

Death came on the side of a volcano in Costa Rica

Scholar, conservationist, soldier of fortune succumbs

By TOM McELENEY
News Staff Writer

Dirk DeBoer, 38, a former resident of St. Johns, from 1934 to 1953, was killed Nov. 5 when the plane in which he was flying crashed into the Poas volcano near San Jose, Costa Rica.

DeBoer, employed by the Boise-Cascade Lumber Co. out of Boise, Idaho, was accompanied on the flight by Richard Minas and George Henker, who were also killed in the crash.

DeBoer graduated from Rodney E. Wilson High School in St. Johns in 1949 and entered Michigan State College's School of Forestry. He graduated from MSC in 1953 and spent the next two years in the army.

He successfully completed the combat Ranger course and left the army as a 1st Lieutenant in the infantry in June of 1955.

DeBoer then began his trek through South America. He spent two years logging in Nicaragua before he obtained financial backing from the Roberson Lumber Co. in New Orleans and started his own contracting business.

He was married to Patricia Lee McCants of Newcomerstown, Ohio on Nov. 11, 1960, in Nicaragua. The couple made their home in the jungle of this country.

After they settled, Dirk brought his logging crew and equipment up a river to a point nearest his timber property. From there, he built a road 50 miles through the jungle. He also built three logging camps and constructed two landing strips by dredging gravel from the bottom of the same river that brought him to where he had settled. The gravel was used as a solid base for the air strip.

Dirk and his wife built a cabin for themselves which was comfortably furnished with a three-burner wood stove and a kerosene refrigerator. Lighting was obtained with the use of a gas generator.

On Jan. 1, 1962, a son was delivered to the DeBoers by Mel Neill, a missionary-doctor who had married the couple in 1960. January of 1963 saw DeBoer sell his logging business and move his small family to New London, Conn. where he entered Yale University.

He eventually obtained his master's degree from Yale in forestry. A daughter, Robin, was born while they lived in New London.

During the summer of 1964, DeBoer received his instrument rating and commercial flying license. Having obtained his private flying license in 1952, DeBoer had logged over 4,600 hours of flying time prior to the plane crash on Nov. 5. A great share of these hours had been logged over mountain ranges and jungles.

Fail of 1964 brought DeBoer to work for V.A. Plywood Corp. as a project engineer. They sent him to South America on many trips.

In 1965, it was off to Calabar, Nigeria to oversee the construction and operation of a $41/2 million logging and veneering complex. It was completed in the Spring of 1967.

But, disaster struck! The first shipload of logs got out of the country just before the Nigerian Civil War began. The DeBoer family left on the last boat out.

From Nigeria, it was on to Peru and the head waters of the Amazon River for several months.

Gaining employment with the Boise-Cascade Lumber Co. in 1968, DeBoer was off to the Philippines for five months and then back into South America to Peru, Ecuador and Columbia.

In Columbia, DeBoer was the designer and overseer of the construction of a sawmill on a barge that is now in operation there. Other similar barges are being built at this time.

Early in November of this year, DeBoer was sent to Costa Rica to look over some timber tracts that were for lease.

He, along with Minas and Henker, left San Jose in a rented plane for Limon, Costa Rica on Nov. 4.

The next morning, the trio was looking over timber tracts when the weather turned bad and caused the plane to crash head-on into the side of the volcano. The weather eventually stayed rainy and bad for several days after the plane crashed.

Mrs. DeBoer was informed on Nov. 7 that the plane was 48 hours overdue but that she shouldn't worry too much because there were plenty of places along the coast of Costa Rica where the men could have landed till the weather broke.

DeBoer's family were very confident that even if the plane did crash in the jungle, the men would make it to safety if they weren't hurt.

On Nov. 10, Mrs. DeBoer and her father left Boise for Costa Rica to help in the search.

Three planes from the Panama Canal Air Rescue also arrived to take part. They were delayed by bad weather as the Red Cross started their part of the search with 50 men taking part.

Many people say turnabout is fair play and this certainly applied to the search for Dirk DeBoer and his compatriots.

Civil Air Patrol planes joined in the search with Costa Ricans serving as observers. Some of these observers walked miles to offer their services. Many times, DeBoer was called upon to use his plane and other pieces of equipment during hurricanes and floods in the same area.

A man who had gone down in his own plane six months before and walked out of the jungle in 11 days flew in to offer his plane and services in the search.

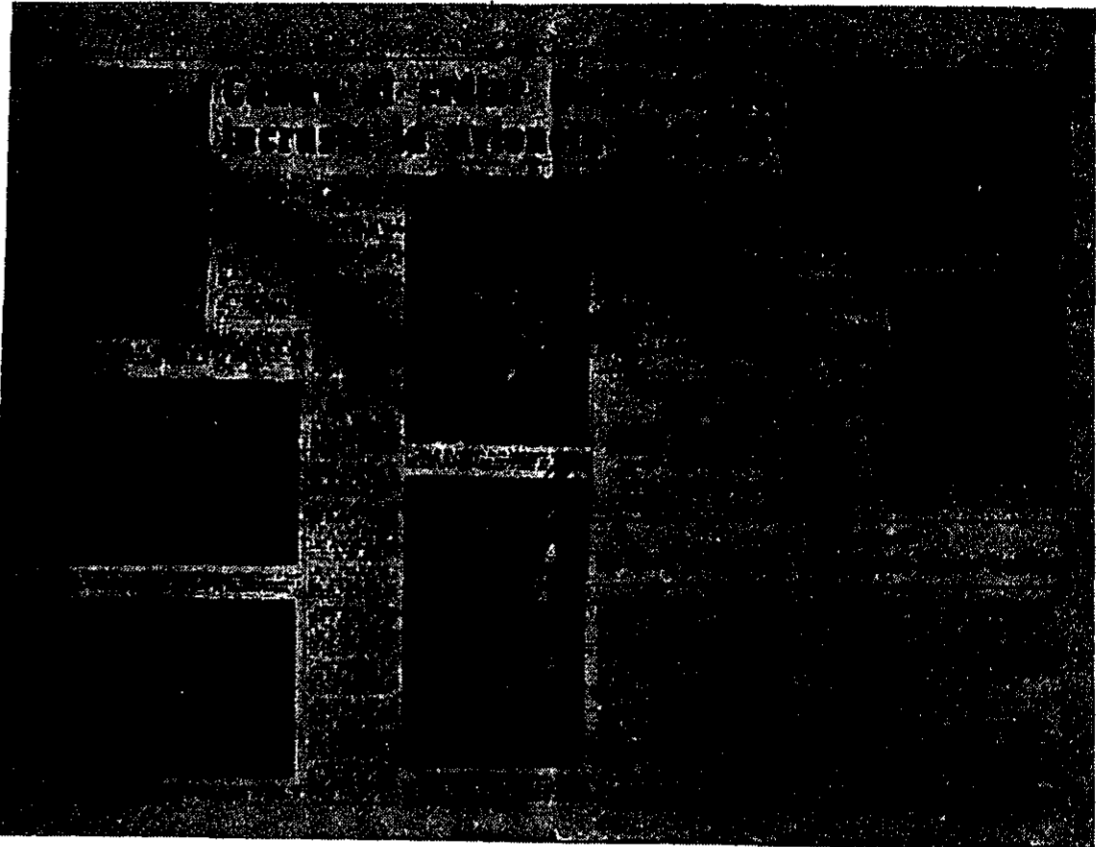

Several ham radio operators in the Lansing and Okemos area kept the DeBoer family on top of the search efforts. On Nov. 12, the tragic news came to the family via the radio of a Mr. John Sheldon.

At one time, there were 50 ham operators monitoring the correct frequency for information on the search.

The whole saga isn't finished, yet.

Slippery roads, snow cause Clinton accidents

Snow came to Clinton County Friday and brought with it a few accidents caused by slippery road conditions.

At 11:20 p.m. on Thursday night, David W. Maki, 17, 404 E. Sturgis, St. Johns, was heading south on US-27 near Livingston Rd. in Greenbush Township when he lost control of his car and hit a sign post on the side of the highway.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

The Clinton County News changed format a bit this week by presenting the sports and some new features in section B. Look for the sports each week on pages 1B-3B.

Another stack of letters poured in the mailbox this week from Clinton County area children writing to Santa Claus. Their wishes and requests appear on page 3A.

Schools are constantly in the news, so the News has started a special School News spot for them each week, beginning today on page 4A.

After knocking the sign post down, the Maki car proceeded to knock over a reflector sign as well. No charges were filed against Maki.

Greenbush Township was the scene of another accident Friday at 6:50 p.m., again on US-27 near Mead Rd.

A truck driven by James E. Fulton, 42, 7633 Julie Drive, Portage, was parked in the passing lane of the southbound side of US-27. He was in the process of trying to help a motorist who had gone into the median because of the slippery condition of the highway.

Fulton had an overhead flasher in operation plus the four-way flashers on the truck.

Another car driven by Paul W. Wylie, 18, 21080 Thorofare, Grosse Ile, approached in the passing lane of the southbound lane. Wylie told Sheriff's Deputies that he didn't notice the truck until it was too late.

Wylie veered his car from the Truck after applying the brakes and ended up in the ditch on the west side of the highway. No injuries were reported.

Fulton was charged with improper parking and Wylie was charged with failure to stop in a safe and assured distance, according to Sheriff's reports.

US-27 just south of St. Johns was again the scene of an accident on Sunday morning at 1 a.m.

According to Sheriff's reports, a car driven by Carlton E. Andrus, 23, Rt. 6, St. Johns sideswiped a car driven by Dortha L. Hickerson, 56, 12510 DeWitt Rd., DeWitt.

The accidents occurred about a quarter mile south of Webb Rd. when Andrus said he was passing the Hickerson auto when he hit either an icy spot or snow and hit the left rear section of the Hickerson auto.

Deputies charged Andrus with crossing the center line of the northbound lane of US-27. Miss Hickerson received minor injuries from the mishap.

Several other fender-bender accidents were reported over the weekend but the injury to Miss Hickerson was the only injury recorded.

Palmiter elected Clinton Republican party leader

James M. Palmiter of Eagle Township was elected Clinton County Republican party chairman, surviving two ballots, during the fall meeting of the Republican Executive Committee in St. Johns.

The meeting attracted 30 county delegates, including 10 elected officials and 20 precinct delegates.

Mrs. Paul Nobis of Bingham Township was elected vice-chairman, Mrs. Robert Zeeb of DeWitt Township was elected secretary and Ken Platte of Westphalia Township was picked as treasurer on the third ballot.

After the voting, Palmiter said there was a need for reorganization of the party from the township level up. He said the need to fill the important post of county finance chairman will be the first order of business at the next meeting, although he did not name a specific date.

City Commission closes McConnell

By TOM McELENEY
News Staff Writer

Monday night's regular meeting of the St. Johns City Commission might have been short but it did accomplish a few things.

Commissioners, after listening to comments from neighbors in the junior high school area, unanimously approved a motion to close McConnell St. between Church and Clinton Streets from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. during every school day until the end of the current school year.

The closing was done so as to allow the students a place to play at lunchtime. A trial period of 60 days had expired since the commission last dealt with the proposition.

City Police Chief Everett Glazier, who earlier had recommended that no closing be effected, said,

"The closing of McConnell Street during the noon hour is alright but it shouldn't last any longer than that."

The commissioners received a communication from Mrs. Judith C. James of St. Johns asking if a four-way stop sign system could be incorporated at the corner of Spring St. and Walker St.

Com. Dr. James Groat made a motion to have the matter looked into by Chief Glazier and the motion passed unanimously.

City Manager Harvey Weatherwax made a suggestion to the board concerning the purchase of new water meters. He told the commissioners that it would be better to buy the meters as the city needed them and not to stockpile them, as was being thought of by the commission. All were in agreement.

Other business at Monday's meeting included:

—unanimous approval of the commission to have all city property appraised on an annual basis.

—approval to have Consumers Power Co. look into the erection of a street light in the 800 block of West Cass Street. This procedure involves getting a qualified recommendation from Consumers on the feasibility of the light installment.

—permission for Weatherwax to issue a check in the amount of $2,496 to Cowan Lincoln-Mercury for the purchase of a new police patrol car that arrived in St. Johns on Monday.

—vacation of the alley running parallel to State St. and Walker St. between Scott Road on the east and the now-vacated White Street on the west.

—approval to pay warrants totaling $74,335.56.

Shared-time solved

Come Dec. 16, something will have to be done with 168 students at St. Joseph's School in St. Johns who participate in the shared-time program with the public schools.

That something was tentatively decided Wednesday, Dec. 9, at the regular meeting of the St. Johns School Board.

Superintendent Earl C. Lancaster introduced the matter to the board and indicated that there were two separate problems involved with the loss of state funds to the Catholic school.

"The first problem," Lancaster said, "are the alternatives of whether we bus these 168 children to area schools every morning till something definite comes from the courts, or whether, as St. Joseph's has offered, to use the rooms presently occupied by the students rent free and simply take over the salary of the present instructors."

The second problem spoken of by Lancaster stemmed from the first one.

"Presently, the 7th and 8th graders at St. Joseph's come to the junior high for half a day as it is to learn a number of secular courses not dealing with religion," he said.

"Again, the people at St. Johns are . . ."

Christmas spirit sustains shock of first big snowfall

SHOVEL AWAY

Bob Rehmann was out bright and early Friday morning to shovel the walks in front of the family clothing store on Clinton Avenue in St. Johns. Most merchants in the area had been out by noon with the shovels to clear the paths for customers.

WINTRY VIEW OF CLINTON

Friday morning found road crews working feverishly to clear the roads enough for automobiles, but in many cases traffic caused work to end, leaving mounds of snow in the road. Here, Clinton Avenue became a snowy boulevard as the snow was stacked up in the center lane.

Joseph's have offered the use of the classrooms in their school rent-free until a ruling comes along either in February or early March. This free use would mean that the St. Johns District would pay the instructor's salary from Dec. 18 on."

The board voted to go along with the free use of the existing classrooms in St. Joseph's until a ruling comes forth, and, likewise, the paying of the salaries.

With regard to this decision, Lancaster said:

"This is the best way to handle the problem at the present time. We don't know what kind of decision will come from the Supreme Court but it just might throw the whole anti-parochial package out the window and we'll find ourselves right back where we started before the general election."

Currently, the St. Johns School Board rents space in St. Joseph's School for the first and second graders that attend classes there.

In reality, these students are actually being taught at present in the public school system.

men, one of the Air Force rescue planes was listed as overdue. A board of inquiry into the crash of the plane is an Air Force pilot and a Costa Rican observer who spent two days traveling from his home to participate in the search.

The DeBoer family asks that prayers be offered for these two men and their safe return. There is much hope for them because it isn't unusual to take several weeks to get out of the jungles, especially during the rainy season.

Friday is Oldsmobile Freeway opening day

Friday is opening day for the new Oldsmobile Expressway through the central portion of Lansing.
Two Oldsmobiles, a 1907 curved-dash model and a day-old 1971 Toronado, will break eight-foot high paper barriers to open the final link of the $43 million expressway, according to the State Highway Commission.

Riding in the 1904 Olds will be Barbara Dean of Lansing, Miss Michigan State Highways. The day-old companion vehicle will carry representatives of the State Highway Commission, State Director Henrik E. Stafseth and Oldsmobile officials.

The 11.9-mile Interstate 496, designated the Oldsmobile Freeway by the Lansing City Council, extends from Interstate 96 east of Lansing through the capital city, passes near Michigan State University and rejoins I-96 south of East Lansing.

This final 3.4-mile link extends from near Logan Street east through Lansing to the completed section of I-496 near East Lansing.

The Olds Freeway also incorporates the latest in highway design, including wide medians and break-away sign supports. Drainage ditches and culverts are shaped and graded to reduce roadside hazards.

Car gets ride into M21 ditch

Clinton County Sheriff Deputies reported that on Tuesday (Dec. 8) at 7 a.m., a car driven by Dolores E. Evtitts, 18, 9550 W. Walker Rd., St. Johns, was forced off M-21 near the Francis Road intersection.

A semi-tractor owned by James D. Tow-Trucking and driven by Donald E. West, 24, was heading east on M-21 as the Evtitt's auto approached to pass.

As the Evtitt's auto began to pass, some of the hay being transported on the semi fell off the truck onto the road surface causing Miss Evtitts to lose control of her car. She and the car came to rest in a field north of the highway.

Neither driver sustained any injuries and no charges were filed, according to the sheriff's report.

Bond issue, millage voted down for Portland schools

Portland's Citizens for Better Education had a proposal of theirs soundly defeated Dec. 7 at the hands of the voters in the Portland School District.

A $2,985,000 bond issue for a new elementary school was rejected 1,399 to 772. Both totals were unofficial.

William L. Sines Jr., who served as chairman of the citizen group, said although the election results were discouraging to his people, he is sure the committee will continue to assist the board of education in every way possible.

"We've got to go for the millage, again," Sines said.

Ten of the 13 mills requested last Monday was a renewal of operating millage which expires in June. If the voters allow that millage to expire, then the school district will have no local millage levy for the 1971-72 school year.

State law dictates that the board cannot conduct another special school election for at least 45 days under state law.

Sines and his citizens' group had worked 10 months on the school issues.

"I felt that we did everything we could to completely inform the voters about the issues," said Sines. "I think they appreciated our approach."

Had both the bond issue and the millage question passed, the total tax increase for property owners in 1971-72 would have risen almost $10 per each $1,000 of assessed property evaluation.

Superintendent Glenn K. Bowen said the total vote Monday was unofficially 1,937, which was the largest ever recorded in the Portland District. The previous high turnout was 1,249 in 1961 when the bond issue for a new high school was approved.

Students complete Viet mail project

By CHERYL METZGER
DeWitt High School

Mailing a Christmas package of canned goods, cards, magazines, stationery, and popcorn to the servicemen in Vietnam was the project completed recently by members of the Library Club at DeWitt High School.

The group meets once a month during Activity Periods.

When asked about the main goals of the club this year, club president Judi Snyder said, "We want to do a lot of new things, we want to be of service to other people." During their last meeting, the club members decorated the library with Christmas ornaments and trimmed a tree.

The club, composed of girls, also plans to make favors for the patients at the Avon Nursing Home, where the girls will be caroling on Monday, Dec. 21.

In the future the girls will be raising money for the Cancer Fund, and all members will receive gold pins denoting "Library Club—'71."

Mrs. Mary Jo Lott, club advisor, remarked, "I am very proud of the girls this year, they have a lot of good ideas."

Dale Mayers featured in choral group

Dale Mayers, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Fred Mayers, 3986 W. M-21, St. Johns, was featured in a choral group at Kalamazoo College's Christmas Carol Service Dec. 4.

The senior singer assisted in the program of choir selections, readings from the Scripture and modern literature a dance presentation with song and a congregational sing.

Dr. Russell Hammar, professor of music, and Susan Fletcher, sophomore, directed the program.

The women's choir sang "Sing We Noel" for the processional, "Two French Noels," "What Child Is This?" and "Thou Must Leave Thy Lowly Dwelling."

"A Day For Dancing" by Lloyd Pfautsch is an arrangement of traditional 15th and 16th century German and English songs which tell the story of Christ's birth.

The College Singers and dancers were accompanied by Charles Mollen, recorder, Rebecca Hassan, flute, Bill Huxtable, bassoon and Case Kuehn, percussion.

Portland evaluates state test results

People associated with the Portland Public School District have mixed feelings with regard to the local results of the 1969-70 Michigan Assessment Program.

In general, the student attitudes and aspirations were found to be in the middle to lower third of the state results.

According to the state's conclusion, this should correlate with poor school achievement. However, Portland's excellent results in achievement indicates that the results do not follow the conclusions drawn by the state assessment program.

The staff of the Portland Public School System must now evaluate the results of the test to determine what implications this material has on the curriculum of the local school district.

the importance of school achievement.

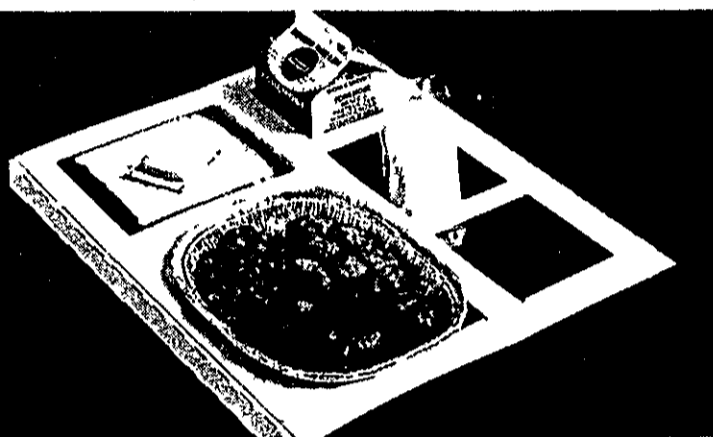

The fourth grade was placed in the lower third in the area of students self concept.

HOT LUNCHES FOR ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

This will be one of the topics of discussion at the Jan. 13 meeting of the St. Johns Board of Education. Two representatives from Mass Feeding Corporation of Livonia talked to people present at the Dec. 9 meeting about their lunch product which handles every thing from training the hostesses to supplying the bags for disposal to the cardboard serving trays shown in this picture.

By TOM McEENEY
New Staff Writer

Mass' production is a way of life in this country and the school lunch industry is no exception.

This was proven to members of the St. Johns School Board at last Wednesday's regular meeting.

The district is thinking of going into the "mass feeding" business in elementary schools in which students stay for lunch.

Two representatives from Mass Feeding Corporation (MFC) of Livonia presented the proposed lunch program.

It began with 20-minute movie covering the production preparation, serving and eating of the lunches.

MFC supplies everything needed to take care of the lunch program from freezers and ovens to store and prepare the food to large plastic containers for disposal of the cardboard lunch trays, that are also supplied by MFC.

The only thing MFC doesn't provide is a hostess or hostesses to serve the lunches. These have to be hired by the school district but they are trained by MFC to serve and prepare the meals.

"One hostess working three hours can serve 300 hot lunches," said Gerald Van Norman, one of the MFC sales representatives.

"Three complete weeks of lunches are available to each system without a repeat at any of the schools," Van Norman said. "There is also an additional list of 15 meals that can easily be substituted if a particular meal is generally disliked by the children."

MFC representatives come into the school periodically and check the work of the hostesses and the preparation of the lunches. They also talk to the students to find out what, if anything, they dislike about the lunches.

If dislike is evident, the lunches are changed.

Board members voted to table any action on the mass feeding proposition until the January meeting so that the lunches could be consumed by children to see if they liked the menu.

Several of the board members took some of the frozen lunches home to try themselves.

The cost of the lunches will be approximately 35 cents per day. Milk will still be furnished through the St. Johns District.

Second T-shirt sale underway

By CHERYL METZGER DeWitt High School

For the second time this year, the boys' Varsity Club at DeWitt High School is selling T-shirts with "DeWitt" imprinted on them.

The shirts are available in navy blue with red stripes, yellow with white stripes, and a new version for the enthusiastic small fry - white with navy trim, displaying a Panther head (the DeWitt symbol) with the letter "D" imprinted on them.

The previous sale earlier this year was so successful that more shirts were ordered and are now on sale before school and during lunch hours.

Currently, the boys are planning a skiing trip for later this winter in northern Michigan, and a canoe trip for next spring. The club hopes to again sponsor an annual trip to Detroit to see a Tiger baseball game, each member then invites a younger boy from the DeWitt Middle School as a guest.

Officers this year are Dan Ruble, president; Randy Sellhorn, vice-president; Bob Jackson, secretary; Ed Reed treasurer and Jim Ashley and Tom Reed, sergeants-at-arms. Gary Roberts is the club advisor.

VA helps ex-GI's continue school

Robert M. FitzGerald, Director of the Veterans Administration Office in Detroit, last week described ways that servicemen and veterans—especially high school "dropouts"—can continue their education.

FitzGerald said one of the ways was through the Predischarge Education Program (PREP), which helps servicemen on active military duty earn a high school diploma or prepare for higher education or vocational training.

Another program provides tutorial assistance above the high school level for veterans and servicemen alike who study under the G.I. Bill.

This can be used to fulfill requirements for admission to schools of higher education or for refresher courses to enable a veteran to qualify for enrollment. FitzGerald noted VA pays servicemen in PREP up to $175 monthly for the regular costs of tuition, fees, books, and supplies. The actual amount is based on the actual amount of the course. The serviceman receives a lump sum payment when he enrolls in remedial, refresher, deficiency makeup or other courses required for educational programs above high school level.

FitzGerald explained that servicemen must have at least 181 consecutive days of active duty after January 31, 1955, to be eligible for PREP, and pointed out that this benefit is not chargeable to GI Bill time earned during military service.

FitzGerald urged that servicemen interested in PREP to dis-uss the program with their base education officers and if courses are available, to obtain VA application Forms 21E - 1990a.

This should be completed and returned to the base education officer or the VA Office at 801 West Baltimore, Detroit, 48232.

Under the tutorial program, VA will pay up to $50 monthly in tutoring fees for a maximum of nine months to prevent eligible veterans and servicemen from failing in a subject essential in courses of study. As in PREP, costs of tutorial service are not chargeable to veterans' educational eligibility.

Veterans and servicemen interested in tutorial assistance were advised to get a VA application (Form 21E -1990) from their school, base education officer, or the VA Office at Detroit 801 West Baltimore. When completed it should be returned to the VA.

Controls on pesticides requested for Michigan

Tightened control of sale of pesticides proven to present human or environmental hazards was proposed Monday by B. Dale Ball, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Development of a list of "restricted use pesticides," licensing of dealers handling these materials and reporting of sales were recommended.

Ball proposed these amendments to the Economic Poison Law (Act No. 297, P.A. 1949, as amended) in a speech at the annual meeting of the Michigan-Agricultural Conference in East Lansing.

The proposals would have major environmental quality impact, Ball said. They would:

-Require development of a list of restricted use chemicals, those which must be used with extreme care to prevent serious hazards to humans or the environment.

-Provide that these chemicals be sold only through licensed dealers.

-Require that dealers handling the restricted use chemicals demonstrate knowledge of pesticide laws and responsibility in handling the pesticides.

-Provide for suspension of licenses where violation was proven.

-Require reporting of the kind and quantity of restricted use material sold.

Outlets for the hazardous materials would be far fewer than now if it becomes law, Ball predicted. "In our recent action to take DDT off the market, inspectors contacted nearly 12,000 sales outlets. Probably most of these would no longer handle the restricted materials."

Scientists from the Michigan Department of Agriculture have been working with other states and with federal officials to develop a model law along these lines. Ball said the Michigan proposal goes beyond the recommendations of the national scientific group in that it provides for mandatory reporting of sales of the restricted chemicals.

"We chose to include reporting of sales of these materials to give us data on where and why they are used," Ball said. "We've never had access to such information."

A list of "restricted use pesticides" would be adopted for Michigan after public hearings. Ball said the list might basically follow guidelines established on a nationwide basis, and that President Nixon's environmental quality council is working toward this end. "But Michigan would still retain the option of acting independently on any pesticide considered for the list," he said.

Commercial applicators of pesticides are presently licensed by the Michigan Department of Agriculture, which also has authority in registration of all economic poisons, including pesticides. The agriculture department's action to remove DDT from sale in Michigan was taken under this authority.

THE LOOK OF CHRISTMAS

This naturally decorated Christmas pine stands up smartly against the cold ice and snow storm that rocked Clinton County Friday. Somehow, man-made beads and spangles would ruin the effect of this stark beauty. (News photo by Ed Cheeny).

Treize gains first hand experience

Douglas Treize, state representative-elect of Owosso, is getting some first hand knowledge of the educational needs in his district by teaching in the Owosso school system.

Treize is a substitute teacher in the Owosso High School math and physics departments.

Commenting on his move to the classroom, Treize said it was a strange but healthy thing to recall "the knowledge not used through the years. This stint of teaching is proving to be an education for me."

Before his election to the house of representatives, Treize was central division manager with General Telephone Company. He began his career as an electrical engineer following graduation from Michigan State University in 1949.

Treize is married and he and his wife Barbara have six children, including two sets of twins.

PATTERNS

The snow storm left its impression on Clinton County's landscape. One of the more impressions was left at the side of this house where the wind swept away some snow.

Rademacher is letter winner

Gene Rademacher, a senior at Western Michigan University from St. Johns, will be one of 46 WMU varsity football players receiving letters from this past season.

Rademacher was the quarterback on the WMU team that compiled a 7-3 overall record to match the best record the school has had since an undefeated team in 1941.

Job relocation tax deductions changed

The 1969 Tax Reform Act made significant changes in the 1970 tax consequences of moving to a new home because of a job change or transfer by one's employer, according to Robert L. White, president of The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.

The new law broadened the allowable deduction for the costs of such a move, White said, and extended the moving expenses deduction under certain circumstances to self-employed individuals. But the law also added new limitations.

One test of whether moving costs are deductible is the distance moved. Under the prior tax law, the distance from one's former residence to his new job had to be at least 20 miles greater than it was to the old job. That minimum has now been increased to 50 miles, White said.

There is still a requirement, he said, that the taxpayer work full time at the new location for at least 39 weeks in the 12 month period following the move, in order to qualify for the deduction.

Moving expenses formerly and still deductible include the costs of transporting household effects (which covers packing, crating and in-transit storage as well) and the costs of travel, meals and lodging for the taxpayer and his family in making the move.

The new law permits the further deduction of travel, meal and lodging expenses incurred in pre-move house-hunting trips and, after obtaining employment, meals and lodging during a period of up to 30 days while waiting at the new job location to take occupancy of the new home.

Also, White said, attorneys' fees, real estate agents' commissions and other expenses incurred in disposing of the old residence and acquiring the new one can be deducted.

Expenses incurred in moving the taxpayer's household goods and transporting members of the household to the new home are not subject to any limitation. But the other, indirect expenses of moving have an overall limit of $2,500, he said, including no more than $1,000 for the cost of house hunting trips and temporary living costs.

Any reimbursement of moving expenses made by an employer must be included in the recipient's gross income and is subject to withholding.

Bug vs. bug

"Bug vs. bug" control of the alfalfa weevil may be on its way in Michigan, reports an entomologist for the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service.

In other words, insect parasites will be used to attack the alfalfa pest and help keep it in check.

Two more larval parasites and a parasite of the adult were established in Michigan this year, according to Dr. Richard Sauer. Parasitism by a previously established larval parasite reached 80 percent in some areas.

"Some reduction in alfalfa weevil populations in some areas is expected in 1971," Sauer said. Sauer points out that control of the alfalfa weevil will be generally good in 1970 because farmers were aware of the pest. Also, weather favored both early cutting of alfalfa and application of chemical sprays.

In many cases, eggs and larvae were removed from fields without spraying simply by timely cutting.

DNR report:

State parks set camping record

Attendance and camping figures for state parks in Michigan soared to new highs this year, totaling more than 20 million day-use visitors and upwards of 462,000 camper families, reports the Department of Natural Resources.

Both records were reached by mid-November, the latest period through which turnout totals have been tabulated by the DNR's Parks Division in Lansing.

Attendance and camping counts through that point eclipsed last year's final figures for state parks—19 million day users and 409,000 camper groups. Compared with totals for mid-November of 1969, attendance was up nearly eight per cent and camper use showed a 13 per cent gain.

As of Nov. 15 of this year, state parks had hosted nearly 11.9 million day users in southern Michigan, six million in the northern Lower Peninsula, and 2.2 million in the Upper Peninsula. Those figures ran ahead of the year-ago pace in all three regions.

At the same point in 1969, daily attendance for state parks stood at 10.8 million in southern Michigan, 5.7 million in the northern Lower Peninsula, and 2.1 million above the Straits.

By the middle of last month, state park campgrounds had also attracted more families than they did during the entire 1969 season. As of then, their number of issued camping permits had climbed to 204,000 in the northern Lower Peninsula, 153,000 in southern Michigan, and 105,000 in the Upper Peninsula.

Camping permit totals through the same period in 1969 numbered 182,600 at state parks in the northern Lower Peninsula, 131,500 in southern Michigan, and 93,600 in the Upper Peninsula.

While state parks in Michigan have accommodated camper families in record numbers this year, they have been forced to turn away more than 86,000 of these groups for lack of facilities. This represents a 14-per cent upturn in camper turnaways over last year at this time.

As of November 15, this year's turnaways of day-use groups were down 26 per cent at state parks. They totaled 42,200.

This year's record turnout of daily visitors and campers at state parks is also reflected by an upswing in 1970 sales of motor vehicle entry permits. Through mid-November, state park users had purchased 407,300 annual permits, a 15-per cent increase over a year ago. Sales of daily permits then were 8 per cent higher, numbering 421,200.

Holland State Park stands out this season as Michigan's attendance leader with 1,072,736 daily visitors. Next highest for 1970 are Grand Haven State Park with 908,211 day users; Waterloo Recreation Area with 894,947; Warren Dunes State Park with 872,993; and Yankee Springs Recreation Area with 772,365.

Straits State Park ranks No. 1 in campers with 16,048 groups. Tahquamenon Falls State Park is running close behind with 15,635 camping families. Rounding out this season's Top Five for camper group totals are Waterloo Recreation Area with 14,225; South Higgins Lake State Park with 14,103; and Ludington State Park with 13,711.

Winter spearing will be banned this season on Michigan's side of Lake St. Clair and the St. Clair and Detroit rivers under the Department of Natural Resources' interpretation of Governor Milliken's "catch-and-release" fishing order which has covered those waters since May 30 because of mercury contamination.

Provisions of that same order have also been taken by DNR law officials to mean that walleyes, white bass, and sheepshead may not be speared this winter on Michigan waters of Lake Erie and on Lake Huron south of a line from Port Sanilac.

The three species will not be legal spearing targets in those waters this winter because they have been shown to carry serious levels of mercury. For the same reason, walleyes, white bass and sheepshead have been covered by catch-and-release rules in Lake Erie and southern Lake Huron since May 30.

In spelling out waters and species to be covered by the ban on winter spearing, the DNR has taken the view that Gov. Milliken's order is intended to prohibit any type of fishing that would result in injuring fish which must be returned to the problem waters.

More accurately, spearing under the current order would lead to many mortally-wounded fish being returned to the problem waters, and DNR law officials say that any such stretch of catch-and-release rules would be "excessively wasteful and ludicrous."

Lake St. Clair and the St. Clair and Detroit rivers will come under a blanket ban on winter spearing this season because all fish in those waters contain levels of mercury which are considered hazardous to public health.

Anglers are advised by DNR law officials that after December 31 they will need new special validation permits to fish by hook and line on any of the waters covered by catch-and-release restrictions.

The new permits, replacing those which expire at the end of this month, will be available free at license dealers, marinas, bait shops, and similar business places in the five-county area bordering the affected waters.

The DNR's Pontiac Lake district headquarters will also have a supply of the permits which must be attached to the back of 1971 fishing licenses. Persons under 17, who are not required by law to have licenses, must carry the permits when fishing in the mentioned waters.

The world's coho record-holder, Mrs. Patry Hallberg of Victoria, British Columbia, is a real sport and gracious champion.

Michigan's Department of Natural Resources officials will vouch for that. They recently received a letter from Mrs. Hallberg announcing that she stands ready and willing to relinquish the challenge trophy for her world record coho if and when some angler tops her mark.

As a matter of fact, she thought her cherished trophy might be going to a lucky Michigan fisherman after she read a story in a local newspaper which told of a whopping 33-pound, 3-ounce coho being harvested in this state's Little Manistee River in early October.

Alma area sugarbeet pay reflects tonnage

Sugarbeet growers for Michigan Sugar Company received cash and credits averaging $9.50 per ton this week, based on a company-wide load test average, as the first payment on the 1970 sugarbeet crop. In the Alma district, 129,000 tons of beets were harvested from 6770 acres this fall, for a district average of 19.05 tons per acre. This compares with 17.01 tons per acre in 1969. Because heavy rains held down the sugar content of this fall's crop, the Alma area payment is fifty cents per ton lower than last year, but record tonnages this year generally made the amount per acre above 1969. Approximately 440 acres in the district remain unharvested and may be lost because of the wet conditions. Total first payment for the district is $1,217,387, but officials of Farmer's and Manufacturers Beet Sugar Association cautioned that this figure represents gross earnings before any expenses—such as interest payments, taxes, machinery depreciation and investment, fertilizer, herbicides, labor, transportation and other costs—have been deducted. Alma grower president, Pete Maxwell of Hope, explained that the growers' first payment is always earmarked for crop production expenses, to pay the costs absorbed by growers in raising and harvesting the crop. Estimated harvest figures show that Monitor Sugar Company and four of Michigan Sugar Company's five districts set all-time tonnage records this fall. Michigan Sugar Company officials report that a total of 1,283,000 tons of beets were harvested from 61,240 acres for a 20.95 ton per acre company average. Monitor Sugar Company growers delivered 538,900 tons of beets from 24,625 acres for a record 21.88 tons per acre average. Last year the ton per acre averages were 15.77 and 17.71 respectively.

Didn't it snow! We left Alma at 7:30 Friday morning amid reports that one lane was clear on US-27. It must of been the northbound lane. Saturday we left our annual coronary so that Big Mama would shovel out the drive way. It worked again . . . so now we can look forward to another easy winter.

Take a break Monday, December 21 and drop by the Municipal Building. Some friendly people will even let you lie down for a while and then serve you refreshments. The Bloodmobile will visit St. Johns that day and if you can . . . please give.

Remember Gentle Ben? The bear on television a couple of seasons ago? Well, Gentle Ben is the star of the Chamber of Commerce's final free movie matinee at the Clinton Theater Saturday, December 19. Ben is featured in "Gentle Giant". Free tickets are available at any Chamber of Commerce members . . . and show time is at 1 and 3 p.m.

All our shopping is finished, except for stocking stuffers. We always have stockings and Santa always fills them. Usually we get a comic book and razor blades and whatever Big M can find that we couldn't use in a million years.

We do the same to her tho . . . one year we stuffed her stocking full of spices. . . sesame seeds, parsley, rosemary, thyme, dill etc. That was about eight or nine years ago and nary a bottle has been opened. Really, unless the directions say, "thaw for 2 hours", she can't cook it.

We've pinched and peeked at all our presents. It's the same every year. Shirts, slacks, a couple of ties and a snowsauce. Yup, a snow sauce.

We have taken to sliding down hills for sport (can't afford a snowmobile) and for the past few years have been using cardboard boxes. That's what we used when we were a kid but nowadays people point and laugh.

Allice and the boys are embarrassed when we come screaming down the hill riding in a box. Last year they waited in the car and "died of shame" after we tipped to quit just because we were getting our britches. So, this year we're getting a saucer.

It's aluminum and probably very durable. . . but if our luck holds we can lose it and get back to the old reliable box.

Controlled porosity developed

"We've had outstanding success with this system for controlling pests that attack small fruits and tree fruits."

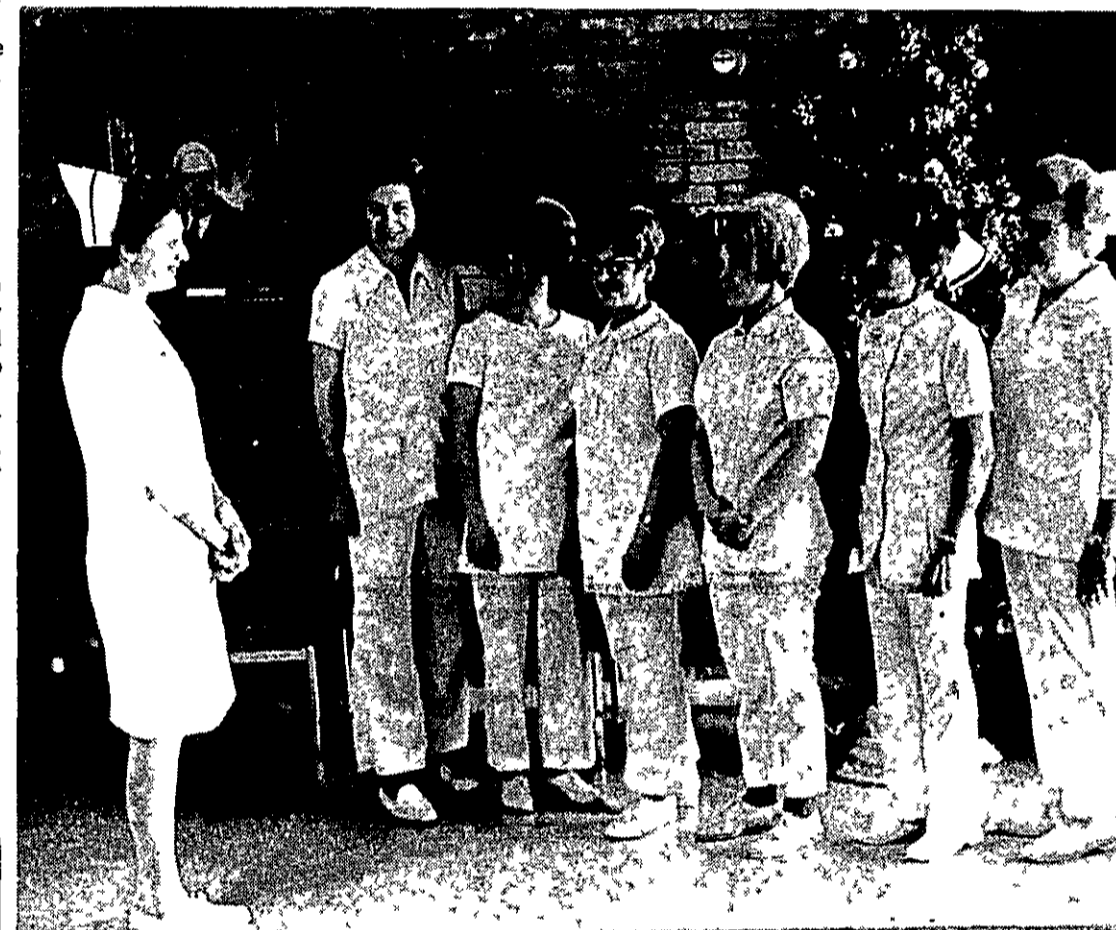

A new spraying technique which controls droplet size and can give growers the precision spraying they need for best results was revealed during the Michigan Pesticide Association meeting by Dr. A. J. Howitt, Michigan State University entomologist.

The technique is called "controlled porosity." MSU and Beemer Engineering, Philadelphia, developed some interchangeable drums (sleeves) for spray units. The spray material is put in the drums and squeezed out through pores so that droplet size is controlled. The machinery will allow growers to spray a concentrate, ULV, flowables (suspensions) or wettable powders.

"With this system you could spray as much as eight pounds of wettable powder formulation in two gallons of water," says Howitt.

Originated Word

The word cash was originated by the British in the Far East. It was derived from the Singhalese word kasi, meaning a small coin.

Snow and ice halts six contests

A full slate of six Clinton County basketball games was cancelled Friday night as the first and worst big snow storm of the winter moved across central Michigan.

All of the scheduled games in the Mid-Michigan B league and in the Central Michigan Athletic Conference were postponed. St. Louis' visit to Ovid-Elsie, Ithaca's tilt with Corunna and Bullock Creek against Chesaning were stopped due to the snow storm in the Mid-Michigan B conference.

The halted CMAC games were Laingsburg - DeWitt, Fowler-Pottersville, and Webberville-Pewamo-Westphalia.

Fowlerville's game at Bath was the only Ingham County League game called off.

The St. Johns-Hastings game was rescheduled for Dec. 22 at Hastings. The only other West Central game called off was the contest between Charlotte and Ionia. Grand Ledge and Alma kept their appointments Friday night for the only West Central contest played, as the Comets dropped Alma 63-57.

Area teams take to the courts again Tuesday night (Dec. 15) as Pewamo-Westphalia travels to Laingsburg, Portland St. Patrick visits DeWitt and Owosso St. Paul comes to Fowler.

Five big games will be on tap Friday night when Fowler meets St. Patrick's, DeWitt travels to P-W, Ovid-Elsie goes up to Ithaca, Bath hosts Pinckney and Grand Ledge visits St. Johns.

The St. Johns-Hastings game on Dec. 22 will be the only other basketball meeting after this weekend until school resumes Jan. 2.

4 Ways To Pay For

Christmas

Number one

Check-Mate is not a credit card. It is a check guarantee-automatic loan program. It assists you in cashing checks where you are not known and it allows you to write checks for more than your balance with payment of the loan created by small monthly installments, or a lump sum, if you desire. Only you and your bank know that you are creating a loan when you write the check.

Number two

Michigan BankAmericard, unlike Check-Mate, is a credit card. It allows you to obtain a cash advance in over 300 banks throughout Michigan. It also allows you to charge purchases in more than 17,000 businesses and service establishments throughout the state.

Regular Passbook Savings

Number three

Passbook savings that feature interest compounded daily. At no other bank in the Clinton Area do you receive Daily Interest on Passbook Savings.

Number four

Christmas Savings Club

Of course if you didn't open a Christmas Club last year it won't help this Christmas. If you did, you have Christmas money right now. For next year, however, it is time to open the account now so you will be ready for Christmas 1970.

WON STATE HONORS

Fowler's Ken Schmitt, left, and Steve Feldpausch receive congratulations from Head Football Coach Blaine Douglas for taking all-state honors in two separate polls. Schmitt was picked for the UPI Class D first team at guard and Feldpausch won first team honors at halfback in the Detroit Free Press ratings.

1970-71 PANTHER POWER

One of the strong contenders in the Central Michigan Athletic Conference this season is the DeWitt Panther squad coached by Frank Deak. They'll be trying for set of victories this week against Portland St. Patrick and Pawamo-Westphalia. Back row, from left, are Coach Deak, Bob Jackson, Steve Tews, Loren Ward, Doug Klaver, Dan Davis, Randy Sellhorn, Myrl Pierce, and Ron Kindel, manager. First row, Mark Simon, Andy Cusak, Chuck Berkimer, Pat Botke, Mike Moody and Ron Wilcox.

Fowler gridders feted by UPI and "Free Press"

Ken Schmitt and Steve Feldpausch, members of the 1970 Fowler High School football squad have been honored by United Press International and the Detroit Free Press, respectively.

Schmitt is a senior who lives at 10913 E. 5th in Fowler. He stands 6'2" and weighs 220 lbs., at age 16. Schmitt maintains a 2.86 grade point average.

"He can pull and trap or lead sweeps to either side," said Douglas. "He is the best guard I have coached in ten years and that includes seven other all-state linemen."

"As a defensive end, he blocked two punts, recovered another in the end zone for a touchdown and ran still another back 46 yards for another TD. He broke up four screen passes thrown into his area during the season. He is a hard worker, a quick learner, and has leadership ability."

Outdoor notes

Michigan's 1970 firearm deer season, cooled down for a more conservative kill than last year, yielded a harvest of 75,000 white-tails, according to a preliminary estimate just tabulated by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

This season's tentative figure, short of last year's take of 107,000 animals, is based on traffic counts conducted by the DNR. It will stand as the Department's best fix on the season's results until a postcard survey of licensed hunters is completed next spring.

As tallies of the traffic survey shape up, the DNR estimates that hunters this season took 55,000 bucks and 20,000 antlerless animals. In 1969, Michigan's buck kill reached 66,260 while the antlerless harvest was placed at 40,520.

Sunday starting date would mean an abbreviated opening weekend and, consequently, could cut into early hunting pressure and shooting success.

It appears from the DNR's preliminary kill estimate that they were right on that score.

Weather conditions during the season and the impact of the recent auto strike on hunter turnout were two important factors which the Department could not forecast. Apparently, both played a role in holding down this season's harvest.

DNR deer specialist David A. Arnold said that hunters were greeted by pleasant weather in the early going this season, but woods were noisy, snow was lacking in most places then, and conditions generally left something to be desired for best hunting.

During the important first full weekend of the season, hunters were buffeted by windy and rainy weather which turned into a major snow storm that bogged down action in many northern areas.

Arnold also noted from field reports that hunting pressure was considerably down from last year in many parts of northern Michigan. It is believed that the auto strike, more than anything else, was responsible for this turn of events.

It also appears that the hard winter of 1968-69 haunted Michigan's latest deer season. A below-average percentage of yearling bucks were checked through the DNR's roadside deer stations this year, leaving the conclusion that the 1969 fawn crop suffered a heavy toll from the rigors of the preceding winter.

Feldpausch is also a senior who lives on R-2 in St. Johns. He spent the season playing halfback on offense and linebacker on defense at height of 5'8" and 170 lbs. He is 17 years of age.

His honor was being chosen to the First Team Offense in Class D by the Detroit Free Press. He had a 3.0 grade point average as a junior and is maintaining above average work this year, also.

Feldpausch has been another starter since his freshmen year. According to Douglas, many opposing teams have spent a considerable amount of time trying to build defenses to stop Feldpausch alone many plans meeting with failure.

"Steve's big problem was his size," said Douglas. "If one hadn't seen him play, you would say he was just too small but he has excellent break-away speed and the outstanding balance and power of a fullback."

"I am certain that if he were given the chance, he could play football for any of the small colleges in Michigan. On defense, he is equally valuable to a team."

During his high school career at Fowler, he has scored a total of 30 touchdowns, 11 of which came during his past season as a senior. Some of his longer individual rushes during the past season were ones of 32, 38, 46, 49, 66, 77, 86, 95 and 96 yards.

His lowest yards-rushing total for the year was 137 yds. He carried the ball 18 times and one game and ended the year with a 9.35 yds.-per-rush average. Feldpausch only had one game under 100 yards during his junior year.

Practical information on setting up private disposal systems is available in a Michigan State University bulletin, "Questions and Answers About Home Sewage Disposal."

Extension Bulletin 577 looks at requirements and limitations of home sewage disposal systems, how they are affected by local ordinances and where they should be located to best prevent environmental pollution.

The publication also considers such items as size, operation and cleaning of septic tanks, and offers detailed diagrams of septic tank and drain field systems.

Produced jointly by the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service and the Michigan Department of Health, the bulletin can be obtained free of charge at local county extension service offices or by writing to the Bulletin Office, Agriculture Hall, Michigan State University, East Lansing, 48823.

EXTENSION REPORT Wheat programs have some new twists

By GEORGE McQUEEN

Michigan wheat is going through a hairy experience. Hairy wheat from Europe—varieties with more than a normal amount of leaf hairs—repel the cereal leaf beetle which has been eating away at Michigan cereal grains. Michigan State University scientists are trying to improve Michigan wheat varieties by breeding the hairy characteristic of the foreign wheat into the Michigan varieties.

critical growth areas of the wheat plant. —Results: Breeding programs aimed at developing varieties with superior levels of resistance to winterkill are in progress. Natural genetic inhibitors allow ice crystals to form only in non-critical parts of the plant or they keep ice crystals small enough to prevent extensive damage.

—Problem: Starting in the early 1960s, this viral disease has spread to almost all of Michigan's wheat acreage. Yields are reduced 10 to 15 per cent. —Results: Study of the virus, and the disease it causes, is in progress. Preliminary screening of Michigan varieties has yielded no indication of resistance to the disease. Further screening studies are underway.

—Problem: Development of a hybrid wheat would break current yield barriers. —Results: MSU scientists are concentrating on the development of lines with male sterile cytoplasm. Such lines are essential to the development of hybrids. Major emphasis has been on winter wheat, but the possibilities of breeding a hybrid spring wheat are being explored.

Selections from the third generation look good. MSU scientists estimate that a good resistant hybrid variety should be available in about seven years.

Here are some other developments in the MSU wheat program: —Problem: Growers are faced with an increasing need for wheat varieties that are better adapted to Michigan's weather and disease conditions.

—Results: Variety performance trials were conducted across the lower peninsula. Results showed white wheat varieties Ionia, Yorkstar and Genesee, and a red wheat variety, Arthur, are best choices for Michigan growers.

—Problem: High Hessian fly levels caused wheat crop damage in central and southern Michigan during 1970.

—Results: Three sources of Hessian fly resistance are now being bred into standard Michigan varieties. The new Michigan variety, Ionia, has increased Hessian fly resistance coupled with high yields, leaf rust resistance and excellent pastry flour qualities.

—Problem: A few growers report that some varieties are sprouting in the field before harvest.

—Results: MSU research shows that preharvest seed dormancy is associated with seed color. There is a strong possibility that a white wheat with sprout resistance does not exist and cannot—with current technology—be developed. Varieties with sprout resistance will most likely be red wheat lines.

—Problem: Short winter thaws are common in Michigan wheat growing areas. Thawing and refreezing of plant crowns destroys.

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) This summer I didn't expect I'd owe any taxes so I filed out the form that keeps income taxes from being taken out of your pay. Now I've gone back to work part-time for the same company and I think I will owe tax after all. What should I do?

A) File a new Form W-4, Employee's Withholding Exemption Certificate. This will authorize your employer to withhold Federal income taxes on your earnings for the balance of the year.

If you estimate that your withholding will be less than your tax liability, you may want to claim no exemptions on the W-4. This will increase the amount taken out of your pay for taxes. You will still be entitled to claim all the exemptions you are entitled to when you file your tax return.

Q) There was a fire in my apartment and some of the furniture was so badly damaged I had to get rid of it. Can I deduct this as a fire loss?

A) Yes, personal losses due to the fire are deductible to the extent they exceed $100. To arrive at the amount of your loss, take the smaller of the original cost of the furniture or the difference between the fair market value of the items before and after the fire.

If you were covered by insurance and received compensation for the loss, this compensation should be subtracted from the amount you may deduct. For more details, send a post card to your IRS district office and ask for a free copy of Publication 547, "Tax Information on Disasters, Casualty Losses, and Thefts."

Q) I just switched jobs and my company is taking social security tax out of my pay even though I paid the limit on my old job. Is there any way I can stop this?

A) No, employers are required by law to withhold social security taxes on the first $7,800 of wages paid to each of their employees. If more than the maximum is withheld from your pay this year because you had two or more employers you should take a credit for the excess against your income tax. This is explained in the instructions you will receive in January with your tax forms.

Q) Our second child was born in September. Does that mean I get a $650 exemption for him?

A) No, the amount allowed for personal exemptions on income tax returns for the 1970 tax year is $825. For withholding purposes, exemptions were $600 for the first half of 1970 and are $650 for the second half of the year.

Exemptions are not prorated so you are entitled to the full $625 no matter when in the year your child was born.

Q) Can you count groceries given to a church Thanksgiving benefit as a charitable contribution?

A) Yes, food, clothing and other items given to a charitable organization are deductible contributions. Use the fair market value of the items to determine the amount of the deduction.

Note that food or clothing given to an individual is not a charitable contribution under our tax laws. Only when the gift goes to a qualified charitable or other tax exempt group is the contribution a tax deduction.

Q) Can I deduct losses on my farm operations this year from my other income? I have a part-time job.

A) Yes, farm losses can be deducted from other income if you are engaged in farming for profit. However, special rules apply if you are a cash basis farmer with nonfarm adjusted gross income over $50,000 and a farm net loss in excess of $25,000.

Q) I never took out citizenship papers and now plan to go back to my own country. To get my sailing permit do I have to pay tax on this year's income?

A) Yes, aliens generally have to show they have satisfied all their U.S. tax liabilities before they can leave the country.

To obtain information on what forms must be completed before you leave the country contact your IRS district office. They can explain the things you have to do and will help you settle your tax obligations.

Q) Our oldest daughter is getting married in December. Will this mean we will lose our exemption for her even though we supported her practically all year?

A) Your daughter's marriage will not automatically disqualify her as your dependent this year. If your daughter does not file a joint return with her husband you may claim her exemption as long as the other dependency tests are met.

Arid soil use boosts new land

Economic health in developing countries depends heavily on how these nations use their arid agricultural soils, says a Pakistani research worker at Michigan State University.

According to S. M. Usman, "Billions of acres need to be reclaimed, put into production and well managed if these countries are going to develop advanced agricultural technology."

In 1967 the U.S. Department of Agriculture estimated that there were 7.8 billion acres of potentially tillable soils in both underdeveloped and developed nations. "Approximately half of this land is in the tropics," Usman said. "Most of the rest doesn't get enough rain."

Usman stresses, however, that arid climates have historically been conducive to the development of higher civilizations. "People living in dry regions developed the necessary advanced science and technology for irrigated agriculture," he said. "This boosted the development of their entire culture."

Usman cited the Nile Valley of Egypt, the Indus Valley of Pakistan, Babylonia, Mesopotamia, Persia and the Inca civilization.

"Arid soils need more than just water for irrigation," Usman said. "Water quality and quantity, irrigation practices and drainage conditions are also critical in the long run."

The major problem facing arid land agriculture is mineral salts. "In arid regions—about 25 percent of the earth—salts can accumulate in the soil," Usman added.

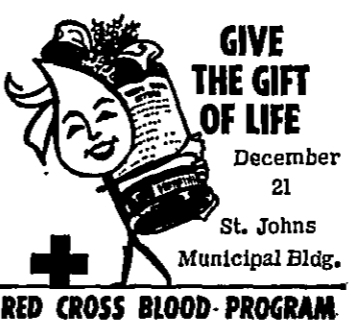

Low rainfall and high temperatures mean high rates of evaporation. This intense evaporation of soil moisture deposits the salts that were dissolved in the water near the soil surface.

"Many countries have already lost significant amounts of fertile land because of these mineral salts," Usman said. "Pakistan loses about one million acres a year—an acre every five minutes. The U.S. has lost about 10 million acres due to excessive salt deposits."

"However, the loss of valuable land to salt deposits can be kept to a minimum by using the latest available irrigation technology, management practices and land use planning techniques," Usman said.

RED CROSS BLOOD PROGRAM

For Christmas cooking Peanuts, walnuts selling fast

If you have tree nuts or dried or candied fruit on your shopping list this month, you're not the only one. About 75 percent of the year's total sales of these special ingredients are made within six weeks of Christmas.

Two kinds of nuts are making the most spectacular pre-Christmas news. Over a million tons of peanuts are being harvested this year and warehouse capacity for peanuts is being severely strained. Consequently, it is expected that very tempting prices will be offered on peanuts and peanut products both before and after the holidays.

The walnut crop for 1970 is likewise a large one. 106,000 tons is a lot of walnuts, and the quality is excellent in contrast to last year's heat-damaged crop. A couple of buying and storage tips for tree nuts in general . . . and walnuts in particular:

—In your search for quality nuts, shake the shells. A well-filled nutshell will not rattle. —If you plan to store tree nuts before using them, remember that in-shell nuts keep better than shelled nuts. —Unsalted nuts keep fresh longer than salted nuts.

—The natural oils in tree nuts contribute to flavor. To prevent the oils from becoming rancid, seal unused nutmeats or whole nuts in plastic bags and store them in the freezer.

—To crack walnuts for perfect halves, stand them on the flat end, holding by the seam. Then, with your household hammer, strike the pointed end a sharp, bouncing blow watching out for the fingers.

Should you happen to come across some extra special values on walnuts or peanuts in the weeks ahead, it's good to know that any extra amount you might buy can be easily stored in the refrigerator or freezer. They may need a bit of crisping in the oven after prolonged cold storage, but they do keep nicely without turning rancid.

A reminder for Christmas shoppers with problem people on their lists: food gifts are among the most welcome you can select. Fresh fruits, cheeses and wines, canned and packaged items, and regional specialties may be chosen to please the most particular individual.

The list is long and whether thoughtful choices are made at your regular supermarket or at a gourmet specialty shop, food gifts really can point the way to a Merry Christmas.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION by GARY A. KLEINHENN Michigan Farm Bureau

Your knife, fork and spoon are the most industrious tools for their size in your whole household. These mighty-mites of the table work overtime to feed our families. Except for the knife which spends its time cutting up, both the fork and spoon transport hundreds of pounds of food from plate to mouth for each of us during the course of a year.

For anyone of us, our silverware lifts nearly a thousand pounds. You, for instance, will eat about 182 pounds of beef, veal, pork, lamb, and mutton in a year's time. In addition you'll consume 48 pounds of chicken and turkey, and 188 pounds of fruits (fresh fruit equivalent). This also includes 260 pounds of vegetables (fresh vegetable equivalent) and 116 pounds of potatoes and six pounds of sweet potatoes (fresh equivalent).

And who would ever imagine that each of us consumes about 563 pounds of dairy products each year (whole milk equivalent). Consumption figures are amazing when they are added up. So are our figures! Indeed, there is much we have to pick from at the supermarkets to add up these pounds—as many as 6,000 different foods and more—fresh, canned, frozen, concentrated, dehydrated, ready-mixed, ready to serve, or in heat-and-serve form.

It adds up to a great buy for consumers. Last year it required only 16.5 percent of our disposable income for food. In 1960, food took 20 percent of our take-home pay; 22 percent in 1940; and 24 percent in 1930. And when you consider that Russians still shell out over fifty percent of their incomes for food, our U.S. figures are even more remarkable.

But what does the American farmer get from all this? It averages out to 41 cents of each $1 spent for food. Consider this, that's 2.6 cents for the corn in a 31-cent box of cornflakes.

The farmers also receive 55 cents of each $1 spent for choice beef. He gets 2.5 cents for the wheat in a 23-cent loaf of white bread, and 27.6 cents from a half-gallon of milk sold in stores for 55 cents.

Advice on how to succeed comes from unsuccessful men.

Shoe sizes deceiving

Does your Christmas list include a new pair of shoes for the children? You'd best take each child along if these are your plans.

Children's feet grow and change so rapidly its almost impossible to "guess" at the size. Their feet should be measured each time new shoes are fitted, even though it may be a matter of only weeks since the previous purchase.

Shoes are expensive items. They are outgrown and worn out quickly, but a good fit is important to good foot health. It's economical to buy shoes on sale only if the correct fit is available.

Podiatrists tell us it takes approximately twenty years for a person's foot bones to actually become firm. This means for twenty years, misfitting shoes can cause pressure and even deformity of foot bones.

A shoe has several definite purposes, among them being protection and support. Protection is no doubt the most important. Other functions of a shoe are to allow some room for growth, and some room for toe measurement. The materials should be such that there is air circulation allowing the foot to "breathe". Fashion cannot be overlooked, especially for the child old enough to be style conscious.

When fitting shoes, have both feet measured when the child is standing. Check for 1/2 to 3/4 inch space between the end of the longest toe and the tip of the shoe. Feet differ in shape and width, so these aspects must be considered in buying. Heels should fit snugly, but not cut into the back. The uppers should not gape much when the foot bends. The arch of the shoe should fit the arch of the foot.

Counters (a stiff reinforcement in the heel area) vary in materials with the cost of the shoe. Counters may be of leather, synthetic or stiffened paper. Whether the shoe is lined or not, the inside should be smooth and free from wrinkles, ridges or rough surfaces.

Shoes should never need a "breaking in". They should fit from the beginning. Since no two feet are alike, shoes should never be handed down from one person to another. Wear puts specific shape into a shoe that will not conform to another foot.

For more information on buying shoes for children including buying sneakers and soft shoes, shoes for babies, socks and foot health ask for Extension Bulletin E-687, Buying Shoes for Children from you Extension Office in Corunna, Ithaca or St. Johns. There is no charge.

Elsie

By MRS. NEVA KEYS, Correspondent

ELSIE(c)--Bruce Thornton, 18 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleon Thornton, 127 E. Oak St., Elsie received an unusual gift at his graduation from Ovid-Elsie High School last June. It was a trip to several countries on three continents arranged through the "Friends of Rhodesia" an organization based in Washington, D.C. A friend of the family, Jesse Churchill of Haslet, made the surprise offer to Bruce to represent him on the tour.

Bruce left Detroit Metropolitan to fly to New York City on Nov. 7 where he met the 30 other tourists of the group, ages 18 to 75, who made the month long trip with Audrey McLean of Mt. Vernon, Va., as the tour director.

Flying from New York City to Europe their first stop was Paris, France, where they spent two days sightseeing. They visited the Louvre, the world's most famous art museum where major collections of every school of painting and sculpture is housed, and saw the "Mona Lisa" and "The Thinker."

They went to the top of Eiffel Tower for a view of the city. They also saw the Arch of Triumph and many famous old government buildings. They left Paris at night for the 15 hour flight to Salisbury, Rhodesia, South Africa and upon landing were greeted by many smiling faces and 100 degree temperatures.

That evening they attended the fifth annual Independence Ball where they met Ian Smith, prime minister of Rhodesia. The group was honored at many parties before leaving Rhodesia. Their hosts would come to their hotel to take them to their homes where they found everything about the same as life here in the United States.

They also visited the African tribes and learned they are very poor but always have smiling faces. Bruce said "It is hard to forget the friendly faces after seeing so many of them. The average income is about $20 to $30 a month and is considered good wages for the Africans." He said, "their one room houses are built by the government and if a family wishes to buy, they must agree to build on to the house and keep in repair so it is livable."

Traveling on, they came to Johannesburg, the "gold center" city of South Africa and several other neighboring cities well known for their gold and diamond mines.

They went to the most famous seaport of South Africa, Capetown, where the Indian Ocean meets with the Atlantic Ocean. The city is situated beneath and around the Table Mountain, facing the Bay and the Cape of Good Hope.

They went by bus to Durban, a modern city with tall buildings and tree-lined avenues on the Natal Bay of the Indian Ocean. They also drove to Zululand where they saw rhinos in the game preserve and were charged by four of them. They again boarded their bus to leave for Mozambique, Portuguese Territory, located on the East coast of Africa. Here they found the natives were not so friendly and were happy to leave even though the country had the most beautiful scenery.

They toured the modern city of Lourenco Marques in Mozambique on the way to Swaziland where they visited the Swazi huts and their markets. They observed that the women did all of the housework and farming.

The last day in South Africa they traveled all day to return to Johannesburg. The next day they were flying to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil another all night flight. They saw the Christ of the Andes, high in the mountains of

LITERARY CLUB HOLDS CHRISTMAS MEETING

The Women's Literary Club met at the home of Mrs. Paul Platner on Tuesday for their Christmas meeting with 29 members present. The home was decorated inside and outdoor for the holiday season.

The meeting was called to order by President, Mrs. Glen Horn leading the members in praying the Club Collect, after which routine reports were given.

Discussion was made on the Christmas baskets donated by the club each year to worthy recipients of the community.

Mrs. Agnew Lewis reported on money collected from club members to be donated to the Clinton County Children's Home in St. Johns to help buy gifts for each child in their care. This has been an annual project of the WLC in lieu of gift exchange within the club.

Mrs. Howard Peltier was in charge of a Christmas program that opened with group singing, "Joy to the World" with Mrs. Mae Goodrich at the piano. Mrs. Loyel Hinkley and Mrs. Durward Conklin gave poems "Christmas Fantasy" and the humorous "Nine Nights A-Gnawing".

Mrs. C. H. Sills presented a reading on "Facts and Fables About Christmas" and Mrs. Orpha Clement read "Cousin William Comes for Christmas" which was the story of an old-fashioned family Christmas celebration in the early days of Michigan.

Mrs. Ralph Stull presented the biblical story of "The Birth of Jesus" and Mrs. Duane Green closed with "No Greater Blessing" and Mrs. Peltier, with a prayer.

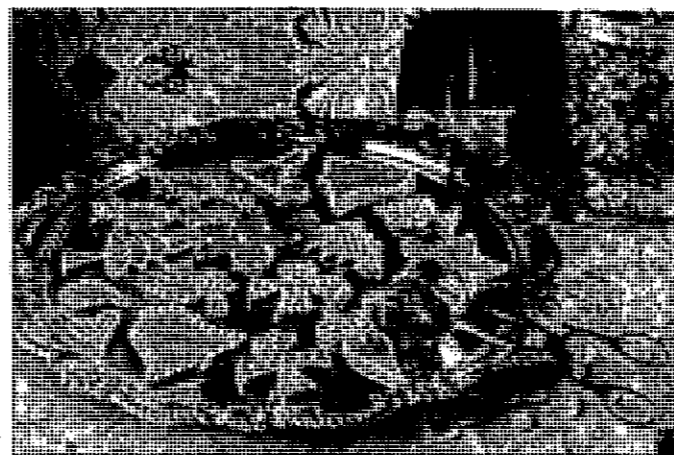

Roll call was taken with members responding by telling of their most memorable Christmas.

Following the program, Santa arrived and passed out gifts to each guest. The gifts were previously brought earlier by the members.

Refreshments were served from a holiday decorated table by Mrs. Vina Smith, Mrs. Rose Smith and Mrs. Mildred Hartwick.

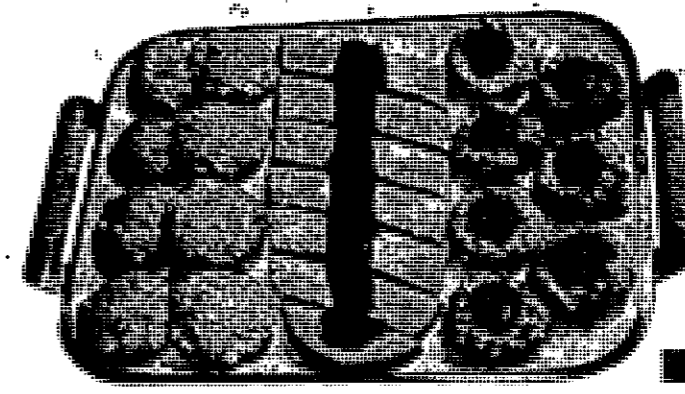

The Jan. 12 meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Gerald Carroll with a program on Social Security, Medicare and Medicaid, when Wendell Law of St. Johns will be the guest speaker.

Christmas cooking features cookies

Christmas Ginger Cookies, bejeweled with simple decorations are a royal way to welcome this year's holiday callers. The secret to the superb flavor of this year's version of a traditional Christmas cookie favorite is Jell-O Butterscotch Pudding and Pie Filling, making preparation ever so easy. At serving time, enhance the glow of these crispy cookies by displaying near a twinkling centerpiece.

Christmas Ginger Cookies
1/2 cup butter or other shortening
1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 package (3-3/4 oz.) butterscotch pudding and pie filling
1 egg
1/2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon cinnamon
Almond Glaze
Cream butter with sugar and pudding mix. Add egg; blend well. Mix flour with baking soda, ginger, and cinnamon; blend thoroughly with pudding mixture. Chill dough until firm. Roll out about 1/4 inch thick on floured board. Cut with assorted small cookie cutters. Bake on greased baking sheets at 350° for 10 to 12 minutes. Decorate with glaze. Makes about 5 dozen cookies.
Almond Glaze. Place 3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar in small bowl. Add 1/2 teaspoon almond extract; then gradually add 3 to 4 tablespoons (about) hot milk or water, blending well after each addition until mixture is of desired decorating consistency. Makes 1 cup.
For more pudding recipes, write to: "Say Pudding, Please" Box 3041 Kankakee, Ill. 60910

While this selection of traditional Holiday cookies may be pleasing to the eye, it's certainly more pleasing to the palate. And, as they are made to be eaten and enjoyed, the hostess who places a tray filled with these tasty delights in front of her guests should be pleased to see how rapidly they disappear.

Filled cookies can be time consuming to make because of the necessity of preparing the filling. These Solo Holiday treats, however, are surprisingly quick and easy to make because there is no need to prepare the filling. The recipe below calls for a ready-prepared "instant" cake and pastry filling - a time and labor saver that can help the busy housewife through her baking chores and still leave extra time in which to enjoy the Holidays.

PINEAPPLE-NUT OATMEAL COOKIES
3/4 cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 12 oz. can "Solo" Pineapple filling
1/2 cup "Solo" Nut filling
2 cups quick-cooking rolled oats
Cream butter and sugar together; add eggs and lemon rind and beat well. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Add to creamed mixture alternately with "Solo" Pineapple and Nut fillings. Stir in rolled oats. Drop from teaspoon two inches apart on greased baking sheet. Bake at 375° 12 to 15 minutes or until done. Yield: Four dozen.

Proposal C (onfusion)

Michigan voters made their desires clearly known on the issue of public aid to private schools but it is unfortunate—and embarrassing — that the intent of the proposal has come under such conflicting interpretations that the will of the people appears to have little or no immediate effect.

Aside from the confusion surrounding the legal limits of the new law, public and private school officials know only one thing for certain at this time—the law becomes effective Dec. 18. Implementation, however, is another thing for the exact meaning of the proposal is awaiting the decision of the courts.

It is a sad commentary, indeed, when an issue of such broad concern is so ambiguously written as to bring about the present state of confusion. There can be little doubt that the bewilderment surrounding the results of the vote is but an excellent example of why the "silent American" is steadily losing confidence in those to whom leadership is entrusted. When considering the time and money to be expended in the process of settling the question, the efforts and decision of Nov. 3 take on a seemingly lesser import and the voter's growing skepticism in the effectiveness of the ballot receives a well supported boost.

It is ironic that the question was presented as "Proposal C" for that final letter has come to represent confusion.

Sleep on

Bill Gibbons, editor of the Gaffney (South Carolina) Ledger buried up the keys on his typewriter recently, going after the so-called "silent American." Wrote he, (in part):

"Sleep on, silent American. Turn your ears away from the clamor of the mob in the street, the thunder of artillery shell in a Cambodian jungle, the wail of a starving child. Sleep on, silent American. If tomorrow's headlines frighten you, just don't look."

"Sleep on, silent American. Don't worry about the student protesters who are commandeering administration buildings and bombing banks and exalting false gods."

"Sleep on, silent American. Say nothing, think nothing, do nothing—and the problems of this nation may vanish. Don't be intimidated by your children. Tell your toddler to go to his room and play with his toys, but not bother you. Your eight-year-old has books and games and a color TV in his room. It's not necessary for you to go into his room to hear his prayers. Let him entertain himself."

"Sleep on, silent American. Tell your teenager to go have himself a good time. Throw him the car keys and give him a ten-dollar bill. But don't ask him where he is going. That would be a violation of his privacy and an infringement on his rights. Never ask him who his heroes are. Don't require him to work and earn his own money."

"Sleep on, silent American. Do not bestir yourself to go to the polls on election day. Politics is a mess anyway. Never be seen with your hand over your heart and resist the urge to put an American flag on your lawn. Applaud nudity in the theatre and pornography on the newsstands; this is the New Morality, haven't you heard?"

"Sleep on, silent American. Go to the golf course on Sunday morning; you've worked hard all week and deserve a little time off to relax. Of course, you might drop the kids off at Sunday School and give them a quarter to drop into the collection plate. Lie back in the hammock of complacency and inhale the amnesia of indifference."

"Sleep on, silent American. You have everything to lose."

New financing for St. Johns, St. Johns banks consolidate, No inductions 'til after Jan. 1

ONE YEAR AGO Dec. 17, 1969: A new plan for financing city operations, designed to amend the city charter to allow a 15 mill limitation, was unanimously endorsed by members of the St. Johns City Commission at their regular meeting on Dec. 15. A referendum was set for March 31, 1970. Prosecution of all shoplifters caught in the downtown St. Johns shopping district was emphasized by members of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce after a rash of the petty crimes had occurred in the downtown area over the pre-Christmas buying season. The DeWitt City Council decided to hire Charles Anderson as police chief with his duties to begin on Jan. 1, 1970. Mayor Lawrence Keck announced Anderson's appointment after the council had approved a new job description for the position. Both the St. Johns junior varsity and varsity basketball squads took the Hastings Saxons to the bench as both teams scored impressive victories over the conference title contender. The varsity came away with an 84-72 defeat while the JV's took a 72-62 decision. Both came on the Redwings home court. Ovid-Elsie rocked Ithaca 57-45, and DeWitt swamped Webberville 84-55. Elsie area residents were informed that they would have the services of a new ambulance service after the first part of 1970. The corners of Gratiot, Saginaw, Shilawsee and Clinton counties were to be served with the new convenience. TEN YEARS AGO Dec. 15, 1960: A proposal for a $13 million bank to greater serve the Clinton County area was announced Dec. 15 in a joint statement from the board of directors of the St. Johns National Bank and the State Bank of St. Johns. It was also announced that the new bank will be known as the Clinton National Bank and Trust Company and that it would represent a consolidation of the two local banks. The proposed subject to the Comptroller of the Currency and a two-thirds majority of the stockholders in each of the banks. Arthur E. Wilson, 85, president of the State Bank of St. Johns for nearly 40 years died at Clinton Memorial Hospital on Dec. 7, only a week prior to the announcement of the bank's proposed consolidation with St. Johns National Bank. Mr. Wilson had been in failing health for several months prior to his death but had been in the hospital for only three weeks. Mr. Ethel Watts, then 66, saw the sweet smell of success turn sour on him as Clinton County Sheriff's Deputies uncovered a moonshine still the elderly man was operating at his rundown home at 7153 Hollister Rd., six miles south of Ovid in Victor Township. Watts was producing 110-proof whiskey and was selling it at a profit of a reported $2,800 a month, or $33,000 per year. The still consisted of two 55-gallon drums and a couple of lengths of half-inch copper tubing. The cooking drum was sitting on bricks and had a propane gas burner sitting under it. The mash was funneled into the drum through a small hole in the top. The hole was then plugged with a screw cap, so that the vapors from the cooking mash were forced through the copper tube which was fastened to the top with a water-tight flange. Watts was the ultimate victim of circumstances as the search that turned up the still was for a man that had violated his probation. Glenn Lake, North Branch dairy farmer and president of the Michigan Milk Producers Association at the time, achieved national prominence when he was elected president of the National Milk Producers Federation. The Clinton County Selective Service Board announced that 97 area young men would return home and be discharged from the armed services in time to spend the Christmas holidays with their families. The board also announced that no further inductions would take place till after the holiday period on Jan. 2, 1946. Another statement was made that indicated sugar stamp No. 39 would be good for use after Jan. 1, 1946. Stamp 38 would be worthless after Dec. 31 of 1945. Lewis Harter, 64, of Fulton Township, was burned to death Dec. 15 when fire destroyed his farm and home about three miles north and east of Maple Rapids. The fire was discovered by neighbors at 7 p.m. but it had gained too much headway for the firemen to enter the house. Local basketball players Louis Eisler and Elliott Berkhausen were among the top ten scorers in the West Central League basketball ball statistics. Eisler led the league at the time with a 10-point average and Berkhausen had an eight-point average to retain a tie for third with Don Johnson of Greenville. 25 YEARS AGO Dec. 20, 1945: The Clinton County Selective Service Board announced that 97 area young men would return home and be discharged from the armed services in time to spend the Christmas holidays with their families. 'IF IT FITZ ... Navy plays post office

Just as I was trying to figure how many 6-packs I could buy with $98.5 million, I received this thrilling communication from the U.S. Navy. It said: "Manned Spacecraft Recovery Forces of the U.S. Navy will provide commemorative cachet and cancellation services for the upcoming Apollo 14 manned flight to the moon. Philatelic coordinators designated for the Atlantic and Pacific Fleet Recovery Forces (Task Force 140 and 130) will receive all such covers and make distribution to assigned recovery ships." Huh? This was obviously classified information. Otherwise, why would it have been sent in code? Fortunately, I know a bartender who used to be an admiral. He decoded the message for me. I was most interested in learning what a "philatelic coordinator" is. It sounds almost erotic. But no, worse luck. According to the admiral, a philatelic coordinator is the officer who orders the enlisted men to lick the stamps. What the Navy was trying to tell me is that we're going to the moon again in January, whoopee!, and the Navy will cancel my 8-cent stamp in memory of the billion-dollar event. News like that certainly makes me feel a lot better about paying taxes. It is comforting to realize that out there somewhere there is a philatelic coordinator ready to serve me. Briefly, it works like this: After leaving the moon, astronauts always land in the water. This is to give the Navy something to do. You can't row a boat to Mars, you know. What the Navy does is fish the astronauts out of the water and loan them a razor. An admiral also answers the phone and says "Hey astronaut, it's for you" when President Nixon calls. It goes without saying that every True American wants his stamp cancelled by the post office located in the ship that picks up the astronauts. And the postmark should be the same date as the pickup, of course. So get your blank stamp and self-addressed cover to your friendly neighborhood philatelic coordinator soon. A Apollo 14 goes up next month. All of which is just darning. But how about that Orbiting Astronomical Observatory which carried the world's largest space telescope into the atmosphere the other day? It was the most expensive scientific payload ever built. The telescope was supposed to provide the clearest picture yet of the little stars twinkling. But something went wrong, and the nose cone didn't jettison, and the whole shebang turned into a $98.5 million fizzle. That grand telescope is now in pieces, possibly at the bottom of the Indian Ocean. If the Navy ever recovers the remains, I trust a philatelic coordinator will be present to cancel our stamps for us. In the meantime, I'll be darned if I'm smart enough to figure how many 6-packs $98.5 million would buy. In fact, I'm so dumb I can't even understand how my country can afford to shoot billions of bucks into the air but can't afford to feed every hungry mouth and plug every polluting smokestack. Ah, there'll be a day when I'll want my stamp cancelled but I'm not going to live that long. I hope there's a philatelic coordinator somewhere over the rainbow, in the great Military Post Office in the sky.

TAKING FIVE The last leg

The Detroit Free Press' popular feature "Action Line" recently posed a question to readers on whether employers should allow workers time off for Christmas shopping. Over 63 per cent of those replying indicated yes, employers should allow time off for shopping. About the only thing this did for me was to make the soft-boiled eggs sour before they even hit my stomach. I usually read the Free Press at breakfast but after reading that little gem I couldn't eat for a day and a half. The only thing that got me straightened out was a look at the humorous side. "Morning, boss. Wow! Ya really gotta lotta work stacked up for me over there, haven't ya? Well, I'll get right at it, but I'm cuttin' out at 10:15 to go Christmas shopping." "Can't you go after work?" "Naw. I play pool at the club." "Well, what about at night. The stores are open longer hours now." "Yeah, but I bowl two nights, watch football another, play poker the fourth and baby-sit the other while my wife bowls." "Well, what about the weekends? Can't you shop on Saturday? Gee, many stores are even open on Sunday, any more. Do you have to take time off from work to shop?" "Well, it's a hell of a lot more easy on me if I do. So, come coffee break time, guess I'll be cuttin' out." "Gee, won't you miss the pay for those hours?" "Miss the pay? You mean I won't get paid for those hours?" "Of course not. How can you expect pay for not working?" "You mean I can't get a couple hours off to go Christmas shopping without you 'dockin' me? You mean those measly couple hours gonna break this place up? Well, if that's the case maybe I'd better look for another job. This place is on its last leg." "Well, maybe you'd better, but if you look closely you may see why it's on its last leg. . . it started last spring when you took a week off to hunt up an Easter Bunny."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Wants to see a new day soon Dear Editor We hear much about separation of Church and State. That Prayer in public places also public schools should not be tolerated because of the separation. Then there's Parochial, the dissenters want none of this, for it takes from their pockets. They think not of the taxes that these people pay to the State for the education of other children. We hear no dissent whatsoever from them about the days of Christmas and Easter, for these days fill their pockets with silver, gold, frankincense and myrrh. Then I come to Thanksgiving Day. I think of the brave Americans that established this day and the varied reasons, unfair, unjust laws and taxes, the right to choose freely and unfeigningly, the right to worship his God, giving thanks for the many freedoms and abundances of this land. This day also brings to mind the Pledge of Allegiance "One Nation Under God," further, on currency, "In God We Trust." Looking at State and Federal government, they are separate but support one another. Then as I look around at this big world, I see no new lands. If America is for Americans, no matter what race, color or creed and these days Christmas, the birth of Christ, Easter, his resurrection from the dead, Thanksgiving for all the privileged abundances of this land are left on the calendar, then let's have a new day established, called "Rebirth of America." Then with John Wayne, each morning we will not only look in the mirror and say I am an American, what can I do to make this a better country? "but we will be resoundingly singing, MY GOD HOW GREAT THOU ARE. Mrs. Leona Martens R. 4 St. Johns Typical day not like that, reader says Dear Sir, I'm writing in regard to an article in the Dec. 9 issue of the County News under the title of "They'll Never Get To Me", concerning the use of various pills, drinks during a so called typical day of a suburban couple. It is quite naive to associate coffee, vitamin pills etc., and the people that use them, with marijuana or any of the hard drugs that are causing trouble today in this country as the drug content of the majority of these pills is far below that of any dangerous level. Marijuana is dangerous because it introduces the victim to the drug world, gets him familiar with individuals who may have gone to something more damaging and would like very much to get someone else down to his sick level, also most addicts get their start from this drug. I don't believe there are very many people who have to depend on various pills to get through a normal day as the article written by Mr. McEleney seemed to indicate. The subject was exaggerated in my opinion. Sincerely, Frank Glowacki Jr. 560 S. Traver St. Johns Generation gap?

By: WARREN E. DOBSON We hear a lot it seems these days Of Generation Gap, Sometimes it sounds like it must be A new town upon the map: SHH! I am slow to criticize Those who do much for me, Like finding ways to make folk hear And helping blind to see. We hear of modern hell-bent speeds, And youth pulled out of ditches, But little of who manned the train - Controlling all the switches; We need to take a closer look At many a pedigree, Since there are those who help us hear, And cause the blind to see. We know there's just so many hours In every working day, We schedule shorter hours of work "Which leaves more time to play; But neither youth nor age should try To short-change society, So long as deaf are made to hear And blind to cause to see! Yes, the mechanism's different, Endowed with greater skill Must be the ones who answer up! To needs that they must fill; By I for one will welcome And gladly pay the fee, For those who help to make me hear And cause my eyes to see!

View from the 87th Responsible parents

By REP. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

I was very happy with the report last week that a new ordinance in Madison Heights, making parents responsible for the criminal acts of their children, is apparently paying off.

We have had laws on the books for some time now making parents financially responsible for destruction of property, but this law makes parents of children under 17 liable for their actions when they "fail to exercise reasonable parental control."

If found guilty a parent could be fined up to $500 and given 90 days in jail.

A judge may also place the parents on probation which would require them to report to a probation officer periodically and abide by probation laws.

While this new approach may seem rigid to some, the fact of the matter is that it works—or at least it is working in Madison Heights.

A recent report in the Detroit Free Press pointed out that in the ten months since the ordinance was enacted only 35 first-time warnings have been issued.

The warnings went to the parents of so-called "habitual offenders". Not one of the juveniles warned through their parents has been in trouble with the law since.

It seems a very reasonable approach to me. I would presume that many other local governments will consider similar actions.

Perhaps the Legislature may even look into the matter with an eye towards doing something on the state level. However, I believe that a problem like this is better handled on the local level, closer to the problem.

At any rate much of our juvenile problems can be traced directly to a lack of parental guidance. If parents cannot or will not recognize their responsibility on their own, perhaps a nudge through the law is the answer.

This approach has worked so well in Madison Heights, in fact, that no action more serious than a warning has been used. This is one ordinance which does seem to meet the ideal goal of "preventive" crime legislation.

Turning to another subject, with the advent of the Christmas season I was surprised to learn that our great state is the leading producer of plantation-grown Christmas trees.

In a release last week from the Michigan Department of Agriculture I learned that over five million Michigan evergreens will be sold in the state and across the nation. Some of these trees, according to the Department, will be shipped as far away as California.

In addition to the numbers of trees, the economic impact is also impressive. Growing and selling our Christmas trees amounts to over $20 million a year. Scotch pines, as you might suspect, are the most widely produced tree, but spruce and firs are also plentiful.

The Department is also offering a free booklet with sketches of tree species and also including tips on selecting, caring for and disposing of your Christmas tree.

The booklet is called "Buying Your Christmas Tree," and if you are interested you can have one by contacting the Michigan Department of Agriculture, Lewis Cass Building, Lansing, Michigan 48913.

Good news

By REV. HUGH BANNINGA

In the 17th verse of the third chapter of Zephaniah the prophet says, "The Lord, your God, is in your midst. . . he will renew you in his love. . . Yes, God is in our midst in His love."

Especially at this time of year do we think of His love in terms of the Incarnation. Now perhaps some of you may have questions about the Incarnation. You may ask, "Just what does it mean? What claim is the Church making in this doctrine?"

One of the early attempts to answer these questions is found in John's Gospel, chapter 1, verse 14: "And the Word (God) became flesh and dwelt among us, full of grace and truth; we have beheld his glory, glory as of the only Son from the Father."

If this language confuses you, here is a parable about the Incarnation which might help.

Once upon a time there was a man who looked upon Christmas as a lot of humbug. He wasn't a Scrooge. He was a very kind and decent person, generous to his family, upright in all his dealings with other men.

But he didn't believe all that stuff about an Incarnation which the churches proclaim at Christmas. And he was too honest to pretend he did.

"I am truly sorry to distress you, but I simply cannot understand this claim that God became man," he told his wife who was a faithful churchgoer.

On Christmas Eve his wife and children went to church for the midnight service. He declined to go with them. "I'd feel like a hypocrite," he said. "I'd much rather stay at home. But I'll wait up for you."

Shortly after his family drove away in the car, snow began to fall. He went to the window and watched the flurries getting heavier and heavier. "If we must have Christmas," he said, "it's nice to have a white one." He went back to his chair by the fireside and began to read his newspaper.

A few minutes later, he was startled by a thudding sound. It was quickly followed by another, then another.

He thought that someone must be throwing snowballs at the living room window. When he went to the front door to investigate, he found a flock of birds huddled miserably in the snow.

They had been caught in the storm, and in an effort to find shelter, they had tried to fly through the window.

"I can't let these poor creatures lie here and freeze," he thought. "But how can I help them?" Then he remembered the barn where the children's pony was stabled. It would provide a warm shelter.

He put on his coat and boots and tramped through the snow to the barn. He opened the doors wide and turned on a light. But the birds didn't come in.

"Food will bring them in," he thought. So he hurried back to the house for bread crumbs, and then sprinkled them on the snow leading to the barn. To his dismay the birds ignored the bread crumbs and continued to flop around helplessly in the snow. He tried shaking them into the barn by walking around and waving his arms. They scattered in every direction—except into the barn.

"They find me a strange and terrifying creature," he said to himself, "and I can't know of any way to let them know they can trust me." "If only I could be a bird myself for a few minutes, perhaps I could lead them to safety."

Just at that moment, the church bell began to ring. He stood silently for a while, listening to the bells pealing the glad tidings of Christmas. Then he sank to his knees in the snow, "Now I do understand," he whispered. "Now I see why You had to do it, God."

Yes, God is in our midst in His love. "He will renew you in His love." Notice the personal aspect of this phrase. He will renew you in His love, God is the God of individual love. It is not mankind that God loves; it is men. The shepherd went out to find his lost sheep.

He could not be content with 99 while one was lost. The woman lost a coin in her house, so she cleaned until she found it. She could not be content with nine coins while one was lost. The one—the individual—is what great matters to God. God seeks out the individual sinner and calls him to repentance. St. Augustine expressed it this way, "God loves each one of us as if there was only one of us up to love."

God reaches out to man, because He is a person. From Him comes forgiving, seeking, individual love.

This is the Good News that Christ brings to all people. This is the Good News we look forward to especially on December 25th.

Smitty

By LOUIE THELEN Long Beach, California

'Twas the spring of '70 in Philadelphia, Pa. At the Naval Hospital down in Ward J. Friday morn at the stroke of ten Captain Smith led his men On the weekly inspection tour.

The clinic passed that was sure But one corpsman had hair Longer than he should dare. Smitty whipped out his 3 inch ruler Custom made, gold plated and hand engraved. He said, "Son, your hair is too long and it must go." Son answered, "Oh, is that so? Why must it go?" Now Smitty fossilized in the era of wooden ships And iron men with minds cold Who did what they were told.

All he could answer was "THE book says so!" John had never seen THE book. "THE book, it says so, THE book says so!" "THE book, Oh, you mean the Bible." Alas poor Smitty, He's no longer the same; Today he sits on the Tramp with the insane. Sometimes he roars, sometimes he whispers But the only words he utters "THE book says so."
