Notes Herbs

OWOSSO The Second Annual Fall Herbal Festival, sponsored by the Potpourri Herb Guild of Owosso, will be Oct. 12 at the YWCA, 621 W. Oliver St., Owosso.

For more information call Sherry Woodard at 517-725-5855 or Sue Newcom at 517-743-5883.

Benefit

FOWLER Members of Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL) Branch 2320, Fowler, are launching a $5,000 fund drive to benefit Geraldine Swanson of Fowler, whose recovery from heart surgery has been complicated by her many allergies.

Branch members are organizing a variety of fund-raising activities to pay Swanson's medical and related expenses.

Branch volunteers are participating in AAL's Co-op Benevolence Program, through which AAL supplements the money raised locally by AAL volunteers.

Musicale

ST. JOHNS St. Johns Morning Musicale will continue their study of French composers on Oct. 10 at the home of Delia Anderson, West Colony Road, beginning at 9:45 a.m.

Program for the day includes a presentation of notes on the life of Jean Baptiste Lully by Margaret Paige; "Gavotte" and "Nocturne" played by Martha Lundy; "Lonely Wood" performed by the vocal trio of Esther Jacoby, Helen Lewis and Phyllis Rice; and a piano solo "Golliwog's Cake Walk" by Delia Anderson.

The meeting will close with the group singing the hymn of the month, "O Splendor of God's Glory Bright", as selected by the National Federation of Music Clubs.

R.A.V.E.

ST. JOHNS In connection with National Domestic Violence Awareness Week, Oct. 6-12, the St. Johns branch of Relief After Violent Encounter (R.A.V.E.) urges all Michigan citizens to recognize the problem of domestic violence.

R.A.V.E.'s crisis hotline, 517-224-6990, has had over 300 calls and 27 clients since it was established in February, 1985. The phone line is open 24 hours a day for those who need assistance or just someone to talk with.

At this time St. Johns does not have a shelter of its own but access to three shelters in the Clinton County area is available and may be used by county residents.

The next training class for R.A.V.E. volunteers will be on Nov. 6th. Those interested in attending should call the hotline number for further information.

4-H Fair

ST. JOHNS The Clinton County Fair Association is now accepting new members for 1986. Membership dues are $1 per person each year and include voting privileges in the organization.

Association membership is open to anyone in the community who is interested in supporting the Clinton County 4-H Youth Fair.

Deadline for 1986 Association dues is Oct. 11. Dues can be paid to any current Fair Board member, fair secretary or at the Cooperative Extension Service Office at 306 Elm St. St. Johns.

The Association will hold a meeting on Monday, Nov. 11, at Smith Hall in St. Johns to elect people to fill three three-year positions on the Board of Directors and one one-year position. Members interested in running for one of the positions should contact a current Fair Board member or the Extension Office prior to Oct. 14.

St. Johns asks for state audit

By RICH WERTZ
Editor

St. Johns School Supt. Earl Gabriel wrote Sept. 30 to the superintendent of the Michigan Dept. of Education asking the state to review the financial condition of the school district.

"I am confident your accountant can substantiate what we believe is a dire fiscal position and affirm the Board's position with its constituents," Gabriel wrote in a letter to Phillip E. Runkel, superintendent of the Department of Education (D.O.E.).

In a related development the state legislature approved action that will allow schools extra time to hold millage elections for the 1985-86 school year, said St. Johns Administrator Steve Bakita. This opens the possibility of another millage election in St. Johns this year if such an election is approved by the Board of Education.

ASKED WHY ST. JOHNS is not included on a state-compiled "critical millage list" of troubled school districts, Bakita said the list includes only those districts in which millage renewals were voted down. Those districts have only county-allocated millage revenue with which to operate, he said.

Although a requested 3.5 mill increase was recently voted down in St. Johns the district still has 29.75 mills with which to operate. School administrators and board members have said 29.75 mills is not enough and plan to close the schools early this year if the district runs out of money.

"There is a chance that because of our situation we could be put on a critical list later," Bakita said.

Gabriel's letter asked Runkel to "send to our district someone to do a financial review of our current fiscal position and to offer any help or advice as to how we should deal with the dilemma at hand. The sooner this can be accomplished, the better it would be for our Board and community."

Gabriel's letter also said St. Johns administrators need to discuss with D.O.E. staff the preparation of a balanced budget for the school district. Michigan public school districts are required by state law to submit balanced budgets for D.O.E. review by Nov. 1.

'There's a chance we could be put on a critical list later.'

"Frankly, it is my position that there are not enough cash funds in reserve to allow us to comply with a 'balanced budget' requirement," Gabriel said in his letter.

Gabriel said in a separate press release that he does not anticipate any difficulties in getting a D.O.E. financial review of the school district. He said he hopes a report on the findings of the review will be available by the Oct. 21 meeting of the Board.

Dairy diversion OK'd by House

By RICH WERTZ
Editor

The Michigan Milk Producers Association (MMPA) and the Michigan Farm Bureau both got something they wanted during voting on the farm bill in the U.S. House of Representatives last week.

By Friday the House had approved 15 of 21 sections of the bill, virtually assuring that those sections will go as written to a House-Senate conference committee where the final bill will be hammered out.

The House will vote on final approval of the bill sometime this week, said Bill Mencarrow, press representative for Rep. William Schuette. He said it is unlikely that any changes will be made in those sections already voted upon.

Among the sections of the bill approved by the House last week was a dairy section supported by the MMPA. The Michigan Farm Bureau opposed that version and criticized it as soon as it was approved in the House.

HOWEVER, THE FARM BUREAU did get what it wanted when a provision was deleted that would have allowed farmers to choose between two different wheat and feed grain price support plans.

Had the provision been approved farmers would have voted on a plan that would have set support prices at a higher level in exchange for production cutbacks.

The MMPA-supported dairy section approved by the House includes a "producer-financed" dairy diversion plan in which assessments on dairy production would finance payments to farmers who cut back on production.

The Farm Bureau supports an alternative plan that would gradually reduce support prices for dairy products. The Farm Bureau has released statements saying the approved plan would be ineffective and costly to both producers and consumers.

The MMPA has issued statements saying the plan would cut surplus production and keep dairy farmers in business while cutting federal expenditures.

The Senate is expected to begin consideration of a farm bill on Oct. 16. Differences between the Senate and House versions — including a possible clash between MMPA and Farm Bureau versions of the dairy section — will then have to be resolved in a House-Senate Committee.

Fowler schools set special vote

Fowler Public School District voters will vote Nov. 25 on a $150,000 bond issue for eight years to be used for an addition to the existing industrial arts facility.

Cost of the project would be spread over eight years. Including interest, the bond is estimated to cost taxpayers an average of .85 mills.

Superintendent James Andros said the issue, if passed, would not affect this year's tax assessment. If successful, the first levy would be in December, 1986.

After the 1986 tax year, the increase would be completely offset due to the expiration of the 1958 High School Bond Issue. Currently, .864 mills are being assessed to pay that debt.

The project has been under consideration for almost a year. In the fall of 1984 the Board of Education appointed an Industrial Arts Study Committee to review the current program and facilities. The committee decided the current facility is inadequate to handle the needs of students in the program.

The proposed addition would house a classroom, a finish room for wood-working and a project storage area.

The last day to register for the Nov. 25 election is Oct. 28.

FOWLER KING AND QUEEN — Ken Armbrustmacher and Beverly Becker were named King and Queen at Fowler's Homecoming Dance Saturday evening. Homecoming ceremonies were postponed from Friday evening because of cold autumn rains — but that did not stop the Fowler victory.

Tri-county organization to boost development

By RICH WERTZ
Editor

An effort to bring jobs and prosperity to a tri-county region that includes Clinton County was formalized in Lansing on Sept. 26.

"This is the first time they've all been together in the same room at the same time," said Jim Jordan, executive vice-president of the Lansing Regional Chamber of Commerce.

Jordan was referring to the various members of the Regional Economic Development Team, nicknamed RED Team, a group of tri-county representatives who have set out to cooperatively market Ingham, Eaton and Clinton counties for economic development.

The RED Team has been in the process of formation since last October. The various local governments and agencies have one by one signed agreements to work cooperatively with the RED Team and to provide funding for the effort.

At the Sept. 26 gathering Board of Commissioners Chairman Roger Overway signed documents formalizing Clinton County's participation on the team.

Clinton County RED Team representatives are Planning Director Thomas Wartsler and Economic Development Corporation Executive Director Don Lowell.

"I'M REALLY EXCITED about the effort," said Wartsler. "I think it's going to benefit the county immensely."

The idea behind the effort, say those involved in it, is to compete for commercial and industrial development as a region. Once potential businesses are interested in the Lansing region the various localities can start touting the virtues of their particular communities, they say.

Secondly, they say, a business that opens a factory in Lansing will draw employees from St. Johns and vice-versa. "It's hard for us to promote Clinton County without mentioning Lansing," said Wartsler. "We can promote the region real well as a whole."

"Some industries are looking for rural areas," he continued. "Some are looking for small villages and some are looking for metropolitan areas."

Jordan, whose Regional Chamber of Commerce office will act as headquarters and coordinator of the RED Team, said: "I don't care where they go. I genuinely don't. Because once they are interested in the region everybody will benefit. We'll work like hell to get them in the region."

JORDAN SAID SINCE October of last year the RED Team has accomplished two things. Besides working out an agreement between the various members of the RED Team it has prepared and packaged data for responding to inquiries from business about the region.

The game plan for the next year, he said, is to begin contacting select industrial groups to get them interested in the region.

"We'll begin a program of contact with industries around the country to tout the assets of our area," he said.

He said the "selected targets industry groups" have not been officially identified but would probably include high technology, food processing and automobile supply firms.

Jordan said the RED Team will also publish a "Quality of Life" booklet, describing the tri-county region.

WARTSLER SAID HE could not point to any tangible benefit to Clinton County from the efforts of the RED Team so far. But, he said, the future looks good.

"It's going to take time," he said. "But we're on the right track."

He said the newly completed section of I-69, the availability of land with sewers and its proximity to Lansing are all things the county has going for it in attracting economic development.

"Lansing has grown south and west," he said. "Now I think its going to start coming north."

However, he said, development will not be confined to the southern part of Clinton County. Areas such as Ovid and Elsie will have things to offer potential industries, he said.

Besides Clinton County, participants in the RED Team are: Delta Township, East Lansing, Eaton County, Ingham County, Lansing, Meridian Township, Tri-county Employment and Training Consortium, Tri-county Private Industry Council, Tri-county Regional Planning Commission and the Lansing Regional Chamber of Commerce.

In the House of Representatives Veto upheld

Gary Randall

The Michigan House of Representatives failed last week to override the Governor's veto of the essential insurance bill. This is a setback for auto owners in our state. I supported the override, which received 62 votes. A total of 74 votes was needed to overturn the veto.

The legislation passed the House and Senate with overwhelming support but the Governor's office would not heed the voice of the people. Once again outstate policy holders will pay the freight. Under the bill, an automobile theft prevention authority would have been established to help crack down on car thieves. The dramatic increase in auto thefts in southeast Michigan is a major source of concern for insurance companies and a motivating force behind the insurance reforms. As the law stands, every time the rates increase in Detroit, they will increase outstate too — even in our northern counties where auto theft has decreased. This is not fair. The public deserves auto insurance reform and I will continue to fight for it. Gary Randall is the 89th District Representative to the Michigan House of Representatives

Utilization

Rich Wertz

We don't use anything anymore and it's driving me nuts. For instance, as I write these words I'm not using my brain. I'm utilizing it. These days everything is utilized. Utilize is the designer word of the '80s. It gives the user, er, utilizer, of the word an aura of distinction and learning and we utilize it on every possible occasion. Once we did our best with what we had to work with. These days we strive for the optimum utilization of available resources. Once we spent money and if we spent too much we went into debt and our creditors hounded us to pay up. Now we utilize our available lines of credit and if we utilize too much we can't pay and our creditors hound us to pay up. (Some things haven't changed.) The first time I heard that word I didn't think too much about it. It was a word people said on the evening news to sound like they knew what they were talking about. It was an institutional word, heard only from the lips of bureaucrats and others who make their living by speaking in convoluted sentences. But, like insidious and creeping bureaucracy itself, it has made its way into the common language and now threatens our American way of life. You think I'm kidding? Consider this scene: Mother is working in the kitchen. Little Billy is underfoot. Mother says, "Billy, go out to the orchard and pick some peaches so I can utilize 'em in a pie." I ask you this: do you want to sit around and wax nostalgic about the way things utilized to be? Heed my warning. If the promiscuous and undisciplined utilization of the word utilize does not bother you now, just wait a while. Sooner or later you will drive by a automobile dealership and see a sign advertising great deals on utilized cars. How would you like that, eh?

Clover Clippings Leaders

Theresa Silm

Each year hundreds of adult and teen volunteers give their time and energy to help 4-H members learn a variety of project and life skills. Although the major emphasis is on what the members learn, there are also plenty of opportunities for the leaders to learn new things or to refine current skills.

One such learning opportunity for leaders is the East Central Region 4-H Leader Training Workshop which will be held this year on Oct. 26 at the Regina Center in Midland. Volunteers and staff from a 12-county area are invited to participate in this session which features 27 different class sessions.

Of the 27 classes, participants will be able to attend up to four different options. The topics include:

leathercraft, photography, leader dogs, lace net darning, judging foods projects, wood finishes, pocket quilting, 4-H Councils, computers, small animals and punch needle. Complete class descriptions are available in the Extension Office.

Cost for the training program, which runs from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., is $5 per person. Cost includes lunch.

Registration for the workshop should be made to the Cooperative Extension Office, 306 Elm St., St. Johns, or by calling 224-3288. Deadline for registration is Oct. 11.

Social Security

Bill Schuette

During August I had the opportunity to visit many senior citizen centers and hear the concerns of older Americans. 1985 has been an important year in that we are celebrating the 50th anniversary of Social Security and the 20th anniversary of Medicare.

As we prepare to enter the 21st Century there are several challenges which we must face if we are to ensure a sound Social Security system and a dignified standard of living for our senior citizens.

One action, which would help free Social Security from the politics of the annual budget process, is taking Social Security out of the general budget. As part of developing a "unified budget" President Johnson added Social Security to the general fund for accounting purposes. The intention was that such a unified budget would give a more accurate picture of total federal expenditures and obligations.

Unfortunately, putting Social Security funding in with the rest of the budget has tended to make this assistance to the elderly a budgetary bargaining chip and not the solemn federal obligation that most of us know it to be. Instead of discussing how best to secure the system for the future, Congress debates how money can be saved in tinkering with Social Security.

I have become a co-sponsor of legislation which would pull Social Security out of the general fund and restore its original autonomy. The system is already scheduled to do this in the early 1990s but I think we should accelerate this process.

Senior citizens should not have to worry every year about whether Congress will approve their cost of living adjustments. My hope is that instead of having to fight over this issue every year we will be able to ensure that senior citizens get the payments they are entitled to with much less worry.

We should also take steps to ensure that Social Security offices are kept open so that senior citizens can get the assistance with their benefits that they need. I have joined with local government officials in urging the Social Security Administration to maintain its existing offices. Elderly citizens should not be required to travel great distances to clear up administrative problems or file for benefits.

We must also guarantee the value of Social Security benefits, and this challenge requires two separate efforts. We must ensure that Social Security benefits are not taxed. I have spoken out against raising taxes of any kind and we certainly must not raise taxes on much needed benefits paid to our elderly. And we must work to guarantee the long-term health of the Social Security System. The President's Bi-Partisan Commission has assured us of a viable and solvent Social Security System into the early 1990s and we must be sure that it remains that way.

Touring senior citizen's centers, meeting so many wonderful people who have worked hard for their retirements and listening to their worries about the future — each of these experiences has convinced me that we must remember and honor the promise that our government has made to senior citizens. We are only a just and decent society as long as our elderly are cared for in a dignified way.

Bill Schuette is the 10th District Representative to the U.S. House of Representatives.

Students offered chance to review for college test

Students taking the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test at St. Johns High School will have the opportunity to preview the exam process for the SAT, says Loren Perry of the school guidance staff.

100-minute, two-part test, students receive a "Student Bulletin" containing a complete sample test with an answer key and scoring instructions.

After taking the actual test, students will receive a booklet, "About Your PSAT/NMSQT Scores", explaining the test results.

The test will be given on Oct. 19 at 8:30 a.m.

Nearly 1.5 million students across the United States will take the test on a two-day period, Oct. 19 and 22. Through the PSAT/NMSQT students are selected for the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Program, which enables talented students to compete for scholarships.

Autumn foods

Dawn Harris

It is looking and feeling more like fall all the time. Suddenly the air is much cooler, the leaves are turning colors and pumpkins have appeared by the side of the road.

Selecting a nice big pumpkin to carve is a fall tradition for many families. In my article today I will be covering a few tips to look for when selecting your Halloween pumpkin.

Pumpkins that make the best Jack O'Lanterns don't make the best pies and vice versa. Pumpkins for pies are called sugar, or pie-type, pumpkins. The flesh is sweeter and finer textured in these smaller pumpkins which are at most about seven inches in diameter. Their dense, thick walls (which make them desirable for pie pumpkin) make them hard to carve — less effective as Jack O'Lanterns.

Field, or jumbo, pumpkins are best for Jack O'Lanterns. They may run much larger and heavier. Select one which is flat on the bottom for a Jack O'Lantern. The flesh of Jack O'Lantern pumpkins breaking. If you want to salvage Old Jack, cook it within a day after carving. Almost before your eyes, the inside molds and shows a feathery black that spells the end of that pumpkin for food.

Pumpkin, squash, melon and sunflower seeds can all be turned into yummy snacks. Separate the seeds from the stringy fibers, then wash thoroughly and let dry in a shallow layer at room temperature.

The seeds should be mature, well-filled and thoroughly dry before being hulled. To hull seeds most efficiently, first break them up with a rolling pin, hammer or food chopper. Then drop seeds and hull into a large container filled with water. Stir vigorously to bring kernels in contact with water and to break the surface tension. Kernels will sink to the bottom. The shells will remain floating.

After the seeds have dried, they may be roasted in a heavy frying pan at low heat or toasted in a shallow pan in a 325 degree oven. Mix about one cup of seeds with two tablespoons of vegetable oil and one or two teaspoons of salt and heat; stir frequently to prevent scorching.

The time required will vary from two to six minutes, depending upon how dry the kernels are. The hulled, toasted seeds make tasty snacks or can be used to replace nutmeats in nut breads, cookies and other baked products.

Frozen produce

When the air is cold enough to see your breath you know that our first frost of the season will be soon in coming. I know many of you are pulling all of the vegetables out of the garden. But what if there are some vegetables still out there when the frost bites?

When fruits or vegetables suffer frost-bite their quality immediately starts to deteriorate. If left alone, the produce will develop strange flavors and some discoloration. Because of this deterioration, all produce should be canned or frozen within 24 hours after the frost. This will preserve as much quality as possible. The more time that elapses between the frost and preserving the produce, the lower the quality will be.

The hitch in this whole situation is that many of your vegetables will not be ripe when you have to harvest them. What do you do then?

Unfortunately, the produce will not continue to ripen once it has been frozen. There are however a variety of recipes that you can make up using immature produce. One such recipe is the following one for Green Tomato Pie. For variation you can also make the recipe using half apples and half tomatoes.

Green Tomato Pie

- 4 cups peeled, sliced green tomatoes
- 1 Tbsp. lemon juice
- 1 1/4 cups white or brown sugar
- 5 Tbsp. flour
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. ground cinnamon
- 1 tsp. ground nutmeg
- 2 Tbsp. butter or margarin

Pastry for 2-crust 9-inch pie
Use green tomatoes of mature size. Dip into boiling water to loosen skins, then peel and core. Cut tomatoes into 1/4 inch slices. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Combine sugar, flour, salt and spices; mix with the tomato slices. Line a 9-inch pie plate with pastry. Fill with the tomato mixture; dot with butter. Adjust top crust, cutting slits for steam to escape; seal. Bake at 450 degrees for 15 minutes, reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake 30 minutes longer.

Diabetic club hears notable optometrist at Clinton Memorial

A bright, young college student in Washington who has achieved an excellent academic record despite both deafness and a vision impairment finds her field of vision increased many times over.

A policeman who was forced to retire after walking blindly into telephone poles and other objects can see all of his wife at once for the first time in many years.

Both of these people suffered from a vision impairment called "tunnel vision." Both were helped by a device prescribed by Dr. Edwin L. Novak, a Flint optometrist who lectured on his work before the Clinton County Diabetic Club at Clinton Memorial Hospital last week.

Tunnel vision, Novak told his audience, is one of the advanced symptoms of the genetic disease "retinitis pigmentosa." The disease robs people of their peripheral vision while usually allowing them to see in a narrow "tunnel" straight ahead.

The policeman mentioned above could see only part of his wife at a time — such as her nose — or part of a car — such as a hood ornament. The student could see only two letters of type at any one time.

The disease is considered incurable. However, Novak is one of a handful of "low vision" specialists in the country who can fit victims of tunnel vision with special devices that allow them to regain much of their vision.

Novak said those who are fitted with the devices regain the ability to function normally in society. The student who could see only two letters can now see two newspaper columns at a time. The policeman was able to start a new career. Some people who were classified legally blind are able to drive their cars again after being fitted, he said.

"It's in the Bag"

by Bob Beck

Today I'd like to tell you about a most extraordinary food. And I'll start by giving you a few clues to its identity. See how fast you can guess what it is!

It is neither animal, vegetable nor mineral. It comes in thousands of forms, with different sizes, shapes and colors. And a full pound has only 90 calories. Alice found one in Wonderland. And when she nibbled on one side of it she shrank. But when she took a bite of the other side she grew bigger.

Some are sweet. Some are nutty flavored. Others have a taste like that of oysters, or steak, or breast of chicken, or veal cutlet. And some are unlike anything else in this world. The ones you buy in the store are perfectly safe, but if you pick them yourself you are likely to be poisoned.

Surely by now you've guessed that I'm talking about...mushrooms! And mushrooms are extraordinary indeed. They are a fungus. They have no roots, stems, or leaves. They are soft, yet have been known to force their way up through asphalt streets and cement sidewalks. They have been worshipped as divine. One form glows in the dark. Another produces the effect of an alcoholic binge. Many produce hallucinations. And several...including a lovely white one known as the "Angel of Death"...are dreadfully poisonous.

Finally, most mushrooms are fairly small, but one in France is known to have measured 50 feet in circumference and weighed 105 pounds!

But the most important thing to remember about mushrooms is that looks are deceiving. The most dangerous kinds closely resemble some of the most edible. So unless you are an expert, there is only one place where you should ever pick mushrooms...and that is off Beck's grocery shelf.

Louis and Esther Wirth

Wirth

Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Louis and Esther Wirth of Fowler will celebrate their 50th Wedding Anniversary with an open house on Sunday, Oct. 13 from 2 to 5 p.m. at Most Holy Trinity Hall in Fowler. The event will be hosted by the couple's children and grandchildren.

The Wirths were married Oct. 12, 1935 in Westphalia.

Ebert-Halfmann

Reside in Chicago

The wedding of Linda Ebert and Timothy Halfmann, both of Chicago, took place July 13 at North Shore Congregational Church, Fox Point.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ebert, 480 E. Calumet Rd., Fox Point, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Halfmann, St. Johns.

The bride wore an Alencon lace and peau de soie gown with a chapel length train. Her Juliet cap was trimmed with pearls.

Maid of honor for her sister was Karen Ebert of Chicago. Bridesmaids were Judith Ebert, the bride's sister, of Fox Point; Harline Steinberger of Chicago; Mrs. Thomas Vogt of Cedarburg; and Mrs. John Klemmer, the bride's sister-in-law, of Grand Rapids.

Flower girl was Kristy Halfmann, the bride's niece, of Traverse City.

Best man was Allen Harian of Southfield. Groomsmen were Daniel Halfmann of St. Johns, and Chris Halfmann of Traverse City; both the groom's brothers; Scott Keathly of Atlanta; and Chris Abelt of Chicago.

A wedding dinner was held at Tripoli Country Club. The bride graduated from the University of Wisconsin-Madison, where she was affiliated with Alpha Phi. A lifetime member of the Service Club of Milwaukee, she made her debut in 1978.

The new Mrs. Halfmann is a paralegal at the law firm of Sidley and Austin.

Her husband earned a degree from Albion College where he was a member of Sigma Chi. The groom is an account executive at Marketing Showcase.

The newlyweds are living in Chicago.

Hospital news

Wiseman elected to head state hospital organization

Thomas G. Wiseman, director of human resources at Clinton Memorial Hospital in St. Johns, was recently elected President of the Michigan Hospital Personnel Directors Association (MHPDA) for the 1985-86 year. The MHPDA is comprised of personnel and human resources directors from throughout the state. Over 100 hospitals are represented by the association.

Thomas and his wife, Michelle, reside in St. Johns and have three children.

Kiwanas donate heart funds

The St. Johns Kiwanis Club 707 recently presented Clinton Memorial Hospital with funds which will be used to purchase a CPR Child Manikin.

"This donation is evidence of the Kiwanis' commitment to our community," said Tom Wiseman, director of human resources at the hospital. Wiseman says only adult resuscitators and infant manikins were previously available for training

Cancer classes offered

Clinton Imaging and Diagnostic Center and Clinton Memorial Hospital have joined together in providing area women with an opportunity to practice preventive medicine.

Beginning this month, breast self-examination classes will be offered on a regular basis. Self-examination, as well as routine physician examinations and mammograms, play a vital role in detecting breast disease in its early stages. And, according to the American Cancer Society, the cure rate for early detection is very high — 97 percent survival after ten years.

The breast self-examination classes are being coordinated through Clinton Memorial's Education Department and will get underway Oct. 15. The classes will be taught by trained health care professionals and educators, and consist of lecture, film viewing, demonstration, practice on life-like forms, and a tour of mammography services at Clinton Imaging and Diagnostic Center.

Topics include general cancer-related and breast-disease information, prevention and early detection, procedures and importance of breast self-examination. "All of the women providing the teaching will follow the American Cancer Society guidelines," explained Ricki Burk, Staff Development Coordinator, "so the information provided participants will be consistent." The American Cancer Society is providing appropriate brochures, as well as a breast model, for the classes.

Class size is limited and pre-registration is required. Interested persons should call the Clinton Imaging and Diagnostic Center at 224-6653 to register for one of the upcoming classes. Scheduled classes for October include: Oct. 15 (2-4 p.m.); Oct. 24 (9-11 a.m.); and Oct. 29 (7-9 p.m.) There is a $5 fee for registrants.

Clinton Imaging and Diagnostic Center is located in the St. Johns Medical Building, adjacent to Clinton Memorial Hospital, and offers the latest technology in mammography and ultrasound services.

Skeptic's findings revealed in lectures

By JON RISING
Staff Writer

Like the Apostle Paul in his pre-conversion days, Josh McDowell was opposed to the idea that man's salvation was to be found in Christianity.

But unlike Saul of Tarsus, McDowell's method of confrontation was not violence. His weapon was reason — McDowell set out to prove that Christianity was a cruel hoax.

However, that quest for ammunition led McDowell to a knowledge of the Bible's accuracy and the same redeeming grace that the Apostle found.

McDowell has since become a well-known defender of the faith, and six of his lectures on his discoveries have been filmed for distribution.

The film series, "Evidence for Faith," is currently being shown at the Pilgrim United Methodist Church in St. Johns at 7 p.m. on Sunday evenings.

Rev. Larry ShROUT, pastor of Pilgrim United Methodist, said the content of the films are "a lot of good, foundational things that help verify our faith. Josh McDowell is saying that Christians have reason to believe."

There are only two films yet to be shown in the series. This Sunday night the talk will be on, "The Reliability of Scripture", and next Sunday night (October 20) "Messianic Prophecy" will be shown.

The other titles in the series were: "A Skeptic's Quest — Misconceptions of Christianity I and II — and the Uniqueness of the Bible."

'Josh McDowell is saying that Christians have reason to believe' — Rev. Larry ShROUT

The promotional literature on the film series describes "The Reliability of Scripture" talk this way: "Proven methods to test the reliability of Scriptures will substantiate that what you know is true."

The evidence McDowell gives in the talks are often "overwhelming" for the listeners, ShROUT says.

The pastor says that his desire is that the films will "strengthen people's faith, give reason for more confidence in our faith, and that people will be more willing to share their faith and not be afraid that someone will ask them a question they can't answer."

"In fact, that's what Josh is saying in this series. If you have a question, let's search the answer out."

The definite stand McDowell takes on the inspiration of Scripture draws a line of demarcation between the teachings of the church and the teachings of secular humanism.

"Humanistic thought says that there is no definite moral system," ShROUT said. "It says the moral system is what we make it as a society."

ShROUT says that the film series has drawn both the church and the unchurched so far.

While ShROUT admits that the United Methodist denomination is much better known for its social action postures than its insistence on strong doctrine, he said, "Every church has a personality and complexion of its own."

"This church — Pilgrim — is quite concerned with doctrine as it relates to people. We're not interested in doctrine just for the sake of doctrine."

Pilgrim United Methodist arose from two separate congregations — an Evangelical United Brethren one and a Methodist one.

During his service in St. Johns, ShROUT has not seen the results in evangelism that he would like.

"The wheels turn slowly," he said. "The same as our personal life, we change slowly."

ShROUT says candidly that he is not sure whether or not the United States is soon to see another great Christian awakening — a revival.

"I think we need it. But it will take the Spirit of God for us to have it," he said.

This Sunday, Pilgrim United Methodist will have new building and organ dedications in its morning service.

District Bishop Judith Craig will be the guest speaker.

The church is located on the corner of DeWitt and West Parks Roads. For more information call: 224-6865.

Fix your sight on the goal, pastor urges

By RUSSELL PAYNE
Pastor

On July 4, 1952, Florence Chadwick slipped into the water to swim from Catalina Island to the coast of California. No woman had ever done it before. Having conquered the English Channel, she now pressed on to a new challenge.

During the long day there were times they used rifles to keep the sharks away from her. After 15 hours in the water, the fog was so dense she could not see the little boat in front of her.

Her muscles screamed in pain. She begged to be lifted from the water. The coach insisted that she go on, but 55 minutes later she gave up.

When the fog lifted they discovered that they were only one-quarter mile offshore.

Reflecting on the event she said, "The cold could not defeat me. The pain did not defeat me. The fog defeated me, if only I could have seen the land, I know I could have made it."

On a clear day, she went back to Catalina and she did make the swim. She could keep her eye on the goal. We can make the goal if we will keep our eyes upon it and determine that we will make Heaven our eternal home.

We dare not look at the surroundings. We dare not look at circumstances. We dare not look to people. We must keep our eyes upon Jesus, "The Author and Finisher of our faith."

(Rev. Payne is pastor of the Church of the Nazarene in St. Johns. Sunday School is at 9:45 a.m. with morning worship at 11 a.m. Evening service is at seven, while the mid-week service is held Wednesday at 7 p.m.)

MORTGAGE SALE
Default has been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by Tim R. Simpson and Christine L. Simpson, husband and wife to Michigan State Housing Development Authority, a public body, corporate and politic, of the State of Michigan. Mortgagee, dated February 24, 1984, and recorded on March 5, 1984, in Liber 409, on page 359, Clinton County Records, Michigan, and on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date hereof the sum of SIXTY TWO THOUSAND NINETY FOUR AND 84/100 Dollars ($62,094.84), including interest at 10.35% per annum.

Under the power of sale contained in said mortgage and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises, or some part of them, at public venue, at the North Door of the Court House in St. Johns, Michigan, at 11:00 o'clock A.M., on November 8, 1985.

Said premises are situated in City of DeWitt, Clinton County, Michigan, and are described as:

Lot No. 7, Creeping Brook Estates, a Subdivision in the City of DeWitt, Clinton County, Michigan according to the recorded plat thereof in plat book 6, Page 18, Clinton County Records.
The redemption period shall be 6 months(s) from the date of such sale.

New scouts join up

"Getting to Know You" was the theme of the first meeting of 1985 for the Cub Scout Pack 512 on Sept. 30. Nineteen new members were inducted into the group.

In award ceremonies Cory Mikus was the newest Bobcat inducted; Luke Miller, Bob Kushmaul, Jason Richards, David Chapman, Cory Mikus and Kurt Henning traded their blue Bear scarves for the plaid Webelos scarves and received their "colors"; Jeremy White, Eric Henning, Dean VanCamp and Jesse Ackles traded their gold Wolf scarves for blue Bear scarves.

Other awards presented were: Bear gold crosses to David Chapman and Bob Kushmaul; Bear silver arrows to Luke Miller, Bob Kushmaul and Jason Richards; Outdoorsmen to Bob Kushmaul and Luke Miller; Athlete to Luke Miller, Kurt Henning, David Chapman, Jason Richards and Cory Mikus. Badges for adults, who worked in the Cub Scout Day Camp were presented to Honey Charvat, Diane Fletcher, Connie Cary and Kittle Ackles.

The Pack Meeting for this month will be on Oct. 28 at 7 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church. The theme will be "Pirate Waters". Science projects made by the Webelos will be on display.

4-H offers photos

Clinton County 4-H families and friends can take advantage of a special offer to have their family's picture taken and help support the 4-H program at the same time. On Oct. 18 a photographer will be at the Extension Office to take family portraits of those families who have made reservations.

Cost of the full-color 16 by 20 inch portrait is $5 with an additional photographs available for purchase at a later date. The plan has a 30-day unconditional money back guarantee and the Good Housekeeping Seal of Approval.

Families wishing to make reservations may contact Kathy Love at the Cooperative Extension Office at 306 Elm St. St. Johns, or phone 224-3288 or 669-3663 (ext 229). This offer is good for family groups only. Time slots will be filled on a first come basis. Reservation deadline is Oct. 11.

ON A ROLL — The Fowler Eagles have been rolling over opponents this season and attempt to make the Fulton Pirates their next victims this Friday in Fulton.

Eiseler closes in on record

By JON RISING
Sports Editor

The St. Johns girls basketball team is closing in on a record — most points in a career by an individual player.

Sound like a contradiction, a team setting an individual record? Listen to the story.

Most accurately, Redwing center Brenda Eiseler is closing in on the record for career points, but both the talented senior and Coach Beth Swears emphasize that the record would not be challenged had not the Redwings been as team-oriented as they are.

"Brenda wants her teammates to get recognized, too," Swears said.

Swears personally added, "The team is very unselfish."

And so, when Sue Pearsall's record of 1,101 career points falls a few short games from now, the record books will say Brenda Eiseler did it. Brenda will say she and her teammates did it.

Currently, Pearsall is a junior at Michigan State University.

Eiseler drew within 97 points of the record last week when she led the Redwings to an impressive 60-43 win over DeWitt.

The center was 13-of-19 from the field (68.4 percent) and two-of-four at the free throw line for a total of 28 points. In addition to that, she hauled in 11 rebounds.

Mary Murphy added 10 points for the Redwings, while Cheryl Rademacher had six assists and Kerry Porter contributed four assists and three steals.

The Redwings had their second 50 percent field-goal shooting night of the season, connecting on 25-of-50.

St. Johns is 8-1 overall and 3-0 in the Mid-Michigan B Conference.

OIDV-ELSIE

While the Redwings are justifiably proud of Eiseler, Ovid-Elsie has another statistician's dream in forward Shelby Terpstra.

Terpstra was a Class B second-team all-stater last season, but would seem to have a lock on one of the five first-team spots this season.

She is the only returning starter for Marauder coach Mary Hudecek, but has led Ovid-Elsie to a 6-3 overall mark and 2-1 in the MMB.

Terpstra's statistics are impressive: 18.3 points per game, seven rebounds per game, 5.6 blocked shots per game, and 5.1 steals per game.

Her field-goal shooting average is an awesome 49 percent ("And those are a lot of outside shots, too," Hudecek said). At the free throw line, she is shooting 92 percent, but has shot 100 percent in the last eight games.

The Marauders do have other players. Cheryl Batora is among the team leaders. She averages 6.5 rebounds per game.

"I'm real proud of them," Hudecek said. "They're really playing team ball. They pick each other up when somebody is having a rough game."

FOWLER

The Eagles brought their records to 5-3 overall and 2-2 in the Central Michigan Athletic Conference last week by defeating Fulton, but losing to Ashley.

Senior forward Cindy Schneider led the Eagles to a 38-36 edging of Fulton with her personal season-high of 16 points. Schneider, who is averaging 12.5 points per game, also had seven rebounds.

Nancy Sillman added nine points for Fowler, while Mary Theis had seven points and three assists. Quick guard Tammy Weber collected four steals.

Schneider was injured in the second quarter of the Ashley game and the Lady Bears went on to defeat Fowler 59-44.

Theis led Fowler with 13 points and six rebounds. Sillman added eight points, while junior forward Kim Epkey had three assists and Amy Witchen had five steals.

FULTON

The Lady Pirates are being led by seniors Tricia Todd (guard) and Kelly Stout (forward).

Todd is averaging 16 points per game, while Stout and junior Michelle Weller are the leading rebounders.

Junior guard Janice Kresge is contributing an average of 10 points per game. Senior Sheela Welsh is the other Pirate starter.

"Our best success is when we run with the ball. We're not real big," Coach Ron Merritt said.

The Pirate records are 8-2 overall and 2-2 in CMAC play after last week. Fulton stopped Montabella 51-36, but was defeated 38-36 by Fowler.

The Eagles have it all — including the breaks

By JON RISING
Sports Editor

Truly good football teams — such as the Fowler Eagles — have needs like everyone else.

They need good athletes. They need discipline and commitment. They need skillful coaching. And at least one other ingredient —

"All the good teams have to have breaks," Fowler head coach Steve Spicer said.

Fowler has good athletes and coaching, and seemingly has the discipline and commitment necessary.

Last Friday night, it had its share of the breaks.

Before the Eagles' game with Potterville was four minutes old, state-ranked Fowler was ahead 14-0. They were the benefactors of Potterville errors and went on to win 38-8.

The Eagles, who last week were ranked seventh in the Class D state coaches' poll and third in their region in the power ratings, are now 5-0.

The cumulative score of their games is 178-17.

Seems like that would be kind of discouraging if you look on your schedule and find that you have a game with Fowler yet to be played.

Fulton, Pewamo-Westphalia, Genesee, and Portland High find themselves in that position.

But Spicer, the veteran coach whose nickname should be "Cautious" rather than the current "Spud", is having no part in counting unhatched chickens.

"We're just coming into the tough part of the schedule," the 15-year veteran said. "Fulton always plays us tough. P-W has a good team. Genesee has only one loss and Portland is a Class B team."

Most everything about the Fowler Eagles characterizes this cautious attitude of the head coach.

Spicer, whose nickname should be Cautious instead of Spud, is having no part of counting unhatched chickens.

It's no secret that Spicer's coaching style is often compared with the king of football conservatism — Bo Schembechler. But how can you complain, he wins?

"I've been called that (conservative) for 15 years," Spicer good-naturedly said. "I know people would like to see the ball in the air more often."

"But most (coaches) like to do what works for them. I like to keep the ball on the ground."

Is that difficult for quarterback Dean Koenigskecht to accept in that he's an outstanding athlete and quarterbacks generally like to throw?

"He's a team player," Spicer said. "I think he accepts what we want as a coaching staff."

"What people don't realize sometime is that we take a lot of time off the clock. We ran 61 times the other night and that takes off a lot of time. It keeps us off defense."

The defense was a point of concern for Spicer as the season began. He had just two starters returning. But obviously, things have worked out as the Eagles have surrendered on a mere average 3.4 points per game with three shutouts under their belt.

Kevin Schmitt led the Eagle defense against Potterville with 12 tackles. Schmitt did not start for the Eagles last season.

"We like to play our seniors. The kids know that. I guess you earn your dues," Spicer said.

READY TO RUN — Speedy Fowler quarterback Dean Koenigskecht is always a threat to break a long run of a quarterback keeper and must be watched this Friday by the Fulton defense.

The Eagles did receive one adverse break in the Potterville contest. Tailback Ken Armbrustmacher dislocated his shoulder for the third season in a row and will be out of the lineup for the balance of this season.

Armbrustmacher's main replacement will be Dave Miller, who has carried quite a bit for Fowler despite being a back-up.

When you are 5-0 and state-ranked doesn't it get a little wearisome facing upset-hungry opposition each week?

"It's got to give them (the players) a good feeling," Spicer said, "knowing week after week someone's coming after you and you meet that challenge."

The challenge this week will be provided by Central Michigan Athletic Conference rival Fulton on the Pirates' field.

"In the years Leo has been there they've always played us tough defensively," Spicer said. "They play a 4-4 and the kids are real disciplined and well-coached."

Unfortunately, for teams in the CMAC, so are the Fowler Eagles.

Evaluating input

Jon Rising

Thank goodness I grew up before the proliferation of sporting events on cable TV.

My head was unfortunately filled anyway with batting averages, won-lost records, and various other can't-live-without-'em statistics.

While others saved for a rifle, a new pair of slacks, a Beatles album, or even (mercy sakes) a car, I invested my extra money into glossy-covered sports magazines (before I realized a sports fan can't go without his weekly Sporting News fix).

With stats and feature stories crammed into my brain like so many college students into a Volkswagen Beetle, I felt like I was Joe Falls, Howard Cosell, and a computer all rolled into one.

Oh, just something to keep a boy amused, you say. Well maybe, but more than amusement filters through when you're on a High-Sports Diet like that.

What's that, you say? It's a little thing called "lifestyle". Not the one you're living (because life is passing you by very quickly), the one that's being presented to you.

Here's a quick Journalism 202 class, we'll call it — Sportswriting Made Fun and Easy: Make sure your facts are accurate, use narratives of game action and quotes liberally to keep your reader from dozing off, and tell what your subject is like OFF THE FIELD.

I mean, you surely don't think people are going to read your stories if all you talk about are TDs, homers, and buckets, do you? No, people want PEOPLE magazine-type journalism. Away with the bland, musty facts — let the sports-page moles burrow into the agate type for that stuff.

They want to know how Mr. Athlete spends all those bucks Mr. Indulgent Owner is bestowing on him.

Unfortunately, many of the Mr. Athletes are not putting their money into IRAs, U.S. Savings Bonds, or checks to the Ethiopian Relief Fund — witness the baseball drug trials.

So what we get in sports journalism — save a few decent works of real journalism done by Sports Illustrated, Howard Cosell, and others — are lessons on life from some boys who never grew up.

Not convinced? Listen to my evidence.

How many people remember hearing about Joe Namath drinking the night away prior to Super Sunday? Lesson taught — if you're good enough, you can flaunt the laws of nature and make your body perform even when it shouldn't.

How many people are fascinated with each new development in the soap opera called, Billy Martin? Lessons taught — if you don't like the way life is going, go get bombed and sucker punch somebody.

How many people know that Billie Jean King likes both guys AND GALS? Lesson taught — hey, lesbians can't be all that bad if one of them is the best women's tennis player in the world.

How many people know the Tigers and Dave Rozema parted company because Dave just couldn't adjust to adult conduct? Lesson taught — the class clown can make big bucks, even if a few old fuddy-duddies can't handle a little, healthy immaturity.

Enough? Well, notice that I said "lessons taught", not "lessons learned", because something in me hopes that these little boys in men's bodies aren't accepted as credible role models.

I wise, old Jewish man named Paul once said, "When I became a man I put away childish things."

Please, no SPORT magazine subscriptions for Christmas.

To break Eagles

Pirates looking for a way

By JON RISING
Sports Editor

Unlike many teams, the Fulton Pirates have found a way to limit Fowler's powerhouse offense. In the past two years, the Pirates' 4-4 defense has limited the Eagles to 14 and seven points, respectively.

However, Fulton has not been nearly as successful offensively. Fowler has shut the Pirates out two years running.

It is the job of Pirate head coach Leo Rosencrants and his staff to engineer a workable offense against the Fowler 5-2 defense by Friday night when the two Central Michigan Athletic Association teams clash on the Pirate field.

"We're going to try a couple of things," Rosencrants said. "We put in a couple of new things (Sunday). Their defense plays so well and reads so well, that what we're going to try to do is take advantage of how well-coached they are."

Fulton, which is 2-3 overall and 1-2 in CMAC play, is led offensively by the running of junior tailback Don Price. Price recorded his third 100-yard game this season last Friday by rushing for 103 yards against tough Laingsburg in a 22-14 loss.

Price has accumulated 557 yards in 93 carries for a six-yards per carry average. He has scored three touchdowns.

Flanker Dave Stephens has also produced some impressive statistics. He has caught 10 passes for 161 yards and one TD.

One of the keys to improving the Pirate offense is obvious to Rosencrants.

"We've got to cut down on our mistakes. Fumbles have hurt us the past few weeks," Rosencrants said.

He added that he was well-pleased with the way his team played against Laingsburg, save a few mistakes in the early going.

Fowler defeated Laingsburg 20-9 two weeks ago. Defensively, Fulton knows what to do to stop the conference leaders — at least for starters.

"We've got to stop them on the ground. That's where they'll test us first," Rosencrants said. "It's like a chess game. You've got to try to call the right defense and hope they call a play that the defense works on."

If it is a chess match, then certainly quarterback Dean Koenigskecht is the Eagles' most potent and movable piece.

"They come at you with power football, then all of a sudden Dean comes running out there," Rosencrants said. "Dean is one of best sprinters in the state and he's elusive."

Price and Stephens are also among the leaders of the Pirate defense.

Price had 16 tackles and a fumble recovery against Laingsburg, while Stephens added two more interceptions to his credit.

Rosencrants also commended the play of 5-5, 140-pound defensive tackle Ron Johnson.

"He's got a lot of heart and he's so low to the ground that nobody can block him," Rosencrants said.

Johnson recorded six tackles behind the line of scrimmage against the Wolfpack.

The Pirates will be disadvantaged by the continued loss of defensive end Scott Cater. The 6-4, 210-pounder has been sidelined by knee and eye injuries.

"We're always very up for the game," Rosencrants said. "They always bring a good set of fans and I'm sure we'll have a big crowd because it's Fowler and they're 5-0."

REDWING SWING — Freshman Paul Hughes hits an approach shot on the 13th hole at Forest Akers Saturday in the MMB meet. Hughes carded a 91 for the 18-hole round.

Two set new records

Two Clinton County runners have established new records at their respective high schools.

Satu Puuronen, an exchange student from Finland, has set a new school record for girls at Ovid-Elsie, while Steve Bierstetel the swift Eagle of Fowler re-set the school record he created the week before.

Puuronen established the new Marauder record at 19:59.0. That time places her first in the Clinton County News' honor roll this week.

The Lady Marauders sport a 5-2 overall record and are 2-1 in the Mid-Michigan B Conference. The boys team has 1-6 and 0-3 marks.

Bierstetel improved the Fowler boys' record to 15:51.0 on the course at Carson City last week. Despite the good time, Bierstetel was second in the race, which was the first dual meet loss for Fowler this season.

The Eagles are 5-1, while the Lady Eagles are 4-2.

Both teams will run this Thursday at the Clinton County meet.

Redwing swimmers vie for league title

By JON RISING
Sports Editor

Matching strength on strength with DeWitt and Okemos, the St. Johns girls swimming team is working towards the championship of the Central Michigan Swimming Association.

The CMSA is in its first official year of girls swimming. The nine-team conference has been in operation "unofficially" for three years and began official boys meets last year. The Redwings, DeWitt, and Okemos are the leading teams in the conference which also includes: Alma, Ovid-Elsie, Corunna, Mason, Eaton Rapids, and Haslett.

"We had to do something because our conference meets were with four teams," Redwing coach Jim Makaruskas said.

The Redwings are 4-1 overall and 2-1 in the CMSA. Their lone loss came at the hands of Okemos.

The CMSA championship is decided by the dual meet standings (50 percent) and the conference meet finish (50 percent).

The conference meet will be on October 22 and 23.

Last week, the Redwings placed second in the DeWitt Invitational — second to DeWitt. The other teams involved were Eaton Rapids, Lansing Everett, Holt, and Haslett.

"The meet told us more about DeWitt (than ourselves)," Makaruskas said. "We won the meet last year and we're a better team this year. So we know DeWitt is going to be tough beat later this season."

Makaruskas, who is in his ninth year of coaching girls swimming, says the Redwings are strongest in the butterfly, backstroke, and diving events.

Unfortunately, Okemos and DeWitt are also strong in the backstroke event.

"We were only two points behind after eight events with Okemos," Makaruskas said. "But they clobbered us in the backstroke and we lost eight points right there."

Okemos went on to win the dual meet 93-79.

The Redwings who participate in the backstroke are: Missy O'Connell, Chris Welch, Liz Welch, and Kara Scranton. Those in butterfly are: O'Connell, Kim Bauer, Carla Dudash, and Sandi Wolfrom. The divers are: Mindi Wells and Linda Strickland.

There are 34 Redwing swimmers this season.

"We could have a junior varsity team if we wanted to," Makaruskas said. "A lot of teams we swim against have less than 20."

SWIFT BRONCO — Former St. Johns cross country runner Paul Pioszak is running these days for the Western Michigan University Broncos. Pioszak is clearing the number two man on the Bronco squad.

Teichert is medalist in MMB

By JON RISING
Sports Writer

Fighting off blustery weather and the pressure a conference meet brings, Jim Teichert earned medalist honors in the Mid-Michigan B Conference golf meet Saturday.

Teichert and his St. Johns Redwing teammates managed only a third-place finish this year, coming in behind first-place Alma and runner-up Chesaning.

Alma scored 338, while Chesaning had 343 and St. Johns had 344. Following were Ionia, Corunna, and Ovid-Elsie.

Teichert, whose score also put him on the MMB conference first team, shared medalist honors with Chesaning's Matt James and Corunna's Brian Stanton.

"I had to do something to make up for last year," Teichert said. He carded a 92 last year when the Red-wings were the MMB champions.

Teichert got off to a good start on the front nine, chipping in a shot on the second hole and registering a birdie with a 10-foot putt on the fourth. He finished with a 39 on the front nine.

The cold, damp, windy conditions on Michigan State University's Forest Akers course made golfing difficult Saturday. Conference coaches commented that the 79s scored by the medalists were remarkable considering the weather.

Brad Thompson and Jeff Dean contributed 87s for the Redwings. Paul Hughes rounded out the scoring with a 91. Todd Keim was the Redwings' fifth golfer. He shot a 93.

Ovid-Elsie was led by Terry Huss' 90, while Lee McAllister was next with 99. The other two Marauder scorers were Brad Walker (104) and Tate Ridsdale (122). Fifth man Randy Lockwood had a 123.

Marauders give Ionia tough time

By JON RISING
Sports Editor

If the success of a football program is measured by the won-lost record, the Ovid-Elsie Marauders would have much to be glum about today.

The Marauders took it on the chin again last Friday night, as Mid-Michigan B rival Ionia slipped past Ovid-Elsie 17-9 in a rain-drenched game.

But somebody forgot to tell the 1-4 Marauders to have a pity party.

"The guys are really fired up about playing so well," first-year head coach Dennis Baratono said. "Their attitudes have been just great. They've started to believe in what we're doing."

The Marauder defense held college quarterback prospect Jack Skoog of Ionia to just eight completions on 17 passes for 56 yards.

Ovid-Elsie's Jeff Conklin even picked off one of the heralded quarterback's missiles.

"We were really covering the deep receivers well and putting pressure on him back there. He had to keep dumping the ball to his secondary receivers. But he's a good quarterback," Baratono said.

The fact the Marauders forced Skoog out of the pocket was how Ionia received both of its touchdowns as the 6-foot-3 senior scrambled into the end zone twice.

He also kicked a 37-yard field goal for Ionia.

Mike Koyné almost sacked Skoog in the Ionia end zone, but was clipped in the process, so the Marauders were awarded a safety.

"We executed our assignments real well, they just overpowered us at times," Baratono said. "They are a big team for high school."

Marauder quarterback Bobby Foreback was eight-for-21 in passing, accumulating 130 yards, but according Baratono, "five balls were dropped. It was too bad."

"We couldn't run the ball. We just had to keep throwing," he said.

Speedy junior running back Neil Putnam gained 59 yards on 13 carries. "He's got a quick burst in those first five yards," Baratono said.

This week, the Marauders will be without the services of Brett Reuss and Rich Stutzman in the backfield. Both are out with deep thigh bruises.

Stutzman scored the Ovid-Elsie touchdown against Ionia.

Because of the manpower shortage, Baratono will be calling up a pair of sophomores to join the varsity for Friday night's game with Corunna.

Ovid-Elsie is 0-3 in MMB play.

Outdoors Hunting season

Dick Bradley

The hunting season is upon us.

For many it is the premiere time to enjoy the outdoors. For some it is a time upon which the financial well-being of the year actually hangs. A Montana friend of mine, for instance, measures his family's well-being, to a large extent, by whether or not he shoots an elk and two mule deer.

But for most of us in Michigan it is an excuse to spend enjoyable hours outside, observing the colors of autumn, watching the antics of wild creatures and, if we're lucky, adding a few different and delicious meals to our food stores. We enjoy hunting and we're proud to be hunters because it gives us a special insight to the season and into a special part of our heritage.

Lately, however, I've had some concerns. Not about anything mentioned above but about the fact that a growing number of hunters don't share my reasons for hunting — reasons that maybe I've taken for granted and perhaps aren't correct. I guess I need some answers.

Why is it okay in some circles to "shoot four or five porcupines" when the grouse aren't as plentiful on a given day as a hunting party might wish? Why is it okay to shoot a raccoon out of a tree top because "I thought it was a squirrel's nest?" Why is a muskrat a good target just because the ducks aren't flying? Whether by example, by expressed approval or implied approval, we seem to be teaching young hunters that the most important ingredient in hunting is killing. I don't believe that there is any excuse for that kind of behavior on the part of anyone who calls himself a sportsman. Indeed they give the whole bunch of us a bad name and play right into the hands of anti-hunting groups that are already convinced that hunters are simply a bunch of killers. The fact that we know that the above described situations are exceptions rather than the rule is not enough.

We need to somehow sanction the behaviors of those among us who find joy in killing for the sake of killing. We need to somehow work on the value systems of those who would become hunters, in the same way that we teach gun safety. We need to somehow insist that hunters who take to the woods and fields are sensitive to the whole outdoor scene and that they are responsible to give to it as well as take from it.

It's true that if we finally lose our right to hunt because of the irresponsible acts of some hunters, the autumn color will still be there. It's true that much of what is beautiful may last for a time.

But without the license fees of hunters to care for that outdoors, how long will the beauty last? The answers to these questions are what is at stake in my opinion.

We must be diligent teachers as well as simple gun toters as we enjoy the special fruits of a Michigan hunting season. I think we've got to work on hunting attitudes a bit if we are to claim the title of sportsmen.

Offense falters

Redwing defense improves

By JON RISING
Sports Editor

Like elevators going in opposite directions, the St. Johns' defense and offense passed on their ways up and down.

The Redwing defense did its part to hold the Chesaning offense to reasonable numbers in the Indians' 18-7 Mid-Michigan B Conference football victory last Friday in Chesaning.

The Redwings' record fell to 2-3 overall and 1-2 in MMB play.

Their offense, which has been fairly productive this season, faltered considerably in the rain and wind-plagued game.

"Rainy nights usually are better for power football teams," Kjolhede said.

The power football of Chesaning was met by, what Redwing coach Bart Kjolhede called, "our best defensive game of the season."

Kjolhede credited defensive tackle Joe Curtis, nose guard Rick Myszak, linebacker Bill Keenoy, and defensive ends Todd Gillespie, Brent Irrer, and Jim Ball for their fine defensive efforts.

Kjolhede was particularly pleased with his revolving trio of defensive ends.

"They've learned their responsibilities," he said.

Irrer was also in the limelight on offense, where he caught four passes for 82 yards.

Irrer's production was about half of the total Redwing output.

"We've been averaging over 300 yards a game in offense, but this week we got 150, 160 yards," Kjolhede said. "We didn't execute what we practiced."

Keenoy rushed for 82 yards in 14 carries, while tailback Paul Travis got just 23 yards on 11 carries.

With a brilliant record and MMB championship now

STILL SMILING — Despite three losses — two of them in MMB play — Bart Kjolhede and his Redwings are looking for "motivation from within" as they continue the 1985 season this Friday night.

out of their reach, what will the Redwings do for motivation?

"As before, motivation has to come from within," Kjolhede said. "You have to have the will to win. We played a good game on defense, but we did not play a devastating defense, which is what you have to do in that type of game."

Tractor safety

Marilyn Loudenslager

Though children love to ride on tractors with an adult, it should never be allowed — the risk is too high.

"The majority of children who fall off tractors are killed, so why take the chance?" says Howard Doss, Michigan State University Extension agricultural safety specialist.

Tractors are not equipped with extra seats or footholds, so there is nothing for an extra rider to use for support. Tractors have no suspension, so the ride is, at best, bumpy. These combine to increase the likelihood that an extra rider will fall off and be crushed under the tractor's rear wheel.

Doss warns that there is little chance of surviving being run over by a tractor. They are heavy — weighing from 2,500 to 15,000 pounds — and the tires are designed to be aggressive when contacting the soil.

Riding on an adult's lap or standing on the platform not only endangers the child who is riding along, but it also distracts the tractor operator and blocks his or her vision.

Parents should stress to children and others wanting a ride that driving a tractor is not a recreational activity, but rather an important, and potentially hazardous, part of working on a farm.

Tractor safety courses are offered by local 4-H organizations and by school systems with vocational agriculture programs. If parents wish to instruct their children on how to drive the family tractor, time should be set aside during non-peak or non-working hours, Doss advises.

Doss would like to see every parent skip giving rides to one generation — their children. This may break a tradition, but it will save lives and terminate the excuse: "I did it, so my children can, too." Marilyn Loudenslager is the Extension Agricultural Agent for the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Leaves

George McQueen

It may be a little short on romanticism, but Jack Frost, alas, does not paint the leaves and cause them to turn color. Too bad, because it's a pretty good story. It's just not true.

In reality, the coloring of leaves across the northern tier of states is a reaction that broadleaf plants have for the oncoming of winter. The whole reason for it — what triggers it — is the decreasing number of sunlight hours as the days wind down and shorten toward autumn.

The primary coloring agent in leaves is "chlorophyll" — the green pigment which captures the energy of the sun and uses it to make food, starches, and simple sugars. This food-making process (called "photosynthesis") goes on all summer as daylight hours lengthen. Along about the end of August, however, the shortening days cause the chlorophyll to break up.

What is visible are the pigments in the leaves — coloring agents that were there all along with the chlorophyll but hidden by the stronger green color. Among these pigments are those which account for the yellow color in autumn leaves — "carotenoids." Aspens are laden with this pigment, hence their brilliant yellow color in autumn.

Fall weather conditions also affect the way the colors are exhibited by leaves. Cool nights (below 45 degrees) and warm days cause the food factories to start an on-again, off-again food-making process. During the day, sugars are made during photosynthesis. But because of the cool nights, the sugars cannot be carried from the leaves to other parts of the tree. From the sugar trapped in the leaves, the red pigment "anthocyanin" forms. This is why a tree may have a preponderance of red leaves on its south side — the side facing the warming autumn sun — the warm sun made the sugar, the cool nights trapped it in the leaves.

Anna Boettger

ST. JOHNS Anna Boettger, St. Johns, died Sept. 27 at Clinton Memorial Hospital, St. Johns.

She was born on July 3, 1887 in LaHogue, Ill. She lived most of her life in the St. Johns area. She was a member of St. Paul Lutheran Church, Fowler, and of the Ladies Aid Society of that congregation. She was preceded in death by her husband, Henry, in 1957.

Surviving are four sons, Edwin and Donald of St. Johns, Robert of Port St. Lucie, Fla. and Louis of DeWitt; three daughters, Irene Breiler of Birch Run, Marquerite Snell and Wilma Rich of Lansing; one sister, Mrs. William (Edna) Simpson of Mesa, Az.; 19 grandchildren; 34 great-grandchildren; and 10 great-great-grandchildren.

Services were held on Sept. 30 at St. Paul Lutheran Church, Fowler, with the Rev. Charles Burhop officiating. Interment was made at Mt. Rest Cemetery, St. Johns. Memorials may be made to St. Paul Lutheran Church or the Hazel I. Findlay Country Manor in her memory. Arrangements were made by Osgood Funeral Home, St. Johns.

Robert Kloeckner

ST. JOHNS Robert J. Kloeckner, of 5116 Forest Hill Road, St. Johns, died Oct. 2 at Ingham Medical Center, Lansing.

He was born Jan. 7, 1930, the son of Alfred and Pauline (Fedewa) Kloeckner.

He lived all of his life in Riley Township. He was a trucker for Federal Mogul Corp. He was a member of Most Holy Trinity Catholic Church, Fowler, member of the Holy Name Society, and a veteran of the Korean War.

Surviving are his mother, Pauline; two brothers, Alvin Jr., of Eagle, and Leroy of Elsie; four sisters, Mary Ann Stoneman of DeWitt, Theresa Strouse of Ithaca, Arline Smith and Carol Baese, both of Fowler; many nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held at Most Holy Trinity Catholic Church with the Rev. Fr. Denis Spitzley officiating. Interment was made at Holy Trinity Cemetery, Fowler. Arrangements were made by Osgood Funeral Home, St. Johns.

Henry Cook

Westphalia Henry J. Cook, of 219 W. Main, died Sept. 27 at Clinton Memorial Hospital, St. Johns.

He was born on Dec. 31, 1937 in Westphalia, the son of Dr. Bruno Cook and Marie O'Leary.

He resided all his life in Westphalia.

He graduated from Barbour Hall Military Academy, Nazareth, Mich.; St. Johns Military Academy, Delafield, Wis.; served in the National Guard; graduated from Lansing Community College with a degree in computer programming. He was a computer programmer.

Surviving are his mother, Marie; two sisters, Mrs. Margo Sullivan of Fowler and Mrs. Maureen Roche of Grosse Point Woods; niece, Sarah Sullivan; nephews, Michael, Peter, Joseph and Paul Sullivan; great-nephews, Paul and William Sullivan.

Funeral services were held on Sept. 30 at St. Marys Catholic Church, Westphalia with the Rev. Fr. James McDougall officiating. Interment was made at St. Mary Cemetery. Arrangements were made by Osgood Funeral Home, St. Johns.

Two DeWitt prides work together

DeWitt Lions Club members concede the fact that having two organizations — one that meets in the morning and one that meets in the evening — is unique for a city the size of DeWitt.

But the groups work together on projects and have respect for the individual activities of the other club, according to Tom Doyle, president of the breakfast club, and Bob Fawcett, president of the evening group.

"That's one of our goals. We have tremendous cooperation between the two clubs," says Fawcett.

He has initiated the formation of a joint committee of sorts — a "task force" comprised of two members from each Lions Club and the Lioness Club, the aim of which is to formulate and implement a large-scale community project that "would be totally funded by, and identified with, the Lions Clubs," according to Fawcett.

The breakfast club was chartered four years ago, by men in the community who wanted to belong to the Lions Club, but could not attend the evening meetings.

It has about 28 active members, and Doyle terms it "fairly successful."

Serving with Doyle as officers are: Stephen Garrett, first vice president; Clay Parker, secretary; and Bob April, treasurer.

The group participates in annual Lion fundraisers, such as the White Cane and Old Newsboy sales, along with an Easter lily sale.

The funds from those projects go to support community activities such as Christmas baskets for needy families, as well as the Radio Talking Book and Welcome Home for the Blind.

Two weeks ago, the breakfast club bought a trailer that they will paint and renovate, and use as a mobile billboard.

Doyle says the trailer will be parked in various parts of the city to let people know about upcoming Lions Club projects. It will also serve as a warming house when Lions Club members are participating in outdoor activities.

"I think it will allow our club to be more visible," Doyle says.

The breakfast club meets in the Memorial Building on the first and third Thursdays of each month at 7 a.m.

Persons interested in joining the club or obtaining more information can contact Doyle at 669-2945, or Membership Chairman Herb Ritter at 669-9373.

Fawcett calls the evening group "the best-kept secret in DeWitt."

It, too, participates in the annual Lions Club fundraisers, sometimes jointly with the breakfast club. The evening group has been in existence for around 25 years, according to Fawcett.

The evening Lions Club holds its general meetings on the third Tuesday of each month at Prairie Creek Golf Course at 7 p.m.

Debra Hammon

Army Spec. 4 Debra J. Hammon, daughter of Manuel T. Hammon of Paragould, Ark. and Glenda J. Webster of 1147 E. River Drive, DeWitt, has arrived for duty at Fort Hood, Texas.

She is a 1983 graduate of DeWitt High School.

Bernard Thelen

Bernard J. Thelen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Linus Thelen, Route 2, Fowler, has begun Phase III of on-the-job training in the Commissary co-operative Education Program sponsored by the U.S. Army Troop Support Agency. Thelen, a senior majoring in food distribution at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, is assigned to TSA's Southeast Commissary Region, Fort Lee.

As a third year student, Thelen will receive four weeks of front endscanning training as the Defense Personnel Support Center commissary in Richmond, Va. He will then be transferred and finish his 12 weeks in the co-op by working at the Fort Jackson, S.C., commissary. There, he will assist in administration, prepare and process cash control paperwork.

In the service

Thelen will receive periodic evaluations and counseling, and a report will be sent to his university. While enrolled and working in the co-op, he is paid a civil service salary based on total college credit hours and work phases completed.

Russell Smith

Pvt. Russell Smith, son of Russell Smith of 5263 S. Meridian Road, Ovid, has completed basic training at Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

During training, Smith received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

DNR starts new hotline

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has set up a new telephone hotline, 517-373-WILD, to answer the public's questions about Michigan wildlife.

The hotline's two-three minute recorded messages will provide the latest information about hunting season dates, hunting licence costs, availability and deadlines, hunting tips and conditions in various parts of the State, rules and reminders and rules changes, hunter safety bird migrations and other general news about the State's wild animals and birds.

Tony Genco of the DNR's Wildlife Division, coordinator of the new hotline program, says the messages will be updated once a week and will also carry special seasonal information.

"We expect that the new hotline will be helpful to many different users of Michigan's outdoors — especially our visitors from out of state," he says. Comments and suggestions for additional information the public would like to receive via the hotline should be directed to Genco at DNR Wildlife Division, Box 30028, Lansing, MI. 48909, or phone 517-373-9312.

Whybra attends conference

Debbie Whybra, activity director at Hazel I. Findlay Country Manor, will be among 100 professionals to attend the second state convention of the Michigan Association of Activity Professionals (MAAP) in Traverse City, Oct. 9 to 11.

Whybra is also one of 10 professionals from around the state who were responsible for planning the convention.

Centered around the theme "MAAP Colors Your World," the convention opened with a "Hawaiian Luau," like the one held recently at Findlay Manor.

The convention will feature an address by MAAP President Ruth Helms as well as nine workshops. Workshop topics will range from "Party Activities and Special Activities" to "Public Speaking" to "Interpersonal Communication."

The MAAP was organized in 1982 by activity professionals from all over the state. With membership currently at 200 the MAAP's has members from every county in the state.
