Lake Lansing dredging battle settled

By Sue Kiley
Staff Writer

Bath Twp.
It's settled.

The Lake Lansing dredging project proposed by Ingham County has been the subject of a long, hard bitter fight for Bath Township, but the war has been won in spite of the battle.

In an executive session during its regular board meeting, trustees voted to seek a settlement instead of another court battle of wits.

The settlement according to Supervisor Thomas Woodruff is that Ingham County will only use the one existing spoil site for its project and leave the other four sites alone. Any other spoil sites needed will be placed in Ingham County.

"We both still feel we are right on the law though," Woodruff said following the signing of the agreement Friday afternoon.

The existing site known as 14B cannot be expanded according to the agreement. Ingham County is responsible for the dikes to be graded, surface drainage restored to protect adjacent land uses, and be fertilized and seeded.

On the same day during earlier talks the Coleman Road Association also agreed to settle with Ingham County on basically the same grounds as the township.

Underground water adjacent to the spoil site will be monitored for the following: inorganic nitrogen, TKN, Ortho and total phosphorus, temperature, dissolved oxygen, iron chlorides, mercury and arsenic.

Samples will be taken weekly for the first three months at the site and monthly thereafter. Reports will be given to the Department of Natural Resources.

The township will be paid $7,500 for monitoring expenses. This helps defray the $12,000 the township used to fight the battle.

"It's a lot better than going to trial," Woodruff said about the settlement. "Because win or lose you still get nothing."

A 24 hour, seven day a week trouble line has also been established for anyone having problems with the spoil site in their neighborhood.

"We feel we did the best thing for township residents," the supervisor said. "In fact, we actually helped Ingham County by filing the suit. They saved money by being closer to the lake."

Water will be taken from the Balzer property in the southeastern corner of the township. Reports will be filed on a daily or weekly basis as such reports are compiled by Ingham County consultant's, Keck Consultants.

The township has already issued electrical line permits for the supplemental water supply wells.

The agreement was signed by the township's attorney, J. Richard Robinson, and Peter Cohl and Joseph Fink attorneys for Ingham County.

The issue began in May, and it didn't look like Bath Township had much of a chance. In this case however, patience and persistence paid off.

Business route desires torn two ways

By Patrice Hornak
Editor

St. Johns

It will be a while before St. Johns businessmen and residents on Parks Road find out if an additional entrance and exit from the planned US-27 down Parks Road will be a reality.

US-27 project planners, Wilbur Smith and Associates, won't make their recommendation until mid-November and from there the Michigan Department of Transportation board will have the final decision. Heaven knows when that decision will be made.

Last Tuesday evening, a public hearing on the business routes from the planned US-27 into St. Johns was held. About 60 persons attended the meeting at Rodney B. Wilson Junior High School.

There were two suggestions for the business route: one to have an exit-entrance at Parks Road south of the city, and the other to have the exit-entrance at Kinley Road, north of the city.

Businessmen, the St. Johns City Commission, the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce and the Clinton County Board of Commissioners have voted in favor of a Parks Road interchange. The county board vote, however came on a 6-5 tally.

Robert Henry of Wilbur Smith Associates, outlined four proposed business routes for St. Johns:

1--Alternative A carrying M-21 into the city and then out again at Kinley Road. This received a negative response from all those present at the hearing.

2--Alternative B would intersect the new US-27 with the present US-27 at Parks Road. The business route would begin at Parks and continue through to Kinley Road.

3--Alternative C would join the new US-27 and the present US-27 at Taft Road. No party spoke in favor of this route.

4--Alternative D would join the new US-27 with the present highway at Price Road. This intersection is already part of the plan. Support for this route basically came from residents of Parks Road.

Though those in the audience were told the public hearing was being held to give them "an opportunity to participate in the planning process," many were already convinced that the decision has already been made and the state would make Price Road the southern interchange for the business route.

Only last year hearings on which way the new US-27 would take when it got past St. Johns were held. Though the governmental civic organizations favored one route, the state highway board voted to take another route.

Halloween party beckons youngsters

St. Johns

Smith Hall will be transformed into a spook house, an arcade of games, and a cafe of tasty treats when the St. Johns Jaycees and Jaycettes hold their annual Halloween party Wednesday, Oct. 31 from 6:30-8:30 p.m.

Children ages three to 10 years old will be able to have a safe Halloween in a warm and festive atmosphere through the efforts of the Jaycees.

"We are responding to the needs of the community," Jaycee President John Berg said. "The idea for the party began when we became aware children are extremely susceptible to a variety of potential harm on Halloween night." Continuing Berg added, "The Jaycees are providing a controlled environment where candy and apples are purchased from reputable businesses."

Co-chairman of the project Ken Kralick noted there will be a judging contest for the funniest costume, the scariest person, the most unusual, and the best boy and girl costumes. The five winners will be awarded $5 each.

During the past 10 years the Jaycee-Jaycette Halloween party has grown. Last year there were nearly 400 children attending the event. This year over 500 children are expected.

About 25 Jaycees and Jaycettes help with supervision at the party. They are assisted by members of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes from St. Johns High School.

"Our major emphasis is to get the kids off the streets and also give them a good time," Kralick noted.

In looking at the trend over the past 10 years, Jaycee members have found the biggest turnout comes from children living in the country. In the 32 years the Jaycees have been in existence in St. Johns, the Halloween party is one of the newer projects but also one of the biggest.

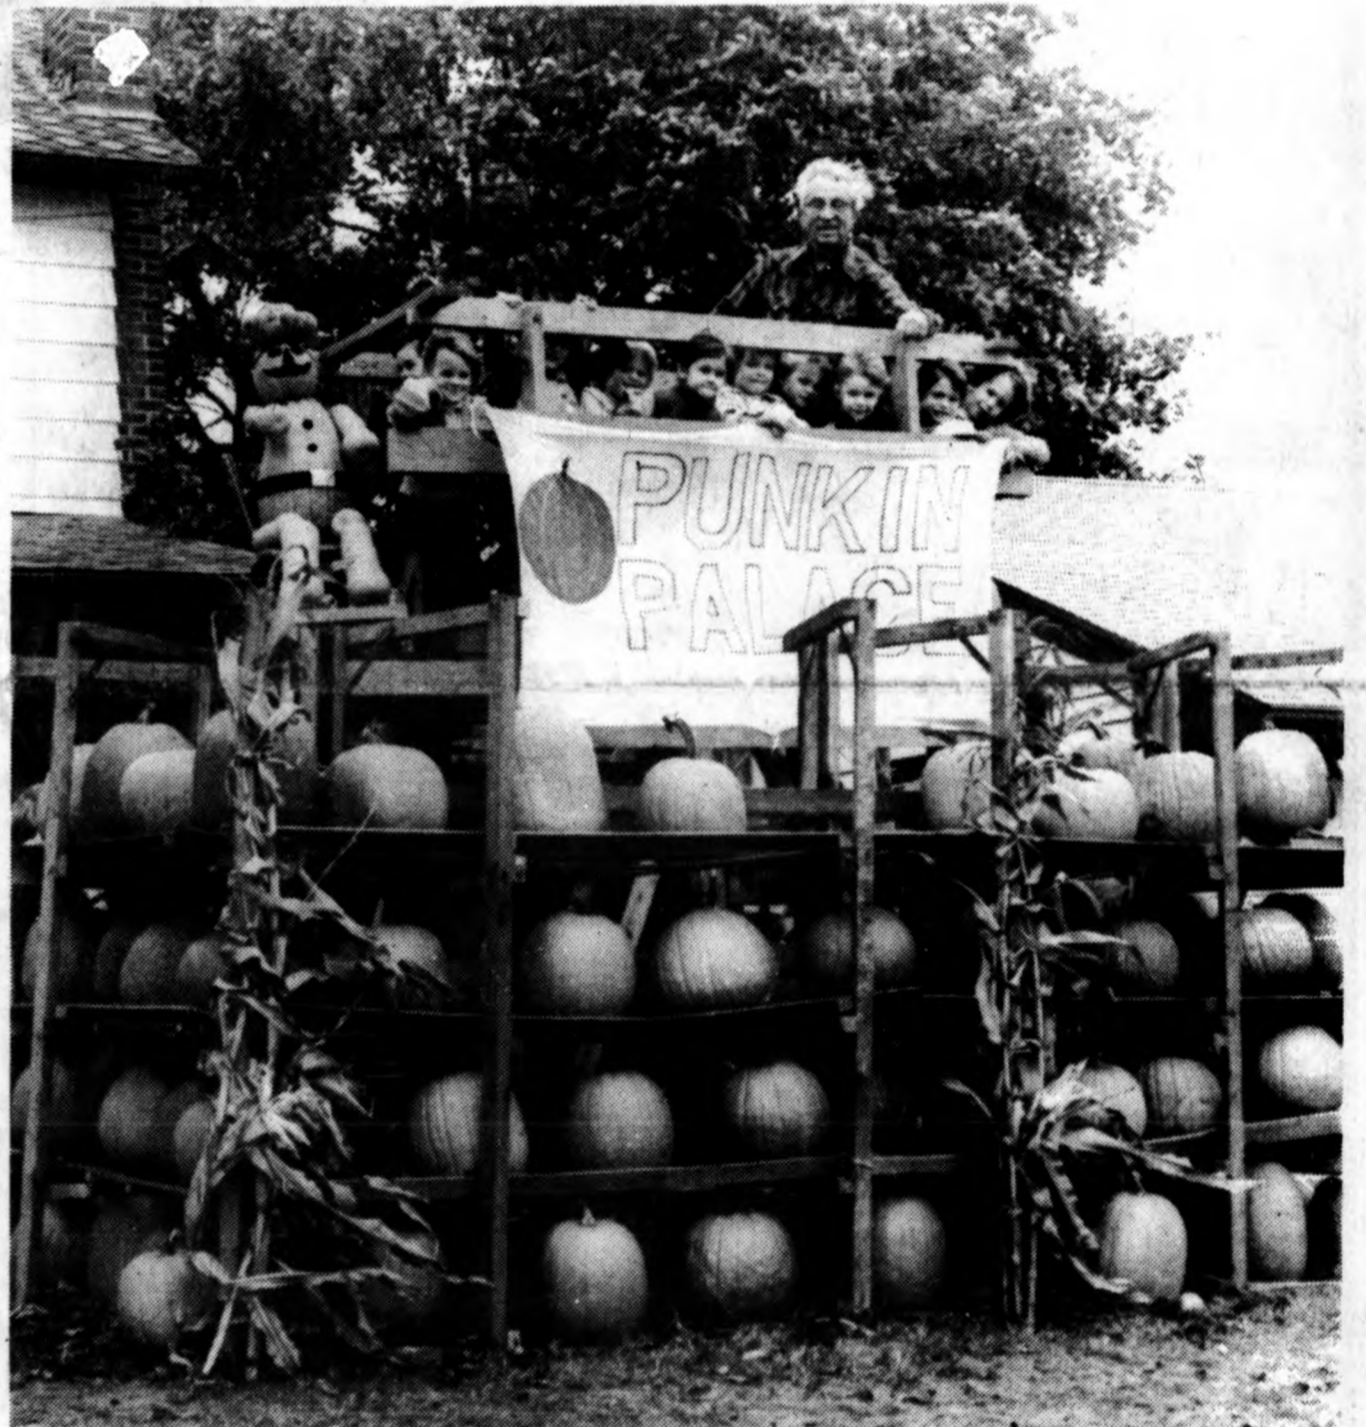

Three, four and five-year-olds have to be accompanied by parents.

In addition to the spook house complete with coffin and wild boar, over 20,000 pieces of candy will be given away. There will be orange drink, popcorn and donuts also. Games will include the bean bag toss, water balloon hit game and the sponge game to name a few.

It takes Jaycee and Jaycette members two nights to set up all the tables, games and decorations in preparation for all the ghosts, goblins and robots entering Smith Hall.

Co-chairperson of the party are Vicki Kralick and Diane Western of the Jaycettes and Glen Durfee of the Jaycees.

Kralick noted the group is still seeking any kinds of donations for the project. Anyone wishing to contribute should contact Kralick at Capitol Savings and Loan or Mrs. Kralick at 224-4787.

Punkin Palace

The Great Pumpkin must have visited the Warren Dobson home with friends this year as children from the Lad and Lassie Nursery School in Lansing can tell you after seeing the "DeWitt Township Pumpkin Palace." In spite of some obstacles, like Mrs. Dobson suffering from a stroke, the "show went on" for area school children, with the help of Dobson's daughter Elaine and grandson Ken Scovill. The children climbed to the top of the "Palace" with Dobson as their guide. He showed them where the pumpkins grow and only charged a quarter for them to have their very own Halloween treat. The children also got to play in the hayloft, visit with the farm animals and learn how potatoes and corn are grown. A poem about the "Pumpkin Palace" written by Dobson can be seen on the Editorial Page. (Photo by Sue Kiley)

CETA doesn't look bright; 1979 a year of 'drastic change'

By Sue Kiley
Staff Writer

Clinton County

Jobs, jobs, who'll get the jobs? And yet another question, just what are they worth?

These are just a few of the questions government officials have been asking themselves since the new Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) guidelines went into effect Oct. 1.

"1979 was a year of drastic change," Tom Chatel, director of the CETA program said with regard to the new rules and regulations instituted by the federal government. "The principal impact however, is going to be during this fiscal year."

Chatel explained two basic reasons for the severe impact on the job situation which is not only affecting Clinton County but the entire country.

The first reason is a 46 percent decrease in public service employment funds. They second is the new CETA regulations which requires the average per title county wide to be $8,500. Prior to this time the average wage in Clinton County was between $9,300 and $9,400.

About two years the county had far more money than it had requests. However, this picture changed in 1979 when the county had an excess of requests and not enough money. Chatel did say that they were able to fund a vast majority of the projects in spite of this. In the fiscal year 1980 his office has received even more requests.

One of the stiffer eligibility requirements placed on the county has been the length of time needed for an employee to be out of work before he was hired with CETA funds. Previously the prospective job applicant only had to be unemployed for 30 days. Now in 1980 a person has to be unemployed for 12 weeks or three times as long and be economically disadvantaged.

"This brings about an obvious impact," Chatel explained. "First it means that high level positions are becoming increasingly impractical."

He noted it was becoming very difficult to hire people. He added the hardest hit group of employees in Clinton County was police officers. The average wage for a Clinton

Mental Health sees 10 year growth in county

Attends conference

The Michigan Society Daughters of 1812 held their annual state luncheon last week at Village Women's Club, Bloomfield Hills.

Plans for the 1980 State Council, to be held May 13 and 14, 1980 at Kellogg Center, East Lansing were discussed. Maralyse Brooks of St. Johns is general chairman. Hopefully, the national president will be the guest of honor.

years ago, to discover that Clinton County had the need for a full time community mental health service.

Within two weeks in 1969 the service which was to be a satellite one person, two-days-a-week extension of the Ingham County Community Mental Health Board grew to a full time five-day-a-week program. Director Thomas Sherby, M.S.W., said the program "started with a bang." Some 30 families were served the first month and the program continued to grow.

Today the service has expanded to include a substance abuse treatment and prevention program and a special day treatment program. The staff of 20 includes two consultants, one of whom is a psychiatrist. It operates as part of the tri-county community mental health services which serve Clinton, Eaton and Ingham counties.

Friday, Nov. 2 the staff will host an open house from 2-6 p.m. at the Counseling Center, 300 E. Sturgis Street. The public is invited to tour the facilities, ask questions and meet the staff. Refreshments will be served.

Sherby, proud of the program and its growth, said that 4,000 households and nearly 9,000 individuals have been served since 1969. Satisfaction surveys indicate that 80 percent feel they were helped by their work at the center.

The credit goes to the clients themselves, Sherby said. "It's the clients that do the hard part," he informed.

The success of a counseling program depends on the individual client, his involvement and willingness to help himself. "These 10 years reflect all the hard work that clients have put into making their lives better," he said.

The county mental health service is made up of three separate programs. The counseling service was developed first, in 1969 and offers outpatient service to individuals, couples and families. People of all ages seek help with personal, marital and family problems.

In 1975 the Substance Abuse and Information and Counseling Center was formed using office space in the same building. Patient counseling centers around persons with drinking and drug related problems serving them and/or members of their families.

The third program, started in 1977, is the Day Treatment Center which operates out of a house on North Spring Street. Here, day activities are planned to help persons increase communication and socialization skills.

Specific activities help these clients deal with emotional problems, adjust to community living and gain responsibility for themselves through goal orientation. About a third of the clients have been hospitalized for mental health problems and the day treatment helps them adjust to a place in society again.

Fees for all three programs are based on the ability to pay. If a client cannot pay, there is no charge. Sherby said that today many kinds of health insurance programs cover all or part of counseling service.

Marital and family problems are the two most frequently dealt with at the center. Sherby said that there is a high incidence of families breaking up nationally and that Clinton County is not immune.

"Fortunately a number of people come to try to save their marriages," he said, "or to manage their divorce in the least destructive and disruptive way for themselves and their children."

Depression is another frequent problem. Sometimes its causes are apparent and other times more difficult to identify," he said. "When it deals with suicidal tendencies or attempts we try to give the case special attention," Sherby explained. A physician on the staff can prescribe medication for people who suffer from depression. Sherby said the center tends to be conservative in this use.

Parent-child issues are another area of counseling. Most of these deal with communication problems, Sherby indicated. When a child is misbehaving and becoming disruptive at home and school, parents often don't know why so they seek help. Sherby said that often a child's difficulties can be traced back to difficulties between husband and wife. "More often than not a child's problems involve the parents' relationship with each other," he said.

Sometimes parents are having problems with being parents, Sherby said. Their own upbringing may not have been constructive or healthy and they became parents themselves without a good model to follow. In these cases the counselor works at improving parenting skills.

Those counseled through the substance abuse center often have the same problems but have sought to use alcohol or drugs to solve them, Sarah Gorman, prevention educator with the Clinton County program, said that drugs and alcohol add another dimension to problems and trying to cope.

"By far the most problems here are alcohol related rather than drugs," Ms. Gorman said. In this area drinking is almost an invisible norm. "People tend to drink, a lot for social reasons," she said, "and often it is not recognized as a problem."

All age groups are touched by substance abuse, Ms. Gorman related. Prevention is an important part of the abuse center's work. "We are really beefing up these services," Ms. Gorman said. The center's belief is that alcohol and drugs are abused because people don't feel good about themselves. Teacher and community training is aimed toward promotion of healthier ways of dealing with stress.

officer is $11,000. Instead of the Clinton County Board of Commissioners deciding on who would get what in the way of jobs, it was easier to let the sub-units decide what was most important. The smaller units of government in turn knew they couldn't have everything that they wanted.

The commissioners also went to non-profit groups such as the Community Resource Volunteers (CRV), Big Brothers/Big Sisters, and various schools. Everyone knew how much money they had to work with, and the ball was carried from this point.

"People really bit the bullet," Chatel said. When the new guidelines went into effect 55 jobs were terminated. Of that number 23 people found full-time employment or about 50 percent.

"Our rate of people finding jobs is a lot higher than many other places throughout the state," Chatel added. The new CETA regulations place a higher emphasis on training.

"The commissioners did the most equitable and fair job they could with what they had," Chatel said praising the group. "They used the whole summer to talk and even though CETA has drastically changed they found there are still valuable services to be gained."

He added no one was in an easy position and some municipalities made some "real" sacrifices.

This year the county has $650,000 of CETA money to work with as compared to $1.2 million received last year. DeWitt City was hardest hit in its police department according to Jim Spalding, administrative aide. The city lost the school liaison officer, a DPW person, one police officer and a developmental planner. In total, however only two positions were lost because two secretaries were hired, a police officer and one DPW person.

"We were hardest hit because of the size of department and still trying to maintain a 24 hour department with four fulltime officers," Chief Wendell Meyers said.

Because of Fraternal Order of Police negotiations and the maximum rate of pay for CETA the city may stand the chance of losing yet another police officer in the near future.

"We're really in a bind now," the chief said. "I've been using a lot more part-time people."

DeWitt Township on the other hand is not in a really bad position according to Supervisor Catherine Reed.

"We've been fortunate to secure the people we really needed," she said.

The building and zone person was picked up by the township's general fund. The salary guideline was impossible to keep as the administration makes between $18,000 and $20,000.

"We were prepared for this however," Mrs. Reed said. The DeWitt Township police department was also hard hit, but there is hope for another dispatcher and a crime prevention officer.

Bath Township lost three police officers on Sept. 30. However, they were able to pick up two and only have to lay off one until Jan. 1 when a special two mills goes into effect for police and fire.

"For the wages it is hard to get policemen," Supervisor Tom Woodruff said.

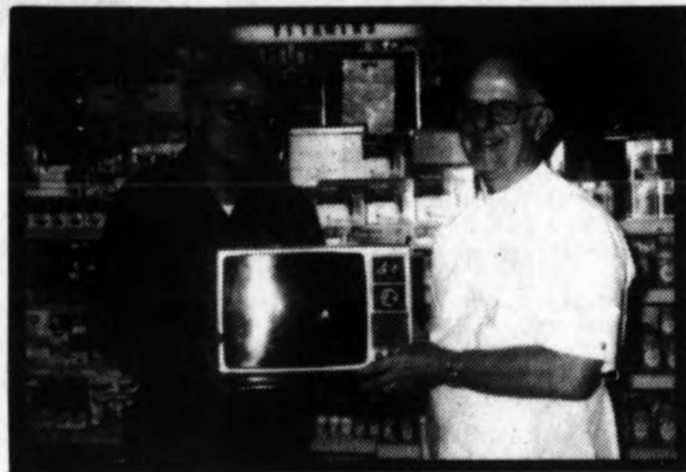

Woodruff said it is hard to get people to work for $3.25. He will however, be able to use men on the salt crews for a five month period for those wages.

"You have to lower the average wage to get one above that," Woodruff added. "How can a person with a family live on $8,467?"

According to governmental figures last year it took $19,000 to maintain a moderate standard of living. It took $11,546 for a family of four to maintain a lower standard of living.

We have become a society dependent upon government funded programs. The cutback has taken its toll and it might be a long, long time before everyone recovers.

Nursing home campaign dinner set

St. Johns

A community dinner marking the opening of the public phase of Clinton Area Care Center Building fund campaign will be held on Tuesday night, Nov. 13, announced Charles Coletta and Anthony Kuntz, campaign chairmen.

The dinner is scheduled for the St. Johns High School cafeteria at 6:30 p.m.

Kuntz said that invitations to the event are being prepared at this time and that the care center will host a cross-section of guests from throughout the service area.

"We are delighted to have this opportunity to share with the people of this area an accurate picture of how we can acquire the facilities we need and what it will mean to this entire area," said Coletta. "There is a tremendous amount of interest in the program through the area, and I anticipate an excellent response to the invitation," he added.

The building program is a result of an extensive survey into the needs of this section of the state. That survey revealed a severe shortage of beds for aged care and nursing care which in turn opened the way for approval of the planned Clinton Area Care Center.

The building fund campaign is an outgrowth of realistic efforts to finance the construction and equipment costs. Although major funding is expected through an FHA loan, $600,000 is needed from volunteer gifts and pledges—a measure of community support before the loan can be obtained.

An invitation to consider sharing the funds drive effort through pledges of three to five years will be presented to individuals, businesses, and organizations during the course of the campaign. Gifts of appreciated securities and property may make up the pledge gift. All such gifts are tax deductible.

Kuntz said that other details of the community dinner would be released in the next few weeks.

Bath sets $2,126,854 budget; names assistant principal

By Sharon Randall
Staff Writer

Bath

Crossing their fingers that the state legislature will come up with additional funds to make up part of their Headlee amendment loss, the Bath Board of Education passed a $2,126,854 budget, Monday, Oct. 22, and reaffirmed their pledge to stay away from an additional millage request until spring.

Increases in salaries and fringe benefits have upped the budget more than $100,000 over the last year while the Headlee loss and a large drop in student enrollment cut $200,000 from the school's income.

A fund equity of $96,000 will help but Superintendent Max Brown said the budget still needs an additional $60,000 from state aid to balance. Bath is gambling that legislators will come up with at least that in their answer to Governor William Miliken's line item veto of Sect. 144 of the State Aid bill.

Miliken said "no" to Sec. 144 which guaranteed school districts hurt by Headlee at least 7.7 percent increase per student over last year's state aid. Brown is now hoping for a 5.5 percent increase.

School budgets today are 75 to 80 percent salaries and fringe benefits and for that reason it is hard to cut down, Brown said, but principals have been instructed to purchase only what is deemed an emergency. Programs have not been cut.

The board accepted the resignation of David Messner, high school assistant principal and athletic director who left earlier in October for a similar position with the Holt schools. Jean means, high school government and English teacher was named to the assistant principal post and Brown said the athletic director would be named later this week.

Ms. Means has dropped four of her classes for the rest of this semester in order to get oriented to the administrative position but will take on all of her senior Government classes next semester. The assistant principalship has been realigned to fit Ms. Means experience and talent but mainly she will be in charge of attendance and discipline. She will also coordinate some of the student activities including graduation.

In another teacher change the board granted Beverly June Touatt a leave of absence to continue studies toward a doctorate degree.

Board member Pamela Gnodtke, reporting for the personnel committee said that 17 applications have been received for the superintendent position. Brown has resigned, effective the end of the first semester.

Dr. Norman Brown, board member said the transportation committee is looking into the possibility and desirability of adding five or six buses to enable the three schools to start at the same time. At present the elementary and high school schedules are staggered.

Supt. Brown told the board that 30 percent of Bath students do not meet immunization requirements set by the State Health Department. The deadline to acquire the vaccinations has been extended until Nov. 15 but the school needs to receive proof of the shots by Nov. 10 in order to complete required paper work.

An extra clinic will be held in St. Johns at the Mid-Michigan Health Department, 3-6 E. Elm, south of the hospital on Monday, Oct. 29 from 8:30-5 p.m. for free immunizations.

Brown said labor and materials for the immunization push is costing the district about $500. "Really it is in the best interest of our students," he said, but indicated that the incident is another example of state mandated costs to districts.

The board voted to give the go ahead to Bath Township for building a covered shelter and parking area on the property between Main Street and Webster Road to the north of the Methodist Church subject to approval of the church board and proper zoning. The township proposes to build a public shelter or gazebo.

show will be aired Nov. 4 at 4:30 p.m.

If St. Johns beats the Jackson high school, the Redwings will go against Durance Nov. 13. Should St. Johns win three in a row, they will compete in the playoffs in the spring.

Members of the St. Johns' Quiz Bowl team are captain Irenna Garapetyan, Kris Tetens, Marcia Lusk and Ben Manring. Joe Parker is an alternate and Robert Koger is their advisor.

Programs are aired Tuesday evenings at 7 p.m. and Sundays at 4:30 p.m. Competition is divided into two divisions, A-B schools and C-D schools.

Fowler High School's Quiz Bowl team competed last night, Oct. 23 against Lansing Catholic Central. If they won, it will mean they advance to the playoffs in the spring in the C-D competition.

Their team is composed of Christine Martin, Kathy Thelen, Rosemary Wieber, Mary Feldpausch and Luke Hufnagel.

SJ sets hours for Halloween

St. Johns

Trick-or-treaters in St. Johns are asked to listen to the fire horn to tell them when to collect their candy Halloween, Oct. 31. City commissioners set the hours of trick-or-treating from 6-8:30 p.m. and a blast from the fire horn will signify the start and conclusion of the annual quest for goodies.

Halloween hours were set by the commission at their Monday night meeting. Also at that meeting: the commission authorized the city engineer to study how much parking space would be lost if the city converted from angle parking to parallel parking on Railroad Street between Clinton Avenue and Spring Street. Seventy percent funding is available for paving, curb and gutters through the federal and state governments, if the parking were changed to parallel. Originally, the city thought it would be allowed to have Railroad Street parking remain angle.

the Nov. 12 city commission meeting was changed to Nov. 13 because Nov. 12 is a holiday, Veteran's Day. the city commission voted to take bids on the Walker Street bridge project. The bridge is to be updated and widened.

Clinton County

Having twins isn't uncommon, but the trials and tribulations of raising two babies at the same time do pose some uncommon situations. That's when it's nice to hear some advice and consolation from someone who's been there before.

One of the main purposes of the newly forming Clinton County Mothers of Twins Club is to share "fellowship and group therapy" says Diane Chapko, a St. Johns mother of 17-month-old Mark and Mike. She and Brenda Worrall, mother of four-year-old Brandon and Ryan, and Mary Ellen Linton, mother of nine-year-old Amy and Kayla, are working to initiate a club in this area. The first meeting will be Wednesday, Oct. 24 at 7:30 p.m. in the Clinton Memorial Hospital cafeteria.

Every fourth Wednesday of the month at 7:30 p.m.

in the hospital cafeteria, mothers of twins are invited to come and share their experiences with other mothers of twins (or triplets).

What will the mothers do at their meetings?

Last Wednesday, Mrs. Worrall, Mrs. Chapko and Mrs. Linton visited the Capital Area Mother of Twins Club in Lansing. That club was getting ready for a giant garage sale. Other on-going activities in the Lansing chapter does is keep track of "twin furniture-car seats, strollers, etc. made for twins-and two "love seats" or car seats for twins are passed around the Lansing chapter.

The trio of St. Johns women got some good ideas for their chapter and they're hoping to start buying twin car seats and keep them within their club for future use.

Programs of the Mother of Twins meetings will focus on topics pertaining to giving birth to and raising twins.

Should you dress twins alike? Should you put them in different classrooms? What about sibling competition? How do young mothers of twins cope with staying up all night caring for their infants? What happens when both are crying?

These questions and more are just some of the logical points of discussion. The Clinton County group is hoping that the mothers of teenage twins or older will respond to the invitation to join. "They're the ones with all the wisdom," said Mrs. Chapko. Almost all the response for the club, thus far, has been from mothers with younger twins.

Persons interested in joining the Clinton County Mother of Twins Club may call Mrs. Chapko at 224-2972; Mrs. Worrall at 224-6563 or Mrs. Linton at 224-3570.

The club is not limited to mothers residing in the county. Anyone living in the area is invited to attend.

Winter duds exchanged

St. Johns. St. Johns Jaycettes are having a skate and boot exchange. "This is our second year for this project," said Carol Parker, chairman for this year. "We are going to try to make this an annual event," she added.

It is community oriented, where people, at their own prices can come to sell or trade winter boots, roller and ice skates. This year there also will be such items as snowmobile suits and winter coats. "If these items go over big we hope to include next year more winter items," said Mrs. Parker.

The exchange will take place Saturday, Oct. 27 at Smith Hall from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Everyone in the community is welcome to participate in this project. Also if they have any of the winter items and would like to donate them, the Jaycettes will gladly find a needy child or adult.

"All of us know just how expensive it is to outfit our families in winter wear so please feel free to come and see how our great community can make it inexpensive," Mrs. Parker said.

Detroit's summer weekend ethnic festivals attract visitors from all parts of the U.S. as well as other countries. The festivals are scheduled every weekend from Mid May to late September with more than 2 dozen nationalities participating.

A beautiful prize

A lucky bidder will take home this log cabin quilt made by the St. Johns Lutheran Church Sewing Circle after a silent auction at the Holiday Bazaar at the church, Nov. 2. The circle which has been meeting for two years

Demonstrations set

Get into the Christmas spirit at St. Johns Lutheran Church Holiday Bazaar Friday, Nov. 2 with demonstrations, special features, lunch, dinner, baked goods and arts and crafts.

The Holiday Bazaar will be open at the church all day from 9 a.m.-8 p.m. according to chairman Diana Nelson. A silent auction will be held on a special log cabin quilt fashioned by the sewing circle chaired by Annette Smith. Bids can be turned in all day at the bazaar on the colorful quilt now on display at Wildwood Pet Store downtown.

Demonstrations include cake decorating by Sharon's Cakes from 9 a.m.-6 p.m.; flower arrangements by Ruth Zell at 10 a.m., 12:30 and 6 p.m. Bea Grams will show candy making and Mrs. Smith's sewing circle will be quilting all day.

Special features are personalized gingerbread cookies, beaded doilies and plants from Austin's Greenhouse.

Choir, orchestra perform tonight

St. Johns St. Johns High School choir and orchestra will give a special fall concert tonight at 7:30 in Pocus Auditorium. There is no charge.

Bill Tennant will direct the orchestra in the theme from Rocky II. The choir, directed by Don Valentine, will sing the love theme from Superman, "Can You Read My Mind?"

Valentine said the program also includes special selections by the Chorales and choreographed movement and song, "Rhythm of Life."

A double violin concerto by Bach will be performed by Pam Smith and Kristin Valentine. The ninth grade chorus will also do three short numbers.

Police led on chase

St. Johns St. Johns police officers were lead on another chase through town, this time by a 16-year-old runaway.

Police reports indicate a juvenile from the Pine Lodge Halfway House in Lansing was apparently harassing people driving by the Clinton county jail on Maple Avenue. When St. Johns police responded a chase ensued leading them through the city park with speeds reaching in excess of 60 miles per hour.

When the youth approached Euclid Street he lost control of his vehicle. He was unharmed in the incident which happened Friday, Oct. 19 at 10:17 p.m.

The young man was returned to authorities of the halfway house.

In an unrelated incident St. Johns police investigated a breaking and entering of the Clinton Avenue Car Wash. The theft happened over the weekend where the dollar bill change box was broken into. A substantial amount of money was taken.

Hayride ends in fight, fire

Clinton County Sheriff deputies have arrested and charged a Portland man with arson and assault and have issued a warrant for a second suspect after three young people were seriously injured after being attacked on a hayride in Westphalia, Saturday night.

Injured was Gerald L. Simon, 21, of 9650 Hinman Rd., Eagle who was taken to St. Lawrence Hospital, Lansing. Also taken to the hospital were Julie Trierweiler, 17, of Portland and Mary Weber, 17, of Pewamo. The girls received injuries after being hit by clay flower pots as the hayride came into the village of Westphalia. Simon was injured in an attempt to stop the two suspects from setting the hay on fire.

Arrested Monday morning was Alan B. Winter of Portland. A warrant is out for Sam J. Winter, also of Portland.

Three men were arrested for deer shining with a weapon in the vehicle in two separate incidents Saturday, Oct. 20.

Arrested were Gary Lee Paddock, 17, of 1004 Wight St., St. Johns and Bruce Darryl Rutter, 17, of 604 Wight St., St. Johns. A juvenile with them was petitioned to juvenile court.

Is it night? Or is it nite?

By Patrice Hornak

Late nite television.
Kountry kitchen.
A taste delite.
A weekend paradise.
The list could go on and on, but the point I'm trying to make is that there are a lot of words and phrases today that are misspelled. Moreover, I think we are getting used to seeing these words spelled incorrectly.
Right now, your mind may be arguing, "But why fret over a misspelled word—as long as I can read it and others can understand it. What's the big deal?"
Rebuttal: Why not spell the word correctly?
In high school, an instructor taught our class Transformational Generative Grammar. To this day, I can only remember one fact about that subject. He introduced his new grammar to us by saying that PHOTI spelled fish.
Take the PH from PHone, and that gives you the sound of F like in fish.

Take the O from buttOn (we usually pronounce it buttin) and take the TI from parTition, I guess that could spell fish, if you wanted to spell tsn.
His point was, that words in the English language don't always sound like they look. This is true, but phone is phone and though it may not begin with an F, we still recognize the word and associate it with a communication tool.
If you learned phone spelled with a PH, you may not recognize phone with an F. Nite may still be night, but one has to program his or her mind to recognize nite as a time of the day.
Is America getting reprogrammed? I think not. I think businesses are using misspelled words to call attention. But people are still programmed for:
Late night television.
Country kitchen.
A taste delight.
A weekend paradise.
It's just as simple to spell correctly as to spell a word wrong.

Ability knows no age

By Richard L. Milliman

almanack

TIME ONCE MORE for one of our infrequent strolls, barefoot among the potpourri...

Age is a matter of perspective. This is most obvious to the young and to the aging.

A recent message—appearing as a full page advertisement in the Wall Street Journal, by the way—offered some sage advice about age. The ad was sponsored by United Technologies of Hartford, Conn., and went like this:

"It's what you do—not when you do it.

"Ted Williams, at age 42, slammed a home run in his last official time at bat. Mickey Mantle, age 20, hit 23 home runs his first full year in the major leagues.

"GOLDA MEIR was 71 when she became Prime Minister of Israel. William Pitt II was 24 when he became Prime Minister of Great Britain.

"George Bernard Shaw was 94 when one of his plays was first produced. Mozart was just seven when his first composition was published.

"Now, how about this? Benjamin Franklin was a newspaper columnist at 16, and a framer of the United States Constitution when he was 81.

"You're never too young or too old, if you've got talent.

"Let's recognize that age has little to do with ability."

STICKING WITH big-league advertising for a moment, I ran across some more worthwhile advice from an advertising source recently. Art Kudner, identified as an advertising man, is quoted as writing in a letter to his son:

"Big long words name little things. All big things have little names—such as life and death, peace and war, or dawn, day, night, hope, love, home. Learn to use little words in a big way. It is hard to do. But they say what you mean. When you don't know what you mean, use big words. That often fools little people."

A RECENT SURVEY of 20,000 young persons who finished high school in 1972 and went on to college reveals the interesting view that race and gender can help more than hinder efforts to get an education.

Conducted by Research Triangle Institute of North Carolina, the study asked the students in late 1976 if they had been treated unfairly or received special advantage because of race and/or gender.

It shows 19 percent of the blacks said they had been treated unfairly, but 25 percent felt they had special advantages; among Hispanics, 13 percent said they had been hindered and 22 percent said they had been helped.

Being a female was considered a liability by 9 percent of blacks, 8 percent of Hispanics and 3 percent of whites; but it was considered an advantage by 28 percent of black women, 22 percent of Hispanics and 11 percent of whites.

DEFINITION of a taxpayer: A taxpayer is a person who doesn't have to pass a Civil Service examination to work for the government.

SENIOR CITIZEN UPDATE

Friendship

To have a "friend" you must be a friend. Think that one over another time. To have a friend you must be a friend. Pretty good advice.

They say everyone needs a friend. Many of you seniors who are alone and you feel friendless, are you really? Isn't there someone who calls you once in a while, or who drops you a line once in a while? If not, why not?

Along life's way you certainly have made friends, haven't you? What became of them?! Remember, to have a friend you must be a friend. Have you carried through with your share of the friendship? Did they drop you by the wayside or did you drop them?

Because of the type of work my husband did, we moved to 10 different towns in 10 years. Each place we made many friends. Am I still a friend? If I went to any one of these cities, I could find someone I used to know. They are still there. I'm the one that moved. Did I keep in contact with them? I'm sorry to say I didn't. Think of how many friends I have lost. I didn't carry out my part of the friendship.

When you think of all the friends you have had in your lifetime and how many of them you have lost track of, isn't it a shame?

Think of someone you know—someone you used to be very friendly with. Drop them a card, call them, or better yet, if you are able, go see them. Start out renewing friendships.

I have some very dear and close friends, but without knowing it I sometimes say something that is not received in the manner I am trying to give it. The first thing I know I have hurt someone. It's then when I realize how much their friendship means to me. Has this happened to you?

Ruth Delo

Friendship means helping people if they need it. When they are depressed, unhappy or having problems, that is the time to show friendship, not prying into their reasons, but to be there to help.

An old saying is, "Don't forget your friends on the way up the ladder, you may need them on the way back down." Another one is, "A friend in time of need is a friend indeed."

All of us have what we call "fair weather friends." These are very different from the "true friend" who is your friend, no matter what. Sometimes we are separated from these real friends and perhaps aren't in contact with them for an extended period of time. When we get together again the friendship is so great that it's like never having been separated. This is a friendship to cherish.

There are so many phases of friendship that it's only possible to just skim the surface in a short article like this. I'll just say as I did at the beginning, to have a friend you must be a friend.

So, until next time.....

ASK THE JUDGE

By Judge Marvin E. Robertson

Question: My husband and I want to adopt a child. Can you tell us how this works?

Answer: There are a number of licensed child placing agencies serving the county who have children available for adoption. You can contact the Clinton County Department of Social Services, who can put you in touch with these agencies. The department also distributes an excellent booklet on the subject titled, "A Total Look at Adoptions." A copy can be provided to you free of charge.

Question: My husband and I are taking an extended overseas vacation this winter, and will be leaving the children with a relative for several weeks. Is there anything we can do to cover the children legally while we are gone?

Answer: Section 405 of the Revised Probate Code provides that the parents of minor children can delegate their powers of care and custody of their children to another person for a period not exceeding six months by legal document titled "power of attorney". No court hearing is necessary, and an attorney can assist you quickly and economically. However, if your lawyer sees any "complications" in your situation, he/she may recommend a guardianship" instead of a "power of attorney".

Question: I saw a TV show where it talked about children being able to get a divorce from their parents in Sweden. Can this be done in Michigan?

Answer: As a matter of strict legal definition, "divorce" is the legal separation between husband and wife. The term does not correctly apply between parents and children. However, a legal separation of parent and child may be ordered by the court under various laws. Under the Michigan Juvenile Code, "termination of parental rights" is the term used for such a separation. This would be done after a court finds a parent to be unfit because of abuse or neglect, with no reasonable probability that the parent will reestablish a proper home for the child.

FOR JEAN COBB

4-H is family way of life

By Sharon Randall
Staff Writer

Elsie
4-H reaches way back in Jean Cobb's life, intermingled in her marriage to Andy Cobb some 42 years ago and to their parenting of five Cobb children on the family's centennial farm on Island Road.

Children still come to this grand old farm house set off by huge maple trees that fill the front lawn, but not as many as used to when Andy was alive.

"I don't lead as many projects anymore," she said, "I'm just one of the leaders." Elsie youngsters are part of the Elsie 4-Corners club headed by AnaBel Peck and Mrs. Cobb says that "when she calls I try to help."

"You could say I'm the chairman of odds and ends," she laughs. "I help a little with the reporters and song leaders and with demonstrations."

A Connecticut girl, Jean met Andy Cobb at Michigan State University where they were students. 4-H was new to her but she discovered that it was and always would be a prime interest of her husband's.

Last week, Mrs. Cobb was recognized at the 4-H leaders banquet for 30 years of service but her involvement really goes back 42 years and when she and Mr. Cobb were married.

When they came back to Elsie to live on and run the family farm he became active again in the Maple River Valley 4-H club of which he had been a member. For many years they were active in this club until it merged with the 4-Corners club.

Ribbons and awards from Andy's 4-H years still decorate the farm office along with mementos from his years on the Michigan State track team and 16 years as a State Representative.

The Cobb home still says 4-H in every room. A stool, made some years ago by one of her sons went to the state show and still serves in the livingroom.

Ribbons, plaques and trophies are on display. The walnut coffee table, made by son Lee from a tree on the farm is special because Mrs. Cobb can remember with affection the time he had getting the legs to turn out right. "I think that table actually had 12 different legs," she laughed.

"It's been a way of life around here," she said and refers to many examples of how 4-H training has helped enrich her own children's lives as they've grown older and started homes and careers of their own.

"They may not think they are learning at the time," Mrs. Cobb said, "but it pays off in later years and I think that they realize it then." She indicated that she has never run across a former 4-H'er who couldn't remember a rewarding experience. Demonstrations and getting up in front of people are good practice, Mrs. Cobb believes, and completing projects on time and following through on club activities helps develop a sense of responsibility," she said. Being judged on projects and demonstrations and showing livestock also helps youngsters learn to take "the lumps." "4-H does that too," she explained. "All my kids had to take disappointment."

As a leader over the years, Mrs. Cobb has taught many projects and her home economics background helped her with units in sewing and foods. She used to narrate the style review and helped with demonstrations but is still active at fair time, in the food booth, Smith Hall or "where ever I'm needed."

In the Cobb family many happy memories go back to 4-H activities. Achievement nights at the Colony grange hall were special events. A large potluck brought everyone's family and members put on a program. Mr. Cobb took movies at fair time each year and they were shown. "Everyone wanted to see the old ones too," Mrs. Cobb remembers and there were many favorites like the film showing David Watson's calf running away in the show ring.

There's a touch of sadness with Mrs. Cobb tells about the differences she sees in today's 4-H program and the youngsters who participate. Today's emphasis for families and young people seems to be on doing everything. "Children try to be in too many things," she believes. This leads to time conflicts and to projects that aren't as complete or involved as they used to be. When Mrs. Cobb led food projects each meeting resulted in a complete meal, table setting and clean-up. Mothers were invited for a meal and the group would eat out in a restaurant once each year.

Share the Fun activities were more popular and Mrs. Cobb enjoyed working with children who planned song and dance routines. She has worked with the children's choir at the Elsie United Methodist Church but said that program is also dwindling.

The Cobb family has been involved in foreign exchange programs and had students staying at their home many times. Over the years some 22 young people have visited and stayed at the Cobb farm through programs that lasted from a week to a year. Many letters and phone calls still go back and forth between Mrs. Cobb in Elsie and these former guests in places like Finland, Italy, Haiti, Africa and South America. The Cobb children also spent time abroad.

There's a strong sense of family in Mrs. Cobb's home. Wide pine floor boards are covered with braided rugs made by her mother. Paintings and pictures that decorate the large high-ceilinged rooms are family portraits or art work by family members. All around are items made by her children and grandchildren. Perhaps that is why 4-H remains important to Jean Cobb, it is and always has been a family activity.

Alumni band makes hit

St. Johns

This past Friday approximately 50 St. Johns Redwing Band alumni gathered at the high school in preparation for their appearance at the half-time ceremonies of the St. Johns vs. Ovid-Elsie game. The six o'clock meeting was one of welcomes, introductions and a general feeling of nostalgia as they prepared to rehearse for the show. Music to the "Fight Song" and "St. Louis Blues" was issued as well as several instruments to those who didn't have any. One thing was very evident... all were anxious to play and do a good job. The playing rehearsal was short (to save lips) and then they went outside to "line-up" and practice marching. Upon completion of these rehearsals the alumni band marched to the field with the Redwing Band. Reserved seats were arranged for the alumni. After the Redwing Band completed its show; a marching entrance to "Temptation" and a dance routine to "Nite Train", especially for the alumni, the alumni Band lined-up on the visitor's side and marched toward the home stand playing the "St. Louis Blues March."

"Audience reception was tremendous. They were impressed with their playing and marching. A standing ovation was given," said Walter Cole, SJHS band director. Both the Redwing and alumni bands ended the half-time show with the "Fight Song." Recognition was given to Margaret Peck Schaefer and Dave Moore from the classes of 1956 and 1957, to Tom Patton now residing in Wichita, Kansas; Chris Mikula who traveled from Big Rapids, and Dale Stephenson from Ann Arbor. The class of 1974 had the most members present... five. The two twirlers were Betty Schlarf Garlock and Mary Rademacher Moore. Cheryl Cole Shannon was the driving force behind the alumni band get-together. After the game both bands marched back to the high school where refreshments were served and a renewing of old friendships continued. All agreed that they had a fantastic time. So much so that the Redwing Alumni Band is going to be held in the fall every year. "Thanks to all who participated. See you next year at the Alumni Show. Bring many of your classmates," said Cole.

Sister Celestine Goerge

Sister Celestine (Mary Elizabeth) Goerge O.P. passed away Friday, Aug. 31, 1979 at Siena Center, motherhouse of Sisters of St. Dominic at Racine, Wis. at the age of 103. She was born in Dallas Township, Clinton County, on May 9, 1876, the daughter of Henry J. and Catherine Fox Goerge.

She was the first girl to enter the convent from Most Holy Trinity Parish in Fowler, back in 1894. Sister was the longest lived nun in the community, being 103 years of age, and had celebrated 83 years of religious profession. The list of missions she served, since her first in 1896, represents the major part of the history of the Dominican Community.

Prior to her retirement in 1948, Sister Celestine served 52 years as a music teacher and organist at various places in Wisconsin, Michigan, and Iowa, notably at St. Benedict the Moor in Milwaukee for 20 years. In Michigan she was at St. John the Baptist Parish in Hubbardston and Assumption Grotto in Detroit.

The Liturgy of Resurrection celebrated for Sister Celestine followed a theme, "Meditation On Hands." The long life of Sister was recalled, as manifested through her hands, which never seemed to grow old. They were musician's hands which had a quality of grace and rhythm.

When she could no longer read ordinary print she reverently held on to the Word of God by reading the large print edition of "Good News For Modern Man" cover to cover once a month.

Funeral services were held Monday, Sept. 3, at 7 p.m. in the Chapel at Siena Center with the Rev. Charles Wheatley, chaplain at the Center, officiating. Burial took place on Tuesday, Sept. 4, at Our Lady of the Oaks Cemetery at Pewaukee, Wis. Surviving are five nieces, two nephews, 44 great nieces and nephews and numerous relatives in the Fowler area.

Three of the six nuns that served as pallbearers were: Sr. Lucia Motz P.O., Sr. Bernita Wieber O.P., and Sr. Alice Rademacher O.P. all formerly of Fowler.

Mrs. Vincent J. Goerge of Fowler and daughters, Mrs. Richard Campbell of Ypsilanti, and Ruth Anne Goerge of Utica attended the funeral services in Wisconsin.

Funeral directors say consumers are satisfied

St. Johns

Consumers across the country continue to be very satisfied with funeral service according to statistics released today by the Osgood Funeral Home Inc. of Clinton County.

Osgood Funeral Homes Inc. is a member of the International Order of the Golden Rule, a controlled-membership association of approximately 1,200 funeral directors. The order's second quarterly statistics for 1979 show that 97.9 percent of all families served by member firms across the country were totally satisfied with the service they received.

"In light of the Federal Trade Commission's investigation of the funeral industry and all the adverse publicity we have received; I think these statistics show that funeral directors are doing a superb job of serving consumers—probably better than any other industry," said Robert Sirrine, pres. The association contacted 25,446 families during the second quarter of 1979. Of 11,266 responses received, 11,024 were completely favorable.

Osgood Funeral Homes Inc. is this area's exclusive member of the Order. Only one funeral home in a community may belong and only after it has received the written recommendation of families it has served.

O-E Juniors appear in ghostly comedy play

Elsie

Have you ever wondered where ghosts go when they retire from haunting? To a retirement home, of course! This is the base of the Ovid-Elsie Junior play, "Your Guests Are Ghosts."

The curtain opens on two college students entering a haunted house to answer a help wanted ad. It seems the Peaceful Rest Retirement Home is looking for a receptionist. Lin and Jim suddenly find themselves in the middle of a mess when the government comes to collect back taxes, a neighboring farmer wants to put in a miniature-golf course, and nobody owns the property. When spooks try to solve difficulties like these, anything can happen.

The credit for the many special effects goes to Dean Wilson and the director, Don Thayer. Thayer, the guidance counselor for the Ovid and Elsie junior high schools, has contributed many hours and ideas to make this play a success. The wide variety of characters are played by Beth Latz (Lin), Brian Clock (Jim) Ben Hubbard (Zeke), Jamie Lawrence (Lucy), Kenda Winkler (Heloise), Karl Dahlke (Colonel Smedley), Randy Montague (Tender-son), Angie Elder (Lavender), Brenda Gingrich (Myrtle), Carol Thornton (Andrew), Cindy Fent (Lady Smedley), Gary Brook (Willoughby), Lynn Bosom (Tex), Vicki Sehlke (Circe), Doug Thering (Mr. Darrow), Sherry Lundquist (Mrs. Canuzi), Allen Martin (Mr. Peterson), Brenda Sipka (Mrs. Peterson), and understudies Dean Gilbert and Joena Baker. The stage personnel, essential to the success of the play, are Cindy Nicholas, Morrie Roberts, Dean Wilson, Julie Fursteneau, Joena Baker, Jennifer Litomisky, Ken Latz, Rick Rexin, Chris Horak, David Rood, Allen Martin and Barry Moore. For fun, spooks, and a little romance come to the Ovid-Elsie High School auditorium Saturday, Oct. 27 at 8 p.m. The doors open at 7:30 p.m.

Pope has great feelings for the people

By LOUISE WIRBEL
Staff Writer

LANSING - The recent visit to the United States by Pope John Paul II has given the nation's Catholics an impressive boost, but the impact of the occasion has also been intensely felt by Christians across the country.

This summation was offered by Bishop Kenneth Povish of the Diocese of Lansing last week, as he shared impressions of the drama of the pope's time in the U.S. with area news media.

"It was a pastoral event, having the pope in the country," Povish contends. "It was also a media event for the country. And I guess I was typical of those who followed every part of his visit through the news media coverage."

The Bishop, who serves as religious leader to some 210,000 Catholics in the 10-county Lansing Diocese, also spent a day and a half in Chicago, participating in events affiliated with the pope's fifth key stop on the tour. He was among those in the pope's presence at the bishops' conference and was among the thousands who shared Mass with John Paul II at Grant Park.

"THIS POPE HAS great feeling for people," Povish says, "and there was a vital human element involved in his visit."

Povish said he felt the pope's plea to America - as the wealthiest nation in the world - to adopt a "tighten our belts" behavior was certainly one of the main messages he meant to convey.

"I expect to be quoting the pope again and again in the matter of religious self-discipline," Povish said, "and concentrating on the emphasis he places on humanism and human dignitv."

John Paul II has made his position on many issues quite clear, and he reaffirmed some of those stances on his American tour, Povish feels. As far as nuns who feel they should have the right to enter the priesthood, or priests who would choose to marry - these ideas are untenable for the church, the pontiff has declared.

POVISH SECONDS the thinking, pointing out that either concept would be inopportune at this time. For women to become priests, for example, would "tear the church apart."

And celibacy for priests is a church law, a part of tradition, he says, and tradition is all important in the Catholic Church. Though the Church has taken new positions and reversed itself on some, other traditions must hold.

The American church is regarded as very progressive, according to Povish, but issues can't be changed in a short time. Attitudes must first be changed.

Povish says he feels the pope's address to the United Nations was one of the most important aspects of the visit, although it's difficult to single out instances in an event that garnered such an impressive following.

"THE ESSENCE of his messages must be repeated and repeated to make any lasting impression, however," Povish smiled. "Americans tend to have short memories."

Povish says he doesn't feel any tangible results will be felt immediately by the visit of John Paul II to the U.S., but they will be felt.

"When you're in this business," Povish added, "I always say we're trying to sell the blue sky. And that can't be done with immediacy."

Fowler clinches CMAAC grid crown

By Mark Haney
Sports Writer

Olivet

You can close the Olivet chapter in the continuing saga of the Fowler High football team.

Though it took some strong defense to do it, the Eagles of Steve Spicer came up with a 8-7 win over a stronger, bigger Olivet squad playing on its own turf.

"The victory was an entire team effort," Spicer said. "Offensive and defensive lines did a tremendous job against a bigger opponent."

The win meant more to Fowler than just a perfect 7-0 record. It also assured Fowler, via a 6-0 Central Michigan Athletic Conference record, that it will supplant Fulton as the league champion.

Fowler, also the top team in both the Associated Press and United Press International Class D polls, had its problems with Class C

Olivet.

The Olivet team, coincidentally also the Eagles, took the opening kickoff and marched 51 yards to a score, and using up most of the period. The drive consumed so much of the quarter that Fowler had the ball for just one minute, 46 seconds-three plays.

Quarterback Todd Gonsler chalked up Olivet's score on a one-yard sneak. And kicker Jim DeGrodt added the conversion on a kick.

The second quarter was the reverse of the first. This time Fowler dominated play, marching 66 yards for a score with just seven seconds left before intermission.

The touchdown came on a four-yard run by halfback Tom Weber, who accounted for 112 of Fowler's 171 yards rushing. Then the winning points went up on the scoreboard when quarterback Neil Hufnagel hit senior halfback Doug Koehnigknecht with the conversion pass.

It was the passing game that proved to be the big difference in the game. Olivet's Gonsler was good on one of seven aerials but netted a minus four yards. Hufnagel, meanwhile, hit on two of eight passes for 25 yards.

But the pass also nearly cost Fowler the victory.

In the third period Olivet intercepted a Hufnagel pass at Fowler's 33. The home team then marched to the four where it had a first down. But, even with three cracks from two yards out, Olivet was kept from paydirt.

"The defense played super like that the entire night," Spicer said. Leading the defensive troops was noseguard Louie Simon with 18 tackles. Linebacker Dave Wieber managed 16, fellow linebacker Mark Rademacher made 14 and defensive tackle Kevin Thelen accounted for 12.

The book on Fowler football is not closed, however, with long-time rival and CMAAC foe Pewamo-Westphalia hosting the Eagles Friday. A visit to Portland will finish the season.

The Fowler junior varsity is following in the varsity's footsteps, with a clean 6-0 league slate. But the Pewamo Westphalia reserves have a similar mark.

with the league title riding on Thursday's game at Fowler. Last week the Eagle reserves won 21-6.

On The Mark

by Mark Haney

There is no place these days for a little youthful exuberance in the world of sports.

You can't be happy, you can't be excited about winning and you can't pat your fellow player on the back.

Just ask people like Earvin "Magic" Johnson or Mark "the Bird" Fildrych. They have been ridiculed by friend and foe alike for such displays. They haven't tried to hide their emotions: They let the world know that they enjoy what they do.

But the same can't be said for most athletes. Professionals, for the most part, take their own sport a little too seriously.

Much ado is made of the "pressure" of the big game and the big series. But too little is made of the pure joy of being able to do the thing you do best and the contentment of being to do it well.

We, of the media, are as much to blame for this as the players. Salaries and contracts have taken over where personalities used to reign.

Players are scrutinized under the public's microscope, analyzed for every nervous little twitch. We put the pressure on the athletes.

The players have reacted accordingly, taking a stance of non-commitment. They aren't going to say it is fun to play baseball. No, it is just a job. And that is the way they play.

More and more this attitude filters down to the colleges, the high schools, the junior highs and such. Athletes just want to "be cool" like Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. Or they want to be tough like Reggie Jackson. More than ever, showing emotion is taboo for the "Macho" athlete.

Well I, for one, think this is a sad state of affairs. It grieves me to watch his Laker teammates ignore Johnson's outward happiness, hoping it will go away.

And it probably will. For it doesn't take long for people like Johnson and Fildrych to become disenchanted with sports and the people in them. It isn't like they had dreamed it would be. And they aren't accepted by their teammates and peers.

So they adapt and become cool like everyone else. Or they get out and do something else.

For, as the pros often say themselves, "When it stops being fun, that is when I'll quit."

That point may be coming sooner than they expect.

St. Johns nips Ovid-Elsie

By Mark Haney
Sports Writer

St. Johns

Joe Gonzales had warned his St. Johns High football team. Anybody, including Ovid-Elsie, could sting them this year.

And Friday the resurgent Marauders nearly did sting St. Johns, before Gonzales crew pieced together a 94-yard drive in the closing minutes to escape with a 7-6 Mid-Michigan B Conference win.

"I don't think we were as ready as we could have been," Gonzales said.

"But they were a good team. With all due credit they played a good ball game."

But the win didn't net the Redwings the league title they had been aiming for. Instead St. Johns had to settle for second with a 4-1 mark. Chesaning, with a 38-0 pounding of Corunna Friday bagged the league crown with a 5-0 mark.

On the other hand the Redwings and the St. Johns fans had a long time to think about losing.

Because Ovid-Elsie scored at the end of the first quarter the Marauders of Russ Pope, 2-3 in the league and 3-4 overall, marched 80 yards in 14 plays. The touchdown, however, came on a fake field goal attempt, with holder John Sovis throwing a nine-yard pass to halfback Kurt Tullar. Kicker John Micka, after a five-yard mouth guard penalty, missed what would have been the tying point when his extra point kick sailed wide to the right.

The Marauders drive for the score survived on the legs of halfbacks Tullar and Chirs Canfield. Tullar amassed 18 of his 61 total yards and Canfield 25 of his total 81 while quarterback Rick Winkler added a 21-yard pass to fullback Jeff Winans.

Ovid-Elsie nearly scored again in the second quarter, marching down to the one-foot line.

"They had the chance to put it away on us in the first half," Gonzales said,

"but they ran out of time. They used up all of their time outs and they ran out of time."

Folk's Pirates dump St. Pats

By Mark Haney
Sports Writer

Portland

If it were up to Pewamo-Westphalia coach Mike Folk, the Pirates wouldn't be winning the way they have been.

That's because Pewamo-Westphalia, now 5-2 overall, have been winning by the pass, like Friday's 16-0 triumph over host and Central Michigan Athletic Conference rival Portland St. Patrick. And Folk would just as soon not.

"I'll tell you, I am just like John (Wachsmuth of Fulton) or Steve (Spicer of Fowler). If I can get five yards off tackle, I'll run 52 times and pass once a game," he said. "But this year we have had to be a more wide open team."

Friday junior quarterback Mike Pohl, in his second start, led the Pirate air raid. He hit on five of 10 passes, including a 78-yard scoring strike to junior halfback Kevin Fedewa in the second quarter.

But that was not all he did. "Mike has done an excellent job this year," Folk said. "Not just in his passing but in his scrambling too. He has gotten us yardage when the blocking has broken down."

The Pirates struck also in the first quarter on a four-yard run by Chris Thelen. The run capped a seven-play drive highlighted by a 32-yard pass from Pohl to senior tight end Stan Piggott.

"I do think they are an excellent team," Folk said of 3-4 Portland St. Patrick. "If we played them 10 times we wouldn't win 10. We might come away with five and a half."

But while Portland St. Patrick rolled up 131 yards rushing, the Pirate defense limited the host squad to just 41 yards in the air. Pewamo-Westphalia, on the other hand, rushed for 116 yards and passed for 140.

Sophomore fullback John Nuremberg led the Pirates rushing attack with 50-yards in eight carries. The home team shut off the middle so well that the Pirates' star running backs, Fedewa and Dean Schafer, gained 13 and 16 yards, respectively.

"They are a tough football team," Folk said. "They are really strong inside. But we were a little quicker."

However, two games ago, Pewamo-Westphalia looked like a team on the verge of an el-faldo act when the Pirates lost 26-0 to Fulton.

"I think it is a credit to our seniors and all the players and their leadership that we pulled together after the Fulton loss," Folk said.

Now the Pirates must tangle with CMAAC leader Fowler, the top team in each of the Class D polls.

Pewamo Westphalia's junior varsity tied St. Patrick 8-all while the Pirate freshmen topped the Grand Ledge "B" team, 14-0.

Redwing harriers cop league title

Ionia
If you can't join 'em, beat 'em.

That is what the St. Johns High cross country team did Saturday at the Mid-Michigan B Conference cross country meet at Ionia's Rolling Greens Golf Club.

The Redwings, tied with Alma and Chesaning at 4-1 in the dual meet standings, rolled to its first league title in 19 years by winning the meet. St. Johns scored 33 points with Alma second with 44 and Chesaning third with 60. Ovid-Elsie was fourth with 89.

"I think the kids worked hard last week," Redwing Coach Bob Spender said. "It was a tough hilly course but we practiced on hills all week.

"The course we ran," he added, "it was the first time anyone had run on it. It was not Ionia's regular course."

Which may explain why Ionia finished last in the six-team field with 158 points and it may also explain why the winning time of Alma's Pete Rittinger was 16:59.

Then came St. Johns' sophomore Paul Pioszak in 17:03, Redwing senior Todd Scott in 17:14 and junior Jerry Peters in 17:19.

Junior Eric Root finished eighth in 17:37 and sophomore Bob Fonger wound up 16th in 18:21.

"I knew that if the top three would be in there tough that we would be competitive," Spender said. "And Eric did well and that did it."

"But if Fonger hadn't come in 16th, then our next runner (sophomore Dave Miller) would have been 23rd. We still would have won but we would have had 42 points to Alma's 44."

Such grouping, however, is the way to go.

"That is the whole thing in cross country," Spender said. "The whole secret is grouping."

Ovid-Elsie's highest finisher was Jack Miller, ninth in 17:41. The Marauders of Don Barlow also placed Stan Bloomfield 11th in 17:55, Craig Smith was 19th, Pete Trujillo 23rd and Dave Rood 27th.

St. Johns and Ovid-Elsie both will be heading for the Class B regional Saturday at Linden, though they may not run against each other.

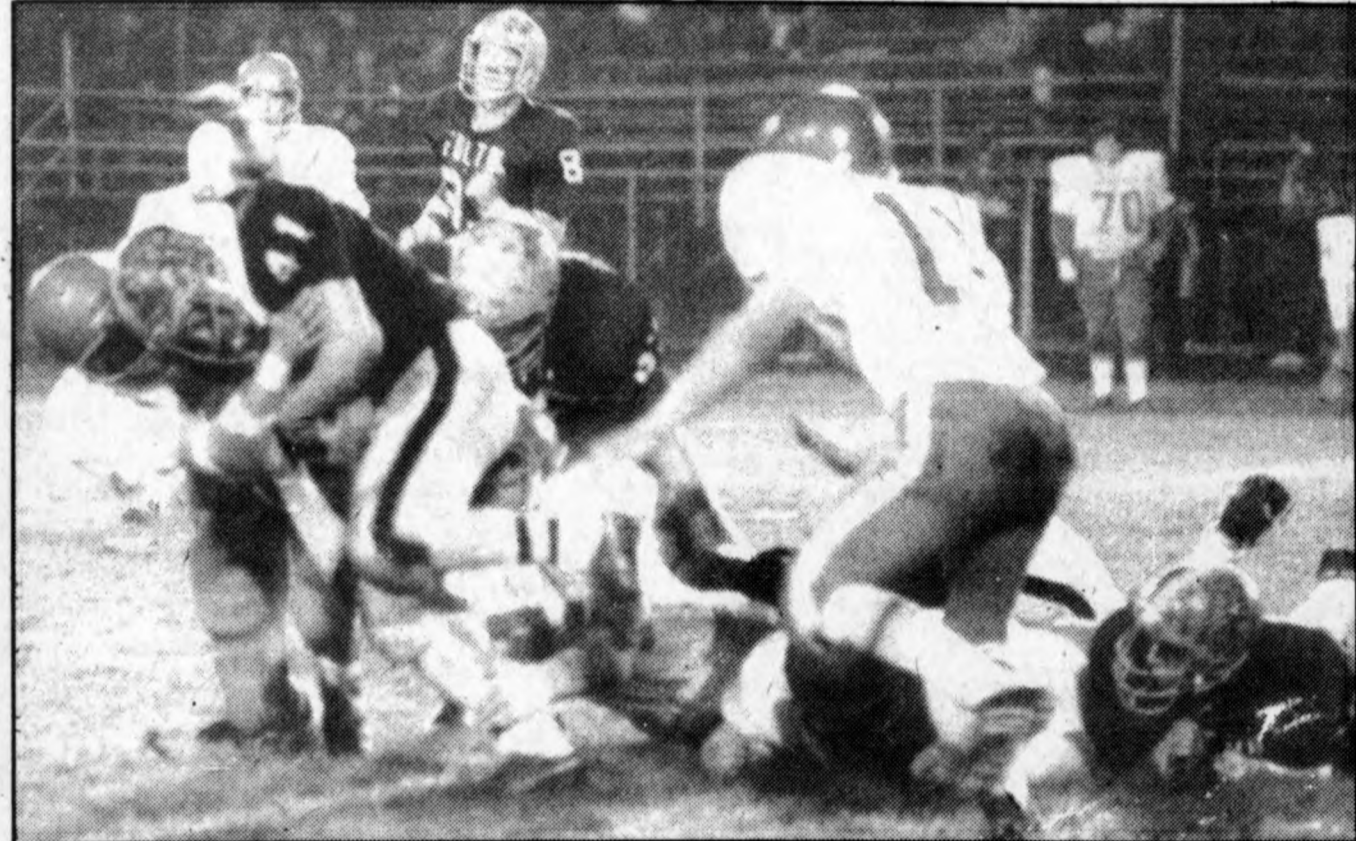

According to the Spencer the regional will be divided up into two sections with three teams qualifying for the state meet in each section.

"I think we have a good chance to qualify for the state meet," Spender said, "and with the right draw in our section we would win part of the regionals."

TEAM FINISH: St. Johns 33; Alma 44; Chesaning 60; Ovid-Elsie 89; Corunna 144; Ionia 158.

Fulton

It is a grave mistake for a team to play in Fulton, unless it wears the blue and gold of Fulton High.

For John Wachsmuth's team hasn't lost at home since 1975 and Friday they continued the streak with a 20-0 homecoming romp over Central Michigan Athletic Conference rival Bellevue.

"It is our third shutout in a row and in each game we have held our opponent to under 100 yards in offense," Fulton Assistant Coach Terry Proko said.

The legs of halfback Mark LaLone led the Pirates to their fourth win in six league games and fourth triumph in seven contests.

LaLone, while second to fullback Wayne Bond in rushing, amassed 82 yards in nine carries, scored all three touchdowns and caught all three of the passes completed by quarterback Scott Winsor.

"He had a pretty good night," Proko said.

LaLone opened the scoring in the second quarter with a 40-yard romp up the middle. "It was just a dive play," Proko said. "But he just broke open and was gone." He also ran in the conversion.

He added a second Fulton touchdown later in the period, on a seven-yard pass from Winsor with 37 seconds left on the clock.

Then in the fourth quarter LaLone capped the scoring with a 12-yard run.

LaLone helped out on defense too, grabbing an interception as Fulton limited Bellevue to 67 yards rushing and six passing.

The defensive leader, however, was linebacker Jeff McVannel who accounted for 12 tackles. Safety Winsor was second with eight tackles plus a fumble recovery.

He also helped stymie a tough Bellevue passing attack.

"We had good coverage," Proko said, "and when they did try to throw we made a couple of sacks."

Bond led the Fulton attack, which rolled to 256 yards on the ground and 51 yards on the three for nine passing of Winsor, with 105 yards in 19 carries.

The Pirates host yet another CMAC rival this Friday, a Portland St. Patrick team that is 2-4 in the league and 3-4 overall and is coming off a 16-0 loss to Pewamo-Westphalia.

"We expect another good game," Proko said. "I don't think their record tells what kind of team they are. They have lost some close games, this year, like a 14-12 game to Fowler."

O-E cagers lose

Ovid
It was a rather trying week for the Ovid-Elsie girls' basketball team. e a m.

The Marauders of Mary Hudecek lost to St. Johns Tuesday 63-41, dropped a 49-44 game to New Lothrop Wednesday then fell to Fulton Monday, 53-47.

The losses dropped the Marauders to 6-6 overall and to 2-3 in the Mid-Michigan B Conference.

However, Ovid-Elsie was playing without the service of forwards Angie Eldred and Connie Warfle for most of the week, although Warfle returned Monday.

"Having those two girls out really hurt our defense," Hudecek said.

Junior center Jennifer Litomisky tried to pick up the slack, scoring 27 points with 22 rebounds against St. Johns, notching 24 points with 21 rebounds against New Lothrop and hitting for 34 points against Fulton. But the efforts didn't help.

The win by St. Johns was its seventh in a row and left the Redwings at 10-1 overall while New Lothrop too, has but one loss.

In each game last week the Marauders were out-rebounded, by New Lothrop 49-44 and by St. Johns 44-36.

New Lothrop got 13 points from forward-center Kim Fisher while St. Johns got 12-points apiece from Kim Kloeckner, Yvonne Makara and Denise Henning.

The Ovid-Elsie reserves lost three games too, a 27-21 game to St. Johns, a 38-18 game to New Lothrop and a 41-21 game to Fulton. Forward Vicki Foreback scored eight points against New Lothrop.

Fulton cagers win a pair

Fulton
The Fulton High girls' basketball team bagged a pair of close wins recently, one Coach Bill Parker was happy about and one he wasn't.

The Pirates topped Portland St. Patrick 63-60 Wednesday in a Central Michigan Athletic Conference game - that one made Parker happy - then topped Ovid-Elsie 53-47 Monday in a non-conference game.

The win over St. Patrick featured a fourth-quarter Fulton comeback, finished off by center Laurie Fricke's bucket at the buzzer, one that rolled around the rim a few times before falling, and her ensuing free throw.

The basket came off a steal by senior guard Jill Moore, who had just hit a 20-foot jumper that knotted the score at 60-all with 15 seconds left.

"The big thing was that the kids didn't quit," Parker said. "Even when they were down by 13 they didn't quit. They fought back. We didn't try to get it all back at once, we just kept chipping away at it."

Monday's non-league game "was one of those funny ballgames," Parker said.

It was Ovid-Elsie, behind a 16-point effort by junior center Jennifer Litomisky, that made the last-quarter comeback, cutting the lead to three points.

"I just got outcoached," Parker said. "They would come down and foul us since we were in a one-and-one, we'd miss the free throw and they'd come down and score on us."

Eventually the Pirates missed 11 one-and-one opportunities in the last period.

The game also featured the matchup-that-almost-was between Litomisky, and 6-foot Pirate Fricke. But Parker short-circuited the matchup by putting All-State forward Sandy Price on Litomisky and teaming Fricke up with Ovid-Elsie's Vicki Sehlke. So Fricke wound up with 11 points and eight rebounds despite missing most of the third quarter with fouls and Price scored 14 with 11 rebounds and six assists despite four fouls.

Litomisky, on the other hand, grabbed scoring honors with 34 points.

Fulton heads back down the CMAC trail Wednesday for a game with host Fowler, now 5-2 in the league and tied with St. Patrick for second behind Olivet and Fulton.

The Fulton junior varsity upped its record to 11-2 with a 41-38 win over a then 10-1 Portland St. Patrick and with a 41-21 win over Ovid-Elsie.

Is Fowler for real?

Fowler
There is a lot riding on today's game with Fulton High, at least for the Fowler High girls' basketball team.

"This is a key game for us," said Fowler Coach Melody Sowers, who saw her squad top Central Michigan Athletic Conference foe Pewamo-Westphalia last Wednesday 52-38.

"They will get to find out if they are just riding a lucky streak or if we are really coming on."

The Eagles vaulted out of the pack into a tie with Portland St. Patrick, the defending CMAC champion, for second place in the league. The two squads trail both Fulton and Olivet which are tied for first.

But Fowler defeated Olivet in the first round and wants revenge now for the opening round loss to Fulton.

"Ever since we beat Olivet we have been ready for each game," Sowers said. "So far we haven't been too up for games, in fact we have been more relaxed. Before they would be right for the game."

"Instead the girls are getting so they look forward to each game."

The Eagles solidified their confidence with the handling of Pewamo-Westphalia. Fowler vaulted to a 15-8 opening period lead but the Pirates of Bonnie Somero trimmed the margin to 22-20 at the Half. Fowler, however, came on strong in the last half of play.

"I felt it was an important game for us," Somero said, "and now I am disappointed."

The game marked the return of Pirate star Judy Spitzley, who had been out with an injured ankle. The senior center managed 14 points, 10 rebounds and three steals but it wasn't enough.

"I thought the other kids would rise to the occasion," Sowers said.

Fowler countered with a 14-point effort by senior forward Kat Schmitt and a 13-point game by senior center Jane Armbrustmacher.

Fowler got a big boost from Pewamo-Westphalia's 24 percent shooting, too.

"I don't know why, we were aggressive, drove the basket but they just weren't going in," Somero said.

The Pewamo-Westphalia junior varsity salvaged something from the game, taking the Eagle reserves 39-31 behind the 12 points effort of guard Shawn Thelen.

Pewamo-Westphalia plays at Laingsburg Wednesday and at Olivet next Tuesday.

St. Johns cagers top O-E

St. Johns
A bit of scoring balance mixed well with a touch of good defense was the recipe for victory for the St. Johns High girls' basketball team last week.

The Redwings of Beth Swears topped Mid-Michigan B Conference rival Ovid-Elsie 63-41 with the proper ingredients.

The Redwings used some good defense, a 51-38 rebounding edge and three 12-point efforts, one each from seniors Kim Kloeckner, Yvonne Makara and Denise Henning, to gain the win. It was St. Johns' seventh straight triumph.

The Redwings marched to an 18-6 first period lead then grabbed a 38-16 lead at the half.

A 13-9 third period advantage put the game on ice for the Redwings, even though Ovid-Elsie outscored St.

Johns 16-12 in the final stanza.

While junior center Jennifer Litomiskey managed a 27-point, 22-rebound game, the rest of Coach Mary Hudecek's Marauders were kept to under double figures. Guards Brenda Hughes and Vicki Sehlke scored six apiece.

Henning, besides her points, also managed five assists and four steals. Makara and Kloeckner each grabbed 10 rebounds, second on the Redwing squad to center Lori Kus' 13.

A last quarter surge allowed the St. Johns reserves to gain a 27-21 win over Ovid-Elsie's junior varsity but only after the Redwings overcame early foul trouble.

St. Johns got eight points and three steals each from Michelle O'Connor and Connie Koenigsnecht. O'Connor also grabbed eight rebounds, second to Gretchen Banning's 12. Koenigsnecht managed two assists. OVID-ELSIE 6 109 16-41 ST. # Redwing swimmers eye Okemos

St. Johns
Though the Redwings bagged a pair of wins, the St. Johns High swim team isn't dwelling on the past.

Because this week, on Thursday to be exact, St. Johns travels to Okemos for another meeting of two swim rivals.

"This week is the dual meet season, as it turns out, with Okemos there Thursday night," Redwing Coach Jim Makaruskas said.

And St. Johns, a 47-36 winner of Grand Ledge Tuesday and a 104-63 victor over DeWitt Thursday, will go into the meet riding a 21-meet winning streak and carrying a 9-0 record.

Yet the Redwings won't be favored.

"This is the first time we will go into a meet as underdogs," Makaruskas said. "We've usually been even or favored in most meets."

The Redwings will have some strong performers, however, like Judy Fedewa, who won the 200-yard individual medley and the 100-yard butterfly against Grand Ledge then joined Pam Vecasey, Ruth Fedewa and Linda Luttg on the winning 200-yard individual medley relay team.

Vecasey also set a school record in the Grand Ledge meet, with a time of 1:09.6 in the 100-yard backstroke.

The Redwings posted a big lead in the Grand Ledge meet then held on.

"We had a big point lead (32-13) after the butterfly," Makaruskas said, "then we held on. They had really geared for a second half surge thinking they could be close."

DeWitt was another story. "We sort of had them outmanned, or rather outwomanned," Makaruskas said.

The Redwings won eight of 11 events with Shawn Meyer setting a school record in the 100-yard freestyle with a time of :58.5. Luttg added wins with the 200-yard individual medley team and with the 50-yard freestyle.

It will take more than that Thursday.

"We are going to need the breaks and some of our luck again this year or something similar to beat Okemos," Makaruskas said.

'Wing netters end season

Saginaw
The regionals didn't treat the St. Johns High tennis team too well this year.

The Redwings of Melanie Humphrey finished sixth at the 12-team Class B regional at Saginaw, with the weather forcing the teams indoors.

Number four singles Beth Buckley and the number three doubles team of Tricia Barnes and Ellen Witteveen both made it to the semifinals before being defeated.

Buckley won her opening match against Gwen Farrington of Lapeer West, 6-3, 6-2 then topped Cathy Craues of Bay City John Glenn 6-2, 6-2, before Mount Pleasant's Sandy Miller upended her, 6-2, 6-1.

Barnes and Witteveen defeated John Glenn's Mary-Lynn Forgash and Lisa Huebner 6-3, 3-6, 6-1, and Mount Pleasant's Lori Paporello and Laura Misbet, 6-3, 7-5 before Saginaw MacArthur won 3-6, 7-5, 6-4.

Number one singles Kris Tetens, entering the meet with a 7-4 record, lost to Eisenhower's Jackie Kenney in the quarterfinals.

Pope surprised by Marauders

By Mark Haney
Sports Writer

Ovid

Back in September you couldn't have sold Russ Pope a million-dollar bet that he would wind up with a winning season this fall with the Ovid-Elsie High football team.

Yet if the Marauders, now 3-4 overall, can come up with wins over Bronson and visiting Ithaca in the last two games, Pope will have bagged, for Ovid-Elsie, its first winning season since 1971.

"I would say our goal right now is 5-4," Pope said, "and that would be our first winning season since 1971. Only if the long trip (to Bronson) and the hard loss (to St. Johns) gets to us, will we have trouble. We should be able to do it."

The 39-man Marauder squad doesn't include much size and doesn't have a long tradition of success in the Mid-Michigan B Conference, and that has helped Pope's squad surprise some squads, like the 8-0 win over Corunna Oct. 12.

"That might be part of it," Pope said of his team's success. "Another part of it would have to be the nine seniors on our defense.

These boys have really matured and it has been their efforts on defense that have kept us in a lot of games."

Size hasn't limited the Marauders. Though cornerback John Micka is just 5-foot-8, 135 pounds, he managed four solo tackles and eight assists against St. Johns in Friday's 7-6 loss. Starting halfbacks John Sovis (5-foot-9, 136), Kurt Tullar (5-foot-9½, 153) and Jeff Winans (5-foot-9½, 144) have paced the offense.

"I think we have been a real pleasant surprise for me," Pope said.

"This team doesn't have some of the outstanding individuals of teams I have coached in the past but they play so well together," he added. "We don't have many all-conference candidates on this team, we just play well together."

★ Redwing Football

Time nearly ran out on St. Johns too, before the Redwings managed the 94-yard, 15-play drive.

"We didn't play super football the whole game until that last drive," Gonzales said. "We had spurts, we had moments, but we would make mistakes, like lining up off-sides three or four times."

Yet St. Johns got the score, on a one-yard sneak by quarterback Todd Bakita.

"In the end we had their four or five plays stopped," Pope said, "but Bakita came on like gangbusters. He really deserves the credit. He was battered and bruised and he still made some great plays."

The Redwings got a pass interference call on Ovid-Elsie during the third- and 12 on the Marauder 34 to keep the drive alive. The drive also included 33 yards of rushing by senior Swingback Bob Sutherland and passes from Bakita to Sutherland and to junior split end Doug Sleep, each for 15 yards.

But the winning point came off the toe of kicker Doug Henning.

The win may have cost St. Johns, however. With fullback Reuben Martinez lost for the season with a broken hand suffered in the Ionia game, the Redwings moved tailback Pete Minott into the upback spot, only to lose Minott Friday to a neck injury. Third-string fullback Lloyd Johnston a junior, moved into the starting role and gained eight yards in his one carry.

The big gun was Sutherland, who managed 79 yards in 19 carries against a team that was keying on him. And while St. Johns was plagued by the loss of three fumbles, the Redwings got a boost from the 128 yards in penalties assessed against Ovid-Elsie.

"I really feel I blew the game," Pope said, "because I got too conservative once we got ahead. I should have passed more, but I relied on our kicking game and our defense to keep them in a whole. I was just too conservative."

The St. Johns junior varsity, unbeaten this year, pounded the Ovid-Elsie reserves 45-0.

4-H leaders recognized at annual banquet

Clinton County

Awards were abundant at the annual 4-H banquet at Smith Hall, Monday, Oct. 15 as the extension 4-H Council and the extension staff recognized Al Galloway, Friend of 4-H, Connie Bauerle, 4-H Alumni, and leaders who have served 30, 25, 20, 15, 10, 5 and 3 years. Six new members were elected to the 4-H Council, Virginia Martin, northwest, Mary Ann Hengesbach, southwest, Shirley Hazel, southeast, Dennis Whitlock, northeast and Tim Weaver and Laurie Platte, teens. 4-H Council member Ted Ashley presented Al Galloway with the Friend of 4-H Award for his service to the annual livestock sale as both ringman and buyer. Ashley said Galloway has given time, talent and money to make the sale a success each year at the 4-H Fair. This year Galloway himself bought the champion steer. Ashley said he was also instrumental in bringing other buyers to the sale.

Connie Bauerle, chairman of the personal appearance committee was named 4-H Alumni. She has worked on the committee for five years and has helped organize many personal appearance workshops for other leaders.

Theresa Dow, 4-H Youth Agent said Clinton County is fortunate that so many people have said "I want to be part of this." This is what has made the 4-H program successful, she said. Citing the leaders for their outstanding contribution to youth she told them that "4-H would not be possible without the opportunities, love and time you share."

Jean Cobb of Elsie 4-Corners was presented with a 30 year leader pin; Clyde Peck, of Nimble Fingers, 25 years; Virginia Roesch, Super Stitchers, Grand Lodge, 20 years; and Emily Brook, Sleepy Hollow, Ovid and Claista Reed, Ovid Village Elves for 15 years.

Ten year pins went to Joan Ashley, Robert Fox, Alice Hicks, Marbeth Hynes, Janet Jakus, Dennis Koenigsnecht, Lyla O'Dell, James Palmiter, Pat Purtil, Paul Seeger, and Jeanette Thelen.

David Seeger, council president was master of ceremonies; Mary Ann Hengesbach organized an unusual style show for entertainment.

Leaders voted to not have Spring Achievement.

Leader pins are provided by Farm Bureau, the dinner by Clinton Bank and Trust.

Good friend

He's a friend of 4-H, Al Galloway, left, who received the award for his service at the fair livestock auction from 4-H council member Ted Ashley. Galloway was also the buyer of the grand champion steer and will keep this large traveling trophy for a year. (Photo by Sharon Randall)

Halloween safety tips are given

By Theresa K. Dow
Extension 4-H Youth Agent

HALLOWEEN SAFETY

Activities—plan group activities, with ADULT SUPERVISION. Give youth something fun to do besides trick-or-treat; involve community groups in planning a "block party" for youth. These might include a "haunted house," apple bobbing, candied apples, a cider press, taffy pull, hand crank ice cream, costume contests, games, etc.

Know what your children are doing, where they are, who they are with, and give them a definite time to be home.

For trick-or-treating, consider the following:

—go in small groups, each with adult supervision.

—go only to the homes of folks that you know personally.

—Do NOT enter stranger's homes.

—go out before dark, wear light colors, and use sidewalks or walk against traffic if no sidewalks. If you must be out after dark, carry flashlights, not candles or lanterns.

—keep your group together; use the "buddy" system.

—teach your young people by example—look both ways before crossing only at intersections, walk don't run, and don't dart out from between parked cars.

—use passenger car transportation—AVOID the back of open pickup trucks, tractors pulling wagons, and lap-sitting in cars or trucks.

COSTUMES—ALL costume parts should be fire retardant/flame resistant, including clothing and wigs. Check the label. No paper or flimsy should be costume parts.

Avoid masks as they block vision; use makeup instead. Custom faces are fun to put on and can be an added dimension of a party.

Watch out for tripping hazards:

—clothes that are too long or baggy (cap, pants, sheets, etc.)

—shoes that are too big or loose (boots, heels, etc.)

—things that will catch on shrubs and fences.

Hats and wigs should not obscure vision or be so loose that they will slip.

In case of fire, everyone should be taught how and practice "drop and roll" to smother flames; do not run.

Decorations—electric lights only; no candles—flashlights and battery run camping lights work well in pumpkins.

Keep flammables like cornstalks away from sources of ignition. No smoking.

Keep doors, halls, stairs open and unblocked at all times. Use flameproof decorations whenever possible (crepe paper especially).

Food—Consider wholesome, nutrition food like fresh fruits and vegetables sticks for party food. If trick-or-treating, provide a filling meal before you go out, and inspect all the goodies before they are eaten. Check for cleanliness, foreign objects, broken wrappers, etc.

Avoid vandalism—Put "movables" indoors: ladders, lawn chairs, signs trash cans, mowers potted plants. Park equipment inside, close and lock doors. Turn on all available outside lights. Remove tripping hazards such as toys on walks and porches, and mark guy wires of trees, plants and power poles. Have a safe Halloween!

Students stage jeans recital

St. Johns

Twelve piano students of Diantha Witteveen staged a "Jeans Recital" on Saturday, Oct. 20. This informal gathering is the first of an ongoing series of opportunities to perform for each other that the students will have, without the usual recital-like atmosphere.

Students had a chance to ask questions of each performer, and their teacher had each student "teach" the others by varying the tempo, phrasing, or dynamic level, and asking which was the preferred result. Emphasis was also given to the form of each composition, and some of the pieces played were not "recital-ready", but illustrated the various stages of study.

Those participating were Kris Barnhart, Kristil Speck, Cindy Armbrustmacher, Amy Schmidt, Bill Tennant, Nancy Thelen, Leigh Anne Darnell, Tina Trefil, Erin Fox, Lisa Vitek, Sherrie Vitek and Jeff Richards.

On Sunday, Oct. 21, most of this same group attended the first meeting of the Performing Arts Students of Lansing Matinee Musicale, to which they belong. This organization of young people in the greater Lansing area is open to all who perform in any of the arts—music, drama, or dance.

During the seven meetings of the 1979-1980 season, area students have the opportunity to perform, and a guest artist is featured. This meeting featured Edith Kraft, pianist on the MSU faculty.

Other highlights are Farm

Bureau Services and Farmers Petroleum annual meetings, and also that of MACMA. There will be commodity meetings, the annual Women's meeting, discussion meet finals and finals for the Outstanding Young Farm Woman and Young Farmer of the Year contests.

A special Agri-Pac breakfast will be Nov. 29 and the governor's luncheon is scheduled for that noon. Director election for terms expiring including that of District V presently represented by Bill Spike of Owosso and caucus' will be Nov. 29.

The annual banquet is set for that evening, with a president's and roll call manager's banquet set for Nov. 27 followed by the county awards program. Farm Bureau members are urged to attend all or any portion of the convention and may obtain further information by contacting the county office.

Meet your director

Allen Cable

The Cable family has lived on the farm located on Chandler Road, Bath Township since 1934 when Cable's grandfather moved here from southern Ingham County.

In 1945 Allen began buying into the operation and upon the senior Cable's death he became the manager. By 1968 he was full owner of both the livestock and the land. Allen and his wife, Elaine, have two sons, Daniel and Kenneth.

The farm is composed of over 400 acres, 320 of which is tillable. About 200 head of livestock are raised and prior to early summer of this year over 50 cows were milked. At the present time there is no milk cow herd but it will be rebuilt as soon as the oldest son, Dan, is out of school.

Crops raised include alfalfa, corn, wheat and oats. The farm is truly a family enterprise with son Ken in charge of raising the calves, Elaine in charge of the bookkeeping and Dan and Allen doing the milking. All three fellows plant and harvest the crops.

Cable is active in his church and other civic organizations. He is a deacon at Eastminister Presbyterian Church, East Lansing, a member of DeWitt Lodge #272 F&AM and worked for the Clinton County Republican Party. He is a member of M.A.S.A., A.S.C.S., P.C.A., Professional Farmers of America, McDonald's Cooperative Dairy and Michigan Livestock Exchange.

His hobbies are travel and basketball. Goals in farming are to provide a stable life and livelihood for his family and carry on his grandfather's ideals on the farm where he was born. He wants to provide his sons with some practical knowledge and common sense and possibly the beginnings of lifetime careers.

Cable spends quite a lot of time fixing up antiques, mostly John Deer tractors and tries to get across to his sons the way farming used to be. He enjoys a slower pace of life than many of his counterparts in agriculture today.

Time is taken to enjoy the sunset or look for the sandhill cranes and while this does not make a lot of cash it makes life worth the effort.

Annual meeting

Witt re-elected county leader

The annual reorganization meeting of the Clinton County Farm Bureau Board of Directors was held Oct. 16 with all members and their spouses attending. Farm Bureau Women served the meal to 33 persons.

County President Don Witt welcomed newly elected directors Robert Grams, Bingham-Olive district, and Don Sisung, Essex-Lebanon District, and FB Women's representative Judy Kissane.

Comments were made concerning county annual and regarding action taken on resolutions presented. Delegates to state annual from the county board were selected to complete the total of 14 allowable to the county. Regional representative

Gene Greenwalt discussed some of the responsibilities of board members and took charge of the election which was done by secret ballot with a majority of the votes necessary to elect.

In each case there was only one ballot necessary with results as follows: Don Witt, president; David Pohl, vice president; and third member of the executive committee, Tom Irrer.

Leaving the board after two three-year terms were Jack Anderson and William Kissane as was Rose Swagart who had served as Women's Chairman for two years. These three were honored for their service to the County Farm Bureau and presented with gifts of appreciation.

Don Witt

St Johns picks 'Medea' to retain drama title

St. Johns

On Oct. 27 St. Johns High School will be hosting the district Drama Contest for the Michigan High School Forensics Association. This is the tenth year that the organization has sponsored competitive drama in the high schools throughout the state of Michigan.

Throughout the state of Michigan, between Oct. 19 and 27, high schools will be competing against each other for district drama titles. The top two winners of each district will advance to regional drama competition at the various regional levels around the state on Nov. 3.

The top regional winners will then pass on to the state finals at Southfield Lathrup High School on Nov. 16 & 17.

The schools participating in the St. Johns District on Oct. 27 are: Jackson Parkside, Lowell, Central Montcalm, Okemos and St. Johns. The order of appearance in the contest has been drawn and the schedule for the day at St.

Johns is as follows:

- 9:30 a.m. Opening assembly
- 10 a.m. Central Montcalm High School—"Of Mice and Men"
- 11 a.m. Okemos High School—"Lizzie Borden of Falls River Junction"
- 12-1 p.m. Lunch break
- 1 p.m. St. Johns High School—"Medea"
- 2 p.m. Lowell High School—"Mr. Winkler's Birthday Party"
- 3 p.m. Jackson Parkside High School—"David and Lisa"
- 4:30 p.m. Awards assembly

The St. Johns District Contest will be judged by three college instructors of theatre, one each from Central Michigan University, Alma College and Albion College.

The event is open free of charge to the public, and all are invited to attend. The only request made of the audience is that they not try to enter or leave the auditorium during the performances of the shows.

According to the state contest rules, all plays in this year's competition must be of a serious nature. The traditional contest rules of allowing each school only 45 minutes to take to a bare stage, put up their set, present their show, and clear to a bare stage will still be imposed.

St. Johns High School will be participating in this year's contest as the defenders of last year's state championship title—an honor that they have had for the past two years. As their contest entry this year they have chosen Euripides' production of the Greek classic "Medea."

The cast is comprised of Linda Hopp, Tim Dickman, Mark Humenik, Brent Laidler, LuAnn Shellito, Carol Huguélet, Robin Lawson, Margo Smith, Roxanne Shellito, Barb Lehnen, Gary Blasen, Mike Van Rooyen, Peter Witteveen, Mark Bauman, Dan Johnston, Nancy Tingay and Ben Manning.

The group is under the direction of faculty director Robert L. Koger and assistant faculty director Lea Smith, with student director Irenna Garapetyan assisting. The show designer is award winning student designer Tim Weaver.

In defending its title, St. Johns has chosen one of the most difficult works in the world of theatre. It is doubtful that any high school has ever attempted something as challenging as this. "Medea" is one of the first works of world theatre, finding its origin somewhere near the years of 461 B.C. However, director Koger feels his cast is strong and that the show will be one of the best St. Johns has done.

The red rose

Friday was a happy evening for Barbara Warnke, Fulton High School's Homecoming queen. She was crowned during the half-time ceremonies of the Fulton-Belleuve game. Each girl in the homecoming court was given a box containing a rose. The one with the red rose was for the queen and the rest received pink roses. When the girls opened their boxes before the homecoming crowd, it was Barbara who found the special red rose in her box. (Photo by Patrice Hornak)
