

2 injured in separate auto accidents

Clinton County
Two men were seriously injured in two separate automobile accidents on Clinton County roads last week.

Leslie Sanborn, 50, of Hubbardston was westbound on French Road when his vehicle ran off the roadway and struck a clump of trees. He was taken to Carson City Hospital on Aug. 18.

On Aug. 13, Russel Ranney, 41, of Laingsburg lost control of his vehicle on East Cutler Road near Hollister road and hit a tree stump. He was taken to Lansing General Hospital. He told Clinton County Sheriff's deputies he blacked out while driving.

During the past week, the Clinton County Sheriff's Department answered several complaints including:

—two reports of gasoline theft, one of 70 gallons from Industrial Parkway in Watertown Township, and another from Martin Aggregates on Gilson Road.

—the theft of railroad ties, cash, a silver buckle and other silver items taken from the Carrol Clark residence on Hyde Road.

—the larceny of a lawnmower and assorted shop tools from the Gertrude Brokaw residence on Grand River in Eagle.

—the theft of a canoe as reported by Walter Ashley of 10920 Chandler Rd.

On Aug. 16, deputies attempted to stop Steven Bearup, 18, of 11692 Blair Rd., Elsie for a traffic violation. However, the deputies were led on a chase by Bearup, the chase covering several miles of rural roads in Greenbush and Duplain townships.

Bearup was arrested on a misdemeanor warrant for a previous violation of fleeing and eluding one week earlier.

Also last week, the sheriff's department received several reports of obscene and/or nuisance phone calls.

Sheds broken into

Keith Coats, 13925 Upton Rd., reported a beer bottle was hurled through his plate glass window on Aug. 16.

Gun found, man charged

DeWitt Twp.

William J. Bowles, Turner Street, Lansing was taken into custody by DeWitt Township police officers after a shotgun was recovered from the front seat of his car.

Officers responded to a call at 8:50 p.m. Aug. 13 about a fight in front of the Min-a-Mart on US-27. The fight began following a minor traffic accident according to police reports.

Officers arrested Robert Gorden, 14872 Turner St., Lansing on four felony warrants. One was from Eaton County, two from Ingham County, one from Missaukee County and a four count fraud incident in Lansing. He was turned over to the Lansing police department.

Carol Schlager, Wood Road, Lansing, reported the theft of a nine foot boat valued at $200.

David Ott, 601 Meadowlawn and James Tingay, DeWitt both reported breaking and enterings of their residences. It is unknown at this time if anything had been taken from either home.

Eziekal Rameriz, Tucker Street, reported tools and a gas chain saw taken from his home. The items were valued at $200.

★ Selective enforcement

"Those people have seen enough accidents on that road—they know what can happen," he said.

The sheriff's department has an agreement with the Michigan State Police with regards to the patrol. The MSP also has a selective enforcement team, but they don't always have a sufficient number of cars in Clinton County to work the area according to Hufnagel.

The team also works on special requests from other police departments. For example, Bath Police Chief Gene Reno was having a problem with speeders on Clark Road. The road patrol was called in and on one weekend wrote 60 tickets with several arrests made for other traffic violations.

"Our men are not given a quota for tickets," Lt. Robert Ferry said. "It is up to the discretion of the officer whether he gives a ticket or a verbal warning."

Of the tickets written, about 60 percent are non-county residents. They are the travelers or commuting people for the most part. Some days one deputy will write only nine tickets and the next day he could write 19.

"They are slowing down on Francis Road," Nobis said.

"In fact it's getting to the point where I'm writing the same people twice."

One area the special team along with the regular deputies have hit hard is alcohol related traffic infractions. In Clinton County about 30 percent of all accidents are alcohol related. Hufnagel says this is much too high.

Arrests for drunk driving have gone from 28 in 1978 to 48 so far in 1979. Liquor inspections have jumped from 47 in 1978 to 141 in 1979. Citations for liquor law violations (open intoxicants, minor in possession) have increased from 21 to 83.

"We like to believe we are getting the drunk drivers off the road and slowing other motorists down," Hufnagel said. "When the speeds are down there is a correlation of less personal injury accidents too."

The radar units are calibrated (checked for accuracy) at the end of every shift. Officers are highly trained in the use of the radar units. They have also taken special classes and courses.

"If there is any doubt I just won't write a ticket," Nobis said. "Yet, I've written more tickets in the past three months than I have in the past four years."

Sheriff Hufnagel has expressed a concern of losing funds which will take men off the road patrol and back on regular shifts. When Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) funds are reduced there is a possibility of losing two people in January.

"Then we go right back where we started from," he concluded.

O-E building tennis courts

Elsie
After a lengthy discussion, the Ovid-Elsie Board of Education voted to build six tennis courts at the high school. The action came at the board's Aug. 13 meeting. Spartan Asphalt Company will install the tennis courts, with work to hopefully begin soon.
Also at the Aug. 13 meeting: —the board decided to sell the Carland School building. Bids will be taken. —tuition for non-district residents to attend Ovid-

Elsie schools during the 1979-80 school year was set at $200 for kindergarteners through sixth grade and $250 for students seventh through twelfth grade. The board used the formula provided by the Michigan Department of Education in determining the tuition fee.
—the board hired Marjorie Carey Kirinovic to teach first grade at North Elementary, Mary Jones to teach fourth grade at North Elementary and Susan Grieve to teach fourth grade at Bannister Elementary.

Clinton census takers needed

The Lansing office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESCC) is looking for 18 individuals to walk or drive a census beat for three to four weeks in Clinton County to compile address lists for use in the 1980 Census. announced MESCC Director S. Martin Taylor.
Census questionnaires will be sent to the addresses on these lists. Information obtained from the questionnaires will provide population estimates affecting requirements for Clinton neighborhood municipal services, alternative sites for schools and fire stations, proposed highways or mass transit systems, estimation of future tax revenues, establishment of voting district boundaries and amounts of money received from State and Federal services.
To insure that each household is included in the Census, the lists will be used following the April 1 Census Day to determine which households have not returned their completed questionnaires. Census-takers will be sent to these households to collect the information required on the census form.

These are temporary jobs, said Taylor, usually lasting three to four weeks. Applicants must be 18 or older, a U.S. citizen, have an automobile and pass a written test.
Workers will be paid on a per-address collected basis. For an eight-hour day, the average worker will earn $27 to $30 plus 29 cents per mile for any driving done in a private vehicle.
Applicants interested in registering for the examination, should phone the Lansing MESCC Job Service office at 373-3630 by Monday, Aug. 27. The office is located at 5015 S. Cedar and is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.
Clinton County's address collectors are part of a 1979 Census Bureau program involving 35,000 temporary workers nationwide compiling lists containing approximately 30 million addresses.

Music awards given

David Wiseman and Marie Lenon, two St. Johns musicians, have been awarded music scholarships from Michigan State University.

Scholarships were determined by audition and based on musicianship and proficiency on a major instrument. These music scholarships, which amount to $300 or more per year, draw much competition from incoming freshmen. Because funds are limited, only a few freshmen music students receive scholarships.

Although many students majoring in music have been trained through high school music programs, private lessons are an integral part of a serious music student's education.

Miss Lenon and Wiseman have both studied privately with MSU professors. Miss Lenon has been studying violin with Catherine Tait and Lyman Bodman. Wiseman, who began private study on the trumpet this year, studies with Byron Autrey.

Driving costs up

The cost of driving for Michigan motorists has increased $404 in the last year, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"It now costs state motorists 19.4 cents per mile to operate their cars, or 16 percent more than the 16.7 cents a mile in 1978," state Auto Club Touring Manager Joseph Ratke.

"For the motorist who drives 15,000 miles annually, operating expenses in 1979 will be $2,910 compared to $2,506 in 1978," said Ratke.

"A major reason for this year's increased cost is that gasoline prices have jumped more than 34 cents per gallon since January, 1978," he explained. "Also contributing to the higher operating costs are increased prices for new, American-made cars, car insurance and finance charges."

Data on the expense of owning and operating a motor vehicle are included in the 1979 edition of the AAA pamphlet, "Your Driving Costs."

Information, which was revised by Auto Club to reflect current Michigan gasoline prices, is based on a 1979 Chevrolet Malibu Classic four-door sedan with an eight-cylinder, 305 cubic-inch engine, standard accessories, automatic transmission, power steering, power disc brakes and radio, driven up to 15,000 miles per year and financed over a three-year period.

Insurance was calculated on a pleasure use category with the vehicle driven less than 10 miles to work and with no youthful driver.

Auto Club noted that for every 10 cents per gallon increase in gas prices, the per mile cost of running a car increased by one cent if the car delivers 10 miles per gallon, or one-half cent if the car gets 20 miles per gallon.

The 19.4-cent figure is computed on 7.4 cents a mile for variable costs (gas, oil and maintenance) and 12 cents a mile for fixed costs (insurance, depreciation, license fees and finance charges).

The pamphlet also shows that two persons going on vacation by automobile should plan on spending $29 a day for meals (not including alcoholic beverages and tips), $34 a day for lodging and $5 for gasoline and oil for every 100 miles of travel, with the car averaging 16 miles per gallon.

House built, money donated to M D telethon

St. Johns

As the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon nears, many groups are finding a myriad of ways to raise money to donate during the telethon Labor Day weekend.

Last Saturday, Aug. 18, a house was framed in and all the builders donated their wages to Muscular Dystrophy. It's a novel idea for raising money...lots of money.

Walter Eyke was the contractor on that house and Larry T. Schaefer, Inc. of DeWitt was the subcontractor. On Saturday the house was totally framed in, including the soffets and wood siding.

As Schaefer explained, this was the third year the men he employs have donated their time one Saturday afternoon and raised money for Muscular Dystrophy by building a house. The men will be taking the check to the local telethon headquarters on Labor Day weekend.

Around $2,650 will be donated during the telethon by the 22 men, contractor and the subcontractor's two daughters who worked on the house last Saturday from 7:15 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. The house is located on North Oakland Street in St. Johns.

Schaefer also mentioned that Esther Hendershot of Simon Realty bought the construction crew their lunch.

More emphasis put on health education

By Patrice Hornak Editor

St. Johns

More emphasis than ever is being put on patient education and physician-staff education at Clinton Memorial Hospital. It's a growing trend for hospitals across the nation.

At Clinton Memorial Hospital, the responsibility for education falls on the shoulders of Mrs. Kathryn Bangs who joined the Clinton Memorial staff on July 23.

She succeeds Karen Ledebuhr who is going to be teaching health education at Central Michigan University during the fall semester.

Mrs. Bangs' responsibilities include coordinating all of the educational activities involving hospital personnel. She assists the medical staff with their continuing education activities and she develops and evaluates patient education programs as well as conducts the orientation program for new hospital employees.

She also is responsible for maintaining the medical library and keeping the personnel informed of current resources and trends in the health field.

Mrs. Bangs received a registered nursing degree from Albert Einstein Medical Center in Philadelphia, Pa. and she also holds a bachelor of science degree in public health education from CMU.

Prior to coming to Clinton Memorial, she worked part-time with the Clinton County Intermediate School District's shared-time program. She had spent five years in this capacity, the last three while she was also attending classes at CMU.

She also was employed by Owosso Memorial Hospital for two years, from 1971-73; and she was in the Army Nurse Corps in California for two years. It was while she was in the Army Nurse Corps that she met her husband, Rex, who is also a nurse.

Mrs. Bangs and her family have been residents of St. Johns since 1970. Her husband is director of the substance abuse program at Oldsmobile in Lansing. She and her husband have two boys, Michael who is 10 and Stephen who is five.

As education coordinator at the hospital, Mrs. Bangs will be continuing a lot of the programs started by Miss Ledebuhr who was the first hospital-wide education coordinator at Clinton Memorial. Prior to Miss Ledebuhr's employment, the hospital's education fell under the nursing program and were aimed at the nurses primarily.

Mrs. Bangs hopes to start up the closed circuit television system for general health education subjects by the end of the year and she has new video tapes and books on order.

She interned as a health educator under Miss Ledebuhr for eight weeks in July and August of 1978.

CLINTON—EATON—INGHAM COUNTY RESIDENTS PUBLIC MEETING NOTICE

PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION IMPROVEMENTS
Here's your chance to review and speak up about proposed transportation improvements before they happen. Between 1980 and 1984 more than $226 million in transportation improvement projects have been proposed by agencies responsible for transportation needs: County road commissions, Lansing, East Lansing, CATA, the Capital Region Airport Authority, and the Michigan Department of Transportation.

On September 6, citizens will be able to take an in-depth look at these proposed improvement projects which deal with highways, transit, airports, bikeways, and streets. A public information meeting is being sponsored by the Tri-county Regional Planning Commission (TCRPC) at 7:30 p.m. at Long's Convention Center, 6810 S. Cedar in Lansing to discuss the draft 1980-84 Transportation Improvement Program with area residents. The TCRPC staff will be available at 6:30 p.m. to provide information.

Free copies of the Draft 1980-84 Transportation Improvement Program and further information are available by calling 487-9424.

Insurance hotline open for assistance

Clinton County residents can now call an "Insurance Information Hotline" when they need help in solving insurance problems.

The toll-free telephone number is 1-800-292-0712. It will be listed in the yellow pages of new area telephone directories, scheduled for distribution during November.

The service is designed to give consumers quick access to information on automobile and homeowners insurance, plus other property-casualty coverages. Residents can also get assistance when they have problems with their own insurance company.

The hotline is open five days a week, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

It is sponsored by Michigan Association of Insurance Companies (MAIC), a non-profit public affairs organization representing Michigan property-casualty insurers. The association is headquartered in Lansing.

According to MAIC president Terry Buckles, consumers most often call the hotline about no-fault car insurance. "There is still a great deal of confusion about no-fault coverage," he said. Inquiries about homeowners insurance, claim settlements and premium costs also rank high on the list.

If Hotline personnel can't provide information or solve a problem on the spot, they get in touch with the consumer's insurance company. "We have contacts with key people in the main or regional office of all property-casualty insurance companies," Buckles explained, "and can expedite handling of consumer inquiries." If there is a disagreement, the Hotline will ask the company to review and reconsider the matter.

The hotline doesn't sell insurance. "We don't even recommend which company someone should buy from, nor will we tell them what type of coverage to buy," Buckles continued.

Mother's March slated

Hells Canyon, which forms a part of the border between Oregon and Idaho, is the deepest gorge in North America. It drops 7,900 feet at its deepest point, enough to hold six Empire State Buildings stacked one on top of the other, the National Geographic Society says.

The Capitol Chapter-March of Dimes has set the date for their 1979 Mothers' March Against Birth Defects from Nov. 8-15 in the Ingham, Eaton, and Clinton County area.

"You don't have to be a mother to be concerned about the future of children everywhere," say campaign organizers. Birth defects strike 250,000 infants every year.

Anyone interested in volunteering for this year's campaign is encouraged to contact the Capitol Chapter-March of Dimes at 482-1249. "Your support is needed. Remember, birth defects are forever unless you help," they said.

Severely mentally impaired to remain at Beekman for now

By Patrice Hornak
Editor

Clinton County
School officials and the parents of 14 severely mentally impaired students from Clinton County reached an agreement Monday night, Aug. 20. They decided to work together and not rush into a newly proposed education program for the mentally impaired.

Approximately 50 parents attended the Clinton County Intermediate School District meeting Monday, concerned about a revamping of the severely mentally impaired curriculum.

New special education director for the intermediate district, Paul Tower, had proposed bringing the 14 severely mentally impaired students from Clinton County back from classes at the Beekman Center in Lansing to classrooms in the county.

Parents didn't object to the idea of having their children educated in the county, but they were skeptical about the lack of facilities and staff in Tower's proposed plan which was to be initiated in September.

The Intermediate school district board voted to establish a severely mentally impaired class in Clinton County but put no time period on converting from the Beekman Center. The board, the functioning parent advisory committee of the intermediate district, and parents of the 14 students involved, will be working on drawing up a program.

Students from Clinton County will not be allowed to attend the Beekman Center after 1984.

There are less desirable ways of exercising

If you've been following the Clinton County News during the past month, you probably have noticed a series of articles on jogging.

Now, newspaper writers tend to cover stories which interest them. However, in this case, I didn't have a true interest in jogging until I started writing the articles.

The Clinton County Substance Abuse Center and Clinton Memorial Hospital drew up a plan to get people to jog—a good, healthy exercise that builds your cardio-vascular system. They suggested an article on their jogging classes and since there was so much to cover about jogging, we decided to break the story up into little stories—make it a series.

Well, the first week, I wrote about when the jogging classes were going to start and just what they were going to entail. I also started jogging about 20 minutes three times a week, as was suggested in the booklet given me to aid me in my articles.

Now, I had tried jogging before and confess that I was doing it all wrong. I didn't know the difference between jogging and running. I tried to see how fast I could run instead of how long I could endure.

On my first jogging encounter, I felt tingling in my legs, side aches, and I was totally uncomfortable. But, the second time, I was amazed at my recovery. I honestly didn't feel half bad.

After the first week, I would run 1 1/2 miles without dying. After the second week, I got brave and started out on some new paths around the city. I would jog to the library or to a friend's house.

During the third week, I met a person who had been jogging for two years. Moreover, this person looked forward to jogging and felt like the day didn't start right unless she jogged.

I just finished week four and jogging is getting easier all the time I'm ready to graduate from 20 minutes to 30 minutes or more. There's a special kind of "good feeling" when you've reached a milestone. Instead of hoping the 20 minutes would go quickly, I'm looking forward to going 30 minutes.

Every editorial should have a message. So far I've just told about my experience. What I would like to say is that if I can do it, so can you. And the best part is, I think you'll like jogging.

There's a lot of truth to what joggers say about feeling better after they've jogged. You really don't feel exhausted. Rather, I'm usually more awake and raring to go after I've jogged.

It's a good exercise for your health. Heart attacks are more prevalent and keeping that heart in good working order should be everyone's concern.

Jogging also is a good family activity. My husband and I enjoy jogging together. If you can't talk while you jog, you're moving too fast.

I could tell you 10 more reasons why you should jog, but I'd rather say, get a good jogging book, read it and start your own program. You'll be glad you started.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Old is beautiful

Last Sunday's (Aug. 12) tabloid in the Lansing State Journal for "Newcomers to Lansing," there appeared an ad from five local businessmen stating, "Old and Beautiful—Welcome to St. Johns..." What a great recommendation for our lovely city with the "beautiful and old" architecture of main street and the many residential homes.

Hopefully, merchants and homeowners will keep in mind St. Johns' biggest asset, that "Old IS Beautiful" and when thinking change, stress RESTORATION instead of remodeling.

Personally I like hearing from a stranger when I tell them where I'm from. "Oh, you live in that beautiful tree shaded town with the lovely old homes and Victorian buildings." Let's keep hearing it!

For OLD AND BEAUTIFUL,
Catherine Rumbaugh

Thanks for the game

To the Editor:

A big "thanks" to June Durbin and Sally Biggs and the girls of the St. Johns All Star Softball Team for a great softball game against our Community Services Blue Shirt team, on Aug. 7.

The sportsmanship and playing ability of these girls were terrific. It's nice to see that the girls can enjoy themselves and still show team work and softball skills. The coaches have taught the girls two very important things: to try and do your best and have fun while doing it. This is nice to see when so many teams are stressing competition and winning at any cost.

So again, "Thanks St. Johns All Star team".
Sincerely,
Judy Parsons

people. There's a fine line between strange and interesting."

He said they made friends with the Mississippi barges, occasionally accepting lemonade and popsicles from the men on the barges. However, Osborne said the pleasure boats caused them more problems than the big barges. The barges would slow down so as not to cause the canoe to encounter waves caused by the big boats. On the other hand, Osborne said the pleasure boats would speed up next to the canoe and nearly send it for a flip.

They found the mighty Mississippi a "surprise". At times the river was calm and then the next moment they would encounter a whirlpool.

The weather was generally good, except for one continuous week of rain which caused the Mississippi to rise 7 feet. One night when they were sleeping on the river bank, the water rose and crept inside their tent. Osborne said it was good luck that they tied the canoe off every night. Otherwise they would have lost it for sure.

Temperatures averaged between 93-95 degrees.

The duo got back to St. Johns on Sunday, August 19. Osborne's father went down to Reserve, La. to pick the boys and their canoe up and return them to St. Johns.

Osborne is the son of Herb and JoAnne Osborne of 603 N. Ottawa St. and Maier is the son of Larry and Darlene Maier of 309 S. Lansing St.

SENIOR CITIZEN UPDATE

A new club

By Ruth Delo

Last fall I was invited, with several others, to spend a couple of days at the Richards cottage at Higgins Lake. The autumn colors were so beautiful at that time of year and when we went for several walks through the woods, it was a great sight to see.

The object of this "get together" was to bring out any ideas we might have for projects for our community. Many ideas were exchanged, some for senior citizens and many for other ages.

One of these ideas was from Ila Briggs and she did something about it! As she is alone, a widow, and so were some of her friends, she wanted to have a group with others who were alone. After visiting with the "Widow to Widow" club in Owosso, she and Olive Purtil, Marion Bellinger and Bill Richards from the CRV office, got together and got an organization under way.

There are many people of all ages who are alone, for one reason or another, and they need others who are living alone also.

"Singles Unlimited" was formed and met for the first time March 5 in the home economics room at St. Johns High School. There were 57 who attended, both men and women of different ages.

Hugh Banning was made director of this group and it is sponsored by the Osgood Funeral Home and the CRV office.

They have had several meetings and start them off with a potluck supper. Sometimes they have a speaker who speaks on a topic of interest to the group or some other kind of entertainment.

Everyone seems enthusiastic and feels as if this is a very good idea. One person, alone after the death of her husband, was on the verge of suicide. She heard about this group and called Ila. She has attended the meetings and says it has been a "life-saver."

So many people's biggest problem is loneliness. Money problems is another problem so many of us have to live with. It really helps to be with a group that has some of these same problems and interests. Talking it over really helps when someone else understands.

The best cures for loneliness are to keep busy, make friends, get out and find something to do, don't wait for the world to come to you. Being alone is a whole new ball game. The old routine is over. There are times when all of us who are alone feel like a fifth wheel. Come on and get together with other "fifth wheelers". You will be surprised how just getting together helps.

The person who has just recently found himself alone needs time to get used to this living alone. This is when friends can stand by and give their support. After this period of adjustment, a person needs to get on with the ordinary business of living. "Singles Unlimited" is what can help you at this point.

The next meeting will be Oct. 4 at Capitol Savings and Loan's community room with a potluck supper at 6:30 p.m.

The speaker will be Robert Purtil of Central National Bank. He will discuss financial problems with a question and answer period afterward.

If you have questions he would like them sent to him at the bank or to Ila Briggs (telephone 224-2498). Bring your questions with you.

Ar you alone? Call Ila. She will try to help you.

Do you have suggestions for future meetings? She would like to help get a young group started. Call her if you are interested.

So... until next time.

Young, Wallace, Levin

By Richard L. Milliman

TIME ONCE more for one of our infrequent strolls, barefoot among the potpourri...

After a couple of rather tumultuous years as United States Ambassador to the United Nations, the Hon. Andrew Young has resigned.

For the sake of the country, it's probably just as well.

Mr. Young has a surplus of fine qualities, most of which surface rather readily in a couple of his chosen fields, such as preaching and politics. But in diplomacy, he frequently comes up a bit short.

The reasons become rather obvious when you listen to one of Mr. Young's comments as he resigned. According to the papers, he told a group of reporters:

"I FIND IT'S very difficult to do the things I think are in the interest of the country and also maintain the standards of protocol and diplomacy you and many people in the nation make us adhere to," Young said.

"I guess, given the choice, I can best serve the country by asking President Carter if he would accept my resignation."

In other words, Mr. Young found it impossible to stay within accepted bounds in his diplomatic service; he couldn't (or wouldn't) play by the rules. What was good and effective in preaching and politics didn't necessarily fit in diplomacy.

Granted those terms, his departure is probably just as well for the sake of the country, as noted above. It's probably just as well for his own sake, too.

As for Mr. Carter's political sake...that's really irrelevant, given the international stakes that could be involved. Besides, the whole flap most likely won't make one whit of difference by election time.

GEORGE WALLACE—the man who would be President but never quite made it—caused a few heads to bob up recently. Consider these remarks to a university audience in Alabama, as reported recently in the press:

"I was for segregation....I was raised that way and I believed that way. I thought it was the best for both whites and blacks," Wallace told the students.

"But I was wrong. And when we lost the legal battles, we all saw that we were wrong. Those days are over, and they ought to be over. And anybody who wants it back ought to have their head examined."

George Wallace has always been a remarkable person, regardless of whether he turned you on or turned you off. This latest revelation of error on his part is no less remarkable, and he is to be commended not only for his change-of-direction, but also for spelling it out in public.

IT'S DOUBTFUL whether Mr. Wallace will ever mount an effective campaign for public office again. If he did, however, it would be mighty interesting to see whether his former backers would scurry away from the Wallace camp and back to the school door which many of them helped block....and whether his former critics, who based their opposition on Wallace's segregation stance, would forgive and forget and line up behind the former governor.

From a political standpoint, Wallace probably loses all the way around on his late admission of error; from a personal standpoint, he probably feels a whole lot better about the whole thing.

MICHIGAN'S NEW junior senator, the Hon. Carl Levin, apparently is taking what today's generation might call a laid-back approach to his duties in the nation's capital.

That's the impression I received from a recent senatorial press release from Levin's office, which began like this:

"WASHINGTON, D.C.—Back in his office, Carl Levin took a drink from a cold can of Stroh's and reflected on his day on the Senate floor. It had been a big day for the freshman Democratic senator from Michigan."

That's as far as the new-type individual proceeded. The release went into the file labeled:

"Press releases I never bothered to finish reading."

SAY CHEESE

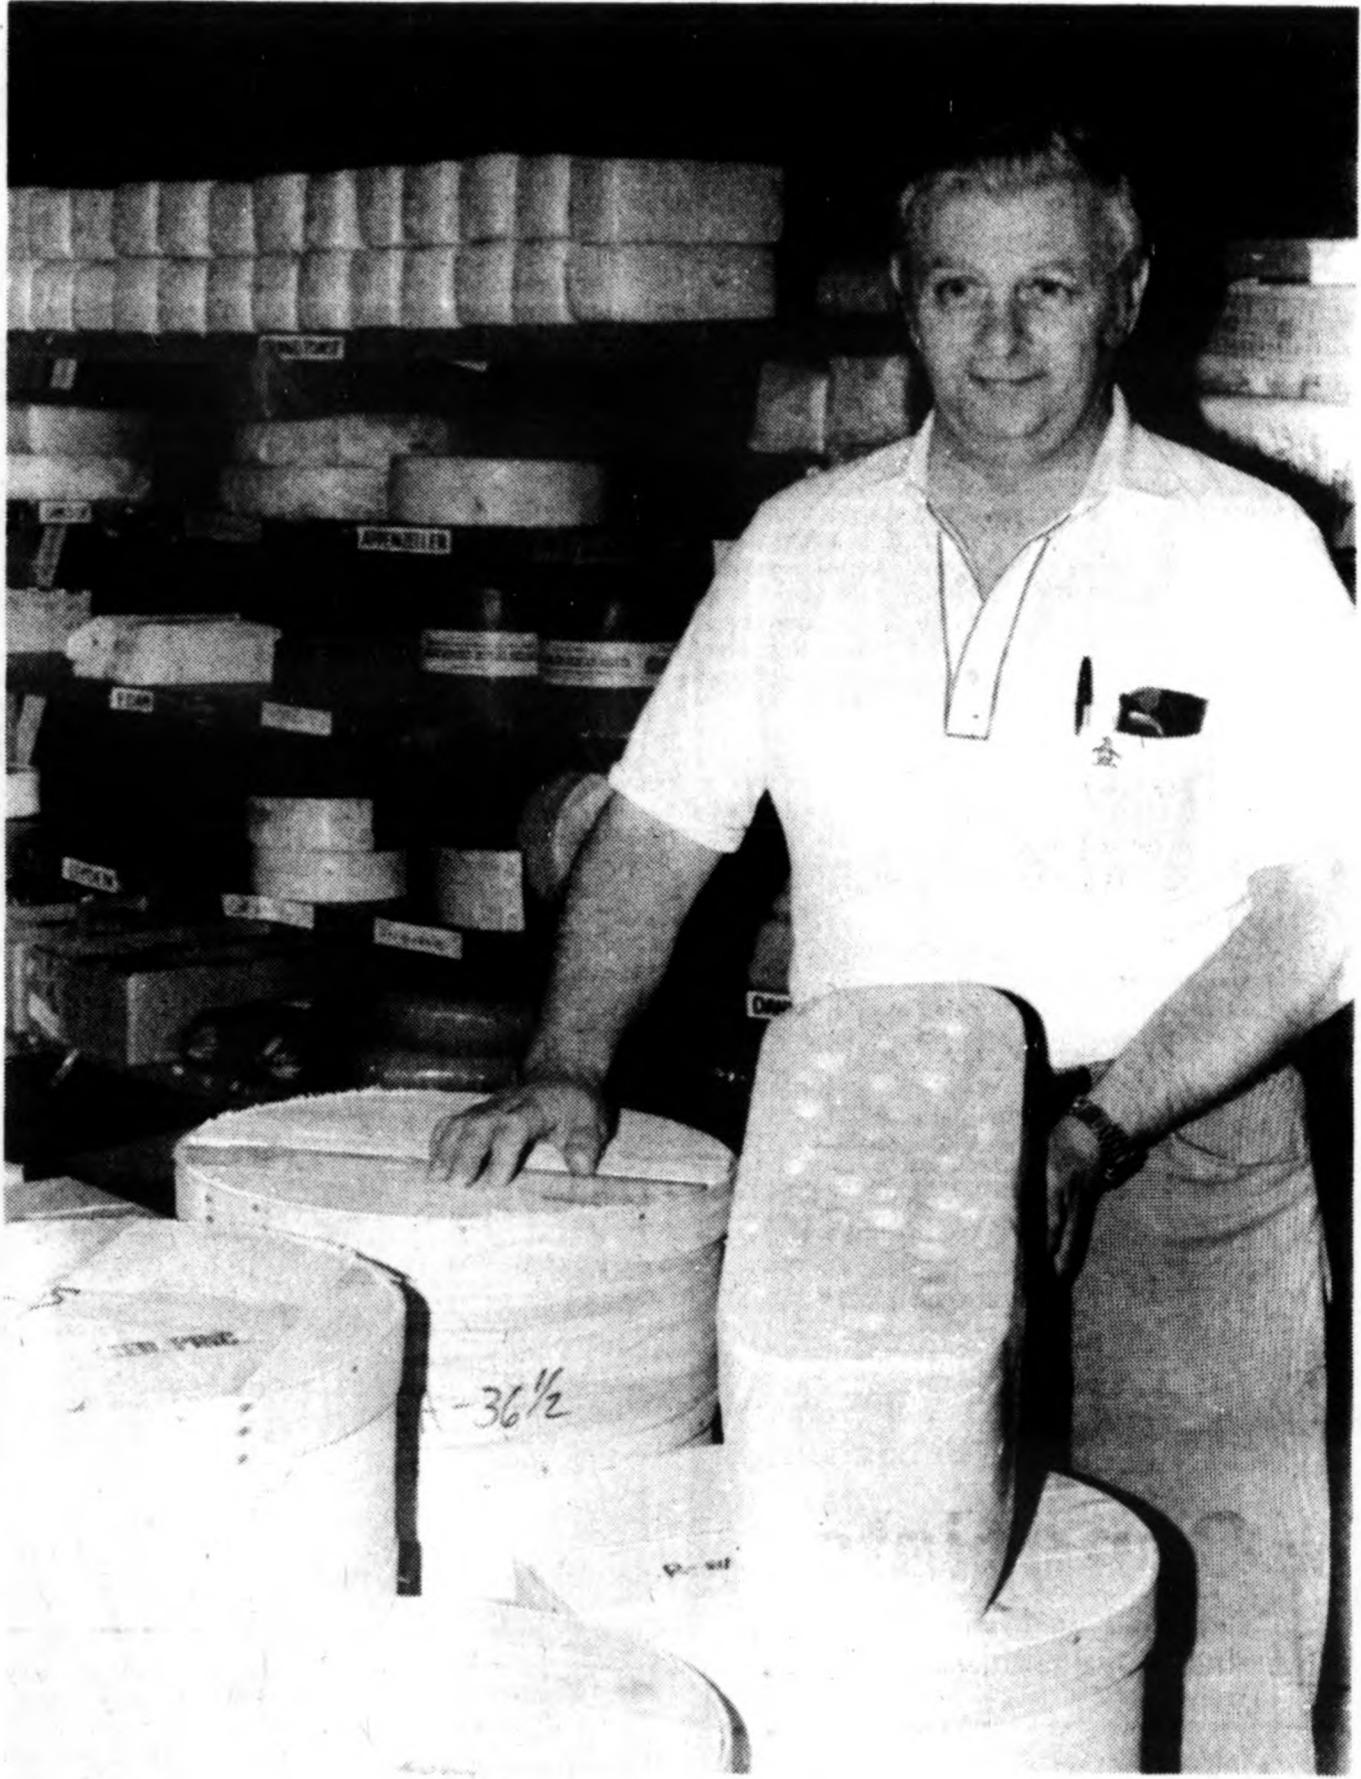

Customers smile at Herbruck's

The best cook

Making doughnuts is Grandma Herbruck's speciality and since no one has been able to duplicate them she comes over from her home next door to fry the crispy, tasty circles as

Maynard Bailey's personality cannot be separated from Herbruck's Cheese. He's found his place in the world, here in this family business that brings the world to St. Johns.

Cheese from every free country in the world that makes cheese; imported gourmet foods from manufacturers across the world; the products at Herbruck's rival shops anywhere between New York and Chicago.

Not only do Maynard Bailey's interesting and delicious products bring the world to St. Johns, so do his customers. Cars and campers filling the parking lot there bring travelers from everywhere.

Started here some 30 years ago with two saw horses, a plank and three rounds of Pinconning cheese, Herbruck's as a retail outlet was an extension of a butter and egg delivery business started by Esther Bailey's parents in the Flint area.

When the public responded enthusiastically to Harry Herbruck, Sr.'s first attempt at retailing cheese it was the beginning of a tradition that Maynard and Esther have tried to carry on.

"The reason we have 200 varieties of cheese is because people keep asking for more," Maynard explains.

There's a spirit of adventure in Maynard and that prompts a quick response when a customer starts him on a search for a particular product or cheese. "The minute they ask, I start the search," he said stressing that it is customer participation that makes the business fun.

A kindly and enthusiastic man he truly enjoys serving people, in the store, at the breakfast and lunch counter, cutting cheese or fixing a stalled car in the parking lot.

"We have built some of the finest friendships you can imagine, he said, referring to customers who never drive by without stopping to say hello. They have customers who expect a lemon pie every Sunday night when they stop in on their trek home from their cottage. They have customers who travel miles just to bring a friend by to "see" the cheese store.

A natural entrepreneur, Maynard has found much satisfaction in a personal business despite the long hours and hard work. He and Esther may not have a chance to vacation together but they work side by side seven days a week, 365 days a year from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. in the summer and from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. the rest of the year.

With them also is Mrs. Herbruck who lives next door at 82 years of age still makes the best doughnuts. The Baileys took the store over from her after Mr. Herbruck was killed in an automobile accident in 1968.

A philosopher of sorts, Maynard explains that his contact with the public has given him a renewed belief in people. "The United States is the greatest country in the world," he said, "and the small town atmosphere of St. Johns is the most comfortable of any place I've ever been."

A world traveler, Maynard has a strong belief in the United States. "There's unlimited opportunities out there for anyone with a good idea," he said. He frankly believes that young people have a better chance today than ever before. "This is a hope that we have to share with our young people," he said.

His natural curiosity and enthusiasm are what sent him off to night classes at Michigan State when he and Esther took over the store. There he learned to make chocolate cheese and after perfecting it to his own standards, started producing it here in St. Johns. Today it is shipped all over the country and Bailey hopes to soon start exporting it.

Herbruck's mean more than cheese and gourmet foods. It means quality, good service and friendliness. It means good hard work and family. Those are the things, Maynard Bailey and his wife and mother-in-law bring to the public every day.

FOOD PRESERVATION TIPS

Q. Do I need to have the gauge on my pressure canner tested?

A. Pressure canner gauges should be tested each year, prior to canning season. In the recent testing held at the Extension Office, over one third of the 50 gauges tested were inaccurate. Dial-type gauges, attached to the canner lid or the concentric circle weights are the kinds of gauges that require testing. Weights that have five, 10 and 15 pound openings do not need testing.

Q. My instruction booklet says that I can process two layers of pints in my pressure canner at one time, but doesn't say how.

A. Set the first layer of jars in the bottom of the canner as you normally would. To separate the second layer from the first layer, use the roasting rack that came with your canner, or a metal cooling rack that fits the shaped containers waste canner. Stagger the second layer of jars so they are not directly on top of jars in the bottom layer. Use the processing time for pints. It's probably a good idea to load and unload the canner on the range. The second layer could be a little unstable and if it were moved around too much, some breakage might occur.

Q. How long do I process green beans in a boiling water bath?

A. You don't! Green beans are low-acid vegetables and need processing in a pressure canner. Botulism spores produce their poisonous toxin in an environment that has low acid and no aid (a sealed quart of green beans processed in a boiling water bath is perfect). A temperature of 240 degrees Fahrenheit is necessary to destroy spores. The only way to produce that temperature is in a pressure canner. You can boil water from now until Christmas, and it will only reach 212 degrees Fahrenheit. Fruits, jams, jellies, pickles and tomatoes are the only foods that can be processed by the boiling water bath method.

Q. My neighbor didn't blanch the green beans she froze last summer—she said they tasted great. Now, I'm wondering if I need to blanch the vegetables I'm planning to freeze.

A. Your neighbor was either lucky, or she ate the green beans before they had a chance to develop off flavors and odors. Blanching vegetables before freezing (heating in boiling water for the recommended time, and then plunging into ice water) is necessary in order to halt the ripening process. Without blanching, vegetables will continue to mature in the freezer. Blanching can be done in your microwave oven. It doesn't save a lot of time, but it saves on the heat and steam in the kitchen. Call or write the Extension Service for a copy of the instructions.

Q. Is there anything I can freeze without blanching?

A. Yes. Fruits do not need to be blanched, and may be packed in light, medium or heavy sugar syrup. Onions and peppers will soon permeate all the food in your freezer.

Q. What containers are moisture-vapor proof?

A. The containers that are made of plastic (and designed for freezers), or plastic wraps and bags, aluminum foil and freezer paper are moisture-vapor proof. Consider space when you pack your freezer. Round-shaped containers waste more freezer space than square-shaped containers. (Draw a picture of circles close together and you can see how it works.) For more food preservation information, contact the Cooperative Extension Service's Family Living Education Program, 306 Elm St., St. Johns 48879 or phone 224-3288.

REDWINGS ON REVIEW

Red-White game set

St. Johns High School football teams will be on display this Friday, Aug. 24.

Parents, relatives and neighbors of the team are invited to the football field at 6 p.m. to take pictures of the freshman and junior varsity football squads and at 7 p.m. the varsity team will line up for pictures.

John Fitch from Fitch Photographic Studio will be taking individual pictures of the varsity team on this night also.

At 7:45 the varsity will break into two squads for the annual Red and White intrasquad scrimmage. This will provide area Redwing fans with a preview of the 1979 football season.

26 out for Redwing golf team

St. Johns

Twenty-six hopefuls turned out for the first golf practice according to Coach Mike Humphrey.

St. Johns will be fielding a strong veteran team with nine of last year's 10 starters returning. They will have six lettermen back headed by all-conference player Jeff Kemper. Other letter winners are Tom Teichert, Kathy Teichert, Paul Duguay, Brian Barrett and Rod Crowell.

Up from the JV's and battling for a starting job will be Craig Teidt, Jon Warren, Scott Shutes, Dean Mazzolini, Kevin Barrett and Mark Nurenberg.

Coach Humphrey also has a group of freshmen trying out, including John Thelen, Jim Thelen, Tod Vandervest, Doug Boak, Scott Rockafellow and Tim Thelen.

The Mid-Michigan B League will be playing under new rules this year, using six players on varsity and six on JV's which will allow two more players to take part.

Coach Humphrey feels that his team's biggest test will come from Alma, who is tough every year.

Here lies a Buckeye

When Rev. Dan Bowditch, pastor at the First Church of God, St. Johns, returned from his vacation, he found a surprise in his driveway. Someone, (obviously not an Ohio State fan) put a pile of stones and cross marker in his driveway. On the cross were written the words, "Here lies a poor Buckeye. Let him lie in peace." Rev. Bowditch is an ardent Buckeye and is proud that he graduated from the Big 10 school to the south. (Photo by Patrice Hornak)

Bath plans sidewalk sale

Bath Twp. Bath Township is readying for its first sidewalk sale. However, it's going to be much more than bargains offered by downtown merchants.

"We want to involve as much of the community as possible," Sandy Carter, spokesperson for the business group said. "There are a lot of services available that no one really knows about."

Church, school, and civic groups will be on hand with demonstrations, bake sales and a menagerie of all types of programs.

The event will be held Aug. 25 all day along Main Street.

"We hope this will be an annual event," Ms. Carter said. "Like we'll be starting a trend."

The Bath fire department will be washing down the streets and sidewalks in the township the night before. Merchants will be washing their windows and making sure their businesses are in top notch shape.

There will be people representing the county and township police forces, sports boosters, 4-H clubs, the Park Lake Improvement League, and people promoting the history of Bath.

A tour of an old bank in Bath will also be conducted. When the depression struck, the bank moved out overnight leaving many historical items.

A hot summer fire

By Patrice Hornak
Editor

St. Johns firefighters were kept on the run last Thursday, Aug. 16. No sooner had they returned from a grass fire near Eureka than they were called to a barn fire on the Wayne Bruin farm at 3768 E. Taft Rd.

The alarm sounded at 3:12 p.m. and it wasn't until 7:20 p.m. that the eight St. Johns firemen left the scene which totally destroyed one barn and another out building.

It was an intense fire. Firefighters were kept at a distance as the wood barn blazed out of control. They decided to save the other barn and directed their efforts at hosing down the remaining barn located almost adjacent to the burning barn. The Ovid Fire Department was called in to bring more water.

In the end, one barn was saved. Lost in the other barn, however, were three tractors, a grain wagon, and furniture stored in the loft.

St. Johns fire chief Clare Maier determined the cause of the blaze to be a trash pile which was burning in a pit about 50 yards from the barn. Maier said sparks blew over on the wood shingles of the barn and ignited the structure.

As I left the scene of the fire, a neighbor to the Bruins said the St. Johns Fire Department was to be praised in containing the fire. She said they arrived very quickly and did a good job to extinguish the fire.
