Art fair

EAGLE The big art fair sponsored by the People's Action League previous years at the Wacousta River Park has been moved to Eagle Park, right off I-96 near Eagle.

The two covered pavilions and large parking facilities at Eagle Park will accommodate the great number of people expected to attend the unusual event.

The art fair at Eagle Park will be Saturday, Sept. 28, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. In addition to the extensive art displays, and unusual crafts, there will be entertainment, a softball tournament, a quilt raffle and a flea market.

The People's Action League is making Eagle Park the permanent location for their big annual art fair because of its easy access off I-96, a few miles northwest of Lansing. For information call Pat Block 626-6285 or Nancy Coleman 687-7196.

The St. Johns Ninth Grade Band and the St. Johns Senior Band will be joined Sept. 28 by bands from five other area school districts for the gala event.

The purpose of the show is to help foster excellent marching bands, says St. Johns Conductor of Bands Gregg Mowen.

"The people in St. Johns have a lot to be proud of in this band program," he says.

Tickets for the 7:30 show will go on sale at 5 p.m. at the St. Johns high school football field. Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Baskets

ST. JOHNS Two centuries ago a religious community known as the Shakers was formed in the brand new United States of America. The community grew in number, gathering into the fold all those who were materially or spiritually poor, offering them a life of order, clear moral guidelines and the promise of salvation.

The Shakers shunned private property but glorified the manufacture of fine-quality goods for communal use and for sale to the outside world. Among their handiwork was a craft that until recently was lost to time — the manufacture of the Shaker Basket.

The Shaker community did not survive long into the 20th Century and even the few Shakers still living had lost the secret of manufacturing the baskets.

Ten years ago a woman named Martha B. Weatherbee began reconstructing the basket-making process. Today she is nationally recognized as an authority on the baskets.

Weatherbee will be in St. Johns on Wednesday, Oct. 16, to present a lecture and demonstration on the Shaker Basket at Smith Hall on the 4-H Fairgrounds.

The Clinton County Arts Council and the Clinton County Historical Society Museum will sponsor the event. Tickets are available by sending $3 and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Museum, Box 174, St. Johns, 48879. Tickets at the door will be $4.

Farm bill debated on floor in House

Debate on the 1985 Farm Bill is expected to continue on the floor of the U.S. House of Representatives this week following approval of a bill Sept. 10 by the House Agriculture Committee.

The Michigan Farm Bureau criticized sections of the committee bill as soon as it was sent to the floor of the House. The Farm Bureau objects to several provisions of the bill, including a "marketing certificate" provision for wheat and feed grains and a dairy diversion plan aimed at reducing production.

Under the "marketing certificate" provision a referendum would be held in which farmers would vote on a plan that would set loan rates for corn at $3.25 and wheat at $4.50. The provision also includes a subsidy for grains sold for export.

IN RETURN THE FARMERS would agree to idle 20 percent of their corn acreage and 30 percent of their wheat acreage.

"It's really a mandatory control despite all the talk about it being voluntary," said Elton R. Smith, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau, in a press release last week. "If a farmer chooses not to participate in the proposed marketing certificate program, his only alternative would be to feed the grain to his own livestock or sell it on the export market. It even takes away his freedom to sell grain to a neighbor who may need it for livestock feed."

Rep. William Schuette, a member of the House Agriculture Committee, contacted Friday at his Washington office, said the Farm Bureau's position "is a correct analysis if the referendum were to pass."

He said he supported including the "marketing certificate" provision of the bill in order to give farmers a chance to vote on the program.

THE PROVISION was included to give farmers an alternative to the "base bill" which set corn and wheat prices at $2.42 and $3.14 respectively, Schuette said.

"The intent of the base bill was to maintain a sensitivity to world market prices," he said.

The marketing certificate provision would in the short term alleviate the low prices farmers are currently receiving for their product, he said.

But, he said: "In the long term it would hurt our export thrust."

"I think farmers are smart," he said. "They can assess the pros and cons..."

Smith said that in addition to driving up prices for livestock producers the provision would raise consumer prices for meat and grain products.

THE FARM BUREAU also objects to a provision in the bill aimed at reducing dairy production. Under the "producer-financed" diversion plan, assessments on dairy production would finance payments to producers who cut back production.

Schuette called the plan "an attempt to minimize hardship to dairy producers because of this over-production we have."

He said two major farm groups, the Farm Bureau and the Michigan Milk Producers Association (MMPA), have different opinions on the cost of the plan to producers.

The provision would be ineffective in cutting back production, said the Farm Bureau press release. Spokesmen for the MMPA were not available by presstime for comment on the provision.

Rep. Schuette gives his view of the House Agriculture Committee's Farm Bill, page 8A.

HOME COMING! — St. Johns came out in force to celebrate the Homecoming game Friday night. Promptly at 5 p.m. the Redwing Marching Band led a Homecoming Parade through downtown while hundreds watched, cheered, scampers after candy flung from floats and snapped pictures. See page 1B for the game story. A Homecoming photopage is on 14A.

Bus drivers offer wage freeze in St. Johns

St. Johns School Bus Drivers say they will, if certain conditions are met, give up a scheduled wage increase for 1985-86 as a challenge to other school employee groups to do the same.

"We're putting our money where our mouth is," said Bruce Irish, president of the St. Johns Bus Drivers' Association. "We're throwing out the challenge for everyone, from Mr. Gabriel on down, to do the same."

The proposal follows the Sept. 10 millage election in which voters narrowly rejected a proposed five-year 3.5 mill increase in the tax levy for the school district.

Administrators have said the district faces an estimated $550,000 budget deficit for the year and the Board of Education voted Aug. 26 to close the schools if funds run out this spring rather than make budget cuts.

Irish informally presented the proposal at a Sept. 16 meeting of the Board. However, the district did not receive the proposal in writing until last Friday and it has not yet been evaluated, said Supt. Earl Gabriel Friday afternoon.

A memo read by Irish at the Sept. 16 meeting said the bus drivers will give up as of Sept. 17 a scheduled wage increase for the third year of their three-year contract if the following conditions are met:

- If before June 6, 1986, any additional millage is passed, the proposal will be voided and all forfeited wages will be paid retroactively to Sept. 17.

- If the proposal is accepted by the Board of Education, the bus drivers' present contract must be extended for at least one year and possibly three years, with wage increases parallel to those of other employee groups.

This proposal differs from one made by the bus drivers four years ago in that it is not contingent upon other employee groups agreeing to give up wage increases as well. That proposal was not implemented.

Ovid-Elsie approves student search policy

The Ovid-Elsie Board of Education approved Aug. 12 two new policies aimed at combating the distribution of illegal and fake drugs within the schools.

Approved was a "Search and Seizure" policy which spells out the position of the Board on searches by teachers and administrators of students' desks, lockers or personal articles carried into the schools.

Also approved was a new policy on "Look-Alike Drugs." Look-alike drugs are substances that are intended to look like controlled substances but that are actually not illegal or controlled.

School Supt. Dave Porrell said in a

Sept. 18 telephone conversation that the new policies, similar to those of other area school districts, were partially a response to problems the district has had in the past.

"We had a couple problems last year," he said. "We noticed a couple other school districts had policies and I said maybe we should too..."

Previous to the new policy students who were caught distributing fake drugs were penalized but the punishment was left to the discretion of administrators. The "Look-Alike Drug" policy spells out the punishment for violators, Porrell said.

"We want the kids to know, 'Hey, you're selling aspirin, but we want you to know we're going to take some action,'" he said.

According to the new "Look-Alike Drug" policy, students who use or possess the fake drugs will be suspended for ten days for the first infraction. A second infraction will result in a recommendation to the Board that the student be expelled from school.

Sale or distribution of a look-alike drug will result in a "ten day school suspension and a recommendation to the Board of Education for expulsion..." the policy states.

The "Search and Seizure" policy states: "The right of inspection of students' lockers and desks, or articles carried upon their persons in or on school premises, is inherent in the authority granted boards of education and school administrators..."

The policy further states that searches of students will be based on "reasonableness depending on the particular circumstances of the search involved."

Reasonable grounds for a search "could be first-hand observation by an administrator or a report of student misconduct from a reliable source who personally observed the student violating school rules."

The policy further states that searches will be conducted sparingly with a "maximum effort" to protect the constitutional and personal privacy rights of the students.

The policy also stipulates that a maximum effort will be made to "emphasize that schools are educational and not penal, correctional or custodial institutions" and to "resolve doubts where possible in favor of the students."

An administrative regulation which spells out guidelines for the searches states that administrators should not hesitate to conduct searches if evidence indicates clear and present danger to students or others in the school or when there is evidence of concealed alcohol, narcotics or firearms.

Other provisions of the guidelines include:

- "Student lockers are subject to unannounced inspections by school officials if deemed necessary by the school administration."

- Searches must be carried out in the presence of another adult school official.

- "In no case shall a group of students be searched in order to, for example, find an alleged stolen article. Only those students where specific evidence points to their guilt may be searched."

- "So called 'witch hunts' are not permitted. Searches shall not be conducted from pressure by parents, staff or other students, unless there is solid evidence presented to warrant a search."

Poisons

Dawn Harris

Almost all of us can think of a least one panic-filled moment when someone we knew had just been poisoned. Many of the substances we use everyday, like bug sprays and strips, paint thinner, ammonia, bleach and ant bait, are deadly poisonous. It only takes a second for a small hand to get some poison in a mouth, eye or nose.

To prevent that tragedy from happening here are a few simple tips to think about.

- Lock up all medicines. Keep pills in childproof pressure top containers.
- Don't take medicine in front of children. Children are great imitators.
- Don't ever call medicine candy.
- Clean out old medicines regularly and flush them down the drain.
- Read and heed directions and caution labels.
- Avoid bringing unnecessary toxic substances into your house.
- Store cleaning supplies out of sight and out of reach of children.
- Keep all products in their original containers. Do not store poisonous or inflammable substances (kerosene, gasoline, drain opener, ammonia, etc.) in food or beverage containers.
- Rinse out containers thoroughly before disposing of them.

• Use cleaning fluids and aerosols with adequate ventilation only and avoid breathing the vapors.

• Know the names of the plants in and around your home and if they are poisonous.

• Before measuring liquid medicine, always shake the bottle thoroughly so that the medicine is equally distributed throughout the liquid.

• Be careful when using drugs or hazardous materials. If you are interrupted while using the product, take it with you. Poison centers hear many times from callers: "I just left for a second." That is all the time a child needs to ingest a fatal dose of a poisonous product.

• Keep a bottle of Syrup of Ipecac, activated charcoal and Epsom salts for each child in the house. Do not use until you have been instructed in the proper procedure by your doctor or poison center.

If a child or adult should ingest a poison, try to quickly find out what was taken and how much. Give them milk or water immediately. Then call your doctor or poison center. Do not make the person vomit without instruction from them. Only use Syrup of Ipecac as instructed by your doctor or poison center. If you are sent to a hospital, take the poison or medication with you and any vomitus for analysis. Dawn Harris is the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service Home Economist.

Hospital celebrates broadcasting

Clinton Memorial Hospital is approaching its "century" mark in public broadcasting, says Director of Human Resources Thomas Wiseman.

The hospital began its hour-long broadcasts in 1984 and will soon surpass 100-hours of broadcasting time. The taped programs feature health-related topics such as stress-management, tobacco addiction, car-safety, pulmonary disease, weight-reduction and the new reimbursement system affecting hospitals nationwide.

The health-related programs are broadcast every Tuesday from 10 to 11 a.m., with special features during evening hours. St. Johns cable subscribers can view the weekly broadcasts on Public Access Channel 2.

Clinton Memorial serves as the public broadcasting access point for St. Johns and community groups may also use the system. Equipment for the taped broadcasts was purchased by the City of St. Johns. The City Cable Commission is responsible for approval of group requests for broadcast on Channel 2.

Bath plans second Octoberfest

Plans for Bath's second annual Octoberfest are well underway, and this year's festival promises to be bigger and better than the inaugural event.

Octoberfest will take place Saturday, Oct. 26, from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. in James Couzens Memorial Park on Main Street. Organizers are hoping to have a Halloween theme this year.

The James Couzens Memorial Park Association is sponsoring the event, and all proceeds will go to support next year's Bath Community Days.

Features of the harvest festival will be an auction, an arts and crafts fair, a haunted house and games for children, a pancake breakfast and chicken barbecue, various raffles, a cake walk, face painting, and of course, bingo and food tents.

A hayride will close the festival this year.

Although the James Couzens association is sponsoring the event, local groups are participating. The Lions have volunteered to coordinate the children's games, and other groups will be helping in various ways. Octoberfest events will be centered in the park this year, instead of in the shop-

Hospital practices for disaster

Hospital personnel at Clinton Memorial and local emergency agencies took part in a simulated disaster drill last week.

The drills, conducted semi-annually, are designed to measure the effectiveness of internal procedures and coordination with area support services in the event a real disaster would occur.

Site of the most recent "disaster" was Sealed

Power Corporation in St. Johns, with healthy high school career students as "victims". Following the mock explosion at the industrial site, the "victims" were transported to Clinton Memorial by local ambulance services.

Disaster codes were then called at the hospital, with physicians and staff assessing the injured as they arrived through "triage." Triage is a method of prioritizing patients according to injuries during a mass-casualty situation.

Following the mock disaster, a critique of the exercise was held for participants.

In addition to hospital physicians and staff at Clinton Memorial, other participants included Clinton County health career students, Clinton Area Ambulance Service, St. Johns Fire Department, St.

Johns City Police, and Bob Ferry, Clinton County Emergency Medical Services coordinator.

Other agencies notified of the disaster and those that would be contacted in the event of a real disaster included the Clinton County Sheriff Department, Michigan Department of Public Health, Ingham Medical Center and the St. Johns Ministerial Association.

"It's in the Bag"
by Bob Beck

Today, just for fun, a mystery food. I'll give you some clues (no fair reading ahead for the answer!) and you see if you can identify it.

This food is generally thought of as a vegetable, although it is technically a berry. However, it hardly looks like a berry, as it sometimes grows as large as five pounds in weight.

Like the tomato, it is a member of the deadly nightshade family. The difference is that the tomato, in spite of having bad relatives, came to be known as the "love apple." But our mystery food was called the "mad apple" and the "ragging apple" because it was widely though mistakenly thought to cause insanity. In fact, it was once actually classified botanically as solanum insanum.

It has also gone by other names, however, having been known in Turkey as The Sultan's Pleasure, and in Europe as Guinea Squash.

It is usually egg-shaped, but it can also be as round as its cousin, the tomato, or as long and narrow as a cucumber. And it is usually purple, but it can also be yellow, or white, or even striped.

Okay, time's ups. If you haven't guessed by now, I guess I'll have to tell you what it's called, not in Turkey and not in Europe, but here in St. Johns. Eggplant! And perhaps the biggest mystery of all is how anything so good, served in so many different ways, could be so infrequently enjoyed.

Pick up an eggplant next time you see them in our produce department. Then check your own cookbook for inviting recipes. Oh yes, and trust Beck's Farm Market. Our eggplant won't drive you insane...only mad for more eggplant!

"We thank all who sent cards, flowers, memorials and food and who visited us during the time of the death of our loved one."

Farm Bill

Bill Schuette

Bill Schuette is the 10th District Representative to the U.S. House of Representatives.

Last week, the House Agriculture Committee reported out a four-year farm bill.

Our challenge on the Agriculture Committee has been to develop an agriculture policy that points the way for farming into the 21st century. Given the current state of American agriculture, this bill is the most important piece of farm legislation in 50 years. So many people in mid-Michigan were waiting for this bill and I have already been asked so many questions about it that I thought this space should be devoted to the Agriculture Committee's Farm Bill.

The main issue throughout the lengthy process of producing this bill has been the farm crisis. But just what is the "farm problem?" Some say it is high interest rates. Others, that land values have declined too much. Farmers are overplanting, and that's the cause of our problems, some claim. The drop in U.S. farm exports is at the root of our problems, according to others.

The answer is that each of these factors and many others have contributed to the depression on the farm. Trade embargoes, falling prices, plummeting land values, high interest rates and unfair foreign trade restrictions and subsidies have seriously damaged American farmers.

Increased exports are a key to farm prosperity yet farmers are suffering under policies they did not create and do not want. To a degree, the farm bill reported out by the Agriculture Committee contains remedies to these problems.

The "baker's dozen" program, which grants extra commodities to our foreign customers when they buy American products, is one initiative I have strongly supported. The farm bill also freezes target prices, initiates a new producer-financed dairy diversion plan and reauthorizes the sugar program without changes. Many of these measures will address the core problem of American agriculture: the need to boost farmers' incomes.

In addition, this bill offers farmers the opportunity to vote on the kind of marketing program they want to have for wheat, corn and other feed grains. This referendum had my support because I believe farmers should have the chance to vote on the kind of farm program they want. This does not mean that I support mandatory controls. We on the Committee voted on the question of mandatory controls, and the measure was soundly defeated.

To summarize, this bill is not all that I wanted; it is not all that anyone wanted. Of necessity, it is a compromise among many competing interests, all of whom sincerely believe that their approach is the right one for American agriculture at the end of the 20th Century.

The most important consideration in shaping farm policy has been the survival and prosperity of farmers and their families. I hope that we realize that it is only by working together to address the serious problems faced by farm families today that we will fulfill the responsibilities entrusted to us.

In the House of Representatives Insurance problem

Gary Randall

Reform of our civil liability system is slated for early action when the Legislature begins its fall session this week.

A special committee, already in place, is studying Michigan's burgeoning liability insurance problem. Medical malpractice rates have increased from 50 percent to 500 percent.

The crisis hurts the medical community and everyone else who must maintain liability insurance. Policies are being cancelled at an alarming rate. Those who can hang on to their policies often find the premiums becoming so costly that they must drop coverage.

The insurance crossfire could jeopardize the quality of health care in Michigan if action isn't taken. This important issue concerns us all.

There are many other issues lawmakers must deal with this session. Prison overcrowding, workers' compensation reform, and agricultural reform are among the array of topics on tap for our fall schedule.

In the months ahead, I hope we can make progress on making Michigan and the 89th District a better place to live. If we can enact some needed changes, 1985 will have been a year of major improvement for our state.

Gary Randall is the state representative from the 89th district.

Dip in road is blamed for auto accident

To the Editor:

What is it going to take to get some attention paid to bad roads?

While my son was coming home Sept. 1 at 6 p.m., driving north on US-27 near Livingston Rd., he lost control of his car and wrapped it around a tree. After a hard rain a dip in the road retained water, leaving it very dangerous to the unexpecting driver. Thank God there was someone there after the accident to take him home although he didn't know or remember by whom or how he got home or anything about the accident.

My husband and I put him in the truck and drove south on US-27 looking for his car. It was then that he started remembering he had an accident. We called the police and an officer came out and sat and watched the oncoming traffic. As cars hit this low spot, water gushed up and sprayed, causing hazardous driving.

Besides going to school, my son has worked real hard after school for a year to earn money to buy a car. He has been a very good and careful driver. Maybe he didn't end up with any lost legs or arms but he has ended up with a broken heart. Each time he sells a part of his totaled car it tears him up — owing $300 on his car he had no choice, all he could afford was P.L.P.D. insurance. So who is responsible? No signs, no warnings of any kind.

Yes, I'm very thankful our son is alive but what about the next person than may not be so lucky? After all, I've talked with four others who have had accidents in the same place, same reason.

Letters

I'd like to know if there has been anyone else that has had an accident in the same place, same reason. If so I'd like them to contact me at 224-6050.

Leaf burners should be issued stiff fines

To the editor:

We are now entering another fall in Michigan and I am writing again to ask if we are about to go through the same period of leaf burning all over the city again. Or will it be stopped once and for all?

I've written to the city about this more than once. I am speaking for many others who feel the same about this and if Lansing can enforce a ban on the burning of leaves in a city that big why can't St. Johns?

I happen to like breathing clean fresh air and during the fall in St. Johns this isn't possible. As I've previously stated there is no logical reason possible for the burning of leaves as the city picks them up anyway.

Now what is it to be for this year?

I would suggest simply announcing the ban on the radio, in the city newsletter, or the Clinton County News and then issuing stiff fines for those who do not abide. I would suggest a $50 fine to begin with. After a few fines are given the practice will stop quickly. There would not be a big expenditure for the City to enforce this law.

Churches

Spend time with God

By Rev. LARRY R. SHROUT, Pastor
Pilgrim United Meth. Church

John 15:1,4,5 — Jesus said, "I am the true vine ... Remain in me and I will remain in you ... If a man remains in me and I in him, he will bear much fruit; apart from me you can do nothing."

Christianity is a relationship with the living Christ that we enter into and live out by faith. Once a person has genuinely committed their life to Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord and know for sure they belong to Him, the most important and vital ingredient in developing that relationship is a daily "quiet time" (devotional time). This is a must!

Just as a husband and wife need to spend time together in communication and communion, we must spend time each day in our Lord's presence, talking with Him and allowing Him to communicate with us. Yet, I wonder how many of us who profess to be Christians actually do set aside some time daily to spend with God. Do you? This "quiet time" should include at least two phases: Scripture intake and prayer. God communicates with us primarily through His word, the Bible.

As we read it, study it, and memorize it, God conveys to us what we are to be and do.

We communicate with God primarily through prayer. Prayer is simply talking to God, expressing our praise and thanksgiving, confessing our sins, and sharing our concerns about others and ourselves.

God desires this time of quiet, private communion with Him and we require it in order to avoid spiritual stagnation and grow in our relationship with Christ as we should. I know this to be true from my own experience and the experience of countless other Christians.

It is almost a Spiritual law: Without a consistent, meaningful quiet time, your spiritual life will dry up and you will cease growing in Christ. Remember, Jesus Christ is the source of our life. "Apart from Him we can do nothing." We must cultivate a close, ongoing, loving relationship with our Lord.

Without this, what happens according to Jesus? — "If anyone does not remain with me, he is like a branch that is thrown away and withers; a such branches are picked up, thrown into the fire and burned." (John 15:6). I want to be useful to the Lord, not useless. How about you?

I trust you will spend time each day talking to your Lord and letting Him speak to you through His word. If you do, you will grow! Christian, spend time with God!

Score's not everything

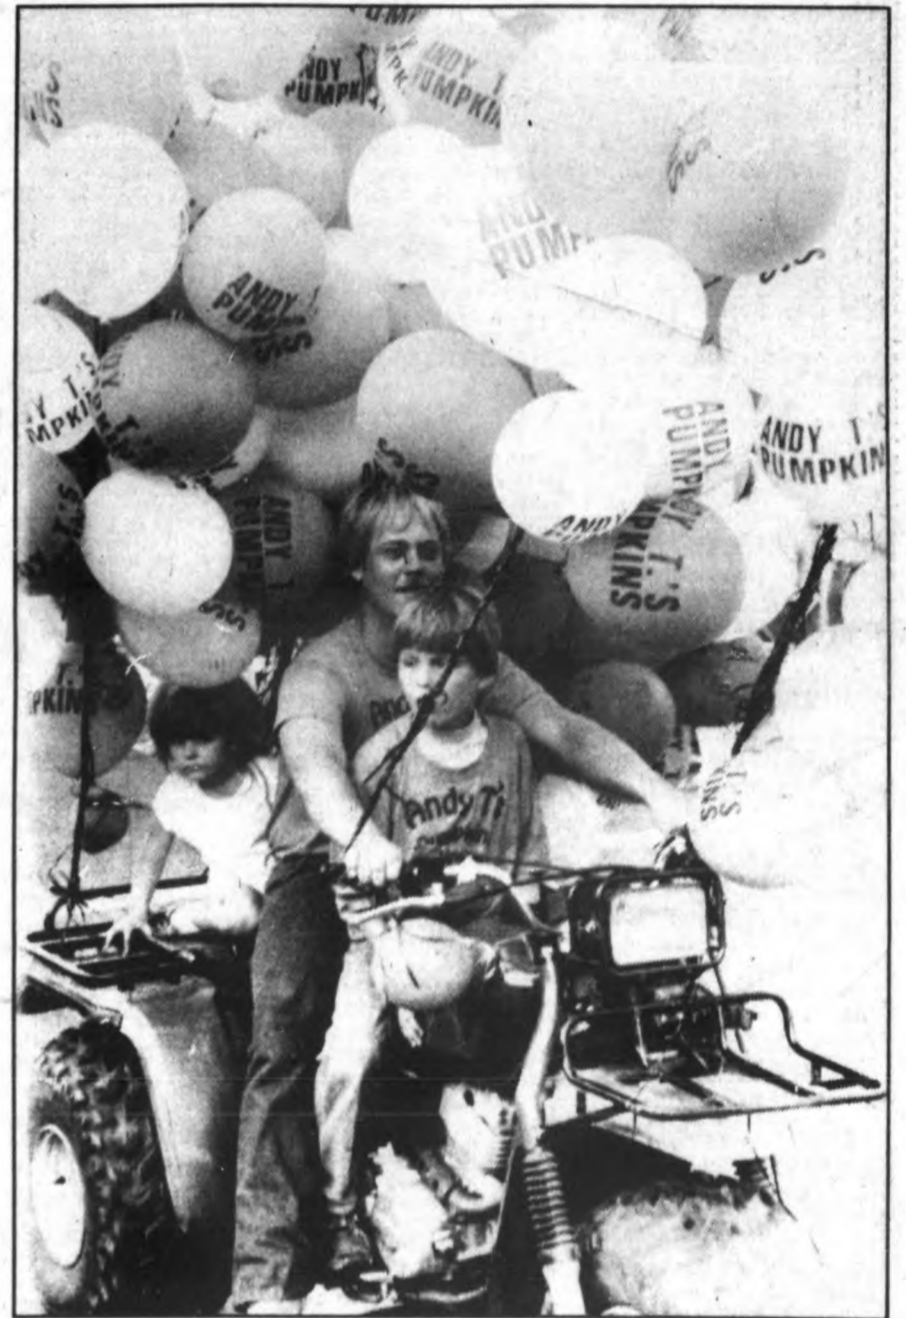

Homecoming spirit prevails

Never mind the score.
The Redwing Varsity Football team led St. Johns to a different kind of victory Friday night as the entire town took to the streets and the bleachers in a show of community spirit unmatched most anyplace else.

The Redwing Marching Band led a parade through downtown as balloons soared into the autumn skies... children were hoisted onto the shoulders of their parents... hundreds cheered for their team...the bleachers filled to capacity...cheerleaders pranced...the players took to the gridiron....

There was no doubt — this was Redwing country.

Fowler, Laingsburg on collision course

LOOKING FOR A CHALLENGE — Fowler Eagle football coach Steve Spicer says his charges have not received a stiff challenge yet. In three games, they have outscored the opposition, 120-0. The Eagles will no doubt receive that challenge Friday night when they travel to Laingsburg.

By JON RISING
Sports Editor

The Fowler and Laingsburg football teams are coming from opposite directions but they are going to collide head-on Friday night on the Wolfpack's home field.

Both teams have been highly successful with identical 3-0 won-lost records and 1-0 Central Michigan Athletic Conference marks.

But the Eagles, somewhat to their dismay, have arrived at their record by cake-walking past some inferior teams.

"We haven't been challenged to this point," Eagle coach Steve Spicer said.

Laingsburg has sweat, toiled, and collected wounds on its way to the Friday clash.

The Wolfpack has endured tough challenges from Williamston, Byron, and Pewamo-Westphalia.

They defeated Pewamo-Westphalia 12-8 last Friday night on the Pirates' field.

"It's tough to reach an emotional peak, week after week," Wolfpack coach Rick Baughman said.

Of course, both coaches feel that the other has had the advantage in scheduling.

Spicer says that the capabilities of his team against equal competition are unknown. The Eagles have defeated Maple Valley 18-0, Vestaburg 42-0, and Portland St. Pat's 60-0.

He feels that the Wolfpack schedule has allowed them to hone their skills coming into Friday's game.

Baughman said, "Well, knowing Steve, he's got one foot on in the grave and one on a banana peel — he's not going to go out on a limb."

The numbers are on Spicer's side, however, when he notes that because of high scores his front-line people have not had as much playing time as he would have liked.

For instance, Spicer says his starters did not even get in one half of football against the Shamrocks last Friday night.

The bench players have seized the opportunities given them and shown Spicer the team's overall balance.

'Well, knowing Steve, he's got one foot in the grave and one on a banana peel — he's not going to go out on a limb' — Steve Baughman

"We had 24 kids with at least one tackle," Spicer said of the Shamrock game.

Last year Fowler defeated Laingsburg 14-9, in a game that was decided in the final five minutes. Both teams have seen significant roster changes since then.

"Of 22 starters, we graduated 18 last year," Baughman said. "And we lost both of our kickers. This is an almost entirely different team."

The Wolfpack offense is led by quarterback Greg Hutchings.

"He's a good all-around athlete," Baughman said. "He's about 6-1 or 6-2 and 170 pounds. He's got a good, strong arm."

"Against Pewamo-Westphalia he ran 63 yards for a touchdown. He doesn't look that fast, but he's got a long stride and he covers more ground than it may look to some people."

The Eagles counter Hutchings with a fine, all-around athlete of their own — Dean Koenigsnecht.

Koenigsnecht leads an offense that Baughman says can, "show you so many different things. They can run the option at you. They can play power football. They show you counteraction. They can bootleg."

"They do everything pretty well. They run whatever you give them."

Does Baughman believe the CMAC title is in the back pocket of the Wolfpack if they win Friday night?

"Certainly Fowler and Pewamo-Westphalia have the two really good teams in the conference," he said. "But for us, that just leads to another emotional struggle the next week when we play Fulton."

"Over the years, Fulton has given us as much trouble as Fowler. So I can't count any chickens before they are hatched."

Pirates win; take on P-W

By JON RISING
Sports Editor

The Fulton Pirates made a couple simple adjustments in their football machine Friday night and the results were productive.

The Pirates took their first Central Michigan Athletic Conference game of the year from Potterville 20-6 and this week host Pewamo-Westphalia.

Fulton has a 2-1 overall record.

In the Potterville game, head coach Leo Rosencrants evaluated his team's lackluster offense in the early going and made the necessary changes.

"We weren't moving the ball much earlier in the game," the veteran coach said. "But, we made a few blocking adjustments and Don (Price) sprung for some very good yardage."

Price accumulated 239 yards rushing in 26 carries against Potterville. In the first game of the season, Price, a junior tailback, had 138 yards.

The Pirate defense was led by senior safety David Stephens. Stephens was in on 13 tackles.

Linebacker Todd Waldon was in on 10.

Rosencrants is preparing the defense to face the wishbone offense of Pewamo-Westphalia. "They don't run the option out of it," Rosencrants said. "The just run leads. We're going to have to plug up the run."

Offensively, Rosencrants says the Pirates are "going to go with whatever they give us."

Pewamo-Westphalia defeated Fulton 9-0 last season.

Prepare for Ovid-Elsie

Redwing record drops to 1-2

By JON RISING
Sports Editor

When St. Johns and Ovid-Elsie clash this Friday night on the Redwings' home field there will be more at stake than an addition to the win column in Mid-Michigan B Conference play.

Both schools are 1-2 overall and 0-1 in MMB play. Therefore, both need a win to generate momentum for the balance of the schedule.

The Redwings are coming off three tough contests. They defeated Lansing Waverly and were reasonably close against both Owosso and Ionia.

Ionia topped the Redwings 26-14 last Friday at homecoming in St. Johns.

"We could be 0-3 right now, or we could be 3-0. That's the way it has been," Redwing coach Bart Kjolhede said.

Of the Ionia defeat before a large homecoming crowd, Kjolhede said, "It was very frustrating, but it's water over the dam now. We had them. We know how to beat them. We just didn't do it."

"I think Ionia is as good or better than Waverly."

Kjolhede said his charges made mistakes in their pass defense that took a toll.

RAMBLIN' MAN — St. Johns fullback Bill Keenoy heads down the sideline for the first of his two touchdowns Friday night against Ionia. Keenoy scored on runs of 73 and nine yards.

"We missed tackles and we didn't get any sacks," he said.

Junior fullback Bill Keenoy was one of the bright spots for the Redwings Friday night. Keenoy scored touchdowns on runs of 73 and nine yards.

"Billy's been running real well. He's been averaging six yards a carry. He just hadn't broken one until Friday night," the coach said.

Kjolhede is well aware that the Marauders will be hungry to gain victory in the annual rivalry.

"Everybody wants to beat St. Johns. We're a Class A school, that's why teams are out there — they compete to win," he said.

The good news for the Redwings is that the Marauders' downfall against Corunna Friday night was their inability to contain the option attack.

"We didn't defend the option very well," first-year head coach Dennis Baratono said. "They run it out of a wishbone, a real tight formation. And they controlled the ball from it."

Baratono said to defeat St. Johns, which also runs the option, his defense needs to remember its assignments and "quit chasing the ball."

Baratono said Corunna's option was very successful on third and fourth down situations when the Cavaliers needed five or six yards.

The defense certainly got a work out in the first half, as the Marauders managed only 11 plays from scrimmage.

Although the St. Johns-Ovid-Elsie match-up is a long-standing rivalry, Baratono is not completely sure his team can muster up the intensity needed to win in St. Johns.

"I really hope they're up for Friday night," he said. "But, there were a lot of tears in the locker room Friday night. I don't know if we can get up the same emotional intensity. That's hard to do two weeks in a row."

against Corunna, St. Johns, and Ionia.

"That's brutal," he said.

Dave Fowler led the Ovid-Elsie defense with 17 tackles against Corunna, while Steve Walker had ten (with a fumble recovery) and Dean Love registered nine.

Quarterback Bobby Foreback scored the lone Marauder TD.

'IT'S MINE!' — St. Johns center Brenda Eiseler pulls in one of her 19 rebounds against Lansing Eastern last week. The Redwings, who were ranked 10th among the state's Class A teams, were defeated by Eastern, 49-45.

Redwings lose to Eastern

By JON RISING
Sports Editor

Perhaps the St. Johns girls basketball team would disagree with the axiom, "It's lonely at the top."

For it seems you get a lot of visitors when you're at the top — visitors intent on bringing you down.

The Lansing Eastern Quakers were such visitors when they came to town for a game last Thursday night. They left having marred the Redwings' perfect won-lost record with a 49-45 loss.

The Class A Redwings, now 5-1, were ranked 10th in the state coaches' poll going into the contest.

Asked if rankings put additional pressure on a team, veteran Redwing coach Beth Swears said, "I think it does. I'd rather not be ranked. I'd rather come in like East Lansing did tonight ... let the other team be ranked."

Swears pinpointed the reasons the Redwings met with defeat for the first time this season — cold-shooting from some usually accurate players and the pressure defense applied by the Quakers.

"They put some pressure on us that people hadn't before," Swears said. "We hurried and we turned the ball over a lot."

The Redwings led at halftime, 29-22, but an ice-cold third quarter left them trailing.

The Quakers outscored St. Johns 13-2 in the third quarter.

Brenda Eiseler had the lone basket for St. Johns in that quarter. She finished with game-highs in points and rebounds.

The star center had 20 points and 19 rebounds.

In addition to their poor field goal shooting, the Redwings managed just 11 points in 24 free throw attempts.

Other Redwing scoring included: Cheryl Rademacher 10 points, Mary Murphy four points, Debbie Bensinger four points, Kerry Porter three points, and Cindy Armbrustmacher and Karen Simon both with two.

In the fourth quarter, St. Johns briefly regained the lead about halfway through the stanza, putting the score at 36-35. The Quakers answered the Redwing charge quickly and kept them two to four points behind the rest of the way.

Earlier in the week, St. Johns blasted Ionia 61-30.

Eiseler again led the charge with 19 points, while Porter had 14 and Rademacher chipped in with 10. Murphy scored six, Brenda Schafer had four, and Armbrustmacher, Angie Myszak, and Simon all contributed two.

FOWLER

The Lady Eagles raised their overall record to 3-1 with victories over Laingsburg and Ashley last week.

Fowler dropped Laingsburg 43-35, being led by senior forward Cindy Schneider's nine points.

"Cindy's a definite team leader," coach Tom O'Rourke said. "The seniors do the leading in unison."

Nancy Sillman and Tammy Webber each added seven points, but Webber was injured and is out indefinitely. She suffered an ankle injury that was examined at the hospital.

The 40-34 victory over Ashley was hard fought for.

"We played excellent defense against Ashley," O'Rourke said. "We played man-to-man and Ashley did the same thing. Both teams were a little tired."

Schneider was also the scoring leader in the Ashley game. She put in 14 points, while Sillman and Amy Witten both added eight.

O'Rourke said the Eagles have to keep working on their shooting and maintaining their intensity.

"It's hard for anybody to keep up their intensity over a 20-game season," he said.

Tonight, the Eagles take on Pottersville, which sports a 5-0 record.

County athletes succeed in collegiate sports careers

Three former Clinton County athletes have been given recognition by their collegiate coaches for contributions in their respective sports.

Patty Theis of Pewamo-Westphalia has gone on to star in volleyball at Ferris State, Tina Simmon of St. Johns is running cross country at Ferris State College, and Paul Pioszak of St. Johns is running cross country at Western Michigan University.

Here are short progress reports on the three:

PATTY THEIS — is a 5-foot-11 sophomore playing middle blocker for the Bulldogs.

She set a Ferris record for block solos in a season when she recorded 65 as a freshman. She led Ferris at the Eastern Michigan Invitational with 34 kills. She totalled 288 kills and 91 block assists last year.

Her major is social services and child care.

TINA SIMMON — the sophomore is expected by coach Wayne Mollitor to "be our number one runner."

Last year, Simmon helped Spring Arbor to a second-place finish in the NCAA National meet by placing 11th.

"Tina should pick up right where she left off," Mollitor said.

Of the team, Mollitor said, "Overall we should be as good as last year. With six returning runners, we should be able to do as well as last season, if not better."

PATTY THEIS

TINA SIMMON

PAUL PIOSZAK — the junior finished 32nd at the Hillsdale Invitational September 14.

He covered the five-mile course in 26:40.8. The Broncos finished second with 66 points behind Malone, which scored 37.

Mead resigns as DeWitt AD

By MARILYN HESS
DBR Editor

Ron Mead is turning in his stopwatch and score sheets to take the position of principal at Montabella High School near Edmore. The DeWitt High School assistant principal/athletic director will be leaving DeWitt after Friday, Sept. 27.

"Career-wise, being a principal has been my objective," he says. He's been looking for just such a position since last spring.

Montabella is a Class C school with about 390 students, he says, which is "about the right size for my interest." The school is five years old, he says, and has beautiful facilities. That will be one advantage of being principal there.

Another is that "the teachers I've met seem positive. The administration is surprisingly progressive for such a small community, and they're doing some really creative things. That's exciting," he says.

"I think Montabella will be similar to DeWitt in the way the people support the schools. We get great support from the DeWitt community," he says.

But there will be some differences. The community is much more rural, he says, and there aren't as many professional people as there are in DeWitt.

Consequently, he says, the students are different. There won't be nearly as many college-bound students as there are in DeWitt, he says.

Mead says the biggest challenge in his new position will be to improve the curriculum and instruction to match the caliber of the facilities.

The instructors in DeWitt, he says, "are super. I can't say enough about them. It's made life a lot easier around here."

Mead has been in the DeWitt school system since 1973, when he came from Niles to teach math and coach basketball and football.

He taught for six years, and moved up into his present position in 1979, shortly after receiving his master's degree in educational administration from Michigan State University.

"I really enjoyed teaching here. I made a lot of friends with students and their parents," he says.

He says he will miss the people in the schools and in the community, especially those at Redeemer United Methodist Church. "That's been very important in our lives. They're a very supportive group of people, and we'll miss them an awful lot."

Gridiron girl

Jon Rising

To play or not to play, that is the question.

When the question was put to the Portland St. Pat's football coaching staff they said yes to a girl — unlike schools in New York, New Jersey, and Kentucky.

Athletic Director for the Shamrocks, Chuck Grenier, and head coach Bob Wolcott said yes, but not after Grenier sat down with Pat Fedewa and explained the ramifications of her decision to play varsity football with the boys.

Fedewa, at 5-foot-4, 130 pounds, got her first taste of varsity competition Friday night when the Shamrocks were thrashed 60-0 by the Fowler Eagles in Fowler.

She was on the field for three plays without incident.

Despite Grenier's preparatory chat with Fedewa, they were caught off guard by the reaction to her donning a uniform. Not the reaction of the community or student body — the reaction of the national news media.

"We expected the local television stations to get involved, the Lansing State Journal, the Ionia paper, and maybe even the Grand Rapids Press," Grenier said.

"We had a long talk. She understood the repercussions. But, the media caught us pretty flat-footed."

To this point, Fedewa has turned down interviews Time Magazine, the CBS Morning News, and Sonya Friedman. And Grenier said the flow of phone calls requesting information and interviews is steady.

"This is not a situation where someone is looking for publicity. This is just someone who wants to compete," he said.

"We thought this thing would die down after a couple of weeks. But I think I know why this is happening. There are girls in New Jersey, New York, and Kentucky that have had to go to court to (get permission) to play."

What makes a girl want to play a demanding and possibly injurious sport like football? I mean, if she has had a long talk with her athletic director she surely is aware that the comparatively fragile composition of her body is not compatible with the rigors of football.

"She definitely realizes that boys are stronger," Grenier said.

But, that realization in itself will not save Miss Fedewa on the field. There the hard realities of the boys' advantage could result in injury.

That was the concern of both St. Johns coach Bart Kjolhede and Fowler coach Steve Spicer when I spoke with them last weekend.

Kjolhede says judges have put coaches in a hard place.

"On one hand, they tell you that you have to let her play," Kjolhede said. "On the other hand, if she gets hurt, I'm responsible for my players. I can't just send them out into a situation where they might get hurt."

Spicer, who was the opposing coach Friday night, echoed Kjolhede's thoughts and added, "I know how I would have felt as the opposing coach if she got hurt. I know how our players would have felt. Nobody wins in a situation like this."

Kjolhede seemed to strike the crux of the dilemma when he said, "I tell you what I'd do if it were me. She's not going to play. She's not good enough."

And you see, that is the bottom line in this situation. Fedewa, although she can't be refused a place on the team, can be refused playing time — especially in the heat of the battle where injury to her person is most likely.

Grenier said, "Like any coaches, we are strictly going to play the best players first."

"A coach tries to protect his players. You don't put them in situations where they are going to be injured."

So when all the ink and electronic flashes and videotape disappear, Patty Fedewa will have been in a football jersey and on a football roster and field — but is unlikely she will have experienced the heat of the battle.

Engineer is Class A

In addition to his work as the supervisor of the St. Johns Wastewater Treatment Plant, Bill Gramlich has been engaged on an extra-curricular project.

He has been working on qualifying for a Class A water quality engineering license. The effort paid off recently when he became one of a handful of engineers in the state to earn the license.

Water treatment plants in Michigan are classed from "A" through "D" depending on the size of the population served by the plant, the type of process it uses and other variables. Operators of the plants are required to have at least the same class of license as the plant they operate.

Since the St. Johns plant is a Class B plant, Gramlich did not have to go to the extra effort of getting a Class A license. It was a personal goal.

Bill Gramlich

"It was a goal I set for myself when I started in the business," he says.

Gramlich has been at the St. Johns plant since 1978. His qualification for the Class A license was based on both academic and professional experience.

Although he is now qualified to operate a Class A plant he plans to stay in St. Johns, he says.

Farm bureau meeting held

About 225 Clinton County residents attended the annual Farm Bureau meeting Sept. 17 at the St. Johns High School.

Following a buffet dinner an awards ceremony and a business meeting was held.

The Distinguished Service to Agriculture Award was given Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mayers of St. Johns.

Awarded the Distinguished Young Farm Couple award were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Ashley.

Chris Chant was named Outstanding Young Farm Woman.

A special award for membership work was given to Phyllis Moore.

The membership also approved a by-law change that replaces a position on the board of directors formerly filled by a representative from the Farm Bureau Women with a Director-at-Large. Gwen Nash was elected to that position.

Also elected to the board were Robert Harte, Alan Anderson, Greg Huhn and E. Robert Grams.

The membership approved a series of resolutions regarding national, state and local issues, including some stating that:

- prisoners should not have the right to sue government units for things that happen to the prisoners while they are incarcerated.

DISTINGUISHED — Clinton County Board President Don Sising congratulates Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Mayers after Mayers was given the Distinguished Service to Agriculture Award.

- Congress should pass a tax reform package that would do away with loopholes even if it means doing away with investment credit and capital gains on livestock and buildings.
- Governmental insurance of the Farm Credit System is needed.
- The President should have a line item veto in an attempt to balance the federal budget.

Reforms are needed in the FmHA. The FmHA should return to only helping farmers who can not qualify for other financing, direct loans should be ended and replaced a program to guarantee loans made by other institutions and there should be no moratorium on FmHA loan foreclosures.

- Awards in liability law suits should be limited to $250,000 plus medical expenses for each individual.
- All carbonated and alcoholic beverage containers sold in glass, plastic and aluminum containers should be included in the state bottle law.

The membership rejected resolutions that would have supported electing district directors to the County Soil Conservation District on the basis of townships at general elections and that would have supported combining the Farm Bureau Mutual and Farm Bureau General insurance companies into one unit.

Join! Join! Join!

Fall is here and that seems to be an ever popular suggestion — join! Join a bowling league, join Boy Scouts, join Girl Scouts, join a weight-loss group, join the football team, join a Bible Study, join 4-H!

Of course all of these are excellent ideas and each one meets the special needs of it's members. After all, that's what groups are designed for. Several people with similar interests get together to do something or learn something. The goal gets accomplished, people enjoy each other's company and everyone has fun.

Each of these are good organizations but since this column is called "Clover Clippings" I want to tell you more about 4-H programs in every state in the USA and some others as well.

4-H enrollment is open to any boy or girl who is at least nine years old and not older than 19. There is no enrollment fee to join, although some club have 25 cents to $1 per year dues for club activities.

In most cases, 4-H clubs meet right in your own neighborhood with friends and neighbors you see in school or at community events. People join 4-H to meet new people, make new friends, enjoy each others company and to learn new things. You can learn to knit, sew, work with wood, do crafts, cook, drive a tractor, ride a horse or raise a pig.

There are over 75 different project areas that youths can choose from.

Clowning, computers, careers, folk patterns, painting, photography and lots more. There's even a self-determined area for members to explore their own ideas.

Volunteer teens and adults share their time and skills helping members learn project skills. They help members learn to make decisions, develop leadership skills and improve communication skills.

In Clinton County there are 60 local 4-H Clubs and each one is a little different based on the needs and interests of the members. In addition to local club activities and project work, there are county wide workshops, trips and events.

Everyone who joins 4-H probably has a little different reason for joining and that's the great thing about 4-H. There's something for everyone! What's in it for you? The 4-H phone number is 224-3288 — call me and see.

Goat breeding time is here

By DIANA JOHNSON
Clinton Caprines Reporter

Warm days and cool nights will bring in the breeding season for many goat owners. Many 4-H'ers are beginning to plan for next year's kids now, so some basic breeding care now can give better kids next spring.

Dairy goats will begin to show signs of their heat cycle in late summer. The recommended breeding age varies but on the average you should wait until a doe is nine months of age or about 75 to 95 pounds. The dairy goat will cycle about every 21 days. The heat season will run until late March, each cycle lasting only two or three days with the strongest cycle occurring in November thru January.

Watching the doe carefully every day will enable you to predict the doe's heat cycle days. There are many signs of heat to watch for; the main ones are restlessness, bleating, frequent urination and flagging of the tail. Also, the vulva will seem swollen, red, wet and moist.

To determine when the kid will be due count 21 weeks ahead on the calendar and mark the due date. Most does will kid in about 145 days. Mature does often carry twin and triplets.

MILKING DOES SHOULD be dried up at least six to eight weeks before they are due to kid. But the feed must be kept up. Pregnant does should be well fed because the unborn kids will put on 70 percent of their weight during the last six weeks prior to kidding.

Keep the doe on a good legume hay. A 14 to 16 percent protein grain should maintain the doe. Each doe should receive a half to one and a half pounds of grain each day and two to three pounds of hay each day. There are extra treats that can be given to the does that will provide extra vitamins and minerals, special treats like silages, cabbage apples, carrots and sugar beets and greens.

These should be fed carefully and in small amounts so not to make them bloat or over feed. A mineral salt block should be available in a free choice style in each stall.

Breed your doe to the best buck you can afford, preferably one that has records of producing daughters with good milking records. Locate a registered buck ahead of breeding time.

Be sure to check on the cost and the boarding needs if it is required before your breeding date. Request a service memo from the breeder. Fill in the service date and be sure to check the doe three weeks later for signs of heat. If none occur the doe is probably pregnant.

The care of the buck is a very important factor also. During the breeding season the buck must have a good grain diet and high quality hay. A breeding buck should have large quantities of hay and and two to three pounds of grain each day. Also, a mineral salt should be of free choice.

Champion 4-H goat needs purchaser

Cheryl Johnson, member of the Clinton Caprine 4-H Club and the owner of the Grand Champion Market

CHERYLE JOHNSON displays her champion goat. The original purchase of her goat fell through so she is looking for another buyer.

Goat, is looking for a buyer for her goat.

Cheryl took Grand Champion with her goat in the market class at the 1985 Clinton County Fair. Her goat was sold in the Small Animal sale at the fair but the original buyer, Mr. Jim Sykora of Clare, purchased the goat for a pet for his grandson but now is unable to keep the goat.

Anyone one who would be interested in the purchase of Cheryl's goat may contact her and her parents, Jim and Diana Johnson, at 224-6135.
