Strike is over

After 21 weeks the strike at Arnolds Drugs in the Southgate Plaza in St. Johns is finally over.

Workers at the store, a subsidiary of Borman's, Inc. of Detroit, joined employees of 42 other Arnolds stores in Michigan when they struck Sept. 16 over economic issues.

Employees say that they arrived at a three-year wage agreement and have retained all of their former benefits.

"It is over," says manager local Tim Mitchell. "Back to business as usual."

The Brennan and Earhardt families of St. Johns were keepers of the faith all through the hostage crisis. They kept their flags flying day and night and tied yellow ribbons to the trees in front of their homes on Oakland Street to remind people that the hostages were still captive in Iran. Sunday, as television stations announced the homecoming of the 52 former hostages, the St.

Johns families put up new flags and took down the yellow ribbons. Richard Brennan, left, Pat Earhardt with Susan and John Earhardt and Michelle Earhardt and Lee Brennan are all smiles as the ribbons come down. "Our prayers were answered," Mrs. Earhardt said. (Photo by Sharon Randall)

Ribbons come down, hostages are home

When Pat Erhardt and her children came home from her brother's wedding in Washington D. C. last March they tied some yellow ribbons around the large trees along side their home on the corner of State and Oakland Street. They were a reminder to the community that 52 Americans were still being held against their will in Iran.

Joining them were neighbor Lee Brennan and her children. The two families also hung out their American flags determined not to take them down until "the hostages come home."

Sunday they hung up clean, fresh flags from the porches of their homes and cut down the ribbons. The hostages were home and these families and others like them across the United States rejoiced.

Mrs. Erhardt said her family was moved by all the yellow ribbons tied around trees in the nation's capitol and when they returned the children "wanted to do something here."

Mrs. Brennan explained that the yellow ribbon had been used by early American women as a symbol that they were waiting for a loved one to come home from war. It is the tradition that brought the song, "Yellow Rose of Texas," she said.

The two families put an ad in a local shopping guide asking other St. Johns families to join them in flying their flags and tying yellow ribbons and were disappointed by no obvious response. "Surely we are not oblivious to the outside world," Mrs. Erhardt said.

"We also asked them to pray," Mrs. Erhardt said of the ad. "And finally those prayers were answered. We all feel so over-joyed and relieved."

Green Sheet Shopper tubes are being installed across Clinton County in preparation for a new advertising product of the Clinton County News and the DeWitt-Bath Review, now owned by Suburban Newspapers Network.

St. Johns students do well on state test

By SHARON RANDALL

Giving praise to curriculum committees who have learned how to go after weak spots, St. Johns Elementary Coordinator Roger Feeman said that although this district's students fell in some of the math categories, in general they did well again on the Michigan Educational Assessment tests.

The St. Johns scores look best at the fourth grade level where even though students fell in the percentage that obtained 75 to 100 percent in mathematics, it is still a very high percentage.

The test, designed to be an indicator of achievement of minimum objectives that children should be learning, measures how many of a district's students obtain 75 to 100 percent achievement on the questions.

In reading skills fourth graders here went from 78 percent making that score in 1979 to 83.4 percent this year. Their math score dropped from a high 90.6 last year to 85.5 percent this year.

The seventh graders went up in both math and reading scores with 80.3 percent achieving 75 to 100 percent of the objectives in reading and 62.4 percent in math. The math scores are up from 59.3 percent scoring high last year.

New product coming in spring

Delivery tubes are being installed across Clinton County for a new advertising product to be introduced by Suburban Newspapers Network, Inc. sometime this spring.

The bright green tubes announce a new publication, The Green Sheet Shopper, that will be published in conjunction with the Clinton County News and the Bath DeWitt Review.

"We have to have a delivery system installed before we can introduce the new shopper," explained David Ray, editorial director and assistant general manager. He said a date for the new publication has not yet been determined and rests with the installation of the tubes.

Bob Howell, circulation manager of the Suburban papers said that the Green Sheet will have a circulation of nearly 20,000. He said more than 10,000 of the tubes will be installed, plus boys and girls will be used as carriers in the communities of the county.

Ray said the tube system will offer Suburban Newspapers more control over delivery of its new advertising product.

County residents with questions about the Green Sheet tubes can call the Clinton County News office.

Old scrapbooks night planned

The Genealogists of the Clinton Co. Historical Society invite members of the community to their Scrapbook Night.

An earlier county-wide search for old records brought forth many old scrapbooks, so the Genealogists saw a need for a session devoted to the subject.

The Feb. 2 meeting will be held in the community room of the Central National Bank at 7:30 p.m.

See 1st robin

Ellie Falor called to say she and her husband Jack had seen the first robin of the year in the back yard of their West Taft Road home. The bird must have been fooled by the warm spring like weather we had last week. "He was just beautiful," Mrs. Falor said. "We were amazed to see him." The couple feed birds all winter in their yard but said robins do not join the others at the feeder. "This is the earliest we have ever seen one," she said.

Oklahoma chosen

The St. Johns High School has announced that this year's musical will be the popular 1943 Rogers and Hammerstein musical "Oklahoma."

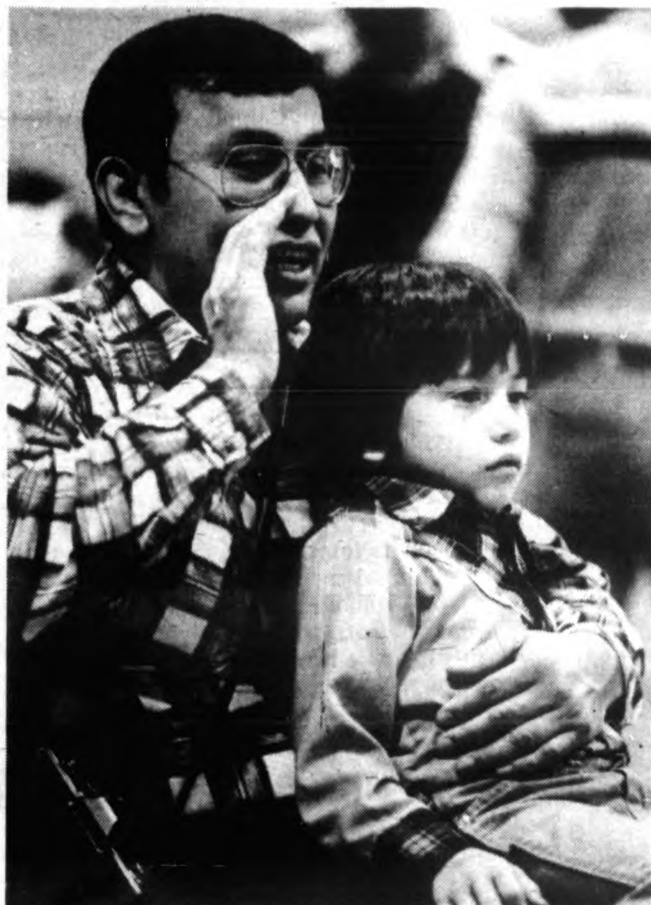

Tryouts will be held the week of Feb. 16 with production dates scheduled for May 1, 2, 8, 9.

Directors for the musical include Barb Markman, Don Valentine, and Bill Tennant. A fourth director will be named later.

Residents have heart

Residents of St. Johns proved that they have a lot of heart. The American Red Cross collected 98 units of blood at the Jan. 16 drive.

Eight local donors were cited by the Red Cross for having given one gallon of blood. James F. Willette has now given five gallons, Getty Geller has given four, and Lois Oakes has donated three gallons.

St. Johns wrestling coach Mario Torrez had plenty of assistance from his five-year old son Michael during the Bath Invitational Saturday.

Apparently Michael may follow in dad's footsteps in the future. Mario joked that Michael knows about five moves. (Photo by Bob Stern)

Music program offers variety

An unusual musical program has been put together by the St. Johns High School orchestra, featuring three professional groups from the Lansing area, including The Algie Watkins Jazz Quintet, Phase V. Watkins is an elementary school music teacher in St. Johns.

The program will feature a variety of popular musical styles including a contemporary folk singer and the MSU Jazz Band. It will be presented, Thursday, Feb. 5 at 7:30 p.m. in Pocus Auditorium of St. Johns High School.

Starting off the evening's program is folk singer, guitarist Pat Madden-Roth. She traveled with several jazz-folk-blues groups while living in North Carolina and has appeared at the Olde World, Grate Steak and

Families invited to fun in snow

Bundle up the kids and head for Sleepy Hollow State Park, Sunday afternoon, Feb. 8, for some outdoor, wintertime fun.

Community Resource Volunteers will again present Fun in the Snow Day, using the shores of frozen Lake Ovid as a kickoff point for cross-country skiing, snow shoeing, ice fishing and even square dancing in the snow. Assisting them this year is the 4-H Extension office in activities that last from 12:30 to 5 p.m.

Planned are demonstrations in cross-country skiing and snow shoeing at 1:30 p.m. Two cross-country skiing races will follow, a one mile track at 2 p.m. for the novice skier and a four mile event at 3 p.m. for the more experienced skier.

The novice race will be broken into age groups and the 4-H office will provide ribbons for first and second places.

If you don't want to race, there's ski touring at 2 p.m. Ice fishing, with prizes for children, starts at 2:30 p.m. Bring your own equipment.

The gathering starts with a huge bonfire and participants are encouraged to pack a picnic and bring hot dogs and sticks for a weiner roast. The picnic is scheduled from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m.

This will be the third annual Fun in the Snow Day, started when the state park was new. Motor vehicle permits are required to get into the park, $10 for a season pass and $2 per car for the day. There are special rates for senior citizens.

Last year's event was canceled because of a lack of snow. Feb. 22 has been set as an alternate date for 1981.

On special use permits

Nobis decrys red tape

By SUE KILEY WHITE

Clinton County Commissioner Walter (Bud) Nobis tried once again to legislate action to redo the handling of special use permits in the county following a zoning matter presented to the board at the Tuesday morning board meeting.

Nobis, a strong opponent of special use permits asked the zoning ordinance section be amended to alleviate the "red tape." He asked the board to consider special use permits only for temporary construction of 90 to 180 days.

"I don't understand how this would work," said Commissioner Dick Hawks. "You'd have to completely redo the zoning ordinance and have to come up with a lot more zones, in addition to not having any control over a lot of nuisance issues."

Zoning administrator Jack Nelson added this action would triple the size of the zoning ordinance. He also noted it would be difficult to anticipate all the problems that might arise if there were no special use permits in the county.

"Special use permits lend an element of flexibility," said Nelson. "Mostly, they are used with gravel pits, which would be difficult to deal with, without special use permits."

Nelson also mentioned more counties are using special use permits, rather than doing away with them.

"It bothers me that we rezone something, and let someone put up a building in the area it's not zoned for and then have to go through the whole process again in a couple of years when he wants to add to the property," said Nobis. "A person should be able to pickup that zoning ordinance and know what he can expect."

Nelson suggested alternatives could be looked at such as the administrator issuing the special use permits instead of having to go through the county board. However, Nobis said he didn't, "want any part of it."

The Nobis motion was defeated by the board with a seven yes vote and a four no vote.

Total Petroleum, Inc., of Romulus, Michigan, requested 33 acres of land it owns in Watertown Township on Grand River Avenue be rezoned from M-1, light industry to M-2, heavy industry and requested the issuance of a special use permit for the above ground storage of petroleum products.

This parcel was rezoned in 1957 from Residential to Industrial in order to permit the construction of the existing facility. The 1971 zoning ordinance distinguished between light and heavy industrial uses and districts, according to the zoning report. The Total Petroleum site was designated as M-1, light industrial despite the fact the existing use was not a permitted use in the M-1 district.

Total Petroleum was not aware it was a nonconforming use until it applied recently for a building permit.

The county board agreed with the recommendation of the planning commission to approve the rezoning. The request for the special use permit was also okayed.

In a surprise move the board also agreed to refund the company the $100 application fee for the rezoning, because it was an error on the county's part, not the petitioners.

In other action commissioners approved the proposal that the ASCS and SCS offices be moved into the new county building and move the Department of Developmental Control (Zoning) into the

Plans brewing for 1981 home tour

The cities of DeWitt and St. Johns will join hands for the 1981 Clinton County Historical Society's Home Tour set for Saturday, Sept. 19.

A planning committee consisting of past chairmen of the annual event and society members willing to help with this year's tour, met last week to set the location and date.

Catherine Rumbaugh, past chairman, said the tour is traditionally held the second weekend after Labor Day to avoid conflict with the Marshall Home Tour held the first weekend after the holiday.

The tour of historic and antique filled homes has become the major money maker of the society which supports a county historical museum and other historic projects including the recent '1980 History of Clinton County book.

This will be the first year that DeWitt homes have been involved in the September tour. Ken Coin and Faye Hansen will coordinate the DeWitt activities, but a general chairman has not been named.

Participants will be able to tour the homes in both communities, but enough will be included in each city to make that part of the tour stand on its own for people who do not wish to travel between them. Mrs. Rumbaugh said clubs and organizations interested in participating should mark their calendars and schedule activities by calling the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce office.

Reagan's young budget director is 'go getter,' says brother

By SHARON RANDALL

President Ronald Reagan's youngest cabinet member has always accomplished a lot and has thrown himself into his new job as budget director working 16 hours every day, says his brother Gary Stockman, a St. Johns resident.

Stockman said his oldest brother, David, has been growing in distinction ever since high school when he won a trip to the nation's capitol with a prize essay. It came as no surprise then to his family in St. Joseph when he won a cabinet post.

The president's new budget director was a moderate to conservative Michigan congressman from the 4th district and was just starting his third term.

Stockman had spent time in Washington, D.C. as an aide to John Anderson and at 25 had become the youngest executive director of the Republican House Conference.

As a Michigan Congressman he gained attention in 1979 when Time magazine listed him as "one of 60 national leaders to watch."

Stockman began this presidential race supporting John Connally and switched to the Reagan camp when the Texan withdrew.

Gary and David Stockman are the youngest and oldest children of a St. Joseph farm family. While David is the only national politician, the whole family is political. Their grandfather was Berrien County treasurer for 30 years, and their father has always served in township government. Stockman said his mother is chairman of the Republican party in his home county.

While the St. Johns man says he is a "small town person" and does not have any cravings for big time political life, he tries to "follow things very closely" and is "very opinionated."

Stockman came to St. Johns in July as probation officer to the circuit court. He and his wife have recently redone an old home in the city. They have two children.

Gary Stockman Elected

Enid White of Clinton Co. was chosen Vice-Chairperson of the Community Mental Health Board of Clinton, Eaton, and Ingham Counties, effective Jan. 15.

Protection bombs pose hazards, chief warns

A Rodney B. Wilson student was blinded and in pain for several hours Thursday, Jan. 22 after another student sprayed him in the face with a aerosol propellant being sold and carried as a deterrent to attackers.

Assistant principal Bill Brown and St. Johns Chief of Police, Lyle French expressed alarm over the incident and issued a warning to parents on the potential danger of the chemical bombs.

Brown said that although the student handbook prohibits possession of the protection sprays, he suspects that many students are carrying them.

"They are in fact, at this point in time, illegal in Michigan," French said.

He added that Governor William Milliken has recently signed a bill which will legalize use of certain kinds and sizes of the spray bomb.

"I'm really disappointed that the governor signed that bill," French said. "The potential problems are immense."

He explained that while the product is easily obtained at the present time, (It is not illegal to sell them, only to use them.) their legalization will make the potential weapon even more accessible.

"I especially don't recommend them for kids," French said. "The responsibility is too large."

Brown said last week's incident at the junior high school was the first and that reminders had been issued to students and parents that carrying the propellant was against the school code.

The protective spray used was brought to school by a student who attends early hour. Brown said her mother had given it to her to carry because she walks to school when it is still dark. Her locker-mate passed on the bomb to another student who used it on a classmate in anger.

The victim, though wearing glasses, suffered eye damage that lasted at least half the day, Brown said. He was taken to Clinton Memorial for treatment.

Pair arrested in city

Two young people have been arraigned in District Court after being arrested by St. Johns City Police.

Arrested Jan. 9 were Tamara Sue Houghten, 17 of 911 W. State St. and Jeffrey Earl Kosloski, 18, of 1847 S. Yallop Rd.

Houghten is charged with larceny in a building and fraudulent use of a credit card and was released on a $500 bond on each charge. Kosloski is charged with fraudulent use of a credit card. He was released on a $500 bond. A pretrial has been set for Feb. 18 at 2 p.m.

The police say the charges are related to larceny of a wallet from a purse at St. Johns Memorial Hospital.

City police also arrested James A. Peters, 19, of 205 N. Scott Rd., Apt. C8 and charged him with breaking and entering an apartment above H and H Lounge, downtown.

The complaint was issued Jan. 13 by Kenneth Morgan, 311 N. Clinton who said $430 in cash had been taken from his apartment during the early hours of the morning.

Looking ahead

CLINTON CO. CITIZENS FOR SPECIAL EDUCATION will be meeting Feb. 3 at 7:30 p.m. in conference room B, Clinton Co. Intermediate school District offices. The guest speaker, Judith Haught, is past president of Michigan Association of Children with Learning Disabilities and will discuss what it is like to be handicapped.

Fog and ice cause rash of fender benders

The Clinton County Sheriff Department reports a rash of accidents this week, many related to ice covered roads and fog last Tuesday.

In the Elsie area the fog and drivers going too fast for conditions caused a chain of accidents that ended in a car fire that destroyed one vehicle.

In St. Johns a teacher on her way to school could not stop in time and hit a school bus loaded with 50 students.

In the Elsie incident on Hollister Road just north of Colony Road, Bernice Coleman, 64, of East Main, Elsie had just been pulled out of the ditch by Gales Wrecker and was stopped on the side of the road. Mrs. Coleman's car was about a foot into the roadway and just ready to leave when Jeanette Hibbler, 18, of East Oak, Elsie was unable to stop and slid into her vehicle. Miss Hibbler and Mrs. Coleman both suffered injuries and were taken to Owosso Memorial Hospital.

Minutes later Cheryl M. Lockwood, 16 of East Oak Street ran into the Hibbler vehicle that was in the roadway but unoccupied. The impact sent the Hibbler car off the roadway into a field where it burst into flames and burned according to the deputy's report.

Miss Lockwood suffered B injuries and was taken to Owosso Memorial.

Marcia Price, 25, of North Knowlton, Elsie, ran into the stopped Lockwood vehicle which was in the roadway but unoccupied. Mrs. Price sought her own treatment for her daughter, Shannon, 4, who suffered B injuries.

Toni L. Ornelas, 25, of Gratiot Road, Elsie then ran into the left rear of Mrs. Coleman's car that was off the paved portion of the road and unoccupied. Deputies said Mrs. Ornelas swerved around another vehicle in the roadway and then slid into the Coleman car causing very minor damage.

No citations were issued.

Also on Jan. 20, on Wellington Road north of Marshall Road Dorothy Jean Spousta, 38, of 302 North Lawn, East Lansing was unable to stop and ran into the rear of St. Johns school bus, No. 22 driven by Pauline Graham, 62 of N. Williams Road.

Mrs. Graham's bus was stopped, picking up passengers when struck by Ms. Spousta's car. All children were seen and six suffering minor bruises caused by bumping their heads on window or seats were treated with ice packs. There were no abrasions, according to a report by Gordon Vandemark, transportation supervisor.

Passenger Dale P. George, 15, of Hibbard Road, Ovid suffered B injuries after a car driven by Paul E. George, 17, of Hibbard Road hit a patch of ice and lost control. The George vehicle hit a steel gate and then a tree. Witnesses told deputies that the vehicle was traveling in excess of 80 miles per hour. The driver and another passenger were not injured. A citation was issued to Paul George for careless driving.

On Jan. 24 on Kinley Road, west of Wright Road, icy conditions made it difficult for Debra L. Smith, 24, of Tallman Road, Fowler to stop and she hit the vehicle of Mary Ann Wirth, 41, of Tallman Road which was stopped in the roadway. Mrs. Wirth had stopped to scrape ice off the windshield. She and Beth Wirth, 14, and Carol Wirth, 20, suffered C injuries and sought their own treatment.

Deputies investigated an attempted arson at the Fowler Gambles Store. Allen Buchalski who owns the building adjacent to his store, AJ's Market said someone had entered the Gambles store and attempted to burn it down. Entry was gained through a second floor door that had been nailed shut. After smelling smoke, Buchalski investigated and found wet, charred material in a plastic wastebasket. Buchalski said someone else had extinguished the fire.

4-H offers family learning, fun

Aiming at a day of fun and learning planned to bring the family together, the Clinton County Extension office is staging its third annual 4-H Family Day, Saturday, Feb. 21 at Rodney B. Wilson Junior High School, St. Johns.

"Families make the difference," proclaim the planning committee for this action packed day. Activities have been designed for every age group and range from a session in Pattern Alterations by Connie Tyler, extension home economist, to one on Alternative Fuels led by Bill Stout of Michigan State University and Harold Lietzke, president of Agri-Fuels in Alma.

Registration for the workshops must be into the 4-H office by February 6. Materials describing the workshops have gone out to all 4-H families and other community members can stop by the Extension office or call to sign up.

Pam Zell who served on the planning committee for Family Day said sessions in solar energy, refunding and coupon clipping, car repair for women and a workshop called "Make it, Take it," are expected to be the most popular.

"The solar energy workshop is being led by Cynthia Fridgen, a housing and energy specialist from Michigan State," Mrs. Zell said. "She intends to take participants through where we have been and where we are going with solar energy."

The Fridgen presentation will use slides of historic energy installations to show participants that 700 years of solar design proves that we can supplement our energy supply with power from the sun, Mrs. Zell explained.

The refunding and coupon clipping class is a must for anyone who wants to learn the secrets of the "super shoppers". Participants will learn how to save money on grocery bills by combining wise shopping, coupons and refunds, Mrs. Zell said.

The class will be taught by Mary Fullmer of DeWitt. In her information to Mrs. Zell, she explained that she was able to purchase $62.89 worth of groceries for $30 at the DeWitt IGA store.

A starter kit of refunding newsletters and "how to sheets" will be passed out to each participant in the class. The class is limited to 10.

An expert from Michigan Women for Highway Safety, Marie Emery, will lead the workshop in car repair.

Objectives of the class are to teach participants to open the hood of the car safely, check fluids, read information from the tire and use the Owner's Manual.

The "Make it, Take it" workshop is a super crafts class. The leader, Elaine Mattox, plans to bring between 50 and 85 mini-crafts to exhibit and explain. She stresses crafts for fun, therapy, money makers, conversation getters and has one for each month. Included in her class will be samples of drinking glass terrariums, quilting quickies, leathercraft, Hawaiian straw weaving, basketry, and telephone wire jewelry.

Sessions are for half day time periods and are repeated in the afternoon. They include classes in self defense, photography, home interior design and make up.

design and make up.

Other choices include flower arrangements by Jan Rohrback; egg jewelry by Judy Vanek; cardio pulmonary resuscitation by Pat Rosenquist, licensed paramedic; landscaping by Pete Motz; cake decorating, Marbeth Hynes, and quilting by Lynn Banninga.

Al Dickens has agreed to teach copper tooling and Mary Davidson, jazzercise. Ellen Burnham will lead a session in macrame.

Debra Brunger, former extension staff member will be back in Clinton County for a session called Pooh's Corner, presenting developmental activities for ages three to seven.

This year there is a small charge for 4-H Family Day, 50 cents a person or $2 for the whole family. Some workshops have material fees.

Hobies in East Lansing since coming to Michigan. Madden-Roth will be assisted by Andrew Farmer on the violin and mandolin.

The Watkins group, according to William Tennant, concert promoter, is very talented. "Everyone in St. Johns has heard of Mr. Watkins from their children," he said, "but if you've never heard him play, you really must come to the concert."

Phase V plays every Wednesday evening at the Village Market in East Lansing and has performed in many establishments including Longs, Sea Hawk and the University Club.

Concluding the evening's program is the phenomenal 20-piece Michigan State University Jazz Band under the direction of Dr. Ron Newman. This group has performed throughout the mid-west as well as at the prestigious Montreux Jazz Festival in Switzerland.

"This is a most exciting group," explained Tennant, "Really, all three are and this is an opportunity for the people of this area to see them all at once."

The unique program is being put together by the high school orchestra. "It is our intent to bring a variety of cultural events to St. Johns so that our community will be able to enjoy some excellent programs without having to travel far and pay high admission prices," said Tennant. "It's a continuation of the cultural series that was put together last year in cooperation with Community Resource Volunteers. We hope that the community will show support for this kind of effort."

Tickets will be on sale starting, Thursday, Jan. 29 at both the high school and junior high. They can also be reserved by calling St. Johns High School, 224-2394 between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Those left will go on sale at the door the night of the program. Tickets are $2 each or $8 for a family.

The coach's coach

Fowler's winning coach remembers

By JEAN MARTIN

Several generations of Fowler area young people have known Marion Piggott as teacher, coach, and superintendent of schools. In 1952 he received state-wide recognition as the coach of the class D state basketball championship team.

Now because one member of that championship team, George Fox, in turn has coached the legendary Earvin "Magic" Johnson, Marion should be known to a new generation of children as the coach's coach.

Marion says that he did take a class or two in college to learn coaching.

"It was all just from books 'though," he recalled. "There was never any real experience."

Marion began teaching in a one-room school, the Boak School, with a third grade certificate from Ferris Institute. After teaching there for four years, he went to Fowler in 1929.

"It was during these early years that Marion went on to earn his bachelor's degree from Eastern Michigan.

"There were plenty of teachers then; so if you got a job, you kept it," Marion explained.

After teaching all week in Fowler, Marion would have to drive way down to Ypsilanti on Saturdays.

"I got my masters from Michigan State," he said. "That was a lot easier; but of course at the time I was first studying, Michigan State had nothing for teachers. It was all agriculture."

By checking through his piles of year-books Marion finally decided that he became superintendent about 1940. He knows that he was superintendent for 18 years.

About 1957 Marion left the Fowler Schools and went to Lyons where he was the principal-coach. Four years later he went to Ionia High School where he continued to coach district championship teams.

While he was in Fowler Marion taught high school math and history along with his coaching duties.

Marion recalls one particular class in Ypsilanti in which the teacher insisted that students do pages of "busy work" each week. Then he would never collect the work.

"Right then I swore I would never do that to my students," Marion declared. "I would never make an assignment they didn't have to hand in."

"In college I think I learned more what not to do than what to do," he chuckled.

Another thing Marion learned was that he had to be sure his students would have access to enough information to complete their assignments.

"One time I asked for a paper on Marie Antoinette," he recalled. "I always sort of liked her."

"Well, the librarian took me aside and asked me if I'd seen the two books the kids would be reading. One was all right, but the other was a little bit racy," he laughed.

Old friends sometimes call Marion "Jerry."

"That's characteristic of the Irish," he smiled. "They have to give everybody a different name. People sometimes think my name is Gerald, but it's just a name I got from the family."

Marion was raised on a farm north of Fowler on the Essex-Lebanon Twp. line, the son of Fernando Marion and Sarah Lawless Piggott.

"There was an Irish settlement in Fowler too, and that's where the Irish came from in this (Catholic) parish," he explained. "The others who lived farther over, they went to Hubbardston."

Marion has been to Ireland twice to look for family members and to see the land his grandmother, Bridget Kearney Piggott, told him about.

"I can remember my grandmother talking about three things," he said. "The heather and the mountains, the hedgerows, and the way the thatched roofs of the houses needed to be repaired after a storm."

To Marion there seemed to be something almost mystical about his first trip to Ireland in 1970. When he and his sister, Vera, boarded the plane in Chicago, the name on the plane was Bridget.

"It seemed all through the trip that our Grandmother was guiding us," he recalled.

Although the trip was primarily a sight-seeing trip, Marion kept trying to find someone from the family. Finally his sister balked.

"I went up to this little - I'd call it a bar, but it was in a house. By this time she wouldn't even get out of the car," he laughed.

The people in the pub in Ballyporeen directed him to a nearby house. They were sure, they said, that someone there could help him.

"The woman turned out to be my grandmother's great niece, Bridget Fitzgerald," he beamed. "Her daughter lived just a few houses away, and they were all there to meet us pretty soon."

Since that first meeting, the two branches of the family have stayed in touch. Some of the Irish cousins have even visited with Marion in the United States. In 1976 he wrote and published a book about the family.

Before he retired from teaching and coaching, Marion bought himself a farm north of Fowler on Wacousta Rd.

"I bought it for something to do after I retired," he explained.

Today he raises shorthorned cattle and sheep on the farm. This year, however, he has gotten a young couple to live there and take care of things so that he doesn't have to leave his house in town every day.

Besides his farm, his family, and his friends, Marion has many other interests. He collects commemorative plates and other fine pieces of china. He also has some interesting pottery.

"I'm just a little bit nuts about this Indian stuff," he laughed.

In the winter he likes to hunt deer and pheasants in the north.

Marion's plants fill the east end of his kitchen and dining room, and he also raises all sorts of birds and waterfowl.

"I know how to make things grow because I grew up on the farm," he explained.

It should also probably be noted that when Marion was in Ireland, he did kiss the Blarney Stone.

President Reagan has stated the U.S.-Iran agreement which led to the release of the 52 American Hostages will be carefully reviewed. The Wall Street Journal suggested in an editorial that Reagan should feel free to disown the agreement if it does not benefit American interests. Here then is the question we've asked on the issue.

Do you feel the U.S. should comply with the agreement, releasing the rest of the frozen Iranian assets or do otherwise?

Cathy Chambers of St. Johns: "We gave our word, but I don't know that we should go back on it because of the way the hostages were treated. It's their money."

"We elected the president and if he feels we shouldn't give them the rest of the money, then we should go along with that."

Joe Lorio of St. Johns: "We should keep the money and drop the bomb. I put four years in the service and I know what it's like to be someplace you don't want to be."

Charles Decker of Maple Rapids: "I don't think they should give the money back. They put our hostages through enough hell. Personally, I think they should bomb 'em."

Traci White of St. Johns: "I think Reagan should carefully look at it and see if President Carter made a good agreement. Reagan has the choice of what he wants to do, but I think definitely we should hold some of the money, now that we've got the hostages back."

Rita Hott of St. Johns: "I feel that we have a right to refuse. I think we all knew the hostages were being mistreated and as we find out more we'll learn more about the mistreatment."

Jan Werbish of St. Johns: "I think they should comply with the agreement, because they did commit themselves."

Superintendent's column

By DONALD BURNS,
Superintendent, St. Johns Public Schools

This year's school budget of approximately $7,300,000 represents less than a 3.5 percent increase over the 1979-80 budget expenditures. Without the use of over $400,000 from the district's Cash Fund Equity, the 1980-81 budget would represent over a 2 percent decrease from the 79-80 budget expenditures.

The nearly three and one-half percent increase represents the lowest yearly increase in expenditures since the district's annexation of rural schools.

The 1980-81 State Aid Bill appropriated the St. Johns Public Schools approximately $502,000 fewer dollars in State Aid than the previous year. The membership-formula guarantees a per-pupil membership allowance of $1,744 for a district levying 30 mills. St. Johns levies only 26.18 mills, so it receives only $1,567 per-pupil membership allowance. This membership guarantee is comprised of state and local funds.

Three categorical programs also were eliminated from the State Aid Act. They are declining enrollment, capital outlay and financial assistance to districts that had to roll back operating millage under a tax limitation amendment adopted in 1978.

The declining enrollment categorical appropriation softened the loss of membership aid to those school districts experiencing declining enrollments. The capital outlay program provided state aid to help districts in meeting principal and interest payments on outstanding bonds and funds for those districts levying building and site millage. St. Johns received $132,000 under these two categorical appropriations last year. All other categorical programs were reduced 30 percent from last year's level. Major categorical programs effected by this reduction included special education, transportation and vocational education. This represents a loss in revenues of approximately $136,000.

I do think it's necessary for me to indicate to you that the fiscal situation in which St. Johns Public Schools finds itself is probably unprecedented and certainly more critical than may be realized by the citizens of the school district and even some school employees.

The rejection by the voters last summer of 2.45 additional mills for operation resulted in a loss of approximately $454,000 before school could start last September. An additional $120,000 in cuts were ordered in December to take effect with the start of the second semester. This was necessary if the 1980-81 budget was to be in balance.

For the first time on such a large scale we have been forced to back off from taking innovative steps to meet local educational needs. I have found that the district's budget crisis has to a large extent transformed the power to innovate into the power to decide what programs to cut.

By the beginning of the second semester a reduction of 23 employee positions or their equivalent man-hours will have taken place since the first of September. Re-service for all employees has been severely limited. Requests for supplies and equipment have been cut to the absolute essentials. Some staff members have been asked to double-up on work loads and responsibilities.

The challenge facing the Board, administration, staff and the citizens of the district is formidable. How do we maintain programs and services without lowering their quality even more? Where can we continue to initiate cost-saving measures that will help in the overall operation of the school district? How do we inform the community of what has been done and what is now taking place in the school system because of harsh fiscal restraints? These are but a few of the many problems we now face—primarily for reasons not caused at the local level.

The Board of Education and I shall continue to ask for your help, cooperation, and counsel. We believe the school system can weather this fiscal situation, but only with your understanding and support.

Union Savings and Loan, Mid-Michigan's oldest Savings and Loan, is opening an office in St. Johns. The building, located south on US-27 at Sturgis, is in the final stages of construction. At this time the interior finishing and decorating is being completed, and the targeted opening date is set for mid to late March. This could change depending on construction timetables, but so far all plans are going forward without complication.

Rod Weaver, Assistant Vice President of Union Savings, says the St. Johns office will open with a staff of four. The manager elect, Glenn Varlesi, and office manager, Ms. Priscilla Gove, and two part-time tellers who are yet to be hired will complete this staff.

At the present time Mr. Varlesi is living in Lansing; but according to Mr. Weaver, he will be locating in the St. Johns area in the near future. The Union Savings and Loan philosophy includes becoming a full-fledged part of the community and the additional staff will be hired from the St. Johns area.

The office manager, Ms. Gove, has been a part of this community for most of her life and has had experience in financial establishments in St. Johns and Lansing. Mr. Weaver said that they felt fortunate to employ Ms. Gove in the position of office manager.

The St. Johns branch will expand Union Savings to a four county representation which includes Clinton, Ingham, Eaton and Ionia Counties. The St. Johns area was chosen as a site for the new office after a careful study of the marketing area, deposit base, and projected growth of population. Before the savings and loan could expand to this area application was made through the Michigan Department of Commerce Financial Institution Bureau's Savings and Loan Division. This lengthy process had to be completed before the doors to the St. Johns office could open for business.

At this time, everything is proceeding according to schedule and we can soon expect a new addition to the St. Johns financial community.

(Jody Smith, manager of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce, writes this weekly column about what is happening in the business and community sectors of St. Johns.)

Area photographers are invited to submit their pictures for our special feature on this page, "Through the lens opening". We solicit works from anyone who is interested in photography and are especially looking for the unusual or arty photo. ## Senior Citizen Update

Here are some consumer tips that I'd like to pass along to you.

When you shop, read labels. Look beyond the large print. The economy size isn't always economical.

Manufacturer's prices printed on labels or packages are often used on cheap items to give the illusion of bargains. Widely advertised items will be featured at special prices in many stores. These so called list prices can be misleading. Don't let yourself be fooled. The only way to know whether you are getting a bargain or not is to shop around.

Don't let a store lure you in with a so-called "price reduction," then tell you the item is sold out. This is called "Bait and Switch." If you cannot get what you want, walk out.

Some stores offer specials to attract customers. Check comparative prices. But remember, driving extra distances won't always save money.

When complaining about a product or service, make sure you save a carbon of your complaint letter. Also remember to include all necessary information.

If you need to return merchandise, always remember to return it to the right department of the store where you bought it. Do not return merchandise near closing time or during rush hours when personnel are busiest. If the person you're speaking with cannot answer your questions to your satisfaction, ask to see someone else higher in authority. When you are leaving an item for repair, make sure you get a receipt.

Before you sign any contract, ask what happens if you miss a payment. Will the entire balance be demanded? Will the seller repossess the item?

Finally, never sign a contract with blank spaces; if the blank does not apply, draw a line through it. And be sure to get a copy of the contract when you sign it.

I'll have more hints another time.
So.....until next time.

★ Test scores

The scores don't look quite so good at the 10th grade level, especially in math. This grade was added to the testing last year. In reading 76.3 percent of St. Johns sophomores scored 75 to 100 percent of the objectives over 61.9 percent last year. Math scores dropped from 63.9 percent meeting the objectives in 1979 to 54.9 percent this year.

Feeman said the curriculum committees study test results each year and key in to any weakness that is evident. With math scores dropping this year, Feeman said he has not yet determined if the drop is a trend over the whole state or if St. Johns has some soft spots.

"Sometimes just a change in the way a question is asked or the way terms are used can affect scores," he said.

He said this year's results "still show that our program is a good strong program and the children are achieving." He said some buildings have been scoring 100 percent on many of the objectives.

Feeman said it has been a trend statewide for students to achieve better on the reading questions than on the math.

"The higher you go the more difficult it is to establish a test that hits dead center on all programs," he explained. "The tenth grade scores reflect that too."

CETA crew busy working on Clinton County drains

By SUE KILEY WHITE

Crew members of the Clinton Development Commission (CDC) are busy renovating Clinton County Drains this winter, according to Mike Brown, field supervisor. Normally, this kind of work is done during the summer months, but township supervisors and the drain commissioner asked for a different kind of program this year.

The CDC offers a temporary work experience program for young people in the county with funds provided through the county comprehensive employment act.

This particular crew works on county drains on a rotating schedule of three weeks in each township.

Their main job is to cut brush and trees along the drain system.

"This is the first time we've done this in the winter," said Brown. "Usually the guys work inside."

In an effort to be fair to all the townships, the crews only spend three weeks in each area regardless if the job is finished or not. After each township has used the workers equally, the rotation is repeated.

The drain crews are completing work this week on the Cordray Drain, which is located in Greenbush Township. This drain was reconstructed by petition in 1929, with the total cost of the project estimated at $10,500 including bridges.

The drain taxes were spread over a two-year period with 66 percent of the cost assessed to Clinton County and 34 percent assessed to Gratiot County.

"The maintenance program of a drain is of considerably less cost to the taxpayer than reconstructing the drain every 20 to 40 years," said Harry Harden, drain commissioner. "We are probably saving about 30 to 45 percent on each drain."

Harden noted about $30,000 was saved on the Muskrat Drain, because of a maintenance program.

"This particular drain has been let go since 1930 and with all the brush and debris in it, the water flow of the drain is slowed up considerably," added

County schools to celebrate Catholic Schools Week

Readers in church

Over the past few weeks students at St. Joseph School in St. Johns have been studying the school's traditions in preparation for their upcoming celebration of Catholic Schools Week, Feb. 1-7.

The three Catholic schools in Clinton Co. will all be celebrating Catholic Schools Week, Feb. 1-7. In doing so they will be joining with Catholic schools throughout the nation. As always each school will have its own theme and its own schedule of events.

"Choosing a tradition - Catholic Schools" is the theme for this year's celebration at St. Joseph School in St. Johns.

St. Joseph School has a long tradition dating back to 1924. According to the school's principal, Sr. Joan, the school opened in the fall of '24 with 61 students.

"The St. Joseph School community is proud of what it can offer to the people of St. Johns," said Sr. Joan.

Many individuals, she said, have played a part in making Catholic schools what they are today. During the past few weeks students in all six grades have been busy studying the history of their school.

Some classes have invited guest speakers, she explained, while in others the students have been talking with their parents and grandparents to learn more about the school's past.

"Catholic schools are a part of an American tradition, a vital element in this country's heritage," she added.

St. Joseph School will celebrate Catholic Schools Week with an open house Feb. 4 from 9-11 a.m. and 1-2:30 p.m. All members of the community are invited to stop in and see the students in action.

According to Most Holy Trinity principal Barbara Valentine, preparations are continuing for the parish Centennial celebration.

Instead of working on any more elaborate projects, the Fowler Catholic school decided to send about 50 students to Lansing's St. Mary's Cathedral Feb. 2 to represent their school at a special Mass honoring all of the schools in the Diocese of Lansing. When the students and their chaperones go to Lansing they will take with them a banner representing the school.

In Westphalia, where the students and faculty of St. Mary School have a full week scheduled, principal Sr. Myra has outlined the following activities.

The week will begin Feb. 2 with a children's school liturgy. Grandparents Day is scheduled for 1 p.m.

Tuesday will be Students' Dress-Up Day and Teacher Appreciation Day. A faculty re-dedication ceremony will be held in the church.

Classroom visitation will be held Wednesday from 9-11 a.m. and 1-3 p.m. Visitors will have an opportunity to see classes in session.

Movies will highlight Thursday's Student Appreciation Day.

St. Mary School's celebration will culminate in a Mass of Thanksgiving.

Friday parents will also have an opportunity to see the program offered to grandparents and senior citizens earlier in the week.

It's no contest! P-W rips Fowler

By TIM JEFFERY

Big rivalry or not, Tuesday night's ballgame was different than what normally happens when Pewamo-Westphalia meets Fowler. Yes, the place was packed by the time the JV squads tipped off and the spirited yelling and bragging over which team was better was present as well. The one big difference was the item that mattered most, the score.

Fowler, 5-1 in the CMAC and 7-2 overall, had visions of spoiling the sparkling 10-0 Pirate record and knotting the top spot in the conference. P-W, with its tenacious defense, thought differently.

It didn't take long to realize Fowler was in for a long evening as P-W built leads of 8-2 and 16-4 behind four points apiece by forwards Brian Pfaff and Brian Stump and guard Mike Pohl.

A couple of days prior to the big matchup, Pirate Coach John Ellis elaborated on a couple of the keys to beating Fowler. One of the points Ellis accented most concerned Pohl. "He's had some trouble against Fowler in the past, so a big thing for Mike is for his first shot to at least be close. If that first one misses badly, he could be in for a long night," the coach said.

Ironically, Pohl fired up the game's first field goal attempt, just 20 seconds into the contest. He missed, but the shot was well within the cylinder and from there the Pirates were off to the races.

The second quarter started with P-W in front 20-8, however the Eagles had an opportunity to close the gap considerably during the period's first three minutes.

Fowler had four one and one free throw chances, but came away with just two points. Tom Weber also scored a bucket following an offensive rebound, thus what could've been a two-point ball game was never closer than eight.

A jumper by Guy Walter finally broke the drought for P-W, making it 22-12. The lead jumped to 13 when Kevin Fedewa completed a three-point play with 3:13 remaining in the half.

The issue was settled early in the third quarter, when Pfaff caught nothing but net on two straight shots from the corner and Steve Hengesbach scored from close range.

Pfaff continued to light up the scoreboard with a beautiful driving layup on a play where he was fouled as well. The charity toss made it 43-22. The closest Fowler would come the rest of the night was 19.

Both coaches emptied their benches in the final quarter. The Eagles failed to make a field goal and scored just three points to P-W's 25 during the final eight minutes, making the final 75-31.

The scoring load was again spread evenly amongst several Pirate players. Pfaff, who seems to always rise to the occasion against Fowler, was tops with 15. Fedewa and Pohl each had nine, while Hengesbach and Stump netted eight apiece. P-W enjoyed a 2-1 advantage on the boards with 46 grabs to Fowler's 23. Stump led all rebounders with 14. Walter, Chris Thelen and Dar Hengesbach were also key factors in the Pirate success.

Stan Simon led the Eagles with eight points, two better than the totals by Luke Hufnagel and Weber. Fowler managed to sink just 5 of 17 free throws and committed Brian Stump (30) and Brian Pfaff (middle) of Pewamo-Westphalia battle Fowler's Greg Armbrustmacher for a rebound in Tuesday's 75-31 Pirate victory. The win was P-W's 11th straight.

Stump collected 14 rebounds while Pfaff scored 15 points to lead the Pirates in the two categories. (Photo by Bob Stern) 23 turnovers.

Fowler Coach Chuck Trierweiler was a bit shell-shocked by the tremendous showing by P-W. "We did our best to make them look good. Coming in, we thought our guards could stay with them, but they just took us out of our game. They've also got these fans turned on now and that really helps," he stated.

As for Ellis, it was all smiles. "I was really worried about this ball game. Fowler has been playing good ball since Christmas. I just can't say enough about my guys," he explained.

Redwings place fifth at Bath

The St. Johns grapplers placed fifth in Saturday's nine team field at the Bath Invitational. The Redwings finished with a total of 85 points. Addison won the tourney finishing 20 points ahead of runner-up Waverly.

Jerry Peters, wrestling at 119 pounds, outpointed three straight opponents to capture the title in his weight class. He started with an 11-6 decision over Bath's Steve Hicks. Then Peters whipped counterparts from Byron and Waverly, 16-5 and 14-5, respectively for the championship.

Kurt Hayes, the Redwing 132-pounder, grabbed a second by pinning his opponent from Byron in 2:51 and decisioning an Addison wrestler, 11-6. Hayes lost in the finals to Olivet's Alonzo Gomez 15-5.

Tim Rehman, at 167 pounds, also wound up second. He decisioned Pete Snyder of Bath 12-2 and an Olivet competitor 13-0. Rehman was pinned in the finals by an Addison grappler at the 3:22 mark.

Dave Wood, 138 pounds, sandwiched a 12-2 decision over a Waverly wrestler

O-E makes it 3 in a row

The Ovid-Elsie cage team continued along in fine fashion last week with one-sided victories over Saginaw Swan Valley and Ionia. Friday's triumph over the Bulldogs raised O-E's record to 5-1 in the MMB and 8-4 overall. The Marauders remain tied for the top spot with St. Johns.

The Marauders opened an 18-14 lead after one quarter against the Saginaw school. O-E pushed it to 10 points at the half, by dominating the boards at both ends of the court.

The contest was put on ice in the third quarter as O-E outscored the hosts 16-10. The two teams traded buckets throughout the final frame. The Marauders kept the 16-point edge, claiming a 66-50 win.

Mark Carter, averaging an even 18 points per outing coming into the game, bettered the figure by 10 to lead all scorers. Jerry Horn did most of O-E's damage underneath with 16 rebounds and 13 points. Jeff Hettinger turning in another steady performance with 11 markers, while Troy Ginther and Scott Hudecek were keys on the boards, grabbing 11 and 10 caroms, respectively.

Marauder Coach Bob Foreback wasn't sure how his ball club would perform after the tremendous effort in the win over St. Johns, four days prior to the Swan Valley encounter. "I think they had a bad night, while we played a real good ball game. I thought we might have a letdown after the St. Johns game," he stated.

Ionia was without one of its top scorers Friday and thus was able to stay close for only one half. The Marauders led 29-21 before blowing the Bulldogs out in quarter number three.

Carter, with six markers headed a 22-8 outburst to give O-E a 51-29 edge entering the fourth quarter. Foreback emptied his bench late in the decisive third period and rested his regulars over the remainder of the contest as his ball club won going away, 75-46.

Horn scored 18 points and gathered 11 of the team's 52 rebounds. Carter was held to 10 points as Ionia played a 'box and one' defense to combat the Marauder guard's explosive scoring ability.

Chris Horak chipped in with eight markers, one better than the totals of Hettinger and Hudecek. Ginther was again very active underneath with nine rebounds.

Kurt Hayes may have captured a second place finish in Saturday's Bath Invitational, however the Redwing grappler earned every bit of it as indicated by this struggle. (Photo by Bob Stern)

One Man's Views

By Tim Jeffery

The turning point of Super Bowl XV was hard to single out. Philadelphia simply made too many costly and dumb mistakes. Harold Carmichael's starting toward the line of scrimmage before the snap, Ron Jaworski over throwing a wide open Rodney Parker in the end zone, Tony Franklin not getting enough leverage on the field goal try just before the half, two costly clipping penalties and finally the crusher, the roughing the passer call against Claude Humphrey.

Obviously, the intense pressure involved in the two weeks prior to the Super Bowl was too much for the Eagles, whereas Oakland, having been there before, seemed much looser. Because of this, the best team lost....I don't ever recall a high school gym having more enthusiasm than at the Pewamo-Westphalia-Fowler game last Tuesday. Nor do I recall witnessing a more awesome performance or a team that is more exciting to watch than the Pirates.

Considering the Yankees are going to pay Dave Winfield approximately $1.5 million a year and the Orioles will dish out $1 million annually to Eddie Murray, Detroit's Steve Kemp is well within bounds to ask for a million. The Tigers probably won't comply with the slugging left fielder's demands, thus look for him to be either traded or play out his option within the next two years....Jim Northrup and Gates Brown, the former Tigers, each received votes in the recent Hall of Fame election. Whomever was responsible for that, shouldn't be allowed to vote again next year. The idea isn't to make a joke of it.

Looking ahead to the high school basketball tournaments in March, two of the best three Class C teams in the area won't make it past the districts. P-W, DeWitt and LCC are among the teams bracketed in the district to be hosted by DeWitt. It's very possible the team emerging from the field will be a serious threat to win it all....As for the College Hoop Madness in March, I'll stick to my thoughts of some four weeks ago in this column. Virginia has the most dominant force in the game in Ralph Sampson and plenty to go with him. Give me a glance at the tournament seedings before I take a stab at the three others to join the Cavaliers in the final four. I can't do any worse than my pick of Philadelphia to beat Oakland 27-21.

An interesting contest looms in the not to distant future. DeWitt travels to Pewamo-Westphalia for what should be a classic. The Panther starting lineup matches up well with P-W's. The key is the distinct advantage P-W enjoys with its tremendous bench. DeWitt must stay out of foul trouble. Pirate Coach John Ellis can take 10 fouls at every position, except in the middle where Steve Hengesbach is the enforcer. DeWitt is an excellent free throw shooting team, thus if P-W does elect to play a physical ballgame, foul shots will become the key....St. Johns bounced back from the crushing loss at Ovid-Elsie with two straight victories, meanwhile the Marauders continue to roll along. It's almost certain, the final meeting between the two teams will be for all the stakes in the MMB.

Notre Dame is another good bet to reach the final four in March. Kelly Tripuka, Tracy Jackson and Orlando Woolridge have all played for four years and the Irish have already posted road victories over Kentucky, Indiana and Maryland....The Big Ten is better than it was last year, because Wisconsin, Michigan State and Northwestern have recently become very competitive and are all capable of springing a big upset. Seven teams have legitimate shots at winning the league title. Chances are it will end up in a tie.

Fulton suffers through rough week

By TIM JEFFERY

Just when it appeared Fulton was headed in the right direction, the Pirates pulled a reversal. Two weeks ago Fulton pieced together a pair of impressive victories, but last week the favor was returned in the form of two crushing defeats.

The Pirates trailed Portland St. Patrick on Tuesday by nine at the intermission, but the Shamrocks scored ten straight points to start the third quarter and held a 48-30 lead entering the final stanza. The Pirates were charged with nine turnovers during the fruitful eight minutes.

Fulton wasn't quite ready to throw in the towel, however. St. Pat's almost frittered away the huge lead. The Pirates closed to within three with two minutes left, before the Shamrocks managed to hold off the comeback. St. Pat's made 22 of its 29 free throws, while Fulton made 16 of 26, but six of the misses were front ends of one and one situations.

Scott Winsor scored 16 points to claim scoring honors for Fulton. Brad Glazier added 10 as did Brian Winsor despite his missing almost the entire second half with an ankle sprain. Wayne Bond, the second leading scorer for the Pirates coming into the contest was held without a field goal.

Friday night, Fulton played host to Fowler in the second meeting of the year between the two teams. Fowler won the earlier battle by four points.

The contest had the makings of being a duplicate of the first encounter. Fowler led by just three at halftime after blowing a 17-point margin over the final 4:28 of the second quarter.

Eagle Coach Chuck Trierweiler managed to regroup his team during the intermission. Fowler outscored the Pirates 21-4 over the last five minutes of the third quarter after Fulton had jumped ahead 42-41 with two quick buckets to begin the stanza.

The Eagles continued their torrid pace into the final period, hitting 11 of 17 shots to record a 86-59 victory. Fowler connected on better than 50 percent of its shots for the game including 19 of 32 in the second half. Fulton hit just 1 of 11 field goal tries during the five minute downfall in the third quarter.

Stan Simon paced Fowler with 25 points and 11 rebounds. Sophomore Dave Koenigsnecht, appearing in his first varsity ballgame showed plenty of promise with 12 points. Lloyed Feldpausch also scored 12 and added nine assists for a fine all-around performance.

Scott Winsor was tops for the Pirates with 20 points and 15 rebounds. Bond tossed in 12 markers, while Brian Winsor had nine. Glazier made all eight of his free throw tries, but was held without a field goal.

Fulton Coach Kim Lathwell pointed to the problem of his team having to make up so much ground early in the game as a possible cause for defeat. "We might've burned ourselves out, because we had to come from so far back in that second quarter," he stated.

St. Johns back on track with wins over Waverly and Chesaning

By TIM JEFFERY

St. Johns did exactly what it had to last Tuesday night against Waverly. The Redwings were coming off a solid licking at Ovid-Elsie, thus confidence needed to be restored in the form of a victory.

Jeff Casler turned in an outstanding performance in guiding St. Johns to a 64-60 win over the Warriors, 2-6 coming into the contest. The Redwing junior scored 36 points, hitting 10 of 10 from the free throw line. He also collected 11 rebounds, dished off for five assists and added seven steals. Doug Sleep and Bruce Fedewa were next in the scoring department with nine points apiece.

Bob Tissot, the St. Johns Coach was absent from behind the bench for the second time this year because of illness, thus Rick Burks, the JV mentor took charge and came away with his second win in two tries.

The ballgame was extremely tight throughout the entire evening. The Redwings led 30-25 at halftime, but saw the margin trimmed to three entering the fourth quarter.

Al Hover dropped in a bucket with 1:24 left in the game to pull the Warriors into a tie at 58. St. Johns countered with six straight points to pull out the win.

It took a 9 for 17 shooting effort in the final stanza by the Redwings to turn back Waverly. Casler scored 14 of his markers during the final eight minutes as he made all six of his free throw tries.

St. Johns outrebounded the Capitol Area Conference club 37-33 and committed five fewer turnovers. The Redwings hit 22 of 32 chances at the charity stripe compared to Waverly's 10 for 22.

Friday night, St. Johns blasted Chesaning for the second time this season. In the first meeting, the Redwings hit the century mark, however things were a bit different offensively at Chesaning. St. Johns suffered through a poor shooting performance in the third quarter, before breaking loose for 29 points in the final stanza.

The Redwings had built a 10-point halftime advantage, prior to hitting just 33 percent of their field goal tries and being outscored 15-12 in the third period.

Steve Gonzales spearheaded the big fourth quarter with 11 points as St. Johns connected on 13 of 17 from the floor, sending Chesaning to its fifth loss in 10 outings.

Casler led the 9-4 Redwings with 24 points. Gonzales finished with 15, while Sleep tossed in 10. Ed Hollenbeck added nine, one better than the totals of Bruce Fedewa and Denny Sleep.

Doug Sleep led the rebounders with 10. Casler collected eight boards, Denny Sleep hauled in seven and Hollenbeck grabbed six.

The Indians, who were without starters Scott Gewirtz and Jim Brasfield, got 18 points from Tony Hemgesberg and 13 from Scott Fitzgerald.

Tissot returned to his coaching position for the win over the Indians. He was extremely pleased with the big outburst in the fourth quarter, but would've enjoyed seeing more of the same, earlier in the contest. "We were just terrible in the third quarter, but we played great ball in the fourth. If we could've played that way the whole night it wouldn't have been close," he said.

P-W girls win twice

The P-W volleyball team had a relatively easy time in posting two wins last week to raise its record to 7-2.

The Pirates beat Fowler Thursday 15-9 and 15-2. Therese Simon led the assault by serving for 13 points and adding four spikes. Ann Schmitt recorded seven points and Donna Heckman totaled six via the serve.

Monday night, P-W

downed Fulton in two straight games 15-6 and 15-9. Lynn Klein was high with eight serving points, while Simon had seven. Patty Spencer led in spikes with three.

Pirate Coach Carol Bogard also credited Klein and Shelly Schneider for fine performances as setters and Jane Cotter for her excellent all-around effort.

Cerney lead gymnasts

The St. Johns girls' gymnastics team beat a young and improving Grand Ledge team Friday 82.55-68.1.

Darlene Cerney finished first in three of four events. Her score of 7.55 in the vault competition placed her first ahead of Redwings Sheila Barnes and Molly Penix, who finished second and third, respectively.

Cerney won the uneven bars competition with a score of 7.95. Dawn Bakita took second and Barnes placed fourth.

Bakita was first on the beam with a score of 7.4. Cerney finished second and Chris Dedyne took fourth.

The floor exercise proved to be Cerney's best activity of the meet. She won it with a mark of 8.1. Bakita placed second and Dedyne grabbed third.

St. Johns downs DeWitt, Corunna swimmers

St. Johns' swimming team stretched its winning streak to 12 over two years with victories over DeWitt and Corunna last week. The Redwings are 4-0 this season in dual meets.

The win over DeWitt on Tuesday was by a very convincing 121-51 score. Several St. Johns swimmers turned in outstanding efforts.

Steve Baxter won both the 200-yard freestyle and the 500-free with times of 1:59.4 and 5:23.0, respectively. Chad Munger also won two events, the 50-free and the 100-butterfly. Munger went 24.5 in the former and 1:01.5 in the butterfly.

Calvin Winsor captured first place in the diving competition with 201.9 points. Jim Bertoldi won the 100-free with a clocking of 55.5. Mike VeCasey and Chris Parsons were winners in the 100-backstroke and 100-breaststroke, respectively. VeCasey clocked in at 1:06.2 while Parsons' time was 1:09.4.

The Redwing 200-medley relay team and the 400-freestyle relay team posted wins as well. The foursome of VeCasey, Munger, Bertoldi and Pat Fitzpatrick went 1:52.4 in the medley relay, while Baxter, Bertoldi, Joe Rewerts and Truls Henriksen turned in a time of 3:46.7 in the latter.

St. Johns turned in what Coach Jim Makaruskas called the best outing of the year Thursday in whipping Corunna 113-59.

Winners for St. Johns included Bertoldi in both the 200-free and 100-butterfly, Baxter in the 50 and 100-freestyle events, Winsor in the diving competition, Henriksen in the backstroke, Munger in the breaststroke and both relay teams. The foursome in the 200-medley were Munger, Henriksen, VeCasey and Don Routley. Baxter, Bertoldi, Routly and Fitzpatrick made up the winning combination for the 400-freestyle relay.

H&R BLOCK TAX TEST
Question No. 4

Medicare 'B' payments made by persons receiving Social Security benefits are deductible.

True  False

For older persons on a fixed income, H&R Block has the right answer to this and other questions regarding special tax credits and deductions for those taxpayers.

If you itemize, the answer is TRUE. Because these payments are simply withheld from benefit checks during the year, they are often overlooked at tax time.

basement of the old Department of Public Works building.

"Here we are taking a federal agency and giving them a beautiful office and giving our own people an inadequate building," argued Nobis. "I can't go along with it."

Harold Martin, chairman of the building and grounds committee, indicated the county would be receiving additional revenues due to the move. Instead of the $8,000 a year being paid by the renter, $22,000 is estimated to be received as income to the county.

"I don't think we should disrupt the services, we have to provide the people in the county," said Nobis.

Hawks noted he felt the county would be better off making the move considering there would be less wasted space and additional revenue coming into the county.

"The move will make the drain office and federal agencies happier and Jack says he can live with it," said Overway. "Plus it will give the county about $15,000 more."

Nobis cast the only dissenting vote.

Renovations which will be made to the DPW basement include painting and carpeting, and obtaining a copying machine and a microwave oven.

between losses to a counterpart from Olivet and Joe Stowe of Perry, to finish fourth.

Brian O'Shaughnessey, the St. Johns 126-pounder, also took fourth. He started his competition by pinning Terry Smith of East Lansing at 4:25 of the match. In his next outing, O'Shaughnessey dropped a 12-6 decision to a Waverly grappler. He then won on a forfeit before losing the consolation final to Rueben Martinez of Bath 6-2.

Heavyweight Rich Mathias was aided by a pair of byes in the first round and the third round enroute to his fourth place result. Mathias lost out in the consolation final on criteria to a 6-foot-4, 325-pounder from Lansing Christian.

Chuck Bensingler completed the list of Redwings placing fourth. He was pinned by a Perry wrestler in his first match, but bounced back to record a pin at the 4.04 mark against a competitor from Lansing Christian.

Hayes currently owns the best record on the team, at 22-3. Other Redwings sporting fine slates include Rehman at 21-4, Peters with a mark of 15-4 and O'Shaughnessey at 11-6.

Summary of Fowler Village Council Meeting Minutes

A regular meeting of the Fowler Village Council was called to order by President Carl Koenigsnecht on Monday, January 12, 1981, at 7:00 P.M. at the Village office. Trustees present were Goerge, Antonides, Spicer, Koenigsnecht, Smith and Simon.

Minutes of the December meeting were approved as read. Payment of current bills was approved.

Harden. "The clearing out of brush and trees is a high priority item on a drain...it can save additional work later."

Permission to cut brush and trees on the drains is given by the township supervisors and the drain commissioner. Permission must also be given by the local landowners.

The wood from the trees which are cut is stacked and saved for the landowner's use according to Brown. The brush is cut and stacked in piles which will be burned at a later date.

Starting Feb. 2 the drain crew will begin working in the western part of Clinton County. First, they will be clearing brush in Dallas Township on the Dallas-Bengal Drain and during the following three-weeks will be completing work on the Bad Creek Drain in Riley Township.

"It's a lot harder working in the wintertime because of the weather, snow, ice and inclined slopes" said Brown. "Really, it's pretty hazardous."

Brown noted there haven't been too many injuries yet, but he added, "I'm really surprised there hasn't been more."

Foremen on the drain project are Ed Osenga and Harold Knoblauch.
