St. Johns High Drama Department is honored

St. Johns High School was honored this week when a formal message was delivered to school officials notifying them that a Senate resolution was passed on behalf of the Drama Department of the high school.

The message came from Sen. Alan Cropsey's office in Lansing.

What follows is the text of the Resolution:

Senate Resolution No. 421
Offered by Senators A. Cropsey, Faxon, and Corbin

A RESOLUTION HONORING THE ST. JOHNS HIGH SCHOOL DRAMA CLUB

Where is our usual manager of mirth? What revels are at hand? Is there no play, To ease the anguish of a torturing hour? William Shakespeare

WHEREAS, It is a privilege to honor the members of the St. Johns High School Drama Club upon the club's spectacular achievement in earning its sixth state championship for its excellent performance of Irwin Shaw's "Bury The Dead." This superb show, ably directed by Robert L. Koger, Barbara Markman, and student director Craig Paksi, also received twenty-five superior awards and forty-seven excellent awards for individual performances; and

WHEREAS, The members of the St. Johns High School Drama Club have cause for great pride in their impressive theatrical performances. Recipients of superior awards deserve special praise. They include senior Cam Wood, who did such an outstanding job designing the poster, program, and T-shirt; the eighteen members of the make-up crew; and the six members of the lighting and special effects crew. Moreover, excellent awards were accorded to the thirty-five members of the stage running crew, the eight members of the costume crew, Eric Hudson for his role as the Captain, Cam Wood for his role as the General, Dell Baker for his role as Private Schelling, and Colleen McCarthy for her role as Martha Webster; and

WHEREAS, Drama at its best is something the St. Johns High School Drama Club provides as regular fare for its fortunate audiences. In fact, St. Johns is the only school in Michigan to have qualified for the state finals for fourteen consecutive years. State championship productions in previous years include "Bottom's Dream", "The Crucible", "Pygmalion", and "You're A Good Man Charlie Brown." The success the members of the St. Johns High School Drama Club have enjoyed, both educationally and artistically, has won for them our highest praise. May they continue to excel and to delight audiences with their superb performances; now, therefore be it

RESOLVED BY THE SENATE, That our tribute and congratulations be extended to the members of the St. Johns High School Drama Club for winning the state championship for their performance of Irwin Shaw's "Bury The Dead"; and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to them as a reflection of our esteem.

Adopted by the Senate, April 11, 1984.

Secretary of the Senate

New classified advertising policies for paper

In an effort to revive some of the old Clinton County News traditions, General Manager Harold Schmaltz wants the readership in both the News and the DeWitt-Bath Review to take particular notice of the current offer being made on classified advertising.

Schmaltz explained that under the past classified arrangements, all classifieds placed in the papers went into a five-newspaper system, thus alleviating the local flavor for those wanting to just reach Clinton area readers. The rates for those classifieds reflected the coverage reached as well, he explained.

Further explaining the new program, Schmaltz said, "There are times when certain classifieds such as garage sales and other strictly local interest ads are wanted and at low rates as well. This new program allows the readership in our new circulation area to reach the prime market they'd like to reach."

The rates for the new classified page are based on a strictly cash basis and are for family use only. Maximum word limit has been set at $1.00 for no more than 20 words.

Schmaltz indicated that the new program is not meant to replace the five-newspaper system, but to merely complement the advertising services of the Clinton County News and DeWitt-Bath Review.

For further information on all classified advertising, call 224-2361 or stop by the office at 117 E. Walker in St. Johns.

Girl injured in train mishap

Denise Ann Taylor, 18, of Walker Road, St. Johns, was recently injured when the car in which she was driving was struck by an eastbound train.

According to the Clinton County Sheriff Department, Taylor was driving south on Forest Hill Road at approximately 4 p.m. Tuesday, when she failed to see the oncoming train in time to avoid a collision. Taylor quickly turned east, but was unable to miss the collision with the two engine, 42 car train. The train was reported to have been traveling approximately 40 miles an hour.

Taylor was transported to Clinton Memorial Hospital, later being transferred to Sparrow Hospital in Lansing. Reports say she is expected to be released from the hospital April 23.

She proves that cancer doesn't mean life's over

By SUSAN OWENS
Staff Writer

Over the years, the word cancer has taken on new meaning and has evoked new feelings. Most people are fearful of the disease as the rate of victims continue to soar. Medically, there are still no solid answers as to the cause of the disease. The cure remains to be a battering of treatments, many times including removal of the diseased portion of the body.

Florence Hartman, of 767 Cloverleaf, DeWitt, used to be among the people who feared the often fatal affliction. As a mother of three, she went about her daily life never suspecting that she could be a victim. Then, one day she discovered a lump in her left breast.

Hartman said that once she detected the lump, she went to the doctor immediately. And, when doctors identified the mass as cancerous, she said she wasn't really surprised.

"I just had the feeling it was cancer," she said in a recent interview. "But, I absolutely knew they would get it all (in the operation.)"

Hartman underwent a major mastectomy operation on March 26, 1969. She spent six and a half hours in surgery and one month in the hospital recovering. Three months later, she discovered a lump on her right side.

According to Hartman, doctors were unable to detect the second lump when examining her after the operation, because it was lodged behind her sternum. Nevertheless, she maintained a positive outlook regarding her situation.

"I made up my mind I wasn't going to have any depression," she said. "Keeping positive thoughts and a positive attitude means all the difference in the world." She added, "Many times people think, 'My life is over' when they discover cancer. A lot of times, it can ruin the rest of their life and it doesn't have to."

Hartman underwent her second complete mastectomy on June 11. At that time, doctors also removed her frontal lymph nodes, which is the body's natural protection against infection or disease.

Brent Simon was notified recently by the University of Michigan Honors Convocation Committee that he is a James B. Angell Scholar, which is based on Brent Gilbert Simon distinguished academic records. The Angell Scholars with three or more consecutive terms of all A's were asked to stand for personal recognition at the 61st Honors Convocation held on April 1 in Ann Arbor at the Hill Auditorium.

There are some 22,000 undergraduate students at the University, and 257 undergraduate students including Simon, received and all A record for three or more consecutive terms.

Simon is currently working as a student trainee at the Oldsmobile Engineering Department. In May, he will continue his studies at the University of Michigan to finish his junior year in Mechanical Engineering. Simon also worked for General Electric in Cleveland last summer as a co-op student in lighting equipment design.

Cyclin' for CF to be held in area next month

The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation will be sponsoring a "Cyclin' for CF" Bike-a-thon on May 12 from 9:00 a.m. till 3:00 p.m. The announcement was made by Les Schwartz, volunteer Chairperson for the 1984 CF Bike-a-thon.

The course will begin with registration at 8:30 to 8:55 and will run for 1 mile. A participant may complete the course as many times as he wishes. The event is open to all persons who obtain prior sponsorship for at least 10 cents per mile. A person may get as many sponsors as they can. All proceeds will go to benefit children stricken with Cystic Fibrosis.

An official CF T-shirt will be awarded to all those who bring in $25-$99; a back-pack to those turning in $50-$99; and both the T-shirt and back-pack to those turning in $100 or more. All participants will receive an iron-on transfer.

Cystic Fibrosis is a terminal, genetic disease which affects the lungs and digestive system of children. One in 20 persons are carriers of the recessive CF gene. Research has increased the life expectancy of CF children by more than 16 years in the past 17 years of activity.

Anyone wishing to participate in this project should contact Les Schwartz at 224-6190 or Bill Richards at 224-8285 for further details and registration forms.

Letters to the Editor

Bob Carr asks 'What happens when a homemaker loses her job?'

To the Editor:

Every wife and mother is a working woman. Homemaking is work and the many services a homemaker offers her family should be properly rewarded.

Few people would question that statement. But the real question is what happens to a homemaker when there is no longer a home for her to care for?

About four to six million women in America, most of them middle aged and older, face this question today. Through death, divorce, separation, or disablement of their husbands, they have lost their primary means of support, and thus the only job for which they were prepared: homemaker.

These women receive no unemployment benefits or pensions. Many lack the formal work experience needed to enter the job market, yet they often must try to find work in order to survive. While life insurance, alimony or other benefits give some of these women an income, it often isn't enough. Deprivation and poverty, not security, are their reward for having elected to give priority to the traditional roles of wife and mother.

Like workers whose livelihood depends on a plant that closes down, these women are "displaced" workers. They are displaced homemakers.

Because many marriages now end in divorce or death of one spouse—usually the husband—displaced homemakers are the fastest growing victims of both age and sex discrimination, simply because employers aren't used to hiring middle-aged women for any kind of job, entry-level or otherwise. To make the problems worse, these women are forced to compete in the job market against younger people, whose expectations and income requirements are often lower.

The Economic Equity Act, which I have co-sponsored, would help these women help themselves toward independence and economic security, instead of a future of dependency on public assistance programs. The Economic Equity Act specifically includes a tax credit to help address displaced homemakers' difficulties finding employment.

The tax credit would be offered to employers who hire displaced homemakers who must enter the job market but lack up-to-date skills. This bill is highly cost-effective because it would help people off welfare rolls and add them to the payroll as taxpaying citizens.

Another provision of the Economic Equity Act helps provide for the retirement of a homemaker. Marriage is an economic partnership, and a lifelong homemaker, like her husband, deserves income security in her retirement years.

The Economic Equity Act would allow a homemaker to contribute an equal amount as her husband to a tax-sheltered individual Retirement Account. Because displaced homemakers are unlikely to have pensions, a liberalized IRA could be a great help to many older women in the future, especially those who are divorced or widowed. It also would lessen the burden on Social Security and publicly-funded income-maintenance programs.

The needs of women in their middle years, who have contributed to our society through work in the home, cannot continue to be neglected. It makes good sense from every taxpayer's point of view to give these women a hand at achieving independence rather than dependency as they grow older.

Sincerely,

Congressman Bob Carr

Redwings Marching Band honored for area performance

To the Editor:

A great honor has been bestowed upon the St. Johns Redwing Marching Band. The New Orleans World Exposition has extended an invitation to perform on Sunday, June 17. As of this date, the St. Johns Band is the only band from Michigan to be asked to perform at this '84 Worlds Fair. To me, this is a reflection of the quality program offered in our public schools. It also reflects the attitude of our community toward education and the support given to these young musicians.

A tour of seven days is planned. It is essential that a portion of this trip be educational as well as entertaining.

This philosophy will be maintained through travel experiences, visitations to museums, guided tours to places of interest and historical importance.

The basic tour will be as follows: Nashville, Tennessee, tour the city, Grand Old Opry, Opryland; New Orleans, Louisiana, guided tour, Worlds Fair (two days), paddle wheeler, Vatican treasures; and St. Louis, Missouri, guided tour, Six Flags.

Each student is obligated to pay his or her own costs for the trip. The band and the boosters have had some projects to help to defray expenses. However, with 140 students slated to take the trip the amount of money for each is quite limited. There are bandsmen who cannot afford to go and I would like very much to give them the opportunity.

In essence, I am asking you for support in several ways.

1. A direct contribution to the band.
2. Contributions earmarked for individuals.
3. Jobs for those who need help financially (call Walter Cole at the high school at 224-9341, or at home 224-7523).
4. Support of band related fund-raisers for the tour.
5. Personal contributions.

Thank you for your time and consideration. You can be certain that the Redwing Band will continue to support community activities.

Sincerely,

Walter P. Cole
Band Director
St. Johns

Thanks for the recent hospitality

To the Editor:

On behalf of Dorothy Comstock Riley, please allow me the opportunity to thank reporter Susan Owens and the staff of the Clinton County News and the people of St. Johns for your gracious hospitality throughout our recent visit. Mrs. Riley was deeply honored to have been selected as the key note speaker for the Clinton County Lincoln Day Dinner. Your newspaper was extremely generous in the comments given to Mrs. Riley and she appreciated the thoughtfulness of such remarks.

Once again, it was a pleasure to have visited with the staff of the Clinton County News. Keep up the good work and we look forward to seeing you again in the near future.

Sincerely,

Architect's dream possible

To the Editor:

I recently read that the city may receive grant funding on a 2 to 1 ratio, providing merchants will remodel, put on new store fronts or increase their employment.

Here is an opportunity for businessmen to set a unified theme for St.

Johns. The towns, blessed with Victorian architecture, that have restored their "turn of the century" store fronts have realized the uniqueness of "old" with increased business, tourist trade, historical recognition and possible funding. St. Johns has some beautiful second floor store fronts. Let's put an architect's nightmare back to an architect's dream and unify top and bottom.

Sincerely,

Catherine Rumbaugh

names in the news

Two students from Rodney B. Wilson recently won a district-regional math competition and will be heading to the state competition in May.

According to John Minsky, the math department chairman, 13 students attended the competition in East Lansing, after receiving high scores on the annual Michigan Council Teachers of Math examinations.

To determine who would be participating in the competition, children in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades were given a series of three different tests to examine their math abilities. The top scorers on the test were then sent to the April 14th competition.

"We're looking for the top five people," Minsky said. "when you start putting the top against the top, it really gets to be a good competition."

Terry Hart and Jim Gowell, both seventh graders at Rodney B. Wilson, were the winners of the district-regional competition. Others competitors were sixth graders Jeff Wadell, John Becker and Jason McCampbell. Seventh graders Tabitha Dunning, Dione O'Dell and Rick Smith. Eighth graders Jodi Culp, Scott Pauline, Amanda Koenigsnecht, Sue Voisenette and Peter McNamara.

looking ahead

The Theatre Department of St. Johns High School has announced its fourth annual Dinner Theatre presentation. On May 11 and 12, the Theatre Department will be presenting the musical "Tintypes" in a dinner theatre arrangement that has become so popular in the St. Johns area over the past three years.

Tickets for the show will go on sale when the box office opens on April 23. Individual admissions will cost $12.00 per person. The admission price includes a dinner of a tossed garden salad, prime rib of beef, baked potato, French beans almonidine, fresh baked dinner rolls, torte cake, and coffee or milk; excellent live dinner entertainment, the exciting musical "Tintypes", and personal waiters or waitresses serving you at tables festoned with fine dinnerware, candles, and linen clothes and napkins.

The event will be held on the stage of the St. Johns High School auditorium where the audience will be seated at 40 dinner tables of four. Seating for the dinner will start at 6:15 p.m. each night with dinner being served at 6:30 p.m. After all patrons have been served their dinner, they will remain at their dinner tables to enjoy the first act of the musical "Tintypes." At the act break of the show, coffee cups and ice water will be refilled and dessert served, this will be followed by the second act of the show.

For those who are unfamiliar with the musical "Tintypes", this show was written as a special tribute to the happenings of the turn of the century in America. It deals with the difficulties, apprehensions, and enjoyment of immigrant arrivals; the excitement of Teddy Roosevelt and Emma Goldman; the fun of such entertainment like vaudeville, Annd Held, and silent films. Add to this the exciting music of the old tunes of Sousa, Gershwin, folk music and popular entertainers and you have a musical that is a true review of Americana, its music, trials, fun and excitement. Popular and patriotic tunes will be the highlight of the event.

The entire presentation is under the direction of Mr. Robert Koger, St. Johns High School Theatre Director and his student teacher, Mr. Mark Belak. A cast of 28 theatrical production class students will be presenting the musical. The individual sections of the musical are actually directed by these students. The show is accompanied by pianist Julie Stapleman and percussionist Jeff Dietrich. It should also be noted that this class is composed of some of St. Johns High School's finest theatre talent.

Since this is a dinner theatre presentation, there is a unique manner with which you will need to get your tickets or reservations. The only way to get your seats will be to call St. Johns High School at 224-9341 and ask for extension 114, the dinner theatre box office. The box office will open on April 24 at 8:15 a.m. and will be open Monday thru Friday from 8:15 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. until the day of the show.

Once you reach the dinner theatre box office, the reservationist will take your reservation and inform you as to your ticket arrangements. Once you have placed your reservation you will need to send the payment for your tickets to the address given you by the reservationist within five days of your initial call. Once your check has been received, you will receive a postcard confirming your reservation and asking you to present it as your ticket when you come to the dinner and show. If you do not send your check for full payment of your reservation within the five day period, your reservation will be taken from the reserved list and put up for general sale. Since seating is limited to 160 per night, it is suggested that you call early to reserve your seats. If you have questions regarding the show or reservations, call the dinner theatre box office number listed previously.

There is a $1.00 senior citizens discount for all senior citizens who inform the reservationist that they are indeed senior citizens. This can be done by informing the reservationists that you hold a senior citizens discount card.

Mr. Robert Koger cordially invites the public to the dinner theatre and hopes that everyone will enjoy this opportunity.

Hannover Youth Symphony to perform at DeWitt High School

The Hannover Youth Symphony Orchestra of Hannover, West Germany, will visit DeWitt from Tuesday, April 24th until Friday, April 27th as part of the Blue Lake International Exchange Program.

Members of the 63 piece orchestra will stay in private homes while visiting DeWitt, according to Vi Pennington, in charge of all arrangements. They will perform one concert on Thursday, April 26th, at 7:30 p.m. at the high school. There will be no charge to attend.

The Hannover Youth Symphony Orchestra is one of six European musical groups that will visit Michigan during 1984 as part of Blue Lakes International Exchange Program. This program began in 1970 when a 90 voice choir toured England, Belgium and Germany. Since then, nearly 3,000 high school musicians wearing Blue Lake uniforms have visited 300 communities in England, France, Italy, Germany, Austria, Luxembourg, Belgium, the Netherlands, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Finland and Liechtenstein. DeWitt students including Jim Pennington, Matt Elliott, Pat Hennington, Tom Smith and Steve Croley have been involved in this exchange.

In return, nearly 5,000 members of 80 European and Japanese bands, orchestras, choirs and dance groups have come to Michigan to perform in communities throughout the State and we in DeWitt are very pleased that through Pennington's efforts, they will perform for us. Host families have been selected and it should be a very rewarding experience. Pennington has arranged a schedule that will include a tour of the Capitol, Michigan State University and a buffet-get-together.

Morning Musicale performs at meeting

The St. Johns Morning Musicale, a member of the National Federation of Music Clubs, met at the home of Mrs. Polly Briggs on Thursday morning, April 12. Mrs. Frances Peterson reviewed the lives and works of several of the lesser known composers of Austrian music; lesser known but equally important.

A few of the members played examples on the piano of a few of the works of these composers. Diantha Witteveen played "Shades of Blue," "Pink," and "Black and White" from a collection by Starer entitled "Sketches in Color."

Plyllis Rice played "Reflections" by Toch and Polly Briggs played "Lullaby" and "Two English Dances" by Hugo Wolf. Julia Thornton gave a good rendition of Haslinger's "Sonatina in C Mayor" and Evangeline Caudy played Giabelli's "Sonata No. 4."

The next meeting of the Morning Musicale will be held Thursday evening, April 26 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Diantha Witteveen, 605 S. Mead.

Farm Index prices averaged 137 percent of 1977 base

The index of prices received by Michigan farmers for all farm products averaged 137 percent of its 1977 base for the month ending March 15. This represents a 1 percent decline from February. However, farm prices remained 15 percent above last year's level, according to the Federal/State-Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service. The index of prices paid by farmers, nationwide, for commodities and services, interest, taxes and farm wage rates for March was 166 percent of its 1977 base. Contributing to the slight increase were higher prices for fertilizer, feeder livestock, farm machinery and family living items. The index was 4 percent higher than in March 1983.

In the crops sector stronger prices were noted for cash field crops and vegetables, which offset the decline in prices for feed grains and hay. Corn and soybeans were individual commodities showing major price gains and both were up 6 percent from the February level. This is the first noticeable increase for corn and soybeans since last September. Meat animals highlighted the price strengths for the livestock section with a 5 percent gain. However, lower prices for milk and eggs were more than offsetting.

Nationally, the March all farm products index of prices received by farmers increased 1 percent from February to 146 percent of its 1977 average. Higher prices for cattle, corn, soybeans, cotton, and onions were partially offset by lower prices for eggs, milk, celery, hogs and carrots. The index was 9 percent above a year ago.

Cherry production tops the nation

Michigan consistently leads the Nation in tart cherry production averaging about three-fourths of the Nation's cherry supply each year. What will be the size of the 1984 crop? Tart cherry growers, processors, the Cherry Administrative Board and others will have this question answered when the 1984 official USDA tart cherry forecast is released June 20. Interest in the 1984 forecast has been spurred by the unusual weather conditions this winter where both record December-January cold and warm February days were recorded. The frequent wide year to year swings in cherry production over the years has lent great importance to this forecast for both pricing and marketing decisions.

Ground work for this survey begins in late April and early May when Federal/State-Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service enumerators contact about 270 tart cherry producers throughout the state. With the grower's permission, two trees will be chosen at random in their orchard. Counts of the number of cherries on these trees and cherry weights will be made. The data obtained will be used to determine the average cherry yield per tree. This average yield per tree is then used in conjunction with the number of bearing tart cherry trees (about 3.1 million) in Michigan to arrive at the 1984 tart cherry forecast. Individual grower information is kept confidential and used only to produce the forecast.

FOWLER'S OWN 'HUMAN BAT.' The late Clement A. Sohn is being honored in the Paine-Gilliam-Scott Museum, in St. Johns. The museum has recently received additional photos and information on the 1930's dare-devil by his only known relatives, Janet Sohn Lewis, of Eureka, and Patricia Sohn Pasch, of Alma.

Fowler's own 'human bat' is remembered at museum

By SUSAN OWENS
Staff Writer

Look! Up in the air! It's a bird. No, it's a plane. No, it's the "human bat," Clement A. "Clem" Sohn, of Fowler.

Sohn, the late protege of East Lansing Stunt Pilot Arthur J. Davis, held the world record in 1937 for delayed parachuting from an airplane. Reaching heights of 18,500 feet, he would climb out of the cockpit of his plane and jump from the wing, while others watched in awe below.

Donning a webbed flying suit of sailcloth and steeltubing, Sohn would scale and swoop as an elegant bird. When he was just 1000 feet from the ground, he would open a parachute and safely float to the ground.

"I can remember giving reports on him in school," said his niece Janet Sohn Lewis, of Eureka. "And no one would believe me."

Lewis and her sister Patricia Sohn Pasch, of Alma, are the only known relatives of the late Clem Sohn. Their father, Francis, was his only brother. They have recently lent several items to the Paine-Gilliam-Scott Museum to honor Sohn, including pictures of the legendary dare-devil.

According to Lewis, there isn't many things available about the short life of Sohn. He was born Dec. 7, 1910, in Fowler, and throughout school was known for his dare-devilish feats. It wasn't long after meeting stunt pilot Davis, that he chose his specialty of delayed parachuting.

Soon after, he and Davis traveled the world performing feats before thousands of people. In 1937, he and Davis were invited as special guests to the Paris Air Show. Traveling by ship, the men were delayed by weather and arrived late to the show. Not having time to unpack or check his parachutes, the men went up in the plane and proceeded to perform Sohn's most daring feat.

Reports say that during Sohn's performance, the audience was able to see him by the stream of flour that flowed from a container on his back. That day, at the Paris Air Show, hundreds of people saw 26-year-old Sohn fall to his death as his parachutes failed to open.

His unique flying suit and pictures of the Fowler native are now being shown at the Paine-Gilliam-Scott Museum in St. Johns. The museum is open to the public, Wednesday afternoons, and again on Sunday.

Second Annual Fall Classic livestock show set for October

The National Western Stock Show will present its second annual Fall Classic, a youth-oriented livestock show for members of 4-H, Future Farmers of America and junior livestock breed associations, October 10-14.

Ken Hartman, Fall Classic livestock superintendent, announced a number of changes in the show format including the reduction of dates from eight to five days and the switch from a terminal to non-terminal market show for all animals except the grand and reserve grand champions.

"The abbreviated dates will allow all livestock species to be on the grounds simultaneously and cut down on expenses for out-of-state exhibitors," Hartman said.

The Fall Classic, which coincides with the 1984 National 4-H Roundup in Denver, also will offer nightly entertainment and feature National Little Britches Rodeo competition.

In addition to a market show for steers, heifers, lambs and hogs, classes for breeding sheep, breeding heifers, prospect steers and heifers, dairy goats, dairy heifers and pens of three club calves will again be included in the Fall Classic.

Halter and performance classes for 4-H and FFA horse projects and junior breed association horse shows also are included in the Fall Classic schedule.

The Fall Classic will host the National 4-H horse judging contest, the first time the event has been held in the western United States, and 4-H and FFA livestock and meats judging contests.

Besides the auction of champions for junior market livestock, a sale for pens of three calves is scheduled.

Pre-entry nose prints for market beef, steers and heifers, must be submitted to the Fall Classic by May 1. The official deadline for all entries is September 1.

Junior market beef booklets with nomination rules and nose print blanks are available by contacting the National Western Fall Classic, 1325 East 46th Ave., Denver, Colorado 80216 or 303-297-1166.

Official premium books for the 1984 Fall Classic also may be ordered. They will be mailed by May 15.

The inaugural Fall Classic last October attracted 2,621 entries from 21 states.

Catch-a-calves earned at the 1984 National Western Stock Show in January will be judged again during the Fall Classic.

Motz named as top agent

Ron Motz, Rt. 3, Mead Rd., St. Johns, local agent for Farm Bureau Insurance Group, has been named one of the company's top agents of 1983, based on his excellent record of sales and service for the year.

As one of the year's top agents, Motz received Farm Bureau Insurance Group's All American award during the company's recent annual sales convention in Dearborn. The award, reserved for the company's top producers, recognizes agents for their outstanding sales achievements and superior client service.

A member of the company's Leaders for Life Club for top life insurance producers, Motz sold over 2 million in life insurance protection in 1983. He also earned the 1983 Seal of Excellence for the high quality of his life insurance business.

Farm Bureau Insurance Group, one of the state's major insurers, has a statewide force of 425 agents serving 300,000 Michigan policyholders.

Area Farm Bureau group honors two at Chinese dinner

Farm Bureau Community Group members and their guests were treated to a Chinese potluck dinner April 16, while district judge candidate Richard Koenigsnecht addressed the crowd with a message on the honesty and integrity in a name.

The dinner, put on by Jim and Gudy Heppinstall, included a special ceremony honoring Olive Purtil and Gudy Heppinstall with gifts for their participation in five promotions during National Agricultural Week.

"It has been a pleasure to have friends and neighbors devoted to our number one priority; our health, proper eating habits, along with good exercise and sleep," said Norene Foote, Farm Bureau group member. "Habits that could be the answer to most health problems today."

Purtil is a life long farm wife and school teacher, as well as volunteer for local community work.

Heppinstall is currently working with her husband to establish a business in the community. Both of them have been very active in county and state affairs, and are faithful members of the Farm Bureau group.

The Farm Bureau would like to thank many others who have taken an active part in helping our agricultural promotions.

Many thanks to the Dairy Coops, the American Dairy Association and St. Johns area food markets. Also, the St. Johns School system. All have worked together, along with other consumers, helping to improve and strengthen the community.

Spring Fling horse show is set

The Great Lakes Stallion Association is presenting its first annual Spring Fling, an all breed open horse show, to be held on April 28 at the Eaton County Fairgrounds in Charlotte.

The show will begin at 9:00 a.m. and run thru approximately 30 classes. These classes are available to all breeds and the purpose of the show is to have fun and just warm up for the show season. There will be a professional photographer and food available on the grounds.

Al Galloway made his dreams come true with farm business

By SUSAN OWENS
Staff Writer

Sometimes people are afraid to take a chance, to step out and do something they really want to do. Al Galloway, of Al Galloway, Inc., isn't that kind of person.

"I started out with $400 of borrowed money," said Al Galloway, owner of Al Galloway, Inc. "All I had was a pick-up truck and an implement tractor with a handle wynch."

Today, thanks to his willingness to try something new, Galloway has an approximately $600,000 inventory of new and used farm machinery. During his 20 years of operation, he has exchanged his pick-up truck for three semi-trucks and one straight truck. At the same time, the original staff of he and his wife, Maxine, has grown to eight people during his 20 years of operation, including his daughter Jane and son, Jim.

Galloway said he has never regretted a minute of starting his own business. After working at Lansing Oldsmobile for 12 years, Galloway decided to return to the "farm" in St. Johns in 1964.

"I didn't like working in the factory," he said. "I was born and raised on a farm in Gratiot County. So, I decided to come back and open my own farm machinery business."

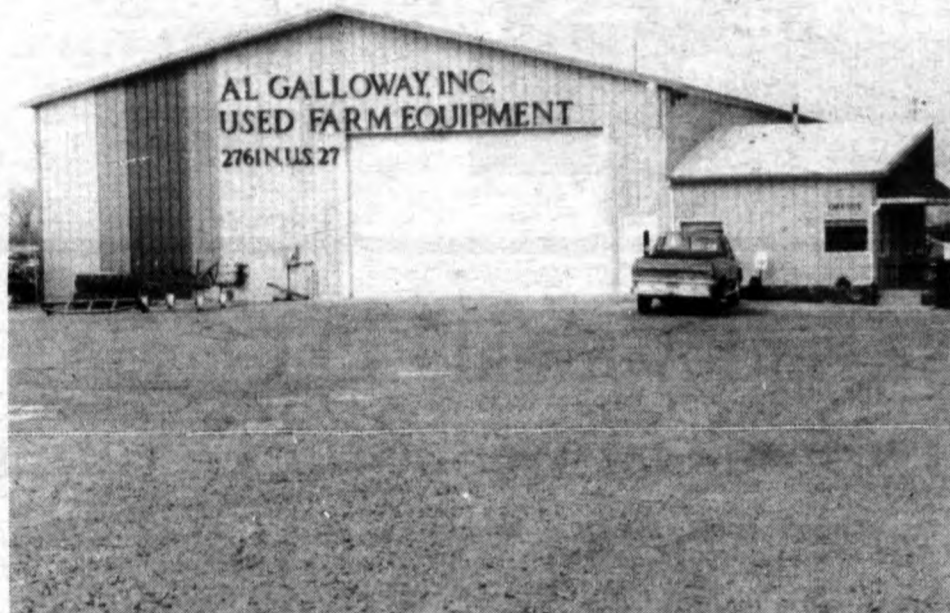

He decided to start an independent dealership, giving him more control of the merchandise he was selling. Being independent, he was able to sell any brand of machinery and handle his own financing.

"I owe all of my success to borrowing lots of money," he said. "And just being honest with my creditors has allowed me to borrow lots of money."

Galloway said his prices have also played a major factor in his success. Since he buys much of his machinery out west, in farming states like Nebraska and Iowa, he is able to sell his equipment at a much cheaper rate. He said that since prices are cheaper there, he is able to hand those same prices down to his customers.

Al Galloway, Inc., is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. On Saturday's, from 8 a.m. until noon.

AL GALLOWAY, INC., BEGAN business twenty years ago. He started with only $400 of borrowed money. Today, he has one of the largest independent Farm Equipment businesses in the area.

Mix vegetables and flowers in annual summer garden

Many people plan their gardens as if flowers and vegetables could not coexist in the same soil.

Others know that a multipurpose garden that mixes flowers, vegetables, herbs and ornamentals can help save space, improve the appearance of the home grounds, and be a productive source of cut flowers, herbs for many uses, and fresh produce.

Lee Taylor, Extension horticulturist at MSU, says gardeners need not feel bound by traditional ideas about vegetable gardens and flower beds. Flowers are just as appropriate in the vegetable garden as herbs on the border of a flower bed or asparagus or rhubarb as a landscape accent.

Some people believe that planting certain crops together aids in controlling some insect pests or somehow benefits the plants in other ways. Lists of plants that supposedly grow well together are readily available, Taylor points out, though there's been very little research to investigate such relationships. He suggests trying out combinations that look promising. Even if they don't keep the garden insect-free, they'll add different colors and textures to the garden.

If gardening space is limited, mixing the various types of plants is one way to make maximum use of available space. Seeds of annual flowers could be planted around earlymaturing vegetables, or seeds or transplants of warm-season vegetables and annual flowers could be planted among spring-flowering bulbs. A wide, sunny flower bed could have a border of strawberries flanked by a mass of zinnias backed by pepper plants, caged tomatoes, pole beans and sunflowers.

"The combinations are endless," Taylor observes.

Keim named top Farm Bureau agency manager

Don Keim, 1005 E. Cass St., St. Johns, local agency manager for Farm Bureau Insurance Group, has been named one of the company's top agency managers of 1983, based on his agency's excellent record of sales and service for the year.

As one of the year's top agency managers, Keim received Farm Bureau Insurance Group's "All American" award during the company's recent annual sales convention in Dearborn. He also earned membership in the Executives Club, an honor reserved for the company's top 27 agents and agency managers for their superior insurance sales and service.

Keim, whose agency is comprised of 17 agents serving Clinton and Shiawassee counties, also earned awards for exceeding agency production objectives in 1983.

Farm Bureau Insurance Group, one of the state's major insurers, has a statewide force of 425 agents serving 300,000 Michigan policyholders.

Lifestyle

Forty farms in twenty four counties were certified as centennial farms on March 28, Secretary of State Richard H. Austin announced.

A centennial farm is one which has been in continuous possession of the same family for 100 years or more, must contain a minimum of 10 acres with an estimated sales of $50.00 or, if less than 10 acres, gross sales of $250.00. Only land and not buildings is considered in qualifications.

More than 4,000 Michigan farms have been certified as centennial farms since the program was inaugurated in 1948, Austin said.

Certificates to owners are provided by the Michigan History Division of the Department of State. Markers are provided by the Detroit Edison and Consumers Power companies.

Farms certified in Clinton County are owned by George and Shirley Austin, 1173 S. Hollister Rd., Ovid; Brownie and Raymond Locher, 2820 W. Lehman Rd., DeWitt; and Paul and Carol Wohlfert, 12400 Lehman Rd., Eagle.

R and H Sales: They do the shopping for you

By SUSAN OWENS
Staff Writer

Psst! Hey! Wanna buy a used car? Then, R and H Auto Sales may be just the place you're looking for.

Owners Red Devereaux and Howard Ruby (R and H) opened up their St. Johns car business three years ago after each spent many years selling and servicing automobiles for other dealerships.

According to Devereaux, they decided to take a more personal route with their business and start an independent dealership, in which all types of cars are sold.

"We weren't interested in new car franchises," he said. "Used cars was the way we wanted to go.

We're strictly used and late model cars.

"There's a lot of people who want something special," he said. "We try to find it. We try to match the car with the individual."

Devereaux said they keep an average of 20 cars on their lot on M-21, just south of US-27. They also spend a great deal of time looking for specific automobiles for their customers.

He added that they buy many of their cars independently from individuals who simply pull into their lot and want to trade their cars in.

"We try to do a good job for our local customers," he said. "We do our own service, too.

"We don't have our own garage, but that can also be an asset. We know who's good in specific problems and take the cars there. A lot of independent garages and dealerships in the area cooperate with us."

R and H Auto Sales is open Monday through Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Sheriff warns area kids of strangers

As the weather warms with the advent of spring, Clinton County Sheriff Anthony Hufnagel warns county residents and their children to be on the alert for the presence of strangers in the neighborhood.

"Undoubtedly, spring is the time of renewal. And while most young men's fancy turns to love—there are the rare but still too frequent cases of perversion," says Sheriff Hufnagel. "In today's society, the pressures of living affect us all in different ways. Some individuals strike out at the world through rape, child molestation or assault."

"Spring seems to heighten those urges, and year after year we see more incidents of such violence occurring during this season."

Sheriff Hufnagel offers the following suggestions to help maintain personal safety:

Warn your children about strangers: to never accept candy or presents and stay away from strange cars.

Always know where your children are; if possible, make sure they are being supervised by an adult.

Get to know the people who jog through your neighborhood—who they are, where they live.

Keep windows locked at night; doors too.

Keep porch lights on when planning to return home after dark; always have keys ready to place in the lock.

Always drive with car doors locked, especially if you are driving alone.

Avoid parking or walking alone in unlighted areas.

If you are working late, do not hesitate to have someone escort you to your car.

If you are afraid, call your sheriff's department or other law enforcement agency for help; do not fear embarrassment if you are mistaken.

"The only kind of news we like to hear about the people in our county is good news," says Sheriff Hufnagel. "By following these personal safety tips and being on the alert, we can all have a great spring season."

Time to trade that winter-weary car! See today's classifieds for terrific values on new and used cars.

DeWitt track team takes top honors in recent event opener

Editor's Note: Last week the Clinton County News — DeWitt/Bath Review incorrectly reported that the St. Johns High School Track Team took top honors in the recent opening track meet at DeWitt High School. It should have read that DeWitt High School took top honors, with the girls division of the meet being won by St. Johns. Our apologies.

The DeWitt High School track team recently took top honors in the first quad track meet of the season. In the event, the boys team came in first with 79 total points, while the DeWitt girls took second with 63 points. Overall, DeWitt scored the highest number of points, giving them the victory over St. Johns, Bath and Fowler High Schools.

St. Johns came in first in the girl's division of the meet.

The track meet, the opening kick off for the track season, featured seventeen events including the pole-vaulting competition, long jump and relay races.

Mike Price took a first place for DeWitt in the pole-vaulting event, with a jump of 11 feet. Joe Wheeldon took first in the long jump competition with a distance of 19 feet 6 inches.

The Bath boys track team took second place with 71 points. St. Johns boys came in third with 61, while Fowler finished with 43.

In the girl's division, Teresa Kirchen, of DeWitt, took a first in the 100 yard dash, with a time of 12 seconds. In the 880 yard relay, the team of Rhonda Davis, Keri Schmitt, Sherry Garver and Teresa Kirchen took a first with the time of 1:50.9. Kirchen also placed first in the 220 yard dash, with a time of 27.3 seconds.

Ionia County Speedway to begin their weekly racing program

Promoter's Roger and Ron Flinn announce that Ionia County Speedway will begin their weekly racing programs on Friday night May 4 with warm-ups at 7:00 p.m. and racing at 8:00 p.m.

Track officials have been busy over the winter months making many improvements to the speedway. Most of these improvements, such as new track caution lights and a new watering pond to keep the track dust free, have been made with the drivers safety in mind.

Four divisions of stock cars will race each Friday night throughout the 1984 racing season. The Late Model Super Stocks will be featured, on the wide high banked 1/2 mile track along with the Sportsmen and Street Stocks. The fourth class which will be racing on the 1/4 mile oval will be the ever popular Flinn Stocks. Over 80 race cars are expected opening night.

Special events for Sprints On Dirt (SOD) are also planned for the 1984 racing season. The first exciting event for SOD Sprints will be Saturday night May 12.

Ionia County Speedway is located just south of I-96 at the Lake Odessa exit (exit 64) about 33 miles southwest of St. Johns.

Everything is coming up cash when you advertise in classified.

DeWitt track places in Spartan Relays meet

In the recent Spartan Relay track meet, Teresa Kirchen, of DeWitt High School, placed eighth in the 60 yard dash, with a time of 7.8 seconds. In the 880 yard relay, the team of Rhonda Davis, Jane Skoczylas, Sherry Garver and Teresa Kirchen, placed eighth, with a time of 1:55.9.

In the boys division of the meet, a DeWitt team of Bob Price, Mike Mocere, Rob Droste and George Ramirez, came in 7th in the sprint medley, with a time of 2:38.6. Also, a DeWitt team made up of Bob Price, Mike Price, Kent Gartside and George Ramirez, placed 6th, with a time of 3:38.9.

Clean 'n Time helps answer needs

By SUSAN OWENS
Staff Writer

"We feel that the treatment of fabrics is important," said Terry Rogers, manager of Clean 'n Time. "We're helping people to save their investments in fabric."

Clean 'n Time cleaners began servicing the the St. Johns area less than five months ago. However, Rogers said that the actual business began with research several months before the opening.

"I studied dry cleaners in several areas around the state," she said. "We wanted to find the best way possible to service the community."

As a result, Clean 'n Time offers the public a full line of cleaning services including professional same day dry cleaning, shirt laundering, leathers and suede cleaning, hat cleaning and the cleaning and preserving of wedding dresses.

According to Rogers, one of their more convenient features about the business is their drive up window. She said that service accommodates not only the disabled person, but also the busy mother, who can't afford to take the time to unstrap and strap their child into a carseat when picking up their clothes.

Clean 'n Time is owned as a subsidiary of Clinton Memorial Hospital. Rogers explained that in an effort to keep hospital costs down, many hospitals are branching out into other businesses. Most hospitals often look into something in the health field, but after examining the needs of St. Johns, Clinton Memorial decided it could best service the community by opening a cleaners.

And, according to Rogers, they have met their goal. She said that several associations have toured their facilities and have commented on their procedure and lay out.

"Many professionals have said we've got the best store in Michigan," she said. "The reason our store looks so good, is not just because we're new, it's because we care. We enjoy helping to make people look good."

CLEAN 'N TIME is one of the most recent businesses to sign an advertising contract with the new Clinton County News. Welcome aboard.

Clergymen to attend cancer program

Several area clergymen will be attending the fourth annual Clergy Oncology Residency Program April 30th. through May 2nd.

Those attending the program include: Charles B. Burhop of St. Paul Lutheran Church, Fowler; Denis R. Spitzley of Most Holy Trinity Catholic Church, Fowler; and Russell Payne of St. Johns Church of the Nazarene, St. Johns.

Goals of the residency program are to provide the clergy with a more optimistic view of cancer and practical ways they can decrease the incidence of cancer through education, and enhance their ability to provide more effective care to patients and family members.

The residency program will provide up-to-date information on cancer, its diagnosis, growth, and its treatment. The clergy will meet over twenty people in a variety of specialties dealing with cancer and its impact on the patients and their families.

Residents in previous programs have commented that they had considered hospitals cold, clinical, scientific places, but found a lot of sensitive caring by staff members. Some commented that they learned much about ministering from nurses.

There is still room for one more participant in this year's program. The program is sponsored by Sparrow Hospital and the American Cancer Society.

She proves that cancer isn't always fatal

As a way of keeping her mind off her situation, Hartman kept busy continuing to work on two crocheting projects. She said she was able to do all of the things she could do previous to the operation, except lift heavy items.

In October of 1969, Hartman entered the hospital for the third time for a gall bladder operation. Less than one year later, she was shocked to find that she had also become a victim of uterine cancer.

Within 14 months, Hartman had undergone four major surgeries. She said during that time she naturally had to battle against depression, but that she never allowed herself to dwell on it for long.

"On the third day you cry and feel sorry for yourself," she said. "But, for only about two hours, and that's in the middle of the night. You also cry where no one else will see you. You don't want anyone to give you sympathy."

According to Hartman, she never once thought she was going to die during the whole ordeal. "You just keep thinking your too important to leave this world ... and you make a pact with God, you really do. Then when that (pact becomes reality), its time for another pact."

Hartman's first deal was to see her 15-year-old daughter graduate from DeWitt High School. That day has since come and gone. Her two daughters and one son have grown up and started families of their own. Today, she and her husband, Al, are the grandparents to two children.

"If it weren't for the grace of God, I wouldn't be here." She explained, "At the same time I was going through with my operations, four other women were, too. I'm the only one left."

According to Hartman, the reason so many people die from cancer is that they don't recognize the symptoms in time. She said many people refuse to even examine themselves because of what they may find.

"When something is not right, I go to the doctor immediately," she said. "Any change of spot may be the start of cancer."

Hartman was one of the first charter members of Reach to Recovery, a program designed to help mastectomy patients deal with their situation before and after the operation. As part of the program, she delivers a kit that contains a prosthesis, an exercise rope and a booklet dealing with breast cancer. She is also available to answer any questions a person might have about the operation.

Hartman has also spoken to several women's clubs and organizations in Clinton County. "It's very hard to educate people about it," she said. "People bury their head in the sand."

"The word cancer is a scary word,"

she added. "I know, it used to scare me."

Hartman makes a point to discuss breast cancer annually with the Health Classes at DeWitt High School. For her, a youth who may have a member of the family dealing with this problem, is a special concern.

"I'm very interested in teenagers," she said. "Very often the teenager is left out. Parents think they don't understand, but they do ... a lot more than they think they do."

Hartman also works at DeWitt High School in the special education resource room. She said she thinks even that is encouraging to the students.

"Teenagers see me daily," she said. "I think that's good for them."

Hartman said that many people, including the students, are comforted when they see she has survived her combat against cancer.

"People would talk to my husband about me," she explained. "They wondered if I was still alive." She continued with a smile, "I plan to live to be in my 90's."

Without a doubt, Hartman has proven that cancer doesn't have to be fatal. Her life is a living testimony that the word isn't really that scary. And her goal? To let others know that they too can survive.

That's Life

By Nancy Fischbach

Editor's Note:

This is to introduce a new columnist for the fine readers of the Clinton County News and DeWitt-Bath Review to enjoy.

Nancy Fischbach was a former five-year resident of DeWitt, having moved there originally in 1976. Since leaving the Clinton County area, she has lived in Matthews, North Carolina where she has been writing for the South East News in Matthews.

She describes her weekly column as being about life and situations easy for modern day folks to relate to. We think you'll enjoy her journalistic offerings.

ON THE MOVE AGAIN

by Nancy Fischbach

How many times have you felt when your husband comes in and announces his promotion, and it is 1,000 miles south, that you'd die and fade away?

Your heart drops, the tears swell up in your eyes, and your stomach hits bottom. You choke out, "Congratulations, honey!"

You've moved so many times in the past 20 years you don't even want to think about it and here it is, time to adjust one more time. You know from past experience he will have to go ahead and get the job going and look for a house, and you will stay behind with the vacuum in one hand, Ajax in the other, a "For Sale" sign in the front yard, and be both mom and dad to the kids.

After many trips to the new location, you and your family finally decide on a house and hope someone is deciding to buy yours.

After these complicated transactions take place, the wonderful day comes for the friendly movers. They make you feel they have everything under control, and then when you arrive at your new home, you realize you too, should have been in better control.

There is the initial shock of walking into that empty house, seeing all that has to be done, eating McDonald's hamburgers because you can't find the box with the pots and pans. Bedtime rolls around, and you realize you must find the box with the towels and washcloths, pillows and blankets and sheets. But where?

The next morning, it's up early and off to the different schools to help enroll the children and pass out lunch money. After a few hours to yourself to start unpacking or hang a picture, the doors fly open and you hear, "I hate it" and "I'm not going back."

After a couple of weeks, the house takes on the shape of a home, the kids aren't slamming the doors and shedding quite as many tears. You can get to the grocery store and Post Office without a map taped to the dash.

Then Sunday comes and you find a church to attend in the hope of some familiarity, a friendly face, and possibly a visit from some of the members in the near future. The following week, with everyone falling into a routine, the reality sets in.

Your phone isn't going to ring because no one knows you, your doorbell isn't going to ring because you don't even know your neighbors. So there you are—your television, coffee, and a magazine.

Moving today isn't like it used to be. It's a very transit society and people seem to be very busy and into just their own life.

They find many excuses not to call on the new family—they're busy, they wouldn't know what to say, I'll do it tomorrow, etc. It's sure not like on Walton's Mountain where people drop by with a friendly hello, a cake or a pie, and an invitation to Sunday dinner.

Moving today can be an emotional trauma or just another challenge in life that builds character. That's life, and this too, shall pass.

The afternoon session closed with everyone present gaining knowledge from new ideas presented by the lodge.

The Sunbeam Rebekah Lodge wishes to thank everyone who helped to make their meeting such a great success, especially the visiting Sisters who filled in as officers, Arlo and Elaine Barnard for their clever construction of the Mackinac Bridge, that the President of the Assembly and everyone crossed over the bridge to enter and leave the lodge room. They would also like to thank the local business places that donated items to help fill the guest packages and the Improvement League for the use of their Hall.

'Evita' returns to the stage at Michigan State University

"Evita," which broke box office records during the premiere season at Michigan State University's Wharton Center, returns for two performances April 24th and 25th

Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. in the Great Hall.

Recently concluding a five-year run on Broadway, "Evita" became the 18th longest running show in New York history, running concurrently with two other Andrew Lloyd Webber hits "Cats" and "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat."

Starring in the title role is Florence Lacey, whose performance as Evita has drawn acclaim both on Broadway and in two national touring companies. Tim Bowman returns in the role of Che Guevara and John Leslie Wolfe again portrays Juan Peron.

"Evita" is based on the rise to power of real-life Eva Peron, second wife of Argentine president Juan Peron. During the 1940s and early 1950s, she maneuvered her way into a position that made her the most powerful woman in South America, if not in the world, before dying of cancer at the age of 33.

"Eva Peron was a fascinating woman," says director Harold Prince. "She did many good things — working to give women the right to vote in Argentina, for example. And she was also a megalomaniac, corrupted by all that power. We try to show both sides."

Prince sees "Evita" less as a straight biography of a glamorous, charismatic and controversial heroine than a tale of how Eva Peron used the airwaves, speaking directly to the Argentine people, to achieve her own ends.

"She's a media creature," says Prince. "The show is really about the media — what people see on a screen or hear on the radio."

Similar to another Webber-Rice musical, "Jesus Christ Superstar," this show began its career as a double record album before being staged by Prince in London in 1978. When it premiered on Broadway the following season, the show — which is all singing and dancing — already had a top-40s hit song: "Don't Cry For Me, Argentina." "Evita" won the Tony, the New York Drama Critics' Circle and Drama Desk awards as Best Musical of the Season in 1980.

Lyrics are by Tim Rice, the choreography by Larry Fuller, with sets, costumes and multimedia projections by Timothy O'Brien and Tazeena Firth. Lighting is by David Hersey.

A limited number of seats remain on sale at the Wharton Center Box Office priced at $17.00 and $14.50. For all full-time students, there is a 20 percent discount, with tickets at $13.60 and $11.60. Phone orders are accepted with MasterCard or VISA by calling (517) 355-6688, 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. weekdays.

These performances also mark the debut of "Phonic Ear," a newly-installed convenience for hearing-impaired playgoers. Funded entirely by special gifts to Wharton Center, the lightweight earphones are available at no charge on a priority-request basis on show evenings.

Daily exercise program advised

People sometimes take better care of their cars than they do of their bodies. But cars can be traded when they rust and wear out, while bodies must last a lifetime.

Daily exercise will make your body more efficient and effective. Make physical exercise part of your daily activity just like brushing your teeth every morning. If you don't exercise, unused parts of the human body will grow weak.

The goal of daily exercise is to feel as good as possible and to perform as well as possible in all of your activities. Physical fitness will give you the amount of strength necessary to do everyday activities without undue fatigue and to have strength and endurance left over at the end of the day without becoming exhausted. To keep physically fit requires a conscious effort.

Getting started and following through with a physical fitness program, while difficult, could save your life. After age 25, many people grow old, weak, stiff and sore year by year. While physical exercise will not stop you from growing old, it will prolong your active years.

Don't overdo any exercise at the beginning. The aches and pains that might result could discourage you from continuing. Begin slowly, with only a few exercises, for several days. Gradually increase your activity. Add more exercises as you improve your physical fitness.

Muscle conditioning exercises will lead to a sense of well-being. In addition, strong muscles protect bones, joints and abdomen against injury. For cardiovascular conditioning, aerobic exercise is necessary. Aerobic exercises include: jogging, swimming, bicycling and brisk walking. Muscle conditioning together with aerobic exercises provides an excellent way to keep fit.

A word of warning. Before you undertake an exercise program, see your doctor. You may have a particular problem that calls for a modification in the program. Remember there are no shortcuts to physical fitness. Don't let your body die young. It can only be strengthened by using it every day, and it takes physical exercise to use parts not involved in usual daily regime.

The excitement of live theatre comes to St. Johns on Saturday, April 28, when 13 young actors and 3 musicians from Interlochen Arts Academy present a program at 11:00 a.m. in Swegles Elementary gymnasium.

Remember the bond sales during the war? This was taken from the Clinton County Republican News dated January 13, 1944.

4TH. LOAN DRIVE STARTS TUESDAY

Meetings Being Held in Townships This Week People Urged To Buy Early and Save Work For the Solicitors

Chairman Edward W. Fehling, in charge of the 4th. war loan drive for Clinton County, has been busy this week holding meetings in several places in Clinton County. "We have fine crowds in some places and few workers have shown up in others," he said Thursday morning.

"Just as our men in uniform must keep going day after day and night after night on the fighting fronts, so the demands of this war will come to the people at home," Fehling said. "There will be no let up. There can be no let up. The more we do and the quicker we do it, the better it will be for the war effort—the quicker we may hope to end this war."

Every person who volunteers to do this house to house work on the bond drive is making a distinct sacrifice. Fehling pointed out, "Everyone is busy. Gas rationing limits driving. Shortage of help handicaps workers in their regular jobs, on their farms or in their homes. The people who can, and will, buy the $979,000 of war bonds could simplify this work if they would not wait to be called on—simply go to their bank and make their subscription without being asked or urged."

Mr. Fehling also pointed out that all of the banks are carrying an extra load and have the same shortage of help experienced by other businesses. If the buying would start immediately and be spread over a long period, it would ease their problem.

OLD CANNONBALL JUMPED THE TRACK MONDAY NIGHT

Transportation for war plant workers, has been, and will be a problem. Ingenious use of various vehicles has partly solved the problems. Not the least famous among these vehicles is the Cannonball, a Chevrolet panel job rigged up cooperatively by Alma and St. Louis men who work at the Nash-Kelvinator in Lansing.

The Cannonball has been transporting a load of nine or ten men three round trips each 24 hours from the Alma-St. Louis district to Lansing. One shift would drive to Lansing. Another group finishing a shift would drive it back. The Cannonball has been rolling through St. Johns six times each 24 hours for weeks and weeks. It had almost a "Casey Jones" tradition built up. Monday night something went wrong.

Headed southward about 10:00 with a load of nine men, the Old Cannonball had reached a point about 30 rods north of the Maple Rapids bridge. Suddenly it began to careen crazily. The driver had no control. Off into the flooded ditch it drove with its passengers trapped inside its paneled sides.

Luckily the water was not too deep. Gradually the shocked, bumped and cut men crawled out into about three feet of chilly water onto the highway. Edgar Frisby, Charles Downing and Anthony Weda of Alma, and Harry C. Miller of St. Louis were brought to Clinton Memorial Hospital suffering from shocks, bumps and lacerations.

The Cannonball was righted and hauled into St. Johns. Tuesday it sat disconsolately near Jacks Body Shop battered and with Maple River cattails and weeds frozen onto its exterior. Mechanics said a broken tie rod caused the accident. They questioned whether the Cannonball would ever make again its constant trips up and down U.S. 27.

HOUSEWIVES TOLD TO KEEP RATION BOOK NO. 3

Housewives were advised today by the OPA that they must keep War Ration Book Three in a safe place. It will be used again in the future although only shoe stamps are valid in it at this time. Other stamps will be designated for use from time to time.

For the first time since rationing began a year ago, all buying of rationed foods is now done from one ration book, that is Book Four. OPA asks that everyone protect both books three and four.

The St. Johns Bowling Association ended a successful season Wednesday evening of this week with a banquet, the awarding of prizes and trophies to winning teams and individuals, and a dancing party at the high school gymnasium. Despite the inroads made by induction of men bowlers, the association ended the year with a nice balance.

When President D.E. Smith called upon John Martin for the financial report of the year, the over 200 members cheered when they heard that the cash balance of $281.21 at the start of the year had been increased to $890.12, and the association had in its treasury $1,100 in

By SUSAN OWENS
Staff Writer

The sixth graders at Waldron Middle School are definitely a group of winners, thanks to a recent substance abuse program designed to warn the children about the dangers of using drugs.

"The Winner's Circle," a program sponsored by Community Crusade Against Drugs, is a two week event in which students view actual human species, watch films and read literature about the effects of drugs.

In the final three days of activities, program area director Joe Whitaker visits the classroom and outlines the necessary project requirements in order for the students to be placed in the "Winner's Circle."

According to Whitaker, the requirements for each child includes: the maintenance of passing grades in school; exhibition of good conduct and citizenship; saying and signing the "Winner's Pledge" to stay away from drugs; reading "The Winner" or "Listen" magazine and talking articles over with at least one adult; making a poster that is anti-drug and pro-health; writing an essay stating why the child has chosen not to use drugs; and writing a poem or song that will warn others to stay away from drugs.

Whitaker said that approximately 50 Waldron students recently finished the course and that all of them have something to be proud of.

"You are an example now," he told the students Thursday, during the awards assembly. "You are the example in this area that kids nowadays are smart and don't want to mess up their life. We wanted to show you that you can still get awards for good work."

All of the children who met the program's requirements received an official "The Winner's Circle" T-shirt. Also, in each of the three events, children were honored for their efforts with a Waldron sweatshirt for first place, a hooded Waldron sweatshirt for second place and a gym bag for third. A camera was also given away in a drawing featuring all of the children.

The "Winner's Circle" program actually began with Whitaker, nine years ago, as a community service of the Seventh Day Adventist Church. Since that time, he has spoken to an estimated 100,000 children, in and around Michigan, about the harmful effects of drugs.

According to Whitaker, the outline is designed for sixth graders, the most receptive age for the program. He said that age group is old enough to understand the effects of drugs and yet, young enough to make a decision before encountering too many drug related situations.

Mary Ann Chartrand, principal at Waldron Middle School, said she hopes that the program can become an annual event for the children.

"The Winner's Circle" substance abuse program was sponsored by the Fowler Lions Club, with cooperation from Waldron Middle School. Financial support was received from the community and church organizations.

Clothes demand Performance

By SUSAN OWENS
Staff Writer

Old clothes never die, they just give repeat performances thanks to Lynn Henning, owner of the Repeat Performance Consignment Shop in St. Johns.

Henning opened her used clothing business Dec. 1st after moving from the Traverse City area. She said it was there that she first got the idea for her own consignment shop.

"We moved here when my husband found a job in Lansing," she explained. "And I was looking for something to do. There were a few consignment shops in Traverse City and I figured (owning my own shop) was something I could do."

According to Henning, at the same time she recognized the increasing demand for used clothing that has developed over the past few years.

"I feel that there's a market for second hand clothing," she continued. "I think the stigma about used clothing is no longer there."

Henning added that she feels the difference between her consignment shop and garage sales, is that her business is more choosy about what it will sell.

"The things we sell are practically brand new," she said. "Things must be clean, nice and fashionable."

Items at the store are sold by consignment, meaning that people wanting to sell their articles can bring them to the shop and have them sold by Henning during a period of 60 days. When the article is sold, both the person and Henning split the income from the merchandise.

According to Henning, her dream is to eventually expand her business to the downtown area, buy a large building and sell everything from nuts and bolts to men's clothing.

Until that time, the performance will continue on Village Square Drive, just west of Lansing Street. The shop is open Tuesday through Friday, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and Saturday's, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Certificates sent to area schools honoring test performance

Certificates of achievement have been sent to 1,511 public schools throughout Michigan honoring them for the performance of their students on the State Board of Education's annual reading and math assessment tests.

The certificates are signed by Gov. James Blanchard, State Superintendent of Public Instruction Phillip E. Runkel and Dr. Gumecindo Salas, President of the Michigan Board of Education.

This marks the fifth year that schools have been honored for outstanding performance on the state reading and math tests.

To be eligible for a certificate at least 75 percent of the fourth, seventh or tenth graders must pass both the reading and math tests administered annually in September and October.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Phillip Runkel said 1,173 schools that have fourth grades received certificates while 182 schools that have seventh grades and 156 schools that have tenth grades received the awards.

The 1,511 schools that earned certificates of achievement represent nearly half of the 3,241 elementary and middle schools and junior and senior high schools in Michigan.

In a letter to all superintendents receiving certificates for schools in their district, Runkel said: "Please present the certificate to the students and staff and extend the congratulations of the State Board of Education to the students, the staff, the families and the residents of the community. It is always welcome news to hear of schools such as these where students and teachers are working to attain high achievement."

Revision in wheat program contracts made

Because of recently enacted legislation, significant revisions have been made in the contract for participation in the 1984 Wheat Price Support and Production Adjustment Program. Sign up for this program ends May 4.

Producers who have a wheat base but no wheat planted for 1984 harvest can now sign up to set aside 10 percent of wheat base and receive a diversion payment.

Producers with wheat planted will receive a combination of paid diversion for 10 percent of a farms acreage base and 20 percent unpaid acreage reduction requirement. The diversion payment rate is $2.70 per bushel. You may receive 50 percent of diversion payment in advance upon written request.

The target price for wheat has been changed from $4.45 per bushel to $4.38 per bushel as a result, the portion of wheat deficiency payment subject to the payment limitation has been reduced from 90 cents to 83 cents and the rate of liquidated damages for failure to comply with the requirements of the Wheat Price Support and Production Adjustment Program contract has been reduced from 89 cents per bushel to 87 cents per bushel.

Haying and grazing of wheat which is designated for acreage conservation reserve (set aside) is permitted so long as the haying is completed before July 1, 1984 or the wheat reaches soft dough stage. There is no deadline for grazing; however, grazing must be sufficient to prevent the wheat from reaching maturity and cannot be grazed to such an extent that the acreage is not protected from wind or water erosion.

Producers who have signed up in the wheat program previously may withdraw from participation during the new sign up period. To withdraw, you must notify the county office, in writing, of your intenion to withdraw. The notice must be received by May 4, 1984.

Producers who are not currently participating in the 1984 Wheat Price Support and Production Adjustment Program or the Wheat Payment-In-Kind Program may sign agreements to participate in the revised programs by May 4, 1984.

Producers who participate in the 1984 Wheat Payment-In-Kind Program will receive 85 percent of a farm's program payment yield instead of 75 percent as previous sign up regulations indicated.

Once you've decided to mow with the best, it's only a question of how fast you want to finish.

No matter what kind of lawn you have or how much time you want to spend on it, there's a dependable, top-quality John Deere mower that's designed for the job.

If, for example, you have a lawn of a quarter acre or less, your best bet is probably a walk-behind mower. There are several models available, including the 21-inch self-propelled version pictured above. It comes with a dependable 4-hp engine, a deep die-cast aluminum deck, and rear-wheel gear drive.

If you own a larger lawn, you may prefer one of the five new John Deere riding mowers. Even the 8-hp R70, the lowest cost model, will mow a half-acre in just 30 to 45 minutes, depending on the amount of trimming to be done. It has a 30-inch mower, a full-length welded steel frame, a 5-speed shift-on-the-go gear-drive transmission, and an optional 6½-bushel rear grass bag. Or, if you mow an acre or more, a John Deere lawn tractor may be in order. The 116, for instance, with a 46-inch mower and 16-hp engine, will mow an acre of lawn in about 45 minutes. All five lawn tractors can provide added versatility with optional front blade, snow thrower, dumpcart, lawn thatcher, and rear-mounted grass bagger (for 30- or 38-inch mowers).

HEAVY-DUTY TILLER

John Deere 6-hp tiller prepares deep, fine seedbeds... saves hours of hoe work. Wide turbo tines mix and mulch soil thoroughly to 7-inch depth... adjust to working widths of 13 to 24 inches. Optional tine extensions increase tilling width to 34 inches. Reverse gear lets you back tiller out of tight spots. Pressure-activated clutch handle — release it and all action stops.
