Junior high wants outside evaluation

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second part of a story on a presentation on Rodney B. Wilson Junior High School to the St. Johns Schoolboard at its Jan. 7 committee on the whole meeting.

The second half of the presentation on problems and opportunities faced by Rodney B. Wilson Junior High School focused on the guidance department's efforts to help students having difficulty with RBW's curriculum, presented by department members Bud Delavan and Patti Eshenroder, and on the need for an outside evaluation of the junior high school, presented by journalism and english teacher James Fuller.

Delavan explained the school's promotion/retention policy to the board. The policy is based on demerit points given to students for grades below a C, disciplinary actions, and days and hours absent. When a student accumulates 120 demerit points, he or she will be retained in the same grade.

The records of students with 120 or more demerit points are all reviewed by a committee of three teachers, one counselor, and one administrator. The committee may decide to pass a particular student on to the next grade if it feels that special considerations are warranted.

"We're a lot more rigorous than almost all of the schools in the area," Delavan said of the retention policy. "But our retention rates are comparable." Delavan cites the junior high's retention policy as more systematic than the policy of other districts. Letters are sent to the parents of each student accumulating 25 demerits for the first marking period, 50 for the second, and 100 for the third. Four weeks before the end of the fourth marking period, teachers give approximate letter grades for the students who received letters during the third period. Teachers also make written evaluations of these students, so that they can be prevented from being retained. Students and their parents are kept well aware of the chances of being retained.

Last year, according to Delavan, out of 48 students who looked like they were headed for retention at the end of the first marking period, only 8 were actually retained by the end of the year, and one was retained only at the request of his parents. "This year we've got 52 possible retainees," said Delavan, "but we hope to get down to the same level."

Delavan and Eshenroder worked together in presenting the guidance department's "How to Pass at Rodney B." program. Delavan explained the presentation given to students, in which they set their "agenda" for junior high. The agenda for a student at Rodney B. Wilson Junior High includes effort, getting the most from the class, testing, and attitude.

Eshenroder presented the board with the worksheets used to solve some of the academic problems of students at Rodney B. In a program similar to the high school's, students and their parents separately fill out a form listing a number of reasons the student might not be doing well. Then the student and his or her parents compare reasons, and a list of resolutions which might be helpful in solving the problem is studied, with resolutions being made both by the parents and by the student.

Jan. 14 city commission meeting

Does St. Johns need taxis?

By JOE HOPPE
Staff Writer

St. Johns residents will have to wait another week to find out if a taxi service will be serving the city soon.

Jean Lupnitz, of DeWitt, appeared before the city commission at its Jan. 14 meeting to request permission to operate her newly formed taxi company, L and H Family Cab, within city limits. The commission moved that a public hearing of necessity, to determine whether St. Johns needs a taxi service, be held at the next city commission meeting, Jan. 28. A presentation outlining probable users of L and H Family Cab, and the services the company will provide St. Johns residents, will be made by Lupnitz at that time.

In her request to appear before the council, Lupnitz wrote "My reasons for wishing to locate in Clinton County are based upon observations and comments from residents in the several years I've lived here. There is an obvious lack of public transportation for senior citizens or anyone for that matter."

If allowed to operate in St. Johns, L and H will tentatively be serving the area from 6-2:30 a.m. Cabs will be radio dispatched from the company's office located at 12263 North U.S. 27 in DeWitt.

Lupnitz is also re-

PEDIATRIC FAMILY WAITING ROOM DEDICATED-The family waiting room of Ingham Medical Center's Pediatric Department was recently dedicated to the memory of Lisa Thornburg of Owosso and Kevin Staley of St. Johns. "It's a place where parents can wait comfortably and still be near their kids," says Grace Iverson, past president and founder of IMC's PICU Friends. "It's one more way we can help at a time when families need all the help they can get." The fifth floor waiting room was made possible by contributions from the families and friends of Lisa Thornburg and Kevin Staley. The ribbon cutting ceremony (pictured) was attended by nearly 50 people. Sara Aldrich, patient care manager for the Pediatrics Department, cut the ribbon as members of both the Thornburg and Staley families looked on.

Letter to the Editor

Thanks from RAVE

Dear Editor,
We would like to thank you for your assistance with the recent returnable can and bottle collection sponsored by Relief After Violent Encounter (RAVE) and Good Samaritan Services. We would also like to thank all of the volunteer drivers and workers, the churches of the Good Samaritan network, and all of the people who so generously donated their returnables. A special thank you should go to Goff's Food Store and its employees, Miguel Martinez and Beth Parker, who did so much to make the drive a success. Because of the wonderful response from the community, we hope to make the returnable drive a semi-annual event. We want to provide a similar collection service after parties and open houses next spring.

Sincerely,
Janet Holden, Chairman of the Board, RAVE

Exchangites get positive mental attitude

St. Johns Exchange Club met last Thursday at the Colonial Restaurant and all came away with super positive attitudes. Much of this came about as a result of a special guest who spoke to the group.

Special guest speaker Phil Kline of Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company delivered an inspiring address eluding to positive thinking and development of proper attitudes to start each day. Kline told the group that in his work with Dale Carnegie courses over the years that anyone can benefit by adjusting his or her attitude to that of a positive nature.

In other business, President Dick Johnson announced several decisions by the club board involving upcoming Exchange Club projects. Among those was the established date set for the annual Pancake Supper to be held Saturday, April 13. It was voted upon by the membership to donate half the proceeds of this year's supper to the Child Safety Seat Council for furthering the availability of child car seats. More information regarding this project will appear in later Clinton County News editions.

It was also voted upon by the membership to donate $150 to the Clinton County Child Abuse Council for continuance of their fine work in the area.

Street parking leaves poor choices

BY HAROLD SCHMALTZ
General Manager

It seems these days that in view of the snow and icy conditions of our streets in St. Johns that a driver has two choices: (1) Risk a head-on collision with an oncoming car, or (2) Hit a parked car alongside the street. Choice 2 has no life involved other than your own, while Choice 1 has not only your life involved, but others in the other moving vehicle. Choice 2 is the best deal, right? Wrong.

Neither choice is good. But it seems for the past several weeks those are the choices because of folks parking along the streets. Many are parked several feet into the right driving lane, thus creating the hazard.

It's quite apparent we're picking at a selected few, those who park where it endangers others. We think there's got to be a better parking place for cars in light of these conditions, especially at night. What do you think?

Another part of the How to Pass at Rodney B. program is the use of academic coaches. In this program developed by Eshenroder, teachers individually coach students in the students area of academic weakness. All of this is done in the teachers spare time. "A majority of teachers pick a student at random," said Eshenroder, who believes that this practice keeps students from feeling that they are being singled out.

RBW journalism and english teacher James Fuller followed with a request for outside evaluation of the junior high school.

"We think that we're doing some very good things here, but of course we're biased because we're doing them," Fuller said, explaining the need for an outside evaluation. "What we need is a monetary commitment from the board."

The results of an outside evaluation, said Fuller, would enable the faculty at RBW to bring all aspects of the junior high's program up to a high standard of quality, and allow planners for the school to set long range goals rather than taking stop gap measures, as has been done in recent years. Fuller also pointed out that an evaluation would suggest ways to make revenue use more efficient and also give a full appraisal of the school to the public.

After thorough research, Fuller believes that the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, which accredits high school curricula for colleges and universities, evaluation program for traditional junior high schools would be best suited to the needs of Rodney B. Wilson Junior High. North Central already has evaluated and accredited St. Johns High School. An outside evaluation of the junior high has never been done.

St. Johns Schools Superintendent Earl Gabriel agreed that there is a need for outside evaluation at RBW. Gabriel warned, however, that if the evaluation is done, the board should follow up on North Central's suggestions. "If you're willing to supply money for evaluation, and buy into the criteria North Central has established, you also have to be ready to correct any violations that may be found," Gabriel told the board.

Board member William E. McCarthy pointed out that the public might be more supportive of requests for school money if the school was being evaluated from the outside.

Fuller requested that $2-3000 be set aside in next year's budget for the evaluation of the junior high. The main cost of the evaluation would not be the fee paid to North Central, but for release time for the teaching staff to prepare on-site material presentations and an opening meal with the schoolboard and teachers for the North Central accreditors as well as mileage and accommodations for the evaluating team. The evaluation process under North Central is designed to take place every seven years.

The evaluation process will take approximately two years, according to Fuller. He would like to see the evaluation take place during the 1986-87 school year, using the 1985-86 school year to prepare for evaluation. "What you have seen tonight is the tip of the iceberg--only a sample--of the dedication and excellence of the people in-involved in the St. Johns school systems," said Gabriel, concluding the junior high school's portion of the Jan. 7 schoolboard meeting.

Commission to prosecute sign violators

 requesting permission to set up a taxi stand in St. Johns' downtown business district.

In other communications received by the commission, a rate increase request from Continental Cablevision was denied. The commission authorized the city attorney to contact the cablevision company with the charge that the proposed base rate increase, from $9.25 to $10.95, is excessive. The proposed increase represents an addition of 18.4% to the existing base rate. St. Johns has an ordinance stating "no increase in one year shall exceed the increase in the consumers price index from the date of the last increase." The consumers price index increase since the time of Continental Cablevision's last rate hike in 1983 has only been 5.4%.

A request from Searles Investments Ltd. that the city approve a final plat of Roseview Subdivision before any construction work is done, so that lots in the subdivision can be sold prior to completion of construction, was given to the city's planning commission to review and recommend action on.

Authorization was given to the city to contact people and businesses with signs in violation of the city's ordinance. Violators will be given 15 days to remedy the situation before suit is filed against them. There are currently about 10 people listed as violators in St. Johns, according to City Clerk Richard Coletta. "The majority of these violators have been gas stations with portable type signs displaying gas prices and/or merchandise for sale," wrote Zoning Administrator Diane Edwards in a memo to the commission.

In old business taken care of Jan. 14, the commission moved to re-advertise for bids for printing brochures for the various departments. Only one printing bid was received in the previous request. The commission has $5000 budgeted for the printing of brochures in 1985.

Jesse Jones was given 7 days to demolish his vacant building on 407 N. Lansing Street. The former factory was found in violation of the city's dangerous building ordinance last summer, but it didn't constitute a real problem until its roof caved in after the first of the year ice storm, said City Clerk Coletta. Jones told the council last Monday that he would take care of demolishing the building himself. "We were prepared to start tearing it down probably starting Tuesday (Jan. 15)," said Coletta, detailing the city's plans to demolish the building.

Wonsey Tree Service's low bid of $1,170 for the city's annual tree trimming and removal program was accepted by the commission. Wonsey was also the city's tree contractor last year. This year the city plans to remove five trees and five stumps and trim 84 trees.

Under new business acted on by the commission Jan. 14, the commi-sion members learned that once more the property evaluation review conducted by City Assessor Diane Edwards was right on the money. This means that there won't be any property tax increase in the form of an across the board property value equalization for St. Johns city residents. "This is the second year in a row that we haven't had an across the board equalization factor," said Edwards. It is the third year in a row that there hasn't been an equalization for commercial and industrial properties.

In other commission actions, the commission authorized the acceptance of bids for a grass fire truck, approved the purchase of a pickup truck replacement box for the Department of Public Works, and sent St. Joseph Church's rezoning request to the planning commission for review and recommendation.

Cerny becomes garden editor

Former St. Johns High School graduate Denise Cerny, an employee of the Grand Rapids Press, recently assumed new duties as Garden Editor at the newspaper. She replaces 38-year writing veteran Charles E. Johnson.

Denise Cerny

Cerny, the daughter of Jim and Sue Cerny, was known in St. Johns athletics for her gymnastic ability. She has been associated with the Press since July of 1983.

Cerny has taught horticulture classes, worked in garden centers and MSU's horticulture department. She will be writing a question-and-answer column for the Press as well as the gardening calendar. She received her bachelor's degree in horticulture from Michigan State University and is presently earning a master's degree in journalism from MSU.

DeWitt adds full-time police officer

Mike Ferland, who has been a part-time officer on the DeWitt City Police Force for about a year, assumed full-time status with the department Jan. 1.

"This is the first time DeWitt's Police Department has been at full strength since 1977," said City Police Chief Wendell Myers. The city has 5 full-time and 4 part-time police of-icers. Budget reductions and the termination of the CETA program were the reasons behind the decrease in city officers, says Myers.

Ferland was sponsored by the city police department at the Michigan Law Officers Training School and holds an associate's degree law enforcement from Lansing Community College. Now a Lansing resident, Ferland is a 1979 graduate from DeWitt High School.

Ferland is a well-seasoned karate enthusiast. He has been practicing karate for nine years and captained the American Athletic Union-sponsored United States karate team for two years. He has also competed internationally in the sport, and has taught self-defense classes for children. As his appearance belies, in involved in bodybuilding, too.

Keeping Healthy

Many Americans Unaware of Ways to Prevent Cancer

Controllable causes of cancer are related to smoking, dietary factors, environmental factors, alcohol abuse, and excessive exposure to sunlight, according to the Health and Human Services Secretary, Margaret M. Heckler.

Although these controllable causes are estimated to account for 73% of all cancers, after conducting a survey of 1,876 people, the National Cancer Institute concluded that many Americans are unaware of measures to prevent cancer and hold a variety of misconceptions about the disease. Almost half of the respondents agreed with the statement, "There is not much a person can do to prevent cancer."

Secretary Heckler suggests that by eliminating smoking and including more fiber and less fat in their diets, individuals can substantially reduce their risk of cancer. "Changes in people's lifestyle and behavior could save 95,000 lives per year by the year 2000," Secretary Heckler predicts.

They are still under investigation.

On Jan. 12, Josie Maldonado, 32, was charged with drunk driving when she drove into the rear of a vehicle driven by Michael Patrick Malloy, 23, of Stoll Road in Lansing. Malloy's brother, Brian Francis Malloy, 18, of the same address, was seriously injured in the crash. Malloy's vehicle was stopped, waiting to turn into a business drive on Turner north of Sheridan when the crash occurred.

St. Johns City Police had only one crime to report, although a serious one, last week.

A breaking and entering at Trudeau's Jewelry Store in Southpoint Mall occurred early on Jan. 16. The window of the store was broken and a large amount of jewelry and watches were taken from the store. It is unknown how the perpetrators gained entrance to the mall. The case is still under investigation.

Clinton County Sheriff's Deputies recovered a stolen auto in Eagle Twp. Jan. 7. The car, a 1978 Chrysler Station Wagon, was towed as a road hazard from I-96 near Wright Road. The license plate was processed and it was found to be a stolen car. The wagon was stolen in Detroit and the owner apparently lives in Cadillac.

Also on Jan. 7, William Parker, of 10685 W. Grand River in Eagle Twp. had his semi-tractor broken into. Parker's am-fm radio, cb radio, and a Polar coat were taken from the cab of the truck. The property is valued at $350.

Tools were taken from Greg Eavey's truck on 5339 West Stoll Road in Watertown Twp. Jan. 8. A circular saw, a Sawzaw, a wood level, and two drill motors were taken from a locked box in Eavey's truck.

Someone shot the living room window of Carol Grubaugh, of N. Forresthill Rd. in Essex Twp. out with a shotgun Jan. 11. The window was valued at $4-500.

A breaking and entering left Ronald Swenson's S. Lowell Road house without a Sony TV, turn table, stereo receiver, tape recorder, tuner, and Ruger .357 handgun. Total value of the items was estimated at $3000.

A driver who had been drinking ran into the back of a vehicle driven by Donald Davis, 60, of St. Johns Jan. 10. Davis was westbound and slowing down to turn into Farmers Petroleum on M-21 near DeWitt Road when a car occupied by Michael Nelson and Matthew McCrumb, both 21 and both of Grand Ledge, struck Davis' vehicle in the rear. Nelson and McCrumb were both injured and taken to Clinton Memorial Hospital by ambulance. Davis was not injured.

COOK'S INTERNATIONAL CURRENCY

One-half pound of ground beef serves four when combined with condensed soups for quick-cooking Ah So Good Skillet.

This season taste combinations are bringing East and West together. Flavors from Mexico are joining with those of China to make spicy dishes with the wonderful taste of two different worlds. In the Ah So Good Skillet, five minutes' work is all it takes to simmer beef broth, beefy mushroom soup, ground beef, chili, soy sauce and noodles to a delectable peak. When you're done, bring the sizzling skillet straight to the table. Then relax. Your meal will be delicious and with so few tools used to make it, you'll have time to be with your family instead of the dishes.

AH SO GOOD SKILLET

- 1/2 pound ground beef
- 1 cup thin diagonally sliced carrots

- 1 cup diagonally sliced celery
- 1 can (10 3/4 ounces) Campbell's Condensed Beefy Mushroom Soup
- 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) Campbell's Condensed Beef Broth
- 3 cups uncooked fine noodles
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/4 cup chili sauce
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce

1. In 10-inch skillet over medium heat, brown meat and cook carrots and celery until tender. Stir to separate meat; pour off fat.
2. Stir in remaining ingredients; heat to boiling. Reduce heat to low. Cover; simmer 5 minutes. Stir occasionally. Makes 5 cups or 4 servings.

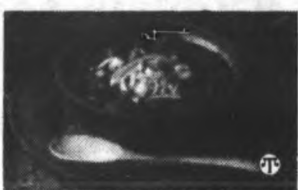

GREAT AMERICAN COOKING

Many gourmets—especially those from Texas—maintain that true chili contains only meat, chilies, herbs and spices, while others insist on tomatoes and beans. Still others disagree about the size of the meat pieces and the cooking time. To settle such debates, chili cooking contests have proliferated, particularly in the Southwest. Perhaps the most prestigious of these takes place every November in Terlingua, Texas: the World Championship Chili Cook-Off, the final showdown of preliminary winners and the climax of the chili cook-off season.

Texas Chili is one of more than 500 best-loved recipes from Colonial times to the present featured in "Campbell's Great American Cookbook." The famous food company has drawn upon its 100 years plus of American food experience to produce this fascinating and practical volume. Published by Random House, the cookbook is available at book and department stores for $16.95.

TEXAS CHILI

- 3 pounds beef for stew
- 2 tablespoons salad oil
- 4 medium onions, chopped
- 4 cloves garlic, minced
- 1/3 to 1/2 cup chili powder
- 2 tablespoons ground cumin
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce

Authentic Texas Chili

- 3 cups water
- Hot pepper sauce
- Shredded Cheddar cheese
- Sliced green onions

Cut beef into 1/2-inch pieces. In 4-quart saucepan over medium-high heat, in hot oil, cook meat until browned on all sides. With slotted spoon, remove meat to bowl, reserving drippings. In drippings, cook onions, garlic, chili powder, cumin and salt until onions are tender.

Return meat to saucepan; stir in tomato sauce and water. Over high heat, heat to boiling. Reduce heat to low. Cover; simmer 1 1/2 to 2 hours until meat is fork-tender. Season to taste with hot pepper sauce.

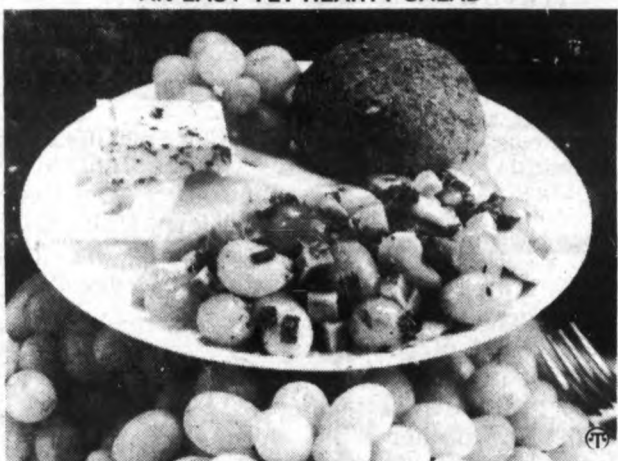

To serve: Ladle into bowls; garnish with cheese and green onions. Yields 6 cups.

Chili with Beans: Prepare as above but substitute 2 pounds ground beef for beef cubes and add 2 cans (16 ounces each) pinto beans, drained, along with tomato sauce.

FOOD IDEAS for all seasons

AN EASY YET HEARTY SALAD

A menu that can be prepared entirely in advance is a delight for any hostess. Consider Grape Supper Salad as an ideal choice for a soup and salad meal, the ultimate in make-ahead menus.

Ruby seedless grapes add a refreshing, colorful note to this hearty, main dish salad. Serve Grape Supper Salad with whole-grain rolls, an assortment of cheeses and a hearty soup to round out an easy, nutritious menu.

Use grapes from California for convenient snacks—children think they're great additions to a lunch box.

Fully ripe when shipped, store grapes in the refrigerator. They're at their best served chilled.

GRAPE SUPPER SALAD

- 1 cup grapes, halved and seeded if necessary
- 1 cup cooked or canned, drained large dry lima beans
- 1/2 cup cooked ham or Canadian bacon, cut into 1/4-inch cubes
- 3 tablespoons white wine vinegar
- 2 tablespoons oil
- 2 tablespoons each chopped green onion and parsley
- 1 clove garlic, crushed
- 1/4 teaspoon each salt and crushed thyme
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper

Combine grapes, beans and ham. Combine remaining ingredients; mix thoroughly. Pour over grape mixture; toss lightly to coat. Refrigerate several hours to blend flavors. Makes 3 or 4 servings.

INFLATION-FIGHTING FOOD IDEAS

GLORIOUS GUMBO

You can make the magic of the Mardi Gras come alive any time of the year with the help of the culinary spirit of New Orleans.

American-grown rice with Seafood Gumbo can capture the essence of Louisiana's Creole cooking.

SEAFOOD GUMBO, SOUTHERN STYLE

- 1/4 cup flour
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 1-1/2 cups chopped onions
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 1/2 medium green pepper, chopped
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 5 cups chicken broth
- 1 can (28 ounces) tomatoes, crushed
- 1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon bouquet garni*
- 1/4 teaspoon ground red pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 1 pound fish fillets, cut in 1-1/2-inch pieces
- 1 pound peeled, deveined raw shrimp
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen sliced okra
- 1-1/2 teaspoons gumbo file
- 6 cups hot cooked rice

Mardi Gras time in New Orleans often means lots of Seafood Gumbo with rice—a southern style treat you can make at home.

Blend flour in oil in Dutch oven or large pot (preferably cast iron). Cook, stirring constantly, until flour turns a deep brown. Add onions, celery, green pepper, and garlic; cook until tender. Stir in broth, tomatoes, tomato paste, and seasonings. Cover and simmer about 30 minutes. Add fish, shrimp, and okra. Cover and cook 10 minutes longer, or until shrimp turn pink. Adjust seasonings, if necessary. Stir in file. Do not boil once file is added. Serve in shallow bowls and top with rice. Makes 12 servings.

*Bouquet garni is a combination of herbs such as marjoram, sage, basil, thyme, rosemary, and oregano placed in a cheese-cloth bag or a tea-bag. A prepared blend may also be purchased.

News for TEA LOVERS

TEA PARTY FORERUNS REVOLUTION

"... who could blame
If Indians seized the tea,
And, chest by chest,
let down the same
Into the laughing sea?"
(Emerson, 1873)

Who would have thought that the American war for Independence would begin with no less than a tea party? The Boston Tea Party, that is.

Over 20 million "cups" of tea were created that December 16th in 1773 when a large band of men dressed as Red Indians dumped more than 340 chests of tea into the Boston Harbor.

It was all done in reaction to the ruling iron hand of the British Parliament. First they taxed tea without the Patriots consent. Then, Parliament assigned sole tea export rights to the East India Company.

Even though the love of tea was widespread among the colonists, they agreed to band together and deny themselves their favorite beverage.

Since the battle is long over and the point well-made, today's "colonists" needn't deny themselves the pleasures of tea. In fact, to commemorate the occasion, the Lipton Kitchens have developed these fine recipes made with Lipton's traditional high quality blend.

BOSTON TEA TODDY

- 3 cups boiling water
- 5 Lipton® Flo-Thru® Tea Bags
- 2 whole cloves
- 1/8 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 can (12 oz.) ginger ale

In teapot, pour boiling water over tea bags, cloves and nutmeg; cover and brew 5 minutes. Remove tea bags and cloves; stir in sugar.

Serve in cups or mugs and top with ginger ale. If desired, stir in additional sugar. Makes about 6 servings.

BRITISH BREW

- 5 cups boiling water
- 8 Lipton Flo-Thru Tea Bags
- 1 cup brandy or fruit flavor brandy
- 2 tablespoons honey
- 1/2 cup apricot, strawberry or blackberry preserves
- Sweetened whipped cream

In teapot, pour boiling water over tea bags; cover and brew 3 to 5 minutes. Remove tea bags; stir in brandy and honey. Into 8 cups or mugs, add 1 tablespoon preserves and tea. Top with whipped cream and garnish, if desired, with cinnamon stick stirrers. Makes about 8 servings.

Herbs And Spices Replace Salt In This Italian-Tasting Sauce

Excessive salt consumption is a national health issue that is not going away. For those consumers cutting back on salt or adhering to sodium restricted diets, Prego® No Salt Added Spaghetti Sauce offers homemade taste without added salt, sugar, starch, artificial colors, flavors or preservatives.

A deft use of authentic Italian herbs and spices is what gives Prego® No Salt Added Spaghetti Sauce its rich, robust flavor and aroma. With only 35 mg. sodium per serving, it is ideal to serve over cooked pasta, perfect for poultry, meat and fish, and superb as a base for more elaborate sauces.

STUFFED SHELLS IN RED SAUCE

- 8 jumbo shell macaroni
- 2 cups shredded low sodium Swiss cheese
- 1 cup dry curd cottage cheese
- 1/4 cup chopped parsley
- 1 jar (15 1/4 ounces) Prego No Salt Added Spaghetti Sauce (about 1 3/4 cups)
- 1/4 cup Burgundy wine or water
- 1/4 teaspoon fennel seed
- 1/8 teaspoon garlic powder

1. Cook shells according to package directions. Drain; set aside.
2. In small bowl combine cheeses and parsley. Stuff into shells.
3. In 10-inch skillet over medium heat, combine spaghetti sauce, wine, fennel and garlic. Bring to a boil.
4. Place shells in skillet. Reduce heat to low. Cover; simmer 10 minutes. Spoon sauce over shells. Makes 4 servings.

Co-op invites youth

Once again, high school students from rural Michigan will have an opportunity to learn about farm and consumer cooperatives during Michigan Rural Electric Youth Days '85, April 25 and 26. This fourth annual event, sponsored by the state's rural electric cooperatives and the Michigan Electric Cooperative Association (MECA), will be at the 4-H Kettunen Center in Tustin.

Three students from each rural electric cooperative will be selected to attend Rural Electric Youth Days '85. Some 40 students in all are expected to attend. The students will be selected on the basis of their interest in cooperatives, their commitment to rural life, and their leadership potential.

Interested students, whose parents are members of a rural electric co-op, should write a letter to their co-op expressing their desire to attend. The deadline for letters is March 15.

How do you "jump start" a car with a dead battery?

Connect one jumper cable to the positive (+) pole of the dead battery; clamp other end of same cable to positive pole of good battery. Connect the negative (-) pole of the good battery to one end of the other cable, then clamp the other end of the same cable to the stalled car's engine block on the side away from the battery. Start first the car with the good battery, then the other car. Remove cables—first from the engine block and booster car's negative terminal, then from the positive poles.

Man arrested in connection with outboard theft

Fernando M. Orta, 37, who resides at both 608 N. Ottawa in St. Johns and 608 W. Willow in Lansing, was arrested Friday Jan 18 through a cooperative effort by St. Johns Police Department and Clinton County Detective Bureau officers in connection with the theft of outboard motors from Beck's Farmarina and Bee's Sports Center last fall.

Orta has been charged with receiving and concealing stolen property valued at over $100. Outboards identified as those taken from Bee's and Becks were found in Orta's possession.

After appearing before Judge Martlew and demanding a preliminary examination, Orta is free on a $3000 personal reconnaissance bond. A date for his preliminary examination has yet to be set.

TRIVIA

U. S. Travelers

U.S. passports have required a photograph of the bearer since 1914, and assumed their present booklet format in 1926, National Geographic says. Of 16 million valid American passports, 4 million were used in international travel in 1983.

Short Cut

A ship sailing from New York City to San Francisco via the Panama Canal would travel 6,000 miles, while the same trip around South America would take 15,000 miles, National Geographic World calculates.

Shepard auctions anything, everything

$1000 bid-now 1100- now 1200, $1200 bid, now 1300-now 1250-1250 bid, now 1300-now 1300. Sold for 1250. Thank you, and what's your number?

Sell the tractor right there. How many dollars on it? Bid to buy 'em. $20,000 bid-bid-bid. Sold for $30,000. Sell the farm. 640 acres including the house and all the buildings. How many dollars wouldja give? Willya give $1,250,000? Bid to buy 'em. $1,250,000-on goes the steady pace of Jim Shepard's auctioneering chant.

"In today's market and fast paced society the auctioneering method of selling goods and real estate is the fastest way of converting property to cash, and then that cash allows the sellers to get on with their future plans," says Shepard. "It also gives excellent results," he adds.

Shepard became interested in auctioneering in 1952 when he bought an arc welder at an auction. Since then, he has sold everything from fish to fenders and autos to wagons. Shepard says that he can't think of anything starting with X, Y, or Z that he's auctioned unless you count the zipper on a sofa.

Shepard has been selling real estate since 1966 and has been associated with the Greater Lansing Board of Realtors since then. He has sold properties in Clinton, Ingham, Eaton, and Gratiot Counties.

After making a successful bid on real estate, the most important part of buying a house or some land is good financing, says Shepard, and assistance in finding a satisfactory mortgage is just one of the services Shepard performs for his customers.

Shepard's hometown is in Bath, and his wife Nancy is from the St. Louis-Breckenridge area.

The Shepards moved to St. Johns in 1978, where they live in a big old farmhouse that they have been rebuilding. The house sits on 10 acres.

The Shepards have three children, Kirsten 16, Tim 16, and Matt, 18. We all get involved in a successful auction, says Jim and Nancy.

Tax form holds options for charity contributions

As Michigan taxpayers fill out their 1984 state income tax forms, they will have two options for contributing a portion of any refund that they might be receiving. They can choose to donate $2 from this refund to a state fund for local child abuse programs and/or they can choose to donate at least $2 to a fund for the development of non-game wildlife habitat.

The Wildlife Fund was new for the 1983 tax year. The monies are used to support research and management of non-game fish and wildlife, designated endangered species and designated plant species. The fund, administered by the Department of Natural Resources, is designed to preserve and protect non-game wildlife.

Winter barrow show will be happening at MSU Jan. 29

It is time again for the Winter Barrow Show! The show is being sponsored by the Michigan Swine Breeders Association, Cooperative Extension Service, and Animal Science Department of Michigan State University and will be held Tuesday, January 29, at 1:00 p.m. in the Livestock Pavilion on the MSU campus. Dave Walter, purebred Yorkshire breeder from Warren, IN, will judge the 3 divisions of the Barrow Show. As in past years, the Winter Barrow Show will consist of the Derby Barrow Division, Truckload Division, and Open Individual Barrow Division. All Michigan swine producers and junior exhibitors are encouraged to participate by entering their best market hogs in order to observe the live evaluation and obtain carcass and health information on their hogs. There will not be a Junior Division held this year however, the junior exhibitors are encouraged to participate with the adults in the other divisions of the show.

A record 323 barrows were nominated and weighed on test in October for the Derby Barrow Contest. Swine producers who have nominated barrows for this contest will bring their entries to the Show where barrows will be weighed off test and put into weight classes for the live show. Average daily gain information will be calculated and used in the live placing. Barrow entries will then be slaughtered and carcass and health information will be collected. Actual carcass measurements and growth rate will be used to determine a Supreme Barrow Index (pounds of lean gain per day on test) which will be used as the final placing of the Derby Barrows.

Swine producers wishing to participate in the Winter Barrow Show may do so by entering the Truckload Division or the Open Individual Barrow Division. All you have to do to enter is bring your entries to the Show where the hogs will be individually weighed and put into classes.

A truckload consists of 6 market hogs of which the maximum of 3 may be gilts, each hog must weigh between 200-250 lbs. The 6 market hogs will be shown live, then slaughtered. The truckloads will be placed on percent muscle. The health and carcass data will be collected and sent to the individual producer.

For the Individual Division only barrows may be exhibited. The barrows must weigh between 200-240 lbs. These animals are not eligible to compete in any other division of the show. They will be shown live according to weight division, slaughtered and health and carcass data will be collected. Carcasses will be placed on percent muscle. Again the health and carcass data will be sent the individual producer.

With the large number of entries expected and to facilitate faster and easier weighing, exhibitors may bring their entries to the MSU Livestock Pavilion on Monday, January 28, after 2:00 p.m. If entries are not brought to the show on Monday, they must be entered and weighed between 9:00 a.m. and 12:00 noon on Tuesday, January 29.

Plan to participate in the 1985 Winter Barrow Show by entering your best hogs. You will have the opportunity to compete with other top producers in the state in both the live and the carcass show and you will obtain valuable carcass and health data to help you evaluate your management practices. See you there!

Tax benefits for volunteers

4-H leaders along with all other volunteers can take advantage of a number of tax benefits under the general charitable contribution deduction of the Internal Revenue Code.

Volunteers can deduct "unreimbursed expenditures made incident to rendition of services to a qualifying organization." This means that a volunteer may deduct out-of-pocket expenses incurred while doing volunteer work for groups approved by the IRS. The 4-H program is one of those groups approved, but of course there are several others as well.

Some of the types of items that may be deducted by volunteers include: automobile mileage and expenses; telephone bills; entertainment and meals given to others; and of course, direct gifts of money to the organization.

Some things that can not be deducted include: value of volunteer time; cost of babysitters while doing volunteer work; and own meals and/or entertainment.

Automobile related expenses may be deducted at a flat 9 cents per mile rate or an actual expense basis. If you use the standard rate of 9 cents per mile, you can also claim any parking fees and tolls in addition.

Volunteers who wish to take advantage of the allowed deductions must keep records to substantiate their expenses.

The deductions mentioned here and other volunteer benefits can be taken by volunteers who itemize their deductions as well as those who take the standard deduction. With the passage of the Charitable Contributions Legislation in 1980, even those taxpayers who take the standard deduction can receive a tax benefit for their contributions. During 1984, all taxpayers can deduct 25 percent of their charitable contributions, up to a maximum of $75.00.

A complete description of federal tax deductions for volunteers can be obtained from the IRS, publication No. 526 "Income Tax Deductions for Contributions."

For volunteers who didn't keep track of their expenses in 1984 and therefore are not prepared to take advantage of the tax benefits for this year, there is no better time than the present to begin keeping track for 1985. As people who are committed to helping your community by volunteering your time, energy and expertise, you are entitled to these benefits.

Preservation of game species is accomplished through the various hunting and licensing programs. Approximately $250,000 was contributed to the wildlife fund in 1984.

The Children's Trust

Fund is in its third year of operation. Taxpayers can donate $2 from the refund ($4 for joint returns) for local programs to prevent child abuse. Half of the money is used at the local level and half is invested by the Department of the Treasury. Local communities match funds to be used to provide prevention services through schools, hospitals, and other public and private agencies. Some of the types of programs funded with these monies include drop-in centers, newborn parenting classes, community education on parenting and educational programs for children on child abuse. Approximately $517,000 was collected in 1984 from the tax check-off, plus $60,000 in interest and $30,000 from private donations.

WHY HAVE A RETIREMENT PLAN THAT'S SPECULATIVE, WHEN YOU CAN HAVE ONE THAT'S GUARANTEED?

If your IRA is in a mutual fund, you might actually end up with less than you put in. That's because most mutual funds are based on the performance of the stock market. In other words, on speculation.

But the IRAs we offer are based on something stronger. Not only do we offer a guaranteed rate of return, but your IRA is federally insured up to $100,000.

So when you're opening a new IRA, or thinking about switching your current one, take the speculation out of your retirement with an IRA that's guaranteed. After all, the date of your retirement is set. The performance of a mutual fund isn't.

Benson plays for public

By LARRY HOOK

Sometimes, after a player has been in the National Basketball League for a few years, he gets caught up in all of the money and the spotlights, and loses perspective of the world around him.

But not Kent Benson.

Benson, an eight-year veteran of the pro ranks who now plays for the Detroit Pistons, spends a lot of his money each year by purchasing 100 season tickets to Pistons' home games. The seats are given by Benson to youth groups and charities throughout the season.

"I just want to give something back to the community," Benson explained of his yearly gesture. "The Lord has provided me well, so I'm happy to be able to give something back."

The section that Benson's guest sit in is located at the southeast

P-W edges Portland St. Pat's 54-53

By LARRY HOOK
Sports Writer

On Friday night, Jan. 11, Pewamo-Westphalia's varsity basketball team trimmed Portland St. Pat's, 54-53, at P-W High School.

The win upped Pewamo-Westphalia's overall record to 4-2, and their league mark improved to 2-1.

The loss for the Shamrocks spoiled a St. Pat's comeback, which saw them rally from a 27-18 halftime deficit.

"We fought back," Coach Tony Trierweiler of St. Pat's said, "but we just couldn't hit our free-throws down the stretch."

St. Pat's hit just 9-of-21 free-throws in the game, while the Pirates canned 16-of-23 charity-attempts.

The outcome of the game was decided with just nine seconds remaining, when senior center Ron Shafer of P-W hit a pair of free throws to give his team what proved to be an insurmountable three-point lead.

Shafer led all scorers in the contest, chalking up 19 points. Teammate Doug Schmidt added 10 points for the winners.

For St. Pat's, senior guard Kirk Beard led the way with 16 points. Senior forward Ken Cook added 13 markers for the Shamrocks.

JUNIOR VARSITY — In the JV game, played at P-W High School on Jan. 11, the JV Shamrocks defeated the Pirates by a 50-46 score.

Keeping Healthy

Hand Protection

Working with hands is considered good for mind and body, but is hard on hands. A weekend bout with auto-mobile repairs, stripping, painting and refinishing old furniture or building a book-case or desk can create havoc on skin.

To retain finger dexterity while protecting hands against the ravages of dirt, grime, grease, wallpaper glues, and irritating oils and paints, there is a skin barrier cream that protects against water-insoluble irritants and acts like a strong but gentle, invisible barrier film.

The cream is called Kerodex 51 and is applied like a fine cosmetic skin cream. Its protection lasts for three to four hours unless hands come in contact with water. After a project is completed the cream is easily washed off with soap and water.

Kerodex 51 also makes clean up faster and easier because its "lifting action" helps rid skin of dirt, grime and other irritants which can become inbedded in the skin.

Body by Baker fulfills longtime goal

By JOE HOPPE
Staff Writer

"Basically, this is what I've always wanted to do, and it's finally coming around," says Gil Baker, 30, whose realized ambition, Body by Baker, opened up at 506 1/2 N. Clinton Dec. 1.

Body by Baker does "everything" in the way of auto body repair, including painting, bumping, and collision work. Baker puts the emphasis on collision work. "I specialize in late model insurance repair," says Baker, who has had nine years of body shop experience before starting his own business. Baker has been doing body repair on his own vehicles since he was 16. He's worked at Bob's Auto Body here in St. Johns, and Capitol Dodge and University Olds in Lansing.

So far, Baker has done body work on about ten cars in his new shop, and has two more he's currently working on. "Being a small shop gives me firsthand control of the job, and therefore gives me firsthand control of the quality," says Baker.

"I'm genuinely concerned with quality. I know it sounds pretty cliché, but it's true."

An example of Baker's concern is the care he gave a 1981 Dodge Omni last week. The car was only in his shop to have some bumping and painting done on its front end. After the job was done, though, the part of the car Baker had worked on looked so much better than the rest of it that he polished the whole car. "Basically what I fixed looked good, the rest of the car didn't," said Baker. So he made the rest of the car look good too, free of charge.

COLLISION WORK A SPECIALTY-Gil Baker, owner of Body by Baker, St. Johns newest body shop, puts a refinished plastic nosepiece on a Dodge Omni. "I'm truly concerned with quality," says Baker. Photo by Joe Hoppe, CCN.

Besides all the paperwork; a business license, sales tax license, and motor vehicle repair facility registration, Baker has based his new small business on a "combination of guts and experience. I wouldn't have been able to come anywhere near doing this five years ago," he says. He has been putting things together and working at finding a suitable location for his business since April 1984.

Like all small businessmen, Baker has hopes of expanding one day, and hiring a few workers, but for now, he's pretty happy with the start of a business he has wanted to get started for a long time.

Blown Fuses May Signal Need For Extra Circuit

Is an overloaded circuit the only cause of blown fuses?
A short in an electric appliance will cause fuses to blow. The most common cause of blown fuses, however, is an overloaded circuit. If a fuse blows, make sure electric appliances are turned off before replacing the fuse. Check the number of appliances that were operating when the fuse blew. If you are unable to move some of the appliances to other electrical outlets, you should have another circuit added.

What causes paint to "run" when it is applied with an electric or aerosol spray?

Paint will run, or sag, when sprayed because the application is too heavy. In trying to get an even first coat, the operator applies too much paint. It's best to plan on two applications when spray painting smaller objects. Don't hold the spray in one spot, move it rapidly, cover the entire surface and then repeat the process.

What type of sealer is used on interior masonry walls of basements?

Water-proofing of unpainted basement walls is done with a cement-based compound or with plastic or alkyd-lates masonry paints. It is necessary that the wall be unpainted and that manufacturer's directions are followed closely in preparing and applying the mixture.

The first margarine was produced during the Franco-Prussian War of 1870 when Napoleon III conducted a contest to develop a substitute for scarce butter. A French chemist came up with "oleo."

Benson

 end of the upper deck in the Pontiac Silverdome. A banner hangs over the edge of the railing and reads "KENT'S KORNER."

Benson said he wants to provide an opportunity to the youngsters of the Detroit area that he never had when he was a kid.

"I never had a chance to go to an NBA game as a kid," he said.

Benson was one of the first players out of the clubhouse to sign autographs before a recent game with the New Jersey Nets, and tried to oblige every fan.

The 6'11 forward-center came to the Pistons in 1980 from the Milwaukee Bucks in a controversial trade for Bob Lanier, the Pistons' all-time top center. Benson has been a starter during most of his career with Detroit, but has been relegated to a backup role for much of this season.

He has averaged nearly six points per game this year, and has also contributed strong defense and rebounding efforts to the Pistons' squad, and is a steady influence on the team's younger players.

Benson, who turned 30 on Dec. 27, is a resident of Troy and the father of two children. He is a graduate of Indiana University.

This year's Pistons, expected by many to excel, have struggled to stay above the .500 mark so far, due partially to injuries. Benson said it's been tough, but things are looking up.

"This is going to be a very good team," the big guy said. "We're getting the chemistry down."

When Benson entered the game against New Jersey, a big cheer came from KENT'S KORNER as usual. His guests on that day were kids from the Troy Boys' and Girls' Club. The cheering has become a custom over the last five seasons at the Silverdome, and there are few players, if any, who deserve it more.

Around the sports world;
CHICAGO IS FAST becoming one of the sports capitals of the United States.

The Windy City, much like Detroit, suffered with mediocre to terrible teams through most of the 1970's.

But this past year has seen the uprising of many of its professional teams.

The Chicago Cubs won the National League East in baseball, and won the city's hearts in the process. The Cubs lost to the San Diego Padres in the N.L. playoffs, but Ryne Sandberg, Leon Durham, Rick Sutcliffe and company brought the Cubbies closer to a pennant that in any year since they won their last one, way back in 1945.

Walter Payton and the Bears also captured the hearts of Chicago sports fans, winning the NFC's Central Football Division.

Payton broke the NFL's all-time rushing record during the season, and the Bears advanced all the way to the NFC's championship game before falling to San Francisco's 49'ers.

And the Bulls of the National Basketball Association, mired deep in the standings ever since unloading center Artis Gilmore a few years back, have a new superstar; Michael Jordan. The first-year forward has brought fans back to the Bulls' games, and has made the NBA highlight films on numerous occasions with his slam-dunks.

The Bulls aren't going to win their division this season, but Jordan will keep things exciting while the Bull's hierarchy rebuilds around him.

Even Chicago's hockey team, the Blackhawks, are doing well. Despite a record only around .500, the Hawks are contending for first place in the NHL's lowly Norris Division.

THE 1985 TOPPS BASEBALL cards are now available in some areas around St. Johns. This year is TOPPS' 35th anniversary, and they've celebrated by putting out their best set of cards in years.

The cards feature baseball trivia questions on most of the backs, something that TOPPS hasn't done in years. The cards also have interesting information on the backs, instead of boring highlights of games from the previous year.

The fronts aren't anything spectacular, but are easy to read and pleasing to the eye. There is only one photo on each front this year, compared to the two-photo fronts of 1983 and 1984.

This year's set once again features 792 cards, and is highlighted with rookie cards of Juan Samuel, Alvin Davis and Dwight Gooden.

There are two Pete Rose cards this year, one as a manager and one as a first baseman-manager. There is also a card for every Detroit Tiger who advanced to post-season play last year, including Sid Monge, Dave Rozema and the recently traded Howard Johnson.

The 1985 DONRUSS baseball cards are also on the market, but FLEER has yet to make its 1985 debut in Michigan.

More than half of the Tiger spring training exhibition games scheduled for Florida in 1985 will be broadcast over the WJR Tiger baseball network.

Sixteen of the 31 exhibitions will be aired, including the March 18 exhibition opener against the Red Sox from Lakeland.

Four of the broadcasts will be night games. The final exhibition broadcast will be Friday, April 5 against the New York Mets. The regular season will begin on April 8 against Cleveland at Detroit and all regular season games will be carried over the Tiger network which locally includes WMMQ-FM 92.7 in Charlotte.

Detroit Pistons beat the Los Angeles Lakers two Sunday's ago. Isiah Thomas scored 30 points and had 20 assists, showing the nation that he and the Pistons are for real, and will be a force to be reckoned with come playoff time.

Isiah has been playing well all year, and now his much-heralded teammates, guys like Dan Roundfield, Kelly Tripucka, John Long and Bill Laimbeer, are starting to hit their stride too.

Bird Rock

The cock-of-the-rock, a bird found in remote areas of South America, is named for two of its characteristics, reports National Geographic. The male bird earned the name "cock" because of its rooster-like appearance and combative behavior. The female added the "rock" to the name because of her habit of nesting in sheltered rock niches.

DeWitt may revitalize downtown

By JOE HOPPE
Staff Writer

DeWitt's Downtown Development Authority and its Businessman's Association began their initiation of a downtown revitalization program for DeWitt last Wednesday, at Prairie Creek Golf Course.

About 50 city residents showed up for the meeting, hosted by City Assistant Administrator Bob Peterson, who was filling in for Downtown Development Authority Chairman Peg Guilford and DeWitt Business Association President Bob Tate.

The body of the presentation was given to Bob Terry, coordinator for the Michigan Department of Commerce Downtown Revitalization and Mainstreet Program. Terry was assisted by Chris Hill-Rowley, also of the Department of Commerce. Hill-Rowley holds a degree in historic preservation from Eastern Michigan University.

Terry has been the head of the state's downtown revitalization program since it began in 1983, and currently is working extensively with nine Michigan communities to revitalize their downtowns. About 75 other communities have consulted with the department for downtown revitalization.

The nine communities extensively involved in revitalizing their downtowns are all participating in a program designed by the National Mainstreet Center, a national trust for historic preservation of downtown areas.

Five more spaces in this program will be opening up in 1985, but if DeWitt is going to be one of them, a detailed application has to be turned in to the revitalization program by Jan. 31. The application has to include the plans for a revitalization committee, the financial commitment to hire a project director, and information about the community and its goals. "There has to be a commitment, financially, with work, and to change. There has to be a commitment to the program," said Terry.

There are four basic points to the National Mainstreet Center's downtown revitalization program, said Terry.

The first point is organization. Not only does the effort have to be organized, but there has to be an organization involved in the effort that is truly representative of the community. "The organization must be unified, representative, and responsive," said Terry.

The second point of the center's revitalization program is design.

"You need to create an environment people enjoy being in," said Terry. Terry cited malls as an example of a controlled, often enjoyable environment. While one of the strong points of a main street is that it is not a mall, there are some details in mall designs that main streets could pick up on, said Terry.

The third point of the program is promotion. People have to know about the project. It has to be visible, and people need to be pulled in, to get involved, said Terry.

The fourth and final point of the National Mainstreet Revitalization Center's program is economic restructuring. "In other words," said Terry, "main street has to pay the bills." Three different groups have interests in the project, and all can be involved in the economic restructuring, Terry said. Those groups are the government, the citizenry, and the business and property owners.

"Mainstreet needs to identify with the community, and the community needs to give you a reason to identify with it," Terry told the DeWitt residents.

The state's mainstreet program coordinator believes that something can be done with DeWitt's main street business section, but "goals and objectives have to be set, and you need a commitment."

New dental practice

Borgerson back in town

After six months of "time off" away from St. Johns, dentist Norman Borgerson, 52, is back helping to serve the community's dental needs.

Borgerson worked in association with Dr. Jeruzal in his 105 S. Ottawa office up until Jeruzal moved his practice last summer. Now, Borgerson and Dr. Dale Hart, D.D.S. are operating a general family dentistry out of the Ottawa Street office. Borgerson and Hart started doing dental work in their new practice last Thursday, Jan.

17. Before practicing dentistry in St. Johns, Borgerson worked for 18 years in Big Rapids. He has been a practicing dentist since 1958. Borgerson's Doctor of Dental Surgery degree comes from the University of Michigan.

"I'm really looking forward to returning to St. Johns," says Borgerson. "I like the community a lot. I really enjoy a small, close knit community."

Borgerson and Hart will be caring for patients by appointment only.

Mulling Over The Movies

By Joe Hoppe

Of the three recent "country" movies, Places in the Heart, Country, and The River, which is now showing at Cinema III in South Point Mall, The River is the best.

While Places in the Heart confines itself to the fairly straightforward story of a widow trying to keep the farm together, fighting sexism and racism in the South during the '30s along the way, and Country confines itself to a bleak Midwest and a corn farmer fighting the government's economic injustices, The River takes the farmer fighting for his/her land theme just a little further, and like the flowing waters, expands and expands across the field.

The first obstacle faced by the farm family of the River (the father is Mel Gibson, an Australian actor recently seen in the Road Warrior on TV, he also starred in Year of Living Dangerously, the mother is Sissy Spacek, of Carrie and Coal Miner's Daughter fame, and like the other two "country" movies, they've got two kids; an older boy and a younger girl) is the river itself. A beautifully-shot flood takes up the first few minutes of the movie. One gets the feeling that this happens often, it's just worse this time.

River flows by wonderfully

Add a flooding river to a generally bad economy (a lot like 1981 here in Michigan), a giant agro-company intent on flooding the valley our main characters' farm sits in to make a hydroelectric plant, and the same kind of farmer financial problems faced by Sam Shepard in Country. Along with all those problems, there are the same opportunities for the movie to be interesting. And it is.

There are also a lot of moral-type problems in The River. The financial end of things is admittedly better explored in Country, but the farm auction scenes here, and the speech by a foreclosed farmer, are much more emotional. When his family needs money, while waiting for the corn to turn ripe, Mel Gibson has to go to work in a factory in the city. The only work he can find is as a scab in a steel mill, which is almost an armed camp surrounded by angry strikers.

While this section of the movie may not necessarily be too accurate, it does have some of the most impact—especially as a contrast between the agricultural environment and the industrial.

Another moral-type question in The River is should the family even be trying to keep the farm in the first place? If they elected to sell it, they would come out $25000 ahead and clear, and the hydroelectric power plant would provide jobs and cheaper power to the area. Another movie, Tennessee Valley Authority, made in the 50s and starring Montgomery Clift, looked at the same question from another point of view. Clift starred as a government agent trying to persuade a "backward" old Tennessee hill woman into being "sensible" and giving up her land. At a gut level, Gibson and Spacek should keep their land, and that's a level, along with most others, where The River really works.

While The River tells an interesting and meaningful story, it is also plain great to look at. The country the movie is set in (it was filmed in Tennessee, but a state or city is never mentioned by name in the movie) is wonderful, and what director Mark Rydell does with all the scenic beauty (and sometimes scenic ugliness) is wondrous. Often, just the scenes are enough, and the image stays up there on the screen just like a well-thought-out photograph. These single images remain after the film as much as the storyline.

The ending of The River is one of the finest of the image-moments, both visually, and with a sweet childlike hopefulness.

Kids might be a little bored with The River, which earns its PG-13 rating with language, a little violence and love scenes between Spacek and Gibson. But it's a great film for young teenagers and adults.

Freezer burn can ruin fish

Outside, everything is covered with ice except the lakes. The grasses are frosted and coated to a point that you couldn't walk within a half-mile of game if you were hunting. If you were to try and fish you had best try the piers on the Great Lakes or the rivers for steelhead trout.

I'm thinking of writing a new column, "Indoors," that could perhaps offer a few suggestions on what to do during times like these. But the lakes will ice over soon I know, and we will be adding to the fish in the freezer. The first ice of the year will simply arrive later, so patience is what we need in the meantime. So let's build a fire in the fireplace and consider something that needs annual consideration.

What is the condition of the "wild" meat in your freezer? Venison, pheasants, quail, grouse, rabbits, squirrels, fish, and whatever else you may wrap and freeze, should be examined periodically and scheduled for use. It is a shame to waste those fine creatures that meant so much to our outdoor trips and excursions.

Freezer burn is the main culprit in damaging fish and game — that and assuming that these meats can be kept indefinitely. A friend of mine prepared a beautiful walleye two years after he caught it. "It was dry and tasted fishy," he said. I would imagine that it was of a texture and flavor roughly resembling an old, unshined bowling shoe. After all, dehydration is what freezer burn really is and the recommended duration of fish in the freezer is six months.

New freezers often come with a listing of meats and other foods and their recommended storage times. With careful preparation of the food, these times may be stretched a little. These listings, of course, don't include wild fish and game, so we have to do some figuring.

Any advice on freezing will begin with something like, "select quality meat or fish, wrap carefully and freeze quickly." I double-wrap, using a saran-like plastic first and then a good freezer paper. I'm also careful to date each package I freeze and to avoid punching holes in the packages.

As far as suggested times are concerned, remember that wild meats are more lean than those purchased at market, and that a guide would usually be that leaner meats could be kept longer.

Those freezer guides I referred to earlier suggest that beef may be frozen for up to a year. I suspect venison too should hold for that length of time. Poultry and lean fish, the guides say, are good for six months. Rabbits, pheasants and most fish should be about the same with "oily" fish like salmon, good for a shorter

Cooking Trend

Nutritional trends are changing the way people are cooking. They are cooking fewer fried foods, using less salt and using less sugar, says University of California, Davis nutritionist Joanne Ikeda.

"Many people are decreasing the fat in their diet by eating less fried food. The fat content is considerably less when the food is broiled, baked or roasted instead of fried," explains the UC Cooperative Extension nutrition education specialist.

Hot Dry Rocks May Be Source of Electricity

Hot dry rock is an alternative geothermal energy resource that could one day be tapped by drilling a system of wells deep into the earth's crust, connected by hydraulic fractures to create a man-made heat reservoir. Heat from the hot rock could be extracted by circulating water continually down one well, through the reservoir and up the second well to a surface electrical-generating plant.
