More parents voice concern about building assignments

St. Johns school officials resolved the complaints of two families who objected to their children being sent to a school outside of their neighborhood.

But more district parents voiced concerns Aug. 11 about their children's building assignments that "...we were not able to take care of," said Board President Gary Whitford.

Two Baker Street families said at a board meeting last month that they did not want their children to be assigned to Perrin-Palmer School. Both families live in the Swegles School service area. The board asked administrators to look for a way to assign the children to Swegles and administrators subsequently found a way of doing so.

Whitford said some families — whose children had previously gone to the now-closed Central School and who were assigned this year to Swegles — volunteered to have their children go to Perrin-Palmer. This allowed the Baker Street students to return to Swegles.

"Most of the others we were not able to take care of," said Whitford.

Much of the concern arises from the new boundaries established by the district this year in an attempt to retain the "neighborhood school" concept. However, because of the new boundaries, some students are assigned to new schools this year — and for some the change is only one of a series.

"One year they go one place, the next year they're somewhere else and the next year somewhere else," said Whitford.

However, he said, in the long run the new boundaries should mean fewer such cases.

"I think that after they're intact for a couple of years things will settle down," he said.

Whitford said some parents are also concerned about busing for city school students. Currently, those students will walk to school. Some parents have asked for bus service.

Whitford said school administrators will investigate the possibilities of some bus service for city school students and report back to the board in September.

Also at the Aug. 11 meeting the board approved acceptance of a $29,976 bid from Mid-Michigan Mechanic for repair work to the high school swimming pool and of a $73,050 bid from J and L Roofing Co. of Grand Rapids for roof repair work at the high school and Swegles.

PORTABLE — Portable classrooms, that will replace space lost to the St. Johns school district because of the closing of Central School, were arriving in town last week for installation. Shown here is the back half of a unit being installed at Swegles School. The installation of the portables, complete with landscaping, should be completed by the time classes begin later this month, said school administrator Gordon Vandermark.

Notes Winner

ST. JOHNS Stanley F. Thelen of St. Johns has a good reason to celebrate the state of Michigan's sesquicentennial year. He purchased a winning $10,000 ticket in the state's new "Michigan 150" instant game at a Quality Dairy store on Saginaw St. in Lansing.

The lottery's current instant game offers 150 chances to win $10,000 plus total awards of nearly $13 million in other prizes, report lottery officials.

Telethon

ST. JOHNS The Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon is coming to St. Johns on Aug. 31 to Sept. 1.

The Southpoint Mall will serve as the Clinton Area Pledge Center. Persons interested in serving as telephone answerers or in helping at the fishbowl should contact Jim or Sandy Wagar, 224-6021, local chairpersons for the event.

Youths wishing to collect door-to-door are urged to use official canisters which may be picked up at 603 S. Church Street in St. Johns now through Aug. 31. There will be a prize for the child (15 years of age and younger) who has collected the most in their canister.

Fishbowls will also be located in Ovid across from the IGA Store and at Smiths Party Store in Elsie with Connie Underhill coordinating.

Lt. Gov.?

LANSING Fred Dillingham, Republican candidate for the 30th Michigan Senate seat, met with gubernatorial candidate William Lucas over the weekend.

Dillingham was contacted by Lucas to be interviewed for the position of lieutenant governor on the Republican ticket, according to a press release dated Aug. 15.

Dillingham did not seem anxious to give up his chance at a Senate seat in favor of the lieutenant governor job.

"While honored to be considered for such a high position, my priority is to serve...by being the best state senator I can possibly be," said Dillingham, in a press release issued by the Dillingham for State Senate Committee.

Capers

ST. JOHNS The Clinton Capers is looking for patrons.

Organizers of the musical revue, scheduled for Thursday through Saturday, Sept. 25-27, say individuals and businesses may become patrons for a $35 donation. Patrons' names will appear in the program and they will be given two tickets for the performance of their choice.

Checks, along with performance date preferences, should be sent to Inge Groat at 804 W. Park St., St. Johns, by Aug. 25.

Revenue from the event, sponsored by the Clinton Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, will be used to renovate two birthing rooms and a birthing suite at the hospital.

The show will feature local talent under the direction of professionals from a New York City production company.

Performances will be at 8 p.m. all three nights at the St. Johns High School auditorium.

Webster certified for general election ballot

Clinton County commissioner Glen Webster will appear on the general election ballot in November as a Democratic candidate for reelection.

Webster qualified for the ballot by successfully running as a write-in candidate during the primary election two weeks ago. Although he has held office as a Republican since he was elected to the commission in 1976, Webster decided to run as a Republican after missing by half an hour the deadline for filing nominating petitions for the primary election.

Clinton County Clerk Jane Swanchara said last week that Webster's write-votes on the primary ballot had been certified as enough to qualify for the general election ballot.

Opposing him in the general election will be Bertine A. Thelen, who filed nominating petitions as a Republican on the primary ballot. She had no opposition during the primary election.

Thelen and Webster are friends and Thelen said before the primary election that she was unsure if she would continue her campaign past the primary election if Webster decided to run as a Democrat.

She said last week that she will not drop out of the race.

"I definitely will run," she said.

EFFICIENCY — St. Johns police dispatcher Cam Stiffler demonstrates the department's newly installed computer.

More efficient

A computer for police dept.

A new $10,000 IBM computer system will make it easier and quicker for the St. Johns Police Department to find information it once would have had to search out by hand.

The computer will also reduce by about half the number of file cabinets the department will need, thus relieving some of the cramped conditions of the building.

The computer was installed late last month in the dispatcher's room of the department headquarters and has been in operation since August 6. Currently, dispatchers are keying bicycle licenses into the system.

Eventually the computer will store such information as outstanding arrest warrants, parking tickets, the daily log and a variety of information used in the department's annual report. The information will then be almost instantly available to the dispatchers who will operate the system.

"They can just punch it up and find it in a matter of seconds instead of searching through files," says Police Chief Lyle French.

However, it will take some time for police personnel to familiarize themselves with the system and to key in data back to Jan. 1 of this year, says French. That process will take about a year.

Eventually, the data will be routinely keyed into the computer as it comes in to the department.

"It's probably not going to be as beneficial now as it will in two or three years," says French.

More Clinton County hay going to drought

Eleven railroad cars sat on a siding next to Countrymark Elevator in St. Johns last week being loaded with hay to send to the southeastern drought states.

As of last Friday, Clinton County farmers had donated over 7,300 bales of hay — about a third of them are the larger round bales — to the relief effort. That represents a minimum of 175 tons of hay.

"This is all good quality hay and it's worth $50 to $60 a ton," said Jim Squires, district soil conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service in St. Johns. "It should be worth $80 a ton."

By Friday, 37 county farmers had made donations ranging in size from six bales to 900 bales. Additionally, 31 individuals had donated labor and trucks to the county effort.

Squires said more volunteers are needed to help load the hay. Also, he said, trucks are needed to help transport the hay — "Something to haul those big round bales," he said.

Meanwhile, the word is spreading that two counties in northern Michigan have also suffered droughts this summer, leaving farmers there in as bad a situation as those in the southeastern states.

Dickinson and Iron counties have had almost no beneficial rain since the snow melted last spring. Agriculture officials there say some farmers might be able to obtain 40 percent of a normal haycrop but for the majority of farmers there has been nothing to harvest.

Plans are being made to set up transportation of Clinton County to those two counties.

Those with hay to donate and other volunteers should call Pete LoDico at 224-3720.

Subirrigation projects demonstrated locally

Clinton County is home to two projects that will be used to demonstrate and test a system that combines irrigation and drainage of corn and soybean fields.

The projects, which use one sub-surface system to both irrigate and drain fields, is expected to eventually replace the current method of irrigating fields from above the surface, said Jim Squires, district conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service in St. Johns.

"It has some terrific advantages in operational costs plus you don't have surface evaporation," he said. "You have almost 100 percent efficiency of water usage..."

That means not only lowered energy costs for pumping water to the fields, but also increased yields of about 50 bushels per acre, he said.

One of the projects was demonstrated today near Bannister on a 39-acre site owned by the Moore Seed Company. The site has a clay subsurface.

"In order to really evaluate this type of system we needed one on light, sandy soil," Squires said.

The site selected was a field owned by Jim Mohnke on Taft Road west of DeWitt Road. Through a cooperative effort by the Michigan Land Improvement Contractors Association, drainage tile manufacturers, the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service and the Soil Conservation Service, the system was installed there last week.

Squires said the demonstration projects will allow researchers to determine the most effective techniques for managing the new system.

"Like a lot of things in agriculture it'll probably require better management," he said.

For instance, said Squires, landowners will need to know the water capacity of their soils.

"When you're irrigating from the bottom up we need to find the optimum water levels," he said.

Researchers will work with the demonstration project landowners for the next five years, Squires said.

"Then we'll have a lot better information for the landowners," he said. "So the farmer can go to his lender and be able to prove that this will improve yields and will be a benefit."

Road spraying funds could be better used

To the Editor:

I do not agree with the county's program of spraying brush along the roads in Clinton County. The chemicals stink and regardless of the manufacturer's claim they are harmless — how many times have we heard this story before? Other communities have been involved in situations concerning a program that seems "logical" at the present time and a few years later something is revealed indicating a slight error in judgement. Take a drive out west on Taft Road (between US-27 and DeWitt). Try Centerline Road also. I believe anyone would see how neat this spray works — really a big step in making our roadsides attractive in Clinton County. I believe those responsible should use $15,000 for a more reasonable goal. How about replacing road signs gone bad? Or cutting out brush at rural intersections? Spend the money on equipment needed to maintain our roads in this county making travel safer for everyone.

Letters

Ohio man takes hat off to St. Johns, Mich.

To the Editor:

Being a lifetime Ohio resident and staunch Ohio State fan, I have often been taught (jokingly) to regard Michigan residents as low life pond scum. On a recent trip to northern Michigan, however, we disproved this theory in your town. Several miles north of St. Johns on a Saturday evening, the leaf spring on our boat trailer broke and we were stranded. The residents of the Pleasantview Farm allowed us to pull off the highway into their barnyard. Leaving the boat, we headed back to Beck's Farm Market for a new leaf spring. We found the boat store closed for Saturday evening, and it looked like it would be Monday before we would be able to resume our vacation. How wrong we were. The owner of the grocery at Beck's Farm Market graciously opened the boat store and helped us find the parts we needed. He gave us a spare spring in case the first didn't fit, and trusted me to settle up with Becks on our return a week later. That wasn't enough, he told me where to find him at his private residence if we were still having problems getting the trailer repaired. The Ola Corners Mobil station loaned me the tools I needed to take up the road and get the spring installed. They did not want a deposit, a credit card, or my first born son as a deposit. Like Mr. Beck, they just trusted me. Less than two hours after the spring broke, we were again on our way north. The whole experience taught my four children a good lesson about trusting people, and about going out of your way to help people in need. I think the city of St. Johns should be proud of these citizens and the goodwill that they generate for your entire town. St. Johns, my hat is off to you.

Bill Schuette Reports Hay deductions

Bill Schuette

The drought in the Southeast has caused terrible devastation to farmers in that part of our nation. Their plight has aroused the concern and compassion of all Americans, especially those who are a part of our nation's agricultural community. In the best American tradition of volunteerism, people all over the country have pulled together to help their neighbors in the southeast. The response by farmers and others of mid-Michigan has been overwhelming. Farmers who are anxious to donate their surplus hay, truckers who are willing to haul it, and many others have banded together to help those in the southeast who have seen their land scorched and withered by drought. Although many of these farmers are themselves facing hard times, this has done nothing to stop their enthusiasm for helping a fellow farmer in need. Members from both parties in Congress have also acted together to address this problem. By an overwhelming vote of 418-0, the House passed legislation which requires the government to make emergency assistance available to farmers and ranchers adversely affected by natural disasters in 1986. For the most part, this legislation uses the authority of existing law to provide emergency feed and other assistance to livestock, dairy, and poultry producers, and to make disaster payments to the producers of wheat, feed grains, soybeans, cotton, rice and peanuts in 1986. This bill also expresses the sense of Congress encouraging lenders not to foreclose on farmers and instructing the government to streamline its current disaster assistance efforts. While this legislation works to help those suffering the effects of natural disasters such as drought, I am cosponsoring legislation to also help those who contribute to their relief. Although farmers throughout our nation have generously contributed hay and feed grains to feed starving livestock in the drought stricken southeast, current law does not permit them the opportunity to take a fair deduction for their charity. The legislation would permit a deduction for a charitable contribution to the extent of the lowest wholesale market price for the agricultural product. The deduction would only be available for agricultural products for the benefit of individuals who have been hurt by drought, flood or any other natural disaster. The response of the American people to those in need of help in the Southeast proves once again that we as a nation are a most generous and most caring people. And a special thanks is due the people of mid-Michigan for all they have done to help their fellow Americans during this crisis — I am proud to be in Congress and represent people who exemplify the best that is America. Bill Schuette is the 10th district representative to the United States House of Representatives.

HARVEST FESTIVAL — More than 80 adults and children marched in traditional costume at the Czechoslovakian Harvest Festival in Bannister. Courtesy photograph

Bannister has successful Harvest Festival

By Joanne Fornusek

Another record breaking crowd attended the annual Czechoslovakian Harvest Festival at the Bannister Z.C.B.J. Lodge on Aug. 3. A thunderstorm during dinner and threatening clouds later in the day did not discourage the 1600 people who came for the celebration. The district festival, sponsored by the Bannister, Flint and Owosso Z.C.B.J. Lodges celebrates the harvest in a tradition brought to this country from Czechoslovakia. This year's celebration also marks the 75th anniversary of the Bannister lodge. Lodge members began frying chickens at 3 a.m. in order to prepare for the large crowd. Also included with dinner were ham, dumplings and sauerkraut, mashed potatoes and gravy, dressing, salads, and kolache. Following the meal, lodge members presented a colorful program on an outdoor platform. More than 80 children and adults dressed in traditional costume (kroj), marched to the platform carrying decorated rakes, scythes, and wreaths. The Owosso Z.C.B.J. singers led the singing of the United States, Czech, and Slovak national anthems. Fr. John Hoogterp offered a prayer for good weather and a bountiful harvest. The Owosso singers then performed several Czech and Slovak songs and presented a gift of appreciation to their accordion player, Steve Bernath. Master of ceremonies, Frank Machala, introduced the first group of performers from the Bannister Z.C.B.J., Czechoslovakian folk dancers. These youngsters aged two to seven charmed the audience, singing two songs in Czech and performing their folk dances. The preteen and adult groups also displayed their dancing skills for the crowd. A marionette show was performed by a group of young members, telling the story of "The Queen of the Frogs" (Zabka Kralovan). Diane Bradley and Bob Ladiski led the audience in singing some melodies. Edward Rozsypal, chairman of the board of W.F.L.A. brought greetings from the home. Free raffle drawings were held and winners included: Angela Johnson and Jeremy McAllister, big wheels; Autumn Sigulinsky and Rick Kalocy, bikes; Mark Brown, Julie Smith, Ted Schultz, Brent Stephens, Tim Lerner and Katrina Bates, cash prizes; Mary Ann Stehlik and Frank Stasa, portable gas grills. Members of the dance group presented gifts to accordion player Eddy Fornusek Sr., dance leader Diane Bradley, and her helper Joanne Fornusek

Editor's notes School assignments

Rich Wertz

How come every time I sit down to fill this space with my humble elucidations, the first thing that comes to mind is the St. Johns Board of Education? One month I'm defending them from recall and a few months later (not having been overly successful, by the way, in my aforementioned effort) I'm exposing a different board as a bunch of raving socialists. I don't know where the fascination comes from. I am sure of one thing — I would not want to be a member of a school board. I'd hate to have some guy writing about every little thing I do or say. But that's the way it is and here I go again. This time, though, my purpose is neither to defend nor wax philosophic but only to suggest that some problems do not have solutions. I'm thinking of the problem of school building assignments. Some parents do not want their children to go to a different school every year. Anybody can understand that concern. As a matter of fact, the way I see it, the school boundaries now in place are an attempt to stabilize building assignments. In a more perfect world the population of students around a particular school building would be exactly equal to the capacity of the school. Everyone would show up for class each fall at the school nearest to their homes. Since that is obviously not going to happen, it seems to me the next best thing is to do what the district did do — set up school service areas that remain the same each year. That way, families that live in a particular area will be reasonably assured that their students will go to the school in that area. The problem is that, the boundaries having been established, some families do not like the area they are in — precisely because their children have been moved again. In other words, we're right back at the problem we started with. The only real solution I see is time. In time, and if there are not so many exceptions made to the bound-

"It's in the Bag" by Bob Beck

Subject: PARSLEY Parsley is a very versatile green garden herb used as a flavoring or as a garnish. Historically, it is the hands-down favorite garnish, however, parsley has more talent than meets the eye. Parsley is good for decorating more than the edges of dinner plates. The dark rich green of its leafy fronds make parsley a perfect foil for flowers. Not only is parsley one of herbdom's highest sources of vitamin C (as well as iron and iodine), it is also an excellent dietary source of potassium, a vital mineral often depleted by modern eating habits. It contains almost no fat or carbohydrates. In fact, except for the potassium, it doesn't contain much of anything ... just 200 calories per pound. The Romans used it to take the tang of vinegar out of dishes and to rid wine of bad odors. Curiously enough, parsley is a very efficient deodorizer. Chew or munch on a few leafy stems after a garlic meal or after a cigarette and you'll neutralize the resultant odors. Freshly chopped and used in quantity, it is a delightful seasoning ... great for omelets, soups and stews. This week put parsley on your shopping list and let Beck's fill the list. Remember, "we're your store with a whole lot more." More service, savings, selection and quality.

Kelly and Debra Skriba

Skriba-Searles Reside in Holt

The Central Free Methodist Church in Lansing was the setting of the June 14, 1986, double-ring ceremony joining Debra Colleen Searles and Kelly James Skriba in marriage. Three hundred friends and relatives of the couple were present for the afternoon service which was officiated by the Rev. Brian Sheen.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Batchelor of 446 W. Ash, Mason, and Mr. Leon Searles of 1452 Essex Center Road, St. Johns. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Skriba of 11392 S. Bagley, Ashley.

The church was decorated with pink mini-roses and carnations, and white roses and carnations. "Evergreen" and "Looking Through the Eyes of Love" were special musical selections performed by Carolyn Thornton.

For her wedding the bride chose a white crystallite over white satin gown with fitted bodice detailed with embroidered lace and pearls and featuring leg-o-mutton sleeves. The full skirt had an overlay of embroidered lace and pearls, and the hemline was a ruffled flounce. Rows of ruffled flouncing formed the chapel-length train highlighted with lace and pearls.

Her silk illusion veiling and blusher were attached to a derby hat. She carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations, pink lilies and mini roses with babies breath, pink pearls and white ribbon streamers.

Serving as maid of honor was Loretta Huhn from St. Johns. Bridesmaids were Sandra Harris of Grand Rapids, aunt of the groom; Tracy Brazuin of Grand Rapids, cousin of the groom; Janet Bird of Laingsburg, aunt of the bride; Melody Palacios of Balstrup, Tex., cousin of the bride. Junior bridesmaid was Holly Brown of Laingsburg, cousin of the bride, and the flowergirl was Nicole Brown of Laingsburg, cousin of the bride.

The attendants wore gowns of daphne rose taffeta featuring three tiers of ruffles on skirts that swirled into a train. They each carried bouquets of pink roses, white carnations, daphne lillies with babies breath, white pearls, daphne ribbons and streamers.

Best man was William Bird, friend of the groom. Groomsmen were Mark Pleska of Ashley, cousin of the groom; Michael Bazuin of Grand Rapids, cousin of the groom; Michael and Bryan Searles of St. Johns, brothers of the bride; and Adam Harris of St. Johns, cousin of the groom. Ringbearer was Robin Harris of Grand Rapids, cousin of the groom.

Following the service a reception was held at the V.F.W. Hall in St. Johns with 300 guests attending.

The couple spent their honeymoon in Jamaica and are at home in Holt.

Isaac F. Cressman family has July reunion at Memorial Park

The Isaac F. Cressman family reunion was held on July 20 at Riverside Memorial Park in DeWitt. Registration was in the morning with a bountiful potluck lunch served at 1 p.m. Irene Davis gave the table blessing.

The business meeting was called to order by president Almond Cressman. "Cressman" family songs, prepared by Dorothy Cressman and Irene Davis, were sung.

The Edmund Cressman family branch won the prize for the largest number in attendance following the roll call of families. Mable Cressman, 97, was given a corsage for being the oldest Cressman present.

Willis and Iva Cressman received a prize for having a 50th wedding anniversary nearest the date of the reunion and Jane Tratman got the prize for coming the farthest — from Houston, Tex. Runners-up were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Woodside and Naomi Hawkin from St. Petersburg, Fla.

West Elsie Extension Club meets for annual mystery trip

By BEVERLY AUSTIN

The West Elsie Extension Club met on July 23 at 11:30 a.m. at the home of Anabel Peck for their annual mystery trip. We then boarded the cars that we would ride in with only the drivers knowing our destination.

We wandered around on different roads for awhile so that no one would know right away where we were headed. We went through Bridgeville, which is now nothing more than a ghost town. Then it was on to Pompeii where we viewed an old two-story building that was used as a hospital at one time. Further on, we can upon Middleton where we stopped for a very nice lunch.

We had a brief business meeting with everyone reminded to attend Homemakers Day at the Clinton County 4-H Fair in St. Johns on Aug. 6.

By then it was time to start on our way back toward home. We made a quick stop at a yard sale enroute home and several people made purchases. Then it was one to Rainbow Lake where a drive around the lake on a warm afternoon was very enjoyable.

We stopped at Beck's Farm Market where everyone enjoyed a cool drink or an ice cream cone, Put Michigan First.

TRADE POLICY

Here in Michigan, trade policy is important to all of us.

In Washington, they seem to believe that good relations with Japan are more important than a healthy automobile industry in Michigan.

They say it's more efficient for industry to be located in Taiwan than in the United States.

I say they're wrong. I say it's time to stop exporting jobs.

I say we should be proud when we see the label: "MADE IN AMERICA."

I say it's time we put Michigan first.

We need fair trade and the right to compete on a level playing field in every market. I'll work for that in Congress, because Michigan workers...and Michigan consumers...deserve it.

Bright and bold, black, and big on top

ANGIE FEDEWA models a big-top sweater by One step up ($20) with matching leggings by Gams ($14.95). She wears a Glentex scarf ($8) around her waist and a blouse by Oak Hill ($12.99). The outfit, all black and white, is available at Dancer's Fashions, in the Southpoint Mall.

Bright colors, big tops, and jeans that are not just blue add up to a fashion look that might not be subtle but it should be fun

"Clothes will be fun this fall," says Myra Fleming, assistant manager of the Clothesworks in St. Johns. "Nothing subtle — everything will be bright and bold."

Bright and bold colors, black and gray jeans, and big tops (or mega tops, or the London Body look — call it what you will), tight stirrup pants — these are the fashion hallmarks for the back-to-school set this fall, say local clothiers.

The quintessential fashion look for women this fall will be a big, loose, broad shouldered sweater on top and tight, short stirrup pants on the bottom.

"Sweaters — those will be making a big comeback," says Lori Vasquez, manager of Dancer's Fashion.

But for warmer days the big top look carries over into lighter weight fabrics such as flannel and acrylic.

And for variety there are the "jogging suit" look for casual wear as well as more dressy two-piece lightweight separates. Separates, with black backgrounds and bright print patterns, are selling well, says Judy Barber, buyer for Julie K.

"That right now is the biggest selling item until the weather gets cold," she says.

In the skirt and dress department, lengths will be longer — "The younger set is going into that," says Carol Keys, manager of the Carol Ann Shop.

Men, meanwhile, are not without a degree of fashion consciousness. Although men have traditionally been rather slow to change their styles — ("They're not as dramatic," says Dick Johnson, manager of the J.C. Penney store. "They like the jeans. They don't change as much.") — that might be a thing of the past.

"They're more fashion conscious than they used to be," says Bob Rehmann, manager of Rehmann's men's clothing store.

For instance, he says, "Pleated pants are very popular this year. Ninety-nine percent of the high school pants are pleated. In jeans, gray and black are very strong."

For both sexes, the "Out of Africa" look will be in, says Vasquez, Dancer's Fashions manager.

"That's carrying over to the men," she says. "It's a casual look — a rugged casual look, I guess you'd say."

The Clinton County News asked St. Johns merchants for a sampling of some of the popular fashion items carried by their stores this season. Here's what we came up with — by no means an exhaustive list:

The Carol Ann Shop, 104 N. Clinton Ave., carries Zena jeans, available in black, faded black, or blue, with prices ranging from $34 to $38. The shop also offers a selection of big tops by You Babes in the $20 to $28 range.

At the Clothesworks, in the Southpoint Mall, a variety of sweatshirts, perfect for fall football games, are offered from $15 to $20. They are available in green, red, and royal blue.

The Julie K store, 110 N. Clinton Ave., offers lightweight separates by Jonathan Martin. The shirts range from $28 to $40 while the skirts retail for $37.95.

Dancer's Fashions, in the Southpoint Mall, offers a London Body sweater by One step up for $20, with matching leggings by Gams for $14.95.

The J.C. Penney store offers mega top sweaters by Garland for $25 and knit stirrup pants in black and white and solid colors for $13. Both are made in the USA, notes manager Dick Johnson.

Fishers Big Wheel, in the Southpoint Mall, offers corduroy pants for junior girls (up to eight years) by Stone. At $5.99 they are available in pink and purple. For junior boys the store offers two-piece matching fleece sets in red or blue. Tops are $6.99 and bottoms $7.99.

At the Van Heusen Factory Store, in the Southpoint Mall, big top shirts by Lady Van Heusen are offered in red and black, blue and black, and solid colors, for $12.99. Also offered are Lady Van Heusen fleece seat-shirts ("They're real heavy, almost like a jacket," says manager Jamie Simon.). At $20, they are available in a variety of bright colors.

As Rehmann's men's clothing store, 122 N. Clinton Ave., celebrates its 50th back-to-school season the store is offering pleated wool pants by Levi at $25 and up, black and gray jeans by Lee and Levi at $28 and $29 and Jantzen cotton sweaters at $28 and up.

Mint winners

Dawn Harris

The Mint Festival is over, but the memories of fun, friends and food still remain. For a few very talented contest winners this year's festival was extra special. In the Cooking with Mint Contest, adult division, there were two first place winners. The winners were Mary Patterson with her chocolate-mint bars, mint puffs, and sculptured mint cantaloupe, and Patricia Johnson with her Bavarian-mint chocolate pie.

For the youth division, Anne Huhn won in the areas of homemade candy, cakes/pies and cookies. Amy McDiarmid was the other first place youth winner. She won with a delicious jar of mint-honey jelly.

So you can keep the memory of the Mint Festival alive in your home I have included the recipe for one of the winning entries. The following recipe was entered by Mary Patterson. It was the first place winner in the homemade candy category.

Mint Puffs

- 1 1/2 c. sugar
- 2 tbsp. light corn syrup
- 1/4 c. water
- 1 egg white
- 10 drops peppermint extract
- 5 drops green food coloring

Combine sugar, syrup, and water; stir until dissolved. Cook until mixture reaches soft ball stage, 234 degrees. Beat egg whites until stiff; pour mixture over egg white slowly. Beat. Halfway through beating, add flavoring and coloring, a drop at a time. Beat until mixture holds shape when dropped from a spoon. Swirl candy from teaspoon, leaving a twist at the top of each drop. Mint puffs keep for days. Yield: 50 puffs.

Think about this...

This year alone, nearly 38,000 American women will die of breast cancer, and another 115,000 new cases will be diagnosed.

But with today's advanced technology, it doesn't have to be that way.

At Clinton Imaging & Diagnostic Center, we can provide you with the peace of mind you deserve. A simple procedure called mammography may detect breast disease and cancer in its very earliest stages. And that's when detection is most critical to successful treatment.

The cure rate for early detection is very high—97% survival after ten years.

Don't become a statistic. Call your physician today for an appointment at the Clinton Imaging & Diagnostic Center... before it's too late.

Show-offs go to the dogs; raise $150 during festival

The Show-Offs, Clinton County's 4-H dog and training club, raised approximately $150 at the Dog-A-Thon which they sponsored during the St. Johns Mint Festival parade. The 1½ mile walk began at St. Johns High School with some participants making the return trip for a total of 3 miles.

During Mint Festival

Efforts pay off for museum

Fanatical efforts in readying the newest addition to the Paine-Gillam-Scott Museum's complex proved most worthwhile for the Mint Festival.

The recently moved doctor's office, called the Doctor's Annex, took on three different faces for the Festival: a gift shop, selling mint potpourri; an exhibition of photos and articles of mint farming; and a VCR presentation of Clyde Anderson's movies of the 1930's and 40's of his mint related activities.

The museum would like to thank the following people for their help during the Mint Festival: Charles Hulse and his parade entry, a 1902 merry

Oldsmobile; John Gross for his demonstration on the Museum's 1876 velocipede jig-saw, plus his help on the Doctor's Annex; Tom and Linda Sutton for their "log to basket" demonstration; Pete Motz from Plum Line Landscaping and Design for his instant landscaping;

Kurt Becker Appliance Center for the loan of his VCR and TV equipment; Kathy Valentine of The Plant Professionals; and all who served as guides.

Dorothy Waldron from Fowler was the winner of the Grandfather clock raffle, the proceeds of which are used to operate the Museum for the coming year.

Thanks Taco Bell, Lutherans and all who helped in festival

Happy Birthday to Mary Warstler, Aug. 21, and Lucile Nelson, Aug. 23. As always, cards and letters are appreciated.

The "Out to Lunch Bunch" recently visited and had lunch at Taco Bell, and wishes to extend a note of appreciation to the management for their special consideration.

Thank you to the St. Johns Lutheran Church for providing us with "graduation robes" for our humanities graduation ceremony. Also many thanks to Mayor John Arehart and Carolyn Slagell for making the ceremony so special. And a big thank you to Violet Stewart, who directed the Humanities Program.

Thanks to the many individuals who helped to make our participation in the St. Johns Mint Festival so successful.

Hazel I. Findlay Country Manor uses a competency-based program in training long term care aides and orderlies. Nursing assistants and nurses must have a knowledge of the clinical concepts and the understanding necessary for delivering care to the aged. Also, special tools and skills are required to nurse the elderly population.

Country Manor has a two week course. The program includes 40 hours of classroom instruction and 40 hours of clinical training. Learning experiences, characterized by lectures, readings, group discussions and demonstrations, are not wholly useful in skills training, so the students get hands on experience of their skills under the continuous supervision of a professional nurse.

The competency-based training assures that learners will meet a certain standard of performance in a reasonable length of time and holds the trainee accountable for meeting explicit performance criteria.

Our program was designed to teach both the elements of physical care as well as interpersonal skills for meeting social and psychological needs of elderly residents. This approach to training provides a systematic way to evaluate on-the-job performance and is one method of incorporating resident aide training into long-term care staff education.

The graduation certificate is truly appreciated since so much effort was involved in earning it.

BECK'S COMMUNITY CASH

What is it?

Beck's Community Cash Program is a simple, effective project designed to help local non-profit organizations raise money. It's a good vehicle for creating a spirit of community pride and unity. And it's a low cost way to finance community improvements! We think you'll enjoy it.

How do I get involved?

Any group interested in participating in the program must complete an official registration form at Beck's. Beck's will accept accumulated receipts, in Official Collection Envelopes only. Full envelopes must be verified at Beck's. A check will be mailed to each organization, based on the amount of sales receipts collected and verified.

How does it work?

All participating groups (each must be a registered, local non-profit organization) will collect Beck's sales receipts as credit toward a cash donation. In turn, Beck's will donate $1.00 for each $100.00 in receipts accumulated by the participating agencies. There is no maximum amount a group can collect. But, in order to qualify for the program, an organization must collect at least $100.00 worth of Beck's sales receipts.

Let's get going!

We hope you'll get involved in this exciting project soon! It's an easy way to help our community, a fun way to raise money. If you have any questions or wish to fill out a Beck's Community Cash Official Entry Form, visit or call the Beck's office today, 224-2351, U.S. 27 North.

Redwings enjoy trip to LaFayette for world series

By RHONDA WESTFALL
Sports Editor

A weary, but excited, trio of St. Johns Redwings returned to their homes this past Sunday following participation in the Colt baseball world series played at LaFayette, Ind. last week.

Dwight Pierson, Andy Ball, Scott Heibeck, and their Coach Doug Parker were part of the Lansing All-Star Colt team which was sponsored by the Optimist Club. Representing the north zone at the World Series which saw the best eight teams in the country playing, the Lansing squad was eliminated by Marietta, Ga. on Saturday.

"It was quite an experience," said Coach Parker. "We played at night, under the lights, in a stadium that seated 3,500. There were a lot of people there for all the games. It was very well run."

The Lansing team played their first game of the double-elimination tournament on Tues., Aug. 12, against Marietta, Ga. and lost 9-1.

"Marietta had a very good ballclub," Parker said. "They were a good defensive team and had probably the best pitcher of any of the teams in the tournament."

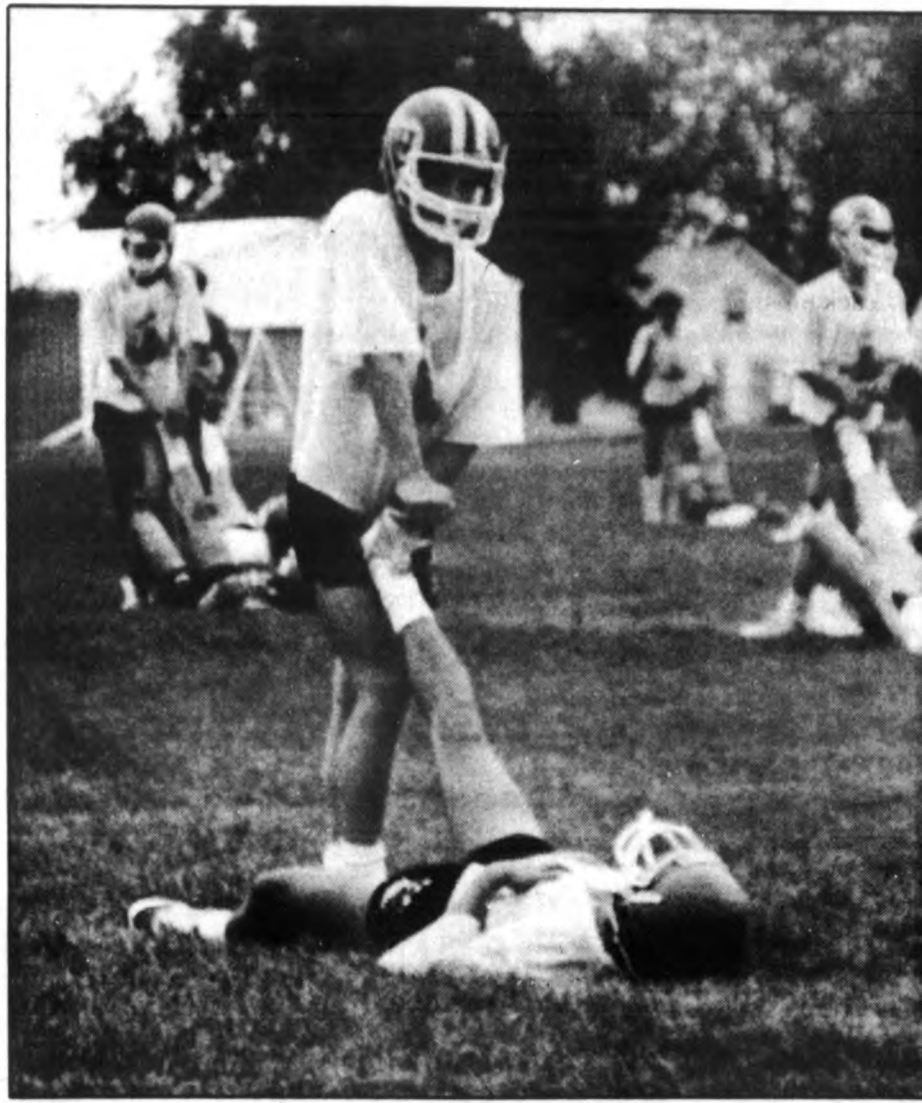

Pierson was the losing pitcher, going 3 and 2/3 innings, allowing 10 hits, 5 earned runs, striking out 3, and walking 1. The Lansing club scored their lone run in the fourth inning and had a total of 6 hits compared to 14 for the Marietta team.

Both Heibeck and Pierson went 0-3 in the opening contest with Ball seeing duty in centerfield but no batting action.

The loss sent the team into the loser's bracket where they faced the east zone representative from Hagerstown, Md. on Thurs. (Aug. 14). The Lansing All-Stars took a 9-6 win in that outing, collecting a total of 13 hits and turning 2 double-plays.

"We played very good defense in all of our games," said Coach Parker. "We hit the ball better in that game, and their (Hagerstown) pitching wasn't as strong either."

CONDITIONING —
The first week of football practice began last week for Clinton County teams with the emphasis mainly on conditioning for St. Johns Redwings players. Doug Heyer and Archie Hoebecke were among the Redwings taking part in Coach Bart Kjolhede's conditioning drills. The cooler than normal weather for the first week of practice was welcomed by the players, but Coach Kjolhede hopes they will "sweat a little" this week and next.

SJ sets Jackson scrimmage

The St. Johns Redwings football teams will travel to Jackson on Aug. 27 for a four-way scrimmage with Bay City Central, Jackson Lumen Christi, and Birmingham Brother Rice.

The freshmen and junior varsity teams will play at 4:30 p.m. at Jackson Lumen Christi, and the varsity will play at 6:30 p.m. on Wisnor Field at Jackson High.

"If you want to be the best in the state, you have to play with the best in the state," says Head Football Coach Bart Kjolhede. "We are looking forward to the scrimmage."

Brother Rice has been in the state play-offs four times in Class A, and Lumen Christi is a two time representative in Class B.

The annual intrasquad scrimmage is planned for this Friday, Aug. 22 beginning at 5:30 p.m. Team pictures will also be taken at this time.

Season nears end

City rec begins play-off action

By RHONDA WESTFALL
Sports Editor

St. Johns city rec softball is winding down with the regular season games being completed last week, and play-offs in the various leagues beginning last night (Aug. 18).

A number of teams finished the season with fine records — several going undefeated during the year. Clinton Memorial Hospital in the Monday mens recreational league finished with a perfect 10-0 record, as did the St. Johns Merchants in the Wednesday mens competitive league.

The second place spot in the Tuesday's mens recreational league was a dog fight for much of the season with Knob Hill ending the year on top at 9-1, and a three-way tie for second between Brunos, R.S.I., and Parrs. R.S.I. and Brunos fought their way through the ranks to claim the tie for second after Martens Service and Dry Dock slipped into third place.

The three-way tie will be played off on Aug. 21 when Brunos faces Parrs at 6 p.m., followed by R.S.I. taking on the winner at 7:30 p.m. Both games will be played at the main field at the St. Johns City Park.

In the womens league, St. Johns Ford ended the season in first place in division A with a record of 8-1. Teams from Murton Rawleigh and Toolcraft ended tied for second place at 7-2. Nihart, Nihart claimed first place in division B for the women with a 7-2 record. The Eastsiders stand alone in second in that division at 6-3.

A complete listing of play-off games, times, and locations is listed, along with the final standings for all city rec teams.

Colt All-Stars return from world series

Heibeck was 1-3 at the plate, scoring 3 runs and stealing 1 base. Pierson was 2-3 with 1 RBI, scored 1 run and stole 2 bases. Ball played, but did not get a hit.
The squad's final game, and their elimination from the series, came at the hands of the Marietta team on Sat. by a 12-6 score. The Lansing team was ahead 6-2 going into the top of the sixth when Marietta scored 8 runs, 3 a result of a triple with the bases loaded.
Pierson was 1-3 with 1 RBI and a walk, Heibeck was 1-2 with a double, 1 RBI, and a walk. Ball was 0-1, but scored 2 runs, was walked, and laid down a sacrifice bunt. Pierson took the loss, coming on in relief in the sixth inning. He allowed 3 runs, 1 earned, and gave up 2 hits.

The Optimist Club entry ended the series tied for fifth with a team from Hawaii, but according to Parker, "all the teams there were winners." "All the St. Johns parents came down and we had a good following of other St. Johns people as well," he said. "It was a pretty hectic schedule for the kids — we even managed to get in a couple football workouts and did some running." Coach Kjolhede will be glad to hear that. Congratulations to the "Redwing Connection" for their fine play in the Colt World Series.

Corn rootworm

Giles Roehl

It is possible to predict the need of a corn rootworm insecticide next spring by observing the levels of the corn rootworm adults this summer (late July or early August).

Levels of the adults should be observed in corn fields that will be corn again next year and in corn fields that are adjacent to fields that will be into corn next year.

The procedure is to walk out into the field and go beyond the margins and border rows and count the number of adult rootworm beetles that you see on 60 consecutive plants. Do not turn over the leaves or peel back the silks. Record the number you have found and repeat the process for 60 plants in the middle and the far end of the field.

If you find one or more corn rootworm adults per plant on the average, you will need to use an insecticide next spring. If you find less than one per plant, you just saved yourself about $10 per acre.

Silk Feeding The feeding of a large number of rootworm adults on corn silks can mess up pollination and reduce the grain set. Late planted and corn hurt by drought or other problems are more susceptible to injury. Pollination of corn occurs within 10 days after emergence of the first silks and usually the rootworm adults do not reach large numbers until after pollination in most fields during most years. Early years like this year the adults show up earlier and could be a threat. Just a walk through the field at the first silks and again a few days later looking for the adults will give you a good idea. If they are hard to find just forget them. If you see several per plant then make a count by checking 20 plants at the ear zone in five areas of the field. Look for the adults in the ear zone. Even peel back the husks to check for them in the silks. It will pay to spray if you find five or more per plant in the ear zone.

Seven, Lorsban, M and M (Malathion and Methoxychlor), Nudrin/Lannate, Diazinon, and Pydrin are all some of the common recommended products.

Master gardener program? We have many excellent gardens in Clinton County. There are individuals of all ages who are very knowledgeable about gardening.

I am looking for 20 to 25 individuals who would be interested in receiving 40 to 50 hours of training in gardening techniques. The training will include crop varieties, insect and disease identification and control, basic landscaping techniques, etc.

In return for the training, individuals will be requested to provide 40 to 50 hours of community service answering questions, writing news releases or assisting with gardening clinics in the county. After completing these hours of community service, Master Garden Certificates will be provided.

The training will be held when the most individuals can attend. If you'd like to have your name on the list as a potential Master Gardener, please call the Extension Office at 224-3288.

Giles Roehl is the director of the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Certification program

Couple wins trip to Mexico

Clinton County soybean farmer Carl Huhn found that being a certified pesticide applicator had an unexpected bonus. Huhn and his wife Joan recently won a study mission to Mexico as part of a special farmer certification program sponsored by the American Soybean Association and Shell Agricultural Chemical Company.

The program, funded by Shell, encourages farmers to become certified pesticide applicators. Being a certified pesticide applicator gives farmers more choice in the crop protection chemicals that they can purchase and use. Due in part to increasing environmental and safety concerns, some of the least expensive, most effective, and most commonly used chemicals are — or soon will be — classified for use only by certified applicators.

To win the study mission, Huhn entered his certification number in a special drawing. On their trip to Mexico the Huhns will join an Illinois farm couple selected in an earlier drawing and a third couple to be selected by a drawing on Oct. 15.

To enter the drawing, obtain or assure your certification for the 1986-87 crop year. Then send your name and address, phone number, certification number and expiration date (if applicable) to: Farmer Certification Program, American Soybean Association, P.O. Box 27300, St. Louis, MO 63141.

BIG 10 alfalfa is the first variety to set an impressive 10-ton per acre world record for non-irrigated alfalfa.

BIG 10 was developed by one of the world's largest alfalfa seed companies and tested and confirmed by Dr. M.B. Tesar and his Michigan State University staff.

"... this is the highest documented two-year and three-year average research yield for non-irrigated alfalfa in the U.S. and in the world," notes Dr. Tesar.

BIG 10 doesn't stop with high-yield, however. It provides resistance to all the major alfalfa pests including bacterial wilt, anthracnose, phytophthora, and fusarium. It also incorporates very good seedling vigor and moderate winter hardiness, providing top tonnage for 3 to 5 years.

BIG 10 alfalfa gives you the best return for your investment today and is available exclusively at your nearest GREAT LAKES HYBRIDS dealer.

BIG 10 is now available coated with RIZO-KOTE PLUS APRON for improved emergence.
