Terrorism effects observed in canceled traveling plans

By RICH WERTZ
Editor

There are no bombs going off in Clinton County — no hijackings, no kidnappings — but international terrorism has touched the county in significant, if small, ways.

Cherie Beauchamp, a sophomore at St. Johns High School, planned to attend a tour of West Germany sponsored by the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp. A violinist, she had put in long hours of practice to qualify for the tour, including hours of orchestra practice with other Michigan students who planned to go on the tour.

As the incidence of terrorism increased in the past year, her fellow students began to drop out of the program.

Security plans were set: The tour would charter a private plane. The plane would be carefully inspected before each flight. Once in Europe the students would not go anywhere as a group. The tour would not be publicized.

But in the end, security came to this — the tour was canceled.

"I was relieved when the tour was canceled...I was concerned for the kids' safety," says Ann Beauchamp, Cherie's mother. "I was very disappointed however. This is something she has been training for intensely during the past year."

For Cherie herself, there were no ambivalent feelings.

"I don't think they should have canceled it..." she said. "I wish people were not so nervous about terrorism. If they know we're afraid of them they'll just take more advantage of that."

She said, though, that even some of the students who did not think the tour should be canceled were still nervous about going.

As for herself — "I was more afraid about the flying than any terrorism."

Beauchamp and all the other students who missed the chance to tour, will automatically qualify for the event next year. Jane Cooper, another St. Johns High School student had also qualified for the tour.

"You'd better believe I'm going next year," said Beauchamp.

MEANWHILE, some county residents who once planned to travel in Europe are changing their plans.

"We have had some cancel and some are still planning to go," said Beverly Peake, manager of Spartan Travel in St. Johns. "I'd say it is about fifty-fifty."

She said those who are opting not to travel in Europe are traveling in the United States instead.

Project Touch

Program teaches kids to tell of abuse

By RICH WERTZ
Editor

No more secrets. That, in a nutshell, is the message of Project Touch, a child sexual abuse prevention program created by the Listening Ear, a 24-hour crisis telephone hotline in East Lansing.

The program was approved recently for area schools by the Clinton County Council for the Prevention of Child Abuse and Neglect. Eventually, Project Touch could be a regular visitor to county schools.

Volunteers from Project Touch demonstrated the program at the Clinton County Big Brothers and Big Sisters office recently.

About a dozen children and an equal number of adults were on hand for the program as a group of six volunteers acted out skits that dramatized the sorts of situations that make children uncomfortable — and sometimes suggested ways to get out of them.

The skits portrayed situations ranging from the uncomfortable but not necessarily sexual to those that were clearly examples of sexual abuse.

FOR INSTANCE:

• An aunt insists on a big kiss from her young nephew everytime she comes to visit. Nephew absolutely hates this ritual. Solution: He tells her he knows she means no harm but that he would rather not kiss her. She says, "Well, I guess you're just going through a stage," and accepts his wishes now that she knows what they are.

• A family tickling game gets out of hand and becomes miserable to the youngest girl in the family.

• A little boy is playing in a park when he is accosted by a "flasher." Upset, he returns home to tell his mother about the experience and finds that once he tells her he feels better and is assured that the incident was no fault of his own.

• Two little girls sit on their grandfathers' laps. One feels "big and smart" because her grandfather helps her in a game played with other grandchildren. The other does not like the way her grandfather touches her and says, "He said it was our secret but I felt dirty and I didn't like it."

A repeated theme running through the Project Touch program is that children have some basic rights over what happens to them.

"Children don't have much power in our society," said Project Touch volunteer Pat Taylor. "I think this can be a real empowering sort of thing."

Project Touch volunteer Kelly Kendall described the torso section of the body in terms of that which would be covered by an apron.

"If anyone touches you there, you should know why they're doing it," she told the children, "and they should have your permission."

22 candidates run for six school board positions

The June 9 ballot to fill six seats on the St. Johns Board of Education will include 22 candidates.

Included in the 22 candidates are three former members of the board who were recalled by voters last month. Thomas Irrer and Peter Apostol are both eligible to run because their terms would have expired in June even without the recall.

Irrer and Apostol both seek four-year terms on the school board.

Robert Craig, who was also recalled last month, is seeking a two-year term on the board. Although state election law prohibits those recalled from office from running for the same office until their regular term would have expired, Craig is running for a different seat than the one from which he was recalled.

Following is a breakdown of the candidates by the seats they are seeking:

ONE ONE YEAR-TERM Jeanette Adams, 1003 S. Swegles St.; Diane P. Baxter, 5086 W. Jason Rd.; Rollin A. Huard, 209 E. Walker St.; Matthew Niemi, 1225 W. Parks Rd.; Joseph Pawlowski, 6533 Loomis Rd.; DeWitt; Roger L. Warner, 9897 Airport Rd., DeWitt.

TWO TWO-YEAR TERMS Paul Bieber, 5757 W. Pratt Rd., DeWitt; Robert Craig, 812 W. Park St.; James

R. Parr, 110 S. Ottawa St.; R. Lee Putman, 705 S. Swegles St.; James B. Schweigert, 907 W. Baldwin St.; Kay Zuzelski, 8435 Grove Rd.

ONE THREE-YEAR TERM James Butler, 5503 Forest Hill Rd.; Kevin Kirk, 1608 Silvers Rd.; Kathy Sjoberg, 3753 W. Townsend Rd.; Randall L. Strack, 709 N. Clinton Ave.

TWO FOUR-YEAR TERMS Peter Apostol, East Mead Road; Neil Barnhart, 2250 E. Townsend Rd.; George Gavenda Jr., 813 Spring St.; Thomas Irrer, 4507 S. Francis Rd.; Richard H. Lehnert, 9690 S. Grove Rd.; DeWitt; Clare J. Matter, W. Kinley Rd.

Public forum scheduled — meet the board candidates

The St. Johns Reminder and the Clinton County News will jointly sponsor a forum to allow residents of the St. Johns School District to meet and question candidates for the Board of Education.

Twenty-ninth Judicial Circuit Court Judge Randy Tahvonen will be the moderator for the May 29 event. It will be held at 7 p.m. in the auditorium of the high school.

Letters of invitation to the event were sent Friday to each of the 22 candidates seeking seats on the board. Included in the letter were three questions to which the candidates were asked to respond in writing. The responses will be printed and distributed at the candidates forum.

Those questions are:

• What do you perceive to be the number one problem facing the school district?

• Assuming the district will again experience budget problems, what would be your approach to a balanced budget? What school programs do you think should be cut first?

• What do you feel are some possible short term and long term solutions to the problems of Central Elementary School?

The exact schedule for the evening has yet to be set. However, the format is tentatively planned to include a brief introduction by each candidate, followed by questions from a panel of journalists as well as from the audience.

The panel of journalists will consist of Dennis Scott, editor of the St. Johns Reminder; Rich Wertz, editor of the Clinton County News; Betty Jane Minsky, reporter for the Lansing State Journal; and a representative from the high school student newspaper The Torch.

The audience will be asked to submit their questions in writing to the panel of journalists. This is intended to avoid repetition and to keep the evening moving as quickly as possible.

St. Johns schools, besides providing the facilities for the evening, will also provide a public address system and, tentatively, paper and pencils for use by the audience in submitting questions.

Also tentatively, high school student volunteers will distribute materials and serve as messengers between the audience and the panel of journalists.

Further details about the format for the evening will be released as soon as they are known.

Reorganized recall group endorses board candidates

The organization that campaigned for the recall of the St. Johns Board of Education has reformed under a new name and has endorsed a slate of candidates for the June 9 election.

Concerned Citizens for Education (CCE) was formed from the membership of the Concerned Taxpayers of St. Johns, the group that led the recall effort that removed from office six of the seven school board members.

CCE will urge voters to select from eight candidates, all of whom were active in or sympathetic to the goals of the Concerned Taxpayers of St. Johns. The eight are:

For the two four-year terms:

Richard Lehnert, 9690 Grove Road, DeWitt; Neil Barnhart, 2250 E. Townsend Road, St. Johns; George Gavenda Jr., 813 Spring Street, St. Johns; and Clare Matter, 4458 W. Kinley Road, St. Johns.

For the three-year terms: Kathy (Mrs. Arthur) Sjoberg, 4753 W. Townsend Road, St. Johns.

For the two two-year terms: Paul Bieber, 5757 W. Pratt Road, DeWitt; and Kay (Mrs. Mark) Zuzelski, 8535 S. Grove Road, DeWitt.

For the one-year term: Roger Warner, 9897 Airport Road, DeWitt.

The organization has tentatively set May 20 at 7 p.m. as a "Meet Our Candidates" night. The meeting will be held at the UAW 925 Hall on Walker Street in St. Johns. Each candidate will speak and will answer questions.

The public is welcome, said Richard Lehnert, chairman of the organization.

Other CCE officers are Gene (Mrs. Neil) Barnhart, secretary; and Paul Bieber, treasurer.

"The overwhelming success of the recall election is ample evidence that citizens of the St. Johns School District want new leadership," Lehnert said. "They do not want to re-elect the people who were recalled or people who are likely to be mirror images of those recalled."

Lehnert also said the organization is seeking donations in support of its cause.

Support group for parents of handicapped

To the Editor:

We have more than 200 handicapped children in our county. Personally, being the parent of a "special" child has been the most difficult yet rewarding experience of my life. It has taught me what real love and Christianity is all about.

I have been encouraged in recent years by the new spirit of caring, sharing and understanding, seen in the lives of many people. I also know that the good Lord has a purpose for every single person for the betterment of mankind. We should respect and care for even the least among us. Each of us is special and unique.

I would like to make our community a little more aware of what can be done and to inform other parents of a support group being organized.

Every handicapped child and family is "special." Each has strengths as well as weaknesses. The nature and severity of the handicapping condition, attitudes of community members and availability of services all influence the ability to adapt, to feel confident and to cope.

The experience of having a disabled child may be positive or negative, depending on the family's resources, support systems and ability to cope. The way in which the family responds to their child's condition determines how successful the child will adapt.

Our families are integral members of the community. Lack of understanding within the community about needs and problems make it even more difficult.

You can help! You can help by really caring and by showing respect to all and by teaching your children to do so also. Actions speak louder than words. Actively show you care for your family and your precious children that are gifts from God. Cherish them. Then there are your neighbors, the elderly, the disadvantaged and the handicapped too. If you do, then you'll know the joy that real love brings.

TO HELP families of the handicapped to better cope, we are organizing a parent support group. Our purpose will be to give encouragement and support to each other and to share valuable knowledge. If you have a child in a special education program I encourage you to attend. We will be deciding how often we want to meet; what special speakers we might invite and what concerns you have. We want to help you get better acquainted with other parents in your area of Clinton County also.

We will meet Thursday, May 15 at 7 p.m. at the St. Johns SDA Church at 1400 S. Oakland Street, two blocks south of the hospital. If you will be unable to attend please call Yvonne DePaepe 224-4383 or Carol Bishop 224-2851 to express your thoughts.

Bill Schuette Reports

Satellite dishes

Bill Schuette

Recently, there has been a growing debate between satellite dish owners and cable TV programmers over the use of the earth-based satellite technology for home entertainment. So intense has this debate become, that Congress has become involved in the efforts to resolve the differences between the dish owners and the cable programmers.

As many residents of Michigan's 10th district know — especially those who live in rural areas — earth-bound satellite technology lets them enjoy a variety of television programming that otherwise would not be available. The cable TV industry, however, has some legitimate concerns over the effects of satellite dish use for its business. But what they have proposed to do about this puts unfair penalties on satellite dish owners.

The cable programmers want to scramble their signal — and in some areas they have already begun to do so — before insuring that decoding devices are widely available and at a reasonable cost. Furthermore, cable programmers have come to no agreement on a uniform method for scrambling their programs, and different scrambling techniques would render one decoder useless for unscrambling other programs. Finally, cable programmers have even considered providing service to dish owners at a higher subscription rate than regular cable subscribers. These solutions that the cable programmers have offered can only be described as punitive against satellite dish owners.

Congress is now considering a bill, which I was proud to cosponsor, that offers a solution to the conflict between satellite dish owners and cable programmers that is fair to both and punitive toward neither. H.R. 3989, rightly called the "Rural Satellite Dish Owners Protection Act," would permit cable programmers to scramble, but in accordance with uniform standards and after a 30 day moratorium which would allow time for decoders to become more widely available and at more reasonable prices. This legislation would also allow cable programmers to charge satellite dish owners a subscription fee, but not at a rate to exceed the fee charged regular cable subscribers.

Satellite dish owners throughout our 10th district have told me they are willing to pay their fair share for the programming they now enjoy, and no less. But also, no more. Rural residents throughout the country have turned to us in Congress to help them arrive at a reasonable compromise with cable programmers, one that will allow them to continue to enjoy the programming now available to them. I am committed to achieving such a compromise which is a fair deal for all parties involved in this debate. That is why I am supporting the "Rural Satellite Dish Owners Protection Act."

Bill Schuette is the 10th District Representative to the United States House of Representatives.

New business says thank you for welcome

To the Editor:

We would like to thank the people of St. Johns and the surrounding area who attended our grand opening last week. They made us feel very welcome in this town.

We enjoyed meeting all of you and hope to meet, in the near future, those of you who could not make it last week. When those Michigan rainy days get you down, don't forget there's always sun in town. Thanks again.

In the House of Representatives

Tax valuation

Gary Randall

The House Agriculture and Forestry Committee, of which I am a member, is writing a letter to the State Tax Commission urging a review of the valuation of vacant farm land for tax purposes.

State law requires that property be assessed at fifty percent of the true cash value and in many cases the State Equalized Valuation is not even close.

In support of this claim, a recent survey of auction sales of several parcels of land in Gratiot county shows the state is collecting more than double the amount of taxes that should be collected if the land was valued at fifty percent of true cash value.

In this period of economic crisis for many of our farmers the last thing we want government to do is take twice the amount of taxes that are owed. The committee's letter says that the results of the auction survey indicate the SEV is overstated by 49.2 percent on the agricultural land sold.

Here are some examples: A 40-acre parcel sold for $2237 per acre, the SEV indicated a value of $4717 per acre; another 40 acres sold for $843 per acre, the SEV showed $1952; and 59 acres sold for $932 per acre while the SEV was $2069.

The Tax Commission has supported an increase in the SEV for Gratiot County farm land from 1980-1985 of 43.4 percent while the United States Department of Agriculture reports the value of Michigan farm land has gone down 23 percent during that period of time.

The Tax Commission must finally realize that an acre of land will generate so much income and the value of the land is in direct relationship to that income.

Gary Randall is the 89th District Representative to the Michigan House of Representatives.

Clinton Memorial discusses beds

Dr. Herman Ziel was the guest speaker at the May 8 Annual Meeting of the Health Corporation of Clinton and focused his presentation on "Nursing Homes and Clinton County."

Ziel addressed the existing need for skilled nursing beds in Clinton County and pointed out the advantages of Clinton Memorial's proposal and letter of intent currently before the Michigan Department of Public Health.

"The availability of skilled nursing care beds in the hospital facilitates and eases the trauma of transfer for those requiring that level of care following hospital discharge," said Ziel. "And, the location of the nursing home beds in the same building as the hospital promotes regular physician attention in accordance with individual patient need."

Ziel also stressed that a sharing of basic services with Hazel I. Findlay Country Manor would be compatible with the overall mission of both facilities. The Department of Public Health recently determined a need for 49 nursing home beds within Clinton County.

Clinton Memorial's proposal would place the skilled beds in the already available area on the third floor of the Fehling Wing and the hospital is currently seeking approval for 24 of the available 49 beds. In closing, Ziel urged both facilities to work cooperatively in this venture to the benefit of the community.

Dr. Ziel is a private consultant in Lansing and had previously worked for the Health Department in the Certificate of Need process. Prior to that, he practiced obstetrics and gynecology for 14 years.

"It's in the Bag"
by Bob Beck

There are about a hundred and fifty different species of asparagus. But most are merely ornamental, which isn't hard to understand when you consider that asparagus is a first cousin to the lily.

Of the several edible species, the most popular by far is one that goes by the impressive name of Asparagus officinalis.

This little beauty has been around for centuries. In fact, the ancient Greeks and Romans grew it in abundance. However, back in those days, it was either a treat or a treatment, depending on whom you listened to. The Romans enjoyed it as an appetizer. But the Greeks, although they found asparagus palatable, mostly considered it useful in the treatment of internal disorders.

Where they got that idea is all Greek to me. But today the only "internal disorder" asparagus is known to solve is hunger. And it solves that very well.

Indeed, no delicacy is simpler to prepare. And if there is anything more delicious than tender asparagus spears, steeped in melted butter, and covered with hollandaise sauce, or grated Parmesan cheese, I don't know what it is.

Finally, many gardeners grow their own asparagus, and they report that asparagus spears can actually shoot up ten inches in a single day. When the weather is warm and humid, you can practically see them sprouting.

The only trouble is that here in St. Johns it takes three years to get your first edible crop. So, for the next three years at least, we invite you to pick your asparagus from Beck's "garden of values!"

Webster's Collegiate Dictionary

Dear Neighbor,

Whenever you see the word "free", you can just about be sure that the word is being misused. Rarely is anything free.

An area financial institution claims to offer free checking accounts. If you stop to think about it, an account that requires a minimum balance in order to avoid a service charge, or requires you to buy your own checks, is not free. Clinton Bank has no free checking accounts -- and neither does that financial institution.

Our competitor also says that they have several checking accounts which are better than those offered by Clinton Bank and does a comparison to "prove" the point -- but somehow fails to include the one account Clinton Bank considers the best checking account in central Michigan. Why? Because it is far superior to any of the accounts offered by that competing institution.

Clinton Bank's Lifetime Checking account pays increasing rates for increasing balances. It has a low $300 minimum balance in order to avoid the monthly service charge. A $500 balance in a Clinton Bank savings account also will eliminate the service charge. Even if a service charge is necessary, it is a fixed fee with no per check charge.

And there are other reasons. Lifetime Checking account customers can purchase travelers checks for no fee, and can rent a customer deposit box at a discounted rate. Often, Lifetime Checking customers can obtain discounts on installment loans, and may qualify for overdraft protection and unsecured lines of credit.

Don't forget . . . when comparing checking accounts, don't let someone else do it for you. They may not give false information, but may not give all the information, either.

Finally -- when comparing, be sure to ask for information on Clinton Bank's Lifetime Checking account. There's no other account like it in central Michigan.

Sincerely,

St. Johns festival

'Cross section of the fine arts' is coming

By RHONDA GAFFNEY
Staffwriter

"A cross-sectional view of what Fine Arts programs are offered at St. Johns High School."

That's the way Don Valentine, vocal music instructor at SJHS, describes "Festival of the Arts", planned for this weekend, May 16, 17, and 18 at the high school.

Valentine, along with other Fine Arts department heads, years ago conceived the idea for a year-end program in which students in the various arts fields could display their talents.

However, the plans were never coordinated until this year. All give credit for pulling the project together to Rich Vitek, who took the job as Student Activities Director at St. Johns last fall.

"Rich was a very positive force in coordinating our efforts," said Barbara Markman.

The planning committee for "Festival of the Arts" consists of heads of departments in Fine Arts at SJHS. These include: Judy McEnaney and Linda War-ington from the Art Department; Bill Tennant, Don Valentine, and Gregg Mowen from Music; Barbara Markman heading drama/literary; and Robert Koger head of Theatrical Productions.

These people have been encouraging students in their specific areas to submit entries throughout the school year. The Festival is a collection of the best efforts of the students in the different art fields, with some students involved in many of the areas.

"The excitement is building among the students," Warrington said. "There really is not a good opportunity during the school year for the students to display their work, especially in the areas of art and literature. A festival is a nice way to give them the recognition they deserve."

The Festival begins at 6 p.m. on May 16 with a demonstration of making handmade paper in Art Room 144, featured soloists and ensembles performing in the lobby of the auditorium and vocal music rooms, and literary and art works on display also in the lobby and music rooms.

The ninth grade chorus will perform from 7-7:30 p.m., followed by a drama production from 7:45-8:15 entitled "A Thurber Carnival." Ninth grade band takes center stage from 8:30-9 p.m., and the evening concludes with the St. Johns Symphonic Orchestra from 9:15-9:45.

Between the scheduled performances on the main stage, visitors may watch demonstrations in the art room on air brush technique, Mono printing, and cartooning. Soloists and ensembles will also be performing in the theatre lobby and vocal music rooms during the intermissions.

The Saturday portion of the Festival opens again at 6 p.m. with a silk screening demonstration in the Art Room, soloists and the Choralaires performing in the lobby and music rooms.

The Chamber and String Orchestra takes the stage from 7-7:30 p.m. on the 17th, followed by the Concert Band from 7:45-8:15, "Feiffer's People", a dramatic production from 8:30-9 p.m., and concluding with the Concert Choir from 9:15-9:45.

Demonstrations by the art department during intermissions includes: use of the potters wheel, sculpture, and air brush.

Festival of the Arts wraps up on Sunday with a performance by the Symphonic Band on the main stage from 2-2:45 p.m. and the Grand Finale, "The People, Yes!" being performed from 3:00-4:00 p.m.

"Bob Koger has been working on adapting Carl Sandburg's "The People, Yes" for many years," said Valentine. "It's a dramatic/musical/visual arts production. We're all very excited about it."

County bars warned to ask for proof of legal age

By RICH WERTZ
Editor

A state police sting operation in Clinton County last week — in which all six of the bars targeted by the operation on a single night allegedly sold alcohol to a minor — indicates that "establishments in that part of Clinton County are especially lax" about alcohol regulations, said Lt. Osier Rowe, who supervised the operation.

Rowe, who said he was disappointed at the number of bars that sold alcohol to an 18-year-old woman who was working with police, was asked if the operation he heads — called Surveillance of Alcohol Vending Establishments (SAVE) — would now concentrate on Clinton County.

"I don't want to say we'll concentrate on Clinton County," he said. "We're certainly going to make an effort to get the bars to comply with state law and Liquor Control Commission regulations. If that requires me to spend more time up there, then so be it."

"I hope it doesn't detract from the overall program." On April 5, one bar in Eagle, two in Fowler, and three in Westphalia, sold alcohol to the young woman working with police, Rowe said. He said he had expected a much lower percentage of non-compliance with alcohol laws.

'I expect we'll be talking to the chief of police in St. Johns and trying to make some buys.'

"Needless to say, my expectations were shattered," he said.

Rowe said that each of the bar employees convicted of serving the alcohol will face a $1,000 fine and/or 90 days in jail.

The bars themselves will be cited to the Liquor Control Commission (LCC), he said. The penalty assessed against the bars is strictly up to the LCC, Rowe said. Fines for such offenses have been "running in the neighborhood of $150," he said.

"I personally think they ought to be fining them from $300 to $500," he said.

Rowe said the SAVE operation has two main thrusts: first, to "sensitize" bar owners to the necessity of impressing upon their help the importance of checking identification; secondly, to put bar employees on notice that there will be consequences if they fail to do so.

Asked if he thought the operation is fair to bar employees — especially since the minor was accompanied by an older male — he said: "The girl ordered her own drink, she paid for her own drink and therefore it is really irrelevant whether someone was with her or not with her."

He said the intent of the operation has been "to remind everybody that there are rules and regulations," not to try to catch businesses off guard. He said he has tried so hard to be fair that some have criticized him for not making more of an effort to catch bars off guard.

"I've done everything I can do — in fact some have said I've gone too far...I designed our program to be a little more cognizant of the problems of the businesses."

Rowe also said that he had no wish to suggest that all Clinton County bars are necessarily lax in following the rules.

"I know there are a number of bars in DeWitt and other areas of the county that did not sell (to a SAVE operative)," he said.

Asked about St. Johns, Rowe said, "I expect that sometime down the road we'll be talking to the chief of police in St. Johns and we'll be trying to make some buys."

Melted crayons

Dawn Harris

Help! There was a crayon in her pocket! Many calls are received each year at the Extension Office from people who are frantic because they just realized there must have been a crayon in their child's pocket during laundering. Behold, they suddenly have a washer or dryer load of brightly colored streaks, smears and spots!

The following procedure is recommended by the Crayola Public Relations Department for that awful occurrence:

To remove crayon stains from laundry you need: WD40 or similar product, liquid dish washing detergent, liquid laundry detergent, paper towels and powdered non-chloride bleach.

1. Lay garment on a layer of paper towels.
2. Spray garment with WD40 — let stand a minute.

3. Turn fabric and spray other side; let stand a minute.
4. Then apply liquid dish detergent — work it into the stain. (Replace paper toweling as it gets dirty.)

5. Place the garment in washing machine with normal amounts of liquid laundry detergent and non-chlorine bleach. Rinse in warm water.
6. If stain remains, repeat as above.

The Extension Office also has stain removal procedures for a variety of other stubborn stains. If you would like further recommendations call the Extension Office and ask for our "Stain Out" bulletin. The number is 224-3288.

Dawn Harris is the Home Economist for the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.

The Michigan Sesquicentennial 1837-1987

Exhibit provides journey to past

By RICH WERTZ
Editor

In 1956, to commemorate the 100th birthday of Clinton County, the Clinton County News, under the ownership of Ink White, published a Centennial Issue of hundreds of pages. In all likelihood the edition stands today as the largest newspaper ever printed in Clinton County.

The special edition included historical sketches of every business in the county at the time, histories of prominent people who settled and developed the county, and thousands of other tidbits of historical information that can be found nowhere else.

For years, copies of that newspaper have been laying around gathering dust. But this month the newspaper returned to life at the Paine-Gillam Scott Museum in St. Johns. A copy of the newspaper, carefully cut, protected with a plastic covering, and organized into decades, serves as the foundation for a sesquicentennial exhibit at the museum called "Calander Hall."

Each section of the exhibit portrays a ten-year time period. National and state items of interest share space with the Clinton County News clippings, giving the viewer a perspective that flows from the wide angle of national events to the close focus of county events.

Along the way, fascinating things are learned. For instance:

- Spring Street in downtown St. Johns is so named because there was once a babbling brook that ran along its length.

- St. Johns once boasted its own bicycle band. Pictures show musicians riding on old fashioned bicycles with high front wheels.

- The stepsister of John Brown, the famous abolitionist whose body "lies a-smoulderin' in the grave," lived in St. Johns. Facsimiles of their correspondence, including a letter from Brown to his stepsister written while he waited for the gallows, can be read.

- "You know, some people don't know the museum is here," remarks Catherine Rumbaugh, museum director. "Then when they come in, they're dumfounded."

Ink White, by the way, still lives in town. He recalls his staff printing the special edition eight pages at a time and storing it above what it is now Paul's Automotive — where a single match could have wiped out months of work almost instantly.

The paper lacked the manpower and the proper machinery for the task, he says, but the staff did it anyway.

"It was the most expensive way to do it, I'm sure," he says, "but it as the most fun."

First county settler family was still here over 100 years later

By CATHERINE RUMBAUGH
Paine-Gillam-Scott
Museum Director

Milcah Campau Frace of St. Johns was the first cousin, once removed, of Clinton County's first European settler, George Campau who established an Indian trading post at Maple Rapids in 1826.

Milcah was born in Detroit on September 28, 1877, to Alexander Timothy and Milcah Hadassah Howarth Campau.

Her father, Alexander, a prominent lawyer, was the youngest son of Joseph and Adelaide DeQuindre Campau, Detroit, and first cousin to George.

George and brothers Louis, Antone, Toussaint and Francois were all helped with their education and a start into business by their Uncle Joseph, Louis even living in the household from the age of eight.

Joseph Campau had trading posts in Detroit, Saginaw and possibly other cities. He sent his nephews out to locate land in other areas of Michigan where they could start posts to barter with the Indians.

George remained in the Maple Rapids area until 1842 when he moved to Grand Rapids, the town founded by his brother

Louis Campau, aided by Antoine, Toussaint and Francois.

John Johnson, who married Milcah's aunt, daughter of Joseph Campau, purchased the Maple Rapids trading post. Her aunt died and was buried there in 1864. Relatives erected a monument in 1871 at the cost of $1,300.

He sent his nephews out to locate land in other areas where they could barter with the Indians they moved to Westphalia for about 14 years.

Two children, Margaret Milcah born October 3, 1902 and Henry Guy born October 13, 1912, were born there. Around 1916, 408 E. Walker Street, St. Johns became their home.

Milcah was an accomplished pianist and was in much demand at local events, as well as being active in the St. Johns Woman's Club. Milcah Frace died at her home, Feb. 26, 1949.

A short sketch of the early days of county and Clinton DeWitt, who built the canal

By CATHERINE RUMBAUGH
Paine-Gillam-Scott
Museum Director

Clinton County was once part of a larger area called Michilimackinac, an Indian name meaning "big water." Governed by the French in the early 1600s, it was governed by them until 1763, then ceded to Great Britain.

The Treaty of Paris in 1783 transferred it to the United States and in 1787, established the area in the Northwest Territory. The War of 1812 put Michilimackinac in the path of battle, but the 1814 Treaty of Ghent determined the permanent ownership and a diplomatic victory for the U.S.

Indians inhabited central and northern parts of the Lower Peninsula, including what was to become Clinton County, the center of the mitten.

In the 1820s, before Michigan became a state in 1837, a large territory, of which Clinton was a part, was established as Wayne County. In 1822, Territorial Governor Lewis Cass issued a proclamation establishing Oakland County, which the area was called until Clinton County became official in 1831 by an act of the territorial legislature.

The first permanent settlement of Clinton County was DeWitt — the origin for both named for a prominent American statesman, DeWitt Clinton. He was the mayor of New York City from 1803 to 1812 and the governor of the State of New York from 1817 to 1821. It was during that period people emigrated to Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, which were already states, and to Michigan, which was still a territory.

Aware of the hardships of their westward trek, Governor DeWitt Clinton conceived the idea of an artificial waterway, a canal from Albany on the Hudson River to Lake Erie near Buffalo. Authorized by the state of New York in 1817, his dream was realized in the completion of the Erie Canal in 1825. It was on this waterway, on barges drawn by teams of horses walking along a tow path beside the canal that a great many of Clinton County's pioneers arrived to new beginnings and gratitude for a man named DeWitt Clinton.

Foster parenting: hard job but worthwhile

By RICH WERTZ
Editor

"It has pluses and minuses — I'm not going to kid anyone." The speaker will call John Smith (not his real name). He and his wife are foster parents in Clinton County. They have, in the last seven years, taken a number of children into their homes, usually for periods of about one year. While their foster children are with them, the Smiths do their best to make them part of their family. Then the children leave again.

Why do they do it?

"You kind of look around the this world," says Smith. "You are isolated — it's like there's no one else there."

But, he says, when you share what you have with others, you begin to realize that there other people in the world and many of them are not as well off as yourself.

"The more you can share your life with someone, the better," he says. "It allows you to do something for this world."

And, he says, it has one advantage for families with established roots, with jobs to go to in the morning, who can not run off to join the Peace Corps or otherwise tilt at windmills.

"This is," he says, "something we can do."

CLINTON COUNTY needs more people who think like the Smiths, says Carolyn Delaven, foster care supervisor for the Clinton County Juvenile Court.

At any one time there are 25 to 30 children in the county living in foster homes. Some were abandoned, neglected or abused by their natural parents. The parents of some have died and there are no relatives available to take in the children. Others just need a temporary home while their parents recover from auto accidents or other tragedies that leave them unable to care for their children.

With more and more reported cases of child abuse, and more and more of the reports being substantiated, the likelihood is that the need for foster homes will increase.

"The trend is up — the probability of more kids having to be placed," says Probate Court Judge Marvin E. Robertson.

"One need now is for homes that can take in siblings — two or three children," says Delaven. "We don't like to split up families."

There are currently about 30 licensed foster homes in Clinton County. This meets the need only in terms of total numbers. In a more practical sense, there is an immediate need.

"We need a lot of foster homes because the children we get... may not fit in all the homes," says Delaven.

Location is also a consideration — foster children are kept in the same school they have been attending whenever possible. Currently the need is greatest in Bath and DeWitt, says Delaven.

THE SMITHS had talked about taking in foster children but had planned to wait until their own children were grown. Seven years ago they saw an ad in the newspaper that said there was an immediate need for foster parents. Rather than wait they responded to the ad. One year later the parents of four children, ranging in age from eight to 13 years, welcomed into their family a fifth child. The new family member was a 14-year-old boy who stayed with them for a year, then left to return to his natural mother.

"The object is to get them back home," says Smith.

'The more you can share your life with someone, the better. It allows you to do something for this world.'

"But that doesn't always happen."

The next foster child the Smiths took in was a teenage girl. She too stayed with them for about a year but there were problems. Once she ran away, but returned on her own a short time later.

"She wasn't happy here," says Smith. "She asked to leave several times and we made that route possible for her."

The route found for the girl included a state run home but did not include reunion with her natural parents.

Sometimes problems arise because the foster home is simply a different environment than the foster child is accustomed to, says Smith. His family lives in the country, he says, and children from city backgrounds can have a hard time adjusting to an environment that often includes the expectation that children help with outdoor chores and account for their time in other ways.

The Smiths also took in two babies and raised them for a year. The babies were then adopted by another family.

"It was a hard thing to do, to raise two babies then have someone else get them," says Smith.

But, he says, every time his family has taken in foster children, there has been some degree of success.

"It is hard but there's a lot of benefit," he says. "Both for the foster kids and your own kids and even for the parents of the foster kids."

The Smiths' first foster child, now a young man in his early twenties, comes back to visit his foster family now and then.

"That's very rewarding, to have a kid come back and say it was a good time for him," says Smith.

FOSTER PARENTING differs from adoption in two important ways. One, foster parents, unlike those who adopt children, do not have the parental rights of natural parents. Foster parents work regularly with a caseworker and have only those rights given to them by the state.

Secondly, foster parenting is usually temporary. Parents who are separated from their children because of neglect or abuse do not automatically lose their rights as parents. There is a program of counseling, classes, job registration, supervised visits with the children — all geared toward helping the natural parents become competent parents.

"We try to get a plan together whereby the parents get their act together," says Judge Robertson. "It is the court's hope to safely re-unite the parents and the children."

Separating is one of the bittersweet realities of foster parenting but one that all foster parents live with.

"It can be a problem," says Delaven. "It's not always bad."

She paraphrases an often used saying — "Better to have bonded and broke those bonds, then never to have bonded at all."

SOMETIMES, though, foster parenting leads to adoption. A Clinton County family we will call the Jones took in three foster children in 1983. They are now in the process of adopting the children.

Their story is in some ways a story of failure and in some ways a story of success. The foster children who are now part of the Jones family were separated from their natural mother because of abuse and neglect. The court eventually terminated the parental rights of the mother.

"She was like a child herself in some ways," says Mrs. Jones.

The successful side of the story is that the children do have a good home. The Jones, who have three natural children of their own, say the adjustment is complete.

The new children are attending the same school they did before. The Jones' natural children for the most part welcomed the new children into the family.

Her oldest boys, says Mrs. Jones, "especially enjoyed it since they'd never had a little brother."

Her natural daughter, she says, had a harder time adjusting. But the adjustment was made, she says, partly because the family members talked openly about their concerns.

"She admitted to us the hardest part to her was that she thought she was giving up her parents to someone else," Mrs. Jones said of her natural daughter.

Reassured that her parents were not abandoning her, she made the adjustment, Mrs. Jones says.

The process of assimilating new children into a family takes time, she says. Family routines and traditions might change — an annual visit with relatives could become unmanageable with a larger family. Sometimes relatives do not accept foster children as readily as does the foster family.

"In our case it was almost six months before they felt they fitted in and weren't 'the other kids,'" Mrs. Jones says.

She echoes something Smith says about what happens when you share your life with someone else.

"It helped our kids grow up in a lot of ways," she says. "These kids just need a little love and games."

"Hopefully," she says of all her children, "they'll grow up to be foster parents — because it's exciting."

LOVE IS another thing both foster parents mentioned. "Love," says Smith, "is always beneficial."

"These kids just need a little love and everybody has some extra love," says Mrs. Jones.

Also, she says: "We've gotten more out of taking these kids into our home than we could possibly give back."

The last thing you need when you're over 55, is a problem paying for your car insurance.

Age has its rewards. Sometimes. It does with Auto-Owners. They give good drivers age 55 or older a discount. So instead of raising your premiums or reducing your coverage you may pay a little less for your auto insurance.

Auto-Owners respects maturity and a good driving record. Just ask your no problem" Auto-Owners agent how he can save you money on your car insurance. When you hear the news, you'll be glad you've got a few years behind you.

Order of Eastern Star holds yearly meeting

The 78th annual meeting of the Order of the Eastern Star met on April 30 at the First Methodist Church with DeWitt Chapter 30 as host Chapter. There was coffee hour and registration at nine and the meeting was called to order at ten.

Evelyn Morrow played the prelude and Myrna Hallman, DeWitt Worthy Matron, opened the meeting. Ronald Woodruff of Ovid escorted the county officers and the Worthy Matrons to the East. Each Worthy Matron introduced her county officer. The county officers were:

Ruth Chamberlain, President, introduced by Kay Watson.

Chaplain, Phyllis West, introduced by Geraldine Workman.

Marshall, Judy Chamberlain, introduced by Margaret Tromater.

President Ruth Chamberlain opened the meeting, followed by prayer by Phyllis West. Judy Chamberlain presented the flags and the pledge was given. A special tribute to the flag was given by Wacousta Chapter under the direction of Margaret Tromater. The "Welcome" was given by Myrna Hallman, Worthy Matron of DeWitt Chapter, the response was by Elizabeth Levy, Worthy Matron of Elsie Chapter. The roll call of Chapters found 97 present. Minutes were read and approved as read. The annual reports of each chapter was read by the Worthy Matrons.

Treasurer's report was read and approved. Motion was made by Dorothy Keck that the minutes of each annual meeting be typed and handed out at future meetings. Seconded by Jeanne Temple. Passed.

Shirley Craner of the nominating committee read the slate of officers for next year:

President: Dorothy Keck, DeWitt Chapter 30.
1st Vice President: Jeanne Temple, Elsie Chapter 69.
2nd Vice President: Shirley Craig, Maple Rapids 76.

Chaplain: Pat Throop, Wacousta Chapter 133.
Marshall: Isedeane Applebee, Ovid Chapter 279.
All accepted the officers.

The Worthy Grand Matron addressed the meeting. She hoped we realized what a beautiful Order we belong to, and that we show love and understanding so more will join our Chapters. From listening to the Worthy Matrons' reports, she can see that we have had a busy year. During the last five years we have lost 7,000 members. The proceeds from the Masonic Fair of last summer will be used to furnish two rooms at the Masonic Home in Alma. She thanked the chapters for their donations of Christmas stockings. We gave enough so they were able to give two stockings to each resident of the home. The Sunshine Committee sent out 3000 cards this year. We will have the meeting of General Grand Chapter here in Michigan in the year 2000.

The 50-year and life members were escorted to the East and were given a gift by the Worthy Grand Matron and Worthy Grand Patron, while the organist played "Memories."

The Bible was closed and the meeting closed off until 1:15.

Clinton County News track meet

Thunder and lightning in the distance, a brief shower, and strong southwest wind did not halt the proceedings of the Clinton County News track meet held last Monday at Ovid-Elsie High School.

Seven Clinton County school participated in the annual event, and with twilight approaching, DeWitt's girls team and Fowler's boys emerged as the victors. DeWitt accumulated 115 team points to take top honors, and Fowler amassed 148 total points.

The order was reversed for second place, with Fowler's girls netting 102 points, and DeWitt's boys' score of 146 almost edging the Eagles out.

"It was the first time we've ever won the County Meet in all the years that we've been a part of it," said Fowler boys Coach Neil Hufnagle. "The kids were really happy to win."

Meet records were set in girls events in the 330 low hurdles by Parker from O-E, Neely from Bath in the shot put, and Skoczylas from DeWitt tied the record in the 100 dash. Koenigsnecht from Fowler for the boys set a new meet record in the 100 dash.

"Doug Long (coach of the O-E girls team) put the meet together for us this year," said Bob Foreback, Athletic Director at Ovid-Elsie, "and deserves a lot of credit for the smooth running of the meet. When you get that many schools and kids on the track at one time, things have to go according to schedule."

Other county schools included in the meet were St. Johns, Ovid-Elsie, Bath, Laingsburg, and Fulton. Team and individual scores follow in this article.

Redwing girls take opening win at Classic

GIVING SIGNS — Redwing softball coach Paul Sternburgh is a familiar figure in his third base coaching box, as he gives signals to his St. Johns batters and base runners. The Redwings are threat at the plate as well as in running bases.

Lara Foy ripped a hit to clear the bases and end the game. Pung was 2-3 on the night, Eiseler went 2-4, and Schmidt was perfect at 2-2.

IN EARLIER ACTION last week, St. Johns took a pair from Chesaning in MMB action on Tuesday, and swept a doubleheader with DeWitt on Thursday.

"Basically the team played over its own errors in the first game," Coach Sternburgh said of the Redwings 4-3 opening game at Chesaning. "We played just well enough to win."

The Redwings committed five errors in the contest where Eiseler was the winning pitcher. She allowed two hits, three unearned runs scored, she walked three and struck out four. Nine hits for St. Johns were spread out among the team.

Foy got the win in the nightcap for St. Johns, giving up four hits, two unearned runs, five walks and striking out one batter.

St. Johns had seven hits with Eiseler going 2-4 with a double and 3 RBIs, and Karen Simon batting 2-3 with 1 RBI. The Redwings committed three errors.

The first game with DeWitt on Thursday saw St. Johns win 7-1. Four batters were 1-3 in the game: Eiseler with a double, Simon, Foy and Schmidt.

Eiseler threw a no-hitter and took the win. She walked five and struck out 11 batters. The only run scored by DeWitt was unearned.

THE SECOND HALF of the twin bill was a back-and-forth game all the way. DeWitt threatened to score in the second, fourth, sixth and seventh innings but were shut-out 1-0.

The winning run for St. Johns came in the bottom of the seventh. Myszak singled and advanced to second on a sacrifice bunt by Simon. An infield single by Nichols loaded the bases and Schmidt, as a pitch hitter, smacked a single to score Myszak.

The Redwings had five hits total with Murphy getting two singles. Foy pitched all seven innings, gave up four hits, no runs, three walks, and struck out 2 batters.

In just a little sneak preview of the Classic game, slated for this Friday at Ranney Park beginning at 6:30 p.m., Coach Sternburgh said it should be "a good game." Laingsburg takes a 18-0 record into the contest.

"The girls all know each other and have played with Laingsburg players on other teams before," Sternburgh said. "Probably the hardest thing will be to keep them from socializing with each other during the game."

Should St. Johns win, they would advance to the Championship game on Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

Still, Sternburgh is more interested at this time in taking two games with Corunna at home tonight. That would pretty much clinch the MMB title for St. Johns.

"If we win both games we should be in good shape," the coach said. "Hopefully, we'll be 20-1 going into the Classic on Friday."

The Redwing girls softball team is on their way toward repeating as champions of the Diamond Classic for the second consecutive year following their opening game drubbing of DeWitt, 10-0, last Friday at Ranney Park in Lansing.

But, wait.

St. Johns Coach Paul Sternburgh is not allowing himself or his team to think strategy for the semi-final confrontation with Laingsburg this Friday. Not until they get past their conference doubleheader with Corunna this evening.

The Redwings were in an almost identical situation last year when they won the Classic — and lost out in a bid for the MMB title.

"We blew it last year in the conference race," Sternburgh said. "We're definitely not looking past Corunna."

Coach Sternburgh was "surprised" with the ease of the Redwings victory over DeWitt in the Classic.

"Frankly, I was concerned going into the game," the coach said. "We had beaten DeWitt twice the night before and it's hard to take a team three times in a row — Brenda took care of that."

The senior pitcher threw a shut-out, two-hitter, allowing just one walk and striking out eight in the six inning mercied game. Her strike-out total in 12 games pitched is 122.

AN ABUNDANCE OF REDWING fans at Ranney watched Eiseler eliminate DeWitt in the top of the first inning, striking out the first and third batters and fielding a short hopper to throw the batter out at first.

St. Johns struck early in their half of the first, scoring two runs. Mary Murphy singled down the third base line to open the inning, stole second and came home on a single to right by Angie Pung. A hit by Eiseler sent Pung home for the second run.

The Redwings added four more runs in the bottom of the second when Lara Foy led-off with a single and came home on a play where Sherry Nichols advanced to third on an error. Nichols scored the second run on a single by Amy Schmidt.

Murphy walked, and Schmidt crossed the plate on an attempted pick-off of Murphy who stole second. Pung singled and Missy Vitek advanced the runners when she was out on an infield fly. Eiseler was safe on a fielder's choice that took Murphy out at home, and Pung scored the final run of the inning when Eiseler crossed the fielders up on a steal attempt.

One run was scored in the fourth when Schmidt singled, advanced on a "tweener" off the bat of Vitek, and came home on a looping-liner double by Eiseler.

St. Johns put the game away in their half of the sixth when Debbie Bensinger stroked a single, Tonya LaBar walked and Angie Myszak singled to load the bases.

Redwings win MMB league title in tennis

The Redwing tennis team took championship honors in the MMB Conference Meet last Saturday, finishing with a perfect 4-0 record in the league. All St. Johns players won their first round matches and advanced to the championship round.

Al Werbish's netters scored 33 points in the conference meet for their first place finish with Alma having 25, Ionia 22, Corunna 18 and Ovid-Elsie seven. Final standings in the MMB see St. Johns finishing first with Ionia and Alma tied for second, Corunna fourth and O-E fifth.

In the Championship Flight, number one singles player Brad Thompson was defeated 3-6, 7-5, 6-2 by Tom Sereseroz from Corunna; number two player Curt Luttig also fell by scores of 2-6, 6-3, 6-4 to Joe VanDeWegle from Alma; number three singles Eric Fish defeated his man 6-4, 6-3; and number four singles Kevin Zimmerman won 6-2, 6-2.

In doubles, all St. Johns teams were winners. Number one team of Eric Signs and Rich Kirby won 4-6, 6-3, 6-1; number two team of Trent Byra and Chris Briggs won 6-0, 6-3; and the number three team of Dave Schroeder and Jason Zimmerman defeated their men 6-2, 6-1.

The Conference Meet determines All-league status for the MMB. Because all St. Johns players reached the championship flight, they were all automatically first or second team All-league.

First Team All-league are: Eric Fish, Kevn Zimmerman in singles; and doubles' teams of Signs/Kirby, Byra/Briggs, and Schroeder/Zimmerman.

Second Team All-league are singles players Thompson and Luttig.

In other action last week, the Redwings lost a match with Owosso 1-6, and rebounded to win over Alma 7-0.

"We didn't play well as a team," Coach Werbish said of the loss to Owosso. "We lost three sets matches which could have gone either way. The number two doubles team played extremely well."

That doubles team of Brya and Briggs gave St. Johns their only win of the day, 7-5, 6-0.

Although the Redwings swept the Alma match, the win was not as lopsided as the score would indicate.

The number one doubles team of Signs and Kirby beat a tough Alma team 3-6, 6-4, 6-4 in close sets. Other doubles teams also were strong, Brya and Briggs winning 6-1, 6-2, and number three team Schroeder and Zimmerman winning 6-1, 6-2.

Singles wins went to Thompson 6-1, 6-2; Luttig 6-7, 6-2, 6-3; Fish 6-1, 7-5; and Zimmerman 6-2, 6-0.

The Redwings end their year at 6-2 overall and 4-0 in the conference.

Green tee league

The Green Tee League at the Clinton County Country Club opened their golfing season with a breakfast with 31 members in attendance.

After a short meeting following the breakfast, the ladies played golf and the prizes were won by Mural Gilson with a chip in, Pauline Meviam and Wanda Fox with the least amount of putts.

St. Johns baseball zips DeWitt

St. Johns Redwings' baseball team split a pair of doubleheaders last week, losing to Chesaning 9-3 and 16-1 on Tuesday, and coming back on Thursday to take two from DeWitt 5-0, 6-4.

"The wins over DeWitt were very satisfying," said Reding Coach Doug Parker. "They are a really nice club, and we played like we are capable of in beating them."

Chesaning also fielded a good team, according to Coach Parker, and St. Johns did not "play well" in their MMB games at Chesaning. They scored seven runs in the bottom of the first inning and added one more in the third to "pretty much put the game away," Parker said.

St. Johns scored two runs in the fifth and one in the sixth with Jerry Duwell and Tom Bates both going 2-3. Bates had 2 RBIs.

Jim Caudy was the starting and losing pitcher for the Redwings, giving up seven runs and five hits.

Scott Jones came on in relief in the first inning. He gave up two unearned runs, struck out 3, and walked 2 batters.

"He (Jones) pitched well in relief for us," Parker said.

In the nightcap, the Redwings scored their lone run in the top of the first inning. Chesaning came back scoring 3 in the first, 5 in the second, 7 in the third, and wrapping things up with 1 run in the fourth.

Dwight Pierson was the starting and losing pitcher for St. Johns. He gave up 7 runs and 7 hits. Jones and Caudy both pitched in relief. Pierson had 3 hits and 1 RBI for St. Johns.

In the doubleheader with DeWitt, St. Johns opened with 1 run in the third inning when Steve Dunkel was safe on an error and came home on a single by Dan Dorn.

The Redwings got their remaining 4 runs in the bottom of the fifth. Scott Heibeck singled, came home on an error that put Dunkel on base. He scored on a single by ST. PETER LUTHERAN SCHOOL hosted the Grand River Lutheran League fourth annual softball tournament last Saturday with schools from Lansing, Ionia and Flint taking part in the all-day event. St. Peter placed second behind St. Paul, Flint at the end of the tournament. St. Peter is located southwest of St. Johns, and offers Christian education to grades K-8.

Fowler, Fulton run in double dual

Fowler and Fulton track teams' double-dual meet with Portland St. Patrick last week saw the Eagles boys and girls teams scoring wins of Fulton and St. Pats, and Fulton defeating St. Pats.

Team scores for the girls were: Fulton 99, St. Pat 21; Fowler 112, St. Pat 12; Fulton 46, Fowler 82. For the boys: Fowler 107, Fulton 29; Fowler 122, St. Pat 11; Fulton 93, St. Pat 43.

Janice Kresge had three individual first places for Fulton and girls coach Roger Thelen was "encouraged by the improving times. We had some really good times — they keep improving with every meet," Thelen said.

Director's News

Alfalfa

Giles Roehl

Alfalfa has long been known as the Queen of the Forages because of the versatility and high quality hay or silage it produces.

For alfalfa to provide this quality feed in the desired quantities, you need to follow these guidelines.

1. Soil test. Alfalfa does best in a soil pH of 6.8 or above. It will do very poorly in any pH lower than 6.3. Apply lime according to soil test recommendations 3 to 6 months before seeding. Or, if you are ready to seed and have a low pH, apply the recommended lime anyway.
2. Prepare a good seed bed. In spring, plowing and a single tillage should do. Later tillage requires cultipacking to prevent soil drying before the young tender plant establishes a strong root system.
3. Fertilize according to the soil test. High yields (5 to 8 tons per acre) require 400 to 600 pounds of 0-14-42. To get the top yields apply another 200 to 300 pounds of 0-0-60 in the fall or next spring after the first cutting.
4. Control weeds and quackgrass. Prior to planting alfalfa in a field infested with weeds or quackgrass spray with Roundup at two quarts per acre. Application should be done when quackgrass is eight inches tall, in normal growing weather wait three days before plowing, longer in cold weather.
5. Use adopted, quality seed. New varieties of alfalfa are being released almost annually. 1986 recommended varieties are: 2 to 4 years, short-term stands — moderately hardy or hardy — Acclaim, Advantage, Apollo, Apollo II, Armor, Big Ten, Blazer, Challenger, Cimarron, Classic, Decathlon, DeKalb 120, DK135, Drummer, Duke, Endure, Enduro, Epic, Expo, Funks G-2815, Funks G-7730, Futura, Hiphy, Husky, Iroquois, Magnum, Milkmaker, Oneida, Peak, Pioneer 526, Pioneer 531, Pioneer 532, Saranac, Shenandoah, Thunder, Trident, Trumpeter, Vancor, Voris A-77, WL312, WL313, WL316.
- Five years or more, or pasture, long-term stands — hardy only — Apollo, Blazer, Funks G-7730, DeKalb 120, Epic, Hiphy, Iroquois, Oneida, Peak, Pioneer 526, Pioneer 531, Pioneer 532, Thunder, Vernal, WL220, Vancor.
6. Seed an adequate amount of seed; 12 to 16 pounds of seed are required — 12 pounds for the short term stands (one to three years), 16 pounds for the stands expected to last longer (three to five years).
7. Control insects! Two insects — the alfalfa weevil and the potato leafhopper are of primary importance in Michigan.

The weevil over winters, lays eggs and starts to hatch early to mid-May. A heavy infestation has already been reported in a neighboring county. Growers should monitor their fields twice a week starting now (mid-May) to determine if larvae damage warrants spraying. The adult weevil are gray to brown snout beetles, 1/4 inch long, with a broad dark band extending to the middle of their backs. They are the most active on warm nights and cloudy windless days. They feed by chewing holes through the young leaves of the plant.

Much of the loss from the weevil occurs after the plants approach late bud stage. Early cutting reduces the loss from weevils. A good management program is to check fields early for adults to spot possible weevil problems. Check tips for grubs: A rule of thumb is that spraying is needed if 1/4 or more of the tips show damage and the alfalfa will not be cut for a week or more.

If alfalfa is heavily infested at the time the weevil is detected, cut it immediately without spraying. Check the stubble after removing the hay for weevil grubs and apply spray if they are easily found.

If you use ground equipment, carefully calibrate to uniformly cover the plants. Use 12 to 15 gallons of spray per acre in stubble and 20 gallons per acre in larger plants.

A variety of chemicals are available for use to control the weevil. Use the following chemicals at the rates given (always read the label for full information.)

Non-restricted chemicals; pounds active insecticide per acre for application: Larsban, 1 pound; Lannate, .9 pound; Imidan, 1 pound; Gothion, 1/2 pound; Diazinon, 1 pound; Malathion, 1 1/4 pound; Sevin, 1 1/2 pound.

Restricted chemicals (must have a license to purchase):

Furadan, 1/4 pound; Lannate, .9 pound; Supracide, 1/2 pound; Penncap M, 1 quart.

arsban and Furadan provide longer period control than some of the others.

Do not use Sevin early season, gives good grub control late in the season.

The potato leafhopper normally does not become a problem until second and third crops. Control measures will be in a column at that time.

For additional information on alfalfa growth and insect control information, ask for MSU Fact Sheet no. 11, Extension Bulletin E-1017 or E-961 or File 22-331 at your Extension Office.

ATV safety

Marilyn Loudenslager

All Terrain Vehicles (ATV) are owned by many farmers for farm use as well as recreation. As the weather gets nicer the use of ATVs will increase. With the increased use of ATVs the operator's knowledge of the safe operation of the vehicle also increases.

Here are some interesting facts that were printed in the Detroit Free Press, April 23, 1986, about ATVs, that point out the serious side associated with the operation of an ATV.

- Estimated ATV use — 2.5 million.
- Deaths since 1982 — 415 with almost 50 percent of the victims under 16, 20 percent under 12 years of age.
- Accidents studied May 1-July 15, 1985, indicated 55 percent of those injured had at least one year of ATV experience according to one Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) survey results.

• Most accidents (53 percent) with ATVs occurred at speeds under 16 mph according to CPSC findings.

• Two deaths per day nationwide with ATVs occurred in 1985 during the high use period between March and September.

• Experts agree that many ATV related accidents are related to lack of proper safety gear, riding on paved roads, drinking and driving, riding double and a lack of proper supervision.

If you will be riding an ATV this season remember that: 1) it is important to get professional instruction before riding, 2) wear a helmet, 3) don't speed, 4) never ride double.

To assure the use of your ATV remains safe and enjoyable take the time to be responsible!

Potato Commission gets new director and offices in DeWitt

By MARILYN HESS
Staff Writer

Nestled in among doctor's offices and retail stores in the DeWitt Shopping Center on Schavey Road is Ben Kudwa's new office.

He was recently named as executive director of the Michigan Potato Industry Commission, which has been housed in DeWitt for only a few months.

Kudwa officially takes over today.

His job will be to promote Michigan potatoes and direct research on various problems affecting potato production. The Commission is funded by potato growers and processors in Michigan.

"It's an effort by the growers to promote our own product," he says.

Michigan is ranked tenth nationally in potato production, most of which takes place in the Bay City area, Montcalm County, and the southern Upper Peninsula.

Kudwa says the commission is located in DeWitt because of easy access to the Department of Agriculture and other government agencies.

"And these are nice offices, with plenty of parking," he adds.

Kudwa was selected from a field of almost 50 applicants for his new position. Before that, he served as a commodity specialist with Michigan Farm Bureau. He was with the farm bureau in various positions since 1984.

As commodity specialist, he concentrated on field crops, vegetable crops, fruit crops, and forestry. He also prepared market analysis, provided research reports to management, and got involved somewhat in public relations.

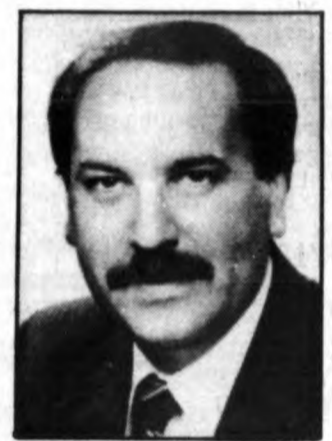

Kudwa will bring to the Michigan potato industry a varied background in agriculture and administration, believes Potato Commission Chairman Richard Shiels of Elmira.

"This job is going to be a challenge," Kudwa says, "because the potato business is going through hard times. But I consider it quite an honor to be chosen for the position."

He says one of his goals will be to unify the industry, to satisfy the special interest groups within the Michigan potato industry.

Kudwa was born and raised on a farm in Iron County, in the Upper Peninsula. He received his bachelor's degree from Michigan State University in crop and soil sciences.

He lives in Potterville with his wife, Annette, and their five-year-old daughter, Erinn.

New memberships are now being taken, also the club is going to try to attend some of the open shows around the state, these will be coming up soon, so new members are encouraged to let the leaders know also if they would like to attend some of these shows.

Pewamo Producers guest gives calf showing lesson

By TOM COOK

At Pewamo Producers Dairy Club's last 4-H meeting, held at the home of Nick Clark, we had a guest, Michele Anneman from Modlik Holsteins in Corunna.

She showed 4-H members how to go about showing a calf. First, she told us, you should keep it tied up on a halter for a couple of days to get it used to the halter, then walk it around and teach it to follow you. She also showed us how to clean your calf and told us you should keep its ears dry when washing the calf. She showed us how to clip the tail and how to clip the calf.

Michele pointed out some tricks that she uses on how to keep your calf looking good. She also showed us how to show calves. We were able to practice showing some of Nick's calves.

Space saving circular design provides up to 12 square feet of cooling surface for maximum cooling efficiency. Compact coil forms the body of the unit, minimizing expensive cabinet construction and unnecessary components.

High Efficiency Compressor
Energy saving design reduces internal resistance and friction and increases operating efficiency. Internal parts are spring isolated and the entire compressor is mounted on rubber cushions to absorb vibration and noise.

Extra Compressor Protection
Temperature activated crankcase heater protects against damaging compressor slugging during cool weather operation. Liquid line filter/drier removes moisture and harmful contaminants from the refrigerant line, extending compressor life.

Quiet Outdoor Fan and Vertical Air Discharge
Draw through air flow directs operating sound and hot air away from neighbors, shrubs and buildings. Adds to installation versatility. Permanent split capacitor motor operates more efficiently than cheaper shaded pole motors. Large fan blades
