Careers explored tomorrow

Thursday will be Career Days at St. Johns High School with representatives from dozens of companies, colleges and trade schools on hand to explain their employment and training attractions.

Displays will be set up in the gym from 10 a.m. to 3:10. Presentations will be staged throughout the day.

4-H Day is Feb 21

Families still wanting to spend a super day exploring a wide array of workshop activities can register at the door Saturday, Feb. 21 at 9 a.m. for the third annual 4-H Family Day at Rodney B. Wilson Junior High School, St. Johns.

"Families Make A Difference" say the planning committee and they have put together a host of learning experiences for every age group.

You can learn together or split up and compare later.

The workshops range from car repair for women to solar energy and quick crafts.

You can explore more about Agri-fuels or learn pattern alteration. There's a session on coupon clipping and one on photography.

No need to be a 4-H member, it's for the public. A small 50 cents per person or $2 a family, fee will get you in for the day.

Harry gets pacemaker

Longtime St. Johns businessman, Harry Bradley, recently became the oldest area resident to have a pacemaker installed.

It seems that Harry, 101, was having fainting spells. It wasn't until he broke a wrist, though, that Harry decided to go to a doctor.

A cardiologist saw Harry in the morning and scheduled him for surgery that afternoon.

We have been assured that from now on Harry's great heart will be pumping at no less than 70 beats per minute.

Get well soon, Harry.

The entire cast of St. Johns High School's "Story Theatre" received awards of excellence for their ensemble performance at Saturday's regional drama contest.

Three cast members, including Jane Miller (above) who played the part of the fisherman's wife, made Pope by an enchanted flounder, received superior ratings. The others, also participants in the "Fisherman and His Wife," were Tim Dickman and Judd Escher.

The cast and crew will now move on to Marquette where they will perform in the State Finals this weekend. (Photos by Bob Stern)

On to state contest for St Johns drama group

The Redwing Dramatists of St. Johns High school will be going on to the state finals at Northern Michigan University in Marquette following their first place win in regional competition last Saturday.

The team scored 186 out of a possible 200 points for their production of "Story Theatre."

"That is a very good score for regional competition," admitted director Robert Koger.

Second place in the contest went to Standish-Sterling High School for their production of "Once Upon a Mattress" while Midland's Herbert Henry Dow High School captured third place with their production of "The Good Doctor." These schools will also advance to the finals in Marquette on the weekend of Feb. 20 and 21.

This will be the 10th straight year that the St.

Johns Dramatists have qualified for the state contest. They now have a chance to take their fourth state title, having won it previously in 1975, 1978, and 1979.

The 50 members of the cast and crew will be leaving for the Upper Peninsula at 6 a.m. Thursday and will return Sunday.

The group is under the direction of Koger; Carol Huguélet, student director; Lea Smith, costume director; and Ellen Handley, movement advisor.

Care Center office moved

The I.O.O.F. Lodge has donated office space to the Clinton Area Care Center according to Jeanne Rand, board of directors chairman.

The Care Center's new office location will be at the I.O.O.F. building, 323 N. Clinton Ave., downtown, St. Johns. "Hopefully, this will be home until we can move into the new building on Scott Road," Mrs. Rand said.

The Care Center has had office space at the County Juvenile Court building on South Oakland Street for over a year and a half. The move was necessary when the county had need of the donated space.

Youth Employment Training funds up

By SHARON RANDALL

An employment training program designed to place low income Clinton County youth and adults in entry level jobs, encourage them to finish high school and ultimately place them in unsubsidized employment has gained an additional $110,711 in funds for the 1981 year.

The program's coordinator Tom Griffin, who works through the Clinton County Intermediate School District and serves students in the six county districts, has obtained a total of $336,842 in CETA grants to fund the work and training programs. This year's budget includes a new adult employment assistance program and a youth community conservation and improvement project. For the first time, an emphasis will be placed on finding regular jobs for the participants when they are finished with their schooling and job training.

"Before our basic emphasis was on keeping these students in school, rather than job placement," Griffin explained.

Unsubsidized job placement will come in part through a program presently being coordinated and written by Sally Fernandez who was hired this fall through a tri-county grant the intermediate shares with Gratiot and Isabella counties.

One of Griffin's new programs which is to start this month, will involve students enrolled in the Alternative Education Program at St. Johns. The $4,516 grant will allow students to earn minimum wage while working on a project painting the interior and landscaping the exterior of Teresa Merrill School, Griffin said.

Six students can work through June at 15 hours per week in this project. The ultimate goal of the program is to place half of them into regular employment when the project is finished, Griffin related.

For the first time, work experience funding is available for Adult Education Students enrolled in programs at St. Johns and Ovid-Elste.

These students will be placed on jobs in the public sector for about 26 weeks, Griffin explained, working 20 to 30 hours per week at minimum wage.

The jobs, which are presently being solicited through Griffin's office, are with government agencies, school districts and non-profit organizations. They include training work in clerical, custodial, maintenance and other entry level positions.

"The purpose is to provide incentive for people to complete their high school education," Griffin said. The $42,403 funding will put about 19 students to work, he said, and an attempt will also be made to make placement into regular jobs at the end of their training.

"The most difficult part is finding the (training) job slots" Griffin said. A mailing has gone out to agencies in the area that could makeable but other organizations who think they may qualify should

Bob Serrine helps vets with problems

By SUE KILEY WHITE

When veterans in Clinton County are in need of help the first person they should think of is Robert Serrine of Maple Rapids.

Serrine is the Veteran Services Coordinator in the county, a job he took over from his father Rex, several years ago.

"It just seemed like the natural thing to do," said Serrine. "It was an easy way to get involved."

Basically, there are two functions Serrine performs. One involves the Soldier and Sailors Relief Fund. This is an emergency stop-gap measure set up by the county for one time use. The other involves helping veterans fill out forms regarding such things as loans, education benefits and life insurance.

In regard to the relief fund, Serrine steps in when a veteran has used up all of his fuel oil in the middle of the winter and has no money to buy more or when a veteran has no food in the house.

"This is not an on going type of service," stressed Serrine.

In addition to other duties, Serrine fills out all the county burial forms for war and peace time veterans. The amount of money depends if the county or federal government is responsible for the expenses. In either case the amount is under $500.

In Clinton County there is no veterans' office, as it was done away with 10 or 12-years-ago, says Serrine. Veteran affairs are now handled in the Serrine home. This is where he works on federal forms too, for such things as grave markers, vocational education, rehabilitation and government life insurance.

"These services are offered by the American Legion," said Serrine. "It is not a county operation."

Lately, there have been a few problems regarding veteran services in Clinton County. The crux of the problem Serrine indicated is that in the past Ingham County has been servicing the southern portion of Clinton County including Bath, DeWitt and Watertown Townships. Now because of economics and cuts to several programs, veterans' services in Ingham County have been reduced. This has caused them to ask Clinton County for a supplemental budget.

In essence, the main duties Ingham County performs for Clinton veterans is taking them for needed medical help and treatment at the veterans hospital in Allen Park.

WOES Radio auction nets $6,500

Ovid-Elsie's high school radio station, WOES (91.3 FM) earned a whopping $6,500 in its third annual radio auction.

Merchants from area communities donated the merchandise for the 30-hour auction that drew in bids from 10 cents to $120.

A transmission filter worth $8 went for the 10 cent bid and a stereo system valued at $195 went to the high bidder.

The total auction figure included personal pledges, the auctioned items and cash donations.

The money will be used to maintain the station which lost school monetary support in a recent budget cutting.

Students and volunteers spent 30 hours on the telephone this weekend taking in bids for the WOES radio auction that earned the station more than $6,500. Kevin Somers, a 10th grader at Ovid-Elsie High School takes bids during the Friday evening shift. The third annual auction was dubbed the "biggest radio auction in Mid-Michigan." Funds will help the station maintain itself. (Photo by Tim Jeffery)

Trent Stull found guilty of absconding, jumping bail

By SUE KILEY WHITE

Trent Lee Stull, 26, formerly of Bath Township, was found guilty by a Gratiot County Jury Thursday night on charges of jumping bail and absconding.

Using a defense of "fearing for his life" Stull and his court appointed attorney James Moore tried to prove to the jury that the reason Stull did not show up for court on charges of kidnapping and criminal sexual conduct (rape) in January of 1980 was due to mortal fear of the Clinton County sheriff's department.

A federal court warrant for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution was issued for Stull. He was located nearly ten months later by FBI agents in West Virginia, using the alias of Richard Kruger (a dead youth that Stull's brother knew).

Stull said he left the state following warnings from friends and a former Clinton County deputy Timothy Woolfe. Stull testified in Judge Randy Tahvonen's court that Woolfe had told him, "They (Clinton County deputies) were going to get me any way they could."

This allegedly happened two weeks before Stull's court case in Clinton County was to be heard.

The bearded young man also stood on charges of contempt of court when he would not answer Richard Dresser, assistant prosecuting attorney's question of whose car he took to West Virginia. Stull received the maximum penalty for contempt of court of a $250 fine and 30 days in jail.

"I feared if I showed up I wouldn't be alive the next day," said Stull to the six man, six woman jury. "They were going to get me any way they could, just like they got my brother."

Stull was referring to his brother Spencer who was shot and killed in the family's Bath Township home by a Clinton County deputy in 1977 following an altercation on a larceny charge.

Gene Reno, Bath police chief and former neighbor of the Stull family testified there was "real fear" on both Stull's part and the Clinton County Sheriff's Department.

Before and after the death of Spencer Stull, Trent had run ins with the police departments in the area. He had been housed in the Clinton County Jail previously and testified he had not been physically hurt by the deputies. However, he said he was always being harassed by members of the department.

Another aspect of the case involved testimony by James LeClear, Williamston police chief. He testified that in the spring of 1979 he received a report from Ingham County sheriff's department which included the history of Spencer Stull's death in June of 1977. In this report there were supposedly 24 members of an organization living in the area that were going to kill some police officers. Trent Stull's name was listed on the report.

The report indicated that an incident would occur on the second anniversary of Spencer Stull's death. LeClear indicated he increased the manpower and gave them additional weapons to watch over a parade held in Williamston on June 21, 1979.

"On the day of the parade, our department was dispatched a call from an unknown person that an officer would be killed during the parade," said LeClear.

There was no incident however, regarding any police officer, according to LeClear.

Chief Reno testified that he could sense an attitude of the Clinton County sheriff and undersheriff that they wanted to avoid a confrontation of any type with the Stull family.

"Fear, however was also very prevalent among the Stulls too," said Reno.

Reno also testified that Stull's reputation in Bath was

Court fight planned by Bath group home foes

By JEAN MARTIN

The Bath Township Board will request a meeting with John Dempsey, director of the Michigan Department of Social Services, to discuss the licensing of a proposed group home for delinquent adolescent boys on Robson Road.

A standing-room-only meeting of the township board was attended by State Representative Alan Cropsey and aides representing Rep. Francis Spaniola and Sen. Richard Allen.

Township Clerk, Kathy McQueen, read a letter from Kenneth Dyer, Bath Schools Superintendent, opposing the placement of the group home in the school district. Dyer wrote in part, "I feel that a burden on the school district is inevitable."

Dyer also indicated that he believed the program provided by the Bath Schools was probably not broad enough to serve the educational needs of the proposed new residents.

Frank Buzzitta of the Ingham County Probate Court indicated that when the home opened only children under the age of 12 would be placed there initially. These children would have backgrounds that included emotional and physical neglect and delinquency.

"Are you locked into that with regards to age?" asked Township Supervisor Richard Brook.

"We are not tied by licensing," answered Buzzitta. "This is only a verbal agreement with the court. I can't dictate to the court what they are going to do."

Buzzitta did say later, however, that the home would only be opening with children under 12.

"We have to go with our needs," he emphasized, "and our need is for a group home for teenage boys."

Tom Woodruff, former township supervisor, asked whether any of the children living in the home would be from Clinton County.

Buzzitta responded that they would be Ingham County children. The probate court in that county had been unable to find homes in Ingham that would suit its needs, he maintained.

Thomas Pearson presented the board with a letter signed by a number of concerned property owners opposing the home in Bath Township. They believed there were already too many foster homes in the township. They also opposed the use of local township and school taxes to serve youngsters who are under the care of the Ingham County courts.

Other township residents repeatedly expressed concern about the safety of neighborhood families and the possibility of increased crime in conjunction with the group home.

"Can we do anything to stop this or will it go right on through?" asked a neighbor.

Township attorney Nancy Wonch replied that the township has no authority to say that the group home is in violation of zoning ordinances.

"You said you needed the cooperation of neighbors and schools for this program to work," Hawks reminded Buzzitta. "Are you going to make the decision to go through with it regardless?"

"It is my decision to go ahead and proceed with the program for a few months and re-evaluate it at that time," answered Buzzitta.

Wood stolen from SJ home

Russell Detloff, 1107 W. Taft Rd., St. Johns, reported to Clinton County Sheriff's deputies the larceny of wood from his residence. Five cords of oak wood valued at $175 was stolen from behind his residence on Feb. 14. Clinton County deputies also recovered a stolen vehicle after receiving a call from an unknown motorist on Feb. 15. Officers found a parked AMC

Gremlin parked on the south side of M-21 in Bigam Township. The car was discovered to be stolen from Elsie on Jan. 24. The vehicle has been impounded and turned over to the Elsie police department for investigation. Richard Cross, 28, Laingsburg was traveling east bound on Round Lake Road when he reported the right front tire dropped off the edge of the road causing him to lose control of the vehicle. The car went into a ditch and struck a tree. Cross received minor injuries and sought his own medical treatment. Dale Lee, also of Laingsburg was west bound on Round Lake Road on Feb. 7 when he lost control of his vehicle on icy roads causing his vehicle to slide sideways and strike some mailboxes. Lee received minor injuries and sought his own medical treatment. Cars driven by Lenora McGinnis, Laingsburg and Roger Frye, Elsie collided when the McGinnis vehicle struck the Frye car on Hollister Road at Colony Road on Feb. 10 in Duplain Township. Miss McGinnis failed to stop on the icy road, according to reports. She was injured and transported to Health Central for medical treatment.

Fires destroy barn, damage home

A barn fire on West Townsend Road resulting in total damage to farm machinery stored there was judged a "big loss" by Fire Chief Clair Maier in a report this week. The barn at 4117 W. Townsend Rd., was owned by Bill Biergans of Laingsburg. Maier said St. Johns Firemen were called to the blaze the evening of Feb. 8. Burned were a tractor, combine and other farm machines and straw stored in the building. Biergans told firemen that he was hooking up a battery charger and the extension cord went "hay-wire." The barn and contents were a total loss. William Buggs lost straw and suffered damage to his horse barn, at 2355 E. Townsend Rd., Friday, Feb. 13, in an early morning blaze. Maier said a cat and dog were also lost in the fire but the horses housed there escaped. The fire was attributed to an extension cord that ran a heater in the water tank. The St. Johns firefighters were called to a house fire on East M-21, Saturday, Feb. 14 that started from an extension cord that ran the fan in a wood burning stove in the basement.

Heavy smoke damage was reported in the Ted Perry home as well as extensive damage to the basement. Maier also reported calls due to chimney fires. They included calls to the Larry Salters residence at 405 S. Kibbee; John Summers at 102 S. Oakland; Bruce Pline at 4487 S. Krepps Rd.

★ Stull found guilty

"lacking" and that not many would trust him.

Stull's mother, Betty, also took the witness stand saying that her son, "was always afraid" of the Clinton County sheriff's department. "We all were," she added.

Continuing she said, "They'd drive up and down our road all the time. We couldn't even go to the cemetery to our son's grave because they were always there."

Greg Ockerman, Clinton County detective told the court that he and a member of the Michigan State Police went to West Virginia to bring Stull back to Clinton County. He noted the Stull's requested that an MSP trooper accompany their son back to Michigan.

MSP Det. Sgt. Ron Parkinson, who accompanied Stull back to the state, testified that having a state trooper go along on an extradition was not unusual and in fact was fairly common.

Jon Newman, Clinton County prosecutor testified the primary reason for the state police trooper going to West Virginia was to save "considerable expense" to the county.

Woolfe, who was accused by Stull of telling him the Clinton County sheriff's department, "would get him," testified that although he knew Stull as a child he had not had any contact with Trent in several years.

"No, I never told him those things," Woolfe said referring to Stull's accusations.

Parkinson and troopers from West Virginia also testified that while they were with Stull he never told any of them he was afraid for his life. He did however, discuss the death of his brother.

In a final statement Moore said to the jury, "We don't deny that Trent didn't show up for the hearing. What we are saying is that he was afraid. It was a real fear."

The jury took 40 minutes to find Stull guilty. He will be sentenced March 9 in St. Johns on the charges of absconding.

Following the regular trial Thursday night, a supplemental information trial was also held. Stull waived the right to a jury trial, and in a brief hearing Dresser proved Stull was an habitual offender, having been convicted on a breaking and entering charge in 1975 in Ionia County.

Because of the habitual offender ruling, Stull's sentence for absconding can be increased from a maximum four years to six years.

Stull also awaits to stand trial for the kidnapping and rape charges in March in Clinton County.

Chamber notes

By Jody Smith

Unemployment, worker's comp change

Unemployment compensation and workers' compensation laws have changed. How will these changes affect employers and businesses? Answers to this question and more will be supplied at a two-hour meeting March 12 in Lansing. The meeting will be held from 7:45-9:45 a.m. at the Lansing Regional Chamber office at a cost of $4 per person.

State Chamber staff members, Dennis Muchmore, Manager of Taxation and Labor Affairs and William Wickham, General Legislative Counsel, will present the information. The format will be a comparison of the old and new laws with an explanation of the laws and their effective dates.

Do not think you are safe remaining in the dark. The unemployment law changes go into effect as early as March 1, 1981. The workers' compensation changes are not effective until Jan 1, 1982, so the seminar will give employers time to prepare for these changes in advance.

Unemployment compensation areas affected by the changes are voluntary quits, maximum benefit levels, qualifying weeks, students, and a redefinition of suitable work.

The workers' compensation changes are in regard to maximum benefit levels, benefit calculations, minimum benefits, limitations and retirees.

Plan to attend this meeting March 12 to update your understanding of these laws. Chamber members may call the Chamber office at 224-7248 for registration and information.

The Career Fair at St. Johns High School planned for Feb. 19 is going to be something special. In addition to speakers, there will be demonstrations with a "hands-on" approach to different careers. Representatives from IBM, Sealed Power, Federal Mogul, Consumers Power, General Telephone, Oldsmobile, and many more will be on hand to demonstrate equipment and speak about careers. In all 38 careers will be represented.

Chef Nelson from Lansing Community college will demonstrate his culinary talents; and MoTECH, an auto training center, will bring its special race car to show students the finer points of race car tuning. Clinton Memorial Hospital will be represented as will the Oceanography Department of the University of Michigan.

These are not all of the careers to be represented, just some of them to whet your appetite. With all of the activities planned, this day will provide a new experience for the St. Johns High School students.

Career choices are often made without much foreknowledge of exactly what goes on in a given field. This kind of program can help students narrow the choices for their all-important decision on a career.

This year, with budgets tightened in every area, the high school administration and Community Resource Volunteers have been working overtime to organize the day. If you can, take the time to come over and have a look around from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

PEP winter camp explores cooperation

Bobby Miller, a fifth grader from Riley Elementary School tries his hand at cross-country skiing during a PEP winter camp at Eagle Village. Some 30 St. Johns fourth and fifth graders attended a weekend camp to reinforce living skills learned during a longer challenge campout this past summer.

The PEP camp, staffed by elementary school counselors, case workers from juvenile court, and other community minded organizations, is a preventative measure to help youngsters who need counseling help in school.

A selected group of fourth and fifth graders from St. Johns' eight elementary schools tried their hand at helping each other and working together during a winter camp experience two weekends this month.

The youngsters are part of a two-year-old program called Pioneers in Educational Programming, (PEP), born out of a cooperative effort between school counselors and Clinton County Juvenile Court and utilizing staff from Community Mental Health and Community Resource Volunteers. They spent a summer week in a challenge program at the camp and returned this month for reinforcement via some good wintertime fun. A theme of cooperation and working together was developed around cross country skiing, broom hockey and other outside winter activities. The youngsters also spent time in discussion, looking at what happened during the summer session that has helped them get along better this year.

"The PEP program was developed by a core of community groups looking for a preventative way to help youngsters," Fred Olmsted, juvenile services officer explained. "Our main thrust was to get the courts and schools working together. We also sought help from other community organizations."

Olmsted said that as the program finishes its second year support from the various community organizations is dwindling because of staff cutbacks and reduced funding. "This winter it was very difficult to get total community cooperation," he explained, "so we are trying to adjust so we can continue to meet the needs of these kids."

More than 30 youngsters are involved in the program each year, attending the week-long summer camp and one of the winter weekends. They are selected because they are having problems at school - academic problems or behavior problems. All of them see the school counselors on a regular basis. The camping experiences are an attempt to take the child out of the school environment and challenge him with situations that force him to make decisions. Leadership roles in school group counseling sessions are a goal for students involved in the PEP camp outs. Special training for PEP counselors is also part of the project.

PEP is funded through a state grant which contributes $10,000 a year. Fees and donations from local service groups also help support it. Local merchants are also cooperative, according to Olmsted. The van that carried the group off to winter camp was donated by St. Johns Ford Mercury.

While last year's pilot program was written for youngsters in the fourth and fifth grades, Olmsted said that the PEP staff has discovered a need at the junior high level. "We are finding that many of these kids are used to elementary teachers and elementary counselors and they sometimes get lost in the shuffle at the junior high. While we won't be able to do anything this summer, we are considering a program the following summer for kids at the sixth, seventh and eighth grade levels," he said.

Leaders sought for Jr Great Books

By SHARON RANDALL

Junior Great Books is something special for kids who like to read and kids who like to think and talk. It's an exercise called "shared interpretation" that draws out new ideas from a story and gives everyone participating a better understanding of what an author was trying to accomplish.

Kids love it. Teachers praise it. But it takes specially trained volunteers to lead and there simply are not enough, according to parents who presently run programs in Bath and St. Johns schools.

A training session has been planned for May in the St. Johns area and an active attempt is to be made to find leaders, who work in teams, for the program.

Sharon Williams, who has a second grader at East Olive Elementary School, St. Johns said the training session will be held May 19 and 20 if enough people are recruited. "I'm taking the training because there isn't anyone to lead a group in my daughter's room," she said. Her partner is to be another mother from the same class and they plan to start the sessions next fall when the children enter third grade. An older Williams child was involved in the pilot Junior Great Books program several years ago at Central School and Mrs. Williams said more leaders are also needed there.

Karen Dailey, a Bath volunteer, said while six leaders are active in the elementary and middle school programs at her school, there is a need for more. "Being a leader is a real commitment," she said. "Those of us who are involved really believe in Junior Great Books."

However, Mrs. Dailey said the six are attempting to run programs for six different grades, meaning that everyone is committed to two 12 week sessions. Leaders get together to plan their sessions and meet with students for about 45 minutes each week.

The Bath program is in its second year. "We are pleased with the results we have seen," Mrs. Dailey said. "We are giving the kids a challenge. It's extra work for them but I think they really enjoy it."

The Junior Great Books program is growing in Clinton County elementary and secondary schools and in other schools across the nation where participation is up past 400,000.

Children who participate get their own paperbound copies of a dozen carefully selected readings and meet weekly to discuss them. The two-volume anthology for each grade costs parents (or schools) about $7.75 per student.

Selections include everything from "Jack in the Beanstalk" and "The Velveteen Rabbit," for second graders to Jack London's "To Build a Fire," for sixth graders. Other grade levels look at "Cinderella," "The Mousewife," "The Story of Dr. Dolittle," and Shirley Jackson's "The Lottery." Discussion questions might include "Do Cinderella gain happiness more as a result of her good character or her good looks?" Or "Why does Jack London believe that the man's lack of 'imagination' was the cause of his death?

The Junior Great Books program was created by the Chicago-based Great Books Foundation. A reading-discussion program, it does not aim to "teach" the classics but tries to teach youngsters to enjoy good books and better understand what they read.

Jason Rositas and Laura Bates ponder a Junior Great Books question at Swegles School. Both fourth graders they participate in a group that combines third and fourth grades.

More leaders are being sought for this thinking, reading program for children.

Leaders get together to prepare questions that will stimulate answers, but it is stressed that there are many right answers and no wrong answers. Children learn to politely disagree with each other and always must back up their answers and arguments with specific evidence from the story.

While a child has to be a good reader, (each selection has to be read twice and you cannot participate if you have not read the story), leaders feel that its greatest benefit is in the development of thinking skills. The children learn to read critically and interpret what they read. They learn to think independently and to listen to and consider the opinions of others.

Leaders also say that they "get fired up" about Junior Great Books and enjoy the opportunity to work with another person in the planning sessions.

If you are interested in learning more about Junior Great Books you can visit sessions at Swegles, Perrin-Palmer or East Olive schools or call Mrs. Dailey in Bath. To sign up for the training sessions contact Mrs. Williams at 224-7538.

Group Homes to stay

We have been hearing quite a lot about group homes in the past few months; and unless there are some radical changes made in state laws and policies, we are quite likely to be hearing more in the future.

While the populations of Clinton County's three proposed group homes differ considerably, many of the concerns of the prospective neighbors remain pretty much the same.

It would seem that residents of DeWitt and Victor Townships would have little to fear from their severely multiply impaired neighbors, many of whom are not even able to walk. Most of the complaints in Victor, in fact, have centered around the suitability of the building site itself.

The populaion of the proposed group home in Bath Township would be very different indeed. Neighbors are understandably apprehensive about the six troubled and troubling adolescents who could eventually come to live there.

There is, however, a nagging undertone throughout all group home discussion regarding "our children" and theirs. Whose children? Do "our" children come only from our school district, our township, our county, our state, our country? Where do "our" children end and "theirs" begin? Had life's circumstances been just a little different might not these handicapped and troubled children have been our own children or even ourselves?

Ultimately, the real question must be with regards to the efficacy of the community involvement programs being undertaken by the placement agencies.

At first area residents somehow are being given the impression that their concerns will be heard and their recommendations will be taken into consideration. Then it seems that, regardless of community input, the programs chug merrily on as if there had been no suggestions given or objection made.

As state laws now stand group homes are virtually immune from ordinary zoning and deed restrictions. As long as this remains the case, perhaps agencies would do well to change their tactics when entering a new neighborhood.

Perhaps agencies should merely hold meetings to introduce themselves. At the same time they could make it clear that community cooperation and approval would be welcomed but are hardly necessary to the survival of the new group home.

Neighbors still might not be satisfied, but at least they could be spared a lot of frustrated wheel-spinning which only serves to make eventual acceptance of the new residents even more difficult.

Senior Citizen Update

By Ruth Delo

So many honors, celebrations and much acclaim has been given to the former hostages. I'm sure there hasn't been that much "togetherness" in these United States for some time. That's great.

It can't help but make me think of my grandson and his friends who are overseas in the Air Force.

How many of us have loved ones overseas in the armed services? How many parades, visits with the President, television appearances have been given to any of them?

True, they did enlist, but didn't the former hostages agree to work in a foreign country? And didn't they know, as our armed forces know, that there could be trouble? I believe they did.

Our boys and girls who are overseas have to be away from their families also. Granted, they are not prisoners, but they are dedicated for a longer period of time, two years, three years, or even four.

There isn't too much we can do about all this. We need these people in many countries around the world.

Let's make it a goal of ours to at least write very often to those we know who are far away.

My grandson, Bradley Delo, is in Italy. He gets the Clinton County News every week and he and his buddies look forward to finding out what is going on back here at home. When he goes to the post office, it is pretty nice to find a letter in his box.

Brad is based at Aviona Air Base, Italy. He is working as a security policeman. He is a graduate of Security Police Academy at Lockland Air Force Base, Texas.

He likes Italy very much and was home for Christmas. If anyone would like to write to him call and I'll give you his address.

Let's all write to those overseas. You will make someone happy and less lonesome.

So.....until next time.

Letter to the editor

Students are important

Dear Editor:

This letter is in reference to the article in last weeks news pertaining to teachers bragging about voc ed.

First off, what about the students?! To begin with my name is Donna Stevens not Donna Smith. I not only work for just a company who sells beauty products. I work for a cosmetic and skincare and also a hair care company. For this company I am a make-up artist and platform artist doing hair which involves educating hairdressers all over the central United States and Canada. So as you see, I did go into the field, and my cosmetology license was a requirement. I also worked in a salon for almost a year.

There is one more thing pertaining to this article. I would have made it through school without cosmetology, but it was an added plus. I also never said I couldn't, I said "I'll never do hair." In this article I really sound like an idiot!!

I find this article is really a put down to vocational students who might not have made it through school without voc ed, but there are those of us who know what we want to do, and have more going for us than four years of college and still not having a career. We're out there making our training pay off.

Donna Stevens

(Editor's note: The CCN regrets Miss Stevens' displeasure in the story about the voc. ed. program and its students.)

We are attempting to draw attention to the program in honor of Vocational Education We and praise it through the eyes of the faculty. We believe voc. ed. is a very important part of education and had no intention of making Miss Stevens, or anyone else involved in the program, look bad.)

Personality Profile

Librarian's retirement marks end of an era

By JEAN MARTIN

When the Bement Public Library closes on February 27, in some ways the library will be marking the end of an era. That day will be the last working day for Cleo Desprez who has been with the library for almost 23 years and has worked under three head librarians.

"The job just sort of fell in my lap," Cleo began.

"Well maybe opportunity knocked," she decided. "Maybe it does for a lot of people and they just miss their opportunities."

Cleo recalled that while her three children were growing up she used to be in and out of the library often. This was during the years when Elizabeth Millman was head librarian and Laurita Allison was her assistant.

By 1958 Laurita, who was also librarian for the schools, was looking for a little relief. Cleo was hired as a part-time employee to give her a little time off now and then.

After a brief stint of teaching in the middle 1960's, Cleo returned to the library on a full-time basis and served as assistant librarian under Hila Bross. When Hila retired, Cleo refused even to consider taking the head librarian's position which then went to Jean Mary Bartholomew.

Cleo says that she has always been a great believer in the Peters Principal which states that employees usually rise to the level of their own incompetence.

"If I could do something, I could do it. If I couldn't, I didn't try," she declared.

The last school Cleo taught in the years just before consolidation was her old home school, Merle Beach.

"I always said I was going to teach in that school, and I finally did," she smiled.

Cleo completed the eight grades at Merle Beach in six years and went on to high school in St. Johns. Her freshman class began the school year at Central and entered the newly-completed Rodney B. Wilson High School for their second semester. After graduation she returned to the two lower west rooms of Central School for teacher training at County Normal.

Cleo says she sometimes has trouble understanding young people who do not know what to do with their lives.

"I intended to be a school teacher from the time I could talk," she recalled.

When the children would play school, Cleo recalls that she always wanted to be the teacher.

"Of course I couldn't always be the teacher, so then I was the bad child. Pretty soon they'd get tired of me and let me be the teacher again," she laughed.

Sometimes it seems that a generation of young country school teachers viewed County School Commissioner Mattie Smith as something of a dragon lady. Cleo, however, does not remember her that way at all.

"Oh, I loved her," Cleo declared. "She gave me so many pointers. There was no need to be scared (of Mattie) if you did what you were told."

Cleo recalls in particular one six year old who started first grade. He was just a little child and fell asleep every afternoon.

"I worked and worked with him," Cleo sighed. "But he didn't learn one word."

"Mattie said, 'Just let him grow up. He's not old enough to go to school yet,'" Cleo continued.

Sure enough, by the next year the boy learned everything, and learned it easily.

Cleo says that her special favorites were always the so-called bad little boys no one else liked to deal with. She says Mattie taught her to be really mean for the first few weeks.

"She said to do the same with your (school) board too," Cleo laughed.

Cleo Moinet continued to teach after her marriage to Gaylord Desprez until the birth of their first child, Laree. After Laree and son Gayle were in school, Cleo returned to teaching.

Cleo had returned to teaching reluctantly during World War II because teachers were in such short supply. Her last school was the Lowe which she taught in the 1943-44 school year before their youngest daughter, Carol, was born.

Although she continued to substitute teach from time to time, Cleo decided to stay at home with her children while they were growing up.

"I took care of my family, and I'm not sorry about it," she commented.

After the children were grown, Cleo could have picked up some more college credits and started teaching in the St. Johns Schools. She decided, however, that she really did not want to make the change.

"A lot of teachers wanted to get into city schools where they didn't have to do their own janitor work," Cleo laughed.

"I knew I would have been bored to tears teaching one grade," she added.

So when Cleo met Elizabeth Millman in Gaspie's Drug Store one day and Elizabeth offered Cleo the library job, Cleo knew what she wanted to do.

"I guess I've always liked children," she said. "For me library work is the next thing to teaching school."

Cleo has seen many changes in the library over the years. She especially hated to see the passing of the basement children's library that she and Hila Bross had so carefully decorated.

"Room is the whole thing," she concluded. "Hila's dream was to have our own library building."

There will be a couple of private dinners but no public reception in honor of Cleo's retirement. On May 3 Cleo and Gaylord will be celebrating their 50th Anniversary, and that is enough fuss for Cleo.

Cleo also does not worry about what she is going to do after her retirement.

"I'm a workaholic," she confessed. "I've worked all of the time we've had our new house. Now I want to enjoy my home and do a little work outdoors."

It's birthday time for Hospital Auxiliary

There's to be a birthday party at Clinton Memorial Hospital this evening and honored guests will be treated to a special cake as the Hospital Auxiliary celebrates its annual "Founder's Day."

This evening, members of the Auxiliary's Gift Shop and Sewing Committees will be feted for their efforts over the year, expanding the annual celebration to other hospital volunteers who are not members of the Auxiliary board.

While the Auxiliary board, made up of about 60 women, is really the active organization at the hospital, many others work with them, explained Romaine DeCamp, community relations coordinator. Many jobs at the hospital that are staffed by volunteers who are not members of the board.

Also invited for this evening's celebration are honorary members of the Auxiliary board who had served actively for a number of years and are elected to the honor.

The Auxiliary started in February of 1927 before Clinton Memorial Hospital was even built, Mrs. DeCamp said. It grew from a small group of women, active in getting the hospital started, to the large organization it is today. At one time, Auxiliary members did canning for the cafeteria. "That was way back when the health department permitted such things," Mrs. DeCamp said.

The sewing committee also dates back to the early days of the hospital and its members at one time made many articles of clothing and other supplies. Today the committee meets weekly in the hospital annex and keep six sewing machines busy taking care of bags and bags of mending. Chairman Helen Fitzpatrick said eight or nine members of the committee are on hand each week. "We have enough members so that everyone can take vacations," she explained and enough women show up each week to take care of the work load.

"We are a real compatible bunch of ladies," Mrs. Fitzpatrick said. "We enjoy getting together and we feel good about what we are doing."

Their duties include mending nightgowns, bedspreads, sheets and surgical items. They also make new surgical towels and covers, and aprons, potholders and towels for the kitchen.

Gift Shop Chairman Esther Tiedt said her committee is very active, involving about 22 different women. They keep the shop open from 10 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. every day during the week. On Saturday's the shop is staffed from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and on Sunday from 2 to 4.

"Everyone is very dependable," Mrs. Tiedt said, "and that helps a lot."

"A great deal of effort goes into running the Gift Shop," Mrs. DeCamp said. "The committee does the buying, stocking and display. They keep everything dusted and clean and have complete charge of the shop records."

The inventory of the shop consists of everything from stuffed toys to tooth paste. The shelves are stocked with toys, stationery, personal items, ceramics and greeting cards. Mrs. Tiedt and her committee order from salesmen who come into the hospital but also go to gift shows in Lansing and Novi. They buy from wholesale warehouses in Grand Rapids and Eaton Rapids.

The shop turns over a $4,000 to $5,000 profit to the Auxiliary each year. "We do a good business," Mrs. Tiedt said. "More people are aware of the shop, our business has grown." These committees are really the two big spots in our volunteer services,"

Mrs. DeCamp said, "and their members are what Wednesday's celebration is all about."

Longtime hospital volunteer, Clara Peterson helps a Gift Shop customer, Dorothy Welsh with some purchases. Mrs. Peterson and some 22 other volunteers help keep the shop stocked and running. They also take a gift cart around to the hospital rooms three times a week. (Photo by Bob Stern)

Morning Musicales holds guest night

Members and guests of the St. Johns Morning Musicales enjoyed a potluck dinner and Special Guest Night Thursday, Feb. 12 at the First Congregational Church in St. Johns.

Mrs. Richard Jacoby conducted a brief business meeting, and members introduced guests following the meal. Reports were given concerning the Junior Festival at Olivet College and scholarship auditions.

The Junior Festival is sponsored by the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs, with which Morning Musicales is affiliated, and is a day-long activity during which young musicians from all over the state are rated by judges.

Mrs. Paul Martis reminded members that auditions will be April 11 and that a scholarship will be awarded to a piano student attending high school in Clinton County. Interested participants or teachers should contact Mrs. Martis for more information regarding time and place and required selections.

Mrs. Fred Lewis was chairman for the evening. She served as club president during the 1964-65 club year, during which time the theme was "Music Salutes Shakespeare." Most of the evening's performers had appeared as soloists during that season. This brought back many memories for members and guests alike.

The first of the returning performers was Charles Huntington who was joined by Dan Kusenda and Mr. and Mrs. Don Pickard who all played as a recorder quartet. They performed music from the time of Queen Elizabeth I, referred to as the Elizabethan period.

Among their selections was "All in a Garden Green, O Mistress Mine, Fortune My Foe, Barley Break, If I Urged My Kind Desires, and Since First I Saw Your Face."

The quartet was followed by Mrs. John Caudy, performing "Torch Dance," a piano solo written by Edward German as incidental music for King Henry VIII by William Shakespeare. This was the solo she performed during 1964-65.

Mrs. H.A. Peterson performed two organ solos by Mendelssohn which she also had played 15 years ago, "Nocturne," and the Wedding March," music from Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Mrs. H. Manning Bross, also in a repeat performance, played and sang a number from "The Tempest," Shakespeare's last play. She also played a number from "Two Gentlemen from Verona,"

Patients learn via in-house TV

Clinton Memorial Hospital has designated the week of Feb. 9-13 to formally introduce and promote their "Worth Watching" television channel.

The closed circuit station (Channel 7) at the hospital now has a full day's schedule of patient education and health care programs. According to Kathryn Bangs, education coordinator, topics include a broad range of subjects-from facts about specific diseases and surgical procedures to information on general health concerns and orientation to the hospital.

For example, if a patient has had a heart attack and is in the hospital, the new television programing would be able to explain what happened, and discuss the proper care of a heart attack victim along with tips on special diets.

The closed circuit was installed in 1979 as part of the $81,000 TV system purchased by the Clinton Memorial Hospital Auxiliary. An automatic video cassette changer was added this fall according to Romanine DeCamp, community relations coordinator.

The computerized programmer enables the hospital to provide more programs on a regular basis at all times of the day. Each patient receives a special schedule for the "Worth Watching" programs.

Channel 7 is available free to all patients.

D and D girls form dynamic pair

By TIM JEFFERY

Darlene and Dawn, both juniors, both started gymnastics together five years ago at the same place and now both have qualified for competition in the regionals.

The pair has stood out all season long for the St. Johns girls' gymnastics team. Darlene Cerny, having qualified in all four events and Dawn Bakita, set to go to the regionals in the beam competition and on the vault.

Despite the number of similarities between the girls there are many differences as well. Darlene prefers the vault, her best event. Dawn's favorite is the beam, where she has carried an average mark of 6.68 per meet with a personal best of 7.4.

"I guess I like the beam best because it comes the easiest for me," Dawn stated. "I haven't really gotten the vault down pat. In the regionals I'm hoping I'll do better on the beam. If I really work and can perform like I do in practice I might be able to finish in the top ten." A place amongst the ten best would send her onto the state competition.

Darlene's mother Sue, coaches the team and her sister Denise, a St. Johns graduate in 1979, was also a member of the Redwing gymnastic team.

Darlene's best effort to date on the vault was an 8.3, just shy of the school record of 8.35 set by her sister.

The family affair continues as Jim, Darlene's father, also helps out with plenty of encouragement. "I guess it's hard with my parents being involved like they are. My mom probably does push me more because she just wants me to be up to my full potential. I think my dad maybe pushes Dawn more," Darlene explained.

Coach Sue runs a gymnastics camp in the summer and plans to use the money that was raised to purchase a new floor mat for the team. The Cernys also bought the board which is used for the vault.

The Redwing standouts started out as sixth graders in a program at Michigan-State. It was there, they were given lessons and competed for the Spartan Youth Club.

The girls both plan to attend college after graduation in 1983, but have different gymnastic aspirations.

Dawn indicated next year may be her last as a gymnast, explaining she will have been involved long enough.

Darlene, on the other hand, hopes to continue. "I was thinking about maybe going to Central Michigan. They said something about a scholarship," she explained. The 'they' she refers to means Ron Piper, the husband of CMU's coach who instructed at a camp in Ludington which Darlene attended.

A grade point of almost 3.9 would allow her to attend almost any college, but Darlene had a simple answer as to why not attend a bigger school and compete on the gymnastics team. "I want to be on a team where I'm not the worst one there," she stated.

That would hardly seem possible as she often finishes first in all four events at Redwing meets. She currently sports an 8.03 average on the vault, a 7.65 mark in the floor exercise competition, a 7.41 average on the beam and a 7.06 mark on the parallel bars, not surprisingly her least favorite of the activities.

Dawn is not far behind with averages of 7.26 on the vault, 6.87 in the floor exercise and 6.19 on the bars to go along with her 6.68 on the beam.

While the two girls continue to shine as individuals, both have played vital roles in leading the team to its 5-1 record. Dawn summed up the feelings about the team stating, "I'd like it one year if our whole team would go to the regionals and then more people could participate."

The team may not make it this year, but having Darlene and Dawn around for another season as seniors, just might give St. Johns a top ten team in 1982.

Casler drops in 40

By Tim Jeffery

Jeff Casler did it again. He tossed in 38 points in a romp over Chesaning earlier this year. Then he topped that total by a point in a win over Waverly. Finally, the Redwing scoring leader hit 40 in a win over Ionia Friday night and 50 may not be far down the road.

Hitting 12 of 17 shots from the floor and all 16 of his free throw tries, Casler led St. Johns to an easy 68-50 win over the Bulldogs.

Ionia started the contest by using a deliberate offensive approach. By holding the ball, the Bulldogs jumped out to a 9-4 lead after the opening quarter.

Some three minutes into the second stanza, St. Johns began forcing turnovers and got its running game cranked up. By halftime, the Redwings had forced Ionia out of the slowdown tactic and had claimed a 22-18 lead.

Coach Bob Tissot admitted the strategy Ionia used early was very bothersome for his ball club. "It's frustrating to see them hold the ball like that, especially with the type of kids we have. Casler, Fedewa (Bruce) and Gonzales (Steve) all like to run and they were frustrated. After the first quarter I told the kids that's what Ionia was trying to do, get them upset. The guys listened to me and responded well. We went out and played nice ball the rest of the way," he said.

St. Johns poured in 26 third quarter points and never looked back as win number eight in nine MMB outings was in the bag.

In addition to his 40

P-W beats Fowler

Pewamo-Westphalia continued its fine play Monday night in girls' volleyball action, downing Fowler in two games, 15-11 and 15-10.

Theresa Simon and Donna Heckman guided the team to 87 percent accuracy in the serving department. Simon was good on 11 of her 12 services and netted eight points. Heckman found the mark on nine of 11, scoring nine points.

Jane Cotter led in spikes with five, while Heckman and Becky Schneider each had four.

The Pirates are now 9-2 overall. They'll face Fulton Thursday night then compete in the CMAC league meet on Saturday at Fowler.

O-E wins again

By TIM JEFFERY

The Ovid-Elsie basketball team gained revenge Friday night against the lone club to have beaten the Marauders in conference play this year. Had it not been for the earlier loss, O-E would be in a position now, where it could do no worse than tie for the top spot in the MMB.

The Marauders threatened to make it a one-sided affair in the first half of the rematch with Corunna, taking a 26-13 advantage into the intermission.

The Cavaliers overcame a big deficit in the first meeting to pull out the win, thus O-E knew it would have to play two halves of basketball.

O-E showed no signs of letting up in the third quarter as the pace picked up. Corunna outscored the hosts 20-18, but the lead still appeared to be safe, standing at 10 points.

Three minutes into the final frame, Corunna scored to pull within four and suddenly a repeat looked as though it may occur.

O-E's received a big lift from its bench to turn back the Cavaliers as Albert Huss and Scott Hudecek dropped in big buckets to secure the victory.

Mark Carter played another fine ball game for the Marauders. He totaled 18 points to go with six steals and six assists. Center Jerry Horn had 11 points while Troy Ginther, Chris Horak and Hudecek all chipped in with eight.

Ginther stood out defensively as well. The senior forward has specialized in shutting down opposing teams' biggest weapons. Friday he shut down Phil Zielinski, the Cavs leading scorer, limiting him to just four points.

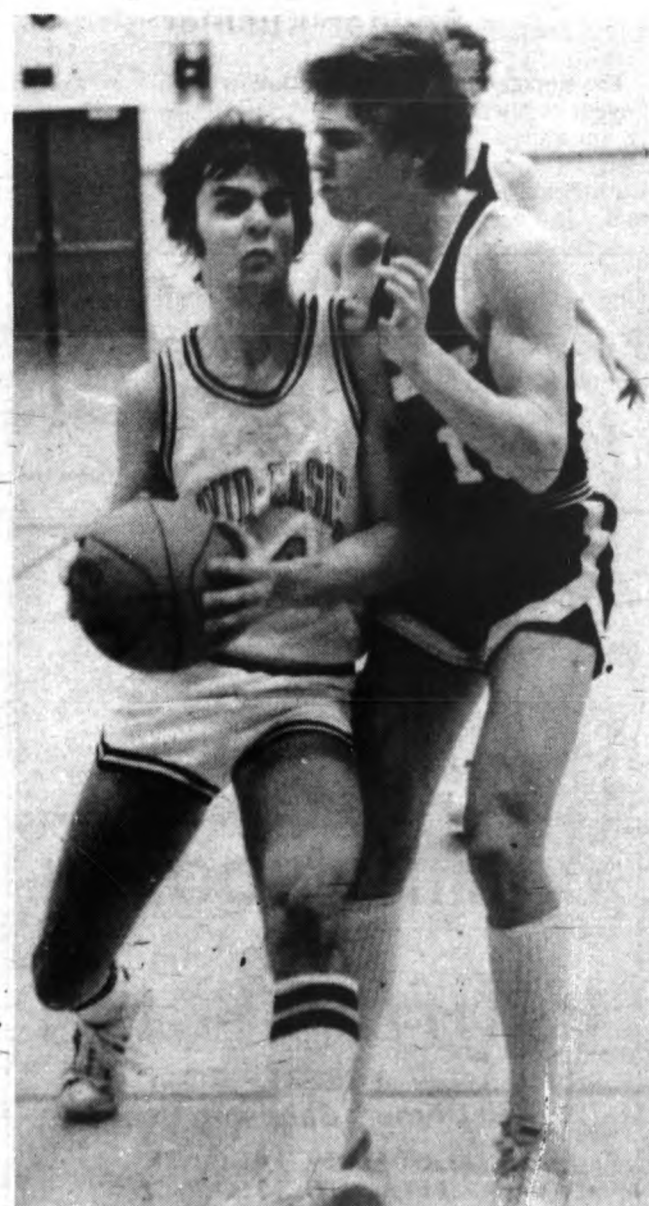

The Marauders visit St. Johns Friday with the conference championship at stake. A key will be whether O-E can stop Jeff Casler. Ginther will likely be assigned to stop the Redwing junior, a task that has been virtually impossible this year.

Casler didn't start in the earlier meeting between O-E and St. Johns, but came on to score 17 points, however the Marauders embarrassed the Redwings with a lopsided victory.

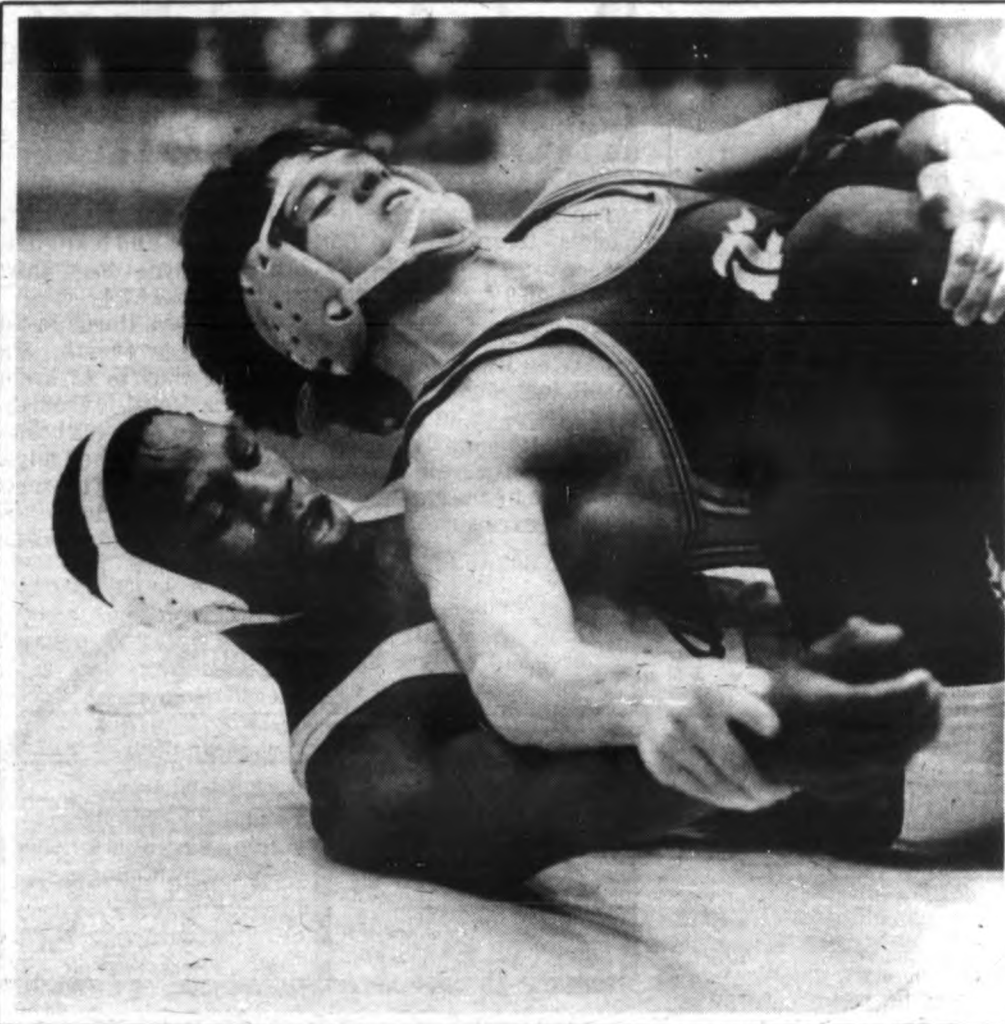

Horn was a big factor in the win for O-E with 28 rebounds, more than the entire St. Johns total, thus the Redwings must do better on the boards to have a chance at winning.

Following the win over Corunna, Marauder Coach Bob Foreback took a moment to talk about the upcoming clash at St. Johns. "We haven't really started working on it yet, so I can't say for sure if Troy will be the guy to stop Casler. I'll just say that if we're not sky high and pumped up when we go out there then we don't deserve to win," he said. Foreback then added, "I told the kids at the start of the year, there would be a number of teams we'd have to beat twice to win the league. Unfortunately, we didn't do that against Corunna, which was one of those teams I thought we'd have to beat twice."

The matchup in last week's State Journal All-Star Tournament at Eastern's Fieldhouse featured a pair of undefeated wrestlers in the 145 pound bracket.

Pirates turn in pair of excellent outings

By TIM JEFFERY

Winning one and losing one is hardly worth yelling about, but it's not last week's split by the Fulton cage team than has Kim Lathwell smiling. Instead, the Pirate coach is happy with the manner in which his team performed in dividing two games.

"We've had three good games in a row, but unfortunately have only one win to show for it. The kids are playing as well as they've played all year long. It's nice to go to practice now. They're holding their heads high," Lathwell explained in reference to the impressive back-to-back showings over the weekend.

The Pirates broke open a tight contest against Pottersville Friday by sinking 11 of 19 third quarter field goal tries. The outburst changed a 24-22 Pottersville halftime advantage into a 44-34 Pirate edge.

Fulton kept the lead throughout the fourth quarter, finally posting a 60-52 triumph, its fourth against eight losses in CMAC play.

Scott Winsor keyed the victory with 20 points and 18 rebounds. Brad Glazier dropped in three field goals and made all three of his free throw attempts for 11 points. Guard Wayne Bond scored nine and forward Brian Winsor collected six caroms, helping Fulton to a 34-22 edge in rebounding.

Mike O'Neil was brilliant in a losing effort for the Vikings. He finished with 30 points and hauled in better than half of his team's caroms. Lathwell praised O'Neil for his tremendous effort. "Scott was in his face all night, but the kid just shot right through him. He's an outstanding player."

Fulton visited Breckenridge Saturday in a game rescheduled from Tuesday. Although the Pirates came out on the short end of a 70-69 score, the team's confidence received a big lift.

Breckenridge, losers of only three games thus far, figures to be the team to beat in the district Fulton will compete in three weeks down the road. The Pirates can now go into the tourney, knowing they can play with the best of the lot.

Scott Winsor turned in his second sterling performance in as many nights, getting 28 points and 14 rebounds. Bond added 14 and Glzier netted 12.

The combination of Ryan Sklener and Brian Smythe proved to be too much for Fulton. Both players scored 21 points while Jim Clapp added 10.

The contest was tight throughout the evening.

Fulton led 20-19 after one, then trailed 38-36 at the intermission.

Breckenridge built a nine-point lead early in the third quarter, only to see Fulton rally to tie it by quarter's end.

The Pirates had an opportunity to pull out a win in the final 15 seconds. Trailing by one, they worked the ball inbounds to Scott Winsor, who drove to the hoop, but missed the shot. Contact was made between a defender and Winsor just as he released the shot, however the officials failed to make a call and the hosts escaped with the win.

The difference came at the charity stripe, where Breckenridge hit on 22 of 31 attempts while Fulton made only 11 of 20.

One Man's Views

By Tim Jeffery

St. Johns cagers may get a first hand look at how good Flint Central's ball club is. Should the Redwings win their district crown at Owosso, they'll compete in a regional with the Indians, assuming Central doesn't slip in its district....Coming off wins over St. Johns and LCC, DeWitt had two big obstacles to overcome in order to beat Mason Friday night. The setting was perfect for a big letdown and the problem of looking ahead to the game with P-W was also in evidence. Both factors played a big part in the suprising Panther loss.

Read the article in the latest issue of Sports Illustrated concerning the point shaving scandal at Boston College. You'll be amazed at how easy something like that occurred. The three players involved weren't asked to deliberately lose games, but rather allow the opposing team to cover the point spread. Red Auerbach pointed out its impossible to tell in basketball if a player or official is shaving points and after reading this story, I must admit he's right....St. Johns Basketball Coach Bob Tissot and I both agreed earlier this year, that Jeff Casler would crack the 40-point barrier sometime in his senior season. Casler proved us both wrong, hitting 40 points in the win over Ionia Friday night. He's virtually unstoppable now and could average 30 per game next year.

How would you like to be a Dallas Mavericks fan, knowing full well the team will finish with the worst record in the NBA, but may not get the first pick in the college draft. Pro football simply awards its worst team with the first pick, however the NBA conducts a coin flip between the bottom club from the Western Conference and the Eastern Conference. Imagin if Ralph Sampson decides to turn pro and it comes down to the Mavericks and the Pistons. Do you call heads or tails? It's a dumb rule and even though I'd like to see Sampson playing in Pontiac next year, Dallas should be allowed to draft first....When John Ellis indicated a rest would do his P-W basketball team good, he probably didn't have a full week in mind. It will be interesting to see how the week's layoff, because of the snow storm, affects the Pirates at DeWitt.

Basketball Weekly, a publication which covers high school, college and pro ball recently listed Lansing Eastern and Flint Central among the top 11 teams in the nation, making Michigan the only state to have two teams rated that high. Normally its New York or California with the country's very best teams....Just as most figured, the MMB comes down to Friday's game between St. Johns and Ovid-Elsie. Don't look for a repeat of the big win by the Marauders. This time it should be decided by four points or less, assuming St. Johns can do a better job on the boards. However, if O-E gets as many second and third tries on the offensive end, give the crown to Mark Carter and company.

points, Casler had six rebounds and six steals. He is now averaging 26 points per ball game, hitting at a 78 percent clip from the free throw line (108 of 140) and 51 percent from the field. Fedewa chipped in with eight points in the victory and handed out six assists. Denny Sleep scored six points and hauled in 12 rebounds, while Gonazles dished out six assists and had seven steals.

St. Johns traveled to Mt. Pleasant last night, then returns home Friday for the showdown with Ovid-Elsie.

Tissot feels his ball club is playing as well as its played all year and will be ready Friday. "We've put together some good games and I think we can play well against O-E. The kids shouldn't need any incentive for getting up after what happened the first time, so I'm sure we'll be ready," he pointed out.

Griffin said some of the most successful training slots have been with Clinton Memorial Hospital, the County 4-H Extension office, the area schools and small government units.

"The point of the program is for entry level jobs only," Griffin said. "We are giving these youngsters an opportunity for their first job. We don't necessarily expect them to grow up to be janitors or secretaries."

Last year training slots included office and custodial work at the area high schools, cafeteria and x-ray department jobs at Clinton Memorial, library and audio visual work at Ovid-Elsie school. Griffin said that 40 to 45 percent of the jobs are not custodial.

An additional part to Griffin's CETA grants this year includes supervision training for older youths (age 18-21) through a Summer Youth Employment program. They must be CETA eligible and will be paid a higher hourly wage.

Griffin explained that all the employment training programs include classes in job search skills, work attitudes, grooming and dress. "Students actually go out and apply for jobs on their own as part of these classes," he said.

The young people who participate are economically disadvantaged or physically or mentally handicapped. Members of families receiving ADC aid are also automatically eligible. The program serves young people between 14 and 21 years of age.

Blood. It has always been better to give than to receive.

Much has changed since the Red Cross blood program started in 1947. But one thing hasn't. Needing blood has always been a lot harder than giving it. Needing blood is often a matter of life and death. Giving blood is quite easy. It is a fast, simple, carefully done process.

So, if there's a blood drive where you work, please give. If there isn't, call your local Red Cross chapter to find out where you can give.

You'll be helping us celebrate our 100th birthday by giving the best gift of all—life.

Red Cross: Ready for a new century.

Meet George Wizner

George J. Wizner, was elected as a director on the Farm Bureau board to represent the townships of Ovid and Victor. He replaced Ted Ashley who resigned in October.

Wizner owns and operates a 175 acre fruit and cash crop farm on Round Lake Road. He is 29 years old and has farmed for 15 years. He and his wife, Christine, have recently opened a farm market which is an expansion of their U-Pick operation. They raise apples, peaches, strawberries, asparagus, pears and raspberries. Their market handles these products as well as other produce and items not raised on the farm.

Other cash crops include corn, soybeans, oats and wheat.

The Wizners have two children, Kelly and Tracy, and are active in community affairs. He enjoys hunting, fishing and football. He is a member of the Michigan State Horticultural Society, International Dwarf Fruit Tree

Blue Cross enrollment open

Farm Bureau members who wish to enroll in the Farm Bureau group Blue Cross-Blue Shield plan may do so during the first 15 days of March by contacting the County Farm Bureau office.

Farm Bureau offers two types of coverage, the Comprehensive (full) or the Econo Plan, a 30 percent co-pay contract.

The comprehensive coverage pays the full cost of either a semi-private or ward whichever is selected, plus all of the other necessary in-hospital expenses. It covers reasonable charges by the physician for either surgery or medical care as well as lab, x-ray, or other diagnostic services. The comprehensive plan has a Master Medical rider which refunds 90 percent of all prescription drug costs, doctor's office visits, ambulance, dental care resulting from an injury to the teeth, allergy tests, and many other out-of-hospital costs after the subscriber has incurred $100 for one person, or $200 for a family during a calendar year.

The Econo Plan, on the other hand, does not carry the Master Medical rider and shares the cost of hospital and doctor charges with the subscriber responsible for 30 percent of the hospital bill (but not more than $600 for any one admission) and 30 percent of the doctor's reasonable charges.

Health care costs are at an all time high. The risk of being caught without adequate protection could be disastrous. Contact the county Farm Bureau office today to enroll in the finest protection available. Coverage for 1980 Farm Bureau members with 1981 dues paid by Jan. 31 would be effective May 20. New Farm Bureau members would need to meet enrollment requirements but could be effective that same date.

March 1 - 15 is also the time when currently enrolled Farm Bureau members can make changes in present coverage. Remember all additions or deletions from contracts should be made during the year within 30 days of their occurrence.

Husbands feted by Farm Bureau women

"Oh to be in England" was the general impression brought about at a recent Farm Bureau Women's meeting when slides of that country were shown. Robert Borton and his daughter, Faith, showed slides of their recent trip to the British Isles at a Men's Night dinner held Feb. 3 at the Farm Bureau office.

Dinner was served by the members to their spouses. Chairman Mrs. William Kissane welcomed those present and gave a few announcements. She introduced Marilyn Knight, County Farm Bureau Secretary, who gave a short presentation on Medicare and Blue Cross-Blue Shield Complementary benefits.

The Bortons presented their slides and narration which were especially interesting since they dealt with various aspects of agriculture in Great Britain. The Bortons were in England visiting their son, Larry, who was serving in the U.S. Army.

Farmers set record

For the second year in a row Michigan farmers set production records for corn and soybeans, according to the Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service. The state's corn production of 247 million bushels is four percent above last year's record crop.

Soybean production at 30.4 million bushels was virtually unchanged from last year's record level, only surpassing it by 100,000 bushels.

Sugarbeet production increased 22 percent this fall with better yields harvested from more acres this season. Popcorn production at 19 million pounds was up three percent while alfalfa hay production climbed one percent with over 3.2 million tons cut.

Nationally, corn production declined 16 percent to just over 6.6 billion bushels due to lower yields in the traditional corn growing states. For the same reason soybean production declined 20 percent to 1.8 bushels.

Legal rights forum is planned

A Legal Rights and Responsibilities forum will be held Feb. 19 in Ingham County. It is open to any farmer and will feature speakers from law enforcement and the judiciary.

New Manpower director named

Keith Peterson, 25, of Kalkaska has been hired as the new Manpower Director in Clinton County. Peterson, replaces Thomas Chatel, who resigned in December to return to college.

Peterson completed his undergraduate and graduate work at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant. He received his master's degree in public administration in December.

His main duties include working with the contract portion of the Comprehensive Employment Training Act. Peterson indicated Friday he hopes to work in other areas of the field in an effort to secure funds for On the Job Training programs.

"Right now there just aren't any funds available for this program," he said. "There aren't jobs available for people because of the economy, but if we tell an employer we can subsidize the training of an employe and he works out, normally the employer will keep the worker." He added, "This kind of program makes people more employable.

Peterson also indicated because this year's budget is already set, he may have to wait until next year to implement the program.

Peterson, who is single, was hired Clinton County for $14,500. He is living in St. Johns and enjoys all kinds of sports including football, basketball, downhill and cross country skiing, and jogging and running.

"St. Johns is really a good place to start out," he said. "People take the time to say hello and that's really nice."

This was the scene on Clinton Avenue last Wednesday morning, Feb. 11, following a storm that was billed as the winter's worst to date.

Heavy snow on Tuesday, followed by freezing rain and high winds, served to make most side roads impassible. Events had to be canceled; and schools and offices, including county offices and the Clinton County News, were closed for the day. (Photo by Jean Martin)

They also bring back some medications.

A lot of people in Clinton County however, have been getting their prescriptions by mail for a long time.

"I guess the real problem is in knowing what services Ingham County actually provides to this county," said Sirrine.

Sirrine normally fills out between 100 and 150 forms a year for veterans in the county.

The veteran coordinator says there is a lot of red tape involved with filling out the forms and they can be very confusing.

"In most instiis easier for a veteran to go to the bank instead of filling out the paperwork for a loan to build or buy a home," Sirrine said. "Especially when you send out an application and six months later you haven't heard anything."

If anyone is in need of veteran services in Clinton County they should call Sirrine at 224-4285.

The goal he has set for himself is to produce the highest quality crops, at the highest possible production, at the most optimum dollar input.

He hopes to achieve the highest possible return for his quality crop from both direct on farm marketing, and indirect commodities such as futures, storage and elevators marketing systems.

Wizner is optimistic about the future. He has a choice spot for fruit growing. His Round Lake Fruit Farm is on the highest hill in southern Clinton County and therefore the Wizners don't anticipate much damage from frost. The loam soil is excellent for growing fruit trees.

Soybean day set Feb. 25

The advantages of narrow row soybean production, a report on yield results for the 1980 soybean varieties, and weed control for soybeans is part of the Mid-Michigan Soybean Day program Feb. 25 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Saginaw Civic Center.

Dr. Richard Cooper from the USDA - Ohio state University will talk on increased yields from narrow row soybean planting. Cooper is one of the foremost soybean breeders in the country and has done research on developing semi-dwarf soybean varieties.

Cooper will be joined by

MSU soybean specialists who will talk on how narrow row production, less than 20 inches, can control late germinating weeds, reduce soil erosion, and make harvesting more efficient by increasing podding height and decreasing lodging.

MSU crop and soil science specialists will present the soybean performance report for 1980. This report includes the yield test results of more than 100 soybean varieties that were grown in Michigan. Information on new varieties will also be presented.

Weed control and marketing information will complete the program. Herbicide application and how to deal with such problem weeds a velvetleaf and jimsonweed will be mentioned. Efficient marketing strategies will be discussed by an industry representative.

In addition to speakers, the Michigan Soybean Committee will report on the Michigan soybean check-off program. There will also be 40 exhibitors with displays on fertilizers, chemicals, equipment and seed information. The Mid-Michigan Soybean Day is sponsored by the Michigan Soybean Committee and the MSU Cooperative Extension Service.

STATE OF MICHIGAN IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF CLINTON FILED: January 9, 1981 Jane Swanchara Clerk of Clinton County

In the Matter of the Complaint of the State Treasurer of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon.

TO THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF CLINTON, LOREN E. MONROE, State Treasurer of the State of Michigan, respectfully shows unto the Court:

- 1. That he is the State Treasurer of the State of Michigan and makes and files this complaint under, by virtue of and pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended, and Act No. 380 of P.A. 1965, as amended.
2. That Schedule A annexed hereto is the tax record required by the act first above mentioned and contains the description of all lands in the aforesaid county upon which taxes, which were assessed for the years mentioned therein, have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, the description of all lands in said county heretofore bid off in the name of the State and thus held and upon which taxes which were assessed subsequent to the tax for which such lands were sold to the State have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent.
3. That extended separately in said schedule against each description of said lands therein contained are (a) the total amount of delinquent taxes upon said description for the non-payment of which the same may lawfully be sold at the next annual tax sale, (b) interest computed thereon as provided by law to the first day of May, next ensuing, (c) a collection fee of four per cent which shall be a minimum of $1.00 as provided by Section 211.59, C.L. 1970, as amended, and (d) $5.50 for expenses, all in accordance with the provisions of the act first above mentioned.
4. That all of the aforesaid taxes, interest and charges are valid, delinquent and unpaid, and have remained delinquent and unpaid for sufficient time to authorize and require, as provided by the foregoing acts, the sale of the aforesaid parcels of land against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non-payment thereof, and that the said taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses so extended in said schedule against each parcel of land therein described constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which extended in favor of the people of the State of Michigan, the payment of which lien this court may enforce as a preferred or first claim upon such lands by the sale thereof.

Wherefore your plaintiff prays:

- a. That within the time provided by law this court may determine and adjudge that the aforesaid taxes, interest, collection fee and charges are valid and constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein extended.
b. That within the time provided by law this court make a final judgment in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land therein contained, and the amounts listed in the column headed "aggregate" shall constitute the amounts adjudged against the said several parcels unless so amended by this court.
c. That said judgment provide that in default of the payment so ordered of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands in said schedule, the said several parcels of land, or such interest therein as may be necessary to satisfy the amount adjudged against the same shall severally be sold as the law provides.
d. That your plaintiff may have such other and further relief in the premises as to this court may seem just and equitable.

And your plaintiff will ever pray, etc.

Dated: January 7, 1981
