Rainbow

PERRINTON All the help and cooperation from residents and from surrounding communities during the recent crisis at Rainbow Lake is appreciated, said the Rainbow Lake Maintenance Corporation last week.

The organization, after holding an emergency meeting to address the problems concerning the disaster, announced that the situation is being evaluated, the proper agencies are being contacted, and that every effort will be made to check the feasibility, funding and state approval for replacing Rainbow Lake.

Findlay

ST. JOHNS The Findlay Manor Volunteers will host a Meijer luncheon on Oct. 2, at noon, at the First Congregational Church in St. Johns.

All guests will be eligible to win a variety of door prizes provided by Meijers Thrifty Acres.

Proceeds from the luncheon will go toward the purchase of new wheelchairs for the residents of Hazel I. Findlay Country Manor.

Tickets are $3 each and must be purchased by Sept. 25. For ticket information contact Jean Ormsby, 224-8289; Judy Price, 224-3085; or the Manor office, 224-8936.

Wonderland

ST. JOHNS "A Winter Wonderland" is the theme chosen by the St. Johns Student Council for this year's homecoming festivities in St. Johns, on Oct. 3 and 4.

Homecoming begins with the annual parade at 5 p.m. on Oct. 3, followed by the football game against Chesaning at 7 p.m. The dance will take place on Oct. 4 in the high school gym.

The parade begins at Lincoln Street, proceeding south on Clinton Ave., left on State Street, and right on Linden. Persons interested in participating in the parade should contact Julie Friend, parade committee chairperson, at the high school by calling Gary Larsen at 224-9341.

No tobacco

ST. JOHNS Parr's Pharmacy, 201 N. Clinton Ave., has discontinued the sale of all tobacco products.

"There's too much evidence that cigarettes cause health problems," says owner Ray Parr.

Parr said the pharmacy has for some time questioned the ethics of a business in the health industry selling tobacco. He said the sale of tobacco products was not promoted when the store did carry them and that the Maple Rapids branch did not sell them at all.

"We decided to take the bull by the horns and eliminate them here," said Parr.

The store has received several telephone calls from people who congratulated the owners for the decision.

10K Walk

OVID The third annual Ovid Community 10K Crop Walk to benefit world hunger is planned for Sept. 28 at 2 p.m. Walkers and/or pledges are needed. The event is sponsored by the United Church of Ovid and the Holy Family Catholic Church.

During the first year of the walk, 78 walkers raised $2,600. Last year 110 walkers raised $3,535. The group hopes to top that amount in 1986. The churches have challenged each other and church members have challenged each other.

Both churches launched balloons after services last Sunday to let the community know they are serious about being part of the answer to world hunger.

All members of the community are invited to walk and pledge what they can. For more information call 834-5958 or 834-2138.

St. Johns responds to AIDS case

By RICH WERTZ
Editor

St. Johns public schools officials said last week they will respond to a case of AIDS in the school district with sensitivity to both the family of the victim and the community.

"Let me say we are working with this situation with a sense of the total community, the parents and the students," said Board of Education President Gary Whitford. "It is our responsibility to assure every student the right to an education while protecting our students from exposure of undue risk. We need to have an overriding concern and sensitivity to (giving) support to the family of this student."

Public health and school officials announced on Friday that a student in the district was a few days earlier diagnosed as having the fatal disease.

The announcement brought to the forefront a communicable disease control policy that school officials began formulating only a few weeks ago. That policy was to be considered at the St. Johns Board of Education meeting on Monday.

SCHOOL officials also said an informational meeting for the public will be held this week. Details were not available at press time but readers who desire to know the time and location of the meeting may call

'I would rather sit next to a person with AIDS than a person smoking cigarettes. I would consider that the greater risk.'

— Joseph Latoff, health dept. director the school district at 224-9341.

School and public health officials, at the request of the ill child's family and under the authority of federal privacy laws, withheld the child's name, age, sex, address and school.

The only specifics of the case made available to the public were that the child was diagnosed as having AIDS a few days earlier while in a hospital for treatment of another illness, and that the child is no longer in the hospital and has not attended school this year.

AIDS is a viral disease that results in the collapse of the body's immune system. This leaves the victim susceptible to a wide variety of infections and some forms of cancer. AIDS itself is considered fatal but not everybody who is exposed to the AIDS virus develops the disease.

SINCE THE disease appeared in 1981 there have been about 25,000 cases in the United States. The number of AIDS victims has nearly doubled each year. About 15,000 victims have died.

The virus is transmitted through sexual contact, through needles shared by users of illicit drugs, and, less commonly, through blood or its components.

All blood donated in the United States since 1985 has been screened for the AIDS virus. However, the incubation period for AIDS ranges up to seven years, meaning cases of AIDS contracted through blood transfusions before the screening began can be expected to appear for the next several years.

Medical professionals say the disease is not transmitted through casual contact. The U.S. Public Health Service reports that there have been no known cases in which AIDS has been transmitted by casual household contact. Ambulance drivers, police and firefighters who assisted AIDS patients have not become ill, the health service reports.

"I WOULD rather sit next to a person who has AIDS than next to a person smoking cigarettes," said Joseph Latoff, director of the Mid-Michigan District Health Department. "I would consider that the greater risk to my health."

Latoff also said public health officials are working closely with school officials. Both Latoff and school Superintendent Earl Gabriel said the district is fortunate to have the counsel of Dr. Richard Tooker, the medical director of the Mid-Michigan District Health Department. Tooker is an expert on AIDS and has treated patients who have the disease, said Latoff.

Tooker met with school officials and board members last week to provide them with information about AIDS.

In addition to being the first case of AIDS in a Michigan school child, the St. Johns case is the first in Clinton County. A county woman, infected with the virus through a blood transfusion before screening of donated blood began, has not developed AIDS, according to an article in the Lansing State Journal Sept. 15.

ST. JOHNS, like most other school districts, is expected to adopt a communicable disease policy modeled on state and federal guidelines. A proposed policy written by school administrators calls for the creation of a panel of educators, medical professionals and parents to review communicable disease cases on an individual basis.

Policies often stipulate that school superintendents have the final authority to decide whether students will be allowed to attend classes. However, Gabriel said he expected to recommend that the St. Johns Board of Education have the final authority.

Michigan newspaper and television news teams appeared in St. Johns last week to report the AIDS case. Much of the coverage focused on community reaction to the AIDS case. In Indiana last year a group of residents unsuccessfully attempted to have an AIDS victim banned from attending school.

Swegles School Parent Teacher Organization President Jan Schwartz said she believes education about AIDS will help alleviate fears about the disease.

"I'd say people's first response will be they'll be afraid," said Schwartz, who is a nurse. "As a parent you get your feathers riled up at first. I don't think that's justified but I understand where those feelings come from."

A hostess at the Wheel Inn on US-27 in St. Johns said she had heard only a few comments about the AIDS case from patrons of the restaurant. Those comments, she said, had indicated only concern about the case. At her church that morning the congregation had prayed for the AIDS victim and family, the hostess said.

With conditions

Rivendell gets recommendation

By RICH WERTZ
Editor

Rivendell of Michigan, the company that wants to build in St. Johns a 64-bed psychiatric facility for youths, was on Sept. 10 given conditional approval of the project by a regional health systems board.

Rivendell has an option contract with Clinton County to purchase a parcel of land near the corner of Townsend Road and Lansing Street on the southern edge of St. Johns.

The board of the Michigan Mid-South Health Systems Agency (MMSHA) voted 9-7 to recommend approval of the project to the state Department of Public Health. That department has the final authority to approve or deny a Certificate of Need for the project.

One day earlier, a MMSHA project review committee had asked Rivendell to withdraw its application until it could show either letters of agreement (to use the facility) from local mental health boards or support from the Michigan Department of Mental Health. Rivendell had agreed to the temporary withdrawal.

The next day, however, Rivendell appeared before the MMSHA board to ask for action on its application.

"They had withdrawn their withdrawal," said Bud Burgess, the chairman of the project review committee and a MMSHA board member.

Burgess said Rivendell President

Robert Wood charged at the Sept. 10 meeting that his company had been given inaccurate information by Burgess and MMSHA staffers. The charge stemmed from the question of whether the company is required to produce formal letters of agreement from local mental health boards or whether informal letters of support are sufficient.

At the earlier meeting, Wood produced a number of letters of support for the project from Michigan health care providers. Committee members and MMSHA staff said they wanted formal letters of agreement.

But Wood told the MMSHA board that a staff person at the Michigan Department of Mental Health had said formal letters of agreement were not necessary, said Burgess. Burgess said he had been unable to confirm or disprove that contention.

In any case, Burgess said, officials with the health department agreed that formal letters of agreement are necessary.

"They were concerned about this setting a precedent for other health facilities," said Burgess.

The MMSHA board voted to recommend approval of the project subject to the condition that Rivendell more precisely define its service area. The condition requires Rivendell to either produce letters of agreement with local mental health boards (if the service area is defined as a six-county area) or "work with" the state mental health department

(if the service area is defined as the entire state).

Those conditions were essentially the same as the reasons cited the preceding day by the project review committee for asking Rivendell to temporarily withdraw its application.

Burgess, who voted against approval of the Rivendell application, said he did not know why the majority of the MMSHA board members opted not to follow the lead of the project review committee.

"I don't know what happened to persuade people to vote necessarily in favor..." he said. "Often what happens...many folks will say 'Well, why not?'"

Wood described Rivendell's approach to treatment of disturbed youths as progressive and highly effective. Carlos Caguait, an ex-officio member of the MMSHA project review committee, agreed that Rivendell has an "outstanding program."

St. Johns City Manager Randy Humphrey, Clinton County juvenile court case worker Fred Olmsted, and Clinton Memorial Hospital administrator Tom Wiseman are among those who support construction of the Rivendell facility in St. Johns.

Burgess said three community mental health boards in the six-county area around St. Johns think the proposed facility is too large.

Central Bank sets pace

1986 United Way campaign underway

Clinton County kicked off its 1986 United Way Campaign last week with an announced goal of $72,776.

That goal is seven percent larger than last year. Clinton County chairman Robert Claycomb, of the Federal Mogul Corp., said United Way is trying to compensate for federal budget cutting efforts that are expected to curtail funding for community organizations this year.

Those same budget cuts, said Claycomb, make the campaign this year all the more important.

"If we don't call you, please call us," he said.

Claycomb can be reached at the Federal Mogul plant at 224-3221.

THE PACE for the campaign in Clinton County has already been set. Employees of Central National Bank made donations amounting to a 143 percent increase over last year. Each year a pacesetter organization holds an early campaign to serve as an example for other companies and organizations.

Tom Sullivan, who coordinated the campaign at the bank, said an incentive program — in which winning contributions were awarded with extra time off — and competition between different areas of the bank helped with the success.

"By putting the incentive program in place, we really became successful," said Sullivan. "Employees in three areas had average contributions of $65 or more and the winning area, main office teller group, had an average donation of $83."

The overall goal of the Capital Area United Way campaign this year is $5,905,634 — about a half million dollars larger than last year.

Frosted produce

Dawn Harris

Fall is definitely in the air. Each day the trees get a little more color on them and the air gets all the colder. I know many of you are pulling all the vegetables out of the garden that you can. But what if there are some vegetables still out there when the first heavy frosts bites?

When fruits or vegetables suffer frost-bite their quality immediately starts to deteriorate. If left alone, the produce will develop strange flavors and some discoloration. Because of this deterioration, all produce should be canned or frozen within 24 hours after the frost. This will preserve as much quality as possible. The more time that elapses between the frost and preserving the produce, the lower its quality will be.

The hitch in this whole situation is that many of your vegetables will not be ripe when you have to harvest them. What do you do then?

Ripening green tomatoes

Green tomatoes will usually ripen if they are removed from the vine and wrapped individually in newspaper. (Wrapping the tomatoes helps to prevent rotting and provides the proper atmosphere for ripening to occur.) Allow the tomatoes to ripen at room temperature or slightly cooler. It may take awhile for totally green tomatoes to ripen.

If at all possible, green tomatoes should be harvested before the first frost. Green tomatoes hit by a light frost should ripen if treated as outlined above. However, if they are hit by a heavy frost, they will not ripen and should be used as soon as possible in the green state. One way to use green tomatoes is to make them into pickles. Printed is a green tomato pickle you might like to try this fall.

Crystal Pickles

- 7 pounds green tomatoes
- 2 gallons water
- 1/2 ounce lime
- 4 1/2 pounds sugar
- 6 sticks cinnamon, 2 inches long
- 2 tablespoons salt
- 1 teaspoon grated nutmeg
- 1 teaspoon ground ginger
- 2 quarts vinegar

Wash green tomatoes thoroughly, drain; slice 1/4 inch thick; place in large container. Dissolve lime in water. If brine is cloudy, pour through a cheesecloth. Pour brine over tomato slices; let stand 24 hours, stirring occasionally. Remove. Rinse well through several cold waters to remove all lime sediment; soak in cold water for 4 hours; change water each hour; drain. Dissolve sugar in vinegar, add spices tied loosely in cheesecloth and bring to a boil. Add tomato slices and boil rapidly until slices are glazed and syrup clings to the spoon in drops. Remove from heat and allow to set in syrup overnight. Drain off syrup and bring to a boil. Pack tomato slices loosely into hot jars, leaving 1/4 inch head space. Cover with boiling syrup, leaving 1/4 inch head space. Remove air bubbles. Adjust caps. Process 10 minutes in boiling water bath. Yield: about 7 pints.

Perspective

Rich Wertz

Amid the hustle and bustle of a news story that brought media from all over the state to St. Johns, I found it took a conscious effort to stop a think for a moment — at the center of all this is a child who is ill.

I hope I have not, by giving so much play to the quote that appears in large type beneath the headline on the front page, crossed the fine line that separates presentation of a news story and editorializing about the news.

I don't really believe I have. But on some level I am certainly influenced by the knowledge that AIDS victims in other places have been ostracized and shunned. Fear of AIDS, in some cases, has been out of all proportion to the dangers it represents to those in the vicinity of the victim. It is inhuman, it would seem to me, to further victimize those who suffer from AIDS.

I suspect some of the exaggerated fear of contamination by AIDS that has occurred is in reality less a fear of AIDS itself than it is a fear of homosexuality. Three-quarters of the victims of AIDS have been sexually active homosexual or bisexual men. Thus the disease has been called a "homosexual" disease despite the fact that it infects heterosexuals as readily as it does homosexuals.

In any case, compassion has characterized the reaction in St. Johns much more than fear or vengefulness. This is as I would have predicted for St. Johns.

All of us know — at the center of this is a child who is ill.

Church shows film: 'Beyond the Night'

"Beyond the Night," a one-hour motion picture true story, has been scheduled for a showing on Sunday, Sept. 21, at East DeWitt Baptist Church. Unusual Films, the motion picture division of Bob Jones University, Greenville, S.C., produced this missionary story.

It is based on an actual event from the life of a medical missionary couple who served recently in desert North Africa. Internationally known cinema artist and award-winning producer Katherine Stenholm directed the production, which was almost two years in the making.

A few on-location scenes were filmed at the university-owned farm. However, most of the production was done on the Unusual Films soundstage, located near the center of the campus. There, faculty members of the academic division of cinema were assisted by their students in the construction, furnishing, and filming of the sets. Originating from 22 nations, the cast was selected from among the faculty, staff, students, and friends of Bob Jones University.

Because "Beyond the Night" is a true story which took place in a politically sensitive region of Africa, real names are not used for most of the characters. But the actions and responses of the players represent the facts of the original story.

The doctor served an area where, during a prolonged drought, disease and malnutrition were rampant. Word spread about his work, and patients often traveled great distances to see him. He and his staff treated everyone who came — some with medicine, some with food, depending upon the need — but they always administered a generous dose of compassion. Displaying the Christian message ultimately brought censure from an unfriendly government. They wanted the doctor's clinic, but not his Christ.

Audiences have given a warm reception to "Beyond the Night" wherever it has been shown. This is due in part to the realistic glimpse it gives of missionary life. But most of all, people can see the light of Christ as it reflects from the story on the screen into their own lives.

The film will be shown at 7 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 21, at East DeWitt Baptist Church, 480 Round Lake Road. For more information, contact the church at 669-9539.

"It's in the Bag"
by Bob Beck

Pasta lovers will be delighted to know that the stuff really was invented by the Italians; not the Chinese. Thirteenth century Italians were eating pasta long before Marco Polo's famous journey to the Far East and years before his return.

Spaghetti, noodles and elbow macaroni, now referred to as pasta, are tossed, topped and mixed in everything from cold salads to entrees. Pasta and fresh vegetables, cold or hot, and herbs are great for picnics, and company or family dinners. Pasta has a new color. Green spinach and whole wheat pasta products now appear almost as often as the familiar white wheat products.

Macaroni and spaghetti differ only in shape. The term "macaroni," indicates a cord shape. Noodles are flat and always contain egg or egg solids, making them more yellow in color. Macaroni foods are old... yet now! Today, they come in more than 170 different shapes and sizes.

Italy has remained the country most appreciative of pasta. And, would you believe, that for the first few centuries after its discovery there was no tomato sauce on pasta because there was no tomato. Wine alone served as spaghetti sauce in the 17th century.

Pasta foods are a great way to add variety and interest to your daily menu, and they are inexpensive, too. Here at Beck's we have all the fine fixin's for spaghetti and meatballs, macaroni and cheese or chicken and noodles.

Cystic fibrosis under control

Life's looking up for Teddy Scott

By RICH WERTZ
Editor

Teddy Scott, at not quite two years old, has a cherub's round face below a healthy crop of curly blonde hair. He's obviously having a good time crawling energetically around the room getting into innocent mischief.

While his mother, Donna Scott, tells a visitor about her son's rough first few months of life, Teddy occasionally bestows upon the room a beaming smile or a happy chortle.

Although to the casual observer he looks like the picture of health, Teddy's first few months were rough. At two months old he was diagnosed as having cystic fibrosis, a condition that required him to spend three months of his young life on a hospital respirator.

"Sometimes during that three months we really thought he wasn't going to come home," says Donna, who lives with her husband, John, and their four children on South Clinton Avenue in St. Johns.

Teddy did come home and can reasonably be expected to live a happy life. His life expectancy is shorter than that of most people, he will tire more easily, and he will require a routine of daily treatment and periodic hospital visits.

With modern treatment methods, half of today's cystic fibrosis victims are living into their twenties.

"The positive part of it is that in 20 years there are going to be a lot of advances in the area of medicine to add another 10 years onto a life," says Donna.

Because this month is National Cystic Fibrosis Month and because she perceives some confusion in friends and neighbors about Teddy's condition, Donna thought now is a good time to talk about the disease, cystic fibrosis.

Cystic fibrosis is a disease that impairs the respiratory and digestive tracts. It is not contagious; it is genetically transmitted. One out of twenty people carry the gene. If two such people marry — the chances of which are one in 400 — their children will have a 25 percent chance of inheriting cystic fibrosis. If only one parent has the cystic fibrosis gene the disease will not afflict their children.

The disease affects the mucus-secreting glands of the respiratory and digestive tracts and the sweat glands. In victims of the disease, these secretions are abnormally thick. The lungs, areas of which are blocked by mucus, are left susceptible to infections.

In the digestive tract, the thick secretions block the normal passage of enzymes and impair the absorption of nutrients. Untreated, children with cystic fibrosis can become malnourished on a diet that would be healthy for others.

Because cystic fibrosis affects the sweat glands, children with the disease are more likely to suffer from heat prostration or dehydration following vigorous exercise, in hot weather or during fever.

One of the key warning signs of cystic fibrosis, in fact, is excessively salty sweat. Parents of cystic fibrosis children commonly notice excessively salty skin when they kiss their children.

Other symptoms of cystic fibrosis are recurrent wheezing, persistent coughs, recurrent pneumonia, excessive appetite but poor weight gain, bulky stools, and enlargement of the fingertips. If any of these symptoms occur in children they should be checked by a doctor for cystic fibrosis. — the disease has been called a "masquerader" because it is easily misdiagnosed.

Because Teddy spent a key period of his life on a respirator, he did not develop the normal swallowing reflex. The Clinton Intermediate School District provided special help to teach Teddy to swallow. Last week Teddy began eating by himself. Another complication brought on by the three-months hospital stay was that Teddy missed out on the development of a portion of his motor skills. Again, physical therapy was used to compensate.

Now that he is home, Teddy leads a pretty normal life. In order to keep the disease under control, his parents treat him, three times a day for 30 to 45 minutes each time, with a pulmonary technique in which they gently thump Teddy's chest and back. This loosens mucus that blocks his lungs and bronchial tubes.

The three-times-daily treatment also consists of Teddy putting on mask to breath an aerosol mist. In this Teddy is usually joined by an orange stuffed tiger that is never far away.

"Usually he asks when he has his treatments to put the mask on the animal too, so they go through it together," says Donna.

Other aspects of cystic fibrosis treatment include a special diet as well as a great deal of medication. About once each year, cystic fibrosis patients are hospitalized for two to three weeks for intensive antibiotic therapy.

While such treatments are extensive and time demanding, they do allow cystic fibrosis patients to live full and rewarding lives. Teddy will start school in the normal manner when he reaches that age, although he may leave early on occasion because of exhaustion.

"The disease really wears you out," says Donna. Twenty years ago children like Teddy would have had only a slim chance of living more than five or six years. Today Teddy can expect to graduate from college, to marry and to pursue a career.

There is currently no cure for cystic fibrosis. Scientists are within one to three years of isolating the gene that causes the disease. Once the gene is isolated, scientists can start the long process of experimenting with the gene to see if it can be altered and rendered harmless. "Donna does not expect a cure in Teddy's lifetime.

But for right now Teddy is a happy child with a future. "Medically, he's made it for a while," says his mother. "He's just a normal kid for a while."

To join the fight against cystic fibrosis, contact the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, 3322 W. Michigan Ave., Lansing, Michigan 48917.

Jeffrey Aprill and Sandra Schlarf

Schlarf-Aprill

October wedding planned

John and Mary Ann Schlarf of St. Johns announce the engagement of their daughter, Sandra Kay, to Jeffrey Donald Aprill, son of Bill and Clarice Hoxie of Cedar.

The bride-elect is a 1981 graduate of St. Johns High School and a graduate of Davenport College of Business. She is employed as an office manager in Traverse City.

The prospective groom is a 1979 graduate of Traverse City High School and a graduate of Northwestern Michigan College. He is employed as a full-time farm manager and a substitute rural mail carrier.

An Oct. 11 wedding in Traverse City is planned.

Diane and Gerald Rose

Lehnen-Rose

Reside in Lansing

The First Congregational Church of St. Johns was the setting of the Aug. 2 double-ring ceremony uniting Diane Kay Lehnen and Gerald Allen Rose Jr. in marriage. The Rev. David Lord, Green Bay, Wis., and the Rev. Jay Terbush officiated at the 2 p.m. wedding.

The bride is the daughter of David and Margaret Lehnen, 505 S. Mead Street, St. Johns. The groom is the son of Gerald and Donna Rose, 1035 Woodside Dr., Haslett.

The church was decorated with bouquets of hand-picked, summer garden flowers.

Special music on piano and organ was performed by Emily and Danford Byrens of the Olivet College Music Faculty. Selections included "Rhosymedre" by Vaughn-Williams, "Nyland" (a Finnish folk melody) by Williams, and "Clair De Lune" by Debussy.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of white organza voile with ball-gown sleeves and a basque waistline. The neckline, sleeves, skirt and train were edged with deep flounces of ruffled eyelet. The voile overskirt featured pickups caught with satin ribbon and pink rosebuds.

She wore a wreath of fresh pink rosebuds, baby's breath and greens with white ribbon streamers, and carried a spray of pink rosebuds, stephanotis, baby's breath and greens.

Serving as maid of honor was Melissa Luttrell of Lansing. Bridesmaids were Narda Garner of Jackson, Lisa Goodman of Ann Arbor, Mrs. Douglas (Laurie) Hepner of Pleasant Ridge, Mrs. Pawel (Barbara) Chabinka of Lansing, sister of the bride, and Mrs. (Susan) Lehnen-Sgroi of Bovina Center, N.Y., sister of the bride.

They wore tea-length pastel linen dresses trimmed with white collars which dipped to a v-back with white bow and sash. They carried colonial bouquets of deep rose, summer flowers.

Flower girl was Sasha Lehnen-Sgroi, niece of the bride. The ring bearer was Jacob Sertich of Menominee, cousin of the groom.

Best Man was Keith Henner of Lansing. Groomsmen were Andrew Rose of Lansing, brother of the groom, Stephen White of Grosse Pointe, George Rousseau of Belding, Frank Sanborn of Haslett, and Kevin Cornwell of Detroit.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held for 250 guests at the DeWitt Memorial Building in DeWitt. Myrna Sertich and Judy Larsen served the wedding cake, and Wendy McKay tended the guest book.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Rose are at home in Lansing.

Londa Wilkes and David Hengesbach

Wilkes-Hengesbach

October wedding planned

R. Douglas and Betty Wilkes of 6241 W. Mt. Hope Hwy., Lansing, announce the engagement of their daughter, Londa Dawn, to David Michael Hengesbach. He is the son of Hilary and Germaine Hengesbach of 1208 Pine St., Grand Ledge.

The bride-elect and prospective bridegroom both attended Grand Ledge High School and Lansing Community College.

The wedding will take place on Oct. 11 at St. Michael Church in Grand Ledge.

Esther and Burton Tabor

The Tabors

Celebrate Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Tabor will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary at an open house on Sept. 27 from 1 to 4 p.m. at their home, 8550 St. Clair Road.

Burton and Esther were married at the bride's home on Sept. 27, 1936 by Rev. L.A. Fisher of Duplain. They were attended by Wanda (Obierin) LaRue, Ross Henry, and flowergirl June Mayer. The open house will be hosted by the Tabor's children. The couple requests no gifts.

Teresa Sittman and Chris Parsons

Parsons-Sittman

November wedding planned

Mr. and Mrs. David Sittman of Kennewick, Wash., announce the engagement of their daughter Teresa Michelle, to Christopher Andrew Parsons, son of Judy Parsons, Bradenton, Fla., formerly of St. Johns.

The bride-elect is a 1984 graduate of Kennewick High School and is currently employed by the Bank of Hawaii.

The prospective groom is a 1983 graduate of St. Johns High School. He is now serving in the United States Army, stationed at Schofield Barrack, Hawaii.

A Nov. 28, 1986 wedding is planned in Hawaii.

Russell-Kosloski

October wedding planned

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Russell of Carp Lake are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter, Lisa Irene, to Jeffrey Earl Kosloski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Kosloski of St. Johns.

The bride-elect is a 1984 graduate of Pellston High School. She attended Florida Institute of Technology where she is working toward a degree in architectural drafting.

The prospective groom is a 1980 graduate of St. Johns High School. He attended Florida Institute of Technology and is currently self-employed.

An Oct. 25 wedding is planned at the Church of the Straits, Mackinaw City.

Students: crucial ACT registration is September 26

High school seniors who are interested in attending a four year college should plan to take the ACT college entrance exam.

The next test date is Oct. 25, 1986. The registration deadline is Sept. 26.

Officials said this test date is crucial because it is the final opportunity to qualify for the State of Michigan Competitive Scholarship.

The test is given at the St. Johns High School. Students with questions are encouraged to call a high school counselor.

The number is 224-9341.

County included in disaster area

Clinton County is eligible for federal assistance following the designation by President Ronald Reagan of 22 Michigan counties, including Clinton County, as a disaster area.

The aid will take the form of low interest loans as well as some direct aid to farmers, said Clinton County

IRS says flood loss can come off taxes

Taxpayers who suffered losses of property as a result of the recent flooding may be eligible to claim a casualty loss on their federal income tax returns, according to a press release by the Internal Revenue Service.

For tax purposes, a casualty loss is the complete or partial destruction of physical property resulting from an identifiable event of a "sudden, unexpected, or unusual" nature. Damages caused by flooding are considered casualty losses.

Taxpayers must be able to substantiate the loss by compiling a list of those items damaged or destroyed and determining their value immediately before and after the loss occurred. Photographs of damaged property, as well as photographs of the property before it was damaged, are helpful. Judgments of independent appraisers will also help substantiate losses.

To claim a loss on a tax return, the loss is subject to the following limitations. Each casualty loss must be reduced by the amount of insurance or other type of reimbursement received. The first $100 of a casualty loss is not deductible, and a separate $100 limitation applies to each casualty. In addition, casualty losses are deductible only to the extent the total of all losses for the year are more than 10 percent of adjusted gross income.

If the area should be declared a disaster area by the president, taxpayers who suffered losses would have the option of claiming them on either 1985 or 1986 tax returns.

Further information for taxpayers is available in two free IRS booklets — publication 547, "Non-business Disasters, Casualties, and Thefts," and Publication 584, "Disaster and Casualty Loss Workbook," which are available from IRS. Taxpayers can call the IRS toll-free at 1-800-424-1040 weekdays from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

FBI says that one in four homes will be burglarized

A recent report issued by the Federal Bureau of Investigation shows that over a ten-year period, an average of one in every four residences throughout the nation is likely to be burglarized. The data, based on the current residential burglary experience, shows the chance is even greater over longer timeframes.

For a 30-year period, the burglary probability exceeds an average of one in every two households.

United States households have lost an estimated $13 billion to burglars during the 1980s. Residential burglaries reported to law enforcement totaled more than 13 million from 1980 to 1985, or 27 burglaries annually for every 1,000 households. The average loss per burglary was $945.

Data available for offenses for which the time of entry is known show that more residential burglaries occur during the daylight hours than at night, and the average loss per break-in is higher for daytime occurrences.

Residential burglary reached a nationwide all-time high between 1980 and 1981. Declines in the next three years were followed by a three percent increase in 1985.

The FBI says that collective crime prevention efforts by citizens and law enforcement can make a difference. Crime prevention programs conducted by citizens' watch groups, such as Crime Stoppers and Neighborhood Watch, have been developed throughout the country and have been shown to be effective in helping to reduce vulnerability to crimes such as residential burglaries.

Some crime preventive measures may be simple ones, such as giving a residence an "occupied-at-the-moment" look while the homeowner is away, and properly securing all doors.

Emergency Services Coordinator Robert Ferry.

Ferry also said federal officials will visit the county to arrive at their own assessment of damages. Their figures can be expected to vary somewhat from local damage estimates, he said.

"They'll come in and get down to the nitty-gritty," he said.

Local estimates of the damage include $150,000 in public property damage, $281,000 in private property damage, and $1.3 million in crop damage to crops.

"Our biggest loss was to farmland when the dam broke," said Ferry, referring to the Rainbow Lake dam north of Maple Rapids.

Ferry said all county roads are open and families forced to evacuate their homes have returned.

ALSO IN THE aftermath of the record rainfalls that swept northern Clinton County and other areas two weeks ago:

• Both U.S. Rep. Bill Schuette and Don Albosta, who is the Democratic nominee for the 10th District seat now held by Schuette, said they will suspend campaign activities in order to concentrate on flood relief efforts.

Schuette said he will suspend all radio and television advertising and a major mailing project. His campaign staff will be assigned to flood relief projects, he said.

"We will be coordinating federal relief efforts from our Midland congressional office, and I encourage anyone who has suffered losses to contact us at our toll-free number, 1-800-342-2455."

Albosta, who said his own farm had suffered water damage, reported that he had postponed several planned political events and had made his campaign staff available to anyone who needs assistance following the flooding.

He said members of his staff will remain available for assistance and information at his Mt. Pleasant headquarters, 517-773-3330.

• Members of the Fowler Students Against Drinking and Driving (SADD) announced that they will conduct a collection effort to assist flood victims. The students will take a collection during classes, at the gate of a high school football game, and by mail.

Anyone wishing to make a donation should send it to the attention of Mr. Whitlock, Fowler High School, Southwright Road, Fowler, Michigan 48835.

Student journalists start annual advertising drive

By JANE COOPER
SJ High School
Newspaper Student

The St. Johns High School Journalism Department kicks off a campaign today to raise $14,000 in advertising revenue.

The goal is $2,000 larger than last year. The extra funds are earmarked for the purchase at the end of the school year of a computer/printer system, said newspaper advisor Bob Holzhei.

Students will ask local businesses to purchase advertising in the student newspaper and the 1986-87 yearbook.

The revenue from the advertising sales are divided between the newspaper and yearbook programs to cover costs such as publishing, printing, film supplies and field trips to area contests, said Holzhei.

Advertising packages range in price from $49 to $210 and are designed to meet the needs of merchants. Advertising space is available in various sizes and merchants may include coupons, business cards or ready-made inserts. Payment may be made when the purchase contract is signed or in monthly payments.

"THE support in the community is tremendous and we are hoping for another very successful campaign," said Judy McEnaney, yearbook advisor. "Every year we try to be better."

Both the newspaper program and the yearbook program compete against student publications in large metropolitan school districts where budgets for the publications are large. Despite that relative disadvantage the St. Johns yearbook placed fifth in Class A competition. The yearbook also earned a second place national award from the Columbia Scholastic Press.

The newspaper and yearbook programs together earned 14 individual awards from the Michigan Interscholastic Press Association last spring.

"Onward and upward is our goal," concluded McEnaney.

Financial focus

Wall Street

By Chuck Dicken

One of the interesting aspects of writing about money, investing and financial success is there's always a lot of opinions to draw from. When William Buckley butts heads with John Kenneth Galbraith, you expect conflict.

But, how did the investment philosophy of businessman Joseph Kennedy spill over to his politician son, Jack Kennedy? And, did Will Rogers and Eddie Cantor share similar views on financial success?

These and hundreds of other opinions are shared in a book of quotations by Bill Adler and Bill Adler, Jr., "The Wit and Wisdom of Wall Street." They're thought provoking enough to share a few with you.

Since the beginning of recorded history, there has been a love-hate relationship between business and government, so when politicians look at Wall Street you can expect almost anything. Thomas Jefferson, for example, thought, "Banking establishments are more dangerous than standing armies." But Abraham Lincoln said, "Whoever controls the volume of money in any country is absolute master of all industry and commerce."

Ronald Reagan must have smiled a little when he told a Dallas audience, "I've never been able to understand how the Democrats can run those $1,000 a plate dinners at such a profit and run the government at such a loss." But there was sternness in his charge that, "Government does not solve problems — it subsidizes them."

Wall Street, on the other hand, hasn't always spoken well of politicians either. William Vanderbilt attacked their honesty when he said, "When I want to buy any politicians, I always find the anti-monopolists the most purchasable. They don't come so high." Henry Clay Frick wondered if you could trust any politician — "(Theodore Roosevelt) got down on his knees before us. We bought (him), but he didn't stay bought."

Wall Street legends are an anthology of successes that have come about primarily because of hard work. Henry Ford said it best, "There will never be a system invented which will do away with the necessity of work." Conrad Leslie narrows it down to choice. "Each of us has the choice — we must make money work for us, or we must work for money." And, Lewis Owen says it doesn't stop with choice. "When you put your money to work for you, you'd better be prepared to work for it."

Success can often be elusive with neither hard work nor wise investing bringing immediate results. When this happens, recall the wisdom of Eddie Cantor, "It takes 80 years to make an overnight success."

Taxes are another subject many people like to discuss, and although it seems taxes have always been with us, until 1802 the federal government made ends meet by taxing only sugar, tobacco, alcohol and slaves. From 1817 until 1862 domestic taxes were abolished, but by then the high cost of the Civil War gave Congress an excuse to create a real bug-a-boo called the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Ludwig Von Mises must have had this on his mind when he said, "Government is the only agency that can take a useful commodity like paper, slap some ink on it, and make it totally worthless." Will Rogers, always outspoken, labeled the income tax as the downfall of honesty: "The income tax has made more liars out of the American people than golf has." The "Farmers Almanac" agrees: "It's getting harder and harder to support the government in the style to which it has become accustomed."

Famous people have always had an opinion about money. Conservative or liberal, Republican or Democrat, socialist or capitalist, you'll find your opinion quoted somewhere in the "Wit and Wisdom of Wall Street." In the words of Sean O'Casey, "Money doesn't make you happy, but it quiets the nerves." And remember, as Moss Hart and George Kaufman warned, "You can't take it with you."

Clinton Bank Corp. declares a dividend

A cash dividend of 45 cents per share was declared on the 1,470,807 common shares outstanding to shareholders of record at the regular meeting of the Board of Directors of CB Financial Corp. on Sept. 15. The dividend will be paid on Oct. 15.

CB Financial Corp. of Jackson is the parent holding company of Clinton Bank and Trust of St.

Johns. Each quarter, the trust departments of these banks reinvest the dividends paid to their employee stock ownership plans in additional shares of CB Financial Corp. The company is also authorized to purchase its own shares in the marketplace from time to time.

The shares of CB Financial Corp. are quoted over the counter by NASDAQ under the symbol CBFC.

The Grand Gathering likes St. Johns and St. Johns likes the Grand Gathering

When Jean and Sharon Calligaro asked people if they thought St. Johns would be a good town in which to open a restaurant the response was overwhelmingly positive.

"Everybody I talked to said St. Johns was a very friendly town," says Jean Calligaro.

So the restaurant — the Grand Gathering — was opened and both the town and the restaurant lived up to expectations.

"We've been very well supported by the business community," says Jean, adding that area suppliers provide good produce and the Mid-Michigan

District Health Department was helpful in getting the restaurant started.

"Our location," says Jean, "is super."

The response by patrons has also been good, she says. Thus far the only complaint is that the servings are quite hefty.

"Better too much than too little," says Jean.

The Grand Gathering features homemade food and a deli buffet for lunch hour customers in a hurry to get back to work. Lunch hour customers can come in, have lunch, and get back to work in 30 minutes, says Jean.

The menu includes 14 dinner entrees as well as 17 dinner sandwich selections.

In addition to serving food on location, the restaurant will also cater weddings, rehearsal dinners and similar events.

The Grand Gathering is located at 101 N. Clinton Ave. in downtown St. Johns. Monday to Friday hours are 6:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday hours are 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Sunday hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Call 224-9252.

To the Residents of Clinton County:

Each year at about this time, the residents of Clinton County are asked to participate in the United Way Campaign. This participation takes on many forms i.e. donations, payroll deductions and volunteer work. Most of us do not realize the total impact the organizations funded by the United Way have had and will continue to have in our local communities. That's because we've never had to directly depend on the help rendered. However, what we fail to realize is, we really have benefited in some way. These are just a few examples:

- American Red Cross
- Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Clinton County
- Boy and Girl Scouts of America
- Child and Family Services of Michigan
- Community Mental Health, Clinton County
- Council on Alcoholism
- Michigan Heart Association
- Salvation Army
- Y.M.C.A. and Y. W.C.A.

The list goes on...the point is, to survive, all of the agencies need the help of caring individuals. People who are sensitive to those who are less fortunate. People like you.

As our campaign kicks off on September 17th, let's all take a moment to reflect on our life and the lives of those we touch. We have a golden opportunity to increase the quality of life in our community. There is no single organization that responds to the needs of our friends and neighbors or fellow human beings more than the United Way.

We can all think of reasons for not contributing to the United Way. However the shared benefits received by so many far outweigh any of the program's shortcomings.

Let's make this a team effort. We have an opportunity to contribute to the enrichment of our most precious resource, our fellow human beings. I urge each of you to show you care. Remember, no contribution is too small.

Redwings drop MMB opener to Ionia, 20-18

By RHONDA WESTFALL
Sports Editor

Missed extra points attempts was the margin of difference in the 20-18 final score of the St. Johns/Ionia football game last Friday night.

But, in reality, they really played a small part in the overall Redwing loss to the Bulldogs.

"You can't go into a football game like that and not be ready to play right off the bat," said St. Johns coach Bart Kjolhede. "We gave the first quarter to them and were playing catch up for the rest of the night."

They just didn't catch up quite enough to take the win.

The opening Mid-Michigan B league loss makes the Redwings 0-1 in the conference and 2-1 overall.

"It's nice to know your kids don't quit," Kjolhede said of his teams' efforts to win the game, "but, they (Ionia) really controlled us for the most part."

That is evidenced by the fact that Ionia ran 64 offensive plays on the night, compared to 38 for St. Johns.

"They were consistently able to begin drives inside our 50 yard line," the coach said, "while we were unable to get good field position."

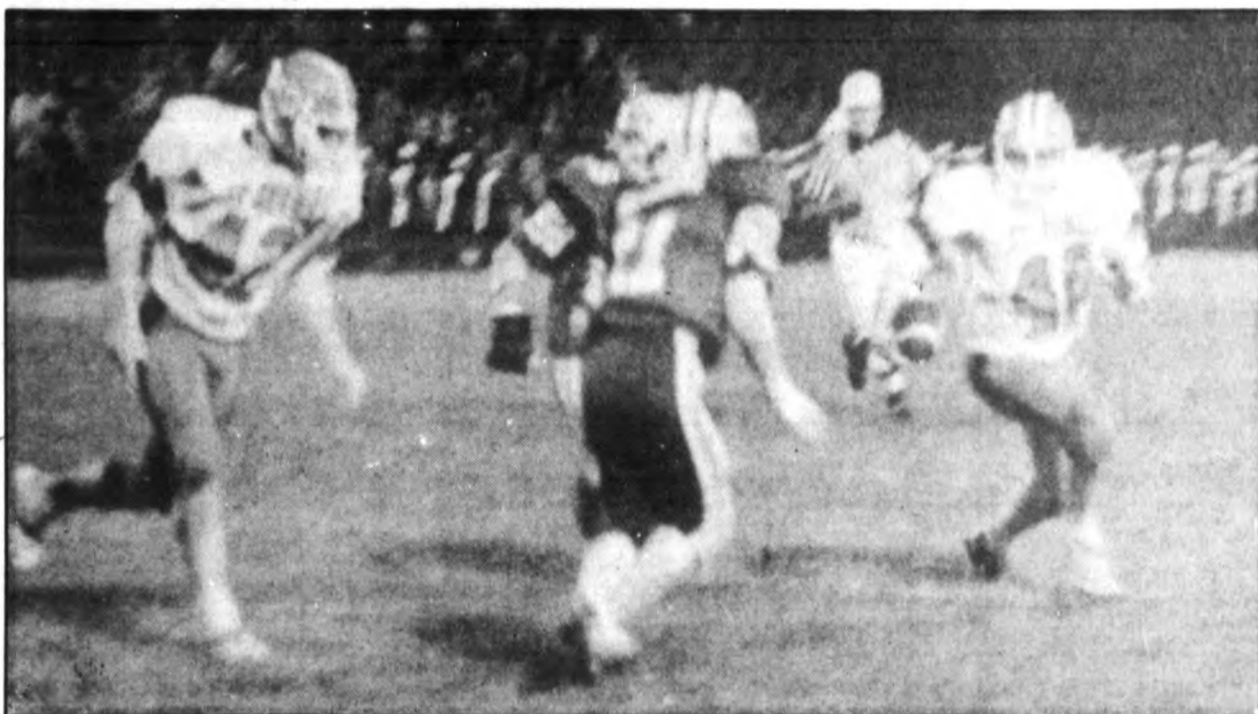

The Bulldogs scored first with 8:06 remaining in the first quarter on a 1 yard run by their quarterback Skoog. That capped a 9 play, 69 yard drive by Ionia and made the score 7-0.

St. Johns got on the scoreboard late in the second quarter, which came about in part due to a 33 yard pass play from Jerry Duwell to Doug Heyer. Duwell scored on a quarterback sneak, the extra point attempt was wide, and the score stood at 7-6.

Another Skoog pass with 6:24 to play in the third quarter put the Bulldogs up 14-6.

THE REDWINGS came right back, driving 60 yards in 8 plays, ending with a 9 yard touchdown pass from Duwell to Tom Penix. The extra point was once again no good, making St. Johns short 14-12.

The Bulldogs widened the gap to 20-12 on a 1 yard dive into the endzone with 6:11 left to play in the game. The extra point attempt by Ionia was partially blocked by Bill Keenoy.

REDWING DRIVE — Dwight Pierson (40) takes the ball around the right side of the Ionia line for a long gainer in the Redwings' contest with MMB rival Ionia last week. Bill Keenoy (42) gets ready to set a block for his teammate. St. Johns lost the MMB opener 20-18.

A 38 yard run by Dwight Pierson in a fourth down and 2 situation resulted in six more points for St. Johns, giving the Redwings a chance for a tie. The two point conversion pass was no good, an ensuing onside kick by St. Johns was recovered by Ionia, and the Bulldogs sat on the clock for the 20-18 win.

Pierson carried the ball 10 times for 71 yards for St. Johns, and Keenoy rushed for 31 yards on 6 carries. Duwell was 5-13 in passing for 60 yards, and Heyer had the 33 yard pass reception.

Defensively, Keenoy had 15 tackles and five assists, Terry Rossow had 9 tackles and 7 assists, Jim Cowdrey netted 7 tackles, Ken Jewison had 5 tackles and 7 assists, and fumbles were recovered by Randy Krumm and Scott Alysforth.

"We'll try to regroup for the game with Ovid-Elsie this Friday," Coach Kjolhede said. "We'll fix the mistakes we can fix and work around the mistakes we can't fix."

43-8 finale

Fowler blitz too much for St. Pat

The final score of the Fowler/Portland St. Patrick football game last Saturday was 43-8.

Seeing as how the starting unit saw little or no action after the first quarter, one has to wonder what the score could have been.

Whatever, the Eagles' win keeps their perfect 3-0 record intact for another week and may help them improve even further on their fifth place ranking in Class D in state polls.

"It was kind of nice that parents got to see so many of their kids play," Coach Steve Spicer said of the game. "There were a lot of different names on the field."

Maybe there were some different first names, but the last names always seem to stay the same — Thelen, Feldpausch, Simon, Wirth. Even a Koenigsnecht.

Some things never change in Fowler.

The Eagles scored three times in the opening quarter with the first eight points all coming from Rex Thelen. He scored on a 5 yard run, and added 2 more on a rushing conversion score.

Curtis Feldpausch picked up the second Eagle touchdown on a 22 yard run, with Thelen kicking the extra point this time. Six more points for Fowler came off a 41 yard Thelen run. The two point conversion pass was no good.

In the second quarter one Thelen replaced the other when Andy came in to take Rex's place. He (Andy) proceeded to score twice in that period — first on an 11 yard run and later on a 15-yarder. A 2-point conversion pass from Jim Andros to Kurt Simon, and extra-point kick by Rex Thelen made the score 36-0 at halftime.

The Eagles got their final points of the game in the third quarter on a 12 yard pass from Andros to Tom Wirth. Thelen's extra point kick was good.

St. Pat's only score also came in the third period off a 4 yard run by Goodman. The 2 point conversion made the final tally 43-8.

Andy Thelen was the leading rusher for the Eagles, netting 94 yards on 14 carries. Rex Thelen had 60 yards on 3 carries, and Feldpausch added 43 yards on 6 carries. Fowler totaled 250 yards on the ground.

In the air, the Eagles totaled 66 yards, completing 5 of 5 passes. Matt Hufnagel was 2-2 in the first quarter for 26 yards, and Andros picked up the remainder going 3-3.

Defensively, Mark Pohl intercepted a St. Pat's pass and Dave Clark recovered one fumble. Don Simon had 11 tackles, Curtis Feldpausch had 10, and Neil K-13 picked up 9 tackles.

Fowler will face CMAC foe Laingsburg this Friday in a home game. That confrontation may not be an easy one for the Eagles to win.

"Laingsburg was one of my picks to be at the top of the league this season," Coach Spicer said. "Their quarterback, Greg Hutchings, has a strong arm and they have good receivers in Jim Shaw and Kurt Worm. They've also had two shut-out games so far this year."

The St. Johns junior varsity upped their record to 3-0 with a 46-14 win over Ionia last Thursday. St. Johns freshmen also were winners in their game with Ionia 20-14, giving them a record of 2-1.

BLOCK ATTEMPT Curtis Feldpausch shows punt-blocking form in the Eagles win over Bay City All Saints in a recent competition. Fowler was an easy 43-8 winner over Portland St. Patrick in action last Saturday.

Maruaders fumble MMB opener

A case of the fumbles cost the Ovid-Elsie Maruaders their opening Mid-Michigan B conference football game last Friday, as they literally "dropped" the game to Corunna 30-14.

"We just didn't play well at all in the first half," said Coach Dennis Baratonio.

The Maruaders played the Cavaliers to a scoreless 0-0 tie at the end of the first quarter before coughing the ball up three times in the second period. Corunna capitalized on each fumble by scoring.

Corunna scored first at the 10:10 mark in the second quarter on a 4 yard run, following a 39 yard drive on a fumble recovery. The two point conversion made the score 8-0.

The next Cavalier touchdown came on a 1 yard run off a 26 yard drive following a fumble with 5:49 left in the second quarter. And they made the score 22-0 going into halftime on a 6 yard touchdown run with just 18 seconds on the clock after another fumble recovery.

The Maruaders regrouped at halftime, getting on the scoreboard early in the third period on a 40 yard dash to the goal line by Neil Putnam at 11:46. The scoring drive took just two plays totaling 56 yards.

The 2 point conversion pass from Bobby Foreback to Chad Bush made the score 22-8.

Ovid-Elsie almost pulled the game away from Corunna when they scored in the fourth quarter to make the score 22-14. That came on a 3 yard keeper by Foreback which capped a 75 yard, 11 play drive.

However, the Cavaliers put the game away with a final touchdown late in the game.

The Maruaders totaled 156 yards rushing on 36 carries, were 1-5 passing, and had 9 first downs. Putnam was the leading rusher, netting 119 yards on 16 carries.

Defensively, Jody Hodack had an excellent night with 17 tackles, 6 sacks, and 2 fumble recoveries. Troy Wooley had 16 tackles, Troy Loznak had 11, and Mark Burl ended the game with 8.

Ovid-Elsie faces MMB rival St. Johns this Friday and Coach Baratonio is expecting a tough contest from the Redwings.

"I know they'll be ready to play," the coach said. "We're just trying to hang in there."

The Marauder junior varsity defeated Corunna 22-13 to give them a 1-1 record to date.

St. Johns Sports Boosters will have lottery fundraiser

The new St. Johns Sports Boosters organization will hold a special meeting tomorrow night (Sept 24) to outline plans for their only major fundraiser of the year — a daily lottery.

"We will go over the details of the program, pass out instruction sheets to persons who wish to sell tickets, and answer questions on the lottery fundraiser," said Booster chairman Chuck Heyer.

The meeting is open to all persons who have children involved in any athletic team at St. Johns High School. It begins at 8:30 p.m. in the vocal music room at SJHS.

Heyer said the $25 dollar tickets will produce a winner every day, six days a week, and is based on the three-digit daily Michigan lottery numbers. The tickets are good for 13 weeks, on numbers 000-999, with $100 winners on Monday-Friday and a $300 winner on Saturdays.

Persons may purchase one $25 ticket or four tickets for $100. $100 ticket buyers will also have their names entered in a drawing for a $500 shopping spree at Deans Hardware, Kurts Appliance, and Hub Tire.

The revenue generated from ticket sales will go toward a number of sports related items, according to Heyer.

"The money that is raised will be used for maintaining current sports programs, purchasing equipment needed with new rules changes which may not be in the school's budget, and improve facilities and programs," Heyer said.

Anyone interested in selling or purchasing tickets who is unable to attend the Sept. 24 meeting may contact Heyer at 224-3281.

A complete listing of lottery rules, ticket sales and information will be available in next week's Clinton County News.

Eagle harriers get third invite win

The Fowler boys cross country team kept their invitational winning streak alive, capturing their third title of the year at DeWitt last Saturday. Their score of 31 was well ahead of Williamston, who finished second with 65.

Eagle girl runners placed third in the invitational with 95, behind first place Bath at 30, and DeWitt who had 56.

"The boys ran exceptionally well," said Coach Kim Spalsbury. "The top five runners each had their best times, or were one second off from their best times of the year."

It was the first time a Fowler team had claimed a trophy at the DeWitt Invitational.

Finishing first in the meet was Eagle runner Steve Bierstetel who completed the course in 16:33. Troy Irer was third at 17:01.5, Mike Pohl came in sixth at 17:05.1, Tim Becker was tenth at 17:16.4, and Darren Feldpausch was eleventh at 17:20.1.

Place finishers for Fowler's girls were: Stacie Rowell (8th) 21:34.3; Sherrie Schneider (15th) 22:09.5; Rebecca Feldpausch (21st) 22:49.6; Lori Thelen (23rd) 23:05; and Lynette Feldpausch (28th) 23:59.1

"All the girls were feeling under the weather," Coach Spalsbury said. "We were pleased with our finish considering that, and also who we were going up against — Bath and DeWitt are both ranked in the state."

The harriers will have little time to recuperate as they travel to Saranac for a meet tomorrow (Sept. 24). The Eagles will try to make it four invitationals in a row when they compete at the Carson City Invitational this Saturday.

DETERMINATION shows in the faces of both Ashley's and Fowler's girls in their basketball game last week at Fowler. The Bears number 33, Jamie Plesko, defends against Fowler's Mary Kay Jandernoa, while Theresa Fabus and Lisa Wingle attempt to get position. Amy Witgen (35) also is pictured.

Fowler girls take 46-45 win in round one with the Bears

By RHONDA WESTFALL
Sports Editor

There was a battle in Piggott Gym in Fowler last Thursday night. Shouts and screams filled the air. Bodies crashed to the floor.

When the dust settled, the scoreboard showed that the Eagles girls basketball team had beaten the Ashley Bears 46-45 — in this battle at least.

According to Ashley's coach Carl Wayer, the outcome of round two in Ashley on Nov. 4 will tell a different tale. "I think you'll see a different ballgame when we have them at our place," Wayer said. "Right now, I'm bitter, but not disappointed in the team."

Wayer's feelings about the game stemmed from two technical fouls which were charged to the Ashley bench during the contest. The coach felt both were undeserved.

"Those were the first technicals I've had in three years," the coach said. "Many times I've deserved them and didn't get them, but I still don't know what I said wrong this time."

"I really feel the new rule changes try to limit the role of coaches in athletics. They've turned the officials into little gods."

The game was a close one from start to finish, with Fowler holding a 13-12 lead at the end of the first quarter. Both squads were going all out.

"It was a very physical game," Fowler coach Tom O'Rourke said. "They (Ashley) just come at you and come at you."

The Eagles widened their lead in the second quarter, taking a 25-18 scoring margin into the lockerroom at halftime. They capitalized on more than a few of the Bears' 21 turnovers in the first half, many of which came on "walking" calls by the officials.

"It was tough to see the walk on a lot of the calls," Wayer said.

Ashley's fans agreed with the coach's estimation of the officiating, and did not hesitate to make their opinion known.

Following the two "T's" which were picked up in the second quarter and just prior to halftime, the Bears regrouped and opened the third quarter with a determined effort to get back in the game.

"I was very proud of them," Coach Wayer said. "They came close to playing up to their potential. They didn't quit."

The Bears were ahead by as much as five points at one time in the second half. That was whittled down by an Eagle team that would not say die.

An eight foot jump shot by Amy Witgen with :01 left on the clock proved to be the winning point that the Eagles needed.

Lori Haruska led the Bears in scoring with 16 points, while teammate Lisa Wingle did it all for Ashley: 12 points, 3 steals, 5 forced mistakes, and 8 rebounds. Chaunda Shaw added 8 points to the Bears' tally. Sherry Kral, the wiry Bear guard, had 5 points, 4 assists and 5 steals, and Theresa Fabus, who got into foul trouble, ended with 4 points.

The tandem of Mary Jo Simon and Amy Witgen led the Eagle attack with Simon netting 13 points and 7 rebounds, and Witgen coming away with 12 points and 5 steals. Theresa Feldpausch also had 7 rebounds for Fowler.

IN OTHER ACTION last week, the Eagles took a CMAC win from Laingsburg 49-25. An excellent first half gave Fowler a 32-14 lead at that point in the game.

"We put on a soft press and let them make mistakes," O'Rourke said. "It was a good game with everybody seeing a lot of playing time."

Simon led the Eagles with 13 points, Lisa Farley had 11 points, Vicki Schneider cleared the boards of 11 rebounds, and Witgen and Mary Kay Jandernoa had 4 assists apiece.

Ashley picked up a win in their conference, the Mid-State Athletic Conference, last week also. The Bears gave Genesee a 46-17 pasting, allowing Genesee only four points in the first half.

Haruska again led the Bears with 11 points, Fabus added 10, Kral had 8, Jamie Plesko was good for 7, and Wingle and Shaw netted 4 each.

Fowler has their work cut out for them tonight (Sept. 23) as they take on undefeated Pottsville at home in the tough CMAC conference. They travel to Carson City on Thursday for a non-league contest. The Eagles' record stands at 4-1 overall, 1-0 in the league.

Ashley also has a 4-1 overall record and 1-0 league mark. They face Byron tonight in a league game, and play Flint Holy Rosary this Thursday in non-conference game at home.

The Fowler junior varsity is currently undefeated with a record of 5-0. They defeated Laingsburg last week 61-32, and took a win from Ashley 50-31.

Ashley's J.V.'s downed Genesee 42-21.

Jami Martin, Cheryl Batora, and Sheila Platner each had 5 points, while Bonnie Patrick and Carrie Darling added 4 points apiece.

In the game at Pewamo-Westphalia on Thursday, Martin led her teammates with 13 points. Patrick was good for 12, and Batora and Schneider each had 8 points.

The Marauders meet St. Johns tonight (Sept. 23) in an always hotly contested MMB rivalry. They face Hemlock at home on Thursday in a non-league game.

The Ovid-Elsie junior varsity picked up a 41-31 win over Corunna, and fell to P-W 47-36 last week.

freestyle, 59.67; and the 400 freestyle relay team of Erin Masarik, Katrina Koenigsnecht, Jane Cooper and Kim Bauer, 4:13.33.

Earning second places were: Bauer, 100 butterfly, 1:09.42, and 200 individual medley, 2:36.65 (both were personal best times); 200 medley relay team of Chris Welch, Jennifer Giesecke, Masarik, and Sabo, 2:08.29; and Linda Strickland in diving with a personal best of 162.53.

"We felt all the swimmers performed well against a very deep and well balanced Okemos team," Meyers said.

The Redwings first home meet of the season is set for Thursday (Sept. 25) with Alma. The meet begins at 7 p.m.

O-E cagers lose close contests

The Ovid-Elsie girls basketball team saw their record fall to 1-4, 0-1 in two tough losses last week, 52-40 to Corunna and 50-45 to Pewamo-Westphalia.

The Marauders played well in both outings, jumping out to first quarter leads in each game, but could not manage enough points to get the wins. They were outscored in both contests in the successive three periods of play.

Courtney Schneider was the leading scorer in the MMB opener with Corunna last Tuesday with 10 points.

Redwing tankers lose services of Wells in diving for next meets

The St. Johns girls swim team took a strong fourth place finish behind DeWitt, Waverly, and Okemos at the Waverly Relays last week, but came up short in a dual meet with Okemos 100-72.

The Redwings were without the services of their top diver, Mindy Wells, in the Okemos meet. She pulled a leg muscle at the Waverly Relays and will be out for the next several meets.

"Her place will be hard to fill," said St. Johns coach Fred Meyers. "We will look to Linda Strickland to carry some of the load. Second year diver Bridget Sirrine and first year diver Erin Masarik turned in good performances against Okemos also."

Turning in first place times for the Redwings at Okemos were: Lisa Sabo, 50 freestyle, 27.30, and 100

Fulton's Pirates drop game to P-W in CMAC cage start

The Pewamo-Westphalia girls basketball team upped their record to 5-1 overall and 2-0 in the Central Michigan Athletic Conference with two wins last week: 57-47 over CMAC rival Fulton, and 50-45 over non-league foe Ovid-Elsie.

Fulton coach Ron Merritt's Pirates picked up a 55-52 win over Ithaca in a non-conference game to give them a split for the week.

Neither game was a gimme for Coach Carol Rademacher's squad.

"We were fortunate to win the game with Fulton," Rademacher said, "and the Ovid-Elsie contest was not a five-point game either."

A 21-point second quarter, and hot free throw shooting were the key ingredients in P-W's win with Fulton.

Fulton whittled the margin of difference down to five points with just over two minutes left in the game, and then were forced to foul. P-W's shooting from the line saved the day, as they shot 75 percent from the charity stripe, canning 15 of 20 attempts from the line.

"Our turnovers really hurt us," said Fulton coach Ron Merritt, "and we gave up too many points. Still, it was the most balanced scoring our team has had yet this year. It was the first time we had three girls in double figures."

Leading scorers for Fulton were Michelle Weller with 11 points, Janice Kresge and Dee Gardner had 10 points apiece, Susan Root added 9, and Lori Helman was good for 6.

Amy Hengesbach led the Pewamo-Westphalia attack with 18 points, 8 rebounds, and 5 steals. She was aided by Brenda Martin who had 16 points, 8 rebounds, and 7 assists. Sandy Simon with 11 points, 6 rebounds, and 3 steals, and Shirley Thelen who ended the night with 5 each in points, steals, and assists.

Free throws played a major role in P-W's victory over Ovid-Elsie also, as the score was knotted at 45-all with just over one minute left to play. Carrie Nurenberg was fouled on a drive to the basket and put in the free throw to give P-W a three point lead. Two more free throws with 17 seconds remaining iced the win for P-W.

Martin was the leading scorer with 22 points and 6 rebounds, Nurenberg had 9 points, Thelen was good for 7 points and 4 assists, Hengesbach had 6 points and 5 rebounds, and Simon led the Pirates in rebounds with 9, and had 6 points and 6 steals.

"We definitely felt that Ovid-Elsie was better than their record (1-4) seems to indicate," Rademacher said. "We're not looking forward to going to O-E to play later this season."

Fulton's three-point win over Ithaca was not an easy one. The Pirates needed all of their 23 points which they netted in the second quarter to take a 29-26 lead into the lockerroom. They went up by 11 points over the Yellowjackets in the third quarter and held off two rallies to take the final win.

Kresge paced the Pirates with 19 points, Gardner added 12, while Root and Helman had 6 points each.

Fulton will try to break into the win column in the CMAC when they face Laingsburg tonight (Sept. 23). The Pirates travel to Central Montcalm for a non-league game this Thursday.

Coach Rademacher's squad has a "key league game" tonight with Portland St. Patrick, before taking on DeWitt in a non-conference clash on Thursday.

The Pewamo-Westphalia junior varsity defeated Fulton 63-33, with Sandy Martin as high scorer with 21 points. They upped their record to 5-1 with a win over Ovid-Elsie 41-36.

Jamie Bierstiel was leading scorer in that contest with 16 points.

Fulton's junior varsity took a 40-33 win over Ithaca.

REBOUND — Kerri Nurenberg (12) and Sandy Simon (24) are among the Pewamo-Westphalia players waiting for the rebound in last week's game with Ovid-Elsie. Bonnie Patrick (11) is shown going up for the shot.

SJ harriers running strong

Coach Bob Spencer is pleased with his Redwing harriers performances at this point in the young cross country season. St. Johns is off to a good start with the boys undefeated in two outings and the girls posting a 1-1 record.

The boys took a relatively easy win over Ovid-Elsie last Monday 15-48, and won a 28-28 tiebreaker with Mason on Thursday. In cross country, when both teams have the same number of points in times from the first five runners, the tie is broken by the place finish of the sixth runner. For St. Johns that runner was Eric Bolyard whose 10th place finish was better than Mason's sixth man who finished 12th.

Top man for the Redwings in the Mason meet was Greg St. John who completed the course in 16:50, good for overall third. Jim DeBrabander was fourth overall at 16:54, Cory Henningson placed sixth at 17:24, Scott Terrell was seventh at 17:36, and Darren May was eighth at 17:49.

Redwing runners swept the top five spots in the dual meet with Ovid-Elsie in the following times: St. John, 17:32; Henningson, 17:53; DeBrabander, 18:07; Terrell, 18:25; and May, 18:45. Finishing seventh overall was Bolyard at 19:09, and Steve Hoffman was eighth in a time of 19:20.

St. Johns girls posted a 21-38 victory over the Marauders with Redwing runners taking the top three spots: Sandra Terrell, 20:21; Luanne Hurst, 21:30; and Kim Korienek, 21:52. Other girls placing were: (7th) Colleen Bunn, 23:30; (8th) Lori Montry, 23:39; (9th) Jessica Kluge, 24:46; and (10th) Kathy Rogers, 25:13.

The girl harriers dropped a close 26-33 decision to Mason with the top five Redwings finishing as follows: (2nd) Terrell, 19:41; (3rd) Korienek, 20:56; (5th) Hurst, 21:24; (11th) Kluge, 22:37; and (12th) Bunn, 22:41.

St. Johns made up a rained-out meet with Chesaning yesterday (Sept. 22) and has the remainder of the week off. A meet with Ionia which was also washed out on Sept. 10 has been scheduled for Oct. 16.

Marauders earn medals at cross country invitational

Cross country runners from Ovid-Elsie had better luck at the Frankenmuth Invitational, with four harriers earning medals, than they did in league competition with St. Johns last week.

The Marauders took it on the chin in the dual meet versus St. Johns, with the boys losing 15-48 and the girls taking a 21-38 loss.

Dave Sutliff posted the best time for the O-E boys at 19:02, good for sixth place. The remaining top five Marauder boys were: Pat Ehlert, 19:31; Brad Kelley, 19:49; Curt Wittenberg, 20:17; and Chad Morgan, 20:18.

Finishing with the best time for the Marauder girls was Shaundel Elowski at 22:11, fourth place overall. Other O-E runners placing were: Buffy Hill, 23:01; Kim Kranick, 23:05; Karen Komora, 25:22; and Joanne Gehringer, 25:43.

The Marauder harriers were among 15 teams competing at the Frankenmuth Invitational last Thursday. The girls finished fourth overall with three runners earning medals. Elowski placed fifth with a time of 22:54,

Hill was seventh at 23:05, and Kranick placed tenth at 23:18.

Medal winner for the O-E boys was Sutliff who finished 18th in a time of 19:06.

Rounding out the top five spots for the boys were Ehlert, Kelley, Wittenberg, and Morgan. Times by Gehringer and Komora for the girls also counted toward the Marauders point total.

"The course was all hills," said Coach Don Barlow. "There were no flat areas anywhere, so the times were a little slow. We felt our girls did an excellent job."

"We're not where we should be yet," the coach said about his teams' times and standing in the MMB conference. "The kids are working hard right now on getting their times down. It's hard to tell at this point how we will finish at the end of the season."

The teams participated in the Chesaning Invitational with other MMB teams yesterday (Sept. 22), and will travel to the Hemlock Invitational on Sept. 25.

SJ cagers lose squeaker

Almost, but no cigar. For the St. Johns girls basketball team, that is. Coach Beth Swears' team fought back from a 32-26 halftime deficit with East Lansing last week, and rallied to a 52-51 lead with seconds remaining, but could not hold off the strong Trojan team to take the victory.

"We were proud of the way the girls came back," Coach Swears said. "They are young and are learning with each game we play."

It was by no means a lost week for the Redwings however, as they captured an opening MMB league win over Ionia 47-44. Two free throws by Brenda Schafer with just 11 seconds remaining gave St. Johns all the points they needed, making them 1-0 in the conference. The loss to East Lansing puts their overall record at 4-2.

The Redwings were down by a 21-18 score at halftime of the Ionia contest, but came back on the strong shooting and defense of Kerry Porter and Anne Brocker.

Porter ended the game with 17 points, 15 rebounds, and 6 blocked shots. Brocker's 18 points paced the Redwing attack, and she cleared the boards 11 times for St. Johns.

In the contest with East Lansing, Porter's free throw gave St. Johns their 1 point lead, 52-51. The junior center for the Wings ended the game with 12 points and 11 rebounds.

Brocker led St. Johns in scoring with 19 points, and picked up 8 rebounds. Monica Vasquez had 8 points and 5 assists for the Redwings, and Karen Simon tallied 7 points in the game.

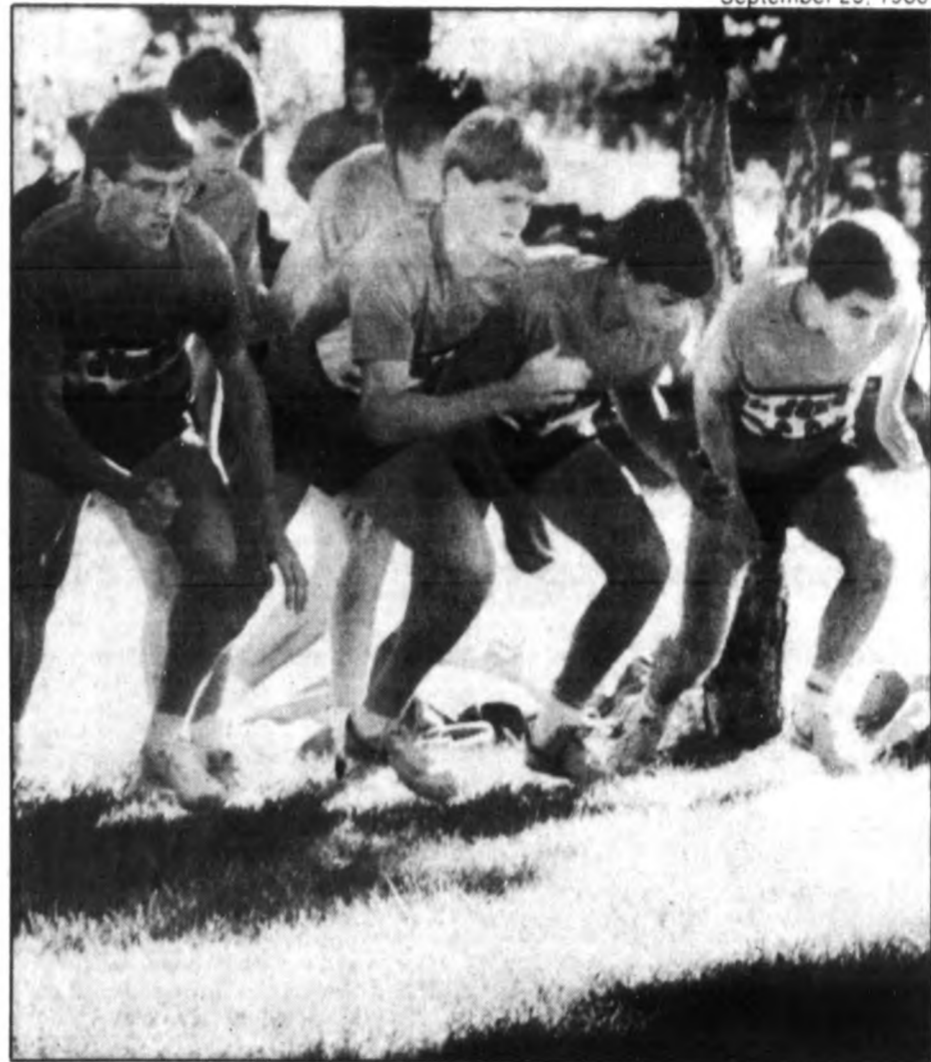

St. Johns travels to Ovid-Elsie tonight (Sept. 23) in a key MMB match-up, and has Thursday night off.

The Redwing junior varsity squad updated their overall record to 5-1 with two wins last week, 40-29 over Ionia and 36-31 versus East Lansing.

The freshman team opened their season with a 39-33 win over Ovid-Elsie on Sept. 10, with Michelle Harper having 8 points and 8 steals, Nicole LoDico had 7 points and 7 rebounds, and Tina Brya added 7 points. They came up short in their second outing with Lansing Catholic Central on Sept. 15, by a 43-22 score. LoDico had 5 points and 7 rebounds for St. Johns.

Fulton takes 22-8 loss in football with costly penalties turning tide

The final 22-8 score in Fulton's football game with Potterville last Friday should have been in the Pirates' favor.

However, two key penalty calls and a missed snap, put Potterville in the winner's seat, and gave the Pirates an opening CMAC loss.

Fulton kicked off to start the game, and things looked like there were going to go the Pirates' way when Scott McCausey intercepted a Potterville pass in the opening possession.

That interception was nullified, and the Vikings eventually scored on a 5 yard pass from Steve Lichti to Randy Strouse. The two point conversion attempt was good, putting Potterville up 8-0.

Potterville scored once more in the second quarter, upping their lead to 14-0.

The Pirates struck back when Todd Walden connected on a 63 yard pass play to Todd Koone. The two point conversion pass from Walden to Koone was good and Fulton was down by just six points, 14-8.

In the third quarter, the Pirates had a 70 yard touchdown run by Bob Baker called back on a clipping call.

"That really hurt," said Coach Leo Rosencrants. The final "bad break" of the game for Fulton came when the ball sailed over the punter's head and Potterville took it in for the final score of the game.

"It was really a close ballgame," Rosencrants said, "much closer than the final score indicates." Fulton played the contest without the services of their premier running back, Don Price, who was out with a bad knee. He should be back when the Pirates face Pewamo-Westphalia this Friday, but they may play without quarterback Todd Walden. He suffered a separated shoulder in the Potterville outing.

"He looks doubtful — very doubtful," the coach said. Walden was 5-9 in passing for 97 yards against Potterville, and Koone caught 4 passes for 98 yards.

Defensively, Chip Helms had 13 tackles for the Pirates.

"When something happened, it seemed to happen against us," Rosencrants said. "Hopefully, we'll have a good game with Pewamo-Westphalia."

Clinton golfers have busy week

A hectic week of high school golf was capped off last Saturday at the annual Clinton County Meet, hosted this year by DeWitt at Prairie Creek Golf Course.

St. Johns took second place in the meet with a 325 total for 18 holes, behind a ranked Laingsburg team who shot 318. DeWitt took third at 333, Pewamo-Westphalia was fourth with 341, and Ovid-Elsie claimed fifth at 402.

Individual scoring for the teams was: St. Johns — Jeff Dean 80; Todd Kiem 81; Paul Hughes 82; Tom Lewis 82. Pewamo-Westphalia — Scott Platte 83; Dan Smith 84; Joe Platte 85; Dane Hengesbach 89. Ovid-Elsie — Kip Scott 96; Lee McCallister 97; Mike Price 99.

In other action last week, the Redwings took top honors in matches with Ovid-Elsie 158-187, and Corunna 167-177.

"We played very well in the match with Ovid-Elsie," St. Johns coach Paul Sternburgh said. "Our first three counting scores have been very consistent."

Hughes was medalist in the match, shooting a 37. Lewis carded a 38, Dean shot a 39, and Kiem had a 44.

For Ovid-Elsie, McCallister had a low score of 41, Brad Walker and Steve Hammond each had 48, and Lockwood shot a 50.

The St. Johns junior varsity defeated O-E 179-205. In the match at Corunna on Thursday, junior varsity golfer Doug Fenby, took medalist honors with a 39. Varsity scorers were Dean and Hughes with 41's, Paul Schneeberger shot a 42, and Kiem came in with a 43.

The junior varsity took a 173-188 win. Pewamo-Westphalia linksters took part in the Byron Invitational last Monday, scoring 365 as a team. Individually, Joe Platte carded a 84, Smith had 89, Scottie Platte shot 94, and Hengesbach came home with a 98.

The Pirates took a big win on their home course last PIRATE RUNNER — Jeff Wirth carries for tough yardage in the Pewamo-Westphalia/Ovid-Elsie football clash from two weeks ago. The Pirates lost a controversial game to Laingsburg in their CMAC opener last Friday to make them 0-1 in league play.

Thursday over Laingsburg 151-154. It was a well deserved victory for Coach Duane Blatt's boys.

Joe Platte was low man once again for the Pirates, carding a 36. Smith shot a 37, Hengesbach had 38, and Scott Platte rounded things out with a 40.

Pewamo-Westphalia and Ovid-Elsie squared off in a match last night (Sept. 22) at the Pirates home course, the Portland Country Club. They have another match at home tomorrow with Portland St. Patrick, and travel to three different invitationals on Thurs., Fri., and Sat. — Shephard, Ludington, and Alma.

Besides the match with Pewamo-Westphalia, the Maruader golfers face Chesaning in a MMB match tonight (Sept. 23).

Redwing golfers face a stiff conference challenger in the form of Alma, who they play tonight on their home Clinton County Country Club course.

"We really need to win to put some pressure on Alma as far as the eventual league title is concerned," Coach Sternburgh said. "It should be a very close match. Our kids are capable of shooting in the 30's on our home course — we should match up well with them (Alma)."

St. Johns golfers meet DeWitt's linksters at home on Thursday, and will also participate in the Shephard Invitational.

Pirates upset with calls in 6-0 pigskin loss

"I'm perturbed, to say the least," said Pewamo-Westphalia football coach Kurt Mabie.

The statement, made in reference to a "bad call" which nullified a Pirate touchdown in their game with Laingsburg last Friday, cost P-W at the least a tie in their opening CMAC game.

As it ended, the Wolfpack came away with a slim, and disputed, 6-0 win over Pewamo-Westphalia.

"We teach the kids here not to play dirty football, and not to question the refs' calls," Mabie said. "But, I can't sit still for this. It was a flagrantly bad call — we'll fight for what is right."

Pewamo-Westphalia's ire was raised over a call made late in the fourth quarter on an offensive lineman for "being outside the free blocking zone."

The Pirates had recovered a Laingsburg fumble at the Wolfpack 19 yard line. Jeff Wirth ran a counter down to the 9, and quarterback Dave Stump took the ball in to score on a 4 yard bootleg.

However, the touchdown was not allowed when the backfield judge ruled on offensive lineman had thrown an illegal block below the waist.

"He (the official) was out of position in the first place, it was not his call to make in the second place, and thirdly, our player did not block below the waist," Mabie said. "It was just a bad call."

The only touchdown that counted in the game came off a pass from Wolfpack quarterback Greg Hutchings with 9 minutes left in the game. The Pirates held the premier quarterback to just 48 total passing yards, completing 4-14.

For the Pirates, Stump was 4-12 passing for 76 yards, and Doug Nurenburg had 2 receptions for 42 yards. P-W generated 202 offensive yards compared to 160 for Laingsburg. Wirth led the Pirates in rushing with 62 yards on 14 carries.

Defensively, Terry Evans had 10 solo tackles, 3 assists, and intercepted one pass, while Craig Thelen had 6 solo tackles and 1 assist.

The Pirates from Pewamo-Westphalia will take on the Pirates from Fulton this Friday before a Parents Night crowd at P-W.

The Pewamo-Westphalia junior varsity has a 1-0-2 record, tying their game with Laingsburg 8-8.

GARDENERS — Irene Beaman and Pearl Roberts work in the Findlay Manor Garden.

Happy birthday to Frances Lacko on Sept. 25 and to Clifford Halsted on Sept. 27. Cards and letters are sincerely appreciated.

Time was when being left-handed was considered a handicap, then came scissors for the southpaw and other items too numerous to mention followed. Articles are available for mobility, recreation, and leisure, auto and home repair, and grooming and personal care.

As with products for the southpaw, products for the handicapper are being developed to maximize everyone's capability. Personal care products such as the adult incontinent briefs, make it possible for residents to function in the community. Clothing designed for ease in dressing may be of interest to the individuals who have trouble buttoning their shirts. Or perhaps knife, fork and spoon with large handles will make life easier for the individual with reduced finger dexterity.

With the holiday season just around the corner, why not consider a gift that makes the impossible activity become possible for the elderly and handicapper. Sometimes these products increase functioning levels. They always increase independence. Contact Robert Dianda-Motz at the agency and we will help you with your gift list.

- Did you know that:
- 75 percent of retirees would prefer to continue some kind of part-time work.
 - One of our male residents will celebrate his 101st birthday.
 - More than 80 percent of those over 65 have some form of chronic medical condition.

James Rehmann directs police program in Alaska

James Rehmann, a 1966 graduate of St. Johns High School, is the director of an innovative program in Anchorage, Alaska, in which police officers participate in teaching and counseling public school students.

Rehmann has been with the Anchorage Police Department since 1978. He was drafted into the army in 1966, then served as a social worker from 1972 to 1973. From 1974 until 1978 he served as a U.S. Army officer.

Rehmann has a bachelor of science degree in secondary education, a masters of science degree in criminal psychology and has completed graduate work in counseling psychology.

In 1983 he developed a Police/School Liaison Program, based on a program in Flint, Mich. Rehmann wrote his masters thesis on the Flint program — and later developed an even more extensive program for Anchorage.

The program places police officers in local schools as instructors and counselors. In the schools, the officers not only provide information, but also help students develop skills for refusing to become in-involved in drug use and other unlawful activities.

"The thing young people need more than anything else is a good friend," says Rehmann, who was visiting his hometown of St. Johns last week.

James Rehmann is the son of John and Germaine Rehmann of St. Johns.

Corn yield

Giles Roehl

Two hundred bushel per acre? Anxious to get an idea on what will be your corn yield? Here is a quick and dirty method to estimate (roughly) the yield you can expect from the standing corn. The method was outlined at the Integrated Pest Management School last spring. The method is as follows:

Since yields taken right now are estimated prior to crop maturity, this requires you to count ears, rows and kernels rather than the weight method found in most seed corn company handbooks.

1. Count the number of ears in 1/1,000 acre. (See table to identify row length for 1/1,000 acre).
2. Count the number of rows of kernels on at least three ears for each 1/1,000 acre checked.
3. Count the number kernels per row on at least three ears per 1/1,000 acre. (Randomly selected ears for steps two and three. Check ears three, seven, twelve or some such number — do not choose unusually large or other abnormal ears).
4. Calculate the estimated yield for each of the three ears using this formula. (No. ears times no. of rows times no. of kernels per row times 0.01116 equals bushel/acre.) For example, if 22 ears were counted in the 1/1,000 acre, with 18 rows of kernels, and 36 kernels per row, the estimated yield would be 159 bu. per acre. (22 times 18 times 36 times 0.01116).
5. After doing a minimum of three ears average, the result to come up with is the yield estimate.
6. The yield should be determined at no less than five sites in a field (more in a larger field) and the average determined to come up with a close estimate of actual.

1/1,000 acre table:

- 7 inches row width — 74.8 ft. is 1/1,000 acre
- 15 inches row width — 34.8 ft. is 1/1,000 acre
- 20 inches row width — 26.1 ft. is 1/1,000 acre
- 30 inches row width — 17.4 ft. is 1/1,000 acre
- 36 inches row width — 14.5 ft. is 1/1,000 acre
- 38 inches row width — 13.8 ft. is 1/1,000 acre
- 40 inches row width — 13.0 ft. is 1/1,000 acre

Barley yellow dwarf virus and red leaf virus

There was a heavy infection of the red leaf virus in oats again this season. Red leaf is the same virus as barley yellow dwarf and aphid transmitted only. Growers who are planning to sow winter wheat on the ground that was planted to oats in the spring, should not plant their wheat early. Delay planting until 10 days or more after the Hessian fly free date. This will keep the wheat small and help rob the aphids of a fall food supply.

Hunting and Fishing Day is Sept. 27

By EILEEN GILLESPIE
Clinton County
Soil Conservation

On Sept. 27, 1986, we will celebrate National Hunting and Fishing Day. To Michigan's early settlers, hunting and fishing were a principal means of gathering food to sustain life and a highly popular recreational pursuit.

Hunting and fishing are traditions deeply rooted in Michigan's way of life and are today enjoyed by millions of citizens. For many, hunting and fishing are primary recreational outlets which historically are built upon a sensitive understanding and profound respect for the environment and wildlife.

Resource experts have long agreed that the quality of the environment and habitat are primary factors controlling the abundance and diversity of our wildlife populations. Michigan is unquestionably blessed with abundant and diverse wildlife populations of national, if not worldwide, significance.

As we recognize the major roles played by hunters and fishermen on National Hunting and Fishing Day, it is appropriately a time to reflect on the tremendous effort put forth by all of Michigan's citizenry, making the state a national wildlife showcase.

Whether or not you hunt and fish, I believe, Michigan citizens all value wildlife and recognize that wildlife contributes to Michigan's quality of life through recreational opportunities and serves as a barometer of our environmental health. As a result, Michigan's citizenry has supported and continues to support the establishment of programs which encourage wise management, protection, and enhancement of our natural resources.

While National Hunting and Fishing Day affords us the opportunity to recognize and enjoy the fruits of our labor, it is also a time to recognize that each of us in our way, whether we're doing laundry with a low phosphate detergent, designing a subdivision near a wetland, or enjoying a day of hunting or fishing contribute to quality of the environment and our wildlife.

Tougher soybean criteria damage are implemented

The Federal Grain Inspection Service (FGIS) on Sept. 1 implemented a tougher interpretation of the damage criteria for soybeans. The changes were made as a result of an increasing number of complaints from foreign buyers about poor soybean quality.

The changes were recommended after nearly a year of study and research by 30 groups participating in the grain quality workshops sponsored by the North American Export Grain Assoc. The groups participating in the workshops included the American Soybean Assoc., the National Grain and Feed Assoc., the American Farm Bureau Federation, and the Grain and Elevator Processing Society.

The quality standards are now comparable to those used by foreign buyers. This should mean fewer quality complaints and increased U.S. soybean export demand.

The new criteria involve a change in five of the 10 interpretive line slides used by grain graders to judge soybean damage. Changes in interpretation include: 1) badly ground or weather damaged, 2) mold damage, 3) frost damage (green coloration), 4) damage by heat (minor heat damage) and 5) heat damage (major heat damage).

Tom Benson honored at Soybean Expo

Tom Benson of St. Johns, was one of 10 soybean farmers recently honored at Soybean Expo by the American Soybean Association and Mobay Corporation for outstanding efforts and enthusiasm in organizing a county association as part of the ASA-Sencor County Startup program.

About 120 farmers participated in the program during its first year.

For his efforts, Benson attended Soybean Expo and received recognition at a special reception there.

Doug Summer elected to angus group

Douglas Summer of Elsie has been elected to the membership of the American Angus Assoc.

The association has over 30,000 active adult and junior members and is the largest beef cattle registry association in the world.

The association records ancestral information and keeps records of production on individual animals for its members.

Farmer's lung

Marilyn Loudenslager

September 22-27 is Farmers Safety Week. In honor of this week, I am dedicating my column to a disease that may be little known to farmers today, but is on the increase in Michigan. Farmers need to be aware of this so preventative measures can be taken.

Farmer's lung is the disease I am referring to. It's increase in this state may possibly be due to the Michigan rains, says Howard Doss, MSU safety specialist.

Farmer's lung is caused by breathing mold spores that come from moldy hay or grain. After several exposures to these mold spores for several months or longer, depending on the individual and the frequency of exposure, a worker may begin to experience an allergic reaction to these mold spores.

Symptoms of farmer's lung usually begin within four to six hours after exposure. They are: coughing and bringing up more mucus than usual, fever, sometimes chills, shortness of breath and discomfort in the lungs, tightness and/or pains in the chest.

The only way to stop the symptoms of farmer's lung is to seek medical treatment and to avoid breathing the mold spores. In severe cases, the affected person may have to get out of farming. In less severe cases, the victim may be able to separate him/herself from the part of the operation where the mold spores exist and/or wear a dust mask rated to filter out the mold spores.

Several types of dust masks are available, the best ones have a molded rubber, plastic or silicon body with replaceable filter or cartridges. Disposable dust masks may have adequate filtering abilities, but can leak air between the face and mask. Even the masks with molded bodies may leak air between the face and mask if the wearer has a beard or facial hair.

If someone has farmer's lung and continues to work around molds and breathes spores, she/he may get progressively sicker. This could develop into a condition in which the victim may be unable to do physical work, be active, and they could die from the disease.

If you think you have farmer's lung, see a doctor.

Your doctor may not be familiar with the disease and may refer you to a specialist. Whether you have farmer's lung or not, take positive action to avoid molds in hay or grain. When working in an area with possible mold infestation, wear a dust or cartridge filter respirator mask.

Marilyn Loudenslager is the agriculture agent for the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.

State Police seek help in eliminating pot planting

Operation HEMP, a Michigan State Police effort to eliminate marijuana planting in the state, is in full swing, according to a State Police press release.

Last year, more than 141,000 plants were destroyed as a result of the cooperative effort which involves participation from other law enforcement agencies as well as the public.

The State Police are asking for assistance from the public in stopping marijuana at the source. If a citizen has reason to be suspicious about property that may be used for growing marijuana, he or she should call the State Police Operation HEMP toll free number, 1-800-235-HEMP.

Tips from the public have had a significant impact on the number of plants eliminated in the first two years of the operation, police say.

Children age 2 to 3 may receive vaccines now

All children aged two and three should receive a new children's vaccine that has been developed to protect against bacterial meningitis and other serious childhood diseases. The Haemophilus influenzae type b (HIB) vaccine is now available at the Clinton County branch office of the Mid-Michigan District Health Dept. The vaccine has already been administered to over 2 million children in the United States.

The HIB bacterium will attack one of every 200 children in the U.S. before age 5, and is responsible for approximately 12,000 cases per year of meningitis. Most of these cases are young children. In addition to meningitis, the vaccine will protect against other invasive bacterial diseases including pneumonia, joint infections and epiglottitis.

The vaccine is free to any child 24-36 months of age, and children from 18-60 months of age who are at high risk. The vaccine is also available for $3 to children 37-60 months of age with no identified risk factors. The vaccine has a very low rate of minor side effects; a few children may have a low-grade fever or some minor swelling at the injection site.

The vaccine is available at the following clinic sites in Clinton County:

- St. Johns: Health Dept., 306 Elm Street, second Monday each month, by appointment only: phone, 517-224-7772.
- Elsie: United Methodist Church, 160 W. Main Street, fourth Thursday each month, by appointment only: phone, 517-224-7772.
- Westphalia: Westphalia Township Hall, South Grange Road, fourth Monday each month, by appointment only: phone, 517-224-7772.
- DeWitt: South DeWitt Church of God, 2931 Herison Road, third Thursday each month, by appointment only: phone, 517-669-3663, ext. 227.
- Bath: Lakeside Chapel, Park Lake Road, third Thursday each month, by appointment only: phone, 517-669-3663, ext. 227.

Latchkey children

Theresa Silm

Latchkey children. The phrase evokes images of young children, with house keys on strings around their necks, arriving home from school to empty houses. The "house key tied around the neck" situation would be hard to find these days but it would not be hard to find latchkey, or self-care, children. Today's latchkey child is 6 to 13 years old and either starts or ends the school day by him/herself. It's estimated that between four million and seven million children in the United States are in self-care, says Chris Nelson, MSU Cooperative Extension Service family and children specialist.

"It's hard to estimate how many children actually are in self-care because most parents will not say, 'Yes, I leave my child alone two hours every day,' and because many kids aren't in the same situation from day to day," says. Opinions on the effects and eventual consequences of self-care are mixed. Self-care is a situation that we don't know much about, in terms of its effects on children. We don't know how many kids are in self-care and there are many other unknowns. It's our feeling, however, that more and more children are entering self-care.

Experts estimate that by the year 2000, 75 percent of the children of working parents will be latchkey kids. Having a child in self-care can be a good or bad situation, depending on the child's age and emotional characteristics, Nelson says. Self-care can help young people become more independent, master self-help skills, develop problem-solving abilities, take responsibility and mature more quickly. In each family, members need to assess their situation and their child or children when making a decision about self-care or other child-care problems. And the child should have input.

Some kids will tell you, "I love to come home and spend some time by myself because I'm all by myself, and I like that." And other children will tell you that they're scared. They don't like being home; they feel alone.

The latchkey issue is complicated, combining personal maturity, family structure, neighborhood safety and community resources. A primary consideration when deciding to place a child in self-care is safety.

If children are in a neighborhood where they feel unsafe or where they feel isolated, then they're going to have a lot of fear. This is reported in some latchkey kids. They probably shouldn't be left alone. Placing a child in self-care doesn't have to be a permanent arrangement. Nelson recommends that parents seek alternative child-care arrangements if they suspect that self-care is less than positive. There should be rules and guidelines about TV watching, snacks, playing outdoors, chores and who is in charge if more than one child is at home. The worst thing parents can do is not leave anything for the child to do. Families need to decide what will happen during that self-care time to make it a positive situation, Nelson says.

"It's important for parents to think about what their expectations are for children during the times they are home and communicate those expectations to the kids," Nelson says. "Ideally, it's a family situation. Self-care is a family issue."

For families that have decided on self-care, it's a good idea to break up that time with some other activity, she adds. It may be a 4-H club or other after school activity that is consistent so that the parent knows where the child will be.

What factors can help parents decide if their child should be in self-care or if other child-care arrangements are necessary? The following checklist can help parents evaluate whether their child may have difficulty staying alone.

1. Have you come to believe that your neighborhood is not safe for your child?
2. Does your child exhibit behavior that frightens you, such as playing unsupervised with fire, dangerous household tools or chemicals; experimenting with alcohol or other drugs; having seizures; demonstrating violent or aggressive behavior?
3. Has your child lost access to any adult living or working nearby that he or she knows and upon whom he or she can rely in an emergency?
4. Are you not accessible to your child by telephone?
5. Do any of your children refuse to stay alone with other siblings?

If you answer yes to any of these questions, you should reevaluate your decision to leave your child in self-care or in the care of a sibling. Theresa Silm is the 4-H youth agent for the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.

School children at risk of contract with strangers

Now that school has begun again, children who are spending more time away from parents' supervision may be more at risk from contact with strangers, according to Clinton County Sheriff Terry Haneckow.

Parents should warn children about talking to strangers, getting into a car with a stranger, or letting a stranger touch them, Haneckow says. Children should play in groups and never in a vacant building or alley, and should take a friend along when they go out.

Children should be encouraged to tell their parents about any adult who bothers them or acts strangely. Haneckow also recommends getting to know the background of babysitters or other adults who become friends with children. Children should be taught that there are certain people they can depend upon, such as law enforcement officers and teachers.

"The sheriff's office is concerned about the safety of all children," Haneckow says. "Please report any unusual incidents in which your children might be involved. The sheriff's office is here to help."

House appraisals can have tricky aspects

By DON G. CAMPBELL

The market value of your home is (insert what seems to be a reasonable figure).

No, home appraisal — while not a science — is, certainly a lot more exact than that. But it can still have some tricky aspects.

Dear Mr. Campbell: We bought our house about three years ago on a 13 percent mortgage — a $120,000 house on which we paid the normal 20 percent down payment for a $96,000 commitment.

When rates started coming down and we were able to negotiate for a 10 percent loan we began the paperwork for refinancing, and it is just now getting down to the wire. What stumps me, though, is that houses in our area have been going up sharply for at least six months and we assumed that the new appraisal would reflect this and we might be able to pick up $3,000 or $4,000 in the process of refinancing for some needed home improvements.

Imagine our shock when the new appraisal came in at $122,000 — just $2,000 more than it was when we bought it three years ago — and so the 80 percent refinancing almost puts us back where we started. We know for a fact that houses just like ours are on the market for considerably more than $122,000. Are the lenders forcing appraisers to "come in low" in order to offset the lower interest rate that they're getting in the process of refinancing? — Mr. W. McB., San Clemente, Calif.

A: Not really, but you can't be blamed for thinking that it's a pretty funny coincidence.

The trouble is that most of the rules the appraisers work with aren't laid down by the local lenders but by the biggies in the secondary market — Federal National Mortgage Association (Fannie Mae) and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation (Freddie Mac) — and the rules are in place whether it's a new loan origination or a refinancing.

In your area, as in many parts of the country, home values have gone up in the last few months since interest rates started, coming down so dramatically. But, unfortunately, the entire loan-origination business has become so frantic that the time-lag between starting the paperwork and closing the deal has stretched out to three or four months, and those price increases you mentioned are so new that they haven't yet shown up on the books.

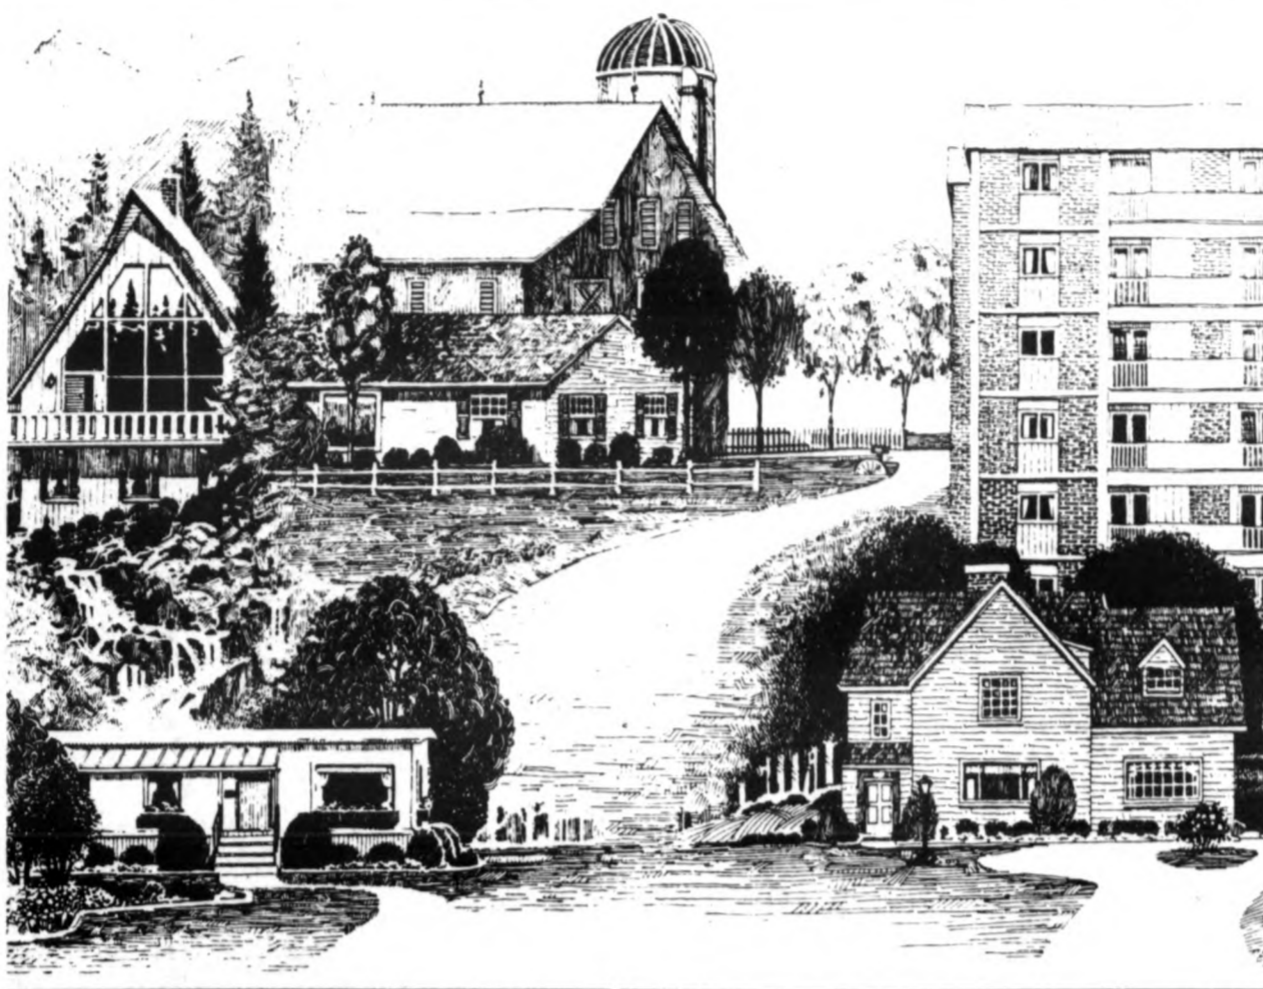

Appraisers, in arriving at their dollar value figures, are stuck with "comparables" (sales that have closed on houses that are like yours in terms of location, size, construction and other features). But, because so many home sales fall out of escrow, for one reason or another, comparables aren't possible until the money has actually changed hands.

In time, presumably, these higher prices will start showing up in the comparables and the situation will straighten itself out. But, as this is written, it's causing some hardships.

Dear Mr. Campbell: In one of your recent articles you wrote about a requirement for a home buyer mortgage insurance that would protect the mortgage holder against default by the buyer. Is such insurance available to protect a homeowner who "carries back" a second mortgage?

My wife and I are considering the advisability of "carrying back" as a second mortgage some part of the price of our home which we are attempting to sell. However, we are very concerned about the potential risks involved. It is our understanding that if the buyer defaults on the second mortgage payments the seller could experience years of frustration in attempting to foreclose. I have tried, without success, to obtain such information from bankers and mortgage companies here. They seem to believe that such insurance probably is not available. — Mr. F.C.K., Denver, Colo.

A: Theoretically, such insurance probably is available from someone, but in terms of reality, your local bankers and mortgage companies are probably right.

As one insurance man, familiar with conventional mortgage insurance coverage, put it, "technically, you can find an insurance company willing to insure you against almost anything — like going bald — but would you want to pay the premiums?"

For instance, at one time we found ourselves responsible for the financial success (or failure) of a large, outdoor, social function toward which the sponsoring organization had laid out a wad of money. So we investigated the availability of rain insurance. Sure enough, there was a company willing to write such a one-night coverage, but the cost was way out of line relative to the risk.

If you do your homework properly — which consists of investigating the credit and character references of your borrower very thoroughly — most lenders will tell you that there doesn't have to be any more risk in carrying a second mortgage than there is in carrying a first. And, even if it gets down to the nitty-gritty of foreclosure, it shouldn't take "years" to resolve.

Dear Mr. Campbell: My husband and I have $10,000 for a small/medium, new, ranch-style home. We have a combined gross income of $45,000 with no dependents and no outstanding loans. Since we are not concerned about schools and want to live rurally, will anyone lend us money for about two to three acres of land and enough to build a new $60,000 ranch house? — Mrs. D.C., Delaware, Ohio

A: Very few of those houses you see as you drive through the country got there by popping up out of the ground. Somebody financed them and banks have been doing this since the entire country was rural.

You sound like a good bet to me, and I suspect that you'll find a cordial reception when you decide exactly where you want to acquire this land and approach a local real estate broker and banker to expedite it. I suspect, too, that they will be especially cordial when they find out that you don't want to acquire the land as a working farm.

Buying your first home (or second, or third)? For a copy of Don Campbell's leaflet, "Right House, Right Price," send $1 and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Don Campbell, P.O. Box 39527, Los Angeles, Calif. 90039.

CISD begins partnership program

The Career Education Program, sponsored by the Clinton County Intermediate School District (CISD), is a new program established to help students of the six local school districts.

The ISD is looking for help from the business community to make the program successful.

The local schools served are DeWitt, Bath, Fowler, Ovid-Elsie, Pewamo-Westphalia, and St. Johns.

The program is a partnership between the schools and business community whereby students are involved in a series of activities and services designed to better prepare them for future jobs. Included are a speaker's bureau, interview day, and Clinton County Career Day.

In the speakers bureau program, employers are invited into the classroom to share their expertise in the areas of employment, job profiles, career ladders, career outlook, educational requirements and other relevant subject related areas. Business persons interested in being a part of the speakers bureau should contact the ISD by Sept. 30 so that a list of speakers may be compiled for the various schools' use.

DeWitt Band seeks members

Adult musicians who long ago put their band instruments in the closet now have the perfect reason to dust them off — the DeWitt Community Concert Band is starting its second season.

The concert band is open to all players 17 and older and will be performing a wide variety of musical styles. The group will rehearse on Wednesday evenings at 7:30 p.m. in the DeWitt High School band room beginning on Sept. 24.

Persons interested in joining the band should contact Patricia Keilen Jackson at 875-2137 or 224-6831.

Interview Day has been used in past years in Ovid-Elsie and St. Johns but will be expanded to the other four districts this year. It involves area business people coming into the schools and acting out a mock interview situation with students on a one-on-one basis. This activity will be programmed for later in the school year, but businesses interested in taking part in Interview Day should contact the ISD.

Career Day is a planned educational event which will offer many opportunities for business and graduating seniors. A large centrally located facility will allow employers to display examples of their products and services and talk about career opportunities in their businesses. Career Day is also programmed for later in the school year with businesses asked to notify the ISD if they want to take part in it.

For more information on any aspect of the Career Education Program, contact Patricia Jackson at the Clinton County Intermediate School District Office, 224-6831.

DeWitt Community Church sponsors film series

Over 50 million parents have been inspired by Dr. James Dobson's "Focus on the Family" film series. Now, building on that nationwide groundswell of interest, Word Publishing and Focus on the Family, Inc. have released "Turn Your Heart Toward Home."

In this bold new film series, America's most trusted family life expert brings his vast experience to bear on one of society's most pressing challenges, the protecting and strengthening of family relationships. The first discussion-provoking film of this six-part series, "A Father Looks Back," will be shown at DeWitt Community Church, 505 Webb Drive, on Sunday, Sept. 28, at 6 p.m. The remaining five films will be shown each Sunday evening through Nov. 2. Citing example after familiar example, Dr. Dobson portrays the pressures today's parents are susceptible to. He reminds them of society's slide toward humanism.

If there's a problem that no one wants to handle, we'll handle it.

When there's a need to be met in your community, your United Way is there to help. To care for the homeless, the elderly, the sick, the poor, the destitute. To step into situations before they become problems. To help the community help itself by mobilizing its talent and resources.

Your United Way gift does more things for more people who really need help than any other single gift you can give. For which we say, "Thanks to you, it works for all of us."

WHERE THERE'S A NEED, THERE'S A WAY.
