U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to clean up Maple River

By SUSAN OWENS
Staff Writer

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has notified the Clinton County Drain Commissioner's office of their intentions to cleanout the Maple River by August of this year.

According to reports, the clean up project, which is estimated to cost $125,000, will include flood protection improvements such as: the removal of sandbar materials at the confluence of Hayworth Creek and the Maple River; removal of derbis east of the Franklin Street bridge, north of Maple Rapids; the clearing and snagging of derbis for a half-mile stretch east of US-27; and the removal of silt and sediment east of Blair Road bridge in Southern Gratiot County.

The U.S. Congress has allocated and approved the expenditure of the funds under the authority contained in Section 208 of the 1954 Flood Control Act.

According to the Commissioner's office, Gratiot and Clinton Counties have established a working relationship through the efforts of attorneys Al Fortino, who represents the Gratiot County Board of Commissioners, and Clinton County Prosecutor Jon Newman. The working relationship has provided a basis for sponsorship of the Maple River project.

The project sponsors, being the Gratiot County Board of Commissioners and the Hayworth Creek Extension Drainage District, will be the sponsors for acquisitions of right of ways and access permits.

This is the first time such a project has been settled between landowners and county officials. In recent years, several projects have been attempted, but later dismantled due to disagreements.

Gypsy scam again attempted

The Clinton County Sheriffs Department has reported another incident of an attempted gypsy scam occurring in Westphalia.

According to deputies, some apparent gypsies reportedly gained entry into a senior citizen's home in Westphalia after identifying themselves as Consumers Power employees. The subject, whose name is being withheld by deputies, said the suspects claimed she owed a refund to the company and that they also needed to check some plugs.

Once in the home, the suspects asked if she had change for $100. When a relative of the subject came over, the suspects left the home. No money was exchanged in the attempt.

In all cases, residents are urged to request proper identification for any unfamiliar person who wishes to gain entry into their home. If the suspects refuse, call the Clinton County Sheriffs Department at 224-6791.

THRONGS OF PEOPLE packed the St. Johns City Park Wednesday to witness the spectacular fireworks display sponsored by the St. Johns Rotary Club. The display marked the ending of the St. Johns 4th of July Festival that occurred during the week. For more photos, turn to page 14.

Barber remembered as outstanding person

By SUSAN OWENS
Staff Writer

After a prolonged illness, prominent St. Johns businessman William W. Barber, 70, died Wednesday, July 4th, in Goodells, Michigan.

Barber was the former owner of the Julie K store in St. Johns, as well as past president of the Rotary Club and the Chamber of Commerce. He was also on the Board of Directors of Clinton Bank and Trust, Chairman of the Board for Clinton Memorial Hospital, Chairman of the St. Johns Centennial Committee, member of the First Congregational Church, member of the Edwin T. Stiles American Legion Post no. 153 and member of the V.F.W. post no. 4113.

"He was probably involved in more things in St. Johns than any other man," said Kurt Becker, long-time friend of Barber. "He did a great deal for the community of St. Johns."

According to Al Dean, who was good friends with Barber since 1946, there were many things Barber also did in the community that no one ever knew about, including the purchasing of the land where Otts Parking lot now stands. Dean explained that Barber and Ken Munger bought both the house and land until the city was able to obtain it. When the city was able to afford the land, they bought it from Barber and Munger.

"The parking lot may not be there now if it wasn't for what they did," he said. "That's the kind of man he was. He was always there for anything that was needed individually, as well as in the community. He was always willing to help people."

"He set a good example of a businessman in St. Johns," added Ron Huard, who worked with him while on the Board of Directors for Clinton Bank and Trust. "I always thought of him as a fair and generous man."

Seniors plan trips for vacation dreams

The St. Johns Senior Citizens will begin to feel like millionaires. These travelers are planning a carefree, leisurely six day's trip to Vermont by air conditioned motor coach, complete with tour escort.

At Sugarbush Village, Vermont, they will be calling $75,000 to $150,000 condominiums "home" for two nights and also enjoy accommodations in the 1,000 island resort area.

Another trip to Montreal and Auburn, New York, is scheduled for October 5-10. The St. Johns' Senior Travelers will cruise the 1,000 islands, an area considered by National Geographic Magazine to be among the most spectacular scenery in all of North America and discover that Montreal is truly "magnifique" from the sensation of Old Montreal with its sidewalk cafes, shops, canopied art galleries street music and artists, to historic buildings, statues and parks. Shopping sprees will range culturally from European atmosphere of Old Montreal to our own Colonial New England.

On this tour, Corporate Travel is pleased to provide a variety of culinary environments such as: the charm, uniqueness and pageantry of the Medieval Banquet in a castle's dungeon; cuisine from early American to typically French; and an exclusive, prestigious dining experience specializing in desserts.

Vermont's clean air and refreshing breezes will welcome the St. Johns' Seniors to scenes of small town steeple churches, covered bridges and hillside dairy farms nestled among majestic green mountains and unspoiled park lands. The tour will culminate in a "big splash" at Niagara with lunch overlooking the Falls.

The biggest surprise of the tour is that its entire cost including five American breakfasts, four superb dinners and the lunch at Niagara Falls is at a low price.

Anyone wanting to enjoy all this and more should contact Brenda at 224-4257 or Wanda at 224-8477.

Court Correction:

Last week's report of the 65th District Court news inadvertently listed Bruce Fenn of Lansing as being sentenced for operating under the influence and possession of marijuana. It has been brought to our attention that Bruce Fenn was in fact the attorney for the defendant sentenced on these charges. We apologize for any public embarrassment or misconceptions derived from the inaccurate report. Our apologies especially to Mr. Fenn.

Letters to the Editor

St. Johns can be proud of it's people

Dear Sir,

I would like to let the people of St. Johns know how nice we found your town.

On Monday, I had a doctor's appointment in Lansing. We stopped for a red light and our car died. Within seconds a man was at our side wanting to know if he could help. Soon, a City of St. Johns pick-up came from behind and started their yellow flashers to protect us from behind. They also came over to see if they could help. They pushed our car into the Hendershot Realty parking lot. One man took me into the Realty office so I could cancel my appointment. The women there were very helpful.

This same man went home to get a battery charger. He asked if he could plug it into the Realty office. When that didn't work, he took us to a garage and stayed with us until a wrecker came.

He would not take anything for all his help. This man's name is Lou Canum. I do not know the name of the two men employed by your city or the two women from Hendershot Realty, but we would like to thank them for everything. The City of St. Johns can be very proud of its' people.

Thank you,
 Jack and Kathy Smith

Tatroe named the Man-of-the-Year

H. Orth Tatroe, of 610 E. State Street, St. Johns, has been named "Man of the Year" by the Michigan State Bowling Association.

He was presented a plaque in recognition of this achievement at the Hilton Inn in Lansing, on June 23. Presenting the award to Tatroe was Professional "Hall of Fame" bowler, Joe Joseph.

Tatroe served as the Michigan State Bowling Association Zone 6 director from September of 1952 to August of 1956. He served as the Association Secretary for 11 years and sent during that time an average of 20 teams to the State Tournament. He was the driving force to charter the St. Johns Bowling Association.

Tatroe also organized and promoted the St. Johns Youth Bowling Program.

Not only has he been active in the various aspects of both the local and state associations, but he is an outstanding bowler. Over the years, he has shot a 296 game, two 298 games and the ultimate 300 game. His 300 game was shot January 3, 1946, and is the only 300 game ever shot in St. Johns. "Tate" has shot fifty 700 series with 28 in one year. His highest series was a 763 and his highest league average was 211. He also has won numerous City Association titles, was a member of the Central States team champs, was second in the Michigan State Bowling Association in actual all events, and was a member of the 1949 American Bowling Congress third place Booster Team.

Corrections:

Last week, the Clinton County News reported that the pick-up times of the double run bus schedule would begin at 8 a.m. for high school students and 8:10 a.m. for middle school and town elementarys. Other elementarys, including parochial schools, was reported to be picked-up at 9:10 a.m.

Actually, those are the times when the schools will begin. Pick-up times will be approximately one hour earlier.

Also, drop-off times will be one hour later than the reported 2:35 p.m. for high school. Middle school and town elementary schools will also be dropped off an hour later than the reported 2:45, with other schools at 3:45. Our apologies.

Last week, the Clinton County News stated in a headline that satellite dishes will be restricted in the area, when actually it should have read that satellite dishes will be restricted in the city. Our apologies.

Expenses up in the United States for vacations

A family of four should budget $141 per day -- up $2 from a year ago -- for summer travel in Michigan, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

The cost is based on a family of two adults and two children who eat three restaurant meals per day, share a hotel or motel room and travel 300 miles daily by car.

This year's suggested budget allows $63.02 for meals, not including tips and cocktails. Cost-conscious families could save by eating at fast-food restaurants, picnicking or having the main meal at midday to take advantage of lower lunch prices.

Lodging at Michigan's 502 AAA-approved establishments averages $54.18 per night for each child. However, some properties waive charges for children under a specific age.

Michigan's summer vacation cost is up one percent from last year, but 11 percent below the $159 current nationwide average cost of summer travel. A survey by national AAA shows daily costs for a family of four average $135 for meals and lodging, plus $24 for 300 miles of travel by car, nearly three percent more than a year ago.

A lodging alternative is camping. An Auto Club survey shows state park campers pay $7 nightly for a site with electricity. Rustic site fees at state forest campgrounds are $1 to $4. The average cost for a campsite at a private park is $7.89.

In Michigan, families should expect to spend 8.1 cents per mile for travel, or $24.30 to go 300 miles. Those amounts are based on a car averaging 20 miles per gallon using self-serve no-lead at $1.269 per gallon and include costs for oil, tires and maintenance.

National AAA's survey shows meals and lodging may cost 25 percent less in small towns or 75 percent more in large metropolitan areas and at resorts in season.

In addition to food, lodging and travel costs, a family should budget for amusements, admission to places of interest, recreation and shopping. A reserve fund for emergencies also is advised.

Families may reduce vacation costs by: keeping the car in top mechanical condition to prevent costly breakdowns and delays; making advance lodging reservations (if that is not possible, arrive early in the day for a wider selection of reasonably priced accommodations); and visiting travel attractions that offer something worthwhile and avoiding tourist traps.

Copies of "Your Driving Costs," a booklet detailing auto expenses, are available to Auto Club members at statewide Auto Club offices.

What makes the Ionia Free Fair free?

"What's free about the Ionia Free Fair?"

That's probably the most often asked question put to fair personnel when they are out promoting the huge 10-day exposition which runs from July 27 to Aug. 5.

The Free Fair concept began with the birth of the fair in 1915 when a fair committee, spearheaded by then Mayor Fred Green and his business partner, Fred Chapman, decided on a free gate admission that has prevailed throughout the 69-year history of one of the nation's largest fairs.

It is possible for a fair goer to spend an enjoyable day at the fair without spending as much as a penny. Many do just that by taking a walking tour of the midway and visiting the hundreds of exhibits that are part of the fair's 16 departments and the commercially-sponsored booths in the Automobile and Merchant's buildings.

The Free Fair fare also includes a myriad of special attractions, including shows at the Free Stage between the Merchant's Building and cafeteria. It features top area talent continuously throughout the fair. Under the sponsorship of Vernor's soft drinks, this year's lineup includes country music favorite Kenny Antcliff, Czechoslovakian dancers, break dancers, 1950s rock and western music. Ronald McDonald Magic Show, demonstrations, blue grass music, Indian singers and dancers and a show by the U.S. Air Force.

Perhaps the most breath-taking spectacle of the fair, free or otherwise, will be the "Balloons Over Michigan" hot air balloon races at 7 p.m., July 28 and 29, featuring 40 or more hot air balloons each day. The balloons will be launched from the west parking lot.

A traditional free grandstand attraction, the Kid-die Grandstand Show, is set for 10 a.m. July 31 and is sponsored by Odell Restaurants. Featured will be a Dewey Puppet Show and the giving away of prizes.

Many of the country's top heavyweight horse pulling teams will be on hand at 9 a.m. Aug. 3, to pull in front of the free admission audience. Last year's winning team, piloted by Ward O'Boyle of St. Louis, included Roger, reported by many knowledgeable horsemen to be the world's largest horse. Roger may be back this year to defend his title laurels.

The Ladie's Day Program, a popular free attraction placed on the fair's schedule only a few years ago, will attract a large grandstand crowd at 10 a.m. Aug. 2. Entertainment, fashions, demonstrations and the announcement of the Ionia County Homemaker of the Year winner are on the show's agenda.

Finally, there is the 36th Annual Opening Parade Aug. 28 and the daily Great Vernors Doo Dah parades on the midway featuring a band, Disney-like characters, the Free Fair queen, and horses.

Obviously, there is plenty to do at the Free Fair without putting a dent in the pocketbook.

MSU's museum opens exhibits

Two new exhibits have opened at the Michigan State University Museum. These exhibits will run through September.

"Making Better Butter" focuses on the artifacts related to the process of butter making and butter use at home. The exhibit examines butter workers, butter molds and articles for serving butter all from the MSU Museum collections. This exhibit is in the Americana Gallery.

"Fashionable Bonnets of the 19th Century" presents an assortment of sun bonnets and straw bonnets. Sun bonnets worn by pioneer women, Shaker bonnets, "wagon" bonnets and New England spoon bonnets are among those featured. The process of making straw bonnets and the various trims are also in this exhibit. This new exhibit is located in Artisans Hall.

The MSU Museum is open weekdays 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Thursdays to 9 p.m., Sunday 1-5 p.m. Admission is free. The MSU Museum is on Circle Drive next to Beaumont Tower on the MSU Campus.

Occurance of substance abuse explored in County

By SUSAN OWENS
Staff Writer

According to the Clinton County Substance Abuse Center, Michigan residents pay $2 billion a year for substance abuse related problems such as health care, losses to industry, crime and car accidents. Aside from the financial burden, substance abuse creates a lot of suffering for not only the substance abuser, but also for those around him or her.

Thanks to concerned groups such as Mothers Against Drunk Drivers (MADD), community awareness of substance abuse has increased over the past several years. More and more myths about alcoholism and drug abuse are being destroyed, while more and more people are recognizing they or someone close to them may have an abuse problem.

Thus begins a three part series exploring substance abuse in Clinton County. This week, we'll explore the characteristics of alcoholism, the number one substance abused in America, as well as look at some facts about the illness.

"I just want to have a good time," Frank explained as he swallowed the last of his beer. "Everyone drinks. It doesn't mean that they have a drinking problem."

Unfortunately, Frank was one of 17 million Americans who did have a drinking problem. During the past few years, his intake of alcohol had increased from an occasional drink with friends to establishing a regular time during the day in which he "enjoys a drink to unwind." He has also been known to sneak drinks before attending parties or other social activities.

According to Gail Nutt, Senior Mental Health Therapist for the Clinton County Substance Abuse Center, Frank has followed the classical pattern of abuse experienced by the majority of alcoholics. Many people begin drinking in a casual way, never thinking it could develop into problem. However, the fact is, one out of every 13 drinkers become alcoholic.

Nutt said that in recent years, researchers have also discovered that alcoholism doesn't occur in weak-willed individuals unable to control their desires for a drink. Instead, they agree that it is a combination of emotional, mental, physical and possibly genetic factors. Once past the fine line between a casual, social drinker and an alcoholic, the person has actually contracted an illness that must be treated as such.

Nutt said that a person who suffers from alcoholism can't keep their drinking under control even when it hurts their health, job, mind and family. It becomes an overpowering and uncontrollable drive in which the victim will lie, sneak and miss work or important engagements because of their drinking problem.

At the same time, victims will deny they have the problem, Nutt said, and will get upset if you criticize or complain about his or her drinking behavior. An alcoholic will also usually have excuses for continuing to drink, including blaming others for a hard time, such as families or bosses, or claiming they could quit anytime they wanted.

Researchers have discovered four common factors in the cause of alcoholism, including it being used as a way of "tuning out" unpleasant problems, pain for example, instead of facing them. It may also be used to lessen the pain of having few close ties, moving often and having no "roots," or separation from loved ones, as in the case of death. Drinking may also seem to ease problems with interpersonal relationships and may give shy, insecure or threatened people a false sense of self-confidence.

According to Nutt, most alcoholics aren't "skid row" types. They are married, with jobs and family responsibilities. She also stated that occasional drunkenness doesn't mean a person is or isn't an alcoholic; some alcoholics never even act as if they were drunk.

There are some typical warning signs to be aware of, however, including the frequent use of alcohol to cope with everyday stress. Nutt said that alcoholism develops slowly with the person drinking more and more, and larger and larger amounts. An alcoholic also has an increasing number of fears and anxieties dealing with poor self-image and negative emotions.

At the same time, the alcoholic will ignore and avoid responsibilities dealing with family, job, school and finances. There is also an obvious lack of interest in non-drinking activities. Arguments are likely to emerge over the increased drinking and drunken behavior, including accusations and denials about the developing drinking habit.

Nutt said the alcoholic will make "promises" to drink less, switch types of liquor and behave better, all the while requesting for the nagging about the drinking to stop. Blackouts are also common in the alcoholic, becoming more frequent as the drinker continues.

Nutt also stressed that alcoholism isn't just the victims problem, but is a family illness with everyone in the alcoholic's family suffering. The spouse and children may start to believe the alcoholic's accusations and think they are responsible for the behavior. Family members, especially children, may begin to withdraw from social contacts and keep friends out of the home.

At the same time, an alcoholic's demands and behavior may make other family members think that they would be better off without him or her. Children also often lose respect for the non-alcoholic parent for not doing something about the problem.

Next week, we'll take a closer look at the occurrence of substance abuse in the county and discover how we can help a victim who may be developing a problem.

Well, That's Life

FEELING GOOD ABOUT MYSELF

Am I the only one in the world who stayed home for years to raise a family? Sometimes, I feel like an institution that's been around for years. Don't get me wrong, I enjoyed raising my family, but the day does come when a job seems to be in order. After 25 years of on-the-job training, you're ready for a new challenge.

I just couldn't imagine ME out in the business world again. Just applying for a job made me shudder. I wasn't real sure my elevator would be to the top floor out of my own environment. I casually mentioned to my friends about my new plan only to hear, what kind of work can you do? Without any degrees except in motherhood, I could understand their attitude of doubt.

After many hours of thought and a slight attitude adjustment of my own, I decided to try my wings. I searched through the want ads of different newspapers and narrowed down what I didn't want to do. Then all I had to do was figure out what I did want to do. I've always loved crafts and flowers, so I wondered what would be out there in that line.

I stopped by a flower shop one day and asked if they needed any part-time help. They said no, it was the slow season, so I offered to work for free for the experience. I knew if I had to take a flower arranging course, I would have to pay, so why not have more on-the-job training. We agreed and I left with a job.

The next couple of weeks were real different for me. I enjoyed meeting the public and learning a new craft. I all of a sudden felt different about myself. My husband and children were proud of me for finally taking that big step.

I even found I kept up my work at home as well or better, because I knew I didn't have the time to waste. It's amazing the motivation that overwhelms your body when you have a goal set for yourself. I found I had more to talk about and more ideas to offer for different situations. My brain had been on hold, and in need of a change.

It wasn't long before I was receiving a paycheck and what a feeling!!! Nothing like it, and opening my own checking account iced the cake. Just let me say, if any of you fall into this category, pull yourself together and get out there and go for it!!!!

That's life, and this too shall pass...

RENEW projects set at Fowler church

Most Holy Trinity Parish has been working on various projects in regard to the RENEW program.

RENEW is a program in the Catholic Church that aims to bring forth enthusiasm and lively, outward expression of faith for all its members. It doesn't matter if you are already that way or if you find it hard to even go to Mass once a week.

RENEW strives to bring everyone together in the Spirit of Christ so that its contagious effects can be shared as it was meant to be. When shared, it thrives as a joyous way of life rather than as a burdensome duty.

The main avenue for bringing people together will be through the small group committees. These groups will be small enough to meet in people's homes to share their faith, or lack of it. It doesn't matter. Bring what you have. The only way you can miss out is by not coming.

A RENEW float will be included at the annual Fowler Most Holy Trinity Parish Festival on August 12th. Posters will be seen in the area informing people about RENEW. On Sunday, June 17th, RENEW boxes were placed at all of the Church entrances for any persons who have questions about the program. They will write their questions out on a slip of paper and deposit them in the box. A committee will take the questions and put the answers in the weekly parish bulletin.

Be sure to sign up on Sign-up Sunday in October. In the meantime, pray.

The response to help out on the RENEW committees has been fantastic in Fowler and many more people are expected to participate this fall when the program actually begins.

Calling Colleen

Dear Colleen:

The letter from Sophie in a March column rang a bell with me. I have a friend who controlled her son's life for years. Luckily, the daughter-in-law accepted it, for a time. But, she finally put the mother in her place, letting it be known that she would not live as her mother-in-law requested, but would live for her husband and children as she felt best. She absolutely refused to answer to her mother-in-law for anything.

The mother-in-law, of course, was furious. She disowned the daughter-in-law, telling her son he was welcome but his wife was not welcome. After so long a time, the son saw the light and told his mother that he loved his wife and if she was not welcome, neither was he. The mother disowned him, too.

This was more than a year ago, and none of them have spoken since, except the mother told her other children that the son didn't want anything to do with her. This was not true. He still loves her.

What I cannot understand is why a woman wants to see her son so unhappy? I cannot talk to her about it. She is irrational. Her own husband cannot even talk to her about it.

Should I leave it alone and hope that she will change her ways?

Torn Friend

Dear Friend:

When family problems become so involved that even conversation and communication ceases, there is little that a friend can do. If the mother loves her son, she sooner or later will realize that she can best demonstrate that love by allowing him to live his life and fulfill his obligations as a husband and father.

HELPFUL IDEAS FOR SUCCESSFUL RETIREMENT

The Recipe

In response to several requests, reprinted below are portions of a "recipe" for living to be a hundred without permanently losing your health, your mind, or your temper.

Never go to bed with an angry mind. Serene sleep is an art that requires concentration and one cannot concentrate if the stomach hurts or the head aches. Mend any worrisome fences before the sun goes down. You may not make things perfect, but the effort will wear you out and bring on a peaceful rest.

Smile, first thing every morning. It may hurt, but your face won't break. Force it. It's necessary. If you don't like what you see in the mirror, the day is off to a very bad start.

Think healthy. Don't buy the garbage some folks put out. Reaching a certain age does not bring with it guaranteed aches and pains. Don't anticipate pain or problem. Think good thoughts. Think how fortunate you are to have weathered so well so long.

Check your health. The most miserable person in the world is a hypochondriac. Among the most foolish are those who ignore those little warning systems the body sends out to let you know that something is wrong. Stay in the middle of the road by being sure by virtue of a regular physical examination.

Do something. Never let yourself be completely idle. That's for dead people. If you sit down to rest, don't just sit. Think. That keeps the mind working, alert and active.

FIGHTING BAAL TODAY

July 22, 1984

Background Scripture:
2 Kings 9 through 10; Hosea 1:4,5.
Devotional reading:
Psalms 37:1-9.

In the eyes of just about everyone, King Jehu was a hero. Anointed of the Lord at the command of Elisha the prophet, he utterly wiped out the evil house of Ahab. He was also responsible for the murder of the hated Queen Jezebel. Furthermore, in one single stroke, he virtually annihilated all the worshippers and priests of Baal in the land of Israel and demolished the temple of Baal.

YOU HAVE DONE WELL.

As far as the writer of 2 Kings is concerned, God approved the acts of Jehu as his own will: "Because you have done well in carrying out what is right in my eyes, and have done to the house of Ahab according to all that was in my heart, your sons of the fourth generation shall sit on the throne of Israel. (This was promised even though the writer of 2 Kings had already observed: "But Jehu did not turn aside from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, which he made Israel to sin..." (10:28-30).

Baal was a terrible threat to the spiritual welfare of Israel. Much more attractive with its ritual pleasures than the austere Hebrew religion, it was extremely popular in the land. The prophets Elijah and Elisha both had devoted themselves to rooting out its insidious influence. Surely the genocide Jehu inflicted upon the house of Ahab and the followers of Baal was justified by the need to stamp out this wretched religion!

We get a different view, however, from the Prophet Hosea. Upon the birth of his first son, Hosea is told by God: "Call his name Jezreel; for yet a little while, and I will punish the house of Jehu for the blood of Jezreel, and I will put an end to the kingdom of the house of Israel" (Hosea 1:4).

CALL HIM "JEZREEL"

Thus, there are two contradictory Old Testament views of the way in which Jehu went about destroying the evil influence of Baal. The writer of 2 Kings believed that God approved of the genocide and even encouraged it. The Prophet Hosea, on the other hand, believed that God condemned it as a terrible sin.

If we find it difficult to choose between Hosea and the writer of 2 Kings as accurately representing the will of God, we need only view this controversy in the light of the New Testament.

Jehu's bloody slaughter cannot stand the light that Christ sheds on the true nature of God. The bloodthirsty divinity found in the Old Testament can only be a reflection of the evil in human hearts. Hosea's view of God is much closer to that of Jesus.

There are contemporary Baals that must be recognized and confronted today, the most obvious of these being Communism. Let us make certain we do not try to fight these Baals in the same way that Jehu did. As Hosea reminds us, that is not God's way.

Star of the party, the Heroine sandwich, made extra-delicious with sauerkraut.

Most people are familiar with the Hero sandwich. Now, there's a new version, called the Heroine.

These hearty sandwiches are a delightful combination of sliced meats, cheeses, fresh greens and tomatoes, all deliciously accented with a mixture of sauerkraut, yogurt and mustard. Sauerkraut's not only good tasting but a good source of fiber and Vitamin C, as well.

This is a treat that could make an ideal dish for a hearty lunch, a quick hot-or-cold weather supper or a party special. Whatever the occasion, you're likely to play a starring role when you serve Heroines.

SILVER FLOSS HEROINE

- 2 cups (16 oz. jar, can or polybag) Silver Floss sauerkraut
- 1/2 cup yogurt (or mayonnaise)
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 4 hoagie rolls
- Butter or margarine
- Fresh spinach
- 6 oz. salami

- 4 large slices Swiss cheese, halved
- 4 dill pickles, sliced
- 4 oz. smoked sliced pastrami
- 1 medium tomato, thinly sliced

Drain sauerkraut and mix with yogurt and mustard. Halve rolls and spread with butter or margarine. Layer spinach leaves, salami, Swiss cheese, dill pickles, pastrami and tomatoes. Top with kraut mixture and cover with top halves of rolls. Serves four.

For a copy of The Sauerkraut Book, featuring classic and contemporary sauerkraut recipes from around the world, write to Silver Floss, c/o Comstock Foods, P.O. Box 141, Newark, N.Y. 14513. Please include $.50 for postage and handling and a Silver Floss label.

"Berry season" lasts all year long with the availability of canned strawberry pie filling. In this recipe for Strawberry Nut Bread, the berry flavor is doubly accentuated: some of the strawberry filling is baked into the bread (providing a scrumptious aroma) and some strawberries are reserved for a choice of spreads to serve with the sweet bread: Strawberry Butter or Strawberry Cream Cheese.

If the idea of a strawberry nut bread sounds new and unique, you may be surprised to learn it has a very long history. Roger Williams, the founder of Rhode Island, one of the many parts of the world where strawberries grew wild, wrote in 1643, "The Indians bruise them (strawberries) in a Morter and mixe them with meale and make strawberry bread."

Like other fruit nut breads, this versatile recipe is a good choice for snacks, to serve with meals, or for dessert. And it freezes well, making it a nice treat for expected or unexpected guests.

STRAWBERRY NUT BREAD

- 1 can (21 oz.) Thank You Brand Strawberry Pie Filling
- 2 eggs
- 1/3 cup oil
- 2 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts

Set aside 1/2 cup of the strawberry pie filling to be used for EITHER Strawberry Cream Cheese Spread OR Strawberry Butter. Combine remaining strawberry filling, eggs, and oil in large mixing bowl (use electric mixer, if available). Sift or thoroughly stir dry ingredients to evenly distribute baking powder and salt throughout the flour and sugar. Add nuts to dry ingredients. Mix dry ingredients with strawberry/egg mixture, stirring only to combine. Pour batter into a 9x5x3-inch loaf pan that has been oiled and the bottom lined with waxed paper. (Two smaller loaf pans may be substituted). Bake at 350°F. for 85-90 minutes or until a long toothpick inserted near center does not reveal any gumminess. Cool 5 minutes, remove from pan to finish cooling on rack. Serve with your choice of these spreads:

STRAWBERRY CREAM CHEESE SPREAD

Combine 1/2 cup strawberry pie filling with 3 oz. package softened cream cheese.

STRAWBERRY BUTTER

Combine 1/2 cup strawberry pie filling, 1/2 cup (1 stick) softened butter, and 1/4 cup confectioners' sugar.

Attention family chefs. For a time-saving, inexpensive, good-tasting meal that's also good for the family, put Tuna-Cheese Casserole to the test.

This all-time favorite has more taste-appeal than ever before with new Soft Wispride, a harmonious blend of real cheddar cheeses.

And good news for the family budget: this one-dish meal is easy on the pocket-book, totalling less than four and a half dollars for the entire recipe, or approximately one dollar per serving.

For a delicious meal that makes good "cents", here is the recipe for Tuna-Cheese Casserole as developed in the Wispride Test Kitchen.

TUNA-CHEESE CASSEROLE

- 2 measuring tablespoons butter
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- One 2-1/2-oz. jar sliced mushrooms, drained
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 measuring tablespoons chopped parsley
- 3 measuring tablespoons flour
- 1/8 measuring teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup milk

- One 12-oz. pkg. Soft Wispride sharp cheddar cold pack cheese food with onion
- 2-1/2 cups cooked macaroni (elbow or elbow twists)
- One 7-oz. can tuna, drained and flaked

In large saucepan, melt butter. Saute green pepper, mushrooms and garlic until tender. Add parsley, flour and pepper. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add Soft Wispride cheese; stir until cheese melts. Add macaroni and tuna. Pour into 1-1/2 qt. baking dish.

Bake at: 350°F. Time: 20 minutes Makes: 4 servings

CURIOUS CARIBBEAN PUNCH

A sprightly blend of fruit juices makes the ideal party punch for kids and grownups.

CURIOUS CARIBBEAN PUNCH

- 2 cans (46 oz. each) Dole Pineapple Juice
- 2 quarts lemonade
- 1-1/2 quarts orange juice
- 1 quart cranberry juice cocktail
- 2 cups apple juice
- Ice cubes
- 1 lemon, thinly sliced

In a large punch bowl, mix together pineapple juice, lemonade, orange juice, cranberry juice and apple juice. Add ice cubes. Float lemon slices on top for garnish. Makes about 2 gallons.

DELUXE PINEAPPLE-RUM SAUCE

You'll want to make more than one batch of this mellow-tasting sauce for the holidays. Amber colored and thick with juicy nuggets of pineapple, the rum taste is subtle.

Drizzle a little over ice cream, or cake... or gift wrap a jar for a friend!

DELUXE PINEAPPLE-RUM SAUCE

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 cup packed light brown sugar
- Dash ground cinnamon
- 1 can (8-1/4 oz.) Dole Crushed Pineapple in Syrup
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 3 tablespoons dark rum

Heat butter and brown sugar together in 9-inch skillet until sugar is melted and lightly caramelized. Remove from heat. Stir in cinnamon, undrained pineapple, lemon juice and 2 tablespoons rum. Heat to simmering. Cook, stirring frequently, until slightly thickened, 5 to 10 minutes. Add remaining tablespoon rum and simmer a minute longer. Serve warm or cold. Makes about 1-1/4 cups sauce.

Oranges and lemons first entered the average American's diet in 1833. They had been a delicacy for the rich before the first shipment of cargo direct from Sicily.

For outdoor chefs who like to go whole hog when they barbecue shoulders or ribs, here's news of a competition that brought 200 cooks together and resulted in a Grand Champion barbecue recipe that won Martec Coaters, and Chief Cook Robert Byrd best of show. The Memphis in May International Competition, sponsored in part by Natural Light Beer from Anheuser Busch, was attended by 225,000 spectators. Now that winning recipe can be viewed by all of us.

GRAND CHAMPION RECIPE

Order the size shoulder required from favorite butcher. The Grand Champion prefers a shoulder weighing 16-18 pounds. Do not use meat previously frozen—it is not as "relaxed" as fresh meat.

Byrd Sauce

- One quart Wicker's barbecue sauce
- One small bottle Kraft barbecue sauce
- One-half tablespoon garlic salt

Mix the above ingredients in sauce pan to boil and then let cool. When cool, add the following ingredients:

- One-quarter cup cayenne pepper
- One-quarter cup salt
- Three quarts of quality apple cider vinegar
- One 12 ounce can Natural Light beer

Let sauce stand three to four days before using. Makes two-thirds of a gallon of Byrd Sauce.

Meat Preparation

Rub outside of meat and skin with garlic salt.

Cooking

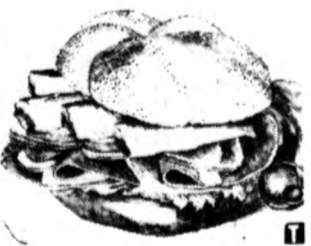

Place shoulder on cooker, meat side down, and cook for 8-12 hours depending on size of shoulder and fire heat or until hot throughout. Turn skin side down and cook another 12-14 hours, letting juices and grease accumulate in the natural bowl formed by the skin. Do not baste the meat unless it is becoming dry and crusty. If basted, use Byrd Sauce. Turn shoulder side down for about one hour prior to serving to allow excess grease to drain.

Serving

Chop or slice the shoulder and serve with Byrd Sauce either on the meat or on the side. Serve with cold beer.

Here's a new twist on an old family favorite, the Hero Sandwich, that may have the family singing your praises.

This recipe is based on budget-wise, highly nutritious Maine sardines. These flavorful little fish team well with other foods in dozens of recipes and offer a bounty of vitamins, minerals and protein that are good for everyone.

Maine sardines can be found right in your local supermarket, packed under the Port Clyde and Holmes labels. They are available in a variety of tasty sauces that add extra zest to favorite dishes.

ROCKY COAST HERO

- 4 large Kaiser rolls, split
- 4 lettuce leaves
- 8 slices Muenster cheese
- 12-16 slices salami
- 1 red onion, thinly sliced
- 4 oz. jar roasted red peppers, drained
- 2 to 3 cans Holmes or Port Clyde sardines (any flavor)
- Mustard, pickles, olives

Spread bottom half of each roll with mustard. Layer lettuce, cheese, salami, onion, pepper and sardines on each. Spread top halves of rolls with mustard and place over sardines. Secure with skewers or picks. Serve with pickles and olives.

Wendy and Bobby Fausett

Ingalls-Fausett United in marriage

St. Peters Luthern Church was the scene for the June 23 wedding of Wendy Kay Ingalls and Bobby Wayne Fausett.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Ingalls of St. Johns and a 1983 graduate of St. Johns High School. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Fausett and a 1977 graduate of Sexton High School.

The bride, ushered down the aisle by her parents, wore a white, floor-length gown with a chapel length train. The gown was covered with lace ruffles and had short sleeves gathered with white satin ribbons. The bodice was of sheer lace appliques and pearls. She carried a bouquet of rainbow colored flowers and ribbons. A wreath of dainty white flowers with a veil attached to the back completed her wedding attire.

The groom wore a white tuxedo with tails.

Kim Braman, sister of the bride, was Matron of Honor. Bridesmaids were Shelli Young, sister of the bride, Linda Auten, friend of the bride, and Brandy Culy, cousin of the bride. The attendants all wore floor length dresses made of dotted swiss material. Each wore a different color of the rainbow and carried a white parasol decorated with flowers and ribbons of their dress color.

The flowergirls, Amber Braman, niece of the bride, and Lindsey Biedel, cousin of the bride, wore matching lavender dotted swiss dresses. They carried miniature parasols with lavender flowers, ribbons, and hair pieces.

The mother of the bride wore a blue, floor length gown with a bodice of lace. Her corsage was of pink roses and rainbow colored flowers. The mother of the groom wore a mauve colored dress and had a corsage of pink roses and rainbow colored flowers.

Stewart S. Harrington, friend of the groom, was the best man. Groomsmen were Randy Ingalls, brother of the bride, Tim Fausett, brother of the groom, and Larry Fausett, brother of the groom. The groom's attendants all wore black tuxedos with white shirts. Their boutinners were of rainbow colors. Mike Jackson, cousin of the groom, and Jeff Sova, cousin of the bride, served as ushers.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the Fowler Conservation Club with approximately 250 people served. The cake was made and decorated by the bride's mother with rainbow colored silk flowers. The cake was served by Theresa Jackson and Monica Brokob.

Following the reception, a dance was held with music being provided by Music Unlimited.

Special guests included Mr. and Mrs. Culy, grandparents of the bride, from Florida; Jeri Lynn Haner from California; Sheri and Larry Biedel of Pennsylvania; Stacey Holland, cousin of the groom, from Abilene, Texas; and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Paslaski and Micah, cousins of the bride, from Oscada.

After a honeymoon to Round Lake, the couple will be residing in Lansing.

Kris Patterson wins at Owosso Speedway

The largest crowd of the 1984 stock car racing season, gathered at Owosso Speedway recently, under weather that could only be described as severe clear, with an excellent track condition for the dirt half-mile high bank.

The time trials session was taken by Bob Flynn in the Super Late Models division, who turned out the fastest time of 20.44 seconds. In the dash, it was Kris Patterson, of St. Johns, who started the pole and stayed there, never to be headed away from his eventual victory. He finished with a time of 1.22:10.

In the first heat, it was a repeat performance by Patterson, who started this time in sixth position and worked his way up to the lead. He took the eighth lap with 2.47:42. Four percent give blood

Blood Drive set for county residents

A very small minority of our nation's population has assumed the large responsibility of coming to the aid of total strangers, many of them close to home. In fact, only four percent of the population donates 100 percent of the total blood supply used in the country.

With that in mind, Betty Geller and Irene Armbrustmacher, both registered nurses at Clinton Memorial Hospital and co-chairpersons of the CMH Blood Drive, have put a challenge before the residents of Clinton County. The nursing staff at Clinton Memorial has challenged all other hospital departments and area residents to top the total nurses' donations in the July 20 Blood Drive. Donors may designate credit for their donation to the nursing staff or other hospital departments. All donations, of course, are made to the American Red Cross.

The American Red Cross, in turn, supplies hospitals nationwide with whole blood, blood components and derivatives of these components. They all aid in the treatment of anemia, shock, burns, bleeding and liver disease. Leukemia patients undergoing chemotherapy, individuals having surgery, and persons suffering from coagulation, or "clotting" disorders, all benefit from blood donations.

The Clinton Memorial Blood Drive, in conjunction with the American Red Cross will be held Friday, July 20, from 11:00 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. in the hospital Conference Room. Donors may call ahead to arrange a convenient time for donating and are encouraged to contact Mrs. Geller or Mrs. Armbrustmacher at 224-6881, Extension 265, or Marilyn Wood at 224-6881, Extension 285.

"Our motto at Clinton Memorial is, 'Give a little. It'll mean a lot,'" explained Geller. "And whether you're a veteran donor, a one-time donor, or a first-time donor, you're needed just the same."

Educational programs offered

Over thirty educational programs on health-related topics are currently available to area residents through the Speaker's Bureau at Clinton Memorial Hospital. Sponsored by the Annual Support Committee of the CMH Development Council, the Speaker's Bureau offers a wide variety of programs for presentation to service clubs, church groups, and civic, educational and professional organizations. Each program has been developed by a professional in his field. Presentations generally last 20 to 30 minutes but are modified according to time limits, age levels and group interests.

Just a few of the programs available through the Speaker's Bureau include Probate and Estate Planning, Stress, Life Habits, Advice On Over-The-Counter Medication, and Safe Dieting and Weight Control.

For more information on scheduling or availability of programs through the Speaker's Bureau, please contact the Human Resources Department at 224-6881, Extension 285.

Michigan dessert cookbook uses homegrown produce

A unique all-Michigan-made dessert cookbook has been created by Michigan Sugar Company of Saginaw. Using many of Michigan's fresh fruits, the special edition cookbook whips up some delicious desserts with "homegrown" ingredients.

"The cookbook is an outgrowth of the 'Say Yes to Michigan' program," said Ernest Flegenheimer, president of Michigan Sugar Company. "We believe it is important to support Michigan made products and the cookbook is our commitment to the state and the community," he added.

In addition to promoting Michigan products, Michigan Sugar Company is donating the one dollar charge for the cookbook to the Tri-County Chapters of the American Red Cross. "We're proud to be of service to the local chapters of the Red Cross," said Barry Brown, vice president of marketing. "And we're proud of our Michigan roots," he added.

To receive a copy of the Michigan Dessert cookbook, write care of "Desserts," 300 Plaza North, P.O. Box 1348, Saginaw, MI 48605. Please enclose one dollar and a return address.

Along with the old time favorites like Michigan Sparkling Red Cherry Pie and Michigan Dutch Apple Torte, the cookbook is also packed with exotic treats like Michigan Cherry Chocolate Chip Cupcakes, Michigan Meringue Pears Helene and Michigan Plum Nut Loaf.

"Many of the agricultural associations throughout the state supplied us with the recipes for these great tasting desserts," said Flegenheimer. Participants who supplied recipes and background information were: The Michigan Apple Committee, Chelsea Milling Company, The National Red Cherry Institute, The Michigan Plum Advisory Board and The Michigan Blueberry Growers Association.

Currently, agriculture is the second largest industry in the state and generates more than 15 billion dollars a year for the State's economy.

For trivia buffs, the cookbook highlights many unknown facts about the produce grown in the state.

Price Index declines in June

The Index of Prices received by Michigan farmers for all farm products was 140 percent of its 1977 base for the month ending June 15. This represents a 1 percent decline from May, according to the Federal/State Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service. Despite this month's decline, farm commodity prices remain 14 percent above the 1983 level. The Index of Prices paid by farmers, nationwide, for commodities and services, interest, taxes and farm wages for June was 166 percent of its 1977 base. The index was unchanged from May as price increases since March for farm machinery were offset by lower prices for feed, replacement livestock and building materials. Compared with a year earlier, the index was up 3 percent.

Individual commodities showing price declines during the first half of June were winter wheat, oats, soybeans, dry beans, calves, milk, eggs and steers and heifers. Prices improved for corn, slaughter cows and hogs. Hay prices were unchanged from a month ago.

Nationally, the June All Farm Products Index of Prices received by farmers decreased 1 percent from May to 143 percent of its 1977 average. Lower prices for cattle, soybeans, eggs, wheat and milk were partially offset by higher prices for oranges, hogs, lettuce, lemons and potatoes. The index was 8 percent above a year ago.

Records state 1984 corn acreage returns to normal

Michigan's 1984 corn acreage returned to a near normal level following last year's Payment in Kind (PIK) program.

Corn growers planted three million acres this spring compared to 2.2 million acres last year. Acreage intended for harvest as grain is expected to total 2.6 million acres. This is an increase of 44 percent from a year ago, according to the Federal and State Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service.

Acreage planted to soybeans is estimated at 1,150,000 acres, an increase of nine percent from last year and equal to the record acreage planted in 1982. Acreage planted to dry beans at 400,000 acres increased to 11 percent from last season. Sugarbeet planting at 109,000 acres is up three percent.

For small grains, winter wheat seedings at 900,000 acres increased eight percent. Wheat intended for harvest at 800,000 acres is expected to increase 10 percent from a year ago. Planted acreage for oats is estimated at 320,000 acres. Despite the 29 percent decline in planted acreage, harvested acreage should remain at last year's level. For the 1983 crop year, a significant portion of the oats crop was planted as a cover crop on PIK acreage. Rye acreage intended for harvest is expected to equal to a year ago. Planted acreage for barley is also unchanged. Acreage cut for hay at 1.7 million acres will be up 21 percent. Alfalfa hay acreage will be up 27 percent while all other hay will be unchanged. The increase in hay acreage is attributed to alfalfa being seeded last summer on PIK acreage withdrawn from crop production.

Nationally, corn planted for all purposes is estimated at 79.9 million acres, up 33 percent from last year but two percent below 1982 acreage. Corn acreage planted in 1983 was the lowest on record. Soybean plantings are estimated at 68.0 million acres, up eight percent from a year earlier, but four percent less than 1982. Dry bean acreage is estimated at 1.4 million acres, 24 percent above last year but 20 percent less than 1982 acreage.

Appreciating the wildlife

I wasted time today by just kneeling down among the wild strawberries on the hillside and staining my fingers and lips with their sweet ripeness. A few jealous birds chirped their disapproval, and a small voice inside me asked if I hadn't better things to do. The berries, after all, were soft with their maturity, and eating them was a messy proposition.

I walked to where the wild grape blossoms were fading and the fruit was just beginning to form. There would be a crop in October, I noted in my mind. I stooped to watch a brilliant butterfly dry its wings. Still perched on the dry and broken pupa that had been its home until the warm sun knocked, it was nearly ready to soar among the clovers with its fellows.

My meanderings had led me to the lane and my feet traced it leisurely to the partly-open spots between the woods and meadows. Many of the same species of butterfly were drying themselves, and I stopped to watch.

I was not the only interested party. A bright-eyed but timid brown thrush darted from a shaded stand of bushes to seize one of the brilliant morsels. I had mixed feelings about that, but then I prefer an attractive meal myself.

On down the lane I chose an oak to lean against, a place to stand in quiet shade. The higher, warmer sun beamed down on the late June morning. And as I faced a breeze that played among the grasses on a nearby hill, a movement caught my eye. Two fox pups frolicked by a great stone pile as their nervous mother lay above the rocks and sniffed the air.

I was happy and surprised to get close enough to see the foxes. I wondered if a stealthy continuation might further be rewarded. The sighting of a doe and fawn near the heavy cover by the pond would be enough.

The sudden stinging bite of a deer fly brought me from my thoughts. Though my slap dispatched him, it also broke the spell. The three foxes had vanished as quickly as the fly had bitten, and the voice inside me spoke again of places I should be.

Slowly I retraced my steps, past where a woodchuck lumbered busily, choosing tender leaves for a late morning snack. I went past a weed-choked cove on the open end of the pond where a hen black duck seemed to be teaching nearly-grown chicks about some delicacy in the scummy waters.

Barber remembered

Harold Schmaltz, general manager of the Clinton County News, said he also remembers Barber's willingness to serve the community.

"Anything that was good for St. Johns, Bill was the first to promote it," he said. "He set a fine example for all of us, both personally and in business."

Barber was born in Lapeer, Michigan, on February 12, 1914, to Arthur and Isadore (Lamoreaux) Barber. After serving his country in World War II, he came to St. Johns and started his own women's apparel business. He lived in the area until moving to St. Clair in 1974.

He is survived by wife, Harriet, of St. Clair; three sons, David, Robert and Mark, all of St. Johns; one daughter, Mrs. Anne Sallaz, of St. Clair; four sisters, Julie Ackerman, of Owosso; Doris Hayes, of Arizona; Ruth Thom, of Rochester; Barbara Paul, of Lapeer; and five grandchildren.

Outdoors By Dick Bradley

I knelt again among the dead-ripe strawberries for a final taste. And when a cardinal gave his cheery cry from a nearby tree, I used that as an excuse to linger and try to talk with him with mimicked call. But after just a time or two, he tired of my imperfect efforts and with his flight so went my excuse to stay.

I wasted time today, but I will not apologize. Only you and I were there and know the reasons. Who else could understand such flimsy abilities when time is worth at least $10 an hour?

Prevention of Dutch Elm Disease found

Though millions of elms in the Midwest have been killed by Dutch Elm disease, a good prevention program will be available to protect those that remain from the fungus disease. And the summer months are the time to use a fungicide to provide long lasting protection.

Research at the University of Minnesota has shown that injecting elms with Arbotect 20-S at three times the annual dosage, can protect an elm from Dutch Elm disease (DED) for up to three years.

Using the higher rates reduces labor costs and tree injury associated with tree injection. The higher rate also moves into the new growth in trees, providing better protection than lower amounts. Arbotect, a system fungicide, is manufactured by MSD AGVET, a division of Merck and Company, Incorporated.

"Injecting a fungicide is an important tool for controlling DED," said Art James, manager of agricultural chemical development for MSD AGVET. "Using a fungicide is the best way to protect individual trees from the disease, and, under certain conditions, the higher rate injections can even arrest the disease in infected trees," he adds.

RESEARCHERS HAVE FOUND a fungicide to protect Dutch Elm Trees throughout the United States.

"The best way to combat DED is through a complete program of preventive measures," James noted. These steps include: early identification of diseased elms; quick removal of infected elms and the proper disposal of the wood; eliminating root grafts by severing them to control the spread of the disease through roots; applying insecticides to control the elm bark beetles, and the injection of fungicides.

TRIVIA

Mountain Gods

The Incas and even peoples of the Andes before them thought the mountain gods determined the weather and controlled the springs, rivers, and underground water sources vital to their harvests and animals. Offerings and sacrifices—sometimes human—made in the sacred places on the peaks were attempts to assure good weather, adequate rainfall, and abundance of crops and herds.

Bright Future

And now for some good news: There is one basic industry in the United States for which the long-term future is bright. That is the forest products industry. The United States consumes about a fourth of total world wood production, far more than any other nation.

Big Wine Maker

Italy, the size of Arizona, is the world's leading wine producer, according to National Geographic. It produces 2 billion gallons a year, five times U.S. production.

IT'S YOU WHO SHOULD BE PRAYING!

Live Only

The praying mantis eats nothing but live food, mostly insects. National Geographic says that prey is taken only from flowers, leafage, twigs, bark, or the ground—never while the potential victim is in flight.

Cool and Dry

Many canned foods may be stored as long as two years without any loss of quality, but they must be kept in a cool, dry place.

Nutrition Level

The Recommended Daily Allowance (RDA) is not the minimum amount of nutrients required each day. The levels are well above the minimum. Consuming 80 percent of the RDA of all nutrients is usually adequate for good nutrition among healthy individuals.

Cool Cost Cutter

If everyone installed and used window shades, America would cut its cooling and heating bill by the equivalent of 165 million barrels of oil a year.

Aluminum Stain

Eggs darken aluminum. Beat egg whites in a stainless steel, glass, porcelain or enamel bowl.

Light Shade Areas

If you are unsuccessfully trying to maintain a lawn in a partially shaded area, a ground cover such as periwinkle may be the solution to your problem.

Periwinkle (Vinca minor) is a popular ground cover to use under trees and around buildings.

Periwinkle has dark green leaves and grows rapidly. It spreads by creeping roots, soon blanketing a large plot. It should be planted nine plants to the square yard.

Periwinkle is sometimes damaged by heat in the Coastal Plain but grows well in the Piedmont and Mountains. Periwinkle prefers partial shade and does poorly in heavy shade.

"Periwinkle blue" flowers are borne in the spring and sometimes again in the fall. There are also varieties with white, purple, and light blue flowers. One variety has purple flowers that are double. A variegated variety of periwinkle has leaves with creamy white margins.

Job Burnout

Job burnout is a growing problem among people in the "helping professions" and is caused by long-term chronic work-related stress, according to an article in American Druggist.

Karl Neumann, MD, a New York pediatrician, is the author, and he states that people in social work, teaching, law, and in the health care field—including physicians and nurses—are especially vulnerable to burnout. Hospital environments particularly present a stressful environment and situation.

Symptoms of burnout are emotional exhaustion, feelings of failure or frustration, a decline in self-esteem, a trapped feeling, and boredom. There may also be increasing levels of fatigue, sleep disturbances, changes in appetite, lowered resistance to infection, and headache.

To prevent burnout, he suggests setting realistic goals, better communications with colleagues and patients, improved physical fitness, relaxation, recreation, and mini-vacations.

If Some Of The News Is Giving You Fits,
Let Your Views Be Known

Did you ever read something in a newspaper or hear something on a television news program that you didn't like or liked very much? What did you do about it?

The right of a free press is a right that belongs to everyone of us, guaranteed by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. Telling an editor you agree or disagree with his viewpoint or correcting a report where the facts were wrong is your way of exercising that right.

Many Americans want to express their feelings but they're not sure how to deal with the news media...newspaper, magazine, radio or television.

A new booklet, "The Media/Citizen Dialogue," published by Rexnord Inc., may put you on the right track to good citizenship.

The booklet points out that the time-honored tradition of writing a "Letter to the Editor" still offers one of the most effective ways of expressing one's views. To help that letter be published, you might follow these tips:

- DO keep your letter brief—one page.

- DO stay with one subject.

- DO make your points logically, not emotionally.
- DO be constructive.

The real value of such a letter lies in sharing your opinion with others.

The booklet includes additional tips plus a "Media Quotient Quiz" and interviews with prominent journalists and representatives of business and public groups exploring ways in which citizens can exert positive influence on newspapers, national and local television, radio and magazines.

The program, co-sponsored by the First Amendment Congress, is part of Rexnord's "Activate Someone" project. To obtain a copy of a booklet, write to Rexnord Resource Center, PO Box 2022, Milwaukee, WI 53201.

MANAGING YOUR MONEY

Your Assets—Working Harder For You?

A question some investors ask themselves is: "Am I making the most use of my capital?"

Often, the questions they ask become more specific:

"Am I getting the highest rate for my available cash?"

"Should my money be invested in government securities?"

"Can I borrow money on my securities at competitive rates?"

A lot of these questions are being answered in a new securities account that many experts regard as an investment itself. Called an Asset Management Account, it is being offered by E.F. Hutton, one of the world's largest and most respected financial services firms. It works like this:

Income from bonds, dividends from stocks, and other cash now sitting idle in your securities account, is automatically invested once a month in a money market fund, a tax-exempt money fund or a fund investing in U.S. Government securities. Income of $100 or more, however, is invested weekly, while income of $1,000 or more is invested on the next business day after it is received in your account. You also receive check writing privileges and an American Express Gold Card. This means you always have access to your money, whenever you need it. Your securities margin account lets you borrow up to the marginable value of your stocks, bonds and other securities placed in the account.

A securities account has been developed that lets you write checks and borrow money to cover unforeseen expenses.

You also receive one comprehensive monthly statement that outlines not only your security transactions, but checks written and your Gold Card payments. Many feel that this type of management account can serve as the foundation for an entire financial program. The Asset Management Account requires a minimum investment of $10,000 in cash, $20,000 in marginable securities or any equivalent combination.

Hutton also offers a "cardless" version of the account. Called the Asset Reserve Account, investors receive all the benefits of the Asset Management Account with the exception of the American Express Gold Card.

Docket No. AB-18 (Sub-No. 56)

NOTICE OF INTENT TO ABANDON

THE CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILWAY COMPANY (C&O) hereby gives notice that on or about June 25, 1984, it intends to file with the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C. 20423, an application for a certificate permitting abandonment of a portion of its Portland Subdivision (formerly called Ionia Subdivision) extending from Milepost 3.43 (Valuation Station 5190+00) near Grand Ledge, to Milepost 11.54 (Valuation Station 5618+06) at end of line at or near Portland, a distance of approximately 8.11 miles, in Eaton, Clinton and Ionia Counties, MI. The line for which the abandonment will be filed includes the stations of Eagle (Milepost 4.3), and Portland (Milepost 11.5).

The reasons for the proposed abandonment are, that the ownership of the line has been unprofitable, and the involved rail assets can be better used elsewhere.

This line of railroad has appeared on the system diagram map in Category 1 since August 18, 1982.

The interest of railroad employees will be protected by the imposition of Oregon Short Line conditions and/or such other conditions as the Interstate Commerce Commission may deem appropriate.

Any interested person, after the application is filed on or about June 25, 1984, is entitled to file with the Interstate Commerce Commission written comments concerning the proposed abandonment or protests to it.

Protests must contain the following:

- (1) Protestant's name, address and business;
- (2) A statement describing protestant's interest in the proceeding including:
 - (i) A description of protestant's use of the line;
 - (ii) If protestant does not use the line, information concerning the group or public interest it represents; and
 - (iii) If protestant's interest is limited to the retention of service over a portion of the line, a description of the portion of the line subject to protestant's interest (with milepost designations if available).
- (3) Specific reasons why protestant opposes the application including information regarding protestant's reliance on the involved service (this information must be supported by affidavits of persons with personal knowledge of the fact(s));
- (4) Any rebuttal of material submitted by applicant; and
- (5) If an oral hearing is desired, a request for and reasons why an oral hearing is necessary.

In addition, a commenting party or protestant may provide a statement of position and a summary of evidence regarding:

- (i) intent to offer financial assistance;
- (ii) environmental impact;
- (iii) impact on rural and community development;
- (iv) suitability of the properties for other public purposes; and
- (v) recommended provisions for protection of the interests of employees.

Written comments and protests will be considered by the Commission in determining whether an investigation is needed to assist in determining what disposition to make of the application. The Commission will automatically direct investigation if a protest is filed which demonstrates: (1) the protestant filed a feeder line application under 49 U.S.C. 10910; (2) the feeder line application involves any portion of the rail line involved in the abandonment or discontinuance application; (3) the feeder line application was filed prior to the date the abandonment or discontinuance application was filed; and (4) the feeder line application is pending before the Commission. If an investigation is conducted, the commenting party or protestant may participate in the proceeding as its interests may appear.

Those parties filing protests to the proposed abandonment and discontinuance of service should be prepared to participate actively in either oral hearings or through the submission of additional material in the form of verified statements. Parties seeking information concerning the filing of protests should refer to 49 CFR 1152.25.

Written comments and protests should indicate the proceeding designation No. AB-18 (Sub-No. 56), and should be filed with the Secretary, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C. 20423, no later than July 25, 1984. Interested persons may file a written comment or protest with the Commission to become a party to this abandonment proceeding. A copy of each written comment or protest shall be served upon the representatives of the applicant, Rene' J. Gunning (113), Chessie System, Suite 2204, 100 North Charles Street, Baltimore, MD 21201, and Peter J. Shultz, Chessie System, P.O. Box 6419, Cleveland, OH 44101. The original and two (2) copies of all comments or protests shall be filed with the Commission with a certificate of service.

If no protests are received within 30 days after the application is filed, the Commission will grant the abandonment request and issue a certificate which permits the abandonment to occur within 75 days after the application is filed.

The line sought to be abandoned will be available for subsidy or sale for continued rail use, if the commission decides to permit the abandonment, in accordance with applicable laws and regulations (49 U.S.C. 10905 and 49 CFR 1152.27). Applicant will promptly provide upon request to each interested party an estimate of the subsidy and minimum purchase price required to keep the line in operation. The carrier's representative to whom inquiries may be made concerning sale or subsidy terms is Barry Holt Blank (313), Chessie System, 100 North Charles Street, Baltimore, MD 21201.

Persons seeking further information concerning abandonment and discontinuance of service procedures may contact the Interstate Commerce Commission's Rail Section, Office of Proceedings, or the Office of Transportation Analysis, Rail Services Planning Office, or refer to the full abandonment regulations at 49 CFR Part 1152.

A copy of the application will be available for public inspection on or after June 25, 1984, at the C&O's freight agency, 702 North Clinton, Grand Ledge, MI, open 8:00 AM to 5:00 PM, Monday through Friday (closed for lunch from 12:00 Noon to 1:00 PM). AN AMERICAN SUCCESS STORY

Twenty years ago, Californian Louis Ruiz started a small business, armed with $200, an electric mixer and an understanding and supportive wife.

Today, Ruiz has been honored by the U.S. Small Business Administration for his success. With his son, Fred, he won the title:

"Small Business Person of the Year." They received the award personally from President Reagan.

The Ruiz business started with bean and cheese enchiladas. Today, the company manufactures 19 varieties of prepared Mexican foods. Most of them are sold under the Rosita-Si! label, paying homage to that understanding and supportive wife.

In addition, a half-million dollars worth of Ruiz burritos find their way each year into Campbell Soup Company's Swanson Frozen Mexican Dinners.

What is Louis Ruiz' secret of success? "Keep perfecting your product, keep working hard and keep paying attention to your little customers."

"Someday," he points out, "those little customers will be your big-customers." He also cautions against trying to grow too fast...grow at a manageable rate, is his advice.

It was that persistence, patience, eye for quality and attention to customers that, he says, brought the Ruiz family to the top.

"We're proud to be associated with champions like the Ruizes," says Campbell

Soup Company's president R. Gordon McGovern. "What they've done is a small business success story by any definition. The fact that they are a minority-owned business makes this a truly American success story."

NOTICE OF
PUBLIC HEARING
ON INCREASING
PROPERTY TAXES

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on July 16, 1984 at 7:30 o'clock p.m. at Waldron School - Room 102 the Board of Education of Fowler Public Schools will hold a public hearing on the levying in 1984 of an additional proposed millage rate of .0139 mills for operating purposes pursuant to Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982.

The Board of Education has the complete authority to establish that 31.5 mills be levied in 1984 from within its present authorized millage rate.

The maximum additional proposed millage rate would increase revenues for operating purposes from ad valorem property tax levies in 1984 otherwise permitted by Act 5 Public Acts of Michigan, 1982, by four-ten thousandths of one percent (.0004).

The County permanently allocated 8 mills for school operations and the residents voted 23.5 mills for operation on June 11th. The Board must hold a hearing to collect the full 31.5 because the District's Base Tax Rate Fraction is .99956 for 1984.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive testimony and discuss the levy of an additional millage rate. Not less than seven (7) days following the public hearing, the Board of Education may approve all or any portion of the proposed additional millage rate.

This notice is given by order of the Board of Education.

Holley Realty joins network

In a move to improve its marketing and communications capabilities, the Wm. F. Holley and Associates Realty Co. has joined the Real Estate Information Network—a computerized property information exchange network known by its acronym, REINET.

"As a member of REINET, which is operated by the National Association of Realtors, we are now able to offer our clients a world of real estate opportunities including instant local, regional and national exposure for their properties," William F. Holley, president of Wm. F. Holley and Associates Realty Co., said.

Holley said REINET enabled his firm to enter property information via satellite into a multimillion dollar national network which services nearly 600 brokerage companies. Once a property description is on REINET, the information can be reviewed within minutes by brokers in the same city, in the next state, or across the country, he explained.

"By late 1984, our company, as well as other subscribers to REINET, will be able to market property internationally," Holley said. During 1981, the International Real Estate Federation representing brokers in 44 countries endorsed REINET as the preferred method of exchanging international real estate information he added.

As a member of REINET, Holley said his company can assist clients in locating buyers from across the country. In addition to information on properties for sale, the system includes information on potential buyers and the types of properties they are interested in purchasing, he said.

Wm. F. Holley and Associates Realty Co. can further assist its clients by conducting investment analysis programs with REINET that incorporate recent tax laws and leading financial models, Holley said.
