MINT FESTIVAL BARRELS IN PLACE-Skip Hughes, co-ordinator of the barrel project, is standing by one of the 55 barrels that are placed throughout the St. Johns community.

The barrels were donated by Capital Federal Savings and Loan and St. Johns Big Boy.

They were filled with plants by area mint farmers including Eugene Livingston, Crosby Mint Farms, Tom Irrer, Louie Sipkovsky and Pete Kurncz.

Hughes painted the majority of the barrels himself and had help from his wife, Karen and Diane Edwards with the others.

Southpoint Mall to be site of Bed Race June 15

The Third Annual Southpoint Mall Charity Bed Race is this Saturday, June 15, starting at approximately 11 a.m., with all proceeds going to aid Ethiopia.

Each bed entered in the race will compete in two preliminary heats to establish the top six teams with the best times.

These teams will advance to the Bed to Bed heats.

These heats are grueling head to head heats. The first bed across the finish line wins that heat and advances until the champion is crowned.

Trophies and plaques, donated by the Southpoint Mall Merchants Association, will be awarded for first place, second place, best bed, best modified bed, best overall silks and most humorous silks.

Also, the winning team will receive Southpoint Mall gift certificates.

Contestants should be at the Mall at approximately 8:45 a.m.

For more information call Lori at 517-224-9456, or Joahn at 517-224-9331.

St. Johns Mint Festival

Mint Festival events deadlines approaching

By KIMBERLY MARSHALL

There is going to be something for everyone at St. Johns 1985 Mint Festival, August 9, 10 and 11, according to Joann Martis, St. Johns Chamber of Commerce.

Of the many events planned, applications are available now for the Mint Queen Contest, the Craft Show and Sale, the Antique and Collectible Show and Sale, the Mint Festival Parade and tickets for the Queen's Ball.

Applications are available at the Chamber of Commerce office, P.O. Box 61, St. Johns, MI 48879.

The Queen's Ball, August 10, 6:30 p.m.-midnight, will be a semi-formal dinner-dance held at Smith Hall, St. Johns. Entertainment will be provided by Phase IV, a dance band that plays everything from polka's to rock. Algie Watkins, a local resident, is a member of the band. A cash bar will also be available.

Tickets for the event will be pre-sale only. The 300 tickets are available for $15 each at Briggs Realty, Chamber of Commerce office, Clinton Bank and Trust, First American Title and Treasure Chest.

While the Queen's Ball is taking place, a Peppermint Twist Teen Sock Hop is planned from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at St. Joseph's Church, St. Johns.

For any festival, new or old, promotion is an important factor in attracting travelers, tourists and townspeople. And, the 1985 St. Johns Mint Festival has been very successful in that respect through the help and enthusiasm of many people.

The first Mint Festival brochure has been very well received and many good comments from organizations throughout the state have come back to the Chamber office. It was distributed to Chamber's and rest stops throughout the state of Michigan.

The 3,000 Mint Festival Buttons that have been available in stores were purchased and donated by Walter Goff, owner of Goff's Food Store, St. Johns.

Large Mint Festival Posters have been available for $10 each and can still be purchased at the Chamber office.

Mint Festival billboards have been placed at the four entrances to St. Johns.

Also, 55 Mint Festival barrels, donated by area businesses, are being filled with mint plants by five area mint farmers and being placed throughout the community.

Skip Hughes, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was the co-ordinator for the barrel painting project. The barrels were donated by Capital Federal Savings and Loans and St. Johns Big Boy Restaurant.

Hughes painted the majority of the barrels with the donors names and the name of the farmer who filled the barrel, his wife, Karen, and Diane Edwards, helped with the others.

Each mint farmer who volunteered was responsible for filling 11 barrels. The farmers participating were: Eugene Livingston, Crosby Mint Farms, Tom Irrer, Louie Sipkovsky and Pete Kurncz.

Currently, Betty Jane Minsky and Sue Kiley White are working on a new Mint Festival Brochure to come out soon.

This new brochure will provide a numbered map with a key detailing where all the events are to take place and their times.

In addition, an article will appear in the July issue of Michigan Farmer.

Specially designed placemats will be available to area restaurants for use in the month of July.

The enthusiasm, support and number of events for this year's Mint Festival has already exceeded the expectations of the original planners, but to make the Festival a success that support needs to continue. If you would like to help-out, enter a contest, join the parade or participate in any of the other events, just contact the St. Johns Area Chamber of Commerce.

Sheriff to initiate a drug education program now

What if your child came home and told you a friend of hers gave her a pill that made her feel real funny?

What if you were picking up items in your son's room and you found some rather strange looking items hidden neatly among clothing in a dresser?

What would you do if your child suddenly began acting different than the norm, locking himself in his room, becoming sullen? Maybe he's no longer the outgoing individual you once knew.

Not always, but often, this may point to drug abuse. It's here in Clinton County whether you want to believe it or not. Your children know it's here.

A survey was taken recently, indicating the national average age of a child's first encounter with saying "yes or no" to drugs in 12½ years old.

Frightening? Yes. Unstoppable? No! At least Sheriff Terry Haneckow believes the latter. In an effort to curtail the flow of illegal drugs into the hands of young people the Sheriff Department is initiating a comprehensive drug education program.

This program is geared for the entire community and is designed to inform parents as well as our children about the hazards of drug abuse.

To name a few items, the program will include drug and paraphernalia displays, slide presentation, plus viewing and sound equipment. In addition, they will also have a publication titled "Drugs of Abuse".

This book pictures the various abusable substances discussing how they are abused and how to recognize those that abuse them.

Sheriff Haneckow stated that the department is now active in organizing drug and alcohol education talks and urges any person or organization interested in organizing a program to contact his department.

Haneckow also stated that they already received a highly informative drug display. This display will be shown, at key locations, throughout the business community. Haneckow urges everyone to attend the forthcoming meetings and to view the displays.

Drugs of Abuse, Inc., for the past 20 years, has specialized in manufacturing and distributing a complete line of drug and alcohol educational products. The company will be working with them directly so they can install a complete and comprehensive program throughout the county.

Much thought has been given to developing a top quality comprehensive drug program. They decided that the best avenue to pursue in accomplishing this goal is through a collective community effort.

As a result, they will soon be in contact with area businesses and organization, in an attempt to gain sympathy and support for the program. Drugs of Abuse, Inc. has agreed to personalize the books, providing sponsorships for the supporters of this much needed program.

Sheriff Haneckow urges everyone to make an effort to obtain a copy of the book, "Drugs of Abuse", especially parents.

These books will be available at the sheriff's office and will be distributed at the upcoming drug education seminars.

Haneckow feels that this program has long been needed in Clinton County.

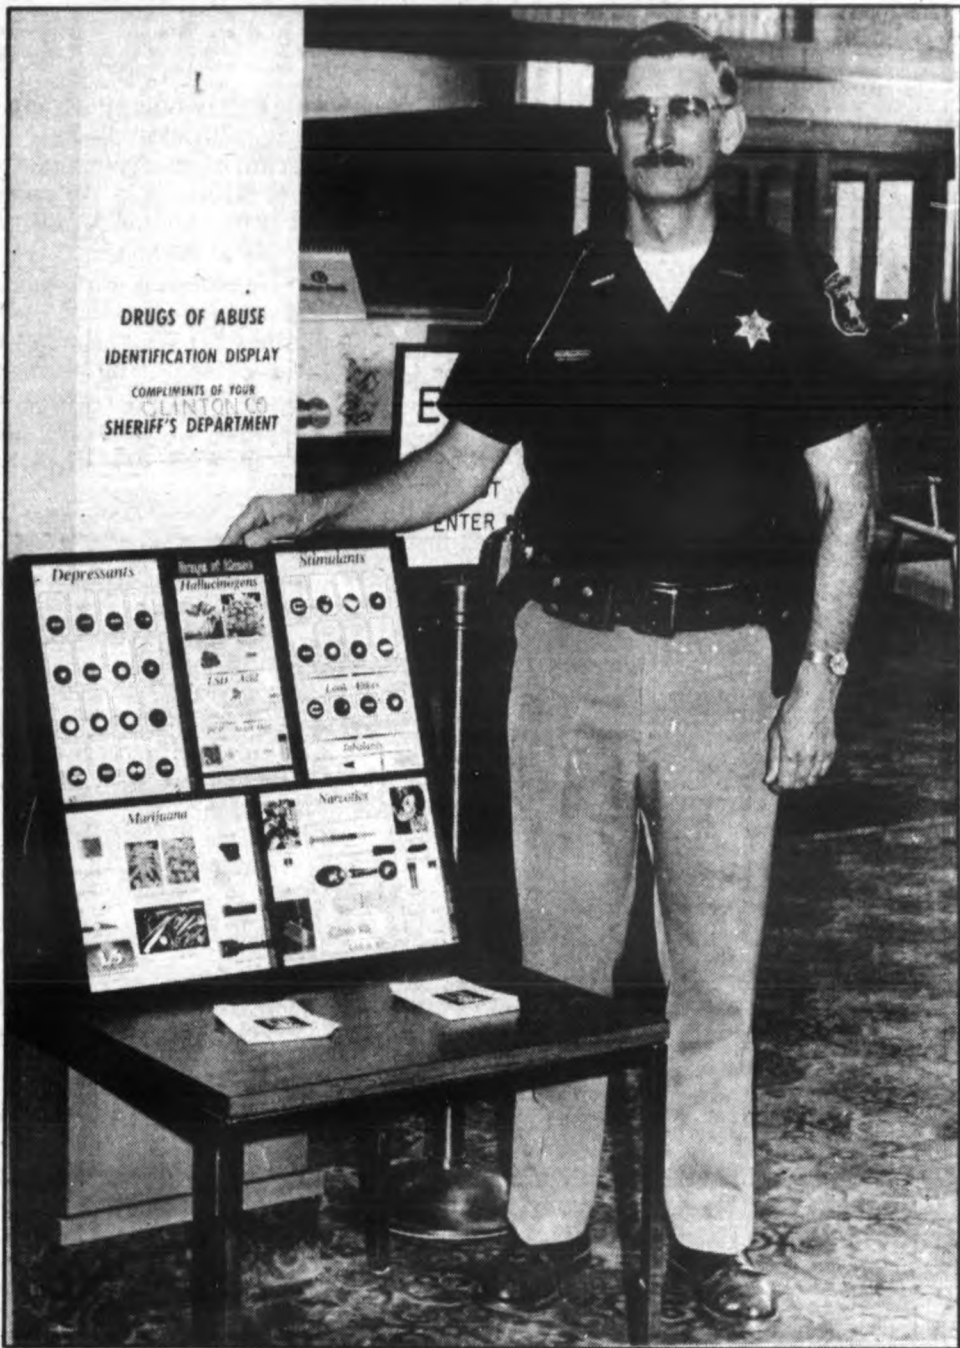

"I'm excited about this program because it promises to improve the quality of life here", says Haneckow.

Drug abuse touches everyone's life one way or another. Everyone will benefit greatly if they join together in exerting the required effort.

This program requires two things to become a success: money to purchase the tools; and a community concern to learn the facts.

After all, it is the responsibility of adults to make sure that children are informed about the hazards of drug abuse.

Musicales have changed drastically over the years

Submitted By DAVID SCOTT

I sometimes ask myself or get asked why the movies today are not like they used to be. You've got to wonder what the reason is for movies like "Singin' in the Rain" or "Citizen Kane" not being made today. I love musicals, but the ones made in the last two decades aren't the same.

My theory for the change in movies is in reality a change in Audience. The past winter I saw and anthology movie called "That's Dancing". It incorporated clips from the old Classic film as well as never before seen footage. The movie bombed at theaters across the country.

Lets face it. Movie Companies are here to make a profit. Well they can't afford to make film that audiences don't want to see. Watch the National Success of Violent movies like Chuck Norris or Charles Bronsen films. And sexploitation films also make a profit at the Box Office.

The reason is a more liberal attitude the audience has. They ask for more, and film companies give it to them. Write me in care of this paper with your views on the subject. I'm David Scott with an "Eye On Hollywood".

Festival craft show applications ready

The Mint Festival August 9, 10 and 11 is coming up very soon. One of the many exciting features of the festival will be the Craft Show, August 10 and 11.

This year the Craft Show will be on the Courthouse lawn with up to 200 exhibitors expected.

Crafters from all over the mid-Michigan area will be in St. Johns to display and sell their premium quality, hand-crafted items.

We expect everything from knitting to basketweaving, woodworking to dried flowers. Many folk art items are expected to be available and Cabbage Patch and stained glass are still a going thing this year.

Anyone wishing to be in the Mint Festival Craft Show can still apply at the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 61, St. Johns, MI 48879. Or call 517-224-7248.

St. Johns is expecting thousands of visitors for the Mint Festival weekend. So it should be a good time for everyone involved.

Odd Fellows give plaque to Tiger

Grand Master Charles Johnson of St. Johns, a member of Pompeii Odd Fellow Lodge 417, will present a plaque to Detroit Tiger player Marty Castillo at Tiger Stadium on Saturday, June 1, at 12:45 p.m.

The award is for his "inspiration to youth and his concern for the elderly", on behalf of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and the Rebekahs. The Odd Fellows and the Rebekahs will be on hand for the ceremony and the game against California.

Tiger players recognized in previous years include John Hiller, John Wocken-fuss, Allen Trammel, Lou Whittaker, Lance Parrish, and Milt Wilcox.

If people join together, against this greatest of threats, THEY WILL MAKE A DIFFERENCE.

They will be contacting businesses and service clubs in Clinton County in the very near future, however, for individuals who would like to help, but cannot be contacted personally, please forward your donation, as soon as possible, to the Clinton County Sheriff Dept., 100 West Cass Street, St. Johns MI 48879.

Only with your concern and help will this program succeed.

Majority of places without liability

About 70 percent of the licensed liquor establishments in Michigan are without liquor liability insurance, according to Michigan Licensed Beverage Association which represents 2,800 bars, restaurants and party stores in Michigan.

"Consequently, our system for protecting victims in these accidents is falling apart," says Rod Brown, MLBA executive director.

Of the 9,378 on-premise licensees in the state, very few are able to get insurance coverage because most certified insurance companies are unwilling to write policies in Michigan. Those licensees who still have insurance are paying three to five times as much as they did in 1984.

"Premiums have increased at least 300 percent," says Brown. "The number of establishments without insurance is growing daily which creates a dangerous situation for victims of drunk driving accidents."

Lawsuits resulting from alcohol-related accidents are allowed under Michigan's Dram Shop Act, which was intended to provide a means of recovery for victims of drunk driving accidents.

"Over the years, the law has had very broad interpretations, often resulting in unreasonable, expensive lawsuits that have caused insurance companies to pull out of Michigan," Brown explains.

"Beginning in 1979, the number and size of dram shop claims began an upward spiral that has left insurance companies unable to keep pace with their rating structures," David DeMarco, an insurance consultant for the MLBA says.

DeMarco notes that Transit Casualty Co., formerly one of the major underwriters of dram shop insurance in the state, has stopped writing liquor liability policies altogether.

Legislation has been introduced by Rep. Tom Alley (D-West Branch) to reform the Dram Shop Act and restore a means of recovery to victims of drunk driving.

The MLBA supports the bill along with the Michigan Restaurant Association.

A subcommittee of the House Liquor Control Committee is studying the bill and is expected to make recommendations to the full committee soon.

U.S. Senate approves of plan

The U.S. Senate has approved 89-0 a plan by Sen. Carl Levin (D-Michigan) to close the ethically questionable "revolving door" through which Pentagon procurement officials have been jumping to jobs with firms selling to the Defense Department.

The plan will go a long way toward assuring that government workers "keep their eyes on the interests of taxpayers and not look to feather their own nests," Levin said, adding, "I don't want people on the public payroll, who monitor expenditures of billions of dollars, discussing future employment with the very companies doing business with the government."

Levin's plan — an amendment to the defense authorization bill for next year — requires most Pentagon procurement employees to report to their superiors any employment contacts or discussions with Pentagon suppliers, and to disqualify themselves from further procurement discussions with those companies.

Failure to do this would subject the employee to fines up to $10,000 and a ban on employment with the company for 10 years.

Levin disclosed that the number of former top-level Pentagon employees who reported this year — as required by law — employment with Defense Department suppliers in the three previous years had risen to 3,308 from 2,240 in 1984.

"At a time when we are trying to reduce the federal deficit and assure taxpayers that they are getting what they pay for — and what the nation needs — we must do what we can to assure that procurement officials have only the interests of taxpayers at heart," Levin said.

Levin long has been a leader in efforts to reform government buying practices to save money. He is the senior democrat on both the Senate Armed Services Committee's Government Management Oversight Subcommittee. He was a major sponsor of the Competition in Contracting Act, which increased competition in government buying, and was made part of the deficit-reduction plan voted by Congress and signed by the President last year.

Clinton County Deputies and Police in State Olympics

By KIMBERLY MARSHALL

The Third Annual Police Olympics Games are being held in Clare this week, May 10-15, involving officers from police and sheriff departments throughout the state of Michigan.

The Games were kicked-off with a 20 mile torch relay run from the state capital in Lansing up U.S. 27 to Clare May 10.

Participating in the run for Clinton County were: Clinton County Deputies Mike Lynch, William French, Mike Carey and Cyndy Wetzel; St. Johns Police Department Steve Rademacher and Dennis Wilson; DeWitt Township Police Department Esther Rolondo, Mike Watzchowski and Gary Priess; DeWitt City Police Department Mike Ferland; Bath Township Police Department Scott Stratton and Ovid Village Police Department Les Diebolt.

The winners from the state Olympic Games go to the National Games and those winners go on to the International Games. So good luck Clinton County!

Congressman Bill Schuette

Dear Congressman Bill Schuette:

I urge your action in obtaining relief for American business from the new tax law imposed on employers by the International Revenue Service. The new law requires massive and expensive recordkeeping on the use of not only company auto, but also trucks and computers. I request that you and your associates offer relief from these unprecedented burdens. American business cannot possibly bear this additional cost of doing business, not to mention the interruption to our daily business operation.

Dear L.W.:

I, too, am opposed to this intrusion into our daily and business lives. Because so many people in mid-Michigan and across America were willing to stand up and say "Enough!" the Congress has acted. By a vote of 426 to 1, the House passed conference legislation nearly identical to two bills which I cosponsored. I also had the honor of manning the Republican leadership desk and rounding up my colleagues to vote for repeal of these accounting rules.

By the time you read this, the Senate will have passed the same bill, and with the President's signature, farmers and business people will be rid of these rules once and for all.

Requiring farmers and business people to record every mile of travel in their farm vehicles, trucks and cars was a classic illustration of bad government. By trying to catch a dishonest few, the government penalized the honest majority.

Students honored

and outlooks for the future.

Porrell, the superintendent of Ovid-Elsie Area Schools, thanked the businesses who offer these positions to students.

The outstanding co-op award was given in office education to Leanne Nixon, who is presently employed as secretary of the Food Service of Ovid-Elsie High School.

Achievement records for all co-ops and the training stations certificates were handed out by the director, Mr. Foreback.

Listed below are this year's co-ops and their training stations:

Office Education-Lori Bates, Ovid-Elsie High School Athletic and Co-op Office; Leanne Nixon, Ovid-Elsie High School Food Services; Michelle Wilder, Ovid-Elsie High School Band and Chris Love, Dr. Hoffman's office in Ovid.

Distributive Education-Sandy Johnson, Wade Johnson, Brian Lawrence, Rod Woodworth, Renee Chapko, Brenda Fraker, Jim Jolly and Mindy Van-Atta, all for Village IGA; Caprice Riley, Burger King; Michele Webster, Becks Farm Market; Mark Dvorski and Julie Dukes both for Genes IGA.

The Ovid-Elsie Business Cooperative Education program concluded its 13th year of operation with the 13th Annual Co-op Awards Banquet, which was held in May at Ovid Tri-Ami.

The program was highlighted by the presentation of certificates to the training stations and to the outstanding co-op student in office education or distributive education.

Lentz, the principal of Ovid-Elsie High School, spoke of the past history of both the business and distributive programs offered at Ovid-Elsie High School. He also spoke on what is happening now in the business department

Fowler hearing set

The Fowler Public School Board of Education will hold a public hearing on the proposed 1985-86 budget on Monday, June 17 at 7:30 p.m.

The hearing will precede the regular board meeting in the Waldron School Staff Room.

A copy of the proposed 85-86 budget is available in the office of the Superintendent at the Waldron School.

Grove Bible Church classes set

The Grove Bible Church, at the corner of Shepardsville Road and Price Road, is presenting Neighborhood Bible Time for the second straight year. It is a dynamic program for all youth in the greater Clinton and Shiawassee County area.

The crusade begins Monday June 17th, and will continue through Friday June 21st.

Pastor Robert Prange and Youth Pastor Dan Keen extend an invitation to all youth between the ages of five and nineteen. The time is 9 a.m. to noon.

Magic, dramatized stories, Bible drills, lifetime souvenirs, daily gifts, great competition and refreshments are a few of the exciting features that all youth will enjoy.

There will be a program for teens, which is directed by the visiting Youth Evangelists. It is held in the evening for all Senior High and College young people.

For further information call 651-5729.

Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. David Gaudard

Cheryl Irene Bouchey and David Alan Gaudard exchanged marriage vows April 20 at First Congregational Church, St. Johns, with Rev. Edward Holsworth officiating. Three hundred guests attended the afternoon, double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Bouchey of 310 S. Whittemore, St. Johns, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gaudard of 3905 Swede, Midland.

The bride wore a floor length white gown featured with 5 ruffled tiers of chantilly lace that extended to form a chapel length train. The lace bodice featured a square neckline accented with pearls and had long sleeves. The brides fingertip length veil was edged with chantilly lace and was caught in a lace bandeau. She carried a cascade of silk white and lavender roses, pink alstromeria's and white stephanotis flowers.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Susan Aylsworth, friend of the bride, from St. Johns, the bridesmaids were Jamie Rademacher, friend of the bride, Linda Green, cousin of the bride and Denise Bouchey, sister-in-law of the bride. They all wore lavender gowns of chiffon over taffita with a sweetheart neckline outlined with a single row of ruffles. Double rows of cascading ruffles accented 5 tiered rows of white lace in the back of the dress. They also carried bouquets of sild white carnations, lavender roses, and pink alstromerias accented with white stephanotis flowers.

Brooke Rademacher,

friend of bride, attended as flowergirl. She wore a miniature white lace brides dress.

Scott Gaudard, Nephew of groom, attended as ringbearer.

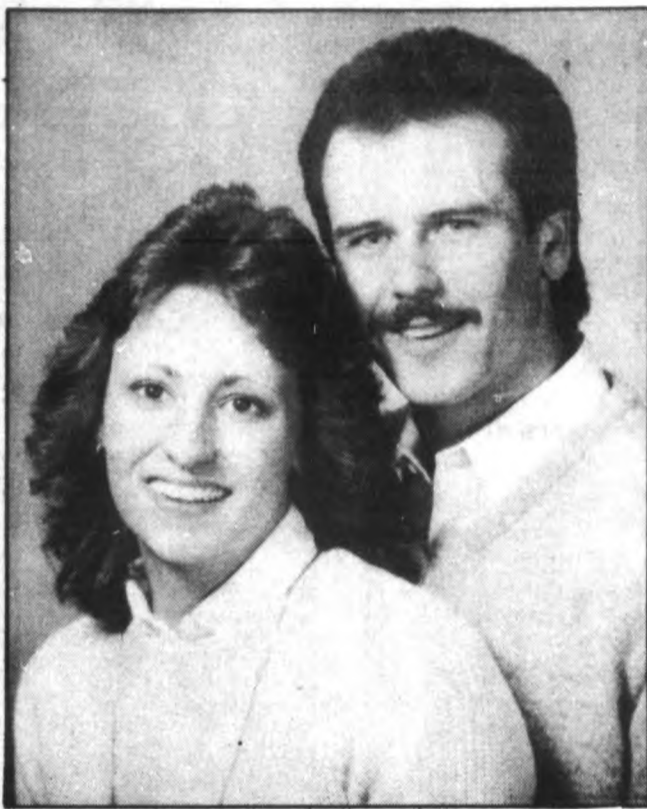

Serving as best man was Charles Gaudard, brother of the groom, from Lansing. Groomsmen were Randy Smith, Todd Nichols, brother-in-laws of the groom, and Randy Bouchey, brother of Bride. James Bennett, cousin of groom, Michael Frye, brother-in-law of the groom, and Phillip Ware, friend of the groom, ushered guests.

Mrs. Jo Ann Green, Aunt of Bride and Mrs. Darlene Huck, friend of Bride cut the cake, and Kathy Klein, Sheri Rademacher, Lisa Rachemacher and Jamie Smith served the brides table. Host and Hostess were Mr. and Mrs. James Rademacher. Julie Holsworth and Kelly Smith attended the Guest book.

Special guests attending the ceremony included grandmother of groom Mrs. Herbert Nixon; sister and brother-in-law of groom from Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Frye; Aunt, Uncle and cousins of the bride from Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. John Corbett and Family; friends of the bride from country of Haiti, Mr. and Mrs. Jon Cleveland and Family.

A reception was held at the VFW Hall St. Johns. The hall was decorated with Fresh lavender and white mums and lavender and white wedding bells.

The couple honeymooned in Florida for 3 weeks and have made their home at 612 Eastgate Drive, Lansing.

WHEN SOME EMPLOYEES TAKE TIME OFF THEY MAKE NEWS.

They're rescuing American citizens on the tiny island of Grenada.

They're relieving the regular crew on the USS New Jersey stationed off Lebanon so they can come home for Christmas.

They're patrolling the East Coast's air corridor to keep it clear of intruders.

That's how they make news as volunteers in the National Guard and Reserve.

One weekend a month and at least two weeks a year, they take time off from their family lives and jobs to train. But they need more than time off.

They need your assurance they won't lose out on promotions and raises. They need all the support you can give them.

But then, they deserve nothing less. The Guard and Reserve makes up a full one third of our nation's defense, which means without them, we'd be substantially weaker.

If you want to find out what some of your employees do with their time off, now you know at least one place to look. The newspaper.

Protect their future while they protect yours.

Local resident to exhibit glass in Arts Festival

Working in stain glass is Allen Springgay's "summer job."

A St. Johns resident, Springgay is a high school counselor for the Lansing School District. Eight years ago he and his wife learned to work in stain glass so they could make a window for their home. Eventually, they began earning a second income from their craft.

"It's sort of a hobby that got out of hand," Springgay explained.

Springgay designs and constructs stain glass windows, lamps and boxes. He will display some small pieces of his work at Bank of Lansing's ninth annual Downtown Arts Festival on Friday and Saturday, June 14 and 15.

"The primary reason we enter art fairs is to meet people who are interested in unique window of their own," Springgay said.

Most of Springgay's work is along traditional lines, and he takes great pride in producing well-constructed, high quality pieces.

"We spend a tremendous amount of time on color selection and glass qualities," he said.

He likes Bank of Lansing's Downtown Arts

Festival because it offers so many other activities for people to enjoy.

"There are a lot of reasons for people to come down to the Festival," Springgay said, "and it certainly is a pleasant atmosphere on the mall with the trees and benches."

In addition to the work of local artists, the Festival will feature "A Taste of Lansing."

Eight local restaurateurs will offer 25 different food items for purchase. Continuous live entertainment and a children's "hands-on" area are also planned.

Springgay is eligible for one of 12 prizes, including a $400 Best of Show Award, which Bank of Lansing will present to the winning artists on Friday in the Michigan Bell Showroom. Over 140 artists will exhibit their ready-for-sale artwork during the two-day, open-air, juried art show in the Washington Mall in downtown Lansing.

The Festival will run from noon to 8 p.m. on Friday and 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Saturday. Parking is free after 6 p.m. on Friday and all day on Saturday.

Advanced summer camp available

CRV advanced summer camp is designed to appeal to youth age 12-14 with imagination, ingenuity and creativity. Participants will produce a slide presentation in color with a script and sound to be presented the evening of July 18 in the Abrams Planetarium Sky Theater.

The youth will form production teams that will start with an idea, do research that may take them to various places in Michigan for ideas, pictures and materials to produce a show complete with sound. They will have experience; in using the computer to design pictures in color, in learning how to photograph the computer screen to create a series of slides, in developing and writing the scripts for their show using the computer as a work processor and making it creating speech and sound and finally learning how to operate the control console in the Sky Theater where they will sit to operate their show for parents and friends in the audience.

For those teams that select space as a topic, they may travel to NASAs' Michigan Resource Materials Center at Oakland University, the Michigan Space Center at Jackson. Other resources and ideas may be added to this list.

The program is open to youth in the area. For more information about participating, please call Community Resource Volunteers (CRV) St. Johns 224-8285.

when Community Resource Volunteers (CRV) links computer designing with the Indian Cultures of yesterday.

Indians and High Tech, the theme of the first week of the seven weeks of CRV Summer Day Camp programs (open to children age six and up) explore Indian culture at an old Indian Site, listen to Indian Stories, create designs on computers then weave the designs, look at Indian artifacts and learn about Indian custome. As chief Little Elk, from the Chipewa Reservation near Mt. Pleasant, tells about his Chipewa People he brings the past 150 years to life. Campers will be able to explore the land where Indians once fishes, hiked and traveled by canoe.

The weekly camp programs will run Monday through Friday from 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Themes of other weeks are; June 17 TV Productions in a real studio, July 8 a Space and Astronomy using the Abrams Planetarium; July 22 Trips and Travels; July 29 Robots Widgets, Canoes and Kayaks; and August 5 music, rhythms fun and songs with Kitty Donohoe.

Johnson receives special honor

The Patriarchs Militant branch of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows surprised Grand Master Charles Johnson at their annual meeting by bestowing the Decoration of Chivalry jewel upon him during an impressive ceremony at Clare High School, May 15. The award recognizes outstanding effort on behalf of the Order and the community.

The jewel was carried

Thicken soups and stews by adding onions and celery that have been put in the blender for a few seconds. This also adds flavor—and cuts out the added calories from adding flour or cornstarch.

Sheriff's Department Report

While Sheriff's Deputy Mike Lynch was on patrol attempted to stop a speeding vehicle on U.S. 27 north of State Road May 28.

The vehicle attempting to be stopped turned east on State and fled at a very high rate of speed.

While eastbound on State Road speeds were reached at 110 miles per hour.

The suspect vehicle then turned north on Chandler Road, eluding a road block set up by the Bath Township Police at the intersection of Chandler and Clark and continued at this point east on Clark Road.

The vehicle continued east into Shiawassee County and when the driver came up to I-69 it turned back westbound still at a high rate of speed.

DeWitt Township Police sat up at Shaftsbury and I-69 and were in front of a vehicle. The officers then attempted to box in the suspect vehicle and it ran into the right front portion of the DeWitt Township unit.

The chase continued into Meridian Township and again the suspect vehicle eluded units from Meridian Township Police and East Lansing Police Departments.

The suspect vehicle continued into East Lansing and got stuck in a grassy area on Dawn Avenue.

Arrested and charged with Operating Under the Influence of Liquor and Fleeing and Eluding were the driver of the vehicle Dale Lee Roberts, 20, 908 E. Kalamazoo St., Lansing and his passenger Henry Bloomfield, also of 908 E. Kalamazoo St., Lansing.

Units involved in the chase assisting the Sheriff Department were Bath, DeWitt and Meridian Townships, East Lansing, Shiawassee County Sheriff and Officers of Perry Police Department.

Clinton County Sheriff's Deputies investigated a breaking and entering of a garage reported by Alberta Hopp, 8752 S. Francis Road, DeWitt, May 28.

Hopp reported that between the hours of 10 a.m. and 10 p.m. someone gained entry into her garage by pushing in on the door, causing the door jam to break at the lock. Hopp could find nothing missing with the exception of a few hand tools.

Hopp could find nothing missing with the exception of a few hand tools.

During the past week Sheriff's Deputies handled a total of 121 complaints. Some of which were: three personal injury accidents, 10 property damage accidents, nine malicious destruction of property, three breaking and enterings, three larcenies, five domestics, six loud parties, one assault and battery, three alarms, three car/deer accidents, two trespassing complaints, two reckless driving complaints, one run-a-way, eight suspicious vehicles or suspicious activity, one child abuse, and had 10 assist to other departments.

There were 33 people booked into the County Jail this past week, seven of which were for drunk driving. As of Monday morning there are currently 51 people lodged in the County Jail.

Results in for Crystal Raceway's Championship

Spring Champions night at Crystal Raceway was held on June 1 for the Pro Stock class. Forty-three cars registered to try their luck even though the feature line-up was determined by points earned in the previous weeks of the 1985 season.

After the preliminary heats, 22 Pro Stockers were nosing around the fourth turn to take the green flag, and they held the large crowd's attention throughout the 35 lap feature event of the evening.

Jeff Reist and Rick

Stout, top point racers for the young season, led the field at the start. Reist led from start to finish, often challenged, but never overcome by either Stout or Rodger Carman who finished second and third. Roger Sowles and Dave Harris rounded out the top five.

It was a double point night for the Pro Stockers in all events. The top three finishers also received trophies for their fine efforts.

Those receiving double points were: Carman for fast qualifying time (18:68); Troy

VanderVeen, fast car dash; Gene Carson, first heat; Fred Wallace, second heat; Doug Ostrander, third heat; Dob Nieman, fourth heat; Dan Nieman, Pro Consie; John Nobach, B-Feature.

The Late Model results show some new names in the winners' column, making their points race more closely contested than ever.

Fast time went to Larry Aldrich with a 17:89. Gene Plater beat Aldrich out in the dash. After spinning out in the first lap and making a restart necessary, Bob Lynn came back to win the first Late Model Heat. Alan Taft hung on to outlast Glen Guernsey and win the second heat. Ken Love passed Jeff Finley just before the white flag lap to win the third heat in the 25 car field of Late Model machines. Don Ward went into the record books as winner of the B-Feature.

The A-Feature for the Late Models, an event often marred by numerous yellow flags in recent weeks, ran off 23 straight laps of a 30 lap race under the green. This was after a 3 car pile up had caused a red flag to stop the race in the fourth lap.

Finley, Ken Everyingham, and John Skvarenina tangled just after turn 4. Finley was able to return and finished sixth.

The winner was Glen Guernsey who had started on the pole and held his position throughout. Bob Nieman was a strong challenger from second position and Alan Taft moved up from 11th place to take third. Plater and Bryan Hull took fourth and fifth.

The Junior Fan Club

trophy winners for the last 2 weeks were Duane Wilson and Tim Decker, who both received trophies and a ride with their favorite driver. Wilson chose Tim Wood in 40, and Decker chose the Seven of Bob Nieman.

Saturday, June 15 is the second S.O.D. sprint show. (Rain out tickets for March 26 are good that night.) Wednesday, June 19 is the Crystal Raceway Busch Race, so there are exciting race events in store for Crystal Race fans. Be there!!

Nieman family has successful Night at Crystal

This is the "Coming Alive" year for the Crystal Raceway and several racers have felt the thrill of victory and the pain of defeat as the weekly programs run their course every Saturday night.

This past week it seemed that one family was mentioned again and again by the announcers and seen again and again posing for pictures down by the flagstand.

It really was a night to remember--June 1--the racing Nieman's began to come into their own in 1985 as success was felt on 4 separate occasions during the evening's events.

The racers were Little Bob Nieman from Crystal, entering his first year as a full-time Pro Stock driver; Dan Nieman, 16 years old, making his debut behind first checkered flag in his first feature. To cap off the night Bob, in his Late Model machine, took second in the main feature for that class, ending five disappointing finishes as the crew had worked to get the new car handling to perfection.

All in all it was a night that made the long winter's work and the late spring hours worthwhile. To quote the St. Charles Bob Nieman, the wheel on a circle track; and Bob Nieman from St. Charles, a 25 year veteran of the sport who drives a Late Model and is the uncle of Little Bob and father of Dan.

As the night progressed, the sequence of success ran something like this: Dan took a third in a heat in his "first ever" race; Little Bob took his "first ever" checkered flag; Dan took a first in the consolation race--his Dan was "happy as a lark" to be a winning racer. Dan's car is a father-son project that they just finished putting together.

The Nieman's typify the racing spirit that Crystal Raceway wants to foster--a family of people helping the sport to grow, willing to accept the bad nights with grace and excited about the good nights, celebrating each other's successes unselfishly.

Pumpkin Pie with the Middle in Mind

People who are watching their waists have generally had two choices when the year rolled around to holiday festivities and feasting.

They could say simply, "I'll make up for it after the holidays, but I'm just going to eat everything now!" Or they could look longingly at the goodies and forsake them all—not much fun!

This year, conscientious weight-watchers have a third option—at least where that perennial dessert favorite, pumpkin pie, is concerned. They can have their pie—its delightful aroma, its marvelous taste—and still keep the calories under control. The answer to a waistline-watcher's prayer is Calorie-Trimmed Pumpkin Pie—Only 207 calories for 1/6 of a pie. Here's the recipe:

CALORIE-TRIMMED PUMPKIN PIE

- 1 can (30oz.) LIBBY'S Pumpkin Pie Mix
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 4 teaspoons unflavored gelatin
- 1/8 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 cup whipped topping
- Vegetable cooking spray
- 1/4 cup graham cracker crumbs
- 8 gingersnap cookies, cut in half (optional)

A special treat for calorie-counters—and everyone else, too—is this delicious calorie-trimming pumpkin pie.

In medium saucepan, combine pumpkin pie mix, egg, gelatin and nutmeg; mix well. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture boils. Chill until partially set, about 1 to 2 hours. Add vanilla. Fold in whipped topping. Spoon into 9-inch pie plate generously coated with vegetable cooking spray and sprinkle evenly with graham cracker crumbs. Chill until firm. Before serving, insert overlapping cookie halves at intervals around the edge of pie plate, if desired. Yields one 9-inch pie, cut into 6 servings. 207 calories per

VARIATION:

For a calorie-trimmed pie with a crumb crust omit last three ingredients. Combine 1 cup graham cracker crumbs with 1/4 cup melted butter or margarine; mix well. Press firmly into bottom and sides of 9-inch pie plate. Chill. Spoon pie filling into crust, chill until firm. Cut into 6 servings. 285 calories per serving.

This recipe is one of the more than 140 favorite pumpkin recipes found in Libby's new "The Great Pumpkin Cookbook." Pumpkin—so much more than pie.

Tips To Help You

Spice up your life with spiced tomato preserves.

If you have grown a bountiful crop of tomatoes this season, or a friend has, the preserves are a delicious answer to using the surplus. Even if you don't grow your own tomatoes, the store bought variety are usually inexpensive enough now to put preserves by for family treats as well as holiday gifts.

It can be easy to make blue ribbon quality preserves when you start with a high quality powdered fruit pectin such as Williams Pen-Jel or Jel Ease. Canners say that pectin can eliminate guesswork and allow you to use fully-ripe fruits for best flavor and color. Recipes are included on the back of every pectin box.

SPICED TOMATO PRESERVES

- 3 pounds of tomatoes (3 1/2 cups prepared fruit)
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 1 pkg. Jel-Ease Fruit Pectin
- 5 1/4 cups sugar
- 1 1/2 tsp. grated lemon rind
- 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
- 1/2 tsp. allspice
- 1/4 tsp. cloves

Jelly glasses or 8-oz. canning jars should be used for jams and jellies. Plastic containers may be used only for freezer jams and jellies. Use jelly glasses with a paraffin seal only for jellies; jams and preserves have a softer texture which can loosen and break the seal. Inspect jars for cracks and chips; defects can prevent jars from sealing properly. Wash jars in warm soapy water. Sterilize in boiling water for 10 to 15 minutes. Rinse lids and rings with hot water. Place in saucepan with water, heat until almost boiling, remove from heat. Leave in saucepan until ready to seal jars. SCALD, PEEL AND CHOP fully ripe tomatoes. Simmer, uncovered, for 10 minutes.

Tomato surprise: Too many tomatoes? Let the surplus crop star in spiced tomato preserves.

TO MEASURE: Use the same 1 cup measuring cup for both sugar and tomatoes. Measure tomatoes into 6 to 8-quart saucepan; if necessary add water to equal exact amount. Add lemon juice, grated lemon rind, cinnamon, allspice and cloves. Measure sugar into mixing bowl; set aside.

TO COOK PRESERVES: Combine tomato mixture and Jel-Ease in saucepan. Cook over high heat until mixture comes to a hard boil, stirring constantly. Add sugar all at once. Cook and stir over high heat until mixture comes to a full rolling boil (one that cannot be stirred down). Boil hard 1 minute. Remove from heat, skim and stir with metal spoon or skimmer for 5 minutes to remove foam. Ladle into jars.

Sealing Jars:
TO SEAL WITH LIDS: Pour or ladle hot jam or jelly into hot jars, leaving 1/8 inch at top. Immediately wipe jar rim clean, place hot metal lid on jar and screw metal ring on firmly. Invert jar, then turn upright. Check for seal in 12 hours.

TO SEAL WITH PARAFFIN: Pour or ladle hot jelly into hot jars, leaving 1/2 inch at top. Cover with a thin layer of melted paraffin, about 1/8 inch thick. Prick air bubbles in paraffin. Note: Paraffin is flammable so melt in double boiler. Jam and jellies may be heat processed for 5 to 15 minutes without affecting the quality of the product.

Heat processing gives a better seal and eliminates the possibility of mold growth. To heat process jams and jellies, use standard jars with 2 piece lids. Pour hot jam and jelly into clean hot jars, leaving 1/2 inch at top. Wipe jar rim clean and cover with lids and rings. Place jars in boiling water bath canner; be sure water covers tops of jars. Heat process 5 to 15 minutes; count time from when water returns to boil. Do not heat process jars which have been sealed with paraffin. Yield: 5 1/2 to 6 cups

Crispy Soup Marinade Makes Autumn Cooking So Simple

Snap! Nothing says crisp and cool in as fresh a way as vegetables. Carrots, string beans and celery are irresistible when served marinated.

For foolproof marinade results use Spanish style canned condensed vegetable soup and add the delectable flavor of basil and onions. Serve this tangy Vegetable d'Espagne as an accompaniment to meats, poultry and fish.

VEGETABLE D'ESPAGNE

- 1 pound fresh green beans, sliced diagonally into 1-inch pieces (about 2 cups)
- 3 cups diagonally sliced carrots
- 2 medium onions, sliced
- 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) Campbell's Condensed Crispy Spanish Style Vegetable Soup
- 1/4 cup salad oil
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon dried basil leaves, crushed

1. In 2-quart saucepan, in small amount of boiling water, cook green beans and carrots until just tender; drain.

2. In shallow dish, combine beans, carrots and onions.

3. To make marinade, in same saucepan, combine soup, oil, vinegar, mustard and basil. Heat thoroughly; stir occasionally. Pour over vegetables.

4. Cover. Refrigerate 6 hours or overnight; stir occasionally. Serve with slotted spoon. Makes 7 cups or 8 servings.

LET'S TALK TURKEY

Tips from the United States Department of Agriculture:

Keep your turkey cold while thawing—the key to preventing excessive bacterial growth.

Take your turkey out of the deep freeze with ease. Whether you have four days or 12 hours, you can safely thaw your frozen turkey without risking bacterial growth. Thawing in the refrigerator is the preferred method for safety reasons, but thawing can also be done in cold water.

Cook the turkey promptly after thawing.

Thawing in the refrigerator: Place turkey in original wrap on tray in refrigerator.

Thawing Time in Refrigerator (Whole Turkey)

- 8 to 12 lbs. .... 1 to 2 days
- 12 to 16 lbs. .... 2 to 3 days
- 16 to 20 lbs. .... 3 to 4 days
- 20 to 24 lbs. .... 4 to 5 days

Thawing in cold water: simply place the bird in its unopened bag in the sink or in a large container and cover it with cold water. You will need to change water frequently to assure safe but effective thawing.

Thawing Time in Cold Water (Whole Turkey)

- 8 to 12 lbs. .... 4 to 6 hrs.
- 12 to 16 lbs. .... 6 to 9 hrs.
- 16 to 20 lbs. .... 9 to 11 hrs.
- 20 to 24 lbs. .... 11 to 12 hrs.

COOKING CORNER

Feed a crowd with this delicious Dole pineapple chicken dish.

BUFFET CHICKEN

- 1 can (20 oz.) Dole Chunk Pineapple
- 2 (3lb.) frying chickens, cut up
- 2 tablespoons butter, melted
- 1 teaspoon tarragon, crumbled
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup honey
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 teaspoon fresh grated orange peel
- 1/2 cup chopped green onion
- 1/2 cup chopped parsley

Drain pineapple reserving liquid. Arrange chickens in large shallow casserole dish. Combine butter, tarragon and salt. Brush over chicken. Bake, uncovered, in 450° F oven 30 minutes. Meanwhile, combine reserved liquid, honey, cornstarch and orange peel in saucepan. Cook until sauce boils and thickens. Pour over chicken, stirring sauce into pan juices. Add pineapple, onion and parsley. Bake 10 minutes longer. Wipe around edges of casserole dish with damp cloth to remove sticky juices. Baste chicken with sauce. Broil 4 inches from heat until chicken browns. Serve with hot fluffy rice. Makes 8 servings.

News for TEA LOVERS

THE YEAR 'ROUND REFRESHER

Are you one of the thousands of Americans who enjoys a refreshing, thirst-quenching glass of iced tea on a hot summer day? Well, iced tea is the perfect refresher—year 'round—so why not enjoy your favorite beverage - fall, winter, spring and summer.

Thanks to marvelously convenient 100% instant tea, it's easy to enjoy that delicious fresh brewed flavor by the glass or pitcher. Simply combine instant tea with water and stir. There's no brewing involved. It's just good tasting tea with no artificial flavors, colors...and no added sugar.

Just like your wardrobe, iced tea can also be dressed to fit the season. Here are some seasonal garnishes that will make your iced tea party special:

FALL - Add an apple slice dipped in sugar and cinnamon for a seasonal look or alternately skewered pineapple chunks and maraschino cherries

WINTER - Use peppermint sticks for holiday stirrers or top with mini-marshmallows

SPRING - Stir in sliced fresh fruit, or freeze strawberries or mint leaves in ice cubes for an attractive look

SUMMER - Alternately skewer assorted melon balls for a "fruity" stirrer or top with lemon sherbet and sliced fresh strawberries

Whether served "straight" with these garnishes or in recipes like Banana Tea Shake and Strawberry Tea Cooler, iced tea is truly a year-round refresher. So sit back and enjoy it - any season...for any reason.

BANANA TEA SHAKE

- 3 cups milk
- 3 medium bananas
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 tablespoons Lipton® 100% Instant Tea Ginger ale, chilled

In blender, combine all ingredients except ginger ale; process at high speed until blended. Pour into large pitcher and chill. Just before serving, add ginger ale. Makes about 6 servings.

STRAWBERRY TEA COOLER

- 1 tablespoon Lipton 100% Instant Tea
- 2 cups water
- 2 cups strawberries
- 1 can (6 oz.) frozen orange juice concentrate
- 2 tablespoons honey

In blender, combine all ingredients; process at high speed until blended. Serve with ice and garnish, if desired, with additional strawberries. Makes about 4 servings.

TRIVIA

Krill

Krill, about as long as a person's thumb, are the oceans' largest single source of protein, says National Geographic. The tiny crustaceans are a key link in the food chain that supports marine life in the Antarctic.

Pain

One of the most puzzling aspects about pain is how it can be modified by responses from the mind and body.

For example, how is it that a wounded soldier may be able to flee the battlefield, unaware of his injury until out of danger? Why can a sugar pill, or placebo, give a patient pain relief as powerful as morphine? Why do even the strongest pain-killing drugs lose their effect over time?

New understanding of these questions may come from a $1.8 million, five-year research project at the University of California.

Satellite

A satellite is in geosynchronous orbit when it is moving at the speed of the Earth's rotation 22,300 miles above the equator.

Electric Power

More than half of the electric power in the United States comes from coal, notes National Geographic World. Other important sources are water, natural gas, and oil. Other sources, such as wind and geothermal energy, provide less than 1 percent.

Space Tool

Because of research by scientists at Los Alamos National Laboratory, astronauts may one day pop a bag of ceramic dust into their microwave oven, "zap" it, cut it in squares and replace lost tiles on their space ship before re-entering our atmosphere.

Double Dish

Not all recipes can safely be doubled, but most casseroles can.

Cheese Mixing

Processed cheese is a pasteurized cheese made by mixing and heating several types of natural cheeses with emulsifying agents.

Educational Reform

Radical changes are needed in the way teachers are trained, licensed, paid and given career incentives if the reform movement sweeping American education is to succeed, three educators at the University of California, Berkeley argue in a report.

They envision an educational system in which teachers are trained with the rigor of medical or law school students, are paid substantially more and have a career ladder to climb that provides the personal rewards offered by other professions.

Egg Test

Hard-cooked eggs will spin; raw eggs won't.

Multi-Use

The electric blender is a versatile appliance. It can be used to grate nuts, chocolate or hard cheese; crumb bread and crackers; puree fruits, vegetables, meats, fish and poultry; mince parsley; chop vegetables; and make Hollandaise sauce and mayonnaise.

HELPFUL IDEAS FOR SUCCESSFUL RETIREMENT

Survivors

Let's take a look at what might be a typical marriage. The husband is a good provider and he is considerate. He takes care of all family business, so his wife is never bothered with the boring task of keeping records and paying bills. The wife is thus free to be a full-time homemaker.

There is one thing wrong with this scenario. It suggests that the husband will always "take care" of the wife. It suggests that he will be the survivor, which might not be the case.

The husband who "spares" his wife knowledge of family financial responsibilities and obligations also denies her the opportunity to learn to do for herself if she is suddenly left alone. In such situations, most women have someone they can turn to -- a family member or friend. But, if there is nowhere to turn, there can be panic.

Most women suddenly left alone won't have presence of mind to go to the library and look for a book designed to help women suddenly left alone. Such publications are available. But, they're only helpful, they don't solve all problems, answer all questions. Getting informed on what's what financially will take time, diligence and research.

Marriage partners who have reached senior citizen status owe it to one another to share responsibilities and financial information so neither is ever left in the dark.

and will settle for nothing less.

Calling Colleen

Dear Colleen:

Why is it that some men seem to believe that they are entitled to continue doing as they please after marriage? Marriage is a partnership in which both parties share responsibilities and obligations. Yet, some men act as if the only change they recognize with marriage is they now have someone to cook for them and do their laundry. These are men you would expect to know better.

Mom-in-law

Dear Mom:

Men who attempt to carry on the old lifestyle after marriage probably know better. Some of them are "testing the waters" to see how much they can get away with. In such situations, the bride should waste no time in letting it be known she expects a partnership arrangement

Dear Colleen:

I have an uncle whom I dearly love, but believe he should be put away for his own safekeeping. He has just finished two years of legal battles surrounding a divorce which ended a marriage that never should have taken place -- and has already chosen and is pursuing another potential marriage partner. He says he was "born to be married" but hasn't had one success in several tries. Every one of them has been expensive. Why doesn't he ever learn?

Dear Sue:

Some people like to play golf for a hobby. Some go fishing. Your uncle likes to get married. One time, he might come up with a great catch.

GARDEN

Keeping Garden Record Will Add to Enjoyment

Did frost nip your tomato transplants? Maybe you will want to record this so that you can remember to set out next year's plants later in the season and see if you have better results.

A garden journal can be more descriptive and detailed. In it you can answer such questions as, does the new corn variety taste as good as the one you planted last year? Are the petunia colors as vibrant as the catalogue described? What birds visit your garden? Which flowers attract the most butterflies?

Include the data you feel will be useful later. Did that cantaloupe really weigh 10 pounds or has it grown in your mind over the winter? Weighing garden prizes and recording the results will keep the facts straight.

Not all information has to be useful. You may want to record things you will find interesting later, such as the name of the person who shared some iris rhizomes with you, or your garden club's reaction to your arrangement of wildflowers at the club's monthly meeting.

A picture is worth a thousand words. Photographs will help you remember your garden as it actually was. Children will proudly pose with a sample harvest from the vegetable garden, or beside the zinnia and marigold bed, especially if they got to lend a hand in helping plant, tend or water. Photographs of trees and shrubs around your home will be helpful for insurance purposes if they are damaged by lightning or some other casualty.

Perhaps the most important benefit derived from keeping a garden journal is that keeping a journal can make you a better gardener as you become a keener observer and more aware of what is happening in your garden.

Cool Ideas For Summer

Does weatherstripping windows and doors save money in summer as well as winter?

Weatherstripping is most important if the home is air conditioned. It keeps out excess hot air. Weatherstripping also helps to keep out dirt and noise.

There are several types of weatherstripping -- foam, vinyl and cloth -- and each type is easy to install. You can buy a kit containing enough weatherstripping to do one door or window, but if you plan to do more, you will save by purchasing it by the foot or yard.

Is it true that wood to be used for interior construction should be stored indoors for a period of time before construction, and why?

Wood that has been stored outdoors for a period of time is likely to contain some moisture. Storing it indoors for several days before use allows it to dry. It is moisture in wood that sometimes cause buckling and shrinking shortly after new construction.

ENERGY-SAVER MEMO: Don't just take a window air conditioner out of the closet and plug it in. Give it a thorough cleaning with an electric vacuum to remove accumulated dust. Check the air filter. It should be cleaned or replaced, as needed. Dust and dirt affect operating efficiency. Some units may need to be lubricated. Check the instruction that came with the manufacturer's warranty.

DARK SUBJECT

American Soybean Association Elanco task force makes trade suggestions

U.S. soybean farmers should continue to support elimination of export tax differentials for Argentine and Brazilian soybean products. However, this support should continue only as long as it involves raising the export tax rates on soybean oil and meal to the same level as the 26.5% tax rate on whole soybeans, according to a special soybean trade policy task force.

This was one of four major recommendations outlined in the final report of a recent American Soybean Association (ASA) Elanco trade policy task force mission to Brazil and Argentina.

"Unfair export subsidies, in the form of differential export taxes, are drastically affecting U.S. soybean farmer profitability," said Task Force Chairman Wayne Bennett, a Lonoke, Arkansas soybean farmer. "Argentine and Brazilian soybean processors and exporters are employing these subsidies to take away traditional U.S. export markets... markets which are vitally important to U.S. soybean farmers."

The trade policy mission was sponsored by ASA, a farmer-controlled commodity organization dedicated to the profitability of U.S. soybean farmers; and by Elanco Products Company, manufacturer of Treflan, Surflan and Sonolan herbicides.

The trade policy mission included the five farmer members of ASA's Trade Policy Task Force, a congressional aide and senior staff representatives of ASA and Elanco.

The mission participants spent 12 days exploring current and potential soybean production in Brazil and Argentina with their farmers and industry representatives as well as meeting with government officials to voice U.S. farmer concerns about the unfair use of the export tax differentials.

Bennett said other recommendations resulting from the ASAElanco Trade Policy Mission included the need to explore in detail how the U.S. government and public universities are assisting Brazil and Argentina to increase soybean production which directly competes with funding to establish a program in Brazil to help that nation better feed its people by fostering greater internal consumption of soybeans and soybean products; and the need for annual U.S. soybean farmer studies of the South American competitive situation.

"We were very disturbed to learn of the involvement of some of our land grant universities, mainly through the Agency for International Development, in their increases in production," said Bennett. "We also must keep abreast of this competitive environment if we are to remain the least cost producers of the world's soybean requirements."

Ben Agnor, Elanco vice president for marketing services and a mission participant, indicated the task force thought Argentina has a much greater potential than Brazil for increased soybean production in the short term.

"Argentina can be expected to increase soybean production annually to a level of 370 million bushels," said Agnor. "Brazil, on the other hand, has probably reached its maximum level of 588 to 625 million bushels unless the U.S. soybean loan rate is raised or the U.S. dollar appreciates even further. Either action would act as an incentive to increase production."

Bennett said the five soybean farmer participants of the ASAElanco Trade Policy Mission agreed the Argentina and Brazilian governments will continue to place a major emphasis on production and exportation of soybeans to generate much needed currency to repay their huge foreign debts.

The recommendations will be formally presented by members of the ASAElanco Trade Policy Mission to U.S. government officials in June.

Commission to tour dairy plant

The regular monthly meeting of the Michigan Commission of Agriculture, the five-member bipartisan policy-making body of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, will be held Tuesday, June 11 and Wednesday, June 12 in Sandusky.

According to Paul E. Kindinger, MDA director, Commissioners will tour the Michigan Milk Producers Association dairy plant in Sebewawing, the Kociba dairy and farm near Bad Axe and the Michigan Peat Company processing plant outside Sandusky, the morning of June 11. The formal Commission meeting will convene at 3 p.m. that afternoon in the West Park Motor Inn, 440 Sanilac Road, Sandusky, and recess at about 5 p.m. The meeting will reconvene at 9 a.m., Wednesday, June 12. Time is set aside on the agenda for public appearances and comment at 10 a.m. Both the June 11 and 12 meetings are open to the public.

There will be an opportunity for interested citizens to informally meet Commission members and department staff to discuss agricultural issues or concerns from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m., June 11 in the large meeting room at the West Park Motor Inn.

Extension Homemakers honored recently

Recently the Michigan Association of Extension Homemakers held a special spring luncheon to honor its members.

The association awarded engraved pins to fourteen of its members who have belonged to the organization for 35 years or more. Four of the members with the longest memberships included Grace Fizzell of Elsie with 48 years, Lureta Bauerle of Lansing with 46 years, Esther Tabor of Elsie with 46 years and Mildred Whitaker of Elsie with 45 years.

There were nine members of the association recognized for 30-35 years of membership. They received an MAEH pin as a token of the organization's appreciation.

The final membership category for awards was the 20-30 year members. Ten MAEH members received an MAEH stick pin for being an award winner in this category.

Throughout the year members of the organization are encouraged to develop their talents. Many of those talents fall into the category of hand-made accessories for the home.

By Dawn Harris
Extension Home Economist

With so much emphasis on weight control these days it is tempting to try to reduce the number of calories in everything we eat. As a result, many people have been experimenting with the amount of sugar going into their homemade jams and jellies.

Unfortunately, it is necessary to add the full amount of sugar that the recipe calls for. Sugar does more than give a sweet flavor to jams and jellies. At the high concentrations used, it "tied up" water so that most microorganisms can't grow. It also assists in gel formation. If you cut down on the amount of sugar, you'll wind up with syrup - great for ice cream or pancakes, not so good for toast or sandwiches.

Honey can replace up to 2 cups of sugar in jams or jellies made with added pectin. Products made with honey will have a darker color and the flavor will be somewhat different. There will not be any significance difference in the nutritional value of the jam/jelly.

Many people have also been trying to substitute granular fructose for sugar in their recipes. Although fructose is one and a half times sweeter than table sugar, to ensure gel formation it still has to be substituted cup for cup in any of the jam or jelly recipes that we now have. Consequently, there is not any calorie reduction in the jam or jelly.

Jams and jellies, whether they are made with table sugar, honey or fructose, are part of the "sweets/fats/alcohol" food group. They do not belong to the "fruit/vegetables" group! Foods from the "sweets/fats/alcohol" group supply mainly calories. Most of us, unless we're on a strict weight reduction diet have some room in our diets for foods from this group. Moderation is the key. We need to use good sense in deciding how much of these foods we can eat and how often we can eat them and still maintain our weight. Jams and Jellies are usually eaten in small amounts and in combination with more nutritious foods. A serving might be only a teaspoon, which provides about 18 calories.

If you plan on doing some canning or freezing this year, you will probably not want to miss the Spring Canning Update to be held on June 12-13

This series will be held at the St. Johns High School and will cover pressure canning, water-bath canning, freezing, and jam/jelly making. For more information contact the Cooperative Extension Service at 224-3288 or 669-3663, ext. 229.

Agricultural News

By Marilyn Loudenslager
Extension Agricultural Agent

Adding supplemental fat to a sow's diet can raise average litter weights up to 15 percent at 21 days old, which improves piglet survival rates and may increase farrowing turnaround.

"Putting supplemental fat in a sow's diet prior to and during lactation boost milk production and increases fat concentrations in the milk," says Jerry Shurson, Extension specialist in swine production. "Higher milk fat concentrations provide more food energy to piglets, resulting in faster weight gain and decreased pig mortality," he says.

Fat supplements also tend to reduce the number of days between weaning and rebreeding, which can ultimately increase production, Shurson says.

Shurson recommends feeding sow about 2½ pounds of supplemental fat prior to farrowing. This can be accomplished by feeding a 6 percent supplemental fat already provided in a sow's usual corn-soybean meal diet.

A diet containing 10 percent supplemental fat should be fed during lactation to increase milk production and milk fat concentration.

A side benefit of adding fat to feed is that it reduces grain dust in the facility. Decreasing grain dust in the farrowing house may improve animal performance, and it also significantly improves the working environment and lowers workers risk of respiratory problems associated with grain dust.

Despite these advantages, Shurson says some operators may not find it cost effective to add supplemental fat to sow's diets.

Operators need to decide if the returns in productivity offset the extra cost of supplemental fat in the diet.

If a farrowing operation loses more than two pigs per litter, adding fat to the sow's diet can improve the piglet survival rate enough to be economical, Shurson says. It is probably not a beneficial practice if fewer than 1½ pigs per litter die, however.

Equipment to mix fat into the feed is also required. If mixing equipment needs to be built or purchased, this increases costs.

Premixed bagged feed with added fat tends to turn rancid or is absorbed by the bag if stored too long in warm weather.

Dried fat products are available that are easy to mix and work well, but they are also expensive.

Shurson also warns that feed containing supplemental fat can bridge in feeders.

Equipment check always good idea

Performing a basic equipment inspection before using a tractor improves operator safety and reduces expenses by finding and correcting small problems before they balloon into large ones.

"There are about 10 safety checks operators should make before getting on the tractor to ensure safe machine operation," says Howard Doss, Extension agricultural safety specialist at Michigan State University.

Tires need to be inspected for cuts or breaks in the tread and sidewalls, and tire pressure should be measured occasionally, Doss says. A damaged tire can blow out, throwing the tractor out of control. Low tire pressure causes internal tire damage and premature wear, while overinflation can make operators lose control by causing front wheels to bounce on rough ground.

Make sure tractor guards and shields are in place, and keep the platform and steps free of slippery mud or grease. Remember to remove chains and tools from the tractor platform after maintenance work - they can interfere with pedal operation or cause the operator to slip and fall off the tractor.

Fuel and hydraulic lines need to be checked for leaks and bad connections, Doss says. Fuel leaks are wasteful and a fire hazard.

Power steering and control of the three-point hitch can be lost because of hydraulic line leaks.

Hold a piece of cardboard alongside hydraulic lines when looking for pinhole leaks, Doss advises. Many hydraulic and diesel fuel systems develop pressures three times the amount needed to penetrate skin, so operators should never use their hands to "look" for leaks. Seek medical attention at once if oil penetrates the skin - a serious infection or reaction could develop.

Safe tractor operation also depends on good visibility, so clean windshields on cabs and make sure wipers function.

With the engine started, test tractor brakes by pressing each pedal, checking for a solid, resistant pressure and an adequate pedal travel distance. Then lock pedals together and check for equal braking ability on each wheel while slowly moving forward, Doss says. Look for steering problems by moving the steering wheel in each direction, watching for the amount of tire and steering wheel rotation. Doss says excessive "play" in the steering wheel should be avoided.

Finally, occasionally check the working order of the neutral-start safety switch. It keeps the engine from starting when the transmission or clutch is engaged.

Richard Gibson, an English portrait painter, was reported to be 3 feet 30 inches tall.

Saginaw Valley sends food to Africans

Two hundred cases of canned navy beans and 20,000 pounds of sugar left the Saginaw Valley this week for North Africa. The beans and sugar will be used in the hunger relief efforts in several countries in that area.

Eric Bailey, chairman of the Michigan Bean Commission, who was on hand when the products were loaded at the Michigan Sugar Company in Carrollton, commented that, "the use of canned navy beans to help feed these hungry people makes a lot of sense. Shipping foodstuffs that must be cooked with water, to a part of the world suffering from a lack of water, poses some rather basic problems."

The Michigan Bean Commission and Michigan Bean Shippers Association are both working to have canned navy beans approved by the U.S. Agency for International Development as an acceptable food product for relief efforts.

John McGill, executive vice president of the Bean Shippers recently returned from a trip to Kenya to try and convince agencies that canned beans are a product that could help in their mission.

As Bailey explained, "If this product is approved by the U.S. Agency for International Development as acceptable for relief efforts, it would be of much more practical and immediate benefit, to the hungry people of North Africa, than many of the items currently being supplied.

Dale Kuenzli, president of Valley Marketing Co-Op, commended McGill on his efforts to try and convince officials that navy beans in brine should be approved, and also the Bean Commission, Michigan Bean Shippers Association, and Michigan Sugar for their humanitarian gesture in providing the products.

The sugar shipped to Africa was supplied by Michigan Sugar, and the beans were furnished by Morgan Packing, the Bean Commission and Bean Shippers.

Annual International Bowhunters Clinic date set

Anderson Archery in Grand Ledge will host the seventh annual International Bowhunters' Clinic next weekend, June 14, 15 and 16. The event will run from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, and from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Sunday.

An adult admission badge, good for all three days, will cost just $3. Youth admission badges will cost just $1. On Sunday only, admission will be $1 for adults, and children 11 and under will be admitted free.

Some of the free special features offered at the clinic will include bow inspection and tune up, bow speed testing and knife and broadhead sharpening. In addition, many of today's top archery personalities will be on hand, so don't forget to bring your camera for pictures with your favorite personalities.

Hundreds of door prizes will be given away daily, including more than 10 bows. Anderson Archery will have a longbow display on hand, featuring many of yesterday's and today's longbows and longbow related equipment.

The festivities will begin each of the three days just after 10 a.m. with featured speakers. Speakers will continue throughout the three days.

Movies and videos will also be shown, and food and refreshments will also be available.

For more information on the clinic, or for a schedule of events, call Mike Anderson at (517)-627-3251.

Clinton Home Extension Club enjoys boat ride

Submitted By Anabel Peck

Members, husbands and guests from Clinton County Home Extension Club enjoyed a paddle wheel boat excursion (in effect two years) on the Grand River in Lansing, on Wednesday.

Thirty-six boarded the Community bus at the Extension Offices parking lot in St. Johns. They rode to the Riverfront Park on the river by the Lansing Community College, with the Farmer's Market being across the river on the other side.

The boat, "Spirit of Lansing" was a red and white festive setting for the old-fashioned and lilting tunes being played on the piano during the trip with many singing along. Box lunches were enjoyed as they journeyed.

The view from the river is one vastly different from above as the boat went under Shiawassee, Michigan and Kalamazoo bridges. Just after going under highway I-496 a turn was made for the return trip to River Front Park. It was one hour of paddle-wheeling down the Grand River. Something different! Something fun!

From there the group visited the Michigan Historical Museum at 208 North Capital Ave. Lansing. It started with a lively sight and sound trip through Michigan, past the present, via three-screen-slides and music and narration. The heart of the museum is its "walk through time", a fact-filled trip with objects and photos providing a fresh scene at every turn.

There were also many information leaflets on the historical places in Michigan as well as pertinent historic facts.

Just how well do YOU know Michigan?

As especially interesting bit of Michigan history is the Michigan struggle for statehood from 1835-1837. Though not an actual war there was a great controversy over the southern strip of land called the "Toledo Strip". Both Ohio, already a state, and what was to be Michigan wanted it.

It was finally decided in what was "called" the Toledo War with the strip going to Ohio, and the Upper Peninsula to Michigan. All in all it was a relaxing trip...no hurry, no worry...good weather...good food...good friends...watching the world as you go by.

Would you like to take such a lazy-dazy, paddle-wheel trip and see what goes on the banks of the Grand River? Seeing Lansing from the river is a change of pace...almost like another era.

April milk inventory figures are down

Dairy herds in Michigan produced 452 million pounds of milk during April, down fractionally from the April 1984 production, according to the Federal/State Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service.

Milk cow numbers increased after holding steady for the past few months.

The April inventory of 391,000 head was down only 6,000 from one year earlier.

Weather conditions have been favorable for increased milk production this spring.

Increased grain feeding rates and early development of spring pastures have contributed to increased milk per cow.

The value of milk sold in Michigan during April averaged $13.10 per hundredweight (cwt.), down $.20 from a year ago.

Replacement milk cow prices averaged $880 per head on April 1, down $30 from the previous year.

Slaughter cow prices averaged $39.50 per cwt., down 7 percent from a year earlier.

Nationally, milk production during April totaled 12 billion pounds, up 3 percent from April 1984.

Accumulated milk production for the first four months of this year was virtually the same as the comparable 1984 period.

Milk cow numbers averaged 10.9 million head during April, up one percent from a year ago.

This was the largest cow inventory since February, 1984.

April milk production was above the previous year's level in 24 of the 33 states compiling monthly milk estimates.

Dairy manufacturing plants in Michigan produced nearly 3.8 million pounds of butter during March, down 27 percent from one year ago.

American cheese production exceeded 1.3 million pounds, up 24 percent from the March 1984 output.

Ice cream production, 2.8 gallons, was up 21 percent from a year earlier.

Tractor handling determines chances for rollover

Safe tractor operation can reduce the chance of tractor rollovers, which can cause equipment damage and serious injury.

"About 800 people die from tractor accidents in the United States each year, and over half of those fatalities are due to tractor rollovers," says Howard Doss, Extension agricultural safety specialist at Michigan State University. "Using safe operating practices and taking precautions to prevent tractor accidents will but injuries and expensive equipment repairs," he says.

Doss advises buying only tractors equipped with rollover protection, which he terms a form of insurance. It is worth the extra money to buy equipment with rollover protection, he says, because chance of surviving an upset without overturn protection are slim.

Operators can prevent tractor upset by understanding and avoiding the causes of rollovers.

Causes of side rollovers include fishtailing or jackknifing towed loads because the tractor is being driven too fast, Doss says. Reducing speed -- especially when driving on slippery surfaces -- slowing on turns and applying even brake pressure, help avoid an upset. Operators should make sure brake pedals are locked together before driving at moderate speeds, because unequal brake pressure can push a tractor onto its side.

Doss says a downhill runaway tractor can overturn, so operators need to shift to a lower gear and reduce speed when driving downhill to keep tractors under control. Always shift gears before starting downhill -- brakes may not hold and it may not be possible to shift back into gear if the clutch is disengaged after starting downhill. Engine braking abilities at certain speeds may not be adequate, so check the operator's manual to determine the tractor's capabilities.

Placing the wheel spacing or tread at the widest possible setting for the job also helps reduce the risk of overturns by providing a wide base of stability.

Avoid crossing steep slopes. If it's necessary to drive on a steep grade, drive slowly, avoid quick uphill turns and watch for rocks or depressions that can destabilize the tractor. When pulling implements, try to keep side-mounted equipment on the uphill side of the tractor, and turn downhill if the tractor starts to lose its balance, he says.

The chances for tractors tipping over backwards can be reduced by always starting to move forward slowly and changing speeds gradually, especially when towing heavy loads or farm implements, Doss says. Never attach a towed load to anything but a drawbar or drawbar attachment for a three-point hitch, and don't use the tractor to pull things it wasn't designed to pull, such as stumps or logs, Doss cautions.

Avoid rear tipovers when towing by using front-end weights to counter-balance the extra pulling weight. Adding wheel weights and tire ballast and keeping the three-point hitch linkage less than 17 inches above the ground can also help, Doss says.

COMMISSION ORDER

CFI-106.85

(Under the authority of Act 230, P.A. 1925, as amended)

EXPERIMENTAL TROUT FISHING REGULATIONS ON THE ROGUE RIVER, KENT COUNTY

Under the authority of Section 3 of Act 230, P.A. 1925, as amended, being Section 300.3 of the Michigan Compiled Laws, the Natural Resources Commission, at its meeting on May 17, 1985, ordered that for a period of two years beginning immediately through September 30, 1986, that experimental trout fishing regulations be established on a 2.4 mile stretch of the Rogue River, Kent County, in accordance with the following rules:

Area: Rogue River from the mouth of Cedar Creek (T9N, R11W, Section 22) downstream to signs posted where the Rogue meets with Summit Avenue (T9N, R11W, Section 24), a distance of approximately 2.4 miles.

Size Limit: A minimum of 16 inches.

Bag Limit: Two (2) fish per day.

Gear: Fishing is limited to artificial lures of flies only.

COMMISSION ORDER

CFI-112.85

(Under authority of Act 230, P.A. 1925, as amended)

OPEN SEASON AND CATCH LIMITS ON PIKE, WALLEYE, SAUGER AND MUSKELLUNGE

Under the authority of Section 4, Act 230, P.A. 1925, as amended, being 300.4 of the Michigan Compiled Laws, the Natural Resources Commission, at its May 17, 1985, meeting, amended its December 6, 1984, order, No. CFI-112.84, Open Seasons and Catch Limits on Pike, Walleye, Sauger and Muskellunge, and ordered that the following amended order become effective May 17, 1985, and remain valid for a period of five years until March 31, 1990.

It shall be unlawful to take the following named species except within the open seasons and daily limits prescribed (statewide regulations apply unless otherwise restricted):

Statewide open seasons on all waters not otherwise closed to fishing shall be from May 15 through February on walleye, sauger, northern pike, and muskellunge (including tiger muskellunge). The daily catch limit shall be five singly or in combination for largemouth and smallmouth bass, walleye, sauger, and northern pike; one for muskellunge (including tiger muskellunge).

The above regulations apply statewide except that walleye and sauger may be taken at any time from the Detroit and St. Clair rivers, Lake St. Clair, and Lake Erie; and that muskellunge in Lake St. Clair, St. Clair and Detroit rivers may be taken only from the first Saturday in June through December 15 of each year. The daily catch on Lake St. Clair and the Detroit and St. Clair rivers shall be six singly or in combination for largemouth and smallmouth bass, walleye, sauger, and northern pike when the catch includes at least one walleye or sauger. Also, the daily catch on Lake Erie shall be 10 singly or in combination for largemouth and smallmouth bass, walleye, sauger, and northern pike when the catch includes at least five walleye or sauger. For the purposes of this order the boundary between the Detroit River and Lake Erie is defined as an east-west line touching the southern most tip of Celeron Island.

Community Volunteers have summer series set

Computer Phobia is not a childhood disease, according to Bill Richards, Director of Community Resource Volunteers (CRV) in St. Johns.

"In fact, most people are fully grown before they read a blinking cursor to mean, 'Turn the computer off and walk away alive.' No, children make friends with computers right away. That's why if works so well to introduce them to high tech early, while it's still painless and fun.

They're going to live in a high tech world. They'll need to be comfortable and competent in it," Richards said.

"But their childhood," you say, "their innocence! Better they should be afraid, than let a machine put all their wild, unanswerable questions into a formatted disk, or flash 'syntax error!' at every probing question or hint of a sense of wonder!"

That's the concern CRV's summer program addresses. The program brings two seemingly alien worlds together, where high tech and high esteem for one's own earth-bound humanity turn out to be compatible.

"The purpose of our program is to provide youth with a wide variety of experiences that reflect a balance between nature, out historyculture, and the high tech society that is emerging all around us," Richards said.

Participants in the first two-week segment beginning June 17 will use a computer to design Indian crafts in color, and will later execute one of the designs in a weaving, working at an old Indian camp site in Sleepy Hollow. The experience will be rich in Indian lore, with a large Indian tepee on hand, and plenty of time to swim, hike, chase butterflies, and explore the natural world.

"The second week we'll begin working on Indian plays, stories, dance, and tracking. Then we'll be at the TV-WELM studio where Ellen Hadley, a theater teacher from RBW, will do a hands-on workshop with campers in developing and producing their own TV production," Richards said.

Parents who wish to enroll their children should contact CRV at 224-8285 as soon as possible, since enrollment is limited. The program is designed for participants 11 years old and older who want a special challenge. CRV may be able to provide transportation for the Summer Enrichment Program, permitting them to attend both swimming lessons or in programs.

Food distribution to use new cards

For over two years, Capital Area Community Services, Inc. (CACCS), has been using a card registration system with the Commodity Food Distribution Program. Because this system has worked so well, they will continue with a New Commodity Food I.D. Card for another year.

Beginning May 28 they will start the process of recertifying and reissuing New Commodity Food I.D. Cards. This means that everyone will have to bring in new income verification dated within the last 12 months.

The next planned commodity distribution will be held on July 16 and 17, but applicants must have their new green commodity food I.D. card before that distribution.

The following items can be used as proof of income: copy of Social Security SSI or VA check; direct deposit statement from the Social Security Administration; copy of Homestead Property Tax Credit Claim; State of Federal Income Tax Return; Rental or Lease agreement from subsidized housing; or a benefit report form from the Department of Social Services, dated within the last 12 months.

They were recently given two separate income eligibility guidelines for applicants under 60 years of age, and applicants 60 years of age and older.

In order to be eligible for the Commodity Program, the family income must be at or below the following guidelines: for applicants under 60 years of age a family of one-$6,825, family of two-$9,165, a family of three-$11,505, for each additional family member add $2,340; for applicants 60 years of age and older a family of one-$8,400, a family of two-$11,280, for a family of three-$14,160 and for each additional family member add $2,280.

If applicants do not have their new commodity I.D. card before the next distribution, they will not be able to receive commodity food.

Questions can be answered by the following organizations: Clinton County Action Center...224-6702 and Clinton County Senior Citizens...224-7998.

Pamphlet ready

A new pamphlet "How to Protect Yourself from Drinking Drivers," is just off the press, Secretary of State Richard Austin announced today.

The pamphlet, available in all Secretary of State branch office, tells how to recognize drivers who may have been drinking, when drinking drivers may be encountered on highways and what can be done to avoid them.

Austin said that a total of 1,331 highway deaths occurred in Michigan in 1983 and 1,551 in 1984. Alcohol was involved in more than half in both years.

Despite efforts of public and private agencies, law enforcement and safety organizations, alcohol-involved highway deaths increased, he said.

The pamphlet is designed to help drivers become aware of the problems of drinking and driving, how to recognize a driver who has been drinking and how to protect yourself

Class of 1929 joins in 50 year plus reunion

By MARILYN HESS
Bath Editor

"I haven't changed any, they have," said Floyd Stebleton when he saw his friends from Bath's class of 1929 at a 50-year-plus reunion June 2. Others told their former classmates, "you look just the same!"

Almost 100 alumni, some from as far away as Florida, attended the luncheon reunion in the elementary school cafeteria. Bath resident Florence Sweet Harte Witchell, from the class of 1911, represented the earliest class at the reunion.

Each person's visit was recorded on videotape to be included in the Bath School Museum. The former students stood in front of a camera and recited their name and class.

Some who were there had not attended any previous reunions, and so were seeing their classmates for the first time in up to 70 years. Others, like the class of 1927, have been getting together more often — they have reunited every year since their 50th.

The class of 1927 stands out for another reason: it was on the day they were to have graduated that Andrew Kehoe blew up the Bath Consolidated School, killing 44 students, teachers, and residents. "The memory of that is very vivid," said Stebleton.

"It just happened as far as we're concerned," said his wife, Eva. The Stebletons were high school sweethearts and married a year after they graduated. They were in the end of the school building that did not collapse after the explosion.

Floyd had run from the building and was standing near Kehoe's car when it exploded, killing Kehoe, school superintendent Emory Huyck, and three other persons. A piece of steel from the car hit him in the shoulder, but he suffered no major injuries.

Cassie Van Riper said she missed the school bus on May 18, 1927, and was in her father's car on the way to the building when it exploded.

She and the rest of the class of 1927 never received their diplomas until the class of 1977 held the ceremony that was forgotten in the mournful aftermath of the bombing.

Conversation at the reunion was mainly of happier topics — friends and family. Most attended "just to be surprised to see who's here," as Irene Babcock Dunham said.

Bernell Gibson (class of 1929) and his wife, Dorothy, drove from Ellenton, Fla. for the event. "I told him this would probably be the last time we'd be able to do something like this, so we might as well come," she said.

The reunion came out of the effort last year to create the Bath School Museum, which is housed in the elementary school. Most of the group that organized the reunion also had a hand in the museum project. The reunion committee was comprised of: Lee Reasoner, Chet and Adabelle McGonigal, Gene Wilkins, Raymond and Donna Beth Eschtruth, Harold and June Burnett, Walt Kyes, and Gerald and Ila Shepard.

State Senator Alan Cropsey

A major health promotion and risk reduction plan to reduce health care costs in Michigan, after long planning and negotiation, is ready for debate on the Senate floor this week. The plan, encompassed now in Senate Bill 4 and called "VIM" for Vitality Investment in Michigan, calls for a major prevention campaign administered by the Department of Public Health, to help citizens improve their health and reduce the risk of major illness.

The plan, which originally was tied to S.B. 5 calling for funding through cigarette tax moneys, now seeks appropriations from the General Fund. The Senate Appropriations Committee recently amended the Public Health budget to appropriate $750,000 in start-up funds to begin the statewide project during the 1985-86 fiscal year.

Michigan's VIM plan, which has drawn wide bipartisan support, is also attracting a great deal of national attention. Recently, Dr. William Thar, chairman of the Senate Health Committee's Prevention Task Force and Robert Ortwein, Senate health specialist, responded to an invitation from the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) in Atlanta, GA, to address representatives from 50 states and seven territories at the National Health Education and Risk Reduction Conference in Atlanta.

"The Michigan presentation was the highlight of the conference," said Dr. Marshall Kreuter, Director of Health Education for the CDC. "This legislation is an innovative prototype that will most certainly serve as a model for other states. The conference participants were uniformly impressed not only with the proposal, but with the consensus style of cooperation that was used to develop and draft the legislation."

The Prevention Task Force had utilized the resources of legislators from both parties, leading physicians and health care professionals, and community leaders from around the state to help draft and improve the legislation.

Additionally, Richard Murdock, health planner with the state's Office of Health and Medical Affairs, was instrumental in technical assistance with the legislation, was recently invited to address the Colorado Public Health Association on Michigan's proposed VIM plan.

"The national and international attention the VIM proposal has received is real feather in the caps of the many people who worked so hard to put this legislation together," Cropsey said. "I certainly hope and anticipate that the Michigan legislature itself will be equally enthusiastic and give this unique innovation in health care cost containment its full support."

Cropsey added that the plan has been scaled down considerably from its original version introduced in January. "The negotiations process has been valuable. We have agreed to start with a smaller appropriations-funded program, but we are sure it will experience great success and grow in support and funding annually."

This bill is known as the VIM (Vitality In Michigan) bill due to its policy emphasis on the preventive approach to rising health care costs.

PROBLEM: The prevalence of health risk factors in Michigan account for over 50% of Michigan's deaths and productive years lost. Additionally, the prevalence can also be attributed to significant health care costs, including expenditures by the Medicaid program.

SOLUTION: Most health care cost containment proposals attempt to affect the supply of health care services through restrictions on providers. While it is much more difficult, as a long term solution, the demand for health care services can be affected by reducing the prevalence of health risk factor.

INTENT OF SENATE BILL 4 (S-1): The substitute will establish an organized system to provide preventive health services which have proven to reduce health care costs, improve productivity, and advance the quality of life.

FEATURES OF SENATE BILL 4 (S-1):

-- The determination of health risk factors which will receive program priority by a state risk reduction commission. This commission will also be responsible for ensuring that resources appropriated to implement the bill are distributed throughout the state. The commission now has approval for local funding applications.

-- The selection, by a local steering committee appointed by county boards of commissioners, of the local providers (private and public) who will deliver the priority preventive services. This selection will be identified in local application to the state for funding.

-- The responsibility, at the state level to provide specific services that will complement local program implementation, including media campaigns, clearinghouse and referral of exemplary programs, data analysis, and evaluation. Administratively, the state through the Department of Public Health will also be responsible for local grants management.

-- More specifically, SB 4 (S-1) provides for a local match and a priority of resources targeted at the local level to be supportive to private sector initiatives, particularly in

FUNDING: SB 4 (S-1) breaks the tie-bar to SB 5 (cigarette tax) and would consequently be funded through appropriations via line items for state level and local level programs in the Department of Public Health Appropriations bill beginning in FY 87. Senate Appropriations has added $750,000 to the Public Health budget for first-year funding of VIM.

EFFECTIVE DATE: Limited implementation would begin in FY 86. Initial implementation at the local level would begin in FY 87 and be at full support level in FY 88.

U.P. moose population is increasing

The Upper Peninsula's moose population of 29 increased by three due to the birth of three calves, including one set of twins over the past few days.

Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Wildlife personnel report they've found three new moose calves in Iron and Marquette countries. These are the first confirmed reports of calves born as a result of the moose translocation from Canada last January.

Physical exams and blood tests done last winter show 17 cows are now calving says DNR Regional Director Frank Opolka. Radio collars attached to the moose before they were transported from Canada have allowed DNR staff to constantly monitor the condition of the moose. Wildlife biologists are tracking the pregnant cows by airplane. Once the cow has calved, the biologists go in on foot to check the condition of the moose and her calf (calves).

Opolka cautions loggers, hikers, anglers, campers and other outdoors users to be on the lookout for the pregnant cows which are scattered throughout the U.P., and report sightings to the nearest DNR office.

"People should be cautious and avoid disturbing the cows because they can be aggressive trying to protect their calves," he said.
