Commissioners doubtful

Voters asked again to approve jail millage

By RICH WERTZ
Editor

Clinton County commissioners last week narrowly voted to ask county residents to approve a one-mill, 20-year tax increase to finance the construction of a new county jail.

Following a four-to-three vote by commissioners, the proposal will appear on the general election ballot in November.

Voter approval of the proposal would allow the county to construct a 75-cell jail on 25 acres of county property off Townsend Road. The cost of the jail would be $5 million to $6 million. A one mill tax increase would raise $640,000 per year.

Despite the close vote, commissioners were nearly unanimous in expressing doubt that the millage proposal would be approved by voters.

"I have no objection to putting it on (the ballot) but I think it's an exercise in futility," commented commissioner Earl Lancaster.

The ballot proposal follows years of overcrowding in the jail. The jail is designed to house 42 prisoners but routinely holds more than that. Commission Chairman Roger Overway estimated that the county is paying at least $100,000 per year to "board out" prisoners in other counties.

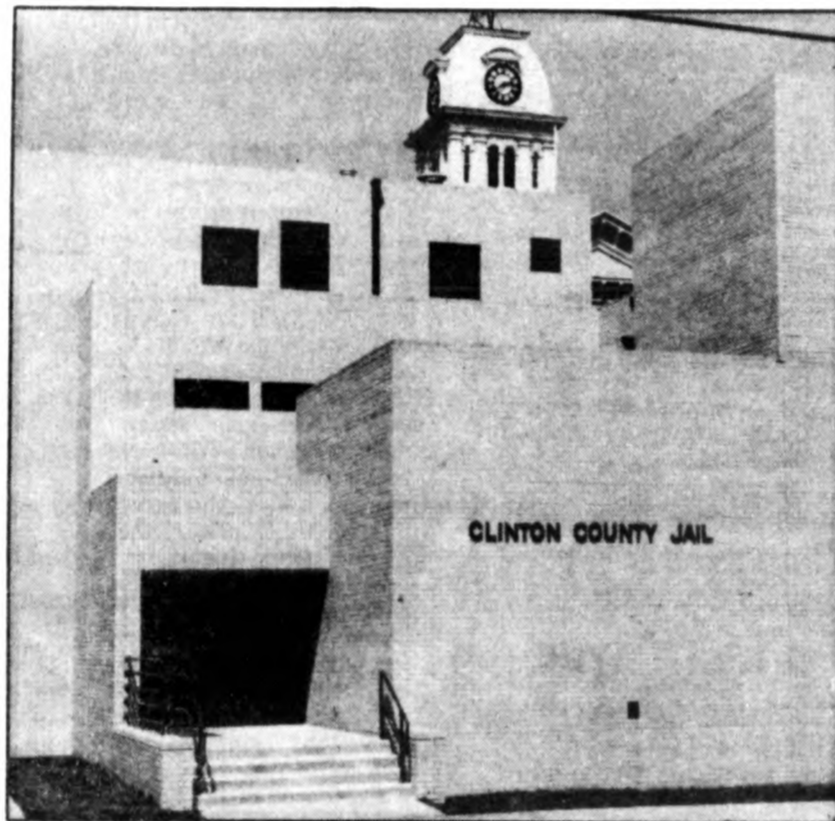

Additionally, the Michigan Department of Corrections has ordered improvements to the intake area of the jail, including the detention cell and booking area. The M.D.O.C. has said those areas are too small and lack proper means for observation, Overway said.

Overway said those improvements would cost about $75,000. Adding 30 cells to the existing jail would bring the cost to $800,000.

The issue at the meeting was not whether to ask voters for the money but when to ask for it. The issue arose after the criminal justice committee, saying there is not enough time before the November election to inform the public about the proposal, recommended pursuing the proposal in a special election within one year.

"If they're not informed, they're going to vote no," said commissioner Richard Hawks. "I think personally your chances are going to be less in the November election than in a special election."

However, other commissioners, including Overway, said there is no point in delaying work on the jail when the chances of obtaining voter approval of new jail funds are slim.

PROBLEM — County voters are asked once more to approve funds for a new jail.

"My concern is that we are doing nothing for a year and a half, maybe longer," said Overway. "I said I'd vote to put it on the November ballot..."

Overway noted that in two previous elections voters have declined to approve jail millage proposals.

"We've had a vote of the people,"

he said. "We've had a vote of the people twice."

Commissioner Robert VanDriesen said a special election would cost the county more money than placing the proposal on the November ballot.

Voting in favor of putting the proposal on the November ballot were Glen Webster, Lois Bracey, Overway and Vandriesen. Voting no were Walter Nobis, Hawks and Earl Lancaster.

"I want it clear that I'm not opposed to putting it on the ballot, I just think we'd have a better chance later," said Hawks.

Overway said that if the ballot proposal is rejected by voters the county will still have the option of building the $800,000 addition to the jail. That would not require an additional tax levy, he said.

"I feel if we build a new jail over there with 75 cells in it, it will be full in a year anyway," said Overway.

"I can't see putting another million dollars into this jail and then having the Department of Corrections come in...and say you have to build another one anyway," said Hawks.

IN OTHER BUSINESS:

• Commissioners approved new one-year contracts with the county's assistant prosecuting attorneys. The chief assistant prosecutor will receive an eight percent pay increase and two assistants will receive 8.5 and 8.9 percent increases. The assistant prosecutors are represented by the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

• Commissioners agreed to increase the contribution of the county to a fund that will be used to supply a county police officer to the Tri-County Metro Narcotics Squad. Earlier the county had pledged $10,000 toward the effort. Following commitments by township and municipal government units, the county was still about $5,000 short of its $30,000 goal. Commissioners agreed to making up the difference with county funds.

• Commissioners voted four-to-three not to approve the hiring of temporary help for the Clinton County Drain Commissioner's office. Drain Commissioner Arden Pierson had asked for the help in order to finish the 1986 drain assessment roles.

Overway and Nobis said they believed there were too many temporary employees being hired by the office. Overway said that while the office is under a strain, it might not be possible to catch up in one year with work that should have been done in past years.

Voting against approval of the temporary help were Webster, Nobis, Bracey and Overway. Voting in favor were Lancaster, Hawks and Vandriesen.

COMMUNITY BUS — A Swegles Elementary student boards the CRV community bus for a ride home from school.

Students can ride CRV community bus

While it remains to be seen whether St. Johns public school students who attend city schools will eventually be provided with school bus service, those students do have the option of riding the Community Resource Volunteers community bus.

The cost of riding the bus (one way) for children under 18 years of age is $50 when a book of 12 tickets is purchased, said CRV Director Bill Richards.

"CRV can coordinate your child's needs with a regular pick-up and drop-off — to and from school and your home or sitter," said Richards.

Although the bus is available to everyone in St. Johns, younger school children are the major users of the bus, he said.

Richards also said that although the bus regularly serves St. Johns and a two-mile radius around the city, older people and handicappers with special transportation needs who live outside that area can make arrangements to use the bus.

For bus service or information call 224-8285 or 224-8127.

School board approves contracts

By RICH WERTZ
Editor

The St. Johns Board of Education voted Aug. 25 to ratify contracts for cafeteria staff and teachers aides whose previous contracts expired June 30, 1986.

Approved for cafeteria aides was a one-year contract that included a 5.2 percent overall wage increase.

The school cook, baker and salad maker received a 40 cent per hour wage increase, bringing their hourly wage to $6.90.

All other cafeteria employees received a 30 cent per hour wage increase, bringing their wages to $5.50 to $6.90 per hour, depending on their responsibilities.

Approved for teachers aides were raises of 45 cents per hour for non-instructional aides, including playground and lunchroom aides. Hourly wages for those employees now range from $4.60 to $6.15.

Approved for instructional aides was an hourly wage increase of 55 cents. The wage range for those aides is now $4.90 to $6.15 per hour.

Asst. Supt. Gordon Vandemark said that other than the wage increases the new contracts included "minimal language changes."

School officials have yet to negotiate a contract with district school bus drivers, whose contract also expired June 30.

Also on Aug. 25 the board refused to approve an administrative recommendation to increase the salaries of substitute teachers.

The board opted to keep substitute pay at $45 per day for the first ten days and at $60 per day for over ten days. The administration had recommended a five dollar increase in both categories, noting that they have not been increased in three years.

"We're considerably higher than the lowest and reasonably higher than the middle (compared to other area school districts)," said board member Jeanette Adams. "Personally, I'm happy where we are."

The board voted not to increase the substitute rates. Member James Parr abstained from voting on the issue because his wife had applied for a job as a substitute.

The decision drew praise from school district resident Chuck DeSander, who was active in the recent campaign earlier this year.

"This is what the district has wanted all along," he said. "At least you're taking the plight of the farmer into consideration."

IN OTHER ACTION:

• Board members voted to authorize the taking of bids on borrowing against state aid. The school district will seek bids to borrow $1.37 million to cover an insufficient cash flow during mid-winter months.

The bids are expected to come in at five percent interest or lower, said Supt. Earl Gabriel, who noted that some or all of the cost will be recouped by short term investment of some of the funds.

• Board members voted to adopt an elementary music textbook at an approximate cost of $1,679.

• Resident Gary Larsen inquired if the board could provide him with an update on the possibility of providing busing for some city school children who do not currently have bus service. School officials said they could provide no further information but

Two teens accused of phone harrassment

Two 13-year-old girls from St. Johns accused of telephone harrassment were petitioned into Juvenile Court Aug. 22, said Clinton County detective Richard May.

May said the two girls were accused of ordering a number of services for a particular couple they had apparently picked at random. The two girls called an insurance agent, a plumber, a painter, a drug abuse counselor and an ambulance service and asked them to call on the home of the couple, he said.

"They just picked a name out of the phonebook and did all this," May said.

May said the girls were apprehended after they called the women of the house and left a message for her husband to return the call. The girls initially left their actual telephone number, then changed it to a phoney number, May said. However, the woman of the home gave police both numbers and the girls were apprehended, he said.

"They caused a lot of harrache," May said. May said General Telephone and Electric is involved in the case and can legally withhold telephone service to the homes of the two girls. The girls might also be required to pay an $85 ambulance bill, he said.

The names of the accused and the victims were withheld by police.

Balance required for Cropsey's opposition

To the Editor:
In regards to the letter from Ken (Skip) Russell, president of UAW Local 925, which appeared in your Aug. 26 issue, I feel a balance is required for those opposing attitudes.
Mr. Russell, who is also a member of the Clinton County Democratic Executive Committee, quite obviously has a problem separating the responsibilities of his two offices. In his role as union president, he continues his party's attack on Sen. Alan Cropsey. This keeps Skip in line with his party and union bosses.
Al may have made the union bosses squirm, but the union members and non-union workers have been electing Al to the House of Representatives and to the Senate for years.
Mr. Russell's assessment of what is fair to workers is ridiculous in light of the fact that last week he posted his remarks directed at Sen. Cropsey on union bulletin boards at Federal Mogul Corp., which is in direct violation of the union contract he and his union chiefs accepted. The union removed the postings after mounting complaints forced them to do so.
—Since the Democratic state convention, it has not been hard to read between the lines. Fortunately, Mr. Russell averted making some outbursts his party did against Al's personal beliefs and faith.

Sen. Cropsey's strong support of Mr. Lucas and Mr. Dillingham, both of the Catholic faith, will not be undermined by the flagrant assault on his own personal convictions and beliefs. Mr. Russell's party has passed the point of no return with its assault on those individuals whose moral values would lead them into government. When John Kennedy ran for the presidency, the hate mongers were screaming "foul" but to no avail. We believe that in November, the citizens of this great state will stand up and be counted.
So, Skip, we got our names in the paper. Now let's just go back to work.
Thank you.

Arthur Howard
Member of UAW Local 925

Thank you supporters of 'Summerworks'

To the Editor:
We would like to thank all those who supported our "Summerworks" program this summer.
We had a wonderful time working with Clinton County children at Sleepy Hollow State Park and would like to thank the following for their many contributions:
Community Resource Volunteers, Michigan Council for the Arts, Recyclers of Greater Lansing, Kathleen Stockman, Gary and Jenny McCampbell, Mr. and Mrs. James Couling, All American Glass, Tricia Reust, The Game Master, Marla Lade, Kay Pilmore.

Last, but not least, thanks and a hug to all the kids who sang, jumped, ran, swam, painted, poured and laughed! All your enthusiasm made this camp the success it was.

Temperature clock would be a city asset

To the Editor:
A complimentary note about the Mint Festival: Superb.
It's a pleasure to walk to the shopping center on the new Sturgis Street sidewalk. Great.
Now a request. With a shopping center and several excellent restaurants on US-27, a clock/temperature would be an asset to our city. It would be helpful to travelers as well as local people.

We are proud of our clean city. Let's make it memorable to the many vacationers traveling through.

Drought response renews faith in mankind

To the editor:
In the past few weeks my faith in mankind has been renewed. As you all have heard, cattlemen in parts of the United States have been dealt a blow by the weather. A cry for help went out across our land, and many other farmers said yes! Over 45 of our Clinton County farmers called in, or hauled in, donations of hay to be shipped for free to those in need, and another 40 to 50 people, who had no feed to give, donated time and sweat to load and reload thousands of bales of hay into rail cars and semi-trucks. To all of these people I wish to express a very sincere thank you.

Sometimes we think a business is just in it for the money, but this community is made of better stuff than others I have lived in. While working on the Mint

Farm Tour committee, I saw the same caring to promote Clinton County as I saw in the hay train. The Ir-rer, Livingston, and Kurncz farms opened their doors to educate and entertain about 600 people this year and last year. Other mint farmers joined in to assist in other ways. At the support end of this project is Clinton Bank and Trust; renting buses, serving cookies and punch to waiting visitors. The employees of Clinton Bank and Trust have the same enthusiasm to join in and help, as have the Countrymark people.

I believe this country is blessed with so many caring people and businesses that we forget to say thank you for something we have been taking for granted for so long. As one very small link in a very strong chain, I say thank you. The people of this community have a lot to be proud of. Thanks for caring so much.

Jim Squires
St. Johns

Bill Schuette Reports Social security

Bill Schuette

Should the government dip into social security trust funds for the purpose of avoiding the debt limit? I say we should not.
That is why I am cosponsoring H.R. 5050, the social security administrative and reform act of 1986. This legislation will establish the social security administration (SSA) as an independent agency (it currently is a part of the Health and Human Services Administration), and prohibit the Secretary of the Treasury from disinvesting the social security trust funds to circumvent the government's debt limit.
These two aspects of the bill respond to the general concern that social security has become overly politicized, and that independence from administrative and financial meddling will improve the program.
In the past decade we have seen regular turnovers in high level policy positions, repeated internal reorganizations, and political intervention in the day-to-day administrative decisions of the SSA. This has led to a deterioration in the quality of public services the SSA is meant to provide.
In an attempt to counter this trend, the legislation that I am cosponsoring will create an independent agency to administer social security, freeing it from the burden of layers upon layers of red tape created by the Dept. of Health and Human Services. The new agency would be headed by a bi-partisan, three-member social security board appointed by the president to staggered six-year terms. The board would have broad legislative, regulatory and administrative authority; it would be the policy-making arm of the agency. Day-to-day administration would be managed by a commissioner appointed by the Board to a five-year term.

The second important feature of this legislation is that it specifically prohibits the treasury from dipping into the long-term assets of the social security trust funds to keep the government running when the debt limit has been reached. Many will remember that such a disinvestment of funds took place in Sept. and Oct. of 1984 and again in Sept., Oct., and Nov. of 1985. This bill would guarantee such disinvestments will never be repeated.

Bill Schuette is the 10th district representative to the United States House of Representatives.

Army loans

The Michigan Army National Guard recently announced a new loan repayment program for health professionals. Similar to the student loan repayment program available to enlisted members of the National Guard, the health professional loan repayment program will help repay student loans of doctors and nurses who agree to serve as officers in the Army National Guard.
The program will repay a maximum of $3,000 per year up to a total of $20,000. Various loans secured on or after Oct. 1, 1975, by individuals who are appointed as commissioned officers in the Medical or Nurse Corps of the Army National Guard after Sept. 30, 1985, are eligible.

Ehm-Howard

Reside in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Celeste Howard became the bride of Kraig Ehm in a double-ring ceremony at Grove Bible Church on May 16 performed by the Rev. Robert Prange before 200 friends and relatives of the couple.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Howard, 506 S. Scott Rd., St. Johns. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arlen Ehm, Anchorage, Alaska.

The bride was escorted down the candlelit aisle for the 7 p.m. wedding by her father, to the altar decorated with pink and white carnations, baskets of ferns, and candelabra trimmed with greenery and raspberry bows.

Special music for the wedding included "My Treasure," "Grow Old Along With Me," sung by the groom, "Longer," sung by the best man, Kevin Ehm, and "Together" a duet sung by the bride and groom. The pianist was Jeff Roland from Lyons.

For her wedding the bride chose a white summer satin gown with Queen Anne neckline and long sleeves. The bodice was trimmed with pearls, rhinestones and iridescent sequins, and the floor-length skirt with chapel train was edged with lace.

Her pearl-accented veil was attached to a headband decorated with rhinestones and pearls, and she carried a cascade arrangements of pink roses, white carnations, stephanotis, baby's breath and streamers.

She wore diamond earrings belonging to her mother and carried her grandmother's lace handkerchief.

Maid of honor was Marianne Ashenfelter of St. Johns. Bridesmaids were Lisa Hawks and Kimberly Ehm, junior bridesmaid was Kelly Prange, and flower girl was Jennifer Ehm, niece of the groom.

They wore floor length, short-sleeved gowns of raspberry taffeta with embroidered bodices. The maid of honor carried a mini-cascade bouquet of white and deep pink carnations, purple bachelor buttons, stephanotis, baby's breath, and raspberry streamers. Bridesmaids carried colonial bouquets of pink and white carnations, purple bachelor buttons, baby's breath, and stephanotis.

The flowergirl wore a floor length short-sleeved pink organza over taffeta dress, white gloves, and carried a satin-covered basket of pink petals.

Best man was Kevin Ehm, brother of the bride, of Anchorage, Alaska. Groomsmen were Grant Howad, brother of the bride from St. Johns, Dan Kennard, friend of the groom from DuBois, Penn., and ring bearer was Jonathan Ehm, nephew of the groom. Ushers were Twayne Howard, cousin of the bride from Freeland, and Byron Pragne, friend of the couple from St. Johns.

Celeste and Kraig Ehm

Special guests at the wedding were Mrs. Audrey Swedburg, grandmother of the groom from Denver, Colo.; Mrs. Ruth Miller, grandmother of the bride from Williamston; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Reese, grandparents of the bride from St. Johns; and the Rev. and Mrs. Tom Swedburg and family, uncle of the groom, from Lincoln Park.

Tending the guest book was Megan Seelye, and servers at the reception were Joyce Wilburn, Susan Keener and Phyllis Nichols. The cake was made by Mrs. Ron Roland of Lyons, and was cut and served by Lianne Prange. Host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Vern Seelye of Bath.

The couple honeymooned in Canada and are now at home in Chattanooga, Tenn.

P-W Community Players look ahead after successful past

By RICH WERTZ
Editor

Four huge scrapbooks full of photographs and newspaper clippings tell the story: "Theatre group tries an unheard of comedy," "P-W Players assemble host of entertainers," "P-W beams with 'Little Mary Sunshine,'" "P-W Player tackle fairy tale."

It has been 15 years since a group of Pewamo-Westphalia teachers conceived the idea of staging a play to raise money for a scholarship fund dedicated to the late Willam Steinke, former superintendent of Pewamo-Westphalia Schools.

Proceeds from the productions of the Pewamo-Westphalia Community Players are still donated to the scholarship fund, but the players and the scholarship fund have long since become separate entities.

The players have staged 33 productions in those 15 years. Variety shows, musicals (Oklahoma, 1976; The Sound of Music, 1981; South Pacific, 1982; Annie Get Your Gun, 1984) and three act dramas have been the mainstay of the company's productions. It is a formula that has yielded considerable success for the company as the productions have drawn people from all over the mid-Michigan area.

"It turned out to have a wider appeal than anyone thought," says Kay Pilmore, who directed many of the productions.

"We draw cast from all over — Lansing, Ionia, Grand Ledge, St. Johns — all over," says Darlene Costello, a charter member and the current president of the group.

In one production there were cast members from 23 different communities, recalls Pilmore.

In general, if someone most recent production, "Two by Two," while by no means a failure, was not as well attended as some of the big hits of past years.

Costello notes that the production had some stiff competition this year — it was staged the same weekend as the St. Johns Mint Festival and the annual Fowler community picnic. As a matter of fact, excerpts from the show were performed at the Mint Festival as well as at the Ionia Free Fair.

In the future, Costello says, the group will schedule its productions for a less congested weekend of the summer. Also planned is an attempt to make the contributions of the players to the community more visible. The players have long provided rental costumes for Halloween. This year they plan to provide face painting to go along with the costumes.

"We'd certainly like — I guess we'd like the community to be a little more receptive," says Costello.

THE QUESTION arises: Why not expand, why not stage productions in, say, St. Johns, where the more central location might draw larger audiences?

Both Costello and Pilmore say there has been talk of doing just that — but they also say the players will never abandon the community that has consistently supported them over the years.

"There is a home town feeling about what we do," says Pilmore. "But by the same token, since its inception it has drawn people from many different communities. You can't say it's strictly a P-W event anymore."

"I think it's going to be a touchy subject," says Costello. "To say the whole group is going to pack up and move to St. Johns — I don't think that's going to wants to participate in a production, a place will be found for them, says Costello. The only way to really rule yourself out, she says, is to insist on playing a particular role. Granted, some people have had more lead roles than others, she says, but individual stardom has never been real big with the P-W Players.

"We try to spread the roles around," says Costello.

"There's a family feeling that develops," says Pilmore. "I've even seen cases where people went into severe depression for a while when a production was over."

"That's why we do it," she adds. "Because we love it."

ALTHOUGH they remain upbeat, those who have been involved in the players hint that after 15 successful years the P-W Players may have lost some momentum. The happen."

Nor, she says, will the name of the group change.

What might happen, says Costello, is that the players will perform in both St. Johns and Pewamo-Westphalia.

Johns and Pewamo-Westphalia. "There's a lot of options," she says. "There's a lot of things we're going to have to look at."

Editor's notes

Mid-Michigan Muser Rich Wertz

So now I'm a poetry critic already. And I'm on the wrong page. This is because the opinion page was too small for this column — and because of the nature of the subject matter I wanted to cover this story in an opinion column, free from the constraints of the straight news article. Listen to this:

*Wakening reptiles
Waiting for sun to warm their Paralyzed numb limbs
— Wakening Reptiles, by Lyle A. Cook*

Lyle Cook, St. Johns, is one of the poets whose works appear in Mid-Michigan Muser, a poetry collection published by the Community Resource Volunteers (CRV). Hot of the presses after months in the making, the book contains nearly 100 pages of work by 37 different poets. The majority are from Clinton County but the book lives up to its "Mid-Michigan" billing by including the works of poets from such far flung places Detroit, Grand Ledge and Haslet.

When CRV began the project several months ago, it was expected that maybe eight to 10 poets would submit work. The fact that the response by area poets was nearly four times that much took everyone by surprise.

"We were flooded," said Kevin Cleland, a CRV volunteer from St. Johns who coordinated the editing process. "I had no idea we were going to get this much response."

The book was the idea of Gary Gearhart, St. Johns, who submitted several of his own works.

"He had mentioned it to Bill (Richards)," said Cleland. "Bill finally got around to it this year and asked me if I could kind of oversee the project and it just developed from there."

Gearhart, who was in an Ann Arbor hospital when the book came off the presses, no sooner learned that the project was completed then he immediately suggested that it be followed by a book of children's stories.

"Gary," said CRV Director Richards, "is always dreaming up things to do."

Mid-Michigan Muser will sell for $7.50 per copy. Any profits from the sale of the book will help support the CRV community bus. Copies can be purchased at the CRV office at 201 1/2 N. Clinton Ave., St. Johns. Or call CRV at 224-8285 for delivery of the book to your home.

The poets who appear in Mid-Michigan Muser are for the most part previously unpublished. It's definitely a mixed bag. Love, faith, doubt, nature — these are themes that recur over and over again in the work.

As might be expected — since poetry is, after all, the traditional refuge for the lover — romantic love is well represented as a topic. The charms of such verse do not work well on me — one person's heartfelt emotion can seem a tad overwrought to someone who does not happen to be in the throes of an affair of the heart at time. Still, there will certainly be readers who are in such a state and perhaps it is they who will most appreciate the love poems:

One example is from Cleland's own contributions:

*Her golden hair and eyes so blue,
Her darling precious face.
Her frame is figure eight in shape,
She's lovely as can be.
— A Dreamer's Foolish Heart, by Kevin Cleland*

Victoria Nixon, Lansing, another poet of romantic love, provides a measure of comic relief in one of her odes:

*I hope that you get to move in soon,
So maybe I can sleep til noon
— Untitled, by Victoria Nixon*

Poems about faith in God are among the most inspired of the collection. Donnah A. Stewart, St. Johns, offers a series of poems that are not only persuasive as testament to the Christian faith but also that display an admirable command of the language. If Stewart is not a student of Emily Dickinson, then surely she is inspired by the same muse:

*There are many who find this way
That leads to Destruction — Hell —
The wages of sin is death, they say
What virtue can they compel?*

Kevin Cleland: 'We never expected such a response. We were flooded.'

*A few there be that find the Way
That leads from earth to Heav'n
For narrow, rugged, straight and fixed
The road that God has given.
— Choose Ye, by Donna A. Stewart*

As if in counterpoint to Stewart's faith, there is included in the collection James Woolhouse, Lansing, whose poems are elegant expressions of doubt. If Stewart is the Emily Dickinson of the collection, then Woolhouse is the T.S. Eliot. His work is full of anxiety and alienation. ("My status is slipping —" he writes, "also my faith in mankind.")

Death, duplicity, hollow laughter, empty shadows — these are the images Woolhouse invokes, and not without some success. Personally, I like it, although I'm sure some will find this work as overwrought as, for instance, I tend to find love poems.

Some of Woolhouse's work is not devoid of a certain sense of humor. One of his poems I find hilarious in its very cynicism. He writes:

*Strange things are with us...
wonderful things (people are beeping or seem to be.)*

And later in the poem:

*I want to be interred with my beeper, my little black box that keeps me informed and above all with my 40 channel CB'er
so I can communicate with my "lil ole buddies" to warn them of their impending doom.
— A Proliferation of Wonder, by James Woolhouse*

Both faith and doubt — the tension between the two — find expression in the work of CRV's own Bill Richards. His poems, set in the natural landscape of Michigan and Canada, are in one sense a celebration of nature:

*It has solitude and I can talk out loud
It has soft sounds of rippling water
— Thoughts Alone by the Mason Chapel, by WPR*

But thoughts about how man relates to nature, often destructively, intrude upon the poet as he observes the beauty of the landscape. In "A View in the Moonlight — Perhaps" a beach in the moonlight is not merely something pretty to look at — it is "God's challenge to man to relate."

The poem pulls no punches as the poet ponders the ways of mankind. But it never sinks to the level of despair; instead it develops the idea that the human races faces a challenge:

*Perhaps it's the life cycle of man
To plunder, to pollute, to explore!
He does it with such high intelligence
Yet his life cycle's receding once more.*

*Perhaps a view in the moonlight
Of raw beach between water and pine
Is a reminder of how God planned it
Before we polluted our mine?*

*Yet, maybe it isn't too late to restrict the free flowing taps
My guess — we haven't the will power
To turn mankind around — PERHAPS!
— A View in the Moonlight — Perhaps, by WPR*

To me, it is the voice of maturity that writes about the tension between faith and doubt, rather than insisting upon a contrived resolution. The poems ring true, not as answers to the dilemmas of the world, but as an honest recognition that the dilemmas exist.

Then, too, there is maturity in the poet's vision as he thinks not about how the human race relates to nature, but how he relates to nature personally. Laying in a pine forest, the poet thinks:

*What a beautiful world I live in
But like a chain I am only a link*

*Realizing this reduces my ego
And will probably lengthen my life
— Written in the Pine Forest, by WPR*

Perhaps I am getting too serious (arrogant?) as I go on about faith and doubt. There are in poetry not just sweeping visions of the human condition, but the small insights and expressions of day to day life. These are well-represented in Mid-Michigan Muser. Consider the shortest poem in the collection:

Ottawa

*It rains hard.
I'm in my tent,
Cold and wet.
— Ottawa, by Elizabeth L. Anderson*

Consider also the boundless enthusiasm of Kaylene Gearhart, who at six years of age dictated this poem to her mother:

Sun, Sun

*Sun, sun we love you.
Sun, sun we care about you

This is only a small sampling — some of the poems that were most striking to me. Not even mentioned thus far are a number of poems that deal with love of family, with friendship, and with subjects that defy categorization.

All in all it is another coup for CRV. To publish a book of poetry is an ambitious undertaking — and a risky one. Reading poetry is not something, after all, that people these days tend to spend a great deal of time doing.

And of course, to make public the sort of private moments and thoughts that constitute poetry is an act of courage on the part of the poets.

But having pulled it off, CRV has added another facet to a community that is already stongly supportive of the arts. Perhaps the book will become an annual event, as much of an institution in the community as the Clinton County Arts Council, the Pewamo-Westphalia Community Players, and the St. Johns High School arts programs.

"We'll see what kind of response we get," said Cleland, when asked about the likelihood of more editions of Mid-Michigan Muser.

I remember a literature professor in college who came up with a pretty punchy way of ending a review of a book he thought well of.

"It's a good book," he said. "Read it." As for myself — I'll leave it up to you.

New karate club opens in DeWitt

By MARILYN HESS
Staff Writer

He might have looked a little out of place at the ox roast, breaking boards and doing other karate demonstrations donned in the traditional white uniform with his black belt. But DeWitt Township resident Scott Kramer says he simply loves the art and has a desire to pass it on.

That's the reason why he's starting the DeWitt Tang Soo Do Karate Club, which will meet at the DeWitt Conservatory. Tang Soo Do is a form of karate that combines traditional Korean karate with northern Chinese martial arts and American boxing. Literally translated, it means "Way of the Chinese Hand." The more familiar Tai Kwon Do is based on this form of karate.

Kramer began participating in karate four years ago, and is now a first degree black belt, or Cho Dan. He trains three to five times a week, and in 1985 was ranked second in the state in several categories of karate competition. He often competes — and wins — in Tang Soo

Do tournaments.

The martial arts, Kramer says, are accessible to men, women, and children (in fact, his black belt instructor was a woman). He plans to teach all ages in his club. The benefits of karate are increased self-discipline, physical fitness, and concentration, he says.

Although karate is used for self-defense, Kramer does not recommend that persons solely interested in that aspect get involved. He says it takes eight to ten weeks to earn the first rank — a white belt — while basic self-defense techniques can be learned elsewhere much quicker.

"Karate is much more involved," he says.

To familiarize interested persons with Tang Soo Do, Kramer has scheduled a demonstration and orientation Thursday, Sept. 4 at 6:30 in the DeWitt Conservatory, 115 N. Bridge. He and several other black belt instructors will be present.

Kramer spends his daytime hours outside of his karate uniform as a substance abuse counselor for a Tri-County Mental Health department called Correctional Assessment and Treatment Services. He is originally from suburban Detroit, and attended college at Grand Valley State College in Grand Rapids.

The 31-year-old started out majoring in forestry and environmental management, but after working at a camp and in a group home where he was exposed more and more to emotionally disabled children, he became interested in a people-oriented profession, and ended up with a degree in counseling and social relations. He's had his present position for three and a half years.

WATCH OUT — Scott Kramer of DeWitt, a black belt in the Tang Soo Do form of karate, demonstrates one of the moves he will be teaching when the DeWitt Tang Soo Do Karate Club begins soon at the DeWitt Conservatory.

Two men charged with attempted theft of planter after resident returns home

Two men accused of attempting to steal flower planters from an Eagle woman are free on $100 bonds pending a Sept. 5 pre-trial conference.

Clinton County detective

Richard May said Mary Sasse, 12563 S. Wright Rd., Eagle, returned to her home July 28 and observed two men in her driveway touching her flower planters. The trunk of their car was open, May said.

May said the men fled when Sasse arrived but were apprehended later.

May said the two men said they had stopped because of trouble with their trunk.

Arrested were Ronald C. Stephens, 36, of Greenville; and Jack Edward Billings, 40, of Crystal.

Dept. of Natural Resources has announced a Sept. 3-8 Canada Geese season

After more than 10 months of operation, the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Wildlife Division's 24-hour telephone newline — 517-373-WILD — is getting good use by the public, as many as 900 calls per month, according to the Department.

"Public feedback reveals the newline is helpful to many different users of Michigan's outdoors, such as hunters, nature photographers, campers, birdwatchers, hikers, and especially visitors from out-of-state," said Tony Genco of DNR's Wildlife Division who coordinates the newline program.

The newline's short recorded messages provide the latest information about hunting season dates, such as the early

Sept. 3-8 goose season this year, hunting license costs, deadlines, tips, safety, rule changes, and hunting conditions in the state.

In addition, the newline provides tips on or locations for finding mushrooms, wild berries, wildflowers and other plants in season, information on bird migrations, and other general news about the state's wild animals and birds. The recorded messages are updated once a week.

Genco welcomes ideas for additional information the public wants to receive through the WILD newline program. Call him with comments and suggestions at 517-373-1263, or write him, care of DNR Wildlife Division, Box 30028, Lansing, MI 48909.

Call 24-hour newline: 517-373-WILD

The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has announced a Sept. 3-8 hunting season on local giant Canada geese in the state's lower peninsula.

This experimental season is the culmination of an eight-month effort by the DNR working with the Mississippi Flyway Council and U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to obtain additional controls on fast-growing local goose populations.

Michigan and Massachusetts are the only two states that will be offered the opportunity this fall to test early September hunting as another solution for local goose control. DNR wildlife biologists estimate Michigan's local birds numbered 55,000 in 1985, and predict the figure may reach 70,000 this fall.

The daily limit for the early hunt will be two Canadas per day. If you have four in possession, you should be able to prove you killed two of them at another time. Only four in possession is allowed.

Shooting hours will be one-half hour before sunrise to sunset, local time, in the Lower Peninsula.

Because Federal authorities were concerned about unintentional harvest of early-arriving migrant geese from Canada breeding grounds, there will be some closed areas on state game lands during this early hunt.

"In spite of the closures, 95 percent of the lower peninsula will be open to hunters," said Jerry Martz, DNR Waterfowl Specialist, "including most parts of state recreation, game and wildlife areas, state forest lands, and private lands (with owner's permission)."

Though state recreation area boundaries are posted with signs prohibiting shooting of firearms from April 1-Sept. 14, these rules will not apply to Canada goose hunters during the Sept. 3-8 season. Entry into established refuges on open for hunting game areas or recreation areas is prohibited, just as in the regular waterfowl season.

Because the season was confirmed by Federal authorities so late in the summer, a waterfowl guide will not be available for this experimental season. Hunters are advised to contact DNR Regional or District Offices for additional information and a brief handout on the season.

Happiness

Mona Ellard

The seekers

Many of us spend a lifetime seeking happiness. And it may seem strange that I don't use the word "happy" to describe the fully living person. But words like "happy" and "contented" are speaking of an end — of an achieved state. Happiness isn't achieved in finality. It's something that comes and goes and the more to be appreciated and enjoyed when it comes again. Happiness is a part of living a full, whole life. And I think of living the full, whole life not as a destination but as a journey — not as a goal but as movement in a direction that you choose freely.

What is happiness? It's a feeling inside us in response to something that happens. But happiness is only one of the many feelings we experience. Can you think of the others you experience as you go through the day? Most of us don't. We are taught from childhood to "control" ourselves, not to express our emotions, to keep our hurt and pain inside and, as a result, we don't have a wide vocabulary of feelings. You know when you don't feel great, but how often can you put your finger on how you do feel?

A wise and sensitive man once told me, "I am most in control of my feelings when I'm expressing them." And it's hard to express how you feel when you don't know. Developing sensitivity to yourself is an important part of your growth and learning — one that is all too often skipped over.

Try focusing on your inner state or feelings. How do you feel right now about trying to learn about yourself? Excited? Uneasy? Tense? Unsure? Frustrated? Anxious? Happy? Bored? On the edge of discovery?

Try keeping a log or diary of how you feel, why and when, for a few days. What does it tell you about yourself and about how you respond to people and situations? This is part of a growth process for you, opening up knowledge about yourself. You don't need to try to create something that isn't there, but just let yourself have the opportunity for growth and it will come from within.

How to cook a husband

A while back Pat Bannick of Dimondale shared a recipe with me that seems to fit into today's column. The recipe was taken from "Mrs. McClures Cookbook," published in 1823. Good recipes seem to endure time and I'm sure you will agree as you read:

"A good many husbands are spoiled by mismanagement in cooking and so are not tender and good. Some women keep them constantly in hot water. Others let them freeze by their carelessness and indifference. Some keep them in a stew with irritating ways and words. Some wives keep them pickled, while others waste them shamefully. It cannot be supposed that any husband will be tender and good when so managed; they are really delicious when prepared properly.

"In selecting a husband, you should not be guided by the silvery appearance as in buying a mackerel; not by the golden tint as if you wanted salmon. Do not go to the market for him as the best ones are always brought to the door. Be sure to select him for yourself as tastes differ. It is far better to have none unless you will patiently learn to cook him.

"Of course a preserving kettle of the finest porcelain is the best, but if you have nothing better than an earthenware pipken, it will do with care. Like crabs and lobsters, husbands are cooked alive. They sometimes fly out of the kettle and so become crusty

Council introduces program to give people a start in arts

Start Gallery, a program to introduce children of all ages to art and the history of art, has been re-scheduled for Sept. 13, 20, and 27 at the Clinton County Arts Council Gallery in St. Johns. The program will run from 10 to 11:30 a.m. each of the three Saturdays.

Although the program is geared to children aged six and older, all ages are welcomed to attend Start Gallery. Cost is $1.50 per person for each session, or $5 per family for each session. Special discounts will be given to council members as well as those who pre-register.

Class size is limited to ten persons, so early registration is suggested. The September sessions will study Ancient World Art. This will include: Egyptian and primitive art such as pyramids, Stonehedge, cave paintings, masks and hieroglyphics; Aboriginal, including African and Australian native arts, bark painting; and Early Christian and Byzantine art such as catacombs, mosaics and paintings from major churches and public buildings. Each session will include a hands-on project.

Pasqua Warstler, who has an arts degree from Aquinas College in Grand Rapids, will instruct the classes. For more information or to register, call the Gallery at 224-2429 from 1-5 p.m.

Folk Art Festival scheduled

The Clinton County Arts Council invites all folk artists from Clinton County and the surrounding areas to take part in a Folk Art Festival which they will sponsor on Sept. 13 and 14 at the Gallery in St. Johns.

The outdoor festival will run from 1 to 5 p.m. both days with a variety of exhibits and demonstrations planned, including spinning, looming, weaving, carving, basket weaving, and glass blowing. Of special interest is an on-going demonstration of preparing wooden figures using antique foot-powered machinery, plus an antique machinery display presented by Bill Carter of

Lansing. Basket making from log to actual weaving of splint will be demonstrated by Linda and Tom Sutton of St. Johns, and Andy McClary of Lansing will have a large selection of wooden toys. Entertainment will be provided by Kitty Donahoe of St. Johns, Bill and Pat Trommater of Muir, and others. Additional folk music performers, especially fiddlers and blue-grass groups are welcome to participate in the festival, as well as folk art hand-crafters of all kinds. For more information, contact the Gallery, 224-2429, Tues. through Sun. from 1-5 p.m.

The Findlay Manor request for skilled, basic and home for the aged beds was made in response to the lengthy waiting list for admittance to the nursing home, said a press release from Findlay Manor.

The state estimates a need for 154 home for aged and nursing beds in the county.

The Findlay Manor press release states in part: "We are concerned that the greatest number of Clinton County elderly be provided quality nursing service and rehabilitation in a widely recognized facility. We are also very concerned with those who advocate alternate care methods or a much smaller facility. When proven quality is considered, comparative cost is measured and the needs of the greatest number of loved ones reviewed, it is apparent we must build the entire addition as soon as possible."

Agency to review requests of hospital and nursing home

The Mid-South Health Systems Agency is scheduled to review the requests of Clinton Memorial Hospital and the Clinton Area Care Center for additional nursing home beds.

The public meeting will be held at Ingham County Human Services Building, 5303 S. Cedar, Lansing on Sept. 9 at 4 p.m.

Clinton Area Care Center, the parent company of Findlay Country Manor, has requested 65 beds. Clinton Memorial Hospital has also requested a number of beds. Only one project will be approved in its entirety.

Several other agencies that initially requested nursing home beds in the county have dropped their requests.

The Findlay Manor request for skilled, basic and home for the aged beds was made in response to the lengthy waiting list for admittance to the nursing home, said a press release from Findlay Manor.

The state estimates a need for 154 home for aged and nursing beds in the county.

"It's in the Bag"
 by Bob Beck

Shortly after the discovery of fire, historians say a cave man accidentally dropped a piece of raw tiger meat into the flames. When he tried to retrieve it, he only succeeded in burning his fingers. Instinctively, he licked his fingers. And thus did man have his first taste of cooked meat.

Today, meat buying and meal planning can be a real pleasure, once you are sure you know how to prepare your meat choice.

Beef varies in quality meat. Therefore, to be certain of tender, juicy steaks, you should know about cuts and grades. But regardless of the grade, some cuts of beef are naturally more tender than others. Cuts from the less-used muscles along the back of the animal ... the rib and loin sections ... will always be more tender than those from the active muscles, such as the shoulder (chuck), flank.

You like your meat to be nice and fresh, right? Right! And if it's a bright red in color, you know it's nice and fresh, right? Wrong! The only thing redness indicates is that the meat is getting good air circulation. It does not necessarily mean that the meat is fresh. The fact is that meat is a dark, purplish red when it is first cut. And then it turns to a lighter, brighter red ... because it's getting air, not because it's getting fresher!

Randy Daley awarded degree

Randy Daley from Ovid was awarded an Associate Technical Degree by General Telephone Co.

The Associate Technical Degree program recognizes GTE employees who have actively maintained or improved their skills while working full-time for the company. Credit toward the degree is awarded for prior education, training and work experience. The degree is equivalent to a technical associate degree from an accredited undergraduate educational institution.

Daley, a 14-year veteran of the company, is a central office technician in DeWitt. He is working toward an associate degree in electronics at Lansing Community College, and is one of five Michigan employees to receive the degree this summer.

Daley and his wife reside in Ovid.

He was a graduate of St. Johns High School in 1915. He entered the University of Michigan as a pre-law student and continued there for two years, enrolled in the law school. He served briefly in the armed forces in World War I, and received his LL.B. degree from the Detroit College of Law in 1925.

He was principal of Northport High School and later taught English in Grand Ledge.

After earning his law degree he served ten years as assistant trust officer and trust officer of the Union Trust Company and Union Guardian Trust in Detroit. He was engaged for several years in active practice of law and spent some years prior to his retirement in sales managerial work.

He returned to St. Johns upon his marriage to his second wife, the late Henrietta Vail, and resided there until June of 1986.

He was a founding member of the Clinton County Historical Society, a member of the North American Manx Association, and the Delta Theta Phi National Law Fraternity.

He is survived by one daughter, Ellen Dietrich, of Plymouth; one granddaughter, Carey Dietrich, of Los Angeles; one adopted son, Robert Frederick Teare.

His first wife, Myrtle Goulding Teare, preceded him in death in 1953.

Interment was made at Woodlawn Cemetery in Detroit. A memorial service will be held there in early October.

DeWitt Fire Dept. wants to replace 23-year-old pumper

The DeWitt City Fire Department is looking to replace its 23-year old pumper within a year, but is counting on the outlying areas it serves to help foot the bill. DeWitt township trustees weren't enthusiastic about the idea when information was presented to them at their Aug. 25 regular meeting.

The DeWitt city department provides fire and emergency coverage in 94 square miles, including the city, Olive Township, most of Riley Township, part of Watertown Township, and part of DeWitt Township.

The tanker that will be replaced breaks down often, said Chief Doug Twiss. The most recent breakdown occurred right before the ox roast in August. City Administrative Assistant Kurt Klemens told the DeWitt Township board that the city could no longer provide dependable coverage to the service area unless the truck is replaced.

The portion of DeWitt Township that the city department covers is basically north of I-69 west of U.S. 27, and north of the Looking Glass River east of U.S. 27.

Twiss told the township board he was not looking for an answer right away, that he was just informing the township of the upcoming purchase. He noted that this is the first time such a procedure has been followed; for prior purchases, he said, the truck was obtained by the city and the charge for runs into the outlying areas were proportionately increased.

Twiss said the other townships he had already informed of the plan to buy the new truck gave positive responses.

Presently, the township pays the city $225.36 per run made by the city department. In addition to that, Klemens told township officials their fair share of the new truck — based on the fact that about 25 percent of the department's runs are into the township — would be $9,252 per year for five years.

Objections by the board to the idea of chipping in for the new 10-man crew cab pumper varied, but centered on the fact that the township just passed a three-year millage to pay for two new firetrucks of its own. There was talk of having the township take over and cover the area of DeWitt Township that the city now covers, but Twiss said that would be detrimental to the persons living in that area, because response time would be increased greatly.

"They're not concerned about the lives and property we save," he said.

As of Aug. 12, the city had made 39 runs this year into the township. Twenty-six were emergency medical runs, and 13 were fire runs.

The township has not yet formally rejected or approved the request for funds, but will do so at a future meeting. Twiss said he would like to get the truck ordered by the end of the year so it could be delivered about a year from now.

Director's News Grain storage

Giles Roehl

Lots of farm managers are looking for additional storage for this fall. Proper storage includes a method of aeration to help control grain temperatures. Dr. Roger Brook, M.S.U. crop drying, handling and storage specialist, will be at Smith Hall in St. Johns on Sept. 11 at 7:30 p.m. to discuss alternative grain storage and handling. Dr. Brook will identify the strengths and weaknesses of various alternative crop storage units. Farm operators who store grain may not realize more dried grain goes out of condition because temperatures are not controlled in the grain bins then for any other reason. Operation of the aeration system is more important than the design of the equipment. Moisture migration can occur anytime grain temperatures vary in different areas of the bin. The most critical time is when warm grain is stored through the winter. Reworking existing buildings, silos, or new storage which will provide the best storage for 1986-87? Before making your decision, hear Dr. Brook's information at this Extension Service sponsored meeting. Giles Roehl is the director of the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Poisonous plant researchers often lend help to doctors

By EILEEN GILLESPIE
Clinton Soil Conservation District

Although their main work is livestock poisoning, scientists at the Poisonous Plant Research Laboratory are often called upon to lend their expertise to doctors treating human victims. The Poison Control Center in Salt Lake City, Utah, is one of many U.S. centers whose personnel respond to acute emergencies by phone, referring many cases of plant poisoning to the lab, particularly when a plant must be quickly identified so doctors can treat the victim. Each year in the United States, more than 12,000 children and adults are poisoned by plants. Scientists at the poisonous plant lab caution people that many ornamentals produce berries, nuts, beans or fruits which are attractive to children, but deadly if eaten. Toxic plants such as difenbachia are better omitted as house plants if there are small children in the family. And poisonous garden plants such as foxglove, larkspur, and young rhubarb should be relegated to less accessible parts of the garden. Castorbean, which has attractive, but deadly, seeds, is better not used as an ornamental until children are old enough to understand the dangers of poisonous plants. Oleander, widely used as an ornamental in parks, along fences, and in yards, is one of the most toxic plants known. It contains heart poisons called cardiac glycosides. People have died from eating marshmallows or hot dogs skewered on an oleander branch. And yellow oleander, aptly called the "be-still tree," is the most frequent cause of plant poisoning in Hawaii because of its use as a folk medicine. Those faced with a plant poisoning should be prepared to describe the plant as well as the amount and part eaten. Samples of the plant should be saved. People should be sure to follow a physician's directions for treatment. Don't assume the plant was not poisonous because there are no immediate symptoms. Toxic symptoms may not appear for several hours, and then it may be too late.

Nitrogen dioxide is hazard in silos for four to six weeks

Farmers harvesting corn for silage should be aware of the dangers of nitrogen dioxide, silo gas, according to Howard Doss, agricultural safety specialist at MSU's Cooperative Extension Service.

form yellowish layers above the silage or drop down the silage chute. The stinging silage odor may mask nitrogen dioxide's bleachlike odor, so it may be present even if it cannot be seen or smelled.

one to two weeks after initial recovery from the exposure.

"Silo gas begins to form almost as soon as the silo filling begins," Doss says, "but it is most likely to develop one to three days after the corn is chopped into silage."

"The highest concentration of nitrogen oxides usually occur 48 hours after the silo is filled, but no one should go into a silo without proper protection for four to six weeks after filling," Doss says. Nitrogen dioxide is heavier than air, and may

The effects of inhaling silo gas can become apparent immediately or days afterward, with symptoms including irritation of the upper respiratory tract leading to inflammation of the lungs. Frequently, a relapse with symptoms similar to the flu or pneumonia occurs

Farmers should avoid entering a silo during the first two to three weeks after filling without wearing a self-contained breathing apparatus. Persons who must enter the silo during or just after filling should follow these procedures:

- run the blower at the base of the silo 15 to 30 minutes before entering to let fresh air in above the silage.
- open a silo door above the silage level to allow any silo gas present to "drain" out of the silo as fresh air enters from the blower.
- always use a self-contained breathing apparatus to make a rescue or enter the toxic atmosphere when dealing with silo gas emergencies.

Farm Bureau recommends changes in tax procedures

The Michigan Farm Bureau recommended changes in farmland assessment procedures during a recent Senate tax subcommittee hearing. The Farm Bureau calls for the consideration of a new "rural-residential" classification consisting of non-farm residential property with acreage. "I think that reclassification of all properties, including farmland, is very important and would lead to more accurate land assessments," said Robert Smith, legislative counsel for the Michigan Farm Bureau. "Wrong classification has hurt farmland in many areas. Many people also feel that farmland assessment has not fully followed the current decline in farmland values and ought to be reevaluated. There should also be more uniformity in the procedures and regulations used in property assessment process," Smith said.

Milk production down in July — first since 1985

Dairy herds in Michigan produced 478 million pounds of milk during July, down three percent from a year ago, according to the Federal/State Michigan Agricultural Statistics Service. This was the first time since April 1985 that monthly milk production has fallen below the previous years production levels.

Some producers reported reduced milk per cow during July due to hot weather conditions, especially during the last part of the month.

averaged $37 per cwt., up nearly $2 from a year ago. Replacement milk cows averaged $820 per head on July 1, down $60 from the previous year.

Milk cow numbers averaged 381,000 head, down 14,000 from one year earlier. Milk per cow was 1.255 pounds, up only five pounds from July 1985.

The value of milk sold in Michigan averaged $11.90 per hundredweight (cwt.) during July, down 20 cents from the previous year. This price reflects the total value of milk at the dairy plant or receiving station before deductions are made for handling charges, promotion funds, and special assessments. July slaughter cow prices

Dairy manufacturing plants in Michigan produced 3.1 million pounds of butter during June, down 13 percent from a year ago. American cheese production, 2.4 million pounds, was up 32 percent. Ice cream production, 3.9 million gallons, was up 11 percent. Michigan placed seventh nationally in ice cream output.

DNR announces changes in hunting regulations

Major changes in the 1986 hunting season, such as the availability of a second archery and/or firearm deer license, an early Sept. 3-8 goose season, and use of handguns in the southern lower peninsula, should be noted by hunters, according to the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

southern half of the lower peninsula during the general firearm deer hunting season (Nov. 15-30). Legal handguns, regulations, and hunter safety requirements are outlined in the hunting guide.

An early season on hunting Canada geese has been approved for Sept. 3-8 in certain parts of the Lower Peninsula. Check with the nearest DNR office for details.

The changes are highlighted by the 1986-87 Michigan Hunting and Trapping Guide, which can be obtained from all DNR Regional, District, and Field Offices and the DNR Information Services Center, Box 30028, Lansing, MI 48909/517-373-1220, as well as all license dealers. A list of the major changes follows:

Camp deer licenses are not available this year. Specific areas of Huron, Tuscola, Sanilac, Ottawa, and Ingham Counties will be closed to pheasant hunting (see guide for specific boundaries). These are the areas where the Sichuan-Ringneck Hybrid pheasants were released or, as in Ingham County, are being reared.

All waterfowl hunters, 16 years and older are now required to possess state and federal waterfowl hunting stamps.

The second archery deer license authorizes the licensed hunter to take a deer with antlers extending not less than three inches above the skull. This second archery deer hunting license is valid only in the lower peninsula.

A fur harvester's license is now required to hunt or trap furbearing animals. Nonresidents may hunt and trap furbearing animals in Michigan this year except for residents of Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Bear hunting will now be permitted (under a bear hunting license) during the firearm deer hunting season in the Upper Peninsula. Dogs are not permitted during the Nov. 15-30 season. A bear hunting license must be purchased by Nov. 14.

The second firearm deer license may be purchased after the application deadline for hunter's choice deer licenses on Sept. 24. This second license, which is valid statewide, authorizes the hunter to take a deer with antlers extending not less than three inches above the skull.

Dates for establishing a bear baiting station are Aug. 27-Oct. 31 in the U.P.; Sept. 5-Oct. 9 in the Lower Peninsula.

A valid kill tag in the hunter's own name must now be in the possession of the hunter during the firearm deer season when afield with a centerfire rifle, shotgun with buckshot, slug, ball or cut load, a muzzleloading rifle, or bow and arrow. A person may not hunt with handguns in the

GROVE CHRISTIAN SCHOOL — The soccer team at Grove Christian is off to a good start, winning their first tournament of the young season recently. Coached by Bryon Prange, the team defeated Laingsburg Christian 5-1 and Holt-St. Matthew 6-5 to win the tournament.

The win over St. Matthews came in a tie-breaker shoot-out when the score was knotted at 3-3 at the end of regulation play.

The regular season began for Grove last Friday when they faced Midland Christian on their home field. Returning for Grove this year are two stand-out seniors, Joe Gazda and John Hawks. Both bring strong leadership to the squad.

Merger of five separate groups

New booster club aims for involvement in all SJ sports

By RHONDA WESTFALL
Sports Editor

There's a new group in town. It is the St. Johns Athletic Booster Club whose aim is to do just what the name implies — boost athletics in St. Johns.

The new group incorporates five previously separate booster organizations at St. Johns into one unit with the hope that more parents will be able to be involved directly in the groups plans.

"We are not here just to plan fundraisers," Booster Club President Chuck Heyer said. "We hope to be a support group for St. Johns Public Schools which will help to bring a family atmosphere back into athletics."

The new booster club eliminates the old football, basketball, swimming, wrestling, and gymnastic organizations which had functioned separately for their specific team sports.

"All coaches of the 13 sports which St. Johns Public Schools offers were in favor of the new booster group," Heyer said.

A general membership meeting is scheduled for Sept. 8 in the St. Johns High School cafeteria beginning at 7 p.m. to help familiarize parents with the booster club's objectives. Heyer stressed the idea that all parents who have a boy or girl involved in any of St. Johns' athletic programs are automatically members of the Boosters Club.

"In the past, people often felt left out if they weren't asked directly to join one of the booster groups," Heyer said. "We want to try to show people that if they want to help we will use them. We also want to show people in the community that there is more to athletics than just football."

According to Heyer, the Booster Club will help out with organizing banquets for the various team sports, take tickets, sell programs, serve as scorekeepers and concession stand workers, sell programs — in effect be totally active and involved in a wide range of support services.

"We want to be active participants. We want to help support the school and all athletic functions," Heyer said.

Plans are also in the works for a major fundraising activity which the Booster Club is organizing. Details of the activity and a kick-off date are among the items which will be outlined at the Sept. 8 membership meeting.

Heyer noted that persons who were interested in helping support the new group, but could not attend the meeting, should call one of the officers for information. These include: Heyer, 224-3281; Darrell Martin, 224-7562; Jack Giesecke, 224-8111; John Keenoy, 224-8180; and Eileen Strickland, 224-4743. The groups' officers are composed of chairpersons from each of the five old booster clubs.

"There is no membership fee of any kind," Heyer said. "We will be sending out information and asking for help from all the parents who have children involved in St. Johns athletics. We are hoping for a good turn-out for the Sept. 8 meeting."

Coach Meyers stays "in the swim"

By RHONDA WESTFALL
Sports Editor

Fred Meyers of St. Johns knows what it means to be a director of a volunteer program.

Time. Lots of time. "Fred has given hours, and hours, and hours of his time to the Sea Lions program," said one parent of the Sea Lions group. "He is always there."

Now, the co-founder of the age group swim program in St. Johns, has put on somewhat of a new hat. He still will act as coach and assist at Sea Lions meets from September through March, but he is also the new swim coach for the St. Johns High School girls swim team.

"I'm enjoying it," Coach Meyers said of his new-found occupation.

In all probability, when Meyers and Gene Goin began the Sea Lions back in 1972 they had no idea it would be as successful and long-standing of a program as it has been.

"We have consistently had 100 plus kids involved in Sea Lions each year; it's still a good program," Meyers said. "It acts as a feeder program for both the boys and girls high school teams and helps them develop their swimming skills."

THE FACT THAT Sea Lions has been beneficial to the high school swim teams is evidenced by the number of swimmers to day and in past years who have gone from the age group program to become Redwings.

All but three of Meyers swimmers on the girls team this fall have been a part of the Sea Lions group, and a number of former Redwings and Sea Lions have gone on to swim at the college level. These include Kurt and Brian Goin who swam at MSU, Monica Hayes swimming at Northern Michigan, and Steve Welsh now at Ferris State College.

There is an underlying reason for Coach Meyers' beginning involvement in Sea Lions — he happened to have eight daughters who were above average swimmers.

"Jane was on the first swim team at St. Johns High School," Meyers said. "I think it must have been in 1972, and Kelly was an All-State diver for three years."

A past employee of Federal Mogul for 38 years, Meyers admits he "wouldn't know how many hours I've spent over the years with the swim program." He also noted there is much more than "deck time" as far as Sea Lions goes. Time is spent in practices, organization, and preparation for the meets.

MEYERS STRESSED the fact the much of the credit for the success of Sea Lions goes to the active parental support of the group. Parents serve as volunteer coaches, timers, scorekeepers, and help man the concession stand for the Sea Lions home meets.

"Our program is well above average for our size town," Coach Meyers said. "Year after year we are the third largest team in the league."

When Meyers isn't at poolside, he may be found at The Treasure Chest in downtown St. Johns. He and his wife, Mary, took over the business four years ago. The "St. Johns native since 1952", his daughters and grandchildren, all enjoy the atmosphere of the family-owned operation.

Redwing tankers have new coach

The Redwing girls swim team has had several new experiences already in 1986 — and the season has not even begun.

The swimmers have held all their practices outdoors in the St. Johns City Park pool, with Fred Meyers serving as their new coach for the season.

The use of the outdoor pool is due to repair work being done at the high school facility, and the new coach comes to the team as a result of Coach Jim Makaruskas' decision to step down from his girls coaching duties for the 1986 season.

"I'm enjoying it," Coach Fred Meyers said of his coaching job.

"All of the girls swimming on the team this year except three started out in Sea Lions," Coach Meyers said. "I think I know them and know what they can do."

A number of Redwings will return to the 1986 team, hoping to help better the 1985 team's fourth place conference finish. Among the returning swimmers are:

Seniors Jane Cooper, Heidi and Heather Scranton, Lisa Sabo, Mindi Wells, and Linda Strickland; juniors Jennifer Baatz, Carla DuDash, Angie Tressell, and Shawn Burk; and sophomores Kim and Rachel Bauer, Erin Masarik, Kara Scranton, and Chris Welsh.

Sabo and Cooper are strong freestylers, with Dudash and Kim Bauer posting good times in the butterfly and individual medley. Masarik will help the team in freestyle, Keri Scranton is strong in the back and breaststroke, and Welsh looks good in the backstroke and freestyle.

A definite boost to the team's scoring should come from the return of Mindi Wells in diving. She qualified for the state meet last year and will be a plus for the Redwings in league competition in 1986.

Coach Meyers looks for DeWitt, Alma, and Okemos to be strong in the conference this season. He hopes his team can do as well as their 8-4 dual meet record of last year, and possibly improve on it.

"Not having been able to have used the high school pool for the first two weeks of practice will certainly have some effect on our first few meets of the season," Meyer said. "The divers especially will be at a definite disadvantage. We are hopeful that we can get some practice time in at the high school pool before the start of the season."

1986-87 ST. JOHNS BOYS CROSS COUNTRY — The Redwing boys harriers are coached by Bob Spencer.

Second row: Jason Lounds, Tim Boak, Eric Gramlich, John Kuenzli, Steve Hoffman.

St. Johns cross country boasts young, but strong roster in 1986

Young and strong. Those are the key words for St. Johns cross country teams in 1986.

Although both boys and girls teams have a number of freshmen and first-time runners, all are strong athletes.

"We have a lot of good potential on the teams," said Coach Bob Spencer. "By next year we could be outstanding."

The girls have a number of returning letterwinners back from the 1985 squad who finished second in the Mid-Michigan B league.

Returning are seniors Sandra Terrell, "our top runner last year," according to Coach Spencer; LuAnn Hurst, who is in her third year in cross country; and Kim Korienek, a second year harrier.

Also returning is Colleen Bunn, a junior in her third year in cross country, and sophomore Lori Montry, a second year runner.

Seven freshmen and two sophomores, Jill DeBrabander and Jenny Woodhams, complete the roster for the Redwing girls team.

"Alma finished first in the league last year," the coach said, "and they look to go strong again this year. They have almost everybody back from the 1985 team. The MMB is a tough conference for girls cross country."

The 16-man boys team has a number of returning harriers from the 1985 roster.

Top runner last year, Greg St. John, is a junior in his third year on the cross country team. Another junior, Jim DeBrabander, returns for his third year, and seniors Cory Henningson and Eric Bolyard add depth to the harrier line-up.

"Bolyard could be a big help to us if he stays healthy," Coach Spencer said. "He had an outstanding year as a freshman."

The senior has since been plagued by back problems and could not compete last season.

Other returning runners include: Tim Boak, second-year senior; Scott Terrell, sophomore in his second year; Randy Renell, also a second-year sophomore; and Joe Peters, sophomore in his second year.

One freshman to watch out for according to Coach Spencer will be Darren May.

"He has the potential to develop into a very good runner before he is out of high school," the coach said.

Other freshman include Jason Lounds, Kevin Lade, and Mike Kurncz. The harriers roster is rounded out with first year runners, senior Eric Gramlich, sophomore Steve Hoffman, and juniors John Kuenzli and Kurt Stump.

Coach Spencer is hoping that his boys team can regain the prowess they held in the MMB seven years ago when they began a five year streak of first place finishes in the conference.

"We're young, but considerably better than last year," Spencer said. "It's hard to tell at this point how we will do in the league — we could be in there looking for a championship."

The Redwings run their home meets at Twin Oaks Golf Course north of St. Johns which is a "good course to run on and for spectators to watch from," according to the coach.

St. Johns opens their season on Sept. 10 with a meet at Ionia. Their first home contest is slated for Sept. 18 when they face Mason. Home meets begin at 5 p.m.

With five lettermen lost to graduation, it will be tough for the St. Johns girls tennis team to repeat their undefeated season of 1985.

And to capture a seventh straight Mid-Michigan B league title. But, Coach Melanie Humphrey does not consider it to be an impossibility by any means.

"We have six returning letter winners, and some strong freshmen on the Varsity team," Coach Humphrey says. "They just lack experience."

Returning lettermen include Lisa Ebert, a junior who will start at number one singles, and sophomore Sarah Humphrey playing number three singles.

Senior Janice Rademacher will captain the 1986 squad, and along with another senior, Laura Tetens, will play number one doubles for the Redwings. The remaining returnees from the champion 1985 team are Jennifer Pearsall, a sophomore, and junior Karin Tetens, who will team up in the number two doubles spot.

According to Coach Humphrey, number three doubles will rotate with Heather Foote, a freshman; Kristin Tennant, junior; Kelly Daley, junior; Stephanie Keys, junior; Missy Henning, a sophomore; and Lisa Garapetian, junior.

"These girls are all strong players," Humphrey says.

Freshmen on the Redwing team this year are Emily Humphrey, playing number two singles, Wendy Moore at number four singles, and Foote in the doubles rotation.

"All three of the freshmen are very strong players," the coach says, "they just lack experience."

St. Johns placed fourth in the state in regional competition last year, and Coach Humphrey is hopeful that her team can compete well at the regional level again in 1986.

"We have a good team of girls," says Humphrey, "they practice hard and will definitely improve as the season progresses."

The Redwings open their season tonight (Sept. 3) with a home match versus DeWitt at 4 p.m.

Fowler cross country coach Kim Spalsbury has a couple of definite goals in mind as far as his boys and girls teams are concerned.
 First and foremost is to "stay healthy."
 Second is to "finish better in the county meet."
 "The kids will know what that statement means," said the coach who begins his seventh season as harrier coach for Fowler.
 Staying injury-free will play a big part in how well the two squads do. Both return some fine distance runners, but each are somewhat lacking in depth.
 Returning for the boys is senior Steve Bierstetel, top runner for the Eagles last year and a member of the cross country team for four seasons. He will be aided by junior Troy Irrer who finished eighth in the state meet last year, and senior Darren Feldpausch who finished fourteenth.

 "These three will form a good nucleus for our team," Coach Spalsbury said.
 Some of the Eagles' fortunes as a team will rest with the health of James Thelen. He lettered as a freshman, but an injury in mid-September kept him from running last year.
 "We are bringing him along slowly," Spalsbury said.

Another possible help for the Eagles will be the addition of past trackster, senior Mike Pohl, to the cross country team. He has "adapted quite well" to the style of cross country according to his coach.
 "If we can stay healthy we expect to be back in the top five in the state," Spalsbury said. "We need to be mentally tough also. It takes a different mental attitude for a person to run cross country. He needs to be persistent, able to endure for 15 minutes of straight running, and gutsy. It takes something to run in a downpour, snow, or mud."
 Coach Spalsbury has four seniors back on the girls squad, and as with the boys, "health is everything," according to the coach.

 Returning are Stacie Rowell, who finished seventh in the state meet last year, Shari Schneider, Lori Thelen who is only one of two or three Eagle girls to earn letters each year in cross country, and Mary Feldpausch who also suffered an injury last season.
 Big contributions are also expected from juniors Teresa Miller, Sheri Rademacher, and Rebecca Feldpausch, and from sophomore Mindi Koenigsnecht. All have improved "tremendously" says Coach Spalsbury.

Financial focus

Dow Jones average

By Chuck Dicken

The Dow Jones Industrial Average (DJIA) is one of the most popular indicators of the overall performance of the stock market. The Dow, as it's often called, is an average of prices of 30 stocks on the New York Stock Exchange.

The stocks which make up the Dow are determined by the editors of the Wall Street Journal. The average is calculated using a divisor which is adjusted regularly to compensate for stock splits and dividends. By adjusting the divisor, the index remains comparable from one day to the next. If this sounds confusing, it is. To the average investor, however, resulting numbers are more important than how they're calculated.

The DJIA was formulated by Charles Dow as a barometer to reflect the general trend of the market. Dow was co-founder of Dow Jones and Co. and first editor of the Wall Street Journal. His averages initially appeared on May 26, 1896 in the Customers Afternoon Letter. The first Dow was composed of 12 companies whose stock traded on the NYSE. By size and number of shares outstanding, their performance represented a broad enough base to reflect a meaningful trend as to the direction of the market as a whole.

Through the years, the Dow has frequently been criticized for including only select, blue-chip stocks. The argument is these stocks don't necessarily reflect what's happening in the entire market. Analysts disagree and say the Dow is a proven long-range barometer for market forecasting.

In any event, as our economy changes and the fortunes of major corporations adjust to that change, it becomes necessary to replace some of the older Dow companies with new companies more representative of the nations and the markets direction. These companies are selected on the basis of financial soundness and a proven track record. Also, they must have a large number of shares in the hands of individual investors rather than in large institutions.

Recently the Dow underwent one of its infrequent changes. Phillip Morris Companies was added to the popular 30 industrials, and American Brands, Inc. was deleted. American Brands first appeared on the Dow under the name American Tobacco. It had remained there for the past 89 years.

In another change, McDonalds bumped General Foods. I suppose it's just a sign of the times, and the purpose of the DJIA is to reflect those economic times.

What about the future? Are there any more changes in sight? The editors of the Journal say they won't change the list any time soon. We'll see. After all, the managing editor decides on changes without the counsel of either the New York Stock Exchange or the companies involved.

Chuck Dicken is a representative of Edward D. Jones and Co. His office is located at 208 S. Oakland St., St. Johns. 224-9515.

The Advantage Of Picnic picnic

Blue skies and warm breezes are perfect encouragements to gather family and friends together in outdoor activities. Plan a picnic along with some physical activity, and you'll create a winning combination of diet and exercise that will appeal to everyone.

Long bike rides in the neighborhood or nature hikes in the park offer both a change of scenery and good exercise. In addition to increasing blood circulation and strengthening muscles, bike riding and brisk walks burn several hundreds of calories. An hour-long walk at a good pace for 2.5 miles burns about 200 calories, while an hour-long bike ride for 5.5 miles burns 210 calories!

Activity and warm weather build appetites for cool, refreshing meals. Pack a picnic lunch for a light meal on the grass to refuel after your summer fun.

Fresh seasonal fruits and vegetables are at their best in taste, color and availability, and in price. Combine freshly picked California grapes with oranges and apples to provide a simple yet satisfying fruit salad rich both in color and natural vitamins. Fruit salad is also easy to prepare and helps to avoid hours in a hot kitchen. Just pack individual portions in Ziploc® brand sandwich bags and you're ready to go!

For a change, try nutritious and delicately flavorful Alaska canned salmon in a hearty sandwich with curly lettuce trimmings. Just pop your light meal in a sandwich bag and enjoy your activities knowing the freshness is safely sealed in your zipper-top bags.

Additional fresh fruit such as bunches of red, green or blue/black grapes or simple but elegant grape tarts (not shown) are good choices for an upbeat dessert.

Suggestions For Brown Bag Diners

Here are some tips for toting portable meals:

■ Bacteria thrives in the range of 40 to 125° F. A perishable bag meal shouldn't be in this temperature zone without refrigeration for more than two or three hours, including preparation time.

■ Keep foods cold by packing them into bags, baskets or boxes along with a chilled can of juice, frozen sandwiches or cookies. Frozen items will thaw in time for lunch. Or, seal ice cubes in a zipper-top bag; pack along with your meal.

■ For variety, use salad dressing such as Thousand Island or Creamy Garlic to make excellent spreads for sandwiches. Or, use canned seafood such as salmon that can be used straight from the can.

■ Spread butter, margarine or mayonnaise right up to the edges on both slices of bread to prevent sandwich fillings from seeping through and jellies and jams from "weeping."

Totable Salmon Rye Sandwiches

- 1 can (15-1/2 ounces) or 2 cans (7-1/2 or 7-3/4 ounces each) Alaska salmon, drained and flaked
- 1/4 cup radishes, cut into small matchstick pieces
- 3 tablespoons minced green onions
- 2 tablespoons chopped dill pickle
- 2 tablespoons each mayonnaise and Dijon mustard
- 1 teaspoon dill pickle juice
- 1/8 teaspoon cracked black pepper
- 8 slices thick slice rye bread, buttered
- Leafy lettuce or alfalfa sprouts

Combine salmon, radishes, green onions, pickle, mayonnaise, mustard, pickle juice and pepper; mix well. Spread mixture on 4 slices rye bread; top with lettuce and/or sprouts. Place remaining bread on top. Cut each sandwich in half and pack in Ziploc® sandwich bags. Makes 4 sandwiches.

Creamy Grape & Yogurt Salad

- 1/2 cup vanilla-flavored yogurt
- 2-3 teaspoons minced candied ginger
- 2 cups red and green grapes, seeded if necessary
- 1 can (11 ounces) Mandarin oranges, drained
- 1 pear*, pared, cored and sliced

Combine yogurt and ginger; let stand 30 minutes. Combine all fruits; gently stir in yogurt mixture. Pack individual portions in Ziploc® sandwich bags. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

*One can (16 ounces) pears, drained and cut into chunks can be substituted.

Salmon Rice Salad

- 1 can (7-1/2 or 7-3/4 ounces) Alaska salmon
- 1/3 cup uncooked rice
- 1-1/2 teaspoons curry powder
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- Water
- 3 tablespoons sliced olives
- 2 tablespoons each minced green onions and parsley
- 1/4 cup dairy sour cream or plain yogurt
- 1 tablespoon mayonnaise
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- Salt to taste
- 1 each green and red pepper, seeded and quartered vertically
- 1 cucumber, quartered vertically, seeded and pared if desired and cut into 3-inch lengths
- Lettuce leaves

Drain salmon reserving liquid; flake. Sauté rice and curry powder in hot oil about 2 minutes or until rice turns opaque. Add water to reserved salmon liquid to equal 1 cup. Add to rice; bring mixture to boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer about 20 minutes or until all liquid is absorbed. Remove mixture to large bowl. Add salmon, olives, green onions, parsley and sour cream, mayonnaise, lemon juice and lemon peel; mix well. Salt to taste. Refrigerate at least 1 hour. Serve with peppers and cucumber to scoop salad or wrap salad in lettuce. Makes 4 servings.

Quick Grape Tarts

- Pastry*
- 4-1/2 teaspoons sugar
- 1-1/2 teaspoons flour
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 3/4 to 1 pound red grapes, seeded if necessary
- 2 to 3 teaspoons butter or margarine
- 2 to 3 tablespoons chopped pistachios or almonds

Press 2 to 3 teaspoons pastry into each of 12 (2-1/2-inches) tart pans. Combine sugar, flour and cinnamon; spoon about 1/2 teaspoon of mixture into each tart pan. Fill each with 3 to 6 grapes and top with about 1/8 teaspoon butter and about 1/2 teaspoon pistachios. Place tarts on cookie tray for ease of handling and bake at 375° F. about 20 minutes or until filling bubbles and pastry is golden. Makes 12 tarts.

Pastry: Combine 1 cup flour, 1/3 cup butter or margarine and 2 tablespoons sugar; gently rub between fingers until mixture holds together. Makes pastry for 12 (2-1/2-inches) tart pans.

Serving Tip: Tarts can be packed in Ziploc® sandwich bags for totable desserts.

*Packaged pastry for single crust pie can be substituted.

■ Pack separate Ziploc® brand sandwich bags of garnishes such as lettuce, tomato and green pepper slices, and celery sticks. Salad greens stay especially crisp if first wrapped in a damp paper towel.

■ Save money by purchasing large containers of chips, cookies and other snack items. Portion-pack them in sandwich bags and seal tightly to preserve freshness.

■ Pack fragile items such as fruit, potato chips or cookies into recloseable bags, with a cushion of air before sealing bag.

SUMMERTIME

AND THE LIVING IS EASY

It's the weekend! Picture yourself swaying in a hammock, relaxing in the afternoon sun. "What's for dinner?" someone asks. "I'm starving!" Not to worry—the whole menu's under control.

The cucumber and barley salad is marinating. All that's left to do with the bean casserole is heat it up. The pork chops are ready to be stuffed and grilled. And the sauce is made, too. The shortcake just needs to be assembled.

Each recipe has enough make-ahead options to make time in the kitchen seem like nothing. And, then there is just enough outdoor cooking to keep both you and the house cool.

As your family moves outside this summer, remember this perfect patio menu. Just follow the easy step-by-step instructions for a livin' easy meal that fits your life in the summertime.

STUFFED BBQ PORK CHOPS

- One pan Garden Corn Bread*, cooled, crumbled
- One 13-3/4-oz. can single strength chicken broth
- 1 egg

6 SERVINGS

MEDICAL BRIEFS

More than 90% of American women are aware of breast self-examination but only 40% practice it monthly, according to an editorial in the Canadian Medical Association Journal. Its author suggests that greater emphasis be placed on physician skills, with doctors becoming as assiduous about breast examinations as they are about pap smears.

Many patients with mild high blood pressure show a significant reduction in their blood pressure with reduced sodium intake. Even healthy people with no family history of the disease should watch their daily sodium intake, a report in the Journal of the American Medical Association states.

Drug store products may contain unexpected "hidden salt" and contribute to the daily sodium intake total. Check labels. Riopan, for example, is an effective antacid in liquid and tablet form classified by the FDA as virtually sodium-free and the label indicates this clearly. Other common remedies to check out are cold and headache remedies and laxatives.

Although the cause of Alzheimer's disease remains a mystery, an article in Health Spectrum offers several theories: that the disease may be due to viral infection, a defect in the immune system, aluminum toxicity, or a genetic component. Failure of memory, attention and judgement are among the first symptoms.

BIG 10

WORLD RECORD ALFALFA

BIG 10 alfalfa is the first variety to set an impressive 10-ton per acre world record for non-irrigated alfalfa.

BIG 10 was developed by one of the world's largest alfalfa seed companies and tested and confirmed by Dr. M.B. Tesar and his Michigan State University staff.

"... this is the highest documented two-year and three-year average research yield for non-irrigated alfalfa in the U.S. and in the world," notes Dr. Tesar.

BIG 10 doesn't stop with high-yield, however. It provides resistance to all the major alfalfa pests including bacterial wilt, anthracnose, phytophthora, and fusarium. It also incorporates very good seedling vigor and moderate winter hardiness, providing top tonnage for 3 to 5 years.

BIG 10 alfalfa gives you the best return for your investment today and is available exclusively at your nearest GREAT LAKES HYBRIDS dealer.

Making Food Dollars Count

Are you planning meals to make food dollars count? A low cost food budget can go a long way if you know how to plan.

For nutrition, be sure to include foods from the basic four groups daily: vegetables and fruits; breads and cereals; milk and milk products; and meat, poultry, fish and dry beans.

For economy, select inexpensive foods from each group.

You can use small servings of the less expensive types of meat, poultry and fish and use substitutes, such as dry beans, peanut butter and eggs, some of the time. Count on potatoes, rice, macaroni products and breads to fill out meals.
