security belong. I feel that local administrators, local school board members and local teachers should sit down and develop standards of competence for local districts and provide for resolution of disputes concerning those standards right up to some form of arbitration in their contracts.

To be frank, we must acknowledge that the establishing of performance standards and the measurement of teacher performance against them is a very difficult problem. It is not like a factory where the quality of the output can be determined easily and used to measure whether the workman did a good job. The raw material going into the educational process is thousands of youngsters, each with a different personality and of varying mental ability and previous training. To evaluate the teacher solely on the basis of the scholastic performance of the student he turns out would be ridiculous.

But I am convinced that dedicated teachers, along with equally dedicated administrators and school board members, can develop a program. Such a program should include rewarding the exceptional, giving maximum job security to the capable and weeding out the incompetent.

The Teacher Tenure Act has not brought us closer to achieving this goal. In some cases it may well have been a deterrent to reaching that objective. Because that law prohibits a teacher from waiving or bargaining away any privileges he has under the act, it stands in the way of any collective bargaining which I feel could lead us to our goal.

Washington Reports

Rep. U.S. Garry Brown 3rd. Congressional Dist.

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Before breaking for the Thanksgiving Recess last week, the House passed the National Cancer Attack Act of 1971.

With this bill, the House committed itself to providing $1.5 billion over the next three years for the cancer fight, $400 million this year, $500 million next year, and $600 million the following year.

The legislation: -authorizes generous support of existing clinical research centers -establishes 15 new cancer research centers across the country -sets the National Cancer Institute budget apart from that of the parent organization, the National Institutes of Health -streamlines the Institute's administrative procedures -reestablishes cancer control programs to provide for testing for the early detection of cancer -sets up a three-man panel to monitor the program and report directly to the President on progress being made

THE NEED FOR such an effort was made clear in hearings and the floor debate.

Of the 200 million Americans now alive, 50 million will develop cancer at present rates of incidence and 34 million will die of cancer if better methods of prevention and treatment are not discovered.

Cancer deaths last year were eight times the number of American lives lost in six years of war in Vietnam, five and one-half times the number killed in U.S. automobile accidents, and greater than the number of Americans killed in battle in all four years of World War II.

While the need for such a program is clear, there are still differences on the approach to be taken. While the House bill provides independent budget authority but otherwise keeps the cancer attack effort within the National Institutes of Health, the Senate

More taxes

By REP. DICK ALLEN

Two cents more on Michigan's gas tax!

An increase from seven to nine cents a gallon seems likely if the transportation package currently before the Legislature becomes law.

Does this sound excessive? It does to me. But there is more than one way to look at it. For instance, the interest I pay on my car is more money per year than the gas tax. I'll bet it's the same with you. And they say the cost of an automatic transmission in depreciation and increased operational expense is more than gas tax.

PUT BLUNTLY, why should bankers receive more from auto operation than road builders? Or how come you're willing to pay more for the luxury of not shifting than for the safety, convenience, and economic advantages of good roads?

A Michigan Highway Needs Study Committee recently projected that motor vehicle miles would almost double in the next twenty years. This is a rather frightening prospect unless you are in the automobile or gasoline business. If it comes true, the two cents currently contemplated will be followed by more increases.

It is obvious some areas cannot stand a doubling. Over 50 per cent of the central business district of Detroit is already used up by roads and streets.

As a partial solution (many of us feel an inadequate one) to the urban problem, 5 cents of the increase will go for mass transit, including buses.

A CHANGE IN the distribution of funds properly recognizes that often county and local roads are in worse shape than our highway system. A slightly increased per cent of highway funds would go to local units of government at the expense of the State Highway Department.

Also included is a plan for regional airport authorities and expansion of the jurisdiction of the current Highway Department to cover the whole field as a Department of Transportation. I am not enthusiastic about the total package. But I know our rural areas need better roads. No one is going to help us solve this problem unless we consider theirs. So perhaps, begrudgingly, I'll support the total package.

Unless, of course, I hear differently from you. The following chart shows increases that could be expected for county road funds in our area under the presently considered plan. Clinton County, 1,124,000—this year, 1,347,000—next year, 223,000—Increase; Eaton County, 1,405,900—this year, 1,875,400—next year, 289,500—Increase; Gratiot County, 1,195,000—this year, 1,374,500—next year, 179,500—Increase; Midland County, 1,181,000—this year, 1,368,300—next year, 187,300—Increase.

Signup set with no extensions

Signup period for the 1972 Feed Grain Program will be Jan 17 through Feb. 25, and there will be no extension, Laurence J. Hart chairman of the Clinton County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee announced today.

The 1972 Feed Grain Program is designed to achieve a feed grain set-aside of at least 38 million acres, compared with 18.2 million acres this year.

With new options presented to farmers for 1972 the Secretary of Agriculture must have set-aside commitments by Feb. 25 to enable him to determine whether to accept farmer offers of optional set-aside if signup is short of the desired 38 million acres.

To do this it is imperative that we have an early signup. Farmers have from now until Jan. 17 to make their plans and to sign up within the allotted period, Hart indicated it is necessary to set-aside at least 38 million acres this coming year to help offset the record corn production of 1971.

Also, the basic goals of the 1972 Feed Grain Program are to give farmers more opportunity for decision making on their farms, and to protect and improve their incomes.

The 1972 Feed Grain Program will reduce carryover stocks, help keep our agricultural production in line with anticipated needs, and will encourage farmers to put greater reliance on the marketplace as the principal source of farm income.

If you plan to be out of state during Jan. 17 through Feb. 25, be sure to leave your address at the County ASCS Office, 100 S. Ottawa St., St. Johns.

Writing awards offered

Designed to encourage creativity and language skills in young people, the National Scholastic Creative Writing Awards Program offers cash prizes and certificates of merit to full-time students in grades 7 through 12 in the U.S. and its territories.

Canada, and U.S. sponsored schools abroad. Awards in ten classifications of fiction, non-fiction, poetry and drama are included in the program, which is sponsored by Hallmark Cards, Inc.

This year the opportunity to compete for three special awards will be open to students in the Senior Division (grades 10, 11, 12). A full scholarship to Scholastic International's six week study-travel program in Europe will be awarded to the senior high school student demonstrating outstanding creativity plus a special sensitivity to the realities of today's world. The Kenneth M. Gould Memorial Award of $100 will be given to the entrant whose work reflects superior ability in varied forms of creative writing.

A $1,000 scholarship will be granted by the A.K. Oliver-Scholastic Charitable Trust to the senior displaying outstanding writing ability and high academic standing.

All entries prepared in accordance with current rules and accompanied by official entry blanks will be considered by panels of nationally known authors and educators.

Rules booklets and entry blanks are available on request from Scholastic Creative Writing Awards, 50 West 44th Street, New York, N.Y. 10036.

The national closing date for entries is February 20, 1972.

Shepardsville

By LUCILLE SPENCER, Correspondent

Francis Ferden was in Pontiac on Saturday evening and attended the services at the First Brethren Church. The Midwestern Quartet from Wilmington, Ill. were featured singers. The November meeting of the Berean Circle of the Shepardsville WSCS met at the home of Mrs. Clare Alderman on Thursday evening, Nov. 18. There were eight present. It was voted to buy gifts for Christmas for those at the County Farm, Donna Hettlinger was in charge of the program. Her topic was "Living Through Change and Beyond Fear." Mrs. Doris Pollard gave the devotions. The meeting date was changed to Dec. 9, due to the holiday season and will be at the home of Mrs. Charles Swender with Edith Walker in charge of the program and Lucille Pellow the devotions. The rest of the evening was spent in conducting a Chinese auction which netted a nice profit for the circle. Light refreshments were served by the hostess.

4-H Chatter

Alan Cobb and Susan Striz were named today as the 1972 Clinton County Holstein Distinguished 4-H Members and will represent the county in the State Contest to be held in December. They will be honored at the County Holstein-Friesian Association meeting on Jan. 15.

Alan is a member of the Elsie 4 Corners 4-H Club completing his 8th year in 4-H club work. He owns five head of registered Holstein cattle and has been showing his animals for many years at the County 4-H Fair, the district and state Black and White Show and the State 4-H Dairy Show.

Besides caring for and showing his dairy animals at shows, Alan was a county delegate to the Michigan Milk Producers Association 4-H Marketing trip at Detroit and was selected as one of the seven 4-H'ers to represent Michigan at the National 4-H Dairy Show and World Dairy Expo at Madison, Wisconsin. He was a district 4-H Dairy Award winner also. Besides dairy, Alan has completed 4-H projects in poultry, handicraft, tractor, and been leader in 4-H.

He has served his local 4-H club as a club officer, Fair superintendent and committee chairman. He is also active in school sports and activities, FFA and church. This summer he was a delegate to Boys State from the Ovid-Elsie School. Alan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cobb of Elsie and is presently a senior at Ovid-Elsie High School.

Susan is a member of the Scattered Southeast 4-H Club and has completed 3 years of 4-H club work. She owns 2 registered Holstein heifers and has been quite active showing her animals at the County Fair, district and state Black and White Show, State 4-H Dairy Show and State Fair.

Two top honors with her animals came when her heifer was named Reserve All Michigan Junior Yearling in 1971 and All Michigan Junior Calf in 1970. Susan was a member of the county 4-H dairy judging team this summer which judged the top State 4-H Dairy Show. Besides dairy, Susan has taken projects in clothing, foods, flowers, first aid, home design and indoor gardening. She has served her club as secretary and news-reporter.

Susan is active in school activities, Jr. National Honor Society, Girl Scouts and church. Susan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Parker of Whitmore Lake and St. Johns and is presently a freshman at Whitmore Lake High School.

of their animals' accomplishments at the Leader Dog School For The Blind at Rochester. Two animals have been placed with their blind masters and the other two will be matched soon. Mr. Daniel Balog, committee man for the school and liaison representative for the 4-H club, took two more dogs down last week for acceptance by the school.

These dogs were trained by Cheryl Githner of Elsie and Luann Rummell of Ovid, Gay Desprez, representing the St. Johns Lions Club, spoke at the members about their accomplishments and worthwhile project. The St. Johns Lions Club has agreed to provide the veterinarian cost for the number of shots needed by the dogs for this project. November 28-December 4 is Leader Dog Week. Lori Webster received a five-week old white German Shepherd pup Monday evening to start her project.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Robertson of Bath who attended the meeting and announced they would be starting a new 4-H Leader Dog club at Bath this week.

THE MERRY MAKERS 4-H members have elected the following officers for the coming year: Kim Clark-President, Leisa Wardwell-Vice President

THE HAPPY HUSTLERS 4-H members voted to donate $10.00 to the 4-H program on the island of Grenada. The money will be sent as part of a county gift to the Grenada 4-H'ers. A committee of Patty Fox, Marion Kurucz, Wendy Brockmyre and Melody Vining was appointed to plan a tour or activity for the club. Mrs. Albert Schaefer announced the club will go skating on Thursday, January 20 as part

IN EVENT OF TIES, PRIZE WILL BE DIVIDED EQUALLY

Last Week's Winner... JEFF PRICE

Join in the fun! You can win $20 cash, paid by The Clinton County News each week to the person who guesses the most winners of the high school and college football games listed on this page. Shop the ads and read the rules to find out how you can cash in!

1. Read every ad on this page. An important game will be listed in each ad for your selection.
2. On a separate sheet of paper, write the name of each merchant on this page and after his name, the name of the team you select as the winner of the game listed in his ad. List in sequence 1 thru 16
3. Be sure and print your name and address plainly on your entry.
4. Mail your entry to Contest Editor, The Clinton County News, St. Johns, before 6 p.m. Friday or deliver it personally to The Clinton County News office before 5 p.m. Friday. Mail must be postmarked no later than 6 p.m. Friday.
5. Contest winners will be announced each week in The Clinton County News.
6. Only one entry per person is allowed.
7. Remember—Your guesses plus the names of the merchants, must be on a SEPARATE sheet of paper . . . not on this page.
8. See copy at left for tie breaker.

TIE BREAKER—Select the team you think will win...and estimate the total points you believe will be scored by BOTH teams.

Ballenger views signing

State Sen. William S. Ballenger (R-Ovid) was present last week when Gov. William G. Milliken signed into law three bills which the 30-year-old lawmaker either sponsored or co-sponsored.

One of the measures (Senate Bill 273) which Ballenger described as "an historic first step in Michigan toward broadening the base of political campaign fund-raising," will allow deductions of up to $50 annually from the state income tax for contributions to political parties or candidates.

Shepardsville

By Lucille Spencer

Both Circles of the Shepardsville WSCS will be meeting on Thursday December 9.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Green of Ovid were Thanksgiving dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Spencer.

A second bill (SB 617), of which Ballenger was the sole sponsor, would empower the State Department of Agriculture to quarantine farm animals which have been exposed to harmful drugs, food, or chemicals which

The choir and Church School of the Shepardsville United Methodist Church are busy practicing for the Christmas pageant which will be presented during the Worship service on Sunday morning, Dec. 19.

Oliver Darling of Darling's Hardware in Elsie surveys damages caused Saturday when a doe deer jumped thru his store window. The doe, upon losing her sense of direction, apparently saw her reflection in the window after being pursued by area hunters north of Elsie. Slight damage was caused to other merchandise after which she left via the same route.

Michigan has Ski quality

LANSING—We confess Michigan, does not have the majestic, sky-high peaks you'll find in the Alps or the Rockies, but we do have slopes, runs and trails that offer comparable thrills and exciting challenges to skiing enthusiasts, plus, some things the others do not have, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Michigan has the world's highest artificial ski jump at Pine Mountain Lodge in Iron Mountain, this year's host for the United States Olympic team try-outs, Michigan has the only ski flying hill in the western hemisphere, located north of Ironwood in the Upper Peninsula. The National Ski Hall of Fame is located at Ishpeming, where the National Ski Association was founded in 1904.

Famous Suicide Hill Ski Jump is there too, the site of annual competition among the world's top jumpers. Best of all, Michigan is greening the 1971-72 season with 73 developed sports areas with the welcome mat out for skiers of all ages, "first timers" to accomplished pros.

Michigan is also providing 126 authorized snowmobile areas this season for those who prefer skimming across the snow in a sit-down, motorized fashion. The majority of Michigan's state parks and recreation areas also have some areas open for snowmobiling. However, do check with the individual park managers for specific locations.

Making their grand openings this season will be two new sports areas—Adventure Mountain located at Mass, on M-26 about 18 miles southwest of Ontonagon in the Upper Peninsula; and Fun Valley, five miles north of Mio on County Road 612 in the eastern Lower Peninsula.

Adventure Mountain will offer snow sportsmen two downhill runs with one tow, a Chalet and cafeteria plus an ice rink and toboggan run. Their facilities will be open weekends and three nights under the lights.

Fun Valley will open with three slopes, a rope tow, snack bar and dining, featuring American and European plans. They've also provided a special area for snowmobilers and will be offering snow holiday package plans.

Many winter sports centers have been busy during the summer months making improvements and additions to their facilities. For example, skiers will find twenty-one new slopes, runs and trails, thirteen new chair lifts and tows.

In western Michigan, Thunder Mountain has added a new racing area and new rental chalets. When you go to Shanty Creek Lodge this year, be sure to pack your swim suit and take a dip in the new enclosed, heated pool. If you plan to try the slopes at Mount Mancelona, stow your gear in the camper and take advantage of their new trailer park.

Accommodation facilities have been expanded at Big Powderhorn, between Bessemer and Ironwood to lodge 500 guests. Nub's Nob, northeast of Harbor Springs has increased its space to 75 and Pine Mountain now has plenty of room for 120 guests.

Although skiing and snowmobiling top the list of Michigan's winter attractions, many other activities draw a large audience. Ice fishing, boating and skating have impressive fan clubs with tobogganing, dog sledding, snowshoe trail blazers and old-fashioned sleigh rides ranking well in popularity.

And, when your day of activity in Michigan's crisp, white outdoor winterland is over, you can join your snow-mates around a crackling fire for a "friendly cup" and conversation. Or, if you still have some energy left over, many areas offer dancing and entertainment.

Start planning your Michigan winter vacation now, it's the "red hot" season for fun. You've got 73 spots to choose from; 15 winter sports areas in the Upper Peninsula, 34 in West Michigan, 15 in East Michigan and 9 in Southeastern Michigan. For more detailed information, write the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing, Michigan 48926.

WATER TOWN CHARTER TOWNSHIP MINUTES

The November meeting called to order with all Board members present except Syver Thingstad who had asked to be excused. Also present Doris Rhoades, Jim Doll, Vaughn Montgomery and Eloise Ward from the Planning Commission, Jack Ryan, Commissioner Montgomery and later Mr. Al-Ashari, Mr. Ronald Garlock, Mr. Hugh Corrough from John Snell Co., Mr. Paul Thompson from Fishbeck Thompson and Carr, and Bruce Harlow.

Minutes of October meeting were approved after one correction due to a deletion from the tape recorder. Motion made by Paul Schaefer and supported by Edward Kraft that Water-town Charter Township spread one additional mill for operational over and above the allocated one mill. Motion carried.

Minutes of meeting held after Public Budget Hearing were approved.

Treasurer's report approved as submitted.

Commissioner Montgomery made a brief report on County meetings.

Mr. Hugh Corrough from John Snell Company presented costs involved relative to drawing up a zoning ordinance for our Township.

Bills were read and orders No. 211 thru 225 were drawn on the Contingent Account and Orders 31 and 32 were drawn on the Cemetery Account.

Mr. Al-Ashari asked to be allowed to present a plan he had drawn up for a restaurant and tavern he hoped to put in Water-town Township on Grand River Avenue.

Mr. Paul Thompson from Fishbeck, Thompson and Carr, presented their costs and information relative to drawing up a zoning ordinance for this Township.

Judge Corkin's opinion on the law suit filed against the Township Board by William Nicholas was read stating "No cause for action". Mr. Nicholas has filed with the Court of Appeals.

The resignation of Bruce Harlow as constable was accepted by the Board.

Two requests for a full year's tavern license were read to the Board. One request from Bruce Harlow for a tavern to be located in the village of Wacousta, and one from Ronald Garlock for a tavern to be located in Watertown Township. Both requests were tabled.

The matter of purchasing another voting machine for the 1972 elections was tabled until the December meeting.

Rollin Noble gave a report on our Workmen Compensation Insurance.

The installation of the dry hydrants at Wacousta and Francis Road Bridge was discussed briefly.

There being no further business, meeting adjourned. Mildred McDonough, Clerk Herman Openlander, Supervisor

The merry month

By HELEN MEACH
Extension Home Economist

This is the Month of Merry Christmas Ready or not it's here.

Often homemakers find themselves too hurried, rushed and tired to really capture the joy of this bright season. Some people never quite get organized and go through the season in a haze. Others plan ahead but put off acting and then have to abandon some good ideas for lack of time.

Then there are those who appear to turn out delectable dishes and decorations, enjoy every bit of company, conversation, children's activities and manage to look radiant and relaxed.

How do they do it? The trick is to think Christmas long before the spirit of the season is at hand. There is so much that can be done well in advance. Spreading out the necessities will keep you busy, but not nearly so rushed as the one who puts things off.

Get through the planning stage right now. Make calendar sheets for December with large blocks for each day. Then write in all the "things to do." Such work sheets help to keep the schedule of cleaning, cooking, shopping, card writing and decorating rolling smoothly.

Decide what parties and activities will be part of your family's celebrating. Except for the actual holidays themselves, the exact dates can be tentative. Check recipes and plan menus for these events. Look for some do-ahead-and-freeze ideas to lighten party day kitchen duties.

Also pencil in one or two "bulk" cooking days when you can cook a number of meal "mainstays" in advance. This "pantry" will provide interesting but quick dinners for shopping, decoration and card writing days when time runs short. Collective cooking has other advantages. It is time saving. While the ingredients and cookware are out for several dishes and baking needs, the "bare" shelves can be suds wiped, easily managing that cleaning chore.

Then use, wash and reuse utensils creating a multitude of meals, but requiring just one major cleanup. Also, with one splash and splatter cooking done, there will be less last minute mess so appliances and floor can be washed a few days before guest time.

With menus set, it is easy to decide what serving pieces will be needed. These can be culled for polishing and washing along with good china, silver and crystal while the necessities will keep you busy, but not nearly so rushed as the one who puts things off.

Organizing menus and recipes well ahead allows you to plan one or two big grocery shopping trips for staple and non-perishable items. This is a real time saver, too.

Make a gift shopping list early with names, sizes and tentative presents or general categories. Keep a copy of the list with you to take advantage of store features or hard-to-find discoveries while shopping in general. Shop by mail early; remember which gifts must be sent far away places. The Post Office urges early mailing of gift packages to insure Christmas delivery.

There will no doubt be a few odds and ends to buy as Christmas nears. If much is done ahead, however, you can enjoy the festivities, the sound of carolling and the store decorations. You will have time for fun with friends and family.

Fowler High School

Jim Wetmore is, now for sure, the meekest teacher at Fowler High School.

How do we know this? The F.H.A. (Future Homemakers of America) Club sponsored a "Meekest Teacher" contest, through the week of Nov. 15, and Mr. Wetmore won!

The F.H.A. members set the rules and this is how the contest went.

Starting Monday, Nov. 15, students placed their donations in containers, which had a verse and a picture on it, depicting each teacher's "meekest" personality.

Do teachers change when it comes to a contest like this? Well, we'll leave that up to you. A class collection of $7.60 was not enough to bribe one mean teacher into cancelling an assigned essay paper.

But again, the largest collection was taken by a teacher that charged his students 2¢ to leave the room, 1¢ to sharpen their pencil and so on.

The final runner-ups for the "Meekest Teacher" was, Jim Wetmore, first place, with $6.53 in donations, Gary Cline, second place, brought in $1.71 and Harvey Middleton, came in third place, with $1.35.

Altogether $18.59 was donated toward the F.H.A. contest. The girls will be using this money to send representatives to the State F.H.A. Convention, in the Spring.

Later next week Mr. Wetmore will be awarded a plaque at a school assembly.

TIP TO MOTORISTS

If you have plans for tomorrow, cut your speed on the car-packed highways of today.

Santa knows about safety

Every seasoned Santa knows that safety is a must for all children's toys.

When selecting toys for Christmas this year, look for durability, washability and quality construction along with educational and fun aspects.

Safety features are a must, especially for young children. Since little people tend to taste everything and any object may become a temporary teething ring, painted surfaces should be guaranteed non-toxic. Toys should be splinter- and shatter-proof-able to take the treatment they are likely to meet when a tot tries, tossing, dragging, rolling, jumping and pounding.

Smooth construction is important so that the youngster can't cut or scrape himself on too sharp edges. Examine a prospective purchase carefully to be sure it is well-sanded, edges are rounded, moving parts securely in place, seams and joints tight.

When selecting a toy for a baby or toddler, be sure that it is easy to grip and that there are no small parts that might be removed and swallowed. It is better to avoid metal toys until a child is old enough to have good muscle control and eye-motor perspective as well as be less likely to chew or hammer on the toy. Then choose heavy gauge metal with smoothly-turned edges. Thin metals are much more likely to bend and crack leaving razor-sharp jagged edges that will cut the unwary—or if rusty will cause serious trouble.

Toys that are highly durable and well constructed may cost a little more, but besides having built-in safety factors they usually perform well in the hand-me-down category. A little freshening up may be needed as one child outgrows the toy and a younger one eagerly takes it over.

Washability is important for all toys that may be involved in rough and tumble floor play. Blocks, small push/pull toys, cars and construction sets may be immersed in sudsy water and drained on clean towels. Larger or more intricate pieces can be suds sponged.

Children love to help with the washing and it starts them building good cleanliness habits. The longest-loved toys are those that invite imagination and creativity. Building blocks link creativity with dexterity training. There are many types to choose from in brightly colored wood or plastic. Toys that feature push or pull or put and take actions are popular with toddlers. Those to ride on are most wanted and used. Washable, child-sized furniture is a long wearing and sound investment. A child can do his "work" much better and more comfortably at table and chairs scaled to fit.

As a child grows, his individual personality helps determine choices. One youngster may be an inveterate builder creating whole cities of blocks and populating them with mini-cars; another may construct complicated toy cars, another may race them. Some little girls like to take on mommy roles. Washable dolls, doll clothes and dishes let them practice keep clean efforts. Both boys and girls may be tuned-in to arts and crafts work, delighting in projects featuring paint, colored pencils and pre-cut put-togethers.

The choices available are so great that well meaning Santas become confused in a toy department. However, much can be eliminated by keeping your checkpoints firmly in mind. The age and interests of the child, the learning skills provided by the toy, plus the construction, safety, sturdiness and washability of the toy should be your determining factors on any tour through Santa's workshop.

PRICE TAG

The age-old offer of something for nothing is a smoke-screen—it's a good time to figure the price will be too high.
