Kid's Energy Day is slated for Wednesday, July 9, from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the St. Johns City Park. Children six years of age and older may participate. The program is being offered by the county 4-H office, the St. Johns City Recreation Department and the Community Resource Volunteers. It is just one event in a series offered by these three groups every Wednesday during the summer at the St. Johns park.

New hands on activities include computer energy games; a special display and talk by a Dow Corning forester on the advantages of wood fuel; solar electricity and hot water heaters.

Adults can explore innovative energy ideas too. At 1 p.m. Dow Corning will demonstrate their ideas for a power plant using low-quality and scrap wood.

First concert in the park

This season's first concert in the park will be presented Wednesday, July 9, at 7:30 in the St. Johns City Park by the Community Band. The band will be under the direction of Walter Cole and is sponsored by the St. Johns City Recreation Department. All concerts offered Wednesday evenings are free. Bring a blanket or a lawn chair and enjoy a musical summer evening.

Fowler outlines cuts if millage requests fail

By Patrice Hornak
Editor

Fowler

Two millage proposals for the Aug. 11 school election, as well as two separate lists of cuts that would be necessitated if the proposals are defeated, were established by the Fowler Board of Education at a special meeting last Wednesday, June 25.

The board voted to ask residents in their district on one ballot to approve a 19-mill request which includes a 17-mill renewal. A second ballot will ask voters for a 1.5-mill increase. Both millage requests are for one year and will provide operating funds for the school district.

The school administration recommended a list of cuts to the board, outlining which programs and services would be eliminated if either or both of the millage requests were denied. The board unanimously approved the recommendations.

If the 1.5-mill increase is defeated, but the 19-mill request is granted, the board agreed that the following cuts will be made.

—One elementary teacher. This will be accomplished by making grades five and six into self-containing classrooms. Presently, the K-4 program is self-contained and the 5-8 grade program is departmentalized.

—One special education teacher. This teacher would be eliminated because the number of special education students is expected to drop this year. Superintendent Gary Jackson said 15 students are currently expected to be in this special education program and the state allows up to 15 students in one classroom.

- One special education teacher aide.
- Curriculum development funds.
- Two teacher aide positions.
- One library aide position.
- Audio-visual equipment.
- Data processing service. Jackson said the school district would no longer use the services of the Bay-Arenac Intermediate School District, and would go back to the hand posting bookkeeping system. The school administration has had difficulty with the Bay-Arenac processing service this year, anyway.
- Asphalt repair work around the school grounds. About $10,000 in repair work was planned.

July 4th activities await

July 4th festivities are looked forward to by many people each year. This year's activities in the Clinton County area are certainly ones to look forward too.

St. Johns Rotary Club will be having their annual carnival at the city park with rides and refreshments, and a special performance by Lonzo and Oscar July 6 at the High School Auditorium at 2 p.m. Fireworks, however, will be shown the 6th rather than the fourth this year.

St. Mary's Parish Festival in Westphalia will be held all day on the fourth with many events taking place throughout the day. Beginning with a flag raising ceremony and parade at 12:30, a variety show will take place at 3:00 and 5:00 p.m. and a special treat at 6:30 will be a Oompah-pah Band. A teen dance will also be held from 8:30 to 11 p.m. Along with these things there will be rides, prizes, games and an Arts and Crafts display.

In Wacousta the Community United Methodist Church is sponsoring their second annual Pig Roast and Softball Tournament at Heritage Park July 4.

They will be serving roast pig at different intervals between the times of 1 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. along with baked beans, salads, rolls, pies and beverages. The tickets cost $5 for adults and $3 for children under 12 and Senior Citizens. Preschoolers eat for free. The tickets are limited and can be purchased at the church, Wacousta General Store and Sharon's Beauty Nook in Wacousta.

Their will also be children's carnival games between 2 and 4 p.m. The area churches softball tournament will start at 9:30 a.m. on July 4 and 5.

Chamber director to begin Aug 1

St. Johns

A part-time director of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce will be hired Aug. 1, the revised dues structure for the Chamber will be revised, and a book listing St. Johns businesses, industries and services will be published.

All three major steps for the Chamber were taken at the Chamber's June 25 luncheon meeting.

The Chamber has been working to up its membership in order to generate more funds to hire a part-time director. Instead of waiting until the present membership drive is completed, the Chamber voted to go ahead and hire a part-time director.

Diane Edwards, city assessor, is chairman of the director search committee. So far, two candidates have applied. Persons interested in the position should contact the Chamber office or Mrs Edwards at City Hall.

The Chamber dues structure was revised at the June 11 Chamber meeting. However, due to some confusion in the structure, the dues committee and the membership committee will be meeting to review the dues and propose changes to make the membership more appealing and equitable.

The two committees' recommendations will be made at the July 9 Chamber luncheon meeting.

The book describing St. Johns to incoming residents and businesses, was first proposed by a firm which specializes in publishing such books. However, the Chamber membership last Wednesday felt they could publish such a book as a money-making venture for the Chamber. A committee is investigating this alternative.

WILL DECIDE JULY 9

SJ school board hestitates on cuts

St. Johns

After deciding how much millage the schools will ask from voters on Aug. 11, the St. Johns Board of Education is now trying to decide which programs or services will be cut if their proposed millage requests fail.

A week ago the board met to draw up a list of cuts should the three millage proposals go down in August. St. Johns schools are asking for:

- 20.20 mills on the first ballot, including a renewal of 17.75 mills and an additional 2.45 mills,
- A half-mill for maintenance on the second ballot.

—And permission not to have the system's 8 county allocated mills rolled back seven hundredths of a mill on the third ballot. This would cost the school district about $10,000.

However, after lengthy presentations by the high school and junior high principals and the elementary coordinator, as well as the superintendent, the board agreed to have its own finance committee study the list of possible cuts proposed by the administration and come back with recommendations for the Wednesday, July 9 school board meeting.

The finance committee comprised of chairman Robert Craig and members Lee Ormston and Marian Kurncz, met Monday to begin going over recommended cuts.

If the first request for 20.20 mills is not granted, the board has vowed it will only ask voters for a renewal of 17.75 mills in late September or early October.

An additional election is needed because the district would only have the 8 county allocated mills (or a portion of it, depending upon the Headlee ballot), to operate its programs with for the 1980-81 school year. This wouldn't be sufficient to keep the doors open.

The additional 2.45 mills requested in proposal 1 will generate $454,000 for the district said Dr. Donald Burns, superintendent. The half mill for maintenance will bring in $92,000 he said.

The 2.45 mills will not meet the district's entire money demands for the coming year. The board has already agreed to dip into its fund equity (rainy day fund) and bring that down from about $341,000 to about $32,000.

Suntree 120-unit complex gets mortgage commitment

St. Johns

The proposed 120-unit apartment complex on St. Johns' southeast side received a mortgage loan commitment from the Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA).

The complex, to be known as Suntree, will be located behind McDonald's, off US-27. It will consist of 50 units for the elderly and 70 units for family occupancy.

The seven-member MSHDA committed itself to a $4,507,188 loan at its meeting Thursday, June 19. The total development cost of the project is $5,077,987.

This apartment complex will feature a three-story building with an elevator for senior citizens and conventional apartments and town houses for families. It will be totally subsidized under Section 8 of a Housing and Urban Development (HUD) program.

The Michigan State Housing Development Authority explained that the HUD subsidy will allow residents of the apartment complex to receive HUD-funded rent subsidies based upon income. A representative in that office said the normal HUD subsidy allows the resident to pay 25 percent of their income for rent, including utilities. HUD pays the remainder.

When asked what maximum income level has been established before a person could qualify for a HUD subsidy, the representative said present levels range from $10,300 to $16,550, depending upon the number of persons in a family. However, she said those maximum levels will be going up before the Suntree development opens.

The present maximum income levels are as follows:

- One person - $10,300.
- Two persons - $11,800.
- Three persons - $13,250.
- Four persons - $14,700.
- Five persons - $15,650.
- Six persons - $16,550.

There is no minimum income level, she said.

Now you can bike to work

St. Johns

Rick Pifer, energy co-ordinator for Community Resource Volunteers is determined that more people who work in the city of St. Johns should be using bicycles for transportation and he's trying to make it as easy as possible.

Trying to tempt people in the downtown area to bike to work he's placed a bicycle rack on the corner of Brush and Higham Streets under the canopy of the old Egan Ford used-car lot. "This rack is just borrowed," Pifer said, "but if people use it we will be able to do something about a permanent one."

On the job for nearly three weeks, Pifer is in the process of taking a survey of the transportation habits of the people in this area. Eventually the results will aid the implementation of a mass transit program in Clinton County.

Among the first survey results Pifer found "about 64 people in the downtown and hospital areas that said they would ride a bike to work if they had a place to park it." Pifer also found that some people are biking already but have to take their bicycles into their offices or places of business to avoid leaving them unlocked on the sidewalk. The only place in the downtown area for bicycles is in front of the library but it is mainly for children visiting that facility.

The Brush and Higham

Streets rack was installed a week ago but so far Pifer's bike is the only one to occupy it. "I think people will use it once they know it's here," he said. The area is one block west of the second block of the downtown shopping area. CRV is also trying to locate another rack to borrow for the courthouse area and would like to put one up near the hospital.

Answering a survey taken by Rick Pifer, energy co-ordinator for Community Resource Volunteers, 64 people said they would ride their bikes to work if they had a place to park them. Here's room for 24 and more space will soon be available for bike parking in the courthouse area. (Photo by Sharon Randall)

Medical students conduct clinics

St. Johns

Health clinics conducted by medical students and faculty from Michigan State University's College of Human Medicine and College of Osteopathic Medicine for migrant agriculture workers opened in St. Johns on Wednesday, June 25.

Co-sponsor of the clinic, first held in 1972, is Michigan Economics, Inc., formerly United Migrants for Opportunity, Inc.

The St. Johns series of clinics will be held through Aug. 27 at St. Johns Episcopal Church, 400 E.

Walker. Clinic hours are 7 to 10:30 p.m.

Health care will be provided under the direct supervision of MSU faculty physicians. In addition to medical personnel, clinic volunteers include MSU students in nursing, medical technology, and nutrition, as well as pharmacy students from Ferris State College.

A pharmacy, under the direction of a registered pharmacist, Bruce Engren, Pharm. D., of MSU's Clinical Center, will be open at each migrant health clinic.

Services also include routine laboratory tests and health education. Counseling is available on infant nutrition, food stamps, and family planning. Child care is provided while other family members are receiving health care.

Referrals are made to medical specialists in the Lansing area, including ophthalmologists and dentists. Other referrals are for surgery, blood disorders, neurological problems, heart problems and hearing evaluation.

Medical school coordinators for the St. Johns Clinic are Dr. Roy J. Harvey, Dr. Linda Hernandez, and Dr. L.A. Marohn of the College of Osteopathic Medicine Department of Family Medicine, and third-year osteopathic medical student Jan Swanson.

To prepare for work in the clinics, students must participate in orientation seminars on the medical care system, legal and economic issues, nutrition problems and other topics important to health care for Mexican-American migrants.

Computers -- they can do just about anything

By Sue Gladstone
Student Intern

St. Johns

Dr. Theopolis talks and Marvin composes music. But would you believe, that these two "guys" are computers?

Last week Marvin sang "Twinkle Twinkle Little Star" for some youngsters ages six through nine and then was challenged to Tic-Tac-Toe and Tank Wars by these kids.

Dr. Theopolis talked about stamp collecting and played a space game with some kids ages 10 through 14. He actually laughed at them if they missed their targets. Dr. Theopolis can be witty and rude, but he can also help people in many ways.

Dr. Theopolis and Marvin were programmed last week to set up filing systems, attendance programs, bus routes, spelling quizzes, and play many games. If people pay attention to these two and feed them vital information, they can be helpful and fun, as many youngsters and adults have found out this past week.

The Community Resource Volunteers is sponsoring computer classes this summer for persons aged six through adult.

Randy Willett, a 1979 graduate from St. Johns, is teaching the classes while home for the summer from Great Lakes Bible College, where he is studying ministry. Willett said that computers have been a hobby for him for the past three years and was anxious to teach others a little about them.

There are separate sessions for different age groups. The kids meet

Monday through Friday in the morning for two hours, and the adult classes are two nights a week for two hours each. The classes cost $10 a week. Willett says he has many openings and anyone interested in joining can call CRV at 224-8285 for information.

Dr. Theopolis

Dr. Theopolis is a strange name for a computer, but that is what this computer is called. He (or it) talks to students in a special computer class offered through Community Resource Volunteers this summer. There are different age levels for the classes, including an adult class offered two nights a week.

Marvin

This is Marvin the computer. He can sing, if you program him to sing. Students in Randy Willett's computer class enjoyed composing their own music.

Too full

When the thermometer soared over the 90 degree mark, there was an influx of kids into the St. Johns pool. Who could blame them. Unfortunately, the pool filled to capacity and those who arrived later had to wait their turn to be admitted. (Photo by Patrice Hornak)

Czech, Slovak mass planned

The annual mass in Czech and Slovak will be celebrated at St. Cyril's Catholic Church in Bannister on July 20, at 3 p.m.

Celebrant will be Father Joseph Adamec, pastor of Bay City St. Hyacinth and a native son of St. Cyril's.

Confessions will be heard at 2:30, with Father Adamec hearing those in Slovak and Czech, and Father Frego, pastor of St. Cyril's hearing those in English.

Everyone is invited to attend this liturgy and anyone having a native costume is invited to participate in the procession into church before the mass.

Williams earns doctor of ministry degree

The Reverend Myron Kent Williams, a St. Johns native and minister to Holt United Methodist Church, was awarded the doctor of ministry degree at Drew University's 112th commencement on May 17.

Rev. Williams received a bachelor of arts degree from Otterbein College, Westerville, Ohio, and the master of divinity degree from United Theological Seminary, Dayton. He has been a pastor in the United Methodist Church for 24 years.

The doctor of ministry (D.Min.) degree program is the newest in the Theological School, founded in 1866 as the first of Drew University's three schools. Though the D.Min. may be taken in sequence with the ordination degree, it is also designated for ministers already in the field, who use present professional experience as a foundation for further professional development.

While remaining on the job, candidates conduct ministry-oriented research and participate in weekly seminars meeting in their region. The degree is normally completed in two years, including a six-week summer session on the Drew campus, plus a professional project written under the direction of a faculty member.

Sad sight

The trees lining Clinton Avenue in downtown St. Johns have been a beautiful addition. Yet, someone or some persons recently didn't appreciate the efforts of downtown businessmen to improve the business district.

These unappreciative persons practically destroyed this tree in front of the Sarsaparilla Saloon. Their disregard for other people's property is disgusting. Let's hope it doesn't happen to any other downtown trees in the future.

There's usually an optimistic viewpoint

By Patrice Hornak

There's a silver lining inside every cloud. Is that the way that old cliché goes? Well, anyway, it's one way of saying there is an optimistic way to look upon every pessimistic situation.

It just depends upon how you look at it.

During the past week several persons have called the office wondering when the fireworks will be held in the St. Johns Park this year. They groan when they hear that the fireworks won't be on the traditional Fourth of July. Rather, they are set for July 6—a Sunday and the conclusion of the St. Johns Rotary Club six-day Fourth of July celebration.

Sunday is a good day for fireworks. By then, many people will be returning home from their summer cottages and they'll be able to watch the fireworks for the first time in many a year.

For those who wanted to go down to Lansing's Riverfront Park and hear the symphony orchestra play the "William Tell Overture" followed by the fireworks display, they will get their chance. They won't have to make a decision between the St. Johns and Lansing fireworks displays.

So, you see, it's just how you look at the situation.

Last Thursday when it was over 90 degrees HOT, the St. Johns pool was packed to capacity and there were about 30 kids waiting in line to get in. A depressing situation for those who were waiting? Yes, but they probably appreciated the cool pool when they finally did get in.

It's a fine sight to see the city facilities utilized by a goodly number of its residents. If no one swam at the pool, certainly that would be a more depressing sight than seeing a line of kids waiting to get in.

And, while I'm on the subject of the weather...

A couple months ago, when winter was leaving and summer was coming, a city employee who wished to remain anonymous, suggested I write an editorial about how strange it is to see people without jackets in 55 degree weather but see them turning up their thermostats to 70 degrees indoors. What's the difference, he asked? Good point.

Senior Citizen Update

SERVICES OFFERED TO SENIOR CITIZENS

Have you seniors taken advantage of all the things offered you?

This last Monday at the Senior Citizen office they were taking pictures for I.D. cards. I hope you took advantage of it. Many of you do not have a driver's license so this was another means of identification.

How about the Senior Citizen van? This is available for trips to the doctor, the grocery store or anything that is a necessity. Just call the Senior Citizen office at 224-7998. They will help schedule you. The grocery trips are already scheduled, so they will give you this information.

Have you taken advantage of the Legal Aid for Senior Citizens? Shirley Maher is the new legal aid and is in the Senior Citizen office every Tuesday morning. Just call for an appointment.

Are you in need of Home Companion Service or Senior Aids? These are people who will come into your home and help you with things you are unable to do yourself such as run the sweeper, do dishes, dust, get a meal and these kinds of things.

If you need more than this, perhaps a bath or medical help, then Medical Personnel is available. Call the Senior Citizen office and they will see that you have the kind of help you need.

In fact, if you have almost any kind of problem just call the Senior Citizen office and if they can't help you they will refer you to someone else who deals with your kind of problem.

Did you know that Gen Drouin is the new president of the Clinton County Senior Citizens? You remember she was formerly the director of the Senior Citizen office in St. Johns for many years. With her ambition and her "get up and go" ability we should see some interesting developments. The vice president is Ruth Peltier and Hilda Miller is the secretary-treasurer.

By

The next area-wide meeting will be July 18 and will be held in Elsie at the American Legion Hall. It will be a 12 noon potluck. Bring a dish to pass and your own table service.

The guest speaker will be Jim Hough and several of you will know of him as he writes "The Onlooker" column in the State Journal.

Gen says she hopes a great many of you will come. This is her first meeting as president. Plan ahead.

June 30 was the last day for the ECAP (energy program). If you haven't already applied, I'm afraid it's too late.

Take advantage of all these things offered to you senior citizens.

So _____ until next time.

★ Fowler millage requests

—Capital outlay at the high school, middle school and elementary. This would include replacement of equipment, band instruments and shop tools and other machinery.

—If both the 1.5-mill request and the request for 19 mills are denied, the board voted to, make the above mentioned cuts as well as the following cuts.

—Art program at elementary and middle school.

—Athletics at middle school.

—Athletics and class sponsors at the high school.

—Marching band.

—Vocational education. About one-third of the vocational ed program would be cut. The school staff would have to decide which students would be able to participate in the programs.

—Library aide.

—Roof work at the high school which is estimated to cost $17,000. Next year Jackson said this cost could be around $30,000.

—Remaining capital outlay at the three schools.

—Reduction in hours of clerical staff.

—Reduction in hours of custodial staff.

—All field trips and extra bus trips.

The cuts necessitated by a loss of 1.5 mills would total $92,000 Jackson said. Round two in cuts would cost $183,000 he said.

If both millage requests are denied, the voters will have to go back to the polls in late September or early October to approve at least some operating millage for their school district.

On June 9, Fowler voters turned down a request for 20 mills which included the 17-mill renewal and three additional mills. That request went down better than 2 to 1, or 380-182.

A request to allow the school system the full 8 mills allocated by the county, rather than having the 8 mills cut by the Headlee Amendment went down 367-183 on June 9. The Headlee Amendment is costing the school district 1.2 mills this year, Jackson said, compared with seven-tenths of a mill last year.

Comparing the June 9 election with the Aug. 11 requests, the Fowler district asked for an additional 4.2 mills, including Headlee, in the first election. This coming election, they are asking for 3.5 mills as the Headlee request will not be on the ballot again.

ASK THE JUDGE

By Judge Marvin Robertson

1. If you die without a will, does everything go to the state?

If an individual dies without a will, leaving no surviving individual spouse, children, grandchildren, great grandchildren, parents, brothers and sisters, nieces and nephews, grandparents, or descendants of grandparents, then the entire estate passes to the state. In other words, the estate "escheats" to the state when and only when there is no will and no heirs.

2. Are "heirs" and "devisees" the same thing?

No. Heirs are those persons, including the surviving spouse, that are entitled to the property of someone who died if there was no will. Devisees are persons designated in the will to receive property. Thus, a person may cut out his "ne'er-do-well" child, an heir, from the will and list any person in the will as a devisee.

3. If a person owes you money, but he dies before he pays you back, is the creditor stuck?

No, assuming that there are sufficient assets in the estate. First entitled to be paid are expenses of administration. Next come the expenses of funeral and burial. Then certain spouse and family allowances may be allowed. Next, debts to the United States (taxes) are allowed. Then the expenses of last illness (hospital, doctor, etc.). Next, expenses due the state are paid. Then reimbursement for labor is allowed. Finally, all other debts are allowed and are to be paid in full if sufficient funds remain in the estate; otherwise, payment is made on a pro-rated basis.

4. Can I leave my will with the court for safe-keeping before I die?

Yes. The will should be enclosed in a sealed wrapper with your name, place of residence, social security number or Michigan driver's license number written on the wrapper. You can deposit this in your county probate court. The court will safely keep the will and return a certificate of deposit which acts as a receipt. For this service the court charges a fee of $5.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Bus schedule prohibits riders

Dear Editor,

Several weeks ago, when an article about the proposed commuter bus route appeared in the paper, I was thrilled. What a great idea!

There are so many drivers heading south in the morning and north after work, I'm one of them.

However, when the bus route hours appeared I was very disappointed. Why? I wouldn't mind leaving early in the morning and arriving in downtown Lansing at 7:15 a.m., but how can the many commuters who work until 5 p.m. ride a bus for home that leaves downtown at 4:50 p.m.?

Small wonder according to your most recent article there are only two people from St. Johns who can take advantage of this service.

I hope whoever is responsible for setting up this schedule will reconsider the departure times. I believe a delay of only 15 minutes would greatly add to the number of daily riders on this bus route.

Sincerely,
Mary Ellen Albers
St. Johns

Personality Profile

Air traffic controller is the pilot's eyes

By Sue Kiley White
Editor

DeWitt

"Clear for take off", is just one of the phrases Dick Smeage, air traffic controller at Capitol City Airport uses on a day to day basis.

Smeage and his crew at the airport have the all important job of being the "eyes of a pilot". Without his expertise there would be more than one "Blue Goose" (Republic Airline plane) in trouble.

Smeage a resident of DeWitt has been an air traffic controller for 22-years beginning his career at O'Hare Airport in Chicago while he was still in the military. It has been his life, rather than just a career.

According to Smeage, an air traffic controller is a person who has to be able to make decisions, thrives on a challenge and is able to handle stress. It is not an easy job and more fail than succeed.

For a person coming off the street, it takes a lot to make it in the controller field. First, there are six months of schooling. Tests are then given, taking into consideration both merit value and experience. Pilots, college graduates and those with prior military experience have a slight edge.

"About 75 percent of the people working here in Lansing were pilots," explained Smeage.

Physicals and psychological tests are also given to make sure the controller is not only physically but mentally fit for the job.

The next step is the academy at Oklahoma City where the book learning is done. Here Smeage was taught everything from weather to cloud formations to navigation. Once all the steps are completed and passed satisfactorily, the air traffic controller is assigned to an airport ranging from a five which is a facility like Detroit and O'Hare to a level one which is a facility like Ann Arbor. Lansing is classified as a level three.

"Normally a graduate of the academy starts out at a level three facility," he said.

Smeage proved he was capable of starting out at O'Hare, where he stayed for four years. The failure rate at this complex is 75 percent.

"When you're at a bigger facility you see your buddies go by the wayside," he said. "You get ulcers, your nerves are shot and your blood pressure goes sky high."

After O'Hare, Smeage took a controller position at Detroit Metro where he stayed for 11-years. He has been at Lansing as a supervisor for seven years.

There are two levels of the Lansing facility where Smeage supervises a crew of seven people. The lower level houses four radar tracking units which lists the positions of various planes traveling in Lansing's vicinity. These people are responsible for keeping the planes three miles from each other, thus avoiding mid-air collisions.

The tower by contrast is surrounded by huge plate glass tinted windows, giving the controller a total view of the airport. The tower works a five-mile radius and okay's the plane to land and take off. They are also responsible for knowing where ground vehicles are and making sure planes stay out of each other's paths.

When Smeage started out in the field radar was not as sophisticated as it is now. In fact, he helped train the Lansing crew how to use radar when he came to the airport.

"When I started out all those planes were just tiny dots," he said pointing to the darkened green screen. "You can see how its changed."

Now planes are given numbers and the dots are like little arrows. The people in charge of the radar units are constantly shifting planes attempting to keep everyone headed in the right direction.

"All planes are to us is voices," the veteran explained. "If we started thinking of them all as people, we'd be in trouble...you just can't do it."

A full crew at Capitol City Airport can handle about 1,000 planes a day, a fete they have accomplished more than once. Those days are becoming fewer however, because of the fuel crunch. An airport like O'Hare handles about 2,500 planes a day.

"When I was there a plane was either taking off or landing every 25 seconds," said Smeage.

Peak times for the controller are early morning and evening hours. Normally, a controller will stay at one position for an hour and a half. He takes 15 minutes off for a break and then takes a less demanding position.

"The mental strain is unbelievable," he said. "Especially in bad weather."

Smeage commented he felt more in control when he was working the radar unit rather than the tower.

"I used to like the tower," he said with a grin, "but now I'm getting too old."

He says he still finds his job exciting after all these years and at times longs to be at a larger facility.

One of the downsides of being an air traffic controller is the lack of a social life. Normally a shift consists of two evenings and three days with the third day becoming the midnight shift.

Although it has been hard for the Smeage family consisting of wife Lucille and children Richard and Theresa they have learned to deal with the situation.

"I worked five Christmases before I had one off," he added.

In his spare time Dick likes to hunt, fish and work with wood. He also likes to vacation at the family's summer home.

The thunderstorm season is the hardest time for Smeage and his crew. They end up in a lot of instances rerouting pilots.

"It takes a lot of concentration and coordination," said Smeage. "This year we've had some real bad ones...that's when we earn our money."

Dick Smeage

Needed: A Friend of the Court

This is the first article in a series of stories relating to child support. The amount of child support is determined by the Circuit Court. The enforcement of child support is the duty of the Friend of the Court. This article looks at a problem in this chain of authority—there is no official Friend of the Court in Clinton County.

By Patrice Hornak

Editor
Clinton County

There is no Friend of the Court in Clinton County. There is an acting Friend of the Court, but there's no one person responsible for this office which works closely with Circuit Court in regard to child custody, support and visitation.

This position hasn't been filled since Agnes Danley resigned as of Jan. 1. The local circuit court judges are waiting for the governor's selection.

Circuit Court Judge Randy Tahvonen explained that he and Circuit Judge Timothy Green each made a recommendation to the governor concerning who should be appointed to this position. However, both judges recommended someone different. For this reason, the nomination has been slow in coming, speculated Judge Tahvonen.

The judges submitted their recommendations back in November. Usually an appointment is made in 3-6 months but in this case it has already been closer to eight months since the judges submitted their recommendations.

In the meantime, Sherry VanBeelen, a former investigator with the Friend of the Court office has become the Acting Friend of the Court.

Having an Acting Friend of the Court hasn't posed too many problems, said Judge Tahvonen, but he did point out that instead of having five persons doing the work, there are now only four in that office. Each has to do one-fourth again as much work.

The Friend of the Court office actually has three responsibilities. The first is to investigate divorce actions involving minors.

In this state, all divorce cases, paternity cases and separate maintenance or "family support" cases involving minor children are subject to investigation by one of the state's Friend of the Court. The Friend of the Court, after investigating these cases, then offers recommendations on such issues as visitation, amount of child support, amount of alimony and child custody.

The second duty of the Friend of the Court office is to enforce the court orders to "advance the best interest of the kids," said Judge Tahvonen.

Once a couple are divorced, the Friend of the Court is charged with making sure the court's orders for custody, child support and visitation are carried out. All child support payments ordered by the court are paid to the Friend of the Court which records the amount paid and then forwards that amount of money to the parent who is caring for the child.

A third role for the Friend of the Court is to act as a conciliator between a divorced husband and wife, for instance, without the judge's intervention.

Without a Friend of the Court in this county, Judge Tahvonen said the conciliatory role is often skipped for lack of time. He also said, that if time doesn't permit, visitation rights which are sometimes difficult to enforce, may take longer to work out.

Judge Tahvonen also said the absence of an appointed Friend of the Court means there is no one who can consistently recommend and implement changes in policy in that office. The acting Friend of the Court and the judges don't feel comfortable establishing policies that may not suit the person who will be appointed.

Even though the judges have the authority to implement changes, Judge Tahvonen said, "It would be the height of arrogance to say this 'This is what is going to be done' without regard to the Friend of the Court since that person deals daily with those procedures and problems."

So, the workload and the implementation of changes are being hampered while the county waits for the governor's appointment.

Looking down the road to the future, Judge Tahvonen is hopeful an appointment will be made in the near future. With the economy in a recession, the enforcement of child support may become more difficult. There may even be a rise in the number of divorces and child support cases.

Coupled with the fact that there are now two circuit judges, whereas a couple years ago there was only one, the workload of the Friend of the Court is definitely increasing.

Vows join Brook and Blunt

Reverend Chuck McNary and Reverend Lynn Pier-Fitzgerald presided over the marriage of Natalie Jan Brook and Richard Wayne Blunt May 17 at 7 p.m. in East Lansing's Chapel Hill United Methodist Church.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents Mr and Mrs William Brook of Ovid and by the groom's parents Peggy Blunt of Bangor and Donald Blunt of South Haven.

The double ring ceremony took place before an altar decorated with sweetheart roses, daisies, and baby's breath with a white unity candle.

The couple wrote their own vows, and had music sung by their friends Dave Alderman, Jack Hurlless, Ann MacAskie, and Kathy Ulbrich. Cindy Blunt was a special reader at the wedding.

A bouquet of red roses, baby's breath and stephanotis was chosen by the bride to accent her gown. The gown was made of satin with a sheer covering, featuring an empire waist and a scoop neckline with sheer covering creating a high neck. There was lace surrounding the bodice, neckline and the train. Her veil fell from the head piece to the waist.

Maid of honor was Lisa Brook of Ovid. Bridesmaids were Sarah Seeger of Bath and Christi Blunt of Bangor. The attendants wore full skirted dresses with matching cape sleeves in a light blue floral print design with a bow in back.

The mother of the bride wore a long peach dress with a lace jacket and the groom's mother wore a long green dress with a chiffon cape. Both wore corsages of gardenias and stephanotis.

The couple's best man was Don Minthorn of Fife Lake. Groomsmen were Ray Gough of South Haven, and Brian Brook of Albion. Doug and Roger Brook were ushers.

The bride's twin nephews, Jeffery and Jeremy Brook, were ring bearers and her niece, Jessica Brook, was the flower girl.

The couple spent two nights in Marshal National House Inn and then went camping near Holland for their honeymoon.

They will reside in Bangor, Michigan.

Two Fowler students were named state award winners June 19 during 4-H Exploration Days held at Michigan State University.

Laurie Ann Platte, 17, was named Michigan's 1980 4-H fashion revue project award winner and Randy Koenigsnecht, 16, was named Michigan's 1980 4-H wood science project award winner.

Both competed against other 4-H fashion revue and wood science project members from five Michigan districts and were selected the state's top 4-H winners in their individual divisions by a panel of judges and specialists.

"It's quite an honor to be named a state 4-H youth agent. Only a small portion of 4-H'ers ever accomplish this achievement," she said.

Miss Platte is a member of the Westphalia 4-H club and has completed various knitted, crocheted and sewn articles including everything from a matching mitten and scarf set, a crocheted pinafore and a formal for her prom to making a three-piece wool suit and seasonal all-weather coat.

Albosta appointed to house task force

Rep. Donald Albosta (D-St. Charles) has been appointed to a newly created House Task Force on Small Business Programs.

The task force will develop legislative priorities for action by the Congress this fall and in the coming year.

Congress last week gave final approval to the Omnibus Small Business Bill of 1980, the most comprehensive legislation affecting small business ever passed. It provides more than $30 billion in loan and guarantee authority and a major shift in emphasis toward helping small business have a better chance to compete with big government and big business.

Yet, Rep. Albosta suggested there are many additional areas of concern to small business that need immediate attention.

"We will look closely at implementing the recent recommendations of the White House Conference on Small Business as well as at other proposals developed by the small business community. I am especially concerned about tax relief, capital formation, unfair competition, regulatory reform, paperwork reduction and protection from unfair trade practices," Rep. Albosta said.

Woman's Literary Club helps college bound

By Neva Keys

The Elsie Woman's Literary Club has presented two $300 grants-in-aid gifts to two Ovid-Elsie High graduating seniors.

Gayle Furstenau of 433 First St., Elsie will receive $300 to help further her education at Michigan State University. She is planning to follow a pre-medical course and then further her studies for a medical degree.

Planning to attend Central Michigan University and follow a course in computer science is Tracy Bashore of 3485 S. Meridian Rd., Ovid, who will also receive a $300 grant.

The Grant-in-Aid committee of the Elsie Woman's Literary Club selected the winners, which were judged on need, satisfactory scholastic record, participation in extra-curricular activities, community and school records and desire to further their education.

Meet the candidates in Gratiot Co

The Gratiot County Farm Bureau will sponsor a "Meet the Candidate Night" Friday, July 11, at the Ithaca High School cafeteria on N. Union Street.

Telling it

like it is

By Tim Jeffery
Staff Writer

Each season seems to bring more coverage of sports on television. Cable television will move into the area soon, and with it comes even more coverage. Here is this week's question:

Is there too much coverage of sports on television right now. What sporting events would you like to see more or less of?

Chris George of St. Johns: "There's a lot of good coverage because many people enjoy watching. There could be more coverage of boxing and less coverage of baseball."

Jan Kirkbride of St. Johns: "No I don't think there is too much. The nice thing is there is something for everyone and if you don't want to watch, you can always turn it off. We really enjoy watching college basketball."

Pam VeCasey of St. Johns: "There's just about the right amount. Everything is all right except for the amount of boxing shown. I'd maybe like to see more gymnastics."

Julie Greenhoe of Ovid: "There's really not too much, even though I don't watch sports. I just don't have time. I'd watch girls softball if they would show it. Basketball is all right if it's an exciting game."

Suzie Brown of St. Johns: "No there's not too much. It keeps my husband happy, so it's all right. I hate boxing and hockey on T.V. There's not much hockey on, but what is on is still too much. I'd like to see more gymnastics competition."

Darrell Beck of St. Johns: "There's about the right amount. Sometimes I'd like to watch a particular game that isn't shown. Golf and tennis are about the only two sports that I don't watch."

Paul Loomis of St. Johns: "Compared to good family entertainment viewing, there's too much. I've got nothing against sports. I watch football, it's just that there is too much sports compared to family viewing."

Pat Beck of St. Johns: "I won't say there is too much. I can always turn it off. There should be less boxing coverage. There should be less boxing period."

Paul Jopke of St. Johns: "There is just about the right amount. I don't know of any sports I'd like to see less of. Maybe a 'little' less football. The season is quite long. I'd enjoy more hunting and fishing on T.V."

SSG Ron Polk of St. Johns, U.S. Marine Recruiting office: "I figure there is the right amount. I'd like to see more boxing and horse racing. I'd like less coverage of baseball. There is also too much golf on T.V. There should be more movies in place of golf."

Jaycees make change

The St. Johns Jaycees would like to announce a change in the format of the softball tournament held July 11, 12, and 13, for St. Johns youth baseball.

The tournament will be a 15-team, three division round robin. The top three teams will have a double elimination for the championship.

Please contact Glen Durfee at 224-8463 or Don Koenigs-knecht at 224-8680 for more information.

Mike Belen letters

A Pewamo-Westphalia High School graduate, Mike Belen, was recently presented a 1980 varsity letter for his performance on the Western Michigan University golf team.

The freshman was one of seven members presented with varsity letters. Belen averaged 80.0 for his 12 rounds of competition, with a low score of 76.

One Man's Views

By Tim Jeffery

and Tommy Hearn's? The Aug. 2 fight at Detroit's Joe Louis Arena has the choice seats priced at $500 apiece.
 How can anyone pay that much money to see an event that could end in two minutes? Hearn's has been destroying all his opponents as of late. Chances are Cuevas will give him a tough challenge considering Cuevas holds the title. Should Hearn's win this fight, Roberto Duran probably will be next.

Each time I watch a Yankee game, Jim Spencer's contract clause enters my mind.
 Spencer, New York's part-time first baseman, has it written in his pact that he must play against all right handed pitching if he so desires.

A check of the statistics shows the left handed swinger carrying a .230 average with 27 runs batted in. He is normally an excellent fielder, but even his glove has been sub par this season.

The Yankees are blessed with an outstanding bench, but in this case Manager Dick Howser can't do it his way. He must play Spencer against right handers. It's no wonder we are always reading about the bickering in the New York clubhouse.

Few people outside of Houston seem to have been paying much attention to the Astros. Come October we may be seeing our share of Bill Virdon's ball club.

The Astros have at least five players who may steal 30 bases. However offense isn't the strong point on this team.

Their pitching staff is by far the best in baseball. To support the Houston hurlers, the defense has the league's best fielding percentage.

Ask any manager what three ingredients he ranks as being most important for a winning team. Chances are he'll tell you pitching, defense and team speed.

Personally I like the looks of this Astro ball club and expect to see them against the Kansas City Royals in the World Series.

Hopefully cable television will be available in the county very soon. Two of the channels on my cable will be televising Canadian Football League games in the upcoming season.

It's not that I'm a fan of the CFL, but that I'm looking forward to seeing Dan Bass perform in the pro ranks. Bass has chosen to play his pro ball north of the border. Undoubtedly several fans in the area hope to get a chance to see the former Bath and MSU standout continue his career.

Did you happen to catch the price of ringside seats for the upcoming Welterweight bout between Pipino Cuevas

LEGAL NOTICES

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Clinton County Planning Commission will conduct a public hearing on Wednesday, July 9, 1980 at 8:00 p.m. in the Board of Commissioners Room, Clinton County Courthouse, St. Johns, Michigan.

The subject of the public hearing will be the consideration of the following amendments or OR-1-78, the Clinton County Zoning Ordinance, as amended.

1. OLD BUSINESS: The NW 1/4 of NW 1/4 of Sec. 12, T6N-R2W, Olive Twp., Clinton County, MI being all that part of the said 1/2 of SW 1/4 of Sec. 1 lying South of Clinton County Hwy. No. 42.

The rezoning, if approved, would change the status of the existing industrial Phosphating Company from a legal nonconforming use to a conforming use.

CASE No. ZC-8-80 Text Amendment This case was approved on May 27, 1980 by the Clinton County Board of Commissioners but was not processed through the State of Michigan, Department of Natural Resources for approval due to a clerical error.

The previous legal notice represented that metal finishing operations would be permitted under special conditions in the M-1, Light Industrial zone district.

The proposed text amendment should read: Amend Article 6, Section 6.16.2 Uses Permitted by Right by adding (Z)

Z. Metal plating, heat treating, phosphating, painting and other associated metal finishing operations.

Amend Article 6, Section 6.16.4 Performance Standards by adding (K) (L) (M)

K. Other Forms of Air Pollution: It shall be unlawful to discharge into the atmosphere any substance not covered in parts C, D and H, and in excess of standards approved by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

L. Liquid or Solid Wastes. It shall be unlawful to discharge at any point any materials in such a way or of such nature or temperature as can contaminate any surface waters, land or aquifers, or otherwise cause the emission of dangerous or objectionable elements, except in accord with the standards approved by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

M. Hazardous Wastes. Hazardous wastes as defined by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources shall be disposed of by methods approved by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

The text amendment, if approved, would allow the above referenced metal finishing operations by right in the M-1, Light Industrial Zone District. Secondly, the amendment would require all uses to meet the above delineated performance standards.

The amendment applications and OR-1-78, the Clinton County Zoning Ordinance and zoning map are available for public inspection in the Department of Development Control located in the Clinton County Service Center, 305 Elm Street, St. Johns, Michigan during the hours of 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. Please call AC(517)224-6761 Ext. 221 for further information. Interested persons are requested to attend and voice their opinions thereto or written comments may be submitted to the Department prior to the public hearing and will become part of the hearing record.

Follow recipe carefully when making jam

Questions and Answers

Here are some common questions we received in the office about jams and jellies. When making these products it is important to follow a reliable recipe carefully, measure ingredients, never cut down on the amount of sugar a recipe calls for and never double a recipe.

Q. Can jelly glasses or canning jars used for jams and jellies be sterilized in the dishwasher?

A. No. Jars must be sterilized in boiling water for 10 minutes. The water in your dishwasher may be very hot, but it won't be boiling hot.

Q. What can be done to make soft jams and jellies firmer?

A. It is not always possible to remake soft jams and jellies so that the product will be satisfactory.

Q. Can ordinary cooked jams and jellies be frozen successfully?

A. Yes. Cover them with tight-fitting lids. The color, flavor and texture of jams and jellies stored in the freezer are excellent.

Q. What should be done if jams or jellies come unsealed during storage?

A. To keep mold from growing, cover the product with a tight-fitting lid and refrigerate or freeze.

Q. How long can powdered or liquid pectin be stored?

A. Pectin should be stored in a cool, dry place so that it will keep its gel strength. It should not be held over from one year to another.

Caution—In a women's magazine this month, directions for canning okra and squash by the open kettle method without any heat processing were issued. These vegetables are low acid and require a pressure canning process. The 6 tablespoons of vinegar and 2 1/2 tablespoons of salt per gallon of water is not sufficient to treat these as pickled products. A retraction from this magazine will follow in their next issue.

Elsie Woman's Club tours Battle Creek

By Neva Keys Elsie

A busload of 48 members and friends of the Elsie Woman's Literary Club recently enjoyed a trip to Battle Creek where they saw how ready-to-eat cereals are made in the five decades since the Kellogg Co. plant tours were started.

In 1906 Mr. Kellogg invested much time and energy into developing foods from corn, rice, wheat and oats. There are now over twenty ready-to-eat cereals made by Kelloggs.

After viewing the beautifully landscaped area around the buildings, the ladies departed, each carrying a large box of cornflakes and other souvenirs.

The next stop was Turkeyville, U.S.A., north of Marshall, where they relaxed and enjoyed a luncheon at Cornwell's Turkey House, its large dining room, picnic tables in the beautiful surroundings, an ice cream parlor and the barn across the road full of antiques and the granary now a gift shop full of hand-crafted items.

Arrangements for the trip were planned by Mrs. Jill Sloat and Mrs. Janet Betts. The club women look forward to the bus trip which is becoming an annual event.

By Neva Keys Seventy Debar relatives gathered at the Vern Somers Farm on Sunday, June 16, with Ray and Linda Angell and family as hosts. They spent the day reminiscing and picture taking.

Bing and Betty (Brown) Debar and Louise (Debar) Cook and Orlo H. Cook celebrated their 40th anniversary that day also. All fathers were honored for their special day.

100 pages added to county history book

Clinton County's historical book has just gone up in price not because inflation, but rather it has had over 100 more pages added to the original amount planned.

The original plans were for the book to contain 700 pages, now it is reaching the 800 mark. This is because the amount of family histories have almost doubled and many more interesting things have been found, along with letters of remembrance sent in from people in the county who have seen the changes take place.

Mrs. Betty Moore, of the Clinton County Historical Society explained. "The original plans were for the book to contain 700 pages, now it is reaching the 800 mark. This is because the amount of family histories have almost doubled and many more interesting things have been found, along with letters of remembrance sent in from people in the county who have seen the changes take place."

Mrs. Moore explained that those who have already ordered their books will not have to pay the extra. Those who are thinking of purchasing this book should do so now. In September after the first printing, the price will be raised to $40.50. Another advantage of ordering your book now is that you can have your name embossed in the cover, and it will be numbered as it comes off of the press.

You can call Mrs. Betty Moore at 224-2025, Mrs. Hila Bross at 224-4576, or Mrs. Jean Martin at 224-3660, to order a 1980 History Book.

Rural-Urban Tour set

July 19 is the date set for the annual Farm Bureau Rural-Urban Tour. Making arrangements for this year's event will be the Young Farmer Committee.

The county board of directors and Young Farmers will invite guest families to bring about a closer understanding between the farm and city sectors.

Tentative plans call for two farming operations to be visited. The first will be the David Morris beef operation located in Eagle Township just south of I-96. The second stop will be at the Melvin Gibson farm on Chadwick Road. Gibson raises among other cash crops a fair amount of pickling cucumbers.

A noon picnic featuring a pig roast will take place on the Gibson farm followed by a short program. A slide presentation entitled the "Great American Farmer" will be shown and children will be entertained with games and other activities.

Young Farmer Committee members include Mr. and Mrs. Alan Moore, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Pettigrew; Mr. and Mrs. Keith Foote; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Woodhams; Mr. and Mrs. Doug Brook; Mr. and Mrs. Dave Seeger; and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Webster.

Young photographers to compete

Budding young Clinton County photographers are eligible to compete in the 1980 4-H Photography Exhibition. They may even be selected to participate in the National 4-H Photo Exhibit to be held during National 4-H Congress in Chicago this November.

The purposes of the exhibition programs are to give young people a chance to show off their photography skills and to acquaint the general public with the many opportunities young people can take advantage of through the 4-H program.

Interested Clinton County 4-H'ers are allowed up to 10 entries per person. All photos must be mounted on 11 x 14-inch matte boards, and prints may be no larger than 8 x 10 inches.

Black and white prints, color prints and color slides may be entered. Slides do not have to be mounted or accompanied by a print enlargement. But prints must be accompanied by the negatives or transparencies from which the prints were made.

Either a single shot or a photo story—a collection of 4 to 12 pictures that tell a story—may be entered. All entries must be clearly identified with the photographer's name, address, county, age, years in 4-H, years in the photography project, and the month and year the photograph was taken. All photos must have been taken after June 1, 1979.

Judging will take place during the Michigan 4-H Livestock Expo, Aug. 18-21, at MSU. A committee of qualified photographers will review the entries and select four to represent Michigan this fall at the National 4-H Photo Exhibition sponsored by Eastman Kodak Co.

For more information about exhibit rules and guidelines or any other 4-H program or activity contact the Extension office at 224-3288.

AT 55th REUNION

Class of '25 looks backward

St. Johns

Backward, turn backward, O Time, in your flight, Make me a child again just for tonight!

Elizabeth Akers Allen
Rock Me to Sleep (1860)

These familiar words must have been in the hearts of the members of the Class of 1925, St. Johns High School, as they gathered for their 55th reunion on June 14 in the banquet room of the House of Beef.

This was the first class to graduate from the Rodney B. Wilson High School, which opened in the spring of 1925.

The 23 members of the class, along with their spouses, enjoyed a full afternoon of reminiscing, as well as looking at pictures and other mementoes of the years 1921-1925. Included in the group were a number of people who began high school in 1921 and then left for various reasons to graduate elsewhere or to go to work.

Invitations had previously been sent to everyone known to have been enrolled in the freshman class in September 1921. A total of 57 people attended. The program for the commencement on June 18, 1925, listed 58 names, with the class officers being president, Robert Scott; vice-president, Margaret Huey; Lloyd Stoerck and Wilma Green, secretary and treasurer. The valedictorian was Helen Osborn, and the salutatorian was Robert Scott.

Culminating the afternoon of visiting and touring the Rodney B. Wilson School and the historical museum was the dinner served at 4 p.m. The guests found at their places souvenir napkins and key chains noting "The S.J.H.S. Class of 1925".

Before dining, the class observed a moment's silence in memory of the classmates who have died since the last reunion in 1975: Hazel Kentfield, Helen Osborn, Carson Scoggins, Glendon Fitzpatrick, and William Rice.

After the dinner Francis Barnhart acted as master of ceremonies and thanked his committee, Margaret Andrews Puetz and Milo Burl, for the help they had given him in making the arrangements for the affair. He then introduced Esther Pratt Rochester and her husband from Chula Vista, Calif., who were celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary on this day.

Mr and Mrs Rochester were presented with a decorative planter in honor of the occasion.

Next Barnhart introduced St. Johns Mayor John Arehart and his wife, who had been invited as special guests. Mayor Arehart complimented the class on its many civic contributions and professional accomplishments along with its loyalty as members of the first class graduating from Rodney B. Wilson. In so doing he presented the class with a framed declaration naming June 14, 1980, as "Rodney B. Wilson Class of 1925 Day". He also gave a very interesting history of St. Johns public schools, beginning with the first class which was taught in a blacksmith shop in 1856 up to the present new St. Johns High School.

Next, vice-president Margaret Huey took the opportunity of thanking Lloyd Atkinson and his wife, Mildred, for their efforts in organizing the 50th reunion of 1975. Without their work five years ago, probably the present reunion would not have been possible. Miss Huey presented the Atkinsons with a planter in appreciation of all they have done.

As the final event of the afternoon Barnhart addressed the class. He reviewed the historical highlights since 1925. In conclusion he appointed a committee to give a 56th reunion in 1981.

Besides local area people attending, others were here from outstate Michigan, Illinois, Pennsylvania and California.

Dilts, Nellie Soper McDaniel, Naoma Ballinger Rahl, Ione Reed Churches, Glenna Brown Plunkett, Frances Ike Luther, Margaret Andrews Puetz, Helen Flynn Young, (back row) Milo Burl, O.M. Pearl, Bob Gilson, Lawrence Kuhns, Lloyd Atkinson, Warren Coffman, E. Reed Vincent, Sidney Keys, Maurice Stead, Gale Boron and Francis Barnhart.

Elsie girl at camp

Angie Suttom of 6757 N. Warren, Elsie is attending the American Lung Association's Camp Sun Deer from June 29 to July 5 near Battle Creek. A total of 50 children, ages 9 to 12, are enrolled from various parts of the state.

The camp is a free lung association community service for children with asthma for whom summer camp is normally out of the question.

"Many asthmatic children are unable to attend regular camps. Most camps do not have adequate medical personnel to handle the special complications often arising as an asthmatic engages in vigorous exercise or is exposed to a number of allergens. Camp Sun Deer provides all of the activities of a regular camp with the additional medical support necessary to treat asthma episodes. Campers, then, will be able to participate fully in all camp programs," said George Polgar, MD, director of respiratory disease at Children's Hospital of Michigan, Detroit.

The support of contributors to the American Lung Association of Michigan's Christmas Seal Campaign and other fund raisers has enabled the American Lung Association of Michigan to offer camperships free of charge. The camp is sponsored by the Michigan Society of Respiratory Therapy and the Michigan Thoracic Society.

Ovid class of '29 holds reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hallead of 608 S. Traver Street in St. Johns opened their home for the 42nd reunion of the Ovid High School Class of 1929.

The class has met forty-two of the fifty-one years since graduation.

Of the twenty-eight members in the graduating class twelve were present with their families. Twenty-two people sat down to a potluck dinner at 1 p.m.

The guests came from Midland, Saginaw, Grand Rapids, New Lothrop, Corunna, Grand Haven and the surrounding area.

The following officers were elected for 1981: president, Russell Tucker; vice-president, Alberta Serr; and secretary-treasurer, Phyllis Hallead. The 1981 reunion will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Colf of rural St. Johns.
