Eureka church to celebrate

The Eureka Congregational Christian Church will hold a special service of Worship and Celebration Sunday, March 8 at 10:30 a.m. Pastor Doug Jones' message will be "We've Come This Far by Faith."

Other activities of the day will include a potluck dinner at 12:15 and Family Life Radio programs sponsored by the church.

In the afternoon many old photos, bulletins, and newspaper clippings will be on display. The public is cordially invited to share in this special day of remembrance.

On historic register list

Members of the St. John's Episcopal Church on West State Street, St. Johns have been informed that their church building has been listed on the State Register of Historic Sites.

The listing means the church is a protected site with local significance, judged by the Historical Commission to be of significant historic interest.

The State Register was established in 1955 to recognize historic sites in Michigan. It now includes the St. John's Episcopal Church among its more than 1,200 sites.

Phinney speaks out

Local input imperative to farm bill

Clinton County area farmers involved in the American Agriculture Movement are still pushing involvement in Washington. Larry Phinney, Clinton County farmer and president of the Michigan AAM returned Saturday from what he called a "timely trip."

"The 1981 Farm Bill is being drafted this very moment," Phinney said, "and it is critical that farmers have input. That is exactly what we did."

Phinney and his wife Bonnie and a Gratiot County couple spent four days at the nation's capitol discussing the farm problems with John Block, secretary of the Department of Agriculture. They also met with senators, representatives and other persons influential in determining farm policy.

"The big question facing most American farmers today is 'What happens to me if costs more to produce my food than what I receive for it at market time?', Phinney said. "There is no sense in spending more money than what I make."

The platform of the American Agriculture movement calls for a series of conditions that they feel will address that question. They include a 90 percent parity loan rate on all storable commodities and at least a 90 percent parity on all storable commodities that go into the reserve.

The platform asks that a producer board be established within the Department of Agriculture to be made up of producers from all over the United States.

Another condition is that a tariff at 110 percent parity be placed on all agriculture imports and that an embargo clause be developed that will effectively protect the United States agricultural production and producers.

Also that farmers receive an investment tax credit for conservation practices.

Phinney said a lot of farmers from Michigan will be traveling to Washington over the next six weeks and he will return himself towards the end of March.

Phinney was elected to the state AAM post for a year term in December. He is also active in the local group.

Mishap Occurs

A parking meter, a tree and a plate glass window were destroyed in front of Parr's Drug Store Tuesday morning as James Howard, 78, North DeWitt Road, St. Johns attempted to pull into a parking stall in front of the building on Clinton Avenue. Howard told police his foot slipped off the brake onto the accelerator causing him to lose control. There were no serious injuries in the accident that happened at 11:20 a.m. Howard received a cut on his hand and his wife, a passenger in the car, received a cut knee and a bump on the head. Come dance for the fair

The first money making project to help sponsor the Clinton County 4-H Youth Fair will be held Saturday at Smith Hall when the Fair Board throws a benefit dance.

The MelloTones will provide music and the Fair Board will provide mix and snacks at the March 7 affair from 8:30 to 12:30 p.m.

Tickets can be obtained for a donation of $10 a couple, $5 single, from the Extension Office, a Fair Board member or at the door.

Well project on the move

The St. Johns City Commission took action to move ahead as fast as possible in converting their eight-inch test well on Townsend Road into a production well, a project that is expected to cost around $35,000.

They authorized Walter Meinert, consulting engineer to draw up bid specifications.

The test well was drilled and tested in December on property leased from the county. It is imperative that the city have water on this side of its boundaries by July for the opening of the Suntree housing project now underway by Oxford Development Corporation.

The converted well will provide up to 300 gallons of water a minute, according to Meinert's tests, who reported to the city Monday evening. He said after pumping 850 gallons, the water tested is equal to or better than the city's existing water supply.

Meinert also recommends drilling a second, 12 inch well on the site which would provide 400 gallons a minute. He said all tests were favorable on using the site for a permanent water supply for the city. Additional leasing will be sought from the county for this purpose.

Cost estimates for the 12 inch well are $20,500 according to Meinert's figures with an additional $30,000 for hardware which includes, pumping equipment and housing and electrical work.

"I normally like to see water at hand before I start cost estimating the hardware," Meinert told the commission but he said he could refine his estimates and get back to city officials next week.

Put on a happy face

Timmy Waters, student at the Clinton County Intermediate School District's Walter Keys school gleefully enjoyed his first carnival last week. The St. Johns Jayettes brought the carnival complete with games, cotton candy, pop corn and prizes to the school. Special education supervisor, Marge Joslin, got into the act as a clown and helped with the entertainment. Linda Fitch was chairman of the event. (Photo by Bob Stern)

Masked men hit grocery

Alderman's Grocery Store on the corner of M-21 and Shepardsville Road was robbed Friday evening for the second time this year.

According to Sheriff Department deputies, two subjects entered the store wearing stocking cap face masks, carrying a long gun and a ball bat. They ordered Alderman and an employee, Kevin Johnson, 15, to lie down on the floor. Johnson was struck on the arm with the ball bat by one of the two masked subjects.

Alderman said the subjects left the store with about $300 and entered a vehicle occupied by a third person. They left, eastbound on M-21.

The store was robbed earlier this year by subjects also wearing stocking cap masks.

Other complaints handled this week included three malicious destruction of property reports. Thomas Papiernick of 7527 S. DeWitt Rd., DeWitt reported that in the late evening of Feb. 27, someone broke two light fixtures that were mounted on brick pillars at the entrance to his driveway.

Dick Teachout of American Excavators Inc., Lawson Road, Grand Ledge, reported $300 worth of damage to a payloader parked at a gravel pit on Wacousta Road south of Grand River Avenue in Watertown Township. The damage is believed to be done by a pellet gun.

A pellet gun is also suspected to have been used in $500 worth of damage to large showroom window at the Ovid Outdoor Power Equipment, East M-21, Ovid, Feb. 23.

The James Elkins residence on Victoria Shore Drive, Laingsburg was broken into on Feb. 22. Officers said nothing was taken but damage was done to the interior of the home.

Reports of larceny include $200 worth of barn boards taken from a barn at 2512 N. Shepardsville Road, Ovid. Avery Squires who leases the land from Gilman Smith of Lansing said about 200 board feet of the barn lumber had been removed from an old barn on the property.

Sue Glick of 2265 W. Parks Rd., St. Johns reported that 31 packages of frozen beef had been stolen from the freezer in her trailer. Loss was estimated at $200.

A 1978 maroon Chevrolet, 4-wheel drive pickup, valued at $4,500 was taken from along side Tallman Road, Saturday night, Feb. 28. Oliver Ewalt of Carson City said he had left the pickup there because of a flat tire. When he returned Sunday morning it was gone.

Barry Kloeckner of South Wright Road, Eagle reported the larceny of a motorcycle, Feb. 21, from the backyard of his residence. Stolen was a 1977 black and yellow Yamaha dirt bike, valued at $300.

Stereo equipment stolen

Over $375 worth of stereo equipment was taken from a vehicle owned by Tony Driscoll of Ovid between Feb. 20 and 24, according to St. Johns police reports. While the vehicle was parked in Hettler's fenced in lot on M-21, where it was towed following an accident, thieves took an AM-FM cassette and two speakers.

Four speakers were taken from a vehicle owned by Todd Gilroy, 2717 S. US-27 while it was parked at the corner of Mead and Walker Streets on Feb. 25. The speakers were valued at $150.

Four wire wheel covers were also taken from a vehicle belonging to Douglas Jacobs, 205 N. Scott Rd., on Feb. 28. The covers were valued at $250.

Injured woman in fair condition

Nancy L. Chmiko, 45, 307 S. Clinton, St. Johns is listed in fair condition at Ingham Medical Hospital following an accident at the corner of US-27 and M-21 Feb. 25 at 4:22 p.m.

According to St. Johns police Mrs. Chmiko went through a red light at the intersection and traveled in front of a vehicle driven by Douglas P. Boak, 16, of North Airport Road, St.

Johns. Mrs. Chmiko was taken to Clinton Memorial Hospital by ambulance and later transferred to Ingham Medical.

Boak was uninjured in the mishap and Mrs. Chmiko was cited for disregarding a red light.

Scores are tops

Four St. Johns High School Instrumental Music organizations participated in district festivals in Mt. Pleasant Saturday and came away, not only with top honors but with special praise from contest judges.

Three bands, the Freshman Band, Concert Band and Symphonic Band, all under the direction of Walter Cole, received First Division Ratings. The orchestra, directed by William Tennant, received First Division Ratings from all four judges.

Saturday's awards make the music groups eligible to participate in the State Festival in April.

Both Cole and Tennant praised their students saying they played "extremely well."

The directors and their young musicians received high compliments from the judges, Cole said. "They reaffirmed what the music teachers around the state have said for years," he stated, "St. Johns has one of the finest music programs in the state...We

Budget approved 6 months late

By SHARON RANDALL

At the same meeting last week the St. Johns Board of Education adopted this year's budget and made plans to hear a report from the Citizens Finance Committee that is looking at next year's budget.

The district's $7,332,023 1980-81 school budget is some six months late because of delays at the state level. School officials had no accurate knowledge of state aid revenues until December. Normally a budget is adopted before September.

The Citizens Finance Committee is sure to be aware of the fact that $395,013 had to be used from the cash fund equity to balance this year's budget and only $7,219 remains in surplus funds.

They are meeting weekly under chairman Jim Butler, who has children in the Riley Elementary School. The committee is to be ready with their final written report for the March 11 meeting of the board.

Children will no longer be allowed to get off the school bus along the route and cross US-27, the board decided after reviewing a recent opinion from the Attorney General.

Previous policy allowed older students to cross the divided highway if parents signed a request for them to do so. However, the Attorney General said parents cannot sign away legal right or liability of a child.

Parent Cathy Sanderson was present to request that the board view her children's situation separately. They have been walked across US-27 by a parent each school morning for seven years to catch the bus. Sanderson argued that getting on the bus was different than being discharged and left along the highway. The board authorized Superintendent Don Burns to draft a letter to

Jaycees to help senior fund drive

The St. Johns Jaycees have agreed to step in and help area seniors sell 72 coupon books that remain after an all out money raising campaign this fall.

The seniors were awarded the books in a settlement between the Attorney General's office and a promoter who initiated the drive last summer using the Senior Drop-in Center's name.

The remaining books that contain more than $300 worth of coupons redeemable at area restaurants and businesses will be sold for $20 each. Coupons are good through September.

Maurie Hoffman, director of the center said the Jaycees will get $3 for each coupon book they sell.

Both organizations will put their proceeds into the building on North Clinton Avenue that the seniors purchased for their center last summer. The Jaycees meet there monthly and are in the process of renovating a room upstairs for their headquarters. They pay $100 a month in rent to the center and are doing the work themselves.

The center, a product of senior citizen volunteer labor, consists of a large front room and kitchen facilities.

Nutrition meals are served to county seniors there three days a week and the center is open for special daytime activities that include crafts, exercises and classes.

The Center has been financed by the seniors themselves through fund raisers and through community donations. "None of this could be done without the cooperation of local merchants and service clubs," Hoffman's wife, Bernice explained.

Center operating costs run from $300 to $400 a month. About $20,000 remains to be paid on the building loan, Hoffman said. Proceeds of the coupon book sale will go into continued renovation of the building which includes roofing, insulation and storm windows upstairs.

Up to 80 senior citizens attend the nutrition meals that are served on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday each week. Reservations are being encouraged to help with planning and defray costs. "One of our most popular meals is the second Wednesday of each month when Sylvia Hirshegger comes to take blood pressure," Mrs. Hoffman said. Mrs. Hirshegger, a registered nurse, volunteers to do blood pressure screening one day a month.

The center is always busy. Much of the activity is wrapped around keeping it going. Monday lunches for the public are to start again soon and an April raffle is being planned. "The center is really a place to get people together," Mrs. Hoffman said. "That's really the main purpose, to get people out who would normally stay home and be alone."

St. Johns Central School fifth graders turned muppeteers this week on the completion of their impressive puppet project. The 30 youngsters designed the faces and personalities of their muppets inspired by teacher Joyce Caulkins. The muppets started school Friday by pledging the flag, in 30 different voices. Greg St. Johns and his muppet enjoy a tape at the listening center, joined by Jeff Dean in the background. The project integrated many subjects including creative writing for a musical production that will be performed soon, and sewing. Students were assisted by senior citizen volunteers who helped make the bodies. (Photo by Bob Stern)

Arrests made in store robberies

A citizen's tip led to the arrest of four persons from the Ovid-Elsie area suspect in three armed robberies and two house breaking and entering cases including two robberies at Alderman's grocery store on M-21 and Shepardsville Road.

Officers from the Clinton County Detective Bureau, Don Kinnell and Bob Moinet arrested the four Monday night. Two more suspects are expected to be arrested, closing out the cases that ranged over the past two months.

Arrested for the Alderman robbery on Jan. 14 in which $600 in cash was taken, was Timothy J. Martin, 18, of 6800 E. Parks Rd., Ovid and two juveniles.

Anthony E. Huff, 17, of 8503 N. Meridian Rd., Elsie was arrested for the second robbery at the store which took place Friday. Also charged with him were two juveniles.

Martin and a juvenile were arrested for the armed robbery of 75-year old Flossie Robbins at her home on East Wildcat Road, Ovid, Jan. 29.

He was also arrested along with two juveniles for a breaking and entering of the Rex Baker home on East Parks Road, Ovid, Feb. 16. Taken were three shotguns, a rifle and a small amount of money.

Three of the juveniles involved are also suspected of a robbery at the home of Donald Phillips on North Upton Rd., Elsie.

Elsie man arrested for supplying minors

An Elsie man was arrested Monday and pled guilty before District Court Judge Fred Lewis for supplying alcohol to minors. He was named in an incident that resulted in the serious injury of two Ovid 15 year olds in a one car accident, Feb. 20. One of the youths, Jodi Smith of 125 W. Front St. remains in critical condition at Owosso Memorial Hospital.

Arrested by officers from the Clinton County Detective Bureau with cooperation of the Ovid Police was Robert Edward Hair, 53, of Meridian Road, Elsie.

Hair pled guilty to providing the minors with a 12-pack of beer and wine and was sentenced to 10 days in jail plus $100 fine and costs. If fine and costs are not paid an additional 20 days in jail will be imposed.

Hair's arrest was sought after Miss Smith and her passenger, Cynthia Hincka of West M-21 were injured in an accident after drinking alcohol supplied by him.

Miss Hincka was released from the hospital Monday. Both girls were thrown from the vehicle driven by Miss Smith after it went out of control on Meridian Road. The Sheriff Department report states that the car went off into the ditch and out into a field, rolling over four times.

Clinton County Senior Citizens are pushing their last 72 bargain coupon books with the help of the St. Johns Jaycees. Money from the sale will help with renovation costs for the Senior Drop-in Center on North Clinton Avenue, according to Maurie Hoffman, director. (Photo by Sharon Randall)

History traditions examined at Holy Trinity

By JEAN MARTIN

Students at Most Holy Trinity School took a peek at the way things had been in Fowler over the past 100 years. It was all a part of their celebration of Fowler's Catholic parish centennial.

The most recent celebration last week centered around a day-long festival held in the school social hall. Here the students had an opportunity to see displays of antiques and to try their hand at a few of the old crafts and amusements of their parents' and grandparents' day.

Representatives from the Community Resource Volunteers were on hand to give students instructions in needlepoint, rug making, candle making, quilting, weaving, and tating.

One area was set aside for the students to try playing the old games children have always played including checkers, chess, and marbles.

Other displays included old books and newspapers. Among the favorites were news photos of the 1967 Fowler tornado and the 1957 flood. Copies of the old "Fowler Post" were also on display.

Eighth graders operated a country store called the "8th Grade Mercantile" featuring baked goods for 5 cents and cookies at 2 for 5 cents.

Students throughout the school published a Centennial Cookbook that was given to parents as they visited the exhibits. Among the recipes was one for German Spaetzle, or egg dumplings, which called for:

- 2 Eier (eggs)
- 3 Tassen mehl (cups flour)
- halb Teeloeffel Salz (half-teaspoon salt)
- Wasser oder Milch (water or milk)

Family trees prepared by the students traced old area families including the Schafers, Trierweilers, Georges, Koenigsknechts, Thelens, and Pohls.

"You'll notice that whereas most family trees are tall, ours are very wide," laughed the school principal Barbara Valentine. "That's because our families have so many branches."

A special edition of the school newspaper featured interviews with people from the community. These led some of the young writers to some startling conclusions.

"They had some very terrifying chores to do like carry water in the house to do dishes and clean themselves," wrote Nancy Sillman.

In interviewing local "war heroes" one student learned that "During World War I (Leo Bauer) got sick. His troops thought he was dead so they left. Help came along and he was cured by whiskey."

Of the "olden days" Nancy Osborne wrote, "People then didn't have all the luxuries that we do today, but they had a lot of the most important luxuries. This luxury is love and happiness."

When the students of Most Holy Trinity School in Fowler celebrated the centennial of their parish last Friday, one of the most popular exhibits in the hall was a display of antiques loaned to the school by townspeople. Here Steve Schafer admires a 75-year-old sick call set that was on display during the day-long festivities. (Photo by Jean Martin)

Ode to Terri

By SHARON RANDALL

We attended a family wedding this weekend; a bittersweet affair at which family and friends sent our niece and her young man off to start a life together.

Bittersweet because they are both so beautiful and in love, but so young.

Bittersweet because the marriage, while right for Terri and Kevin, takes our niece 1,004 miles away from her father and the rest of us.

After the warm and joyous ceremony in which they pledged their love to one another and a determination to maintain their individuality, the party gathered at the home of the groom's parents celebrating with food and fellowship, music and dancing.

If there was an air of relief among the members of Terri's family, it was only because the ceremony was a symbol for a realization we've had in recent months that her struggle with the unfairness of life was ending.

Friday's evening ceremony was a happy ending to some very long, sad years in which Terri battled the hurts and scars of her parent's divorce.

She was a statistic, our niece, a victim of our times. Like so many thousands of children of the 70's she stood at the window on Sunday nights and watched her father drive away until the next visitation time. As she got older she fought her hurt with rebellion. She bounced back and forth between her parents searching hard for the warm little nest of her early childhood, scattered with her parents' separation.

There was never any real way that they or any of us could help her. This is a fight that the children of divorce must struggle through themselves. Her parents hurt with her, but they had lives of their own to rebuild and there is no going back.

Friday night there was little doubt that the ravagings of that long ago divorce were over. Terri stood on the rubble of her childhood and adolescent years and reached for the stars. In her Aunt Shelia's wedding gown, surrounded by people who love her, she entered the world of adults... a special and beautiful young woman on a special and beautiful journey of her own.

Senior Citizen Update

Energy credit confusing

By BRENDA HAMILTON

Brenda Hamilton of the Senior Citizen office writes a guest column for Senior Citizen Update this week. Our regular columnist, Ruth Delo is hospitalized at Clinton Memorial Hospital.

Help is here for your fuel bills. At least we think it's here....

This year's Energy Assistance Program has to be one of the most confusing programs on record. It's bad enough for those of us who have to administer the program but for senior citizens and others who are on a limited income, it can be totally uncomprehensible and overwhelming.

Attempts have been made to make improvements in the program, but little success has occurred.

This year's total energy program is called the Low Income Energy Assistance Program (LIEAP) and it is made up of three major parts. The first part of the program is called the Home Heating Tax Credit. Renters and home owners who have little or no income can qualify for this part of the program. They do so when filing for their property tax or rental rebate through the Michigan Department of Treasury. When the Home Heating Tax Credit form is filled out and sent into the State of Michigan you automatically file for the second part of the LIEAP program, the Supplemental Fuel Cost Payment. This part of the program comes back to the qualifying fuel customers in the form of an Energy Draft.

These two programs are simple and fairly straight forward for most everyone. It's the third portion of the LIEAP program that contains the most headaches. This program is called the Emergency Energy Assistance (EEA) program. It's function, as with the previous two LIEAP programs, is to assist people with their heating bills. Unfortunately, this one is more complicated and much more difficult to accomplish.

For example, if a qualifying senior citizen heats his home with natural gas, the only way we can help is if he has a 30 day past due bill or a shut-off notice. In affect, what this program does, is force people into becoming delinquent on their bills before they can get assistance. If fuel oil is used to heat the home, the case is not the same and the application process a little easier.

None the less, we are attempting to help as many people as possible. To qualify for the program, an individual has to earn less than $394 a month, a couple must earn less than $619 a month. If you're interested, the personnel at the Senior Citizen Office in St. Johns (224-7998) will be glad to speak to you and make suggestions on assistance.

THROUGH THE LENS OPENING

Another prize winner for Robert Sheap was this amusing portrait in the St. Johns Camera Club's "That's Entertainment" competition. Named best of show, this color enlargement was taken on Kodachrome 25 film at f-16, using a filter and two photo floods.

Letters to the editor

Salutes police department

To the editor:

We at the Mark Robert's Co. want to express our appreciation to the St. Johns Police Department for their professional handling of a recent shoplifting incident. Their prompt response and efficient action resulted in the recovery of the stolen merchandise and apprehension of the suspects.

It is easy to be grateful for a job well done in a highly visible instance such as this, however, we're reminded that the police provide our community with the same service even when we're not aware of their effort. The department deserves our thanks for all that it does for St. Johns.

Bob Barber,
Peg Lehnen

Word from Mike Humphrey fan

Dear Editor:

I really enjoyed the recent article on Mike Humphrey that you featured in the Personality Profile section.

The article was well-written, very complete, and really seemed to capture the "spirit of the man."

Mr. Humphrey has dedicated a great many hours to the students and athletes of St. Johns. The lives of literally thousands of boys and girls, myself included, have been touched by this one man.

It was truly refreshing to read about the accomplishments of a person who has dedicated himself to students at a "non-glamorous" level for the love of doing it.

St. Johns is lucky to have a man like Mike Humphrey as a teacher, and I'm lucky to have him as a father.

Sincerely,
Sue Ellen (Humphrey) Flowers

St. Johns Jaycettes thanked

To Linda Fitch and her Jaycette Helpers:

A big thank-you to the St. Johns Jaycettes from the entire staff and student body of the Clinton County Intermediate School District.

It might have been an easier job to choose a different project, however you could not have chosen a more worthwhile one. Thanks for providing a super circus day for our "special" children.

Chamber notes

Clinton will share regional development grant

By JODY SMITH

The Lansing Regional Chamber of Commerce has received a grant of CETA funds for regional economic development. The project has the support of the Private Industry Council for Clinton, Ingham, and Eaton Counties and will be put into operation at the beginning of March.

The program is designed to help with planning for systematic development and diversification of this region, to develop a promotional strategy to attract new business and industry, and to provide direct consultation and assistance in the retention and expansion of local industry. A provision to monitor the business climate and work toward eliminating conditions which prevent economic growth is also included in the working of the proposal.

The strength of the program, according to the authors, is its reliance on the private sector's input as they feel the real talent for developing business lies within the business sector itself. The Regional Chamber, through its lines of communication, will be able to coordinate the effort for diversification and expansion. This office will act as a central clearing house of information and assistance on economic development activities as well as serve as a liaison between local government and the business community regarding economic development activities. The program includes a plan for promoting the Clinton, Ingham, and Eaton County area.

The daily operation of this project will be left up to a manager who will report to the Executive Vice-President of the Lansing Regional Chamber of Commerce.

Clinton County's

Economic Development Corporation has been working very hard to promote this area of its own accord. Now that St. Johns has an industrial park site with proper zoning and all services, this agency will be able to move with a freer hand. Hopefully the Regional Economic Development Project will be able to provide an outlet which will be useful to the St. Johns area.

(Jody Smith, manager of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce, writes this weekly column about what is happening in the business and community sectors of St. Johns.)

know that when the St. Johns music groups perform it is going to be quality music and a quality performance."

Also evident in the judges comments was praise for the school and its support of the music program and for recognizing its importance to students, community and school.

The district festival includes schools from a five county area in Mid-Michigan. Each music group must prepare three numbers to perform before three judges. Their score is decided by averaging the ratings of the three individual judges. The groups must also sight read two musical selections before another judge and that rating is averaged to the concert rating to give the group their final score.

Personality Profile

Handwork specialist

CRV worker takes time for others

By JEAN MARTIN

Gretchen Jewison is a woman of tremendous energy and almost unlimited resourcefulness. She firmly believes that she can do anything she sets her mind to, and frequently she proves it.

"I get so tired of people saying they can't do this or they can't do that," Gretchen declared. "You can do anything you want to. You just have to put the energy into it."

Although Gretchen laughingly admits that some things just are not worth the energy, she has proven her thesis many times over.

Several years ago when the Community Resource Volunteers were looking for people in Greenbush Township, Gretchen decided to give it a try.

"What I like about CRV is that they know you by what you do, not by who you are or how much money you have," she explained.

Since joining CRV Gretchen has worked in many of the schools in the area teaching batik and other handwork. She says that she really likes working with children.

"Kids accept you for what you are," she began. "Adults want perfection."

If I want something perfect, I'll go to the store and buy it made by a machine because handwork is never going to be quite perfect," she added.

Gretchen also becomes impatient with people who say they would like to make the lovely things she does if they only had the time.

"I ask them, 'What do you do with your time?' she said. "Then they say, 'I have to clean my house.'"

"The house can stay dirty," Gretchen laughed. "Anything that isn't done around here by noon, doesn't get done."

Gretchen says that she was the 10th of 12 children and acquired her mother's philosophy with regards to the use of time.

"My mother raised a big family, and she always made time for her handwork," she recalled. "Mother always believed that you don't work when your kids are sleeping. You need that time for yourself."

Gretchen says that she learned sewing from her mother when she was about six years old. From sewing her own doll clothes Gretchen graduated to quilting, needlepoint, rug hooking, and crewel and regular embroidery.

Now she likes to share her accomplishments with others.

"I don't know what is going to happen to the 'me only' people," she declares. "You can't live just for yourself."

Gretchen says that she does not believe that there is such a thing as living unselfishly because she sees everything she gives coming back to her over and over again.

She likes to tell the story about how an acquaintance helped her family out last summer. It seems that while the family was on vacation the woman had come out and picked the peas. Finally she had even frozen them for Gretchen.

"I can't figure out why people are so nice," she smiled. "I have to ask myself, 'What am I doing right?'"

Gretchen and her husband Dave moved to Michigan about 13 years ago from their native Minnesota, and Gretchen is sold on the state of Michigan.

"Michigan is one of the most diversified states in the union," she said.

Gretchen firmly believes that many of the people who are deserting Michigan for the sunbelt will be coming back in 15 or 20 years.

"We've got the land, the natural resources," she explained.

Gretchen even says that she likes Michigan's weather.

"Of course you have winter from January through December," she laughed. "But there will be only four days of that hot humid stuff in the summer."

Since she began working with CRV, Gretchen has had an opportunity to see the local schools in operation, and she sees much in them that is praiseworthy.

"Eureka has one of the best teacher systems going," she declared.

Without wanting to dwell on the subject, Gretchen did feel that she had to mention the accident which caused the death of Eureka's former principal.

"Mike O'Connor was a great man," she said. "The way it happened, you just figure there must have been a reason for him to go."

Voter apathy is something that Gretchen simply cannot understand.

"Next fall the schools are going to be hurting," she predicted. "If you want your child to have something, you're going to have to help out."

Gretchen also feels that there are a lot of things that parents themselves could be doing to help ease the financial crunch within the schools.

"I don't want to take away anyone's jobs, but why can't parents help out in the classrooms and library?" she asked.

Now that her youngest son is in school part-time, Gretchen believes that she will be having more free time to devote to the community.

"When a child is little, I think the mother has to be there to train the child," she explained. "It is too late to put the brakes on when they get to be 14 or 15."

Gretchen says that she has also been careful not to become too dependent upon her husband.

"He doesn't have to do everything for me," she explained. "When he gets home at night, he's tired. Sometimes he would just as soon stay at home with the kids while I go to a meeting."

It is fear of people, Gretchen says, that keeps some women from getting out more often.

"I could be hermit; I've got enough to do at home," she laughed. "But I enjoy people too much."

Carroll Furry

New city librarian on board in St. Johns

By JEAN MARTIN

Beginning March 1 Carroll Furry will be the new assistant librarian at the Bement Public Library in St. Johns. She will replace Cleo Desprez who is retiring after 13 years in the position.

Carroll says that she began working as a substitute at the library about two years ago. Later she graduated to the position of page.

Her new duties will not be completely foreign to her, she says, because she has been acting assistant several times in Cleo's absence.

"Cleo has done a good job," Carroll said. "She's also been really good about showing me things."

Carroll is married to John Furry who is Adult Education Coordinator for the St. Johns Public Schools. They have five children.

In some ways Carroll thinks that her new position will simplify homelife for the Furrys.

"Pages work one week on and one week off, but they work every night," she explained. "Now I'll be working 31 hours a week, every day; but I'll only have two nights a week."

Carroll's former position as page will now be filled by Mrs. Harold (Janet) Smalldon who up until now has been a substitute in the library.

County hires dairy expert

Roberta L. Weber has been appointed as the Cooperative Extension Service agricultural agent in Clinton County, effective March 1 pending approval of the Michigan State University board of Trustees.

Weber, who majored in agricultural education, obtained a bachelor's degree in 1978 and a master's degree in 1979 from Purdue University. During 1977 she taught vocational agriculture at Frontier Schools in Chalmers, Indiana and then spent a year as a graduate research assistant at Purdue. Before being appointed to the Ingham County Extension agricultural agent position in 1980, she was a conference coordinator at the MSU Kellogg Center for Continuing Education.

Weber and her husband, Gary, are currently living in East Lansing.

In her new position, she will be responsible for developing and conducting Extension educational programs that meet the needs of persons involved in the production of dairy and livestock commodities within Clinton County.

Coordinating the day for Middleton was Rose Randolph of Community Resource Volunteers who found 26 different resource persons as speakers. Represented were banking, factory, sales, telephone, computer, fast food, social services, health, hotel-motel management careers.

Professionals included a veterinary, doctor, dentist, lawyer, fashion designer, photographer, reporter and truck driver.

Winning Eagle

The prize winning Fowler Eagle is up on the wall at the Waldron Middle School gym, painted in full glory by its designer, Bill Kohagen, left and Gay Thelen. Kohagen drew the Eagle two years ago as a sixth grader, winning a contest for a school mascot design. He and Thelen started the painting project this summer under the direction of art teacher, Katie DeBusschere. The Eagle was dedicated Friday in a special school ceremony. (Photo by Bob Stern)

St. Johns gymnast Doug Fox goes through his routine on the rings during Friday's double dual win over Ionia and Notre Dame.

Fox claimed second in the event with a mark of 5.75. Teammate Spence Beaufore took firsts in four events.

Gymnasts push record to 8-0

Spence Beaufore captured firsts in four events Friday night to lead the St. Johns boys' gymnastics team to a double-dual victory. The Redwings finished with a score of 124.36. Ionia was second at 117.44 and Notre Dame third with 103.18.

Beaufore turned in his best performance of the evening in the vault competition. Having already qualified for the state tournament in the event, he posted an 8.9. Redwings Randy Long and Graham Rice placed second and third with marks of 8.45 and 8.35 respectively.

St. Johns participants claimed the top two spots in the floor exercise as Beaufore came up with a score of 8.4 for first. The mark meets the tournament qualifying score and he now needs to accomplish the figure once more to achieve the goal. Long, with an 8.0 placed second.

Curtis Simon won the competition on the parallel bars. He posted a score of 7.0 in the event in which he'll compete during the tourney. Rice took fourth on the bars, scoring 5.7.

Beaufore also turned in first place finishes on the high bar and the rings. He received a mark of 7.15 on the former and a 6.75 on the rings.

Doug Fox tied for second on the rings with his score of 5.75 and Rice was third. Rice placed second on the high bar as well, scoring a 6.6.

The lone event in which St. Johns failed to place a competitor amongst the top four was the pommel horse. Dave Ebert topped the Redwing finishers, winding up fifth with a mark of 4.5.

The Redwings are now a perfect 8-0 on the season. They played host to Clarenceville last night and travel to Southfield Lathrup.

St. Johns survives scare from Owosso

By TIM JEFFERY

St. Johns nearly learned just how misleading records can be, Monday night.

Teams which have been battered or losers of several heartbreakers throughout the season, suddenly get new lives once the high school basketball tournament gets underway.

One such ball club, Owosso, gave St. Johns a major scare and in fact seemed on the verge of blowing the Redwings out, early in the second quarter of the district opener.

The Trojans came into the contest, having won just three times, but they fit the mold of a team with its share of tough losses, almost perfectly. St. Johns, on the other hand, entered the contest freshly crowned as MMB champs and possibly guilty of looking past Owosso.

A tenacious box-and-one defense to stop Jeff Casler caused most of the early Redwing problems. The defensive tactic completely denied the junior scoring ace from getting the ball.

The host team led it 19-9 after the opening stanza, then pushed the margin to 23-9 in the opening minutes of the second quarter.

St. Johns coach Bob Tissot looking to find a way to get Casler the ball, switched him to the point. The Redwings also went to a full court man-to-man press and immediately began to force turnovers.

St. Johns capitalized on the turnovers, converting a number of easy buckets as well as finding the range from the outside. By halftime, Owosso's lead had been sliced to 37-35.

The Redwings simply couldn't miss in the third quarter as they overtook Owosso. Eight of nine shots during the period were on target and St. Johns found itself in front 54-48, entering the final eight minutes.

The contest appeared to be well in hand as the margin reached 10 in the fourth quarter, however the Trojans continued to battle behind the scoring of Jeff Klapko and Bob Zuker. St. Johns finally turned back Owosso by a count of 78-74.

Casler and Bruce Fedewa provided most of the Redwing scoring punch, netting 30 and 18 respectively. Fedewa dished out six assists and Casler came up with seven steals. Both players hauled in nine rebounds as well.

Denny Sleep and Steve Gonzales also turned in fine efforts. Sleep led the team with 13 rebounds and scored nine points. Gonzales hit for nine points, including a pair of big free throws late in the fourth quarter, and handed out four assists.

Doug Sleep and Ed Hollenbeck rounded out the scoring. Sleep tossed in seven points and played well defensively, drawing three offensive fouls. Hollenbeck scored five points, while playing a fine all-around game.

The Redwings shot a torrid 57 percent (27 for 47) from the floor and hit 24 of 36 from the charity stripe. Casler hit an unbelievable 11 of 15 field goal tries. He was eight for 11 from the line as well.

Klapko totaled 26 to pace the sers. Zuker added 15, Brent Albert added 11 and Ken Klinkoski netted 10.

Tissot admitted to just being glad to escape with the victory. "I'm not satisfied with the way we played, but I am happy to get out of there with a win. I don't think they're (Owosso) that bad. They were improving and had lost some tough games," he said.

The coach went on to add, "We had almost a 10 day layover between games and I think that hurt us. Also,

I'm sure the kids looked at Owosso's record. No matter how much you try to guard against overconfidence, it can still affect you." Finally he said, "I think the kids know these people up there are for real now."

St. Johns attempts to advance toward the district championship tonight against Flint Carmen. The winner faces the Flushing-Swartz Creek victor on Friday.

Fowler gets even with P-W

By TIM JEFFERY

The unexpected happened once again in the always 'wild and wonderful' Pewamo-Westphalia-Fowler rivalry, Friday night.

The first time the teams met this season it was all P-W however, the second time around, things turned out much differently.

P-W had the best of it in quarter number one, outscoring the hosts 14-10. By halftime Fowler still trailed, 28-27, but in comparison to the first meeting, was winning the war.

Piggot Gym began to shake early in the third quarter as Fowler surged ahead. The Pirates managed to regain the lead once, but the Eagles moved in front again at 36-34 and never relinquished the advantage throughout the remainder of the ball game.

Fowler limited P-W to just 25 second half points, while scoring 34 of its own. Several players made major contributions for the Eagles enroute to the 61-53 victory.

Steve Schneider was outstanding, scoring 14 points off the Fowler bench. Doug Cook also enjoyed a big night with 13 markers and eight rebounds. Guard Tom Weber had 11 points and three assists as well.

Sophomore Dave Koenigsnecht, having not practiced all week because of the flu, scored eight points and Stan Simon netted seven. Lloyd Feldpausch and Luke Hufnagel also made their presence felt, with five assists and eight rebounds, respectively.

Brian Pfaff topped the visitors with 14 points, while center Steve Hengesbach scored 11 and hauled in 15 rebounds. The Pirates shot a dismal 33 percent from the floor (23 for 70) and 50 percent in the free thrown category.

Fowler Coach Charlie Trierweiler, obviously pleased with the victory, figures the game should give his team a big lift entering the tournaments. "I was pleased as all get-out with the guys. They've improved every game and I think they deserved this one. There have been three or four really tough losses, but now I think the kids are in a good frame of mind and will be ready to go at Potterville," he said.

Pirate head man John Ellis was not critical of his ball club and pointed out Fowler deserved credit for the win. "I'm not that disappointed with the way we played. We played a lot better than we have in quite a while, other than the game against St. Pat's. We just gave up too many easy buckets," Ellis explained.

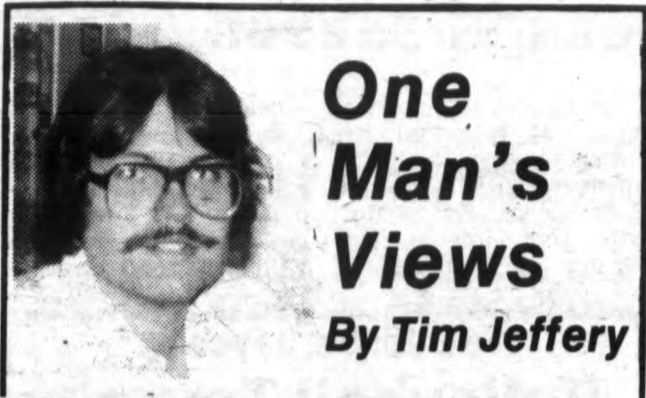

Both Fowler and P-W were winners earlier in the week. The Eagles bettered Laingsburg 65-52 and P-W got past Bellevue 48-45.

One Man's Views

By Tim Jeffery

So Steve Kemp got his $600,000 contract from the Tigers and immediately we begin hearing how the fans will be the ones who suffer. The money will come out of our pockets in the way of higher ticket prices.

True, ticket prices will continue to soar, but here's one fan who won't be paying any of Kemp's salary. I already have my season ticket, thank-you.

This ticket not only allows me to watch baseball, but football, hockey and basketball are included as well.

Some two years ago, when I first purchased this ticket, it got me into some of the games, but not enough. Then last year, about this same time, the price jumped $18, however I'm more than happy to pay it. Now I see anything I want for that extra $18.

You wonder where to get a ticket like this? Well, most appliance stores or department stores sell them. They come in all different kinds. Mine's a Sylvania Superset, without all the options. Just you're basic ABC, NBC and CBS model, no remote control or video-cassette recorder included.

Tack on that $18 and suddenly I've got WGN from Chicago, WTBS from Atlanta, ESPN (24 hours sports), The USA Network and WOR, both from New York, WKBD from Detroit, and CBC from Windsor, Ont. as well as Home Box Office and a couple different ABC, NBC and CBS networks. On top of all that, I can sit on my couch and change channels with the remote control, included in the $18 fee. Who needs to go see the Tigers or for that matter, anybody else anymore.

Now I can take in an Atlanta Hawks' game, a Chicago Bulls' game, a New York Rangers' game, a Toronto Maple Leafs' game, a Detroit Red Wings' game and two or three college basketball games on a given night. I don't have to stand in line to use the restroom or get something to eat either. I even park my car for free outside.

Sure it's fun to go out to the ball park during the summer and cheer on the Tigers, but it's not worth it. Why pay $7.50 per person plus $1 for hot dogs and have to fight crowds? Five people can come to my house for free and we can watch three or four games at once.

I'll always have it in me to root for the Detroit teams, but lately I have to agree our pro clubs make the city they represent look like Shmotown. Who wants to spend $6 or $8 to see a Pistons' or Red Wings' game. The Tigers and Lions are at least more competitive, however they are both miles away from being of championship caliber.

Cable television will continue getting better. ESPN is going to show some 25 NCAA tournament basketball games during March, not to mention the 100 plus regular season games which were broadcast. WGN televises every Chicago Cubs home game and has added numerous White Sox broadcasts for the coming season. The USA Network presents Monday Night Hockey as well as Thursday Nit NBA and Major League Baseball doubleheaders. The list is already endless.

It really does surprise me, teams are still drawing as well as they are. But more and more as cable TV spreads its wings, people will stay home. The average person just can't afford to get into the stadiums anymore.

Fowler coach Charlie Trierweiler explains the situation to his ball club during a timeout Friday night.

The contest went just as Trierweiler had hoped in the second half as Fowler overtook the Pirates. (Photo by Bob Stern)

★ Fowler vs P-W

Laingsburg led Fowler by four points at halftime, before the Eagles turned things around in the second half. The Wolfpack was limited to 10 points in each of the final two quarters, while Fowler was scoring 17 and 20, respectively.

Much of the 20-point fourth period came at the free throw line. The Eagles made 14 foul shots during the stanza. Simon was the leader from the line, making eight of nine overall and finishing with 16 points. He also led in rebounding with 13 grabs.

Cook netted 16 points as well, followed by Hufnagel with 12 and Feldpausch with 11.

A pair of key free throws by Guy Walter and a layup by Mike Pohl late in the fourth quarter saved P-W against Bellevue on Tuesday. The Broncos led it 25-22 at the intermission, but were held to 10 points in each of the last two quarters and fell 48-45.

Pohl finished with a game-high 20 points, making eight of nine free throws.

Isn't it time to give a real tax break to savers?

On the average, Britons save 13% of their disposable income. West Germans save 15%. Japanese, 26%. But Americans save only 4.5%!

A major reason people in other nations save more is that they are given tax incentives by their governments.

The U.S. actually discourages savings, by taxing the interest that is earned.

Isn't it time Congress gave savers a real tax incentive? We think the annual tax-free limit on savings interest should be raised to $1,000 for individuals and $2,000 for joint tax returns.

This would encourage more savings, which would help stabilize the economy and bring inflation under control.

What do you think? Please fill out the ballot, and let us know.

Bond and Winsor pace Fulton win

The Skeeter and Scott show proved to be too much for Portland St. Pat's Friday night as Fulton closed out the regular season with a 78-72 victory.

Skeeter, being Wayne Bond and Scott as in Winsor, teamed for 56 points. Bond had 29 of the markers and also came up with six steals, five rebounds and handed out five assists in playing his best overall game of the season. Winsor added 16 rebounds to his 27 points.

St. Pat's led by eight after one quarter, before Fulton exploded for 29 points in period number two. Bond had 10, Winsor nine and John Walrath six during the outbreak.

Pirate coach Kim Lathwell and fans alike received a big scare with two minutes left in the half when Winsor turned and ankle'ed went to the floor. He returned to start the third quarter, however.

The Shamrocks wiped out Fulton's five-point lead in the third stanza, limiting the Pirates to 11 points to take a 55-53 advantage.

Fulton found the scoring touch again in the decisive final period, lighting up the board with 24 points to post the victory.

The Pirates shot only 44 percent from the floor, but Winsor hit a sizzling 11 for 16 field goal attempts, while Bond was 12 for 24. Ron Hanson also turned in a fine performance with 10 points and eight rebounds.

Fulton missed the front end of nine one and one situations as the foul shooting problems continued for the team.

St. Pat's was led by Ken Kramer's 14 and Doug Leik with 13. Mike Sines and Mike Wilcox each netted 11.

Lathwell likes what he has seen over the past couple weeks in his ball club and expects to be highly competitive in the district at Ithaca. "We haven't played much better than in that second quarter. We're improving each time out and we're ready for the tourney at Ithaca," he said.

The Pirates played Ithaca last night with the winner to face either Breckenridge or St. Louis on Tuesday.

Pirates close out successful season

Carol Bogard's Pewamo-Westphalia volleyball squad put the lid on a very successful regular season with two more wins last week. The Pirates finished at 16-2 and now await Thursday's pre-district encounter with Haslett.

Pottsville, the team the Pirates shared CMAC league championship honors with, invaded P-W Tuesday for a make-up game. Because only one of the meetings between league foes counted toward the standings, Tuesday's encounter was somewhat of an unofficial playoff.

P-W rolled to an easy 15-5 win in the first game, but Pottsville forced a third game with a 15-6 triumph in game two. The Pirates then pulled out the decisive battle 15-11.

Donna Heckman led the winners with 12 spikes and a perfect 16 for 16 while serving. Jane Cotter recorded 10 spikes, Becky Schneider had nine and Therese Simon totaled eight. Lynn Klein was seven for seven in the service category as P-W was successful on 49 of its 54 serves overall.

Thursday evening, P-W escaped the jaws of defeat with 12 straight points, to erase a 14-4 Lakewood lead in game three. The Pirates had won the opener 15-8 and lost the second game 15-5.

Schneider served all 12 of the points during the rally and finished at 16 for 16 on the night. Three others were perfect, led by Ann Schmitt's nine of nine. Lee Ann Rademacher and Jane Cotter were each five for five.

Simon led the spikers with 14, followed by Heckman with 13, Patty Spencer with six and Radamacher and Cotter with five apiece. The Pirates also received excellent efforts from setters

Judy Theis and Klein.

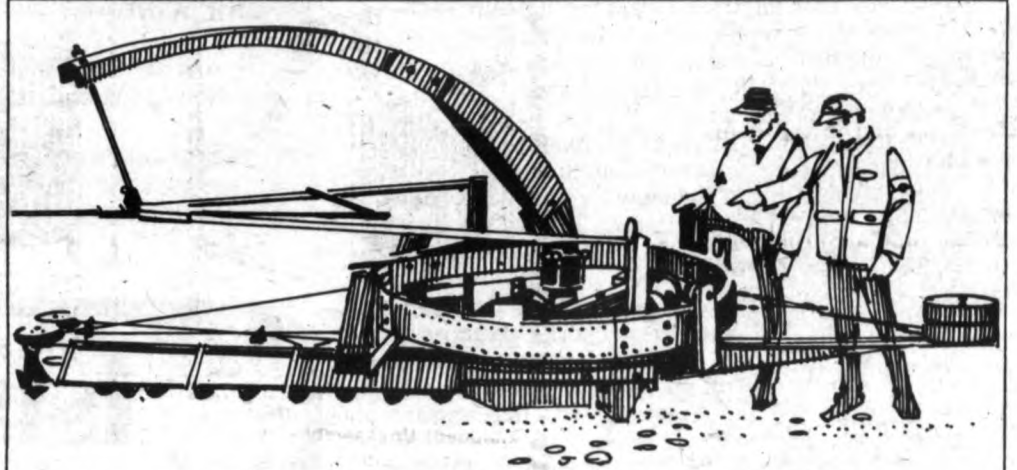

The pre-district game with Haslett starts at 5:30 p.m. at P-W. The winner goes onto the districts at Williamston on Saturday.

Marauders tourney primed after impressive outing

Ovid-Elsie's loss to St. Johns in the MMB title game was a tough one to digest, however the Marauders wasted little time in bouncing back.

Friday, Bay City All Saints, 14-5 and winners

Girls down Sexton

St. Johns' girls took the top three spots in all four events Feb. 23 as the Redwings downed Sexton by a score of 86.15-43.4.

Darlene Cerny continued with her excellent performances, claiming the top spot in each category. She turned in marks of 8.0 on the vault, 7.55 on the uneven bars and 7.9 on both the beam and in the floor exercise.

Dawn Bakita took seconds in three of the four events. Shiela Barnes and Bakita tied for the second spot in the vault competition with scores of 7.15. Marks of 7.3 and 7.4, respectively on the beam and in the floor exercise gave Bakita the other two second place finishes.

Barnes capture the runner-up spot on the uneven bars, scoring 6.25 to finish just ahead of Bakita.

Redwings Chris Dedyne and Tammy Gladstone took thirds on the beam and the floor exercise, respectively. Dedyne had a mark of 6.35 and Gladstone turned in a 7.2.

Last week, St. John was narrowly edged by Freeland in a tri-meet. Freeland finished with 91.8 compared to the Redwing score of 90.35. Mt. Pleasant brought up the rear at 69.6.

Cerny captured the top spot in the final all-around results, scoring 32.65. She won the competition on the uneven bars and tied for first in the floor exercise. Cerny took second in the two other events.

Bakita was a third place finisher on the beam, while Gladstone and Dedyne wound up fifth and sixth in the floor exercise.

over Saginaw SS Peter and Paul, the team many feel will win it all in Class C, visited O-E. Rich in talent, the visitors have experienced internal problems and the 14-5 record has been somewhat of a disappointment.

The frustration continued at O-E as the Marauders elected to go with a zone defense to combat All Saints' fine outside shooting ability. The Marauders used the zone for the first time this season and effectively shut down Bay City.

O-E led 29-27 at halftime, then both clubs scored 13 points apiece, keeping it a two-point game as the fourth quarter began.

Chris Horak nailed two key free throws late in the contest to ice a 59-54 victory for the Marauders. Horak's free throws gave him a total of 10 points matching the output by Scott Hudecek.

Mark Carter and Jeff Hettinger were the leading point getters for O-E. Carter scored 15 and added seven assists, while Hettinger dropped in 11. The difference in the game was at the free throw line where O-E made 11 of 16 to just two of four by Bay City. The Marauders were guilty of committing just six personal fouls.

Three players reached double figures for the losers however, Dave LaPrarie averaging 20 points per game coming in, was held to four. Greg Luczak, the team's second leading scorer was also limited to four. Jon Miller led All Saints with 16, Paul Rivard had 15 and John Berent netted 12.

Marauder coach Bob Foreback was pleased with his club's performance after the loss at St. Johns. "We hadn't practiced all that well and I was kind've concerned after the loss to St. Johns, but we played a good ball game. They're a good shooting team from the outside, but our zone did a nice job," he said.

O-E opened district play last night hosting Chesaning. The winner advances to the championship game against either Corunna or Durand.

Egg production up 7 percent

Michigan's laying flocks produced 133 million eggs in January, seven percent above last winter's production level, according to the Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service.

The State's 6.4 million birds produced 2,078 eggs per 100 layers during January. This three percent increase in layer numbers combined with a four percent gain in rate of lay established the high egg level for the month.

★ Budget adopted

the school attorney asking his opinion in the matter.

The board acted on the administration's recommendation to accept the low bid of Benson Plumbing and Heating for $6,150, for a new energy efficient heating system for the bus garage.

Administrative assistant Gordon Vandemark said the move was recommended the recent energy audit of the school district's buildings. He said based on current "pay back" figures, the district will recoup the $6,000 in five years.

The board also accepted the low bid of Jerry Hufnagel at $1,767 to replace ceiling tile in the high school gym balcony area. This is also an energy saving project to prevent heat loss.

After turning down an offer by parents interested in the adult education program at Theresa Merrill school to buy $200 worth of paint for a clean-up project at the school, the board asked its policy committee to develop a policy covering such requests.

"I anticipate we will continue to get more of this kind of request," Burns said, "as more and more is cut from the budget." He indicated that parent groups would be interested in restoring field trips and library books.

Burns said the school also gets complaints from people who are besieged with children peddling goods to earn funds for school projects.

"While these are good intentions, it's a rough way to run a railroad," Board President Ron Huard said.
