Clinton officials take 1981 oath

BY SUE KILEY WHITE

Roger Overway was elected as chairman of the Clinton County Board of Commissioners for the fourth year at a re-organizational meeting held Jan. 2.

"The coming year is going to be a slow one," Overway told the board. "There are no funds to do anything new and 1981 is going to be a slow year for the state of Michigan too...so I don't think we are going to see too many changes."

Commissioner Harold Martin, was also re-elected to the vice-chairman post of the board. This is Martin's third term.

Two new members made their official entrance on the board at the first meeting of 1981. Robert Steinman, filled Bill Gnodtke's seat and John McNalley replaced Max Calder. Gnodtke chose not to run for a second term and Calder lost his bid for re-election to McNalley in the November election.

Those members continuing to serve on the Clinton County Board of Commissioners are Richard Hawks, Robert Van Driesen, Richard DePond, Earl Lancaster, Robert Wood, Walter (Bud) Nobis, and Glenn Webster.

Commissioners voted to keep the meeting dates as the last Tuesday of each month at 9 a.m. The only change will be in December where the last meeting of the year will be Dec. 22 instead of Dec. 30 for budgetary reasons.

"The year 1981 will be a tight year," said Overway. "We are going to need all the experienced people we have, so there hasn't been a great change in the standing committees of the board either."

Nobis, retained his position as chairman of the finance committee with Martin, Lancaster, Hawks, and VanDriesen rounding out the committee members.

Hawks, will continue to chair the physical resources committee with DePond, Webster and McNalley comprising the rest of the group.

Martin is in charge of the buildings and grounds committee and is assisted by Webster, Wood and Steinman. Human resources committee is headed up by Lancaster with Wood, Martin and McNalley as members.

VanDriesen retains his seat as criminal justice committee leader with Steinman, Wood and DePond acting as members.

Members of the board were also named as representatives to various boards affiliated with the commission including Mid-Michigan Health Department, Tri-County Aging Consortium, Tri-County Manpower Consortium, Capitol Area Council of Government (CAPACOG), Capitol Area Community Services, Capitol Area Regional Transportation Study Technical Committee (CARTS), Criminal Justice and Law Enforcement, Community Mental Health, Bargaining Committee and Tri-County Regional Planning Commission.

Leon Clark and Ed Loznek, private citizens were named to the Economic Development Commission for six-year-terms.

Also sworn into office were elected officials in the county including the prosecuting attorney, register of deeds, sheriff, and county clerk.

Gas explosion lights night sky

BY SUE KILEY WHITE

Clinton County had "one terrific Bunsen burner" following the igniting of a 31 inch natural gas main on Jason Road Monday night according to Sheriff Anthony Hufnagel.

Deputies were called to the scene of Jason Road one-fourth of a mile west of Hollister Road in Victor Township at approximately 6 p.m. January 5. Shortly afterward, the immediate area which included six residential homes was evacuated. Minutes following the evacuation, the gas from the main ignited, causing a huge orange glow to permeate the sky.

"It acted just like a volcano," said Hufnagel. "This hole was spitting out chunks of dirt, rocks and clay."

Between 500 and 600 pounds of pressure was being exerted from the main with the flames estimated having reached 300 feet in the air. The orange glow was reported being seen as far away as Detroit.

Police officers from DeWitt City, DeWitt Township, Clinton County, Ovid and the Michigan State Police were on the scene along with several volunteers.

The blaze burned about 90 minutes. Unconfirmed speculations are that the recent extreme cold weather and frost caused the gas main to rupture, while the ignition is believed to be caused by a couple of rocks hitting together as they were spewn from the eruption.

People came from all over the mid-Michigan area to find out what the bright orange glow in the sky was. Spectators were kept at a distance, as law enforcement personnel themselves only got as close as 400 feet of the inferno. The main question seemed to be, "What is it?"

"We feel very fortunate that this type of thing happened in such a remote area," Hufnagel said referring to the fact that there were no injuries.

The police units main job was to keep people away from the area until a Michigan Consolidated Gas crew from Saginaw came to shut off the gas supply. The only real damage according to the police reports was to the gas main, road, trees and shrubs.

Hufnagel indicated the county has experienced small gas line breaks before, especially when equipment such as backhoes have hit small supply lines. But there has never been a gas line break of this magnitude in Clinton County during recent years.

What's left on the part of Jason Road one-mile south of Sleepy Hollow State Park, is a hole about 100 feet in diameter according to Bob Ancel road commission superintendent.

Jason Road is expected to be closed for at least two or three days depending on how long it takes the gas company to pump water out of the four to six foot deep hole.

"All the snow and ice in the area melted which also caused a lot of mud," said Ancel. "In addition, Jason Road is in a low, swampy area, so they'll probably have trouble pumping the water out of the hole to repair the main."

Mud is said to be from one to two feet deep on parts of the road.

Ancel also noted the county was fortunate, because no one would be stranded due to the road closure.

"It's not a heavily traveled road, so we're lucky," he commented.

Jason Road is barricaded at the present time and residents are asked to use Price Road as the detour.

Hufnagel also added his thanks to the many volunteers who helped with the traffic control problem Monday night.

Could this happen again in Clinton County? Officials can't really say...

County leaders

Clinton County Board of Commissioners were sworn in on Friday, Jan. 2 at the courthouse. Roger Overway, of DeWitt, retained his seat as board chairman and two new commissioners took the county oath along with eight incumbent board members. Those being sworn in included:

Economy forces fair board to seek commercial booths

BY SHARON RANDALL

In an attempt to acquire revenues, there will be commercial space rented at the 1981 4-H Youth Fair, bringing a touch of commercialism to the 40 or 50 year old fair that can survive no longer without it.

The first step towards this addition to the annual fair that involves some 2,000 Clinton County youngsters each August, was taken last week when the volunteer fair board received approval of the project from the County Board of Commissioners.

The fair, which is both show-off time and competition with other county youngsters, is the climax to a year of 4-H projects. It was organized without a midway and without commercial rentals and touted as a fair for and by youngsters. Traditionally it has been financed fifty-fifty by the county board and the Department of Agriculture.

The move toward commercial space rental was taken because of a loss in those funds from the Department of Agriculture. Fair Board President Larry Phinney said the local group was informed at one time this fall that their would be no funds at all from the state budget, and it will be sometime later this month that they know just how much will be received. "Now we are only certain that it has been cut, but we won't know until later just how much," he said.

The fair board has known for sometime that the money crunch was on. Speaking in August, during the 1980 fair, Phinney had said that financing the fair was getting to be "more and more difficult." The fair budget

Michigan Milk expands

BY SHARON RANDALL

Michigan Milk Producers in Ovid is expanding and growing right in the face of economic downturn and inflation. Plant Manager Walter Huffman says his business thrives when the economy turns bad.

"When things are better people drink more milk, when they're bad, our business picks up," he said of the Ovid based plant that is one of the biggest industries in the county. Michigan Milk Producers makes evaporated and dried milk, mainly from surpluses which accounts for the surge of activity when the economy forces fresh milk sales down.

The local plant is undergoing some $2,650,000 worth of expansion which includes new office spaces and modern energy efficient equipment.

The first phase in this expansion project is 1,500 square feet of new office space built over the old offices. The second phase started last week after the offices were moved and consist of re-locating the lab in the old office space.

Other improvements include a $1.6 million evaporator which is to go in the existing lab space and will speed up the process of making condensed milk under heat and vacuum. The evaporator will reduce 100,000 pounds of skim milk to 47 percent in one hour.

A new dryer for the making of non-fat dry milk is also in the expansion plans. It will allow the plant to process 10,000 pounds of non-fat dry milk per hour.

The maximum flow of milk through the plant in one day will be 2.2 million pounds, once the new equipment is installed, Huffman said.

A new contract with Thank You brand pudding starts this month, with the Ovid Michigan Milk Producers plant shipping them bulk powder. "We were lucky we were underway with this new expansion so we can accommodate them," Huffman said.

The new equipment will reduce fuel consumption at the plant by about 40 percent, Huffman said. Within a year a re-use system will also be installed to re-

Forum to discuss aging

BY SHARON RANDALL

During the month of January people of all ages will discuss issues related to aging at community forums around the nation in preparation for the December 1981 White House Conference on Aging.

Clinton County's community forum is slated for Friday, Jan. 16 at Smith Hall in St. Johns in conjunction with the Senior Citizen Area Wide meeting and potluck luncheon.

Small group sessions will explore topics such as economic security, physical and mental health, social well-being, shelter, creating an age integrated society and older Americans as a growing national resource.

County leaders and senior citizens will gather information on these topics from forum participants that will eventually become part of the materials presented at the Washington D. C. conference.

Is Social Security the way to provide basic retirement income? Should children support their aging parents instead? What are the concerns of old people today? How can our social service systems and health care systems cope with the rapidly accelerating increase in the number of older people?

These are just some of the concerns of the future and they will be discussed at the local forum on January 16, according to Brenda Hambleton of the Senior Citizen office. She said Clinton County's area wide meetings attract from 150 to 200 seniors from all over the county and this month's forum is expected to bring in an even larger crowd.

The community forums will give people a chance to learn, discuss and make recommendations to legislators and members of Congress about national policies that will affect young and old, Mrs. Hambleton said. The local forums will be informal with all participants having the opportunity to express their own views.

The recommendations recorded at the Clinton County forum will be included in the Regional Conference to be held in March. Also to be decided, Jan. 16 are recommendations for the nomination of delegates to the regional and state conferences.

The potluck luncheon starts at noon with the community forum to follow.

St. Johns school board decides on $200,000 cuts

BY SHARON RANDALL

The St. Johns Board of Education has decided on nearly $200,000 worth of additional cuts from its 1980-81 budget to keep in balance with declining state aid.

The action was taken at a special meeting December 23 and includes not replacing several teachers on leave, a high school library aide, elementary and high school library books and periodicals, field trips, a junior high custodian and a special education teacher.

"All the possibilities hurt," Superintendent Donald Burns said, explaining the proposed cuts prepared by the administration. "It was just a matter of the board making the decision of what they felt would be less harmful."

Burns said his greatest concern was the hidden effect the cuts would have on the school program. "There's a lot hidden in these cuts that will have a much longer effect on our program than meets the eye," he said. "What we are doing is just postponing it until the big crash comes."

He said that many of the cuts were simply the postponement of purchases in capital outlay, textbooks and other areas and someday expenditures would have to be made to provide for them.

Among the cuts made were:

-$9,500 from the high school teachers salary account by not replacing a teacher on leave and a reduction of one hour for one teacher.

-$9,000 from special education teachers account by replacing one regular teacher (who is on leave) with a less experienced teacher and laying off a special education teacher at the junior high.

-$17,000 in tuition from the Shared Time Vocational Education account. The school picked up a refund in October for an overcharge from last year and is sending less students this year.

-$7,000 in Community Education teacher, aides, materials and office expense accounts.

-$5,000 eliminating grade level achievement tests taken by elementary students each spring.

-$5,800 by not replacing a custodian who resigned from the junior high staff.

$4,000 at the high school by not replacing a library aide who is on leave.

$10,000 in elementary and high school library books, periodicals and audio-visual materials.

-$18,500 in elementary principals and fringe benefits by not directly replacing former Principal Mike O'Connor who served Perrin-Palmer and Eureka Elementary Schools. The decision on just how this will be done will not be made until the first semester ends in three weeks. At present Administrative Assistant Steve Bakita and Special Education Director Rosemary Green are filling the position on a part-time basis.

-$5,000 in field trips, drivers' salaries and $2,000 in gas, oil and grease.

$9,500 will be saved in capital outlay by not replacing equipment at the high school, junior high school and in plant maintenance.

CCN starts 125th year as new tab

The Clinton County News enters its 125th year of publication with a new size.

This modernization was brought about mainly as a step in efficiency but it is also a change that has proven popular with other community weeklys.

This tabloid size makes the Clinton County News easier to read, more like a magazine. Chances are it will be kept around the home longer, saved for further reading or reference when appropriate.

Readers will find that although the size is different, what is inside the CCN is much the same as it has been the past several years. It will continue to be a community newspaper, striving to serve the readers of Clinton County with emphasis on county government news, the schools, cities and major township events. The county sports pages will continue to cover varsity sports at the seven area schools.

As a community weekly, our staff is "on call" to readers and we will continue that practice.

Feature articles will continue to look at special events and interesting county residents.

Our publication, the DeWitt-Bath Review, which has been this same size since it started two years ago, will continue to cover the southern part of the county.

In the newspaper business, the advertising income determines the "news hole," or the amount of copy presented to readers each week. Our executive directors and advertising staffs are working to find ways to make advertising in the CCN more attractive to business people so we can expand our news hole and bring readers more of the articles they like to read.

Moves on personnel changes

The St. Johns Board of Education took action on two personnel matters at a special meeting Dec. 23, hiring a new controller to replace Tom McGrain whose retirement was effective in December and to accept the resignation of Ken Lashaway, director of vocational education, effective June 30. Lashaway came to St. Johns in 1968 to direct the shared time and vocational programs. Previously he was with the Corunna School system.

Hired to replace McGrain was Richard P. Terres who has held a similar position with the Ingham-Eaton Catholic Schools since 1979. His salary is $23,000.

Terres, a Lansing native, graduated in 1973 from Michigan State University with a business degree and also has a master's in secondary school administration.

He served the Catholic School system as assistant to the deputy superintendent in 1978-79 and before that was a business and distributive education teacher.

Valentines are displayed

There will be one more opportunity for county residents to enjoy a Victorian Christmas at the Paine-Gillam-Scott Museum in St. Johns Wednesday, Jan. 7 from 2-8 p.m.

Beginning Jan. 11 Victor Twp. will be spotlighted in the township room. Valentines will also be featured at the museum.

An informal seminar on home restoration will be held during the first three Sundays of February. Topics to be discussed will include the history of area homes and appropriate decorating schemes for period homes. One session will explore the recent restoration of the kitchen in the museum. Sessions will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. on Feb. 1, 8, and 15.

Meeting dates are changed

The Clinton County Intermediate School District Board of Education will hold its regular board meeting for January on the 12th instead of the 19th in the administrative office building on US-27, St. Johns.

The Fowler Board of Education is also changing its January meeting date from January 19 to Wednesday, Jan. 14.

Fowler train crash claims Hubbardston life

A Hubbardston woman was killed and two others were seriously injured Jan. 2 when their 1978 Ford Bronco was broadsided by a westbound Grand Trunk train.

Sharon D. Wood, 33, was killed instantly when the car in which she was riding was struck at the Main St. crossing in Fowler. She was pronounced dead at the scene by the Clinton Co. Sheriff's Dept.

The car was driven by Jack Edward Wood, 36, of 226 Church in Hubbardston. A spokesman for the Sheriff's Dept. indicated that the crossing lights were working at the time of the accident.

All of the occupants were thrown from the car, and the car was carried more than 64 ft. west of the intersection.

Also injured in the crash was Jody Lanette Wood, 16. She is listed in very critical condition at St. Lawrence Hospital in Lansing. The driver is listed in serious condition at the same hospital.

Roy Frederick Ploughman, 23, of 13167 Watson Rd., Bath was injured Dec. 30 when the vehicle he was driving pulled off of Williams Rd. onto Chadwick into the path of a vehicle driven by John Leroy Murphy, 32, of DeWitt. Ploughman told Sheriff's deputies that he did not see the Murphy vehicle until it was too late.

Two passengers in the Ploughman car, Calvin Kristofferson and Charles Cogswell, both of Bath, were not injured nor was Murphy.

A Lansing woman, Shirley Ann Dockham of 6129 Beechfield, was injured Dec. 31. Both the Dockham car and a vehicle driven by Harry Todosciuk of 311 W. Higham, St. Johns were southbound on US-27 near Chadwick Rd.

traveling at between 35 and 40 miles per hour when they were passed by a semi truck. A Sheriff's report indicates that blowing snow from the truck added to already heavy snow caused Dockham to slow down due to poor visibility.

Her car was then struck from behind by Todosciuk who was blinded by the snow. Todosciuk reported no injuries, but Dockham was taken to Sparrow Hospital by Lansing Mercy Ambulance.

SHERIFF DEPT. ADVICE

Avoid traveling on bad roads

Editor's note: The following article is the fourth in a five part series prepared by the County Emergency coordinator, Capt. Robert J. Ferry. All are based on information provided by the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

Whenever possible Clinton area residents should avoid traveling in winter storms. If they must travel, however, they should be sure that their car is in good condition, properly serviced and equipped with chains or snow tires.

Travel should be well-planned, and both primary and alternate routes should be chosen. Someone should also be informed of the traveler's destination, approximate schedule, and estimated time of arrival at the destination.

Whenever possible traveling should be done during the daylight hours and on major highways. It is also advisable to travel in convoy with other vehicles if possible. The car radio should also be tuned to a nearby station for complete weather information.

It is a good idea to keep the gasoline tank as nearly full as possible to keep water out of the tank and to provide maximum advantage in case of trouble. The tank should always be full before the traveler enters open country, even if it is only a short trip.

Emergency supplies should be carried in the car. These might include a container of sand, a shovel, a windshield scraper, battery booster cables, a tow chain or rope, one set of tire chains, a flashlight and transistor radio, extra batteries, a first aid kit with pocket knife, a compass and road maps, tools such as pliers, screwdriver, adjustable wrench, a high-calorie, non-perishable food supply such as canned nuts or dried fruit and candy, matches and candies, paper towels and facial tissues, and a travel alarm clock.

Extra winter clothing which might be carried includes wool caps, mittens, socks, and overshoes, and sleeping bags or two or more blankets. A stack of newspapers can provide layers of insulation and make a good substitute.

Two three-pound coffee cans with lids could be useful. One could be used for sanitary facilities while the other could be used to burn candles for heat.

Motorists planning on using a catalytic heater should remember that when using an emergency heat source of this type or when using the car's own heater, a window should be left open slightly for air circulation. Carbon monoxide poisoning can happen without the victim being aware of it until it is too late.

The winter traveler should drive carefully and not try to save time by traveling faster than road and weather conditions permit. Should a storm begin to test the driver's ability or endurance, refuge should be sought at once.

Next week: If a storm traps you in your car.

Tires slashed at SJ bus garage

The St. Johns Police Department reports that more than twenty tires have been destroyed in the city over the past week.

"We've had quite a rash of tire slashings," commented Chief Lyle French.

On Dec. 29 the St. Johns Schools reported eight tires slashed at the school bus garage. The cost of that damage was estimated to be $902.

Two more tires and seven seats were reported damaged Dec. 31 by officials at the bus garage.

Two visitors to 609 W. McConnell, Richard Ernst of Coldwater and Jeff

Wood of Mt. Pleasant, reported that tires on their vehicles had been slashed while they were visiting Jan. 1. One tire on Wood's car and three tires on Ernst's vehicle were damaged.

St. Johns Police officers also noticed five more flat tires on school buses Jan. 1.

On Jan. 1 Alvin Bebow of 300 S. Lansing also reported three tires slashed on his vehicle while he was visiting at 404 E. Railroad.

French indicates that the St. Johns Police are holding two sixteen-year-old suspects in the case.

Accidents down five percent

A year-end report issued by the Clinton Co. Sheriff's Dept. indicates that the total number of traffic accidents for 1980 is down 5 percent over 1979 figures while the number of persons injured is up 13 percent. In 1980 there were 775 accidents and 370 people were injured. This figure is compared with 815 accidents and 328 injuries in 1979. There were 13 fatal accidents in 1980 as opposed to 11 in 1979.

Arrests for driving under the influence of liquor fell 28 percent from 109 in 1979 to 79 in 1980. The number of citations also fell from 3166 in 1979 to 1655 in 1980, a drop of 48 percent. According to Capt. Robert J. Ferry these reductions were caused by the fact that the department had four fewer officers available for Road Patrol in 1980 than in previous years.

Wins big

The Bureau of State Lottery announced a local large prize winner on its Surprise Package instant game.

Dolores Stevens of St. Johns was the first Clinton County winner of $5,000.

"Interest Checking"

It's a savings account in disguise.

Available
January 1, 1981

It looks like a checking account. It acts like a checking account. It does everything a checking account can do, exactly like a checking account does.

It's a NOW account, so it earns interest like a savings account. It actually lets you make money with those funds that set idle in an ordinary checking account.

With "Interest Checking" you will earn 5¼% daily interest paid monthly. Best of all it's free of service charge when you maintain a minimum balance of $750.00 or an average monthly balance of $2,000.00.

Should your balance fall below the minimum requirements your account will be charged $4.00 per month statement fee, plus 20¢ for each check written.

The advantages of the new CCN

The experts tell us that our readers will like our new tabloid size. They say it will be kept around the house longer and that it will be picked up and read more frequently during the week.

What they failed to tell us, however, is what our readers will do with our new tab-sized newspaper after the week is over. Therefore we here at the County News have done a little research on our own.

Our local research team assures us that because of the new compact size, our readers will be able to let the County News accumulate for weeks at a time on radiators, table tops, on top of book cases, and in magazine racks. When they are finally removed for storage, the papers will also be able to pile up practically forever in basements, on back porches, and in garages.

Our readers may find, however, that in other ways their housekeeping improves. The new smaller size is said to be more perfectly suited to the disposal of coffee grounds than was the bulky old broadsheet. Because the garbage will be wrapped in a smaller paper, it may therefore need to be collected and deposited more frequently.

Readers who use newspapers to clean windows and mirrors will find our new tab size especially well suited to their purposes. Drawers and shelves can usually be lined now with less tearing and folding than was necessary with the old broadsheet.

New compact and energy-efficient paper sailboats can be made from the Clinton County News now. Paper doll chains will necessarily be a doll or two shorter, but a much less bulky paper hat can be made with less folding and no tearing.

To be perfectly truthful, our research indicates that nothing will ever quite replace the old broadsheet when it comes to paper training a new puppy. Box training a kitten, however, should be easier with our tabloid which will fit nicely into most boxes without cutting or folding. The tab-sized newspaper is also almost made to order for lining most gerbil, hamster, rat, and bird cages.

Ultimately the greatest advantage that we have found so far, however, is still in the reading of our new sized paper. Our latest research shows that for the first time since 1856 our readers can now comfortably read the Clinton County News in the bathtub. They can even, we have been told, turn the pages without getting the bottom half of the paper all soggy.

Chamber Notes

Membership plans made

The first Membership Meeting for 1981 is organized and ready to go, so mark your calendars and plan to attend the St. Johns Area Chamber of Commerce meeting, Jan. 15.

Guest speaker, F.W. Bennetts, director of Public Relations for the Oldsmobile Division, General Motors, Lansing will address current and future activities of the plant.

Bennetts' topic is expected to be of interest to the general community, focusing on what is happening and what's ahead for General Motors in the greater Lansing area.

The meeting will be held at noon in the upstairs room of the Municipal Building. Lunch will be served by Cornwell Catering. Call me at 224-7248 to place your reservation.

Our area is tied to the progress of General Motors in the number of jobs it provides to residents of St. Johns. Directly and indirectly our area economy is affected by what happens there, and to hear in advance some of the future planning will give us an idea of what to expect.

Arrangements to bring Bennetts to St. Johns were made by Paul McNamara, co-chairman of the Chamber's Board of Directors. His efforts are appreciated and the program planned will be an interesting and informative

Darkroom special

St. Johns Camera Club member, Bob Sheap used what he calls "darkroom manipulation" to achieve this second place winner in the club's recent contest, "Artistry in Trees." He shot a series of this scene in the fall using a yellow filter and Tri-X film. In the darkroom he used special techniques to come up with a tree in the negative and the rest of his photo in the positive.

SENIOR CITIZEN UP-DATE

BY RUTH DELO

Ask before you mix medications

Whenever two or more people get together they interact. This interaction is either good, bad or indifferent. The same is true when medications, prescription or non-prescription, or foods mix.

Why is this so important, or what? Whatever reaction occurs, occurs in YOUR body. After all, you are the one putting chemicals into your body whether these be medications prescribed by your physician, over-the-counter medications you take, or foods you eat.

Gerald E. Bodendistel, president of the Michigan Pharmacists Association, gives some invaluable advice on how you can help prevent potentially harmful medication reactions.

--Make a list of all the medications you take. Include all prescription medications from all physicians you see, and all the non-prescription medications you take, such as cough and cold remedies, laxatives, pain relievers, antacids and alcohol.

--Take this list to your pharmacist and have him check it for possible harmful combinations.

--Ask your pharmacist if there are any foods that should not be eaten with the medications you take.

--Whenever you get a new prescription, be sure to ask your pharmacist if there are any non-prescription medications or food that should not be taken or eaten with this new medication.

--Leave an up-to-date listing of all your medications and any long-term illnesses, such as diabetes, high blood pressure, asthma or allergies, both in your wallet and in the refrigerator. In the event of any illness or emergency, this information is then available to the health professionals who will care for you.

--Choose one pharmacist to have a list of all the medications you take when you are under the care of more than one doctor. It is very important that one health care professional has all your medication history to prevent potentially harmful medication reactions.

Bodendistel also warns that all drug interactions are not harmful. Some drug interactions can be very useful. One of the most common useful drug interactions is that of APC, PAC, Empirin Compound or Anacin. In these medications a combination of pain relievers is used to increase the pain relieving side effect and to lower the individual dose of each ingredient. The net effect is to give better pain relief and to reduce side effects. Buffered aspirin is also such a combination. The antacid helps to reduce the stomach upset of the aspirin.

Often medications can be taken together without having any effects, either good or bad. An example of this is most blood pressure medication and antibiotics. With very few exceptions, they neither help nor hinder each other.

"If a drug reaction is suspected, it is very important not to stop or change the medication without first checking with your pharmacist or physician," Bodendistel said. He also warns that "not taking certain medications can be life-threatening. When you have been on medications for a long time, an abrupt change can be more dangerous than the suspected reaction."

"Do not take chances with your health. Systems of the human body cannot be replaced as easily as parts for machines. Your pharmacist and physician are concerned with your good health. Talk to them about your medications and any potential problems.

This information was taken from an article written by the Michigan Pharmacists Association.

So.....until next time.

Personality Profile

Lumberts serve as professional volunteers

By JEAN MARTIN

Cliff and Nola Lumbert believe that much of the work in a community and, indeed, the world would not be done without the help of volunteers. Over the years, however, the Lumberts have been doing their share to see that the work is done.

Last April the St. Johns couple spent nearly three weeks working with a team of three other dentists in the jungles of Haiti. Nola, a school teacher by profession, worked as their assistant. The group was sent by UMCOR (the United Methodist Committee on Relief).

"Those poor people certainly needed our help," declared Dr. Lumbert. "They couldn't eat. Some had holes eaten completely through their faces, draining fistulas. Terrible infections poisoned their whole bodies."

The team set up their clinics wherever space was available. Usually there was no electricity, and hand-made wooden rocking chairs secured by cement blocks served as dental chairs.

Because there was no running water and no electricity, any reconstructive dental work was out of the question. Bad teeth had to be extracted. Any roots that remained could not be drilled out. They were chisled out while Nola held a flashlight.

"We bought supplies with our own money," explained Cliff. "We took plenty of antibiotics and anesthetics."

Nola says that hunger and malnutrition are very evident throughout the country. Many have no food except the soya protein given to them each Saturday through Church World Service, she says.

Cliff says that this lack of protein coupled with poor oral hygiene and the native habit of chewing constantly on sugar cane are responsible for the poor oral health of the people.

"In spite of the sufferings of the Haitian people, we found them to be very friendly and kind," recalled Nola. "We were safe anywhere day or night."

Although the Lumberts would like to return to Haiti to help again, other commitments must be honored first.

In late January the couple plans to travel to Jos, Nigeria to spend five or six weeks working at Hillcrest School, a United Methodist mission with 550 students and staff members. There Cliff will have a relatively modern clinic in which to work.

"They told us it would be real cool up on the plateau - about 100°," Cliff laughed. "They say it will be hotter if we take any side trips into the valley."

"We'll be able to tell you more about this after we get back," promised Nola.

Dr. Lumbert retired from his St. Johns dental practice in 1977 after 30 years. For many years he had his office up over the State Bank building, now the north end of Parr's Pharmacy.

Cliff and Nola are Clinton County natives, both coming from Eagle Twp. Both went to the Blough School in northwest Eagle. Then they graduated from Grand Ledge High School and Albion College together.

After graduating from the University of Michigan Dental School, Cliff taught there for a time before taking a commission during World War II.

"After I went overseas, I got a notice from the draft board here in Clinton County," Cliff recalled. "They said if I didn't report, they'd come and get me."

"I was sitting in a fox hole in France when I got the letter. I said, 'I sure wish they would come and get me,'" he laughed.

Over the years both of the Lumberts have been active in church and community affairs.

Cliff recalls being president of the Clinton County Cancer Society and being active in the Exchange Club. He is a director of the Central National Bank and is still on staff at Clinton Memorial Hospital.

Both Cliff and Nola have been active in serving the United Methodist Church. Cliff says he is a member of the local Official Board even now and has been on the pastoral relations committee for 17 years.

Nola has been active in the United Methodist Women, and currently holds offices in the Central Michigan District and the Western Michigan Conference of the United Methodist Church. Within the community she has been involved in Child Study Club, the St. Johns Women's Club, and the Mornin' Musicales.

Cliff remembers a few years ago when his practice kept him so busy that he was often booked up six or eight months or even a year in advance.

"I retired and went to work," Cliff smiled. "We're glad to help people out if we can. We've been pretty fortunate ourselves."

Dr. and Mrs. Clifford Lumbert

P-W grabs seventh straight

By Tim Jeffery

Most people figured the championship game of the Bath Christmas Tournament actually took place in the opening round when Pewamo-Westphalia and Lansing Catholic Central put undefeated records on the line, however the champ is decided when winners of opening round contests play the following night. So be it, P-W fresh off the heels of a big win over LCC, methodically buried Bath 62-42 Tuesday evening to take first place in the holiday extravaganza.

The win over the Bees was far from the best of performances turned in thus far by P-W, but according to Pirate Coach John Ellis this was to be expected. "There was definitely a letdown, but there had to be. The kids played the game of their lives the other night against LCC," he said.

A bit of hot shooting on the part of Bath's 5-foot-6 guard, Dan Cole made it close in the early going. Cole connected on his first three shots from the floor including the game's first field goal attempt after the Bees had patiently worked the ball around the perimeter in what appeared to be a slow-down tactic.

The Pirates managed to keep their composure however, and moved out in front 16-8 after the first quarter, thanks to a couple of long jumpers by Mike Pohl.

The margin was stretched to 14 early in the second stanza as P-W reeled off six straight points. First it was Brian Pfaff on a 15-footer, then Steve Hengesbach on a follow-up and finally a bucket by Brian Stump, forcing Bath Coach Steve VanHammen to call time.

When play resumed, Chris Foote tossed in a short jumper and was fouled on the play. His free throw pulled the Bees back to within 11 at 24-13.

Bath scored the next hoop, before Kevin Fedewa hit from long range and Pohl dropped in two straight baskets. Pohl was fouled on the second field goal, thus with 2:39 remaining in the half, he became the first Pirate to go to the free throw line. The shot was on target, giving P-W its biggest bulge, 31-15.

The Bees weren't quite ready to concede anything yet as they scored the next seven points, only to have Bart Conley foul Jeff Belen with one tick left before the half. Belen hit one of two charity tosses, sending the teams into the lockerroom with P-W on top by 10.

Defense told the story in quarter number three. The Pirates held their counterparts to nine points during the frame, while scoring 13 to claim a 45-31 advantage entering the final eight minutes. The biggest play of the quarter came with 5:38 remaining, when Stump recorded a three-point play to give his team a 13-point lead.

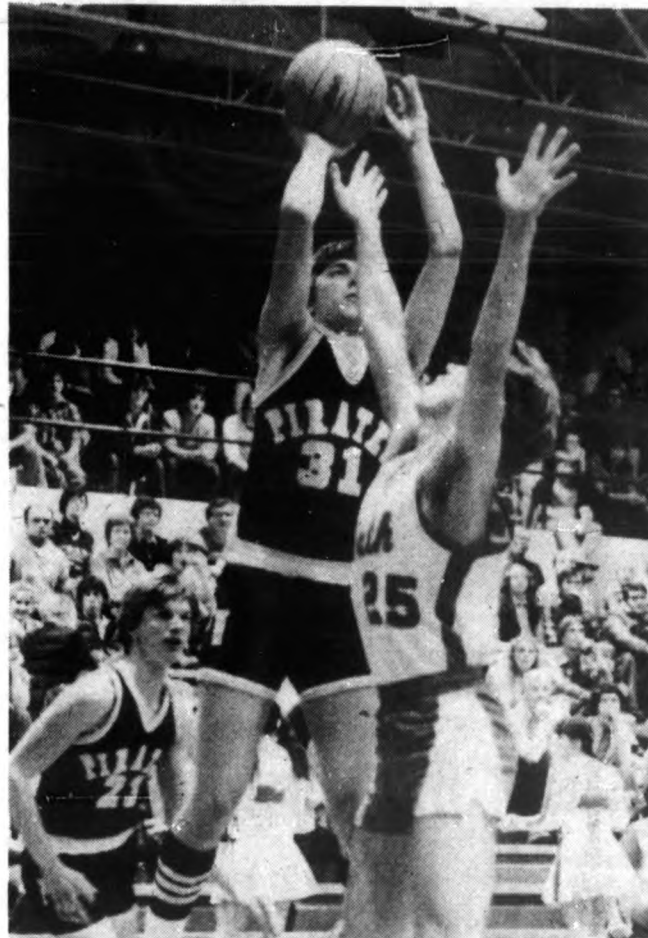

P-W continued to stretch the margin allowing Ellis to empty his bench. The Pirates totalled 17 fourth quarter points, six better than Bath.

The victory was number seven in seven tries for the CMAC front-runners. The loss dropped Bath to 3-4 on the season.

Pohl took scoring honors with 15 points, followed by Brian Stump with 11. Jeff Belen was next with a total of nine. The battle under the boards was extremely close. P-W collected just one more rebound than the Bees.

Foote scored 12 points to pace the hosts. He also fouled out for the first time in his fine career at Bath. Ironically, all five of his fouls came in the second half. Jeff Lehman chipped in with 10 markers for the Bees.

Again, Ellis praised the total team effort, but was particularly happy with the work of Stump. "Brian never complains and always gives 100 percent. He's been in a bit of a slump lately, but it looks like he broke out tonight," the coach explained.

O-E records a pair of victories

By TIM JEFFERY

While most of the area teams were either engaged in Christmas Tournaments or just plain enjoying the holidays, it was business as usual for the Ovid-Elsie cagers last weekend.

Friday night the Marauders travelled to Chesaning for a big clash with the Indians. O-E started quickly, taking a 18-10 lead after the opening quarter.

Chesaning was able to inch a bit closer in the second quarter as the teams left for halftime with O-E on top 32-26.

The lead continued to shrink in stanza number three. Chesaning trailed by only three points beginning the fourth quarter.

The battle got hectic in the final two minutes. O-E was on top by seven, only to see the hosts pull to within one.

Then with 20 seconds left, Chris Horak sank a pair of clutch free throws. Chesaning was hit with a technical foul a short while later and Jerry Horn made good on both charity tosses to make the final 58-53.

Marauder Coach Bob Foreback was glad to get the victory which left his team alone atop the MMB, but felt his team could've played much better. "We had the shots, but we just didn't shoot well," he summarized.

Mark Carter and Horn were tops with 17 points for O-E. Troy Ginther chipped in with nine. Horn was also a stalwart on the boards with 19 grabs.

The following evening saw O-E venture off on another long trip, this time to Bay City. Again it was Horn enjoying a big evening in leading the Marauders to a narrow win, 54-52.

O-E fell behind early in the contest, trailing it 18-10 after one quarter. The Marauders were finally able to take a 43-42 lead after three quarters.

Certainly no strangers to clutch situations this year, the Marauders found themselves in another tight fourth quarter struggle.

Trailing by a single point, Bay City rebounded a missed free throw with 15 seconds to play. The hosts were unable to get a shot off however, as Horn came up with a big steal. He passed to Carter who was subsequently fouled.

The Marauder senior sank one of two from the line to make it a two-point ball game. Bay City was able to get off a good shot in an attempt to tie, but it wouldn't fall, giving O-E win number four in six tries.

Horn finished with 17 points and 18 rebounds, indicating he is quickly becoming a dominant force in the O-E attack. Carter finished with 16, a point under his season's average through the six games. Jeff Hettling also hit double figures with 10 points, despite limited playing time, because of a knee injury suffered at Chesaning.

In assessing his team's current status, Foreback explained, "I wanted to be 3-3 at this time, so at 4-2 I'm happy. We can't afford to have any more injuries though. Teelander (Carl) may be done for the year and now Hettling is hurting."

O-E returned to action last night, hosting Bullock Creek. Friday the Marauders take on Corunna in another big conference game.

Rivalry continues

In past years the rivalry between Fowler and Pewamo-Westphalia has brought about many arguments. The Pirates' favorite is they have had the best athletes, but Fowler can't quite see how a conclusion such as that can be made, for over the years the best won-lost record has belonged to the Eagles.

Fowler has claimed P-W often had "one man teams", but the Pirates have countered by saying, "our teams have had one outstanding player to lead us." P-W feels a team consisting of all the outstanding ball players from the different teams through the years, could form to make one great team, causing Fowler to respond with a feeling that P-W would just have five players on the court trying to outscore each other.

Pirate fans admit Fowler has had well balanced teams with many good ball players, but none were great, so taking the Eagles' best would make a good team, but not one which could match the Pirates' best.

One Man's Views

By Tim Jeffery

You'll have to excuse Pewamo-Westphalia basketball coach, John Ellis for feeling a bit like Rodney Dangerfield. His team is currently 7-0, but for some reason "don't get no respect."

Lansing Catholic Central won its first five games and naturally found itself ranked fourth in the Class C polls. P-W won its first five by an average margin of 26 per contest, yet was nowhere to be found in any of the rankings.

A week ago Monday, the Pirates met LCC on a neutral court. Whether, the Cougars took P-W a bit lightly or just weren't on top of their game, all the excuses in the world couldn't change what actually happened.

LCC nearly got blown out of the Bath Gymnasium in the first half as most fans wondered aloud which of the two teams was supposedly the state's fourth best Class C team.

P-W played much more conservatively during the final two quarters allowing LCC to make a game of it, but the Pirates were clearly the better team from start to finish. Local TV stations reported the score as an "upset" on the 11 o'clock news. Why an upset though? Weren't both clubs undefeated coming into the game? Yes, but sorry Pirates, no respect.

You simply won't find a team with more depth, this side of Lansing Eastern. Nor will you find one that plays better defense.

To date, P-W has yet to give up 60 points in any single game. Ellis is happy with the defensive effort, but stated, "We'd like to hold them under 50." It's not greed on the coach's part, rather a reflection on the type of attitude the team has. Keep improving and working hard at all times, taking the games one at a time, best describes the Pirates' play.

Ellis is hard pressed to pick a star or two from amongst his players. Rather, he points out, this is his third year with the current group of seniors and all give 100 percent toward the team.

Successful teams usually begin with a dominant player in the middle. Steve Hengesbach, the Pirate pivotman, is capable of taking control underneath. He hit for 19 points against Pete Cassel, LCC's highly touted center. While it isn't a total necessity for Hengesbach to score (he scored only two in the romp over Bath), Ellis is quick to state, "Steve is the one guy who we really can't afford to have in foul trouble."

Brian Stump and Brian Pfaff start at the forward slots while Gary and Dar Hengesbach wait in the wings. All four players excel in different phases of the game. One might come away from a particular game thinking Pfaff is the team's best forward only to see Stump shine the next night out. Gary and Dar have each chipped in with big buckets and outstanding defensive play as well.

Mike Pohl and Kevin Fedewa make for an outstanding backcourt tandem. Both are capable of filling it up from the outside and again play the tough defense. Guy Walter and Chris Thelen can each spell one of the starting guards, without causing the team to have a letdown.

Looking ahead, P-W will surely get tested in a number of CMAC clashes and has a pair of tough non-league games scheduled as well. There is a return match with O-E and a game against once-beaten DeWitt.

Ahead even further is the state tournament. The Pirate district is brutal with the likes of DeWitt, LCC, Bath, Olivet and Maple Valley. First however, P-W hopes to take care of the biggest goal it has set.

Winning the league championship is the ultimate right now. Come March, bigger things can be thought of.

Ellis isn't worried about the rankings, instead he continues to instill the discipline that champions are made of. Steve VanHammen, the Bath coach whose team has faced both P-W and LCC said, discipline and the ability to play under control stand out as the major difference between the two.

It's still too early for making predictions, but fans care about rankings and polls. Beating LCC doesn't mean P-W should be ranked third or even fourth, but surely the team is worthy of consideration for a spot somewhere among the top ten.

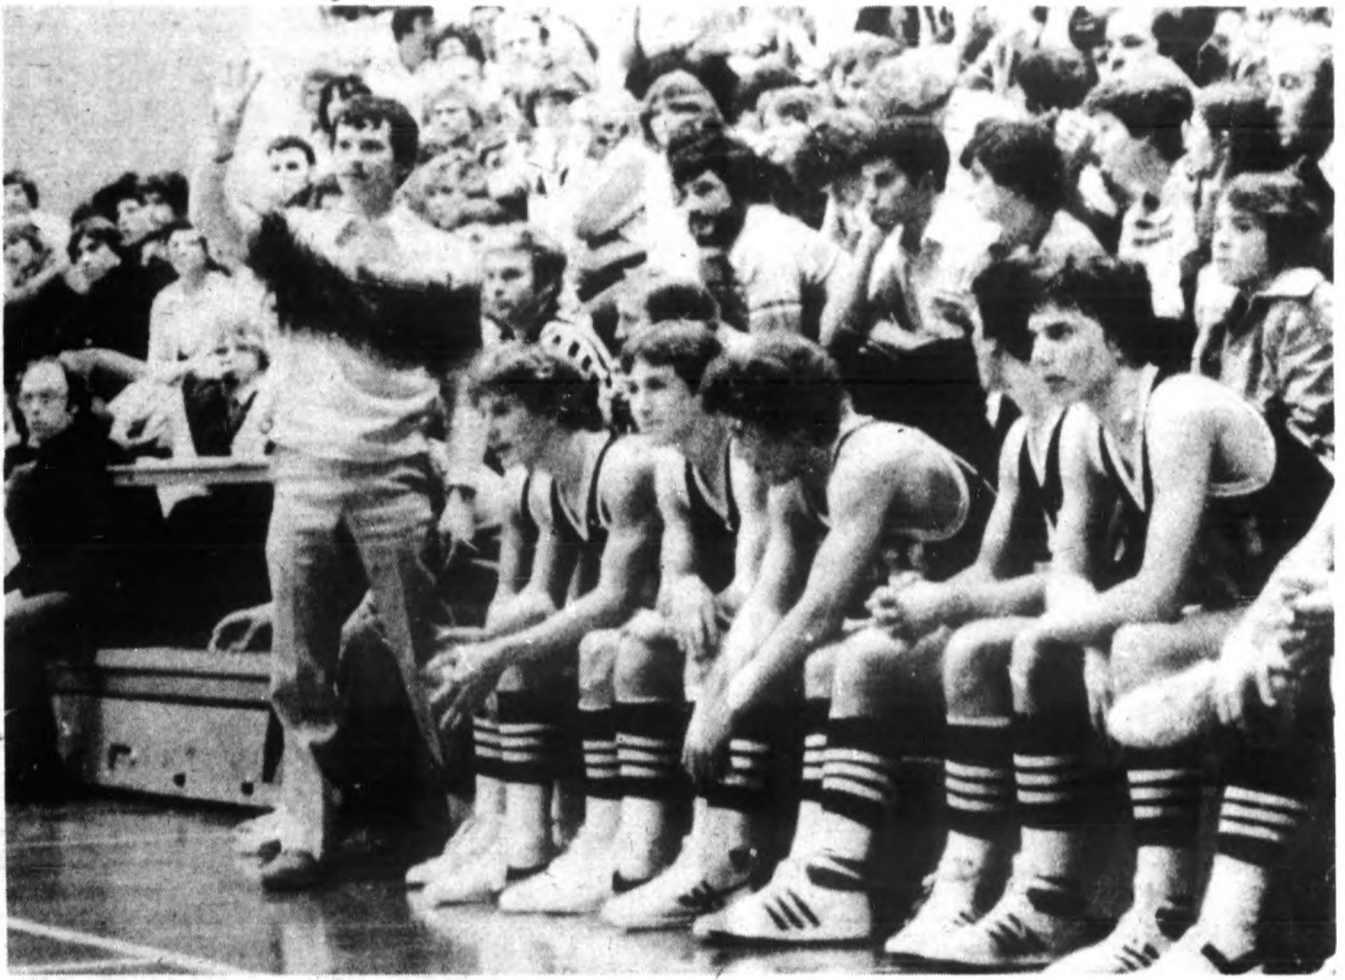

The time has come for P-W to start getting some respect outside the CMAC. Ask Catholic Central coach Jerry Tripp who he hopes to draw in the districts in March. Chances are, he'll tell you anybody but P-W.

Oral historian scours the county

By JEAN MARTIN

Clinton County's first full-time oral historian, Cindy Shinabery of Ovid, has been on the job for three months now. She was hired last fall by the Clinton Co. Historical Commission to carry out their "Voices of Clintonians" project.

Cindy went to work Oct. 1, and so far she has interviewed a number of county residents. After she records their recollections on tape, Cindy then takes time to transcribe the material onto paper.

Oral history, Cindy says, is an old, old form of history. In the recent past, however, it has been overshadowed by the written word. Now it seems that oral history is coming into its own again, according to Cindy.

"Some people are not comfortable with reading just as others are never quite comfortable with just hearing," Cindy explained.

"Eventually we'd like to be able to index the tapes and transcripts and put (both) in a depository where they would be easily accessible to everyone."

Although Cindy has been working steadily, she says that she is always looking for more Clinton area residents to interview.

Cindy says that almost anybody with reminiscences of the Clinton County area could be qualified to give an oral history interview. Age, she insists, is not important. In fact Cindy is especially interested in people in their thirties and forties who would remember what it was like growing up in the 1940's and 50's.

"I'm also looking for a high school senior," Cindy said. "I'd like to get his perspective on growing up in Clinton County."

Cindy says she would also like to have a chance to interview women of different ages to get their ideas about the changing roles of women in society.

"I talked with Mrs. Babe Ruth, one of the early women pilots," Cindy recalled. "She was a flight instructor and knew all of the early pilots."

So far Cindy has been visiting with people in their homes most of the time. She says, however, that she would be glad to do the taping almost anywhere.

"I'll do it wherever it is most convenient and most comfortable," she smiled.

Although the tapes will eventually be available to all, Cindy has a few ideas about how she could begin sharing some of her newfound treasures right now.

She is especially interested in talking with school groups. As a former teacher Cindy thinks that dealing with people and events close to home first is the best way for young people to start acquiring a sense of history.

"I'll go speak with any group that will listen to me," she laughed. "I've done it already on a limited basis, but now I have some tapes to take with me."

Cindy Shinabery can be reached at her desk in the County Services Building in St. Johns by calling 224-6761, ext. 272.

Pioneer auto

The Clinton Co. Historical Commission's oral historian Cindy Shinabery recently talked with a local auto pioneer Freeman McClintock. In the interview McClintock recalled how his brother-in-law Charles E. Burdick had once owned this 1909-10 E.M.F. built in Detroit by Everett, Metzcar, and Flanders.

★ SJ school board

$3,000 will be saved by disposing some of the paper trash by burning and in heating at Olive Center School which is no longer needed by the Intermediate School District.

-$2,500 to be saved in contracted snow removal services by maintaining the high school parking lot with the maintenance and janitorial staffs.

-$3,000 in coaches salaries at the high school by eliminating all non-varsity spring sports. To be cut are all junior varsity sports and girls' softball.

-$1,500 in elimination of volleyball and intramural sports at the junior high school.

Other cuts were proposed in student activities, band, orchestra, chorus and drama but will have to be worked out with the faculty because of contract language. The same is true of a $1,500 proposed cut in elementary assembly programs which is required by the teacher contract.

Next year is a major concern of board members and administrators, according to Burns, because the board has used $430,000 of its $460,000 fund equity reserve. "We know that the Michigan economy is not going to turn around and next year is going to be every bit as hard, in our case, even harder," he said. "We won't have any slush fund to fall back on."

"Everybody is going to re-use," Huffman said, stating that it was a necessity. The plant's October electricity bill was 23 percent higher than paid in September.

The Ovid plant draws in milk from most of lower Michigan, producing 28,319,200 pounds of powder, 1,539,750 of buttermilk and processing 455,122,491 pounds of milk.

The main building of the plant was built in the early 20s, Huffman said but additions have been made over the years. "We've added on and added on and now we're adding on some more."

Lowe congregation holds home worship

The Lowe Methodist Church congregation had a special old fashioned worship service, Sunday because the furnace in the small frame church refused to fire.

With no heat in the church the 33 parishioners who came to worship Sunday adjourned to the Stuart Openlander home, near-by on West Colony Road.

Since their minister the Rev. Robert Gillette had not yet arrived, they left him a note on the church door.

The service was very special, Gillette said. With the children seated on the floor and a fire in the fireplace the atmosphere was a little "less formal" but the spirit was special. Gillette's sermon, "To tell a secret," spoke on getting the light of gospel message to others.

Cleveland Decker

A former St. Johns resident, Cleveland Decker, 85, of 10899 Britten Dr., S.E. in Carson City died Saturday, Jan. 3, 1981 at the Belding Christian Home.

Decker was born Nov. 19, 1895 in Durand to George and Caroline Howe Decker. On April 22, 1965 he married Gladys Beard in St. Johns. He was a carpenter and had lived in Carson City for the past five years.

Funeral services were held at the Osgood Funeral Home Monday, Jan. 5 with the Rev. William McCallister officiating. Burial was in Mt. Rest Cemetery.

Cleveland Decker is survived by two sons, Vern Decker of Carson City and George Decker of Aberdeen, Washington; one step-daughter, Mrs. Marguerite Brant of Riverdale; 13 grandchildren; and six great-grandchildren.

★ Rivalry

Alumni Basketball Team beat the Eagles' Alumni Team 106-103 with the lead changing hands no less than 15 times. P-W owned bragging rights for a year, but now the two schools are preparing for another showdown.

In each town a ballot was made up and distributed throughout the respective communities, with the names of the 40 best ball players. Twenty of the players were graduates in odd years and 20 were graduates in even years.

The fans selected 10 from each side to play in an odd vs. even alumni game at each school. Then at that game, the fans cast another ballot to narrow the team to the ten best players worthy of representing their community in the big game.

P-W held its odd-even game at the high school on Jan. 3. Fowler's game will take place on Jan. 17 at the high school at 8 p.m.

The game to decide who owns bragging rights for the next 365 days is set for Saturday, Jan. 24 at 8 p.m. in Fowler's Piggot Gym.

★ Fair board

has run around $20,000 to $25,000 each year with rentals of tents, pens, gates and porta-johns as the major expenses. Funds also help pay youngsters a small premium for projects entered and hire a fair secretary. Phinney said that while costs to operate the fair continue to go up, funds to help finance it have gone down.

The community has tried to stay away from any form of commercialism at the fair but last week's action was inevitable, according to Roger Overway, chairman of the County Board of Commissioners. He said the commission approved the plan "because there are no extra funds, and it was either this measure or cut back."

Phinney explained that the rental spaces will help keep the fair for county 4-H members. Premiums paid to them for their exhibits are small in the first place compared to many other youth fairs. "How do you cut a fifty cent premium?" he asked. The fair board is also reluctant to cutback on its maintenance and improvements to the fairgrounds which recently included the renovation of Smith Hall and a new furnace.

Overway said the commission is happy that the fair board is taking such an active interest in the fair and that good judgement will be used to keep the commercial rental space to agriculture related businesses.

Phinney said the commissions approval for the project was the first step and plans are still being compiled as to just how the rental space will be organized. He said there will be no carnival midway and food will not be sold by outside interests. The fair board visualizes the rental booths set up outside on the north side of the fairgrounds and perhaps wrapping around to the back of Smith Hall, according to Phinney.

He said plans are also underway for some additional money making activities either at the fair or in the community during the year. A committee has been appointed with Ken Harris as chairperson to plan a box social and dance to raise fair revenues, perhaps sometime in March.

Special students moved

Special students moved into their new building located at the Intermediate School District Jan. 5. The building was scheduled to serve only the ISD'S programs for preschool and severely mentally impaired students.

At the last minute, however, trainable impaired students were forced to move into the new building too when water pipes broke over the holidays, flooding Walter Kyes School.

Multiply-impaired students from Clinton Co. are still attending classes in Lansing.

A new local business is sponsoring an open house this week. The St. Johns Telephone Answering Service will be awarding prizes and providing tours of their operation, Jan. 6, 7, 8 from 2 to 4 p.m. and Saturday, Jan. 10 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

If you ever wondered how someone can answer your telephone when no one is there to do it, this is your chance to see how it all works.

At the present time, the service employs nine people on a full or part-time basis. Owner Keith Fisher has bigger plans for the future so we will have to keep up with his activities.

A Christmas promotion by area merchants resulted in a winner from each store. Names were drawn by each merchant from names left by his own customers over the holiday season.

Winners were: Joe Suttin and Bonnie Kebler, Carol Ann Shop; Lillian Searles, Denim Den; Iva Kees, Fairway Discount; Margaret Puetz, Emilia Chope and Bernice Halsey, Fishers Big Wheel; Terry Witt, Harr's Jewelry; Audrey Little, J and M Shoes; Janet Sinke and Evelyn Sharick, Julie K; Ken Harmon, Krogers; Darrell May, Kurt's Appliance; Jean Bartholomew, Lambert's and Body Shop; Ethel Holm, Land of Oz; Bertha

CLINTON COUNTY PLANNING COMMISSION

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Clinton County Planning Commission will conduct a public hearing on Wednesday, January 14, 1981 at 7:30 P.M. in the Commissioners Room, Clinton County Courthouse, St. Johns, Michigan.

The subject of the public hearing will be the consideration of the following amendments to OR-1-78, the Clinton County Zoning Ordinance.

ZC-36-80 Bingham Township - Rezoning

A petition for rezoning has been filed by Mr. Robert Niemi, 1225 W. Parks Road, St. Johns, Michigan to rezone from A-1, Agricultural to B-1, Commercial the following legally described parcel of property:

Com. 140' E. of NW cor. of NE 1/4 of NE 1/4 of Sec. 28, T7N-R2W, Bingham Township, Clinton County, Mi, th. alg. the N. line of sd. Sec. 28 E. 140', th. S. 624', th. W. 280', th. N. 321', th. E. 140', th. N. 312' to POB.

The rezoning, if approved, would permit the continued operation of a business which is currently being operated on the site. The property is located on the south side of Parks Road, approximately 1320' West of US 27.

ZC-37-80 Watertown Township - Rezoning

A petition for rezoning has been filed by Mr. Donald A. Hines, Attorney, on behalf of Total Petroleum, Inc., 28001 Citron Drive, Romulus, Mi. to rezone from M-1, Light Industrial to M-2, Industrial the following described parcel of property:

All that part of the W 1/2 of the NE 1/4 of Sec. 34, T5N-R3W, Watertown Township, Clinton County, Mi., lying N of C/1 of Grand River Road and W of c/ of Ingersoll Rd., cont. 33.4 acres m/1.

The Total Petroleum Depot is located at 6300 W. Grand River, west of Ingersoll Road.

Case ZC-12-80(A) Text Amendment-Transfer and/or Expiration of Special Use Permit.

Amending Article 7, Section 7.1.9(A) in the following manner:

The language delineates parameters which would permit the transfer of a valid special use permit from a present landowner or operator to a subsequent owner or operator. The proposed amendment is an expansion and a clarification of existing language.

Case ZC-12-80(B) Text Amendment - Administration and Enforcement.

Amending Article 3, Section 3.8.2 Enforcement, procedures. The existing language has been supplemented in order to delineate correction periods for ordinance violations, and time periods for the Department to investigate complaints.

Case ZC-12-80(C) Text Amendment - Nuisances

Amending Article 5, Section 5.9, Junk in the following manner:

The entire section has been expanded in order to delineate with more specificity what acts, apparatus, accumulations and activities are to be declared to be a ordinance violation and a public nuisance. The sections also specifies what constitutes a junk motor vehicle. The section also adds a new section prohibiting the storage, placement, abandonment of junked construction equipment.

Case ZC-12-80(D) Text Amendment - Lot Division

Amending Article 4 by adding a new section. The supplement will permit the County to allow lot divisions in recorded plats upon approval from the Clinton County Zoning Board of Appeals, contingent upon compliance with the dimensional requirements of the Clinton County Zoning Ordinance

Case ZC-12-80(E) Text Amendment

Amending the following sections to permit mini-warehousing in the M-1 and M-2, Industrial Districts by right, in the B-3, Highway Service, under special conditions and in the R-M1, Multiple Family District and R-T, Mobile Home District by special conditions when constructed in conjunction with a housing development.

Amend the following sections by adding the text which is underlined.

6.10.3(G) Mini-warehousing (see Article 5, Section 5.11.12) R-M1 by Special Condition

6.11.3(I) Mini-warehousing (see Article 5, Section 5.11.12) R-T by Special Condition

6.15.3(H) Mini-warehousing (see Article 5, Section 5.11.12) B-3 by Special Condition

6.16.2(Z) Mini-warehousing, M-1 by Right.

6.17.2(J) Mini-warehousing, M-2 by Right.

Amend Article 5, to add a new section 5.11.12

This section will delineate special conditions for the establishment of mini-warehouses in the B-3, Highway Service, R-T, Mobile Home Development and R-M1, Multiple Family Residential zone districts. The text defines the terms warehouse, mini-warehouse and explosives. The text addresses minimum areas, lot coverage, off-street parking, on-site circulation and driveway width, landscaping, signs, business activities, storage uses, outside storage, living quarters, parking, loading, and driveway, hazardous material and setbacks.

ZC-35-80 Bath Township - Rezoning

St. Johns Lions re-cycle paper, glass

Lion invention

The glass crusher, designed by St. Johns Lion Jim Spousta reduces bottles and jars for shipment to a re-cycling plant. The local Lions club is accepting glass at their re-cycling center at the corner of Steel and Swegles Streets the second Saturday and the fourth Thursday of each month. Last month's work crew included left to right, Bill Kinney, Roger Feeman, Stan Simon and Rex Bangs. (Photo by Tom Zink)

Storage truck

The Saturday Lions Club crew unload newspapers picked up through out the city of St. Johns, for storage and ultimate shipment in this large trailer they recently purchased for their new re-cycling center. Left to right are President Rex Bangs, Dale Kuenzli, Bill Kinney and Roger Feeman and standing in the truck, Stan Simon and Bill Bellant.

The Lions members will be around again this Saturday picking up any newspapers, tied and bundled and placed at the curb in the city of St. Johns. Newspapers stacked in brown paper bags will also be accepted. (Photo by Tom Zink)

Saturday is paper pick-up

The St. Johns Lions Club Re-Cycling Center on the corner of Steel and Swegles Streets is in full operation and processing glass, papers and aluminum for further use.

The city of St. Johns expects to save money on garbage pick-up costs because of this new service from the service club.

Papers will be picked up at the curb again this Saturday as every second Saturday of each month. Lions members ask citizens to place their bagged or bundled newspapers at the curb by 10 a.m.

The center will be open on Saturday until 4 p.m., accepting glass bottles and jars, aluminum and newspapers.

Members will also be there on duty the fourth Thursday of each month from 7 to 9 p.m.

Lion Jim Spousta initiated the building of the glass crusher and Lion Rick Bellant supervises the shipment of the recycled materials.

Glass containers must be rinsed clean but labels need not be removed. All metal caps and rings should be taken off, however. The Lions ask that the glass be sorted as to color, amber, green and clear.

Aluminum eligible for re-cycling includes cans, T.V. trays and other aluminum baking dishes. All types of household aluminum items such as coffee pots, pans and framing from lawn furniture and screens.
