Labor code is farm victory

The director of the Michigan Department of Labor has announced that Michigan will adopt the federal youth employment standards. This is considered a major victory by Michigan Farm Bureau and Michigan Agricultural Services Association members who have been opposing the Michigan standards as being more restrictive than the current federal standards.

Kissane appointed

Robert Kissane of St. Johns has been appointed as an alternate to serve on the American Farm Bureau Federation's commodity advisory committees.

Farmers' Week for kids, too

Youngsters can join the competitive activities during Framers' Week, March 23-27 at Michigan State University.

Activities include the Michigan State Coturnix Olympics for kindergarten through fourth graders, the Science Fair for fifth through 12th graders, and the Michigan State 4-H Rabbit Show.

Participants in the olympics may choose from the flying contest, a beauty contest, arts and crafts, written materials, and classroom project competition.

The deadline for science fair and olympics registration is March 10. The rabbit competition is open to 4-H members, and just about any breed may be entered.

A father and son race lured Jim Ellickson and his son Ted to Sleepy Hollow State Park Sunday for Community Resource Volunteers' Fun in the Snow Day. That the duo were the only entries in this category, did not hinder their fun or Ted's pleasure with his first place ribbon. Plunging temperatures kept participation low, "but everyone present had a good time," according to Maurice Witteveen, volunteer. (Photo by Bob Stern)

St. Johns school budget in precarious balance

Calling the proposed 1980-81 school budget a statement (in dollars) of the educational program of the district, St. Johns Superintendent Donald Burns said it is "in precarious balance" for the first time in many years.

Adoption of this year's school budget which goes before the board of education tonight for their approval, is four months later than normal.

Burns warns in his budget report that although the budget is balanced on paper, the margin is "paper-thin" in contrast to previous years. "This budget is in the black by only $7,219 for June 30, 1981," he said. The greatest dread, according to Burns is that the state is running low on revenues again and may renege on state aid payments. "The budget may have to be cut some more," he said, "and if that's the case, we may well be talking about a deficit."

With rejection of a 2.45 additional mills for operation in August and a severe drop in state aid, the district made $570,000 worth of cuts and reductions including 23 employee positions, or their equivalent man-hours.

The proposed budget calls for revenues and expenditures of $7,332,023, an increase of $246,071, or only 3.4 percent over the 1979-80 budget.

Clinton Partners refused clinic tax abatement

The St. Johns City Commission turned down Clinton Partners' request for a tax abatement on the two-story clinic they plan to build at Clinton Memorial Hospital.

Reviewing a report from City Attorney Paul Maples, the commissioners voted to refuse the request because the property at the hospital is zoned municipal center.

The developers had requested the abatement which would cut taxes in half through the Commercial Redevelopment Act of 1978. However, abatements are offered only to property that has been zoned commercial or industrial for at least three years.

Paul McNamara, hospital administrator, said he hopes the refusal will not be a deterrent to the project that is to provide office space for physicians as well as the hospital itself. The hospital has been trying for five years to have a developer build a building on the hospital property that will attract new medical help to the community.

The commissioners asked for a report by the next meeting from the city engineer and manager on the future development of Townsend Road in the area of the city holding pond west to Swegles Street. The action came as a request from the city planning commission which is reviewing a re-zoning request for Townsend Road property from Bob Blastic of Rabco Construction of Okemos. Blastic plans a development on property there that would contain apartments, office space and two-family homes.

The city approved a dance permit requested by Betty Kiser of the Dry Dock'd Lounge on North Clinton Avenue.

Commissioner Richard Starck requested a discussion on the commission's decision to stay with the same assessed values they have had since 1975 and take the state and county factors instead of instituting the reappraisal done this summer. The decision was made in view of the uncertainty in the state legislature and out of concern for local tax payers, according to City Assessor Diane Edwards.

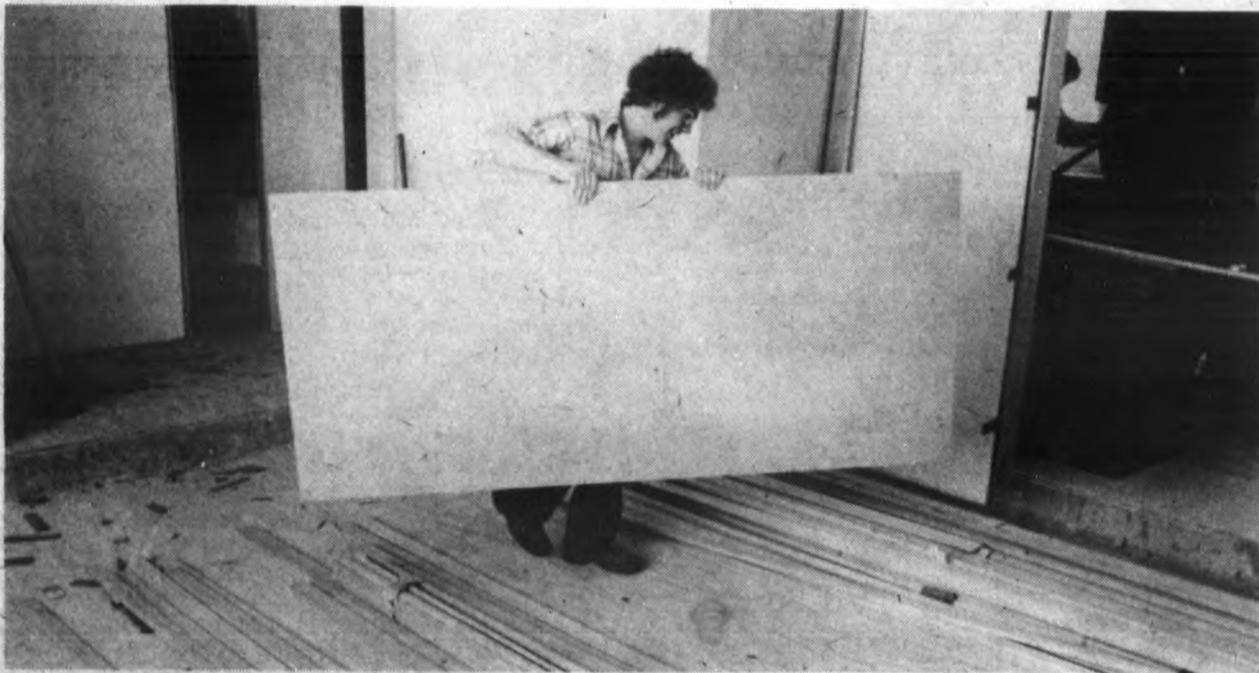

Littlest snowshoer

When it came to "Fun in the Snow," no one had to instruct tiny, three-year-old Elizabeth Shipp of Lansing. She joined other Clinton County residents at Sleepy Hollow State Park, Sunday in activities that ranged from cross-country ski races, snowshoe demonstrations and square dancing in the snow. The day was sponsored by Community Resource Volunteers and the County Extension Office and organized by volunteers from Bath, DeWitt, and St. Johns. (Photo by Bob Stern)

Taking bids for I-69 bridges

Bids will be taken in Lansing Feb. 18 for construction of bridges on new I-69 freeway in Clinton County, the Michigan Department of Transportation said this week.

The Clinton County project, estimated at $4 million, involves construction of bridges to carry new westbound I-69 over I-96, and another bridge to carry the eastbound connecting roadway between I-69 and I-96 over I-96. It is part of the project, now under way, to extend I-69 west and north around Lansing from US-27 to I-96. The bridge project is scheduled for completion by June, 1983.

Valentine favors will decorate food trays at Clinton Memorial Hospital this week in recognition of the annual holiday of love and good-will. The Knit n' Stitch 4-H Club churned out the pretty hearts to cheer patients. Hard at work are Christine Welch, left, and Amanda Koenigsknecht. Amanda's mom, Pat leads the group which likes to do extra projects.

St Johns High School receives good report

St. Johns High School was highly praised in an accreditation report by G. Sutherland Hayden of the University of Michigan's Bureau of School Services last week.

Violations were found only in the elimination of new book requisitions in the library and the possibility of cutting a half-unit health course because of low funds.

Teachers were "well prepared" and students "friendly, hospitable and well behaved," the report said.

"It is a real credit to Bill (Swears) and his staff," Superintendent Don Burns said. "I'm sure he (Hayden) doesn't write many letters like this."

Hayden, who is the head of the U of M bureau complimented custodians and students for the condition of the high

Woodruff hired as DeWitt coordinator

DeWitt Township officials appointed Thomas Woodruff, former Bath Township supervisor, as its new Level II Assessor and township services coordinator Monday night with a unanimous vote.

A committee consisting of Trustees Douglas Hammond, Ernest Krause and Charles Mann was selected to work out a contract between the township and Woodruff.

The new administrator was hired for 18 months at a salary of $24,000. The benefits Woodruff will receive will be the same as any other township employee according to Leonard Pung, supervisor.

"I'm real excited about the job," said Woodruff following the board meeting. "I think I can be of a lot of help to this board, especially because it is such a new board."

Presently, Woodruff holds a $9,000 a year job with Bath Township as assessor.

Walt Kyes, superintendent of the township, resigned from his post Jan. 26, due to an "unworkable relationship" between Kyes and the board.

Woodruff's appointment becomes effect following a contract settlement.

Teachers brag about Voc. ed.

By SHARON RANDALL

Students in vocational education get a taste of real life and leave school feeling good about themselves," say teachers in the Clinton County Intermediate Shared Time program.

This week, Feb. 8 - 11 is Vocational Education Week and the shared time staff took a look at their program and spent some time bragging about it. They will hold an evening open house at the Shared Time Building in St. Johns, Wednesday, Feb. 18 to show off the six vocational programs and their students. The public is invited.

Clinton County's vocational education program is shared by the six county school districts, Fowler, Pewamo-Westphalia, Bath, DeWitt, Ovid-Elsie and St. Johns. Instructors are from the work world instead of the education world and all bring real job experience background to their teaching. "They (the students) never make a mistake that I haven't made myself," said Dick Vitek, building trades instructor.

"Vocational education is achievement oriented," said Marv Smith, food service teacher. "These kids obtain a skill and learn to accept what the world of work is really all about."

Smith, whose students run the Chef's Cafe student restaurant located in St. Johns, said one of his main goals is to "change attitudes."

Most students come into vocational education with out a single success behind them. "Some of these kids have never found success in school until they got into voc. ed.," he explained.

"This program makes students feel good about themselves," said Linda Fowler, health occupations teacher. "Sometimes their achievements here push them on to more schooling and they attend college or a trade school."

The success stories of all six vocational programs, auto body, auto mechanics, building trades, cosmetology, food service and health occupations are numerous and varied. There's success when a student enters the world of work with their vocational educational background as reference. There's success when students go on to additional training. There's success if

Victim-witness program starts

By SUE KILEY WHITE

A new victim-witness program was implemented Jan. 1 in the Clinton Prosecuting Attorney's office according to Jon Newman, prosecutor.

The program which is headed by Curtis Wash, an investigator with Newman's department, is designed to act as a liaison between the prosecutor's office and the victims or witnesses who are not normally involved in the criminal justice system.

"There are a lot of people afraid to testify," Newman said. "We will work with them and help ease them through the process."

Newman and assistant prosecutor Richard Koenigsknecht noted several cases have been thrown out of court because of reluctant witnesses or victims.

"This program will intervene for the people subpoenaed," said Newman. "The program director will help the witness get time off of work to appear in court, or find transportation or babysitting services."

As a former police officer, Wash has testified in court numerous times. Through his experiences and know how of the judicial system, it is hoped he will be able to alleviate the fears of the witnesses.

"The average person called in to testify has only seen the court system work by watching television," said Newman. "Normally he sees the witness being chopped up by the prosecution."

Wash will also be able to explain to the witness why there was a delay in a particular case and what is expected out of him on the witness stand.

"We hope fewer cases will be lost because of uncooperative witnesses or victims," added Newman.

Wash was working under a cooperative reimbursement program through the state with 100 percent of his salary coming from the state. This contract has been amended so 75-percent of his time will be spent as investigator and the other 25-percent as the victim-witness liaison.

Cindy Burr receives DAR award

Cindy Burr

Cindy Burr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Burr, has been chosen the DAR Good Citizen for the 1980-1981 school year at Fulton High School.

The award, presented annually by the National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution, goes to the senior who best exemplifies, in the judgment of the faculty, the qualities of leadership, dependability, service and patriotism.

During high school Cindy has been involved in many activities. She has served as president of her class for the past two years and treasurer for the other two.

She has also been a member of the band, annual staff, and newspaper staff and has participated in volleyball and pom pom squad.

Cindy plans to enroll in the Mid-Michigan Nursing Program at Gratiot Community Hospital after graduation.

Accidents keep sheriff's dept busy

Icy roads and blowing and drifting snow were blamed by Clinton County Sheriff's deputies as contributing factors to 25 accidents in the county last week. According to sheriff department reports only minor injuries resulted in any of the accidents.

Six one-car rollovers also happened on Feb. 6, which deputies say resulted because of blowing snow which glazed Clinton County roads.

Timothy Bristol, La-

ingsburg, was traveling southbound on Meridian Road just north of Alward Road when he lost control of his vehicle on the icy roadway. Bristol's vehicle went into the ditch striking a traffic control device and flipped over on its side. Bristol sought his own treatment for injuries sustained in the accident which occurred on Feb. 4.

Chris Howe, 19, of DeWitt, was attempting to catch up with a school bus on Locher Road just west of US-27 on Feb. 3 when he lost control of his vehicle and slid into the back of the bus while it was stopped.

Howe told deputies he had seen the flashing lights on the bus, but thought he had plenty of distance in which to stop.

There were no injuries, but Howe was ticketed for a violation of basic speed.

Delores Harder, 11395 Francis Rd., DeWitt, was traveling south on M-100 north of State Road when she lost control of her vehicle on the icy road and struck a guard rail. Miss Harder received minor injuries and sought her own treatment. The incident happened on Feb. 3.

Karen Maxa, 3887 N. Krepps, St. Johns, was southbound on Krepps Road when she hit an icy patch and lost control of her car. The vehicle slid across the north bound land and into the ditch rolling over on its side. Miss Maxa also received minor injuries and sought her own treatment.

the work experience a student gains in the vocational program gives them a job while attending college.

"There's even success when a student can say, 'I guess I don't want to be a nurse after all,'" Ms. Fowler said. "That means they know something important about themselves before they've started college."

The staff also measures success with the number of students who say everyday that they wouldn't be in school if it wasn't for the vocational program.

"Some of these students wouldn't be in school if it wasn't for voc. ed.," said Principal Jay Johnson. "But how do you prove it? Students tell me, parents tell me, teachers and principals tell me."

"I don't think I would have gotten through high school without it," said Donna Smith, former student. "A lot of kids hate school. They're terrible at school. In this program (cosmetology) I could use my creativity."

Ms. Smith is one of the success stories the program brags about. While she didn't enter the field as a hair dresser, she is employed by a company that sells products to hair dressers and she travels all over the state for them.

"And Donna was one of those students, who kept saying, 'I can't do it, I just can't do it,'" said Dorothea Daley, cosmetology instructor. "Today her mother is enrolled in the program through adult education and we're going to have another success story in the family."

"If there's any one thing the vocational program gives these students, it's self-worth," said Coleen Hitzman, cosmetology. "When they leave this program, if they don't have anything else, they have that," she emphasized.

"They learn self-discipline, they learn to think for themselves," echoed other teachers. "They become more aware of what they can do and accomplish," said Vitek.

"Of course you can turn a kid off in vocational education, too," Johnson said. "This staff is exceptional. They bring out the best in the kids."

There's danger in prescriptions

(This is the second in a monthly series of articles centered around topics selected by the staff of the Clinton County Substance Abuse Center. They coincide with programs the center is offering to community and school organizations.)

By SHARON RANDALL

"I'm not a drug abuser, I have a prescription from my doctor."

That's the belief of many people who are misusing prescription medication, often at a great hazard to themselves, said Gayle Nutt of the Clinton County Substance Abuse Clinic.

Ms. Nutt has put together a program on prescription drug misuse and abuse that she or other staff members will bring to area clubs and organizations at their request.

Misuse comes when drugs are not taken as the physician prescribed. "Perhaps the patient takes too much or too little or uses the medication too often," Ms. Nutt said. Sometimes misuse comes with taking a prescription drug with foods or beverages or with other medication and this results in adverse reactions or a possible overdose, she indicated.

"This is a problem particularly for the older American," Ms. Nutt said explaining that a 1978 survey among persons over 60 found that one out of every four used four or more prescription drugs. Out of the one-third who took treatment prescribed by more than one doctor, 77 percent did not inform their respective doctors of other prescriptions.

A third reported saving expired prescriptions, "in case they might need them again."

Using the proportion from the state survey, as many as 195 persons 60 years or older could be misusing prescription medication in Clinton County.

The substance abuse clinic advises using the service of a single pharmacist who can monitor both prescription and over the counter medication through a patient profile. Ms. Nutt also suggested that persons obtain pamphlets and books from the library or her office that list warnings against using certain medications together and answers questions about them.

"Obtain information from your doctor or pharmacist," she said. "Ask the name of the drug and find out why you are taking it and what it's for. You should know if there will be side effects and what they are. Ask what side effects you should report to your doctor. Find out if there is anything special you should know about taking the drug; should it be taken with meals, should you drive?"

"Organize a system for keeping track of medications taken to avoid forgetting or confusion about what was taken," she advised.

Drug abuse can occur from the use of legally obtained drugs, as well as black market drugs, Ms. Nutt maintains.

"It's when someone starts using a medication to make themselves feel good instead of using it to take care of the medical problem," she said. They start seeking a mood-altering effect by taking too much or using it differently than the doctor prescribed.

Indication of this abuse occurs when a person starts taking medications in larger quantities or more often than prescribed, or combines medications with alcohol for a 'kick.'

Barbiturates, minor tranquilizers, stimulants (diet pills) and pain killers are among the commonly misused drugs, according to Ms. Nutt. Many of them have properties which produce physical dependence or addiction and all of them can produce psychological dependence, she said. "In large doses they produce a euphoria and sense of well-being."

4-H clinic planned for horsemanship at Michigan State

Clinton County equestrians interested in polishing their horsemanship skills are invited to attend the fourth annual 4-H Horse Benefit Clinic Feb. 28, at the Michigan State University Livestock Pavilion.

The clinic will be conducted by Clarke Bradley of Findlay College in Ohio and will begin at 10 am.

Instruction in western riding will highlight the day-long clinic. Bradley will demonstrate various riding styles and discuss western showmanship.

"The 4-H clinic provides people with an excellent opportunity to test their skills and learn more about horsemanship," said Theresa Dow Silm, 4-H youth agent.

Training techniques and western pleasure riding will also be discussed at the clinic. Bradley will also field questions from participants about horsemanship skills.

A $3 donation for the clinic will be accepted at the door. Proceeds will help develop and strengthen the Michigan 4-H horse program and enable state 4-H members to attend national horse contests and events.

The clinic is sponsored by the state 4-H Horse Judges Advisory Committee in cooperation with the MSU Department of Animal Science and the Michigan 4-H Youth Program.

An emphatic push by Roger Dershem, March of Dimes chairman brought in a total of $779.10 in this year's drive that ended Friday. Supporting the effort were employees of the Dry Dock'd Bar who took in $301.39, topping last year's total drive of $285.

Debra Adams, left and Betty Kiger, owner of the bar said bartenders Cathy Hollandsworth and Dick May really hustled customers for the donations. Dershem presented the bar with a trophy provided by the VFW for the business bringing in the largest donation.

Cannisters and donation cards were placed in 100 area business places, "wherever people gathered," Dershem said. The American Legion came in second with a collection of $60.50. (Photo by Bob Stern)

Dairy farmers face tough battles in '81

The state's dairy farmers will face some major challenges in 1981, according to Bob Craig, manager of Michigan Farm Bureau's commodity activities and research department.

Of most concern to the industry, he said, is what may happen to the dairy price support program which has come under recent attack by consumer groups and may also be one of the targets of the new administration's efforts to balance the federal budget.

"There's a powerful lobby for a reduction in dairy price supports," Craig said. "These include PepsiCo Company, which owns Pizza Hut, probably the largest purchaser of mozzarella cheese, Common Cause, a major consumer group, and retailers and the restaurant association. If these opponents team up, the dairy industry will be confronted with a formidable foe. Some of these same groups teamed up a few years ago and were successful in killing the sugar price support program."

Craig said dairy price supports were also singled out by former President Carter's Council of Economic Advisors as an example of "inappropriate support policies" and this adds to the concern of dairy farmers.

"The new budget director David Stockman has indicated a desire to cut government spending on price supports and the CEA analysis could provide him with direction that would be damaging to the dairy industry," Craig said.

"The objective of the milk program is to provide an adequate supply of wholesome milk to consumers. Without it, there would be no guarantee of an adequate supply. It has been an efficient, simple program that has served both producers and consumers well," Craig added.

"There are current supply and demand problems in the industry, and we realize some modifications have to be made.

Scouts celebrate anniversary

Scouting's anniversary week begins Sunday, Feb. 8, for more than 6,600 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers in the Chief Okemos Council, Boy Scouts of America. According to Charles D. Mefford, president of the council, more than 2,300 men and women in Clinton, Eaton and Ingham counties serve as volunteer leaders.

Cub Scout Blue and Gold dinners will happen during Scout Week in meeting places throughout the three county area. Boy Scouts in this area have already enjoyed a Klondike Derby and the Explorers will have special events to highlight the celebration.

"Through the sponsoring community organizations that use the Scouting program as an important part of their own youth work, trained adult leaders make it possible for thousands of young people to participate in the Scouting Movement," said Mefford. "More young people are in Cub Scouting, Boy Scouting and Exploring than ever before."

Braille finds reward in volunteer work

By SHARON RANDALL

Nancy Puetz got hooked on a volunteer job through a newspaper column and she has hopes that this story will spur someone else into joining her in a unique service to the blind. She has become a volunteer braille, one of a mere handful in the Lansing area who turn out reading materials for the blind through the State of Michigan Library.

It was in the State Journal's Onlooker column that Nancy read a request for people willing to become brailers, who would do volunteer piecework in their own home. "All equipment and instructions furnished," it promised.

What that little ad in the Onlooker didn't tell her was that the instruction would last for nine months and that it would take her another year to become certified through the Library of Congress. It didn't say the volunteer work itself would become so absorbing that she would slowly drop out of many of her other activities. And it didn't tell her "how fun, and challenging and rewarding it is."

As a brailer, Nancy sits in a little corner of the family den at a small metal machine with six flat levers and embosses tag board sheets with braille characters.

It is hard for her to explain just why she became interested in becoming a brailer and why she stuck out the long training. Of a class of 25, only 2 finished. She had never known or even met a blind person before she made her commitment to the program. Perhaps it has something to do with her own intense love of reading that has gotten her into other jobs. For 11 years she was a library aide at the high school library in St. Johns.

While eventually, Nancy and the four other people in the area who have learned to run the brailer in the past two years, will be involved in transcribing text books to braille, her present work brings a practical side of reading to the unsighted. Most of what she is doing now is "consumable braille," meaning that it is done for a one time use. "I realized how important this was with my first piece of work," she explained. "It was a poison chart for a blind mother in Lansing."

At her machine last week were pages of changes in the Social Services code, being done for a blind employee of the DSS in Lansing. When Nancy is finished transcribing the material it will be sent to the blind person requesting it through the Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped at the State of Michigan Library. "I don't have any contact with the people who use my work," she said. While she thinks it might be an advantage to meet the person who will be using the Social Services material to see if she has set it up in the most helpful way, she said that in most cases such a meeting would be for "ego purposes only." She has used the brailer for special mass materials at St. Mary's church, wedding invitations and Christmas cards. Other jobs have included a set of Freshman English exams for Lansing Community College.

Braille was invented in 1825 by Louis Braille, a French musician and inventor. Nancy said he was only about 15 years old at the time and the system has remained virtually unchanged. It consists of alphabet characters made up of raised dots.

"The alphabet is only the first lesson," Nancy said. The braille system is really as complicated as a language and consists of blends and contractions. The brailer must interpret the piece of writing and present it in the best way possible.

A blind child must start learning braille at about the same age a sighted child would start to learn the ABC's. Nancy said that she proofs all her work by sight because she learned the system too late to be able to read it by touch. "They say that once you are 35, you have lost too much of the sensitivity in your fingertips," she explained. "It would be very unusual for a blind person to be able to learn braille if he started past 35," she said.

The thrust for brailers in the greater Lansing area came about as the result of mainstreaming, Nancy said.

Blind children are being put into public school situations and there is an increasing need for braille material so they can keep up with their sighted classmates.

Nancy said that when a team of 10 is trained in this area, they will start braille textbooks. "There are five of us, so far," she said, "and we are all looking for more people to join us." She would very much like to find someone in the St. Johns area who would be willing to take the training and work with her. While the volunteer works at the brailer at home, there is need for consultation and comparison, Nancy explained. She has brailers in Okemos and Mt. Pleasant that she calls to get help and said that attending conferences around the state and country has helped her a great deal. "That's where we get further instruction and pick up more information," she said. She is a member of the Michigan Association of Transcribers for the Visually Impaired and the National Braille Association. Both organizations provide her with contacts and publications that help in her work.

All the training, that Nancy took in Lansing at the School for the Blind, is set up by the Library of Congress. To become certified, the brailer has to prepare a manuscript in braille. Nancy said that the instruction is free and that the Lions Club of Lansing furnishes students with all the learning materials.

After her training, the St. Johns Lions Club purchased a braille machine for her. "The Lions would be very willing to help anyone in this area who is interested," she said. County residents who would like to learn more about becoming a brailer should contact Nancy and she will be glad to help them get started. She said another class will start in September and a conference is being planned in the near future that can provide a lot of information.

The appeal for this volunteer job according to Nancy is that it can be done at home. "You can put as much or as little into it as you want," she said. "The more I get into it the more I like it," she reflected. "I like being at home and I like the challenge it presents."

As a farm wife and mother (she is Mrs. Leonard Puetz), Nancy likes to be at home during the day as much as possible. "I'm here to run for parts and help as much as I'm needed," she said.

Nancy and Leonard have three grown sons and an eighth grade daughter, Alice. They are grandparents to two lively boys.

Her family and the third generation Puetz farm on Scott Road are her number one priorities, but transcribing for the visually impaired has added a challenging and enjoyable dimension to her life.

Shared time will be hard act to follow

It's Vocational Education Week and the staff at the Clinton County Shared Time program is proudly showing off.

And while they'd rather not talk about it, a cloud hangs over their program that this year serves 235 students from the six area schools.

As superintendents and school boards across the county look at their faltering budgets for next year their eyes are on vocational education. The program, they say, costs more per pupil than regular education.

School heads have much to ponder. While inflation is pushing costs higher and higher, an ill state budget has less and less to give to education. Property taxes continue to rise with reassessments and the mood of the tax payer does not favor millage increases.

To be successful Shared Time, which offers students training in six areas, cosmetology, auto body and mechanics, food service, building trades and health services, must have the cooperation and support of all the county school districts.

Teachers at the Shared Time program say their students are a cross-section of pupils, ranging from all A scholars to special education children. But the majority are kids who have not found success in their schooling before. Vocational education has made them want to come to school and putting them back into the regular school program is not apt to be successful.

Attendance figures at the Shared Time Center prove that there's something unique and special about learning a skill. Students show up on snow days and during flu closings. They come to voc. ed. on days they skip regular classes. Board members and administrators must face the reality that things are happening with vocational education that can't happen anywhere else.

Of course there's a failure list too, but the majority of kids leave much better for their experience, filled with self-worth and confidence. They've met the public. They've managed. They've done their job.

Without a doubt, if the program is disbanded now, it will never be replaced. Programs and equipment will become too expensive to duplicate. We feel that the county schools must look closely at the Shared Time program and take steps to save as much of it as possible.

There is little doubt that it serves an important cross section of our young people.

Recalls bad experience with group home

After reading the article on the group foster home in the Feb. 3 issue of the Review my memory was jarred to our own experiences as foster parents dealing with Ingham County Probate Court foster care, specifically Frank Buzzitta, caseworkers, supervisors, etc. and my two foster children on separate occasions. My sympathies lay with the people in the neighborhood. In my opinion their fears are justified.

We experienced first hand the result of carefully screened youth and some of our worst fears were realized. We learned some valuable lessons before we solved our problem by giving up our license.

Abuse-neglect minors can range from helpless battered children to delinquent, incorrigible youths playing the system for what they can get when they can't bully their own way from their parents. Or the parents have no control over them hence they are classified as neglected- not bad enough to be in a rehabilitation center.

Foster parents are "temporary" custodians. Caseworkers and the court make decisions and assessments for daily living. Everything has to go through the caseworker. With luck we could contact one and then maybe get an answer.

Even though we requested children seven to 10-years old, we were given teenagers both times because there was a greater need of homes for them. With our last

Government Leaders need to consider ability to pay

By DAVID RAY

It is February again. The state legislature has started a new session; property assessment notices have been—or shortly will be—mailed to homeowners; and it's time to talk about property tax reform—again.

Since the defeat of the three tax proposals in last November's general election, Governor Milliken and legislative leaders have wisely recognized that rejection of the tax shift and tax cut plans was not a vote for the status quo. They have started work on a new plan, aimed at heading off Tisch III and, potentially more interesting, a bid by tax cutter Robert Tisch to become Michigan's next governor.

Tisch, meanwhile, is still crying foul because of the anti-Tisch campaign carried out last fall by the governor and others, especially officials associated with the state's big three universities.

The new tax reform plan is a 35-percent across-the-board property tax cut proposed by Milliken. That plan is similar to Tisch II in that it proposes to reduce taxes by a certain percentage instead of the lump-sum $7,400 property tax exemption that the governor and legislative leaders pushed last fall in Proposal C.

The governor has been criticized by some, particularly state Senator Gary Corbin (D-Clío), who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for governor next year, for advocating a tax-reform package that would benefit high-income homeowners more than low-and moderate-income families.

Milliken says he has changed his thinking on the form of a tax reform package because of the defeat of Proposal C. The governor also would like to have the new tax plan placed on a special state-wide ballot in June so that the tax cut could take effect with July tax bills.

Parenthetically, many school officials are not pleased at the prospect of having a state tax proposal placed on the annual school election ballot, as Milliken favors.

Again, little attention has been paid to the option of using income taxes to finance government, especially for the operation of schools.

State officials usually attribute this oversight to the repeated rejection of constitutional amendments that would lift the ban on a graduated income tax—tying the ability to pay to the tax rate.

During last fall's three-legged tax reform race, Gerald Miller, director of the state department of management and budget, conceded that the income tax generally is regarded as the fairest form of taxation, but he also noted that public opinion polls show little support for proposals to affect that change.

Public disdain for income taxes is hard to figure. One basic human need is for shelter. People need a place in which to live regardless of whether they have a job. You either pay property taxes on a home or condo or you pay higher rent to a landlord who has to pay property taxes.

If you don't have a job, you probably still have to make house payments or pay the rent.

And, in these inflationary times, the cost of housing continues to climb. With inflation and high interest rates, the costs of new and used homes, as well as apartments, continue to increase, affecting property values of all dwelling units in the market area. As assessments rise, the actual amount paid in taxes also goes up, even if the tax rate stays the same.

Some local officials are considering a tax cut—reducing the amount of millage levied by a unit of government—to offset the skyrocketing assessment hikes.

Perhaps it is time for government leaders to look to a real form of tax reform, more reliance on income taxes and the ability to pay.

Sincerely,
Mary C. Slocum

Chamber notes

By Jody Smith

That farming is hard work requiring long hours, a large investment, and continuing education in new technology is a well-known fact. Here in St. Johns we have many farmers and we are all dependent on them in one way or another.

The next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will focus on farming technology and the use of computers in the business.

Arrangements for this program were made by Mick Boog through our county extension agent, George McQueen. The speaker will be Jim Mulvaney, who is the manager of the TELFARM program at Michigan State University.

The TELFARM system is an electronic bookkeeping system which can provide a complete computer analysis of the farm business. The system is provided by the State Cooperative Extension Service at MSU. Mulvaney has managed this farm program for the past six years and knows the finer points of its operation.

The system is used by several of the larger farms in the St. Johns area. Farming has always been a business, but today it can be a very sophisticated and highly specialized business requiring modern techniques and equipment in all phases of its operation.

The luncheon meeting will begin at 12 noon Feb. 19 at Cornwell Catering, 1000 N. Lansing. The monthly Chamber meeting is for members and interested business people who want to be informed of matters relevant to the community, and it gives area businesses an opportunity to share ideas and get to know one another. If you would like to attend this meeting, RSVP to the Chamber office at 224-7248 by Tuesday, Feb. 17.

Everyone is interested in our schools and how our tax dollars are spent. Another upcoming program which will be of interest to the community is the open house tour of the Clinton Intermediate's shared time facility on Higham St. in St. Johns.

The open house hours are 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 18. Jay Johnson, shared time principal and Mrs. Sally Fernandez, placement director, will be on hand to lead tours and explain the objectives of the facility and to show the public what goes on in the vocational classroom. Teachers representing the various segments of the facility will be present to answer questions and explain their roles in operating the shared time classroom.

The invitation is extended to everyone in the community, so come on down and see for yourself what this kind of educational vocational experience can mean to the students in this area.

No matter how you view it, life's a game

They have a card game going at the junior high. It's gambling and the stakes are high. If you win you get to turn in your social studies quiz.

This is not a joke. It's been going on for a number of years and at the head of it is the smoothest operator you'll ever meet.

This genius, or maybe I should call him a genie, has 300 eighth graders mesmerized with learning. He has more tricks up his sleeves than Doug Henning and the great Houdini put together.

Every year he churns out kids who know, hands down, 200 Revolutionary War terms and he claims they know them forever. His method for this feat is an elaborate baseball game where answers are hits and runs and mistakes are outs.

Then there's the Great Wagon Train Journey, where students earn points as they travel west. This game sharpens writing skills, he says.

He has a trick with the stockmarket. Students get $5,000 to invest (you wondered where all our tax dollars were going?) and must learn 50 terms and ideas. Really, the trick is they learn the terms and ideas quite unaware while the game proceeds.

Well, back to the gambling. You win when you get to hand in your quiz. Somehow this sorcerer has devised an elaborate game with two pages of rules that makes kids love to do homework. They come to class so well prepared for the test that they all get A's and clamor to hand them in. But you can't unless your card comes up.

Every student is represented by one of the 52 playing cards. For example, you may be the six of spades. No matter how well prepared you were for the quiz, you only get to hand it in if the teacher draws the six of spades. Then there are other tricks, if he draws the queen of spades, everyone hands in the quiz. If he draws the joker, no one hands in the quiz.

There's 24 potential quiz dates, every Monday, Wednesday and Friday for the marking period. As a special bonus, every student gets two unprepared cards that can be used sometime during the marking period. It must be handed in before the quiz, however.

The motive behind all this? It's to get eighth graders through a fat part of the social studies book that covers everything from Reconstruction at the end of the Civil War to World War II. "It makes homework more interesting."

Our teacher calls this time of the year "a tortuous eight weeks." With the only breaks being snow days, students need extra stimulation, he explains.

"This age group will do anything for a prize," says the magician. He claims he could get lives for a tootsie roll pop.

I have my own theory about all these elaborate games. Some teacher's, (it depends on their age group) would do anything to win the "most popular class" contest at the end of the school year. It's second place really, because no one can compete with phys. ed.

When graduating eighth graders are asked to list their favorite class of the year, they all write "social studies." Well, not the kids who love phys.ed. The winning teacher gets a bag of tootsie roll pops.

This year's eighth graders are beyond help, but let me issue a warning to the seventh graders. There's someone after that popularity prize and he'll do anything to make you like social studies. He'll trick you into learning 200 Revolutionary War facts and make you like to read the newspaper.

Ah, Bruce Barber, you're quite a guy.

Kitchen renovation tells history

"Kitchen Talks" will be the topic of the final meeting in a series on house restoration being held at the Paine-Gillam-Scott Museum.

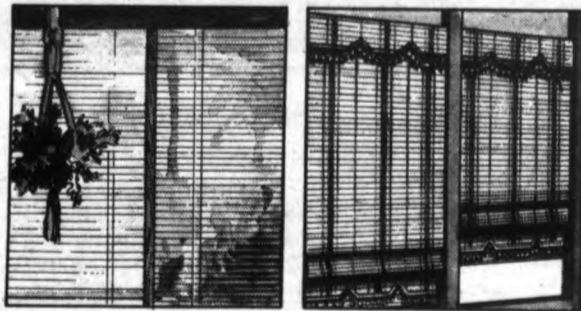

In the final session of the series Catherine Rumbaugh, one of the directors of the museum, will explain in detail how the museum kitchen was restored.

"We're compiling some of the things we've found in the kitchen," said Mrs. Rumbaugh. "We'll share a little of what we think has happened over the years."

The program will be held Sunday, Feb. 15 from 2-4 p.m. during regular museum hours.

Fulton team members are Becky Anderson, Becky Robinson, Greg Winsor, Cindy Malson and alternate Ron Muraock. The coaches are Cheryl McCarty and Mary Gray.

★ SJ school budget

Burns said in his budget statement that the biggest cuts were made in instruction expenses which are nearly 75 percent of the district's school budget.

Plant operation, maintenance and building improvements make up 13.2 percent of the proposed budget and transportation, 8.2 percent.

Comparing the proposed budget with last year's Burns said instruction expenses increased by $143,603 despite a 12.4 reduction in teaching positions, and a $32,848 reduction in textbooks and teaching supplies.

Adult high school completion is up in enrollment by 35 students and will spend over $6,000 more in teacher salaries, but brings in substantially more in state aid, he said.

Plant operations and maintenance is up $37,666 in spite of a reduction of four custodial positions since school began and a $5,600 reduction in supplies. Heat and electricity is expected to increase $50,000 over last year despite stringent energy conservation measures, Burns reported.

The budget shows building improvements up $88,705, made possible by an additional one-half mill approved by voters for a federal energy match and maintenance. These improvements include $74,000 used to make Riley, East Olive, East Essex and Swegles more energy-efficient. More will be used for similar projects at the bus garage and on school roofs.

school building. "This certainly speaks well for the custodial staff but it also indicates the pride that most of the students have for their building," he said.

"There is little, if any, of what I call 'static' (cross talk between students) in any of the classrooms," Hayden observed.

He also indicated that in many schools today there are a large number of students rambling through the halls while class is in session. "Very little of this was seen at St. Johns High School during the whole day of visitation," his report said. "The few students that were encountered in the halls during class periods had legitimate purposes for being there."

He praised the wide array of class offerings including the vocational offerings of the intermediate school district. "It is interesting to note," his report stated, "that instruction in electronics was dropped because it had become outdated. This appears to be warranted even if it is rather unusual," he said. "Too often schools continue to offer courses which have outlived their usefulness."

"The school community should be brought to understand the importance of the school library," Hayden's report stressed. "While the 'shortstopping' of book orders may not show in the library, it does have its effect upon this area of the school which is of great importance to the educational program."

He said U of M standards require a school of the size of St. Johns to make an annual expenditure of $6,222 for library books, audio-visual materials and magazines.

Educators study frustrations of students

Guests from as far away as Alma and Lansing joined members of the Clinton County Association for Special Education when they met recently to hear special education teacher Judy Haught speak on mainstreaming disabled students.

By JEAN MARTIN

People with learning disabilities have trouble performing in a school setting in spite of normal or above average intelligence. Since the problem is largely invisible and often unknown even to the victim himself, few allowances are made for the handicap in school or throughout society in general.

Recently members and guests of the Clinton County Citizens for Special Education were given an opportunity to learn just what it feels like to be mainstreamed in a classroom populated by disabled people.

The many problems faced by the disabled student were graphically illustrated by guest speaker Judy Haught, a learning disabled person herself and a special education teacher with the Lansing Schools.

Each participant was asked to choose a disability for the evening. Some chose to use wheelchairs, walkers, and crutches while others wore blindfolds or plugged their ears with cotton. One man chose the multiple disabilities of wearing a blindfold and using a cane.

Then the participants were seated in the classroom, handed a worksheet, and told to go to work.

The first worksheet read in part:

I suspect that the child with a learning disability must frequently experience an Alice in Wonderland existence.

While the blinded participants shuffled their papers nervously, their sighted classmates were equally at ease. Finally the teacher read a translation of the paragraph.

She began, "I suspect that the child with a learning disability must frequently experience an Alice in Wonderland existence."

"We do terrible things to kids," she commented.

Plans forging ahead for Couzens Memorial

By JEAN MARTIN

The blueprints are all drawn up and members of James Couzens Memorial Park Association are working steadily toward their goal of seeing a gazebo built sometime soon.

Plans for the new gazebo were announced last summer by the association.

The graceful structure will stand on a three-foot mound south of the former site of the James Couzens Agricultural School. The tower of the old school however, will remain the central feature of the community park, according to association member Donna Beth Eschtruth.

"We're just beginning to price materials," she began. "We're hoping to use volunteer labor to a large extent."

The structure will be approximately 36 feet high and 36 feet in diameter, Mrs. Eschtruth said. A cupola on the gazebo is designed to be a smaller version of the memorable Couzens School tower.

"The gazebo can be used for just about anything the public wants to use it for," she commented. "Certainly the community choir will use it."

The association also hopes that it will be used for other community activities including plays, concerts, and church services.

The group has kept active through the fall and summer in fund-raising activities which included a pig roast. Perhaps the steadiest money-maker has been Grant Parker's book about the Bath School explosion, "Mayday" which is now in its second printing.

"He is giving us 30 percent of the profits from the book, and we're selling more and more all of the time," smiled Mrs. Eschtruth.

Other members of the association include Ken Robertson, Richard Ross, Kenneth Black and Elon Pardee.

"The group is called 'the James Couzens Memorial Park Association,'" Mrs. Eschtruth emphasized. "(The land) is being kept up as a memorial to him."

In his book Parker mentions that Senator Couzens always discouraged monuments to himself. He really wanted the emphasis to be placed on the children he was hoping to help, says the author.

This is why the James Couzens Memorial Park Association is working so hard to make the grounds of the old school a pleasant place for the community, and to see that the name of James Couzens is not forgotten in Bath.

★ Educators study

"With mainstreaming we see all kinds of handicapping conditions in a classroom."

Next the class was asked to pair off with a second worksheet. While one member of the team read a description of a simple line drawing, the other tried to reproduce the picture merely by following directions. This exercise pointed up the problems of people who cannot process information through the sense of hearing alone.

"It's hard for someone who has never seen an LD or handicapped child to understand how frustrated these kids can be," she explained. "It is extremely difficult with the so-called hidden handicaps."

In the next task one member of the team had to get his partner to say the correct word using only line drawings. This emphasized the use of only the visual sense.

Finally the participants were asked to share a message using only motor skills. Each could communicate with his partner only by moving that person physically. Those with physical disabilities found this exercise exceptionally difficult.

In a concluding exercise participants were given lists of questions to help them determine whether their own learning styles were primarily visually or hearing oriented.

Those who learn best by hearing might have agreed with statements like "You understand better when you read aloud," or "You don't like silent filmstrips, pantomimes, or charades."

"The good thing about mainstreaming is that it gets these people mixed in with normal people - whatever normal is," Haught smiled. "They learn that they're not going to catch whatever is wrong with (the disabled person.)"

★ Victim-witness

"This is something we've needed for a long time," said Newman.

Another duty assigned to Wash will be checking out harassment claims made by witnesses.

It was noted every major county in the state has a program similar to the new Clinton County setup. However, smaller counties normally aren't able to provide this kind of service.

"This is not a new concept, but it is a proven concept," said Newman. "It's been going on for six or seven years in larger counties who obtained federal funds to get their programs off the ground."

Newman stressed the county will be saving money in the long run. He indicated it cost quite a bit of money to cancel a court session in addition to taking the time of police officers, court officials and witnesses themselves.

"Another positive factor is the witnesses will know we are interested in them," said Koenigsnecht. "We don't have the time to do this service ourselves, so we are making the best use of our personnel."

At the present time the new program will only deal with the more serious crimes.

Blood. It has always been better to give than to receive.

Much has changed since the Red Cross blood program started in 1947. But one thing hasn't. Needing blood has always been a lot harder than giving it. Needing blood is often a matter of life and death. Giving blood is quite easy. It is a fast, simple, carefully done process.

So, if there's a blood drive where you work, please give. If there isn't, call your local Red Cross chapter to find out where you can give.

You'll be helping us celebrate our 100th birthday by giving the best gift of all—life.

Redwings fall at DeWitt by 4 in OT

By TIM JEFFERY

Losses don't come any tougher than the one St. Johns absorbed Tuesday at DeWitt. The Redwings enjoyed a 12-point bulge early in the second quarter, before dropping a 71-67 decision in overtime.

The team didn't take long to bounce back, however as indicated by the result from the trip to Alma Friday night. St. Johns finally got untracked in the second quarter and rolled to an easy 82-48 win. The victory was the Redwings seventh in eight MMB outings, keeping them tied for first with O-E.

Much like the earlier meeting between the two teams, St. Johns and DeWitt played a wide-open first half of basketball. The Panthers jumped out to a quick 7-3 advantage before the Redwings bounced back to claim a 23-17 lead at quarter's end. Bruce Fedewa with eight points and Jeff Casler with seven supplied most of the early fire power.

St. Johns continued to force the action, beating DeWitt in the transition game. The Redwings scored the first six points of period number two. Fedewa had two of the buckets, the first coming after a beautiful between-the-legs feed from Casler.

Tim Deak scored for DeWitt with 2:25 left in the quarter to start a string of six straight Panther points. Scott Kinney's field goal closed the gap to 39-37 and suddenly DeWitt was very much alive.

A costly play for St. Johns occurred with 36 seconds remaining in the half. Doug Sleep got hit with an elbow in the nose and was forced to exit. The injury was later diagnosed as a fracture and Sleep was expected to miss three games.

The Redwings managed to build the lead back to six just before the buzzer sounded when Casler hit a 15-footer as he was falling down.

St. Johns upped it to 51-43 early in the third quarter, before DeWitt began to gradually inch back again. Deak's bucket with 15 second on the clock sent the teams into the final period with the Redwings holding a slim 54-52 edge.

The lead changed hands four times and was tied twice during the first seven minutes of the fourth quarter. DeWitt went ahead 64-63 on a 20-footer by Tim Carey with 34 seconds left. After St. Johns failed to convert, Carey had a chance to clinch it, but he could hit only one of two foul shots and the Redwings got it back with 14 seconds remaining, needing two points to tie.

Casler was fouled with seven seconds left. DeWitt called two time-outs in an attempt to ice Casler, but the Redwing junior calmly sank both shots. Deak missed a 25-footer at the buzzer, sending it into overtime.

Mark Mohre and Fedewa traded foul shots in the first minute of the extra session. Neither team scored again until Mohre hit a short baseline jumper with 36 seconds left.

St. Johns failed to score on its possession, then was forced to foul Carey. He hit both free throws making it 71-67 and giving DeWitt its 13th win of the season.

After the big first half, St. Johns was held to four field goals over the rest of the contest. Casler wound up with 29 points and Fedewa had 21 to led the offensive output.

An angry Bob Tissot thought his team should've had a chance to win it in regulation when Deak missed the final shot and the referees failed to whistle a foul on Pat Toune who jumped on the back of a Redwing player in an attempt to tip the ball back up. "Whenever you lose in overtime you can look at a few different things that did it. DeWitt played well, but I'm angry with a few things, so I'm guarding what I say. You've got to give DeWitt all the credit in the world. They kept pulling something out of the bag," he stated.

A pair of big spurts late in the second quarter and at the start of the third propelled St. Johns to its win at Alma.

The battle was tied 12-12 going into the second period, then the Redwings outscored the hosts 25-11, including an 11-1 spree to grab the big halftime lead.

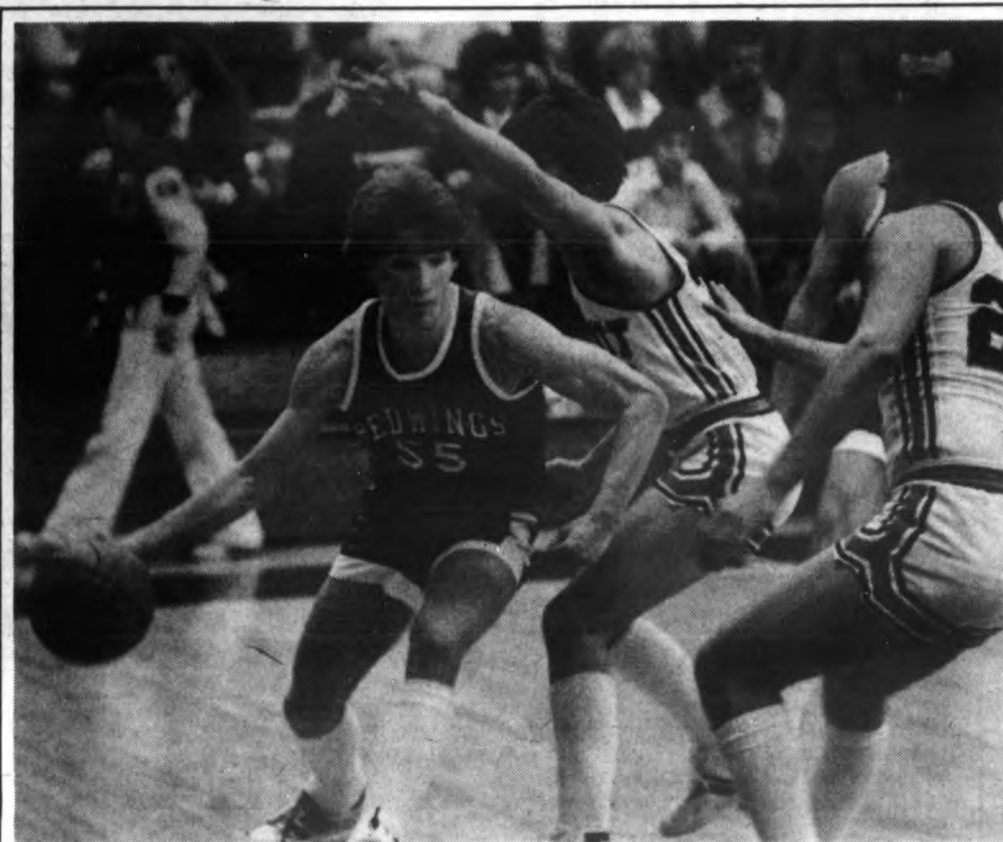

St. Johns picked up where it had left off as play resumed and virtually sewed up the win in the first few minutes of the second half.

Fedewa with 29 points and Casler with 20 topped the Redwings. Denny Sleep scored 12 points and collected 10 rebounds. Casler led the team in the rebounding department with 13. Steve Gonzales dished out nine assists, giving him 115 for the season.

Tissot called the performance St. Johns best overall game of the year.

The Redwings were off last night. Friday they face Ionia.

Jeff Casler, the county's leading scorer, makes one of his patented moves to the bucket, cutting inside Pat Toune and Doug Peterson of DeWitt (top left). The junior forward releases the shot (top right), but this time couldn't get it to fall.

Fulton gives unbeaten P-W all it can handle

By TIM JEFFERY

It's not often that a coach can watch his team lose, yet emerge feeling better than the victorious coach. Kim Lathwell experienced that very feeling Friday night after Fulton dropped a 64-54 decision to Pewamo-Westphalia.

The loss was Fulton's second of the year to the Pirates, but much like in the earlier meeting, Fulton played extremely well.

P-W, 15-0 coming into the game, had been less than impressive in recent outings. Win number 15 occurred Tuesday at Potterville by a 59-45 count. The final was a bit misleading as Potterville trailed by just 41-39 early in the fourth quarter, before the Pirates finally pulled away.

Brian Pfaff hit 10 of 14 shots from the floor in playing his best game of the year. He broke out of the blocks early with 10 first quarter points and wound up with 21.

Ironically, Pfaff was the lone Pirate starter to shoot a free throw during the contest. P-W attempted just seven charity tosses, making five.

Fulton lost its ballgame Tuesday night to Olivet, 73-45. The Pirates were competitive through three quarter, but were then outscored 26-9 in the final stanza.

The Eagles connected on 72 percent of their second half shots to post the lopsided victory.

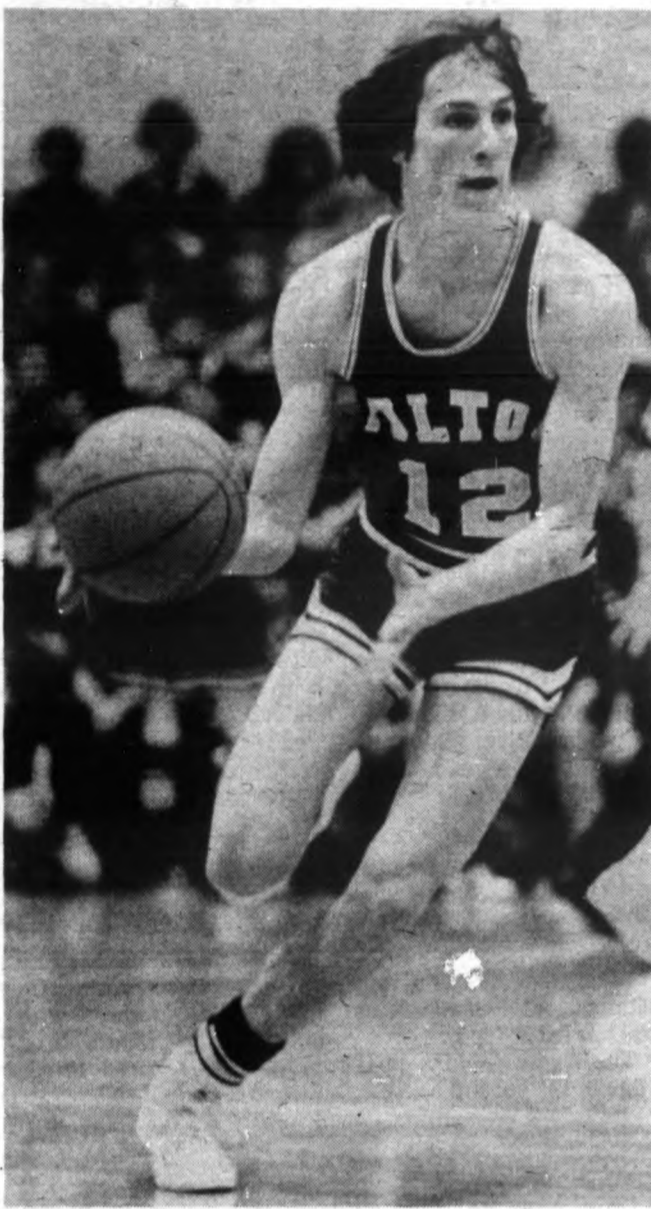

Scott Winsor scored 16 points to lead Fulton while teammate Wayne Bond added 10.

At P-W Friday night, the hosts led 13-10 after one period. Coach John Ellis searching for the right combination, inserted Jeff Belen into the lineup. He responded with six second quarter points to help the Pirates up their lead to 33-23 at the half.

Following the intermission, P-W was unable to pad the spread as Fulton hung close and trimmed it to 50-41.

The situation became more tense when the visitors cut it to a four-point margin with just under two minutes remaining, however Guy Walter tossed in three big free throws to keep P-W unbeaten.

Walter's ability to sink the key shots saved the Pirates from what may have been a loss, because of poor free throw shooting. The winners attempted 40 foul shots and made just 22. They missed front ends of one and one situations on five different occasions during the final quarter.

Chris Thelen was one of the few P-W bright spots. He scored nine points coming off the bench and played a fine all-around floor game. Steve Hengesbach scored a couple of big buckets late in the game and finished with 12 points, while Pfaff ended up with 10.

Bond paced Fulton by scoring 18 points. The junior guard was nine for 12 from the floor.

Winsor had 11 points and 16 rebounds, while his brother Brian knocked in 10 markers. Brad Glazier also netted 10.

Lathwell obviously would've loved to spoil P-W's perfect season, but even in defeat had plenty of good things to say about his team's performance. "I don't think we can play much better. We took good shots and played defense well," he indicated. The coach went on to discuss the strong overall showing of each player. "That's the first time this year we haven't had a let-down from anybody. It was just a total team effort."

Ellis, on the other hand was happy to see a break in the P-W schedule (last night) after the hard earned win. "We've needed a rest for quite a while, with only one game this week we'll get it. Both the players and myself are edgy," he said.

Fulton, now 3-8 in the CMAC and 4-11 overall visited Breckenridge last night. Friday, the Pirates host a rapidly improving Pottersville team.

P-W is in action against Bellevue on Friday, then travels to DeWitt next Tuesday for a big showdown.

O-E posts easy win over Chesaning

By TIM JEFFERY

Friday evening turned out to be one of those laughers all coaches love to be part of every so often. Ovid-Elsie Coach Bob Foreback emptied his bench in the first half as his Marauders coasted to a 67-53 win over Chesaning.

The Indians had ideas of setting the tempo, going with a slow-down offense, but were forced to abandon the tactic mid-way through the opening period when O-E opened up an eight-point lead. The quarter ended with Chesaning trailing 19-8.

The substitutes played well in the second frame for the hosts as they padded their lead, outscoring the Indians 19-9 to take a 21-point lead into the intermission.

Chesaning managed to outscore O-E 20-18 in the third period and 16-11 in the fourth, however the Marauder starters spent most of the time sitting on the bench.

Mark Carter tossed in 20 points to pace the O-E attack. Jerry Horn was next with 14 markers, while collecting 10 rebounds. The Marauders owned the glass to the tune of a 48-29 rebounding margin. Troy Ginther had 11 caroms and turned in a stellar performance defensively as he limited Chesaning's Tony Hemgesberg, the Indians' top scorer coming into the contest to 10 points.

Redwing pair qualify

Dawn Bakita and Darlene Cerny turned in excellent performances Thursday night in guiding the St. Johns Girls' Gymnastics Team to a victory over Haslett. The Redwings outpointed the Vikings 82.55-71.1. Haslett was without its best performer because of a broken toe 82.55-71.1.

Cerny won the competition on the beam with a mark of 8.0. Bakita's score of 6.8 was good for second place. Both girls qualified for the regionals in the event with their performances. Chris Dedyne placed fourth on the beam for St. Johns. Cerny finished first in the three other events as well. She finished with a mark of 8.0 on the vault. Dedyne was second, scoring 7.15 and Sheila Barnes took third with her score of 7.05.

On the uneven bars, Cerny won with a mark of 6.95. Bakita was third, scoring 6.45 and Barnes wound up fifth with a mark of 5.40.

Finally, in the floor exercise, Cerny scored 7.7 to finish ahead of Bakita, who scored 6.65. Tammy Gladstone took fourth for St. Johns, scoring 6.05.

The dunk is basketball's highest percentage shot, but this is true only when the player involved doesn't have to struggle to accomplish the feat.

Lansing Catholic Central jumped out to a 6-2 lead against DeWitt Friday night, the third field goal coming on a rather shaky jam by John Romsek. By shaky, I mean the ball rattled around inside the rim before going down.

Some 30 seconds into the second quarter, Romsek tried to repeat his earlier accomplishment. With his team trailing by a point and on a clear-cut breakaway, the 6-foot-2 forward blew the shot when he attempted to dunk hit the back of the iron. Suddenly, DeWitt's fans had plenty more to scream about.

As a coach, Jerry Tripp should not allow his player to showboat. If the guy is 6-foot-8 or named Sam Vincent, then fine slam away, but following Romsek's futile try, LCC quickly found itself on the short end of a 29-20 score and never recovered.

In an earlier loss to P-W by a single point, the same Cougar forward missed a dunk attempt, when a simple layup could've been the difference. You'd think Tripp and Romsek would've learned by now....P-W Coach John Ellis admits the pressure of being unbeaten through 16 games is getting to both his players and him. The Pirates only play once this week, giving them a much needed rest. Next Tuesday P-W invades DeWitt for what should be the best game of the year between county teams. While it's certainly not a due or die situation for either team, being that the two compete in different leagues, plenty will be at stake. The Panthers have been the better of the teams over the last three weeks, thus its anybody's guess as to what will happen. In fact, DeWitt would probably have to be listed as a slight favorite, but I'm not predicting anything other than a great game.

If DeWitt's football schedule wasn't tough enough already, how does adding Chesaning sound. The Indians were Class B semi-finalists in the 1980 season and figure to be strong again next year, even though several key players will graduate in June....Are you too aware of the fact that all the talk we hear about LCC having only lost to ranked teams coming into the game the other night should be weighed against how many ranked teams the Cougars have beaten. Chalk up a zero in that particular column. Yes, Catholic Central beat DeWitt earlier, but the Panthers were a long way from top ten status at that time. It seems as though you should beat some of the heavyweights to rank with them.

I found it rather amazing that the reporter covering the LCC-DeWitt game for The State Journal built up Pat Toune's three-quarter court shot in such a manner as he did. Not to take anything away from Pat, because the shot was incredible, but I'm sure he'd be the first to agree with me in that the Panthers still would've emerged as winners had the shot missed....Looking for a good underdog to bet on? Try those MSU Spartans. They've beaten the point spread in nine of their last 11 games.

Eagles whip PSP, lose to Vikes

By TIM JEFFERY

It was only a matter of time before Pottersville would finally start winning ball games in the CMAC. The Vikings broke into the win column in the league two weeks ago, then tacked on another one at the expense of Fowler Friday evening.

Coming into the game Pottersville had dropped seven games by two points or less, thus the 1-9 conference slate was very misleading.

The combination of Mike O'Neil and Greg Miller proved too much for the Eagles to overcome. O'Neil finished the night with 26 points and Miller wound up with 20, 14 of which came after the intermission.

Neither team ever enjoyed the luxury of a big lead. Pottersville led 15-13 after one stanza and 29-25 at halftime.

Fowler trimmed it to 41-39 entering the fourth quarter, but was unable to overtake the hosts. Bob Belen scored his only points of the contest on a key three-point play late in the game to sew up the victory.

The Eagles had trouble finding the mark from both the field and the free throw line. They made just 3 of 11 foul shots and shot 37 percent from the floor.

Coach Charlie Trierweiler pointed out the poor shooting as being the difference. "Anytime you score three more field goals and take 25 more shots than a team, you feel as though you should've won," he said.

Pottersville shot 51 percent as O'Neil and Miller combined to make 18 of 31 shots. The Vikings also nailed 11 of 15 free throws.

Dave Koenigsknecht topped Fowler with 14 points, eight coming in the last quarter. Lloyd Feldpausch netted 10 markers and led in rebounding with eight. Tom Weber and Stan Simon also chipped in with 10 apiece.

Earlier in the week, Fowler routed Portland St. Patrick 76-49. The game was fairly close at halftime, however Fowler outscored the visitors 46-27 over the final two quarters.

Despite the easy win, Fowler did not shoot particularly well. The Eagles were 32 for 82 from the field while St. Pat's was 16 of 55.

The big edge was in the rebounding department where Fowler held a 50-27 advantage. Simon led with nine caroms. He also had a big night in the scoring column, netting 29 as he made 14 of 23 field goal tries. Simon scored 11 of his points in the opening quarter. Steve Schneider and Feldpausch each added 10 points in the win.

Ken Kramer led the Shamrocks with 15 points. Mike Wilcox had 13 and Mike Sines scored eight.

Fowler currently stands at 8-3 in the CMAC, good for second place, but the loss to Pottersville leaves the Eagles three games behind front-running P-W. Fowler is 10-5 overall.

The next game for the Eagles is Friday at Laingsburg.

Fowler girls beat Olivet in tough match

It took three extremely tight games to settle the issue, but Fowler's volleyball team managed to defeat Olivet Thursday night for its second win in four CMAC outings.

Kim Schafer served the last six points of Fowler's 16-14 triumph in game one. Two of her serves were aces.

Beth Meyers was also a vital cog in the attack as she totaled six spikes.

The Eagles held a 14-11 edge in the second contest, only to see Olivet rally for a 16-14 victory. Mae Farley with six serving points and Julie Pung with four, topped Fowler. Cindy Klein recorded four spikes, one better than the totals turned in by Meyers and Farley.

The third game was decided by two points as well. Pung turned the winning markers, serving points 12 through 15. Farley was credited with six service points and Schafer with three spikes to lead the winners.

How sweet it is! Panthers rip LCC

By TIM JEFFERY

A DeWitt victory over St. Johns normally merits plenty of attention, however you can forget about Tuesday's 71-67 overtime win and place Friday night's massacre atop the list of sweet-tasting Panther triumphs.

Mike Fedio and his DeWitt cagers had long been pointing toward the return match-up with Lansing Catholic Central, especially after playing poorly back on Dec. 19 in losing 57-50 to the Cougars.

This time around things were different. Momentum was with the Panthers following the win over the Redwings earlier in the week, DeWitt's fifth straight. The stage was right for a big night for the home team.

LCC held leads of 6-2 and 14-9 at different times in the opening quarter, before the area's top free-throw shooter, Tim Deak, canned four in a row from the charity stripe giving the Panthers a 15-14 edge after one. DeWitt's other Tim, the 6-foot-2 forward named Carey, also enjoyed a big first quarter as he dropped in three of his patented long bombs.

The Panthers would never relinquish the lead as John Romsek, not to be confused with Darryl Dawkins, opened the second quarter with an attempted dunk that caromed off the back of the rim and set DeWitt on fire.

There wasn't a player within 20 feet of Romsek when he blew the easy two-pointer.

Scott Kinney hit two free throws, then Doug Peterson added a layup, pushing the margin to 19-14. Following a LCC bucket, DeWitt scored six more points, making it a nine-point spread.

The Panthers began the third quarter leading 32-25 and patiently working for an open shot. Finally, after moving the ball for close to a minute, Deak broke free for a layup and drew a foul as well. His free throw missed the mark, but on DeWitt's next possession, he added another field goal, causing Jerry Tripp to spring from the Cougar bench calling timeout.

Some two minutes later, Carey pieced together a three-point play, then scored again 17 seconds later. The margin reached 13 when Kinney speared a rebound with one hand and put it back in the hole.

Pete Cassel hit a jumper with five seconds left in the quarter, then what figured to be a harmless three-quarter court launch by Pat Toune, kissed the backboard perfectly and fell through to make it 49-35 entering the final frame. The remarkable shot came from upwards of 70-feet.

Cassel started the fourth quarter with two quick baskets and Fedio quickly called time. After regrouping, DeWitt scored six of the next eight points, to put a lock on the successful evening.

Fedio cleared his bench with a minute to play and only then began to relax. After a shower, clothes and all, the soaking wet Panther coach took time to talk about the 70-53 win. "You can't say one aspect does it. We weren't embarrassed when we played over there, we were just tight. Practice all week has been really spirited and I knew we were ready," he said. He then joked about a day he wouldn't soon forget.

"Hey, my luck has been pretty good lately, I think I'm going out to buy 10 lottery tickets."

Carey paced the winners with 28 points and 14 rebounds. Deak finished with 17 and Kinney had 12. The Panthers shot 76 percent from the free throw line, making 30 of 39. Another key for DeWitt was the play of Mark Mohre, who shot only twice from the floor, but hauled in 10 rebounds and triggered a fast break that clicked well for the Panthers.

Tripp had good things to say about the winners and pointed out DeWitt belongs among the top ten teams in Class C. "Absolutely they are a top ten team. You don't win 14 games in our league and not be rated.

They got keyed up for us, everyone does, and controlled the tempo of the game. That's what beat us," he remarked.

Tim Deak snares one of his game-high 11 rebounds for DeWitt in Tuesday's game with St. Johns. Jeff Casler (55) arrived a second late on the play.

Deak also scored 12 points in the victory. (Photo by Bob Stern)

Mohre scored 21 points to lead four Panthers in double figures in the win over St. Johns. Carey had 16, Deak netted 12 and Kinney totaled 10 as DeWitt bettered the Redwings for the second time this season.

The Panthers are now 5-2 in the Capital Circuit, tied for second place with LCC, and 13-2 overall. Tonight DeWitt visits Bath then meets Mason Friday night.

It is ordered that said complaint will be brought on for hearing and judgement at the March term of this Court, to be held at St. Johns in the County of Clinton, State of Michigan, on the 2nd day of March A. D. 1981, at the opening of the Court on that day, and that all persons interested in such lands or any part thereof, desiring to contest the lien claimed thereon by the State of Michigan, for such taxes, interest and charges, or any part thereof shall appear in said Court, and file with the clerk thereof their objections thereto on or before the first day of the term of this Court above mentioned, and that in default thereof the same will be taken as confessed and a judgement will be taken and entered as prayed for in said complaint. And it is further ordered that in pursuance of said judgement the lands described in said complaint for which a judgement of sale shall be made, will be sold for the several taxes, interest and charges thereon as determined by such judgement, on the first Tuesday in May thereafter, beginning at 10 o'clock a.m. on said day, or on the day or days subsequent thereto as may be necessary to complete the sale of said lands and of each and every parcel thereof, at the office of the County Treasurer, or at such convenient place as shall be selected by him at the county seat of the county of Clinton, State of Michigan, and that the sale then and there made will be a public sale, and each parcel described in the judgement shall be separately exposed for sale for the total taxes, interest and charges, and the sale shall be made to the person paying the full amount charged against such parcel, and accepting a conveyance of the smallest undivided fee simple interest therein, or, if no person will pay the taxes and charges and take a conveyance of less than the entire thereof, then the whole parcel shall be offered and sold. If any parcel of land cannot be sold for taxes, interest and charges, such parcel shall be passed over for the time being, and shall, on the succeeding day, or before the close of the sale, be reoffered, and if on such second offer, or during such sale, the same cannot be sold for the amount aforesaid, the County Treasurer shall bid off the same in the name of the State.

STATE OF MICHIGAN IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF CLINTON FILED: January 9, 1981 Jane Swanchara Clerk of Clinton County

In the Matter of the Complaint of the State Treasurer of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon.

TO THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF CLINTON, LOREN E. MONROE, State Treasurer of the State of Michigan, respectfully shows unto the Court:

- 1. That he is the State Treasurer of the State of Michigan and makes and files this complaint under, by virtue of and pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended, and Act No. 380 of P.A. 1965, as amended.
2. That Schedule A annexed hereto is the tax record required by the act first above mentioned and contains the description of all lands in the aforesaid county upon which taxes, which were assessed for the years mentioned therein, have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, the description of all lands in said county heretofore bid off in the name of the State and thus held and upon which taxes which were assessed subsequent to the tax for which such lands were sold to the State have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent.
3. That extended separately in said schedule against each description of said lands therein contained are (a) the total amount of delinquent taxes upon said description for the non-payment of which the same may lawfully be sold at the next annual tax sale, (b) interest computed thereon as provided by law to the first day of May, next ensuing, (c) a collection fee of four per cent which shall be a minimum of $1.00 as provided by Section 211.59, C.L. 1970, as amended, and (d) $5.50 for expenses, all in accordance with the provisions of the act first above mentioned.
4. That all of the aforesaid taxes, interest and charges are valid, delinquent and unpaid, and have remained delinquent and unpaid for sufficient time to authorize and require, as provided by the foregoing acts, the sale of the aforesaid parcels of land against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non-payment thereof, and that the said taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses so extended in said schedule against each parcel of land therein described constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which extended in favor of the people of the State of Michigan, the payment of which lien this court may enforce as a preferred or first claim upon such lands by the sale thereof.

Wherefore your plaintiff prays:

- a. That within the time provided by law this court may determine and adjudge that the aforesaid taxes, interest, collection fee and charges are valid and constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein extended;
b. That within the time provided by law this court make a final judgement in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land therein contained, and the amounts listed in the column headed "aggregate" shall constitute the amounts adjudged against the said several parcels unless so amended by this court;
c. That said judgement provide that in default of the payment so ordered of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands in said schedule, the said several parcels of land, or such interest therein as may be necessary to satisfy the amount adjudged against the same shall severally be sold as the law provides.
d. That your plaintiff may have such other and further relief in the premises as to this court may seem just and equitable.

And your plaintiff will ever pray, etc.

Dated: January 7, 1981

Loren E. Monroe State Treasurer of the State of Michigan for and in behalf of said State

CLINTON COUNTY LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Clinton County Zoning Board of Appeals will conduct a Public Hearing on Tuesday, February 17, 1981 in the Board of Commissioners Room, Clinton County Courthouse, St. Johns, Michigan.

The subject of the public hearing will be the consideration of the following cases:

CASE AB-68-80 Victor Township - Appeal

An application for appeal of the enforcing officer's order to demolish an accessory building which was constructed without the acquisition of a building permit and in violation of OR-1-78, the Clinton County Zoning Ordinance has been filed by Mr.

The Clinton County News-27

Samuel Aguilar, 10500 Babcock Road, Bath, Michigan. The applicant seeks a reversal or modification of said decision in conformity with the powers of the Board to permit the construction of a 24 x 32 garage in the front yard in an agricultural zone district on the following legally described parcel of property:
 N 1/2 of the N 1/2 of the NE 1/4 of SW 1/4 of Sec. 32, T6N-R1W, Victor Township, Clinton County, Michigan.

CASE AB-1-81 Interpretation - Caretakers and/or Watchmans Quarters in an Industrial Zone

An application for an interpretation of Art. 6, Sec. 6.16.2(W) has been filed by the Department of Development Control pursuant to Article 4, Section 4.4.4 A of the County Zoning Ordinance. The interpretation is necessary since current ordinance language lacks specificity as it relates to the allowability of caretakers or watchmans quarters in industrial zones. The Board will define the term Watchman and Caretaker, and address the following issues:

1. Is an industrial complex limited to one watchman for the entire industrial park.
2. In an industrial complex or park, can each individual building or use accommodate a separate caretaker or watchman.
3. In an industrial park or industrial complex, can the owner or agent accommodate more than one (1) watchman in separate living quarters in the same building.

AB-2-81 - Bath Township - Appeal

An application has been filed by Mr. William Youatt, Attorney, on behalf of Aero Realty Corp. 6557 Temp. I-69, Haslett, Mi. Appeal is taken from the enforcing officers decision to preclude the occupancy of two (2) apartments located in the Aero Rental Building which are utilized by caretakers for the industrial complex.

The applicant requests a reversal or modification of the enforcing officers decision in conformity with the powers of the Board to permit the utilization of said units for watchman quarters on the following described parcel of property:

That part of the SE 1/4 of Sec. 25, T5N-R1W, Bath Twp, Clinton County, Mi. the boundary of which has been surveyed and is hereby described by Michigan R.L.S. No. 16053 as beg. on the N-S 1/4 ln. at a pt. N0°32'23" W 1992.20 ft. from the S 1/4 cor. of sd. Sec. 25, th. cont. alg. sd. 1/4 ln. N0°32'24" N 645.56' to the cen. of sd. Sec. th. alg. E-W 1/4 ln. CASE AB-3-81 Olive Township - Dimensional Variance - Sideyard

An application for a dimensional variation to Art. 6, Sec. 6.5.5(F) Sideways has been filed by Mr. Gary Trimmer, 10026 DeWitt Road, DeWitt, Mi. The variance, if issued, will permit the construction of an attached garage 16' from the side property line. The zoning ordinance requires 20' to a side property line in the A-1, Agricultural zone district.

Beg. at the N 1/4 cor. of Sec. 32, T6N-R2W, th. S. 166', W. 524.80', N. 166', E. 524.80', to POB.

CASE AB-4-81 Bingham Township - Dimensional Variance

An application for a dimensional variance of OR-1-78, the Clinton County Zoning Ordinance has been filed by Mr. Wayne D. Karber, 2355 W. Taft Road, St. Johns, Mi. The variance, if approved would permit the construction of a barn to be utilized for the housing of horses 60' from the west property line and 58' from the east property line. Article 6, Section 6.5.3 requires that structures housing farm animals be set back 100 feet from all property lines.
