Protesting farmers close ASC office

By Sharon Randall
Staff Writer

Clinton County

Representatives of the American Agriculture Movement took the first step of a three-step plan to draw attention to the farmer's plight, Monday, Jan. 14, by circling the County Service Building at 306 Elm St. with about 20 tractors and shutting down the Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation (ASC) office.

Most other offices in the building were closed because of the Martin Luther King holiday.

Closing down the federal office, farmers asked officials there to contact Washington and relay their protest to President Carter's grain embargo on the Soviet Union.

The group said the AAM is opposed to the embargo only because it singles out the farmer. "The whole country should share in this," Larry Phinney, spokesman for the group said. "If we are going to have an embargo, it should be a total embargo."

Phinney also had criticism for the government's decision to buy up the 17 million metric tons affected by the embargo. "That step only helps out the big grain companies," he explained, "and there's a lot of talk that they've made an excessive profit at government expense."

The farmers' biggest concern is that the government will indiscriminately dump the 17 million metric tons on the market sometime during the year and cause another decline in prices.

Phinney said that 1,500 ASC offices across the nation were to be closed by AAM farmers in similar demonstrations Monday. "The situation is serious," he said. "I believe we need to do something. They can't expect the farmer to carry this burden."

On step two, members of the Clinton County AAM and other Michigan representatives will be traveling to Iowa to participate in a phone campaign that they hope will unseat Carter there in the primary later this month.

"If Carter loses that primary, he'll know the heat's on him," Phinney said. "He can't take that loss in Iowa." Phinney explained that the AAM involvement would be strictly to un-seat Carter and not to support either Kennedy or Brown.

As a final step of the protest, Michigan AAM members will be joining thousands of others from states across the nation in another march on Washington in February. This march will be mostly with farm trucks and pick-ups and is being planned to help promote the use of grain alcohol as fuel.

As the groups travel across the country, they will hold demonstrations where they stop each night. "Every night there will be meetings," Phinney explained. "We will set up displays on how engines can be changed over to burn alcohol and will be giving out information and asking for support," he said.

"While it won't help the immediate situation," Phinney explained, "converting to alcohol and gasohol are long range solutions. We are two years away if we started today," he indicated. "This is an answer to the oil shortage and an answer to all this excess grain."

Forceful tractors

American Agriculture Movement organizations across the nation staged demonstrations in front of federal Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee offices. Here in Clinton County, local farmers shut down the ASC office by parking tractors around the building and in front of doors and parking lot entrances. Most other county offices housed in the County Service Building on Elm Street were closed for the day because of the Martin Luther King Holiday. (Photo by Sharon Randall)

Farmers plea protection from embargo losses

By Sharon Randall
Staff Writer

Clinton County

If the nation's farmers are to survive President Carter's decision to cut back grain sales to the Soviet Union, methods have to be found to fully compensate them for the losses they will take if grain prices do not recover, say local farmers and farm organization representatives.

Farmers and farm groups across the nation have reacted with anger to Carter's embargo on 17 million metric tons of grain earmarked for the Russian market.

The grain embargo was announced Jan. 4 limiting grain shipments to the Soviet Union to a minimum of eight million metric tons. It negated arrangements to ship an additional 17 million metric tons of grain (three million metric tons of wheat, 13 million metric tons of corn and one million metric tons of soybeans).

Carter's action was in direct reaction to Soviet Union involvement in Afghanistan. Experts say that the embargo will eventually cause domestic problems in Russia even though that country is sure to take steps to find other countries from which to buy grain.

Farm Bureau economist Robert Craig of St. Johns said that the Russians won't be able to find all the grain they need. "They will have to slaughter both poultry and swine," he said, "which will cause shortages next year."

The agriculture sector of our national economy will suffer severe economic hardships through no fault of their own unless steps are taken to offset the adverse effects of the embargo," Craig said. He explained that farmers were hurt and angry to be singled out in the embargo while many large corporations like Pepsi-Cola, continue to sell to Russia and make a profit.

Most farmers voiced their patriotism but the shock came from the fact that Carter had singled out agri-business to suffer the brunt of his foreign policy decision.

Local farmers also expressed disappointment in the administration's first step to remedy the harm here at home by buying up the 17 million metric tons from the grain companies. They said the move was only bailing out the large grain businesses and ignoring the farmer with bushels of grain stored at home.

American Agriculture Movement, Farm Bureau and many other farm organizations are demanding that steps be taken

Barber offers to buy Central School

By Patrice Hornak
Editor

St. Johns

St. Johns businessman, Mark Barber, has offered to purchase Central Elementary School from the St. Johns school district and convert the 95-year-old school to apartments.

The school board has been tossing around two ideas concerning the school's future. One is to renovate it, restoring it historically. Another is to raze the structure and build a new elementary.

Now the board has another alternative. Barber's offer was referred to the board's Building and Grounds Committee at the board's meeting Jan. 9.

Barber renovated the "Barber Apartments" on Lansing Street a few years back, turning an aging old house into a classy apartment house.

This summer he renovated, under contract, the Nihart Apartments on Walker Street.

"I've always liked that school, Barber said in a Monday morning interview. He attended first through eight grades there.

He admitted that he has not been inside the building to measure it yet. Therefore, he does not know how many apartments could be located in the building.

However, he has put ideas down on paper. If he were to convert it to apartments, he would keep much of its outside appearance intact. The back of the building would be changed as he said he would tear down the boiler room

Care Center gears for victory meeting

St. Johns

The entire community of the Clinton County area is invited to the Clinton Area Care Center building fund victory meeting and report to the public at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Jan. 14 in the VFW hall in St. Johns.

The meeting will announce to the community the total amount of contributions and pledges after nine weeks of intensive campaigning, the first phase of the drive to initiate basic funds for a 108-bed care center for the Clinton County area.

Interested members of the community desiring to learn first-hand the progress of building plans are invited to the celebration.

Especially included in the event will be campaign leaders and their families, contributors and their families, volunteer workers and their families, the CACC board with their families, and other interested people.

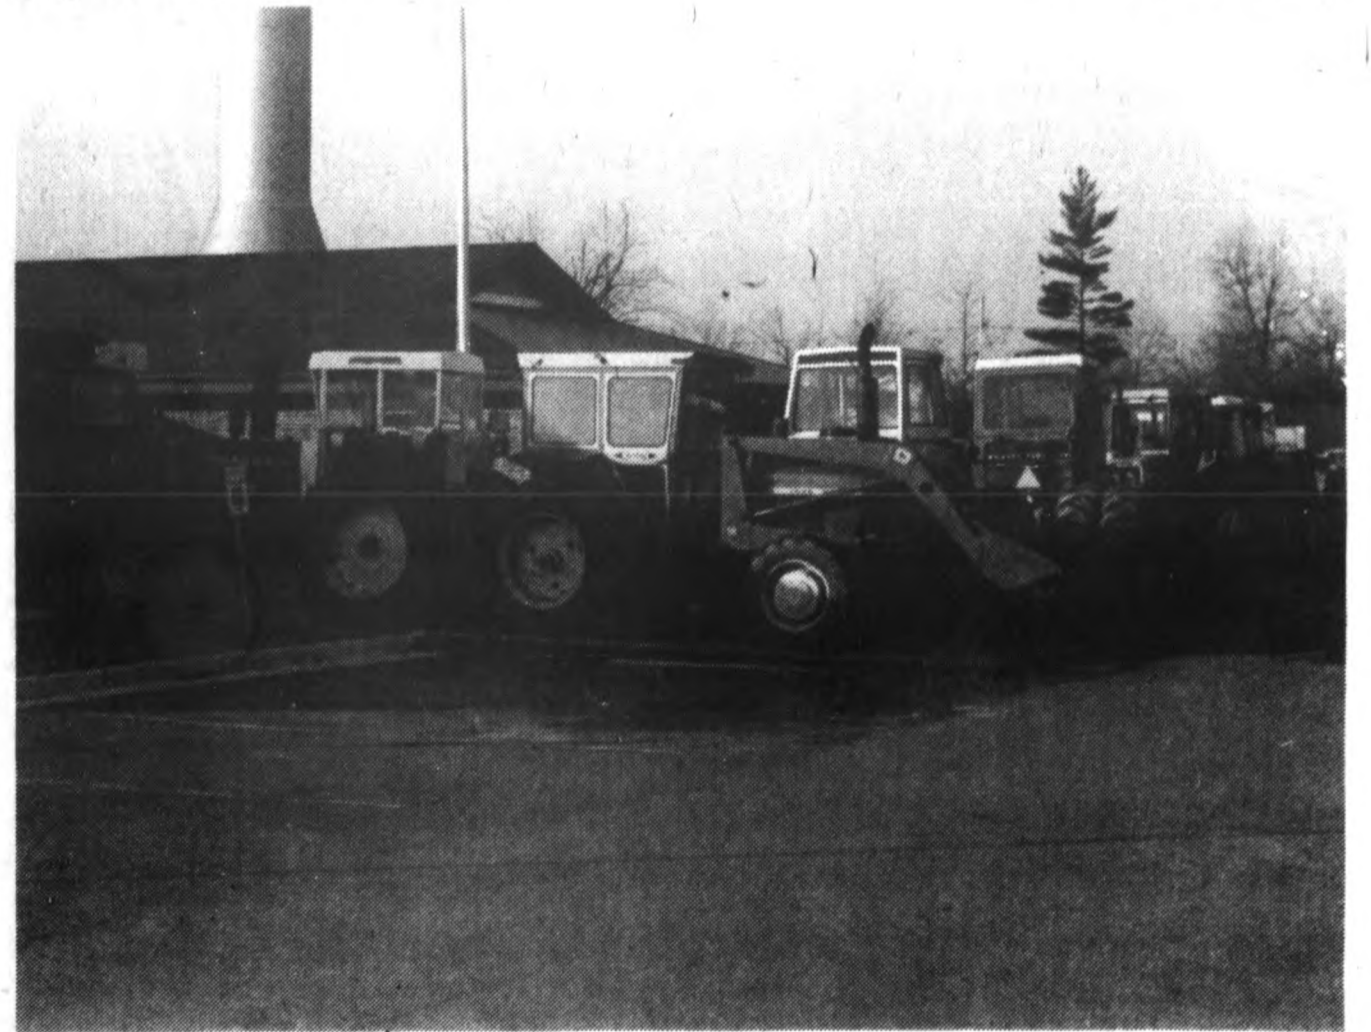

Members of the St. Johns High

School band will open the evening with a period of music and will play again at the conclusion of the session, following the report to the public.

One segment of the report will include an outline of follow-up activities, a second phase of the campaign; consultant services available to pledgers, and a look at projected additions to current totals in the fund drive.

The climax of the evening will be the disclosure of the victory total contributed to the building campaign, the minimum goal of $600,000 having already been met. Along with a look at total funds will be a recognition of the entire campaign organization who worked in compiling the building funds. John Arehart, mayor of St. Johns, will respond for the community at large.

Following the report program, light refreshments will be served.

Training pushed in CETA program

By Sue Kiley
Staff Writer

Clinton County

The big push in 1980 for the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) program is training according to Tom Chatel, coordinator.

Clinton County is in the process of beginning a training program for its public service employees. Hopefully through the new program, basic job skills will be upgraded, making the worker more employable.

"We are not going to be getting them jobs," Chatel explained. "However, we are going to show them how to go about getting a job."

The program will address some key elements such as showing the employee how to fill out a job application, interviewing techniques, where to look for work, how to make out a resume and personal hygiene and dress.

Presently, Chatel is accepting proposals from applicants on how to run the training program. School systems, private corporations, or community based agencies could apply to instruct the training program.

"The program will be ongoing and the format is wide open," Chatel said. "Training could include seminars, a traditional classroom experience, one to one counseling or a combination of all three."

The service which is hoped to be operable in March will be offered to about 60 people in Clinton County. In fact, every (PSE) will receive some type of training.

CETA has changed drastically since its inception in 1973. During the first year of the program, a person only needed to be unemployed for 30 days with no income. Now the program has been redirected to the hard core unemployable person says Chatel. Now a person has to be unemployed for 15 weeks and economically disadvantaged to qualify for CETA.

"This kind of training will become a permanent part of the CETA program," Chatel said. "As each year passes, you can expect to see more training being offered."

According to the coordinator, 15 percent of the total county CETA budget has to be set aside for training. He added, however, that the actual dollar figure can be costed out in a number of ways.

Anyone interested in submitting a training proposal should contact the Manpower Office in the courthouse at St. Johns.

Jay Hebner retiring from County Road Commission

By Patrice Hornak
Editor

St. Johns

During the past 33 years, Jay Hebner has been working for a county road commission.

When he first started in this field back on March 4, 1946, he was a truck driver and a grader operator in Huron County. On Feb. 8 he will retire as superintendent-manager of the Clinton County Road Commission.

Hebner came to Clinton County as the superintendent-manager on May 24, 1971. During those nine years, he's seen 250 miles of asphalt roads put down in this county. He's seen construction on primary roads, a new road commission building constructed and dedicated, and a "very good relationship with the township boards," he said.

Hebner succeeded Don Haske who went on to another job. Succeeding Hebner will be Robert Ancel, the current project engineer at the Clinton County Road Commission.

At 62 years of age, Hebner said, "I'm not going to sit still (during retirement.)" He and his wife, Eileen, bought a home overlooking the ocean in Fort Pierce, Florida, and he said they're going to move to Florida "as soon as I can get the motor started in the car."

Actually, it will be the last week in February before the Hebners move south from their present home at 902 E. Sturgis St., St. Johns.

Once in Florida, he said he's looking forward to seeing his favorite Dodger baseball team practice at Vero Beach, about seven miles from the Hebner home.

Mrs. Hebner is employed by Julie K in St. Johns. She, too will be leaving her position to go south.

A few of their thoughts will be in the north, however. Hebner said he's going to miss "working with the men" adding, "We've got a good group of men here. Men and machines, there's where you get action."

The Hebners have two sons, Herb who works as a technician for Michigan Tractor and lives in Westland, and Ron who lives in Louisville, KY and is a district manager for Woolco Department Stores.

MTU lists honors

Houghton

Among the 746 students who achieved dean's list honors at Michigan Technological University by earning a grade point average of 3.5 or higher of a possible 4.0 point were a number of Clinton County students.

Honor students included: Brian Kiel, a freshman in electrical engineering technology, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kiel of 1106 Wight St., St. Johns.

Pearl Ackles (4.0), a freshman in civil engineering, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ackles of 9245 E. Walker Rd., Ovid.

Glenn Morgan, a junior in metallurgical engineering, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Morgan of 133 W. Williams St., Ovid.

Amy Johnson (4.0), a freshman in chemical engineering, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson of 11505 Eden Trail, Eagle.

Jennifer Colby (4.0), a freshman in computer science, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Colby of 13775 Shavey Rd., DeWitt.

A total of 185 students at MTU earned straight A averages of 4.0.

★ Barber offers

and chimney. With the bricks he would patch some of the exterior and change some of the windows to make them more energy efficient.

He envisions a wrought iron fence around the school grounds which he would then landscape.

Basically, he would keep the building in its original state. He has reservations that the school system wouldn't restore it with the same attention to preservation as he would. "I'm afraid they are going to mess it up," he said.

When asked about the possibility of the school system razing it and building a new school, Barber said, "I really question whether or not it (new school) will happen. "I don't see the people voting that kind of money right now," he said.

A group of citizens interested in seeing the school restored and kept in use also shares that feeling about a millage vote for a new school. They are working to obtain state and national historic designation for both Central Elementary and Teresa Merrill Elementary schools.

By receiving historical designation, the school could be eligible to receive grant money for renovation.

Last month the school board agreed to apply for the historical designations, but make it clear they were not promising to apply for grant money to renovate the building.

Whether to raze the building, restore it with state or national funds or sell it to Barber who said he would turn the school into "a super place—the most elite place in Clinton County, bar none," is a decision the board of education must make.

Correction

A story on the front page of last Week's Clinton County News about the weather and the Clinton County Road Commission contained an error.

The story should have said 4-5 hundred tons of salt have been used on county roads thus far this winter, compared to 11 hundred tons used by this time last year. The story said only 4-5 tons were used this year and 11 tons were used last year at this time.

Audit proves city in good financial shape

By Patrice Hornak
Editor

St. Johns
"Sound—healthy," was the diagnosis the city of St. Johns received on its 1979 fiscal year audit as presented by Terry Hall from the certified public accountant firm of Biggs, Hall & Hausserman Monday night.

Two funds, namely the major street fund and the parking meter fund, were both reported to operate at a loss. Hall recommended the city unite the parking meter fund with the general fund. The city can switch money from the local street fund to the major street fund to counteract that imbalance.

The general fund is in good shape, Hall said. Using a simple formula which takes the total fund and divides that figure by seven, he said the general fund should have a minimum of $120,000 left as a fund balance. The city's general fund had a fund balance of $330,000.

Also at Monday night's meeting:

—Five persons were appointed to the revitalized Compensation Commission. The commission determines the salaries of city commissioners and the mayor. Presently, commissioners receive $500 annually and the mayor gets $600. They also get one-half of the Blue Cross premium. Commissioners can take the insurance coverage or the cash equivalency of the policy.

St. Johns resident Ray Kentfield has questioned the legality of the commission's Blue Cross fringe benefit which the city commission granted itself back in 1973. The Compensation Commission is being reactivated to resolve the matter. It will remain an active commission.

Named to the Compensation Commission were Ed Mankey, one-year term; Tony Kuntz, two-year term; Brandon White, Jr., three-year term; Bruce Lanterman, four-year term; and Don Gilson, five-year term. The commission members were nominated by the mayor and approved by the city commission.

—Public hearings were set for Feb. 11 to review Industrial Facilities Exemption applications submitted by F.C. Mason and Maco Tool.

—A request from Russell Johnson to have property located between Jeanne's Beans and the car wash be rezoned from general commercial to multi-family dwelling zoning was referred to the planning commission. Twelve apartments are being considered for that lot.

Robertson seeking another term as probate judge

Marvin Robertson

Clinton County Probate Judge Marvin E. Robertson this week announced his candidacy for re-election to the office he has held since appointment by Gov. William G. Milliken in March, 1979.

In making the announcement, Judge Robertson emphasized his personal belief that his court should be responsive to the public and the prompt hearing and settlement of matters which come before him are his primary objectives.

"It is important to me and to persons we serve that we encourage public confidence in the legal system by performing in a punctual manner with courtesy and practicality. These considerations, along with keeping the public aware of the functions of probate court, will continue to be professional goals to which I shall subscribe."

Judge Robertson received his bachelor of arts degree from St. Francis College in Fort Wayne, Ind., and graduated from Detroit College of Law. He was employed by credit firms in southwestern Michigan and served as a credit counselor for Southfield firm. In addition, he worked as an assembler in the Pontiac Division of General Motors.

Prior to his admission to the bar, Judge Robertson worked as a caseworker and supervisor at various levels of the Department of Social Services while attending law school.

Following graduation he accepted assignment as assistant prosecutor for Clinton county, responsible for Probate Court appearances in actions brought under the Juvenile Code and the Mental Health Code. He later joined the staff of the attorney general of Michigan in the Medicaid Fraud Unit and, following that, served as chief attorney, family support division, for the Ingham county prosecutor. It was from this position that he received the appointment from Gov. Milliken.

Judge Robertson and his wife, Margarita, have two children. The family attends St. Joseph Church and Judge Robertson is active in the Knights of Columbus and St. Johns Rotary Club, as well as serving as an instructor of juvenile law at Thomas M. Cooley Law School.

The Robertsons reside on south US-27, St. Johns.

VanDriesen elected secretary of Tri-County Planning Commission

Lansing

Robert VanDriesen, Clinton County commissioner, was elected secretary of the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission (TCRPC) at an organizational meeting Jan. 9.

Eaton County Commissioner Robert Clarke was elected chairman, succeeding Virginia Zeeb of Clinton County who was the first woman to chair the TCRPC.

New local government appointments to the 20-member commission included Clinton County at large representative Daryl Kesler and Clinton County Commissioner Earl Lancaster.

Clinton County Board of Commission Chairman Roger Overway attended the reorganization meeting. He and the chairman of the Eaton and Ingham county commissions discussed how the TCRPC could help local governments meet their 1980 objectives.

At the top of most everyone's list was the need for more guidance in developing local land use plans and zoning ordinances to address energy and public service problems caused by urban sprawl. Other areas where more active TCRPC involvement was asked for included overall economic development planning, solid waste management disposal, and carpooling and other energy-saving transportation projects to aid commuters traveling to Lansing and the surrounding urban area.

Miss Bashore has accepted a position teaching English and coaching volleyball at Grayling High School.

Buildings get check-up

Fourteen commercial buildings in six Michigan counties, including Clinton County, will receive complete "energy checkups" as part of a research project administered by the Michigan Energy Administration.

Using a $167,000 grant from funds provided by the National Energy Conservation Act of 1978, the Dearborn engineering firm of Moylan Associates will conduct energy audits on seven retail stores in Kent, Ottawa and Muskegon counties. They also will conduct energy audits in seven office buildings in Clinton, Ingham and Eaton counties. Specific buildings have not yet been chosen.

An energy audit is a thorough analysis of a structure to determine its energy conservation potential. When performing an audit, inspectors check a building's construction, lighting, heating and cooling systems and machinery. The on-site inspection is followed by a study of the building's fuel consumption history and energy-use patterns.

When the audits are complete, Moylan Associates will use the results to conduct seminars on energy-savings for merchants and business managers.

"There are many steps that businessmen and women can take to reduce their energy consumption in their buildings. This energy checkup will help identify some of them," Milliken said.

Stull jumps bail, wanted on kidnapping, rape charges

Trent Lee Stull

St. Johns

Clinton County Prosecutor Jon Newman issued a picture of Trent Lee Stull this week in an attempt to locate his whereabouts. Stull failed to appear for his trial, Tuesday, Jan. 8 in Circuit Court.

Stull is charged with kidnapping and rape stemming from an incident last Oct. 21 when an 18-year-old female hitchhiker was kidnapped at knife-point in East Lansing and driven to a field in the Bath area and raped. Stull was arrested, Oct. 23 by Lansing Police.

"We are looking for him," Newman said. "Perhaps someone will recognize his picture." Newman warned however that if anyone spots Stull they shouldn't attempt to take any physical action but should notify authorities.

Newman requested that the court forfeit a $10,000 cash bond deposited by Stull's father, Leonard Stull, last November and Judge Timothy Green agreed. Newman said Stull had been released when his father posted the $10,000 cash bond. 10 percent of the $100,000 bond that had been set. This is allowed by a state law.

Stull is formerly of Cutler Road, Bath.

Stull's parents, Leonard and Betty Stull now of Lansing have a civil rights suit pending in federal court in Grand Rapids which they filed last year charging the Clinton County Sheriff's Department violated the rights of their other son, Spencer Scott Stull.

He was shot and killed while officers tried to arrest him on a drug-related felony warrant two years ago.

The couple seek a total of $7.6 million in the suit that names Sheriff Anthony Hufnagel and nine deputies as defendants.

Promising puppet makers

In every old detergent bottle there's a story. It just takes creativity, imagination, scraps of material and June Stoppels, professional puppeteer, who turned 75 children into play actors Saturday. The unique workshop, sent each child home with a puppet. Mrs. Stoppels demonstrated her extensive collection of puppets then children used them to perform two short plays with her narration and audience sound effects, as in the three little pigs, top photo. Lynn Block, bottom photo, and other Community Resource Volunteers assisted the children in putting together their own puppet creations. Mrs. Stoppels, brought to Clinton County by Arts for All Ages which is funded by the Michigan Council for the Arts; will be back again April 19, spending the morning in St. Johns and the afternoon in Pewamo-Westphalia. ## Maple Rapids can dial direct

Owosso

"We have reached another 'milestone' in providing telecommunications to our Maple Rapids customers," James Courtney, Owosso division manager for General Telephone Company announced. The milestone was reached through the placing in service of automatic number identification (ANI) equipment.

"Maple Rapids customers with one-party service will no longer have an operator ask for their number on direct dialed long-distance calls," Courtney said.

"During peak calling periods or when an occasional equipment failure occurs, an operator will be used as a backup to assure billing of the calls," he said.

The Maple Rapids exchange is one of several in the Mid-Michigan operating area of General Telephone that are scheduled to receive ANI during 1980.

Two receive Alma scholarships

Alma

Meda Graham in establishing a scholarship trust fund before her death in 1971 is helping 38 students finance educations at Alma college this year. Among the students who have been designated "Meda Graham Scholars" for 1979-80 are Sonja Black, a junior, and Keith Haske, a senior, both from St. Johns.

Criteria for selection of Meda Graham Scholars include academic performances, recommendations from instructors and financial need.

Sonja, a 1977 graduate of Dewitt High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Black, 2400 Green Rd., St. Johns.

Keith, a 1976 graduate of St. Johns High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Haske, 1100 Hampshire, St. Johns.

Faint starlike objects called quasars emit more energy than the most powerful galaxies known. If they are as distant as many astronomers think, the total energy emitted by a single quasar in one second could supply all of earth's electrical energy needs for a billion years.

Magsat, the first spacecraft specifically designed to measure the magnetic field of the earth's crust, was recently launched by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Data from the satellite are expected to give scientists new information about earth's geology.

'Career Tracks' debuts; students write about students

By Patrice Hornak
Editor

St. Johns
A newsletter written by students about students' experiences in career education will roll off the presses for the first time this month.

Community Resource Volunteer Director Bill Richards of St. Johns came up with the idea of a career education newsletter for students in Michigan schools and took his idea to the Michigan Department of Education career education director, Dr. Robert Weishan.

Dr. Weishan gave Richards approval to go ahead with the project and volunteered to fund the newsletter.

Students from Ovid-Elsie High School and Holt High School submitted articles for the first issue. They wrote on Ovid-Elsie's student radio station, WOES; an interview with Dr. Weishan by a Holt student; job shadowing "Lansing State Journal" sportswriter Dave Matthews; job shadowing physical therapists at the Ingham Medical Center; and an article about how other students can submit articles for this newsletter.

On Wednesday, Jan. 9, three Holt students, their journalism instructor and assistant principal learned how to put a newsletter together. Students determined the name of the newsletter, set the headlines on the headline machine, decided the placement of stories on the two pages of the newsletter and actually pasted down the copy. Community Resource Volunteers hopes to work with a different group of students from another part of Michigan for each issue.

Composition of the first issue was done at the Clinton County News. Another newspaper will host the students next time and teach the students how to work the equipment so they can put together their own newsletter.

Putting it out

Bath will maintain teacher load

By Sharon Randall
Staff Writer

Bath
Bath's new superintendent, Kenneth Dyer said Thursday, Jan. 10 that $15,000 to $20,000 must be pared from the school budget to get through the year, but that classroom teachers will not be cut. "We're trying to save the classroom program," he indicated, "that's why we're here, we'd like to keep that intact."

Under consideration had been not replacing one or two elementary teachers who are leaving at semester break later this month. The move would have caused classes of 29 to 31 or more at the second and third grade levels. Dyer also indicated that the substitute teacher hired earlier this year to take over some of Jane Means' classes when she became assistant principal at the high school will continue for the rest of the year.

"My primary problem, and the board's, is the budget," he said. Calling the school district a two million dollar business Dyer indicated that he was in favor of an eight to 10 percent fund equity. "Any business needs that," he maintained. In his figures he shows a present fund equity of $81,600, but the board has anticipated dipping into that because of the losses the school suffered this year with the roll back caused by the Headlee Amendment and the loss of 71 students. "The school lost a quarter of a million dollars this year," Dyer said. In 1977, Bath schools actually operated in the red by more than $20,000. In 1978, the fund equity was only $18,294. Dyer said the fund is necessary for emergencies and the intangible things that might occur in a school year. Bath school population has been declining steadily for the last three years. Dyer said that eventually staff will have to be cut "unless this is a priority, then we will have to find funds." Dyer said he may be one of the few school heads who are still in favor of property tax to finance schools. "There's more credibility at the local level," he maintained, "if the people of the community want a service from their schools then they should be willing to pay for it."

He was basically a "fundamental person." "I believe in building a strong foundation," he said indicating that this was the job of the elementary program. Dyer sees the middle school as a place for students to get a "feeling for a lot of areas." This is the exploratory approach, he said. At the high school level students may specialize. "Here we must prepare them for what they will do later," he indicated. About a third of Bath's high school students are college bound.

"The basic skills must never be minimized at any level," he said. Dyer, who is 44, comes to Bath from the superintendent post at Union City, Mich. His wife and two daughters are to join him later in the year when their home is sold. He has 20 years in education including teaching, coaching a high school principalship and administration. He was educated at Western State University and Michigan State University.

Dyer also said he believes in volunteers. "They can be very valuable to the students and the staff," he said, mentioning that parent involvement in Reach Out at the elementary school and the band and athletic boosters was impressive. Looking over the needs of the school the new superintendent said one of the major problems is the roof at the middle school which must be repaired and rebuilt. "This is a very costly problem," he said, estimating that it will be a $100,000 to $150,000 budget item next year. The Bath Board of Education faces a millage vote in June. If they go for a renewal of 20 mills they will be able to collect on the full millage because it will no longer be susceptible to the Headlee roll back. Dyer also anticipates a possible 1 mill for maintenance to repair the Middle School roof, but said it was "just a guess."

Dyer spoke on his philosophy of education saying that he was basically a "fundamental person." "I believe in building a strong foundation," he said indicating that this was the job of the elementary program. Dyer sees the middle school as a place for students to get a "feeling for a lot of areas." This is the exploratory approach, he said. At the high school level students may specialize. "Here we must prepare them for what they will do later," he indicated. About a third of Bath's high school students are college bound.

Schools take steps to comply with fire code

St. Johns
Both Swegles and Central elementary schools in St. Johns have been cited for fire violations, but the St. Johns Board of Education has taken the first steps to comply with the state fire regulations governing those buildings.

The board voted to spend $5,000 to expand a room at Swegles to provide space to move the secretary office and instruction items out of the hallway.

At Central Elementary, the board voted to begin a two step program to bring that building with the fire code. The first phase will cost approximately $3,700 and will involve a number of small items such as lighted exit signs, fire doors installed in basement and correction of stairwell doors.

The second phase will cost about $20,000 and will involve installing fire retardant ceilings throughout the first and second floors.

The action came at Wednesday night's board of education meeting.

Also at that meeting: —the board agreed to set the temperature in the high school at 65 degrees and the junior high and elementary schools at 68 degrees, in compliance with the mandated federal building temperature regulations signed into law by President Jimmy Carter.

—the board was informed that water and sewer rates for the schools will go up about $2,000 or 42 percent, compared to last year's water and sewer rates. The city commission approved a water and sewer increase which went into effect Jan. 1.

—the teacher grievance filed by Paul Repath was tabled until the next meeting. The school administration and the St. Johns Education Association will work to clarify contract language.

Veterinarian loses barn in fire

St. Johns
J.W. Trumble, DVM, North Lowell Road, lost a barn to fire Saturday, Jan. 12. Included in the loss were two pigs and a quantity of hay.

The St. Johns Fire Department, called at 8:17 p.m.

was assisted by the Maple Rapids Fire Department.

On Sunday the St. Johns Fire Department was again called out to a chimney fire at the residence of Frank Dezess, 2980 S. Krepps Rd. Firemen reported minor damage.

Dividend payable Feb 1

St. Johns
The board of directors of Clinton Bank and Trust Company has authorized a 20 cents per share dividend payable Feb. 1, to shareholders of record on Jan. 25, 1980. The dividend equals the 20 cents share distributions paid during each of the last two quarters of 1979.

Clinton Bank and Trust Company serves Clinton County and the Lansing area from 12 locations. The thirteenth office, scheduled to open in February, will be called the "Lakewood Office" and is located at the corner of Lake Lansing and Wood Street in Lansing Township.

4,367,428 typos possible on one page

By Patrice Hornak

Someone once figured out that there is a possibility of making no less than 4,367,428 typographical errors on a newspaper page. How that person arrived with over 4 million possibilities is hard to comprehend. Who would want to count that many errors, anyway?

Now, suppose that newspaper staff was also inaccurate, as well as lousy spellers and typers? There probably could be more errors than that 4 million figure.

A story "The typo: a grand leveler of newspaper people" appeared in the Publishers' Auxiliary (a national weekly newspaper for newspaper publishers) back in May of 1978. After laughing every minute that I read the article, I clipped it and filed it. Occasionally I run across it -- and occasionally I pull it out after a big typo has appeared in this newspaper.

The author of the article, Tom Warden, publisher of the "Gasconade County Republican" in Owensville, MO, listed several good goofs he'd seen.

For instance, an obituary should have said the decedent shot himself to death but instead of shot, the "evil spirits or gremlins" reconstructed the word "shot and substituted an "i" for the "o". The whole meaning of the man's death changed.

I can identify with that obituary writer. On the front page lead story in an issue last year, my story told about a "records and rape shop" to open in the Wheel Inn Mall. If you had the most number of rapes, you set a record at this shop? Hardly. It was a great typo to remember and dread the rest of my writing days.

I heard a few comments about the new records and rape shop to open. There were just as many chuckles. However, no one that week commented that we had managed to bypass 4,367,427 other typographical errors on that page.

Wrote the "Gasconade County Republican" publisher:

"There is nothing as indelible as a newspaper typographical error; it cannot be pretended out of existence or excused away. Politicians say they are misquoted; businessmen are misunderstood; farmers blame theirs on the weather; doctors bury theirs; lawyers lie out of their mistakes."

"But a newspaper mistake cannot be misunderstood, excused, buried or lied out of existence. It's there, in black and white."

"One of the very human aspects of all newspapers -- notwithstanding all the computerized gadgetry -- is that it is created by humans, and therefore just as subject to error as any mortal. Despite many efforts at precision, it still comes out imprecise."

Our motto in the Clinton County News editorial room must be: Be careful Humans at work.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

U.S. forces are declining

To the Editor,

In connection with the president's address the day before, the "Detroit Free Press", Jan. 5, tells us, "the United States and the Soviet Union have agreed to act as if the deferred Salt II treaty were already in force."

The headline for this item is "Carter announces moves against Soviets." It would seem to be more in the nature of a vote of approval for their invasion of Afghanistan.

The Soviets have been adding to their armament for the past 15 years. It is the greatest peace-time military build-up in history. During this time, we have permitted our forces to decline.

The result is that the Soviets are greatly superior in conventional armament and in strategic weapons.

Now there is the Salt II treaty which the president says "will reduce the danger of nuclear war, and places equal ceilings on the arsenals of both sides."

This is not true. The Soviets are permitted to have new missiles and new bombers which they do not have to count. Among those counted for the U.S. are the old B-52 bombers, most of which have been retired to the "bone yard" in the Arizona desert. The Soviets have a modern Anti-Ballistic Missile system. We had one, but in 1975 the congress ordered it dismantled.

Above all, there is no way to verify what the Soviets have--whereas ours is an open society, and everything about our forces can easily be learned.

Our politicians have not told the people the true facts.

The senate should reject this treaty. And in the meantime the congress and the president should get to work and build up our armed strength in all categories. Without delay.

Very truly yours,

SENIOR CITIZEN UPDATE

COLORADO

Have you ever been to Colorado? If you have, you know how beautiful that state is. If you have not, then you have something to look forward to.

I just spent a month with one of my sons and his family, who live in Littleton, Col., a suburb of Denver.

It was quite a thrill to get up early in the morning and see the sun come up over the mountains. (It wasn't really too early because 5 a.m., their time, was 7 a.m. here in Michigan and I was used to that wake up time.)

Also what I called the mountains were really only the foothills, or so my two grandsons informed me.

The Continental Divide, Pike's Peak and others could, on clear days, be seen in the background. They were 40 or 50 miles away and only the very tops could be seen.

The mountain passes were closed so we didn't go very far into the mountains. When you heard on TV about the Colorado weather and sometimes even the Denver weather, it really was beyond into the foothills.

Denver itself never does have an accumulation of snow. It's like what is happening here in central Michigan, snow and then warm weather or rain and the snow is gone.

The plane ride to Denver took about 3 1/2 hours. I flew United and from Lansing we stopped in Grand Rapids for about 20 minutes and then right on through to Denver. It was a DC10 and that is certainly a very comfortable ride. By the time I drank coffee, had a very nice lunch, watched a movie, had a nap, we were asked to fasten our seat belts and we were there. What a nice way to travel.

I was met at the airport by my daughter-in-law (she is a jewel) and another lady friend. When we arrived in Littleton, it was time for my two grandsons and my son to be home. From that moment on, things began to happen.

I am used to living alone and not much happening, how about you? Just spend a month with a family and you realize how dull your own life really is.

The Denver area is one which brags about being one place where the economy has not made a big dent. They say they are financially quite sound and have low unemployment and are really quite pleased with themselves.

I'll admit there is more housing being constructed there than I have ever seen in one area. Whole sections of land with 200 or 300 houses all being built at once is not unusual. Houses are not just a house-- but really beautiful homes. It's almost unbelievable.

There are sections where housing is planned for 2,000 or 3,000 homes within the next two years.

The holidays were really something. Everyone was so nice to me and some days I was taken out to lunch, had dinner at another person's home and so on day after day. Another daughter-in-law wrote and asked me if I was rested up from the hectic time I had before I left. Was she kidding? I was on a merry-go-round.

Every minute I was there was a delight and I miss sitting in front of the fireplace.

Did I regret leaving? Oh yes! Was I glad to get home? Oh yes!! My little apartment sure looked to me.

So-- until next time.

What do people want to know about their school?

By Dr. Donald Burns

St. Johns School Superintendent

Answers to this question usually revolve around the first person. The most frequent response from parents is "How is my child doing?"

Parents want to be assured that their child is getting along, and, if not, what they can do to help.

Non-parents--those without children in school--have different informational priority. They are interested in school policies and rules and they want to know about the school curriculum--what educators are teaching, how and why.

In summary, I believe people, both parents and non-parents, are interested in school information that we aren't providing on a regular basis. They are interested in things that school people ought to be telling them.

Cost is usually high on everyone's 'want to know' list. For this reason, I would like to share some facts about costs and the school's budget.

Last October the St. Johns Board of Education adopted an operating budget for the current school year in the amount of $6,992,770. This represented an increase over last year's budget of approximately 10 percent of $680,000.

It's important to understand that the 10 percent overall increase is for the program and services offered previously with the exception of additional special education programs. I would be remiss if I did not point out that the adopted budget contains $402,350 more dollars than our school district expects to receive in revenues for the current year.

Your school administration was able to recommend a deficit expenditure budget this year because of the general fund equity (dollars not spent from previous budgets) which allowed maintaining our present education program by taking the $402,350 from the equity fund account.

With the current adopted budget, our June 30, 1980, cash equity is predicted to be approximate $200,000. An equity of that amount will not be sufficient in the future to operate the same quality program that we now have.

What must be done? The choices we have are limited. Either additional operational funds are secured to enable us to maintain our present program and services or these educational services will need to be reduced to live within anticipated income at our present millage levy.

It goes without saying that fiscal responsibility is and has been present in our school district in the past. The last voted millage increase was in June of 1976. At that time the district's operating millage was increased from 24.75 mills to 25.75 mills, and the total millage levied in 75-76 was 28.29 mills compared to 28.05 this year.

The state average for operating millage is over 29 mills. The voted operating millage for the other five school districts in Clinton County averages 27.40 mills. The reader must remember that here in Michigan membership state aid for local school districts is based on the number of mills voted for operation. Added to this is the fact that increased property values normally reduce our state aid per pupil. The local school district does not benefit by increased property values. It can only realize additional operational funds through increased millage or increased enrollments.

Our board of education will be faced with the tough decision of developing a financial aid program that will fund the anticipated expenditures for 1980-81. It undoubtedly will require millage proposal to be placed before you, the voter.

Your continued involvement with the public schools is needed and appreciated by your Board of Education, staff and students. Please feel free to visit any of the district's 10 schools and discover for yourself the learning that is taking place each and every day by our students. Come and visit your schools. You don't have to have children in school to visit.

We do ask that you first stop by the principal's office to announce your presence before visiting any of the classrooms.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Offers suggestions for News

Dear Editor,

In order for our community to take the Clinton County News seriously, I feel the owner, Mr. Millman should take his paper and our community's need for that paper seriously. I feel it necessary that Mr. Millman make an effort to become involved in the various activities of our county and community from attending school board meetings to the Clinton Area Care Center planning sessions to the various service club meetings. These are things Clinton County residents are really interested in and concerned about.

Clinton County, however small, has many ongoing newsworthy items, but we seldom hear any follow-up stories.

These are a few of those subjects:

The new Wheel-In Mall and its impact on the area.

Sports programs and outstanding athletes throughout the county.

The Clinton Area Care Center.

The office building project at the Clinton Memorial Hospital.

The embargo's effect on local farmers.

The area's ambulance service.

Coverage could be more in-depth and follow-up stories are of great interest. The bare bones facts are simply not enough; the implications stories have for the community would be a new angle.

As an advertiser with the paper, I feel the staff is doing the best job possible with the equipment available, however with more up-to-date photographic and reproduction equipment, advertising would certainly be more appealing.

These are just a few of the areas I feel need improving at the Clinton County News.

Sincerely,

Mark P. Barber

Jaycees express thanks

Dear editor,

Since 1979 is now history, we, the members of the Fowler Jaycees, would like to express our heartfelt thanks to the people of Fowler for their help.

In the past year, we have collected 236 units of blood, introduced 150 young people to Santa Claus, passed out 225 Easter eggs, helped sponsor Little League and other projects too numerous to mention.

None of this would have been possible without the people of Fowler, so again we would like to say thank you for everything and we would also like to thank the Clinton County News for the stories they have printed about us.

Thank you,

Steven A. Spitzley

Gloria has art in her heart

By Sharon Randall
Staff Writer

Bath
It's pretty hard to narrow down Gloria Gregory's interests because this eager, energetic lady has many, but kids and art are probably her favorites and the areas that make her the most visible in Bath.

She gives freely of her time helping children and trying to get them more involved in art and has become the key art and education Community Resource Volunteer in the Bath area. She and Jane Meyers have formed a team and offer a variety of art projects to teachers in the Bath schools. "We do it together, neither one of us is in charge," Gloria explained, "but Jane has been a teacher and she presents the lesson better than I do." Gloria prefers the working part of art and enjoys the hands on activities that the two do with children.

Both Bath Elementary and Middle Schools have art teachers, but they are on a part-time basis. The Elementary teacher couples her duties with physical education and only has each classroom for a half hour of art each week. Gloria and Jane's volunteer efforts have given teachers a place to turn for more activities.

One of the problems Gloria and Jane face is a lack of art supplies. They see donations and collecting used art supplies as an answer to this need. "Maybe people have things around home that they aren't using and they will be willing to share with us," she suggested. They would like to do more with drawing and painting but need water colors for the students. Gloria said that the high school art teacher is also in need of more supplies.

Gloria got into volunteering, like many parents do, when her youngest son, Gordon, went off to kindergarten. She started helping his teacher. It was the year Bath cut their teacher aides and Gloria felt there was a need.

After aides were reinstated, it was natural for Gloria to turn to art projects at school. She was a member of the Arts for All Ages committee and initiated many programs at the Bath Schools. Gloria and Jane get their ideas from training through Community Resource Volunteers and Arts for All Ages and from Gloria's own extensive art library. They borrow books from the East Lansing Library and spend a lot of time looking for ideas and trying them out. Right now they are in search of art activities that require cheap or found materials such as newspapers.

Gloria's art interests date back to her own school days at Pattengill Junior High School and Eastern High School in Lansing.

Today not only her volunteer work but also her professional work involves art. After Gordon entered school, Gloria started reading the want ads, waiting for "her job" to come along. "My husband used to tease me," she said, "but I just knew if I kept watching, just the right thing would show up."

That right thing was a tiny ad asking for a staff artist and screen cutter at Screen Art, Inc. in Lansing. She applied and got "her job" and it has proved to be an interesting and important part of her life. She works part-time and is able to do much of the art work at home. Her studio, built off the kitchen by her husband, includes files, her art books, proper lighting and storage. Her sons, Gary and Gordon, also share in art projects here. The company specializes in textile printing only. Their jobs include shirts, jackets, hats and tire covers. Gloria's art jobs include designing logos as well as shrinking and enlarging them.

It's an ideal job for me," she said. "I keep my own hours. I don't leave home until the kids go to school and I can be back here when they come home." Being there when her children are home is very important to Gloria as is being involved in their school and outside activities.

She does special art projects at home with the boys and says that both of them are very creative. "Gary is becoming quite an artist," she said.

She has been active with the newly formed Band Boosters Club at the High School, organized to purchase new uniforms. The club has a $1,200 debt to pay each year and is holding rummage sales, potluck suppers, bazaars and raffles.

As all other band parents, Gloria is proud of the new uniforms and very willing to do the work required to help pay for them. "I think the other kids are starting to look up to the kids in the band," she said. "It's becoming more prestigious to be part of the band. During half time, people are watching the band and we've heard so many good comments." Gloria also predicts that students who have dropped out of band will be coming back.

The family lives in an old farmhouse that they bought 15 years ago. A farm pond provides ice skating in the winter for the whole family, the pond is lighted so it can be enjoyed after dark. In the summer, Gloria rides her bike for exercise and the family vacation at Copper Harbor is always coupled with bike riding. Copper Harbor is Gloria and husband, Gerald's ideal spot. They picture a perfect retirement there some day living with Gloria doing all the art projects she's ever wanted and Gerald building things with wood. "Then we'll sell them and make money being retired," she adds with a quick laugh.

Costs, controls boost Dutch emigration

By Richard L. Milliman

INFLATION, high taxes, government regulations.
Sounds like a litany of complaints about life in the United States these days, as indeed it is.

But these are also the primary reasons cited by a growing number of citizens of the Netherlands who are emigrating to other parts of the world.

According to a recent Associated Press story, emigration from Holland was up from 2,200 persons to 2,500 persons for the first nine months of 1979, which doesn't seem a lot. But what is concerning Dutch government officials even more is that inquiries about emigration are up more than 100 percent, and actual applications have grown by 40 percent.

"COSTS FOR everyday living and maintenance expenses in Holland are skyrocketing, taxes are too high and living space is cramped, the emigres complain," the AP report says.

The Hollanders are heading for such places as South Africa, the United States, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and Brazil.

The AP report cites the Meyjes family, who decided to leave after learning it would cost $10,000 to paint their house, and they would need government approval to cut down a tree on their property. These incidents put the capstone on their growing discomfort in their homeland, and they moved on to South Africa.

TAXES WERE blamed by another would-be emigrant quoted by AP, Luud Peters, 28, who works in a car dealership.

"If I look at the difference between what I get every month and what it was before taxes, I get sick," Peters is quoted.

The tax system in the Netherlands, built largely since World War II, takes about 39 percent of the income of a bachelor earning $30,000 guilders, or about $15,000 a year, AP says. Of that, 10 percent is contributed to social security, including the government medical program, 12 percent to a pension fund for the elderly, and 17 percent to income tax.

"You just can't live on what is left," Peters said. He tried to move to the United States, but was turned down, so now is trying to emigrate to New Zealand or Australia.

THE PLIGHT of the dissatisfied Hollanders is interesting, but it sounds like ordinary coffee-time talk almost anywhere in the United States, too.

The high cost of housing, high food prices, living expenses going sky high, taxes soaring out of sight, government meddling in our everyday affairs—these are all problems here, too.

But as far as I have been aware, there aren't too many United States citizens who are anxious to chuck it all and move off to South Africa, or New Zealand, or Australia, or Brazil, or some other new frontier.

Oh, once in a while, we hear of someone so fed up that flight is the only answer, but it certainly has been no exodus. Bad as we might think it is, from time to time, the United States is still better than most spots in the world.

There is a breaking point, however, and an increasing number of Hollanders apparently are reaching that point. Social and government planners in this country should take note.

Children throughout Michigan are waiting for families of their own.

Families willing to adopt children with very special needs are greatly needed. Many of the children are teenagers who usually have emotional problems. Often case-workers have to separate brothers and sisters because there are not enough families who are willing to adopt two, three, four or more children at one time. Children with severe physical or mental handicaps are also waiting for families to love and accept them.

Medical and financial subsidies are available for families who adopt a handicapped child or children who are brothers and/or sisters.

If you are able to give a home filled with love and understanding to a child who is waiting for a family, please contact the Clinton County Department of Social Services at 224-6751.

Couple joined in candlelight ceremony

Owosso Wesleyan Church was the setting Friday, Dec. 21, for the marriage of Valerie Telfer of Owosso and Gordon Iocco of St. Johns.

The couple was wed in a 7 p.m. candlelight ceremony which was officiated by the Rev. Dan Miller and the Rev. Dean Parrott, uncle of the bride. Christmas trees and white poinsettias highlighted the decorations.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Telfer, 4998 N. State Rd. and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Iocco of St. Johns.

A Victorian-styled gown of chiffon and taffeta was worn by the bride. A ruffled, lace-embroidered yoke and high collar accented the dress which also featured long, lace-cuffed sleeves and seed pearl accents.

Her chapel-length veil was trimmed with matching lace and attached to a shorter blusher. A cascading bouquet of silk carnations, roses and ivy completed her ensemble.

Gayle Telfer of Owosso attended her sister as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Marcia Abbott, also of Owosso, and Marianne Beechler of Saginaw.

Flower girl, Julie Turner, of Corunna was escorted by Owen Shattuck of Owosso who served as ring bearer.

The groom's brother, Douglas Iocco, of St. Johns was best man and groomsmen included Vaughn Telfer, brother of the bride, of Grand Rapids and Tim Saylor of Fowlerville.

Ushers were the couple's brothers, Daniel Telfer of Owosso and Steve Iocco of St. Johns.

Following the ceremony, the newlyweds greeted 250 guests at a reception at the church. A delayed wedding trip to Florida is being planned by the couple who will live in Spring Arbor, Michigan.

The new Mrs. Iocco, a 1976 graduate of Corunna High, is a senior at Spring Arbor College. Her husband, a 1977 graduate of St. Johns High School, is a junior at Spring Arbor College.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Kronberg, Grand Rapids, announce the engagement of their daughter, Cheryl to Roger A. Thelen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Thelen, Parks Road, St. Johns. The bride-elect is a 1979 graduate of Central Michigan University.

The prospective groom is a 1978 graduate of CMU and is employed by Vassar Public Schools.

The couple plan a March 22 wedding date.

Heibeck-Williams Wed

Mark Heibeck and Ruthann Williams were united in marriage on Nov. 3 at the Pilgrim United Methodist Church. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Heibeck and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Williams.

The ceremony began at 7 p.m. The song "Woman" was sung as the bride and attendants went up the aisle.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father, Rev. Brian Sheen officiated at the ceremony.

For her wedding Miss Williams chose a white floor length gown with a chapel length train and long belled sleeves trimmed in little daisies. Her fingertip veil was trimmed in daisies also. Her bouquet was of pink baby roses, daisies and baby's breath.

Shirley Williams, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mary Williams, Deb Van-Vleet, Donna Stevens, and Leslie Kuenzli.

The attendants wore floor length two piece gowns with elbow length sleeves. They each carried a pink rose.

The maid of honor and flower girl were light pink gowns and the bridesmaids wore frost rose color gowns.

Flower girl was Rebecca Williams, niece of the bride. She carried a Bible.

The groom was attended by his brother Scott Heibeck as best man. Richard Williams, Bob Davis, Jeff Pearson and Leonard Williams were the groomsmen. Mickey Heibeck, nephew of the groom was the ring bearer.

During the ceremony Shirley Williams sang, "For Baby", "The Lord's Prayer" and "Follow Me". Wreatha Chant played the organ. Mark Williams and Stuart Hazle were ushers. Dwight Pierson and Scottie Heibeck were the acolytes. Lee and Diane Martens were the host and hostess.

The reception followed the wedding in the fellowship hall. The wedding cake was made by Hilda Williams, grandmother of the bride.

St Johns families attend Bible seminar

"These assemblies have greatly assisted in bringing us closer together as a family," was George Eberhard's response when asked why he and his family attended a two-day Bible seminar at the Holt Assembly Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses recently.

The sessions were open to the public and, of the over 1,500 who attended, approximately 50 were from the St.

Johns area. Eberhard, who is the director of Clinton County Social Services, has been attending Christian assemblies such as this one since 1953 and was in charge of a segment of the Saturday afternoon program.

The theme of the gathering was "Be Filled with Righteous Fruit".

Musicale looks at 'Timbre of music'

Karen Myers Tom Hollis

St. Johns
St. Johns Morning Musicales met at the home of Mrs. Richard Jacoby on Thursday, Jan. 10, with 15 members in attendance.
Mrs. Lloyd Campbell, president, conducted the business meeting, after which Mrs. Norman Holm introduced the topic for the day's study, which was "Timbre of music—what is it, and what is its importance."

Mrs. H.A. Peterson told the group that timbre is the quality in sound by which a certain voice or instrument can be distinguished from other voices or instruments, and that it is analogous to color's use in painting a picture. Because of tone color, or timbre, identical notes played on a violin, an oboe, and a trumpet can be distinguished from one another.

Often a composer creates a theme that can be played equally well on any one of a dozen instruments, so he chooses the instrument with the tone color which best expresses the mood he wishes to convey.

There was a time, prior to the time of Handel's writing, when a composer wrote music and did not say which instruments should be used for a piece, leaving the selection to the conductor. Today music is usually written to be played by definite instruments.

amplifies the vibration to make it audible.
The brass family of instruments all depend on the vibrating of the lips against a mouthpiece, to produce sound. Chip Washburn played an excerpt from "Concertino", by Ferdinand David, on trombone. Brass players also employ mutes to change the timbre as well. Using a mute on string instruments to soften the tone and eliminate harshness is commonly done. Kris Valentine illustrated this by playing "Madrigal" by Simonetti, both with and without a mute on the strings of her violin.

To illustrate the differing tone qualities of musical instruments, William Tennant, director of the high school orchestra and the string program of the St. Johns schools, introduced five high school musicians. Playing the opening portion of Beethoven's Opus 10, Number 94, Kris Valentine demonstrated the percussive quality of the piano, which makes it a part of the percussion family of instruments.
Leslie Hazle sang "Caro Mio Ben", to show the timbre of the human voice. When someone wants to sing, nerve centers near the brain cause the vocal cords to start vibrating. The energy of the air stored in the lungs Concluding the program was Scott Fitzpatrick demonstrating the tone color of the woodwind family on his saxophone. He played "Sonata", by Paul Creston.

The next meeting of St. Johns Morning Musicales, which is affiliated with the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs, will be Jan. 24, at the home of Mrs. John Caudy. All people in the area interested in music study are cordially invited to join with the club at 9:30 a.m. meeting.

18 graduate from EMT class

By Neva Keys
Classes in Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) training were held in the community room of the new fire and ambulance building in Elsie from Sept. 10 to Dec. 17, 1979.

The EMT course was taught by an instructor from Mid-Michigan College in Harrison. The classes were four hours a night for two nights a week during the three months. It also included 10 hours of emergency ambulance runs and service at the five hospitals of this area.

Those graduating from Elsie were: Larry Ott, John Kusnier, Elisabeth Levey, Gayle Furstenau, Joyce Houska, Sharon Wagner, Claretta Rogers, John Dunham, Denise Frye, Marsha Wilson, Mark Bates, Ed Ladiski, Brian Parmenter and Al Goodrich.

Also graduating were Charlotte Cummings of Ovid and Wayne Karber, Dick Kramer and Carol Hovland, all of St. Johns.
The graduates are now waiting to be scheduled for the state exams.

The King ISN'T dead, long live the King!

Though Corunna entered its game Friday with a clean 3-0 slate in the Mid-Michigan B Conference, the Cavaliers were stunned by the defending league champion Ovid-Elsie, 60-57.

The win vaulted the Marauders and St. Johns into a three-way tie with Corunna for the league lead.

The Marauders did it by clinging tenaciously to a lead they built early in the first quarter.

Ovid-Elsie surged to a 12-4 margin early on, upped it to 20-6 going into the second period and held fast to the lead until the fourth quarter, when a Corunna surge trimmed the margin to as little as the final three-point differential.

"I just think it was our young guys' first key ballgame," Ovid-Elsie Coach Bob Foreback said. "They made mistakes early and other teams we had played this year haven't done that, so we made the best of them."

Ovid-Elsie did stretch the lead to 10 points at one point in the third period when sophomore center Carl Teelander canned a pair of free throws.

Corunna cut the lead to six points then early in the final stanza and continued to chip away at the lead by capitalizing on some Marauder miscues.

Teelander, however, gave the Marauders help by battling 6-foot-5 potential all-leaguer Jeff Rowley to a standstill. Rowley came away with 20 points but Teelander scored 11.

"He gets better and better each game," Foreback said.

Ovid-Elsie's big scoring punch came from senior guard Dan Fabus as the redhead hit for 16 points in the first half and finished with a game-high 26, most gained on jumper from the outside.

The Marauders didn't have such good luck Tuesday, losing to former league rival Bullock Creek in a non-league game, 66-59. Everything ahead, however, appears rosy for the Marauders, who seem to be back to their winning ways.

"As long as we are always playing for the lead," Foreback said, "then I will be satisfied."

The Ovid-Elsie junior varsity lost Tuesday to Bullock Creek 55-53 on a last-second shot and fell to Corunna Friday, 48-43.

'Wing cagers dumped twice

By Mark Haney Sports Writer

St. Johns

Minor successes aside, not much went right for the St. Johns High basketball team this past week.

First the Redwings dropped a 76-62 decision to host Mount Pleasant; then St. Johns fell to visiting Mid-Michigan B Conference foe, Ionia, Friday, 75-45.

The dual losses dropped St. Johns' record to 2-2 in the league and 3-4 overall.

"We didn't play very hard," St. Johns Coach Bob Tissot said of Friday's loss, "but then we didn't do very much right."

The game started auspiciously, with Ionia rolling to a 24-6 first period lead.

"It was like the ballgame began and four minutes later my guys said 'Oh yea, we're supposed to play.'"

St. Johns eventually trimmed the margin to 10 points late in the second quarter and the Redwings were hoping to get it below 10 by intermission.

"For four to five minutes there we played good basketball," Tissot said. "Then we made a key turnover and they went down and got a layup and the next thing we knew it was a 16-point lead." Ionia never was threatened again.

"At the beginning, I don't think we were quite ready to do what we wanted to do," Tissot said. "Exactly the things they beat us on are exactly the things we had worked on all week. We got beat on the things we had prepared to do."

For three quarters, the Redwings were in Tuesday's ballgame. "We played a good ballgame," Tissot said, "for about three quarters we played as well as we have all year."

But then the Redwings took a change, and it missed.

"It was at that point when we could have settled back and lost by maybe six points. We could have finished really respectable. Instead we pressed and crashed the boards and tried to make things happen. And they got a lot of easy baskets because of it."

And so, St. Johns was outscored 28-18 in the final stanza.

The Redwings did get 12 points from junior guard, Bruce Fedewa, and 11 plus 13 rebounds from senior forward Bob Sutherland. Battling fouls, junior forward Doug Sleep scored seven points with nine rebounds before fouling out in the third quarter.

Sleep scored 15 against Ionia, the lone Redwing in double figures.

Tissot said now is a time to reevaluate.

"We just have to stop. We have to go back and say we're back to step one and start over again," he said.

"And it won't get any easier."

The St. Johns junior varsity was a double loser, by a 77-63 margin to Ionia and by a 60-54 differential to Mount Pleasant.

St. Johns plays league rival Ovid-Elsie Friday with Lansing Waverly on tap next Tuesday.

On The Mark

by Mark Haney

I had this question pop up recently, and it stuck back in a corner of my mind. I couldn't more it and I couldn't resolve it. And that bugged me even more.

So I took off down the road to a pleasant mount not far away. And I climbed that mount to ask the guru of sports my nagging question.

"Is there life after basketball?" I queried. "Is there even life after sports?"

He looked at me, appearing disgusted at my insolence and upset at the fact that I had awakened him from a sound snore.

"Is there life after basketball?!!!" he yelled. "What kind of question is that to ask of The Great, The Almighty Sports Guru?"

"Now, away with you!"

But I pressed him for an answer and finally he relented.

"There is no definite answer," he started.

"For some there is life after basketball. Those people are known as the announcers. They live on through their voices, heard on radio and often are seen on that omnipresent medium, television."

So that is where all those odd voices came from, I thought. And here I had always figured that Hot Rod Hundley was a figment of someone's morbid imagination. I thought Al McGuire was just some myth. And now I've found out they were people.

"But," I asked, "what happens to the others?"

"Some become bums," he said, "and those that haven't graduated from college open sporting goods stores or write books, exposing the sordid side of basketball."

The sordid side?

"They tell about what players do in the 'off' season," he said, "but they can only be purchased under the counter at certain sporting goods stores."

He continued.

"To answer your second question, those in other games usually follow similar courses after sports," he said. "Except that more hockey players become bums than write books. And more baseball players either sell candy bars or cars than own sporting goods stores. Baseball players tend to sell and/or drink beer than wind up as bums, although there has been some research to the contrary."

"And then there are tennis players. They usually wind up as class bums, selling catgut to respectable french restaurants who, in turn, use it to fill those escargot shells they have."

Since I knew I had the full balance of his attention, I asked him for more information on this subject. Wer, there many of these former athletes that were successful after sports?

"That depends on how you label success," he said. "Now if you label it fun, then you might get a yes to your question. If you label it money, then you might get a yes to your question. And if you call it Mr. Johnson, then you can call me Ray, or you can call me Jay, or you can..."

"Wait a minute," I said. "You aren't answering my question."

"Oh, just practicing my imitation of a politician," he said.

"Anyway, there are some of the bums that do become announcers," he added. "And some of the announcers move on to greater glory as actors in a place known as Hollywood, which was named after the famous of all famous ex-athletes, Hollywood Henderson. Now, that is success."

"But some can't make it as bums, and they have been known to become something worse," he said. "They have been found as Congressmen, Representatives and even Senators."

"How disgusting," I said.

I nodded, and bade a fond adieu.

"Don't talk to me that way," he yelled as I head off into the distance.

"Yep," he added. "It is pretty horrible what becomes of some men after sports."

'News' tourney hosts volley squads

By Mark Haney
Sports Writer

The county's six volleyball teams will converge on St. Johns High Saturday for the Clinton County News Invitational, with the title "best around" lying in wait for the winner.

The six teams—Bath, DeWitt, Fowler, Ovid-Elsie, Pewamo-Westphalia and St. Johns—will play a single elimination tournament, beginning at 10 a.m. in the St. Johns gymnasium. Two matches will be going at once with the championship set for 1 p.m.

The favorites going into the tournament will be the two southern teams, Bath and DeWitt. Bath, for one, stands at 3-0 after an opening wins Perry over DeWitt and Stockbridge. Other than its loss to Bath, DeWitt too sports three wins over, among others, St. Johns.

The Redwings, however, will have a say over who wins, if for no other reason than the home floor advantage. Fowler figures to challenge too.

Pewamo-Westphalia, 1-1 at this point, and an 0-1 Ovid-Elsie team are the dark horse candidates.

To the winning team will go a trophy, medals for the members of the squad and bragging rights as the best team around.

ST. JOHNS

The Redwings of Beth Swears started the season Wednesday on a low note, losing a 8-15, 15-10, 16-14 decision to DeWitt. The Redwings bounced back Monday, however, topping Fulton, 15-13, 7-15, 15-10. Lori Kus led the Redwings in the first game with seven points and added three more in game three. Janice Karber served up four points in game three and three in game one. Fulton got five points in the first game and seven in the second off the serves of Sheila Penner while Marti McVannell served up five point in the final game. It was Fulton's lone match of the week, evening the Pirates' record at 1-1.

PEWAMO-WESTPHALIA

Coach Carol Bogard's Pewamo-Westphalia volleyball team opened its season with a thud, losing to Lansing Catholic Central, 12-15, 15-7, 15-12 despite strong success serving. The Pirates made good on 61 of 70 serves and got 10 points off the service of Michelle Rademacher. The Pirates did better

Thursday, taking Laingsburg, 15-3, 6-15, 15-0 while making good 44 of 51 serves. The strongest serves came from Judy Spitzley, who was good on 16 straight while getting the Pirates 14 points. Ann Schmitt and first-year senior Sue Klein helped set the ball for the Pirates. "I think our experience is our strongpoint," Bogard said. "We have six people back from last year and three were starters. And our serving has been quite strong." But... "We have to work on our spiking. Our timing is off," she said. "And we have to work on working together as a team." The Pewamo-Westphalia junior varsity won 15-9, 15-5 over Lansing Catholic Central and took a 15-2, 15-9 win over Laingsburg.

Fulton pulls split

By Mark Haney
Sports Writer

Turnovers - not the pastry type - and some poor shooting plagued the Fulton High basketball team this past week as the Pirates of Kim Lathwell suffered a 52-47 defeat at the hands of Central Michigan Athletic Conference rival Potterville. With a 21-for-28 free throw performance, however, Fulton did manage a 61-48 win over Carson City-Crystal Tuesday in a non-league affair.

But even in victory, the Pirates, now 4-3 overall and 2-3 in the CMAC, were bothered by 34 turnovers and some 33 percent shooting.

It was worse Friday as Fulton made only 29 percent of its shots and committed 24 turnovers.

"I like the way we played," Lathwell said after Friday's loss. "We played with intensity out there. It is just nothing is going in for the kids. When we had to, we got good shots. We just didn't make them."

The coldest spell came in the final four minutes as Fulton watched its three-point lead escape.

"We started by not delaying the game, but working for a very good shot," Lathwell said. "And we ended up making some very crucial turnovers."

Coupled with Potterville's 13-free throws in the last period, it meant defeat for Fulton.

The turnovers, the poor shooting and Potterville's success at the charity stripe all worked to overcome Fulton's 42-27 rebounding advantage, wedged out against a much taller Potterville team.

An even larger 89-26 rebounding edge and Fulton's 21-for-28 free throw shooting meant the difference in Tuesday's game.

Yet the Pirates were bugged by the turnover syndrome. Carson City was bugged too, as it managed to give the ball away 31 times. "The turnovers? That is something that is just a mental thing," Lathwell said. "Intensity has something to do with that. It seemed that when we brought the ball up the floor, we forgot there were people coming at us."

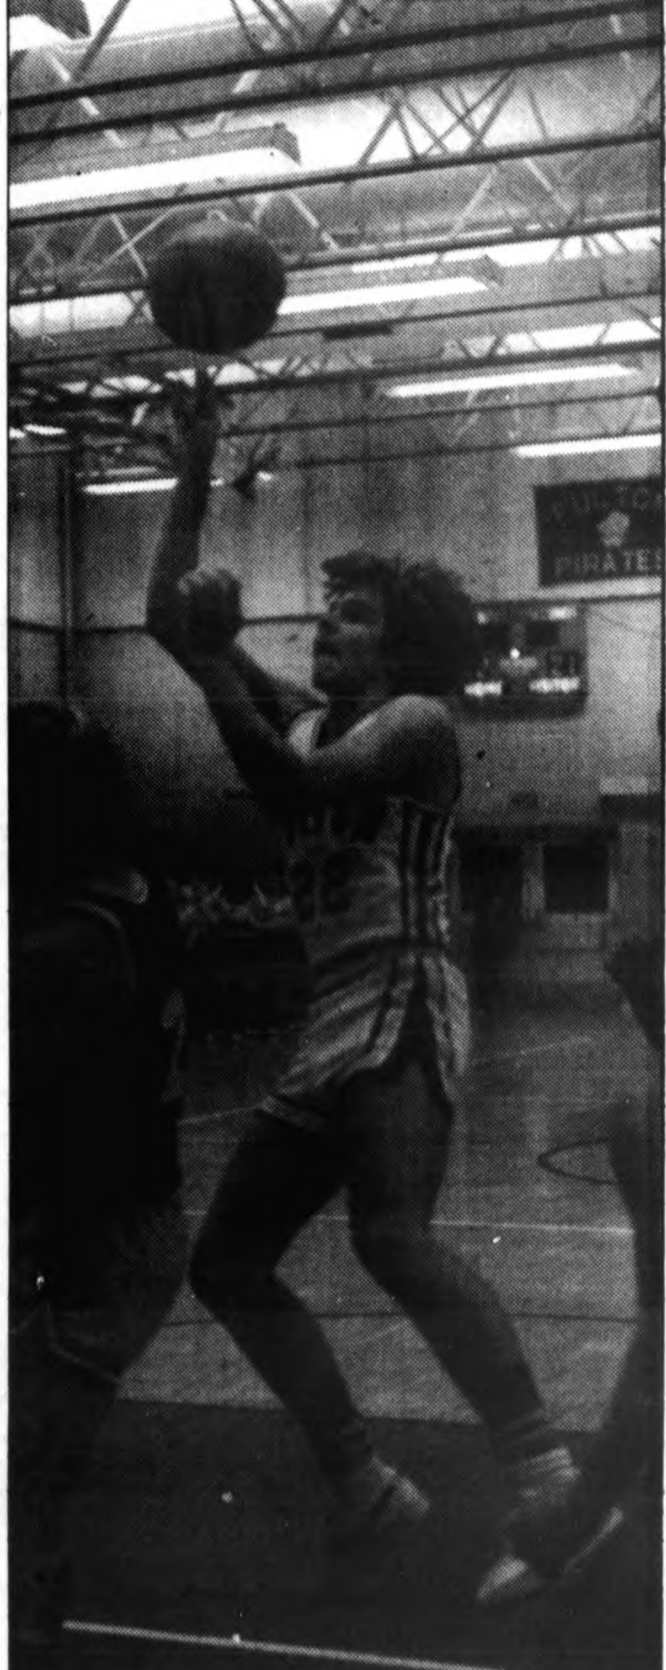

Senior forward, Jeff Moon, typified the Pirates, getting 19 points against Carson City, but managing just two points prior to fouling out of the Potterville contest.

The Fulton junior varsity had better luck, winning a 72-64 game with Carson City Tuesday then topping Potterville's reserves 67-58 Friday.

Pirates bag twin wins

By Mark Haney

Pewamo Of all the area teams, only one came away a double winner this past week—Pewamo-Westphalia.

John Ellis' crew managed a 62-58 win over Saranac and 6-foot-8 Ben Tower, then came back Friday to score a resounding 84-50 win over Central Michigan Athletic Conference foe, Bellevue.

In each game, the Pirates, 5-3 overall and 2-3 in the CMAC, gave away a lot of height—first to Tower then to 6-foot-4 Lyle Shook and 6-foot-4 Tim McEwan of Bellevue—yet in each win they managed to rebound their opponents. The Pirates had a 30-19 rebounding advantage against Saranac and a 43-26 edge against Bellevue.

The win Friday was a bit more satisfying for Ellis, and not necessarily because it was against a league rival.

"It just seems that on the road we have been snake-bit," he said. "But that was our first road win so we will hope that this will open the door."

The Pirates grabbed a slim 21-20 lead in the first quarter, they were knotted 0 and 36-all at intermission but managed a 54-46 lead going into the final period. The, with substitutes facing substitutes most of the way, Pewamo-Westphalia outscored Bellevue 30-4.

"We went to a zone defense in the second half," Ellis said, "after playing man-to-man in the first half. They seem to hit everything they took in the first half but in the second half they didn't hit so well. So I'd say the zone was the difference."

Senior guard, Stan Piggott, paced the Pirates with a 16-point, seven-assist effort while junior guard, Mike Pohl, added to his seven points with five rebounds, five steals and eight assists. It was eight of the 10 points of junior forward Darwin Hengesbach, however, that kept the Pirates alive.

"He probably kept us in the game in the first half," Ellis said. Senior center John Bauer's efforts made the difference Tuesday.

The Pewamo-Westphalia junior varsity remains undefeated thanks to a 63-45 win over the Saranac junior varsity and a 76-48 win over Bellevue's reserves. In that contest, forward-guard John Nurnberg scored 25 points.

Shooting fails Fowler

By Mark Haney
Sports Writer

Fowler

Just when things started looking up for Fowler High basketball coach Chuck Trierweiler, they got bleak again.

The Eagles seemed to find their lost shooting touch in Tuesday's 75-55 win over Portland High, but lost it Friday as Laingsburg stunned the pre-season favorite 68-62.

After shooting at a 42 percent rate Tuesday, the Eagles hit for a miserable 30 percent Friday, including making just 26 percent of their shots in the second half. "When you shoot that way, everything goes that way too," Trierweiler said. Lloyd Feldpausch was the lone bright spot in both games. He hit for 18 points with eight steals and six assists against Portland and came back with 14 plus eight steals against Laingsburg.

"He is the top percentage shooter we have," Trierweiler said.

The Fowler junior varsity topped Portland's reserves 50-47 then pounded Laingsburg 80-44.

'Wings win two

St. Johns
The St. Johns High Wrestling team is beginning to look like a family act.

On Coach Chuck Wolf's team, which topped Bath 60-15 and Mid-Michigan B Conference for Ionia 50-12 last week, are three sets of brothers and two sets of cousins.

There are the Hayes brothers, Kurt and Garret; the Johnsons, Lloyd and Bob; the Woods cousins, Greg and Dave and the Bartel brothers, Jerry and Dave.

And few of them are slouches either. Lloyd Johnson, the squad's 198-pounder and occasional heavy-weight, has won three of his last four matches. Both Kurt and Garret Hayes, wrestling at 119-pounds and 126-pounds respectively, are unbeaten while Greg Wood, at 185 pounds, has won his last six matches to up his record to 9-3.

But the ease with which St. Johns won—Bath forfeited six of 13 matches while Ionia forfeited two—doesn't bother Wolf. Not at this point, at least.

"Right now I'd rather have it like this because we got a lot of varsity wrestlers out of the lineup," he said.

Fulton 79 points, followed by Clare with 67 1/2, Stockbridge with 53 1/2 and Central Montcalm with 52 1/2.

"It was a mighty fine tournament," Tournament Director Bill Parker said. But Parker had an extra reason to be satisfied with the tournament results. His son Rick, a member of the Perry squad, won the 126-pound title and was named the tournament's Most Outstanding Wrestler by a vote of the coaches.

Michigan Lutheran Seminary's Brad Taylor, the champion at 185 pounds, took the Most Pins Award with three.

Fulton crowned a pair of champions, with Tim Price winning at 132 pounds and Rick Robbe winning the 145-pound title. Randy Riggie, the Pirates 138-pounder finished second while 105-pound Jeff Price took a fourth.

The tournament was Fulton's only action last week. Thursday's dual meet with the Michigan School for the Blind was cancelled due to bad weather.

County boxers triumph at Silver Gloves tourney

St. Johns

The fans turned out Saturday and Sunday and paid a visit to Rodney B. Wilson Junior High's gym to see the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) Silver Gloves Boxing Tournament.

And while Tournament Director Dick Padgett was able to label the regional tournament a success due to that turnout, he was even more satisfied by the fact that boxers from his Clinton County Boy's Club won 10 titles and finished with three seconds.

Two of the champions came in Class A, where Bob Cooper won the age 12-13, 96-100 pound division. Ken Ettinger gained a title in the age 14-15, 148-156 pound class.

In the same age group but in the 101-106 pound division, Mark Kessler of the Clinton County Club took a second.

Twice in the Class B bouts the club took both of the top two spots. In the age 10-11, 71-75 pound class, Chris Hill won over club-mate Mark Cooper. In the age 10-11, 66-70 pound division Mike Lehuten, Jr. topped Clinton County's Rick Taylor for the title.

The club gained a title in the age 10-11, 75-80 pound division from John Welch.

'Wings win swim meets

St. Johns

Two more swim teams fell to the St. Johns swim squad this past week.

The Redwings of Coach Jim Makaruskas topped Grand Ledge 47-36 Tuesday then ripped Lansing Waverly 115-57 Thursday.

Jim Bertoldi led St. Johns to the win over Grand Ledge by winning the 200-yard freestyle and the 100-yard butterfly while teaming with Ben Manring, Steve Baxter and Joe Rewerts on the winning 400-yard freestyle relay.

"The times weren't that good in that (six-lane) pool," Makaruskas said.

St. Johns won everything but the diving with Manring leading the way with wins in the 200-yard individual medley, the 100-yard butterfly and again was part of the winning 400-yard individual freestyle relay.

Mee won the 100-yard backstroke then finished second to Manring in the individual medley. Baxter won the 50-yard and 100-yard freestyles while Bertoldi won the 200-yard and 500-yard freestyles.

Johnston topped the 100-yard breaststroke in his best time of the season.

"It was a very good meet," Makaruskas said. "It was very upbeat. We sacrificed something for it, we didn't practice Wednesday."

Marauders fall

Ovid

It was close, but there was no cigar for the Ovid-Elsie swim team Thursday as the Marauders of Thad Maciuszek lost to Mount Morris 46-35.

Maciuszek said that result was no surprise either, since both teams were pretty equal. Nor was Maciuszek upset by the finish.

"Everybody dropped their times down and that was good," he said, "but there was nothing that set the world on fire."

Todd Bowdary led the Marauders with wins in the 50-yard and 100-yard freestyles then joined Steve Gardner, Rick Rexin and Steve Maynard on the winning 400-yard freestyle team.

Gardner, a freshman, notched his first individual win by taking the 200-yard freestyle while Brian Clock won the 100-yard breaststroke.

"We are looking a lot better than we did at the beginning of the year," Maciuszek said.

Former Probate judge, Clark Gregory dies

Clark Gregory, a former St. Johns and Eureka resident who became a Clinton County probate judge, director of the foreign aid program for the U.S. State Department in Iran, Jordan, Greece and Northern and Southern Rhodesia and Nyasaland, and a senior inspector with the State Department in Germany, Jamaica, Vietnam and Central American countries, passed away Jan. 1, 1980 in Arroyo Grande, Calif. after a long illness.

He was born in Ann Arbor in 1906 to Dr. and Mrs. Myron Gregory who moved to Eureka where Dr. Gregory was an optometrist. Clark Gregory resided as a child in Eureka. He graduated from the Detroit College of Law in 1928 and he practiced law in Clinton County. He was elected Probate Judge in this county when he was in his mid-20's. He was one of the youngest probate judges in the state at that time. He served in the probate court in 1941.

While a judge, he became a member of the Masonic Order and Knight's Templars. He was past president of the St. Johns Rotary Club and the Country Club.

He left St. Johns to practice law in California. In 1946 he left California to prosecute war criminals in Tokyo. Following that assignment, he joined the State Department as the U.S. Director of the foreign aid program in Iran, Jordan, Greece and Northern and Southern Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

Mr. Gregory then worked as a senior inspector and spent periods of time in Germany, Jamaica, Vietnam and the Central American countries.

Mr. Gregory is survived by his wife, Gertrude (Brink) Gregory, of 329 Sunrise Dr., Arroyo Grande, California, 93420; his brother Ellis; his sister Vera Teare; his daughter, Helen Hancock of Salinas, Calif.; his son, Clark S. Gregory, Jr. of the U.S. Embassy in Kingston, Jamaica; 14 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Memorial services were held in Arroyo Grande on Jan. 9. Burial was at sea by the Neptune Society.

Robert Bulock

Funeral services for 49-year-old Robert D. Bulock, 11264 Chandler Rd., DeWitt were held Monday, Jan. 14 at 10 a.m. at the DeWitt Area Chapel. Burial was held at the Deepdale Cemetery in Lansing.

Mr. Bulock was employed as an electrician for Superior Electric.

He was born Jan. 24, 1930 in Lansing the son of Vernon and Crystal (Taylor) Bulock.

He married Frances Hughes on Aug. 13, 1950 in New York. Mr. Bulock was a veteran of the Korean War.

Mr. Bulock is survived by his wife, Frances; three sons: Robert and Bruce at home and Duane of Lansing; one grandson: Scott; two brothers: Gerald Neil of Williamston and Larry Bulock of Manistee; one sister: Mrs. Maxine Schafer of Williamston; and his mother, Mrs. Crystal Neil of Williamston.

Mrs Dorthea Schafer

Mrs. Mulder was born in Ovid on June 9, 1902 to William and Jessie (Wagner) White. She graduated in 1920 from Ovid High School.

She was a resident of the Ovid area all her life. She was a member of the Laugh-a-Lot Club of Ovid and the Women's Missionary Society in Middlebury.

On April 3, 1923, she married Eugene L. Mulder in Ovid. He passed away May 20, 1969.

Surviving are two sons, Donald and Richard, both of Ovid; nine grandchildren; 18 great grandchildren; and three sisters, Mrs. Eleanor Wiley of West Virginia; Mrs. Ruth Mehney of St. Johns and Mrs. Mable Dennis of Laingsburg. She was preceded in death by a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Kelley, and three brothers.

Literary Club reviews books

By Neva Keys

Twenty-six members of the Woman's Literary Club met at the Elsie Public Library Tuesday evening to hear reviews of two books. Librarian Orpha Clement was hostess.

Mrs. Mary Hughey selected for her first choice "Earth Abides" a winning science fiction classic by George R. Stewart and the first choice of the International Fantasy Award.

"The Official Rules" by Paul Dickson was the second review selected by Mrs. Hughey. A collection and annotation, "The Official Rules" is an accumulation of more than 1,500 rules arranged in sections. Mrs. Hughey quoted several of the rules for coping in a world dominated by impersonal institutions, uncontrollable and unpredictable human behavior.

Mrs. Thelma Conklin gave a progress report on the possibility of a blood-pressure unit to be sponsored by the club later. The club is losing two of its members, Mrs. Lucille Miller and Mrs. Patricia Watson who are moving away from this area.

The next meeting will be Tuesday evening, Feb. 12 at 7:30 p.m. at the Elsie Public Library. Guests are welcome to attend. The program "Do You Get Credit?" will be given by a bank official and will be of special interest since it concerns "your rights" of equal credit opportunity—women and age.

Rev Ruhl leaves St Johns Lutheran

Rev. Michael R. Ruhl has left St. Johns after 5 1/2 years as pastor of St. Johns Lutheran Church. He will be serving Christ Lutheran Church in Stevensville. Pastor Ruhl came to St. Johns in April of 1974, from Parkers Prairie, Minn. He was installed as pastor of St. Johns Lutheran Church on May 5, 1974. Following Pastor Ruhl's farewell sermon, the congregation of St. Johns Lutheran Church held a farewell dinner for the Ruhls.

Dawn Traux specializes

Airman Dawn D. Traux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald R. Traux of 8720 Vincent Road, Elsie, has been assigned to Keesler Air Force Base, Miss., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, here, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits towards an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force. The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the administration field.

Airman Traux is a 1979 graduate of Ovid-Elsie High School.

★ Farmers plea

to remove the burden the embargo has caused on the farmer. "While we will be hurting the Soviets, we will also be hurting the American farmer and our own economy," Craig said. The 17 million metric tons which are about three and a half times the total Michigan crop, represent two and a quarter billion farm dollars.

Speaking for the local American Agriculture Movement (AAM), Larry Phinney said that farmers are concerned. "We've got to be concerned about our country, but let's have a total embargo, not a partial one. The whole country should share in this," he insisted.

Phinney explained that some of the farmer's frustration lies in the fact that the Department of Agriculture people told the farmer to "plant fence row to fence row," when the Russian market first opened up. "This country grew seven and a half billion bushels of corn this year—that's way in excess of what we can use ourselves," he explained. "This glut is going to depress prices terribly."

Robert Craig also explained that low grain prices will end up hurting the livestock farmer. "As the price of grain drops, more farmers will turn to feeding livestock and soon we will have an abundance there that will cause lower prices."

Craig echoed Phinney's remarks saying that the entire nation should help shoulder the burden. Emergency Farm Bureau policy urges the president to take the necessary steps to end all cultural and economic contacts with the Soviet Union. "This means business contracts, exchange programs, the participation in the 1980 summer Olympic Games and all other contacts except for diplomatic ties necessary to resolve the current situation," Craig said.

The Farm Bureau policy called for an immediate increase in the Commodity Credit export credit budget from $800 million to $2 billion for the 1980 and 1981 fiscal years; asked to offer wheat and feed grains loans and target price programs to all producers; and to place the 17 million metric tons of embargoed grains and oilseeds in isolation.

"Our major concern now is that the price of grain has dropped," Craig said Friday, Jan. 11.

When trading resumed Wednesday, corn, wheat and soybeans all fell their full limit. Corn and wheat dropped further on Thursday but soybeans, because not as many are included in the embargo, rose a little. Friday's prices stabilized to Thursday's prices.

When Carter announced that the government will purchase the embargoed grain, farmers voiced concern over past government policy of dumping stored grain on the market and depressing prices. "We don't want this 17 million metric tons hanging over the market," Craig said.

The American Agriculture Movement is supporting a bill being drafted by Congressman Don Alboista asking for 70 percent of parity for cash crops; letting farmers into the 1979 program with the grain they have stored; and a paid diversion set aside for 1980.

Farm Bureau has issued similar emergency steps, also, asking the government to take steps to encourage and make easier, export to other countries; putting the 17 million metric tons of embargoed grains in isolation with staggered release dates beginning at a point 10 percent above the call levels through the 1980-81 marketing season. They also call for making low interest loans available to holders of agriculture commodities not sold due to the embargo with repayment when the products are sold.

Both organizations are urging government support of alcohol production for fuel. Farm Bureau has asked the government to provide long-term incentives to build processing facilities necessary to produce grain alcohol.

Since Jan. 4, the administration has announced some programs that will hopefully help ease the situation. Carter is urging a stepped-up promotion for selling grains to other countries and participation in a Food for Peace program, where four million metric tons of wheat will go to underdeveloped countries.

He indicated that the federal government will put forth an effort to develop additional incentives to develop alcohol production from a variety of agricultural commodities for the production of gasohol.

Before the embargo, grain farmers in particular were fighting increased costs. During the month of December, figures published by the National Farmers Union, showed price increases received by farmers were one-half percent, while their costs rose by one and a quarter percent. While prices received by farmers were eight percent above a year ago, costs were running 15 percent above the corresponding month a year ago. On the cost side, prices were higher for feed, fuel and fertilizer. Fuel prices were up two percent and feed prices were up three percent from a month earlier, while fertilizer prices were up five percent from the last survey in October, 1979.

Phinney, who said the embargo has "taken away our buying power all together," added that he is most concerned about the discouragement among farmers. "Discouragement is the biggest thing we have to fight," he said.

Goat workshop is Jan 19

Dairy goats have, for many years, taken much unneeded abuse from John Q. Public. They are misunderstood and even misused.

Much to many people's surprise, goat's aren't smelly (except the bucks) they don't eat tin cans and they are very friendly. Even more importantly, they are a productive and marketable form of livestock. The does and nannies can be used for milk and the wethers for meat.

Last winter a dairy goat club began in Clinton County, followed soon by another goat club. These groups combined with one other and showed a total of 18 goats at the fair last year.

Well, at last by popular demand we are having our very own dairy goat workshop. It's for everyone. If you already have goats, would like to have goats or are the least bit interested in goats, you are welcome to participate in the 4-H goat workshop.

It's scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 19 at Smith Hall at 9 a.m. The workshop will begin with a film on dairy goat management, followed by discussion.

We will finish up with a practical showmanship contest (using real goats) of course. We will have ribbons.

MAKING ENDS MEET

Inflation is a lot like the weather. It's easy to talk about but hard to do anything about. Rising prices may be a fact of life these days, but you can fight back.

There are some ways to ease inflation's squeeze on family finances. These will be explored in a series of six monthly newsletters "Making Ends Meet" beginning in February. The newsletters are designed to help families cope with shrinking dollars.

The first issue which will be mailed in February will focus on what inflation is, how it's affecting wages and prices and how consumers are responding. Later issues will deal with specific ways families can stretch their finances. These include sharpening shopping skills, cutting back expenditures, producing more at home, trading and sharing goods and services and increasing income.

Only families that subscribe now will receive the newsletter. There is no charge for the six issues. The deadline for subscription is Jan. 25. To add your name to the mailing list, contact the Cooperative Extension Service, 306 Elm St., St. Johns, Mich. 48879 or telephone 224-3288.

R. Bozung graduates

Technical Sergeant Robert M. Bozung, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin R. Bozung of 15567 Island Road, Hubbardston, has graduated from the Strategic Air Command Noncommissioned Officer Academy at Barksdale Air Force Base, here. Sergeant Bozung, who received advanced military leadership and management training, is a missile systems analyst specialist at Ellsworth Air base, S.D. The sergeant is a 1967 graduate of Carson City-Crystal Area High School. His wife, Barbara, is the daughter of Sterling Basker of Rapid City, S.D.

Notice of Bid

How we managed to grow every year of our life!

Like hog producers, we're independent! We're not tied to—or owned by—any packers. Yet we sell to most of them. Heinold provided over six percent of the nation's total hog kill in 1979.

We're not obliged to any producers! We treat them all alike—as well and as fair as possible. That's why more producers sold us more hogs than any other marketing organization—almost 5.5 million in 1979.

The size and strength of our entire company is used to support hog prices in every area where a Heinold market exists. The same size and strength provides a constant, reliable flow of hogs to our packer-customers.

It all adds up to one company's complete dedication to making the pork industry a prosperous, stable business providing a product acceptable to the American public.

Isn't that what you want too?

Before you sell a load of hogs, get Heinold's bid.

LEGAL NOTICES

LEGAL NOTICE
Notice is hereby given that the Clinton County Zoning Board of Appeals will conduct a Public Hearing on January 21, 1980 in the Clinton County Service Center, 306 E. Elm Street, St. Johns, Michigan.

The following cases have been scheduled for disposition at that time:
Old Business:
Case ZB-38-79 - Classification - Pistol Range

(This case was tabled at the December 17, 1979 meeting)
The request is to classify a use "Pistol Range" which is not specifically delineated as part of the use requirements of any district. The Board will classify the use to determine if it conforms to a comparable permitted or prohibited use in accordance with the purpose and intent of each zone district. The Board will determine what district said use is permitted and under what condition if any.

New Business:
Case AB-39-79 - Bath Township Appeal
An application for appeal has been filed by Mr. John Bryant, 7260 East State Road, East Lansing, Michigan, pursuant to Article 4 of OR-178, The Clinton County Zoning Ordinance. The appeal if granted would allow the use of an accessory building which was constructed without the acquisition of a building permit, 14' away from an attached garage. Article 5, Section 5.3.1 requires a 10' setback.

Legal Property Description: Lot No. 2, Delis Acres, A subdivision on part of NW 1/4 of Section 24, T5N, R17W.
Case AB-43-79 - Classification - Deposition of Sewer Sludge
The request is to classify a use which is not specifically mentioned as part of the use requirements of any district. The Board will classify the use "Deposition of Sewer Sludge" to determine if it conforms to a comparable permitted or prohibited use in accordance with the purpose and intent of each zone district. The Zoning Board of Appeals will determine what district the use is permitted in, and under what conditions if any.

Case AB-44-79 - Watertown Township
An application for appeal has been filed by Mr. Michael L. Oesterle, Attorney, on behalf of Mr. Larry Eichelberger, Ms. Diana Cooley and Mr. Martin Kwant. The appeal is to void the issuance of a Special Use Permit for a gravel pit which was issued by the Clinton County Board of Commissioners on November 27, 1979, to American Excavators, Inc., Grand Ledge, Michigan.

Legal Property Description: That part of the E 1/2 of the SW 1/4 and the E 1/2 of the E 1/2 of W 1/2 of the SW 1/4 both in Section 32 of Watertown Charter Township, T5N, R17W, lying North of the railroad right-of-way. Containing 33.5 acres more or less.

Case AB-45-79 - Watertown Township
An application for a variation to the Clinton County Zoning Ordinance has been filed by Mr. N. E. Boehm, 8216 Willow Highway, Grand Ledge, Michigan, to confirm a decision of the Clinton County Zoning Board of Appeals which granted approval to erect a dwelling with less minimum road frontage than the Zoning Ordinance requires. It is requested that this variance run with the land without any termination date. A new request has been initiated, since the original variance had a 6 month termination date and the legal description of the property involved has been altered.

Historic dresses

25, 50, 75, and 100 years. The old sewing machine on the left was used to make the gown Mrs. Schrader is arranging. (Photo by Sharon Randall)

Riley Twp history displayed at Paine-Gillam-Scott museum

By Sharon Randall
Staff Writer

St. Johns

Winter displays at the Paine-Gillam-Scott House Museum have been arranged to intrigue both the occasional and regular visitor. A spectacular arrangement of old valentines light up the first room; Riley Township tells the story of its history in the township room and Bill Bennet has an interesting display of old guns and swords in the upstairs case.

In the township room visitors will find an array of wedding dresses from Riley Township residents dating back 25, 50, 75 and 100 years. Twenty-five years ago Irene Seeger married Lawrence Witt, May 1, 1954 in a ballerina length wedding gown. It was the style of the year. Today Irene and Lawrence's son, Mark Witt, resides on the family homestead and his son, Christopher Mark, makes the fifth generation to live there.

Fifty years ago, Dorothy Luecht married Herman Pasch in October of 1929, in a short little flapper dress. Last fall when they celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary, their daughter, Jeanette Page, wore the dress.

The 1907 wedding dress was worn for a November wedding when Augusta Schrader married Lewis Martens. All these weddings took place in Riley Township. The 100 year old dress was made by Augusta Boss for her marriage in Balston Springs, N.Y. to a Riley Township man, Henry Lewis Pratt. Augusta and Henry were married in 1878. The sewing machine that Augusta Ann used to make her wedding gown is also on display and will be left at the museum as a gift from her descendants, Ted and Doris Pratt Snyder who live on the family's centennial farm on Pratt Road.

Many old photographs and special wedding gifts are part of the Riley display as well as quilts, aprons and dolls. Arlene Schrader, who set up the display, said that the items are all from fourth and fifth generation descendants of the early Riley settlers. The English-Irish people who settled the area in the 1850's later became outnumbered by German Lutherans who settled in the area 10 and 20 years later.

Work progresses on $8.092 million treatment plant

By Patrice Hornak

St. Johns

Work on the $8.092 million wastewater treatment plant in St. Johns is progressing pretty much on schedule, according to William Gramlich, superintendent of the city's wastewater treatment department.

The new facility is expected to go on line in August. Gramlich explained that some of the segments will start up as early as April or May.

All the main structures have been built. Electricians, plumbers, painters and carpenters are now working inside the buildings. Most of the windows have been installed and a majority of the doors have been hung to keep out the cold from the interiors of the buildings.

When warmer temperatures arrive, asphalt roadways and concrete sidewalks will be poured. There will be very little grass inside the water treatment complex located off US-27 near Traver's Auto Parts.

Construction on the plant began in August of 1978. The federal government's share of the $8.092 million project is 75 percent and the state is picking up another five percent. The city's share is 20 percent.

Cold work

Bill Eiseler of St. Johns (back) and Keith Putnam of Ovid work to knock a hole in the existing bank gallery. A new tank has been built next to the old one and these two men were working to knock out the wall between the tanks. Eventually, the pipe gallery in the old tank will be joined with the pipe gallery in the new tank. (Photo by Patrice Hornak)
