School board candidates endure three hours of public questions

By RICH WERTZ
Editor

The role of schools in sex education, restoring unity to the school district, school administration and Central School — these were the subjects addressed by school board candidates at the St. Johns Board of Education Candidates Forum last Thursday evening.

Twenty-one of the candidates for seats on the board were present for the three-hour event, answering questions provided in writing by about 250 residents of the school district who attended the event.

The candidates, asked whether schools or "agencies of the schools" should provide students with information about contraceptives or abortion, were in unanimous agreement that schools should not.

They differed only slightly in their views on the role of the public schools in sex education. Several noted that a committee of district residents, educators, and clergy are working on a report regarding a sex education program for the school district. Most of the candidates said they would reserve judgement until the report is finished.

The candidates were in basic agreement that teaching moral values is the responsibility of church and home.

Jim Butler, a candidate for a three-year seat on the board, said he would not support a sex education program that taught moral values unless the program was run in conjunction with churches and parents.

Candidate Thomas Irrer, who is running for a four-year seat, said sex education is needed for children who are not part of a church or family setting that provides them with sex education.

Irrer also noted that state law stipulates that sex education programs provide families with the option of not participating if they do not wish to.

Roger Warner, a candidate for a one-year term, said schools do need to refer troubled students to professional counseling services.

THE MAJORITY of the candidates said they do not believe dissension in the district is caused by a city-country split.

"The board was not particularly an urban board and they were recalled," said Richard Lehnert, a candidate for a four year seat.

Irrer said he believes there was more support for the recent recall in rural than in city areas and that out-county areas of the district have less trust in the board and administration while residents in the center of the district generally feel the board is doing an acceptable job.

Peter Apostol, a candidate for a four-year term, said the recent recall was a city-country split because busing was a central issue.

Rollin Huard, a candidate for a one-year term, said, "If there is any one thing generating the perception of divisiveness it is the method of funding schools."

Candidates for one-year terms Jeanette Adams and Diane Baxter said they believe a commitment to neighborhood schools and a greater use of citizen committees will help restore unity to the district.

THE CANDIDATES, asked to evaluate the school administration in terms of "fairness, quality of work and cost," generally gave the administration at least qualified support.

Apostol, Irrer, Clare Matter, Jeanette Adams, Diane Baxter, Rollin Huard, Mathew Niemi, Joseph Pawloski, Robert Craig James Parr, James Schweigert, Jim Butler, Kevin Kirk, and Randall Strack gave generally favorable reviews of the administration.

"It occurs to me that it's possible the quality of the administration in of this district has to in some way be reflected in the quality of our schools," said Adams. "And the quality of our schools is something most people in St. Johns are proud of."

Pawloski and Craig both qualified their generally favorable evaluations — Pawloski because of administrative recommendations that "affect one group more than another" and Craig for an administrative recommendation last year to close schools early in the face of budget deficits.

Both men said they would have to "mark them down" for those actions. Schweigert said it is the board that sets policy, not the administration.

"I don't think you should follow...100 percent," he said, adding that "it appears that this administration has done a reasonably good job in the past."

Kirk said that given the stress the district has undergone he believes the administration is "possibly not as good as it once was." He added that administrators have been helpful to board candidates in the past few weeks.

Strack said "sometimes I think we forget that they are people just like me and you." He said he hoped residents would cast their votes on the basis of the qualifications of the candidates, not on how the candidates feel about the administration.

Neil Barnhart, a candidate for a four-year term, said: "Two years ago we hired a person who does not have a small town rural background...the people see...in a small town that you can get away with in a big city...As far as the quality of work of the majority of administrators I think we're doing quite well...(but) we have a couple administrators who like to show authority..."

"I don't care for the way it is organized," said Lehnert. "The board seems to interface with one person. Mr. Gabriel seems to be the autocratic head of a hierarchy."

Lehnert said he favors a team approach and, specifically, one in which the administrator in charge of finances reports directly to the board.

Warner said Gabriel has "done some fine things...and made some mistakes."

"I do think there have been some inequities within the district," Warner said. "I believe the superintendent would need to develop a very sincere communication with the new school board."

Paul Bieber, a candidate for a two-year term, said the administration is distrusted by many residents of the district.

"I, as an auditor myself, would want to look at some of these things," he said of administrative costs. "There are economies of scale. You don't need twice as many administrators for 3,000 students as you do for 1,500."

Kathy Sjoberg, three-year term candidate, said she could not evaluate the entire group of administrators. One problem was that "fairness and cost have gone hand in hand."

Kay Zuzelski, a two-year term candidate, said she would reserve her evaluation until she had worked with the administration as a board member.

"Some seem to be doing a good job and others are not," said George Gavenda Jr., a candidate for a four-year term.

THERE WAS general agreement among the candidates that the district should go ahead with a plan to buy portable classrooms to compensate for the closing of Central School next year.

Craig, however, said moving a kindergarten class from Perrin-Palmer to a country school would require one less portable classroom.

Clare Matter, a candidate for a four-year term, said he did not like the plan.

"The less I have to do with portables, the better I feel about it," he said.

R. Lee Putman, who is running for a two-year term, was not present at the event.

More information about each candidate appears on page 7A.

The St. Johns accountant earned the honor for her years of "exceptional performance" as a line officer in the association; chairman of the liaison with state government agencies committee; and for her work as chairman of several educational committees.

Nihart is the first woman to serve as president of the 40-year old association.

Commissioners appoint CANDO board

Clinton County Commissioners last week named 15 people to the board of the Clinton Area New Development Organization (CANDO).

The organization will attempt to spur economic growth in the area by attracting new businesses and by retaining existing businesses.

It will be affiliated with the Regional Economic Development Team (RED Team) that operates in the Lansing region. The RED Team will attempt to get businesses interested in the region; CANDO will attempt to sell those businesses on Clinton County in particular.

Included on the newly-named board is Don Lowell, director of the Clinton County Economic Development Corp. County officials say the EDC Corp. has attracted 1,300 jobs to the county in the last ten years.

Others named to the board are Dean Souden, Ernest Sakrasta, Bernard Feldpausch, Bob Barber, Ruth Nihart, Mike O'Bryant, Jim Fedewa, Scott Green, Randy Humphrey, Tom O'Bryant, Richard Brook, Roger Overway, Bruce Angell and Frank Bernath.

The board members represent industry, business, professional sectors, and governmental units.

Any business in the county can become a member of the organization by paying a $75 fee.

Please stay informed on Central School

To the Editor:

This letter is addressed to all the Central Elementary parents and everyone concerned with our neighborhood school concept.

With summer vacation here it is easy to forget our problems and not bother keeping informed on the Central issue. If you want a neighborhood school and are concerned about where your child will go to school next year, keep yourself informed. The new school board will have the final say so don't be overconfident that city children will stay in city schools or that Central will be rebuilt or remodeled. Only with the community's continued concern and support will our children have a neighborhood school and be in city schools next year.

Letters

Please become involved and attend the CCSO meetings and the school board meetings. If we're not careful our children will never again have their neighborhood school!

Come on Central neighborhood — let's pull together and keep our children's school alive. Also be sure to vote in June. Every vote is important!

Hidden taxes flaw governor's tax 'relief'

To the Editor:

Property tax is always a hot topic to consumers and consequently a good topic for political discussion especially in an election year. There is no doubt that property taxes are high in Michigan, but we must be wary of having tax relief in this area at the expense of even higher but hidden taxes in some other area.

Two proposals are before the Michigan legislature at this time. The first, known as the Senate Republicans' Property Tax Reduction Plan, calls for a tax credit for small business/low profit companies whose property tax liability exceeds two percent of profits, with a maximum benefit of $1,200 per company per year. This should save these companies about $40 million in property taxes each year.

The Senate Republican plan would also eliminate the school operating portion of the property tax for citizens 65 years old and older, with a home state equalized valuation up to $65,000. That portion of the plan would save those taxpayers about $138 million.

Further, the Senate Republican plan would provide additional relief of about $10 million through the Homestead Property Tax Credit for the working poor.

The total $188 million reduction in property taxes under the Senate Republican plan would be funded entirely from budget surpluses — no new taxes.

In contrast, Governor Blanchard has a plan which would provide additional property tax relief through Homestead Property Tax Credit and an interest credit on certain land contracts. These savings would amount to about $85 million. At the same time, the governor's plan would increase taxes on insurance companies and financial institutions a total of about $197 million, leaving the state with a net gain of about $112 million.

The governor's plan might have some appeal; taxing business to reduce taxes on individuals always has political appeal. Somehow, it can be easily overlooked that businesses pass on their tax increases to the consumer.

If the Senate Republicans can find $188 million in surpluses to return in the form of property tax relief, then why should we stand for a tax increase of $197 million — which will ultimately be paid by individuals — in order to give less than half the property tax relief offered by the Senate Republican plan?

Schools have had some accomplishments

To the Editor:

Perhaps it might be worthwhile to examine some of the positive accomplishments of the St. Johns school system over the past three and a half years.

Our food service program has provided a more varied menu and is now operating in the black instead of in the red as it was formerly.

A comprehensive review of our school policies by a professional has been almost completed. This will provide more consistency in our operations between administrators and the public by helping administrators understand the limits of their authority.

An Educational Advisory Council (EAC) has been established through contract negotiations with the teaching staff. The purpose of this is to provide a

CTC is not dictating to anyone on voting

To the Editor:

After reading a letter written to and printed in your newspaper last week from ex-board member Robert Craig, I can now better understand why Craig was recalled by the majority of the St. Johns School District voters. He makes references to his stand on eliminating busing and co-curricular activities, and then accuses the CTC of not telling the whole story. I wonder if Craig is telling the whole story or just the part he wants people to know.

He also states in his letter that the CTC announced "their" school board candidates. I am a member of the CTC and I can honestly say that we have not announced any list of candidates. I do agree with Craig on one thing. This is America, and we do have freedom of choice. I will listen to all candidates, including those who are endorsed by Concerned Citizens for Education, whom Craig seems to think are not qualified. I think the decision as to whether a candidate is qualified or not should be left up to the community, not some cheap-shot politician. As a member of CTC, I resent Craig's statements implying that CTC is dictating to people how or who to vote for. We are a committee of people who were formed because of a poor decision made by a past board. We have tried to be honest with the community and help the school district. I believe we have and will continue to do so. We plan on meeting with several elected officials to gather information on how we can further help our schools and work with the new board for the betterment of the school district and community.

I would hope that Craig would take some time and listen to all the candidates and become a little better informed before he writes another letter.

Please don't forget to vote June 9 for the candidates of your choice.

James Sjoberg

much more structured method of studying and improving curriculum, class size, and workshops. Through negotiation in the teachers contract the EAC has also been charged with creating a teacher evaluation format that is acceptable to both administration and teachers and cannot be merely voted by one party of the other as was formerly the case. As this more comprehensive evaluation is used in the future it will provide a basis to help teachers improve their skills and grow professionally. Obviously, it will also provide an objective documentation of teachers who continue to have problems.

Our school district has also endeavored to be frugal with the funds. We have purchased our own phone system instead of leasing and have used a new computer system with the Intermediate School District resulting in both lower cost and better turn around time than we were getting with the former system. The board has approved energy grants totaling $98,800 to make improvements to lower our energy costs. This past year the board instituted a double busing program which reduced maintenance requirements as well as requiring investment in fewer buses at any one time.

I feel that the past three and a half years have been marked by a school board and administration that have taken it as their responsibility to examine the options available, be it for summer taxes, school closings, curriculum improvements, or transportation, and then taking the course of action that most of the people seem to desire. I would hope that the new board and administration would continue to examine all of the options and not hide their collective heads in the sand.

"It's in the Bag"
by Bob Beck

You may be surprised to read that ice cream in this country dates back to Revolutionary War days.

Of course, in those times, ice cream was a very special treat for very special people. Leading chefs prepared it for a limited clientele ... and President Washington served it to his most favored guests at Mount Vernon.

Because ice cream was so difficult to make --- and so hard to store after you did make it --- it was pretty slow catching on. In fact, as recently as 1890, the old hand-cranked freezer bucket method was just about the only way to make it. And it wasn't until "ice boxes" gave way to refrigerators in the mid-twenties that ice cream really came into its own.

Today, of course, ice cream is everywhere. Nearly fifty million American enjoy it every day ... and there is some ice cream on hand, right now, in a third of the homes in America.

Our favorite flavor, incidentally, is overwhelmingly vanilla, with chocolate a weak second, and strawberry third. After that come such exotic flavors as mint tea, devil's food, cinnamon zig zag, and ... so help me ... something called pink squirrel.

Long forum

Rich Wertz

"Wasn't that awful?" said one of the candidates for the St. Johns Board of Education.

The candidate was referring to the length of time — three hours — that 21 candidates sat on a stage answering questions from the public at the Candidates Forum last Thursday evening.

It was a long time and I think the candidates deserve a hand for doing it. Of course, it could be thought of as training for some of the board meetings six of the candidates will eventually have to participate in.

In any case, I thought the evening was worthwhile. I'm biased of course, because this newspaper was one of the sponsors of the evening. Still, there was a lot of material presented with which to evaluate the candidates.

I'd like to thank the St. Johns Reminder for co-sponsoring the forum, the school district for providing the auditorium and materials, the Chamber Ambassadors for hosting the informal session after the forum, the student volunteers for serving as messengers, my fellow journalists for serving on the panel of questioners, Judge Randy Tahvonen for serving as moderator and Superintendent Earl Gabriel for first suggesting that the Reminder and the County New co-sponsor a candidates night.

WHAT DOES NOT GET IN THE PAPER? The policy of this newspaper is to run every bit of local news we can get our hands on. Local to us means it happened in our distribution area, or was done by someone in our distribution area.

To all the good people out of the county and out of the state who argue quite rightly that their news affects the people of Clinton County, I can only say — sorry, maybe the dailies will print it.

For the sake of openness and accountability, I will confess there have been several items submitted that were at least nominally local but which never graced the pages of this newspaper:

• One week I had a spat of calls from individuals claiming to have information that would expose several "pillars of the community" for devious deeds of one sort or another. I offered to take a look at anything these callers had in the way of documentation but all I received was a copy of a civil suit — involving a private citizen, not a public official — from an out-of-state court. As any lawyer can tell you, anybody can sue anybody for anything. No story.

• I have a small collection of never-printed letters, some with Lansing postmarks, supposedly written by St. Johns residents, but with obviously fictional names. One letter was written by five couples who all had the same name, first and last. The letters attack, variously, local merchants and rural people, but are otherwise incomprehensible.

Could dispatching problems cost lives?

By MARILYN HESS and RICH WERTZ

Your four-year-old child fell out of a tall tree in your yard and is laying on the ground unconscious with a bloody gash on the head. It is 10 p.m. Saturday. The situation looks bad, so you pick up the phone to call for help.

What happens then? If you live in an out-county area that is not served by the St. Johns police dispatcher, you reach the Clinton County Sheriff's Department. Ideally, the person manning the phone there asks you several questions, determines which local EMT unit is responsible for your area and then dispatches that unit, dispatches an ambulance from either Lansing or St. Johns, and stands by to see if other assistance is needed.

But some local fire and police personnel say they have seen that ideal chain of events break down — and break down too often. They're concerned that the Sheriff's Department dispatching system is inadequate, and have met among themselves and with the county commissioners to find a solution to what they say is more than an occasional problem.

WHEN WE GOT together with the other departments, very large tales of woe came out," said Bath Supervisor Richard Brook. "It's county-wide, not just in the southern part."

The meeting between Bath Township and other county departments took place on May 20. About 25 police, fire, and township officials attended the meeting at the Bath Township Hall.

That same group met with the county commissioners the evening of May 27. Also present was Jail Administrator George Weber, who is in charge of dispatching, and at least one dispatcher.

Although no action was taken that evening, Weber agreed to meet this week with Sheriff Terry Haneckow, Board of Commissioners Chairman Roger Overway, County Prosecutor Jon Newman, and County Emergency Services Coordinator Bob Farry.

The problems brought up at the commissioners' meeting fell into three areas:

- Dispatchers having a possible lack of training.
- Dispatchers giving inadequate information to the officers or firemen in the field.
- Other grievances ranging from sending the wrong department to a scene, to turning the radio down so persons on the scene cannot reach the dispatchers.

Bath Police Officer Howard Wooldridge believes that for an officer on the road, receiving incomplete information over the radio could put them in danger. He cited several examples, including one in which a police officer was sent out to an address where the only information given was "a gunshot victim."

"HE COULD HAVE walked into a situation where the gunman was still in the house," Wooldridge said. In that case the victim turned out to be a suicide, but Wooldridge raised the question "What if?"

He said such instances not only jeopardize the life of the officer, but of the EMTs who in some cases will arrive on the scene ahead of or at the same time as the officer.

"It's imperative that you have as much information as possible before you reach the scene. The dispatchers don't obtain that information, so they can't relay it to us," Wooldridge said.

"At least half of the people that work the radio don't know what questions to ask," he claimed.

Weber said that he is devising new checklists so that the right information will be asked of persons who call in for fire, police, and rescue runs. In addition, a list of common definitions will be devised so dispatchers and those in the field will be using the same terminology.

However, he said that sometimes lack of information is not the dispatcher's fault.

"SOMETIMES PEOPLE call in and they are so excited they get confused and can't tell us where they are. Or they give a bit of information and hang up. I'm not making excuses, but sometimes that happens," he said.

As for possible lack of training, Weber said that the department has hired four or five new dispatchers in the past year and "a couple of the newer people have not been able to get proper training."

"But the dispatchers will learn from here on in because I'm going to personally take care of some of them," he said.

"They are constantly mixing the township up with DeWitt city," said DeWitt Township Fire Chief Ralph North. "and we get police calls on the fire frequency. I think it's because they're not grabbing the right piece of equipment."

Weber said that the department has recently had trouble with its radio jumping from one frequency to the other. He said that Motorola employees have been working on it for several months. Overway noted that the county had recently installed the system at a cost of $70,000.

BATH FIRE CHIEF Eugene Rounds cited several incidences where he could not reach the Sheriff's Department to confirm that they were on the scene after being dispatched.

"When I finally called on the phone, the girl told me,

"Oh, we always turn you guys down," he said, "if we were in trouble, we couldn't call for help."

Some persons at the meeting were in support of the Sheriff's dispatching system.

"I think they're doing a good job under very difficult conditions...It does no good to bring a long shopping list of complaints. The sheriff is a personable man, willing to listen," said DeWitt Township Police Chief Robert Lessnau.

Commissioner Glenn Webster expressed concern that Haneckow was not present at the Tuesday night meeting. "It bothers me personally that he's not here to hear what's going on. He's the guy where the buck is supposed to stop."

Contacted Wednesday, Haneckow declined to comment on the meeting.

"Maybe some of the people who have complaints should sit in the dispatch room for eight hours and see what goes on," said DeWitt City Police Chief Wendell Myers.

"We're generally pretty satisfied with the Sheriff's dispatch. It seems to me all the concerns we had were already covered tonight," said DeWitt Mayor Lynn Thayer.

Lt. Gov. Griffiths presents award for leadership to J. Montgomery

Joan Montgomery of St. Johns received one of ten Volunteer Leadership Awards for the State of Michigan from Lieutenant Governor, Martha Griffiths at an annual ceremony held in Marshall.

Begun in 1963, the Leadership Awards program focuses national attention on Michigan's advancement in the fields of education, religion, and culture, and on the people who contributed greatly to this advancement.

Devoted to youth, Montgomery has been involved with Big Brothers and Big Sisters in Clinton County. As president, she brought new enthusiasm to the once floundering agency, with membership increasing dramatically. She also recruited help in the form of community donations and established a support program for pregnant teenagers.

Montgomery is a member of the board of United Way and the Pro Bono Legal Aid. She is a past president, vice president and secretary of the Clinton County Bar Association, and donates time counseling low income clients.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Ward are making their home in St. Johns.

St. Johns school board candidates

Jeanette Adams
One-year term
Jeanette Adams is a mother of six children, a teacher in the Ovid-Elsie school district with 17 years experience as a librarian and a teacher. She says her experience as a teacher does not mean she will vote for "50 percent raises" for teachers. It does mean, she says, that she will have an understanding of how budget decisions affect classrooms. She says the number one problem of the district is money and proposes a Citizens' Advisory Committee to help the school district in deciding what the priorities of the district should be. "Deciding what we want is easy," she said. "Deciding what we can afford is harder."

Roger Warner
One-year term
Roger Warner is the father of several children who have been graduated from the school district. He has been employed by the Michigan State Police for over 25 years, currently as a captain in the criminal investigation division. "In that capacity I serve on six board of directors of various cooperative enforcement concepts throughout Michigan," he said. He served on the board of Michigan State Employee Credit Union from 1981 to 1984, a board responsible for overseeing a assets of $130 million. His experience "provide me with a lot of information as to management and its relationship with the board of directors."

Diane Baxter
One-year term
Diane Baxter is a district manager for building operations and construction for Michigan Bell. Responsible for a 22 million dollar budget, she believes her 16 years of management experience make her a prime candidate for the school board. She is the mother of two children who were graduated from the St. Johns school district. "Not having any children in the St. John school district or any personal issue, I feel I can be objective to the needs of all," she said. She is the director of Relief After Violent Encounter, a St. Johns organization that aids victims of domestic violence. Long range planning is to budgetary control, she said.

Twenty-two candidates are running for six seats on the school board

Ron Huard
One-year term
Ron Huard is an employee of Clinton Bank and Trust and a father of four children who were graduated from the St. Johns school system. He is a past five-year member of the school board who served as president of the board for four years. He currently serves as chairman of the committee investigating slutions to the Central School problem. "One of the things I'm deeply concerned with in our district is the element of unity," he said. "Somehow in our society...we developed the attitude that we aren't responsible for ourselves...we become somewhat disturbed when it isn't accomplished...If I'm elected, unity will be the thing that I will strive for."

Matthew Niemi
One-year term
Matthew Niemi is a life-long resident of the school district who "grew up in the school system" here. "I have a very positive outlook and also have a very good understanding of what the school system needs," he said. He says the number one problem facing the district is "the inability to raise a millage." The board's role, he said, is to either withhold or appropriate funding for programs. "It should not be the job of a school board to decide yes we are going to teach this class or no we are not," he said. "Every school program is vital to the education of the students," he responded to a question about budget cuts. "Therefore, I would not not propose a cut of any program."

J. Pawlowski
One-year term
Joseph Pawlowski has lived in St. Johns for 15 years and is the father of three children who were graduated from the district. "Our reason for moving into the school district initially was the fact that we felt that St. Johns had the best school district in the area," he said. Employed by the State of Michigan, he is responsible in his job for administration. "In administering, I have two goals in mind," he said. "Those two goals are to give the best possible service to the public at the lowest cost possible." He said that because he is affiliated with no faction in the community he can represent everyone.

R. Lee Putman
Two-year term
R. Lee Putman is a former teacher who has lived in St. Johns for a total of seven years. He has two grade school age daughters. He believes the number one problem facing the St. Johns school district is the closing of Central School. He said budget cuts, if necessary, should be made first in the extra-curricular areas. His biggest concern, he said, is the split in the school district. The fact that he has no ties with any faction will make him a good board member, he said. "No matter who wins the election I hope that the community will finally come together and work toward a common goal, which is the quality education of our children," he said.

James B. Schweigert
Two-year term
James B. Schweigert is a dentist who has served on a number of school committees, including a building and development, personnel, and academic affairs, at a college in Illinois. "I am familiar with all areas of administration of a school system," he said. He is a past president of the St. Johns Rotary Club. "I believe that the greatest problem facing the St. Johns Public School District is one of animosity," he said. He said one of the most effective tools in balancing budget is zero based budgeting, which is currently used by the district. "Each school board member must insist that the concept is vigorously followed," he said.

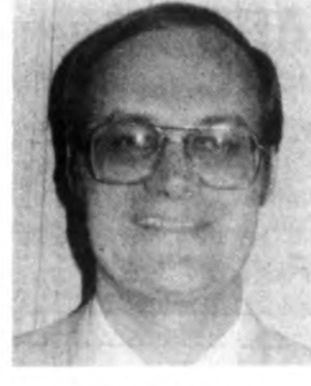

James R. Parr
Two-year term
James R. Parr is a pharmacist in downtown St. Johns, the secretary of the Downtown Merchants Association and a Chamber of Commerce board member. He has four children in the school district. "The foremost problem as I see it is that of trying to provide quality education for our children while controlling expenses. "The problem at hand is that of restoring confidence and trust in the school board we elect. If we can accomplish this and show the board that we are willing to work with them and accept their decisions then we will have a strong school system and a community we can be proud of." He said his business experience has taught him "a dollar well spent can mean hundreds saved..."

Kay Zuzelski
Two-year term
Kay Zuzelski is the mother of five children either attending, or who will attend, the St. Johns schools. She is a former General Motors employee who currently works as a housewife. She is also active in church activities. "The number one problem facing this district is tunnel vision," she said. "Everyone seems to be interested in a school closing or busing only if it affects them directly." "When this school district faces problems as a district and not as individuals, the St. Johns school district will start to regain its former excellent rating." She said if the district could "re-establish board credibility...you could pass a millage for a balanced budget."

Paul Bieber
Two-year term
Paul Bieber is a 12-year resident of the district and the father of a fifth grader and a seventh grader in the St. Johns school district. "My experience is 17 years as an auditor and those of you who realize what auditors are — they pay particular attention to detail," he said. "I feel that is maybe something that is needed and some questions need to be asked." He has also for the past year been the administrator of a data center for the State of Michigan. "I feel the lack of trust that a large number of people have in the school administration is the number one problem facing the school district today," he said. "The board needs to establish accountability and control over the administration."

Robert Craig
Two-year term
Robert Craig served on the board for seven years until he was recalled April 22. He served for four of those years as either president or secretary. He holds a masters degree in agricultural economics and is a manager for the Michigan Farm Bureau and the father of two children, including a first grader at Central School. "In my opinion, the number one problem is lack of financial support," he said. "For many years, a variety of budget cuts have hurt our good school system which in turn reduces public support and confidence in our system." He said he will work at obtaining additional state and federal aid to fund innovative teaching methods, bus transportation, and renovation or construction of buildings.

Randall Strack
Three-year term
Randall Strack owns a local business and has two children in the public school system. He has an accounting background and a bachelor's degree in business administration. "This is a time of making peace and at the same time restoring values in our students that will enable them to make positive contributions after graduation," he said. "We must continue a basic program of reading, writing and arithmetic that will provide all our students with the tools that they will need to pursue their personal careers after graduation." Busing is because of the size of the district, he said. "We must continue to provide the best possible comprehensive busing program at the least possible cost," he said.

Kathy Sjoberg
Three-year term
Kathy Sjoberg has lived nine years in St. Johns and has three children in the public school system. "Mr. Terres presented to the public a budget forecast that was, to say the least, bleak," she said. "Of course the forecast was incorporated several assumptions, not the least interesting of which were: assumption of a five percent salary increase for all groups, maintaining all current staff, and fixing variable costs through past economic trends. I feel we have not thoroughly investigated the basis for these assumptions." "Discounting the variance in number of individuals in each group, proportionally, for every four dollars spent for teacher salary we are spending one dollar for administration."

Kevin Kirk
Three-year term
Kevin Kirk is the father of three children, one in Rodney B. Wilson and one at the St. Joseph school. He is employed as a commodity specialists with the Farm Bureau. He is also a 4-H leader. "Improving and updating the educational program within the district may mean increased costs so that our children have the opportunity to expand their knowledge and skills," he said. "It is important that our educational program not stand still and lose ground as technology becomes more commonplace." He said the district needs to have a long term plan to allow research and review of each program, time to publicize new plans and opportunities for "both input and district observation."

Jim Butler
Three-year term
Jim Butler is the father of two. He has served or is serving on six different committees with the school district, including the Citizens Transportation Committee and the Human Sexuality committee. "Clearly we must focus our efforts on addressing the concerns facing those 22-plus children and families affected by the closing of Central School," he said. "We must face the act that we'll continue the same budget problems all school districts face...A long term solution — and the state of Michigan is due for — is an alternative approach to state funding. "Consideration has to be given," he said, "to possibly restoring, revising and/or expanding programs our children require."

Neil Barnhart
Four-year term
Neil Barnhart is a former board member who served for eight years. He is a farmer, a Bingham Township Trustee, and a member of the Farm Bureau. He has three children. "We need better communication between the board, administrators and the public," he said. "The school system belongs to everyone, not just a few." He is one of seven candidates endorsed by the Concerned Taxpayers Committee, a spin-off from the group that spearheaded the recall drive. "If cuts were made right now, I would probably make across the board cuts," he said. He said Supt. Earl Gabriel does not understand the rural, small town nature of St. Johns district.

Peter Apostol
Four-year term
Peter Apostol was the most recent president of the school board. He was recalled along with six other members on April 22. He is a physical therapist. He said the number one problem of the district is "the diverse needs, wants, and expectations of our district...Local finding is necessary for us to add those quality aspects of education. It is impossible for our district to meet those needs with the money available. "Until we as a community, come to a consensus as to what our schools should be doing to educate our children, financial support by the public will be difficult to obtain."

George Gavenda Jr.
Four-year term
George Gavenda is a long time resident of the school district. The number one problem facing St. Johns is the administrative staff," he said. "Cutting the administrative costs would be my approach to a balanced budget. At the present time there should be no school programs cut." "If it is necessary to close Central School, I feel that there are enough school rooms available to house all the children, either in the other city schools or in the rural areas."

Clare Matter
Four-year term
Clare Matter is a custodian at the high school who will retire this month. He said the district, faced with declining enrollments, is falling into a "planned inefficiency." He does not support the plan to obtain portable classrooms for the district. "The less I have to do with portables, the better I feel about it," he said. He said he would support closing down a country elementary school — citing East Essex, the closest to his home — because there are not enough students to fill them.

Richard Lehnert
Four-year term
Richard Lehnert is the editor of the Michigan Farmer. He is the father of three sons and is the past president of the Riley Elementary Parent-Teacher Club. He was active in the recall campaign against the former board. "I am most concerned about the perception — even by those in leadership positions — that the St. Johns school district is a collection of special interest groups," he said. "This leads to the depressing notion that nothing can be done to tackle difficult problems because the special interests will not support anything 'that's not their problem,' he said. "To make the district operate properly it must be guided by leaders who insist otherwise — that the district is a unit."

Thomas Irrer
Four-year term
Thomas Irrer is a former school board member who was recalled April 22 along with six other members of the board. He is a farmer. "The biggest problem facing our district is the lack of trust and understanding exhibited by much of the public toward the board and the school administration," he said. "This has divided our community into two groups. "One group believes that the board is doing an acceptable job under the circumstances and will generally back the board. This group tends to be located toward the center of the district." "The second group has distrust for many things that are done by the board or administration."

LLOYD D. ANDRES and ILLEANA C. ANDRES, Plaintiffs, v. EDWIN L. POLING and LEAM A. POLING, Defendants. HONORABLE TIMOTHY M. GREEN CIVIL ACTION NO. 85-4286 CK

DEFAULT FORECLOSURE JUDGMENT AND ORDER OF SALE

In this cause the entry of default of Defendant, Edwin L. Poling and Lea M. Poling, having been entered on or about November 11, 1985 by the Plaintiff for failure by the Defendants to defend as provided by the Michigan Court Rules of 1985, and the Plaintiff's Complaint having prayed for a foreclosure of the land contract, dated March 15, 1981, between the parties to satisfy the obligation of said land contract, plus costs and attorney's fees, and the Court being fully advised in premises.

It is Ordered and Adjudged that there is due to Plaintiffs upon said Land Contract mentioned and set forth in the complaint, for principal, interest, late charges and taxes the sum of $4,094.61 and the Defendants, Edwin L. Poling and Lea M. Poling, are personally liable for the payment thereof, that Defendants pay or cause to be paid, to Plaintiffs or to their attorney, the sum due to Plaintiff with the interest thereon, at the rate of eleven (11%) percent per annum from this date and the costs of Plaintiffs incurred by them in this proceedings taken and had in this cause to foreclose the land contract on or before July 29, 10:00 a.m. 1986 and in default thereof, that all and singular the subject premises mentioned in the complaint in this cause, and hereafter described, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to raise the amount ordered to be due to Plaintiff with the interest and the costs in this cause, and the costs and expenses of sale, and which may be sold separately without material injury to the parties interested, be sold at public sale, by or under the directions of Victor Lotycz, the Deputy Sheriff for the County of Clinton, at any time after July 29, 1986, that the sale be made in the County of Clinton, that the clerk give public notice of the time and place of such sale, according to the course and practice of this court, and the applicable statute in such case and that Plaintiffs, or any of the parties in this cause, may become the purchaser that the Clinton County Sheriff execute a Foreclosure Deed to the purchaser of the premises, on the sale, and that the Clinton County Sheriff, out of the proceeds of the sale, pay to Plaintiffs or to their attorney $115.00 costs in this suit to be taxed and also the amount so ordered to be due as mentioned above and the interest at the rate of eleven (11%) percent per annum from the date of this judgment, or so much thereof as the amount realized from the sale of the premises mentioned previously will pay of the same, and that the Clinton County Sheriff take receipt for the amounts so paid, and file the same with a report of such sale and of his doings thereon, and that he bring the surplus moneys arising from the sale, if any there be, into this court without delay, to abide the further order of this court.

It is Further Ordered and Adjudged that in six months from the date of such sale, Defendants and all persons claiming or to claim from or under them be forever barred and foreclosed of and from all equity, redemption, and claim of, in and to the mortgaged premises so sold, and every part and parcel thereof, which shall not, prior to that time, have been redeemed from such sale.

It is Further Ordered and Adjudged that the purchaser or purchasers of the mortgaged premises at such sale be let into possession of such portions thereof as shall not have been so redeemed; and that any of the parties to this cause, who may be in possession of the premises, or any part thereof, and any person who, since the commencement of this suit, has come into possession under them or either of them, deliver possession thereof to such purchasers, on production of the deed of the Sheriff for such premises, and a certified copy of the order confirming the report of such sale after such deed has become operative.

And it is Further Ordered and Adjudged that if the moneys arising from the sale shall be insufficient to pay the amount ordered to be due to Plaintiffs with interest thereon and costs and the expenses of sale as mentioned above, the Sheriff specify the amount of such deficiency in his report of the sale, and that on the coming in and confirmation of the report of sale Defendants, who are hereby adjudged to be personally liable for the debt secured by the mortgage, pay to Plaintiffs the amount of such deficiency, with interest thereon from the date of such report.

Exchange students look at the past year

By JANE COOPER
SJHS Journalism Student

It was not quite like the movie "Fame" but the year has passed quickly, say five foreign exchange students who attended St. Johns High School this year.

But Heidi Stein, Camilla Anderson, Anders Thorup, Mari Hanilla and Pilan Jerstram say were here long enough to learn something about the American way of life.

Camilla "Andy" Anderson, from Sweden, says she thought American schools "were going to be just like in 'Fame' but they weren't because nobody danced in the halls."

She says she has become more independent during her year in St. Johns and can "also see what other people do and feel, and the reasons behind those feelings."

Anders Thorup says he came here from his native Denmark to learn about

U.S. culture and to get away from home. He says he was able to accomplish what he wanted during his stay here, which included learning the English language.

"The experience helped me to think for myself," he says.

Mari Hannila, of Finland, "expected Americans to be really open and friendly and more religious."

"I THINK the U.S. was even better than what I expected," she says. "People are super nice. High school was not exactly like the movie 'Fame' but I still liked it."

She says she was shocked by the amount of junk food people eat in the U.S. But now, she says, she probably eats as much of it herself.

"Spending a year away from my parents helped me to become more independent and helped to get many new, good friends."

Heidi Stein, from Denmark, says the year she spent in St. Johns was much more worthwhile than she had expected it to be.

"I was a little afraid to come here because I didn't know what it was going to be like," she says. "I feel like my year here has been much better than I ever dreamed of."

She says the experience helped her learn more about herself and that "you can't be anything in this world without working at it."

Pilan Jerstram, of Sweden, says he wanted to learn the language and learn how to eat junk food.

"Americans," she says, "are lazy. They have drive-throughs all over." She also says she thinks the country could use more public transportation.

She too says she learned how to be more independent while living here.

"This experience is going to be a big memory," she says.

SHERRY NICHOLS at the plate for the St. Johns girls softball team. The Redwings were shut-out 3-0 in their opening Class A District game with Lansing Eastern last Saturday. It was a surprise ending to a near perfect 25-2 year for the group of stellar players.

Redwing girls upset by Eastern in opening game of Class A District

By RHONDA GAFFNEY
Sports Editor

It's over.

A stunning 3-0 loss in the opening district game with Lansing Eastern ended the softball season for the St. Johns girls last Saturday, giving them a final 25-2 record.

"It just leaves you with an empty feeling," said Redwing Coach Paul Sternburgh. "We knew the year would have to come to an end sooner or later, but we didn't expect it to come to an end as soon as it did."

It was a picture-perfect day for playing ball — warm sunshine, steady breeze blowing in from right field at the Waverly High School field. Just the kind of day that Redwing fans would have expected to bring home the District trophy.

The game started out simply enough with both teams going down in the opening inning.

Senior pitcher Brenda Eiseler fanned the first batter she faced in the top of the second, and things seemed to be right on track. A single put a runner on first with one out, and Eiseler hit the next batter, putting runners on first and second.

Then came a slap single down the first baseline, scoring one run.

"I just felt that was coming," Sternburgh said. "She had squared to bunt. Nine times out of ten they're not going to bunt in that situation. There was no way to stop that ball."

EISELER STRUCK OUT the next batter and a bunt-single by the leadoff batter scored the second Eastern run of the inning. Another Eiseler strikeout ended the inning.

"Eastern came to play, there was no doubt about that," Sternburgh said.

"They were an entirely different team — and the coach was an entirely different coach — than when we had beaten them previously this year in non-conference situations. We'll remember that."

The Redwings only real scoring threat came in the bottom of the fourth when St. Johns loaded the bases on walks with just one out. Sherrie Nichols blasted a line drive into centerfield which was caught. In a perfect throw to the plate, Angie Myszak was thrown out after she had tagged at third in an attempt to score. That ended the inning.

The fifth inning saw both teams fail to score with the Redwings having problems with Eastern's pitching.

"Of our 21 outs in the game, 12 were pop-ups, and seven of those were infield pop-ups," Sternburgh said. "We just couldn't stay away from the high pitch — we had no patience."

Eastern's final run came in the top of the sixth when a bloop-hit put a runner on first with two outs, and she advanced to second on a passed ball. A walk put runners on first and second.

A change-up pitch with the count at 2-0 was skied into shallow left field, barely dropping in to score the final run of the game.

IT SEEMED IRONIC that the final Redwing batter in the bottom of the seventh was Mary Murphy. The feeling of frustration was evident as Murphy, who had led her team in batting and fielding throughout the year, made the last out for the vintage team.

"There were a lot of tears in the dugout," Sternburgh said. "Not so much because we lost, but because the reality hit that this was the last game as a team for all of them."

"We had some great moments — ranked third in the State, 10-0 in the League, killed the teams we faced in the Classic, winning the Mason Invitational for the third year — we have nothing to be ashamed of."

Eiseler gave up three runs, one unearned, on five hits, with eight strikeouts and four walks. It was her first loss on the mound this year, giving the premier pitcher a 17-1 record. Her strike out total for the year ended at 182 — well beyond the school record she set last season of 107.

"There's no doubt that will stand for quite a while," Coach Sternburgh said.

Murphy, who came into the contest batting 602, was shutout at the plate. Her skill behind the plate had an impact on the game however, as she threw one runner out on a steal attempt to second and was the target for Eiseler's steady pitching.

"It's time to enjoy the summer, I guess," Sternburgh said. "But, there's no doubt in my mind that we could go out and beat them tomorrow."

Tomorrow's not going to come for this group of outstanding Redwings.

Take second, third in state

Eagles soar in track

By RHONDA GAFFNEY

Another brilliant track season is in the record book for Fowler High School track teams.

Eagle boys finished second in the Class D State Meet with 45 team points, and the girls took the third place slot with 40 total points. The meet was run at the Hillsdale College track last Saturday.

Finishing in first place was Detroit East Catholic with 75 team points for the boys, while Athens was first with 75 points in the girls events and Akron-Fairgrove placed second with 58 points.

"We knew we would have to have outstanding performances — well beyond what we had run this year to place second," said girls Coach Kim Spalsbury. "We needed to get some breaks, too."

THE HOT, HUMID WEATHER kept times down somewhat from what they might have been, but did not stop the girls 3200 meter relay team from setting a new state meet record in that event with a time of 9:54.04. That broke the 9:55.4 mark set in 1984.

"One of our goals was to break the state meet record in the 3200," Spalsbury said. "The track is super — really fast."

Also turning in an outstanding performance was Cindy Schneider who won the 1600 meter run in a time of 5:21.47 and placed third in the 3200 meter at 11:47.45.

"Cindy went out in style," the coach said of his premier runner's final performance in an Eagle jersey. "She put everything into the 3200 run — it was a career best time for her. She has scored over 500 points in her four years at Fowler."

Not to be outdone, the boys also won the 3200 meter relay with a time of 8:13.23. Running in the event were Steve Bierstetel, Tom Wirth, Rick Klein and Mike Pohl.

Senior Dean Koenigsnecht in his final outing as an Eagle took third in the 100 dash at 11.47 and was a member of the second place 800 relay team and of both the 400 and 1600 relay teams who finished third.

A number of Fowler boys and girls were invited to the Lansing State Journal Honor Roll meet held last week and turned in fine showings at that time also. Results from both the Honor Roll and State Meet follow.

REDWING BASEBALL ACTION — The St. Johns baseball team managed to score just one run in their 12-1 loss to Jackson in the opening game of their Class A District played at Municipal Park in Lansing. The Redwings end their season tonight with the completion of a suspended game versus Ionia.

St. Johns falls in District baseball

Completion of a suspended game with Ionia tonight is all that remains of the baseball season for St. Johns, following their 12-1 loss in District play to Jackson on Saturday. The game, played at Municipal Park in Lansing, was over in five innings.

"We just did not play well," said Redwing Coach Doug Parker. "We hit the ball, but couldn't get anything for it."

The Redwings' lone run came in the fifth inning when Steve Dunkel reached first on an error and scored on a single off the bat of Dan Dorn.

Jackson scored three runs in the second inning, eight in the third, and added one in the fourth.

"They (Jackson) were ahead at one point by 12-0," Parker said. "That was pretty much the ballgame."

Scott Jones was the starting pitcher and got the loss, going 2 1/3 innings. He gave up seven hits, seven runs with four earned, struck out two batters, and walked two.

Coming on in relief in the third inning was Tom Bates who gave up six hits and four earned runs. Jerry Duwell finished the final two innings for St. Johns, allowing one hit and one run and striking out three batters.

In earlier action last week, the Redwings dropped a doubleheader to Alma, 6-3 and 4-0, in a make-up of a rained out game.

St. Johns scored two runs in the first inning when Dorn walked, stole second and was brought home by Duwell. Dwight Pierson was safe on an error, stole second and scored on a double by Tim Cleaver for the Redwings second run.

Alma countered with two runs in the second, and one each in the fourth and fifth innings.

The Redwings added one run in the bottom of the fifth when Duwell and Pierson walked, advanced on a wild pitch, and Duwell scored on a sacrifice fly by Jeff Maurer.

Tom Bates was the starting pitcher and took the loss, going six innings for St. Johns. He gave up eight hits, six runs with four earned, three K's and four walks. Duwell was the reliever in the seventh, allowing no hits or runs; and striking out one batter.

Dorn and Cleaver each had doubles for the Redwings in the opening game.

In the nightcap, St. Johns collected just four hits total with doubles by Maurer and Randy Ammons. No Redwing runners crossed the plate.

Jones was the starting and losing pitcher, going six innings. He gave up six hits, four earned runs, struck out eight and walked two. Duwell pitched one inning of relief, allowing no runs or hits, with one strike out and one walk.

St. Johns, 2-6 in the league and 8-11 overall, will complete a suspended game with Ionia tonight. The score in that game stood at 3-2 in favor of Ionia with two innings completed when it was called earlier in the season due to darkness. The game will be picked up at that point.

Marauders strong in final games

Ovid-Elsie "knocked off" a ranked Durand team in their opening District baseball game by a score of 3-2, but were eliminated in the championship contest 8-0 by Flint Ainsworth.

"It was an exciting game for us," Coach Jack Nutter said of his teams' win over Durand. "They were 28-4 coming into the game, and we weren't supposed to beat them."

The eight-inning game played at Mt. Morris, saw the Marauders score three runs on nine hits with one error, compared to two runs on two hits with no errors for Durand.

Nick Hurst, junior pitcher for O-E, hurled the two-hitter and got the win. He walked nine batters, struck out 12, and got the game winning hit for the Marauders.

"He (Hurst) was the hero of the game," Nutter said.

Ovid-Elsie opened the game with two runs in the first inning. Jeff Davis and Jeff Conklin singled, and Davis was thrown out at home on a single by Hurst. A double by Richie Stutzman sent Conklin home for one run, and a single by Doug Pumford scored Hurst.

With the score tied and two outs in the bottom of the eighth, Conklin singled. Hurst cranked a double into left centerfield to score Conklin for the win.

Conklin was 3-4 and Hurst was 2-4 at the plate for O-E. The Marauders could muster just one hit in the championship game with Flint Ainsworth. That was a single by Davis.

"We were hitting the ball all over the field — unfortunately we were hitting it right at somebody all the time," Nutter said.

Conklin took the loss for the Marauders, giving up five runs in 1 1/3 innings. Joel Bohil came on in relief and allowed three runs for the remainder of the contest.

"It was a disappointing loss," Coach Nutter said, "but Ainsworth had a good ballclub."

In final MMB action last Tuesday with Chesaning, Ovid-Elsie dropped a pair of games 7-3 and 4-2 in nine innings.

"Those were important games for us," the coach said. "At that point we still had a chance to do something in the league race. The wins cinched at least a tie for Chesaning in the MMB."

A combination of five errors and five walks in the opener spelled "disaster" for O-E according to Nutter.

Conklin took the loss and was 2-4 with the plate with a double. Randy Lockwood went 2-3 with a home run and two RBIs.

In the nightcap, Hurst was the losing pitcher in 8 1/3 innings for the Marauders. O-E had two runs on three hits and committed one error. Bob Foreback, Davis, and Rick Kieffer all had singles in the game.

The Marauders finish the year with an overall record of 15-15 and 4-5 in the Mid-Michigan B League.

FINAL YOUTH BOWLERS at Redwing Lanes in the Youth Program were: Junior-Major high game — Kendra Crego, 139; Bantam high game — Kimberly Simon, 101; Brittany Hiner, 101; Brian Moeggenberg, 106. All participants in the league from Redwing Lanes enjoyed a family picnic at St. Johns City Park to end their year.

PREP HIGH GAME — Youth bowlers earning honors in the Prep division of the Youth Bowling League were: Marc Elliott, 137; David Chapman, 122; Willie William, 134; and Eric Worrall.

Ashley gets split in district

It was the end of the road for the Ashley Bears — but they didn't go down without a roar.

Paul Hornak's team took a 7-6 opening win over Mt. Pleasant Sacred Heart in their Class D District which they hosted. They lost in the Championship game to Beal City 2-1.

"There was not a lot of hitting, base-running, or anything in the second game," Coach Hornak said of the contest where Rick Saylor threw a one-hitter for the Bears. "It was pretty much one, two, three — one, two, three."

The Bears got one run in the opening inning and added two more in the second.

The seventh inning was a big one for Ashley when Saylor started things off with a single. Mike Morris was safe on a bunt attempt, Mike Litwiller walked, and Scott Paksi drove two runs home.

Alan Stehlik was safe on an error, bringing Litwiller home for one more run. A run-down play on Stehlik scored Paksi for the final Bear run.

Greg Carpenter had an RBI single in the game, Stehlik had a single, and Dwayne Schneider also singled for one RBI.

Litwiller picked up the win for the Bears, pitching six innings. He allowed five hits and five runs with 10 Ks. Carpenter came on in relief, giving up one hit and getting one strike out.

The Beal City contest saw Ashley take a 1-0 lead in the fourth inning on a single by Paksi, walk to Stehlik, and single by Schneider scoring Paksi.

Beal City countered with two runs in the bottom of the fourth — and that was the game.

Saylor went the distance for Ashley and took the loss. He gave up two unearned runs on one hit, struck out two and walked one batter.

The Bears final game of the season was played last night at Dansville. The doubleheader had been rained out four times previously, but the outcome could have a bearing on place finishes in the Mid-State conference. Should they split, Ashley would finish in second place.

The Bears' record currently stands at 17-8 overall and 5-3 in league play.

Taking second place for the girls in the state in the 300 low hurdles was Kresge at 46.79. She finished sixth in the 100 hurdles with a time of 19.21.

In the Class B State Track Meet, Cheryl Batora and Michelle Parker earned place finishes for the Ovid-Elliott Marauders. Batora was seventh in the discus at 110'0", and Parker finished eighth in the 300 hurdles with a time of 47.35.

Fowler loses in District bid

"It was a tough ballgame." Fowler baseball Coach Neal Hoffman's comment on the Eagles 5-4 Class D district loss to Beal City last Saturday pretty well sums up the season finale for Fowler. The game, played at Ashley High School, took eight innings to complete.

Beal City opened the game with three runs in the top of the first inning on three hits and a passed ball. Fowler countered with four runs to take the lead in the bottom of the second. Steve Simon walked, and advanced to second on a passed ball. A single by Randy Theis sent Simon home for one run and Dan Simon was safe on his at-bat on a fielder's choice.

Jim Schmitz and Jim Andros walked to load the bases with Eagle runners. Rex Thelen delivered a single to bring Schmitz and Simon home, and a single by Tony Schafer brought in Andros for the final run of the inning.

Beal City scored one unearned run in the sixth inning to tie the game at 4-4, and another unearned run in the eighth inning with two outs gave them the win.

Tony Schafer went 7 and 2/3 innings for Fowler and took the loss. Dave Miller came on in relief and got the last out in the eighth inning. Schafer gave up five runs, two earned, on 11 hits, with three strike outs and two walks.

Schafer was 2-4 at the plate and Theis went 2-3. The loss puts the Eagles' final overall record at 8-12.

In their last conference game of the season played last week, Fowler came up on the short end of the stick behind P ew a m o - Westphalia 6-5.

In that game, the Eagles scored three runs in the bottom of the second on a single by Dave Thelen, three walks, and a single by Chris Thelen.

The Pirates answered with two runs of their own in the top of the third.

Fowler added one more run in their half of the third to make the score 4-2 when Dave Thelen got a base on a walk and came home on a double off the bat of Dave Miller.

One more Eagle run came across in the sixth on a single by Dan Simon who advanced to second and was plated by Andros.

The Eagles could not hang on to win, as P ew a m o - Westphalia scored three runs in the bottom of the sixth to tie the game, and one run in the seventh to take the win.

Fowler employed four pitchers in the game. Dave Miller went the first two innings, allowing no runs and two hits; Rex Thelen pitched innings three and four, giving up two unearned runs on one hit; Don Simon took the loss, pitching 2 1/2 innings and giving up four runs on four hits; and Tony Schafer threw the final 1/2 inning to end the game.

 Past Vice-President of St. Johns School Board.

Michigan Mint Commission, appointed by Governor Blanchard.

Member of the Citizens Finance Advisory Committee for the St. Johns School Board in 1981.

Past president of Clinton County Farm Bureau.

Past president of St. Johns Jaycees.

Served on the Board of the Federal Land Bank Association of St. Johns.

Member of the St. Johns Knights of Columbus.

The St. Johns area is fortunate to have the high quality school system which we now enjoy. This has been achieved through many years of dedication and cooperation of school personnel, parents, and school board.

I have been on the St. Johns Board of Education for the past three and a half years. During that time, we have made many accomplishments. If we have made any mistakes, then I must also share the blame. I feel that our administrators are examining our problems, looking for solutions and taking action to improve our schools. The groundwork has been laid for more improvements in our school system and I feel that my experience will be an asset to our new board.

I realize that the School Board must do its best to please the school personnel, parents, and taxpayers all at the same time. I doubt whether all of these groups will be happy with all of the actions of the School Board. The challenge of the board is to separate the needs from the wants of these groups and then to act accordingly. I would like to volunteer my time and abilities. I would appreciate your vote on Monday, June 9.

A report to the American people on the progress of the Statue of Liberty- Ellis Island restoration.

Photographs courtesy of Peter B. Kaplan, © 1986

As the scaffolding around the Statue comes down, it's going up just a half a mile away on Ellis Island. Here the work is just beginning for the second half of this great project that began nearly three years ago.

We can be proud of what we have accomplished.

The Torch of Liberty has been completely rebuilt by French and American workers starting from scratch. It's an exact duplicate of the torch that was installed in 1886.

A monumental achievement

In addition, we've strengthened every part of the Statue. We've removed the rust, replaced 1,800 corroded iron armatures with stainless steel, and repaired or replaced the rivets that bind the skin to the framework.

A new spiral stairway leads up to the crown, as well as a new emergency elevator. And you'll be able to visit an expanded American Museum of Immigration where the name of every contributor is listed in a permanent registry.

July 4, 1986, the day of the Centennial Celebration, will climax a monumental achievement of volunteerism at work. The restoration of the Statue is on time. And paid for. And so is the upcoming celebration. The Lady will be ready for the great unveiling. And with your continued support we will be able to turn our full efforts to finishing the job on Ellis Island.

The Statue of Liberty was the symbol of freedom. But Ellis Island was the reality.

Although the years have been hard on the Lady with the Torch, they've been much harder on Ellis Island. The Great Hall, where almost half of all Americans can trace their ancestry is in ruins. It's here in the Great Hall the restoration work is beginning.

© 1982 SL-EIF, INC.

A staircase, similar to the one the immigrants climbed, will be built and the Great Hall, where formal medical and legal inspections were held, will be restored.

On the second and third floors, a library and museum will contain memorabilia the immigrants brought from their homeland. An oral history room will permit visitors to hear their actual voices as they relate their experiences.

And we'll provide facilities enabling the aged and handicapped to visit throughout the building.

Liberty will be reborn. Ellis Island will be restored.

The progress of the restoration is an affirmation of the American people's belief that these symbols stand for America's future, not just its past. It's a tribute to the generosity of everyone from school children to giant corporations who reached into their pockets to get this work off to such a good start.

When the work is done, Ellis Island will be a living monument to the courage of our forefathers who came here and helped build a country. It must not die.

That's why I'm asking you to join me in this great campaign. We need your support and your contributions to continue. Together we will Keep the Dream Alive."

Alfalfa Weevils are present in abundance in many of the fields around the county. The question is "Should we spray or not to control the pest?"

The best answer is to spray if you do not plan to cut the alfalfa in the next seven to 10 days and if one-quarter or more of the tips show damage. If you can cut the alfalfa, watch the regrowth. Spray when it reaches approximately six inches in height, if one-quarter or more of the tips are infested.

When applying, full coverage is not needed and one gallon by air or 10 gallons of diluted spray per acre with ground equipment is sufficient. Chemicals used include Larsban, Nubrin, Imidan, Guthion, Diazonon, Malathion, Savit, Sevin, or restricted chemicals — Furdan, Lannate, Nudri, Supracide, Phasdrin, Parathion, Pennacp M. For additional information, see latest crops newsletter or call the Extension Office.

Rain may have affected herbicides: Where heavy rainfall (2½" or more) occurred over the past couple of weeks it is likely that performance of some herbicides may be reduced. Check your fields frequently in order to identify the kinds of weeds that escaped. If a weed problem develops it can be managed with cultivation or post emergence herbicides. Adding more pre-emergence herbicide to allow for loss is not a reasonable approach because it is expensive, risky and almost always not allowed on the label.

Several soil applied herbicides can be applied after crop emergence (early postemergence). Chemicals included for soybeans are Lasso, before first two true leaves, Command before crusting stage, Dyanap, Premerge, Dual/Dyanap, Amiben/Premerge or Lasso/Premerge at crook stage (before first leaves (cotyledons) open to expose terminal bud) and Amiben before fourth trifoliate, 33 days after planting.

Chemicals to be used as early post emergence with corn include Lasso, Banvel (1 pt/AWCO), Lasso/Atrazine, or Dual/Atrazine or Bicep before the crop reaches five inch height, Prowl/Bladex 80WP/90DF, Bladex 80WP/90DF plus Atrazine 80WP/90DF or Bladex 80WP/90DF plus Banvel before the fifth leaf is visible, marksman before five leaf stage and atrazine (4L80WP.90) at no maximum.

Always refer to herbicide label for specific remarks and limitations. Do not apply any of these treatments in liquid fertilizer. Do not add crop oil concentrate except with atrazine alone.

GARDENING CORNER

The spring planting rush is over, but its not time to put up your feet and forget about the garden. Or to put it another way, the fun is over, now comes the work!

Begin checking the garden frequently for the beginning of any pest problems. Catching a problem in the early stages is the most important step to controlling pests.

Agricultural news Poisoning

Marilyn Loudenslager

The advent of spring planting brings about the purchase and use of toxic agricultural chemicals. It also brings about an increased incidence of insecticide poisonings. The most common poisonings of large animals, diagnosed and confirmed by the Michigan State University Animal Health Diagnostic Laboratory are from Coumaphos (terbufos), Dyfonate (fonofos), and Thimet (phorate). These products are organophosphates.

The toxicity of a product is measured as LD50 (Lethal Dose, killing 50 percent of the animals on the test). The LD50 of organophosphates is one to eight parts per million (ppm). Just one ounce of the chemical in 62,500 pounds of feed is one ppm. Furanol (carofuran), a carbamate, is also a toxic chemical which has an LD50 of 8 ppm.

Care should be taken when these chemicals are stored near feed or feed additives, or hauled in the same trucks as feed. If contamination of the feed occurs, livestock poisoning and death may result.

The clinical signs of intoxication are profuse salivation, labored breathing, muscle tremors, abnormal gait, and diarrhea. The antidote is atropine. Follow the label directions for route and dosage. Activated charcoal treatment for both organophosphates and carbamates is recommended for cattle. To confirm an animals death is due to poisoning by one of these chemicals, rumen and stomach contents are the best samples for analysis. For further information on the treatment of animals suffering from insecticide poisoning contact your veterinarian, or contact the National Animal Poison Control Center, University of Illinois (217-333-3611) or Dr. Michael Slaker at MSU (517-353-5275).

Marilyn Loudenslager is the Agricultural Agent for the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Herbicide news

Often a few insects can be hand picked or knocked off the plant. Or it may be that all you need is a spot treatment.

Do not over-fertilize in the spring. Too much nitrogen will result in all leaves with fruit on some crops while others like onions, broccoli, brussels sprouts, cauliflower, lettuce, sweet corn and tomatoes are heavy nitrogen feeders and will benefit from a July side dressing. Tomatoes, squash and melons should be fertilized with nitrogen only after they've already set first about the size of one-half dollar.

The rule of thumb, as any experienced gardener can tell, is to control weeds while they are small. Start weed free and then hoeing or cultivating with a garden cultivator or wheel hoe to keep weeds from coming and growing can save hours of back-breaking pulling.

Giles Roehl is the Director for the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.
