Millage rate is rolled back

By PETER W. BRONSON

Taxpayers will be happy to hear their millage rate was rolled back slightly by the Clinton County Board of Commissioners Tuesday.

Commissioners voted to set the county's share of annual tax collections at 5.1395 mills, a little more than one-third of a mill lower than last year's rate of 5.4903.

Board members could have set the millage rate more than one-half mill higher had they opted to hold a truth in taxation hearing. The hearing, a formality required by law for the higher rate, would have allowed them to set the millage at 5.6776, County Administrator William LeFevre reported.

Board Chairman Roger Overway said the county has long been trying to push back its millage rate. Higher property assessments in recent years have resulted in increased revenues without any increase in millages, he said.

"The county budget is in good, sound financial shape," he said. "We think we can get by on what we've decided on." Finance Committee Chairman Walter Nobis agreed.

Although the millage reduction from a year ago may be almost unnoticed on most residents' tax bills, it will cut the county budget by about $309,000, Nobis said. Had the board decided to hold a truth in taxation hearing to levy the total amount it is entitled to, the budget would have been $3,263,226. With the lower millage it will be $2,953,951, a difference of $309,275.

In other business during their September meeting, commissioners heard comments from two political candidates and voted to support a resolution urging legislators to block attempts by the state to take over county court systems.

The Oakland County resolution says the state's move to take over administration of courts has been planned without adequate funding and will result in a less efficient justice system.

Richard Hawks proposed that commissioners adopt a resolution in support of Oakland County's, saying, "It seems to me the state has taken over more things than it can handle now."

Commissioners agreed, and the resolution was passed unanimously. But according to 89th District State Representative and Republican incumbent candidate Gary Randall, it may not be necessary since funding for the takeover is not likely to be available.

"The money just won't be there," Randall replied to a question from Overway. Randall, along with 10th District Republican Congressional candidate Larry Reed, spoke during a public comments section on the agenda.

He indirectly endorsed a recent policy statement by Republican gubernatorial candidate Richard Headlee regarding state aid to Detroit. Headlee has asked the state to hold up payments to Detroit until Mayor Coleman Young gets his house in order."

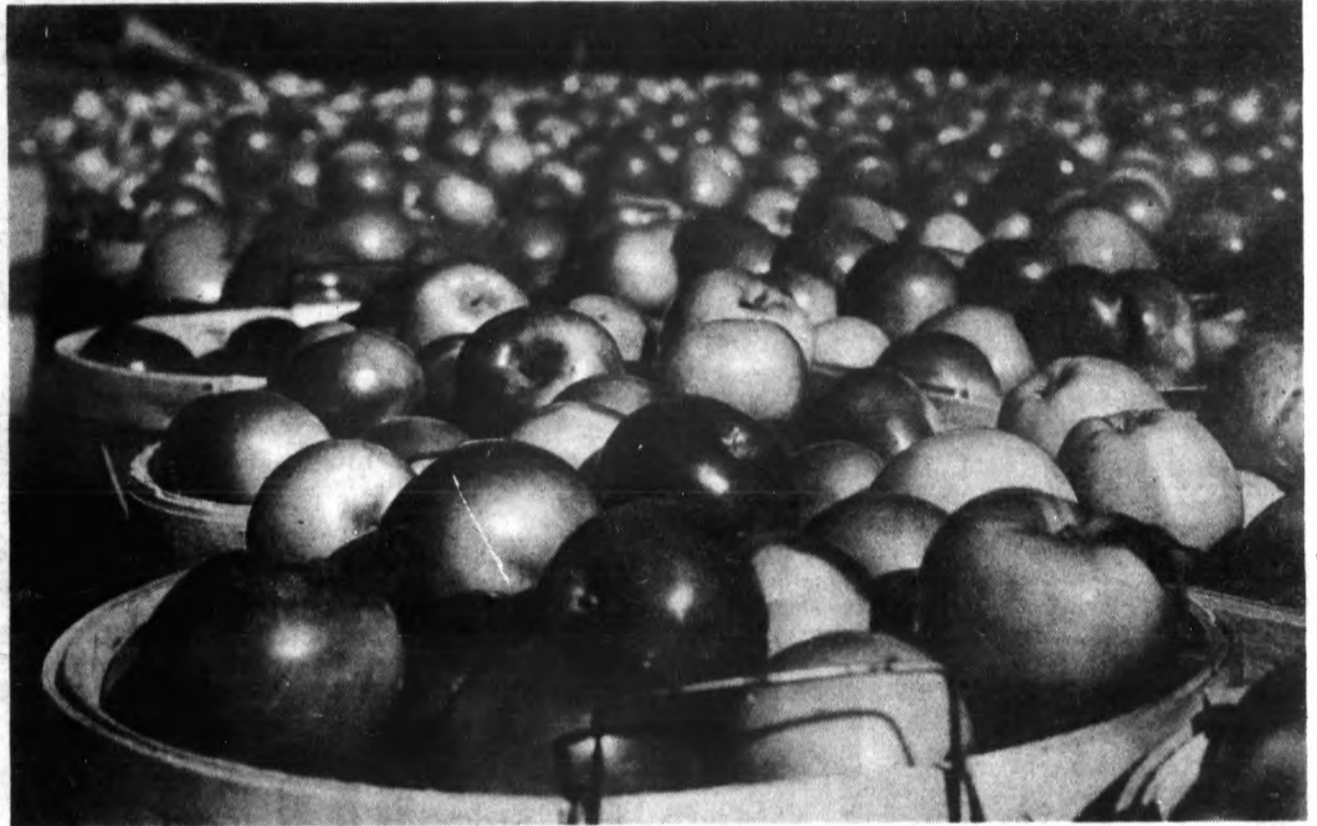

Randall apparently agrees. He said some money granted to Detroit last year was misused, and told commissioners recent House refusal to accept the annual Detroit Equity Package was "one of the few bright spots in the whole budget process."

"It indicates the house is finally ready to look at realigning priorities," he said.

Reed also spoke briefly to commissioners. He said his opponent, Democratic incumbent Don Albosta, has misrepresented facts in radio advertising, and called for a reduction in government and return to "free enterprise."

"Most of our problems stem from government growing beyond its proper bounds," Reed said. "There are very few problems that couldn't be solved or alleviated by a dose of good old fashioned American freedom."

Commissioners also voted to increase the per-call rate for the county's medical examiner from $40 to $50, beginning Jan. 1, 1983. Commissioner Earl Lancaster reported the increase was made by Medical Director Dr. James Grosz a few months ago without approval from the county. Bills since then for the increase will not be paid, but the additional $10 per-call will be paid beginning next year, he said, and the increase is a reasonable request.

At city commission meeting

Group protests rezoning

By BUDDY MOOREHOUSE

A large group of people from the Prince Estates section of St. Johns crammed into the St. Johns City Commission chambers Sept. 27 to let the commission know they will oppose any efforts to rezone property near them.

The group was there in response to efforts by developer Robert Blastic to get the commission to rezone some land he owns. The land, which borders Prince Estates on the south side of town, is currently zoned for single-family residential dwellings only. Blastic appeared before the commission in June and asked it to rezone the land so he could build multiple-family dwellings there.

'We have obtained 142 signatures to let the commission know we will oppose with vigor any effort to rezone this land,' a spokesman for residents said.

The commission rejected Blastic's request, but the group from Prince Estates felt he would try to persuade the commission again, as soon as next January.

A spokesman for the group, Larry Schwartzkopf of 602 E. Oak, told the commission, "We are aware of the fact that the rezoning request by Mr. Blastic was turned down by the commission, and that makes it a dead issue."

"Nevertheless, the group here would like to remain pro-active in the situation and not reactive. We have secured 142 signatures on an informal petition to let the commission know that we will oppose with vigor any effort to rezone this land to high-density. We would like for the zoning to remain R-1 (single-family residential.)"

Schwartzkopf, who is the Clinton County Intermediate School District Superintendent, told the commission that the area homeowners were concerned with water problems, drain problems and vandalism should the area be rezoned and multiple-family dwellings be built.

Schwartzkopf also told the commissioners the Prince Estates group would gladly assist the commission concerning any rezoning requests in that area.

Mayor John Arehart thanked the group for appearing and called a two-minute recess, allowing all those who wished the opportunity to leave.

After the large group departed, the commission tackled the rest of the agenda, including a discussion on purchasing two new police cars. The city buys two new cars annually, and the commissioners decided at the meeting to purchase this year's cars through the state.

"Because the state can bid on so many cars, we can get a better price," City Clerk Rich Coletta told the commission.

In other business, the commission:

- Awarded the job of seeding the new ball diamonds to the low bidder, Twin Pines Nursery, at a cost of $2,700.
- Authorized final payment of $5,000 to BBR Progressive Concrete, Inc. for the 1982 Curb Replacement Project.
- Appointed Ron Huard to the City Compensation Committee, replacing Brandon White, who has moved out of town.
- Agreed to purchase two copy machines, one for the city and one for the police department. The city's machine is a Canon 400F costing $5,495, while the police department's machine is an IBM model 102 costing $1,495.

Seven injured in accident

A four-car accident on US-27 in which seven people were injured was among the incidents reported by Clinton County law enforcement agencies this week.

• As he was northbound on US-27 north of Stoll Road Sept. 24, a vehicle driven by Stephen Cooper, 38, of Eureka, hit a car driven by Ralf Youngs, 55, of Holt, as Youngs was attempting to make a left turn into a private drive, DeWitt Township Police said. The collision then forced Youngs' vehicle into the southbound lane, where it struck a vehicle driven by William Schoonover, 31, of 11394 E. River in DeWitt, police said. A vehicle driven by Dorothy Noyce, 59, of Houghton Lake, then struck Cooper's vehicle, police said. All of the people involved in the accident, including three passengers in Cooper's vehicle, Leon Keppler of Eureka, Roger Miller of Perrington and Harold Holcomb of 605 S. Swegles in St. Johns, sought their own medical treatment, police said. Cooper and Noyce were cited for failing to stop in the required distance, police said.

• As she was driving south on DeWitt Road Sept. 23, a vehicle driven by Linda Swanson, 30, of 3828 Northlake, Lansing, failed to negotiate the curve at Cutler Road, DeWitt Township Police said. Swanson's vehicle hit some rocks and a sign, police said. She sought her own medical treatment and was cited for careless driving, police said.

• As he was headed north on US-27 north of Stoll Road Sept. 24, a vehicle driven by Larry Kvalevog, 21, of 2395 E. Maple Rapids Rd., St. Johns, struck a vehicle driven by Carol Snyder, 39, of Lansing, as she was attempting to make a left turn into a parking lot, DeWitt Township Police said. Kvalevog and a passenger in his car, Karen Kvalevog, 27, were transported to Lansing General Hospital, police said. Kvalevog was cited for failure to stop in the required distance, police said.

• On Sept. 24, DeWitt Township Police Sgt. Donald Bye stopped a pedestrian to cite him for public intoxication, DeWitt Township Police said. The man, Mark Logue, 18, of Lansing, then kicked the side-view mirror of Bye's patrol car, police said. Bye was then assaulted as he arrested Logue for malicious destruction of police property, police said. Logue was also cited for resisting arrest.

• Money and jewelry valued at more than $100 were taken Sept. 20 from the residence of Bruce Federan, 3253 Old Hickory Trail, DeWitt, DeWitt Township Police said. There was no sign of forced entry.

• Tires valued at $94 were taken from Farmers Petroleum, 3520 W. M-21, St. Johns, the Clinton County Sheriff's Department said.

• Approximately $50 in quarters was taken Sept. 24 from the Family Drive-In, 2450 N. US-27, St. Johns, Clinton County Sheriff's Deputies said. The money was taken from pinball machines and cigarette machines, deputies said.

• Four tractor weights and a battery valued at $223.64 were taken Sept. 24 from Fox's Implements, 257 S. Main, Fowler, Clinton County Sheriff's Deputies said.

• Two motorcycles valued at $1,200 were taken Sept. 24 from Roy Patrick Ryan, 2719 W. Steel Rd., St. Johns, Clinton County Sheriff's Deputies said.

Rape-kidnap is reported

By BUDDY MOOREHOUSE

The Clinton County Sheriff's Department is searching for a man who kidnapped and raped a Traverse City woman who was hitchhiking to Lansing Sept. 23, reports said.

According to Clinton County Detective Sgt. Richard May, Tina Marie Fuller, 22, an American Indian, and her sister, whose name was not released, were picked up by the man just north of Clinton County on US-27. The driver then headed away from Lansing, where the two women had asked to be taken, driving in the direction of the Krepps and Chadwick roads area.

"When they saw that the driver wasn't going to Lansing, the victim's sister pretended she was getting sick so the guy would stop the car," May said. "He stopped the car to let the girl out, but the girl's sister stayed inside and the driver sped off."

The first girl was released east of US-27 near DeWitt, and reported that her sister had been kidnapped, May said. After being raped, Tina Fuller was released, about an hour after her sister left the car, May said.

"The victim didn't realize her sister had reported her kidnapped, though," May said, "so it wasn't until two days later that she was reported as being back."

May, who is investigating the case along with Deputy Steve Nobis, is searching for a white male, approximately 25 years old, with a beard and moustache and well-groomed collar-length light brown hair feathered in the back. He was described as tall, medium to stocky build, wearing a yellow vest. The two women reported that the man mentioned his name was "Larry" and that he lived in Laingsburg, May said.

The car was described as a light silver-blue Ford Escort or Chevy Vega with bucket seats and a plaid interior, May said. There is also a possibility that the car had out-of-state plates.

This is a composite drawing of the man accused of kidnapping and raping a hitchhiker in Clinton County Sept. 23

Enrollment decline greater than expected

Third Thursday news looks bad for fourth Friday

By PETER W. BRONSON

Numbed by school board buzzwords like "declining enrollment" and "state aid cuts," perhaps many have not noticed the painful facts faced by most school systems in Michigan this year.

Typical of many districts in the state, St. Johns is smarting from this double-edged ax. Classes have been combined this year and the budget has been trimmed in many areas to keep the system breaking even.

But now more cuts are likely from the state, and the latest enrollment figures are anything but optimistic, indicating even fewer students than expected have returned to classes.

As a result of enrollment decline alone, the system could lose anywhere from $100,000 to over $300,000 this year, severely straining or entirely wiping out the district's cash reserve of $260,000.

The final enrollment total will not be officially recorded until the school year's fourth Friday, but according to early student counts on the third Thursday, Sept. 23, enrollment could be down by as many as 161 students.

Original enrollment projections estimated a loss of about 100 students, and a lot could still change before the fourth Friday count; but the early totals are disappointing, Superintendent Don Burns said. "Obviously, this is not the kind of news we'd like to hear," he said.

Adult Education enrollment and continued transfers of students into and out of the system could alter the figures, he pointed out, and the fourth Friday count will be the one submitted to the state for financial aid on a per-pupil basis.

But also hazy are the state's final per-pupil payments. The final formula for aid to schools in the 1982-83 school year has not been determined, but is likely to be about $57 per pupil less than last year's, Burns said.

A compromise proposal most likely to be approved would grant St. Johns $1,934 per student, he said. At that rate, a loss of 161 students will cost the district $311,374.

Meanwhile, the aid reduction could also mean a loss of $211,641 for the remaining students, compared to last year's aid payments.

Naturally, Burns said, the economy is to blame.

The biggest loss of students was in elementary grades, where the 1981 total dropped by 120, from 1796 to 1676. Education experts say younger families are less settled and have less seniority on the job. The first to be laid off, they are more likely to be the first to move elsewhere looking for work, taking their children with them.

"That's probably true," Burns said. "But there are other factors as well."

He cited estimates that unemployment is also causing more broken homes and forcing more women to work, in turn often forcing families to split up or move elsewhere.

"I think the change in lifestyles is just beginning to hit us in rural areas. We have youngsters moving in and out all the time, and this is not typical this late into the school year," he said.

At the junior high level, according to the preliminary figures, the student count dropped by just one, to 632. But some students were transferred from rural elementary schools into the junior high this year in a money-saving effort to consolidate classes, Burns pointed out.

The high school total dropped by 40, from 1,334 to 1,294, he said. Adult Education figures will not be available for several weeks, but are not expected to change drastically from the 111-person enrollment of a year ago.

Final figures will be reported to the board at their October meeting.

Business and Professional women meet

By JODY SMITH

"Get out and vote" was the message Liz Nobis gave to the Business and Professional Women of St. Johns Thursday night, Sept. 23.

She told the group just 35 percent of registered voters elect our president, and said in local elections the percentage is often even lower.

Mrs. Nobis pointed out the value of participating and keeping informed about political candidates. Local commissioners and township officials are the arms of the political process which touch us very quickly, she said, but these offices do not generate needed response from voters.

Urging all members to take part and keep themselves informed, Mrs. Nobis stressed the fact that the ballot is secret. No one ever has to know how you vote and the privilege to vote brings with it the responsibility to get out and cast a vote, she said.

Asked how much advance notice she had to prepare activities for Vice President George Bush when he came to St. Johns two years ago, she said less than 72 hours. The quick lunch stop involved close coordination with campaign secret service members and that in itself was an experience, she said. Her 72 hours were productive — over 3,000 people were on hand to welcome Bush when he arrived.

The talk Mrs. Nobis presented was non-partisan, but when she reached into her elephant-shaped handbag covered with Republican candidates' buttons, her political affiliation was apparent.

Police chief plans to quit, but gets fired first

By PETER W. BRONSON

Comments in last week's DeWitt/Bath Review got DeWitt Township Police Chief Tom Aranow fired Monday.

Aranow, who criticized the township board in an interview about his plans to quit, was given notice of his firing by Township Supervisor Leonard Pung Monday afternoon.

Pung refused to comment on the firing Tuesday. He referred questions to township attorney Dick Robinson, who could not be reached for comment. But Pung's letter to Aranow was released at the request of Aranow's attorney during a board meeting Monday night.

In the letter, Pung says he fired Aranow for his "published comments in the news media," referring to the Sept. 23 Review interview. He said Aranow's comments have "drastically reduced" his ability to serve the township.

The statement which apparently provoked Pung was Aranow's reference to the township's relationship with its police department. Commenting on the high turnover rate among officers and the recent resignations of two long-time veterans of the department, Aranow said: "Each individual has had individual reasons for leaving, but some might have let other opportunities slide had things been more stable here. We've just been unaware of what the board's stance is in regard to police service."

Pung called the statement untrue, arguing that Aranow has been a part of policy and budget decisions. But another member of the force who left a year ago, Mike Prince, said Aranow's statement is accurate.

"The situation he is describing is quite correct when he stated that a lot of people left because of the instability of the township," said Prince, who is now an Eaton Rapids Police officer. "I probably would have stayed if the township's attitude toward the police had been more stable."

Other employees of the department who have since left also agree with Aranow's statement. They say the township has blown hot and cold towards the department, using budget allocations, lay-offs, personnel assignments and public opinion to undermine the department's morale and reduce staffing.

"They've lost other good people there recently," Prince said, referring to the resignations of long-time employees Gus Wilcox and Betty Stephens. Wilcox was a sergeant for 11 years, and Mrs. Stephens was secretary for the department for eight years.

"We had such a fine staff of people and everything was going so well," said Prince. "I just don't understand what the township is doing."

Letters

Letter poorly written school supporter says

To the editor:

It would seem that if a person were writing a letter criticizing an educational system, he would want to make sure that there were no grammatical errors in his letter. There were several errors in a recent letter from Alabama.

In the fourth paragraph, there is no antecedent for the word "they." Possible corrections could be, "There is no tax increase," or "Alabama doesn't have a tax increase."

In the second sentence of the next paragraph, the word "teacher" is singular. Therefore, the last clause should read: "and he (or the awkward he or she) is giving his pupils a firm foundation in education." A pronoun agrees with its antecedent in number.

In the sixth paragraph, there is no clear antecedent for the word "them" unless it is "committee." Surely the writers meant "teachers."

Finally, the last paragraph contains two errors. "Like I said" should have been "As I said." Like can be a verb, preposition, adverb, adjective or noun but never a subordinating conjunction. And "someone had better get down off their high horse" should have been "his high horse."

But, alas, they are probably products of the Michigan school system.

Sincerely,

Flora Watt

Thanks for Tour Help

To the editor:

Thank you for all that you and your staff did to promote the 1982 Home Tour Festival.

The community spirit and support which we receive for this festival is one of our foremost products. We are always pleased when we find so many happy, interested people at the Courthouse green area the day of the tour.

The churches did an inspired job, the museum's new displays were very interesting and most enjoyed by young and old alike, and the Decorators' Showcase was a special hit. Our thanks to the Congregational, Free Methodist, United Methodist, St. Johns Episcopal and St. Joseph Catholic churches, and to the staff at Clinton Home Center and Mark Roberts for the support which they gave to us. All put in many hours of preparation putting the various tours together.

To the hundreds of volunteers who worked many hundreds of hours, a special thank-you also. To the people of the Clinton County Community, we also thank you for your continued support.

Sincerely,

Betty Moore, president

Advertiser critical of News editorial

To the editor:

The article and editorial in the Sept. 16 Clinton County News on Rep. Alan Cropsey's proposal to allow legal government advertising in shoppers demands a response. We at The Advertiser believe you have presented only one side of the issue — your side.

There is no doubt that passage of the bills in question would work against the interests of small subscription newspapers by giving governments an open advertising market in which to choose. But to suggest, as Warren Hoyt does, that it would harm the public's right to know is twisting the truth.

Hoyt tries to argue that since newspapers are paid publications and publish more news than shoppers, legal advertising would somehow get the information to the people more effectively in newspapers than in shoppers. That simply isn't true. Shoppers are circulated to all the households in an area, and legal advertising in them would therefore be more available to the people than it would be in paid newspapers.

Granted, not everyone reads shoppers, but the information would be there for anyone who cared to look. Printing more news and charging a subscription price has no effect on the ability of people to read legal advertising.

Hoyt says he doesn't want to "get into attacking shoppers" but that's exactly what he does. First, he refers to newspapers as "a responsible means of reaching the public." Is this meant to suggest that shoppers aren't responsible? Then he says, "Shoppers are there for profit reasons." And newspapers aren't? They both must make a profit to survive.

Both Hoyt's comments and your editorial skirted this issue when referring to the percentage of news printed in publications. You say newspapers print the amount of news they do because of the law; Hoyt says they do it out of the goodness of their heart. Neither is the primary reason. News has a very practical economic function — it gets people to buy and read the paper, which gets merchants to buy advertising in it.

The fact that many newspapers print more than 25 percent news refutes your argument that changing the law would result in less news being printed and would "starve the avid news reader." A certain amount of news is necessary to get people to buy the paper. That amount varies, but it is judged to be more than 25 percent by many publishers. The Owosso Argus-Press generally prints 40 to 50 percent news.

Hoyt finishes his attack by saying the news in shoppers "requires very little talent" and is "of a nebulous content." I'd challenge Mr. Hoyt to compare the news coverage in the Advertiser and St. Johns Reminder to that of typical weekly newspapers, including The Clinton County News. He would find the news in them to be neither low-talent nor nebulous.

I would also challenge you and Mr. Hoyt to consider the situation for the people of Elsie, Ovid and Laingsburg. By and large, they get the most complete coverage of local issues, such as the Colony "sinkhole," the school issues, the Elsie police chief case and the local sports, in the Advertiser. Why should the schools and local governments of this area be forced by law to advertise in the Argus-Press, which reaches about 26 percent of the households in the area, or the Clinton County News, which reaches about five percent of the households in this area? There is no doubt in the mind of the school and government officials of this area that The Advertiser is the most effective means of getting their messages to the people. In fact, the Laingsburg School District runs its legal advertising in the Argus-Press to satisfy the law and also in The Advertiser to reach the people.

Hoyt says he thinks the public looks to shoppers for advertising, not news. That may be true in larger towns, but in communities such as Laingsburg, Ovid and Elsie, and many others around the state, a shopper with news may very well be the primary local news source.

You make much of the argument that savings to governments from the bill would be minimal, and that may be true. But virtually ignore one of the basic issues of the bill — that it would open legal advertising to the same free-enterprise competition that business advertising is in.

Shoppers such as The Advertiser or St. Johns Reminder would never have come into existence if they didn't fulfill a need which was already there. That need is full-coverage circulation. Local governments should have the right to choose that option, if they feel it is the most effective means of getting the message to the people.

The Michigan Press Association, as a lobbying organization, has every right to try to influence lawmakers if the bill would work against their interests. But to use the newspaper to try to influence the public with a one-sided argument on an issue directly affecting you is an abuse of your role as journalists. No valid argument exists to back up Hoyt's claim that the bill would "cost the public" or yours that it would "short-change readers."

NFL? Who needs it?

When bosses and bosses aren't getting along, then I'm all in favor of a strike.

Except when it threatens to cripple an entire nation. When the workers who are striking perform a service which is so vital to the entire country, the results can be devastating when they walk out. Such people should certainly be forbidden to ever walk off their jobs.

The railroad engineers strike? No, get serious. I'm talking about the really big strike in the country right now. Who cares if a bunch of train drivers walk off their jobs and the automobile industry is forced to lay off thousands? That's nothing compared to the disaster being created by the National Football League players.

The NFL hired beef, wanting more money, walked off the job last week. A true national disaster. Really now, consider the consequences if this thing drags on too long.

Husbands might actually have to talk to their wives on a Sunday afternoon, for lack of anything better to do.

Children might get to hear daddy say something besides "Damn! Another pass interference call!"

Lawns might be mowed for the first time in months. Leaves might even get raked up.

See what I mean? This is how bad things could get if the NFL strike doesn't end soon. But still, you really have to feel sorry for the players. I mean, how can they expect a guy to eek out a living on a piddly $100,000 a year? I would strike, too.

Enough kidding aside now, it's time this whole NFL strike business is put in perspective. What we have here is a bunch of egotistical crybabies who play a boy's game for a living walking out because the egotistical owners won't cough up more money. It's as simple as that. Nobody is getting hurt, except for the players and owners.

The fans? No, the fans aren't losing a thing. It might be dull on Sunday afternoon and Monday night for a little while, but the fans can hold out a lot longer than the players and owners can. Once we can discover there is life after the NFL, we'll be fine. Let 'em strike!

And there is also one big difference between this strike and the baseball walkout of a year ago. The baseball players took a hike during June and July. Unless you're heavily into watching soccer or golf, there isn't much offered for a sports fan during those months except baseball. There was a much bigger void during the baseball strike than there will be during the football strike.

That's because we still have high school and college football to satisfy us. And if you ask me, I'd much rather watch a high school or college game than a pro contest anyway. Most of the players on the prep level won't go on to play in college, so they're just out to have a good time and play good football. The same with college ball — only a handful of those players have a future in the pros, so they just play for the love of the game, too.

As opposed to the pros, who play for the love of the green. Most of them spend their time worrying about free agency, contract disputes and walkouts instead of football.

So let them strike. If they want to play hardball, we'll play hardball. We can last a whole lot longer than they can. Once they miss two or three payments on the Rolls Royce, they'll be back.

And besides, we'll get a couple months with no Howard Cosell.

Street Talk

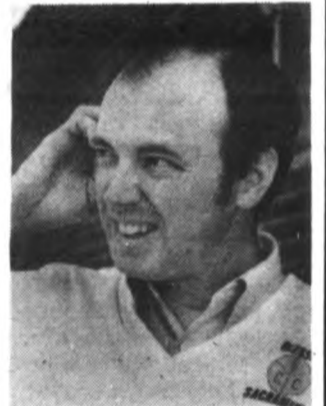

Jan DeGeer, St. Johns: "If Robert Tisch is running, then I'm voting for him. I'd vote for Tisch for president."

Richard Beckwith, DeWitt: "I'm not really sure right now. I think there is a pretty good slate of candidates. I'll probably vote for one of the two main guys."

We asked shoppers in DeWitt and St. Johns, "Who are you voting for in the race for governor?"

Charles Teachout, Flint: "I'm voting for Headlee because I agree with his ideas. He's going to provide some leadership that Gov. Milliken was unable to provide. And I've got no use for Blanchard. He's a worm and a clown and he picked a loud-mouth feminist for his running mate."

Tim Wenzlick, Lansing: "I don't know right now, but I'm definitely going to vote. There are two good candidates running."

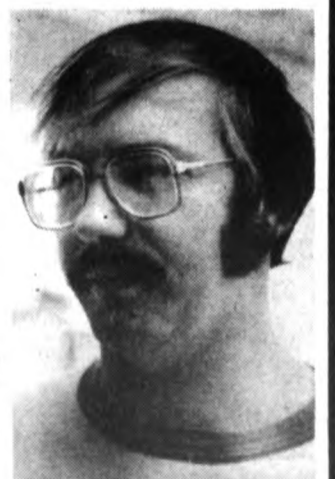

Pat DeYoung, DeWitt: "I'm going to vote for (Jim) Blanchard because he's got a woman running with him."

Willann Casler, Ovid: "I haven't decided yet. I'm very disappointed in the candidates available, and that's why I don't know yet."

Tom Karek, St. Johns: "I'm voting for (Richard) Headlee. I was for Patterson, but he didn't get the nomination. I just think Headlee can lead the state in the right direction. We need less government right now."

O-E drops league opener

By BUDDY MOOREHOUSE

Entering this season, Ovid-Elsie coach Russ Pope wasn't worried about his offense. He knew the Marauders would have no trouble putting points on the scoreboard.

His worries concerned the defense, which usually gave up just as many points as the offense scored.

But the tables were turned on Sept. 24, when O-E hosted Alma for the Mid-Michigan 'B' opener for both teams. The Marauder defense was outstanding, playing its best game of the year, according to Pope.

The offense, however, had some troubles. A poor job of blocking by the line let Alma keep the pressure on O-E quarterback Pete Hurst all night, effectively shutting down the potent Marauder passing attack. The end result was a 22-8 win by Alma which dropped O-E to 1-2 on the year.

Pope was willing to accept at least part of the blame for the loss. "Our downfall was that I didn't do a good job of coaching," he said. "And our offense didn't do a good job of blocking. But even though we gave up 22 points, I feel our defense played the best game so far this season."

Alma scored the first two touchdowns of the game, on a one-yard run by Jeff Theisen and a 32-yard Eric Smith to Larry Mott pass. Then in the second half, the Marauders started a comeback.

With the defense playing an inspired game and keeping Alma bottled up, O-E got the ball and drove all the way to the two-yard line before fullback Mike O'Dell plunged in for the score. The two-point conversion was good, making it 14-8.

But that was all the offense the Marauders could muster, as the Panthers added another TD to make the final score 22-8.

O-E was led offensively by tailback Craig Coleman, who picked up 42 yards on seven carries. As a team, the Marauders gained only 72 yards on the ground. In the passing department, Hurst had an off night, throwing 13 times and completing four passes to each team. He picked up 51 yards through the air.

Defensively, however, Scott Gardner had an outstanding game, picking up 13 total tackles. Don Phillips and Dan Hill had 12 stops each. The O-E defense, which spent most of the night on the field, allowed Alma 171 yards passing and 61 yards rushing.

The Marauders must now regroup for tomorrow night's MMB clash at Chesaning.

The O-E freshmen handed Alma a 14-0 loss, while the junior varsity also beat the Panthers, 12-0.

Redwing cagers roll on Senior standout Sue Pearsall poured in 22 points to lead St. Johns to a 54-49 win over Corunna Sept. 21.

Pearsall was deadly from the floor, shooting seven-of-nine from the field and two-of-three from the free throw line. Forward Brenda Eiseler also had an outstanding game for the Lady Wings, scoring 14 points and grabbing a game-high 18 rebounds.

Janine Scott had nine points, Sandy Peck scored five coming in off the bench and Lisa Smith accounted for four points to round out the scoring for St. Johns.

The Redwings had a 31-19 lead at the half and had to withstand a comeback attempt by Corunna to hold on for the win. The game was the league-opener for both teams, and allowed St. Johns to up its overall record to 4-1. Corunna fell to 1-3 overall.

In the junior varsity game, St. Johns rolled to an easy 52-24 win over Corunna.

By BUDDY MOOREHOUSE

According to St. Johns coach Joe Gonzales, Corunna was the team which was supposed to walk off with the Mid-Michigan 'B' title this year.

Ah, what does Joe Gonzales know?

Well, he knows how to beat Corunna for one thing. The Redwings rebounded after two close losses to hand host Corunna a 27-7 loss Sept. 24 in the MMB opener for both teams.

"We just didn't make the mistakes that we did in the first two games," Gonzales said. "We didn't fumble at key times like we did in those first two."

The Redwings got on the board first in the game, as tailback Todd Elsea scored from nine yards out in the first quarter. The kick by Jamie Werbish made it 7-0. Chris Loucks followed that with a 27-yard TD run, which was set up by Eric Thumm's fumble recovery. The Werbish kick made it 14-0.

Corunna came back on a 17-yard scoring run by Jim Herrick, but from then on, it was all St. Johns.

The big play in the game was a 62-yard scoring pass from Steve Gonzales to Chad Munger at the end of the first half. Werbish's kick made it 21-7.

The Redwings came back for two field goals in the second half — a 20-yarder by Werbish and a 22-yarder by Danish exchange student Jess Bendixen — to close out the scoring.

"Jess' kick was a big thrill for him," said Gonzales. "He had never played football until he came here, just soccer."

Elsea led the ground-gainers for St. Johns, picking up 124 yards on 25 carries. Bruce Riley had 44 yards on six carries, while Munger caught all four of Steve Gonzales' passes, good for 122 yards.

"Munger had an outstanding game," Gonzales said. "He broke two tackles on his way to scoring that touchdown."

Defensively, the Redwings were led by Tim Moore's 12 tackles, while Munger and Riley had eight apiece.

Next up for Gonzales' squad is Alma, another pre-season MMB favorite. The Panthers invade St. Johns tomorrow night for a homecoming battle.

"This one is the key to the MMB title," Gonzales said. "If we can beat Alma, we'll be in the best position of anyone, because we'll have already played the two best teams."

Fowler shuts out St. Pats for third straight win

By BUDDY MOOREHOUSE

A long time ago, in a galaxy far, far away, a football team actually scored some points against Fowler.

But it certainly hasn't happened this year. The Eagles ran their shutout string to three straight Sept. 25 with a 15-0 win over CMAC rival Portland St. Pats.

"I'm real happy the way our kids have progressed," said Fowler coach Steve Spicer. "We've always stressed the defensive part of the game."

St. Pats found that out the hard way Saturday night. The Eagle defense was tenacious all night, never allowing the Shamrocks to get anywhere near the goal line. The Eagles held the host team to just 130 yards total offense, 120 of that coming on the ground.

But the trouble for Fowler was, the St. Pats defense was playing just as tough. It wasn't until late in the fourth quarter that quarterback Tom Simon pushed his way across the goal line from one yard out that Fowler scored. Bob Simon's extra-point kick gave Fowler a 7-0 lead.

The next TD came after St. Pats failed to convert on a fourth-and-15 situation with one minute left in the game. It gave the Eagles the ball deep in Shamrock territory, and several plays later, Jim Farley scored from four yards out to give his team a 13-0 lead. A Giles Feldpausch to Glen Feldpausch pass accounted for the conversion, making the final score 15-0.

"We always bring out the best in St. Pats," Spicer said. "They always play us with a lot of heart. They play a very tough defense."

Fowler came close to cracking that defense in the third quarter, but a fumble on the St. Pats two-yard line stopped the scoring drive, leaving the game scoreless entering the final quarter.

For the Eagles, senior co-Captain Mike Fox led the defense with 11 tackles, followed by Dale Wohlferth with 10. Offensively, Farley was the workhorse, carrying the ball 32 times for 124 yards. Glen Feldpausch gained 63 yards on just 10 carries.

The win over pre-season CMAC favorite St. Pats lifted Fowler to 3-0, but Spicer knows a tough challenge awaits his team tomorrow night against Laingsburg, which lost, 42-22, to Pewamo-Westphalia last week.

"Laingsburg has an awful fine football team," Spicer said. "They run that deceptive offense that's really hard to figure out. And any team that can gain more than 400 yards against P-W..."

Fowler unbeaten in hoop

Fowler girls basketball coach Dennis Smith knows his team is going to lose a game this year — he just doesn't know when.

It certainly wasn't against Laingsburg Sept. 21. The Eagles overcame foul trouble late in the game to win, 47-38. It upped state-ranked Fowler's record to 5-0 on the year, 2-0 in the league.

Becky Klein was the leading scorer for the Eagles, pouring in 11 points. Peg Thelen had 10 while Char Feldpausch and Patty Weiber had eight points apiece. Lana Hafner hauled in 14 rebounds for the winners.

"We were glad to come out of there with a win," Smith said. "Laingsburg has an awful nice player in Jody Palmer. She scored 23 points against us, and that's just her average."

As for the fast start that his team is off to, Smith said, "We're really happy, but I've told the girls that it's just not practical to think we can go a whole season without losing at least once. Especially in our league."

P-W wins offensive battle, 42-22

By BUDDY MOOREHOUSE

It was a return to normalcy. After losing a heartbreaker to DeWitt the week before, Pewamo-Westphalia got back on track Sept. 24, handing Laingsburg a 42-22 loss in a show of offensive fireworks.

The Pirates racked up 484 yards in total offense, 349 on the ground and 135 through the air. Laingsburg also moved the ball well, picking up 418 yards total offense, 349 rushing and 69 passing.

"I have mixed feelings about the game," P-W coach Mike Folk said. "That's the most yards I can ever remember us gaining, but it's also the most yards I can ever remember giving up, too."

The win boosted the Pirates to 2-1 on the year, and gave them a 1-0 league mark in the CMAC opener for both schools.

P-W opened the scoring in the first quarter as halfback Tom Schafer ran 15 yards for a touchdown. A Ted Droste to Jeff Spitzley pass accounted for the two-point conversion.

After Laingsburg tied it up, the Pirates connected for two more touchdowns in the second quarter — a four-yard run by Droste and an 11-yard run by George Heckman. Heckman's TD was set up by a fumble recovery after a bad snap on a punt.

P-W added two more scores in the third quarter, the first of which was a 47-yard scoring pass from QB Dan Pohl to sophomore Joe Trierweiler, who was playing in his first varsity game after being called up from the junior varsity. The other pass was a two-yard run by Brian Thelen.

The Pirates capped the scoring in the fourth quarter on a 14-yard pass from Pohl to Terry Thelen. The TD was set up by a 70-yard run by halfback Dan Hanses.

For P-W, Schafer was the leading ball carrier, picking up 128 yards on just 13 carries. The junior speedster also caught two passes for 28 yards. Heckman gained 66 yards on nine carries and caught one pass for 25 yards.

Defensively, the Pirates were led by Terry Thelen, who picked up 12 total tackles. Sophomores Trierweiler and Vern Miller had 11 stops each.

Next up for Folk's squad is Fulton Middleton, which invades P-W tomorrow night. "Fulton Middleton has had an excellent program for years now," Folk said. "This is the same type of club they've always had — they're going to run it right at you. We always expect a good game from them."

'Wings fourth in meet

The St. Johns girls swim team finished in a fourth-place tie with DeWitt at the Waverly Relays Sept. 22, competing in a 12-team field.

The 400-yard freestyle relay team from St. Johns placed third, with Ann Moore, Gloria Stratton, Connie Newhall and Monica Hayes competing for the Redwings. The 200-yard medley relay team of Stratton, Chris Rapelje, Barb VeCasey and Hayes finished fourth in their race.

In the 400-yard individual medley relay, the St. Johns squad of Andra Peters, Rapelje, Jenny Plowman and VeCasey finished fourth, as did the 200-yard backstroke relay team of Stratton, Peters, Plowman and VeCasey.

The 500-yard crescendo relay squad of Plowman, Newhall, Moore and Hayes was fifth, as was the 200-yard breaststroke relay team of Patty Wisinski, Polly Deitz, Theresa Koenigsnecht and Cheri Freed.

The crystal ball...

Oh, ye of little faith. You must learn to trust the crystal ball. Five of six games were correctly predicted here last week, including the upsets of St. Johns over Corunna and Bath over Fowlerville.

This week?

Alma at St. Johns — Joe Gonzales' Redwings finally showed that they know how to win by trouncing Corunna. Alma is tough, but St. Johns is tougher. The homecoming advantage aids here. Pick: St. Johns 14, Alma 12

Ovid-Elsie at Chesaning — The Marauders are an explosive, high-scoring bunch, but they'll have to wait a week for their first league win. Pick: Chesaning 22, O-E 17

Laingsburg at Fowler — With Laingsburg's hocus-pocus offense in town, the Eagles are going to finally give up some points — but not enough to lose. Pick: Fowler 22, Laingsburg 12

Fulton Middleton at Pewamo-Westphalia — In a battle of two teams of Pirates, the ones from P-W shall prevail. Size trumps here. Pick: P-W 25, Fulton 6

Last week's record: 5-1. Overall: 10-7.

County stars

Athletes in Clinton County who have distinguished themselves in the past week:

Football (Offense) — Tom Schafer, Pewamo-Westphalia. The junior tailback was a big reason why P-W picked up 484 yards total offense in a 42-22 win over Laingsburg. Schafer gained 128 yards in just 13 carries and caught two passes for 28 yards. He scored one touchdown and two two-point conversions.

Football (Defense) — Mark Schneider, Bath. The Bees' linebacker was a demon in his team's 15-6 win over Fowlerville. Schneider picked up 16 tackles in the game.

Girls basketball — Sue Pearsall, St. Johns. The 5-11 senior, who is on the most-wanted list of any college you'd care to name, scored 22 points in a 54-49 league win over Corunna, lifting the Redwings to 4-1 on the year, 1-0 in the MMB.

Golf — Dan Bengel, Pewamo-Westphalia. The Pirate linkster shot a 74 in the Clinton County News Invitational, earning medalist honors and leading his team to the title.

Cross-country (Boys) — Tom Rayman, St. Johns. In a dual meet win over Alma, Rayman was the first runner to cross the finish line. In a loss to Mason, Rayman led all the Redwings with his third-place finish.

Cross Country (Girls) — Laurie Wentzel, Bath. Currently undefeated in league meets, Wentzel won the Byron Invitational, came in fourth at the Springport Invitational and set a course record during a dual meet at Stockbridge.

If any coach would like to recommend an athlete for recognition here, please call Sports Editor Buddy Moorehouse at 224-2362.

Bengel leads P-W to golf title

The Pewamo-Westphalia golf team received outstanding rounds from all of its players Sept. 25, and the result was a first-place finish in the Clinton County News Invitational meet.

The Pirates were led by the medalist play of Dan Bengel, who shot 36 on the front nine and 38 on the back nine at the Portland Country Club for an 18-hole total of 74. The other golfers scoring for P-W were Dan Blatt (76), Jon Walter (76) and Tom Belen (77.) The Pirates finished with a total of 303.

In second place was DeWitt, which shot a team-total 313. Leading the Panthers was Rich Knapp, who shot 75 for the round.

After DeWitt came Fulton, which had 336, followed by Ovid-Elsie (341), St. Johns (350) and Fowler (367.) Each team had six golfers participating in the meet, with the top four from each school counting in the scoring.

St. Peter's School gets three new staff members

WILMA A. INGALLS

Students returning to St. Peter Lutheran School were greeted by an all new staff on Aug. 30.

The three-room school which opened in 1945 welcomed 47 students, reports said.

Daniel Westfall is principal and athletic director, and teaches grades six through eight. He replaces Dale M. Trapp, who left to take a position at St. Paul's College in St. Paul, Minn. Westfall is a graduate of Concordia Teachers College in River Forest, Ill., with a BA in physical education and a minor in psychology.

He taught at St. Paul's Lutheran School in Nokomis, Ill. for four years. A Reynolds, Ind. native, Westfall is married to the former Lori Simko of Mt. Clemens and they have two children, Jacob, 4, and Amanda, 2.

Susanna (Mangold) Heath will teach grades three through five and art for grades three through eight. She replaces Fred Raffler who returned to another field of interest. She is a graduate of St. Johns College in Winfield, Kan., with a BS in education and a minor in English. This is her first teaching assignment and she is one of the first graduates of St. Johns' four-year teaching program. She is from the Chicagoland suburbs and is married to Timothy Heath of Wichita, Kan.

Karen Doederlein teaches kindergarten through the second grade. She succeeds Marion Koepen who temporarily retired from teaching and returned to her home as a full-time homemaker. Karen is a graduate of Concordia College, River Forest, Ill., with a BA in elementary and secondary education majoring in mathematics and minoring in earth science. She taught at Good Shepherd Lutheran School in North Ft. Myers, Fla. and at Faith Lutheran School, Eustis, Fla. Her hometown is Owosso.

Beside the three "R"s, St. Peter Lutheran has a boys' soccer team coached by Westfall. Members are Nathan Lounds, Brad Hayes, Aaron Gaffney, Jason Lounds, Mike Camburn, Mike Cooper, Jim Martens, Larry Warren, Bill Smalldon, Bruce and Pat Boettger, Randy Hayes and Paul VanBeelen.

The school's girls' volleyball team is coached by Mrs. Heath and includes Kris Flegler, Wendy Rapelje, Kathy Anderson, Jenny Camburn, Darcy Grennell, Vickie Flegler, Kelly Gibson, Ginger Rapelje and Lori Fitzpatrick.

There are also plans for a boy's basketball team coached by Dave Gaffney, a lay volunteer, and a girls' basketball team coached by Mrs. Heath.

Lori Westfall teaches and directs music for both children's choirs, K-2 and 3-8, as well as the adult church choir.

Daniel Westfall, Karen Doederlein (seated) and Susanna Heath look over lesson plans for their 47 students at St. Peter Lutheran Church School. The three new staffers will also coach and teach art.

10 Tips for a Successful Garage Sale:

1. Advertise your garage sale in the Green Sheet Classified. Call by Friday noon to reach over 100,000 homes the following week. Monday Green Sheets, Thursday Community Newspapers.
2. Be sure to have plenty of small change on hand for customers paying with large bills.
3. Be sure all merchandise is clean and neat. An old dusty item will not sell as well as it would if you have cleaned it.
4. Have an extension cord available so appliances can be tested. Play radios, old TV sets. Appliances sell faster when working.
5. Don't forget the children. They love small inexpensive items.
6. Presentation is very important in any sale. Display your merchandise in an interesting manner.
7. Offer free coffee, iced tea or other beverage. Your hospitality may make them more inclined to buy.
8. Sort clothing and mark with size tickets.
9. Have paper bags, boxes, and newspapers handy for packing items when they are sold.
10. Get 2 Free garage sale signs when you place your ad in the Green Sheet Classified.

Harvest: Just how much is too much?

Farm families can cope with what may be an increasingly frustrating job of getting this year's crop out of the field safely if proper safety practices are observed.

"There is a tremendous crop to take off and that means a lot of long hours spent in the field, many under harsh conditions," says Howard J. Doss, Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service safety specialist. "Also, because of the economy, a lot of used or old, breakdown-prone machinery, rather than new equipment, is being used for harvest."

The first step in accident prevention is to assess the worth of risk.

"Delay in harvest operations, permanent or otherwise, is not needed," Doss says. "Managers should consider the added physical and mental burden that will fall on the other members of the harvest team -- family members and employees -- if a debilitating accident occurs."

Aside from the pain and grief, there are the hidden costs of finding replacement help or the possible inability of the key harvest team member to perform.

"From purely an economic standpoint, a serious accident could mean a default in harvest, hindering cash flow and, subsequently, debt recovery," Doss says. "Managers should also keep in mind that they and other family members are irreplaceable. Machinery can be replaced by people, or parts of them, cannot."

The second step in accident prevention is anticipation. "Count on breakdowns, equipment becoming mired in wet ground, the possibility of longer transportation routes than normal because of the grain volume to be handled," he says. "The latter increases the chances of collisions with motor traffic."

During 1981, 70 percent of all reported farm equip-

Computer conference planned for farmers

Because computers are rapidly becoming as important for farm management as tractors for field work, a day-long conference on business computers will be held Dec. 16 at Michigan State University.

The session will explain and demonstrate to farmers and agribusinesspersons the types of systems now available and in use in Michigan agriculture. The program begins at 9:30 a.m., with registration at 8:30 a.m.

"The purposes of the conference are to provide background on microcomputer development and software applications to agriculture, to show how many Michigan farmers use microcomputers on their farms and to build awareness of what microcomputer programs are available for farm and agribusiness use," says Ralph Hepp, MSU Extension agricultural economist.

During the morning session, MSU Extension specialists will talk about the use of microcomputers in farm business and enterprise management, and two farmers will explain how they use the microcomputer in their operations.

The afternoon program consists of concurrent sessions in which 15 software vendors will explain and demonstrate a variety of programs that are applicable to agriculture.

Farm news

motor accidents were on dry roads during daylight hours; 26 percent occurred in darkness involving farm equipment that did not have lights. Make sure all equipment used in roadway transportation is well lighted with rearward facing, flashing yellow lights and carries the SMV sign. Wear warm, comfortable but not excessively loose clothing. Avoid wearing nylon jackets in the field or around machinery -- they billow in the wind and can easily become entangled in machinery.

The third step is prevention.

"Family members should work together to help alleviate stress with sensible rest periods, high-energy meals and snacks. Above all, they should communicate the fact that one is indispensable to the other," Doss says.

Avoid putting hands where they shouldn't be on machinery. Be aware of equipment shear-points, nip-points and pinch-points. Prevent slips and falls by keeping mud and crop refuse off equipment steps and ladders and out of the operator's cab.

Unless you understand the stress characteristics of nylon pulling ropes very well, use a chain for pulling mired equipment. Because of their tendency to stretch 25 percent of their length before they start to pull, nylon ropes under stress store potentially lethal amounts of energy. If they sever or a hitching point breaks, nylon ropes whip at speeds upwards of 800 miles an hour. There are reported cases of these ropes throwing attached hooks through one and one-half inches of cast iron.

By contrast, a chain will recoil to an extent, but it will not have the violent whipping action of a nylon rope, which can endanger equipment operators or bystanders.

Considering all of the potential hazards of harvest and taking appropriate preventive action may mean the difference between being in farming this time next year or not, Doss sums up.

Farmers can't compete in world market

Problems in the United States agriculture system have reduced the incentives for American farmers to compete with farmers abroad, Orion Samuelson, national agriculture correspondent of WGN radio in Chicago, told a group of Michigan grocers this week.

Samuelson, whose "National Farm Report" is syndicated to over 180 radio and television stations around the country, delivered his remarks to nearly 700 retailers and wholesalers at the Michigan Food Dealers Association's 84th Annual Convention in Boyne Falls.

According to Samuelson, American farmers want to compete in the world market but are prevented from doing so because of U.S. government trade practices which restrict food production -- such as trade embargos and farming subsidies.

"Trade embargos disrupt the sale of American farm products," said Samuelson, "and the government's practice of paying farmers not to produce runs against the grain of any farmer I know."

"Unlike other industries where you can push a button to stop a machine, you can't tell a farmer to stop his corn from growing once the seed is in the ground," said Samuelson.

Restricting the amount of food a farmer sells on the open market is designed to keep prices at an artificially higher level than if supply was in abundance, according to Samuelson.

But Samuelson said such a practice ironically is needed to help farmers survive since bumper crops, with no place but domestically to sell them, push food prices down to the point where farmers barely make ends meet.

Samuelson said that American farmers should be able to expand their business in the international trade arena.

"Because they produce a top quality product and sell it at a competitive price, American farmers could easily keep up in the world market," said Samuelson.

"It's a 'bunch of baloney' when food manufacturers say they will have to raise food prices if domestic food products are shipped overseas. We produce more grain than we know what to do with."

Worm growing is bait game

Out-of-state sales people are apparently traveling around Michigan with promises of fortunes to be made from worm farming. People who believe those promises may end up with little more than a huge -- and expensive -- can of worms.

Donald Garling, Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service fisheries management specialist, says similar promotional claims were circulated in Michigan last winter. Then, as now, these claims were largely false.

"Sales representatives are implying that there is a large demand for additional fishworm farms in the state. The fact is that the market is already well supplied," Garling says. "For the most part, the pitch is not true."

Contracts being signed by prospective fishworm growers range from about $2,000 to $6,000.

"For this amount of money, the buyer apparently receives instructions on how to grow fishworms and a few boxes of fishworms," Garling says. "A lot of verbal promises are made about demand and buying the worms back, but these apparently are almost entirely false."

Buyers are being lured by claims that feed processing industries, municipalities and bait distributors are clamoring for worms.

"This sort of thing is not new and the only persons to profit by the scheme are the persons selling the contracts," Garling says. "For the most part, the sport fishing industry is well supplied by established vendors. If there was a boom in bait demand, these vendors could easily expend to supply the market."

Studying

To do it right, you must assess your personality, goals

Stephen Yelon is in the business of telling people how to study, but one of the first things he tells students is not to do what he says.

Fortunately, that's not as contradictory as it may sound.

"The best way to foul up studying is to do exactly what I say, because you need to adapt these ideas to your subject, your personality and your own style of studying," says Yelon, a professor in the College of Education at Michigan State University.

The presentation he frequently gives to groups of students is called "How to Get a 3.0 Without Really Trying," but Yelon admits, "That's just a come-on."

He's as interested in helping the student gain an understanding and knowledge of the material as he is in showing them how they can psyche themselves up for the "Big One."

But first things first, and that means knowing what you are supposed to be studying. "You have to listen when the instructor tells you about the course and you have to read the syllabus to figure out how to study," Yelon advises.

That's not always easy. "Most professors aren't trained as teachers and their abilities to communicate vary, but even if there is some vagueness, you should be able to get some ideas," he says.

If possible, always elect to have more tests than less, he suggests, because that first test will provide you a world of information about how to study for the others.

Motivation is also a key, regardless of the reasons. It can be intrinsic, where you relate the course to what's good for you or to a future goal to get "juiced up," or it can be merely the desire for a good grade.

Yelon is an advocate of active studying and believes that it works best in a buddy system, where you can bounce ideas off each other.

Active studying can be done alone, too. One good method is called SQ3R, which breaks down into skimming the material, questioning yourself, reading, reciting and reviewing. The "reciting" can mean many things, from conjuring up images behind closed eyes to reciting facts aloud or writing things down.

"It's so important to practice remembering," Yelon says. "Most people read over and read over and think they have got it. You must read over and then turn over and practice remembering what was there."

Another idea is to relate terms based on their similarities or differences. "Figure out which ones can go together and how you can reorganize them."

Study in a place that doesn't distract you through sight or sound. That can vary from person to person, but if you "listen up or look up" every few minutes, you can figure you are in the wrong place.

Surround yourself with other serious studiers and associate with people "who support your habit."

Study for a length of time that provides satisfaction or gets you through a "good chunk of work" (about 30-45 minutes), then take a break and do something different, preferably something physical, for 10 to 15 minutes.

Yelon says to go into the test with a good night's sleep, pick a seat with minimal distractions and with access to fresh air and have a watch handy. Concentrate on nothing but the test. In multiple choice questioning, skip the ones you don't know and go back to those later. Allow time for outlining for essay questions.

WHITE CHOCOLATE CAKE - I am looking for this delicious recipe -- the one served at Kellogg Center. Does anyone have the recipe to share?

TARTAR SAUCE

If fried fish is on the menu, try this homemade sauce.

1 tsp. finely chopped onion
1 tsp. bottled capers, drained
1 tsp. finely chopped sweet pickles and olives
½ tsp. finely cut parsley
½ tsp. prepared mustard
1 tbsp. tarragon vinegar
1 c. mayonnaise
Salt and pepper to taste

Mix together first 6 ingredients. Blend mixture with mayonnaise. Add salt and pepper.

CREAMED EGGS ON TOAST

When I was cleaning out my recipe box, I found this old-fashioned, Friday night stand-by. It brought back the flavors of my childhood.

¼ c. oleo
¼ c. flour
2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
2 tsp. prepared mustard
1 tsp. salt
3 c. milk
8 hard cooked eggs sliced
6 slices toast.

Melt oleo in a large sauce pan. Blend in flour and add seasonings. Gradually stir in milk. Cook stirring constantly, until thickened. Add the eggs; do not stir. Heat to serving temperature. Serve on toast points. Makes 6 servings about ¼ c. each. Serve with fresh broccoli, or green beans.

ROSE HIP JELLY

This recipe is for Mrs. Cole, of Williamston. I found this recipe in "The Complete Book of Home Preserving". In general, I have found all of the recipes in this book dependable.

Gather rosehips before they grow soft, and cut off heads and stems. Slice hips in half and discard seeds and spongy flesh. Cover them with water and cook until soft, and press through a sieve for jam. For a jelly, use less water and let drip through a jelly bag. Use 2 tbsp. of lemon juice per pound of rose hips (weighed before cooking). To each cup of boiling juice, add ¼ c. of sugar; cook rapidly until the juice reaches 220 degrees or until two drops tested on the side of a spoon run together and slide off in a sheet.

SUN DILL PICKLES

Here is my recipe for the pickle that is made in the sun.

Put dill size cucumbers in jars with the dill on top. Cover with a boiling mixture of:

1 quart water
1 c. cider vinegar
¼ c. coarse pickling salt (scant ¼ c.)

Pour over while boiling and seal. Set jars out in sun for 10 days and turn a ¼ turn each day. Good after they set for one month.

BEEF WITH BROCCOLI

A pleasant and easy combination of meat and vegetables. Remember you do not need a wok to cook these Chinese recipes. A large skillet will do just fine.

1 lb. boneless beef (chuck, sirloin)
2 lbs. broccoli flowerets and tender stems
½ lb. mushrooms
¾ c. beef broth
2 tbsp. dry sherry
½ c. soy sauce
2 tsp. fresh minced ginger or 1 tsp. ground ginger
1 tbsp. sliced scallion (I like to use more)
2 tbsp. cornstarch
¼ c. water
Cooked rice (preferable brown)

Slice beef 1/8 inch on the diagonal; separate broccoli into 2 inch flowerets; slice stems ¼ inch on the diagonal. Slice mushrooms. In medium bowl, combine beef broth, sherry, soy sauce, ginger and scallion. Blend cornstarch with water smoothly; add to sherry mixture. Set aside. In a wok heat oil until hot, but not smoking. Add beef and stir fry. Just until pink disappears. Remove from wok and place in colander. Add broccoli and stir fry until crisp tender. Place in colander to drain with beef. Return beef and broccoli to wok with mushrooms and fry until mushrooms are just warm. Stir sauce mixture to blend and add to wok, stirring until mixture thickens. Serve immediately.

LEMON DRESSING

A light dressing that is indeed low in calories.

½ c. fresh lemon juice
¾ c. water
1 tsp. grated lemon peel
½ tsp. Worcestershire sauce
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. celery seed
¼ tsp. dry mustard
1/8 tsp. black pepper

Artificial sweetener to substitute for 2 tbsp. of sugar.

Mix all ingredients in a pint jar; cover tightly and shake. Store in refrigerator and shake well before using.

M.T., Haslett

ZESTY ITALIAN SAUCE

A nice sauce for lasagna, pizza or other similar dishes.

54 med. tomatoes cut up (36 cups)
3 tbsp. brown sugar
1½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. pepper
3 large chopped onions
¾ c. snipped parsley
6 cloves garlic, minced
3 tsp. each: snipped fresh basil, fresh oregano, fresh thyme
3 bay leaves

Remove stem ends and core the fully ripe tomatoes. Cut up the tomatoes and let stand in colander 15 to 20 minutes to drain. In a 10 quart dutch oven combine the tomatoes, brown sugar, salt and pepper. Bring to boil, stirring occasionally. Boil gently, uncovered, 1 hour, stirring occasionally. Puree through food mill; return puree to pan. Add onions, parsley, garlic and basil, oregano, thyme and bay leaves. Boil gently uncovered, 1½ hours or until it reaches the desired consistency. To process: pack hot sauce into clean hot pint jars, leaving 1 inch of headspace. Adjust lids. Process in boiling water bath for 55 minutes. To freeze: Remove sauce from heat, cool. Pack in pint freezer containers, leaving ½ inch headspace, label and freeze. Makes 5 pints of sauce.

J.B., E. Lansing

SAUERKRAUT AND CHICKEN

Kraut does not always need to be fixed with pork. An easy one dish meal.

One 2½ to 3 pound fryer cut up
2 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
2 tbsp. salad oil
One 32 ounce pkg. of sauerkraut, drained
One 12 ounce can of beer
4 med. carrots, cut into 2 inch chunks
2 tbsp. dark brown sugar

Brown chicken pieces in hot oil. As the pieces are browning sprinkle with salt and pepper. Remove chicken from pan and drain off extra oil. Return chicken to pan and add: sauerkraut, beer, carrots and brown sugar; heat mixture to boiling. Reduce heat to low; cover and simmer 45 minutes until chicken is tender. Makes 4 servings.

J.M., E. Lansing

FRESH APPLE BUTTER CAKE

Next month those delicious cooking apples will be ready. Save this recipe for that special Sunday dinner.

1 c. butter
3 eggs
½ tsp. salt
1/8 tsp. nutmeg
3 c. peeled chopped apples
2 c. chopped walnuts
2 c. sugar
1½ tsp. soda
1 tsp. cinnamon
3 c. flour
2 tsp. vanilla

In bowl, beat butter and sugar until creamy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add flour, soda, salt, cinnamon, and nutmeg and vanilla. Fold in chopped apples and nuts. Pour into greased and floured tube pan. Bake in a 325 degree oven until toothpick inserted comes out clean (about 1½ hours). Let stand 15 minutes, before removing from pan. Spread on the following glaze:

SHERRY GLAZE: In pan stir 1½ c. sugar and ½ c. sherry. Cook, stirring constantly until syrupy (about 2 minutes).

BEANS: crop up, costs down

There will be more than enough navy beans for American cooks this year. Michigan acreage planted to navy (pea) beans this year is estimated at 460,000 acres, compared to 420,000 acres in 1981, according to the Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service.

Navy bean acreage is up in Michigan because producers shifted to navy beans when the export contracts for black turtle beans and pinto beans were not renewed by Mexico.

Michigan is the leading producer of navy beans, but Minnesota and North Dakota are coming on strong. Bean farmers in these two states also became aware that the Mexican market for colored beans disappeared, so they diverted acreage to navy beans, too. This year's production of navy beans in Minnesota and North Dakota almost doubled, from 90,000 acres just one year ago to 170,000 acres.

Nationally, the production for all varieties of dry beans is predicted to be 17 percent below that of a year ago. Michigan's overall dry bean crop is expected to be down about 14 percent.

The 1981 crop would have been a record breaker if adverse weather had not interfered with the harvest. Many beans are still in the fields, and the same thing could happen again this year, so the crop won't really be known until harvest is completed.

Navy beans are the leading white bean used for canned beans in the United States. Processors prefer them because they maintain their shape during processing. About 90 percent of the navy beans consumed in the United States are processed--only 10 percent are sold as dry beans.

Nippy fall weather calls for bean soup and other dishes made from dry beans. Though canned beans outsell dry beans throughout the year, dry bean sales pick up in the fall and winter.

Savings and a more homemade flavor are in store for cooks who prepare bean dishes from dry beans. A survey of supermarkets reveals the going price for a pound of navy beans is about 50 cents. The great northern variety (a white, flat bean) sells for a little less. A pound of cooked, dry beans yields seven to nine servings, so the cost per serving (not including other ingredients) is about 6 cents!

Canned beans are more convenient and also relatively inexpensive. They range from 9 to 20 cents per serving, depending on other ingredients and packaging.

Anyone wishing to make baked beans from canned beans should be aware that the jars of plain, cooked beans are nearly always the great northern variety. This variety is tasty, but it breaks apart much more easily than navy beans and is therefore not as desirable for dishes requiring long cooking.

Dry beans and canned beans are among the least expensive sources of protein, iron, potassium and some B vitamins. Put another way, a one-half cup serving of cooked, dry beans yields more protein than a frankfurter, almost as much potassium as a banana, half the iron found in a like measure of raisins, and substantial amounts of thiamin.

The protein found in dry beans is deficient in the essential amino acid methionine. For this reason, it is necessary to eat a small amount of meat, cheese, eggs or other animal protein in the same meal if you are to utilize fully the protein contained in the beans. All varieties of dry beans have about the same nutritional value.
