ST. JOHNS The farm of Paul and Pansy Eldridge, 6342 W. Kinley Rd., was certified in September as a centennial farm by the History Division of the Michigan Department of State.

The farm was purchased from the U.S. Government in 1936 by Paul Eldridge's great grandfather, Lucene Eldridge.

In addition to a written centennial certificate the Eldridges will be presented with a plaque for their farm by the Detroit Edison and Consumers Power companies.

Lions Club

ST. JOHNS The St. Johns Lion Club will sell donuts around the town on Oct. 23, 24 and 25. The Lions hope to add about $600 to the projects fund with the sale, says Secretary/Treasurer Tom Dickinson.

Dickinson says the Lions have $7,350 in service projects budgeted for this year and that more than half of it will be spent locally.

Some of the Lion's recent projects include buying eyeglasses for those who can not afford them, sending St. Johns High School Band students to the Lions All-State Band, sponsoring a Junior High Drug Awareness Program, donating funds to Big Brothers/Big Sisters and sponsoring a diabetic screening at Clinton Memorial Hospital.

Fire destroys Beck Orchard barn

By RICH WERTZ
Editor

Last Thursday, less than a month after Dan Beck welcomed crowds to the successful first annual open house of his Maple Rapids Rd. apple orchard, he stood and watched fire investigators search the pile of ashes that was once his barn.

Fire swept through the structure Tuesday afternoon, destroying farm hand living quarters, ruining at least 5,000 bushels of apples, 1,000 gallons of cider, a supply of paint, equipment and spare machine parts, and demolishing the building.

A "cherry picker" machine used to prune trees in the orchards was hauled out of the barn in time and suffered only some scorched paint.

Beck estimates the cost of the damage could be as much as $175,000. The barn, he said, was covered by "not nearly enough insurance."

BECK SAID, HOWEVER, that he has been relieved of at least one worry. Upon hearing that the living quarters of migrant workers destroyed the Eureka Congregational Church members and Pastor Doug Jones immediately arranged housing for them.

"They took right over for me," Beck said. "That was a big burden for me."

However, Beck said, the migrant families lost all their possessions in the fire.

In spite of the troubles caused by the fire — even as a backhoe operator jockeyed his machine into place and began searching among the ashes and the piles of charred apples for evidence of the cause of the fire — Beck was undaunted.

"Some people think we were destroyed, that we are completely closed up," he said. "But our retail shop is still open. We still have apples and we will for the rest of the winter."

THE CAUSE OF THE fire is as yet unknown. Beck, who was out of town when the fire occurred, said it apparently started in the living quarters of migrant workers on the farm. Family members of the workers reported the fire to other Beck employees. St. Johns Fire Chief Clare Maier said his department received the call at 4:08 p.m.

Four city fire rigs responded to the blaze and were joined by three rigs from Maple Rapids and three from Elsie. But Maier said there was never really any chance of saving the barn and firefighting efforts were directed toward keeping the fire from spreading to the other buildings.

After returning to the fire station, St. Johns firemen returned to the Beck farm around 11 p.m. after winds stirred the fire up again. Firemen stayed at the scene until after 2:30 a.m., Maier said.

ON THURSDAY THE rubble was still smoking and small flames were stirred up as fire investigators began their work.

"It messes things up," Beck said. "We've got a lot of picking to do."

Beck said other than getting the remains of the fire cleaned up he has no firm plans for rebuilding. Even before the fire he had run out of storage space and was shipping apples to outside warehouses. When his apples on hand were destroyed he had to ship some of the warehoused apples back to the farm in order to fill an order, he said.

He may have a small cooler installed for the retail store, Beck said, but rebuilding the barn will have to wait.

"You don't really know what you'll do until you get some money," he said. "First we'll get cleaned up. Next year as soon as I see some crops on the trees we'll build something new."

In the meantime the Beck family has decided to go ahead with a children's Halloween party scheduled for Oct. 26.

"Business as usual," said Beck.

City denies rezoning of neighborhood

The St. Johns City Commission denied Oct. 14 a request to change the zoning of a city block from residential to commercial following opposition from several residents, including one who originally signed the request for the zoning change.

Meanwhile the City Planning Commission is planning to review the zoning of the area surrounding the downtown central business district. Residents within a two-block area of the central business district are being notified of an Oct. 24 meeting at which downtown area zoning will be reviewed.

Al Marrah, the owner of Al Marrah Custoth Carpet Co., requested in August that a city block on which he owns a home be rezoned from residential to general commercial. Marrah, who is the largest property owner on the block, wanted to operate his retail carpet business at that location.

SEVERAL OTHER property owners on the block also signed the request.

The block is between N. Ottawa and N. Lansing streets, bounded on the south by W. Higham St. and on the north by W. Railroad St.

The City Commission referred the request to the City Planning Commission, which subsequently recommended that it be denied "based on the fact that property owners on the block have made improvements based on their residential zoning and (it) would be unfair to change their zoning at this time."

If the zoning change had been approved homeowners on the block would not have been allowed to rebuild homes in the event they were more than 60 percent destroyed.

Several residents of the area spoke in opposition to the zoning change at the Oct. 7 meeting of the Planning Commission. They argued that the change would generate additional traffic near the block, possibly decrease property values, cause insurance problems if the homes were destroyed and allow other types of business to locate in their neighborhood.

MARRAH ARGUED at the meeting that the area neighboring the block is zoned commercial and industrial, that the block was commercial when he purchased his property in 1964, that no additional traffic would be generated and that improvements he had made increased the value of the neighborhood.

Marrah also said he had approached each homeowner on the block and had found only one objection to the zoning change.

Also at that meeting, Larry Yager, 300 W. Higham, who was one of the property owners on the block who had originally signed the rezoning request, asked that his name be removed from the request. At the Oct. 14 City Commission meeting he repeated his opposition to the request.

"I originally signed the petition because I thought it meant that Al could have a carpet store there," Yager said. "I didn't realize, it wasn't explained to me that everybody could have a business..."

Mr. and Mrs. James Ward, 300 N. Lansing St., opposed the zoning change from the beginning. At the Oct. 14 City Commission meeting Mrs. Ward said that while the Marrah property was kept in good condition there as no guarantee that the property would not be sold.

"WE COULD HAVE a car wash, we could have drive in-bank, we could have a grocery store..." she said. "I don't see any reason for commercial businesses to locate in residential areas."

She also argued that the carpet business could be expected to generate more traffic in a neighborhood where children live.

"Any business you hope would create traffic," she said. "If it doesn't there is no reason for it being in business. Lansing street is impossible as it is without added traffic."

City Zoning Administrator Diane Edwards said in an Oct. 7 memo to the City Commission that the zoning request followed a notice of violation she had sent to Marrah last May.

Lucas visits St. Johns

By RICH WERTZ
Editor

Wayne County Executive William Lucas, an "unannounced candidate" for governor, said at a St. Johns Chamber of Commerce luncheon last week that his switch from the Democratic to the Republican party was "masochistic" in his overwhelmingly Democratic county.

But, he said, his policies "carried out the wishes of the Democratic rank and file" who elected him.

Lucas said voters in his county elected him to bring fiscal responsibility to their government. He succeeded in doing so, Lucas said, despite having aroused the ire of Democratic labor leaders.

"Our policies, directions and principles could be identified as Republican," he said while discussing his reasons for switching parties. "But they were the same directions and principles that the people elected me to carry out."

LUCAS ALSO SAID that "as a new Republican" he thinks there is a need for the party to focus on the 1986 elections. Electing legislators in 1986, he said, will lay the foundation for electing a Republican president in 1988.

"The Democratic Party and the labor unions of this country are going to throw everything they have at this state," he said. "In order to be really successful in electing a president in 1988...there must be an effort to select candidates in 1986. No more should any positions available be left unfilled."

Lucas encouraged Republicans to run for elected office, saying family and friends of local officeholders would add to the numbers of those supporting the party.

"Numbers, ladies and gentlemen, are what elections are all about," he said.

Lucas, who has travelled to over 100 Michigan towns and cities in recent months, said his travels are preparing him "in case I do decide to seek statewide office."

Following his talk, Lucas took questions from Clinton County residents. Some of the issues he addressed were:

• On whether Detroit is unfairly favored in the Legislature: Lucas said Detroit has political clout but that some rural legislators who have had a "one-man-band" approach to politics are beginning to work in coalitions.

"My concern for most of my political life has been with small cities," said the former Wayne County Sheriff. "I've always recognized that the smallest and the largest should work together."

• On the partially constructed Detroit People Mover recently removed from the control of the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority: "The whole idea of mass transit fell out of favor" after the end of the oil shortage and transportation funds were eaten up by inflation while politicians bickered about what to do with the funds.

"The People Mover will be finished," he said. "SEMTA did not have the wherewithal to do it."

• On the farm crisis: Lucas said after hearing several different opinions on the issue he leans toward gradually phasing out government support programs "if they can agree on what gradual is."

Sheriff's Department defended

To the Editor:
After reading the article in your paper several weeks ago concerning Clinton County's Sheriff Department and the Board of County Commissioners, I felt impelled to write a response.

My main argument was that the article was meant to bring public attention to an incident involving the Undersheriff, while in essence it turned out to be an opportunity for the Board to desecrate Sheriff Haneckow. They took advantage of a situation that the Sheriff said was under control and tried to crucify him. Sheriff Haneckow, who is responsible for the actions of his department, did state that steps were taken to rectify the problem.

I failed to see how the Board felt that the deputies hats, over-time and the Sheriff's budget related at all to the complaint against the Undersheriff. In actuality there was no relationship!

The new smoochy hats were purchased for the Sheriff Department in an attempt to upgrade their uniforms.

The over-time the deputies are working on is due to several road officers being off work due to injuries. But what the Board failed to mention is that the majority of over-time being worked is funded by a federal grant. Which means, it costs the county nothing!

The budget was another item mentioned by the Board. In the past several years three or four patrol officers were lost and no replacements have been made. The number of inmates in our jail has increased but the security has not. That possibly explains the walk away of an inmate from Clinton County's jail several weeks ago. Also, the renovation of the jail is still incomplete.

What the Board fails to mention is Sheriff Haneckow's crack down on minors purchasing alcohol in bars, his new drug prevention program or any positive items concerning the Sheriff and his department.

There are always going to be problems in any administration, but our Commissioners picked out a minor incident and tried to capitalize on it.

Finally, in response to the woman who instigated the original complaint that the undersheriff was holding up traffic at 58 miles per hour. It was my understanding the speed limit is 55 miles per hour!

Farm bill

Bill Schuette

The farm bill passed by the House of Representatives last week reflects the competing priorities of American agriculture today. While striving to cut down government subsidies and intervention in the market, the bill also avoids pulling the rug out from underneath struggling farmers. It also includes three amendments which I wrote and which were approved by the full agriculture committee.

I'm one of those who thinks that the farm problem in the U.S. is an income problem. There are many provisions in this bill which expand opportunities on the international market while giving farmers necessary income bridges. Here are highlights of the farm bill's provisions:

WHEAT, CORN AND FEED GRAINS — Wheat, corn and other feed grain growers will have their target prices frozen for two years. (Since they can only be lowered if farmers' costs of production drop, it is likely that target prices will remain at current levels for the five-year life of the bill.) Loan rates will be sensitive to the world market forces, based on an average of the past five years. The Secretary of Agriculture will have discretion to implement marketing loans. The 1986 set-asides will be 30 percent of wheat acreage and 20 percent of feed grains.

DAIRY — Dairy producers, not the taxpayers, will be paying for their own diversion program and participation will be voluntary. Those who wish can remove five to 30 percent of their dairy production and be paid $10 per hundredweight. Producer assessments are estimated by the Congressional Budget Office to be in the 30-cent range, falling in the future. The new dairy support price will be based on a formula that uses production costs and is estimated at $11.74 per hundredweight the first year. There also is a whole herd buyout, in which the dairy farmer bids to take his herd out of production for five years. The details will be announced by USDA when the bill becomes law.

SUGAR — The House maintained the current sugar program, defeating an amendment to reduce the sugar loan level from 18 cents per pound. I worked very hard in defeating this amendment on the floor because we must keep our sugar producing capacity intact.

SOYBEANS — Soybean price support loans are maintained at their current levels.

LIVESTOCK — There will be livestock producer-funded beef and pork checkoffs and future referenda. The government will also buy an additional 250 million pounds of red meat to offset diversion effects on meat prices.

PAYMENT LIMITS — Payments will continue to be capped at $50,000 for program payments and there will be $250,000 limit on non-recourse loans for wheat, grains and soybeans.

TRADE — The baker's dozen program, which I strongly supported, would become law under the House-passed farm bill, making our farm exports more competitive on the international market by giving our foreign purchasers extra grain from CCC stocks. At least $5 billion in short-term export credit guarantees will be made available, and the Food for Peace program will be expanded. I was very disappointed that an amendment to exempt agricultural shipments from cargo preference requirements failed.

Finally, three amendments that I offered in the House Agriculture Committee were passed in the farm bill. The first, which establishes an export program for wheat and corn, requires the USDA to issue certificates that would accompany crops intended for export. These certificates, which could be redeemed for cash or PIK commodities, would make these exports much more valuable.

Another of my amendments cuts red tape that threatened a program which develops foreign markets for American farm products. This amendment will greatly streamline the operation of this export program.

And, my amendment to allow the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program (EFNEP) access to food stamp centers and recipients passed the House. By directly reaching food stamp recipients with training in buying wisely and preparing nutritious meals on a low budget, taxpayers' money will be saved.

Once a farm bill is passed by the Senate, both the House and Senate versions will go to conferences where their differences will be resolved. Obviously, the bill does not please everybody, but no farm bill ever could. What the farm bill does say to our nation and our farmers is that there is a crisis in agriculture and that farmers will not be abandoned. This bill strives to do everything it can, within the grounds of fiscal responsibility, to help farmers survive today's troubled times.

Bill Schuette is the 10th District Representative to the U.S. House of Representatives.

Financial aid

Gary Randall

Two bills providing financial aid to part-time college students and post-secondary work-study programs have been approved by the Michigan House.

The legislation has been sent to the Michigan Senate for further study.

House Bill 4471 would provide financial assistance to part-time, independent students who have been out of

Rezoning denied

"When constructing the buildings on the site, Mr. Marrah was informed of its residential zoning and indicated the buildings were for personal use only," the memo said. "In 1983 he was reminded of the zoning and (that) the buildings could not be used as commercial. In May of this year I noticed he had put in a display window and moved his business to the Railroad St. location. I then sent him the letter of violation. Mr. Marrah then picked up the rezoning application and made the rezoning request now before you."

MARRAH SAID at the Oct. 14 meeting that he had used the property for storage only.

"During the time I did not have the store downtown — my wife, who took care of the store, ran a beauty shop on the main street, — fell and broke her arm which made it impossible for her to be there," he said. "I still have a store on Clinton Avenue. The only thing I was using the (Railroad St.) building for was for storage."

Marrah, contacted after the meeting, said he will continue to do business at his Clinton Avenue store.

The Oct. 24 review by the Planning Commission of zoning in the central business district area follows a request by the City Commission for the review. Some Commissioners have said they were concerned about a haphazard expansion of the business district.

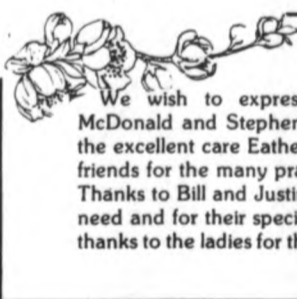

high school for at least six years and are attending a degree-granting educational institution and who have enrolled in a degree-granting program.

The bill would create a program that would provide $600 annually for two years to qualified students.

This new financial aid program is designed to help students who help themselves by working part-time while furthering their education on a part-time basis. The other proposal, HB 4452, provides funding to post-secondary schools for the development of work-study programs. To be eligible for a grant, a student must enroll at least half-time in an undergraduate program and be certified as needing financial help. The program would be developed as a matching-funds system for schools that participate in federal work-study programs.

Editor's note: I would like to thank the writer for taking the time to give her views. However, I do feel I should clarify one point.

It was I who brought up in the article issues between the Sheriff's Dept. and the Board of Commissioners that were not directly related to the traffic incident. No one on the Board was responsible for that — those quoted simply answered the questions I asked.

I did this in order to put the charges against the Sheriff into perspective. I believe it would have been irresponsible to have reported the charges without mentioning the political context in which they were made.

Lunches

Dawn Harris

This is the time, after the first few weeks of school, when brown bag boredom sets in for children. It often becomes very difficult to think of interesting things that your child will eat. The mornings get rushed and it is easy to throw into the bag the same type of sandwich, fruit and cookie, day after day.

In my article today, I have tried to help you out by thinking of some different sandwich combinations that your child might enjoy.

Even when refrigeration is not available, many sandwich types of fillings will travel and keep well throughout the morning. Good nonperishable sandwich choices include dried meats, fully cooked meats such as bologna or salami, cheeses and cheese spreads.

Vary the garnishes on these sandwiches — try pickle, cucumber or green pepper slices. Liven up the favorite standby — peanut butter — by replacing the jelly with mashed or sliced banana, apple slices, apple butter, dried fruit or grated carrots. Cottage cheese mixed with chopped fruits, nuts or vegetables makes a good sandwich spread. Or try some mashed baked beans for a different sandwich spread.

To expand the brown bag lunch menu even further, sandwiches made from many perishable foods, such as sliced chicken, can be frozen ahead. Removed from the freezer in the morning, they will thaw in time for lunch. Some items that don't freeze well include mayonnaise, egg salad, jelly, tomatoes and lettuce.

Another way to introduce variety into the brown bag lunch is to vary the types of bread used. Try oatmeal, pumpernickel, rye and pocket (pita) bread.

If you're rounding out the bag lunches you prepare with hot soups or cold drinks, be certain that the thermos is thoroughly cleaned before you fill it.

Raw vegetables — carrots, green pepper, broccoli, cauliflower, etc. — and fruits add interest, moisture and texture to lunches.

For additional brown bag ideas, order the free booklet from the Cooperative Extension Service titled, "Pack a Sack". It is filled with sandwich ideas and recipes. The booklet may be ordered by phoning 224-3288.

William and Joyce Richardson

RICHARDSON-SISUNG

Reside in Lansing

The wedding of Joyce Theresa Sisung and William Vincent Richardson III took place on June 15 at Immaculate Heart of Mary before 350 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Ida Sisung and the late Justin Sisung of Monroe, formerly of St. Johns.

The groom's parents are Betty Richardson and the late William Richardson of Lansing.

Special music for the double-ring ceremony was provided by Bob Meyer playing the organ, Margo Brown on piano and Kathy Higley played the flute.

For her wedding the bride chose an ivory gown of organza over taffeta with empire waist and A-line skirt. It had a fitted bodice with chantilly lace and pearls, bishop sleeves, and a wide lace border at the hemline with a chantilly lace insert on the chapel length train. Her veil was waist-length featuring a blusher veil with small head piece in chantilly lace and pearls.

She carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses, lavender-tinted carnations, and stephanotis with fern and ivy greens. She also wore her grandmother's ruby ring and carried her handworked lace handkerchief from Switzerland.

Maid of honor was Virginia Schafer of Lansing. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Dorothy Higley, Kendra Long, Cathy Jo Schuster and Mrs. Lynn Beard. They carried silk flower arrangements of ivory roses and lavender lilies made by the bride.

Serving as best man was the groom's brother, Mark Richardson from Deerfield, Mich. Groomsmen were Garry Grimm, John Crowley, Rob Richardson and Larry Wuetrich. Ushers were Larry and Dennis Richardson, the groom's brothers, Jim Rawlinson, Dave Wate, Dave Wittstock and Terry Kennedy.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the Immaculate Heart of Mary church hall for approximately 350 guests. Jean Baker from Mason made the wedding cake and catered the reception. Other reception arrangements were handled by Bill Repovz.

The bride is a 1976 graduate of Fowler High School.

Following a honeymoon trip to the Washington D.C. area, the couple plan to reside in Lansing.

"It's in the Bag"

by Bob Beck

Today, let us consider two questions. What is a pumpkin? And what is a pumpkin for?

The first question is easy. A pumpkin is a plant belonging to the same family as the squash. But it is not technically a squash. All the same, some varieties of winter squash, weighing as much as eighty pounds, are commonly called pumpkins, even though true pumpkins rarely weigh more than twenty pounds.

The second question is harder to pin down. Food lovers agree that the real value of a pumpkin is in a delicious pie. But any child can tell you that pumpkins exist primarily to be made into jack-o'-lanterns.

What else can you do with a pumpkin? Well, what can't you do? Cinderella went to the royal ball in one, with a little help from her fairy godmother. Peter, Peter, pumpkin eater, kept his wife in one. Back in colonial days, when "Blue Laws" required every man to have his hair cut off round, pumpkin shells were used for the purpose... which is why, to this day, a New Englander will answer proudly to the name "pumpkin head."

And one pumpkin, stuffed with microfilm, played a bizarre role in fairly recent American history, as you very well know if you remember the celebrated Whittaker Chambers, Alger Hiss spy case back around 1950.

Oh yes, one other curious use. It was our early settlers who first turned a pumpkin into a pie. But in those flourless days, they had to use the pumpkin shells for crusts!

Which just leaves me room to answer a third question. What's the finest food store in St. Johns? Why, Beck's, of course. Come see!

Wetherbee program

Baskets attract crowd

Over 275 people, some of whom had come from out of state for the event, were on hand for a demonstration by nationally known Shaker Basket maker and historian Martha Wetherbee at Smith Hall in St. Johns last Wednesday evening.

A former private detective, Mrs. Wetherbee researched and reconstructed the basket making methods of the Shakers, a religious community known for their craftsmanship during the colonial era of this country. Mrs. Wetherbee was assisted in her 10-year study by two surviving Shakers, both elderly women.

Before Mrs. Wetherbee reconstructed the basket-making process the craft had been lost to time.

The program started with a demonstration by Martha and her husband Nathan, of the "naive" method of basket-making. This method, used by the Shakers in the early days of their basket-making, involves pounding ash logs by hand in order to separate strips of the wood for use in making the baskets.

Ash is a rare wood in that it will separate in layers as it is pounded, the Wetherbees said.

"What it requires is patience, not brawn," said Mr. Wetherbee.

The strips are then either scrapped or split by hand to achieve the smooth finish required for the final product.

The Wetherbees also demonstrated how logs are split by hand and then planed in order to make the curved handles of the baskets.

Following the demonstration the Wetherbees showed a slide show about their New Hampshire basket-making workshop. There they use an "advanced" method that is less labor intensive and uses a mechanical hammer to separate strips of wood from ash logs.

The Shakers themselves began using advanced methods around 1829, the Wetherbees said.

The Wetherbees answered dozens of questions from an audience obviously captivated by the craft. Included in the slide show was a photo of one of Mrs. Wetherbee's earliest basket-making efforts. An amateurish and slightly misshapen piece it was a far cry from the precise and elegant works she now produces.

"That's just to show that everyone comes from somewhere," said Mr. Wetherbee.

The baskets now made by Mrs. Wetherbee sell for hundreds of dollars. On ranging from about an inch to eight inches in diameter. The price tag for the set was $1,500.

Mrs. Wetherbee noted that basket-making predates both weaving and pottery.

"Baskets have always been made out of materials indigenous to the area they're made in," she said.

However, with modern markets in exotic wood, basketmakers are no longer limited to indigenous materials, she said.

Michigan, said her husband, is a national leader in a groundswell of interest and knowledge about the craft.

The Clinton County Arts Council is currently sponsoring classes and demonstrations about basket-making. For more information call Maxine Strahle at 224-2957 after 1:30 p.m.

display during the program was a collection of nine matching baskets

HONORED — Clinton Memorial Administrator Mark Stapleman congratulates Taffy Olsen for having been named September Employee of the Month at Hazel I. Findlay Country Manor.

DEMONSTRATION — Martha Wetherbee shows how a log is debarked before it is pounded. Ash logs like the one here, is used for basket-making because it separates in layers as it is pounded with a hammer.

Arts Council gets grant

The Clinton County Arts Council has received a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts, says Maxine Strahle, spokesperson for the Council. The grant was made to assist the Council in weaving programs.

Loom weaving, splint making and basket weaving demonstrations are currently being presented throughout the county in conjunction with the grant.

This is the first grant the Clinton County Arts Council has received.

"They deliver...and that's just the beginning."

Lindsey Brown is giggling and happy as she heads into her second year of life, and the memories of her very special birth at Lansing General's Alternative Birthing Suite are still fresh.

Lindsey's parents were very happy with their birthing experience and that's why they were pleased to learn more about the Maternal/Child Health Center.

"If Lindsey had to go to the hospital for any reason, it's nice to know that we could expect the same caring staff and technology," says her mom, Lilly.

Parents have a special awareness of the kind of responsibility a child brings. That's why the Maternal/Child Health Center has been designed to provide parents with the support and resources needed to have a safe, personalized birth, and to take good care of a child's health from infancy through adolescence.

Team effort

Students learn job skills

A number of Clinton County young people are graduating from high school with an advantage in the competition for jobs thanks to the efforts of a group of residents who have banded together to teach job skills.

Starting in their freshman year, high school students in the St. Johns and Ovid-Elsie school districts have the opportunity to document their work experience, to practice interviewing and to explore career options.

The program — called the Comprehensive Employability Development Plan — is a loose partnership of educators, business, retired people and others who expose students to the world of work and help them to become part of it.

The program is a project of the Clinton Work-Education Council, which was itself established by Community Resource Volunteers (CRV) in St. Johns and the Clinton Intermediate School District.

The thrust of the program, says Bill Richards, CRV project director, is to draw upon all of the resources in a community to ensure that students are prepared for employment when they leave school.

To meet that goal students make use of a career materials at the high school, meet with retired people in the community to find out first hand the pros and cons of various professions, keep computer records of their accomplishments, spend a day "shadowing" actual workers on the job and participate in practice interviews and other job skill exercises.

The resources the program draws upon are many. A business project, offering students direct contact with business owners, managers and employees, was organized by the Junior Achievement organization. Forty different employers have volunteered services. Fifteen retirees have worked with over 700 students. The list goes on and on.

By the time they graduate, students who stay with the program know how to apply for a job — how to write a resume, how to present themselves in an interview and how to recognize what in their own experience is valuable to employers.

"A lot of these things can be taught at no cost to the schools with a little coordination," says Richards. "That's our role."

The program has drawn rave reviews from several local employers. Elias Big Boy Manager Kathy Mion, for instance, says she has seen a marked improvement in job applicants in the last few years.

"When I came her (five years ago) I was quite frankly appalled at the kids coming out of the high school who did not know how to apply for a job...how to dress or the time of day to apply," she says. "The majority of the kids who come through now are prepared for an interview and at least 50 percent come with a resume."

"You can definitely tell the kids who are working with that program and those who are not."

Local veteran awarded medal

When John F. Caudy mustered out of the Army in 1946 he returned to his home in St. Johns with a Purple Heart he had been awarded after being wounded in France.

Last month he was awarded the Bronze Star Medal.

The 40-year gap between the two medals, Caudy explains, resulted from his never having written to the Army asking for his Bronze Star. The Army requires servicemen to write a request for certain medals and he had never bothered to do that. He had other things on his mind when he returned from the war.

The years went by and one day Caudy saw a news article about some World War II veterans who were awarded medals years after the war. It reminded him of the medals he had coming and he sent off a letter to the Army.

He was awarded the Bronze Star for "meritorious achievement in ground combat" while serving in France. He was also awarded the E.T.O. Campaign Medal, the National Defense Service Medal, the Victory Medal, the Combat Infantryman Badge, the Good Conduct Medal ("It wasn't easy," he says.) and the Sharpshooters Badge.

Now that Caudy has his medals, his friend and Army buddy Charles Berkhausen, also of St. Johns, decided to send for his medals. The two men left St. Johns for the war together, went through basic training together and fought together.

Berkhausen, who later spent several months as a POW, remembers carrying Caudy to an ambulance after his friend was wounded in shelling.

DeWitt Editor

John McNalley knows people in the area like the thought-provoking, community-minded and sometimes silly messages that appear every day on the sign in front of his Amoco/Dawn Donuts station on U.S. 27.

But he is surprised so many people wrote letters of support after Amoco told him he had to get rid of the marquee.

"I almost cried when I read some of them," he says. In the week after he put a message on the sign telling of his plight ("Drop us a line and save this sign"), he received 47 letters, 27 short poems in the style of McNalley's famous wit, and a total of 167 signatures.

One woman sent a piece of fishing line and a poem, "Here's your line, don't drop the sign; it starts my day as it ought, with a little food for thought."

Letters have come from Illinois, northern, western, and southeastern Michigan, as well as from the Clinton County area.

MCNALLEY'S PROBLEMS began last March, when Amoco notified him he had to beautify the marquee and make it permanent in order to improve the looks of the station and to conform to other Amoco stations.

So McNalley cemented the sign into the ground and planted flowers in a wooden box underneath. He changes the display seasonally. For instance, the grassy area in front of the sign now sports a pumpkin display.

Then, on Oct. 9, he received a letter from the company stating: "Commander boards (the marquee signs) are no longer allowed under our Image Leadership concept — not even for special emphasis items."

McNalley has until Nov. 15 to take the sign down but he says before that time he is going to send Amoco the letters of support and check with his lawyer about the legality of Amoco's directive.

He thinks Amoco does not have the right to make him take the sign down simply because he signed an "Image Leadership Contract" with the company that lays out the ground rules for the appearance of the station. This contract did not prohibit signs such as the one McNalley has.

"I'M DOING EVERYTHING right, I really believe I'm doing everything right," he says.

He must be doing something right. He is a "gold dealer," meaning that he sells at least one million gallons of gas per year. Last year sales jumped 17.8 percent, ranking him sixth in the state.

"I view the rules that Amoco makes in a positive tone," he says. "It's good business sense to have rules because then the stations aren't sloppy."

But, he adds, "there's not a doubt in my mind that this sign helps business."

The sign was first put up in 1979 to let people know how his son, Scott, who was paralyzed with Guillain-Barre syndrome, was faring. So many people would stop in and ask about his condition that McNalley and his wife, Jeanne, decided to put the sign up to let people know.

Scott's health progressed and the sign evolved to what it is used for now — to publicize community events, recognize students' athletic achievements, advertise donut or gas specials and to display catchy sayings or poems.

SCOTT IS NOW serving at an Army base in Fort Knox, Ken., and the McNalley's other child, Amy, is a junior at DeWitt High School.

"I can't even remember how long we've been changing the sign regularly," McNalley says.

He writes a week's worth of messages for both sides of the marquee and posts the list on the employees' bulletin board. When the morning crew comes in each day it is responsible for changing the letters. McNalley says he doesn't like a message to be up for more than two days.

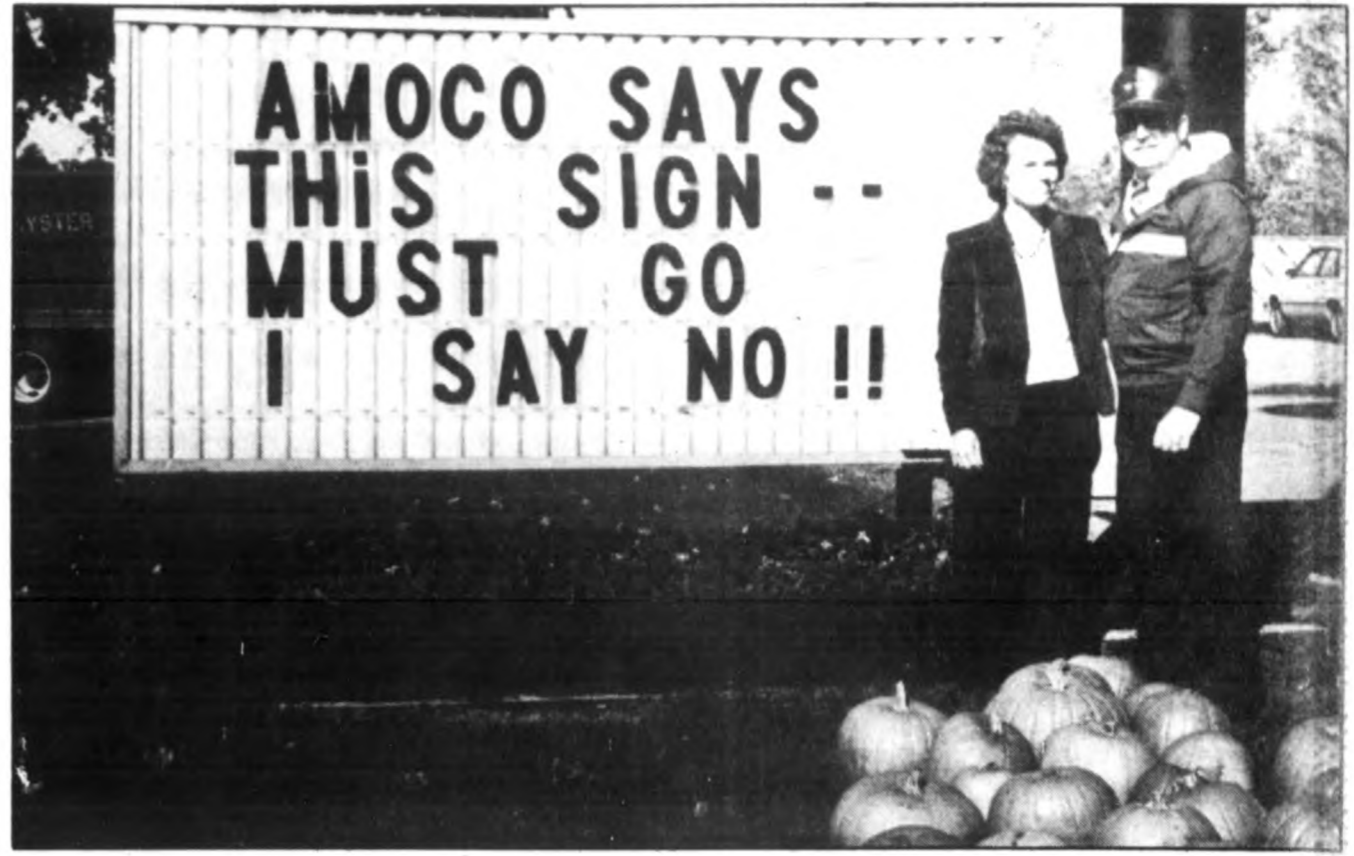

Besides his poems McNalley is famous for his misspellings — er, abbreviations. He can put more words on the sign if he abbreviates, he explains.

If appealing to Amoco won't help save the sign, McNalley says he will take it down, but he won't like it.

"I WANT TO GO down fighting," he says. He also believes taking the sign down might have an adverse affect on business.

One of the letters he received in his "Save the Sign" campaign was from a recovered alcoholic who said the sign saved her life. On the way from St. Johns into Lansing for her Alcoholics Anonymous meetings, she says, she sometimes thought of suicide but the positive message on the sign, changed her mood.

Another says: "Keep the sign, I get as much enjoyment from that as from seeing my husband come home."

THE MESSAGE IS CLEAR — John and Jeanne McNalley don't want to take down this marquee in front of their Amoco/Dawn Donuts station on U.S. 27, but Amoco officials are asking them to do just that.

Abuse resisted by grandmother

Witnessing the effects of repeated child abuse on two of her grandchildren not only moved Bath resident Mary Harte to tears — it moved her to action.

Frustrated with the conflicting love and hate her daughter and grandchildren feel for their father and former husband, who abused the children on their required visits, and fed up with county officials who refused to step in for lack of evidence, Harte and her husband Gareth formed an organization called Grandparents Against Child Abuse.

The group brings together grandparents from throughout southern lower Michigan whose grandchildren have been abused — either mentally, physically, sexually, or emotionally.

The purpose of the group, which is now in its third year, is to "educate people, provide assistance...and get them to try and talk and relieve that tension," she says.

"There's nothing you can do but stir people up," she says.

Often, grandparents are helpless to intervene. Yet they feel the pain and concern, too, Harte says. She has six grandchildren, and took care of a total of 14 foster children over the years. In order to meet in a church building at no cost, Harte can not charge dues for membership in the organization. So the printing of literature and other costs come out of her own pocket. A friend who works for the state with Harte drew the logo that her son thought of for the organization.

Grandparents Against Child Abuse has 150 members on the books, although Harte says attendance at meetings averages about 30.

Guest speakers at the meetings cover legal, political, and psychological questions. Guests have included Congressman Bob Carr, Jim Crawford from State Senator Alan Cropsey's office, attorneys, psychologists and representatives from the Department of Social Services and the Michigan State Police.

The organization meets in the Redeemer United Methodist Church library, at the corner of Clark and Shavey roads in DeWitt Township. Meetings are the third Sunday of each month, at 3 p.m. For more information, call Gareth or Mary Harte at 641-4019 after 4 p.m. or at 641-6081 during work hours.

Grand opening set for gallery

The Clinton County Arts Council will celebrate the grand opening of their Gallery and Gift Shop on Nov. 2 and 3 from 1 until 6:00 p.m. The Gallery is located at US-27 at N. Clinton Ave., in St. Johns.

The celebration gets underway on Saturday with an outdoor family fun day called "Eat for Arts". Domino's Pizza will provide pizza by the slice, Coke, apples and brownies. Live entertainment will be performed by Pat and Bill Trommator, singing folk and country music. A square dancing demonstration is also planned, along with an outdoor art show.

The grand opening continues on Sunday with a reception from 1 until 6:00 p.m. Representatives from county communities are invited as well as Representatives Bill Schuette and Gary Randall and Senator Alan Cropsey. Presentations will be made at 2:30 p.m. The string ensemble from St. Johns High School will provide musical entertainment.

Over 50 Clinton County area artists will be exhibiting works in all mediums of visual arts and quality crafts. This is the first opportunity for county artists to exhibit their work on a regular rotating basis.

The Gallery and Gift Shop will be open Wednesday through Sunday from 1 until 6:00 p.m. during November and December. Many special holiday items will be on display.

Justice is theme for service at United Methodist Church

"Justice Will Bring Peace" is the theme for the 10:45 a.m. Sunday worship service at First United Methodist Church, St. Johns on Oct. 27. The Rev. Sharon Radar, Program Coordinator of the West Michigan Conference Staff, will be the guest minister.

Following the morning service, a family potluck dinner will be held at 12:30. A workshop on the "Justice Will Bring Peace" theme will be presented by Mrs. Radar after the dinner. The public is invited to attend all events.

The Rev. Radar has served as a delegate to General and Jurisdictional Conferences in 1984, is a member of the General Council on Ministries, has chaired the Division on Missional Priority and Emerging Issues, and is a member of the Missional Priority Coordinating Committee on Promotion.

Mrs. Radar has a BA degree in elementary education, and has taken graduate study classes at Ill., and Battle Creek. She joined the West Michigan Conference Staff in 1981, working primarily with the Board of Global Ministries, hunger, women's organizations and new church development.

Hospital auxiliary sets plans

The Clinton Memorial Hospital Auxiliary met recently to discuss and vote on plans for this year's project and to conduct regular business.

The members decided to refurbish the obstetrics area. This will include two birthing rooms and one birthing suite and the conversion of one of the existing nurseries into a waiting room. The present small waiting room will be turned into a dining room for special dinners for the new parents.

Treasurer, Carolyn Ebert, said that the initial payment of $6,000 would be turned over to the hospital.

Vira Montague and Irene Zeb Pierce were granted honorary memberships for their years of continued service as hospital auxiliaries.

Reports were given by Ellen Burnham, puppet chairman, and Helen Fitzpatrick, sewing chairman. They made 61 puppets for a total of 93 donated hours and 46 new articles and 46 remakes for a total of 127 hours respectively. Corky Paradise reported the T.V. ladies donated 53.5 hours for the month of September.

Instead of the annual Santa's Cellar, the members decided to participate in the craft fair at the South Point Mall on Dec. 7. A booth will be reserved and members will be selling candies, cookies and various items.

Kay Mishler, Legislative Chairman, invited all members to join the physicians march on the Capitol on Oct. 23 to emphasize the malpractice insurance crisis. It is expected 200 to 300 buses will arrive from around the state.

St. Joseph's enrollment up; one of few in diocese to rise

St. Joseph Catholic School in St. Johns, unlike most Catholic schools in the Diocese of Lansing, showed an enrollment increase for the 1985-86 school year. St. Joseph had a total enrollment 383 students, up 58 from last year.

Sister Joan May, principal of St. Josephs, attributed the increase to the new kindergarten stated at the school this year.

The increase at St. Joseph raised total Catholic school enrollment in Clinton County to 775, up 49 from last year.

The Diocese of Lansing includeten counties in the mid-Michigan area. Six Catholic high schools and 41 elementary schools showed a net decline of 229 students.

The enrollment decline was caused primarily by unemployment and other economic conditions, said Dr. Dorita Wotiska, associate superintendent for schools in the diocese.

First concert planned for St. Johns

The first concert of the 1985-86 school year will be presented by the St. Johns High School Music Department on Oct. 23 beginning at 7:30 p.m. in Pocus Auditorium.

The concert will feature the Concert Choir and Orchestra in a variety of musical selections.

"Everything from the classics to bluegrass music will be played," says Orchestra Director William Tennant.

Solist for the evening concert will be Mr. Mark Wolbers, a clarinetist from the University of Michigan. Mr. Wolbers is currently teaching and studying at Ann Arbor, doing graduate work towards a clarinet performance degree.

Miss Teri Reis, a music major from Central Michigan University, will conduct one of the orchestral selections. She is presently doing her student teaching at St. Johns High this semester.

A work for clarinet and strings, written by Tennant, will be performed by Mr. Wolbers and the orchestra. "The selections, guest soloist, student teacher conducting and performance of the work by Mr. Tennant all add towards a truly interesting program," says Dan Valentine, choir director.

Both the choir and orchestra have been involved in performance activities this year. The choir attendance performance/workshop at the Whaton Center on the campus of MSU recently, and the orchestra just completed a series of concerts for elementary students in the St. Johns School District.

Adults can revive old music habit

Adult musicians who long ago put their band instruments in the closet now have a reason to dust them off and start playing again. The DeWitt Conservatory of Dance and Music is sponsoring an area-wide adult community concert band. The group will rehearse on Wednesday evenings at 7:15 p.m. beginning Nov. 6. All rehearsals will be held at the conservatory located at 115 N. Bridge Street, DeWitt.

Patricia Jackson will serve as director of the band, says Christine Farmer, owner/coordinator for the conservatory. Mrs. Jackson was Director of Bands for Ashley Public Schools and is presently serving as instructor of music education for Learning Tree Preschool.

The DeWitt Community Concert Band will be open to all players aged 17 and older. No tuition or audition is required. Persons interested in registering or obtaining more information should phone the Conservatory at 669-5365.

Scouts plan meeting

The Chippewa District will hold a Cub Scout Funday on Sunday, Oct. 27 from 2 until 5 p.m.

Events planned for the Funday include a tug-of-war, earth ball, apple dunk and witch or treasure hunt. There will also be a hayride and bonfire at the end of the day.

Each pack will furnish snacks and drinks for their cubs and adults. Unit leaders should be contacted for various locations.

Tryouts for O-E planned

The annual Ovid-Elsie Talent Revue sponsored by the Varsity Basketball team and radio station W.O.E.S. will hold tryouts on Nov. 4. All types of acts are welcome.

The public performance of the talent revue will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 3 at 7:00 p.m. in the Ovid-Elsie High School Auditorium.

Further information on the talent revue may be obtained by contacting George Bishop or Robert Foreback at 834-2271 or 862-4237.

P-W effort valiant

Fowler wins 12-6

By Rhonda Gaffney
Sports Editor

You can add another chapter to the P-W versus Fowler football saga; this year's game carrying on the traditions of past years — good, hard-hitting, aggressive football.

Fowler eked out a 12-6 win in the contest which was played in a steady drizzle before a more than capacity crowd.

"We had our backs against the wall," said Fowler Coach Steve Spicer. "The kids played their hearts out."

Fowler got on the scoreboard early in the first quarter when Dean Koenigsknecht returned a punt 73 yards to score.

"We had him," said P-W Head Coach Kurt Mabie, "but he slipped free and headed for the sideline."

The point after attempt failed and Fowler led 6-0. BOTH TEAMS exchange possession on the next two series of downs and the score remained 6-0 at the end of the first quarter.

The first passes of the night were attempted early in the second quarter when Dave Stump threw to Bill Schneider. Both were incomplete and P-W was forced to punt on fourth down.

A bad snap saw Fowler get excellent field position on the P-W nine yard line.

Rex Thelen took the ball to the P-W five on the second play from scrimmage.

P-W fought back as Troy Thelen tackled Koenigsknecht for a loss. P-W regained possession on their own nine yard line when Fowler fell short of first down yardage on the next play.

AN EIGHT-YARD gain by P-W's big fullback, Dennis Theis, who had 103 yards on 30 carries, was offset by a fumble that gave Fowler good field position on the P-W 21.

"It was a costly mistake," said Coach Mabie.

On the first play from scrimmage, Matt Braun scored on a pass from Koenigsknecht with 5:41 left in the first half. The two-point conversion attempt failed and Fowler took a 12-0 lead into the lockerroom at halftime.

The second half saw P-W obtain possession on a fumble recovery on the Fowler 35 yard line. A 26-yard pass completion to Bill Schneider put the ball on Fowler's eleven yard line and set P-W up for their touchdown drive.

THEIS CARRIED the ball on four plays for first down yardage and then took it in to make the score 12-6. The point after attempt failed.

The remainder of the second half saw both teams playing outstanding defense as P-W put on an all-out effort to score and held Fowler consistently.

"We felt we physically dominated them," said Mabie.

Spicer, who has nine players going both ways, said, "They outweigh us 30 pounds per man. There were plenty of bumps and bruises."

Fowler ran only 26 plays to P-W's 57 in the second half and total yardage put P-W on top 152-72 for the game.

P-W CAME close to evening the score when they drove to the Fowler 25 yard line on a completed screen pass from Stump to Theis.

With 1:27 left on the clock P-W tried to put points on the board with four pass plays toward the end zone. They were incomplete, and Fowler took possession with 57 remaining. They held the ball to end the game 12-6.

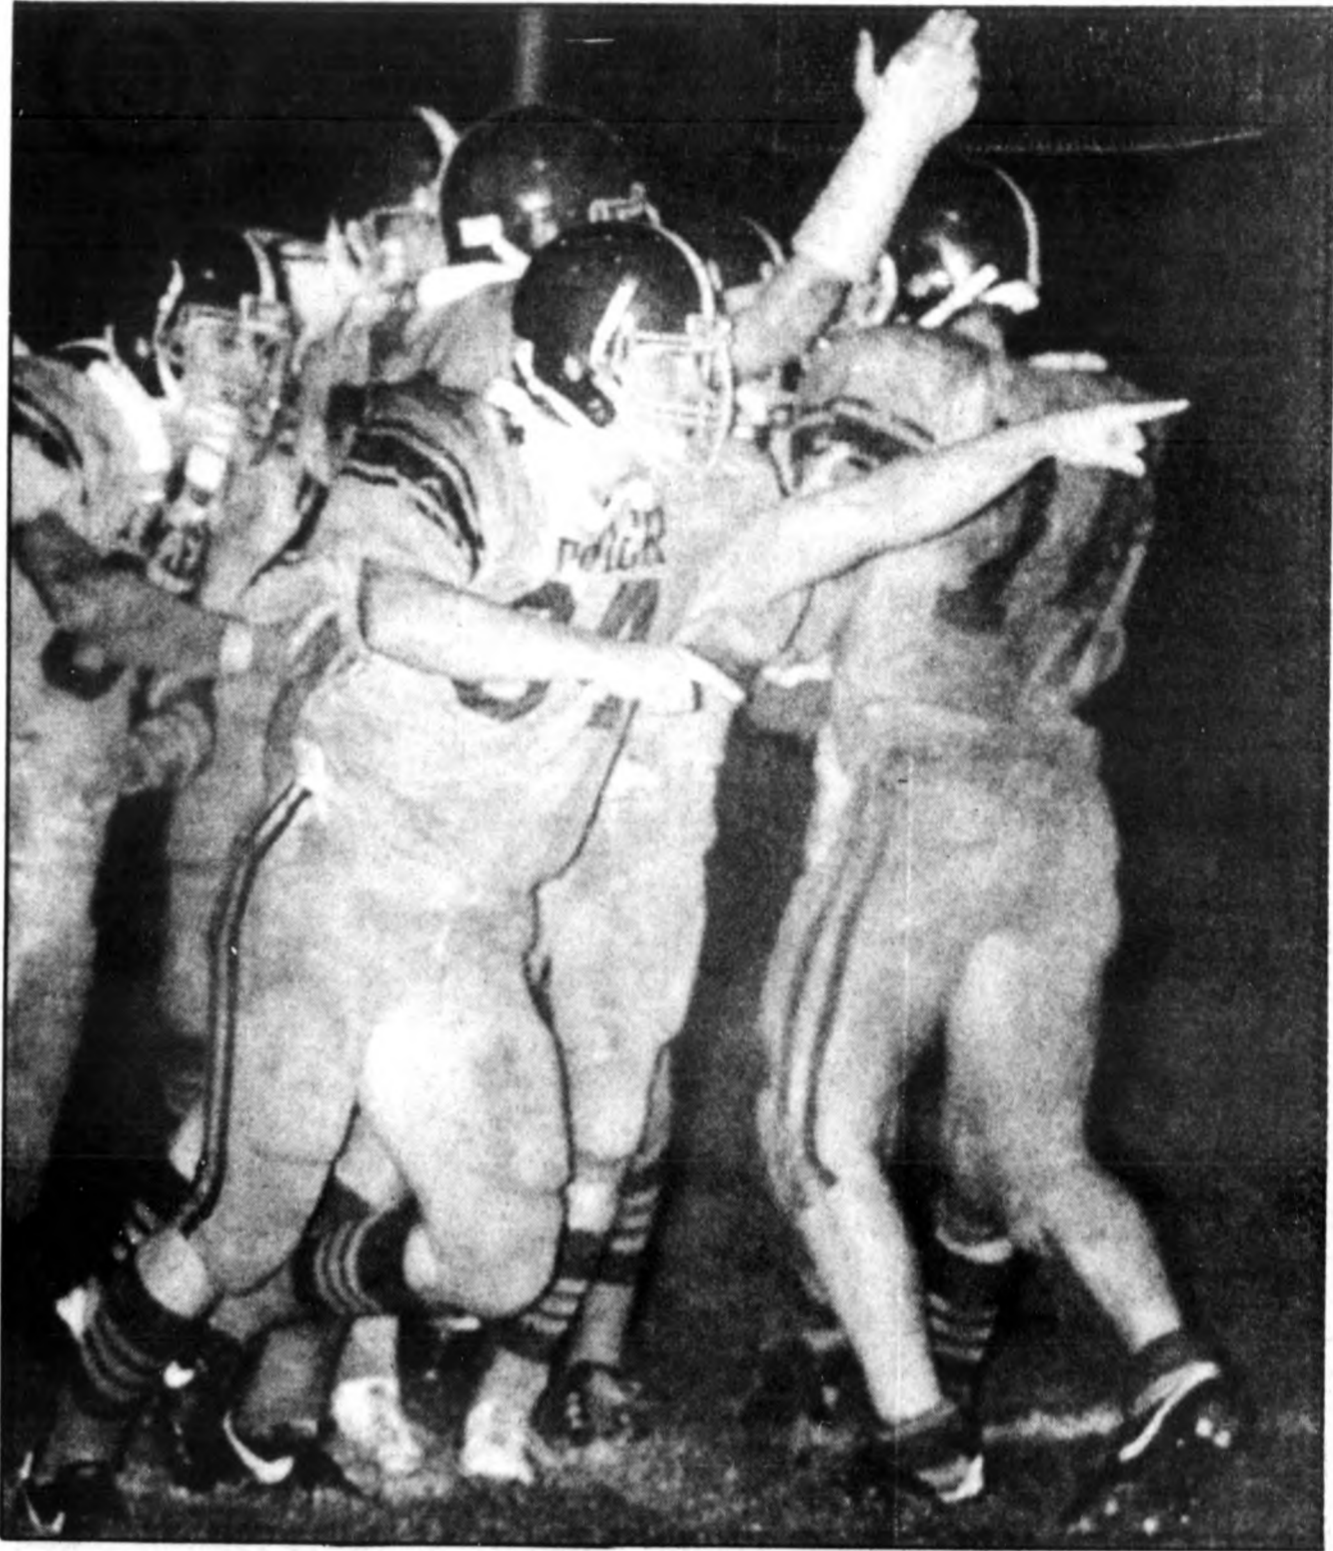

Both coaches agreed it was a "good game" and complimented each other's teams on clean play.

The fans were basically well-behaved, enjoying an annual affair that literally pits cousin against cousin.

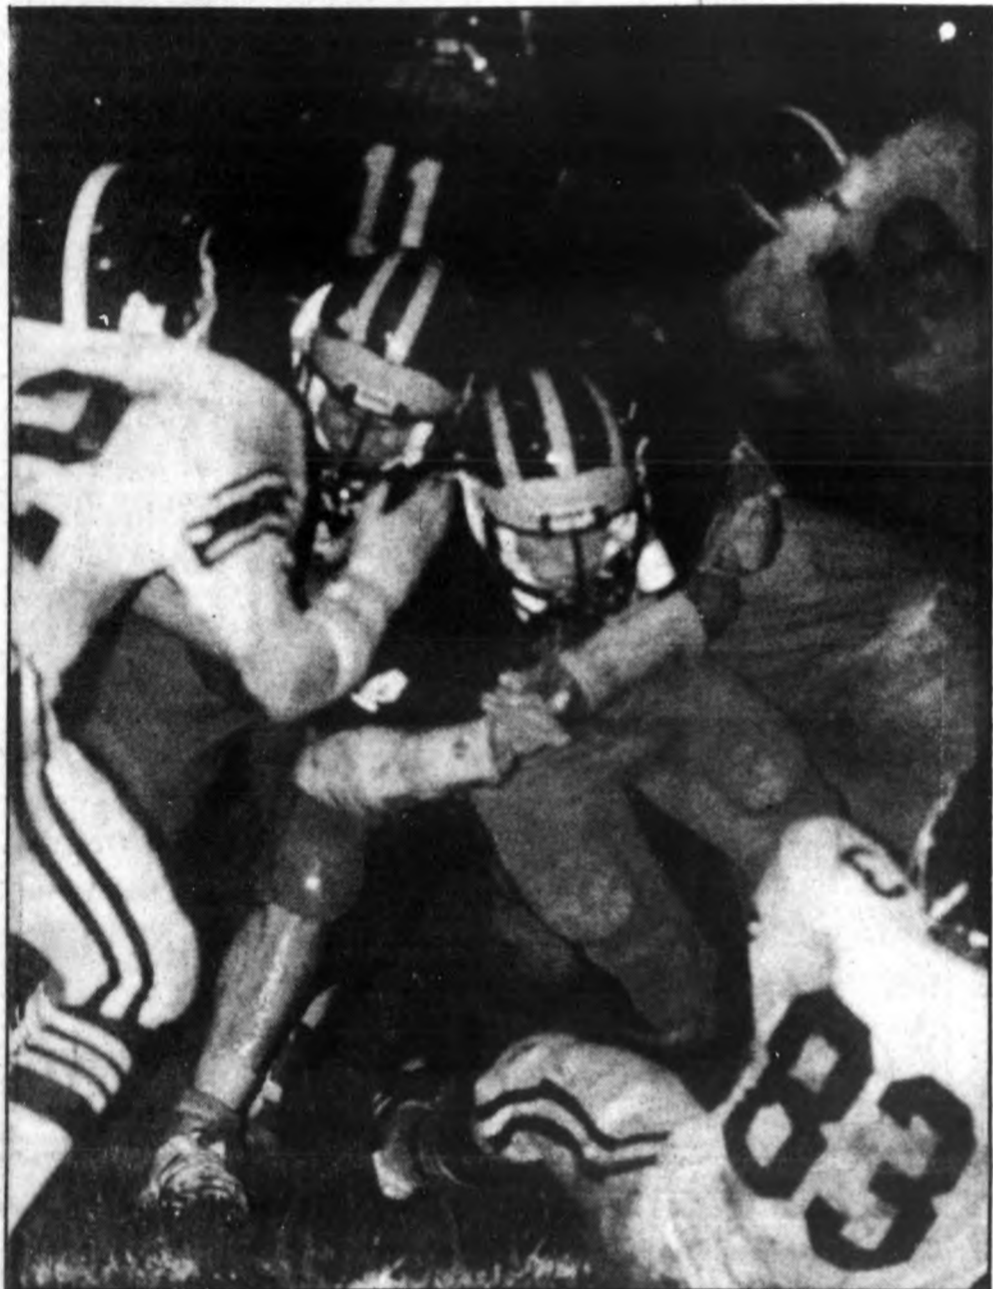

"Everybody's related except me," said Spicer. "I'm from Belding."

This Friday both teams play at home: Fowler against 6-1 Genesee and P-W versus Class B Corunna. "It doesn't get easier," said Mabie.

As for the Fowler versus Pewamo-Westphalia rivalry — "We'll wait for next year," Mabie said.

POINTING TOWARD VICTORY — Fowler's Kevin Schmidt signals toward the end zone following Matt Braun's reception that put Fowler up 12-0 at halftime.

DETERMINATION — Pewamo-Westphalia never gave up as they continually pounded Fowler's defense. The Pirates conceded a 12-6 win to Fowler.

Finnish runner finds friends and success

Satu Puuronen joined the Ovid-Elsie cross country team to make friends, but in the process has found herself creating records.

Puuronen, a blonde, bright-eyed exchange student from Finland, had many friends from her home country tell her that "you make friends if you go out for sports" in the United States.

Judging by the camaraderie that is visible between Puuronen and her teammates, Satu's goal has been reached.

"The kids like her alot," Marauder coach Don Barlow said.

And according to Puuronen, her goals in cross country were fairly easily fulfilled as well.

"I said, 'I'm going to break that record,'" the Finn said of the Ovid-Elsie girls record.

She reset the mark against Chesaning last Tuesday with a 19:58.0 timing over Ovid-Elsie's 5,000-meter course.

Karen Rivest had set the old Marauder mark in 1976 when she ran a 20:14.

Satu enjoys life in the United States — 'I will miss your hamburgers.'

Puuronen did admit to being a little surprised with the success she has had so far (e.g. she was second in the Clinton County meet), since she had not run much before coming to the United States.

SATU PUURONEN — This Finnish exchange student has been a very welcome addition to the Ovid-Elsie Cross-Country team. She took first place with a time of 20:58 in the Mid-Michigan B Conference Meet held last Saturday and will run in Regional Competition at Swartz Creek this weekend.

"I didn't run much in the winter," she said. "I ran about once a week." She now runs three to five miles a day.

Puuronen had competed in Finland before coming to the United States, but her country does not have interscholastic sports as we have here. Rather, they have running clubs.

"She told me she had run when she came out for the team," Barlow said. "Then I saw her in the first practice. She outran all the girls on the team and half of the boys."

But, she has not limited her recreational activities to running. Last week she got together with some girls for a game of football. And of course, she made sure to attend last Friday's homecoming game.

She wants to get involved in snow skiing this winter and track in the spring.

"I tried water skiing. It was really funny," she said.

In fact, she has been so busy she hasn't written home much.

"Some of my friends are very angry with me," she said. "Some of them have sent me tapes (of themselves)."

While she is a successful athlete, she has developed a taste for North America's "junk food."

"I like McDonald's and Burger King and what all they have here," she said. "I will miss your hamburgers."

And Don Barlow and the Marauders will miss your contributions to the team — both on the course and in attitude.

Theis volleys

For the second straight week Ferris State College sophomore Patty Theis has been named the Great Lakes Conference's "Volleyball Player of the Week". This is a graduate of Pewamo-Westphalia High School.

This, a six-foot middle blocker, steered the Bulldogs into sole possession of first place in the GLIAC with wins last week over conference contenders Wayne State, Northwood and Oakland. She accumulated 39 kills with a .310 attack percentage. Against Oakland, Theis turned in a school record by blocking 15 shots.

The Bulldog's conference record stands at 6-0 and at 15-3 overall. Ferris, the three-time defending GLIAC champion, has won 39 straight matches over four years in the league and presently has a winning streak of 12 matches on the season.

An introduction

Rhonda Gaffney

I debated a long time on whether or not to write a column for this week's Clinton County News.

I question whether the average reader is really interested in a sportswriter's opinion at all.

Probably not. Following that line of reasoning, I naturally decided to write a column.

Now this won't be your average run-of-the-mill, loaded-with-personal-opinion sports column. I simply would like to introduce myself to CCN readers and give a brief outline of what I hope the sports section of this paper will look like in the weeks and months ahead.

First off — I've lived in Clinton County all my life and have followed with interest the various sporting events that are a part of this community. That may not mean much of anything to some but it does say one thing to me.

It means, hopefully, that I know the area, the people living here and what they want and expect to read on these pages. I will try to be accurate, concise and fair — doesn't sound too hard so far.

Rain, fog, mud

Wings Lose - Pirates Win

"Rain, rain, go away!" A slick, muddy field and steady rain played a part in the Redwings loss to Alma, 35-7, last Friday as they were plagued by fumbles, interceptions and poor defensive play.

"We didn't play well defensively," said St. Johns Head Coach Bat Kjolhede. "Our failure to contain the run cost us the game."

St. Johns evened the score at 7-7 to start the second quarter when Paul Travis went in to score St. Johns' lone touchdown.

Alma scored twice more in the first half and added 14 in the second half to end the game.

The Redwings had 146 yards on 30 carries, Travis getting 88 of those on 11 carries. St. Johns completed seven of 19 passes for 60 yards.

St. Johns, 1-4 in conference play and 2-5 on the year, hosts Mt. Pleasant this Friday in what should be a very difficult assignment for the Wings.

"Mt. Pleasant is a real, real big team — I mean big," said Kjolhede. "We'll try to regroup and get something going."

FULTON

Fulton traveled to Portland St. Pats and shut-out the hapless Shamrocks 27-0 in a CMAC match-up.

Todd Walden threw a 28 yard touchdown pass to Dave Stephens for the Pirates first score.

Don Price added two more touchdowns on runs of 68 yards and 10 yards. He had a total of 167 yards on 27 carries for the night.

Mike Guthrie added six more points on a one-yard run. The Pirates had 266 total offensive yards.

Defensive tackle, Ron Johnson, had an excellent night making 10 tackles and recovering a fumble that helped set up one of Fulton's touchdowns.

"We're a young team and improving every week," Coach Leo Rosencranz said of his players. "We played well defensively on Friday."

Fulton makes a long bus trip to Dansville this week to take on the Aggies who are in a three-way tie for first in the Mid-State Athletic Conference. "They're a hard-hitting bunch of kids," Rosencranz said. "I expect it to be a good game."

The Pirates' record is 2-3 in the conference and 3-4 overall.

X-Country meet

Satu Puuronen, from Ovid-Elsie High School, captured the girls cross country Mid-Michigan B title in conference competition held Oct 19 at Ionia Country Club. Her time was 20:58.

Sandra Terrell placed fourth with a time of 21:23 to make First Team All-Conference, and Becky Irrer finished eighth with a time of 22:13, good for Second Team All-Conference. Both runners are from St. Johns.

Other girls' team members who placed were: Kim Korienik (SJ), 11th; Luann Hurst (SJ), 12th; Shara Feeley (SJ), 14th; Shaundel Elowski (OE), 15th; Colleen Bunn (SJ), 16th; Anita Manas (SJ), 17th; Kim Rice (OE), 23rd; Karen Komora (OE), 28th; Phil Ehler, from Ovid-Elsie, finished fourth for the boys with a time of 17:57, making First Team All-Conference. Greg St. Johns, from St. Johns, placed tenth, good for Second Team All-League.

Other boys and their position finishes were: Cory Henningson (SJ), 14th; Joe Peters (SJ), 19th; John Ginthers (OE), 23rd; Brian Upton (SJ), 26th; Jim DeBrabrande (SJ), 27th; Curt Wittenberg (OE), 28th; Tim Boak (SJ), 30th; Dave Sutliff (OE), 31st; Eric Smith (SJ), 33rd; Brad Kelley (OE), 35th.

Both teams will travel to Regional competition at Swartz Creek this Saturday.

TAKE HONORS — Rodney B. Wilson 7th and 8th grade cheerleaders took first and third place trophies at a recent competition at C.M.U.

State Champs

The Pewamo-Westphalia golf team did it again. They carded a 309 to win the Class C State Golf Championship for the second straight year. The match was played at Vassar Golf and Country Club.

Ted Thelen shot a 76, one stroke behind medalist, Joe Martinez from Kent City. Kent City finished second, 23 shots behind P-W. Doug Meyers, Tom Beelen and Scott Bohr all finished in the top ten, shooting 77 and 78 respectively.

Swimming

St. Johns girls swim team upped their record to 5-2 overall and 2-1 in the conference with a 113-59 victory over Corunna last week.

The 33 girl team is the largest Jim Makaruskas has ever coached at St. Johns.

Junior, Mindi Wells, took top honors in the diving competition with 171.75 points.

Jane Cooper, also a junior, won the 500 meter freestyle with a time of 6:06.9. It was a personal best for her and best team time for the year.

Freshman, Chris Welsh, placed second in the 500 freestyle at 6:14.0, her personal best and second best for the team.

Missy O'Connell swam the 100 meter butterfly in 1:07.9 to take first place. It was her best time of the year.

The 400 meter freestyle relay team took first place with a season best time of 4:06.9. Team members are Jane Cooper, Missy O'Connell, Kim Bauer and Lisa Sabo.

The team faces stiff competition in a meet at Waverly tonight at 7 p.m. That dual-meet and a conference meet with DeWitt later in the season are "the toughest meets left on our schedule," said Makaruskas. "We're probably underdogs in both," he conceded, "but we do have a good chance to win."

tively. Jeff Platte had an 85.

"The kids played well," said Coach Duane Blatt. "We knew we could win as long as we played well. We weren't going to beat ourselves."

"I really thought it would be a closer match," he added.

Blatt said the course was in good condition despite the wet weather. "It's not an easy course," he stated. "It's used as a qualifying course for the Michigan Open and has some long holes."

Asked where the team goes from here, Blatt said, "We'll rebuild. All five boys are seniors this year, but we've got some fine juniors and underclassmen golfers in Joe and Scott Platte, Dan Smith, Glenn, Tom and Rich Thelen, Dean Hengesbach and Dave Jandernoa." Two State Championships in two years leaves some pretty big golf shoes to fill.

DEJECTED MARAUDERS — Coach Dennis Baratono and a group of Ovid-Elsie Marauders watch as hope vanished for an O-E victory.

SJ cagers win two

St. Johns girls' cagers winning ways continued last week as they defeated Alma 63-43 and Fowler 52-42.

Tuesdays win over Alma was the fifth straight conference victory for Beth Swears' team, while Thursdays non-conference match with Fowler proved to be somewhat of a squeaker.

"They (Fowler) hit five in the first five minutes and we didn't hit one," said Swears. "They are well coached and very aggressive."

Fowler's Cindy Schneider led all scorers with 16 points, hitting five of seven from the floor and those all in the first half.

Sophomore Kerry Porter had her best game of the year ending up with 15 points, five assists and six rebounds. Her defensive game was exceptional. "She held Schneider scoreless in the second half," said Swears.

Mary Murphy "had another fine game at point guard, breaking the press and playing outstanding defense," Swears said. "Mary's abilities don't always show on the stat sheets," Coach Swears added.

AIRBORNE —Fowler's Nancy Sillman has to get high in the air to shoot over St. Johns' center Brenda Eiseler in a non-league girls basketball game.

Indians win MMB

Ovid-Elsie keeps it close

For a few brief moments in the third quarter Friday night, Ovid-Elsie coach Dennis Baratono could envision 15 years of Marauder football frustration coming to an end.

But Baratono and the rest of the soaked homecoming crowd had to settle for a "close-but-yet-so-far-away" story.

The visiting Chesaning Indians wrapped up their Mid-Michigan B Conference title with a 14-0 win, dropping the Marauders to 1-6 overall and 0-5 in MMB play.

With their backs slicing into the Chesaning defense for big yardage and an occasional pass reception tossed in for good measure, the Marauders threatened to draw even with champs as they burrowed to the Indian five-yard line.

On a fourth-and-inches play at the five, Baratono called for Brett Reuss to carry the ball for the second play in a row. The Indian defense stopped Reuss just short of a first-and-goal situation.

"Reuss is my best back in the mud," the first-year coach said.

The senior finished the night as the Marauders' leading back with 60 yards.

The Indians surged back to extinguish the Marauders' momentum and hopes by going the length of the field for their second touchdown of the evening.

Behind closed doors, Baratono told his team that he was "not satisfied with being close. We could have won tonight."

Baratono stated the simple reason he believes the Marauders did not seize the opportunity for an upset.

"They don't believe they should win," he said. "Tonight Chesaning could have been beaten. We could have turned the program around with something like that."

Again, it was the doggedly determined Marauder defense that held Ovid-Elsie in the game.

Richie Stutzman joined tackle leader Dave Fowler as a spark plug for the defense.

"He made some big plays. He stopped some long runs, and he intercepted a pass. I think he played pretty well," Baratono said.

The Marauders continue their quest for a win that will turn their program around when they travel to Escorse on Friday night.

Bath school to be moved?

Jeanne Temple and Arlynn Gantz, of the Clinton County Historical Society, presented an informative seminar workshop to the Bath Old School Restoration Committee recently. Bath committee members are interested in moving an old one room schoolhouse to the grounds just south of the new Bath School Museum.

One of the functions of the Historical Society is to help in the preservation of Clinton County history by such endeavors.

Window portrays history

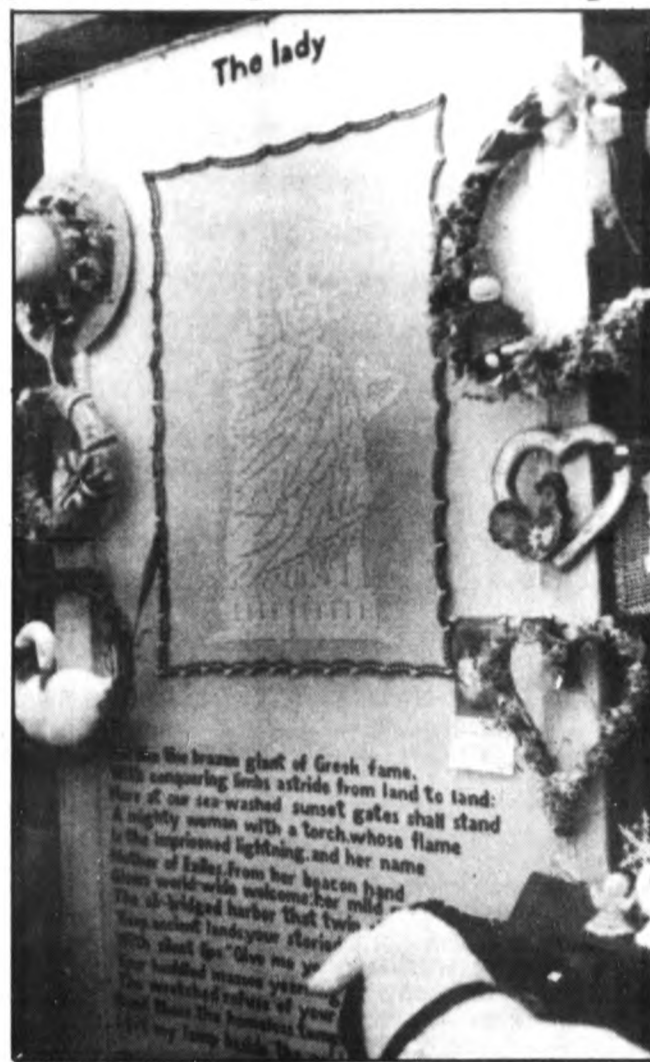

"We've been here 15 years and we're still Connecticut yankees," says Carol Klein.

Not the sort to forget her roots, Carol looked even further into the past last summer and created a historical display for the window of The Town and Country Peddler, the hardware and crafts shop owned by her and her husband Russell in St. Johns.

THE DISPLAY includes a crochet weaving of the Statue of Liberty made by Cheryl Rademacher and the Emma Lazarus poem about the statue ("Send me you tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free...") The poem was lettered especially for the display by Kippy Emmons.

The idea of the unusual display — it's not aimed at promoting sales — is to commemorate those of earlier generations who came to this country through Ellis Island, says Carol.

Carol, who has a short history and a photograph of her own ancestors in the display, believes other area families must have old records, photos or remembered stories about ancestors who emigrated here from foreign shores. She is interested in hearing from them and including

Farm hazards

Marilyn Loudenslager

Potentially lethal! Can you recognize a potentially lethal situation on your farm? Do you know what to do if such a situation exists?

The advent of the manure pit has made the management of livestock waste a lot more efficient. However this efficiency has not come without strings attached. Ventilation breakdowns, pit agitations and the need to enter a storage pit all create potentially life threatening situations.

When the ventilation breaks down and there are no natural drafts in the building to replenish the air, death can be caused by lack of oxygen, increase in carbon dioxide, by heat exhaustion or by poisoning from other gases produced by the pit. Never enter a building that has had a ventilation failure until it has been ventilated in some manner.

Agitation of liquid manure releases large quantities of noxious gases and also creates dangerous and lethal conditions, even with maximum ventilation. If you must agitate manure under slotted floors while animals are in the building, choose a mild day so you can ventilate at the maximum capacity and watch for signs of ill effects. For naturally ventilated buildings you should agitate the pit on a windy day. If possible, remove animals before agitation.

It is extremely dangerous to enter a storage pit. Death can result from hydrogen sulfide (0.1 percent hydrogen sulfide causes unconsciousness immediately and death results if artificial respiration is not given immediately) or from lack of oxygen. If for some reason you must enter a pit be certain the pit has been well ventilated; wear self-contained breathing tanks; have an attached safety rope with at least two people standing by who are able to pull you out at the first sign of dizziness.

Another gas which accumulates in unvented covered pits and in buildings where the ventilation has failed is methane. Methane is flammable, therefore do not in-

Elevator dry bean stock down from 1984 storage

Commercial elevators in Michigan held 570,000 hundredweight (cwt.) of dry beans in storage as of Aug. 31. Dry bean stocks in elevators were 19 percent below last year's level.

The quantity in elevators includes 460,000 cwt. of Navy beans and 110,000 cwt. of all other classes combined. An estimate of the quantity of dry beans stored on farms is not included in this report, according to the Federal/State Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service.

Commercial elevators held a total of 700,000 cwt. of dry beans on Aug. 31, 1984. Stocks on hand a year ago included 620,000 cwt. of navy beans and 80,000 cwt. of all other classes combined.

Dry bean stocks are not included in the USDA Crop Reporting Board established system of grain stocks reports.

Introduce a flame or a spark until the area has been well ventilated.

There are many gases that can accumulate in confinement livestock buildings with varying effects on both the animal and the farmer. For additional information on these gases, how to detect them, how to control them, how to identify them and their effects, contact the County Extension Office at 224-3288. Marilyn Loudenslager is the Agriculture Agent for the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Fruit harvest successful

Fruit growing conditions throughout Michigan have generally been favorable this season. Fall fruit harvest has progressed normally with good to excellent quality reported.

The 1985 Michigan apple crop is forecast at a record 1.1 billion pounds, up 10 percent from the Aug. 1 forecast and 43 percent above a year ago. This year's apple crop will be the largest since record keeping was initiated in 1889, according to Federal/State Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service.

Excellent weather conditions prevailed throughout the year. Perfect pollinating weather was followed by timely rains that helped fruit sizing. Cool nights and sunny days benefited fruit color. Apple production and quality are excellent except for spotty hail storms which damaged some fruit. Nationally, apple production is down two percent from a year ago.

Rain hampered harvest

September weather was characterized by below normal temperatures and above normal precipitation. Rainfall was excessive in many areas and extensive flooding occurred in the Saginaw Valley and Flint area.

Dry bean, corn silage and hay harvest was hampered by wet fields. Crop development and harvest progress was generally behind schedule by early October. Yield prospects on Oct. 1 remain bright despite the gloomy weather of the previous month according to Federal/State Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service.

Michigan dry bean production as of Oct. 1 is forecast at nearly 5.5 million hundredweight (cwt). Production prospects declined two percent from a month ago but remain 31 percent above a year ago. The decline in production resulted from increased abandonment. Yields are unchanged at 1,300 pounds per acre.

The corn crop is forecast at 275 million bushels, 25 percent above a year ago. Yields are expected to average 102 bushels per acre, 18 bushels above last fall.

Farmers not all men today

Scratch the image of the farmer as being a male, wearing bib overalls, a plaid shirt, boots and a straw hat. That farmer just might be a woman.

A recently completed "Women in Agriculture" survey, conducted by Ford Tractor, shows that farm women occupy a variety of important positions in farm activities — including full management. It is the first in-depth study in five years to provide research into the changing role of in agriculture.

number of farm women participating in decisions on whether to start a new crop or a new breed of livestock, whether to try a new production practice, when to sell their products and selecting the brand of farm equipment to purchase.

The survey findings confirmed that the farm woman's involvement in farm decisions is increasing in every area. Farm management has become increasingly a family affair, shared to varying degrees by husband and wife. The survey also showed that 81 percent of farm women joined their husbands in making decisions on whether to buy or sell land, up from 58 percent five years ago. Husbands and wives jointly making decisions on whether to purchase major farm equipment rose from 46 percent in 1980 to 62 percent today.

Farm women are also assuming more responsibilities for farm finances, including bookkeeping, maintaining records, paying bills or preparing tax forms, as well as animal care.

Of the 3,300 women who responded to the survey, 83 percent considered themselves full-time farmers and 13 percent part-time farmers. Approximately 54 percent considered themselves "one of the main operators" on the farm and another three percent said they were the sole operator.

The survey also indicated an increasing from moisture damage includes providing a leak-proof roof. Most silos and machine sheds are not watertight and need to be sealed before grain is stored, Watson adds.

Reinforcing the sidewalls is one of the most important modifications when converting a building for grain storage. Grain piled in a building applies more stress to sidewalls than most structures are designed to handle. Watson recommends placing additional posts along the walls and then using plywood or other recommended material for siding. Movable grain walls are another option, he says. Guidelines for reinforcing buildings and plans for movable grain walls can be obtained through county Extension offices.

Converting a silo for grain storage may be a costly alternative. Most silos will require additional reinforcement hoops. Provisions should be made for center filling and unloading to avoid structural damage.

IF GRAIN IS to be stored in any modified structure for longer than three months or in quantities greater than 3,000 bushels, farmers should add an aeration system to that facility. Aerating grain is essential to maintain proper grain temperatures which minimize mold and insect problems. Guidelines are available from county Extension offices.

Grain bin conversions

By Marilyn Loudenslager

An abundance of grain this year will prompt producers to look for more storage space and most won't need to look further than their machine shed or silo.

"Storing grain on the ground is not a recommended practice because chances are too high the grain will deteriorate," says Dennis Watson, of the Michigan State University agricultural engineering department. "By installing proper modifications, farmers can use existing farm structures to store grain."

THE BEST alternative for increasing storage space is building an additional grain bin, Watson says. If farmers don't think they will need extra space in the future, however, it may be more cost-effective simply to modify other farm buildings.

Converting a farm building, such as a machine shed or silo, for grain storage requires modifying the floor, roof and walls to provide a safe and effective storage facility.

The ideal floor for a grain storage facility includes a concrete slab and a vapor barrier. Mold and insects develop rapidly when grain is exposed to moisture, so it needs to be protected from ground moisture. At the minimum, plastic sheeting should be placed over a dirt floor in the structure to limit exposure to moisture, Watson says.

Clover Clippings 4-H statistics

Theresa Silm

A few days ago we finished compiling the information for the 1985 Clinton County Statistical report to submit to MSU and for the National Report. I want to share some of the results with you and give you a quick overview of the program.

The Clinton County 4-H Youth Program involved some 1,839 young people in the 1984-85 program year. These young people were involved in over seventy different project areas with over 2,800 different projects.

Six hundred and seventeen members were ages 9-11; 310 were sixteen or older and the majority of the membership is between the ages of 12 and 15. Six hundred and thirteen of our members come from farms and 1,221 live in towns or rural non-farm areas.

In Clinton County last year there were 60 different 4-H clubs with at least one club in each township in the county.

The majority (97.7 percent) of our membership is white and, although we don't discriminate against any group or individual, part of our challenge for the future is to reach out to more of the minority youth in our county.

This makes our program sound dynamic but what really makes it strong are the volunteers who give their time and energy to the program at the local and county level. Last year nearly 400 adult and teen volunteers gave of themselves to work with young people in various project areas. In addition, dozens more volunteered on a short term basis or gave of specific skills to benefit the program.

Let's look at project enrollment for a minute. Last year 42 young people were enrolled in dairy projects, 158 in horses and ponies, 41 in goats, and 14 in dogs. Seventeen were involved in the tractor safety program, 16 in clowns, seven in computers, 259 in clothing and textiles and 275 in foods and nutrition.

The 4-H program is unique in that it offers something for everyone. Young and once-young are involved in many ways, boys and girls working together with both men and women serving as volunteers. People working together make the 4-H program dynamic.

If you're interested in joining a 4-H club, in becoming a 4-H leader or in starting a new 4-H club, contact the Cooperative Extension Service at 306 Elm Street in St. Johns, or phone 224-3288.
