School committee gets OK

The St. Johns Board of Education voted Feb. 17 to re-establish a citizens' committee that will be asked to recommend a course of action following the state-ordered closing by June 1 of Central Elementary School.

A state police fire inspector on Feb. 10 told the Board that he will not approve the school building for student occupancy after the end of the current school year. He cited numerous fire code violations in the 100-year-old building that will require extensive renovations to correct.

School Superintendent Earl Gabriel said former members of the Citizens Committee on School Organization, a committee that in 1983 conducted a study of the district's buildings, will be asked to again serve on the committee. However, four of those people have either died or moved away from the district, said Gabriel, and members of the Central School Parent-Teacher Organization will be nominated to fill those vacancies.

ALL appointments to the committee will be made by the Board, Gabriel said. He said anyone wishing to volunteer or nominate others to the committee may contact his office and he will pass the names on to the Board.

When the committee was originally formed in 1983, each member of the Board nominated 10 people. Appointments were made from those nominations until four people from each Board member's list had been appointed. The Board also named district resident Ron Huard to chair the committee and left four additional appointments on the committee to his discretion.

Gabriel said the Board is expected to adopt a formal charge, or statement of purpose, for the committee at the March 3 meeting of the Board. After that, it will be up to the committee to set its own agenda, he said. The committee recommendation is expected to be made by May 15.

The three basic options to be studied by the committee are closing the school completely, renovating the building completely, or renovating the building only partially such that only one floor of the building could be used for classes.

Man survives train/car crash

A St. Johns man narrowly escaped with his life but was hospitalized with head and neck injuries Friday after his car struck a train at a crossing in downtown St. Johns.

Robert Stollsteimer, 21, of 608 N. Clinton Ave., was in good condition Friday at Clinton Memorial Hospital. St. Johns police officer Steve Rademacher said Stollsteimer was admitted to the hospital "mostly for observation."

Rademacher said Stollsteimer was southbound on North Clinton Avenue when he struck the train. He was thrown from his 1978 Datsun, which was dragged about 60 feet by the train.

Rademacher said Stollsteimer reported not seeing the flashing crossing lights. The driver of a car immediately behind Stollsteimer did see the lights and wondered why Stollsteimer was not slowing down, Rademacher said.

The engineer of the train struck by Stollsteimer's car was unaware that the accident occurred until contacted by radio, Rademacher said. The train later backed up to return to the scene of the accident.

Rademacher said Stollsteimer will be issued a citation for disregarding a warning signal. He also said the warning signal was found to be working after the accident but that it will be "checked into further."

Bartenders raise cancer funds

By RICH WERTZ

Kathy Masarik, a bartender at the American Legion Club in St. Johns, waited patiently while Legion member Rex Ward took aim at her with a whipped cream pie.

"Oh boy," chuckled Ward, and gave the pie an underhand toss, winging the bartender on the shoulder.

"Bull's-eye!" he cried. Masarik divested herself of as much whipped cream as possible while the next customer stepped up with a one dollar bill in his hand.

The occasion was fraught with silliness but the purpose of the event was serious. Masarik, along with eight other bartenders in Clinton County, was participating in the American Cancer Society's Bartender of the Year Contest. Each dollar donated to the Cancer Society represented one vote for participating bartenders.

MASARIK RECEIVED something close to 1,000 votes — which translates into an equal number of dollars to fight cancer. She credits her "campaign manager" Betty Knight for putting together the campaign that raised that hefty amount. Besides gathering votes by sitting still for pie-throwing supporters, Masarik's campaign sponsored a fundraising breakfast and solicited donations from local merchants.

Other county candidates, after paying $25 to enter the contest, waged their own fund-raising campaigns, with strategies ranging from dances to simply putting collection canisters on the bars of their respective establishments.

"The idea is to sign up as many bars as you can to participate in the contest," says Paul Schuller, president of the Clinton County Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Douglas Distributing of Owosso and Superior Distributing of Lansing donated prizes, including a first prize vacation in Germany. Local merchants donated more prizes so that every bartender in the contest will receive something, Schuller says.

THE CONTEST began Feb. 3 and continued until Feb. 22. A victory lunch is planned for March 3.

Besides the American Legion's Kathy Masarik, other county bartenders participating in the contest were Vernon Werner, Brunnos Bar in St. Johns; Ed Pasika, Bob's Bar in St. Johns; D. Morgan, the Roadhouse in St. Johns; K. Curtis, Tri-Ami Bowl in Ovid; Marge Alvater, the Main Bar in Elsie; Connie Cerny, Millers Bar in Elsie; Brenda Koenigsnecht, Fowler Bowl in Fowler; and James Thelen, Millers Bar in Fowler.

This is the first year the bartenders' contest has been tried in Clinton County, says Schuller. He says the contest is providing a boost the county chapter's effort to meet its $32,000 fundraising quota this year.

"We've never made it in the past but we hope to this year," he says.

The Cancer Society will sponsor a "Lock Up" in June to further its fundraising efforts in the county, he says.

Notes

Rick Terres

ST. JOHNS A reception will be held for Richard Terres, the assistant superintendent for business of the St. Johns school system, who is resigning to take a similar position with the Howell public school district.

The event will be held Thursday, Feb. 27, at the Shangrila Restaurant on US-27, just south of St. Johns, from 4 to 6 p.m. There will be a cash bar. Residents of the school district are invited.

Positivism

ST. JOHNS "Raising Positive Kids in a Negative World," a four-part film series, will be shown at the First United Methodist Church in St. Johns.

The series is based on the book of the same name by teacher, author and speaker Zig Ziglar. His premise is that we live in a negative world and parents must therefore learn to look for the good in their child.

"Until we recognize the ability and worth of our children, we're not going to be as excited about helping them develop and realize their potential," he says.

The series, recommended for educators, community groups, church leaders and parents, will be shown at 5:30 p.m. on March 3, 9 and 16 at the church at 200 E. State Street in St. Johns. For more information phone 224-6859 or 224-2415.

Work Ed Council looking for ways to expand

The Clinton County Work Education Council is on a push to include more students in its career awareness efforts but it needs more support from the public schools if it is to be successful, says Bill Richards, coordinator of the council.

Richards, in recent appearances before the St. Johns Board of Education, at meetings of the council itself, and during private interviews, has outlined what the council has been able to accomplish so far — and what it hopes to do in the future.

The Work Education Council, a "partnership" of businesses, educators, retirees and others, was formed in 1980 to promote better understanding by students of how to look for and prepare for employment. Through the efforts of the council, students in the St. Johns and Ovid-Elsie school districts have created portfolios of their work experience, "shadowed" members of various professions during a typical workday, participated in practice interview days with local employers, and talked with retired people who have shared with them a lifetime of experience in the working world.

THE IDEA behind these activities, say Work Education Council members, is to ensure that students know how to get a job when they leave school.

"We were teaching the skills but we weren't teaching the skills to get a job," Richards says.

The council has met with a fair degree of success, he says. A number of local employers have commented that students who participate in the "employability development" efforts of the council are noticeably better prepared for actual job interviews than those who do not. The Michigan Business and Education Partnership Project named the Work Education Council's program as one of four distinguished programs in the state last year.

Richards says that despite these successes, there is more work to be done. He and other members of the council appeared Feb. 10 before the St. Johns Board of Education to ask support for expanding Work Education programs.

"WE NEED TO generate more commitment on the part of the schools," Richards says.

Council members talk of "infusing" career instruction into the curriculum — that is, encouraging teachers and administrators to make career training part of day-to-day classroom instruction. For instance, an English teacher who assigns students an essay project could specify that the subject of the essay should be a particular profession, said high school counselor Loren

Perry at the Feb. 10 meeting of the Board. That way, he said, the students not only get the desired English training, they also learn something about the job market in which they will someday use their writing skills.

Work Education Council members also mention the need to infuse into the curriculum training in "life skills" such as household budgeting, purchasing insurance, buying or renting housing and handling checking accounts and credit.

"I think you can look at some of these things and say some of the kids are getting these things already — but the others should get them too," says Richards. "Most of the things we're talking about would not require new classes, just some adjustments."

Some of those adjustments will not be easily made. At St. Johns high school, career education efforts are hampered by lack of physical space, says Perry.

"WE'D LIKE to set up a career education center but we don't have any place to put it," he says.

With the advent of computers as a tool for preparing students for employment, he explains, comes the problem of finding space to house the computer equipment. One option, he says, would be to mount the equipment on moveable cabinets that could be wheeled from classroom to classroom to give students access to the computerized data. But even that might not be a lasting solution because eventually the computers will be tied by telephone to information stored in Clinton Intermediate School District and state Department of Education computers — requiring a stationary telephone hook-up.

"Ideally, what we'd like to do is get the student services office and redesign it," says Perry. "But that's a dream — we're talking 40 to 50 thousand dollars."

Richards adds additional staff to the list of Work Education Council needs. Currently, he says, there is a waiting list of students who want to participate in the job shadowing program. Richards is looking for funding to pay for a staff person whose job it would be to find employers willing to participate in that program.

In the meantime, the goals of the Work Education Council and of the schools are not at odds even though Richards — a former school board member — says he sometimes frustrated by the pace at which those goals are realized.

"Education," he says, "moves very slowly."
St. Johns Superintendent of Schools Earl Gabriel says the millage increase recently approved by voters might bring some of the goals of the Work Educational Council nearer.

"Now that we've reached some stability in our finances we can start researching some of those alternatives," he says.

American illiteracy

Bill Schuette

During recent testimony before a congressional task force on education and literacy, Education Secretary William Bennett testified on illiteracy in America. A working definition of literacy is the ability to write, speak, listen, compute and solve problems that confront adults in everyday life. Seventeen to 20 million Americans can't read or write a simple sentence.

Secretary Bennett testified that one-third of the adults who have difficulty reading were born abroad. However, he noted that seventy percent of them were native English speakers who never finished high school. Many of these people are "aliterates" who once knew how to read, but lost the skill because they did not practice it.

People who cannot read are unprepared to meet daily challenges in their personal lives and in the business world. They need help to function, and they are desperately afraid of exposure. So they keep their problem a secret and only tell a confidant who can help them get around the difficulty.

Many of these people who are illiterate are successful workers and even businessmen who get through each day by avoiding questions or on-the-spot calculations. They say "I left my glasses at the office...I'll work it out and give you a call." Back at the office, or at home, the solution is worked out and the reading and writing deficiency is disguised once again.

Secretary Bennett has outlined a national plan to increase literacy that includes state and local adult education programs. It also emphasizes prevention, ensuring that we have the best instruction possible in the early grades.

Secretary Bennett also stresses that states must continue to address the dropout and illiteracy problems in secondary schools. He said that most states are now pushing ahead with education reform, increasing standards of performance and trying to insure that a high school diploma will at least signify functional literacy.

Finally, private sector involvement is critical to the success of any adult literacy program, and is a key component in President Reagan's Private Sector Initiative. As Secretary Bennett said, we cannot expect miracles. But if we have high goals in promoting literacy, we will help light the ways for millions of Americans.

State's tax-raising talent has not waned

To the Editor:

I read something in the paper the other day that really troubled me.

It said that the Michigan House of Representatives voted to start taxing utility and telephone poles as personal property. The legislation they passed, HB 4820, means that the electric and phone companies will start having to pay a tax on the pole outside your home.

Now it's not that I don't think the poles around my house are valuable, for they most certainly are. Our house has electric heating. So you can be sure I want them to have the best poles they can find, and I'm sure they are expensive.

Yet I find it disturbing that the State wants to tax them. None of the poles in my neighborhood are on State land that I know of, nor have I ever seen the State come out and fix downed lines and broken poles. Furthermore, we will be the ones who will pay the $5.5 million this tax will bring into the State's coffers each year.

I guess that's what really gets me — this behind-the-back way the State is raising taxes now. They make the utility and telephone companies the fall guys. The State gets the extra $5.5 million each year and the electric and phone companies get the blame for higher bills.

One thing for sure, the State's talent for raising taxes hasn't waned a bit.

Why not move mail boxes from porch?

To the Editor:

I read in the newspaper just last week how the Post Office mail carriers have had serious falls from uncleaned porches and steps.

My idea is this — why not ask the public to put all their mailboxes down by the porch steps? This way the mailmen wouldn't have to climb those porch steps?

It would be safe and all the mail would be enclosed in the mailboxes.

Fair events

Theresa Silm

The Clinton County 4-H Fair will initiate some new activities at this year's event.

In addition to the Homemakers Day activities and competitions which will be held this year on Wednesday, Tuesday will feature a Crafts Fair and Thursday a Farmers Market.

These new activities will be an expansion of the commercial exhibit policies which allow commercial exhibitors to reserve space for the entire week. The special exhibits policy allows for these new one day activities.

The Crafts Fair is open to the public and anyone who is interested can contact the Extension Office for an application form. The fee will be $10 per table for the day. The Fair hopes to interest a variety of displays and to involve some new people in the Clinton County 4-H Fair as well as to draw interested persons from the community to see the exhibits and do some shopping.

The Farmers Market is scheduled for Thursday and like the Crafts Fair, is open to participation from the public. 4-H members who want to participate in the Farmers Market are eligible for a special rate for their space. The applications and market information are available in the Extension Office.

People who have additional questions about either of these events may contact the Extension Office or visit with any of the Fair Board members.

PHEASANT PROJECT — The DNR will once again be working with the Extension Service to sponsor the 4-H/FFA Pheasant project. The project requirements and applications are now available in the Extension Office and can be picked up by anyone who is interested. Completed applications for this project are due in the Office by April 14th and the pheasant chicks will be delivered in late May or early June.

WINTER WIND-UP — The 4-H Council is sponsoring a special 4-H Open House in conjunction with the Winter Wind-up. The program will be held at St. Johns High School on Saturday, April 26, and all activities are open to the public. In next weeks column, I'll highlight some of the plans for the Winter Wind-up program.

Albert Koenigsnecht

Fowler missionary, a defender of the poor, dies in South America

Msgr. Albert Koenigsnecht, 68, of Fowler, died in a traffic accident on Feb. 9 in Peru. As a Maryknoll missionary for the past 40 years, Msgr. Koenigsnecht had been living the desire he had stated at his ordination — "to work with the poor."

Born in Fowler on May 30, 1917, Msgr. Koenigsnecht attended Sacred Heart Seminary in Detroit and Mount St. Mary Seminary in Cincinnati. He was ordained in 1945.

His pastoral priorities were "to be with the people, especially the poor, to identify their needs, to encourage them to take full responsibility for their future — in society as well as the church."

Msgr. Koenigsnecht began his years of missionary service in Tepic, Mexico. He was assigned to Puno, Peru, in 1948 where he became rector of Colegio San Ambrosio, and served as pastor of a parish in the Peruvian highlands. He earned a reputation for publicly defending the rights of the poor among the Aymara and Quechua Indians and was on his way to a meeting with Peruvian President Alan Garcia to discuss land problems faced by the Indians when he was killed. Once when four Aymara men were jailed by police on the unsubstantiated charges of a land-downer, Msgr. Koenigsnecht denounced the action on local radio and the men were released.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Juliana Simon of Pewamo, Mrs. Mary Klein and Mrs. Margaret Schrauben both of Fowler; and two brothers, Paul of Fowler and George of St. Johns.

A funeral mass was held and burial made at the San Pedro Cathedral in Juli. A memorial mass was held at Most Holy Trinity Catholic Church in Fowler on Feb. 22, and in Maryknoll, N.Y.

A small part of the American Civil War came alive in St. Johns last Thursday night as a group of county residents gathered in the community room of the Capital Federal Savings and Loan Association in St. Johns.

Three St. Johns residents, who are part of an organization dedicated to reenacting scenes of the Civil War, presented a program in which they described the day-to-day living conditions of a Civil War soldier and displayed memorabilia of that war.

Norman and Elday Rowley, and their son David, of 908 W. McConnell, were the guest speakers at the event, sponsored by the Clinton Historical Society. Dressed in period clothing — Norman as a foot soldier, David as a brigadier general and Elda as a fashionable lady of the period — they described the work of the modern day Tenth Michigan Infantry, a commemorative unit dedicated to providing the public with realistic glimpses of the Civil War.

"The purpose of the organization is living history," said David, who with his father started the organization in 1976 as part of the Bicentennial celebration. The Michigan Tenth is the oldest reenactment unit in Michigan.

"Not to glorify war by any stretch of the imagination," Rowley continued.

"We do these things so the public can always remember why that flag is flying on that flagpole."

The organization, in cooperation with other reenactment units from Michigan and other states, gathers several times each year to hold encampments and other historical recreations. Each year the units gather to reenact a major battle of the Civil War.

The highlight of the program Thursday night was a reenactment by Norman Rowley of a civil war infantryman engaged in an emotional interview with a reporter from Harpers Weekly. He described vividly the lulls and flare-ups of battle, keeping his audience spellbound with his performance.

The Rowleys also displayed objects that were part of the life of Civil War soldiers: uniforms made from original patterns obtained from the Smithsonian Institute in Washington D.C., hard-tack, tents, name tags crafted out of wood or other materials by the soldiers themselves before nametags were issued by the Army, a frying pan that belonged to Elijah Rowley containing a buckshot hole from the same blast that injured the Rowley ancestor (who fought in the war before moving to St. Johns), rifles that are exact replicas of those used by Civil War soldiers, and other objects.

The next gathering of Michigan Tenth will be April 6 at the Rowley home at 908 W. McConnell. The unit will gather for a group portrait and will set up an encampment at that time. The public is welcome to attend.

Imitation shellfish

Dawn Harris

Shellfish have a new look. Imitation crab, lobster, shrimp and scallops have appeared in U.S. supermarkets. These products are made from a fish paste called surimi, developed in Japan.

Surimi is produced from deboned fish such as Alaskan pollack. The fish is minced and washed until it becomes odorless and colorless.

After draining, sugar and salt are added to the concentrated fish paste. This paste can be shaped into many forms and textures, including tails, legs, flakes and chunks. The flavor comes from the addition to the paste of real shellfish, a shellfish extract or artificial flavoring.

Most imitation shellfish is precooked. Like traditional products, these look-alikes can be used in many ways. Seafood salads, quiches, crepes and omelets are all possibilities.

Imitation shellfish products must be clearly labeled as imitation, or have a listing of the ingredients used in the product on the label.

Imitation shellfish is a lower-cost seafood choice for consumers. As U.S. production expands, supplies should be plentiful.

Dawn Harris is the home economist for the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Morning Musicale hears compositions of France

By CAROLYN CAMPBELL Club Reporter

Mrs. Richard Jacoby welcomed members to her home for the Feb. 13 meeting of the St. Johns Morning Musicale, MFMC.

Ruth Comstock presided at the business meeting and called upon Adele Jones to give the report of the nominations committee and also Ruth LeBlond to give a report on the dinner plans for the guest night "An Evening In Paris" to be held at the First Congregational Church on Feb. 25 at 6:30 p.m.

Esther Jacoby gave the notes on the life and compositions of Clement Philibert Leo Delibes (1836-91). Delibes had a varied career, composing for comic opera and later lyric opera, writing for male chorus voices and later becoming a chorus master, and at the same time writing church and piano music. His most serious works being the opera "Lakme" and the charming ballet "Coppelia".

Excerpts from Delibes' ballet "Sylvia", "Pizzicata", "Intermezzo et Valse Lento", and "Passee" were played by pianist Delia Anderson. The latter piano number was a piece of music using the rhythm of that dance form, popular during the 17th and 18th century in France.

The program ended with the club singing the hymn of the month "The Answer Is In Jesus" by Elizabeth Wiegard a member of the Indiana Federation of Music Clubs and the National Federation of Music Clubs.

"It's in the Bag" by Bob Beck

What is your favorite vegetable? A lot of American youngsters were asked that question not long ago, and guess what they answered. The survey was conducted by the American Hobby Federation. More than four thousand hobby and recreation clubs, encompassing their favorite vegetable? Potato chips! Well, ween the ages of eight and eighteen, took part. And do you know what these kids said was their favorite vegetable? Potato chips! Well, that's probably as it should be. Potato chips are strictly an American invention. In fact, it was an American Indian who stumbled upon the idea back in 1853. His name wasn't Bright Arrow or Leaping Fawn or anything like that. It was George Crum. And George was a chef at a resort hotel in Saratoga Springs, New York. What happened was simply that a dinner guest from Paris demanded some extra-thin French fries. George picked up a sharp knife, sliced a potato into paper-thin slices, and plunged them into a kettle of boiling fat. Minutes later he salted the pieces...and placed the world's first potato chips in front of his guest. They were an immediate hit...only they weren't called potato chips. They were christened Saratoga chips, and they were still called that in 1887 when a recipe for "Saratoga chips" appeared in the White House Cookbook. Somewhere along the way, though, they simply came to be known as potato chips. And when you taste the fine, fresh brands available at Beck's you'll agree that potato chips are the tastiest snack ever invented...by George!

Rural living

New director

Giles Roehl

The weather outside is very similar to that which I tried to leave in Minnesota. I also tried to leave behind all of the financial problems farm families are facing.

However, it is very evident that I was unsuccessful at leaving either, the rotten weather and farm problems, and they are still with us. It is my hope that as your new CED and agriculture agent that I will be able to assist those of you who feel the need. The day when only hard work will make a farmer successful is over. Today's farmer must also be a top-notch manager and marketer of his products. The use of a quality record keeping system that provides for individual enterprise analysis is an absolute must.

At the dairy meeting on Monday the dairy farmers in attendance were told: "If you haven't made any money in the last three years don't expect the new dairy program to help." The problem is that many farmers do not realize which farm enterprises are making money and which enterprises are costing the rest of the farm in order to continue.

Crop enterprises are comparatively easy to determine profitability. When we add together the inputs — seed, fertilizer, chemicals, storage, marketing, equipment and other cost — and subtract that from the gross return per acre, is there a profit remaining?

The average farm family spends $12,000 to $20,000 per year for family living. On a 500 acre crops farm that is $24 to $40 per acre. On a 50 cow dairy herd that's $240 to $400 per cow. Have you included this as an expense to your enterprises?

As I work with you we will explore these questions and others to help you become even more successful! Giles Roehl is the director of the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Ovid student wins contest by writing about farming

Lee Purdy of Ovid, a member of the Ovid-Elsie Future Farmers of America Chapter, has been selected as the state winner from Michigan in the Up With Agriculture writing contest sponsored by Garst Seed Company.

Purdy was one of nearly 1,700 creative writers from 15 states entering the contest. He received $250 for his winning essay which described his feelings on American agriculture and farmland.

His winning essay reads: "A boy once observed a farmer who was saving the life of a pig that looked sure to die. When he asked why do you worry about that pig when you have so many others to care for, the farmer replied, 'My job is to preserve and sustain life.' How true it is! Farmers raise every conceivable food and fiber that we use. Farmers hold the key to survival in their hands. Without farmers, America would be on the verge of a starvation crisis. Farmers are truly the most IMPORTANT and DEDICATED breed of American people!"

Receiving honorable mention recognition in Michigan was Michelle Mater, 15, of Owosso and a member of the Ovid-Elsie FFA Chapter.

Dairy nutrition seminar planned

Tractor safety

Marilyn Loudenslager

Farm employers must annually review safe tractor operation practices with workers, and since the winter season lends itself to educational sessions, plan a session for your equipment operators (employees and/or family).

"One of Michigan's occupational safety and health laws requires employers to inform employees that operate agricultural tractors about safe tractor operator practices, which should include at least nine points," says Howard Doss, Michigan State University Extension farm safety specialist.

Doss says operators should stay off steep slopes and avoid using the tractor near ditches, embankments and holes, if possible. All of these can cause a tractor roll-over, he says.

If the tractor has a crush-resistant cab or frame, seat belts should be securely fastened. In addition, tractors of 20 PTO or greater that were built after Oct. 25, 1976, are required to have roll-over protection if operated by an employee. Doss says retroactive fittings for ROPS are available for most tractors built in the 1970's.

Operators should reduce tractor speeds when turning, crossing slopes or driving over rough, slick or muddy surfaces, Doss says. Operating the tractor smoothly, without jerky turns, starts or stops, especially when driving at row ends, on roads and around trees will increase operation safety. Doss reminds operators to hitch only to the drawbar and hitch points recommended by the tractor manufacturer and to set brakes securely and use the park lock, if available, when the tractor is stopped.

Social Security 'important'

Farmers who are trimming expenses in an effort to improve business cash flow should recognize the importance of remaining insured through the Social Security system.

Self-employed farmers are covered by Social Security insurance when they file Schedule SE.

"If net farm income on Schedule F is negative, farmers do not have to pay Social Security tax and therefore may lose their current insurability status," said Mike Kelsey, agricultural economist. But they can retain that insurance benefit by using an optional filing method.

"When net farm income is less than $1,600, or is negative, the farmer can pay on a $1,600 minimum at 11.8 percent self-employment rate for 1985," Kelsey said. "If the family has dependent children, a calculation for the earned income credit in the 1040 instructions may provide an earned income credit that could come close to paying for the tax."

Never allow others to ride on the tractor, Doss emphasizes. The risk of a fatal accident to the rider is very high.

In addition to these basic safety guidelines for tractor operators, employers may consider advising workers about other safety practices for their particular situation, such as the use of hearing protection on tractors without cabs.

When planning an up-date safety session for your employees, be certain to check with the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service for written materials. We have a long list of publications on various safety topics, so stop in and order the ones that fit your needs.

Marilyn Loudenslager is the agricultural agent for the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Farm stress topic at MSU

Life on the farm is more stressful than ever for a variety of reasons, such as changing family roles, financial pressures, the need to streamline farm operations and increasing off-farm employment.

Techniques for dealing with stress and discussions with families who have worked to balance the demands of family, farm and off-farm employment are part of Agriculture and Natural Resources Week, March 17-22 at Michigan State University.

"Some people cope with stress better than others," said Anne Soderman, Extension stress management specialist at MSU. "Many of the ANR Week programs are geared toward farm families' stress problems." For more details of ANR Week, contact the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.

S & H's Motz finishes class

Tim Motz, a service specialist at S&H Farm Sales and Service Inc., north of St. Johns on US-27, recently completed a four and a half day training course at the Case IH training center in Burr Ridge, Ill.

The training course emphasized the repair and service of Case IH planting and tillage equipment. Students received hands-on instruction in basic planter hydraulic and electrical systems.

Additional subjects studied at the training center included grain drill and tillage equipment service.

Students at the training center disassembled and reassembled components, practiced performing adjustments and learned precise testing and troubleshooting procedures.

Fulton's four corner stall was gamble that did not pay off

By RHONDA GAFFNEY
Sports Editor

The score was 4-1 at the end of the first quarter, and a whopping 10-7 at halftime.

Change the quarters to periods, and it might have been a high-scoring hockey or soccer game — but it was basketball.

Fulton took on Fowler on the Pirates home court last Friday and attempted to put a blemish on the Eagles' perfect 19-0 record by holding the ball. The gamble might have paid off had Fowler missed on some of their free throw attempts — but, they didn't. The final score was Fowler 40, Fulton 30.

"We kind of suspected it might be coming," Fowler Coach Dennis Smith said. "It was no big shock."

"All the pressure was on them (Fowler) to win," said the head man at Fulton, Terry Smith. "You have to do what you have to do to stay in the ballgame — we thought we could beat them."

Fowler did not score until the 4:00 mark in the first quarter. That came on a basket by Dean Koenigsnecht who also made good on two free throw attempts to give the Eagles their big first quarter lead.

Baskets by Todd Walden and Dave Stephens put Fulton down by just one point, 8-7, in the second period. However, a basket at the buzzer by Kevin Schmitt sent Fowler to the lockerroom with the 10-7 lead.

"That really hurt," Fulton's Smith said.

"Our kids played that first half kind of tight," said Fowler's Smith. "We were frustrated — I'm just glad they didn't get too frustrated."

CLUTCH FREE THROW SHOOTING in the second half and a string of points by the Eagles' Bruce Schmitt (6 baskets in a row) made the second half a more comfortable one for Fowler. They shot 75 percent from the line for the night, making 18 of 24 shots.

"I've got to give Fowler credit," said Fulton's Smith. "The free throws they made under pressure really hurt us."

"We really needed Bruce's scoring," the Fowler coach said. "He has been playing with so much more confidence in the last few games."

Stephens was high point man for Fulton with 10, followed by Walden with 9 and Scott Cater with 7. Schmitt had 12 points to lead the Eagles. Kurt Simon added 7 for Fowler and pulled down 11 rebounds.

CHEERING ON THE TEAM — Pewamo-Westphalia Coach, Ron Kramer, shouts instructions while the Pirate bench applauds the winning efforts of their team. Boys Varsity action is in it's final week throughout Michigan, as all teams anticipate the beginning of "March Madness" next week.

OTHER ACTION FOR BOTH CLUBS last week saw Fowler winning 66-40 over Ovid-Elsie on Tuesday and defeating Olivet in a make-up game on Saturday by a score of 82-63. Fulton lost to Breckenridge on Tuesday, 63-55.

Joel Parker was leading scorer for the Pirates in the Breckenridge game with 12 points. Cater added 11.

Fulton will face Portland St. Patrick this Friday in their last regular season game before the start of Districts next week.

"The 20-game pre-season scrimmage is over," Fulton's Smith said. "We start the district season all even."

Although they won over Ovid-Elsie, it was not a particularly happy win for the Eagle team. Tony Hamilton, starting point-guard, broke his collarbone mid-way through the third period and is out for the year.

"He (Hamilton) was diving for a loose ball and collided with Schmitt," said coach Smith. "He knew it was broken right away. He's a key player for our team and we will definitely miss him."

BRUCE SCHMITT LED Fowler's scoring with 18 points, Matt Hufnagel, who will see starting action in place of Hamilton, scored 14 points, and Koenigsnecht added 13 points.

In their last home game Saturday versus Olivet the Eagles played "as outstanding a quarter as I've seen them play yet this year," Smith said.

Koenigsnecht led the way with 21 points, 10 assists and 8 rebounds. Simon had 18 points and 10 rebounds, B. Schmitt was good for 13 points, and Hufnagel added 10 points to the tally. The Eagles dedicated the game to their injured teammate, Hamilton, and gave him the game ball at the conclusion of the contest.

"The boys are playing inspired ball right now," Smith said. "They are more intense on the floor than they have been all year. I'm just really proud of them."

Fowler's last regular season game this Friday with Pewamo-Westphalia is "a big game — it always will be no matter what the teams' records are," according to Smith.

Both Fowler and Fulton are part of the Class D District at Vestaburg High School. Other teams playing at that site next week will be: Ashley, Beal City, Mt. Pleasant Sacred Heart and Vestaburg.

St. Johns swims for win and loss

The Redwing swim team lost the Central Michigan Swim League meet, but kept their first place finish in the league, finishing the dual meet season with a perfect 8-0 mark.

St. Johns hosted the CMSL meet last Saturday finishing just one point behind the winner Alma, 217-216. They had led for a good share of the day and were ahead 192-185 going into the final event, the 400 freestyle relay. Alma won that with a conference record time of 3:26.307.

St. Johns finished third in the final relay, just .437 of a second behind second place finisher, Corunna. That fraction of a second cost the Redwings first place for the day.

"We were disappointed," said Redwing Coach Jim Makruskas. "We had hoped to repeat as winners of the meet and the league." St. Johns finished in first place in both last year which was the first one for the CMSL.

Individual times for St. John were: Steve Smith (6), 200 freestyle, 1:56.139; Rick Runions (3), 200 individual medley, 2:09.693; Runions (2), :56.646 and Smith (4), :57.000, 100 butterfly; Tom Newhall (6), 100 freestyle, :52.527; Rumzek (49), 100 backstroke, 1:01.949; Martindale (3), 1:05.754 and Williams (4), 1:05.758, 100 breaststroke; Cadwell (5) 235.95, diving.

O-E wins MMB volleyball crown

Volleyball teams from St. Johns and Ovid-Elsie met once again in head-on competition at the MMB conference meet in Ionia last Saturday. This time the Marauders came out on top.

Doug Long's squad finished first in the tournament and that, coupled with a third place finish by St. Johns, gave O-E top honors in the Mid-Michigan B Conference for the year. St. Johns finished second in the MMB.

"We just didn't play our game," said Redwing coach Bernie Fox. "It was disappointing, but we will just have to practice hard all week for Districts this Saturday."

St. Johns won their first match of the day against Chesaning 12-15, 15-1, 15-9. They were defeated by Ovid-Elsie in the second round 12-15, 9-15. That dropped them into the losers bracket where they faced Chesaning again and lost 14-16, 11-15.

Ovid-Elsie faced Corunna in their opening match, winning with scores of 15-4, 15-8; defeated St. Johns 15-12, 15-9; and waited for Chesaning to come through the losers bracket to beat them 13-15, 15-3, 15-12. The wins left the Marauders undefeated in conference play and with a 28-6 overall record.

"The 28 wins is a new school record for O-E," said Coach Long. "We were very happy to win. I felt our strong passing was one of the real keys to our winning."

Percentages in the passing department for the Marauders were: Shelby Terpstra, 92 percent; Deb Darling and Sheila Platner, 85 percent; and Bonnie Patrick 83 percent.

Jami Martin led in points served for O-E with 24, followed by Platner with 22, Patrick with 19, and Darling with 17. Terpstra had 40 spikes, 18 for kills, and 13 blocks. Courtney Schneider also had 40 spikes, 9 for kills, and 24 blocks. Platner had 24 spikes and 6 kills.

Darling was good on 68 of 86 sets, and Jamie Jones had a total of 93 sets and 4 saves.

For the Redwings, Kerry Porter led in points served with 27 and had 45 spikes, followed by Janice Rademacher with 22 points. Rademacher also had 41 spikes and 20 serve receptions. Brenda Eiseler had 49 spikes, 10 blocks and 29 serve receptions. Angie Myszak had 91 sets, Mary Murphy had 88 sets, and Cheryl Rademacher had 22 serve receptions.

Other matches for the Wings and Marauders last week saw St. Johns defeating Alma 15-9, 15-7, and O-E winning against Chesaning 15-8, 15-11, and beating Fowler 15-4, 15-1.

In District competition beginning this Saturday, St. Johns drew a bye in pre-district play and will face Lansing Eastern in their match played at J.W. Sexton High School. O-E is part of the Frankenmuth District and will play their opening match against Vassar at 10 a.m.

JV spikers end year

By RHONDA GAFFNEY
Sports Editor

With a 15-8, 15-5 final season victory over Alma last week, the St. Johns Junior Varsity volleyball team finished the year at 13-1 overall.

"It was an excellent season," said Coach Teri Brown. "You couldn't have a better group of girls that work and play well together. They were really dedicated."

According to Brown, "outstanding teamwork" was the key to the J.V.'s success. It helped them to win a first place trophy at the Lansing Everett Invitational, and should be a basis for a successful season next year.

Team members included: Lisa Ebert, Karin Tetens, Angie Pung, Monica Vasquez, Gina Schneider, Becky Maurer, Jennifer Woodward, Krista Schrauben, Mindy Martinez, Rachael Bauer, Jill Moore, Jennifer Miller, Carey Darnell, Jill DeBrabander, Becky Thelen, Heather Johnson, Anne Brocker, and Jennifer Pearsall.

Ebert, Pung, Schneider and Tetens were moved up to the Varsity team for the conference tournament held on Feb. 22, and will also be playing during the upcoming District Tournament.

Pung had 76 points to lead the Wings in that department, and made good on 94 of 107 serves with 17 aces. She also led in passes with 74.

Leading in sets was Ebert with 73; Johnson led in spikes with 42; Schneider had 9 blocks and 36 spikes; and Pung, Maurer and DeBrabander all turned in perfect performances with no violations on the year.

"I'm looking forward to coaching the girls who will be returning next year," Brown said. "I think we have good potential and should return an excellent nucleus — I love coaching."

Ruess, Koyné, Glover are special

By RHONDA GAFFNEY
Sports Editor

"Two of the ugliest guys," Ovid-Elsie wrestling coach Jim Maidlow has ever had wrestle for him, are also two of the top wrestlers in Class B in the area — and possibly in the state.

Seniors Bret Ruess and Mike Koyné are part of the Marauder wrestling team which had a perfect 18-0 season and won the Conference Championship in the Mid-Michigan B league. They both qualified for Regional competition and hope to finish the year as State Champs in their respective weight classes.

Also qualifying for Regionals from the Marauder team were Mark Burl in the 167 weight class, and Steve Walker wrestling at 145 pounds.

Ruess, wrestling at 185 pounds, is undefeated in 35 matches this season. He finished fifth in the State last year wrestling in the 167 weight class, and had a record of 43-5.

"I love it (wrestling)," Ruess said. "It's great."

With a 24-1 mark this year, Koyné missed 12 matches because of a reoccurring back injury. He wrestles in the 155 weight class. Like his teammate, Koyné has gone to the State Tournament in his sophomore and junior years and is looking forward to his third trip there.

BOTH WRESTLERS PICKED UP their 100th career wins during the course of this season. Ruess' came in the fourth match of the year, and Koyné got his in the District Meet held on Feb. 15.

"We've never had anyone win 100 matches at Ovid-Elsie before," said Coach Maidlow. "I'd say they both have good shots at taking the State Championship."

"I have to win," Ruess said. "I already put it in my 'Senior Superlatives.'"

When they're not practicing or taking part in matches, which takes up a good share of their time, Koyné enjoys hunting and fishing and "staying in good physical shape." Ruess is interested in working on cars and reading. "I've read all but six Louis Lamour books," he said.

KOYNÉ AND RUESS both would like to keep on wrestling at the college level, or in Koyné's case, "maybe in the service." He plans on joining the service after graduation and would like to wrestle there.

Giving credit where credit is due, Ruess and Koyné both think their coach is good and has helped them develop their wrestling skills. "He really knows his stuff," Koyné said. Maidlow wrestled at Michigan State during his four years there and has been the wrestling coach at Ovid-Elsie since 1969. He is assisted by Everett Smith who wrestled at Western Michigan University.

"We have a lot more meets than some of the other schools with teams," Ruess said. "There is more fan support than there used to be too — more people come to watch us."

"I'm going to miss them," Maidlow said of his two standouts. "Mike is the hardest worker I've ever had, and Bret has natural ability. It will be tough to fill their shoes."

This year the St. Johns wrestling team has a heavyweight named John Glover. Everyone in the St. Johns High School calls him "Big John", and that's exactly what he is.

John started wrestling last year as a junior, but he joined the team in mid-season so he never got the chance to wrestle on the varsity level. This year, as a senior, he has shown much potential as a wrestler.

John has a seasonal record of 20-4 and placed first in the conference. At the DeWitt and Ovid-Elsie Invitationals, he placed second in both. John was also the only member on the team to qualify for regionals this year.

Bob Ballard, the St. Johns wrestling coach, said, "The way John has improved from last year to this year is very outstanding. John is a remarkable athlete."

Olivet and Ferris are the only two colleges, so far, that have contacted John about possible scholarships. "As of now," John said, "if I don't get contacted by anymore schools, I will probably attend Ferris next year."

John has been searching around for a college choice for some time and has found Ferris as a likely candidate for continuing his schooling as well as wrestling.

John's teammates will miss him next year as he will be graduating with the class of "86". John has a grade point average of 3.3 and will hopefully maintain that so he can possible receive academic scholarships as well as wrestling.

Regional wrestling results

Ovid-Elsie will have three wrestlers in the "Sweet Sixteen" of wrestling at the Class B State Meet this Saturday in Charlotte. Steve Walker, Mike Koyné and Bret Ruess all advance by virtue of finishes in regional competition held last week.

The Marauders finished ninth as a team with 47.5 points.

In the 145 weight class, Walker finished fourth, winning his first match 11-5, losing the second 14-9, and winning the third 15-2.

Koyné placed second at 155 pounds, pinning his first two opponents in times of 3:04 and 3:00. He led 2-1 in the championship match, but twisted his ankle and was forced to default.

Championship honors went to Ruess at 185 pounds. He won by decisions of 14-2 and 11-2 in his first two matches, and decided Noel Dean 8-1 in the finals. Dean finished second in the State last year and was rated number one in the State this year in a Detroit News poll.

Mark Burl, who had also qualified for the Regionals, lost 10-9, won 16-3, and lost 10-4.

In Class A competition, St. John heavyweight, John Glover, lost his opening match 1-0. He did not place for the State Meet.

Talent is evident at the JV level on area b-ball teams

By RHONDA GAFFNEY
Sports Editor

Ask any Junior Varsity basketball coach about J.V. ball compared to play at the Varsity level and they'll all give you the same answer — there's a world of difference between the two.

It's the job of the J.V. coach to mold his players' talents into complete Varsity players and hope they mesh together into a winning Varsity team.

Here's a team-by-team look at area J.V. teams, plus an overview of the freshman squad from Ovid-Elsie.

Ovid-Elsie

Coach Dennis Baratono has 15 players on his freshman "A" and "B" teams with records of 5-11 and 7-2 respectively. They play the same MMB conference teams as the J.V. and Varsity as well as Owasco, P-W, Fowler and Mason.

"We run a very basic offense," said Baratono. "Our main concern is to teach the kids how to react on defense, and box-out and screen off the boards. We play strictly man-to-man."

Baratono feels that one thing any freshman needs to learn how to do is shoot under pressure. "Most players are lucky to get 10 good, clear shots in a lifetime," he said. "They also have to learn to pass to the open man."

"We have a bunch of good kids with real good attitudes," the Coach said of this year's teams. "They have a lot of potential if they continue to mature physically. They work well together."

MARAUDER J.V. COACH, Jack Nutter, is pleased with his teams play this year, despite their 3-14 record. "We started out slow," he said, "but have really shown improvement of late. We're playing much better now than we did early in the season."

Nutter has 15 players, including three freshmen, on his J.V. team. Sophomore Lee McCallister is averaging 10 points a game, as is 6'2" freshman, Wayne Bowman. Playing at the point guard position for O-E is Jason McCreery, also a freshman.

"I think the future for basketball at Ovid-Elsie is very bright," the 18-year veteran coach said. "The last couple of years we've been in somewhat of a slump, but that's something every school goes through. Things are going to improve."

PEWAMO-WESTPHALIA

A 16-1 record has made this year "awfully fun" for P-W's Junior Varsity Coach Cary Bashore. "This team is the best one at the J.V. level that I've seen this year," Bashore said.

The Pirates only loss of the year came at the hands of Perry in overtime. They have held their opponents to an average of 39 points a game, while scoring an average of 60 points themselves.

"I believe in defense," said Bashore. "the offense usually takes care of itself. These kids have really worked hard to be defensive players — they have a lot of good skills."

Balanced scoring from the starting five has been one factor in the Pirates success. Dale Jandernoa, a forward/guard, is averaging 10.1 points a game; Bill Schafer, the assist leader with 43, averages 11 points; and Craig Thelen, leading rebounder with 98 boards, is averaging 9 points per game.

The position of point guard is played by Dane Hengesbach who "really gets things going," according to Bashore. He has had 40 steals so far this year. Dan Hengesbach "has become a steady player in all areas," Coach Bashore said, and Tim Weber has been "very strong for us as a freshman player."

"With some hard work in the off-season, these players should be a real asset to the Varsity team next year," Bashore said.

St. Johns

"I don't think we've really played a complete game yet this year," Coach Dirk Besko said of his Junior Wings efforts. "We've played outstanding ball during some games, but haven't put together four complete quarters of solid basketball."

St. Johns has a 10-7 record on the year with just two games remaining. Clark VanBuren is the leading scorer and rebounder for the Wings, with Andy Ball leading in assists. Other regular starters are Jeff Dean, Jim Martens and Bill Smalldon.

"Bill is our best defensive player," Besko said. "He hustles all the time." The coach also noted that Scott Aylsworth, Kevin Zimmerman and Dave Schroeder have "played well and made contributions to the team."

Freshman team members Barry Keil and Matt Wilcox were moved up to the J.V. team at the conclusion of the freshmen's season.

"These kids all have really super attitudes," the coach said. "Inconsistency has been our only real problem all year. Sometimes we just don't seem to be mentally prepared to play."

FULTON

Although their record stands at 0-19, the Fulton Junior Varsity players "never give up," according to Coach Scot Henry. "They work hard all the time," the coach said.

Working on basketball fundamentals is one area that is stressed by Henry. His 10 man roster has lost more than a few close games. "They're all good kids and have made a real effort to improve their play," said Henry.

Mike Simmon at forward, and Chris Towslee playing at guard for the Pirates, have "played well for us," Henry said. "We'll finish out the season playing like we have all year — playing to win."

"We try to stress basic basketball skills — rebounding, dribbling, shooting at the right time," said Eagle J.V. Coach Tom O'Rourke. "Our record is secondary." Fowler's record stands at 8-11 with just one game left on the schedule. That is with Pewamo-Westphalia. Of the 13 players on O'Rourke's roster, 11 are currently playing. The Junior Eagles have been plagued by injuries for much of their season.

"We haven't had a point this year where everyone has been healthy," the coach said. "It makes it hard for the kids to play with different people in the lineup all the time." The Eagles have had two broken feet, pulled ligaments, and assorted cases of the flu this year.

Tony Schafer is the leading scorer for Fowler, averaging 13.5 points a game. Troy Irrer leads in the rebounding department, bringing down 8 rebounds per game. Both are sophomores on the squad which has four freshmen players.

"These kids have all improved during the course of the season," O'Rourke said. "We lack the height we had last year, but they have all worked hard to develop their skills."

SJ gymnasts qualify

The Redwing gymnasts turned in one of their best overall performances of the year to take a close 121.75 to 120.05 win over Lansing Eastern last week. The meet saw St. Johns, 7-2 overall, posting their highest totals of the season in the vault and floor exercise.

"It was a close meet," said Redwing Coach Sue Cerny. "We had only 10 falls total on the beam — that won it for us."

Senior Chris Ebert had another fine showing, tying the school record in floor exercise with a 8.75, and taking first in the vault, 9.2, and third on the bars and beam with scores of 7.4 and 7.55. She has qualified for the regional meet in Freeland in the vault, bars, and floor exercise and needs just one more score to qualify on the beam.

Denise Fox tied for third in the vault with a 8.25 score; Missy Vitek tied for first on the bars scoring 7.55 and Linda Strickland placed tied for fourth in that event with a 7.1 score; and Vitek placed third in floor exercise scoring 8.2.

Vitek, Strickland, Fox and Gwynn Sharick have all qualified for regionals on the vault along with Ebert. Vitek has also qualified on the uneven bars. As a team, St. John needs just one more score of 118 or better to qualify for the regionals which will be held on March 8.

The Redwings have two meets this week before the Hartland Conference meet this Saturday, March 1. They hosted Lansing Sexton last night, which was also Parents Night, and will travel to the Ionia Invitational tomorrow for a meet that includes eight schools.

JUNIOR VARSITY ACTION — Fowler's number 23, Don Simon, goes up for a shot over number 10, Chris Towslee, from Fulton in a game played last week which Fowler won. Looking on is number 45, Jim Wohlfert from Fowler, and Fulton's number 52, Brian Weke.

Pirates net two wins

Pewamo-Westphalia picked up two well-earned basketball victories last week, defeating Portland 52-50 in overtime and Potterville by a 52-40 score. The wins upped the Pirates record to 6-3 in the CMAC and 13-4 overall.

Last Tuesday's game at Portland was close all the way with P-W down by 5 points at the beginning of the final quarter. Jeff Smith made the key baskets that put the contest into overtime.

"The kids really battled back," Coach Ron Kramer said of his team's efforts. "They played hard." Pat Stump's two free throws, made with just 10 seconds left in OT, gave the Pirates the victory.

Leading scorer for P-W was Bruce Klein with 14 points, Smith had 10, Tom Belen added 9 and Stump was good for 8.

"We did not take charge in the first half of the Potterville game," Kramer said. "We shot under 40 percent from the field — 9 for 23."

Fortunately, the second half was a different ballgame for the Pirates. "Our press started to affect them," the coach said, "and we scored some quick points in succession. We were able to get our fast break going also."

The Pirates ended up at 42 percent from the field for the night, 21-50, and were good on 10 of 15 from the line for 67 percent.

Belen led in the scoring department in the Potterville contest with 13 points. He also had 6 rebounds, 4 assists and 3 steals. Teammate Klein was busy also, scoring 10 points, rebounding for 8, stealing 4 and dishing off 2 assists. Smith had 9 points and Glen Stump was good for 6.

Kramer's team plays at Carson City tonight before the finale of regular season competition — Fowler at home this Friday.

"I guess we can be thankful to be playing one of the toughest teams in Class D prior to the start of Districts," Kramer said. "It will certainly be good preparation for us for those games. We have a lot of respect for Fowler — they deserve their ranking."

P-W plays their District games at Ithaca High School. Other teams in that Class C District are: Breckenridge, Ithaca, Merrill, St. Louis and Shepherd.

"Shepherd will probably be the team to beat," Kramer said. "They are 17-2 — you can never tell about Districts though."

RACING IN FLORIDA Roger Wing, Late Model track champion at Crystal Raceway, is spending the month of February on the racing circuit in Florida. The 14-year veteran driver and several of his summer crew members, spent the past two months making preparations for the trip. Number 55 had to have a new "skin" and paint job, the engine was "freshened", and a new hauler put together for the trip south. A native of Middleton, Wing's goal in the Florida swing was to "make a feature and get a feel for Florida racing."

Fowler, P-W v-ball action

A busy week is on tap for the Pewamo-Westphalia volleyball team. They played at Laingsburg last night, take on Ovid-Elsie tonight, and end their season with a home game on Thursday versus Fowler — just in time to begin District play on Saturday at St. Louis High School. The Pirates play Laingsburg in their opening game of district competition at 10 a.m., March 1. Should they win that, they would advance to play the winner of the DeWitt/Lansing Catholic Central game. P-W lost to an excellent Potterville club last Thursday, 15-8, 15-9. The loss puts the Pirates at 3-2 in the CMAC, good for second place behind Potterville. "We played well in the first game with Potterville," said Coach Nancy Kreider. "In the second game, we could not receive serve at all. We were down 14-1 and came back to finish 15-9." Lisa Nurenburg was good on 10 of 10 serves, and Deb Pung had a "good game at the net," according to Kreider. She had 8 spikes, 4 blocks and 2 kills. Stacey Bierstetel, out with a sprained ankle, was missed by her teammates. "She has a good serve and would have helped us," the coach said. "We had some good moments — and some terrible ones," Kreider said. "It wasn't very smooth volleyball."

FOWLER

The high point of Fowler's volleyball season so far is a third place finish in the Saranac Tournament held earlier in February. District play begins this week, however, and you never can tell what will happen in that. Jerry Krause's spikers drew a bye in the opening round of district play and will play the winner of the Morrice/Vestaburg match at 11 a.m. this Saturday. Games will be played at Fulton High School. In action last week, Fowler lost two matches to Ovid-Elsie 15-4, 15-2, and to Fulton 15-9, 15-12. Lori Miller was top server in the Fulton match making good on 14. She got 93 percent of her serves in. The losses put the Eagles record at 3-9 overall with two matches left in the regular season. Last night the Eagles played host to Vestaburg, and will travel to Pewamo-Westphalia on Thursday for their last game of the year.

Redwings hope to end season with wins

Redwing Coach Keith Haske is hoping for two wins this week — to take the place of the two losses that St. Johns suffered last week. The Wings fell to Okemos 84-68, and were nipped by Corunna in MMB play on Friday 53-50. "We had opportunities to win in the Corunna game," Haske said. "We missed a lot of easy shots. Defensively, we played really well." St. Johns was in front by a 14-8 score at the end of the first quarter in what was a very physical game from start to finish. Butch Armstrong led the Redwings with 13 points, Ben Marshall had 11 points and 12 rebounds, and Trent Jakus added 10 points and had 10 rebounds. The Okemos game was "over after the first quarter," according to the coach. "They were ahead 28-7, and you just don't play catch-up ball with a team like Okemos. Actually, I thought we played quite well overall." Jakus was high man for St. Johns with 23 points and 10 rebounds. He was hot from the line, canning 11 of 13 from the charity stripe. Alex Parker had 10 points and Armstrong added 9. St. Johns will try to close their regular season on a winning note, facing Mt.

Pleasant tonight and Alma on Friday. Both are home games, with the Alma contest being Parents Night. The Redwings will play their District games, which begin next week, at Owosso High School. "It should be a real interesting week," Coach Haske said.

Bears wish for Cinderella finish in District

Unless a miracle happens, it appears the Ashley basketball team will not take the top spot in the Mid-State Athletic Conference this year. Their loss to Genesee last week, 54-42, pretty much guarantees no better than second for the Bears.

Genesee did not run a stall in Friday's game, but it was a "very deliberate offense," according to Coach Schestag. "They ran a very controlled offense — they controlled the ball and the boards. We just weren't very aggressive in the first half."

Ashley played better in the second half, making 13 of 28 field goals, but free throws kept Genesee in the game and allowed them to win. They made a total of 14-18 foul shots in the second half while the Bears held them to just 4 field goals.

Ashley will play their bounds and 6 assists, Alan Stehlik had 12 points, and Chris Ringle had 7 rebounds. Ashley had won their Tuesday night contest with Carson City 66-61. Litwiller was top man with 21 points, 16 rebounds and 10 assists. Stehlik had 16 points, Darren Cartwright added 8, Ringle had 8 and Rick Saylor netted 6. Mike Morris had 8 rebounds.

Class D District at Vestaburg next week, after finishing their regular season with a make-up game last night with Webberville, and their final home Parents Night contest versus Byron. In reference to the tough District competition the Bears face with Fowler and Mt. Pleasant Sacred Heart, Coach Schestag is optimistic: "You never know — Cinderella teams come along every year."
