CMH awarded accreditation

By DAVE HOLZMAN
Staff Writer

The hospice program at Clinton Memorial Hospital has received national recognition from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals making it only the 33rd such program in the country to receive the honor.

The three-year-old program provides social, psychological, spiritual, and physical care by doctors, nurses, clergymen and volunteers into the homes of the terminally ill.

"We are very pleased," says head hospice nurse Janet Gramlich. "It's been a lot of hard work with a lot of caring people involved. It means the hospital is providing the best care possible."

The Clinton Memorial Hospice is currently treating two patients. It has served as many as eight people at one time.

The hospice had to meet many requirements in the area of competent, quality care in order to receive the accreditation. An on-site evaluation was conducted by JCAH surveyors, who apply nationally recognized standards for quality care to patients and their families.

The national standards represent a consensus among health care professionals and are periodically updated to reflect changes in hospice care.

Clinton Memorial Hospital voluntarily pursued the accreditation. Only one other hospice in Michigan — the Southeastern Hospice in Southfield — has received accreditation from JCAH.

AG's opinion sought

Officials from Bath and DeWitt townships have agreed with the county's assistant prosecutor to seek the attorney general's opinion as to whether or not police officers who appear in court should receive a witness fee. Seeking clarification from Attorney General Frank Kelly will avoid a possibly expensive judgment in court, says Bath Supervisor Richard Brook.

At a meeting of the county Criminal Justice Committee July 12, Assistant Prosecutor Richard Koenigsknecht told DeWitt Supervisor Frank Mann and Township Services Coordinator Thomas Woodruff that the county would continue to pay the controversial witness fee until the attorney general rules on the matter. Officers who have appeared in court after the prosecutor first notified the townships they are not eligible for the fee will be paid retroactively, said DeWitt Township Clerk Greg Whitlock.

Koenigsknecht said Prosecutor John Newman had to give a final okay to the agreement when he returns from vacation.

Bath Township Supervisor Richard Brook says no one from Bath received an invitation to the Criminal Justice Committee meeting.

But the township board okayed the agreements made at the conference at its July 15 meeting.

County Commissioner Richard Hawks, who is on the justice committee, told the Bath trustees that both townships would be able to see the document seeking clarification before it is sent to Kelly.

"That sounds good," said Brook at the board meeting, "because we continue in limbo until a decision comes down from the attorney general and that could be anywhere from one year to two."

A third Gowing brother accused of a sex crime with a girl, 14

By DAVE HOLZMAN
Staff Writer

The brother of two boy scout leaders convicted of sexually abusing a member of their boy scout troop earlier this year has been charged with criminal sexual conduct in the third degree by a 14-year-old Watertown Township girl.

In a complaint filed with the Clinton County prosecutor's office, the unidentified girl says 51-year-old Robert Gowing fondled her and indicated he wanted to have sex with her.

year, his brothers, Donald and

Delmar Gowing, both serving as leaders for a boy scout troop in Wacousta, were sentenced to life in prison for sexually abusing a boy in that troop.

In a closed door preliminary examination July 15, Gowing appeared in front of 65th District Court Judge Jeffrey Martlew. Martlew has taken the case into advisement and will decide if there is enough evidence to send the case to circuit court.

A decision is expected this week.

According to the prosecutor's office, the alleged victim was a friend of Gowing's daughter and made several visits to the Gowing residence.

It's sidewalk sale days

Looking for a good bargain? If so, St. Johns will be the place Thursday, Friday and Saturday as the Chamber of Commerce sponsors its annual city wide sidewalk days.

It will be bargains galore in downtown St. Johns and at the Southpoint Mall where most proprietors will be out on the sidewalks and streets peddling their merchandise at severely reduced prices.

With a little cooperation from the weather, the weekend sale should be an attractive delight for merchants and customers. Families can come down and spend a full day checking out the incredible deals, while those who will have to work the sale will spend their weekend filling the cash register with green and silver.

During the sale, Southpoint Mall will also have a hot air balloon and will give free hot air balloon rides. Also several area non-profit groups will be sponsoring bake sales, raffles and a book sale.

Information on SJ Mint Festival

Clinton County officials are attempting to locate and borrow photographs, news clippings, etc., depicting St. Johns mint farming in the past. The materials collected will be included in a pictorial display in the Clinton Bank lobby during the week preceding the Mint Festival and at the Paine-Gillam-Scott Museum during the Festival Aug. 9-11.

All materials will be carefully displayed and returned after the Mint Festival. Materials may be dropped off until July 31 at 200 N. Clinton Ave. or call 224-6811, extension 238.

The selection of this year's Mint Queen will take place Saturday, 8 p.m. in the St. Johns High School Auditorium. 18 candidates will be competing for the honor. Musical entertainment will be provided by Dave Wiseman and others while a panel of out of town judges will decide the winner. A $1 donation will be asked for instead of an admission charge.

Tickets for the Mint Festival Queen's Banquet and Ball Saturday, Aug. 10 at Smith Hall are still available, but are selling fast. The dinner/dance begins at 6:30 p.m., with a cash bar and the meal which begins at 7. Music will be provided by Algie Watkins Phase IV Band. Tickets, which are priced at $15 each, can be purchased at Briggs Company Real Estate, First American Title, Treasure Chest, Clinton Bank and Trust and the Chamber of Commerce office.

A 20-minute "peppy-mint work out" will be held Sunday, July 28, at the football field, City Park. A $2 donation is asked from those participating with all proceeds being equally divided between the Mint Festival and Community Resource Volunteers. Everyone is welcome to join in on the fun or just observe.

Vacation costs going up

The average cost of a Michigan summer vacation for a family of four rose 5.9 percent over last year's cost to $150 per day, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

The cost is based on a family of two adults and two children who eat three restaurant meals a day, stay in a hotel or motel and travel 300 miles daily by car.

This year's suggested budget allows $72 for meals, $57 for lodging and $21 for 300 miles of travel, according to the study. The cost for meals excludes tips, cocktails and snacks.

AAA says vacationers should expect to spend 7 cents per mile for gas, oil and car maintenance this summer. Fuel expenses are based on a car averaging 23 miles per gallon.

503-AAA approved establishments averages $57 per night for a two person two bed room, the study says. That price includes an average of $5 per night for each child. However, some properties waive charges for children under a specified age.

AAA says this summer's state vacation budget is up more than $8 from last year and is $14 below the nationwide average vacation budget.

Police Report

Police Briefs:

A 16-year-old Perrinton youth was killed in a one car traffic accident July 13. According to police reports, Charles Robert Verwey, 9730 Woodland Ct., was driving well above the speed limit on County Line Rd. when he lost control of his vehicle and crashed into the South side of a bridge. A passenger in the vehicle — 21-year-old Terry M. Wright of Middleton — received minor injuries after he was thrown from the vehicle. Police are investigating the accident.

A 21-year-old St. Johns man was arrested on criminal sexual conduct charges in the second degree July 13. Scott Husted, 105 E. Steele, is free on bond and will face arraignment July 26 in front of 65th District Court Judge Jeffrey Martlew.

A Lansing woman and her 2-year-old son were treated with minor injuries at Clinton Memorial Hospital after they were involved in a traffic accident July 14. Kathleen Andrews was driving westbound on Price Rd. and did not see a vehicle driven by Clyde Pearson of DeWitt, according to police reports. The two vehicles collided and Andrews' car rolled over into the ditch.

Hospital honors three

Three employees at The Memorial Hospital in Owosso have been honored for the second quarter of 1985 in the Hospital's "Employee of the Month" program, which is designed to recognize employees for outstanding job performance.

Honored were: Jim Nielsen, Laboratory; Sharon Lange, Physical Therapy; Linda Stechschulte, Nursing. These employees were recognized for their compassion, professionalism, and ability.

Persons are nominated for this honor by fellow employees and the final selection is made by a committee of representatives from various Hospital departments.

Burk honored as top worker in July at CMH

Ricki Burk, a 10-year employee at Clinton Memorial Hospital, was selected by fellow workers as representative "Employee of the Month" for July. Mrs. Burk serves as an Assistant Education Coordinator and was instrumental in the development of the hospital's Cardiac Pulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) program.

She and her husband, Gary, reside in St. Johns and have three children.

St Johns streets called very safe

The city of St. Johns has been honored with a Pedestrian Safety Achievement Award from the American Automobile Association for its outstanding Pedestrian Protection Program.

St. Johns competed nationwide with participating cities in the under 10,000 population group and won the award by going 12 years without a pedestrian fatality.

The highest honors for the year in Michigan went to Livonia and Wyoming, both of which earned first place awards for excellence for top performances in pedestrian safety program activities and pedestrian death and injury records. Only 28 such awards were given to cities around the country.

A total of 49 Michigan communities were honored by AAA for last year's pedestrian safety achievements and 312 nationwide.

Congressman Bill Schuette

"I have learned so much"

By BILL SCHUETTE
U.S. Congressman

Without a doubt, the last seven months have been the fastest of my life, and I have learned so much. Perhaps the best part of the job has been confirming that we live in a blessed country with a truly remarkable government. We the people really do represent ourselves in Congress, and we really do govern ourselves.

My most recent success was being able to testify before the House Ways and Means Committee about the effect of the Administration's tax reform proposal on farmers. I was able to remind the tax-writing committee that we need good tax policy that is also good farm policy, and it was great to make my voice heard for mid-Michigan farmers.

Another initiative which I supported and fought for has largely been adopted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. By initiating a "baker's dozen" approach to the export of U.S. grains, we can help offset the high dollar and use up some of our surpluses. If the government kicks in from its stocks every time we make an overseas grain sale, we can make American grain far more competitive on the world market. It was very satisfying to fight for this and see the USDA adopt much of it as official policy.

The first amendment I introduced in the subcommittee on Wheat, Soybeans and Feed Grains was adopted unanimously by the subcommittee and will help increase farmers' incomes. My amendment added corn and other feed grains to the marketing certificate program, under which producers could — at the discretion of the secretary of agriculture — be given export certificates for the percentage of their crop estimated for export. This amendment became part of the farm bill which was reported to the full Agriculture Committee, and was designed to give wheat and feed grain farmers a program combining strengthened voluntary acreage controls with income supports.

Finally, I have been working very hard to get cargo preference rules relaxed. The requirement that half of U.S. government grain shipments must be carried on U.S. flag ships is well-intended, but it boosts the price of sorghum shipped from a Texas port by as much as 170 percent, from $30 to $80 a metric ton. I am cosponsoring two bills that will relax these restrictions and put American grain back where it belongs — competing on the world market.

4-her's in D.C.

Five Clinton County 4-H'ers culminate a year long study of local, county and state government this week as the nation's capital becomes a classroom for over 4,000 4-H'ers from different states. They will participate in week long citizenship and leadership training sessions at the National 4-H Center in Chevy Chase, Maryland.

The summer long program began June 2nd and continues through August 10th with different groups attending each week.

Clinton County 4-H'ers Tammy Rossow, Michele Hart, Matthew VanBeelen, and Randall

Schmidt are participating in the session this week along with forty other 4-H'ers from the East Central Region. A fifth Clinton County 4-H'er, Sandy Thelen, participated in the program the last week in June.

Participants will visit Capitol Hill for a close up view of the political process; meet with their congressional representatives and senators for a discussion of legislative issues; visit historical and cultural sites within the metropolitan Washington, D.C., area, and interact with other 4-H members from across the country to exchange ideas and learn different customs and interests.

They also will attend assemblies to learn and practice life skills, legislative policies and discuss possible solutions to domestic and international problems. Throughout the week delegates will learn how to use voting machines. They will also develop a plan to translate what they learn into ongoing programs in their home communities.

Citizenship-Washington Focus is arranged by National 4-H Council in support of the 4-H program of the Cooperative Extension Service of state land-grant universities and the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Improving land is focus at Ag Expo

The major portion of Ag Expo, July 23-25 at Michigan State University, will focus on land improvement techniques.

Across approximately 20 acres, drainage and subirrigation tile will be installed, ponds for pollution and wildlife habitat will be constructed, and water and soil erosion control terraces will be built.

The demonstrations will be conducted from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day of Ag Expo. MSU shuttle buses will operate between the demonstration site and Expo's main exhibition area every 15 minutes each day.

The demonstrations are being sponsored by the MSU Department of Agricultural Engineering in cooperation with the Michigan Land Improvement Contractors Association.

"Our activities will demonstrate the latest concepts and purposes for the further development of crop production land," says Theodore Loudon, MSU Cooperative Extension Service agricultural engineer. "All of the aspects of the demonstrations to be seen are conducive to more economical and efficient crop production."

During the demonstrations, engineers and specialists will explain the operations being conducted. A careful review of all the activities will require about 90 minutes.

Underlying the activities will be field contour mapping using a microcomputer. This will also be demonstrated.

"This demonstration includes a laser surveying system, which is mounted on a vehicle that is driven across the site to be tiled and provides data needed to plan land improvement — including tiling a field — in a matter of hours instead of days," Loudon says.

The system also provides more information about the characteristics of the field and its drainage contours than conventional methods, which require survey crews and days of work at the drawing board, Loudon says.

The tile drain installations will be done by eight or more tiling machines using trenching and plow concepts. All of the units will be using the laser grade control system.

The subirrigation system will demonstrate a dual-purpose field drainage system for crop protection against soils that are too wet or too dry. Many soils that need tile drainage in the spring can also benefit from irrigation in the summer. Water can be pumped back into the tile system during the dry months.

The advantages of subirrigation over a sprinkler system are primarily in the amount of energy saved in pumping — subirrigation requires substantially less pressure — and its dual-purpose nature.

In addition to viewing the land improvement demonstrations, Ag Expo visitors can take several tours.

These tours, available from 10 a.m. through 3:30 p.m. each day, will include the following:

- MSU Poultry Science Teaching and Research Center. This will be primarily a consumer education stop that will enable participants to see a modern egg production unit and learn more about poultry production.

- Integrated Pest Management Weed Garden. This will be an examination of 60 of the major crop weed species and 10 lawn weed species found in Michigan.

- Field Crop Research. A walking tour of research plots will demonstrate the validity of high-yield crop production. Several tillage practices and herbicide trials will be compared and discussed.

Ag Expo '85 will be the largest

Before you buy that addition to your farm equipment lineup, attend Ag Expo '85, July 23-25 at Michigan State University.

Waiting there for your inspection will be 35 acres of machinery displays by more than 400 national manufacturers. Just about every type of machine used on the farm will be shown.

Ag Expo '85 is easily accessible from I-96 and I-69. There will be lots of free parking and a free shuttle bus to get you to the field demonstration sites. Free buses will also take you on a variety of tours that are part of the three-day event.

Plan now to attend Ag Expo '85 at Michigan State University. The Cooperative Extension Service in St. Johns has details.

Farm efficiency often depends on having the right equipment to get the job done. If you have a question about what kind of equipment will do the job best, Ag Expo '85 July 23-25 at Michigan State University, is a good place to find the answer.

More than 400 manufacturers will display just about every type of machinery used on the farm.

You'll be able to browse through 35 acres filled with farm equipment and supplies. Field demonstrations will be held each afternoon.

Shakespeare by LCC troupe

The Performing Arts Theatre Program at Lansing Community College will present "The Comedy of Errors" August 8-11 at 8 p.m. Directed by LCC theatre instructor, David Kroop. This is the third in LCC's summer showcase, "Theatre-in-the-Park."

"The Comedy of Errors" is Shakespeare's timeless tale of twins entangled in intrigue and mistaken identities. As the LCC performers pantomime, improvise, and slapstick their way through their hijinks in the outrageous masks and costumes of ancient traveling players, the play will provide entertaining midsummer fare for all.

New MSU prez kickoff Expo

Michigan State University President John DiBiaggio, who took over the presidency earlier this month, along with Gov. James Blanchard will kickoff Ag Expo '85 at a VIP breakfast July 23 at 7:30 a.m. The two will address about 750 agriculture leaders and legislators who will be attending the exhibition.

This year's Ionia Free Fair will feature a good ol' family circus

This year's Ionia Free Fair will feature the Shrine Circus four times daily from July 26-Aug. 3.

This marks the first time a Shrine Circus has appeared at the Ionia Free Fair and Shrine Circus coordinator Bob Wagner says it is designed to permit fairgoers an opportunity to experience the thrills of an old time circus in the traditional setting of the big top.

The circus will be held under the big top tent and is a European-style circus with one large ring — with seating on all sides of the ring. It will present nationally and internationally recognized performances by members of the Royal Sanger Circus Troupe.

According to Wagner, acts will include horses, elephants and talented acrobats and aerialists. Also appearing will be a lion-taming act by America's leading animal tamer, performing dogs and chimpanzees, spirited music, and of course, hilarious clowns.

Ride horseback at new stables

By DAVE HOLZMAN
Staff Writer

If Cindy Dubendorf gets her wish, there will be plenty of horsing around at the Burnt Oak Riding Stables.

The stables, located on Maple Rapids Rd., 1/4 mile West of U.S. 27, opened July 2 for horse lovers who can not get enough horseback riding. The stables will be opened seven days a week and — at a reasonable price — provides lots of riding room over the 160-acre trail for horseback riders and nature lovers to explore the surrounding woods and fields.

"So many different people have approached me about riding horses," Dubendorf says explaining the reason for opening her new business. "People say to me 'you have so many horses there. Why don't you think about renting your horses out?'" Thus, Burnt Oak was born.

Business has not yet boomed for Dubendorf but she says those who come to her riding stables are leaving quite satisfied.

"We have a lot of returning customers, so we're doing something right," she boasts. "I've never had a person come back and say it's not a nice trail. It's not uncommon to see a deer, a rabbit or a pheasant."

Burnt Oak will be open every day from 9am-9pm with 15 horses to provide maximum riding enjoyment. Dubendorf will offer lessons to beginners or rusty cowpokes and the stables will also provide buggy rides for those who are a bit squeamish about getting on top of the four-legged animals.

In the future, Dubendorf hopes to offer hay rides and a campground area to the trail. Presently, she will board horses for people at her stable as well as buy and sell horses. "I'm always looking for a good, calm, quiet horse," she says.

Prices at Burnt Oak are extremely reasonable. During the week, a horse can be rented for $6 an hour and $7 an hour on the weekend. "We're the cheapest in the state," she says. "I don't know anyone as cheap as we are."

Dubendorf appears to be very happy with her new business venture which has turned her life around the past year. She attended Lansing Community College as a business management student and received a degree in labor law. Last August, she had a baby and now she is the proud owner of her own business.

St. Johns High adds 2 teachers

St. Johns High School will say hello to two new teachers when fall classes begin.

Connie Ciangi, a 1984 Michigan State University graduate, and Cynthia Irish, a 1978 Central Michigan University graduate, were approved by the board of education to teach in the English department beginning August 26.

Ciangi, originally from Ionia, was an English major at MSU and also pursued a minor in history. She was a member of the University's Honor College and received a B.A. degree with honors.

Irish grew up in St. Johns and has served as a substitute teacher in the St. Johns school ever since she graduated college in 1978.

She was also an English major in college with a minor in reading. She graduated cum laude.

Irish will probably teach 11th grade English literature, 10th grade writing and 9th grade basic English. It is undetermined what Ciangi will be teaching.

Handmade surgical pads from Bath

By MARILYN HESS
DeWitt Editor

From a one-room workshop behind Ballard Home Center in DeWitt, Fred Walsh supplies universities and animal clinics across the country with custom-made protective wall and surgery table pads.

The thick pads are important to protect large animals such as horses after surgery when the anesthesia is wearing off.

Walsh prides himself on the quality of the pads he makes by hand. He is one of the few protective equipment suppliers in the country for animal surgery, and says he is the only one to offer fire-resistant pads.

"I have a different outlook than other people in this business. Most of the pads are so hard nowadays they don't give the animal the protection they should," he says.

He consulted with veterinarians to determine what characteristics they desired in the protective equipment. But Walsh sometimes has a hard time finding the quality materials he wants to use: softer foam and tear-resistant vinyl. Only one manufacturer in the United States still makes the thick vinyl.

He came to learn about the materials and how to make the pads almost by accident in 1967.

He owned and operated the Quality Awning shop in Lansing at that time, and veterinarians from Michigan State University called him to see if he could manufacture pads to their specifications.

Walsh had never done such work, but MSU had found no one who could make the pads to fit their needs, and Walsh decided it was something he could do.

"All it took was a little ingenuity," Walsh says. "MSU needed the equipment and came to us. If they would've gone to someone else, they'd probably be in this business now," he chuckles.

Walsh's pads are now on the recovery room walls in nine university animal clinics across the country, and on the surgery tables of eight more. In addition, he has supplied private animal clinics all over the United States.

To completely outfit a university's animal surgery room could cost anywhere from $3,500 to $5,500, Walsh says, depending on the complexity of the work done.

He is normally flown to the various universities and clinics to assess the needs of the client. Measurements have to be taken, and any special problems have to be foreseen. He also delivers 95 percent of the items he constructs. Walsh says his wife Elizabeth usually accompanies him on these trips.

He has worked up to two years on a project for one client. To make just one pad, if he has all the material on hand, takes three "busy" days. Often he has to wait to receive materials from his suppliers.

Doing detail work such as cutting a hole in the pad to line up with any windows in the recovery or surgery room is time-consuming, Walsh says.

But the most difficult problem he had was one room that had the doorway at a 45-degree angle to the walls. In trying to figure out how to make the pads curve around the angle and still offer maximum protection, Walsh says he "sat in a chair and drank a few cups of coffee over that one, but I finally figured out a way to do it."

The pads are constructed by covering foam of various thicknesses with one piece of vinyl and heat-sealing the edges. Walsh has a special sewing machine that reinforces the edges before they are sealed. Air vents and water drainage have to be worked into the construction.

Ties are then made with thick nylon cord through the center of the pad to keep the foam from slipping around in its vinyl jacket. The ties are similar to those done in quilting.

Patches are heat-sealed over the ties to further insulate the animal. Walsh says when making surgery table pads he has to place the ties strategically because the animal could receive sores from lying on the bumpy cord too long.

Walsh does all the work himself. He's been in the DeWitt workshop for about eight years, after selling Quality Awning ten years ago and "doing nothing for two years."

Now Walsh says he has no time to just do nothing. Although he no longer spends many hours making the protective pads, he says he has all the business he wants to. He doesn't advertise, but receives all his business from word of mouth.

"There's always something different coming up all the time," he says. "I like it...I like to do something for someone that they need."

History book tells all about Michigan

Did you know that forest fires in Michigan have been the cause of a number of shipwrecks or that the "sawtooth" reef near Eagle River in Michigan's western Upper Peninsula contains the greatest concentration of shipwrecks in the Great Lakes?

These "strange as it seems" facts, along with stories on shipwreck salvage, gravestone rubbing and the state's new Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) museum at Higgins Lake are included in the July-August issue of Michigan History, the state's official historical publication.

The Eagle River Shoals, nicknamed "sawtooth ridge," is a five-mile long strip of jagged rock one mile off the Keweenaw Peninsula that has sunk or stranded 15 ships. Smoke from forest fires blanketing that area of Lake Superior and the light of one forest fire, mistaken for a lighthouse, contributed to the wrecks.

In addition to articles on the Great Lakes, the publication also features the history of Lapeer County and architect Albert Kahn who designed the porch of the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island and the Ford Highland Park plant.

Published by the Bureau of History of the Department of State, Michigan History is available in single copies for $2 each or subscriptions for $9.95 per year. It is also available on newsstands. Checks should be made payable to the State of Michigan, and sent to the Michigan Bureau of History, Department of State, Lansing, Michigan, 48918.

Area three win UM scholarship

Three Clinton County high school graduates have received the University of Michigan's Regents-Alumni Scholar Merit Awards for outstanding academic achievement, scholarly promise and potential contribution to the University community.

The recipients are: Andrew Pete Brockmyer, 401, S. Oakland, St. Johns; Teresa Lynn Serviss, 231 E. Oak St., Ovid; Laurie Ellen Wentzel, 13259 Allen St., Bath.

Brockmyer had decided to attend Michigan State University on a Wilson scholarship while Wentzel has received an outstanding student scholarship from Central Michigan University and has turned down the Ann Arbor award to pursue her education in Mount Pleasant.

Brockmyer and Serviss will both receive their $1,000 scholarship when they enroll for fall classes. They have also received certificates sent to their respective high schools which were presented to them during their graduation ceremonies.

The three were selected from 1,107 nominations. All together, 437 high school seniors from 376 schools received awards. Nominees were interviewed by U-M alumni representatives in their hometown area and final decisions were made by the University Regents-Alumni Award Committee.

Students were nominated based on their grades, class ranking and test scores. Financial consideration was not a factor.

St. Johns circus is plenty of fun

Photostory by Dave Holzman

Put together a tentful of clowns, cotton candy, elephants along with ear-to-ear smiles on the faces of the kids as well as the adults and you had the Mills Brothers Circus at St. Johns High School Thursday.

The circus, which raised money for a substance abuse program at Wilson Jr. High School, was a total success for the Lions Club, sponsors of the event.

Several hundred people were treated to high wire acts, animal stunts, gymnastic feats and much, much more as the bigtop rang with cheers as well as oohs and aahs from the appreciative crowd.

The highlight of the event came during the afternoon performance when Wilson Jr. High Principal Bob Kudwa showed he was on top of things by riding atop an elephant to show his support for the cause.

Old folks prove it's not too late to catch all the fish you can eat

By DAVE HOLZMAN
Staff Writer

You are never too old to fish.

Twenty-five residents of the Hazel I. Findlay Country Manor — many of them age 90 or above — proved that last Tuesday as they embarked on a day long fishing trip to Lake Victoria in Laingsburg.

97-year-old George Tedhams, who often enjoyed fishing at a younger age, provided the initial excitement when he caught the first fish of the day and soon caught two more in a span of five minutes.

"I always enjoy myself," said Tedhams who in the beginning of the journey proved himself to be one of the more experienced fishermen on board.

90-year-old Lucile Nelson and Bernice House, who is in her early 90's, also showed their expertise as they casted their fishing rods, baited their hooks, and most of all, caught a lot of fish.

Many residents of the nursing home used to be pretty good fishermen in their day according to activities director Debbie Whybra, and that is the major reason for Tuesday's fishing expedition.

"So many have fished and lived around lakes," Whybra explains. "And during the coffee hours they'll talk about the old fishing days."

Maintaining outdoor furniture

Outdoor furniture will look better and last longer with proper care. This involves cleaning with products that will protect it and then storing it under cover in the winter.

The best cleaning products are often not the household cleaners you would buy in the grocery store, but rather auto care products.

Auto care products are designed to be durable under outdoor conditions. In the auto supply section of many stores you can find products designed to clean and protect painted metal, aluminum, vinyl and other materials commonly found on automobiles and outdoor furniture.

Painted metal should be washed with warm water and a heavy duty liquid detergent. After rinsing and drying, apply a couple of coats of automobile wax. Preventing chipping of the paint is very important in preventing rust. Touch up chips or scrapes after a thorough cleaning to remove loose paint, dirt and grease. Apply a metal primer or rust-retardant paint as the first coat and matching enamel or the suitable paint over that. Then apply a protective wax finish.

Aluminum won't rust, but will discolor and develop a rough or pitted surface as it oxidizes. If aluminum is merely discolored, clean it with soap and water to which you have added some mild household acid, such as lemon juice, vinegar or cream of tartar.

Applying an alkaline product to aluminum will cause it to darken. Polish a pitted surface with a soapfilled steel wool pad, rinse and dry. Be sure all the steel wool is removed — any that remains will rust and stain the aluminum.

A variety of special cleaners for the aluminum surfaces on boats and cars may help clean extremely dirty or weathered aluminum. Read labels and follow directions. After the surfaces are clean, apply a coat of auto wax to prevent further oxidation and discoloration.

Wood furniture for outdoors use is generally made of redwood, which is quite weather resistant. Even so, it should be protected by a preservative or sealer. Once redwood is properly sealed, it can quickly be washed with soapy water and then rinsed and allowed to dry. Other woods should not be allowed to sit outside where they will be exposed to rain, dampness and direct sunlight. The wood will alternately swell with water and then shrink as it dries. The wood will soon weather and split, and glued joints will come apart.

Clean plastic furniture with a solution of hand dish washing detergent, rinse and wipe dry to prevent water spots. Avoid using strong laundry detergents or other alkaline cleaners, and scouring powders, which will scratch the surface. The special cleaners sold for vinyl surfaces in autos can also be used on some plastic furniture.

All plastics are not the same, however, so read the labels on products before you buy them or use them. To keep plastic surfaces clean, apply a vinyl protective finish that will prevent soil from sticking to them.

Vinyl cleaner and vinyl protective finish also helps keep furniture made from PVC pipe looking new.

Heat affects swine breeding

How hot does it have to be before heat stress in your swine breeding herd will start melting away your profits?

According to the research, it is a combination of both heat and humidity that will affect the reproductive performance of swine. The boar is more tolerant of high ambient temperatures than the sow. The boar will experience fertility problems only if exposed to high temperatures (86 degrees F) for a continuous period of greater than three days.

The problems are expressed by a decreased libido during the hot weather and a decreased sperm motility and morphology 20 to 40 days after the period of intense heat. Heat stress in the boar will typically not be a problem.

The sow herd is more severely affected by temperatures greater than 86 degrees F.

The lactating sow is also affected by heat and humidity. She will reduce feed consumption when she is too warm and consequently the milk she produces for her litter will be reduced.

Decreased conception rate, small litter sizes and reduced milk production will all result in less pigs and this will cut into your profits.

the ambient temperature has to be 86 degrees F to see these effects. Add humidity to this temperature and you will see an ever greater effect. So, what can you do to keep your animals cool and comfortable?

If hogs are kept outside, make certain they have shade. Hogs kept in confinement should have adequate ventilation. In hot weather, a sow and litter require 500 efm. a gestating sow requires 150 efm, and a boar requires a 180 efm. Check your summer ventilation. Make sure all fans are running when needed and at the appropriate rates. Also check to see that air inlets are open and clean so that the maximum amount of air can enter the barn.

Owosso theater has been sold

The Christian Independent Fellowship has bought the boarded up Capitol Theater in Owosso and is changing it into a family entertainment center.

The theater, which had one screen and a large stage for live performances, shut down earlier this year. The fellowship purchased the building in April, according to Barb Harris, a spokesperson for the Fellowship.

The Joseph H. Lebowski Theater will open July 26 with a tribute to Elvis Presley.

Corn check-off vote is extended

The Michigan Department of Agriculture has agreed to extend the deadline for returning ballots in the referendum on the proposed corn check-off program through July 31. Ballots postmarked after that date will not be accepted.

The previous deadline was July 23.

The reason for this problem is that some growers may not receive ballots in the mail, until after the 20th of July, due to a mailing error.

This problem is not the fault of the Michigan corn growers Association, or the Temporary Corn Promotion Committee.

The referendum procedure is carried out by the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Any questions about procedures, or the extension of the deadline should be directed to the Department.

Balloting will be conducted daily at the Michigan Department of Agriculture booth at Michigan State University's Ag Expo, so growers wishing to do so, can vote there. They should have information about how much corn they sold last year, as that information is necessary on the ballot.

All corn growers are encouraged to vote in the referendum and express their feelings on the check-off program.

Questions on the program should be directed to the Michigan Corn Growers Association, at 517-694-0589, or the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Simons sets record in Ovid bike race

By JON RISING
Sports Writer

They may have been few, but they were fast.

All four racers in the Ovid Athletic Club's 25-mile bike race on Sunday bettered the old club record of 74 minutes.

Loren Simons of St. Johns set the new record with his first-place time of 68 minutes and 25 seconds. Simons has been racing for just one year.

Frank Hart of St. Johns finished in a close second, while Owosso's Karl Manke finished third and Ovid's Stephen Melvin was fourth.

Clayton Moore, who had won the club's two previous races this year, reportedly did not compete because he had been in a race on Saturday.

The Ovid Athletic Club's director, Ed

Robinson, said the races are just starting again after three years.

"I busted myself up in a motorcycle race a I just couldn't put them on," Robinson said of the competitive bicycling.

"I used to do it myself. I was in races down at Belle Isle," he said. "I was in the 50-mile, the 100-mile, and then they had a 200-mile and I was in that, too."

Robinson hopes for a better turn-out this Sunday (July 28) for the club's next race.

"It'll be seven or eight more miles than this one was," he said.

Entry is $2.50, which goes towards award medals, and may be paid right before the race. Starting time is 10 a.m. at the Ovid Athletic Club on Main Street.

For more information call Ed Robinson at 224-8925.

Fans say strike is mistake

By JON RISING
Sports Writer

Major league baseball players may be about to kill the goose that laid the golden egg.

The heroes of the national pastime have announced that unless team owners meet their demands, they are going to call Strike Two, but baseball will still be out on August 6.

The players struck in 1981 and it sent fans reeling. The potential to due severe damage to fan interest is very real, so the Clinton County News decided to ask some folks how they felt about the situation.

Basically, what we found is that it's hard to get sympathy when your salary is in six digits.

Dave King, St. Johns. "I don't really think it's necessary. Most people think they make enough money anyway."

Julie George, Pewamo. "They want too much money. I think they should be happy with what they've got and not go on strike."

Rev. Charles Burhop, Fowler. "There's no real issues on their side. The owners are the ones putting up the money and taking the loss, if there is one. So they should determine the profits."

Ron Pattison, St. Johns. "I think they earn enough money so they really don't need to go on strike. They could ruin it." Pattison added that he will not attend games if the season is resumed after a strike.

Robert Mole, Ovid. "I'd rather watch a good basketball game. (The owners) should fire them all. Just forget it for they year and let them lose their $250,000 and then they'd think differently."

William Atkinson, Portland. "I'm not for it. I could lose interest in a hurry. I think it's childish. I think I've lost interest already with the potential of (the strike)."

Bob Felbert, Maple Rapids. "I think they (the owners) should give them what they want."

Chad Hobert, St. Johns. "If they want more money they should go on strike."

Charles Geller, St. Johns. "It really don't matter to me. I wouldn't lose any sleep over it either way."

Bonnie Wood, Ovid. "People are getting more money than they should. They're getting greedy. They should keep negotiating in good faith, and people should stop putting things under the table and be up front. Sometimes that's hard to do."

Dixie Cilla, Elsie. "I hate to see them do it. I think salaries have gotten out of hand. Everybody's going for the dollar."

Darrell Peterson, St. Johns. "I think they (the players) are wrong. If they've got a job they ought to keep it."

Linda Euper, St. Johns. "I don't think they (the players) have anything to complain about. (The last time they had a strike) I missed it. I enjoy it."

Steve Kramer, Fowler. "I think (the players) are dumb fools. I think (the owners) gave them too much to start with."

Loren Simons, Frank Hart, and Karl Manke relax after 25-mile race.

Sheehan slated for Tuuri

Calling all runners, joggers, racers, and pacers.

It's time to show your concern for children and your competitive spirit by racing in this year's Tuuri 10,000 meter race or the Run for Children's Health 5K July 27.

Both Hurley Medical Center-sponsored races raise funds for Hurley's Arthur L. Tuuri Pediatric Center. The center houses the regional neonatal and pediatric intensive care units, two general pediatrics units, and a pediatric psychiatric unit.

Both races, which are run on challenging courses through residential and commercial streets in Flint, are the day's highlights.

The 5K race will start at 7:30 a.m., followed by a free one-mile fun run at 8:30 a.m., and the sixth annual Tuuri at 9 a.m. All races start and end on Eighth Avenue in front of the Medical Center.

Although the races are the main events, many other special events also take place.

Noted runner and author Dr. George Sheehan will be in town to meet with runners (and other fitness enthusiasts) and run the 10K race.

He will be at Young and Welshans Booksellers, 3487 Linden, Flint, from noon to 3 p.m. July 26 to talk and sign autographs.

The runner and magazine columnist will also talk that day at 4 p.m. in Hurley's auditorium. The talk is free.

Many more special features are planned for race day. During the morning, pancakes will be served by the Flint Area Health Foundation. Applesauce, sausage, and beverage will be included at a cost of $2.50 for adults, $1.50 for children 12-and-under, or simply, $10 per family.

Dr. Sheehan will run the 10K race and speak between the end of the race and before the awards ceremony (approximately 10:30 to 11:30 a.m.) His books will also be available for purchase at the race sight.

State-of-the-art computerized body composition analysis will be available all morning for $7.

Racers will compete for cash awards (in the Tuuri only) and trophies.

Entry fee for either race is $8 ($10 after July 21.) Entry forms are available at many local running shops or by calling the race hotline (313) 257-9200.

Tied teams in showdown

By JON RISING
Sports Writer

After Thursday night, the logjam atop the Women's Recreational Softball League standings will be broken up. Cornwell Catering and Keeleans, two of the three teams sharing first place, will be putting their 5-1 won-loss records on the line at 6 p.m. on the women's diamond.

McComb's Flowers and Gifts, the other team tied for first, is assured of second place for this week because its bye in the schedule keeps its mark at 5-1.

It was McComb's that caused the logjam by beating previously-undefeated Cornwell 21-6 last Thursday.

But, Dorothy Cornwell, wife of coach Terry Cornwell, hopes her team can hold on to first place by producing hits the way it has most of this season.

She lists Kathy Paradise, Denise Kuhnle, Darlene Hufnagel,

Sharon Barnes, and Barbie Downing as the team's leading hitters, so far.

Also part of Cornwell's success story is the fact that they have received outstanding coaching and according to Dorothy, "We're playing as a team, backing each other up, and having fun doing it."

Having fun should not be too difficult for Catering, which is made up of Dorothy, her three daughters, three sisters, "and all the rest of the team are friends." Terry Cornwell and Keith Murray are the team's new coaches, taking on a squad that had only won two games last year.

Cornwell Catering's goal, according to Dorothy, is "to not lose more than three games this year."

It will be Keeleans job to try to add to Cornwell's loss column. It will send pitcher Pat Rewerts against the tough Cornwell hitters.

"She's been excellent," Keeleans' spokeswoman Marilyn Buggs said, "We needed a pitcher at the end of last season and her husband put her in."

Pat's husband, Tom Rewerts, is the team's coach.

According to Buggs, it has been Rewerts' pitching and the team's defense that have sustained Keeleans through a hitting slump.

"I have no idea why (the slump)," Buggs said. "We do great in practice."

Keeleans did hit well enough to defeat Hub Tire 7-4 last Thursday to move into the three-way tie.

But again, that tie will only last as long as Thursday night.

TEAMS TO ROOT FOR.

If you're looking for an underdog to cheer on a balmy summer night, we have some for you.

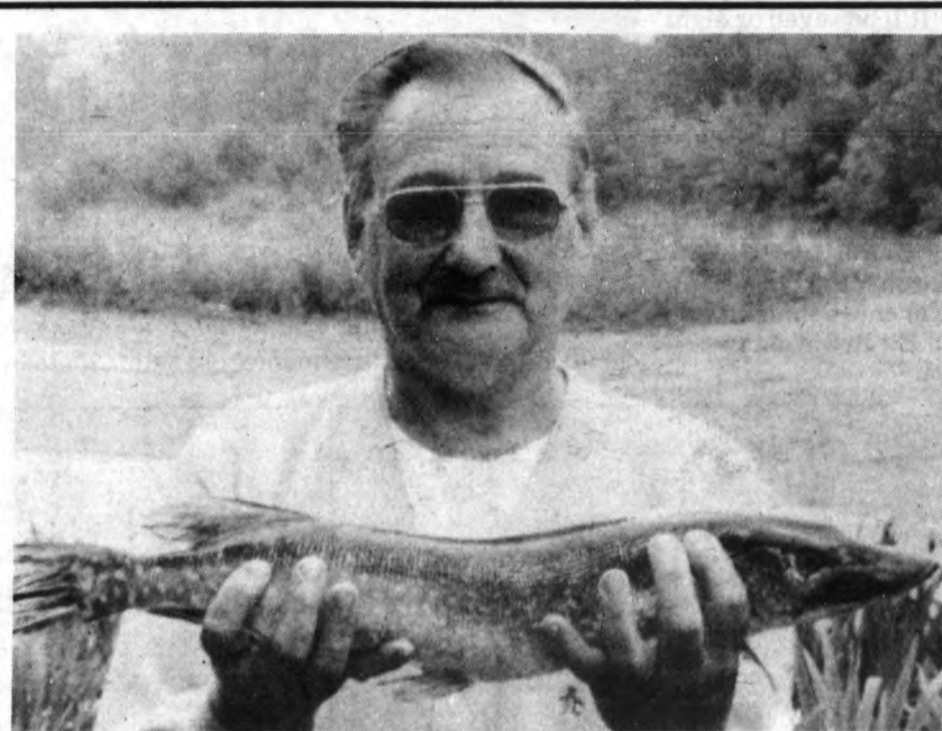

As of last Friday, four teams had yet to win a game in City Rec softball, and everybody loves an underdog. So here's where you can find them.

Becker's Men's Wear (0-6) vs. Barrett Door Service (5-1) Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. on the main City diamond.

Hitching Post (0-5) vs. East Siders (3-2) Thursday at 6 p.m. on the main City diamond.

Dave Fry Realty (0-5) vs. Wheel Inn (4-2) Thursday at 7:30 p.m. on the main City diamond.

Ed's Janitorial Service played Monday night and hopefully joined the ranks of the victorious.

WHOPPER — Robert Maurer of Ovid displays the 24-inch pike he caught recently near Round Lake. Maurer, a fisherman for 27 years, said it was easily the largest fish he has ever caught.

"I had quite a time pulling him in," Maurer said. He used a night crawler and leader as bait. "I don't usually do that. Usually you use artificial bait." Maurer said the fish probably weighs "three or four pounds."

Local YABA team captures second

By JON RISING
Sports Writer

Season-long instruction and league play paid off for five Clinton County youth bowlers this year.

Keith and Steve Rapp, Dan Zelenka, and Nicole and Rebecca Thelen teamed to score 1893 in the Young American Bowling Alliance state tournament.

The score was good enough to place the bowlers second in Class C behind a team from Clare.

For the Rapps and Zelenka it was their fourth year in bowling, while it was just the first year for the Thelen girls.

"The way these girls were bowling just added spice," Alberta Rapp, the team's coordinator said. "The boys were so enthused with these girls, the way they were bowling."

The tournament efforts capped a 29-week program that YABA has at the Redwing Lanes in St. Johns. Rapp says that about 100 youngsters are involved each season.

Keith Rapp rolled the high series at the state tournament, which was played at Spring Lake Lanes in Battle Creek. He compiled a 475 by rolling games of 135, 175, and 165.

Brother Steve, who also finished 30th in singles and fifth in doubles with Zelenka, had games of 165, 154, and 140.

Zelenka added scores of 151, 123, and 127. Nicole Thelen chipped in with 93, 104, and 86, while Rebecca had 93, 67, and 70.

The team had advanced to the nine-team state tournament by winning the district tourney in Lansing with a score of 1901.

Awards for their efforts were given at the YABA banquet in Chesaning on July 14.

The YABA program is open to anyone 21-years-old and younger who has not bowled in a sanctioned league.

Rapp notes that she had two four-year-olds in this year's program. The two youngsters bowled with a four-pound ball supplied by Redwing Lanes.

Dan Zelenka, Keith and Steve Rapp, and Nicole and Rebecca Thelen.

"It's just a good program," Rapp said. "It's just a matter of people finding out about it. We have a great time with these kids every Saturday morning."

"They learn a lot and it's a good, clean sport for them. We don't just teach them bowling techniques. They learn mathematics in how to keep score. They learn about how many boards are on each lane and the weights of pins. They learn a lot of things most adult bowlers don't know."

Scholarships are even awarded through the program.

Parents can sign up their children for the program beginning August 9 at the Redwing Lanes. Certified coaching is given every week of the season and there is league play.

The next season begins September 7.

Laurie Beth Tran and Robert Steven Wallace

Tran-Wallace

Laurie Beth Tran and Robert Steven Wallace exchanged marriage vows April 27 at Grace United Methodist Church. The Rev. John Ellinger performed the afternoon double-ring ceremony before 200 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Stanley and Janice Tran of 920 London Drive, Lansing. The bridegroom is the son of Jack E. Jr. and Roberta Wallace of Okemos.

The bride chose a white all-over chantilly lace gown. It featured a fitted victorian bodice detailed with silk venice lace and long sleeves. The dress had a sweetheart neckline, a sheer yoke, and a stand up lace collar. Chantilly lace ruffles cascaded from the waist to the graceful sweep of hem and chapel-length train.

The hat was styled with matching lace and pearls, and was finished on the underside with a spray of flowers. She carried a bouquet of white roses and white tiger lilies. As a special memento, she wore her great grandmothers garnet ring and carried a white handkerchief given to her by her grandmother.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Lisa Tran, sister of the bride, from Lansing. She wore a huckleberry gown of taffeta lace with an off-the-shoulder ruffle of lace. The gown had a fitted bodice, and satin waistband, and rows of lace ruffled with a taffeta overskirt drawn up on one side. She carried a bouquet of white and pink roses, baby pink tiger lilies, and baby's breath.

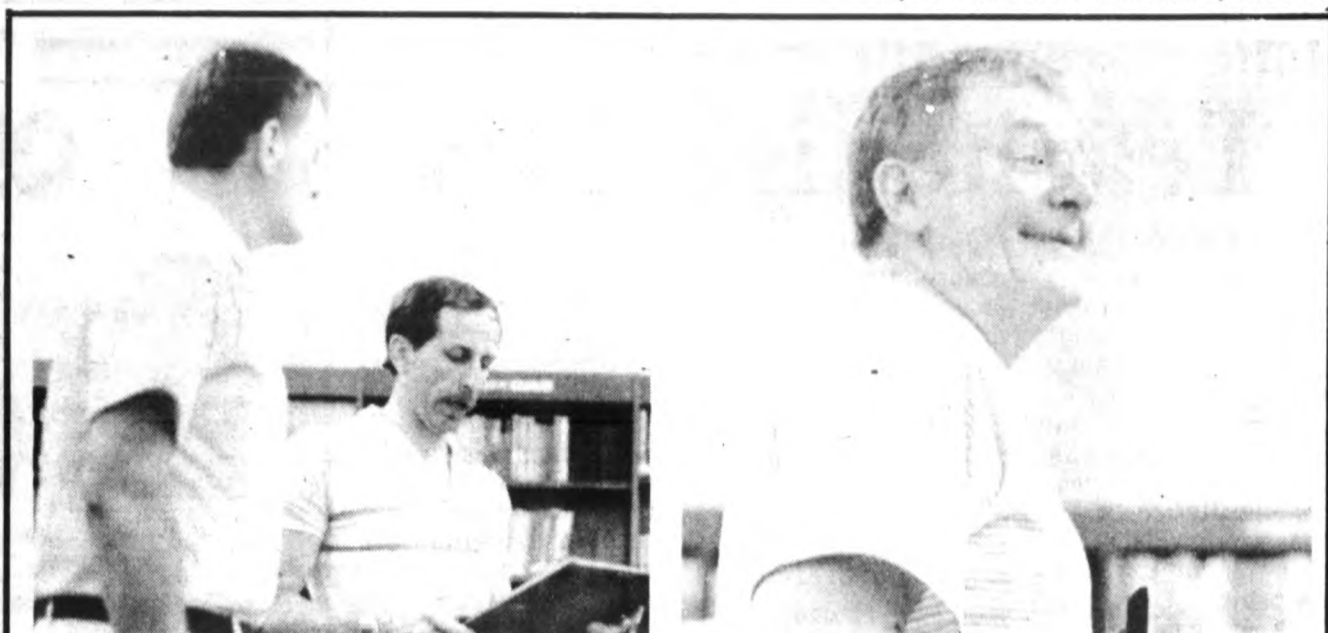

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Terry Frazier, sister of the bride, Mrs. William Perkins sister of the groom, Mrs. Jeffrey Johnson, and Wendy Schutt.

Serving as best man was Clayton Pugh of Lansing. Groomsmen were William Perkins, brother-in-law of the groom from East Lansing, Jack E. Wallace III, brother of the groom from Okemos, John Hardy from Lansing, and Tom Geyer of East Lansing.

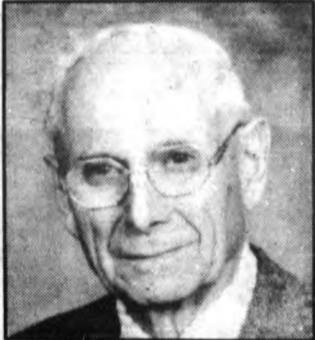

Soloist for the wedding was Karen Semperger. A reception was held at Lansing Firefighters Hall Local 421 on Lansing road. Music was provided by Starr Productions. Assisting at the reception were Glenna Segall, Sure Forman, Ruth Ann Blais, Ruth Overlin, and Hieu Ly.

Special guests who attended the ceremony were Terry and Kathy Frazier, sister and brother-in-law of the bride from Winter Park, Fla. and Lorraine Leitzke, aunt of the bride, from Alaska.

The couple took a honeymoon trip to Virginia Beach, Va., and have made their home in Okemos.

Made obscene calls

Teacher is guilty

By DAVE HOLZMAN
Staff Writer

A St. Johns High School physical education and social studies teacher pled guilty and received 60 days probation for making obscene phone calls to a St. Johns woman last year. Jan Szymczak, 901 Hampshire Dr., pled guilty in front of 65th District Court Judge Jeffrey L. Martlew and was then given 60 days probation for the incident which took place July 4, 1984.

"I have no excuse for anything," Szymczak told the judge. "I don't want to run away. I want to do what I have to do to rebuild my reputation and character."

Szymczak refused to comment on the incident afterwards.

He could have received 90 days in jail and a $500 fine for the incident. He received the lesser sentence probably because he has been undergoing counseling since the incident according to his attorney Robert Steinman.

"Substantial progress is being made," Steinman told Martlew before sentencing.

Szymczak took a six month leave of absence from the school after the incident returning in January. School Superintendent Earl Gabriel says Szymczak will not be reprimanded for the incident even though he pleaded guilty.

"It's a personal thing and it hasn't affected his performance at the school," Gabriel said. "We always have a concern about the behavior of our teachers. This was not a situation exemplified in his behavior with the students."

Gabriel says Szymczak will be teaching again at the high school in the fall.

KEEP YOUR COOL THIS SUMMER AND MORE OF YOUR CASH NEXT WINTER.

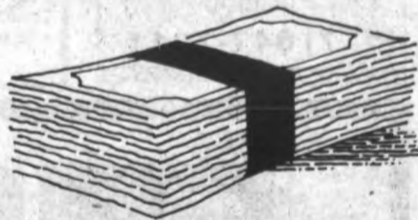

There are two types of heat pumps, air source and water source. Both are high-tech adaptations of an old reliable appliance—your refrigerator. They move heat.

A refrigerator cools by moving heat from inside the refrigerator to the outside. Often you can feel this heat being discharged through vents in the bottom or back of the unit. The more heat moved outside the refrigerator, the colder it gets inside. In the summer, the heat pump works the same way.

In the winter, it reverses itself to gather heat from the outside air or ground water and moves it inside to comfortably heat your home.

How a heat pump saves your cash.

By moving heat, instead of making heat as other conventional furnaces do, the heat pump can reach efficiencies in excess of 180%.

Energy savings from a heat pump can range from 15% to 45% of your present oil or propane heating costs.* That could mean substantial savings to you.

*Estimates based on a typical family home at energy prices effective March 1985.

How a heat pump keeps you cool.

By removing heat and humidity from your home, the heat pump provides energy-efficient central air conditioning. You'll feel cool and refreshed and have more energy to enjoy summertime activities. And because it provides cool, clean air free of dust and pollen, a heat pump can make a healthy difference in your home. What's more, an efficient heat pump is safe, reliable — and an excellent energy value.

So if you want to keep your cool this summer and more of your cash next winter — call these local dealers about a heat pump today.

Aldrich, Kukla win Spartan Speedway

Jim Aldrich of Ovid was declared the victor of the 30 lap late model race after a post race inspection revealed that the Firebird driven by Will Terry of Flint came up short on weight. It put a damper on what had been one of the best feature events of the season.

Frank Kiel of Howell grabbed the early lead in the main event, while Terry and Aldrich wasted little time moving up towards the front. Terry took command on the sixth lap with Aldrich in hot pursuit. Terry and Aldrich then duelled the final 24 laps with Terry taking the checkered flag first over Aldrich. Terry, however, was disqualified for not making weight, and Aldrich was declared the victor. Tim Felver of Lansing, Kiel, Earl Miles of Rives Junction, and Jeff Finley of Lansing rounded out the top five.

Al Kukla of Owosso captured his fifth Spartan Stock feature triumph of the season. Kukla took the lead at the halfway mark from Doug Coom of Holt and won by a comfortable margin over runnerup Jim Baughman of Lansing. Fred Marowelli, Mike Creed and Mike Waholstrom of Lansing rounded out the top five.

In the Factory Stock division, Brad Rinckey grabbed another feature victory. Rinckey took the lead early and won easily over runnerup Butch Heatherington.
