Schuette talks with farmers

By KIMBERLY MARSHELL
Staff Writer

Congressman Bill Schuette talked to local farmers March 11 about current agricultural issues.

Schuette met with 15 farmers and agriculture industry representatives at the home of Tom Irrer, 4507 S. Francis road, St. Johns.

Schuette spent an hour answering questions and asking for opinions.

"I am interested in getting opinions from people in the business of agriculture, people involved in day-to-day operations," said Schuette.

Schuette believes the farm bill should address some of the long-term problems agriculture is facing now.

"Farm legislation should include anti-embargo language, agriculture shouldn't be used as a sword. The farm bill should be long-term so farmers can plan for the future," said Schuette. "It should also include trade sanctions to protect American farmers from being victimized by unfair subsidies in foreign markets."

Schuette disagrees with people who blame President Reagan for budget cuts.

"Congress has the responsibility to whack the budget and reduce it in a fair way," Schuette said. "Everyone needs to share the responsibility of reducing the budget. But, it should not be balanced on the back of agriculture—everyone must give, including defense."

One of the farmers, a local dairyman, expressed his concern over foreign dairy products being shipped into this country.

"Foreign dairy products aren't being penalized, like American dairy products.

If there really is a dairy surplus, why import at all?"

Another dairy farmer questioned the quality of the foreign products.

"I don't believe the foreign products have the same standard of quality (as the American products). The foreign products should be as rigorously inspected as the American products."

Schuette agreed with the farmers' views, and said he would keep them in mind when working on future farm legislation.

A farm industry representative said 35 percent of the farmers will not get to the field this year unless they get operation loans. He asked Schuette if there will only be corporate farms in the future.

"Corporate farms are not inevitable. I believe that relief should be targeted to the family farm, anything else isn't fair," said Schuette.

Schuette wrapped up the meeting by asking farmers if they preferred a drastic change in new policy, or a phase-in policy change.

Sheriff Terry Haneckow

Sheriff advises taking inventory

If your home were robbed or destroyed by fire tomorrow, would you be able to give police or your insurance company an accurate list of missing or destroyed items?

Chances are you would not, according to Clinton County Sheriff Terry R. Haneckow.

"Simple precautions, such as making a written inventory of your valuables, can help protect you against losses,"

Sheriff Haneckow advises.

He says that a complete household inventory should include a list of the contents in each room of your house, along with serial or model numbers where possible, and an estimated value of the items.

"If you use an inventory form, you will have a permanent record of the contents of your home readily available.

Such forms are often available from your insurance company," Sheriff Haneckow notes.

He also recommends "taking photographs of each room in the house, as well as close up pictures of special valuables and jewelry. These, along with your inventory list, should be kept in a safety deposit box," he says.

One more step which the sheriff recommends citizens take to protect belongings is to engrave their Drivers License number on valuables to provide positive identification if the property should be stolen.

"Many times we recover lost or stolen property which is never returned to the rightful owner because positive identification of the valuables cannot be made," Sheriff Haneckow declares, ad-

Good earns Eagle Scout designation

Dale Good was presented with Scoutings highest award, the Eagle Scout, on March 14 by past scoutmaster Al Bachman at the First Congregational Church in St. Johns.

Good began his scouting activities in 1975 and earned the Arrow of Light, cub scoutings highest award, in 1978. He has been an active scout since.

His service project for Eagle Scout involved the organizing and supervising of his troop members in general cleaning and reorganization of the St. Johns Sr. Citizens Center.

Good was selected for advanced leadership training held at the Northern Wisconsin National High Adventure

Base where his troop later joined him for a 50 mile wilderness canoe trip under his leadership.

His most recent honor was being selected as Honor Guard before the Michigan State Senate for their presentation of Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 60 to the Boy Scouts of America, honoring the Scouts on their 75th birthday. Only four scouts in the state were selected for the Guard.

Attendance at his ceremony will include Eagle Scout brother Phil Good and parents, Phillip and Faye Good, 705 E. Cass, St. Johns.

Letters to the Editor

Citizen replies to driving charge

To the Editor:

In regards to February 19 letter to the editor, I am the driver of the maroon compact

car. (Escort, to be exact.)

I did stop at the corner of W. State Street and Ottawa. I waited for 3 or 4 cars before you showed up. The high snow banks and you with no lights on made it impossible to see you. So, I crept out to see if there were any cars. I did not run the stop sign. If you were going such a slow speed, why did you have to swerve? Why couldn't you have just stopped?

Yes, the traffic does move fast on that hill. You were no exception! The other two people in my car agree you were moving over the speed limit.

I have been driving for three years. Never been stopped, warned, or ticketed for anything what so ever. I do not consider that reckless or inconsiderate!

Teen concerned about death

Dear Editor,

My heart went out to that child that her/his kitten was killed by a speeding car (March 5th-signed Debra Van-nest). I would have cried if my pet cat was run over by a careless driver. I really care about any animals, even skunks. Give the wildlife a chance to live, also I mean tame ones, too.

It is really dumb for the police to give helpless and injured kittens that blow, giving him less chance to survive when the kitten has a chance to live.

I would love to give that child a new kitten (not yet born, will be soon). I have cats right now. I would never be one of those speedy and showy off teenagers!!

Exchange students wanted

Do you want to travel? Would you like to live abroad? How about becoming part of an international family?

Youth for Understanding invites you to become part of their foreign student exchange program and live in one of 26 countries for the summer or for a year.

The Youth for Understanding program is an exciting adventure that will give you a new appreciation of another culture. There are still openings in many countries for this coming summer and the 1985-86 school year, but the time to begin planning is now.

The deadline for registration in the YFU summer and year program is April 1. Applications for Australia in January of 1986 will be accepted until Oct. 25.

Youth for Understanding, one of the largest foreign student exchange programs, is a non-profit international educational organization. The program stresses family living as the heart of the learning experience. As a YFU student you will live with a foreign family and become a part of that family, sharing in their daily life and becoming personally involved in a different culture.

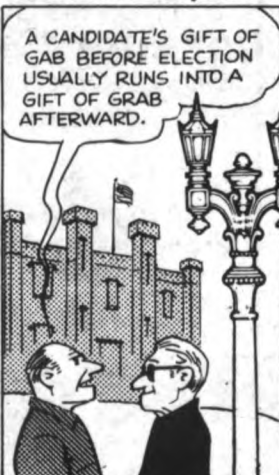

Whether you select the summer or year program, or a special place in Asia, Latin America, Europe or Australia, you will travel with friends. Some 2,200 American teenagers aged 15 through 18 will leave next summer for any one of 26 countries. For more information call (800) 872-0200 or write to the YFU Regional Office, 6264 Dixie Hwy., Bridgeport, MI 48722.

While American students are leaving for overseas destinations, foreign exchange students will be arriving in the USA for a year stay.

Youth for Understanding needs host families who would like to share their homes with a student from Europe, Latin America, the Far East and Australia. Hosting an international high school student through Youth for Understanding is a growing experience for everyone.

OLDEST STATE CAPITOL...Built in 1610 the Palace of the Governors in Sante Fe, New Mexico, claims the distinction of being the oldest state capitol in the U.S.A.

Serious crimes decrease in St. Johns

By KIMBERLY MARSHALL
Staff Writer

Serious crimes including murder, assaults, robbery, rape, larcenies, auto theft, breaking and enterings and arson decreased by 5.6 percent in St. Johns, said Lyle French, chief of police.

French gave the annual police department report during the St. Johns City Commission meeting March 11.

All violations related to the abuse of liquor increased. Liquor law violations (including minor in possession, open intoxicants, etc.) increased from 87 (1983) to 199 (1984), disorderly from 28 to 33, driving under the influence 80 to 111.

"The overall increase in liquor violations is due to officers being more aware of the problem. We have been clamping down on drinking in the city park, and officers are stopping more cars," French said.

Drivers stopped for possible drunken driving are asked to take a PBT (pre-breath test), refusal results in a civil infraction citation. When taken to jail, the suspect must take a breathalyzer test, if he refuses that, the Michigan Secretary of States' office is contacted and his licence is suspended.

Property damage accident reports rose from 353 to 446. French attributes the increase to more accidents occurring at the Southpoint Mall.

Shoplifting complaints rose from 30 to 39. French said the increase was due to better security at the Mall cracking down on shoplifting, leading to more arrests. The complaints led to the apprehension of 44 people, ranging in age from 9-74.

There were 635 hazardous violation tickets issued, up from 579 in 1983.

"Out of the tickets issued, 340 were for speeding. 285 of these speeding violations were detected by the use of radar," said French.

The police department received the AAA Pedestrian Safety Award for 11 years without a pedestrian fatality. Actually, there has not been a pedestrian fatality in St. Johns since 1961.

Also, during the year all the officers qualified in the use of firearms. This training was conducted by the Lansing Police Department at their firing range.

In addition, numerous safety programs were conducted in the schools on bicycle safety, beware of strangers, the use of drugs, as well as several programs presented to various civic groups.

During the year approximately 450 school children toured the department with the officers explaining the operation of the department and showing them some of the equipment they use, including the patrol vehicles.

In other business, the board approved the Sealed Power Industrial Facilities tax exemption application. However, final review and issuance of the actual certificate of exemption is through the State Tax Commission.

If granted, the exemption would allow Sealed Power to pay one-half the property tax normally assessed on the new addition and equipment for 12 years. This addition to Sealed Power is estimated to cost $1,936,280 and create approximately 20 new jobs.

Similar exemptions have been given to Federal Mogul, Maco Tool and F.C. Mason Corporation.

The commission also approved the recommendation of the planning commission to change the zoning ordinance titled Restoration of Damaged Structures, by modifying the 50 percent replacement to 60 percent for nonconforming residential uses only.

The city accepted a grass-fire truck bid from Keeleans for $2,991.

$14,063.92, and a front end winch bid from Truck & Trailer for $2,991. The firehall addition bids were tabled until the April 8 meeting.

Boone hosts Easter Seal telethon

The Annual Easter Seal Telethon has been scheduled for March 30 and 31 and the Mid-Michigan Society will again produce the local telecast over WILX-TV Channel 10. The event will be aired from the Lansing Hilton Inn beginning at 11:00 p.m.

Saturday and concluding at 7:00 p.m. Sunday.

The national Telethon originates live from Hollywood and is a twenty-four hour celebration of hope and great entertainment. Many favorite stars will be featured during this extravaganza headed by Host Pat Boone and Co-Host Donna Mills, both returning from the 1984 Telethon.

The purpose of the Easter Seal Telethon is to raise funds for the many services provided to persons with disabilities by the Easter Seal Societies. Here in Mid-Michigan, they include loan equipment, communication aids, camping programs, adult and teen recreation programs, swim therapy, needs assessment and resource coalition, and public awareness. The Mid-Michigan Society has been serving Ingham, Eaton, and Clinton counties since 1933. Ninety-five percent of the funds raised by the Mid-Michigan telethon stay in the area for programs for the handicapped.

Information concerning participation in the Telethon for organizations can be acquired by calling 484-7511. Over 200 volunteers are needed to successfully produce the 1985 Telethon.

Keeping Healthy

Preventing Heart Attacks

Conclusive evidence that reducing elevated blood cholesterol with a cholesterol-lowering drug and diet can prevent heart attacks and death from heart disease was presented recently by the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute (NHLBI).

The study was the largest, longest and most closely monitored to date of cholesterol and its relationship to heart attacks. Directed and funded by the NHLBI at 12 U.S. medical centers, the Lipid Research Clinics Trial demonstrated that combining the cholesterol-lowering drug, cholestyramine (Questran), with a moderately low-fat diet, reduced heart attacks by almost 20%.

The NHLBI scientists estimate that if Americans would reduce their blood cholesterol levels by 25%, this would eventually lead to a 50% reduction in the incidence of coronary heart disease.

Medi-Call now available at CMH

Medi-Call, a convenient in-home emergency call system, is now available through Clinton Memorial Hospital in St. Johns.

"We look at Medi-Call as a 24-hour a day lifesaver," explained Gwen Coon, Home Health Services registered nurse. "It has the capabilities to get medical help quickly and easily, and the potential to save a life."

The greatest benefit the Medi-Call system offers, according to Coon, is in allowing people to stay at home alone. They maintain their independence and, at the same time, feel secure in knowing medical help is close at hand in case of emergency.

"The individual feels better and so do their families, just knowing that Medi-Call can get help in a hurry."

The emergency call system consists of two components—a console, which plugs into a telephone outlet and a transmitter, which is operational up to 100 feet from the console. Both can go with the user, adding to the system's convenience.

In the event of an emergency, the user pushes the transmitter button and the console automatically dials for help. "The individual selects the numbers," explained Coon, "and they might include relatives, friends, neighbors, or even the hospital."

One family member using the emergency call system had this to say about it: "My dad is 85, lives alone and likes it. But I couldn't always be with him and I worried about him falling and not being able to get help," she explained. "Now, with this system, he's happier and I feel a lot better when I do leave him alone, knowing that he can just push a button and have help right away. It's been a great relief."

The emergency call systems are manufactured by AT & T.

The Medi-Call system is available through Clinton Memorial's Home Health Services or Pharmacy, and DeWald Medical Equipment. Units may be purchased or leased—an option that appeals to families who have to be out of town for an extended period.

EMERGENCY SYSTEM DEMONSTRATED—Gwen Coon, Home Health Services registered nurse, demonstrates the new Medi-Call emergency call system to Myrtle Tolles of St. Johns. Medi-Call units are available through Clinton Memorial Hospital.

Tornado survival information given

No one can prevent or stop a tornado, but there are precautions you can take to safeguard lives and property. Your family's survival in a tornado may depend on taking some basic steps in preparedness now--before the storm warnings are issued.

Tornado shelters save lives. To protect your family, a shelter area should be selected in advance, and each family member should be aware of where it is and how to get to it quickly.

Hold a tornado drill periodically, so all members of the family know what to do should a tornado strike. The drills also may show you the need for storing some items in or near your shelter area, such as a battery-powered light and radio and extra batteries.

Other items for your shelter might include a first aid kit, and special medication, a supply of bottled water, and food that does not require cooking.

A survival kit for the home should be designed for use during and after any severe weather, such as a tornado or winter storm. You could find yourself isolated and your home without power. Proper preparations could allow you to survive for a few days without outside assistance.

This information is provided by the Clinton County Office of Emergency Services, in cooperation with the Federal Emergency Management Agency and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

Dwarf bunt is now controllable

Michigan wheat farmers can control the spread of dwarf bunt by taking a few preventive steps.

"Dwarf bunt was reported in Michigan wheat fields this year for the first time since the 1920's," says Everett Everson, wheat specialist at Michigan State University. "Dwarf bunt is a serious problem, because it affects all market classes of winter wheat and cannot be chemically controlled once the disease has been detected in mature plants."

Dwarf bunt is a soil-borne fungus occurring in areas where the ground remains unfrozen but snow-covered throughout the winter. These field conditions are common in southern Michigan and along the coast of Lake Michigan.

Ten years ago wheat seeds were treated with organomercury fungicides, which controlled dwarf bunt. The Environmental Protection Agency banned those fungicides, allowing the recurrence of dwarf bunt.

Everson stresses that farmers should not grow wheat on fields where dwarf bunt has been found. Wheat plants are infected by spores in the soil or dispersed by the wind. Spores persist in the soil and can infect plants for several years.

Everson recommends a four- to five-year rotation. This allows enough time for the dwarf bunt spores in the soil to lose their virulence. Contaminated seeds also spread the disease, so producers should avoid buying seeds from areas that have dwarf bunt.

Dwarf bunt fungi require a long germination period, so infection is detectable only in mature plants. Fungicides cannot control the spread of the disease at this point. Though the fungus is generally found in localized pockets, entire wheat fields can be lost to infection.

As a preventive measure, Everson suggests farmers should insist on wheat seeds treated to maximum levels with the standard fungicides. Fungicides will not kill dwarf bunt spores on contaminated seeds, but treatment will make seeds less susceptible to dwarf bunt, as well as other diseases.

Everson is working on breeding varieties of wheat that are resistant to dwarf bunt. Even with an accelerated breeding program, however, a resistant variety is not likely to be on the market for ten years.

Checking the spread of dwarf bunt is particularly important to keep Michigan wheat in the export markets. Some countries prohibit the importation of wheat infected with dwarf bunt. Foreign buyers could refuse to buy wheat from Michigan if dwarf bunt become a common problem, and this would greatly lower the value of wheat in Michigan.

Seminar set for tractor safety and maintenance

Tractor Safety and Maintenance will be the topic of a four week seminar sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service 4-H Youth Program in April. The program being coordinated by Jack Schwark, Dave Conklin and Bob Kissane, will be held at J & N Farm Service in St. Johns every Thursday evening in April.

Johns, will host the sessions.

At the conclusion of the month long program, youth will have the opportunity to take the tractor safety test and apply for a tractor operators permit. Only youth 14 years of age and older will be eligible for the special permit, but younger members are encouraged to attend the sessions.

Topics covered at the sessions will include: tractor safety, farm safety, oils and filters, hydraulics, starters and generators, and more. Special guest speakers will cover many of the topics listed.

This program is open to the public and is not limited to current 4-H members. Parents and other interested adults are also welcome to attend.

The workshops, held on April 4, 11, 18, and 25 will begin at 6:30 p.m. and run approximately 2½ hours. J & N Farm Service, located in St.

For more information about this series, contact the Cooperative Extension Service at 306 Elm Street or call 224-3288.

Farm prices index is revealed

The index of prices received by Michigan farmers for all products was 124 percent of its 1977 base for the month ending February 15. Overall, farm prices improved less than 1 percent from January, according to the Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service. Despite the marginal increase in the monthly index, prices averaged 10 percent below the February 1984 level. The index of prices paid by farmers, nationwide, for commodities and services, interest, taxes and farm wage rates for February was 164 percent of its 1977 base. The index was unchanged from a month earlier and a year ago. Declines from a month earlier for feed, fuels and energy and building and fencing indexes were offset by an increase for the feeder livestock index.

Michigan crops showing slight price gains since January were corn, winter wheat, oats, dry beans, potatoes and hay. Livestock commodities with improved prices were slaughter cows, calves and hogs. Lower prices were noted for soybeans, steers and heifers, milk and eggs. Winter wheat, dry beans, steers and heifers, hogs and milk were the commodities with higher prices than recorded during February 1984.

Nationally, the February all farm products index of prices received by farmers was unchanged from January at 135 percent of its 1977 average. Lower prices for lettuce, cotton, soybeans, oranges and lemons were partially offset by higher prices for cattle, hogs, sweet corn and strawberries. The index was 6.2 percent below a year ago.

THE DIESEL LAWN MOWER.

Kubota has a whole new way to cut the grass. It's the first diesel lawn and garden tractor in the country.

Kubota's G-Series lawn and garden tractors come with water-cooled 2- or 3-cylinder diesel engines. They're built to outlast ordinary gas mowers by several seasons.

There are four G-Series models, from 10 to 14 horsepower. They all have live front PTO shaft drive to the mid-mount mower. You can choose a hydrostatic transmission. And you can choose a variety of implements including a snowblower, tiller or front blade.

So don't let the grass grow under your feet. See the G-Series soon.

Farmers cautioned to check lambing supplies

With spring comes lambing season. Sheep producers should look over their routine lamb management list and make sure they are in newborn lambs. As lambing season arrives, sheep producers should also be aware of the need for selenium supplementation. Lack mimic pneumonia. If you are seeing problems such as the one described above, check your ewe and lamb management program. Selenium should be supplemented by feeding ewes and lambs trace choice selenium trace mineral salt throughout the year and routinely injecting newborn lambs with vitamin E-selenium preparations. Selenium deficiency signs do mimic other diseases, so if the rest of your management program checks out and you are not presently supplying ewes and lambs with selenium, it may be wise to incorporate selenium into your program. Remember, selenium is toxic if supplied at too high a level so be certain to read and follow label directions.

County drains to be sprayed

The Clinton County Drain Commissioner is presently scheduling spraying for brush and cattail control in existing county drains. Landowners should contact their township supervisor or the Clinton County Drain Commissioner's office to initiate maintenance drain spraying in their area. All spray material is EPA approved and will be applied by a firm, licensed and insured to spray waterways.

prepared when the season arrives. You should have frozen colostrum on hand to feed newborn lambs. Colostrum from mature ewes contains more antibodies than colostrum from younger ewes. This point should be considered when collecting colostrum to freeze. In addition to providing newborns with colostrum, you should also be certain there is a clean dry area for ewes to lamb in. This will do wonders in decreasing the incidence of disease of selenium in Michigan soils pre-disposes young, fast growing lambs to a condition known as white muscle disease. Selenium deficiencies usually affect the heavy muscles of the thigh causing stiffness of gait, weakness and inability to stand. Usually your best doing lambs are involved. Selenium deficiency may also affect cardiac and diaphragm muscles. Cardiac muscle involvement often results in sudden death with no apparent signs, while involvement in the diaphragm muscle may

OUR KIND OF PEOPLE...

When there's work to be done...

On Agriculture Day, March 20, we'd like to recognize America's farmers for a basic contribution that shouldn't be taken for granted—their work.

Farmers have adapted to tremendous change in recent years. In some cases, advancement in equipment and technology have eased physical work demands. But with those labor saving advancements have come new work demands in business management, marketing and high-stakes decision-making.

Managing the business of farming isn't easy. Stress, high risk and long hours are as much a part of farm work as ever before.

But with American farmers, there's one thing you can count on. They won't shy away from hard work—of any kind. When there's work to be done, they grab hold and see the job to its finish.

It's one more reason why we're confident about the future of American agriculture.

Budget minded people could be robbing themselves of good nutrition at the grocery store.

"If people believe the cheapest food is the best buy, they had better look again."

Sometimes the low price of a food reflects a low nutrient value. Many so-called "bargain foods" have an equivalent homemade version that is superior in nutritional value--macaroni and cheese, for example.

One popular boxed macaroni and cheese dinner costs 10 cents per serving, while a simple homemade version costs 29 cents. At first appearance, the boxed macaroni and cheese appears to be the better buy.

The convenience version may cost only one-third as much, but it doesn't have nearly as much food value. Because the homemade macaroni and cheese has much more cheese, it contains more protein, calcium, vitamin A and riboflavin. The boxed dinner makes minor contributions of protein and calcium and is an important source of only the B-vitamins and calories.

Consumers need to take more into consideration than just price when selecting their food. There needs to be a balance of nutritive value to monetary costs.

When purchasing and cooking a pasta such as macaroni, whether it's in a boxed dinner or purchased separately, check to see that it is enriched. Macaroni made from enriched flour supplies more iron, thiamine, niacin and riboflavin than pasta that isn't enriched. Twenty percent of the pasta in the supermarket isn't enriched.

To retain as many B-vitamins as possible, use as little cooking water as possible. It is not necessary to rinse macaroni. Rinsing causes more vitamin loss.

If you would like to make some homemade macaroni and cheese, but don't have a good recipe, you might like to try the following one:

MACARONI AND CHEESE

8 ozs. elbow macaroni (about 1 cup)
4 Tbs. margarine
1 small onion, minced
1 Tbs. all-purpose flour
¼ tsp. dry mustard
dash of pepper
1½ cups milk
2 cups shredded cheddar cheese

Cook macaroni in boiling, unsalted water; drain; place in greased 2-quart casserole. Melt two tablespoons of the margarine. Add onion and cook until tender, about 5 minutes. Stir in flour, mustard and pepper until blended. Slowly stir in milk. Cook until smooth and slightly thickened, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; stir in cheese until melted. Pour cheese mixture over macaroni. Serve immediately, or bake in 350 F degree oven for 20 minutes. Makes six one-cup servings, at a cost of 29 cents per serving.

Each serving provides these percentages of the U.S. Recommended Dietary Allowances: calcium 52%; protein 34%; vitamin A 23%; riboflavin 16%; niacin 9%; thiamine 7%; and iron 6%.

American Legion gives meeting report

submitted by Frank Bernath, Post reporter

The American Legion Post No. 502 of Elsie held their regular meeting on March 7. The meeting was called to order at 8:00 p.m. with 15 members present. The membership repeated the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag and the Legion Preamble. Prayer was given by Deacon O'Day.

The previous meeting minutes were read and approved with corrections. The finance report was read. As the post is low on this item, any ideas, please relay to the commander.

A new bingo chairman has been appointed by the commander. Gus Patrick is taking over with extra helpers. New rules are in effect on games. Also, the night of games is changing to Wednesday night starting on April 3, 1985. Starting time remains the same.

Service officer, Bill Croft, reported that the area veterans office is working out very well. He will be visiting different township offices to talk to veterans in areas around Clinton County. His schedule will be out soon, so that you can contact him with any questions on your benefits.

The hall rental committee discussed the new rules and rates for the coming year. Our old rates were raised to compensate for the increase in maintenance and heat cost.

Versil Baese reported on the Legislative dinner last week. He said there were several good points discussed on veterans benefits and several that may be reduced by the present administration. Keep your eyes open and read the papers on these, then write your representatives in Washington.

There was no further business. The meeting closed at 9:30 p.m. with refreshments and fellowship following.

Corn and soybean stocks rise

Stocks of corn and soybeans in Michigan storage facilities on January 1, 1985 were above year ago levels. Corn stored in all positions on January 1 totaled 171 million bushels, 4 percent above stocks on hand last year. Holdings in off-farm positions declined 24 percent from a year ago while on-farm holdings increased 19 percent. Farmers held 74 percent of the corn in storage on January 1, compared to 65 percent a year ago, according to the Federal/State Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service. Soybean stocks at 22.8 million bushels increased 15 percent from last year. Holdings were up sharply in both the on-farm and off-farm positions. Farmers held 48 percent of the soybeans in storage on January 1, compared to 46 percent a year ago.

ASHLEY'S LITWILLER FIGHTS FOR TWO POINTS AGAINST ARMBRUSTMACHER-This action took place last Saturday night at Fulton High School in the district final, which saw Fowler waltz away with another championship, downing the Ashley Bears quite handily, 70-39. Going up for two points is Ashley's Mike Litwiler, while Fowler defender Tom Armbrustmacher attempts a block. Ashley got off to a cold start, scoring only 4 points to Fowler's 19, then warmed up in the second quarter with 15 to Fowler's 17. Ashley managed to outscore Fowler 15-13 in the third period, then literally died in the final frame, getting only 5 to Fowler's game-crushing 21. Photo by Harold Schmaltz, CCN.

with lower stocks than a year ago. Holdings of 17.5 million bushels were 14 percent below one year ago. Off-farm stocks were down 12 percent and on-farm holdings were off by 22 percent. Oats in storage at 13.3 million bushels was 43 percent above 1984 levels. Off-farm holdings increased 34 percent and farm stocks were up by 45 percent.

Make Bug Battle 12-Month Effort

While you are battling the garden bugs this summer, consider the steps you can take between now and next season to cut down on the insect population. Control is a 12-month effort.

—This fall, remove and destroy or deeply bury vines, stalks and all other crop residue as soon as harvest is completed.

—Next time, select varieties of crops — when available — that are resistant to some of the pests you are observing in the garden this year.

—Keep the weeds and grass down, not just in the garden but around it as well. All kinds of pests lurk in tall grass and weeds.

—Hand-pick and destroy insects when practical.

—Use mechanical barriers when possible, such as covering your collards with cheese cloth to keep off the diamondback moth and other pests.

—Take stock of the kinds of pests you've got this year and make notes for next year.

Fowler takes Class D ball title

COACH SMITH ACCEPTS TROPHY-This scene took place at Fulton High School Saturday night in closing ceremonies of the game which saw Coach Dennis Smith's Fowler Eagles down Ashley, 70-39. Presenting the trophy to Smith (right) is Fulton Athletic Director and tournament manager Tom Webb.

FOWLER CAPTURES CLASS D DISTRICT AT FULTON-The high flying Fowler High School Eagles kept their winning tradition last Saturday night by polishing off their neighborhood rival, Ashley, 70-39. Ashley, apparently suffering from tournament jitters, never was in the game from the opening quarter. Fowler built an incredible 19-4 lead, that Ashley couldn't recover from, although second and third quarter efforts on behalf of the Bears gave their fans hope, but all to no avail. This scene captures Fowler shooting ace, Tom Armbrustmacher, popping in a shot for two of his game-high 19 points. In the background is his teammate Randy Antes. In the foreground is Ashley's Jeff Gross (12) and Alan Stehlik (20), top scorer for the Bears with 13. Photo by Harold Schmaltz, CCN.

Farm economy discussed

There probably won't be a better or more important time to find helpful information about the complex economic issues facing the farm economy than during Agriculture and Natural Resources (ANR) Week, March 18-23 at Michigan State University.

ANR Week is the new name for Farmers' Week and Natural Resources Days. The change was made to more accurately reflect the growing diversity of the programs being offered.

Department chairpersons, faculty members and Extension specialists have put together more than 200 programs and activities for ANR Week. Many of these will provide useful farm management information for the coming year.

Topics range from financial guidelines to keep the farm business afloat during periods of slim cash flow to the 1985 Farm Bill and how it may affect farm credit for the coming year.

A variety of livestock and dairy programs will include several walking tours of the university farms teaching and research centers, which will feature guidelines for more efficient animal production.

Several programs will show the importance of and help observe the 50th anniversary of the Soil Conservation Service. The crop production update that is part of that program will focus on soybean production, fertilizer and weed control management, and soil and energy-conserving tillage practices.

Several workshops are being offered during the week. These include integrated pest management (IPM) session for field, fruit and vegetable crops, which run from two to five days.

Afternoon and morning workshops sponsored by the Department of Agricultural Engineering will cover wiring maintenance, arc and oxyacetylene welding, sprayer applicator calibration and operation of anhydrous ammonia injection equipment.

The Department of Horticulture will celebrate its 100th anniversary with several days of programs about historical and modern flower and vegetable gardening.

These are but a few of the many ANR Week programs that can be of personal as well as farm business use. The week is also a particularly good time for farmers to visit with Extension specialists about specific concerns about the current business year.

Michigan corn growers meeting held recently

Over 400 growers and industry personnel participated in the annual Michigan Corn Growers Association meeting in Lansing last week.

Earl Butz, former U.S. Secretary of Agriculture, Jeff Gain, National Corn Growers Association executive officer and Darwin Stolte, U.S. Feed Grains Council president, highlighted the day long program.

During the meeting, Charles Faist, Pleasant Lake; David Diehl, Jr., Dansville and Tom Middleton, Ortonville were elected to the board of directors. They joined Warren Wooden, Cassopolis; Mark Mitchell, Grand Blanc; Ray Schaub, Ithaca; Joe Sweeney, Elkton; Roger Himebaugh, Remus; Jeff Knoblauch, Blissfield; Dwain Dancer, Munith; Tom Droz, Allegan; George Heimerdinger, Clinton; Charles Holton, Howell; Jim Shaw, Bad Axe; Lyle Krohn, Bad Axe; and Greg Huhn, Eagle.

Joe Sweeney was re-elected president of the Corn Growers for 1985. Also re-elected were Ray Schaub, vice-president; Roger Himebaugh, secretary; and Jeff Knoblauch, treasurer.

Mark Mitchell who, in addition to serving on the board of directors, is chairman of the Corn Promotion Committee of Michigan, made a presentation to the meeting on the proposed grain corn check-off. He stressed the voluntary nature of the program, and the fact that only corn sold for grain would be assessed.

A grower referendum on the proposed check-off is tentatively set for early summer 1985.

Area fisherman earns top angler of the year award

Andy Kuebler, a Grand Ledge resident, was presented with the state of Michigan's Master Angler of the Year award by the DNR last Saturday, Feb. 23.

The presentation was made at the Stroh's Michigan Outdoors Banquet in Livonia. Kuebler, who does much of his fishing in Montcalm County, took first place from among more than 600 entries with his catch of a 2-lb. crappie last year.

In all, Kuebler entered six fish he caught in the DNR competition, and all six of his fish placed in the top 15 in the state.

Computers in education

What do parents, teachers and schools expect young children to accomplish by using computers? Can the high cost of the equipment be justified in programs operated on tight budgets?

What do teachers need to know before they can use computers appropriately with young children? How does computer use affect children's social and intellectual development? Do computers tend to displace essential life experiences?

Two articles in a recent issue of Young Children, the professional journal of the National Association for the Education of Young Children, highlighted critical issues in introducing preschool and primary children to computers.

Elizabeth Brady and Shirley Hill reviewed research directions, while Karen Burg described a model kindergarten program. These experienced early childhood educators offer a thought-provoking glimpse into questions parents, teachers and schools must answer before plunging into the computer adventure.

"Somehow computer play doesn't match the colorful conversations of dramatic play, the creative shapes of block play or the mysterious touch of finger paint ... or does it?"

Redwings fall in District hoop action

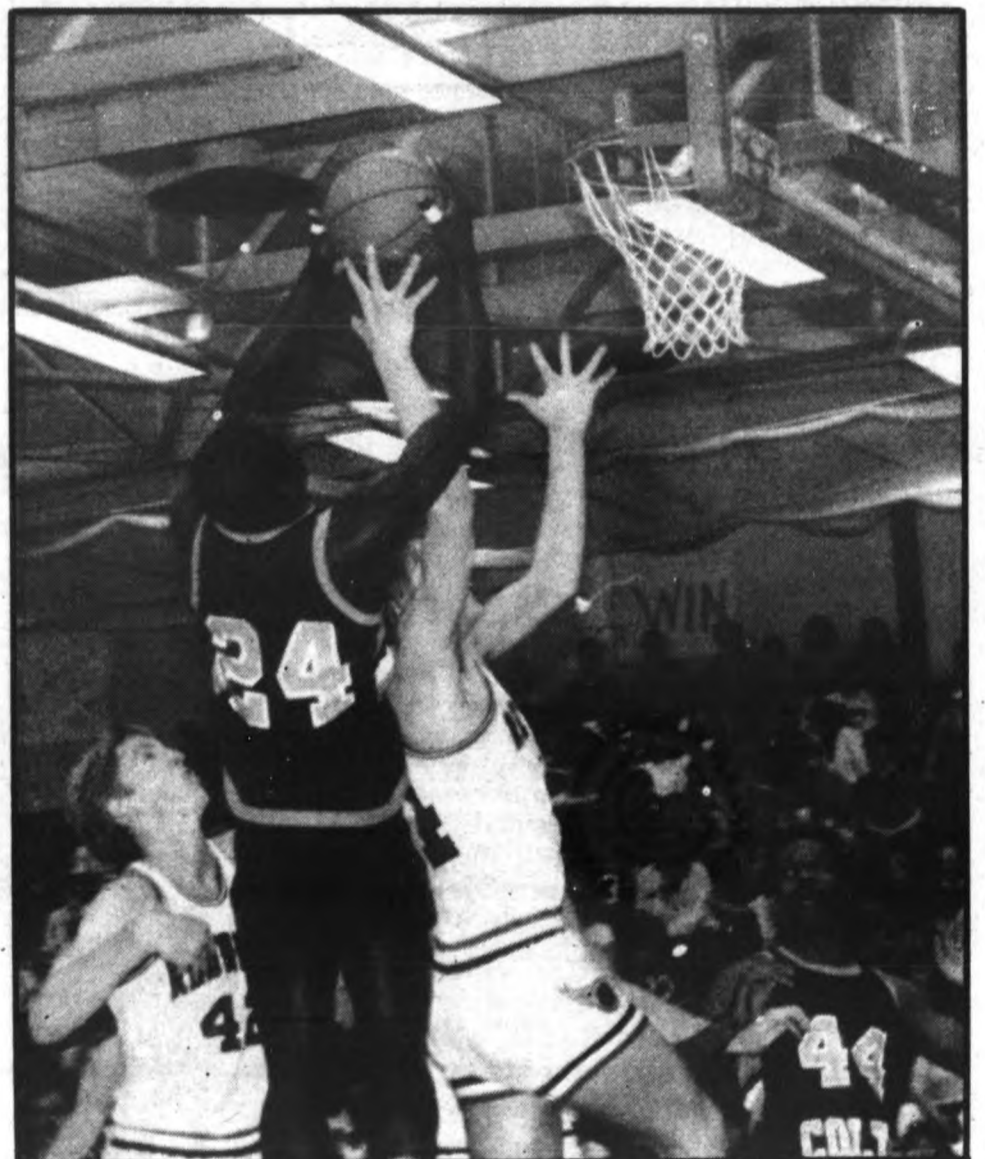

FLYING SHOT OFF THE HANDS OF MARTY MARTENS-Playing his last high school game, shooting ace Marty Martens of the St. Johns Redwings scores two of his 19 points at the district tournament held March 9 at Owosso High School between St. Johns and Flint Southwestern. Southwestern bolstered by superior height and inside strength pinned a devastating loss on the Mid-Michigan B conference champs, 84-63. Other Redwings in on the play are Trent Jakus (40) and Brian Bates (52). Photo special to the CCN by Jack Minsky.

CROWDED BASELINE IRRITATES MARTENS-Marty Martens found the going tough here in last week's district finale at Owosso in which the Redwings came to the end of the road, falling to a rugged Flint Southwestern team, 84-63. The Redwings fought a valiant battle against superior height and strength throughout three quarters of play, but faltered in the third quarter only to be snuffed out, 19 to 6. Photo special to the CCN by Jack Minsky.

FIGHTING FOR BALL POSSESSION-This action took place at Owosso High School March 9 in district tournament play between the St. Johns Redwings and Flint Southwestern. In on the play here is Redwing Brad Thompson. St. Johns bowed out of tournament competition by dropping the contest, 84-63. Photo special to the CCN by Jack Minsky.

REBOUNTING STRUGGLE TAKES PLACE BETWEEN ST. JOHNS AND SOUTHWESTERN-This scene pretty much told the story on just what strength the Redwings encountered during their tussle with Flint Southwestern in March 9th's district tourney at Owosso. Flint took advantage of a Redwing scoring famine in the third quarter and snuffed the proud squad from St. Johns, 84-63. Photo special to the CCN by Jack Minsky.

Corn and soybean acreage drop

Corn and soybean acreage in Michigan during the 1985 crop year is expected to decline slightly from year ago levels. The February Prospective Plantings report also indicates that acreage increases are expected for oats and hay. Dry bean acreage is not expected to change, according to the Federal/State Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service. These forecasts are based on data collected about February 1 and are provided to assist growers in formulating their acreage plans for 1985. Actual acreage planted may vary due to participation in 1985 farm programs, the effects of weather, the availability of production inputs and changes in market conditions prior to planting.

Michigan farmers intend to plant 3 million acres of corn in 1985, a decline of less than 2 percent from a year ago. Soybean growers expect to plant 1,150,000 acres, 4 percent below last year's record acreage. Dry bean acreage is not expected to change from a year ago and should total 400,000 acres. Acreage to be harvested for hay at 1.9 million acres, is expected to be up 9 percent from last season. Oats seedings are projected at 450,000 acres, a 22 percent increase from a year ago if intentions are realized. Barley acreage is expected to be near last year's level.

Nationally, corn growers intend to plant 82 million acres in 1985, up 2 percent from last year. Soybean prospective plantings, at 64.4 million acres are down 5 percent from last year but one percent above 1983. Dry bean acreage is expected to be unchanged from last season.

Relief announced for farmers

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block announced last week that additional initiatives designed to further help financially stressed farmers through their temporary difficulties.

"Last September we announced a plan that we felt would give many farmers a chance to put together a stable financial future," Block said. "We are pleased with how this has helped Farmers Home Administration borrowers. But the portion of our program designed to help other troubled borrowers is not being utilized by private banks and other commercial lenders to its fullest advantage."

Block said he believes these steps will enhance the effectiveness of the program announced last September. These measures follow:

- The Secretary of Agriculture will chair a Farm Credit Coordinating Group to coordinate activities of federal and financial regulatory agencies having responsibilities for farm credit issues. The group will coordinate resources within existing federal programs to assist financial institutions, communities and individual producers. The group will include the chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the Comptroller of the Currency, the assistant secretary of Treasury for Domestic Finance, the governor of the Farm Credit Administration, the under secretary of Agriculture for Small Community and Rural Development. The vice chairman of the Federal Reserve Board will serve as an observer.

- New regulations will modify the procedures in the credit plan announced last September so as to include an interest write-down option along with a principle write down option. The maximum guarantee on the principal write down option is 90 percent.

- USDA will create an emergency "credit assistance" program. FmHA guarantees of up to 90 percent on operating loans will be made to eligible producers previously served by failed lending institutions. They will be applicable to new crop loans on a one-year basis. Eligibility is limited to producers with substandard loans who can meet a cash flow test on new credit extensions. The assuming institutions may write loans under quick certification procedures to be established by emergency regulations.

- The Department of the Treasury will work with the FDIC, the Comptroller of the Currency and the Federal Reserve to implement a policy to avoid supervisory actions that may discourage banks from exercising forbearance or from working with farmers and small business borrowers who are experiencing temporary difficulties in meeting their debt service obligations. Such forbearance is in the public interest and should be encouraged when it is consistent with safety and soundness considerations. In particular, each agency will be asked to designate special review examiners to review the examination report of each farm sector bank before it is forwarded to the bank to ensure compliance with this policy.

- USDA will review its standard for recruiting farm credit and farm management specialists to work with commercial and Farm Credit System lenders on the credit initiatives. USDA will also move more aggressively to place the specialists in targeted areas.

- USDA will create special action teams of trained FmHA lending officers to be sent on short notice to set up temporary offices in areas where a commercial bank or Farm Credit System institution has been liquidated. The team will assist in the reestablishment of necessary operating credit for qualified operators. USDA will work with the FDIC to obtain early notification of bank liquidations and will be able to move teams into the area immediately after a liquidation occurs.

- USDA will help operate "credit hot lines" in various states to provide financial information and advice to troubled operators.

- USDA will encourage state governments and commercial and Farm Credit System lenders to provide staff assistance to help with the timely processing of FmHA loan applications. The Secretary of Agriculture will also direct agencies from within USDA to cooperate with FmHA in providing staff assistance.

Keeping Healthy

Wrinkles are Inevitable, Dermatologist States

"In societies in which age is respected and the elderly are regarded as wise, wrinkles are considered a symbol of character and status," writes Dr. Maria L. Turner of George Washington University Medical Center in the June, 1984 issue of the American Family Physician. However, the physician continues that in our more youth-oriented society, individuals react to wrinkles in various ways not always accepting them as inevitable.

Plastic surgery might be helpful in removing large, deep wrinkles, but finer wrinkles are more difficult to eradicate, she states.

Prevention of premature aging and skin cancer is best accomplished by avoiding sun exposure, and dry, wrinkled splotchy skin although inevitable, can often be postponed for many years by avoiding excessive exposure to the skin, the associate professor of dermatology concludes.
