St. Johns board clarifies millage, bond questions

By RHONDA WESTFALL
Associate Editor

A brief Nov. 23 meeting of the St. Johns Board of Education saw board members dispense with matters quickly on a relatively light agenda.

The main focus of the meeting centered on what Supt. Steve Bakita termed "misunderstandings" about the upcoming operational millage vote.

"We have found that many people seem to be confused about the difference between a bond issue and the operational millage," he said. "We don't want to have any misunderstandings."

At its October meeting, the board approved the formation of two separate sub-committees — one to study and provide input on the operational millage vote which is planned for the spring of 1988, and the other probing into improving and/or constructing new buildings in the school district. The millage committee is chaired by Kevin Kirk with James Parr and Richard Lehnert serving as members, while Tom Irrer is chair of the building committee with Robert Craig and Neil Barnhart as additional members.

"THE OPERATIONAL millage has to take priority," Irrer said.

"Upgrading and new buildings definitely are on the back burner. Over the next two years we will be looking at architects, considering the idea of a construction management firm versus a general contractor, and other things."

"Recommendations from our committee will not be forthcoming until the operational millage is in place — it's going to be awhile."

Barnhart added that the board also hoped that a possible change in state funding of schools might be in place by the time a bond issue was placed before the voters.

"A change in state funding could make things more equitable," he said.

The board will discuss the operational millage rate, along with dates for a spring millage vote, at its Dec. 14 committee-of-the-whole meeting. It is hoped that both the date for the 1988 election as well as the dollar amount will be established at the board's regular meeting on Dec. 21. Both meetings are open to the public and begin at 7:30 p.m. in the library of Rodney B. Wilson Junior High.

IN OTHER matters at the Nov. 23 meeting, the board:

- Accepted a $400 donation from the St. Johns Lions Club.
- Approved the expenditure of $350 for Stanfred Enrollment Projections.
- Approved the nomination of Sue Anderson to the Human Sexuality Advisory Committee.
- Heard a report from Asst. Supt. Gordon Vandemark on the completed drainage project at the high school, and High School Principal William Swears answered questions regarding a letter recently received from the Bureau of Accreditation and School Improvement Studies.

Area youth is killed

Chad Vanderstow didn't even own a gun. But an unknown shooting caused a bullet to race through the right side of his neck which went through his body and out his left side while he was out walking.

Vanderstow, 15, of 7963 W. Mead Road, St. Johns, died Thanksgiving Day at Ingham Medical Center at 1:56 a.m.

Vanderstow was found at about 5:45 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 25, on a dirt road close to his family's 30-acre farm, according to Clinton County Sheriff's Department officials. An anonymous hunter found the youth and swiftly took him to Clinton Memorial Hospital. He was then transferred to Ingham Medical Center in Lansing.

Anyone who was in the area of Mead and Essex Center roads in Essex Township on Nov. 25 should call the Clinton County Sheriff's Department at 224-5200 or 224-6791.

Notes Arts meet

ST. JOHNS A special meeting of Clinton County Arts Council members and directors has been called for 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 3, at the new gallery, 1002½ E. State, St. Johns.

All directors are requested to attend, discuss, and vote on a proposal to join with the St. Johns Area-New Library Committee to establish a countywide cultural center in St. Johns, including specific space for CCAC activities, gallery, gift shop, and offices, shared classrooms and stage areas, and possibilities for organizations to share large equipment such as computers and duplicating machines.

All CCAC members are urged to attend this meeting or call Kaye Pilmore, executive director, at 224-2429 to let feelings be known regarding this discussion.

Masons

ST. JOHNS Masonic Lodge No. 105 will install its recently elected officers at a public installation on Friday, Dec. 4, at the Masonic Temple, 915 W. State, St. Johns.

A potluck supper will be served at 6:30 p.m. with installation ceremony at 7:30 p.m. which will be followed by a reception honoring Master-elect Mark Crosby and his staff of officers.

Friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Free food

ST. JOHNS Capital Area Community Services, Clinton County Community Services, and the Senior Citizens office resume the distribution of commodity food on Tuesday, Dec. 8, and Wednesday, Dec. 9, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Unless other arrangements have been made, everyone including senior citizens, must pick up commodities at the UAW Hall, 111 W. Walker St., St. Johns.

A pink commodity card is needed to receive commodities during the December distribution. Monday, Dec. 7, is the deadline to pick up a card. For more information, call 224-6702 or 224-7998.

Musicale

ST. JOHNS The annual Christmas Guest Night of the St. Johns Morning Musicale is planned for Tuesday, Dec. 10, at the Clinton County Arts Council Gallery, 1002½ E. State St., St. Johns. The program begins at 7:30 p.m.

Special performers at the program will be the Tromaters who will perform traditional folk music. All guests are welcome to attend.

Salty diets

ST. JOHNS The Mid-Michigan District Health Department is sponsoring a presentation on "Cutting Down the Salt in Your Diet" on Monday, Dec. 7, from noon to 1 p.m. at the First Congregational Church, 100 Maple St., St. Johns.

Carol Wruble, registered dietitian, will give easy techniques, substitutions, and recipe ideas for lowering the salt in your diet. Fee: $3.50 per person or $6 per couple. To register, call the MMDHD at 224-8393.

Auxiliary plans fundraisers

By RHONDA WESTFALL
Associate Editor

A Teddy Bear Raffle and Gift Shop Sale will kick-off a variety of holiday fundraisers sponsored by the Clinton Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, with proceeds going toward the auxiliary's $200,000 hospital emergency room renovation project.

The raffle and sale are planned for Thursday and Friday, Dec. 10 and 11, in the gift shop located on the first floor of the hospital. Raffle tickets for the teddy bear, which will give away on Dec. 11, are priced at 50 cents each or three for $1, and are available at the gift shop on the sale days from 10 a.m. to 7:30 p.m., or from any auxiliary.

A special bake sale/cut-a-thon is a second holiday fundraising event planned for Saturday, Dec. 19, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at 210 N. Clinton Ave. in St. Johns. Cookies, breads, and candy will be available.

Located adjacent to the Hair Loft, stylists will do shampoos and haircuts for as many people as possible from 2 to 4 p.m. No appointments are necessary, with total proceeds from the $10 haircuts donated to the auxiliary.

A WINTER dinner party fundraiser is also planned. A $25/couple donation, or $12.50/single, will be given to the auxiliary, with expenses for the meal split between four to six persons attending the meal. An auxiliary will act as the hostess, providing either the meat with others bringing the remainder of the meal, or preparing the entire meal with the cost split among all the guests.

"The group can plan either a gourmet meal, something very simple, or anything in between," says Chris Peacock, auxiliary fundraising chairperson. "The cost is a reasonable night out, considering it costs at least that much to go out to any nice restaurant."

Persons interested in finding out more about any of the holiday events should call Peacock at 669-8262 or Jeanette Huard at 224-6071.

LOOKING AHEAD, a major fundraiser is planned for Saturday, Feb. 13, when the auxiliary will host a Mardi Gras Ball. Rich Micheals of WVIC will serve as disc jockey for the ball at Smith Hall in St. Johns.

Decked with fresh cedar trim

Museum hosts Victorian Christmas

Festivities connected with the ninth annual Victorian Christmas, sponsored by the Clinton County Historical Society, are set to begin this week at the Paine-Gillam-Scott Museum. The 1860 historic house, decked out in fresh cedar, will be filled with the sights and sounds of Christmas Saturday, Dec. 5, through Jan. 3.

Located on the west side of the Courthouse Square in St. Johns, the museum will feature special displays of dolls and a doll house, trains, toys, where costumes are optional but encouraged.

"We want everyone to come out to see the auxiliary's all new version of the Heart Ball," says Diana Parker, co-chairperson of the event. Chita Perez is also a co-chairperson.

The buffet dinner dance begins at 6:30 p.m., with cocktails at the cash bar, followed by the Shangri-la Restaurant catered dinner from 7:30 to 8:30, and dancing from 9 until midnight. Voting for a king and queen will be held, along with a 50/50 raffle drawing.

Only 200 tickets at $35/couple or $17.50/single will be sold for the Mardi Gras. Tickets may be purchased at the Carol Ann Shop, First American Title, CMH Gift Shop, or from any auxiliary.

A one-horse cutter, and many more holiday items. Area residents may visit the museum and browse at their leisure, or arrange for a special tour given by members of the historical society.

Along with the various displays, special musical entertainment performed by candlelight is planned every Wednesday during the month of December from 7 to 8 p.m. The bell choir of the First Congregational Church in St. Johns opens the candlelight performances next week

Mail Christmas lists to Santa

It won't be long now until the Jolly Old Elf begins his final computer sort of all the good (and not so good) little girls and boys to see who gets what on Christmas morning.

Santa made a call to the Clinton County News office late last week to ask for our help in making sure he gets all his letters from young believers in the county. Because we know how very hectic things can get when deadlines approach (and thinking maybe there might be an extra bonus in our stockings for our efforts) we said we'd be glad to help out.

So — children of all ages are encouraged to send their Christmas wish lists to the North Pole via the CCN office. Send your letters to:

Old Kent Bank employees earn thanks for MD Bowl-a-Thon effort

To the editor:

The Old Kent Bank of St. Johns recently bowled in a Bowl-a-Thon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association. On Nov. 8, at Tri-Ami Lanes, the bank employees bowled and raised $1,126 for MDA.

The association wishes to thank the bank employees and the people of Clinton County who pledged money per bowling pin knocked down. Because of your generosity, MDA is better enabled to provide clinics, such as the one at MSU, summer camps and funds for research. Moreover, people with Muscular Dystrophy have better reason to hope for a cure or effective treatment for their disease.

Thanks again, Old Kent Bank employees, for your generosity and love.

One day at a time Breaking away

By Phyllis Roehl

Q. I'm thinking of leaving my present job, but I'm not sure I should. How do I know that the situation will be any better in the next job I take?

A. You can't be absolutely sure it will be any better. You can only make an educated guess based on the visible facts available and the knowledge you have of the situation you are in now.

Ask yourself first:

- Have I carefully and honestly evaluated my present job situation?
- Have I honestly made every change I can to help the situation improve to a tolerable level?
- If this job has problems, have I honestly evaluated my own part in bringing about these problems?
- Have I discussed with my superiors what I could do to improve it?
- What future do I see for myself in the present job?
- What are my options?
- How would the consequences of each of these options affect me, my family, and my career overall?
- Can I live with that?

If after answering the above questions, you still wish to consider another position, look at the options that taking the job may give you.

- What affect will the consequences of taking the other position have upon you, your family, and your career?
- Would these consequences be easier to live with than those of the present job?
- Does this new job fit within my goals and values for my life?

Breaking away from the "knowns" in life can be very frightening. The "unknowns" sometime seem much greater than they are. Other times we can concentrate too much on a hard situation and let it become an unsurmountable mountain when it really isn't.

But the reverse could also be true. We might let ourselves become so frightened of a new situation that we stay in a bad situation far longer than we should, just so we don't have to face an "unknown" one.

What we are really facing is fear. For some people, deciding to change jobs isn't difficult. For others it causes various degrees of fear from mild to incapacitating.

Your personal view of your self-worth may also be affected by a bad working situation. That lowered self-esteem may cause you to doubt your capabilities and lose trust in yourself. Be aware that you may be doing this.

Take that into account when you evaluate your skills, including your ability to be flexible, have a positive attitude toward life, accept changes, work with several types of people, and accept authority.

Sometimes these areas are more important than are your skills in welding, truck driving, typing, teaching, or whatever other skills your job may require.

Answering these questions should help you "think through" the situation you are in and the possibility of making a job change more clearly. These steps can often help anyone who contemplates such a move. Learn the process of "thinking through" before any changes are made.

The old cliché, "act on impulse, regret at leisure," is true. But once the change is made, do your best to make a positive outcome possible. More about that in my next column. Good luck.

It appears that the Rural Outreach services program will end Nov. 30. If you have questions, call me at 224-7546 before then.

In the house of representatives Long-term care

By Gary Randall

Several proposals designed to improve the quality of life for senior citizens, including an innovative "individual medical account," were announced last week in a House Republican Task Force Report on long-term care. The long-term care plan deals with finances, housing, and quality health care.

The report recommends ways seniors can maintain their homes and still receive adequate and affordable health care. House Republicans hope to find creative solutions to the problems facing our older population.

One approach would be establishing IMAs, similar to IRAs, to pay for medical expenses or insurance premiums. Such plans would be an incentive for persons to plan for their own future medical expenses.

The task force also recommended:

- Passing legislation that would relieve spousal impoverishment by protecting the assets and income of the at-home spouse (HB 5021).
- Regulating long-term care insurance policies and establishing industry standards (HB 5107).

- Requiring pre-admission screening for individuals seeking to enter nursing homes (HB 4588).

- Providing tax incentives for family members who care for seniors at home by establishing an additional income tax exemption (HB 5067).

- Considering direct subsidies to primary caregivers who care for elderly family members in their home.

- Forming a state task force to advocate elderly housing programs and explore new strategies for affordable housing for seniors.

Most couples making retirement plans don't realize how fragile their nest egg can be if either partner must be institutionalized. They may be forced to apply for Medicaid because they cannot afford long-term care. These proposals offer alternatives so more seniors will be able to live with dignity.

Gary Randall represents Clinton County in the Michigan House of Representatives.

4-H council

By Theresa Silm

The Clinton County 4-H Council provides the guidance, support, and leadership for the county 4-H program which annually involves nearly 1,800 youth and over 350 adult and teen volunteer leaders.

The council works on fund-raisers, plans educational activities for youth and members, and supports the mission of the Michigan 4-H Youth program in this county.

The council operates the Food Stand at the fair each summer and sponsors the bi-annual publication of the Clinton County Plat Book as fund-raisers. With the funds raised in this fashion, the council supports the 4-H Award Trips program, Spring Revue, leader training, and various educational opportunities for members.

The Award Trips program is unique to Clinton County. Started many years ago, it is designed to give members who have earned the privilege to go on a special outing during the year. The trips involve members from all over the county and gives them the chance to meet new people and try new things.

The council also sponsors a Clinton County 4-H Scholarship each year. The $300 award is given annually to an outstanding senior who will be going on to further his/her education and is paid at the end of the student's first term at college.

The council sponsors the annual Leader Recognition Banquet as a special way to thank all of the volunteers who make the 4-H program possible in this county. The annual event is also co-sponsored by Clinton Bank of St. Johns.

To help volunteers feel comfortable with their role as leaders, the council also sponsors volunteers to leader training programs at Kettunen Center and Kellogg Biological Station, among other regional and state events.

Programs are also held for members. The Spring Revue, held in late March, includes the County 4-H Style Revue, a 4-H Open House, contests for clubs, and a cookie making contest.

The council consists of three adult and one teen leader elected from four districts in the county. The members are elected during a short business meeting held at the leader banquet. New members elected in October to serve during 1988 were Vicki Harris, Lois Burghoff, Ruth Voisinet, Marilyn Kuchar, Cindy Vitek, Sherry Harris, Patti Straub, Keisha Schaub, and Kim Nash.

They join Jim Roof, Mary Jo Straud, Janet Newhall, Margaret Schaefer, Lou Ann Myszak, Storm Spellman, and Gwen Nash.

At the November meeting, the council elected officers for 1988. Elected to serve as president was Jim Roof. Ruth Voisinet will serve as vice president. Vicki Harris is the new secretary and Gwen Nash is the council treasurer.

Individuals with questions about the Clinton County 4-H Youth program can call the Cooperative Extension Service at 224-5240 or any of the council members.

Theresa Silm is the 4-H Youth Agent of the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Dillingham Comments

Drug testing

By Fred Dillingham

The use of illegal drugs is nothing new. History books allude to the use of many substances, including cocaine and morphine, used for medical reasons as well as personal pleasure. So it is not surprising that illegal drugs are still around today.

What is surprising — and disturbing — is the widespread use of illegal drugs that penetrates our whole society and the growing number of people who find drug use acceptable. There is no denying that drugs are addicting and can affect behavior, impair judgment, and contribute to physical deterioration over time.

Understandably, employers are concerned about employees who may use drugs either on or off the job, how this affects their performance at work, co-workers, productivity, and family life. To combat this problem, some are implementing or considering the practice of drug testing.

It is certainly controversial, raising questions of civil rights, invasion of privacy, and test reliability. This can be countered with arguments for protecting the good of society and fellow employees as well as helping those identified with drug problems to seek help.

Unlike alcohol use, the drug user is much harder to spot. There are no telltale symptoms such as severe loss of coordination and the odor of alcohol. Instead, there may only be hints such as lack of motivation, impairment, and a faulty memory. That is why many employers are turning to drug testing to reliably identify those using drugs.

Recently, the Senate committee of which I am chair has been hearing testimony on drug testing, both for and against. One speaker, Dr. Robert DuPont, identified the three methods of drug testing: pre-employment testing, for-cause testing, and random testing.

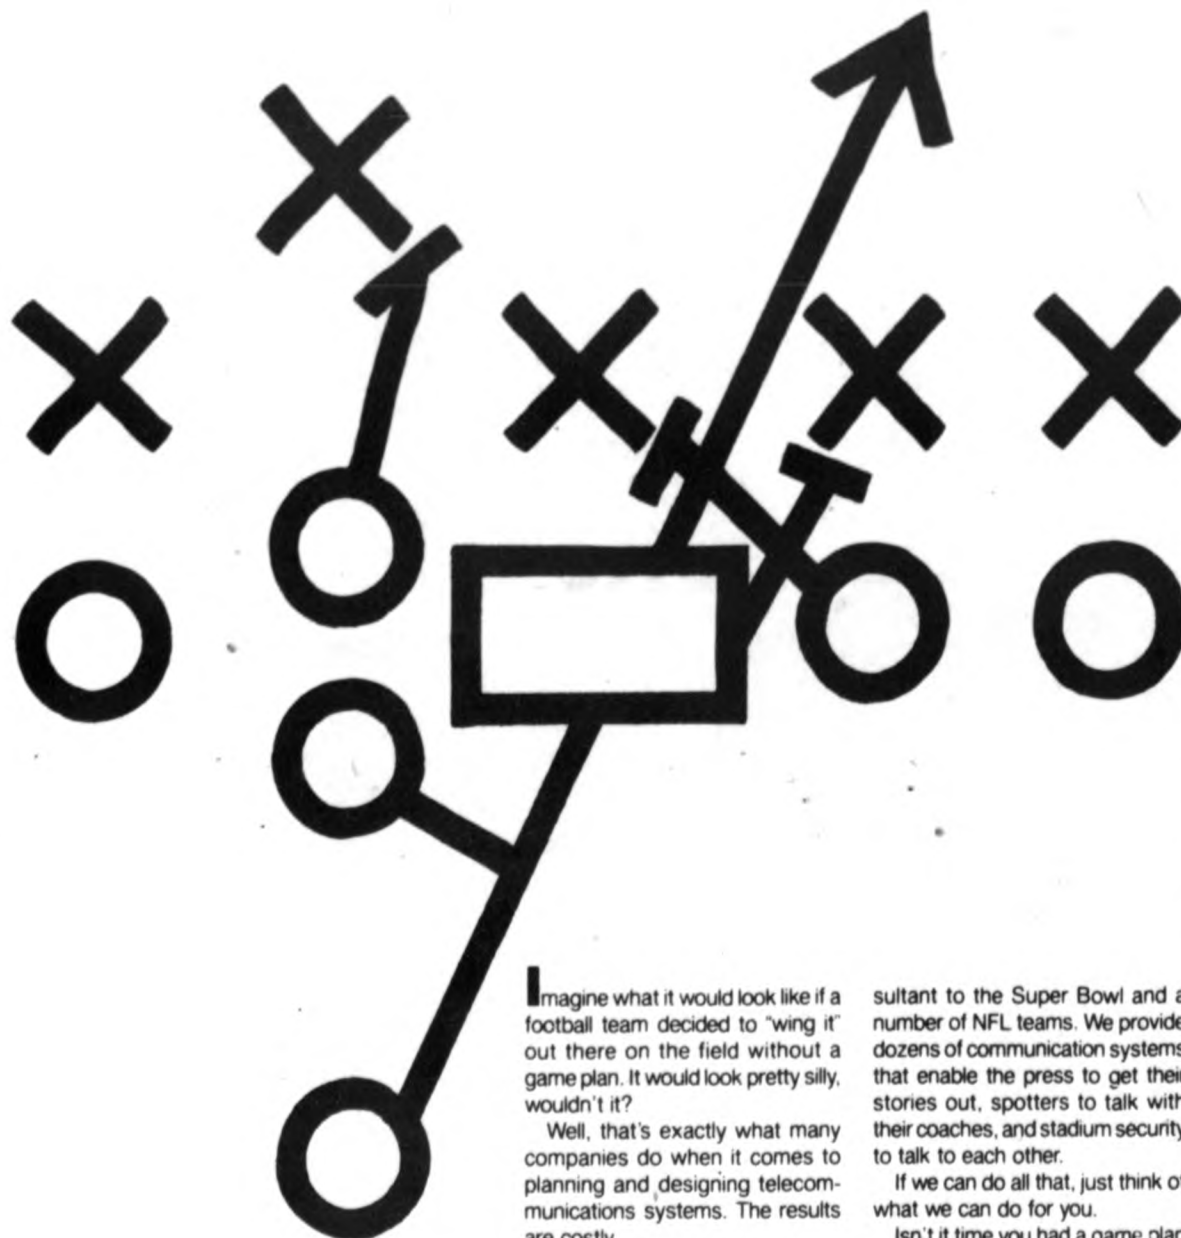

Obviously, pre-employment testing is done for all potential employees. For-cause testing is done when a supervisor detects signs of impairment and refers an employee to the test. Random testing is just what its name implies — random checks of employees selected in a non-biased manner.

DuPont, a nationally-known expert in the field, went on to say that tests will detect cocaine only one to two days after its use. Marijuana can be detected up to three to five days after its use. A national survey done in 1985 concluded that 44 percent of 18 to 25 year olds have used an illegal drug in the last year. He went on to say the main goal of drug testing is to deter problems before they occur. To prevent a problem, a drug user has to be convinced the costs are too high to continue the use, he said, and a job is powerful leverage.

We want to make sure we have the facts before we consider any measures relating to drug testing. It is important that we protect both the general population as well as individual rights.

Fred Dillingham represents Clinton County in the Michigan Senate.

Maybe it's time you had one for your telecommunications system.

Imagine what it would look like if a football team decided to "wing it" out there on the field without a game plan. It would look pretty silly, wouldn't it?

Well, that's exactly what many companies do when it comes to planning and designing telecommunications systems. The results are costly.

That's where we come in to play. You see, we can show you the most cost effective way to handle your information. No matter how unusual your needs are. In fact, we're the telecommunications consultant to the Super Bowl and a number of NFL teams. We provide dozens of communication systems that enable the press to get their stories out, spotters to talk with their coaches, and stadium security to talk to each other.

If we can do all that, just think of what we can do for you. Isn't it time you had a game plan for your telecommunications system? Get in touch with us. Your GTE Account Manager will be glad to help you draw one up. Call 1-800-662-9700.

Todd and Lisa Boettger
Russell-Boettger
Reside in St. Johns

The Greenbush Methodist Church in St. Johns was the site of the Aug. 29 ceremony uniting Lisa Anne Russell and Todd Lee Boettger together as husband and wife. The double-ring rite was officiated by the Rev. Merritt Bongard before an altar decorated with fresh potted white mums, a unity candle, and candelabra.

Lighting the candelabra for the ceremony were Becky McCrumb, cousin of the bride, and Joelle Stehlik. Hosting the ceremony were Bonnie and Mike Jameson, aunt and uncle of the bride. Barbara Sandborn, aunt of the bride, attended the guest book. Special music chosen by the couple was provided by Gayla Phillips and Paula Beck.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Russell. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rusty Bashore and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Boettger.

For her wedding, the bride selected a white floor-length gown of coin-dotted English net. The lace-adorned gown was fashioned with a stand-up collar and pearlized illusion-net yoke of shiffl embroidery. The puffed, melon sleeves, accented with bows, and close-fitting bodice were trimmed with a ruffle of chantilly-type lace.

A full skirt falling from a slightly raised ribboned waistline flew into a semi cathedral-length train accented with baby ruffles. A pearl and sequin accented tiara securing a fingertip-length veil, pearlized pouf and blusher, framed the bride's face.

She carried a silk cascading bouquet of fern, white roses, pink lilies, and pale yellow freesias with white lace and ribbon streamers.

Peggy Russell was her sister's maid of honor, with Heidi Sandborn, cousin of the bride, serving as bridesmaid. They were gowned in aqua taffeta dresses with the ruffled, elasticized neckline worn off the shoulder. From the ribboned waistline fell a full skirt with a white lace ruffle trimmed with aqua ribbon encircling the hemline and cascading into a bustle effect to the back waist.

They carried white lace fans with a rubrum lily surrounded by aqua roses, lily-of-the-valley, and baby's-breath with white lace, pink, and aqua ribbon streamers.

Amy Russell, sister of the bride, was the flowergirl. She wore a ruffled white dress trimmed with aqua ribbon and carried a basket decorated with white roses, pink lilies, and bows filled with dried rose petals. Serving as best man was Ron Cobb, with Jim Valentine as groomsmen. Seating the guests were Joe Russell, brother of the bride, and Craig Boettger, brother of the groom. The groom was attired in a white tuxedo with tails. The groomsmen wore gray tuxedos with tails, and the ushers wore gray tuxedos.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the St. Johns UAW Hall where 200 guests greeted the bride and groom. Host and hostess for the evening were Allen and Kam Boettger, uncle and aunt of the groom. Judy McCrumb, aunt of the bride, and Kathy Smalley, aunt of the groom, assisted in the cutting of the wedding cake.

Special guests were Mrs. Anis Sandborn, grandmother of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harper and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Boettger, grandparents of the groom.

Following a honeymoon trip to Arkansas, Tennessee, and Kentucky, the couple is at home in St. Johns.

Michelle and Michael Neimeyer
Wickwire-Neimeyer
Reside in Lansing

Michelle Lyanne Wickwire and Michael Lee Neimeyer were married Oct. 17 at Reorganized Latter Day Saints Church. Pastor Richard Garn officiated at the 4 p.m., double-ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Everett Wickwire of 2265 W. Parks Road, St. Johns. Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Neimeyer of 1023 Firwood, Lansing, are the parents of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a white taffata gown with embroidered netting and pearls. The bridal bouquet was made up of peach roses, brown mums, and maple leaves.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Daniel Isham from Lansing. Bridesmaids were Alicia Cady of Lansing and Melinda Neimeyer, sister of the groom from Lansing.

Flowergirl was Nikki Wickwire, niece of the bride. Ringbearer was Chris Wickwire, nephew of the bride.

Best man was John Brownell from Lansing. Groomsmen were Mike Klein of Pewamo and Jim Mools of Lansing. Ushers were Randy Wickwire of Potterville and Trent Wickwire of St. Johns, both brothers of the bride.

Special guests attending the wedding were Mrs. Dunham of Harrison and Xenia Wickwire of Battle Creek, both grandmothers of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smith of Vermontville, grandparents of the groom.

The couple took a honeymoon trip to Sault Ste. Marie. They reside in Lansing.

The Frisbies

Celebrate 61st anniversary

Lionel and Ethel Frisbie of Maple Rapids celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary on Thanksgiving Day with a family dinner in St. Louis.

The couple was married on Dec. 8, 1926, and has two children, Terry Frisbie of St. Louis and Neil and Carol Frisbie of Skandia, nine grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren.

Westphalia Society elects new officers

1987-88 officers for the Westphalia Historical Society were elected recently. New officers include president, Evelyn Welland; vice president, Cecelia Platte; secretary, Sue Pohl; and treasurer, Toni Schneider.

Projects for the coming year were discussed at the society's November meeting at the Westphalia Township Hall. Gerald and Marcella Martin of Kalamazoo were invited to be guest speakers at the March meeting. The Martins, called "The Walking Photographers," will present a color slide lecture of the "West in the Fall."

The society commemorated Veterans' Day by placing a wreath and flags at the Veterans Memorial Monument in front of the township hall. The monument, which was elected this last summer, honors the war dead from the Westphalia area.

The society is open to all area residents; there are no dues. Meetings are held on the second Tuesday of each month from March through November.

Family focus

Venison meals

By Dawn Harris

Deer hunting season ended last week and I know many hunters were successful in finding a deer.

If there was a deer hunter in your family, you may find yourself with some venison to prepare. Following are some tips on how to prepare and enjoy venison.

Freezing is the easiest way to preserve venison. To prepare venison for freezing, trim away connective tissue and fat, the source of strong "gamey" flavor. Protect the meat by wrapping it in moisture vapor-resistant packing materials such as heavy aluminum foil, laminated freezer paper, or freezer bags. Package in quantities your family will eat in one meal. Label each package with the date. Freeze quickly to 0 degrees F or below.

For best eating quality, use frozen ground venison within two to three months. Frozen venison steaks or roasts should be used within 8 to 12 months. Venison may be canned according to USDA directions for canning beef, veal, pork, lamb, and mutton. You may be interested in the recipes and information available in Bulletin No. 657, "Venison, Upper Peninsula Style," available from the Cooperative Extension Service office. There is no cost for one copy. To obtain it, call 224-5240.

Less tender roasts can be baked with dry heat at low temperatures for long periods of time or cooked with moist heat for shorter times.

Use a meat thermometer to judge the doneness of a roast. It's best to roast game to a minimal internal temperature of 150 degrees F to destroy parasites that might be present. When rapid cooking methods such as microwave cookery are used, cook to a minimum internal temperature of 170 degrees F.

Dawn Harris is the home economist of the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Have you ever heard of popcorn soup? And did you know that popcorn was once a popular breakfast food? Well, read on.

It all had to do with the American Indians. Popcorn was very big with the Indians. In fact, the Iroquois brought a deerskin bag of popcorn to the very first Thanksgiving feast at Plymouth colony. And they brought popcorn right along with their peace pipes as a token of good will during negotiations with the early settlers.

They also taught the colonists how to make popcorn soup... which may explain why some people today like to float popcorn on their favorite cream soups. And the colonial mothers went them one better by serving popcorn to their children for breakfast, with milk and sugar. Thus popcorn was America's first "puffed cereal!"

Not at all incidentally, the popcorn you enjoy today is far better than the kind the early settlers had. Hybrids have been developed that explode to more than thirty-five times their kernel size... and well over 99% of the kernels are sure to pop.

And popcorn is more popular than ever. We Americans eat more than 350 million pounds of it annually. Well, we don't actually eat all of it. Some of it is strung for Christmas decorations. Speaking of Christmas... one of Carol Channing's favorite candies is her grandmother's German popcorn ball recipe, which she loves dearly.

Well, I hope I've managed to tell you at least something you didn't know about popcorn. And I hope you'll always remember to get your popcorn, and all your food needs at Beck's. Pop in any time!

Local schools get minigrants

Rep. Gary Randall has announced that the latest recipients of minigrants for the area are St. Johns Public Schools and St. Joseph Catholic School in Pewamo.

The minigrant program, a project of the Michigan Council for the Arts and the Arts Council Center of Greater Lansing, awarded a total of $798 to two schools for programs to be implemented between February and May of 1988.

St. John's Rodney B. Wilson Middle School will receive $450 to provide sixth grade students a three-day series of lectures where a noted Michigan author will speak about the development of a novel.

A minigrant of $348 to St. Joseph's school will fund a workshop to aid teachers and volunteers in the presentation of art history for kindergarten through sixth grade students using the well established Picture Person Program.

"My congratulations are extended to these schools for their receipt of these minigrant awards," Rep. Randall says. "Our state legislature has recognized the importance of arts programs in our schools, and the minigrant program is an excellent example of how joint efforts can stimulate the development of new and expanded audiences for the arts and an increase of arts activities in our own district as well as throughout the tri-county area."

The minigrant program provides financial assistance of up to $2,000 to groups and organizations recognizing community need and requiring additional underwriting to meet that need.

For more information, call Rep. Randall's office at 373-6692 or the Arts Council Center of Greater Lansing at 372-4636.

CMH welcomes new employees in a variety of departments

Clinton Memorial Hospital last week announced the addition of three new employees to the hospital staff: Jane Ann Clarke, Patrick Oberloier, and Diane Upton.

The new admitting clerk at CMH, Clarke received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Albion College in 1978. She was previously employed at the 15th District Court in Ann Arbor and was the court clerk/assistant to the court administrator for the past five years.

Clarke, her husband Terry, and daughter Elizabeth live in St. Johns.

Oberloier, new radiology technologist, received an Associate Degree in Radiology Technology from Mid-Michigan Community College. He was previously employed at Mackinac Straits Hospital in St. Ignace. He and his wife, Deanna, plan to relocate in St. Johns in the near future.

A 1984 graduate of St. Johns High School, Upton is the new Pharmacy Technician at the hospital. She attended Central Michigan University and will graduate from Lansing Community College next year. She is presently making her home in St. Johns.

"We are happy to have these three fine individuals working at Clinton Memorial Hospital," says Kathryn Bangs, vice president of administrative services.

St. Johns police report includes accidents, break-ins last week

During the week of Nov. 20-27, St. Johns police recorded nine accidents, one investigation, one malicious destruction of property, one violation of a restricted operator's license, one larceny, one warrant pick-up, one shoplifting complaint, and two liquor violations.

• 10:05 p.m. Nov. 21 - Police stopped a vehicle for speeding on M-21 and Scott Road. During the traffic stop it was learned that the driver was driving without a license. The subject was charged for violation of restricted driver's license.

• Nov. 22 - Police received a telephone call in reference to malicious destruction of property to a car in the 800 block of S. Clinton. During the investigation, police found that the vehicle's windshield was smashed in two places, and the windshield wiper was bent.

• 5:50 p.m. Nov. 25 - Fishers Big Wheel, 1913 S. US-27, called to advise police that a subject had stolen four cassette tapes. An officer responded to the complaint and met with store security and the suspect. A warrant is being sought through the Clinton County Prosecutor's Office.

• Nov. 27 11:50 a.m. - Officers Lehman and Hennig investigated an accident on Oakland and Cass streets.

• 12:30 a.m. Nov. 27 - Police stopped a vehicle on Scott Road. Through investigation of the traffic stop, two citations were issued to two minors for possession of alcoholic beverages.

Holiday bazaar at St. Marys

St. Mary's School of Westphalia holds its fifth annual Christmas Bazaar on Sunday, Dec. 6, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Come browse through the halls of St. Mary's and inspect the craftsmanship of the local residents, as well as exhibitors from various parts of the state. Hosting over 80 vendors makes St. Mary's bazaar one of the largest in the area.

Arts and crafts ranging from wooden toys, dolls, cross stitching, needlepoint, ceramics, baskets, wreaths, hats, punched tin, crocheted Christmas ornaments, cabbage patch doll clothes, beads, candles and candle holders, blown glass, jewelry, stuffed animals, fabric and leather crafts, and driftwood are sure to please everyone.

Smell the aroma from the Bakery as well as the Coffee Shop; relax and treat yourself to sloppy joes, hot dogs, chips, drinks, along with a slice of homemade pie.

Free prizes will be given away throughout the day to those registered at the door.

Raffle tickets are being sold for prizes donated by the following: John Lehman family, grandfather clock; handmade quilt, Helen Wirth, and quilt stand, Cindy Fedewa; handcrafted accent table, Jerry Wohlert; nativity set by Ginny Weber and stable by Jerome Smith; ceramic Christmas setting, Jane Weber, Jane Voisinet, Judy Nurenberg, and Jean Pohl; one-night stay at the Midway Motor Lodge; Numerous other items such as savings bonds from Maynard-Allen State Bank will also be given away. Tickets are available at St. Mary's School office and may be purchased the day of the bazaar for $1 each.

There will be a separate drawing the day of the bazaar for numerous children's items. Tickets for this drawing will be on sale the day of the bazaar only.

The grand prize drawing will be at 5 p.m. Winners need not be present to win.

College news

Julie Friend

Julie Friend, a 1987 graduate of St. Johns High School, will perform in the Syracuse University production of "Humanity Mark Two," which deals with the reality of survival after a nuclear holocaust.

Friend portrays Frances Worthington, the wealthy owner of the business holding the bomb shelter.

Currently studying speech communications and theatre, Friend is enrolled in the school of Visual and Performing Arts at the university.

Tina Simmon

Tina Simmon, daughter of Richard and Marsha

Simmon of 609 N. Morton St., St. Johns, recently received an award at the fourth annual Michigan Small Colleges Fine Art Competition held at Albion College.

Simmon, a senior art major at Spring Arbor College, was awarded one of five prizes given to student competitors from nine colleges and universities across the state. A first-year photography student, Simmon was awarded her prize in the photography division for a series of shots of doors.

Bill Bippes, professor of art at the college, says Simmon's photographs were "technically strong, and exhibited real ability in darkroom techniques."

German settlers happy with new life in Westphalia area

As part of its sesquicentennial and "Sentimental Journey" activities for this year, the Westphalia Historical Society has been active in locating communications between German settlers in the area and their relatives in Germany.

The following letters were taken from a book written by Joseph Scheben, Bonn, Germany, and were sent from Westphalia to Langenfeld in the Eifela area of Germany on Dec. 8, 1869.

The letters were written by two brothers, Peter and John Nurenberg. They emigrated from Langenfeld, Germany, and arrived in Westphalia along with another brother, Anton, and their parents, John Joseph and Eva Schueller Nurenberg, in 1856.

Dear Cousins,

We are writing to you to let you know we are still in good health, thanks be to God, and we hope the same is true for you.

We had a good year. The wheat and all the fruits of the summer yielded a very good harvest. I am back home with my parents. I worked as a hired hand for five months this summer. My pay was $16 per month.

We have not heard from you in a long time and we are concerned. We hope all is well. If only we could talk with one another again, but to return to Langenfeld is not our wish. Everything is much better for us here. Michael Gross (an immigrant from Langefeld) visited with us this summer and he too says that life is better here than in Germany. John Klein and Michael Miller are also in Westphalia now. They are in good health.

Now I must close my letter — my greetings to all in Langenfeld.

Peter Nurenberg

Dear Godmother,

I also want to write a few words to let you know that we are all in good health. I have been working away from home as a hired hand, but now have returned to my parents' home and found them in good health — for this I thank God!

We now have 12 head of cattle: five cows, a yoke of oxen, three steers, and two calves. We also have six pigs. These are being fattened for butchering — God willing! We have 26 sheep. Recently we sold a cow for $34 and this year we thrashed 150 bushels of wheat — what I am writing here is the plain truth.

Now I must close. Please extend my greetings to John Miller of Langenfeld. It has been five or six years since I last heard from him. My wife, Maria Tillmann, sends her greetings. We wish all of you a Happy New Year.

Our address here is: John Joseph Nurenberg, Westphalia in Clinton County, Michigan, North America.

P.S. We have built here in our town a new church. It will cost at least $50,000 when it is completed. We believe the first mass will be celebrated in the new church on Easter Sunday. My mother would also like to see you once again, but no more in Germany. Here she can live more peacefully. She has more freedom here, she says, and she can honor God without restrictions. She has better food, and it is so plentiful that she could feed many poor people if she had the opportunity. Send an answer soon to Eva Schuller Nurenberg.

'Bunyan and Banjos' for Christmas

By LORA THOM
Associate Editor

Kitty Donohoe and Pasqua Warstler are in the process of publishing a one-of-a-kind elementary school children's song and story book about Michigan's history, "Bunyan and Banjos," to be released in early December.

The book offers a historical approach about Indian legends, the first white men in Michigan, copper mining and its effects on the Great Lakes shipping the commodity, recipes and terminologies, from the fundamentals of agricultural products to songs in American sign language with illustrations to go along with them.

Author Donohoe and illustrator Warstler published the spiral-bound paperback in response to the Sesquicentennial year and because of a strong response from interested educators who would find it to be a useful tool to promote learning in a basic way.

MUCH OF THE material evolved from archives, state agencies, and libraries. "We had to play sleuths a lot of the time to conduct research for the narratives and illustrations to include details and to get the leg work done," explains Warstler.

Both Donohoe and Warstler have participated in music and art workshops for children throughout the Clinton County area over the past couple of years.

Donohoe is a Michigan folk and blues singer and songwriter. She has taken songs and stories to schools to promote traditional music for children with a program called "Kidfolk," using guitar, banjo, fiddle, mountain dulcimer, a four stringed folk instrument, pennywhistle, and bones and spoons.

Warstler acquired a bachelor of fine arts degree from Aquinas College and uses her skills to develop pictures, graphics, puppets, and drawings of the American sign language alphabet, among others.

Although this is the first book publishing experience for both of the local artists they agree that Bunyan and Banjos promotes learning about Michigan history in a significant way and at the same time it is exciting. "The source of information is presented in a fun format," says Donohoe. "It's quality in terms of content."

"History could be in your own backyard, you have to look for it," says Warstler.

THE 40-PAGE booklet includes practical information which encourages family participation, because the narrative text is geared toward the adult or older child for interpretation, whereas the songs reach preschoolers through sixth graders.

Two of the 15 songs written and recorded by Donohoe are traditional Michigan songs. "It was a real challenge to find river names which rhymed for the song 'Rivers,'" says Donohoe. "The songs are written accurately; I looked the information up."

Donohoe used the guitar, banjo, mountain dulcimer, spoons, and limber jack, an Appalachian dancing doll, for the historically placed songs which have been recorded for Bunyan and Banjos. Song lyrics have also been typeset into the book.

To Donohoe the songs are a learning tool. One of the songs refers to the Mackinaw Bridge.

"The songs have historical overtones which make it easy for children to process the information because they remember the bridge's height, and when it was made since most of the songs are easy to remember because of the rhyming schemes and sing-a-long tunes."

"The book can be used as a text for teachers and classrooms, and parents because it is user friendly," explains Warstler. "It allows a parent or teacher to sit down and read stories to children because he/she is able to learn easily with a tune."

"The information in the book was designed to go down easily and smoothly because it is a hands-on learning tool," explains Warstler.

"BUNYAN AND Banjos" has been requested by special interest groups such as the Michigan Historical Foundation, Great Lakes Freighting, and Greater Michigan Foundation, according to Warstler.

"The mailing list is growing and we've had a good response thus far," says Warstler.

Both artists are anxious to find out about the outcome of the books success. "I'm excited to receive some feedback about the book," says Warstler.

"Although Pasqua and I won't become rich — our endeavors will be many more," claims Donohoe.

The book sells for $7 and is accompanied by a sing-a-long tape for $6; both are available through the Clinton County Arts Council Gallery, 1002½ E. State St. (M-21) in St. Johns.

A reception honoring Donohoe and Warstler will be held at the gallery on Sunday, Dec. 6, from 1 to 5 p.m. Donohoe will perform cross-sections of the stories and songs in Bunyan and Banjos at 2 p.m. All area children and families are invited to attend this event.

Mathias Simon letter recalls struggles of early immigrants

The following letter was written by Mathias Simon, who emigrated from Staffel, a small village in the Eifel area of the German Rhineland. Mathias, his wife Anna Marie Gies Simon, and their five sons settled in Westphalia Township, Section 2, in 1841. This place is now the home of Glenn Theisen.

This letter was taken from a book written by Joseph Scheben, Bonn, Germany. The article in Scheben's book is entitled, "On New Shores" (1847). Mathias Simon is writing from Westphalia to his father- and mother-in-law in Staffel. The letter begins:
Westphalia 21 April 1947
My Dear Parents,

I cannot put off writing to you. I hope my letter finds you in good health as we are now. It has not been so for long. In the last year we were often shutins because of sickness. I was sick from August until about New Years. For awhile my wife had to give me drink with a spoon. My wife also was sick at times, but now we are all well again. The work still progressed very well because of my children who are good workers and dependable help. I don't have to work as much if I don't want to.

I must inform you that the potatoes have spoiled to such extent that we have no more to plant. But there still is no scarcity of footstuff here.

I must inform you that we are building a new church here now and also how many families are here. Seventy-five are here now and there will be more every year. It will not be many years before there are over 100 families, all Catholic.

We hear that the railroad is supposed to come through here in two years and this would be a great help to us. Otherwise I don't have much news to write, other than that I have six sons and one daughter.

We would like to hear something from our homeland, for we have heard that you are having hard times there now. I must tell you that the manner of living is different than it is at your house. But regarding bought clothing, it is not as good here as over there. However, it won't be long before things will be improving in that regard since things keep improving here.

We have nice flax here, but it is not as strong as it is over there. I must relate that we are making sugar now. I think if all goes well, that I will make two or three hundred pounds, of which I wish you had thirty pounds over there.

I would like very much to know if anyone in our area has emigrated or not, and where he is. I would also like to know who in Staffel has died. I have been told that Anna Luthildis Schleich has been dead for three years, and her belongings were sold.

It is almost six years already since we left you and we have not received one letter of the alphabet. This is a difficult matter because I and my wife would certainly still very much like to hear something from you.**

We are well satisfied here and have already cleared thirty acres. And this year there are eight or nine acres to be cleared. It is hard work, but we always keep at it.

Yes, I must inform you that this year we had a jubilee for three weeks. It started on Palm Sunday and is over with now.

We are aware that in Ireland many people died of starvation, and a contribution for their relief was made here. I do hope that things are not as bad with you. I also have to inform you that Nikolaus Schaefer from Arft also is here and sends greetings to all of you, yes, presently I must end this letter. We have waited so long for a letter. I hear that in Staffel I have been depicted as being poor. All this means nothing, for Jesus said, "Blessed are the poor for theirs is the kingdom of heaven." For that reason one must not make it a cause of annoyance.

Yes, little letter, go speedily to our parents and bring them good tidings and bring us also the same again in return thereby we also greet them in friendship.

I must quit writing and close this letter. My wife, children, and I send friendly greetings and hope that this will be agreeable to you. We greet all, especially Johann Fassbender and his family. We send greetings to our family in Puetzfeld and in Denn and hope all are well.

My address is: Mathias Simon in Westphalia, German Settlement, in care of Lyons, Michigan, in North America

I-69 freeway opens with gala celebration

It was a beautiful day for the ribbon cutting ceremony that marked the opening of a new 8.5-mile section of I-69 to traffic.

Construction on the new section of the freeway began in September 1985. It extends from the existing four-lane freeway near the Clinton-Shiawassee county line in Bath Township and joins U.S. 127 in DeWitt Township. The cost of the new section of freeway is $39.5 million, of which 90 percent is being paid with federal highway funds.

Janet Foran, spokesperson for the Michigan Department of Transportation, says the department placed the building of the freeway on an accelerated basis because of public concern in East Lansing of large trucks using Saginaw Street.

State and local officials were on hand for the ribbon cutting ceremony, besides the Bath High School Band, and the 200 people who attended the ceremony. Bath Township Trustee Paul Shaheen served as master of ceremonies.

The new section of I-69 was dedicated in the memory of Thomas E. "Woody" Woodruff. Woodruff served in both Bath Township and in DeWitt Charter Township. Mrs. Thomas Woodruff accepted the dedication from Rep. Gary Randall (R-Elwell).

Randall says the stretch of Interstate 69 that is named on Woodruff's behalf was a long-term project of his.

"A reminder is not necessary for family and friends," Randall says, "but is necessary for others."

The opening ceremony of I-69 included remarks from many officials including Bath Township Supervisor Rich Brook, who gave bottled "Bath" water to the construction companies involved with the project, and DeWitt Township Supervisor Robert Zeeb.

Zeeb says part of the land that I-69 is built on has been in his family for the past 150 years. Zeeb says if his great-grandfather could see it now, he would be very surprised by what that land now looked like.

The ceremony was concluded with a caravan of trucks and cars officially traveling on the new freeway.

Brook says Bath Township won't know how the new section of freeway will affect the township for three to five years.

"You have immediate things, like larges chunks of property being purchased," Brook says, "but you're never going to know what's going to happen until someone walks through your door and says they want to build."

Contracts for the building of 14 miles of I-69 from Charlotte to Lansing will be released next year, and work is scheduled to begin in 1989 on the 10 mile section from the Clinton-Shiawassee county line east to the existing freeway near Perry.

Scouts have game night

Game night was the theme of the Nov. 15 meeting of Cub Scout Pack 572. One cub scout from each den participated in the Webelos den winning the contest.

Leaders sang "My Bonnie" for the pack, and the cub scouts won a marshmallow-eating race with their parents, brothers, and sisters.

The following scouts received badges:

Bobcat: Den 1 — Marc Starn; Den 3 — Brian Moeggenberg; Den 4 — Mark Belligen, Mike Belligen, Chris Halliday, Matt Ferguson, Mark Smith, Jami Thelen, and Ian White; Den 1 — John Feighner (wolf, gold arrow, 3 silver arrows) and Kevin Foerch (wolf, gold arrow, 2 silver arrows); Den 3 — Nate Canfield (gold arrow, 2 silver arrows) and Richard Coletta (2 silver arrows); Webelos Den 1 — Richard Maxa, Mark Puetz, and Eric Starn (outdoorsman activity badges).

The next pack meeting is planned for Sunday, Dec. 13, at 6:30 p.m.

Financial Focus Buying securities

By Chuck Dicken

Almost anything today can be bought on credit. It's the American way of doing business. If you want to buy an automobile, you contribute part of the purchase price and borrow the rest from the bank or credit institution. The same thing happens if you decide to buy stocks or other securities on "margin."

A margin loan, or margin account as it is commonly called, is similar to a bank loan except the collateral is securities instead of property.

Why would anyone want to make an investment with borrowed money? Actually, it's done quite often. Since buying a home, real estate, or even a business is generally done with borrowed funds, buying securities with partially borrowed money is not unusual or unduly risky if you understand margin.

The margin account allows you to purchase more shares of a security than you could buy with your own funds alone. In addition, by using securities you already own as collateral, you can use your margin account to get a cash loan. It's done simply and quickly with no red tape and at very competitive rates. You are not limited to spending the money for investments either. The choice is yours to do home repairs, buy a car, pay your taxes, or educate your children.

The interest you pay on your margin account is not a fixed rate. It is tied to the Broker's Call Rate, which is generally lower than prime rate and may fluctuate over the life of your loan. It is calculated on the actual daily balance of your account and posted to your account monthly. This way, you can see exactly how much your interest is each month and get a year-to-date total.

Your collateral does not have a fixed market value and it fluctuates daily. But if the amount of the loan on your account exceeds 65 percent of the value of securities, you will be asked for a payment to bring the account to a 65 percent level. This is called a "house maintenance call" and is due within three business days. You will be notified of the amount due and date due.

If you are unable to deposit sufficient funds or securities to meet this call, a portion of your securities will be liquidated until your account reaches the necessary 65 percent level. It is important to understand and discuss this with your broker before entering into a margin agreement.

Margin accounts are closely monitored by the Federal Reserve Board, which, along with other agencies, determines the stocks you can borrow against and how much your broker may loan you on these stocks. Security brokers, dealers, and members of national securities exchanges are regulated by the Federal Reserve which establishes initial margin requirements and defines eligible, ineligible, and exempt securities.

In other words, the Fed tells your broker which securities are "marginable" and can be used as collateral for your loan. At this time, any "listed" stock or stock that is traded on the New York, American, or major regional exchange that trades for $5 or more is eligible for margin.

Over the counter stock eligibility is also determined by the Federal Reserve. Other marginable securities include GNMA's, unit trusts, U.S. treasury issues, and mutual funds.

Schuette supports balanced budget

Congressman Bill Schuette recently voiced his strong support for a Balanced Budget Amendment while testifying before the Subcommittee on Monopolies and Commercial Law of the House Judiciary Committee.

As a long-time and ardent supporter of a balanced budget amendment, Schuette notes that with more than $2.3 trillion in accumulated national debt, "there is widespread recognition that immediate action is needed."

"When I speak in support of the Balanced Budget Amendment," Schuette says, "I speak of it not as a cure-all, but as a necessary device to prevent the type of crisis atmosphere that we have been acting under the past decade." Moreover, as the House author of H.R. 2733, the Domenici/Schuette budget reform package, Schuette includes language calling for the passage of such an amendment by the Congress.

If adopted, in total, he says, the Domenici/Schuette package would strengthen budgetary discipline, streamline the budget mechanism, and restore credibility and accountability to the budget process - without taking the easy way out by raising taxes." Schuette has opposed tax increases since his election to Congress in 1984.

Most importantly, Schuette explains, "a balanced budget amendment would help ensure that the government will have the financial capacity to meet the needs of all our citizens. If the Constitution is a charter written to protect our freedom and liberty, the balanced budget amendment, as a guarantor of our economic stability, should be part of that protection."

If you believe a margin account would be appropriate for your needs, visit your financial advisor to discuss it. Most brokerage firms don't charge a fee for this service. If you decide to open a margin account you will be asked to sign a margin agreement. Be sure to read and understand this agreement before signing it. Just as in making a regular loan, there are risks involved in maintaining a margin account. Keep in mind that although profits may be greater in trading on margin by allowing you to buy more securities, the loss potential is just as great. Margin accounts should be considered only by those whose investment objectives and financial abilities are compatible with this type of investing.

French gets national award

Tom French of St. Johns earned the 1987 National Quality Award for high standards of life insurance sales and services in his position as a local agent for Farm Bureau Insurance Group.

French, whose office is at 218 N. Bridge St., DeWitt, is a three-time recipient of the award and is a member of the Shiawassee County Association of Life Underwriters.

The award is a national honor reserved for agents who maintain superior standards of client services, presented by the National Association of Life Underwriters in connection with the Life Insurance Marketing and Research Association.

Besides receiving the award, French recently attended a week-long Farm Bureau of Indiana Business Insurance Seminar at Purdue University. Topics at the seminar included prospecting in a business market, farm as a business, buy-sell agreements, and valuation of a business.

French is a graduate of St. Johns High School and lives with his wife, LeAnn, in St. Johns.

Old Newsboys ready for sale

The 1987 edition of the "Old Newsboys" paper goes on sale on Friday, Dec. 11, in St. Johns and a number of other Clinton County locations.

The special editors of the Old Newsboys Edition have been busy laying out writing, and assembling the annual spoof of area happenings and personalities.

Proceeds from the sale of the newspaper are used to provide new shoes for local children in need. This year's goal of $80,000 has increased due to rising prices and an overall greater need.

Persons who would like to become members of the group may attend the annual membership meeting on Monday, Dec. 7, at 1500

Kendall, East Lansing, beginning at 5:30 p.m., or send in $3 membership dues to:

Findlay Manor news

Happy birthday to John Karek on Dec. 3. We aren't kidding — our residents really do enjoy your birthday greetings!

The recent family Thanksgiving dinner at the manor was a huge success. The crowd was cheerful, the residents were pleased, the food was terrific, and the volunteers and staff did their usual efficient job and had fun too. This is just as you would expect in a community-owned facility — we care a great deal more than the conglomerates in this industry.

The reason I'm writing this is because I too care! As I looked over the festive group, the cold, hard facts were brought to mind. We all know of individuals, even family, who have required nursing home care. Up to 20 percent of those over 65 years of age will receive this care. Five percent of those over 65 will spend their remaining years cared for in a nursing home.

I wonder to myself, since this is so obvious, why don't people plan for this need? You buy health insurance to help with medical expenses, disability insurance to provide income during illness or injury on the job, social security to help with retirement, life insurance to provide for our loved ones in case of death. Why not provide for their welfare in case of future life in a nursing home, or on home health care, or in a home for the aged, or adult foster care home?

Medicare does not cover 97 percent of the patients in nursing homes. Medicaid now requires impoverishment of the patient and surviving spouse before it will provide minimal payment of expenses.

With the cost of nursing home care at $2,000 a month and the average stay nearly three years, we owe it to our loved ones to buy insurance against this possibility. There are at least 15 companies offering new and very good policies now. Rates range from $138 to $4,218 per year depending on the insured's age, type, and amount of coverage.

Naturally, I do not endorse or recommend any one company or policy over the rest, but I surely urge your consideration of the idea.

Just call me, Mark Stapleman, or Roberta Dianda-Motz here at the agency and we will send you information.

In the meantime, I wish you all a happy and blessed holiday season and new year!

Adventists begin annual service appeal canvass

Door-to-door canvassing in residential and business sections of St. Johns begins this month as part of the World Service Appeal sponsored by the Seventh-day Adventist Church. The annual appeal benefits Adventist welfare, disaster, educational, and medical work in 186 countries.

Overall church member donations equal more than those received from the public, says Pastor Frank Horne of St. Johns. Nearly 13 percent of monies raised are returned for community service projects in St. Johns for assisting persons temporarily in need because of disaster or unfortunate circumstances.

Another 43 percent of the donations are used in a variety of statewide projects such as inner city programs, medical vans, camps for the underprivileged, and health education ministries.

Questions raised on elementary 'shared principals'

By BOB KOGER
SJHS Publicist

When one examines the job description for elementary principals in the St. Johns School District, the job goal is described as follows: "The elementary principal assumes responsibility for administration of the school, which includes: curriculum, planning, evaluation of educational program, supervision and evaluation of staff, student attendance and discipline, and the physical condition of the building and grounds. It is understood that the welfare and education of students must have priority in all that is performed."

The fulfillment of these goals is not an easy task. However, think how much more difficult the task becomes when only one-half of the principal's day can be devoted to its accomplishment. Yet, this is exactly what has happened in our system. A number of years ago, due to financial cuts, it was decided to divide a single principal among two elementary schools. Questions as to whether this decision is consistent with the final statement in the job goal need to be considered. How can it be "understood that the welfare and education of students must have priority" when the role of the educational leader within the school is reduced to 50 percent efficiency?

The matter of driving the distances between schools located in our rural areas, weather and road conditions, wear and tear on personal automobiles (the district does not provide them), and the demands of attending administrative meetings in town are minimal when compared to what is happening within each building. True, these principals are given a mileage reimbursement for traveling between buildings, once they have reached their work place for the day. But, what is happening within the buildings and the school community?

An immense task

A single principal is now in charge of twice the number of staff and students. Consider that responsibility in the schools in the southern area of our district - Riley and East Olive. They share a principal. Riley has a double enrollment of each grade, add to this nine recess and lunchroom aides, a speech therapist, music teacher, counselor, physical therapist, psychologist, social worker, secretary, four self-contained special education rooms, and a learning resource room and you will have a staff of 32 individuals with which the principal must interact and lead.

The task is further increased with a student enrollment of 346 students. Yet, the principal for this school, the educational leader of the community, can only devote one-half of her time to this job. For the other half of the day she must motor across the district and assume a similar responsibility for East Olive Elementary School. Add to this trying to work with two separate school communities and PTO organizations and one begins to understand the immensity of this task.

Student contact

To be an effective educational leader, it is vital that the leader know the needs and abilities of the students who are the goal of the educational process. Principals are unable to really get to know students so that decisions pertaining to educational and social development can be fairly applied. Paper work and communications in each school dominate a good share of the principal's time, severely restricting the amount of quality time that can be spent dealing directly with students.

Mrs. Arline Rullman, principal at Riley and East Olive, brings up another facet of this student time problem.

"As principal, I have the ultimate responsibility of placement of students in special education programs," she says. "I want to be involved in these educational decisions. But I cannot attend all the IECP and other such meetings that are involved in making these decisions, because of my limited availability. Therefore, decisions on students in my charge are made without my complete input. This bothers me."

It is most important for principals to be able to do a lot of in-class observations in order to lead with decisions as to what will be best for the student. This is also an important factor in administering student discipline. However, with our principals sharing only half of the day with each school, many students rarely see them, and this presents problems when it comes time to discipline students. It is easy for a student to perceive that he is being disciplined by a stranger. Principals are just not visible enough to students for the principal to establish a well-defined role model.

With the split kindergarten classrooms in our district, where a kindergarten class meets for only one-half of the school day, some kindergartners may seldom, if ever, see the school principal. While the principal may be at one school in the morning, the morning kindergarten meets at the other and is gone before the principal arrives.

Pan flies again!

Photograph by Ken Quartermus
NATHAN LOUNDS along with other members of the St. Johns High School cast and crew of "Peter Pan" played to sell-out crowds during the musicale's Nov. 20-22 run - then took to the air once more in a special "command performance" last Tuesday, Nov. 25.

Teacher contact

Though the principal and teacher have some time before or after school each day to interact, the quality time of classroom visitations by the principal to observe, evaluate, comment, and direct the teacher is reduced. As stated by principal Rullman, "In order to help the teacher by being a good sounding board in the educational process, I need to be in the classroom more often."

It is not hard to see how half-time principalships limit these educational horizons.

Each year teachers are to be evaluated. Tenured teachers are evaluated once every three years, and probationary teachers are evaluated at least three times a year. Meeting these responsibilities in two complexes is difficult.

With the absence of the principal for such a major portion of the day, it becomes necessary for teachers and staff to act on their own, assuming part of the principal's responsibilities. Though this may make the teacher more self-sufficient, it takes from their quality time for planning, creating, and working with students. Thus, it does not achieve a maximum effect in the academic process.

The principal's divided responsibility has also reduced his/her ability to lead in the implementation of new programs and ideas. These activities take much planning, executing, observation, and evaluation time. With this time cut in half, it is obvious that innovative learning is equally effected.

Another problem for the shared principal in our district is that they are unable to be in both schools at the same time to enhance the teacher and school during the parent conferences.

Frustrations loom

The doubling of the paperwork takes the principal from the immediate and direct involvement with students and staff. This causes the principal to experience guilt from disassociation with his/her responsibilities.

Principals become torn as to which direction to go to assist with the problems with two separate school complexes.

The principal is constantly being faced with the fact that he/she knows what to do to assist in the educational process, but due to divided responsibilities between buildings, is forever having to opt out because of a lack of time.

Principals are constantly rushed to get the job done so that they can get to the other building.

Emergencies arise

When a principal is at one building and there is a personal injury, facility failure, or the like at the other building, he/she is not on hand to lead the students and staff with how to handle the situation. In effect, we have a school without a leader.

Parent meetings

If a parent wishes to see a principal, this may not be possible because the principal is at the other school. There are many times when the principal appears almost illusive to the parent, due to the expectations of his/her other building responsibility.

Efficiency effected

When the principal is not in the building, some other person must assume his/her responsibilities. For example, counselors are many times asked to cover in the absence of the principal. When this happens, it takes from their time to work with student problems. If a teacher is asked to assume this role, it must also be expected that classroom time with students will be dramatically effected.

In summary

The problem of "shared principals" will not be easily solved until the district becomes financially efficient enough to hire full-time principals for each elementary building. A full-time, concerned, dynamic, and well-informed principal is needed in each of our elementary complexes if we are to achieve a better quality of elementary education.

St. Johns, P-W, Ashley are champs!!

Photograph by Rhonda Westfall

Pewamo-Westphalia cagers roll to 7th straight 'C' championship

Winning district basketball titles is nothing new for the Pewamo-Westphalia girls' basketball team — it's sort of a routine accomplishment.

Coach Carol Rademacher's Pirate squad earned a seventh consecutive Class C district crown by virtue of a 64-36 win over the Ithaca Yellowjackets last Tuesday night. The victory pushed the Pirates' record to 20-2 overall and paved the way for their participation in the Class C regional competition which will be played at Ithaca High School this week.

Pewamo-Westphalia meets Saginaw Valley Lutheran in their regional opener tomorrow night (Dec. 3), with game time slated for 8 p.m. Should they win that contest, Rademacher's cagers would advance to the regional championship game on Saturday, Dec. 5.

"Saginaw Valley has a nice ball team," Coach Rademacher said of the upcoming regional clash. "We've seen them play twice, and they do a lot of things very well. They have two quick guards and three strong forwards. It should be a good game."

Last week's district game with Ithaca saw the Pirates in an unusual position prior to the second half — trailing in the scoring column.

The Yellowjackets managed to outscore P-W in the first quarter, 12-11, then hung on to their slim one-point lead, 18-17 going into halftime.

"We played pretty good defense for the whole game, but just couldn't get anything going offensively in the first half," Rademacher said. "Ithaca played well in that half."

The Pirates got back on track in the third period, using a zone press to thwart the Yellowjackets' offense, and pick up baskets on their own end. P-W outscored Ithaca 24-8 in the period to take a 41-26 lead into the closing stanza, and never allowed the Yellowjackets back in the ballgame.

"We shot exceptionally well at the free throw line," Coach Rademacher said of her team's 71 percent charity stripe shooting. "We had hoped to be doing that well all year — I guess this is a good time for us to finally have our average up."

The Pirates were led by Sandy Simon who totaled 20 points, 16 rebounds, 3 steals, and 3 assists in the contest. She was helped by teammates Amy Hengesbach with 12 points and 11 rebounds, Kerri Nurenberg with 11 points, 6 rebounds, and 5 steals, Shirley Thelen with 8 points, and Sharon Barker who came off the bench to score 6 points and tally 3 rebounds.

"Sharon did a nice job for us in the game," Coach Rademacher said.

Pewamo-Westphalia will be looking for Class C regional title number five going into this week's post-season action.

After that, it's on to quarterfinals, semis, and the state final championship game.

That would definitely be more than "routine" for the Pirate team and their many fans.

Ashley earns come-from-behind victory over Fowler to win 'D' title

By RHONDA WESTFALL
Sports Editor

You can call them determined.
You can call them gutsy.
You can call them — hrdinsky.
You can call the Ashley girls' basketball team Class D district champions thanks to all the above in a come-from-behind 53-48 win over Fowler in the district final game played last Tuesday night.

After trailing for much of the contest, the Bears took the lead with 2:24 left on the clock off a steal and following basket by Sherry Kral to make the score 49-48. Ashley hit on 4-8 shots from the charity stripe in the closing minutes to ice the game.

"The girls showed a strong heart in the fourth quarter," Ashley Coach Carl Wayer said. "I felt Fowler really outplayed us for much of the game — but we were better in the last three minutes."

"We finally ran some offense late in the game and settled down a bit — we played good defense for most of the second half. Some of our younger players came in and gave our starters a rest and when they came back in, they came on strong."

Fowler Coach Tom O'Rourke also saw Ashley's ability to give key players a breather as a deciding factor in the outcome of the game.

"They (Ashley) have so many kids — we just got tired out in the fourth quarter. They really took it to us in the final minutes," he said.

"We felt we played well overall. We shot 50 percent from the field and almost 75 percent from the line — that's good for us."

THE GAME OPENED in the pint-sized gymnasium at Mt. Pleasant Sacred Heart with the Bears netting the first point of the game off a free throw by Chaunda Shaw. Fowler quickly got on the board with baskets by scoring leaders Mary Kay Jandernoa and Mary Jo Simon to open up a 7-2 lead midway through the period.

A basket by AnnMarie Fabus pulled the Bears to within 3 points — 13-10 — as the first quarter buzzer sounded.

Ashley tied the game at 15-15 early in the second period when Kral connected for 2 points, but the Simon's hot hand at the charity stripe (4-4) along with baskets by Jandernoa and Marcy Sillman allowed Fowler to up the ante back to 23-19.

The Bears came back to tie the score once more in the closing minute of the quarter, 23-23, but a strike by Sillman and a final second shot by Donna Feldpausch saw the Eagles enter the lockerroom at the half with a 27-23 advantage.

Third period action followed much the same format — Ashley closing in only to see the Eagles keep the lead just a little out of reach. The quarter closed with Fowler ahead by a 39-35 score.

THE FINAL STANZA saw Fowler pull out to a 46-41 lead with 4:44 remaining before a pair of free throws by Shaw and basket by Angie Felton closed the gap to 46-45. Sherrine Rowell put the Eagles' scoring lead back up to 48-45 with a pair of shots from the charity stripe — the final points that Fowler would tally in the contest.

The remaining 3 minutes belonged to the Bears who combined gummy play and determination with the right amount of baskets to claim the district crown.

Shaw paced the Bears with 16 points, with senior Lisa Wingle adding 14 points — most of those coming in the critical fourth quarter. Felton had 11 points and Kral ended the game with 6 points and a number of key steals.

The Eagles were led by Jandernoa with 19 points and Simon with 15 points. Donna Feldpausch had 10 rebounds and 6 points, and Sillman also had 6 points.

Fowler ends their 1987 with a 14-9 overall record. Simon and Jandernoa were named as co-MVPs, with Rowell receiving the combination Coaches/Most Improved Award.

Ashley opens regional play tonight at Birch Run High School where they face Flint Holy Rosary.

Redwings victorious in Class A thanks to 'total team effort'

The St. Johns girls' basketball team picked up their sixth district crown last week, defeating Swartz Creek 64-54 in the Class A championship game played at Owosso High School.

Terming the victory a "total team effort," Coach Beth Swears knows her Redwing cagers will need to put forth the same type of overall performance to get by their opening Class A regional opponent — Okemos.

Ranked eighth in the state, and state finalists in 1986, the Cheifains bring a 22-1 record into this Thursday's (Dec. 3) contest at West Bloomfield High School. Game time is 7 p.m., with the finals slated for Saturday, Dec. 5 at 7 p.m.

"Okemos is a well-balanced, veteran team," Coach Swears said. "We will need to have a total team effort, along with continued improvement, to defeat them."

Last week's district game versus Swartz Creek saw the Redwings jump off to a lopsided 21-6 first quarter lead, with the balanced scoring that continued throughout the game allowing each member of the starting unit to tally points.

Junior Anne Brocker paved the way in the opening period scoring 10 points, while Carey Darnell had 4 points, Gina Schneider hit 3-4 shots from the charity stripe, and Krista Schrauben and Kerry Porter claimed 2 points each.

"Darnell, Schrauben, and Schneider all had their best games of the season," Swears said.

The halftime score stood at 34-20 in favor of the Redwings, following a second period of play in which Swartz Creek did a better job of putting the ball up. Their 14 second-period points included a 3-point basket made by Shannon Loesel — the first of three long range shots she connected on during the game.

Taking a 49-33 lead into the closing quarter, St. Johns made good on 10-13 shots from the free throw line in the fourth period to help secure their championship title. The Redwings shot 56 percent from the charity stripe and 53.2 percent from the field in the game.

Leading St. Johns in scoring was Brocker who netted 24 points. She also cleared the boards of 13 rebounds. Darnell totaled 12 points and had 7 rebounds, Schneider had 9 points, 6 rebounds and 3 assists, Porter netted 8 points and 8 rebounds, and Schrauben had 7 points, 7 rebounds and 6 assists. The championship win upped the Redwings overall record to 17-4 on the year.

Directions to West Bloomfield High School for Thursday night's regional game are available from the St. Johns High School office. Tickets are $3 per person.

Palmer is Coach of Year in South Lyons

Don Palmer, formerly of St. Johns, last week was named as the Sliger-Livingston East Coach of the Year for the South Lyon area.

A 1968 graduate of Rodney B. Wilson High School, Palmer has served as the varsity girls' basketball coach at Milford High School for the past 11 years. During that time, Coach Palmer has racked up a 154-80 career record, including two league titles in the Kensington Valley Conference and one district crown.

The Milford cagers finished second in their league at the conclusion of the recently completed season, ending with a record of 8-2 and 14-7 overall. Milford lost to South Lyons, the Kensington Valley Conference champions, in their opening district game. While a student at Rodney B., Palmer was a member of the football, basketball, and track teams.

He graduated from Michigan State University in 1972.

P-W names Pirates of Week

By ANGIE BOHR and JUDY WEBER P-W student reporters

Congratulations to Brad Pohl, a junior, Amy Smith, a freshman, and sophomore Barb Pilmore for being selected as Pirates of the Week at Pewamo-Westphalia High School.

Brad, son of Dennis and Mary Pohl of Westphalia, received his award for overall academic excellence. He is a member of the jazz, concert, and marching bands, and is also a member of the school play and quiz bowl.

Brad enjoys hunting and working with computers, and plans to attend college where he will major in computers.

The daughter of Dennis and Mary Smith of Westphalia, Amy was recognized for her excellent work in geometry. She has been on the honor roll every quarter since seventh grade, and plays on the girls' freshman basketball team.

Amy enjoys swimming and bike riding, and hopes to attend college after she graduates from high school.

Barb, the daughter of Dennis and Kaye Pilmore of Pewamo, received the award because of her academic achievement in biology class.

In her spare time she enjoys swimming and biking, and is a member of the high school band. She plans to attend college upon graduation.

Outdoors Great Lakes state

By Dick Bradley

"If you seek a pleasant peninsula, look about you" is a translation of the Latin phrase of the State of Michigan seal. I don't know when that slogan was adopted but certainly it is as appropriate today as at the time of its inception. How could we not "Say 'Yes' to Michigan" and be thankful for it during this sesquicentennial year?

But my thought is hardly original. Is tourism not the state's leading industry now? And is that not the end result of both business and the public recognizing the "pleasantness" of Michigan and doing something about it? We have some of almost everything the vacationer and the outdoor enthusiast wants when he relaxes, and maybe, at this season of the year, we should reexamine our blessings and be thankful.

We have the Great Lakes around our peninsulas as well as thousands of smaller lakes and thousands of miles of streams. These waters, as long as we protect them, provide us with fishing, sailing, swimming, and boating comparable to any state boasting fresh or salt water.

We have big game. Whitetail deer and black bear lead the list as the hunter's quarry, but elk, moose, and wolves are also present and there are programs in operation to maintain and manage all of them. Turkeys, too, are thriving in many areas and may one day soon, exist in numbers great enough to open a limited general season.

We have managed our waterfowl effectively enough so that geese and swans, once very rare in our state, are now common again. Geese have even reached such great numbers in some areas that special hunting seasons are being offered. The active establishment of wetlands has helped immensely.

We have programs to protect eagles, ospreys, hawks, owls, and sand hill cranes, and are beginning to try and reestablish the peregrine falcon.

We have great woodcock and grouse hunting. We have cottontail rabbits and snowshoe hares as well as fox, black, and grey squirrels. And we are working hard to try and bring back pheasants to the numbers we once enjoyed.

Under the water we have brought tremendous fishing opportunities to our state, in the forms of salmon and trout and more recently, walleye. The Great Lakes have been especially restocked but inland lakes and streams have also benefited greatly.

Beyond all of these assets we have fine skiing, snowmobiling, and hiking opportunities along with one of the country's best parks systems and most expansive ranges of access opportunities.

Now we are seeing some additional creative and imaginative ideas being put into operation. The National Resources Commission has purchased a 36-mile stretch of abandoned railroad bed from Penn-Central Railroad to establish a state park for bikers, hikers, and horseback riders. This is the second such recent purchase, the other being 23.3 miles long.

The NRC has also given tentative approval to a sixth Great Lakes bottomland preserve. The purpose of these preserves is to protect shipwrecks and other unique segments of the Great Lakes for the enjoyment of sport divers and history buffs. The first five such preserves are already established and involve portions of the bottoms of Lakes Michigan, Huron, and Superior.

Please join me in saying both "thank you" and "Yes!" to Michigan. And, in addition, join me in asking how we, the beneficiaries, can assist in the preservation and further development of our unique "Pleasant Peninsulas."

WATSON & SUMMERS DRAIN AND BRANCHES

NOTICE OF LETTING OF DRAIN CONTRACTS AND REVIEW OF APPORTIONMENTS

Notice is hereby given, that I, Arden S. Pierson, County Drain Commissioner of the County of Clinton, State of Michigan, will on the 8th day of December A.D., 1987, at the Clinton County Drain Commissioner's Office, 306 Elm Street, St. Johns, Michigan in the Township of Bingham, in said County of Clinton at:

Contract No. 1 - 9:00 a.m. EST
Contract No. 2 - 9:30 a.m. EST
Contract No. 3 - 10:00 a.m. EST
Contract No. 2A - 10:30 a.m. EST
Contract No. 3A - 10:45 a.m. EST

when bids will be opened and publicly announced for the construction of a certain drain known and designated as "Watson & Summers Drain and Branches"; located and established in the Township of Watertown Charter.

Said drain is divided into 3 Sections as follows, each section having the average depth and width as set forth.

Contract No. 1 - Approximately 675 Rods of open drain channel excavation, clearing, debris disposal and spoil leveling. Also furnishing and placing corrugated steel pipe culverts, daily seeding and fertilizing, and other related work.

Contract No. 2 - Construction of approximately 4,000 L.F. of reinforced concrete pipe (R.C.P.) storm drain, 30" dia., 24" dia., 18" dia., and 12" dia., appurtenances and other related work. (R.C.P. to be furnished under a separate contract).

Contract No. 2A - Furnishing and delivering of approximately 4,000 L.F. of R.C.P. ASTM C 76, 30" dia., 24" dia., 18" dia., and 12" dia.

Contract No. 3 - Construction of approximately 3,500 L.F. of smooth interior wall corrugated polyethylene tubing (C.P.T.) storm drain, 18" dia., and 12" dia., and 225 L.F. of R.C.P. storm drain, appurtenances and other related work. This contract provides for alternate bids for standard C.P.T. and R.C.P. (Pipe to be furnished under a separate contract).

Contract No. 3A - Furnishing and delivering approximately 3,500 L.F. of smooth interior wall corrugated polyethylene tubing (C.P.T.) 18" dia., and 12" dia., and 225 L.F. of R.C.P. storm drain, 12" dia., appurtenances and other related work. This contract provides for alternate bids for standard C.P.T. and R.C.P.

Note: RCP equals reinforced concrete pipe

Construction of said drain will be let in 3 sections in accordance with the diagram now on file with other papers pertaining to said Drain in the office of the Clinton County Drain Commissioner to which reference may be had by all parties interested, and bids will be made and received accordingly. Provided, that the Commissioner will let the drain in separate contracts for construction and material which appears to him to be the most practical.

Contracts will be made with the lowest responsible bidders giving adequate security for the performance of the work, in the sum then and there to be fixed by me, reserving to myself the right to reject any and all bids, and to adjourn such letting to such time and place as I shall publicly announce.

The date for the completion of such contract, and the terms of payment therefore, shall and will be announced at the time and place of letting. Any person desiring to bid on the above mentioned work will be required to deposit with the Watson & Summers Drain and Branches Drainage District a certified check, money order or cash in the amounts of:

Contract No. 1 - $5,000.00 (bid bonds not accepted)
Contract No. 2 - 5% of the total bid amount
Contract No. 3 - 5% of the total bid amount
Contract No. 2A - $5,000.00 (Bid bonds not accepted)
Contract No. 3A - $5,000.00 (Bid bonds not accepted)

as a guarantee that he will enter into a contract and furnish the required bond as prescribed by law. The checks of all unsuccessful bidders will be returned after contracts are awarded. The payments for the above mentioned work will be made as follows:

Cash payment made upon satisfactory and approved completion of contract terms by the 20th of the month will be paid by the 10th of the following month with retainage in compliance with the statute relating therewith.

Notice is further hereby given that on Tuesday, the 22nd day of December, 1987, at the Office of the Clinton County Drain Commissioner located at 306 Elm Street, St. Johns, Michigan, in the City of St. Johns, County of Clinton, or at such other time and place thereafter to which I, the Clinton County Drain Commissioner aforesaid may adjourn the same, the apportionment for benefits and the lands comprised within the "Watson & Summers Drain and Branches Special Assessment District", will be subject to review for one day, from nine o'clock in the forenoon until five o'clock in the afternoon. At said review the computation of costs for said Drain will also be open for inspection by any parties interested.

The following is a description of the several tracts or parcels of land constituting the special assessment district of said Drain, viz:

Agricultural news Animal agriculture

By Marilyn Loudenslager

Attention all teenagers! If you are growing up on a farm, work on a farm, or just have a tremendous interest in animal agriculture, you may want to think seriously about what I am going to tell you.

Recently, in a report that crossed my desk, Dr. Maynard Hogberg, chairperson of the Department of Animal Science, and Dr. David Hawkins, coordinator of undergraduate programs in animal science, both from Michigan State University, indicated that there are tremendous opportunities when you pursue a career in animal science.

In a period of negative economic times such as our production animal industries have recently experienced, it is easy to become negative about the future of agriculture. But, there is still profit in animal agriculture and there is a demand for individuals who possess a great interest in it and are willing to pursue that interest.

During the past 12 months, the animal science department has had numerous inquiries from potential employers requesting interviews with animal science graduating seniors.

So, you may ask, what types of jobs might I get with a bachelor's degree in animal science?

The areas of greatest career interest at this time include meat grading, processing and lay inspection, livestock buyers, dairy production and management, swine production and management, plus sales and technical service representatives.

Now, if you really enjoy science and animals, you may want to continue your education and pursue an advanced degree in animal science. They say the current pool of students in graduate school is not large enough to fill the projected vacancies for careers in teaching, research, and extension at the university level.

It certainly looks like there is a bright spot in the future for students who pursue animal science as a career. To obtain additional information on this, come into our office and talk with me. I'll be glad to go into more depth about the opportunities ahead and tell you who to contact to get involved!

Roehl lines Income taxes

By Giles Roehl

Have you estimated your income taxes for 1987? There have been meetings, magazine articles, radio and television programs addressing all the changes which have occurred.

The Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service will go one step further. By contacting our office, you can receive the following forms and/or information sheets that will be very beneficial as you start to do tax planning by estimating before Dec. 31, 1987.

- Form 1: Estimating your 1987 Farm Tax Liability.
- Form 2: Clarification of handling PIK and ROLL transactions.
- Form 3: 1987 End of Year Tax Planning.
- Form 4: Depreciation Tax Reform Alternatives.
- Form 5: Capitalization of Pre-Productive Costs

For Farmers.

This information is Dr. M. Kelsey's interpretation of the laws as they were on Nov. 3, 1987. There may be changes by Jan. 1, but you will be very close to right if you use these forms. Contact our office for these forms or information sheets.

Note: We have a letter from Attorney General Frank Kelley concerning an out-of-state company issuing sight drafts and/or "Bill of Exchange" that are not being honored by the Federal Reserve Banking system. Check with our office before doing financing with out-of-state Title and Trust Bond Companies.

Giles Roehl is the director of the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Farmers may get cash refunds

Mid-Michigan farmers and other persons using large quantities of petroleum products may be eligible for cash refunds due to a recent ruling by the Department of Energy against oil companies that overcharged for fuel oil in Michigan, according to a press release by Congressman Bill Schuette.

As a result of the ruling, companies which overcharged consumers who purchased fuel oil from certain wells from 1973 to 1981 will have to financially compensate those consumers. The department expects qualified applicants will receive approximately $80 per 100,000 gallons of gasoline, diesel fuel, heating oil, propane, or greases.

Schuette urges all persons who may have used over 2,300 gallons per year of gasoline, diesel fuel, heating oil, propane, or greases during the specified time period to file for a refund by contacting his district office at 1-800-342-2455 for an application.

The deadline for compensation is Dec. 31.

Area ladies compete at FB annual meeting

Lynette Miller of Elsie is one of four semi-finalists who will compete in the Outstanding Young Farm Woman contest of the Michigan Farm Bureau at its annual meeting on Wednesday, Dec. 2. Miller, her husband, Jon, and their three children live on a dairy and cash crop farm near Elsie.

Also at the annual meeting, Tamra Ashley of rural St. Johns will take part in the Discussion Meet sponsored by the Farm Bureau.

Winners in both contests will be announced during an evening awards program at the Grand Center of the Amway Grand Plaza Hotel in Grand Rapids.

Snowmobilers: be cautious of power lines

Winter. The early morning sun peeks out and casts a glow over a fresh blanket of snow. It's a perfect day to spend outside. Cold air fills your lungs and, bundled up in mittens and scarf, you're ready for snowmobiling. While this high-speed sport can be thrilling, there are risks involved and Consumers Power Company urges snowmobile users to exercise caution.

One particular problem arises when snowmobilers travel the rights-of-way under utility transmission lines. These natural corridors are tempting "highways" for snowmobilers and all-terrain-vehicle riders.

The poles and towers that carry electricity, however, stand up to 190 feet tall and weigh up to 116,000 pounds. They are more than a match for a snowmobile.

"We have three basic problems," says Rann C. Lincoln, senior vice president, energy distribution. "We are concerned about the possibility of someone being injured while on our property. We have concern for damage to the environment and gas or electric facilities on that land. Lastly, snowmobile use frequently involves trespass upon land owned or controlled by third parties."

Most utility lines are constructed on easement rights on private property. However, accidents and injuries do not honor property lines and may occur anywhere.

Therefore, Consumers Power Company does not permit its rights-of-way, whether fee ownership or easement rights, to be used as roads and trails for off-road vehicles.

"In an attempt to limit incidents of vandalism and property damage, the company will prosecute trespassers," Lincoln says. "We've already had to deal with soil erosion resulting from the paths and tracks of summer motorcycles and off-road vehicles. The problem is much more acute in the winter when obstacles are hidden in the snow."

Consumers Power owns some land that is open for day use by the public. This includes riverlands in the northern portion of Michigan's Lower Peninsula. However, even in those areas open to the public, it's safest to not "follow the electric lines."

Snowmobiling is a fun sport and can be a safe one if riders take necessary precautions and travel on designated property.

"Consumers Power wants to be a good neighbor," Lincoln says. "That's why we want the public to understand the reasoning behind our concern. With the public's cooperation, I'm sure that we can all look forward to a safe winter sporting season."

Michael Martindale

Cadet Michael Martindale, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.L. Martindale of 102 S. Ottawa, St. Johns, has been officially accepted into the U.S. Air Force Academy's Cadet Wing as a member of the class of 1991 during the annual acceptance parade.

He is a 1987 graduate of St. Johns High School.

The parade followed six weeks of rigorous basic cadet training at the Colorado Springs, Colo., academy. Training in military customs and courtesies, drill and physical conditioning, tactical exercises, and the firing of weapons introduced the basic cadets to military life under the program.

The academy is a four-year educational institution for young men and women to serve as career Air Force officers. In addition to military training, the academy offers athletics and an academic curriculum which includes basic and engineering sciences, social sciences, and the humanities.

Charles Gay

Petty Officer 2nd Class Charles Gay, whose wife, Patricia, is the daughter of Harry and Paula Vanderstow of St. Johns, recently participated in a week of exercises in the Baltic Sea while serving aboard the guided missile frigate USS Aubrey Fitch, homeported in Mayport, Fla.

The exercises, known as Baltops 87, consisted of various warfare drills. The USS Aubrey Fitch was joined by Naval vessels from Great Britain, the Netherlands, Denmark, and West Germany.

Anthony Fitzpatrick

Specialist 4 Anthony Fitzpatrick, son of Tony Fitzpatrick of Eagle, has participated in the NATO-sponsored exercise, Return of Forces to Germany '87.

REFORGER was designed to evaluate plans and support agreements between NATO member nations and to exercise West Germany's ability to support deploying forces.

Fitzpatrick is assigned to the 2nd Armored Division, Fort Hood, Texas.

Timothy Moon

Pvt. Timothy Moon, son of John and Teala Moon, of 703 S. Oakland St., St. Johns, has completed basic training at Fort Dix, N.J.

During the training students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military aid, and Army history and traditions.

Bill Van Sickle

Reserve Pvt. Bill Van Sickle, son of Mary Van Sickle of 11986 Wood Road, DeWitt, has completed basic training at Fort Bliss, Texas.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, Army history and traditions, first aid, and tactics.

James Ewing

Pvt. James Ewing, son of James and Mary Ewing of 204 S. Ottawa St., St. Johns, has completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military aid, and Army history and traditions.

Ewing is a 1987 graduate of St. Johns High School.
