St Johns juggles its administrative duties

By Patrice Hornak
Editor

St. Johns city commissioners voted Monday night to juggle its present administrative staff, fill the vacancy of city clerk, while managing to save $800 initially on administrative salaries.

Acting City Clerk Richard Coletta was named city clerk and Diane Edwards, a former deputy assessor with St. Johns for eight years and currently an appraiser for the county equalization department, was named city assessor.

St. Johns had been looking for a city clerk since the end of November when Bruce Wood tendered his resignation to accept a city manager position in St. Ignace. Wood had been city clerk and assessor while Coletta had been zoning administrator.

As zoning administrator, Coletta was paid $12,500, according to City Manager Randy Humphrey. He and Mrs. Edwards now will both receive $14,500. Wood was paid $17,300 before taking the St. Ignace job. In effect, the city will be saving $2,800 on the city clerk's position, but will be paying $2,000 extra for the city assessor's position.

Coletta's former duties as zoning administrator, as well as four other office assignments as building inspector, code enforcement officer, purchasing director and recreation coordinator will be divided between Mrs. Edwards and Coletta by Humphrey.

This administrative set up is similar to the situation in 1973 when Wood was assessor, Humphrey was clerk and Harvey Weatherwax was city manager.

Both Mrs. Edwards and Coletta are St. Johns residents. She left the city's employ in June of 1977 to accept the post with the county equalization department. She has a level III assessor's certificate.

Come July 1, after the fiscal year ends, the accomplishments and salaries of Coletta and Mrs. Edwards will be reassessed.

The city reviewed only 12 applications for the city clerk's job. Only Coletta, Mrs. Edwards and a DeWitt man were interviewed for the position.

Also at Monday's meeting:

--A new zoning ordinance policy was adopted. Under the new policy, persons living within 300 feet of property being proposed for rezoning must be informed prior to the public hearing request.

--Engineering Design, Inc. of St. Johns was hired as engineering consultants for the city for a 12-month period. The city voted to pay up to $10,000 for the consultant services.

Happiness is a valentine

Valentine's Day is for kids. Teachers agree that it might be the all-time favorite holiday with Halloween running a close second.

It's the valentine cards that do it. Far more popular than the costumes of Halloween or the 50-cent gifts of Christmas time, those little tiny envelopes hold special joy and laughter and sometimes a clue to one's standing in the peer group.

Special messages to be sent and interpreted are sometimes kind and loving, sometimes humorous and sometimes mean.

To a friend who sometimes isn't quite a friend (probably he crowds in line or pushes on the playgrounds) a choice might be:

"Valentine, You look like a million dollars!"

"...All green and wrinkled!"
A lot of care must be taken with one that reads:

"Bunnies are cute; puppies are funny."

I like you like bears like honey!"
It can go to that cute little red-headed girl that you really like, but anyone else might get the wrong idea.

For the completely un-sentimental there's:

Roses are red, violets are blue,
...even Darth Vader looks better than you!

Valentine's Day is a time for the younger set to study the U.S. mail system and play postmaster. It's a breather in the middle of winter. It's an excuse for a party.

It's time for room-mothers to swoop in for an afternoon at school, bearing sweet confections, red punch and heart-shaped cookies.

Finger jello is popular this year, bright red, sweet squares made extra firm with gelatin. Party foods include decorated cupcakes and candy hearts with special messages. All this is valentine tradition.

And at Swegles Elementary school the first graders changed tradition today with a party of healthy snacks. Room-mothers came to Carole Johnson's class today with party treats of fruit, vegetables and popcorn. Children made fruit juice to drink and had carrots and celery and tid-bits of fruit.

She and her class have been studying good breakfast habits and most of the children have switched from sweet cereal to a non-sugared brand. They have also started to drink white milk at school instead of the popular chocolate. "It's good for you, it's good for your body, it's good for your teeth," said Kimberly VanAmburg.

"This year we decided that we would have a healthy party," Mrs. Johnson, said, "and the children really are all excited about it."

It's what I said at the beginning. It's the valentine cards that do it. They make the party!

Drain draws opposition

By Sue Kiley

DeWitt Twp.

DeWitt Township residents on the Remy-Chandler Drain have just begun to fight.

At a public hearing at the township hall Friday afternoon, 20 residents voiced their opinions on the drain project... none of which were favorable.

Several residents indicated they were never notified of the project until it had already begun. In a lot of cases the property had been secured and condemnation proceedings started.

"Many things are less than ethical concerning this project," Bruce Angell, Jr., commented.

Wesley Hackett, an attorney representing five property owners on the drain claimed the whole proceeding was illegal because no vote was taken by the people. His clients have filed written objections to the drain project.

One of the major concerns expressed by residents was that they received no direct benefit from the drain project, yet they were being told they had to pay. The majority of the residents felt the Lansing and East Lansing area would be reaping the benefits of the Remy-Chandler drain renovation.

"You stay off my property until I see something in writing," Bruce Angell, Sr. said pointing a finger at Harry Harden, Clinton County drain commissioner and member of the Inter-County Drain Board.

"If I don't get some compensation, they better stay off my property," Lloyd Wilks, another property owner said in agreement with Angell.

Bob Zeeb, township trustee, and also property owner pointed out several errors in the assessments deeming them unfair. He said people on the lower end of the drain asked for

St. Johns

The chance of a Guernsey cow giving birth to triplets is one or two in 10,000 according to the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service. Cardale Farms north of St. Johns was the scene of the once-in-a-lifetime triple birth recently.

Red, the proud Guernsey mother, and the sire Kellogg's Mini Choice got together about nine months ago. Red kept getting bigger and bigger throughout the gestation period and Al and Jack Anderson, brothers in partnership in Cardale Farms, thought Red might have twins.

Training is name of the game for future police

By Sue Kiley
Editor
DeWitt Township

A young man lay on the ground with a shotgun aimed at his head. A second police officer stands close by, his gun poised, ready for whatever might happen. An observer of this scene would think a crime has occurred with the police apprehending a suspect. In actuality a rookie police officer is being tested by his chief and sergeant in a simulation of a car felony. New officers are being trained during an eight to 10-week course in DeWitt Township. Laurie Levknecht, the township's first female officer, has completed the course. Ken Fisher, the second new hiree, is just finishing his training.

The concept of the program, designed by Chief Thomas Aranow is to adequately train the officer before he gets on the street.

"A lot of new officers have just come out of the Academy with no actual street experience," Aranow said. "I feel if an officer is going to make a mistake he should make it while training with an experienced man."

The program acclerates as the weeks continue. The first week the new officer is placed inside learning office procedures, filling out reports, working the radio and becoming familiar with the various police agencies.

The second week the officer goes through patrol operations and familiarizes himself with the township. At the end of the week he has to draw a map of the township listing major and secondary roads. At this point the rookie is an observer and rides with an experienced officer.

According to the program, new officers are supposed to ride with the same training officer whenever possible. Normally they work the afternoon shift because there are more varied activities.

By the third week the new employee is learning how to interact with the Clinton County Sheriff's Department and Bath Township police. He learns to request back-ups and other emergency services. In a hypothetical situation he must draw a map of the quickest way to get from one point to another.

During the fourth week the officer learns police driving, regular patrol maneuvers and pursuit driving. He learns when to use lights and sirens and when not to use them.

In the fifth week the officer is still traveling in a two man unit. However, he is assuming the major burden of the work with the experienced officer making critical evaluations.

By the seventh and eighth week, the training officer becomes the trainer; the decisions and judgments are made by the rookie. The training officer is there mainly as a backup.

During the program the officer is being tested constantly. "There are very few right of wrong answers," Aranow said. "We want to see what kind of judgment the officer has."

The program at DeWitt Township is in the experimental stages. Very few departments have such a detailed kind of training operation.

"A lot of departments say they can't afford to have two man units," Aranow said. "I feel we can't afford to have an untrained officer out on the streets."

The role playing is the last part of the test. The officer is critiqued on his every move.

Every officer is on probation for six months. They take the training test during this time. Where there is a weakness indicated, the officer works on the problem areas until he does it properly.

Learning is all part of the game. In DeWitt Township's case they want to learn before they have to use it out on the streets.

Length of hair causes brawl at truck stop

Commenting on a man's choice to wear his hair long cost Robert Fuller of 7285 Trout Lake, Bath, a bloody nose last week.

Fuller was having coffee at the M-78 truck stop with a man with long hair. After Fuller asked the long-haired man if he wanted a hair cut, another customer in the truck stop punched Fuller in the nose, defending the long-haired man. Fuller, in turn, hit the customer in the face with his coffee cup and a fight erupted.

In the affray $80 worth of tables and chairs were broken. The customer defending the long-haired man escaped and Bath Township police are seeking the assailant.

Employees of Kiebcro Foods saw a man taking four boxes of meat valued at $330 from the Kiebcro loading dock and the employees held the suspect until DeWitt Township officers arrived at the scene Feb. 6 at 4 p.m.

Charged with larceny from a building is Robert Meese of S. Pine, Mason. He was taken into custody by the arresting officers.

Several personal items were reported stolen to DeWitt Township police by Earl Fenning, 4608 N.E. St., on Feb. 6. The articles were taken from Fenning's car.

Ray Piggott of 13139 Hitching Post, reported clothing taken from his residence Wednesday morning, Feb. 7. At around 6 p.m. that day, a juvenile was detained and released to his parents in connection with the breaking and entering. The incident was investigated by DeWitt township police.

DeWitt city police investigated the breaking and entering of the James Moinet residence at 605 Locust. A stereo system and a black and white television set were reported stolen on Feb. 5.

Milk driver ticketed

St. Johns

A milk truck driven by Tom Banks of Clare collided with a car driven by Cindy Jo Dutton, Forest Hill Road, St. Johns on Feb 7 at 4:24 p.m., after the milk truck failed to stop for traffic on US-27.

Two vehicles were stopped for traffic on the right, so Banks drove the milk truck left into the northbound lanes, eventually hitting the Dutton vehicle broadside, pushing the car into a snowbank on Walker Street.

Banks was ticketed for not stopping in an assured cleared distance. Neither driver was injured.

special benefits such as tile and altering the course of the drain which were granted. However, they were not assessed any more for these extra benefits.

"I haven't been happy with this project from the beginning," Harden told the group. "I inherited it."

Harden noted it was standard procedure to offer property owners $1 for their land and then start condemnation. The owners are given a take-it-or-leave-it deal.

"I don't feel $1 is a fair and equitable price," Angell, Jr., said. "Furthermore I don't think you need the scope of operations you're planning on doing."

Another property owner said from his seat, "Well, we're servicing East Lansing again."

Instead of the Remy-Chandler drain project, Zeeb says it should be referred to as the "Sode Canal." He was referring to Richard Sode, Ingham County drain commissioner.

In addition to the money property owners will be shelling out, DeWitt Township will also be paying some of the other costs for the drain making up the $301,647. DeWitt Township will be paying 20.28 percent of the cost, second only to Lansing Township. Residents will be paying on the drain for the next 14 years.

★ Triplet calves

Around 9 a.m. on Feb. 1, Jack came into the barn and found the first triplet born. Number two came shortly after, but because it was breech or backwards, Jack had to pull it out. Believing that Red was finished for the day, Jack went into the house.

An hour later, he returned to the barn and found number three with its mother. Triplet Guernseys. Two are identical and one is fraternal.

Having triplets is a joyous occasion. Probably Jack and Al would be more excited about the one in 10,000 odds, however, if the calves would have been female--but there is still excitement with having triplet males, too.

Each of the calves weighed about 50 pounds apiece; a normal calf would have weighed 80 pounds when born. But, all are healthy and will be sold in the near future.

The Andersons milk 140 cows on their farm on Colony and Anderson Roads.

Snow banks make driving chancy

Clinton County

During the past week, several vehicle accidents were blamed on high snow banks which either obstructed vision or made the road too narrow to allow two vehicles to pass, reports the Clinton County Sheriff's Department.

On Sunday, cars driven by David Wohlfert, Eagle and Danny Barnes, Portland collided on Grange Road near Chadwick Road as Wohlfert was backing out of a private driveway. Vision was obstructed due to high snow banks. Wohlfert and Barnes sought their own treatment.

On Feb. 6 at 2 p.m., Sharon Cobb of Eureka was traveling northbound and went through snow being plowed by the road commission on Chandler Road. When she went to apply the brakes, the vehicle veered to the right, going off the roadway and into a tree. She sought her own treatment.

Bids taken

Clinton County

Bids on a $100,000 project to landscape along 7.3 miles of I-96 from the Ionia County line east to Wacousta Road, will be taken Feb. 14 in Lansing by the Michigan Department of Transportation.

The project is expected to be completed in May of 1981. It is among 24 highway and airport construction and maintenance projects on which bids will be taken.

3RD GRADERS LEARN

Teeth need attention

By Sharon Randall
Staff Writer

Eureka

Dr. Richard Nettke, D.D.S. went to school last week, visiting Eureka third graders as part of their study on dental health.

Jan Dieuble's students learned that flossing is very important; that care of the gums is as important as care of the teeth; that the best diet for both their bodies and their teeth is low in carbohydrates, "a fancy word for sugar". They talked about the orthodontist, pulling teeth and toothaches.

Third grade is the year teachers in the St. Johns school system stress dental health, often introducing it during National Children's Dental Health Week which was Feb. 4-10.

The main emphasis is on nutritional snacks and staying away from sweets, proper tooth brushing and flossing. Carolyn Moore, school nurse, visits classrooms on teacher request or will help find a dentist or hygienist to come visit.

Mrs. Moore has special interests in dental health. She has served for a number of years as a consultant for the Dental Health Education Commission of the Michigan Dental Association.

"The most important thing is for us to stress good dental health habits all year and not just during Dental Health

Week," she said. "Most all teachers do something to promote good dental habits," she explained. "And they try to reinforce it on and off all year."

Ex-teacher challenges bright students

By Sharon Randall

St. Johns

"T-h-i-m-k" he spells for them, waiting for one to suddenly become aware and protest that he used an "m" instead of an "n".

Gary Gearhart, ex-teacher now confined physically but not mentally to a wheelchair and approaching blindness, spends an hour every Friday working with two bright and eager third graders from Central School.

First they play a few games of chess. Michael Giesecke on one side of the board, Bruce Goins on the other. Gearhart is in the middle, coach, advisor, ready with an alternative move.

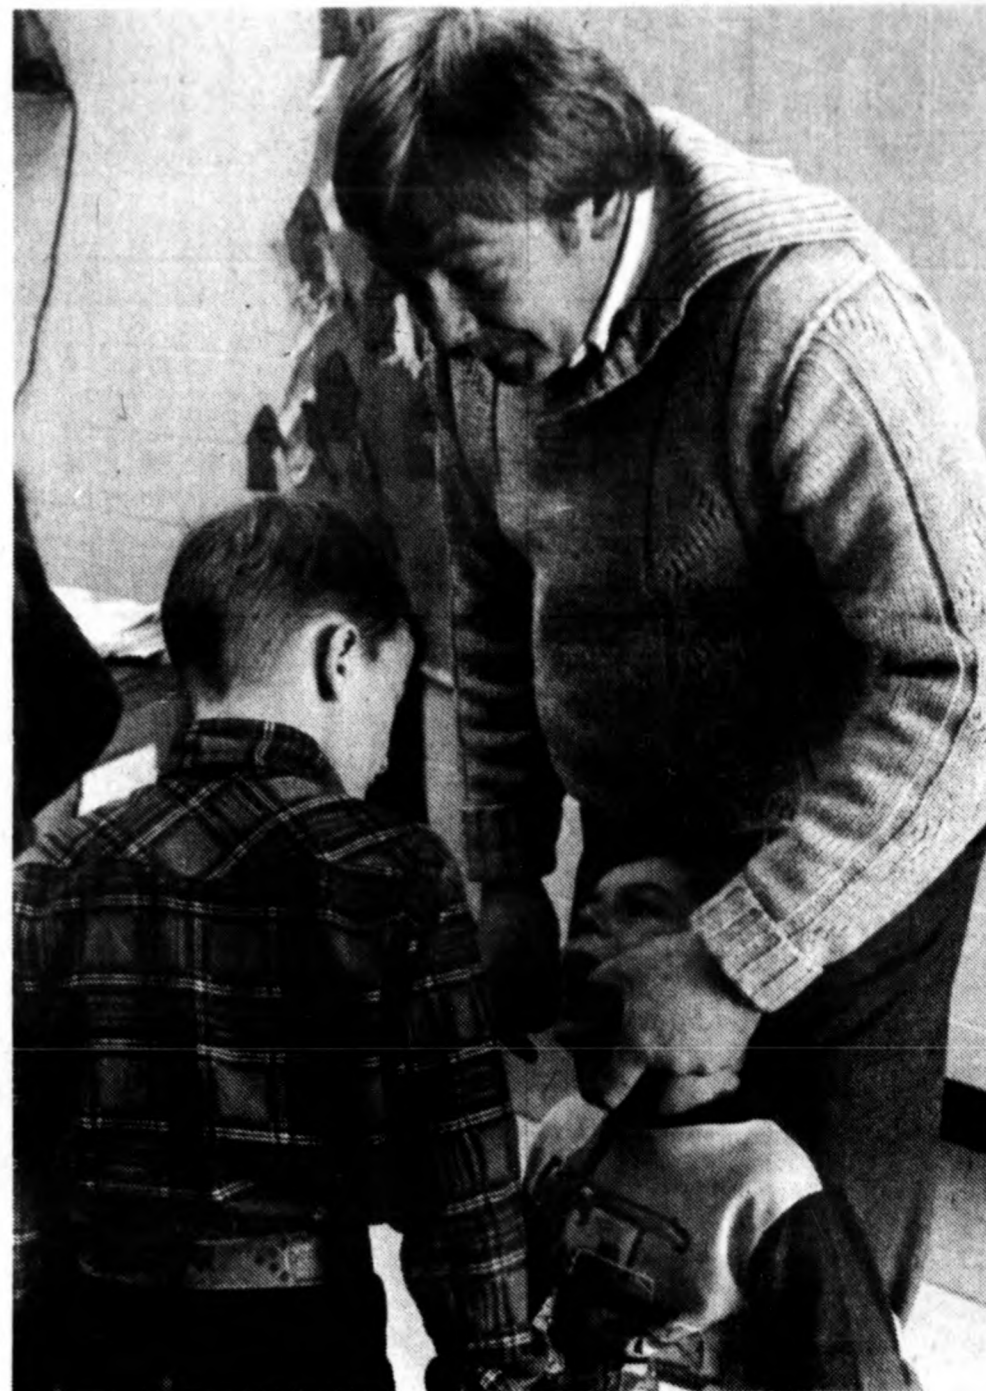

There's something else

special and different to do each week and when they leave he tempts them with the possibilities. "Maybe we should make a cartoon movie," he says as their eyes grow wide. "Or I know, I know what we'll do-but you'll have to wait until next week."

One week they tried to find out what it would be like to be blind or confined to a wheelchair. Bruce was blindfolded and had to push Michael through a maze in the wheelchair. They learned that a person who is blind or can't walk has to solve problems in a different way.

Another week they used wooden boards with nails and rubberbands to learn about finding square feet. "I try to intrigue them as much as possible," he said.

Gearhart is a Community Resource Volunteer.

A four-day grand opening celebration gets under way at 9 a.m. Wednesday, with top officials of the Muir organization on hand.

Muir's new store offers some 30,000 items including medicines, cosmetics, vitamins, photo supplies, candy, housewares, hardware, toys and greeting cards.

With an area of 9,000 square feet, the DeWitt store is the third outlet for Muir's in the greater Lansing area and is the 65th store to be opened by Muir's since its founding in 1921.

Managing the store will be Dennis Lardie, a former Lansing area resident and graduate of Haslett High School. Lardie joined the company in 1974 while attending Michigan State University and in 1978 was promoted to manager of Muir's Kokomo (Indiana) store.

Pharmacists at the new DeWitt store are Paul Ver-million who has been with Muir Drugs since 1949 and chief pharmacist at Brookfield Plaza since 1961, and Michael Scott who has been in the pharmacy field in Lansing for several years.

The DeWitt store is part of an expansion program planned for Michigan during 1979. An additional Lansing area store is scheduled to open later this year. The chain operates stores in Michigan, Ohio and Indiana, with headquarters in Grand Rapids.

Muir's also operates a modern drug manufacturing laboratory in Grand Rapids, which produces more than 200 drugs and cosmetic preparations plus a full line of vitamins which are distributed through the Muir stores and 180 independent stores.

Muir's operate four large photo finishing laboratories fully equipped with the latest in automatic developing and printing machines and has one of the largest color photo processing operations in the country. These plants serve 200 photo agencies in addition to the Muir stores.

The painting workshop will be held Thursday, Feb. 22 from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at Smith Hall. Beth Parker, who is to teach the class, said the group hopes to attract people who will be willing to take what they learn into an elementary classroom. The workshop will center around painting and working with colors. It will cover mixing colors, color vocabulary, and the discovery of how paint works.

Operating on a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts, the Arts for All Ages program is in its second year.

Those interested in the workshop should call the Community Resource Volunteers office to register, 224-8285. Anyone interested in working with children, classroom volunteers, scout leaders, Sunday school teachers, may attend and are encouraged to bring a friend, Mrs. Parker said.

DeWitt to examine bonding possibilities

By Sharon Randall
Staff Writer

DeWitt

The DeWitt Board of Education instructed Superintendent Raymond Spear to start investigating the possibility of a bond issue for the June election.

Spear said he would seek financing that would not involve tax increases. "I like to hope that we can stay away from any millage increases," he told the board.

He said the district could sell bonds without raising taxes through a school bond loan fund program that will defer payment over a longer period of time.

Needs of the district include a multi-purpose room at Scott Elementary, ball fields for boys and girls at the high school and storage areas at both the middle school and high school for athletic equipment. These needs were part of a recent recommendation from a citizen committee.

Spear said he would meet with staff to identify other areas of needs that should be included. He will also engage a financial consultant, work with legal counsel, and develop an information council to inform the community.

In other action the board moved to ask for cooperation between the city and the township in the annexation of property north of the Scott Elementary School for a subdivision proposed by Fedewa builders. Spears explained that the school district is interested in the project because it will involve the extension of Wilson Road. The outlet has long been sought by the schools.

In keeping with the bus replacement schedule, the board moved to purchase a 65-passenger bus and a 36-passenger bus for a total not to exceed $37,660. The district replaces two buses each year, when buses reach seven years of age. The district has a fleet of 17 which included two minibuses. Two of the buses are spares.

The new buses will be obtained from McFadden Corp. with Ford chassis maintaining a compatible fleet for mechanic and repair purposes.

Spear asked the board to make a 1980-82 school year commitment to the Clinton County Shared Time program that provides the district with 40 slots in six different vocational and educational programs.

DeWitt is the only one of the six county districts which has not formally made the commitment to ISD which binds the district financially to its 40 slots even if they are not filled. Spear told the board that the six county superintendents are working together for county students. "We have to reach agreement that this is a kind of experience that we want for our young people and we all have to pull together," he said.

Action also included: --A recommendation from board member James Decatur that the possibility of a radio station (WDWT) for the district be ranked by priority by the administration and staff. Decatur said his committee could not make a recommendation until they could compare the project with other needs of the district.

--A report by board member Robert Valentine on the citizen's committee on sex education. Valentine and Donna Price was named chairperson and three sub-committees had been formed for fact finding.

--Board member Keith Davis said Robert McConnell was the chairperson of the citizen's committee on substance abuse. Mrs. McConnell reported that the sub-committees were meeting. "We want to get at these problems and find solutions," she said.

--Heard from Bob Wirtz and heads of curriculum committees in reading, fine arts, business, industrial, physical education, health, and social science. The committees have established goals and will start working on objectives in their areas.

Rehas named RV family of 1979

The Jerry and Sharon Reha family of St. Johns has been named RV Family of the year and will be honored during the Detroit Camper Show which opens Friday, Feb. 16 and runs through Sunday, Feb. 25 at the Detroit Artillery Armory on West Eight Mile near Northland.

The Rehas and their four children, David, 19; Chris, 15; Jodie, 12; and Michelle, 6 have been camping for six years.

For three years the Reha's 27-foot motorhome has served a dual purpose. In addition to taking the family on camping excursions around the state, the Rehas often convert it into a mobile first aid station.

Offering their unit and their services to various organizations and activities, the Rehas are finding less and less time for personal use of their motorhome.

Last year, for example, the family logged 5,000 miles on the motorhome but only a week and a half was used for a family vacation in northern Michigan.

A maintenance man by trade, Jerry is qualified as an emergency medical technician and first aid instructor. Sharon, and their two sons, David and Chris, are also trained and certified in first aid.

At their own expense, the Rehas have equipped the motorhome with a complete supply of first aid equipment. Oxygen tanks, a stretcher and blankets were donated to the family for their volunteer work.

Now, more than two dozen times a year they roll their motorhome to an event and set it up as an emergency first aid station. Some of the organizations which have called upon their services include Muscular Dystrophy, Easter Seal and March of Dimes events, 4-H Club and VFW gatherings and a variety of festivals.

Jerry is also coordinator of a CB law enforcement group and the motorhome is used as a command center for such things as traffic control, search and rescues, and snowstorms when requested by state police or local enforcement agencies.

The Reha residence is at 1501 N. DeWitt Rd., St. Johns.

It's warm in Argentina, but it's cold in Westphalia

Leslie Murray

By Paul Miller
P-W High School Correspondent

Westphalia

For only the second time in the school's history, Pewamo-Westphalia High is active in an exchange student program.

The first exchange student was Maros Jungueina, a 1974 graduate from Brazil. The second, who is currently enrolled at P-W for the last semester, is 17-year-old Leslie Murray.

Leslie, one of two sons of Paul and Yolanda Murray, hails from Rosario, Argentina. Rosario, a city of about 2 million people, is located in the central part of the country.

Leslie is listed as a junior but has a few senior classes. His classes are: advanced algebra, U.S. history, government, current events, electronics, physical education and study hall. In Argentina, Leslie attended San Jose Catholic High School, an all-boys school.

At San Jose, classes start at 7 a.m. and run until noon. Leslie then goes home for lunch and returns at 1:30 p.m. when classes resume until 5:30 p.m.

Leslie's classes at San Jose included physics, chemistry, math and electronics. Each class runs for approximately 90 minutes.

After school he heads home for a quick snack (They eat their main dish at 10 p.m. and then on to one of the many "sport clubs" located in the city.

The clubs take the place of high school sports which they do not have in Argentina. Soccer and golf are Leslie's main sports interests, and in golf he shoots with an 18 stroke handicap.

Although he misses his friends and family, Leslie has found America quite comfortable, excluding the fact that he left the warm Argentina winter to come up and walk in the cold, snowy streets of Michigan.

He arrived in the U.S. Jan. 15 and will remain until mid-July.

Leslie is now residing with the Robert and Julie Fedewa family of Westphalia. The communities of Pewamo and Westphalia wish Leslie a happy stay in the United States.

It's Ben

"I'm an actor," Ralph Archbold told P-W students yesterday, "but sometimes I act like Ben Franklin so much, I forget my own name." His Ben Franklin manners and looks make his audience forget his real name, too. He brings Revolutionary America to life. (Photo by Sharon Randall)

Ben Franklin wows youngsters

Pewamo

It can't be called anything else but "living history," Ralph Archbold's authentic portrayal of Ben Franklin is inspiring to both young and old.

In Pewamo-Westphalia yesterday for an elementary school program, Archbold told students he spends more time in a year being Franklin than himself. He wears his wardrobe of Revolutionary War period clothes so often, they seem "normal and comfortable" to him.

When he is out on the road as Franklin, he travels in his costumes. "I don't change when I leave the auditorium," he told the children, "I'm quite comfortable to wear these clothes to the store or restaurant. People just say 'Hi, Ben' when they see me."

Archbold, from the Detroit area, begun playing Franklin at Greenfield Village. He still appears there in 350 short outdoor shows in the summer. The rest of the year he travels as Franklin to school and civic programs in Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. On an average he appears as Franklin some 800 times a year.

As Franklin he gives a first person report on his famous electricity experiment, his famous "air" baths, bifocal glasses and his other great inventions.

Ben Franklin came to school at Pewamo-Westphalia as part of an enrichment program sponsored by the annual carnival. Last year $750 was raised to provide a variety of enrichment activities that also included a marionette show and two Walt Disney movies.

'Annie' and America have optimism shining through

By Patrice Hornak

"The sun will come out tomorrow..." So sings Little Orphan Annie in the musical "Annie" which I had an opportunity to see at the Fisher Theatre in Detroit on Saturday. Little Orphan Annie is optimistic though her life is dismal. Tomorrow has to be better than today, though today isn't really that bad.

In many ways, "Annie" shows the American dream come true.

First of all, in America the poor can rise to the top of the social ladder. Consider the character of Little Orphan Annie. She's an orphan, though she dreams of the day when her real parents will claim her and take her into their hearts and love her. She has no worldly possessions, just a locket given to her by her parents, and a note saying her parents would return.

But, by being herself and capturing the love of billionaire Oliver Warbucks (a billionaire should have a few bucks in his name), she is adopted into riches. The orphan becomes an heiress...a rich little girl.

Also consider the character of Warbucks. He, too, was poor, born into Hell's Kitchen. He made it his goal to be rich and he succeeded with the philosophy that you don't have to be nice to everyone on the way up the ladder, if you don't plan to come down.

America is the land of opportunity. Warbucks took advantage of opportunities and combined hard work and a shrewd business mind to become wealthy. Little Orphan Annie was given an opportunity—a once in a million opportunity—to become rich.

Another overriding theme in the play was that the bad are punished and this is another American premise, though it's taken a beating in the system down through the country's history.

In "Annie" the orphanage director is a mean woman who hates kids, drinks and smokes cigarettes. She gets her just punishment when one of the orphans stomps on her at every chance. A little pain in the foot seems justified for this woman who is bad. The audience feels admiration for the foot-stomping orphan and no pity for the mean orphanage director.

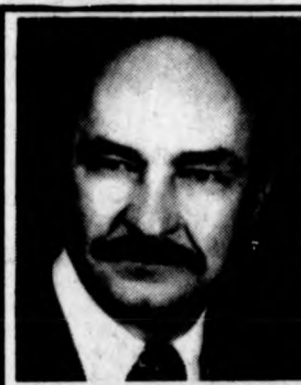

Another bad character in the play, Rooster Hannigan, is also bad and he gets punished in the end, too. Rooster Hannigan is the orphanage director's sister, and together they plot to make money off Little Orphan Annie's association with Warbucks. At the end of the play, Rooster and his floozy girlfriend, Lily, are escorted off to jail by the FBI no less. Good prevails.

Another theme which I feel characterizes America is: Be optimistic. Annie sings in the song, "Tomorrow." "The sun will come out tomorrow...Tomorrow is only a day away."

America has to be optimistic. It seems our country has had its ups and downs, but it manages to be one of the strongest nations on earth, nonetheless. If there's a problem, there's a solution. Tomorrow is only a day away.

Certainly, "Annie" paints a rosy picture of life. But, then life is a bed of roses. It just depends upon whether you're in the mood to smell the roses or feel the thorns.

Reforms aren't working right

By Richard L. Milliman

Money is always a fascinating subject—especially our money which we pass on to governments at various levels to use in our behalf. The total of taxes paid to state and local governments has now passed the $200 billion mark for the first time. Two hundred billion dollars! It's impossible for human mind to conceive a figure so huge. For the sticklers, the exact figure is $202.6 billion in fiscal 1978, according to the Tax Foundation.

Utah and California legislatures are considering similar actions. It would take 34 states adopting the amendment to force Congress to call a convention solely to write an amendment to force the federal government to the balanced budget. I'm all for balanced governmental budgets, but I don't have a lot of faith that the federal government will operate with one even if the Constitution requires it. Somehow, Washington will find a way around it.

Turning to the Census Bureau for more localized data, we learn that in fiscal 1977, three states had per capita burdens of more than $1,000 per person in state and local taxes—Alaska with a whopping $2,296, New York with $1,252 and California with $1,089. Washington, D.C., which wants to be a state, was also right up there, even without statehood, with a total of $1,071. Michigan ranked relatively high with $878 per capita state and local tax load, while Ohio with $641 and Indiana with $652 were a few steps behind. Lowest state and local tax burden, according to the Census Bureau, was in Arkansas with $494 per capita, followed closely by Alabama with $507. Other states below $600 were Mississippi, South Carolina, Tennessee, North Carolina and Oklahoma—all, of course, located in what used to be called the South but now is referred to as the Sun Belt. A couple of questions pop into mind: (1) The Sun Belt is attracting population and industry; can lower tax loads be a very important reason? And (2), once the population and industrial levels rise in the Sun Belt states, can taxes remain low? Turning to federal spending for a moment, two more states have joined the growing surge of support for a national constitutional change to require a balanced federal budget. North Carolina and Arkansas—which, as noted above, sort of cotton to the idea of comparatively low tax burden—have become the 23rd and 24th states to join the demand.

Let's close with some quickie comments: --Richard M. Nixon has come out of hibernation and is traveling the globe anew. That's all right with me. Just like mainland China, Mr. Nixon is a fact of life, too large to ignore forever. One of his early comments when he came out of exile interested me. He told a student audience in Oxford, when asked about Watergate, something that went like this: "I screwed up and I paid the price." Indeed he did, on both scores. I can't help wondering: if Nixon had admitted at the time of Watergate that he "screwed up," would the people of the nation have forgiven a contrite and repentant Nixon, and might he have been able to finish out his term in the White House? We can never know, of course. But I wonder. --Let's hear it for newly elected Sen. William Armstrong of Colorado, who ran last fall on a conservative, money-saving platform. After the election, Sen. Armstrong sent letters to contributors announcing that he had a campaign surplus of more than $100,000 and he offered refunds. I've never seen a tally of how much he sent back; probably his backers were too stunned to reply. --A recent story about Michigan Republican workhorse Jerry Roe, who is leaving his party post shortly, indicated he was a native of Montana and "a graduate of the College of Great Falls." Is that anything like the School of Hard Knocks?

SENIOR CITIZEN UPDATE

Do you have a pet?

By Ruth Delo

There are so many nice people in this world even though sometimes we question that fact. I met two such young men who were so very concerned about you, seniors.

One young man who does income tax in Lansing, Keith Fisher, met several seniors while doing their property tax rebates. He discovered the fact that many seniors are on a very limited income.

One senior told him she was going to have to give away her dog because she could not afford the license or the shots and were needed. Keith has a friend who is a veterinarian, so he discussed this problem with him. This is who I am going to tell you about.

Dr. John Hinson was born in Brewton, Ala. When he was seven years old, his family moved to Fort Lauderdale, Fla. where he lived and graduated from high school. He spent the next four years attending the University of Alabama.

In 1973 he earned his veterinarian degree from Auburn University in Auburn, Ala. He practiced his profession in Fort Lauderdale until 1976. At that time he moved to Maple Rapids and bought the Maple Rapids Clinic from Dr. Donald Kendall. In December 1977 he opened another office in DeWitt, where he now lives. Both practices are doing well, he reports.

He bought an old building on US-27 near the DeWitt corner, which was really an eyesore and made it into a modern building with very modern equipment. He seems to be very proud of this office. It is completely barrier free for any of you handicap people, young or old.

You people who have pets, know that they must have their rabies shots by March 1. Dr. Hinson will give a 50 percent discount on all his services, except boarding and grooming. This 50 percent discount is for seniors 60 years old or older and you must bring proof of your age. This discount runs until March 3.

These services include any vaccinations, such as rabies, distemper, etc. and neutered, spay or any other necessary surgery or any medical problems.

He is located at 11371 S US-27, DeWitt, telephone 669-2381. His other location is 119 E. Maple, Maple Rapids, telephone 682-4052. Call for an appointment.

There is always someone in the DeWitt office to take your call and when there is no one in the Maple Rapids office, if you let it ring long enough, it will transfer to DeWitt and it will be answered there.

DeWitt office hours are: Monday--12 to 8 p.m.; Tuesday and Thursday--9 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Friday--12 to 6 p.m.; and Saturday--9 to 12 noon.

Maple Rapids office hours are: Monday, Wednesday and Friday--9 to 11 a.m.; Tuesday and Thursday evening--7:30 to 9 p.m.

I hope you will take advantage of this 50 percent discount and get your pets all the help they need.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Citizen complains

Dear Editor, I just finished reading the fine print about the St. Johns Commissioners minutes, also the Clinton County Board of Commissioners zoning requests. One has to come to the conclusion our governing bodies tend to get mental blocks as do our state and federal representatives when it comes to tax dollars they want to spend.

My first gripe is on the jail voters rejected. The county already owns many acres south of St. Johns. Why do we need expensive land on Townsend Road?

Mr. Hufnagel stated this land south of St. Johns does not have city water and sewer. Has he been out that way lately? If not, there is a large complex built as the facilities of the County Road Commission. I would guess they have more people working there than would ever be at the jail. I might be wrong. It seems his staff is ever increasing.

These people at the Road Commission sure must be hurting by quitting time if they do not have certain facilities, since according to Mr.

Hufnagel, this land won't support a sewer system.

The only thing about the Townsend Road land is it will make certain individuals wealthy.

Gripe number two.

The commissioners seem to have a real thing about selling the old road commission buildings. Why can't this property be used for a new jail? I don't think it would cost $240,800 to remove these buildings, and the site has city water and sewer.

The city needs new facilities for a fire department. If not a jail site, why can't buildings be converted to the fire hall? The facilities are there. A big garage, repair department. Who says a fire department has to be downtown. The six blocks from Main Street doesn't create any problems. How long does it take to drive six blocks?

It appears politicians see tax dollars dancing in front of their eyes. Everything has to be new and expensive.

Your truly, John Glowacki Rte. 2 St. Johns

Hospital auxiliary says thanks

Dear Editor, I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Clinton County News for the publicity given the Heart Ball on Feb. 3. The County News has always been very generous in giving our Hospital Auxiliary excellent coverage.

Also, at this time, I wish to thank the community for supporting this gala event. Our organization could not exist without the help of the people of the St. Johns and the outlying area.

Special thanks should go to my hard-working committee consisting of Peg Cole, Bonnie Fowler, Karen Soffin, Bernice Serrell, and Wanda Humphrey.

Respectfully, Mary Crosby, Chairman Heart Ball Committee

The horse knows the way to carry the sleigh . . .

The Fizzels

By Sue Kiley
Editor

Lansburg

The family at Buggy Hill Farm does some old-time living whenever they get the chance. In fact, Ron and Carolyn Fizzel started their married life wed in a rustic old church. They were even pulled up to the entrance of the Reed Church by a horse drawn wagon a year ago.

In the wintertime a quarter horse named Lady Beth pulls a sleigh through the back roads of Clinton County. In the summer she pulls a springboard wagon.

"She's our one-horse snowmobile," Mrs. Fizzel said as she helped hitch up the horse to the sleigh. "She's all kinds of transportation rolled up into one."

Dressed in orange snowmobile suits, boots, scarves, hats and mittens three of us set out on an old-fashion sleigh ride. It was like turning back the hands of time except when faced with an oncoming car.

Fizzel's two dogs, Dawn and Lucky, act as mascots, warning of cars and even slowing them down. They also protect the occupants of the blue and white sleigh from other dogs and animals.

The sleigh is over 100 years old and was originally painted red and pulled by a little pony.

"It's an enjoyable pastime," Ron said. "I'd hate to have to depend on it for groceries though."

Ron more or less inherited the sleigh-wagon when he married Carolyn. She had the vehicle from a previous marriage.

It takes the family consisting of Ron, Carolyn and two children, Scott and Ron an hour to get to church in the wagon. No longer are there horse stalls, so the animal is tethered to a tree. Not soon after the services had begun, one day Ron felt a tap on his shoulder with the usher telling him his horse is loose. How often did this happen 100 years ago?

Ron and Carolyn had to learn about driving a buggy and sleigh by trial and error. They didn't even know if the horse would take to pulling a sleigh, but Lady Beth did. This is quite a feat for a horse that was never broke. Sometimes the horse doesn't always do what she is told, but for the most part she adapts to the conditions quite well.

Carolyn enjoys giving children rides in the wagon. She tells them about the wagon, that the horse travels about four miles an hour, and answers any questions they might have.

"It's fun to be able to share the experience with kids," Mrs. Fizzel said. "Most of them think cars have been around forever."

For pulling the sleigh in the winter, special shoes were made for Lady Beth. Attached to the shoes are type of steel which bites into the ice for traction. Even then the sleigh seems to slip and slide a little.

On Sunday it is a common occurrence for the people in the East Pratt Road area to see the sleigh with an orange flag and slow moving vehicle sign pulled by a horse. Little children and stare. The older folks remember what it was like to ride in the open carriage. Others just stand with the drivers and occupants giving a smile and wave in the doorways of their homes. Lady Beth just keeps trotting, her sleigh bells jingling as she continues down the familiar trail.

All during the ride Carolyn talks to the horse giving words of encouragement and sometimes a little slap of the reins.

"You're thinking and looking for the horse all the time," Carolyn said as she motions a car to pass the sleigh. "You have to anticipate trouble before it happens."

By the time Lady Beth had neared the end of the mile course, ice had formed around her nostrils and her passengers were complaining of having no feeling in their feet. Ron had warned one of the dangers of winter riding was the horse developing frost in her lungs. It was time to go home.

The ride was completed with three pairs of hands huddled around the air vents of the furnace and hot chocolate warming on the stove.

★ Complex on view

mission building on US-27, south of St. Johns.

The open house is set from 2 to 5 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 22, for the 1,320,000 complex. Clinton County was given an Economic Development Administration (EDA) grant for $1,009,500 to build the structure.

The new 47,000 square foot building is about twice the size of the former 21,000 square foot county road commission building located at the corner of M-21 and Morton Street in St. Johns.

Included in the new structure are: a large commission meeting room, a superintendent-manager's office, secretary's office, general office, two storage vaults, drafting room, construction engineer's office, foreman's office, lunch room and a small engineering testing room.

Also included are: a 94-foot by 284-foot storage garage for motorized equipment, welding shop, steel storage room, tire repair shop, sign shop, oil storage room, repair shop with three hoists and overhead crane, and a parts room.

On Dec. 28, the 56 employees of the road commission moved into their new offices. Construction went pretty much on schedule according to Road Commission Secretary Bob Eldridge.

Though most of the work is completed, a number of projects are waiting for warmer weather, according to Superintendent-Manager Jay Hebner

A salt storage building to hold 15,000 tons of salt will be built this summer; Taft Road between US-27 and County Farm Road will be paved this summer to give the road commission two exists; and the back area will be fenced. Landscaping for the front of the building is also planned.

The Clinton County Road Commission has not yet sold its former building, though a public hearing to rezone the structure from municipal center zoning to industrial is slated for Feb. 26 before the St. Johns City Commission.

Musicales studies Irish

St. Johns
Members of the St. Johns Morning Musicales met at the home of Mrs. Howard Woodbury Thursday, Feb. 8. During the business meeting an announcement was made concerning the scholarship audition, on April 28.

$100 scholarship will be made available to students of piano or voice, who reside in and attend high school in Clinton County. Students interested in obtaining more information should contact Mrs. Maurice Witteveen, audition chairman.

Mrs. Sybil Werbish presented "Music and Irish Poetry," highlighting the lives of two of the most famous of Irish poets, Thomas Moore and William B. Yeats.

Thomas Moore, born in 1779 in Dublin was a well-educated man, whose poem "Lalla Rookh" brought world wide fame. He was best known, however, for his lyrics set to music, which include "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," "Rhymes on the Road," "The Last Rose of Summer," and "The Harp that Once Through Tara's Halls" to name a few.

Also included were the works of the leader of the Irish Literary Revival, W.B. Yeats. He too was born in Dublin in 1865, and much of his verse was about the countryside of Ireland, which he loved so well.

Mrs. Manning Bross continued the study British Isles, speaking about the poets of Scotland, Robert Burns, the Scottish national poet, was born in Alloway in 1759. Most of his poetry was written in dialect and he is known to have written the words of at least 300 songs.

Sir Walter Scott, born in Edinburgh in 1771 was a novelist, historian, and biographer in addition to being a poet. "The Lady of the Lake" and "The Lay of the Last Minstrel" are two of his best known narrative poems, with words of the former set to music by Franz Schubert.

Robert Louis Stevenson's works completed the morn-ing's discussion. Stevenson, also born in Edinburgh, lived from 1850 until 1894. One of his poems from "A Child's Book of Verses" was performed as a musical reading by Mrs. Julia Thornton, who also played other examples of poetry set to music by these famous poets.

The next meeting of Morning Musicales, which is affiliated with the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs, will be Thursday, Feb. 22, at the home of Mrs. Paul Martis. This guest night will begin at 7:30 p.m. and the topic of the evening will be "More Music and English Poetry." People interested in attending are invited to contact Mrs. Michael Ruhl, club president.

INDOOR PAINTING

The last time you painted a room were you disappointed in the result? Here are some tips to help you choose a paint. Remember that light colors will repel heat, while dark tones absorb heat. Light colors make a small room seem larger. Dark colors make an overly large room appear smaller. Ceilings appear lower when darker than the walls, and higher when lighter than the walls.

Paint generally dries to slightly different color or shade. For a fast preview of the final color, brush some paint on a piece of clean, white blotting paper. The blotting paper will immediately absorb the wet gloss and the color on the paper will be close to the color of the paint when it dries on the wall.

Look at color swatches both in daylight and under artificial lighting. Most paint stores use fluorescent lighting, and consequently a color that looks one shade in the paint store may look another shade in your home. The colors next to the paint also affect its appearance.

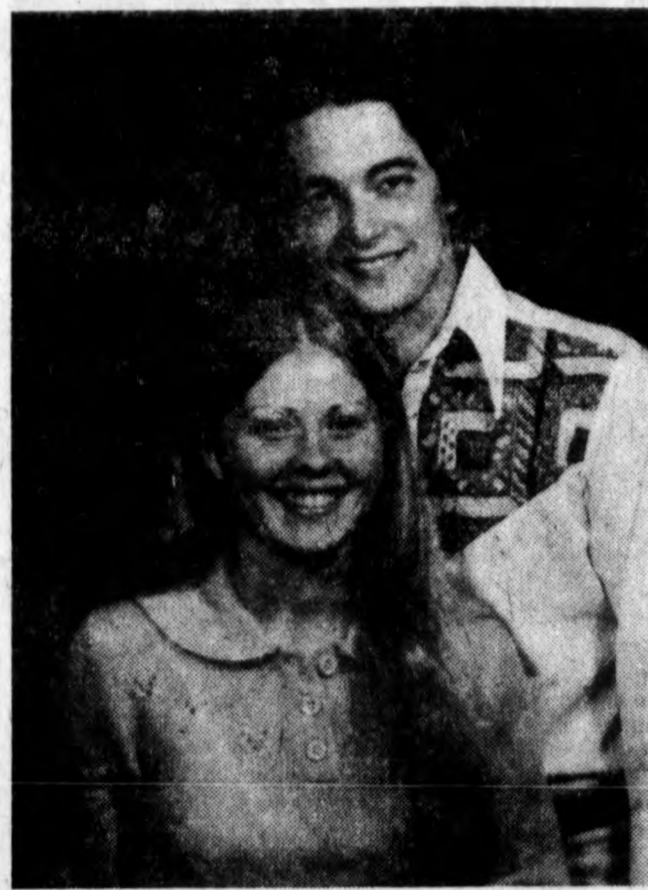

Observe safety precautions when you do any interior painting. Never paint in a completely closed room or in a room where there is an open flame or fire. Solvent paints give off fumes that can be flammable and also dangerous to breathe. Avoid sleeping in a freshly painted room until the fumes subside. Some fumes can be especially harmful to infants, children, canaries and other delicate pets.

When you're painting on a ladder, lean toward it. Keep one hand free, ready to grab the ladder just in case. Do not overreach when painting. Give a wide berth to any electrical wiring within the area of work, especially if you are using a metal ladder.

When you're through painting, put those dirty, used rags into a covered metal can to avoid a spontaneous combustion. Always store paint in a safe, well-ventilated place where children and pets cannot get to it, and well away from any source of ignition.

Allen selected head of school vandalism task force

Lansing Dick Allen has been selected by the Governor to serve as the Michigan Senate's spokesman on a newly-created Statewide Task Force on School Vandalism and Violence.

Formerly a member of the Senate Education Committee, Allen was recently appointed to the Senate Appropriations Committee and will serve on the panel's School Aid Sub-committee during the new legislative session.

The task force on school vandalism and violence was established to offer recommendations for reducing school crimes. The panel's 37 members include, in addition to Senator Allen, educators, parents, students and law enforcement officers. Allen said the problem of violence in our nation's schools has become very serious in recent years.

Allen further noted that the problem of school vandalism and violence is not limited to urban school districts.

"This problem is spreading to rural schools across the state as well," he said. "Brutal fights in corridors and weapons hidden in cars are no longer the rare occurrences in our rural schools that they once were."

"Violence and vandalism in the schools is a problem that affects everyone," he continued. "It interferes with the orderly process of education for students, results in increased costs to Michigan taxpayers, and undermines community confidence in our schools."

The task force is due to present its recommendations and suggestions for the reduction of school violence and vandalism to the governor by the end of this year. The panel held its first meeting this week.

One busy lady

By Debra Brunger
Assistant Home Economist

Some people are busy out of necessity, but some are busy because they enjoy it. Sue Haas is that kind of person. The first thing that one notices when meeting Sue is her infectious exuberance.

As she takes time out of her daily schedule for an interview, she is still tuned into many other responsibilities. First there is her active daughter, Jenee, who is a kindergarten student at East Essex school. There's also the little boy she babysits every day and her husband, Chuck.

Chuck and Sue recently started their own heating and plumbing business and Chuck works out of their home. Sue handles the bookkeeping and answers the phone. And, oh, that phone! As Sue says in this cold weather it never stops ringing.

Is this enough to keep Sue busy? By no means! She's an active 4-H leader in the Happy Hustlers Club, teaching sewing skills and this year is acting as chairperson of the Personal Appearance Committee which plans and organizes the Spring Style Revue.

Sue has been involved with 4-H for 16 years. She started at age 11 in a horse club and has since turned leader and volunteer. Horses are a real love of Sue's and she owns two of them, one for her and one for Jenee, which she boards at her parent's home near Alma.

What else does Sue do? She sews for people. During the fall and winter she spends from 30-40 hours a week involved with this occupation. She serves as secretary-treasurer of their cottage association and is also secretary of the Gratiot County Sheriff Department Posse Quarter Horse Show. Even with all this, she finds time to decorate and care for her beautiful and unique home on French Road., north of St. Johns.

Sue Haas loves 4-H and loves working with kids. To her, this really is a rewarding, joyful experience. When Haas Plumbing and Heating organized in mid-November this past year, becomes less hectic, does Sue have other plans? Yes, indeed. She would love to become more involved in 4-H. This time as a horse leader. She also has ambitions to finish her college degree, perhaps even an advanced degree. People like Sue, with her energy and ambition, are what make 4-H tick.

BEAN REFERENDUM—A HOT POTATO!

Back in 1961 when I was a county agent in Huron County, largest dry edible bean county in the state, we held a meeting for the purpose of figuring out how we might increase farm income at a time few young folks saw farming as a very promising career.

One of the eggs (or should I say beans) that hatched was an idea to promote and advertise beans. Other counties came up with similar ideas, but it wasn't until four years later that the Michigan Bean Commission was born.

A few months ago, a dissatisfied group of farmers circulated a petition to bring a referendum to the dry edible bean growers (includes about everything but soybeans and snapbeans) to decide if they want to abolish the bean commission and save the five cents per hundred pounds sold that goes into the bean commission kitty. Our function as county agent is to provide growers; with information that will help them decide and make sure they understand the rather complicated balloting proposal.

We had a whale of a bean crop in Michigan last year and when Michigan has a big crop, that means a lot of beans, since our state produces a high percentage of several kinds and somewhere near 90 percent of those delicious little "navies" that are such great canners.

We have heard some ugly rumors the bean commission

Fowler Fireballs' second meeting was Monday, Jan. 22 at the Fowler High School. Pledges were said and two games were played to start the meeting. A family potluck dinner and spring achievement night will be held on April 20 at 7 p.m. at the Holy Trinity Parish Hall.

They were told of the 4-H Family Day program on Jan. 27. Volunteers were asked to help at the fair in August. They were reminded of the direct physical disaster loans to all Clinton County property owners who sustained wither crop loss or damage due to drought from January through August, 1978.

Operation Clean-up Poster Contest deadline (which was Jan. 26) and encouraged to participate as there were generally few entries made. The meeting was followed by refreshments.

Foxy Trotters held their monthly meeting Jan. 22. The meeting was called to order and the 4-H pledge was said. Diane Efting talked about their personal 4-H records and then gave them answers to their horse problems.

Businesses that have suffered economic injury as a direct result of the disaster may apply for an Economic Injury Disaster Loan. Such businesses are required to submit documentation showing that the economic injury suffered was directly attributable to the disaster.

Funds received from these loans may be used to provide working capital and to meet financial obligations that otherwise would have been met had the disaster not occurred. Where possible and without causing undue hardship, a business must use its own assets or credit from the private sector if available at reasonable rates to meet its financial obligations. Interest rates on Physical Disaster Loans for crop losses are 3 percent on the first $25,000 and 6.625 percent thereafter. For Economic Injury Disaster Loans the rate is 3 percent on the first $25,000 and 6.625 percent thereafter. Disaster Loans are to be repaid by the earliest date possible without causing undue hardship. Typical maturity runs from seven to 10 years but could, under extenuating circumstances, go to the maximum of 30 years. Physical Disaster Loan application must be filed on or before June 7; Economic Injury Loan applications must be filed on or before Sept. 7. No applications can be accepted after these dates. Contact the ASCS office in St. Johns for more information at 224-3720.

Prune shade trees now

By Mark Hansen
Extension Agriculture Agent

PRUNING TREES

One of my colleagues, District Horticultural Agent Gurdon Dennis, has recently listed a few important points on pruning trees. Homeowners who have fruit or ornamental trees should take note.

Shade trees can be pruned at this time of year. Shaping can be more easily visualized without the leaves and there will be less material to dispose of without the leaves. Healing of pruning scars will proceed rapidly with new growth this spring.

Pruning of spring flowering trees at this time will eliminate some flowers since the flower buds have already been formed for next spring. If you worry about bleeding from cuts it will be at a minimum from pruning at this time. Bleeding does not harm the tree.

Make all cuts as flush to the next branch or trunk as possible. Don't leave shoulders on pruning cuts or they will never heal over. Painting cuts has no benefit other than a cosmetic. There are no paints available at this time that either water-proof or disease-proof a cut, and in some instances they could be detrimental, causing fungi or rot the wood more rapidly.

If you would like a leaflet on pruning trees and live in the Clinton County area, stop in at the Cooperative Extension Office in the new county building under the water tower in St. Johns.

has been less effective than it could be, but have to be impressed by the 17 accomplishments the bean commission lists that range all the way from foreign market development to distribution of 200,000 recipe books entitled "All About Cooking Beans." All known bean growers will receive this letter extolling the efforts of the bean commission and will have to decide how well their nickels have been spent.

Let's take a look at the referendum: A "Yes" vote means death to the bean commission. Costs of the referendum are already up to $5,000 and are borne by the commission.

All growers who sold beans in 1978 can vote and so can their wives and all of their children, if they participated in production and shared income from bean sales.

Family members, regardless of age, can split their votes on the issue either on a single ballot or on separate ballots. Total beans sold must be prorated to family members if they split on their balloting.

A landlord receiving cash rent on land where beans were produced, can't vote, but if he received a share of the beans he can vote. The referendum needs to pass in two ways to abolish the commission. First, it has to get the greatest number of votes and secondly, it must pass by "a majority of pounds sold."

The key to amount sold is when the sales agreement is negotiated—not when the cash or check are received.

This is exactly contrary to I.R.S. requirements. Ballots must be postmarked by March 17. If no legible postmark is on the specially prepared ballot envelope, then those stamped in to the Michigan Department of Agriculture by March 20 will be counted.

To confuse matters more, it's conceivable some growers could legally vote three times. A farm corporation is entitled to a single vote—each member of a partnership is entitled to vote, each individual in any way engaged in bean production and receiving income from them is entitled to a vote. It's not likely, but some growers could qualify all three ways.

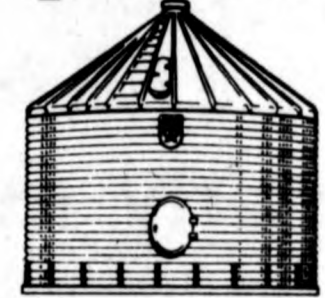

Sounds as if whoever dreamed this one up was full of beans!

With a dab of paint, china plates turn into works of art

DeWitt

Evelyn Campbell turns ordinary white china into a work of art. There are several plates in her kitchen a visitor wouldn't think of eating from.

The art of porcelain painting takes some talent but a lot more patience, according to the DeWitt teacher. The end result of hours of painting, firing, and repainting is a three-dimensional picture in vibrant colors.

Mrs. Campbell studied with a renown teacher in Detroit for seven years. In fact, she still is taking lessons.

"When I first took the classes, my teacher told me I had some talent," she said. "She even said I could some day be a teacher...and here I am."

Although she only has 18 students, Mrs. Campbell said this is because the painting is more of a challenge. Her students in turn see more of an accomplishment.

"It takes longer to master," student Karen Kimble said. "But I really like it."

Mrs. Campbell indicated she tries to make the painting as easy as possible. She lets them start out with one of three very basic patterns which are traced onto a large plate. The student first learns and masters the brush strokes. Then she works at her own pace.

For a long time there wasn't a lot of interest in china painting. Now the interest is picking up, because of the high cost of porcelain ware.

"I can see why it costs so much in the stores," Mrs. Campbell said. "You have a lot of time invested in one piece of work."

"It's hard work and takes a lot of discipline," Mrs. Kimble said. "Once you have the brush strokes down, the rest is mechanical. Learning the basic techniques might take years. However, there are many projects one can complete after just a few sessions. Experimenting with new ideas is the key.

On of the projects Mrs. Campbell has a special aptitude for is painting and repairing antique lamps. She can repair a fixture and match the paint so the observer would never know the object had been broken.

"This is a real challenging career," Mrs. Campbell said as she showed one of the repaired lamps. "A lot of the colors aren't really used anymore."

The paint is applied in layers and then wiped off to give the art depth. Enamel is placed over the top of the painting to give the painted object a raised effect.

"China painting is different from almost every other kind of art form,"

Mrs. Campbell said. "The rewards are worth the time invested."

MSU offers gifted class

Michigan State University will offer an extension class here on "Gifted and Talented in the Classroom," for the spring term which starts in mid-March.

Thirty teachers from Clinton County took the class when it was offered last year. Dr. Howard Brighton, regional director of MSU's Life-long Education programs said the university will bring the class to St. Johns if at least 10 people pre-register. Interested persons should call Jenny McCampbell, 224-6134.

Forest land proves valuable if properly managed

By Sue Kiley Editor

Rose Lake Forest land can pay for itself if it is managed properly according to forester Hoeksema. Presently, there is a great demand for timber. Because of a lot of forest land is under private ownership, obtaining the wood becomes difficult. "We encourage management," Hoeksema said. "Trees can be used for wildlife, recreation and forest products which can be a benefit to everyone." As a forester for Clinton, Ingham, Shiawassee and Eaton counties Hoeksema goes out with a land owner and tells him exactly what he has on the property. He gives the owner pointers on planing, pruning, thinning or selling trees. In some cases he can even help the owner sell the timber.

When a woodlot owner does work to improve the trees 75 percent of the cost is paid for by the federal government. The cost is shared in almost every instance which is meant to encourage management.

Hoeksema describes what types of trees are on the property, the size, and gives the owner alternatives and options for using the land to its fullest extent. "It's up to them where they go from there," the forester said.

Although the young forester has only been on the job four months, he sees one major problem southern Michigan land owners face. A lot of the forest lands are lost because of heavy taxation and zoning regulations. Much of the land is owned in 10 or less area parcels which up until now did not qualify for any type of tax break or incentive. Legislation is pending at this time to alleviate this problem.

"I'd like to do more, but as it is now I can't keep up with the demands," Hoeksema said. "Clinton is quite an active county as far as forest management goes."

The forester noted it could take up to three months before he could talk to a property owner and help evaluate the land. However, he noted the wait would be worth it because of the benefits which would be obtained.

"People don't realize their forests can work for them," Hoeksema concluded. "That's why I'm here."

Redwings take league win

Chesaning Free throw shooting decided the fate of the St. Johns basketball team last week. Friday the Redwings were hot and came through with a win against Chesaning 68-62. On Feb. 6, the Redwings missed several clutch free throw opportunities and fell to Ionia, 70-68, in double overtime, against league rival Chesaning, the Redwings fell behind early in what was a sloppy game. They trailed by two points at the half and three points after three quarters. Then coach Bob Tissot said his team got down to work.

The kids decided in the fourth quarter they really wanted to win," he said. "They put things together and stole the ball for some easy shots." The big contrast between the two games, Tissot said, was St. Johns free throw shooting down the stretch. Against Ionia the Redwings went scoreless on four one-and-one situations, but against Chesaning they hit eight of eight in the closing minutes. Mike Stafford led the Redwing attack with 24 points and 10 rebounds. Jim Dedyne had 14 points and six assists. St. Johns also got some needed help from the bench.

Tissot said Tod Ballinger had three key steals in the last four minutes and had some important baskets. Also, he played an aggressive rebounding game. "Chesaning played rough and we didn't react to it," Tissot said. "Tod came in and really played aggressively, especially down the fourth quarter stretch. He finished with seven points." Another Redwing contributing off the bench was Todd Bakita. He was four for four from the line, had an important three-point play to pull St. Johns within one point and played steady defense.

The loss to Ionia was a heartbreaker for St. Johns because the Redwings played well enough to win, especially in the first half. "We played a really steady first half," Tissot said. "We started with a 10-0 lead and stayed around eight or nine points ahead the whole time. At times it looked as if we'd run them out of the gym." But the Redwings fell flat in the third period. They missed several easy shots and let Ionia outscore them 20-11 to tie the game after three periods. St. Johns rallied to take a six point lead with a minute left, but the Bulldogs took advantage of poor foul shooting and turnovers by the Redwings to tie the score with 23 seconds left. St. Johns missed the last shot of regulation to send the game into overtime. Ionia jumped ahead in the first overtime, taking a four-point lead. But St. Johns fought back and Stafford scored with 16 seconds to knot the game at 66. St. Johns fell behind late in the second overtime, but the Redwings had several opportunities to tie with free throws. St. Johns

O-E does it again to Alma

By Tom Nowak

Alma

Nearly 4,000 fans jammed into the Alma High School gym Friday expecting an intensely played, exciting game. Nobody was disappointed. Ovid-Elsie upheld its high state ranking and wrapped up a share of the league title that night by edging Alma in overtime, 62-58. Alma had not lost at home for two years. "It was a classic basketball game," coach Bob Foreback said. "There were two good teams, a lot riding on the game and a big crowd. They got what they came to see." At first the game didn't look like a classic, at least not from a purist's point of view. Play on both sides was sloppy, though that was due more to intense defensive play than offensive carelessness. That sloppiness didn't last long, however, even though the intensity increased. Big play followed big play, and though Alma had the lead most of the game, the Panthers only once seemed to control O-E. Alma took the early lead and the margin hovered around four points for better than a half. But midway through the third quarter Alma looked as if it was ready to pull away. The Panthers outscored O-E 10-2 in the first four minutes of the second half, and O-E was down 40-30. Three baskets by Ed Kaminski and one by Ray Bowles brought O-E right back within two. O-E had several chances to tie the game but missed them all. Alma then regrouped and took a four-point lead into the final period. But O-E quickly jumped to its first lead of the game with baskets by Mike Hudecek and Kaminski and two free throws by Cary Bashore. Alma regained a four-point lead with four minutes to go, but Hudecek and Kaminski each hit a pair of free throws to tie the game at 50. Mike Ward hit a long jumper to give Alma a lead, but Ray Bowles answered at 1:43 to tie the game. Bowles nearly followed with the play of the game, knocking the ball loose from an Alma guard trying to freeze the ball. Bowles was ruled out of bounds, however, and Alma retained possession. But possession didn't last long. An Alma shot was off the mark, Hudecek rebounded, and O-E froze the ball with 1:14 to go. The clock ran down to 11 seconds before time was called. O-E tried to get the ball inside to Kaminski but Alma defenders intercepted the pass and called time with five seconds left. Kaminski intercepted the inbound pass and called another time out, but O-E couldn't get off a decent shot and the game went into overtime. The overtime belonged to O-E. Kaminski scored the first basket, then after a traveling violation by Alma, Hudecek found Mark

Carter alone under the basket to give O-E a four point lead. Alma came back with a 15-footer to draw within two, but Besko found Kaminski alone under the basket to give O-E an easy two points. From then on the O-E defense took over. Alma

Redwings move to swim title

The St. Johns swim team cleared its second major obstacle on the way to a Mid-Michigan B title Thursday by defeating Alma, 115-54.

St. Johns was without seven of its front line swimmers, including Kirk Goins, Rod Lounds and Ben Manning, all of whom were sick during the week and missed practice. Coach Jim Markaruskas expected that would hurt the Redwings, but that wasn't exactly the way it turned out.

"The end result was that the people who have been swimming in the second and third spots or who haven't been swimming at all really came on," he said. "We had our best times right down the line," he added. "It really shocked me."

St. Johns won every event but the backstroke. The most noteworthy win of the evening belonged to diver Scott Davison. Not only did he have his top score of the year, 204 points, but he took his fourth dual win to qualify for the state meet. Other winners were Brent Mailand, 200-yard freestyle; Tim Grost, 200-yard individual medley; Steve Baxter, 50-and 100-yard freestyle; Jim Bertoldi, 100-yard butterfly; Eugene Pierce, 500-yard freestyle. Also, Keith Parsons, 100-yard breaststroke; Grost Parsons, Baxter and Pierce, 200-yard medley relay; and Pierce, Al Nelson, Bertoldi and Mailand, 400-yard freestyle relay. Baxter's time in the 500-yard freestyle was 23.7, equalling the St. Johns varsity record. Swimmers having personal best times in at least one event were Joe Rewerts, Rick Mee, Mike VeCasey and Dae Wilcox. St. Johns, 2-0 in the MMB, has now beaten Alma and Corunna, the second and first place teams a year ago. Thursday the Redwings host Ovid-Elsie in another league meet.

Redwing gymnasts qualify for regionals

Mt. Pleasant

The St. Johns girl's gymnastics team qualified for the regional tournament with an 86.3-81.4 win over Mt. Pleasant Thursday night.

The team score was the fourth qualifying score the Redwings have attained this year, putting them in the regional meet for the first time.

The Redwings were led by freshman Darlene Cerny, who finished first in all four events and set two school records. The first came in the parallel bars, which she won with 7.7 points. That broke the record of 7.45 set by her sister, Denise, in 1976. Kristi Hoag was second for the Oilers with 7.3 and LeAnne Lannen was third for Mt. Pleasant with 6.75.

Darlene won the floor exercise with 8.15, another St. Johns record. The old mark again belonged to Denise, 7.85 in 1977. Hoag was second with 8.05 and Dawn Bakita, another Redwing freshman, was third with 7.85.

Cerny won the vault with 8.05 and Sharon Law of the Redwings was second with 7.25. Diane Ososki was third for the Oilers.

Cerny had to share first place on the balance beam with Lannen, both scoring 7.3. Law was next with 7.05.

The Redwings picked up the regional qualifying score without team captain Denise Cerny, who is still out of action with a knee injury.

St. Johns, 6-1 on the season, is at Harry Hill tonight.

Wrestlers win 1 out of 4

By Marcia Lusk
Correspondent
St. Johns

The Redwings wrestlers ran into some tough competition the last week of the season and couldn't manage more than one win.

The sole win was over Grand Ledge, one of the teams competing in the triple-duel at St. Johns Tuesday. The Wings took the Comets, 30-22 with all wins coming on decisions. Winning were Jerry Peters, 9-2; Brian O'Shaughnessey, 12-3; Kurt Hayes, 10-2 and Greg Wood, 4-1 Jeff Brown and Ken Harris each had draws. St. Johns lost to Durand for the second time this season, 44-24. Wood and O'Shaughnessey pinned their opponents and decisions were awarded to Don Healy and Garret Hayes.

Against powerhouse Mt. Pleasant, the Redwings didn't fare as well. The Oilers, ranked first in the state in Class B, shut out St. Johns, 62-0.

In the final dual meet of the year the Wings dropped a heartbreaker to Ovid-Elsie, 37-25. St. Johns was behind by just six points going into the last match but couldn't pull it out.

All wins against the Marauders were decisions. Winners were Peters, 7-0;

Kurt Hayes, 6-0, Garret Hayes, 14-2; Harris, 7-6; and Wood, 16-4.

At Saturday's league meet at Corunna, St. Johns finished seventh with 79 points. St. Johns was sixth in dual competition, so the Redwings shared sixth place in the final league standings.

St. Johns had one individual champion, Jerry Peters at 105 pounds. Peters was second last year. Kurt Hayes was second at 119, Don Healy was third at 98 and Greg Wood was third at 165. Wood was a third place winner last season.

Chesaning won the title meet and the league championship and O-E was second.

St. Johns will be in the Class B district tournament Saturday at Chesaning.

O-E second in league meet

Corunna Ovid-Elsie wrestling team wrapped up second place in the Mid-Michigan B league with a dual win over St. Johns Thursday and a runnerup finish at the league meet Saturday.

O-E beat the Redwings 37-25, then finished behind Chesaning at the league meet in Corunna. That finish, combined with the Marauder's 6-1 dual record, was good for second place overall.

The Marauders earned three individual titles at the MMB meet. One went to Dave Toth at 112 pounds who won the title with two pins and a decision. Toth won a league title last year. Rick Bancroft won the 132-pound title, shutting out his opponents 14-0, 14-0, 14-0. Bancroft was second in the MMB last year.

Richard Ackels was the other champion, winning at 191 pounds. Ackels was league runnerup last year.

Finishing second for O-E were Bob Latz, 138, and Jeff Geogre, 165. Neil Stambursky was third at 105.

Stambursky was a 7-0 winner over Jerry Peters at 105 pounds against St. Johns. Bancroft took an 11-1 decision over Dean Thelen and Latz pinned Jeff Brown in the third period. Kevin Wilson took an 8-5 decision over Bruce Guenther at 155 and Geogre pinned Lloyd Johnson in 3:56. St. Johns could have tied the match with a pin in the heavyweight match, but Ackels put Joe Speer-becker to the mat at 1:19.

O-E is at the Class B district Saturday at Chesaning.

★ O-E

missed. Bowles took a big rebound and later forced a jump ball. O-E controlled the tip. Hudecek was fouled, hit a pair and the lead was six.

Alma scored twice more, but the Hudecek-to-Carter combination resulted in another basket and wrapped up the win.

"If you want to be a championship team you have to take advantage of your opportunities," Foreback said. "Once we got the lead we kept the pressure on. If they scored, we came back and scored and put the pressure back on. It just came down to which team would miss first."

Kaminski was the high scorer with 28 points, including six of six from the line. Dirk Besko had 10 first half points, Bowles had 10 and Carter had eight, four coming in the closing minutes.

Alma was led by Mike Ward's 18 and Mark Ward's 14.

O-E's ability to handle the pressure was shown at the free throw line, where the Marauders hit 12 of 14. Alma missed two first-half free throws and never got another chance at the line.

Kaminski had 15 rebounds and six blocked shots. Hudecek had seven rebounds and Carter had eight.

Foreback had high praise for the defensive play of Bowles and Besko.

"Those two guards played super defense," he said. "They hustled like crazy and took a lot away from Alma."

The win put O-E at 15-0 overall and 11-0 in the MMB. A win over St. Johns, Chesaning or Swan Valley would give the Marauders their second straight title. O-E is rated third in the Detroit Free Press and United Press International polls.

O-E tuned up for the Alma game with a 93-65 romp over Ithaca Feb. 6. Kaminski scored 24, Dan Fabus had 17, Bowles 13 and Hudecek 10.

O-E hosts Chesaning Friday.

P-W takes 2 from Portland

Portland If the community of Portland was to be a more generous host, it would have to give Pwamom Westphalia's basketball team the key to the city.

As it was, Pirates made two trips to Portland and came away with two easy wins. On Feb. 6 P-W cruised to a 59-30 win over Portland, and Friday the Pirates disposed of St. Patricks 65-46 in a CMAC game. The Pirates defense led the win against the Raiders, as Portland's meager 30-point output indicates. P-W allowed just two points in the second, six in the third and took a 29-12 lead at the half.

Mike Belen led the P-W offense with 18 points and Warren Hengesbach had 12. Belen had 11 rebounds and Hengesbach, 10, as P-W had a 40-19 rebounding advantage. Stan Piggott had seven assists.

The Shamrocks proved to be little more of a challenge, as P-W had a 36-21 halftime lead and was never threatened.

Daryl Fedewa had what probably was his best game of the year, leading P-W with 18 points and 11 rebounds.

Belen had 16 points and 11 rebounds, Piggott had four steals and Hengesbach had 12 points, nine rebounds and five assists.

The CMAC win over St. Patrick gave P-W an 8-1 mark, good for a share of first place with Olivet. P-W is 10-4 overall.

But that lofty position in the league will be threatened next week by two nearby rivals. P-W is at Fulton Friday night, then travels to Fowler's middle-school gym for a game with the Eagles. Both teams are near the top of the CMAC.

DeWitt duo help LCC

A pair of DeWitt players helped the Lansing Community College basketball team to a pair of wins last week.

DeWitt's Kay Carroll and Sherri Lotre each scored 15 points to lead the Stars to a 95-52 win over Muskegon Community College. That was the career scoring high for both.

Kathy Kramer of Portland highlighted a 77-58 win over Jackson Community College with 20 points and 10 rebounds.

Bees close to league lead

Bath

The Bath basketball team kept pace in the Ingham County League race Friday with an 81-60 win over Pinckney.

Tuesday the Bees dropped a 63-58 overtime decision to Lansing Catholic Central.

The ICL win over Pinckney kept Bath a half-game behind Stockbridge. Since the Bees meet Perry tonight and Dansville Friday, coach Dick Wilt says they are in the happy position of controlling their own destiny. If they win the rest of their games, regardless of what Stockbridge does, they will have at least a share of the league crown.

Bath was down by seven against the Pirates after on period but tied the game 33-33, at the half. Then the Bees kicked into high gear, outscoring Pinckney 25-9 in the third quarter to take the decisive lead.

Kirk Ordiway was the star of the game for Bath, scoring 22 points and accounting for 19 rebounds and 11 assists. Richard Brown continued his strong play with 22 points and 16 rebounds.

Chris Gutzki had a good game with 15 points and eight assists. Chris Foote scored 11 and Les Vietzke had eight.

Bath shot almost as well from the field as it did from the floor. The Bees were 59 percent from the line but 55 percent from the field.

Wilt said a halftime defensive adjustment was responsible for the third-quarter turnaround. The Pinckney guards accounted for 17 of the 33 first half points, but in the fourth quarter they could only score four.

The loss to LCC negated a brave Bath comeback. The Bees played the taller Cougars even for the first half and no more than three points ever separated the teams.

But the Cougars pulled away in the second half, and with 2:50 to go had a 12-point lead. The Bees went to work, however, and in the last minute of play were within striking distance.

With 13 seconds to go Bath was down by four points. Kirk Ordiway scored on a drive but was called for charging after the shot, his fifth foul.

The Cougars missed the front end of the one-and-one. Bath missed a shot but Eastlick dropped in a rebound at the buzzer to send the game into overtime.

But with Ordiway on the bench the Bath rebounding was weakened. With putting up a front line of 6-8, 6-7 and 6-3, that disadvantage was much to overcome. LCC outscored Bath 8-3 in the overtime.

Brown led Bath with 20 points and 16 rebounds. Ordiway had 17 points and 16 rebounds, while Gutzki had 10 points and seven assists.

"We did a super job in coming back," Wilt said. "LCC has a huge team. We'd like to play them in the districts."

Bath may get that chance, since LCC will be in the district tournament hosted by the Bees.

O-E girls beat St Johns

Elsie

Ovid-Elsie's volleyball team split two league matches last week, falling to Chesaning 15-2, 16-14, but defeating county rival St. Johns, 15-10, 15-12.

Eldina Marriage led O-E with 11 service points against St. Johns, but coach Gina Mazzolini said everybody had a hand in the victory.

"We were just fired up and ready to beat St. Johns," she said. "Everybody looked good and everybody gave 100 percent."

She said the Marauders had a good transition between offense and defense.

O-E didn't set up as much as she would have liked, she said, but when it did points usually followed.

St. Johns had a 7-0 lead in the second game before O-E came back.

Mazzolini said Denise McCue, Lori Webster and Brenda Francis all did well spiking. "We are on our way to jelling together and becoming a decent team," Mazzolini said.

Inconsistency hurt O-E in the Feb. 5 match against Chesaning. The Marauders were swamped in the first game, then had the second game tied 13-13 before falling.

"We played well at times," Mazzolini said, "but Chesaning is a good team and we have to play consistently well against good teams."

O-E, 3-3 overall, hosts Corunna tonight and is at Bullock Creek Monday.

Fulton gets two 2 easy wins

Middleton

If last week's action is an indication of what's to come, the Fulton Pirates have put their mid season slump behind them.

On Feb. 6 the Pirates destroyed St. Louis, 103-51, then Friday overcame a deliberate Potterville attack to whip the Vikings 83-59.

Aware that a running game against Fulton would be disastrous, Potterville started with a deliberate offense. The strategy worked for awhile, as the Viking's were only down by a pair after one period.

Then Fulton began to assert itself of the boards and got its running game going. Potterville was forced to play at Fulton's pace and the Pirates eased away.

Jeff Cooper was the top Pirate scorer with 21 points. Mark Skaryd had 14 and Daryl Trefil had 12.

Fulton had a 46-29 rebounding advantage, with Cooper taking 10 and Tim Johnson 11. Trefil had nine assists and four steals and Gary Moore had four steals.

The St. Louis game was no contest as Fulton took a 49-26 halftime lead and kept pulling away. The third quarter score was 76-38.

"It was by far our best game of the year," coach Kim Lathwell said. "We did everything well. St. Louis tried to get into a running game with us and that was a mistake."

Lathwell also said it was Fulton's most aggressive game on the boards. Fulton had 39 rebounds, St. Louis had 30.

Lathwell said the junior varsity game also picked up the varsity morale. Fulton was down 77-58 after three quarters of the JV game but outscored St. Louis 38-7 in the fourth period, taking a 96-85 win and generating a lot of enthusiasm.

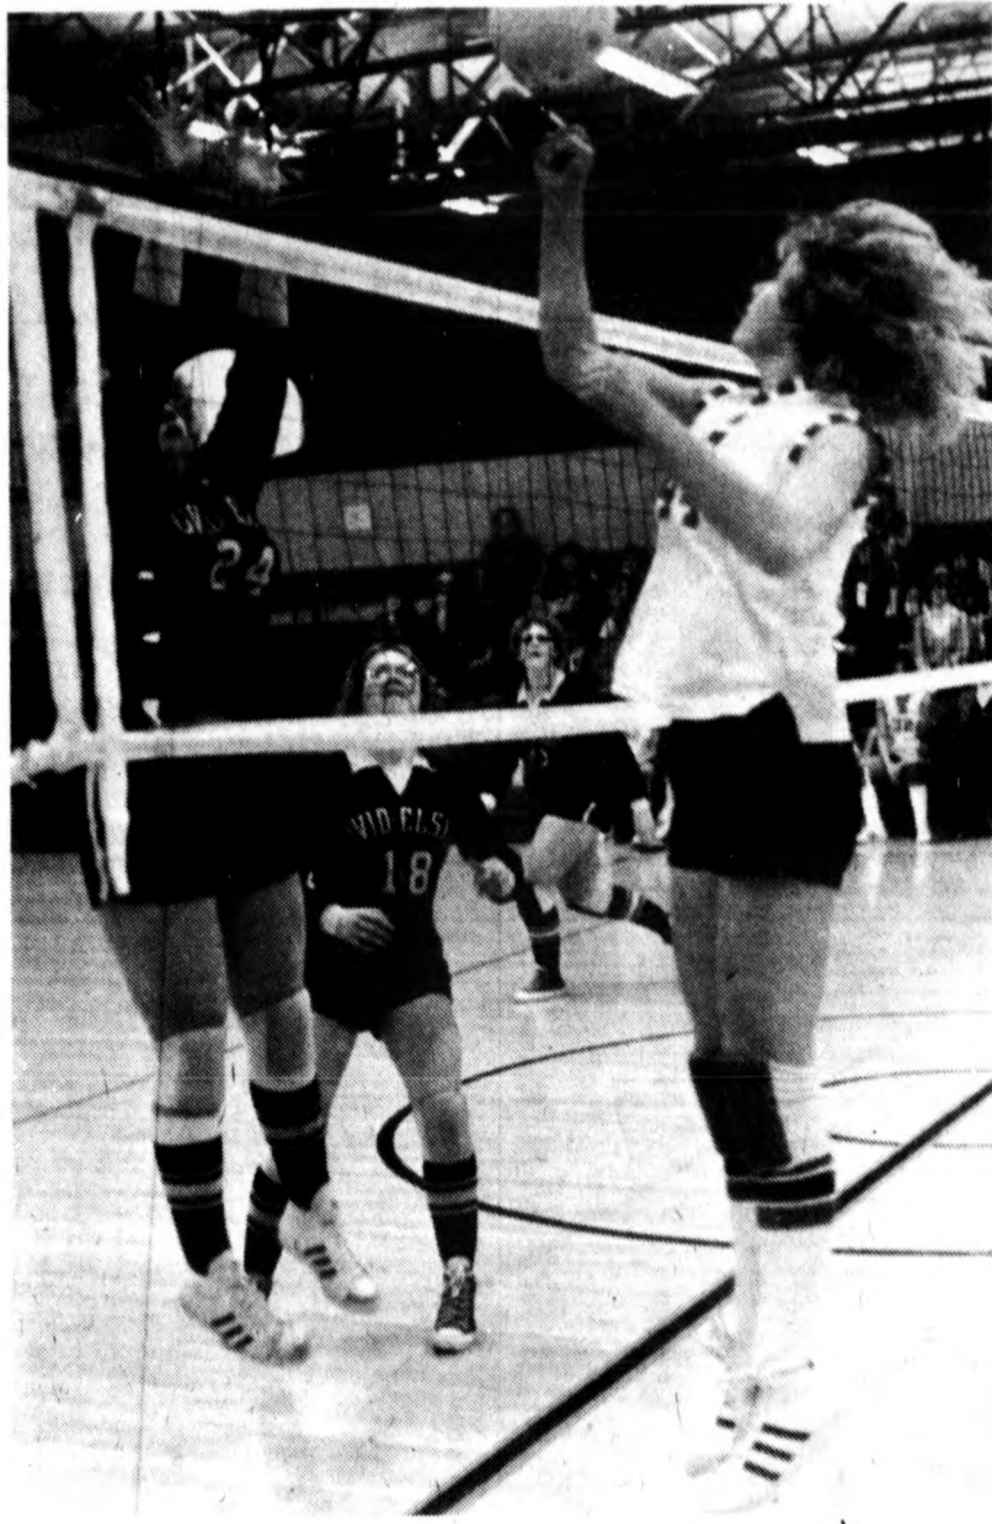

Thirteen men scored for Fulton. Cooper led with 17 points. Trefil had 16 and Mark Skaryd had 10.

Cooper had seven rebounds and Brad Winsor had six. Trefil had four assists and six steals.

Shooting percentages were another indication of the one-sidedness of the game. Fulton hit for 55 percent from the floor--44 of 78--while St. Louis was 17 of 55 for 30 percent.

Fulton is now 9-4 overall and 6-3 in the CMAC. Friday they host league-leading Pewamo-Westphalia, then travel to Bellevue on Tuesday.

Eagles split openers

Fowler

People said it would never happen, but it finally did--the Fowler volleyball team actually started its season.

The Eagles were scheduled to start on Jan. 15, but with the lovely weather Clinton County has been blessed with Fowler didn't see action until Feb. 6. The delay didn't hurt that night, since the Eagles whipped Bellevue 15-3, 15-10.

Thursday was almost the reverse for Fowler, however, as the Eagles lost to Olivet 15-4, 16-14 in another CMAC match.

In the first game against Bellevue, Mandy Miller led with 12 points six service points including a pair a aces. Phyl Pohl had an ace spike that game.

In the second game LuAnn Smith, and Sue Farley served four points and Mindy Feldpausch had five service points and a good spike.

The spiking was better against Olivet, especially in the first game. Fowler had 10 spikes, six of which were good either for points or the serve. Pam Myers led the spiking.

In the second game Fowler scored better with free balls than with spikes because Olivet was able to stop anything Fowler would set up.

Fowler is at Potterville on Wednesday and at home against Fulton on Thursday.

Pirates win in CMAC action

Laingsburg
Pewamo-Westphalia varsity volleyball team won its second Central Michigan Athletic Conference match of the season Wednesday, defeating Laingsburg 15-7, 12-15, 15-5.

Michelle Rademacher served for six points in the first game and Jackie Simon served for five. Dorothy Thelen had four service points in the second game to lead a balanced attack.

The third game was even until Judy Spitzley took the serve. She scored nine straight points, including two aces, to give P-W the game and match.

The Pirates had 56 good serves in 62 tries for 90 percent, somewhat below coach Carol Bogard would like.

Bogard credited Jane Cotter with a good offensive game she said, "the most of the season. Before, we were content to get the ball over with a bump. Now we're getting it over with a spike."

The Pirate junior varsity maintained its perfect CMAC record with a 15-6, 15-11 win over the Wolfpack. Diana Carter served for 10 points in the first game and Lynn Klein had nine points in the second.

P-W had a poor night serving, hitting 39 of 49 for about 80 percent

The Pirate varsity is now 4-3 overall, 2-1 in the league. The junior varsity is 6-1 and 3-0 in the CMAC. Wednesday P-W hosts Saranac and travels to Olivet Thursday.

The correct score of the P-W varsity win over Bellevue Feb. 1 was 15-2, 15-1, not the score published last week.

Fulton wrestlers win third CMAC title

Pottersville
Fulton's wrestling team won its third straight Central Michigan Athletic Conference title at the league meet here Saturday.

The Pirates finished with 163½ points to 162 for Pottersville. Bellevue was third, Olivet fourth and Michigan School for the Blind fifth.

Fulton placed all 10 wrestlers in the finals and six took individual titles.

Jon Pell won the 98-pound title with a pin over Don Blitz of the School for the Blind, and at 119 Jim Todd pinned Kevin Sadowsky of Olivet in the third period.

Rick Robbe won the 126-pound title on a second-period pin, as did Tim Shook in the 145-pound match.

Scott Zammaron took the 165-pound title on a first-period fall, and it took Mitch Price 1:03 to wrap up the heavyweight title.

ton were Randy Riggle, Tim Price, Tim Williams, and Jeff McVannel.

Mason downs Panthers, 80-69

By Mark Szalajski
Corresponders

Mason

The Mason Bulldogs ran off to a big lead early in Friday night's Capital Circuit game and devoured the DeWitt Panthers, 80-69.

Led by Karl Wilhelm and Joe Akers, who accounted for 53 of Mason's 80 points, the Bulldogs jumped out to an early lead and at the end of the first quarter led, 20-14. Mason continued to shoot the eyes out of the basket in the second period, scoring 22 points and taking a 42-32 half-time advantage.

The shootout continued into the second half. Gene Carroll kept the Panthers in the game with accurate shooting from both the outside and the charity stripe. However, Mason wouldn't let the Panthers get too far back into the contest and at the beginning of the final period led by 12, 62-50.

Although DeWitt outscored Mason in last quarter, the Panthers had just too much to overcome and the Bulldogs took the game, 80-69.

Gene Carroll poured in 31 points, including 13 of 15 from the free-throw line. Mike Ferland and Bob Stone chipped in 12 and 10 points, respectively. The Panthers kept the game from becoming a total blowout by shooting an amazing 91 percent from the freethrow line.

DeWitt, which has lost seven of its last nine games, will try to rebound when it hosts Lansing Catholic Central on Friday.

Fowler suffers league defeat

Laingsburg
Fowler's basketball team suffered its third loss of the CMAC season Friday, 61-57 to Laingsburg.

Fowler was down 22-10 after one period. Though the Eagles closed the gap to five at the half, the Wolfpack maintained a six-point lead after three quarters. Mark Schrauben led the Eagles with 18 points and Tim Lutjig had 10.

The Eagles host Mt. Pleasant Sacred Heart on Friday at the new middle school gym, then entertain Pewamo-Westphalia on Tuesday.

O-E junior high tourney set

Elsie
Three county teams will be competing in the 12th annual Ovid-Elsie Junior High Basketball tournament, to be held starting Saturday at O-E High School.

Ovid, Elsie and St. Johns junior highs will be joined by Ashley, Laingsburg, Corunna, Alma and Ithaca. St. Johns has dominated the tournament, winning seven titles including five straight from 1970 through 1974. Alma broke the string in 1975, but the Redwings won the next two trophies before Alma won again last year.

Elsie meets Laingsburg at 2 p.m. Saturday. Corunna and Alma meet that day at 3:30. St. Johns and Ovid play at 5 p.m. and Ashley meets Ithaca at 6:30.

Semifinals in the winners and losers brackets will be Tuesday and the Championship and consolation championship games will be Feb. 24.

Q-E swimmers lose 2 more

Elsie

The Ovid-Elsie swim team dropped its record to 0-9 last week with a pair of losses.

The Marauders lost to Mt. Morris on Feb. 8, 86-56, then fell to Mid-Michigan B rival Swan Valley Thursday, 97-75.

O-E picked up four firsts against Mt. Morris. Doug Hincka took the 200-yard individual medley in 2:30 and the 100-yard butterfly in 1:06.4, and Tod Bodary won the 50-yard freestyle in 24.65 and the 100-yard freestyle in 54.7.

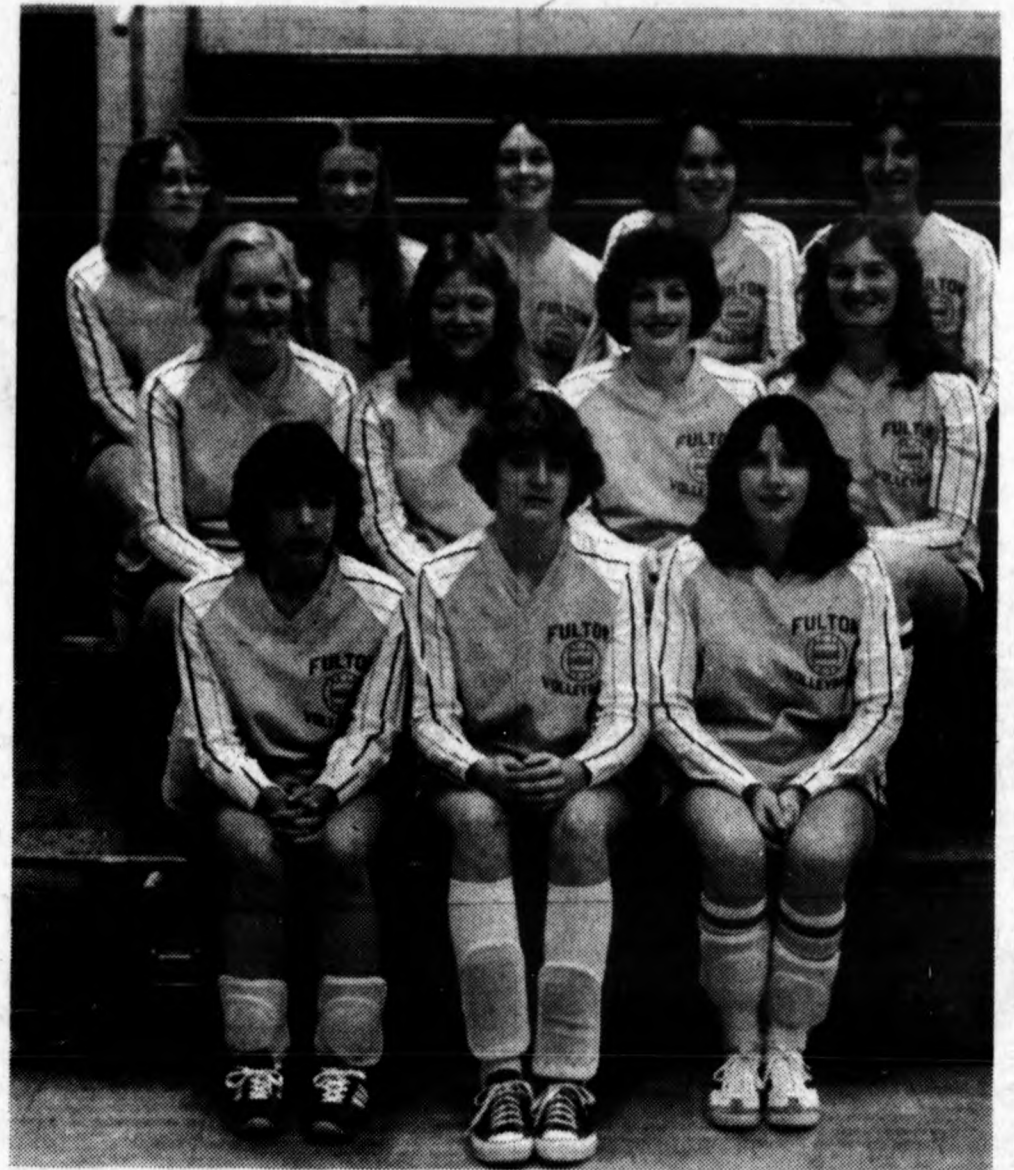

Taking seconds were the 200-yard medley relay team of Randy Montague, Brian Clock, Hincka and Bodary;

Rick Rexin, 500-yard freestyle; and Clock, 100-yard breaststroke.

The Marauders took just two-firsts against Swan Valley. Hincka's time in the 100-yard butterfly, 1:06.2, was a school record. Bodary got the other first with a 24.5 time in the 50-yard freestyle.

Winning seconds were Montague, Clock, Hincka and Vince Massey, medley relay; Clock, 200-freestyle and 100-breaststroke; Montague, 100-backstroke; Rexin, 100-freestyle; Hincka, 200-individual medley; Ansie Elder, diving; and Rexin, Burt Botter, Dean Roberts and Bodary, freestyle relay.

O-E is at St. Johns Thursday.

failed to connect, however, and a last-second shot was way off, giving Ionia the non-league win.

"When you play three quarters of good ball you'd like to win," Tissot said.

"But you can't expect to do that against a good team."

Dedyne had an outstanding game, scoring 24 points and taking 18 rebounds. Stafford had 14 points and 11 rebounds, Ballinger had 10 points and Craig Goff had 13 rebounds.

St. Johns was 29 of 57 from the field for 52 percent but was an anemic 44 percent from the line. St. Johns had a 54-30 rebounding advantage.

St. Johns left its record at 7-4 in the league with the win over Chesaning, and Tissot says his club is shooting for a third or fourth-place finish.

The Redwings have a rough assignment Friday when they travel to Alma for a rematch with the Panthers. St. Johns beat Alma in overtime and the hosts are sure to be revenge-minded.

Carnival time

Correction

In the front page story last week about the Lake Lansing project in Bath Township it stated Harry Harden, Clinton County drain commissioner, was giving the township board some trouble over a decision made on the clean-up. It should have read Harry Harder, township resident, not Harry Harden. The County News regrets this error.

SOYBEAM MEETING--The man in charge of soybean market development in Latin America for the American Soybean Association (ASA) will speak to area soybean growers Wednesday, Feb. 28 in Chesaning. Establishes practice

Robert Steinman, five-year circuit court probation and parole agent in Clinton County and a 1978 graduate of Cooley Law School, has opened a general practice law office at 1515 N. US-27, St. Johns, in the Fedewa Building. He grew up in the thumb area, Port Austin, and he and his wife, Colleen, live in DeWitt. He says he opened his practice in St. Johns because he "liked the community." (Photo by Patricia Hornak)

Colonial Revival architecture depicted

By Jean Martin
Clinton County Historical Society

In any discussion of Michigan architecture, the word "Colonial" must be used much like the term "Victorian." Each denotes a time period, not a precise style. Of course there are no strictly colonial buildings in the Mid-Michigan area because the period referred to by the term is pre-Revolutionary.

In St. Johns there are, however, at least three distinct Colonial Revival (Neo-Colonial) styles represented.

The first New England dwellings were very simple and unadorned. Many were 1½ or two stories high and one room deep. The owners then added on to the house as they could afford it. Many of the earliest dwellings in this area are of this type. One outstanding example of the local revival of the New England style is the saltbox at (1) 1201 Hampshire.

The hallmark of Dutch and Swedish Colonial houses is the gambrel roof. This style of roof is most often associated locally with rural barn roofs. The Fred Post house, now owned by former Sheriff Percy Oaterson, at (2) 606 S. Oakland is one excellent example of this form of colonial revival.

The elegant Georgian Colonial home at (3) 600 S. Oakland was built by A.T. (Alonzo) Smith in 1925. In 1891 Smith began his Carriage and Wagon Works which was located in his shop on the northwest corner of Brush and Higham Streets.

The business employed five to 10 men and required three buildings including a wood shop, blacksmith shop, and salesroom. In 1916 he built the present brick complex which until only recently housed the Egan Ford dealership and garage.

The imposing home at (4) 506 S. Oakland was not originally built as a Colonial Revival building at all. In the late 1860's O.L. Spaulding, who was married to the daughter of John Swegles and active in both state and national politics, built a red brick Elizabethan styled home. The rear portions of the present house are original, but the northeast front sported a three story tower.

Around 1911 Charles T. Babcock returned from his Indian trading venture in Montana and undertook the remodeling of the building into its present Southern Colonial style.

The home once owned by R.G. Clark, long-time partner in the clothing firm of Clark and Hulse, at (5) 200 W. Cass is an excellent example of the way local builders adapted features of the formal colonial styles to produce the local version of "colonial revival" living.

In this particular house the builder has even broken away from the principle of symmetry enough to put the front entry-way on the east side of the house. A solarium on the west side still secretly balances the off-center porch.

Notice the precise symmetry of the brick Colonial Revival at (6) 210 E. Walker.

Although it has been the office of Dr. S.R. Russell and his associates for many years, it was once the home of the H.B. Kneelands.

In the early 1900's Kneeland owned and operated the St. Johns Canning Factory which was located on the north side of the railroad. At one time the factory processed 12,000 cans per day of corn, tomatoes, beans, and apples. These were distributed for sale in markets as far away as Grand Rapids and Chicago.

Woman joins DeWitt force

By Sue Kiley
Editor

DeWitt
Women police officers are becoming more and more prevalent in the southern portion of Clinton County.

A couple of months ago both Bath and DeWitt Townships hired women officers. Now DeWitt City has decided a woman police officer might be an asset to the all-male department according to Wendell Myers, police chief.

"We've had all-male patrols before," Myers said. "The trend seems to be toward hiring women."

The hiring of 23-year-old Diane Byford is a first for DeWitt City. Myers is optimistic on how well she is going to work out in the department.

Byford was hired last week and will work primarily on days and deal mainly with juveniles at the schools.

"With the new CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) rules, it limits you a lot," Myers said. "A lot of the guys won't work for $10,000 where most women will because the job market is tougher for them in police work."

Chief Myers noted DeWitt City is more or less a training ground for police officers. The city gets a lot of applications from people right out of the police academy. Myers says bigger departments will not hire these people at the time they graduate. So, smaller forces such as DeWitt hire them, train them, and then the bigger departments offer them a job and the trained employee with experience is gone.

During the past year, two officers left to work for Lansing police; one officer to a Flint Township department and another person was lost to the Airport Authority.

"I guess I have to admit we're a training center for these officers," Myers said. "We just can't compete with the bigger departments."

"They left to join a bigger department, more pay, and better benefits," Myers said. "Maybe they're looking for more of a challenge."

Myers noted a lot of officers are hired from the Academy. They work two or three years at a small department and then most try to get back to their hometown. "It's only natural," the chief said.
