Happy Thanksgiving, 1981

East Essex Elementary School's first graders relived some of the experiences of the Pilgrims in special activities this week. Melissa Sheldon and Norman Holm knew the country's first settlers were thankful for the help given them by the Indians and that they said a special thanksgiving prayer. Brooke Thelen (right) takes us back in time, looking very much like a Pilgrim child, dressed in the paper garb the students made with the help of teacher Alice Thelen. (Photos by David Olds)

Stull parents settle lawsuit out of court

By SUE KILEY WHITE

In a surprise 11th hour move, Leonard and Betty Stull agreed to an out-of-court settlement of $100,000 Saturday, rather than proceed with a $7.6 million lawsuit against Clinton County Sheriff Anthony Hufnagel and nine of his officers. The trial was scheduled for Monday in Kalamazoo.

The Stulls, formerly of Bath, were seeking damages against Clinton County for the June 21, 1977 death of their son, Spencer, after he was shot and killed by a county deputy. They filed the suit in a Grand Rapids federal court in 1979.

The settlement case was heard in Clinton County Probate Judge Marvin Robertson's court on Monday because it involved Spencer's estate.

One-third of the $100,000 was awarded to the Stull's attorney, Jonathan Maire of Lansing. There were also legal costs of $8,655. The remaining $58,014 was split evenly between the parents as ordered by Judge Robertson.

"The Stulls weren't after the money," said Maire when questioned why his clients settled for so much less than the original suit had asked. "They wanted what happened to their son publicly aired and they wanted vindication."

The suit was filed, according to Maire not because the Stulls charged Clinton County officers with Spencer's death, rather they felt his rights had been violated.

Jon Newman, Clinton County Prosecuting Attorney had mixed emotions about the out-of-court settlement reached between the Stull's attorney and Farm Bureau Insurance Group who held the county's liability at the time of the incident.

Appeal board loses power

By DAVID THOMAS

Never again will the Clinton County Board of Commissioners be overruled by their zoning appeal board on the subject of special use permits.

With the ghost of this fall's Granger Landfill battle lurking ominously in the background, commissioners unanimously voted Tuesday to delete two sections of the Clinton County Zoning Ordinance which allowed the zoning board to "review any properly filed appeal from action by the Clinton County Board of Commissioners on a request for a special use permit . . ."

Future appeals must be taken to circuit court, according to Jack Nelson, director of the county's developmental control department.

Still angered by having their approval of a special use permit to expand the existing Granger Landfill site overturned, the board of commissioners in early October requested the Clinton County Planning Commission to review sections of the county zoning ordinance that pertains to the appeal board's special use permit authority. On November 5 the planning commission unanimously recommended stripping the appeals board of its responsibilities related to special use permits.

In another zoning matter the commissioners unanimously approved a request by Lloyd E. Moody to rezone 3.5 acres of Eagle Township land near the southwest corner of M-100 and Grand River Highway from agricultural to commercial. Moody plans to restore an abandoned barn for use as a farm market.

Commissioners also approved a request by several Ovid Township residents to rezone their property from light industrial to residential in order to conform with existing land use. The property is located south of the Grand Trunk Railroad and west of the village limits of Ovid.

Both zoning requests had earlier been approved by the planning commission at their Nov. 5 meeting. The liveliest exchanges of the day were centered around the commissioners' decision to contract with a private firm for janitorial services for the courthouse resulting in the layoff of three county employees. Circuit Court Magistrate Gordon Willyoung told the commissioners that he had contacted different county offices and had found that virtually everyone was satisfied with the current level of janitorial service.

"Other places have had nothing but trouble when they contracted (for outside services)," he maintained.

Willyoung argued that contractual janitorial services would jeopardize office security.

"We're going to have strangers going into our offices where official records are kept," he pointed out.

Willyoung also expressed concern for the three employees who would eventually be laid off.

"Future appeals must be taken to circuit court:" Nelson

"You're kicking out employees who've been here nine years . . . better consideration should be given some of these employees," he said. "I can't see where you're going to save any money. The county must now pay unemployment."

In spite of Willyoung's objections, commissioners moved ahead to finalize arrangements for contractual services for custodial work in the courthouse. By a 9 to 2 vote the board awarded a bid for janitorial services in the amount of $98,024 for three years to P. J. S. Commercial Corp. of DeWitt. Commissioners Harold Martin and Richard DePond voted against the action.

P. J. S. Commercial Corp. was actually underbid by both Verliger Janitorial Service of Lansing and R. L. P. Construction Co. of St. Johns. R. L. P. was eliminated from consideration when county officials were unable to locate the firm either by phone or mail. Verliger was considered by some of the commissioners to be too inexperienced as it is still a part-time operation. Martin announced he favored awarding the bid to Verliger.

The three county employees currently providing janitorial services to the county will be laid off effective December 31.

Commissioners also accepted a low bid from Custom Upholstery of St. Johns in the amount of $841.12 for the recovering of 14 chairs in the Board of Commissioners' Room. Custom is owned by former commissioner Elaine Brockmyre.

Cash dividends up at CNB

The Board of Directors of Central National Bank of St. Johns recently approved a $1 per share cash dividend payable on Jan. 8, 1982 and in addition recommended a 5 percent stock dividend.

Central National Bank currently has 100,191 common stock shares outstanding, which will result in a cash distribution to its shareholders of $100,191. This cash dividend is 10 percent greater than the amount paid last year. The bank continues to show satisfactory earnings and is presently holding assets in excess of $60 million, a recent news release reports.

Albosta selected to agriculture committee

Rep. Don Albosta (D-Michigan Tenth) has been selected by the Democratic Steering and Policy Committee to fill a vacancy on the House Agriculture Committee.

This appointment will make Albosta the first Michigan Congressman on the committee in 15 years. A Saginaw County farmer, Albosta is the only farmer in the current Michigan delegation.

The appointment must still be ratified by both the Democratic Caucus and the full House of Representatives in December. Both groups normally approve appointments of the steering and policy committee.

Albosta has been active in agricultural issues, including the 1981 Farm Bill. He currently has pending legislation which would establish a national grain elevator insurance fund.

Construction is underway at the Southpoint Mall site on US-27 where a Shop Rite grocery store is expected to open this spring. The mall project is spearheaded by Gordon Long of Long Development, Inc. of the Lansing area. Featured are a strip mall with a covered walkway, a freestanding retail building, a professional office building and the grocery store.

A mall for St. Johns: back in business

By SHARON RANDALL

Saying that he had come to St. Johns to contribute to the community, provide jobs and make a profit, Gordon Long called his Southpoint Mall project "an opportunity that presented itself" when speaking at a gathering of business and civic leaders last week.

He expects the mall to generate 1,000 jobs as stores open up.

Construction at the mall site on US-27 on the south side of St. Johns started up again several weeks ago. Long expects most of the project to be completed by July but will be ready for his second large tenant, a Shop Rite market, sometime this spring.

Financing difficulties brought a previous mall project at the site to a halt a little over a year ago, but with some major changes to meet tenant and financing requirements and a transfer of Economic Development Corporation (EDC) approvals, Long managed to obtain financing in record time. Changes at the site included the purchase of some additional land along the mall's northwest end to provide for a freestanding retail building and additional parking.

A Fishers Big Wheel department store is already in operation at Southpoint, the only building completed in the previous mall project. Long considers the Fishers store a key to Southpoint's success.

Founder of Long Developers of Lansing, Long's other developments include mall projects in both Lansing and southern Clinton County.

Introducing Long at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon last week, Paul McNamara, Clinton Memorial Hospital administrator, called him "Lansing's third largest taxpayer."

"When he says he's going to do something he gets it done," McNamara said. "I'm glad to have a person of this caliber involved in a project of this magnitude in our community. I can assure you that the project will be completed and a credit to the community."

The Southpoint Shop Rite is being leased by Walter Goff of Lansing who owns Shop Rite stores at Lansing's Carriage Hills and in Haslett. He said the store's footings have been poured and steel is expected to go up by December 12. "Our store is absolutely going to be beautiful," he said. Planned for the 25,000 square foot store are a bakery, deli, floral department, customer lounge and fast bottle return area.

Goff said he expects to hire 100 full and part-time employees, most from the St. Johns area.

While most of the other retail areas won't be completed until July, Long said he was willing to sign leases right now. Most of the space in the strip mall will rent for about $7.50 to $8.50 a square foot, he said. While he didn't announce any more tenants last week, Long said that he would be in a position to announce several more in about two weeks.

His leasing agents have been looking for small national retailers, he said.

Southpoint expects to attract drug, hardware, and clothing stores. Other potential businesses could include furniture, clothing, travel, shoes, laundry, books, gifts, camera, jewelry, leather, pet, music, appliance, fabric, sports, and a beauty and barber shop, Long said. He anticipates 41 stores, but said the number will vary depending upon sizes. Also in the plans is a 500 seat theatre.

Long said that studies have shown that 50 to 60 percent of the area's shopping dollars are going to Lansing. "We think we can generate the traffic and interest to keep some of those dollars here," he said. The mall is expected to draw people from up to 20 miles away, Long said. "There's nothing of this magnitude within 25 miles around. Our basic premise is to get people to shop closer to home."

Long called Southpoint an "excellent site at an excellent location" and said while some of the mall's planned stores would duplicate some already here, he didn't think competition was bad. "It's a positive thing to have growth in a community," he said. "We want to be part of this community. We will be among you. We want to work together."

Bob Ott will be hard to replace

The city of St. Johns is exploring alternatives for filling the vacancy to be left in the police department when Sgt. Bob Ott retires in December.

Ott who has been with the city police for 35 years, is a jack-of-all-trades according to City Manager Randy Humphrey. At a special city commission meeting earlier this month Humphrey told commissioners that Ott's position with the city was "truly unique" and that he would never really be replaced.

He is city parking officer and public relations person, having complete charge of the parking meters, including maintenance, repair and collection. He is officer in charge of bad checks, code enforcement, weeds and junk cars and is in charge of liquor license inspections. It is Sgt. Ott who fills in for school crossing guards on an emergency basis. He also oversees the city's parking lots.

Ott's duties over the years have evolved to encompass his talents and abilities for dealing with the public. He has also been an untiring volunteer in special city projects and instrumented construction of two large parking lots in the downtown area including a most recent one on Spring Street which was named for him.

Humphrey suggested to commissioners that Ott be replaced by a certified

City directory tells all

Delivery of the new 1981 city directory has started in St. Johns according to an announcement by the R. L. Polk and Co. of Taylor who publish the biennial report.

Local subscribers will find four major departments in this year's book along with an introduction and statistical and general review information on the community.

A classified section contains a complete list of the names and addresses of business and professional concerns arranged in alphabetical order under their appropriate classified headings.

The alphabetical section of the directory shows the name, marital status, occupation and address of each resident of the St. Johns area, 18 years of age or older. Additionally telephone numbers supplied by the residents are shown. Each business is listed and includes the name of officers, owners or managers, kind of business and address.

The third section is the directory of householders and businesses. This section lists the numbered streets in numerical order followed by the named streets in alphabetical order. The residents and businesses on every street are shown along with the listed telephone number at each address. New neighbors are identified by a star. Intersecting streets are shown.

The numerical telephone directory is the last major section of the book. Telephones are listed in numerical order with the individual or business who has the number listed alongside.

A rural route directory is also included in the directory.

St. Johns city officials say Sgt. Robert Ott will be very hard to replace when he retires in December. Last week the Chamber of Commerce awarded Ott a special plaque for his 35 years of service to the community. (Photo by David Olds.)

Vigil Zeeb named special Rotary fellow

Deserving fellow

Virgil Zeeb was honored earlier this month by his fellow Rotarians. Presenting the special national award was Al Dean, right. (Photo by Charles Coletta)

Virgil Zeeb has been named a Paul Harris Fellow by the St. Johns Rotary Club. This highly cherished award is given to only a select group of Rotarians throughout the world.

Zeeb has been very active in Rotary projects and community activities and his selection was unanimous. "Virg gave his support quietly with little or no thought of credit to himself," explained fellow Rotarian, Charles Coletta. "He has served with distinction as president of Rotary and has worked diligently on any committee to which he was assigned," Coletta said.

At the annual July 4th celebration, sponsored by Rotary, Zeeb provided, erected and disassembled the food stand, which is also offered for use by other civic organizations.

He provided manpower and material for both the Rotary pavilion at the city park, last year and the first lighted baseball field at the Little League park, 10 years ago and again this year.

Zeeb is one of the first St. Johns residents to offer equipment and manpower for the annual installation of the city's Christmas decorations.

His interests in 4-H activities have known no bounds, Coletta said. "His countless acts of support are almost impossible to recount. He is always at the forefront to volunteer aid, a dedicated believer in the Rotary motto, "Service above Self."

IRS has checks to give away

The Internal Revenue Service is trying to locate some area residents who are due a tax refund from their 1980 federal income tax returns.

According to the IRS, 1,390 refund checks worth more than $650,000 were returned by the Postal Service as undeliverable in Michigan. The refund checks are for both individuals and businesses.

IRS believes the taxpayers may have moved or changed their last names during the year and failed to notify the IRS. On others, the handwriting may simply be illegible.

When a refund is returned by the Postal Service, the IRS attempts to find the taxpayer and deliver the checks, but there are always some who cannot be found. If you think you were due a refund from your federal tax return but have not used it, contact the IRS.

Taxpayers in this area who the IRS has not been able to find include:

Phillip B. and Norma L. Knight, St. Johns; Barbara Lee, St. Johns and Jeffrey Winegardner of Jeff's Centennial Market, DeWitt.

Southern Clinton County Lansing addresses include Contractors Leasing Corporation, Interstate Aviation Inc., Linda Jo Haney, Abelardo Gomez, Albert Kuebler, Lori Kuebler and Dennis Dale Little.

Two men injured in auto accident

Two Laingsburg men were seriously injured when the car they were riding in Nov. 18 failed to negotiate a curve on Round Lake Road, one-half mile west of Chandler Road, and overturned, Clinton County Sheriff deputies report.

The driver of the vehicle, Karl Schlicher, 18, of 9260 Garrison, and his passenger, Nick Davis, 18, of Alward Road, were both taken to Sparrow Hospital. In their report, deputies noted the vehicle was traveling at a high rate of speed, failed to negotiate a turn, slid sideways and overturned.

A St. Johns man was seriously injured Nov. 16 when the vehicle he was driving ran into the rear-end of a slow moving vehicle on US-27, one-half mile north of Walker Road, deputies said.

Mark Saxton, 30, of 4596 Townsend Road, was taken to Clinton Memorial Hospital.

Roscoe Rathburn, 74, of Lowe Road, St. Johns, the driver of the other vehicle was not injured.

Gordon Yerke of 13720 Summer Lane in Watertown Township reported a 15-foot Aero-Craft canoe was stolen Nov. 21, deputies said. The canoe is valued at $300.

Man arrested

A Lansing man was charged with two counts of larceny from a building and was arrested by the Clinton County Detective Bureau Nov. 19, St. Johns City Police officials report.

Arrested was Jeffrey Reitz, 19, of 3730 N. East St., Lansing.

Reitz is charged with stealing three microphones and cords from the First Baptist Church in St. Johns between Sept. 23 and 24 and stealing one microphone and cord from the First Assembly of God Church in St. Johns on Sept. 30, St. Johns police officials said.

County youth sweep state with 4-H photos

Prize photo

Clinton County 4-H photographers have walked away with the state honors again in the eighth annual National 4-H Photo Exhibit, sponsored by Eastman Kodak Company. Pictures by four county young people have been chosen to represent Michigan in the national show.

Made up of no more than four pictures from each state, the exhibit will be shown for the first time at the annual 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 29 - Dec. 3, and will be on display at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D.C. next year.

Bill R. Dershem, 11, 1132 E. Maple Rapids Road, St. Johns, is represented in the exhibit by "Lunch Time," a close-up shot of a mother bird feeding her young.

He feels that more young people are interested in photography because they have their own cameras. Bill is the son of William and Janet Dershem.

A picture story was entered into the exhibit by 15-year-old Todd Rohrbach. His entry is entitled "Balloon, Balloons, Balloons!" He explained that he took the pictures because, "I thought it would be a very colorful, interesting and informing photo story."

Todd thinks that photography has become popular with young people because there are more opportunities for a career in the photographic area. He is the son of Cal and Jan Rohrbach, 2008 E. Steel Rd., St. Johns.

Tom, 15, and his friend Brian Tank had captured a butterfly that Tom was going to use in a posed picture with a small child. When the butterfly crawled up Brian's cheek, Tom couldn't resist.

Dave Vanek, 14, son of Dennis and Judy Vanek of 5209 Cutler Rd., DeWitt is represented in this year's exhibit by a picture series showing how a young boy becomes a rodeo champion.

Divorce, discipline problems go hand in hand

By NANCY ZEIMEN

The effect of divorce on children and discipline was recently discussed by Terry Cornwell, an elementary school counselor for the St. Johns school system, at "Survival on Your Own," a series of classes sponsored by Family Living Education of the MSU Cooperative Extension Service.

That they will be abandoned is the most prevalent fear children whose parents are getting a divorce feel. Bringing this fear out into the open with their children, is the best way for parents to relieve it. Admitting that it is normal to feel this way and that other children in similar circumstances feel it, too, is also helpful, Cornwell said.

Knowing that mom and dad have stopped loving each other and wondering if they will stop loving the child is another common feeling children have. Children will tend to blame themselves for their parent's divorce, he said.

Cornwell said children need to know their parents are divorcing each other, not their children. To help do this, and explanation of different kinds of love like the kind felt between a husband and a wife and that felt by a parent toward a child should be discussed.

During a divorce, discipline is one of the first things to break down, said Cornwell. The reason for this, he said, is that children can manipulate and play one parent against the other.

Cornwell said that during this time, more than ever, kids need discipline. It gives them a sense of security. Consistency is the main key, though.

If a child understands the rules and what to expect if the rules are broken and the parent follows through, then the child can count on that, said Cornwell.

Four guidelines for steering children through this upsetting time and maintaining discipline were offered by Cornwell.

First, disapproval should be reserved for actions, not the child himself. Don't disapprove of who a child is, but instead disapprove of his actions. Try "I don't like it when you do that," instead of "I don't like you when you do that," said Cornwell. Labels can turn into self-fulfilling prophecies because children act out their own self-image, Cornwell said. They will live up to a parent's expectations, good or bad. Cornwell advises parents to try and separate the child from his behavior.

Second, Cornwell advises parents to give attention to their child's good behavior.

Third, parents need to listen to what their children have to say and reassure them that they hear them and understand their feelings. Cornwell said this is necessary even if a parent doesn't agree with the child.

Fourth, make punishment swift, fair and related to the offense, said Cornwell. Keep rules simple. Parents should throw out the rules they won't enforce. Setting ground rules and enforcing them, will do more good than lecturing or warning, said Cornwell.

When going through the process of divorce, and struggling with pain, it's hard for parents to meet their children's needs, but community resources are available to help, he said.

Fowler school changes hot lunch program

By SUE KILEY WHITE

Faced with decreased student participation and less federal money, the Fowler Board of Education made some radical changes in its hot lunch program Monday night.

At the board's last meeting they voted to terminate the services of Canteen Food Services of Grand Rapids, an outside cafeteria firm which has been handling the hot lunch program since the beginning of the school year.

Monday night, they put Mary Ann Chartrand, Waldron Elementary School principal in charge of the program.

According to Gary Jackson, superintendent, there were a lot of factors involved in making the decision. First, only 235 students eat hot lunch. This is less than half of the meals that were served last year. Second, Jackson estimates the school system will lose approximately $18,500 in federal monies in the food program this year.

Other factors include loss of reimbursement from the government for milk and less commodities available to the school.

"I certainly can't blame Canteen for the lack of participation," said Jackson. "I think it's impossible for anyone to bring us out from this deficit."

Lunch prices were raised 10 cents in the elementary and middle schools this year and five cents in the high school. Hot lunches cost 75 cents, 80 cents and 90 cents respectively in the three Fowler schools.

Last year the hot lunch program lost $23,000 even though the school was being reimbursed 16 and one-half cents per meal as compared to the 10 and one-half cents being paid this year.

"The principal purpose for contracting with an outside service was to get us out of a deficit situation," said Jackson. "Based on their performance in other places we thought we could do it. However, this year is different from other years...we've lost a great deal."

Ms. Chartrand agreed to take over the hot lunch program provided she was given additional aide time and extra secretarial help.

Board members questioned Jackson about an additional $750 for administrative services tacked onto Canteen's bill of $650 per month plus two cents per meal. According to board members they were unaware of the $750 fee and claim the amount was not in the contract.

The board decided to "hold off" on anymore payments to the firm until a legal determination is made as to the board's liability.

Jackson noted the $750 figure was listed in a brochure, although the actual dollar amount was not specified in the contract.

"If you (Jackson) knew we had to pay two costs, how did you think it would get us out of the red?" questioned Trustee Ruth Feldpausch.

"By having increased participation (in the program)," answered Jackson.

Fowler shared Canteen Services with the Fulton School system on a 50-50 basis. However, board members voiced concern that they were not receiving their share of the time.

Superintendent Jackson was told to keep track of how much time was spent at the Fowler Schools by Canteen and report back at the next meeting. He was also ordered to check with the school's attorney on the legal aspects of withholding payment from the food company.

Throughout the meeting there were tense moments between members of the board and the superintendent. Several times during the evening George Martin, board president made reference to Jackson not doing his job. Jackson finally retaliated by saying, "You can't make those kinds of accusations before the public without substantiating them," he said. "You prove how I haven't been doing my job."

Martin refused to substantiate his statements by saying, "I could show many instances, but I won't at this time."

In other action the board voted to:
- accept the resignation of Katherine DeBusschere, art teacher and not fill the position in an effort to save money.

- tabled a fund raising idea of Jackson's to raise money for the district.
- and accepted three tuition students.

Sugar Babe joins diabetes club

Diabetes," at their Tuesday, Dec. 8 meeting.

He's "Sugar Babe," an educational doll used for teaching diabetics the proper method of injecting insulin.

Diabetics of all ages and interested family members are invited to attend the meeting in the Clinton Memorial Conference Room at 7:30 p.m. to meet "Sugar Babe."

The special doll was donated to the hospital by the Lansing Club of the Telephone Pioneers of America, an organization of men and women who have been engaged in the telephone industry in the United States or Canada for 18 years or more.

"Sugar Babe" came to Clinton Memorial from the Lansing Club through contacts the hospital had with the New England Deaconess School of Nursing, the alma mater of Clinton's Barbara Bandt, R.N., who is the Diabetes Nurse Educator. Ms. Bandt had read about the Telephone Pioneers new project, a special doll marked on the arms, legs, buttocks and abdomen with red dots to show insulin injection sites, in her college newsletter. When the Boston group was contacted, they turned the request over to their Lansing branch.

"Sugar Babe" is 18 inches high and has soft, life-like polyvinyl skin that can be pierced by a hypodermic needle. It will be invaluable to nurses for teaching diabetic care, Ms. Bandt said. Previously, patients practiced injections on an orange, but that was hard to relate to. "The doll's skin will be much better," she said, and will offer a more realistic situation to the patient who is nervous about this new step in his life.

Ms. Bandt said she expects the doll to be particularly helpful for diabetic children. They can learn to care for "Sugar Babe" as their parents care for them, and even-

Roosevelt station will celebrate 50th in silence

By DAVID THOMAS

Gas stations never seem to have birthdays. When cathedrals become 200 or 300 years old, there is usually a majestic display of pomp and glitter. When a courthouse reaches its 100th birthday, there is almost always a ceremony on the courthouse lawn. Railroad depots, libraries, skyscrapers, Victorian mansions, post offices, school houses and even ferry boats frequently receive attention when they pass a certain longevous milestone.

Gas stations, however, never seem to get the recognition that usually comes with venerability.

This week St. Johns' residents will be able to correct that oversight. On Saturday the brick station on the corner of Brush and Railroad Streets will be celebrating its 50th birthday.

Officially born on Nov. 28, 1931, the station, owned by the Roosevelt Oil Company of Mt. Pleasant, opened its doors to probably as much fanfare as any St. Johns' gas station has ever received. A front-page photograph in the Nov. 26th edition of the Clinton County Republican News and an accompanying two page advertising insert enthusiastically announced its arrival.

"Our business is a straight legitimate one," the ad read. "It is conducted to give honest products to the public at lower prices."

In order to entice customers to buy its gas, the company gave away six "beautiful Chipproof Water Glasses" with any purchase of six gallons of gas."

Christmas starts today

St. Johns merchants brought Christmas to the downtown area last Sunday, getting ready for tonight's special activities that bring Santa to town in a 6:30 p.m. parade. The jolly old elf will officially light the city's Christmas tree which stands at the head of Clinton Avenue, and will visit with children as St. Joseph Children's Choir and community choirs sing hymns and Christmas songs.

Our opinion

Responsible government: It's up to us

There's a lesson for all of us in the battle Jim and Gerta Nelligan are waging against federal meat inspection at their small meat processing plant in St. Johns.

Too often the government, be it state or federal, seems too big and ominous to tackle and most of us don't even try.

The Nelligans are in business because they want to be independent and make their living by their own wit and will. He's a former bank employee, and his background includes eight years in the army and a year of medical school. She is trained as a fashion designer and has had real estate classes. But they wanted to be on their own and when the business presented itself, they were not afraid of the hard work, nor the long hours.

Their particular business placed them in contact with state, and now federal, government at work and they aren't happy with what they've seen.

"Since we've had our business, we've learned how important it is to vote and we feel we have to get to know the people running for office. We need to be informed about what they stand for and what they're doing," Gerta Nelligan said. "People deserve the government they get."

The couple's complaints about meat inspection at small plants, extends way beyond the fact that the regulations have been hard on their business. What they are mostly concerned about is the waste that they've seen, especially in the federal program. When four inspectors show up at a plant where only two butchers are working on four head of beef, something is wrong. An inspector who sits and reads a book all day, because there's nothing there for him to do, should be someplace else, Nelligan believes. "It's your tax dollar and mine, that are paying him," he said.

Faced with inspectors who don't seem to respect their own work, it's hard for the small plant operator to respect the long list of requirements and regulations from the state or federal rule book.

We need inspection at our meat plants — the Nelligans know that. What they and all of us must demand is fair and reasonable inspection in line with the public's exposure to the product.

We must also demand that state and federal programs answer for their blatant waste. We must find better ways to assure Michigan's consumer of a safe product, without subjecting our small businesses to unreasonable requirements.

Senator Richard Allen (R-Ithaca) suggested that local veterinarians might be trained for meat inspection at plants that would need them only a few hours a week. That suggestion seems practical in Clinton County. What we need are creative legislators and state and federal employees who can put their heads together and come up with answers for today's Michigan.

We need our small businesses.

Scholar honor applauded

Ovid-Elsie Area Schools must be commended again as they continue their two-year-old tradition of awarding school letters for academic accomplishment.

O-E High School has again presented letters to its superior students, calling them the "Best of the Best." The award is intended to provide a visible symbol of recognition to students who have achieved scholastic achievement.

Students earn the letter by maintaining a B plus grade point average during the four marking periods of a school year. The award can be earned in grades nine through 12, by any student.

The actual letter is identical to the letters awarded to students for athletic achievements marked with a Swiss insert "Lamp of Knowledge."

This fall 42 Ovid-Elsie students earned an academic letter for their studies last year. Seventeen of them were earning the award for a second time.

Senior students were Lynn Bosom, Bonnie Clark, Brian Clock, Julie Furstenau, Brenda Gingrich, Mike Kusnier, Allen Martin, Kirk Tobey, Wendy Truax,

The way I see it

Godspell is an experience

Wishing I could go to the St. Johns High School Drama Department's production of "Godspell" won't help me get a ticket to a sold-out show. Besides hearing about their many fine productions and wanting to see one in person, I also have a special love for this musical.

Back when I was a senior in high school, our Thespian troupe also produced this show. Being a part of "Godspell" is one of my most cherished memories. I'm sure every member of the cast feels the same way.

That warm feelings are shared by the members of any cast is not news. Working on a play over a span of several weeks, you are bound to develop new friendships and strengthen old ones. What is news, though, is that in this production the audience shares in the warm feelings and celebration with the cast.

Letters to the editor

Tax relief must happen

To the editor:

In the next few days in the Michigan State Senate, I will offer an amendment to HB 4250 that will provide the last chance for homeowners to obtain property tax relief this year.

My amendment gives tax credit on all homesteads for the amount 1981 taxes increased over 1980 taxes. It will, in effect, freeze your 1981 homestead taxes at their 1980 level, exclusive of additional millage and new construction. You will still be eligible for your regular homestead property tax credit.

This is not the best method of property tax relief, nor is it enough. Property taxes are already too high and are going to increase dramatically because of inflation and a new law called "equalization by class." The increase alone in residential and agricultural property assessments this year exceeds $6.8 billion. In some parts of the state, taxes will double and even triple this year.

If you want to offset your homestead property tax increase this year, it is essential that you contact your state senator. My amendment was rejected in the Finance Committee along strict party lines and has no chance of success on the floor unless you make your wishes known. Republicans stand ready to support my amendment, but Democrats control both houses of the legislature. With your help, we can swing the necessary Democratic votes needed to obtain long overdue property tax relief.

The governor and the legislature promised the people $250 million tax relief with Proposal A — almost exactly the relief my amendment offers. By cutting back on welfare benefits to single, healthy, childless individuals and establishing proper priorities, the state can more

In just four years we will assemble for one last performance. It was a vow we made six years ago to coincide with the 50 year anniversary of the founding of our troupe. That vow would not have been made without the support our community showed during our first production. Never before had the auditorium been filled and never before had we been asked to extend the show an extra performance.

Letters we have received here show the feelings are again strong. Not only for this production, but for its director, Bob Koger.

Though dinner theater tickets for next weekend are sold out, an encore performance is scheduled for Dec. 12. I can't think of any better way to get into the holiday spirit.

"Godspell" is not just a musical. It's an experience that will stay with you.

than make up the cost of my proposal.

Some of us have fought for years to give property tax relief. Some of us are still fighting. Regrettably, it is not going to happen this year, unless a lot of people tell Lansing they have had enough.

Jack Welborn

State Senator, 21st district

There's no one like him

Dear editor:

This is another letter concerning Bob Koger. Bob is a very special person to me. He is more than a teacher, instructor, director. He's a friend. No, he is more than a friend, he's family.

I am on the cast for "Godspell" and together, on the set, all 11 of us are a family. We work together, sing together and play together. But, Bob's family is more than his wife and kids and the "Godspell" cast. His family is all the members of the Drama Club and everyone else that cares for him the way many people I know do.

Bob has resigned from directing anymore plays after "Godspell." I personally think it's important to keep Mr. Koger directing many fine productions like he has produced over his many years here.

Please, let it be known to others that you feel it is important to keep Bob to enrich our lives with his plays and maybe, if we join together, we can make him reconsider his resignation.

Thank-you
Jim Schultheiss

Personality Profile

Jane Austin; she's your friend in the country

By DAVID THOMAS

"I'm not in it for the ego or the glory," said Jane Austin. "I just enjoy the work."

This is not the 18th century English novelist talking about her latest work, but the 20th century Clinton County jock talking about her job at WQTK radio in St. Johns.

"The correct term for us is jock," she explained, sitting in the cramped quarters of her Parks Road office. "It's no longer D. J."

Ms. Austin is every bit as pretty and lively as her on-the-air voice indicates. While it has been described by one of Clinton County's most eligible bachelors as "soft, sweet and sexy," she doesn't see it that way.

"I like to sound like the girl next door," she explained. "A lot of female jocks like to sound like the sexy vamp next door. I just want to be your friend in the country, playing good music for you. You can trust me. I'm not going to steal your man."

Radio work to Jane Austin, however, is not just having fun and projecting a pleasant radio voice. It's a serious career for her.

"Right now I'm trying to learn all the facets of the radio business," she explained. "I think my interest down the road is in management. Someday, maybe, I'd like to own my own radio station."

Ms. Austin grew up in Ann Arbor, went to college in Alma and worked for radio stations in Alma and Charlotte before coming to St. Johns. Her interest in becoming a "jock" is something that has been with her for a long time.

"As a child in our neighborhood I always was the ringleader for thinking of things to do," she said. "I had around 15 kids that I used to hang around with and we used to put on plays and skits and then go around and perform house to house. For about three years all I wanted was a tape recorder for Christmas. That was my dream. I was intrigued by talking into the recorder, interviewing people, playing music and pretending that I was on the radio. When I finally did get one I went absolutely crazy. I guess that started my thinking that it would be nice to be on radio."

Ms. Austin wasn't always involved with country music. She has a wide range of musical interests that were developed early in her life. Her father, an Ann Arbor orthodontist, exposed her to a variety of musical forms and she spent her childhood listening to Dave Brubeck, Ella Fitzgerald and the sounds of America's big bands.

As a teenager, however, one group dominated her life. "I grew up with the Beatles, loved them to death," she remembered. "We used to play Beatle wives — I tell friends this and they all laugh — but we used to pretend we had one of the Beatles as our husband and we'd play getting ready for the boys to get back from the concert tour."

She eventually learned to like country and today is an enthusiastic fan of the music she plays on the air.

"I like Willie Nelson . . . Dolly Parton has always been one of my favorites . . . I really enjoy Jim Reeves . . . and I enjoy Eddie Arnold so much," she said. "Some of their songs just want to make you cry if you really listen to the words and the music and their voices. I'm pretty sentimental and I'm pretty corny and I guess that's why I enjoy country music."

What does an Ann Arbor dentist think about his daughter working as a country and western jock?

"He's very proud," she said. "I'm kind of turning them on to country music, bringing albums home and playing them. My parents are very open minded about music. As my father was turning me on to the big bands when I was growing up, I'd bring home rock albums and turn him on to that. So, we're pretty well-rounded musically."

Her work at WQTK involves much more than just playing music from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. each day. She serves as the station's public affairs director, which means she is responsible for seeing that news about happenings in Clinton County get read on the air. She also sells and writes commercials and frequently the female voice that is heard trying to convince listeners to buy cars, soap or clothes is that of Jane Austin.

Radio work provides special challenges that most people don't have to face in their normal working day — such as mispronouncing a name when thousands of people are listening to your every word.

"Sure, I make mistakes all the time," she admitted. "When I first started out and mispronounced somebody's name, I thought I was terrible and that I would never be able to do this (radio work) again. It ruined the rest of my news cast. Now I figure it's not worth it. We're all human. Sometimes we can't talk as well as we want to."

Austin also admits that occasionally her mind goes completely blank while she's on the air. Her solution, however, is simple.

"Just put on a record . . . more music," she said with a laugh.

Austin recently moved to an apartment near DeWitt after living most of her life in bigger places like Lansing and Ann Arbor.

"I like the feeling of a smaller town," she said. "That's why I appreciate the DeWitt area so much. The pace is slower and the people have more time to say, hello. It's a friendlier feeling. So far I like it very much."

When Jane Austin has some time for herself she likes to collect antiques, cook (especially Chinese food), jog, swim, play tennis and go to the movies. She also likes to cross country ski and anticipates that some of the open areas around DeWitt will offer her great opportunities this winter.

She doesn't, however, spend a lot of her spare time listening to radio.

"Usually when I go home after listening to radio for nine hours, I don't like to listen to more radio," she explained. "I like to turn on the TV and let someone entertain me for awhile."

All-County teams: coach's dream

row) Craig Coleman-Ovid-Elsie, Jim Seegraves-DeWitt, Dan Pohl-Pewamo-Westphalia, Graham Rice-St. Johns, Greg Armbrustmacher-Fowler, Roy

These football squads are loaded with talent

By KEVIN BOGGS

Clinton County can be proud of this year's edition of the All-Star football team which features some of the most talented and versatile players in many years.

The 1981 version of Clinton County's finest includes six juniors and five seniors while the best defenders are comprised of four juniors and seven seniors.

Undefeated Pewamo-Westphalia filled no fewer than six out of the 24 first team selections while Ovid-Elsie placed five members, St. Johns and Fowler four apiece, Fulton three and Bath and DeWitt one each.

FIRST TEAM OFFENSE

QUARTERBACK — Pete Hurst, 6-foot-1, 145 pounds, junior, Ovid-Elsie: "Pistol" Pete set several school passing records this season including most touchdown passes in a single game (4) against Shepherd and also most yards passed in a single season. Hurst completed 67 passes out of 131 attempted for 1,011 yards. His ten touchdown passes delighted Ovid-Elsie fans, not to mention head coach Russ Pope who is no doubt looking forward to having Hurst back in 1982. Hurst was named first team quarterback on the Mid-Michigan B All Conference Team.

BACK — Wayne Bond, 5-foot-11, 170 pounds, senior, Fulton: Mr. Everything for the Pirates was nothing short of incredible. A first team selection on the all Central Michigan Athletic Conference Team, Bond rushed for 1629 yards on 321 carries and scored 18 touchdowns. His "worst" game of the year was for 130 yards and his best effort 245 yards on the last game of the season against Ithaca.

"The amazing thing about Wayne was that all the defenses we faced were geared to stop him and they just couldn't do it," said Bond's head coach John Wachsmith. "That to me is amazing. The bigger the challenge, the harder Wayne worked."

BACK — Dale Schmitt, 6-foot-3, 195 pounds, senior, Pewamo-Westphalia: Schmitt has been called the best all-around player in P-W history by many members of the community and by his coach Mike Folk. He compiled 895 yards and ten touchdowns in only 130 carries this season. His 95 yard run against Fulton turned a close game into an eventual rout, a touchdown jaunt that marked the turning point in P-W's undefeated season.

BACK — Dave Koenigsnecht, 5-foot-11, 155 pounds, junior, Fowler: Dave missed a good share of the season with a knee injury but still managed to gain 528 yards on 75 carries. He scored seven touchdowns and had three two point conversion runs for a total of 48 points.

END — Kevin Baese, 6-foot-3, 155 pounds, junior, Ovid-Elsie: Baese was Pete Hurst's favorite target, hauling in 26 passes for 398 yards. Not only does Baese have good hands, he's an excellent runner after he catches the ball. He and Hurst should be quite a passing duo in 1982.

END — Steve Gonzales, 5-foot-10, 135 pounds, junior, St. Johns: One of the more versatile players in the county, Steve played quarterback, wingback and in the defensive secondary besides playing offense end. He was named outstanding offensive player of the week six times by his teammates and accounted for 630 yards in total offense in 1981. A good blocker, Steve caught 12 passes for 150 yards.

LINEMAN — Ray Signs, 5-foot-11, 170 pounds, senior, St. Johns: Ray was voted by his teammates as the best offensive lineman of 1981. A guard, he was named offensive player of the week three times.

LINEMAN — Dennis Kolp, 6-foot, 215 pounds, junior, Pewamo-Westphalia: Kolp was tabbed the best blocker on the P-W squad by Pirate coach Mike Folk. A tackle with excellent technique to go along with his good size, Kolp opened up many gaping holes for Dale Schmitt this season. Kolp is very quick off the line and got downfield on many occasions to reek havoc in opposing secondaries. On Schmitt's 95 yard run against Fulton, Kolp was responsible for knocking down two enemy tacklers that allowed Schmitt to score.

LINEMAN — Ed Beachnau, 5-foot-10, 180 pounds, junior, Bath: Head coach Bill Waters calls Ed a very hard worker and the most consistent performer for the Bees all season. He was named to the Capital Circuit All Conference team and made life a lot easier this season for Bath runners.

LINEMAN — Al Bywater, 5-foot-11, 190 pounds, senior, Ovid-Elsie: Al played center this year and was instrumental in giving quarterback Hurst plenty of time to throw the ball.

LINEMAN — Ed Rittenburgh, 6-foot-2, 190 pounds, senior, Fulton: Ed played tackle on the tight end side of the field and possesses both size and good technique. Wayne Bond did the majority of his 1,629 yards worth of running over Rittenburgh's side. Even though defenses were keying on the run against Fulton, Rittenburgh opened the holes in the Pirate's ball control offense.

DEFENSE

LINEMAN — Tim Moore, 6-foot-2, 187 pounds, junior, St. Johns: Tim was elected offensive player of the week by his teammates for his fine work as a defensive end. He made 65 tackles, sacked the quarterback six times, caused four fumbles and recovered three. Moore also came up with three interceptions and knocked down three more passes. Head coach Joe Gonzales says Moore has the speed, size and ability to play college ball.

LINEMAN — Greg Sorrell, 6-foot-2, 180 pounds, senior, Fulton: Greg made 48 tackles from his defensive end position and generally made a lot of good things happen on defense for Fulton. It was extremely difficult to run against Sorrell who, when he didn't make the tackle, jammed things up and allowed one of his teammates to make the hit.

LINEMAN — Bill Keilen, 6-foot, 203 pounds, senior, Pewamo-Westphalia: Keilen made 56 stops from his tackle position which impressed head coach Mike Folk. "56 tackles is an extraordinary number for a guy playing tackle," Folk said. Keilen also recovered five fumbles this season.

LINEMAN — Dale Wohlfert, 6-foot-1, 200 pounds, junior, Fowler: Dale was one of the anchors on Fowler's outstanding defense which gave up only 27 points all season.

LINEBACKER — Dale Schmitt, 6-foot-3, 195 pounds, senior, Pewamo-Westphalia: Even though Schmitt made the first team offense, it wouldn't be fair not to give him his due as a defensive standout. Dale made 109 tackles which is by far the most of any P-W defender in the 18 year history of the school. In Mike Folk's elaborate point system, Schmitt racked up more than 300 points which was also more than any other player in P-W history.

LINEBACKER — Roy Feldpausch, 5-foot-10, 165 pounds, senior, Fowler: Roy was the leading tackler on Fowler's impressive defense with a total of 85 stops. He was all over the field, picking off three passes and recovering four fumbles. The co-captain of the 1981 team, Roy had 217 tackles over three years for the Eagles.

LINEBACKER — Graham Rice, 5-foot-9, 155 pounds, senior, St. Johns: A two year starter who was named the

P-W's Folk undisputed as top coach pick

Pewalmo-Westphalia's Mike Folk has been named the Clinton County News' Coach of the Year. Folk guided P-W to a perfect 9-0 season and their first CMAC championship since 1968. The 37-year-old coach has put together an impressive 22-5 record during his three year stint as head man at P-W after leading the junior varsity to a 36-9-8 record over the previous six seasons. Believe it or not, the coach Folk most admires is not the legendary Vince Lombardi nor Bear Bryant — it's none other than Fowler's own Steve Spicer.

"I try to pattern myself after Steve," Folk said. "The important thing for a coach to do is be a good example for his players. All of Steve's players can look up to him as an excellent role model." Folk said the people in Clinton County have been good to him and the kids excellent to work with and as a result he is not looking towards a possible career at a bigger school or college. Folk, who is married and has two children, teaches government and physical education at the high school.

Number two teams aren't very far behind

The Clinton County News All Star second team displayed almost as much talent as the first team.

Named to the defensive squad were linemen Mark Miller of Pewamo-Westphalia, Tony Brown of Fulton, Andy Feldpausch of Fowler and T. J. Lackey of Bath.

Filling the linebacker positions were Todd Deitrich of St. Johns, John Nurenberg of Pewamo-Westphalia and Wayne Bond of Fulton. The play of Gary Challis of DeWitt and Andy Stephens of Fulton was so outstanding that it was felt that neither one could be left off the team and they ended up in a tie for the fourth linebacking spot. Claiming the top spots in the defensive secondary were Steve Gonzales of St. Johns, Dave Koenigsknecht of Fowler and Scott Hudecek of Ovid-Elsie.

The second team offense featured Ted Droste of Pewamo-Westphalia at the quarterback position. Players selected for the rest of the backfield were running backs Scott Miller of Ovid-Elsie, Bruce Riley of St. Johns and Dean Sharick of St. Johns.

The offensive ends were Ron Hanson of Fulton and Doug Flynn of Ovid-Elsie. Named to the line were Jeff Price of Fulton, Chris Williams of DeWitt, Dave Maples of St. Johns, Roy Feldpausch of Fowler and Mark Rademacher of Pewamo-Westphalia.

Several players who made significant contributions to their team's success this season could not be overlooked. Receiving honorable mention honors were Larry Lowrie, Tim Palmatier, Delbert Miehke and Chris Wells from Bath; Tom Deak, Jim Farhat and Ken Ra-jala from DeWitt; John Karber and Todd Elsea from St. Johns; Chris McQuery and Jeff Spitzley from Pewamo Westphalia; Randy Koenigsknecht from Fowler; Nick Cascaddan from Fulton; and Todd Winans from Ovid-Elsie.

Humphrey said Ott's talents as repairman for the meters would be hard to replace and suggested that perhaps he will agree to come in on a part time basis to cover this job.

hardest hitter by his St. Johns teammates, Graham led the Redwing defense with 108 tackles. Five times he was named defensive player of the week at St. Johns. When he's not bruising opposing running backs, Graham is an outstanding gymnast with college potential.

LINEBACKER — Jim Seegraves, 6-foot-2, 195 pounds, junior, DeWitt. The coaches around the Capital Circuit consider Jim the best athlete in the entire league. He was voted most valuable player by his Panther teammates and made a total of 111 tackles this year. His one interception was returned for 47 yards.

DEFENSIVE BACK — Paul Simon, 5-foot-10, 185 pounds, senior, Pewamo-Westphalia: Paul intercepted four passes and was a very sure tackler with 19 solo stops and 19 assists. He prevented several potential touchdowns with his sure tackling in the Pirate secondary. His coach wouldn't trade him for any player in the county.

DEFENSIVE BACK — Dan Pohl, 5-foot-9, 170 pounds, senior, Pewamo-Westphalia: Dan made 21 tackles and came up with the big interception a total of five times in 1981. His interception against Fulton set up P-W's first score and he personally ended the Fowler, Olivet and St. Pat's games with pick-offs.

DEFENSIVE BACK - Craig Coleman, 5-foot-9, 155 pounds, junior, Ovid-Elsie. Craig picked off an errant DeWitt pass and ran 48 yards or what turned out to be Ovid-Elsie's most critical touchdown in their 26-12 win over the Panthers. He had 17 solo tackles and 52 assists or a total of 69 stops.

PLACEKICKER - Al Bywater, 5-foot-11, 190 pounds, senior, Ovid-Elsie: Besides being an outstanding offensive lineman, Al kicked 17 extra points and two field goals to break a school record.

PUNTER - Greg Armbrustmacher, Fowler: Greg was named the CMAC's best punter for 1981 as he kept opposing teams bottled up with his long boots.

Capt Ferry's Wind Chill Index is good guide

When planning activities on a winter morning the question "How cold is it?" invariably is asked.

Temperature alone gives too little information. Wind also has an effect. Captain Robert Ferry, coordinator of the Clinton County office of emergency service, said that if we had an idea of how much the wind adds to the chilling effect of temperature, we could protect ourselves better.

A lot of research has been done, he said, and a reasonably satisfactory solution has been found.

The result can be expressed as a "cooling power of the air" or "wind chill index." The term "wind chill index" is preferred because wind and temperature are the only variables considered, said Ferry. State of nourishment, individual metabolism and protective clothing also effects how a person feels out in the weather, he said. However, the wind chill index is a good guide as to what clothing will be needed for protection from cold. This is especially important in the extreme conditions of blizzards and even in the less obvious, but still extreme, condition of riding in an open vehicle such as a snowmobile, said Ferry.

★ Stulls settle

"I really wouldn't have wanted this case brought to trial because of the officers involved," said Newman. "It would have been a trying experience for them. Some of the officers might have had personal liability also."

Newman contends he had every expectation of winning the case. However, he added, "There's always the possibility of losing and I think that's what made the insurance company nervous."

Maire said he saw the settlement as a win for the Stulls.

In the original suit the Stulls listed violations of four amendments to the US Constitution and Michigan's Wrongful Death Act. Clinton County officials called the death justifiable homicide, saying Stull was armed and resisting arrest.

Clinton County officers invaded the Stull home in Bath with a warrant charging Spencer with larceny of more than $100 concerning an alleged drug deal that had gone bad. Officers also had two federal warrants for violations of the Federal Firearms Act.

"I think this is finally the end of the whole thing," said Newman.

Event to raise funds for toys and food baskets

Aiming for public donations in toys and cash, the Fallen Angels CB Club of St. Johns has planned a "Help Make A Child Smile This Christmas" dinner-dance, Saturday, Dec. 5 at Smith Hall. Ticket prices are reduced if singles or couples bring new toys for the Christmas give-away. All proceeds from the affair will go to the Clinton County Community Services Christmas food baskets and toys for needy families.

Connie Smith, Fallen Angels secretary, said the club expects CB'ers from across the state and Canada to attend the BYOB dance. Trophies will be awarded to the largest American club, the largest Canadian club and the club with the most members present. Hourly prizes are also planned.

"You don't need to be a CB'er to attend," Ms. Smith said. "We're going to have a nice meal, ham, turkey and all the trimmings. Beer is available."

Everyone is welcome to the pre-Christmas dance from 6:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. Tickets at the door will be $12 per couple, $6 single. Prices are reduced if guests bring a new toy worth $1 or more.

Take a bite out of shoplifting

What would you think of a business worth $762 million? Sounds pretty good doesn't it? Should we try to attract this business to St. Johns?

The hard facts are that we already have some of that "business" and it is a benefit to no one.

The "business" is shoplifting and Michigan's losses are estimated at $762 million. This lost merchandise cost is recovered through higher prices on goods purchased. It is the business owner and the consumer who end up paying for this illegal activity.

November is proclaimed "Shoplifting Prevention Month" by Governor Milliken. By focusing on the disastrous effects of this crime to both consumers and businesses it is hoped that shoplifting will decrease.

The tragic statistics taken in one town revealed that 29 percent of the 11 and 12 year old children had shoplifted and of those, 90 percent said they would continue.

The Michigan Coalition to Prevent Shoplifting is a statewide group which has developed an entire program focusing on preventing shoplifting. Judge Marvin Robertson and Jean Staley of the St. Johns Women's Club are part of the coalition which has developed a program to discourage shoplifting. Personal appearances by McGruff, the "crime biting" dog is part of the program which also uses films, tapes and scripts. The program attempts to point out that shoplifting is a crime and that shoplifting is money out of your pocket. It encourages reporting of shoplifters.

Let's all join McGruff and help "Take a Bite out of Crime." — St. Johns doesn't need any part of this $762 million enterprise.

Don't forget the Santa Claus Parade and decoration celebration, Friday starting at 6:30 p.m. downtown St. Johns.

★ Station celebrates

The Roosevelt Super Service Station's owners were especially proud that the building was completely constructed by local labor and materials. The Parr Lumber Co. furnished the lumber, asphalt shingles, doors and steel windows. The white brick was supplied by the St. Johns Cooperative. Joseph Kasper did the electrical work, R. E. Benson the plumbing and Carl Beach installed the underground storage tanks.

Today, few people can recall those days when the station actually supplied customers with gas for their automobiles. It is currently owned by Bee's Chevrolet and Oldsmobile and is used as a storage facility for the intermediate school district's vocational programs.

Bee's President Bernard Feldpausch knows something about its history.

"I don't think it was used as a service station in the last 25 years or so," he said. "It was a bulk pump station for fuel oil for a time. . . . We used it later as a used car lot office. . . . Around 1969 it was used as a drug rehabilitation center until the school district began using it in 1972.

The latest rumor is that the old gas station may be the future home of the Clinton County Genealogy Society.

The Clinton County News has been unable to learn if Feldpausch, the mayor of St. Johns, the county board of commissioners or the Clinton County Historical Society has scheduled any parades or elaborate testimonials Saturday for the 50th birthday of the Roosevelt Super Service Station.

SYNOPSIS FOR PROCEEDING OF THE CLINTON COUNTY BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS MEETING HELD September 24, 1981

The special meeting convened in the County Commissioners Room at 9:00 a.m.

This meeting is to discuss the action taken by the Zoning Board of Appeals at their meeting on September 21, 1981 regarding Granger.

Jack Nelson briefed the Board concerning the Appeal Board Meeting. The Appeal Board overturned the Board of Commissioner's decision concerning the landfill. The Appeal Board felt the Board of Commissioners erred in that they didn't follow three general standards of the Zoning Ordinance, Article 7, 7.1.7. A 1.2.3. as follows:

1. The General Standards of the zoning ordinance state that a special use permit shall be designed, constructed, operated and maintained in a manner harmonious with the character of adjacent property and the surrounding use.

The Board believes that the Board of Commissioners erred in granting the permit by any standards as it is not harmonious to adjacent property.

2. The special use permit shall not inappropriately change the essential character of the surrounding area.

The Board believes this is a developing area surrounded by residence in a corridor that is being developed and if expanded, will be a blight to the area.

3. The special use permit shall not be hazardous to adjacent property, or involves uses, activities, materials or equipment which will be detrimental to the health, safety or welfare of persons or property.

The Board believes this is a controversial question that can be debated both ways, but there is no way to guarantee that the health, safety and welfare of the people are guarded adequately.

Mr. Overway stated that this is upsetting as it was his understanding that the Zoning Board of Appeals couldn't overturn the Board of Commissioners unless they acted improperly or followed the wrong procedures.

Commissioner Lancaster moved that, in this case, for the time being we do nothing about the Appeal Board's decision. Motion supported by Harold Martin. Discussion followed. Voting by roll call vote carried by eight ayes, two nays and one absent. Motion carried.

Meeting adjourned at 10:21 a.m.

Ruth presents her Christmas list

Christmas already? What can I get for the older person?

FOR HIM:

- A robe or slippers, an electric razor or some shaving lotion would be good ideas.
- Maybe a gift certificate for a dinner for two or one for several car washes, or oil changes would do the trick.
- What about some gloves, shoes, boots or socks to hide under the tree.
- An extra mirror or compass for the car would also be welcome gifts.
- Tickets for a ball game or a gift certificate for clothing may also be appreciated by the older man.

FOR HER:

- Pillows, either for the bed or sofa, a new bedspread or maybe curtains would be good ideas this holiday season.
- Slippers, a robe, shoes, jewelry or a new purse would also make good gifts.
- Gift certificates for food, clothing, the theater or a trip would also be welcomed selections.
- Perfume, a shawl or maybe some warm gloves would also be nice presents.
- Beauty shops are also a good place to look for gifts. Maybe a certificate for a permanent or an appointment with her favorite stylist would do the trick.

FOR BOTH:

- An all-expenses paid weekend at a motel is a novel idea or what about an AM-FM radio.
- Pictures also are welcome gifts, as are mirrors, easy chairs and lamps.
- New luggage or outdoor furniture or maybe a bird bath or a gift certificate for gas would be good presents, too.
- Paying a months rent, taking them out to dinner or paying an extra amount of their Comumers Power bill would also be practical and appreciated gifts.

A microwave oven, tickets for a vacation trip or giving them a party would also be good ideas for the older couple.

Above all give them lots of love, consideration and be tolerant.

So.....until next time.
