THE CHRISTMASTIME DISPLAY which is erected by the Chamber of Commerce reminds the observer that the holiday has a religious origin.

Although the nativity scene is on public property, it was donated by a private group of individuals.

St. Johns nativity scene under attack?

Are religious displays on public land a constitutional violation of separation of church and state? They could be.

However, the Nativity scene which include figures of Joseph, the Mother Mary, and the Christ Child positioned on the courthouse lawn has not caused The American Civil Liberties Union to sue the city of St. Johns.

The ACLU has not received a complaint about the St. Johns creche. But, if they do, the group will file suit.

Howard Simon, executive director of the Detroit-based ACLU chapter, said five Michigan cities including St. Johns might be sued for displaying a creche, unaccompanied by any nonreligious symbols of the holiday.

St. Johns City Manager Randy Humphrey says, "the display has been in the city close to 30 years and for the past seven years the local Chamber of Commerce has set it up."

"It is not owned or erected by the city of St. Johns," says Humphrey.

Although the Christmastime display is located on city property it is said to be Clinton County or state property.

Cooperative Extension Service outlines plans for next five years

The Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service has developed a five year administration plan to promote its four main services to clientele.

All four programs agriculture and marketing, home economics, 4-H youth, and natural resources and public policy are designed to help people better understand and utilize resources more effectively.

These services originally come from Michigan State University to the St. Johns extension office, 306 Elm. The agents schedule workshops to provide non-biased information about current problems, work with groups and individuals, and plan educational programs to meet community needs.

Both rural and urban families of Clinton County have the opportunity to become involved in the home economics program which aids families to face daily challenges and stresses of a complex and rapidly changing society.

Dawn Harris, extension home economist, can assist families with spending, budgeting, family communication, relationships, parenting skills, time and energy conservation, among others.

4-H is an educational program for ages nine to 19. Young people who join are able to meet new friends, learn new skills, and explore different opportunities to develop individual interests.

Theresa Silm, extension 4-H youth agent, claims that 4-H'ers are able to develop a positive self-image and confidence, and leadership skills when young people work with volunteer adult and teen leaders in their own neighborhoods.

4-H'ers can learn about caring for plants and animals, health and fitness, computers, career exploration, arts and crafts, cooking and sewing. There are no national, state, or county dues required of members or leaders; the cost varies from project to project. Time and money investments are left up to the member and families.

The agricultural program in Clinton County releases practical, research based production and management information to farmers about agricultural engineering, specialty and field crops, livestock, home horticulture, recordkeeping, and financial management.

Marilyn Loudenslager, extension agricultural agent, along with specialists at MSU strive to meet the changing needs of the agricultural community as they maintain the efficiencies required to survive in a challenging world farm economy.

The natural resources and public policy program assists in developing natural resources and encouraging wise utilization. NRRP offers public affairs education to local leaders and officials.

It is involved in decision making with local planning, zoning, land use, fisheries and wildlife, forestry, water quality, parks and recreation, and community development.

Leads on shooting of Clinton teen still being sought by local police

The shooting death of 15-year-old Chad Vanderstow remains "under investigation," according to the Clinton County Sheriff Department detective bureau. An apparent hunting accident victim during the firearm deer hunting season, the Fulton High School student was found on a dirt road close to his family's farm late Wednesday, Nov. 25.

He died on Thanksgiving Day at Ingham Medical Center in Lansing as a result of the shooting.

Vanderstow was one of six persons killed and 30 persons injured during the Nov. 15-30 firearm deer hunting season, according to preliminary figures released by the Department of Natural Resources.

Those figures were up from the 1986 firearm deer season, which claimed the lives of 4 hunters and injured 28 others, but were down slightly from 1985 statistics with a reported 31 injuries and 6 fatalities.

Jim Dabb, DNR law enforcement hunter education coordinator, says the preliminary DNR figures show that 12 of the accidents (2 fatalities and 10 injuries) were self-inflicted, while 24 accidents (4 fatalities and 20 injuries) were a result of another hunter's bullet.

"I want to stress that these are preliminary reports," Dabb says.

A statewide breakdown of the 1987 firearm deer accidents shows 3 injuries in the upper peninsula, 5 fatalities and 11 injuries in the northern lower peninsula, and 1 fatal and 16 injuries reported from the southern lower peninsula.

Persons who were in the area of Mead and Essex Center roads in Essex Township on Nov. 25, who may have information about the shooting of Vanderstow, should call the Clinton County Sheriff Department at 224-5200 or 224-6791.

Lioness Club will sell luminaria for Christmas Eve

Luminaria — what is it?

A Spanish word meaning "light." Luminaria is the custom of lighting the steets of a neighborhood with candles to symbolize the bonfires of the shepherds, built to light their way to the manger in Bethlehem on the first Christmas Eve.

Modern day luminaria consists of placing candles in paper bags which have been partially filled with sand and placed ten feet apart at the curb, or along a driveway, sidewalk, or porch.

The St. Johns Lioness Club is selling luminarias between now and Christmas. The cost is $5 for ten sets, which includes white bags, long-burning candles, and sand.

To place an order, or for additional information, call any of the following Lioness Club members: Gloria, 224-8783 (evenings); Carolyn, 224-3519 (evenings); Peg, 224-7259 (evenings); Peggy, 224-7351 (days and evenings).

The Lioness Club is hoping to "light up St. Johns" on Christmas Eve.

CRV RIDERS Mary Gray and Josh Thoma board the "big blue bus" under the watchful eye of Fred "The Busdriver" Erridge. Delivering Kindergarten students is just one of the many bus services provided for area residents by CRV.

Photograph by Rhonda Westfall

CRV bus needs monetary gifts

"God bless the bus!" is a refrain frequently heard by riders of the Community Resource Volunteers blue buses, used to transport senior citizens through preschoolers to a variety of destinations.

The CRV public mini-bus service is available to all community residents. Lift-equipped for the handicapped, the buses also serve nursery and kindergarten children, college students, handicappers who work, volunteers or participants in church activities, persons who don't own their own car, and seniors who can no longer drive. The bus takes riders to school and work, to the doctor or dentist, to shop for groceries, or make a trip to the beauty shop.

CRV policy is to charge only half of the posted fare for handicappers, senior citizens, and children under age 18. The bus receives no monetary support from the city or county for any activities.

As a result, fare receipts do not equal operating expenses, and so, CRV must rely each year on community donations to keep the bus service intact.

In past years, contributions have ranged from $400 to $5 — CRV gladly accepts them all. Every donation is tax deductible.

Persons who wish to offer help, or need the bus service, should call 224-8127. Contributions should be mailed to the following address:

Community Resource Volunteers
201 1/2 N. Clinton Ave.
St. Johns, 48879

CRV is waiting for the community's response — "God bless the bus!"

Father writes to person who shot his teenage son

To the Editor:

To the person who shot my son. Every year we see you. You invade our area frantically, trying to prove your masculinity. You knock down four rows of our corn across a 40-acre field which may mean the difference between profit and loss for the grower, and when confronted with it, shrug your shoulders as if to say, "What's the big deal?" You shoot at animals 20 rods away when the efficient killing power of your weapon is 200 feet. You use high-powered rifles in "shotgun only" territory. You hunt after dark. You make life hard for the true hunter who enjoys the out-of-doors and efficiently and painlessly kills a legal animal and uses it.

Well, now you have shot something! Why aren't you strutting? Where was your "he man" image when you left him mortally wounded for some real man to pickup. A man who in spite of the trauma to his young son, took this bloody mess to the hospital. To this man, we are eternally grateful.

To you who did this shooting we can only say, although your image of masculinity would never let you shed tears in public, we hope you never experience the kind of grief you have caused. And if you have another God besides yourself, that you can ask him for forgiveness.

Family thanks those who helped in the fight to save their son's life

To the Editor:

The family of Chad E. Vanderstow wishes to express their gratitude to Clinton Memorial Hospital doctors and staff, to Ingham Medical Center doctors and staff, and to the Clinton Area Ambulance Service for their help in the fight for Chad's life.

To the Rev. James Longhurst for his prayers, care, and support to get us through Chad's last hours of struggle for life, then his death.

To Osgood Funeral Home for all their kindness. To our friends and neighbors for their prayers and gifts. Last, but not least, to the young man who found Chad and took him to the hospital.

All monetary gifts will be donated in Chad's memory to the Salvation Army, Make A Wish Foundation, and St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

Koger gets applause for concern on elementary shared principals

To the Editor:

Bravo to Bob Koger for recognizing and addressing the problems of elementary "shared principals." As the parent of elementary school children and a former public school teacher, I am increasingly concerned with the part-time leadership in our elementary school buildings.

How can "shared principals" possibly fulfill their responsibilities to school personnel, students, and parents when the sheer numbers are so overwhelming and their time is so over scheduled?

And, aren't we courting disaster when "burnout" is often cited as a primary factor in educators' decisions to resign from the educational system?

As in any viable establishment, administration is often the key to success. If our community expects our public school staff and students to succeed to their maximum potential, we had better reassess our priorities and provide the full-time leadership our elementary schools require.

RAVE staff and advocates thank the community at large for caring

To the Editor:

Since Raven House opened its doors in July, we have given care, shelter, and support to 23 families caught up in the cycle of domestic violence. Without Raven House, these women and children would not have a safe, peaceful place to go while they work to put the pieces of their lives back together.

Our RAVE staff and advocates are proud of the work we have done. We are also proud of our community groups, churches, and individuals who continue to give and provide for our too often forgotten members of society.

Thank you to all of you who continue to give and are so concerned about Christmas for the children at the shelter. If you want to do something for Christmas at the shelter, here are some things on our wish list: toys for children of all ages, perfume or cosmetics for women, fruit baskets and cookies, and, of course, there is an endless need for paper and cleaning products.

Thank you again, and Happy Holidays.

In the house of representatives Radioactive waste

By Gary Randall

The State House cleared the way last week for Michigan's designation as the midwest's first low-level radioactive waste disposal site.

It passed legislation to regulate the handling and storage of the waste, and to define the state's obligation under a seven-state pact which picked Michigan as the host state last June.

The legislation created the Low-Level Radioactive Waste Authority which will be responsible for choosing three possible sites by June 1. The final selection must be made by Sept. 1, 1989.

The House also voted to give the legislature the final say in where to locate the radioactive waste disposal site. The legislature would have 30 days after a site had been selected to either approve it, reject it, or choose between one of two alternate locations.

The Senate has to approve the changes made by the House.

The legislation also stipulates that the site would have to be at least 10 miles from any of the Great Lakes, unless it is located at or adjacent to one of Michigan's existing five nuclear power plants.

Members of Michigan's interstate compact include Iowa, Indiana, Missouri, Minnesota, Ohio, and Wisconsin. We were chosen by the compact to host the site, because Michigan generates about one-third of the approximate 200,000 cubic feet of low-level waste from this seven-state region.

Each state or compact must have an area ready to accept low-level radioactive wastes by 1993, at which time federal law says that Washington, Nevada, and South Carolina, current waste sites for the rest of the country, may refuse wastes from other states.

Gary Randall represents Clinton County in the Michigan House of Representatives.

St. Johns Creche

By Lora Thom

The American Civil Liberties Union is not filing suit against the city of St. Johns for displaying a nativity scene comprised of figurines depicting the Christ Child, the Mother Mary, and Joseph on public property.

Now, it is time for the ACLU to focus their attention on more important social issues which they could be spending their limited resources on, instead of suing cities for displaying religious nativity scenes on public property which provide a historical sense of the Christmas spirit.

Even though the United States Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals in 1986 banned religious displays from public lands as a constitutional violation of church and state in a Michigan ACLU lawsuit against the city of Birmingham and its Nativity scene.

The city of Birmingham case is distinguishable from the situation in St. Johns because the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce erects the nativity scene on city property. And, the only connection between these two cases is that the displays are on courthouse lawns.

Since the nativity scene is not owned, erected, or paid by Clinton County or the city of St. Johns, I would like to play the role of a lawyer and defend my contention.

The Birmingham case does not appear to be similar to the case of St. Johns because the city owned the nativity scene and paid for its erection, dismantling, and repairs.

Since the city of St. Johns has nothing to do with the scene, there does not appear to be any excessive entanglement with church and state.

Since the county and the city are not involved, except that the scene is erected on city property by private individuals it doesn't appear to the city as promoting any type of religious belief.

Rather, it's the private individuals who are expressing to their community how such a creche annually represents the Christian role of religion in American life. The US Supreme Court has established a three-part test to determine when a state or local government has violated the First Amendment Establishment of Religion Clause.

The test is:
• First, the practice must have a secular legislative purpose.
• Second, its principal or primary effect must be one that neither advances nor inhibits religion.
• Finally, it must not foster an excessive government entanglement with religion.

As long as the city of St. Johns does not promote one specific religion or deny the rights of other denominations to pursue their beliefs — they are not violating their powers or responsibilities to the public or any religious doctrines.

If this identification of the Christmastime display conveys a message of government disapproval of religion, then the purpose of the Establishment Clause has been violated.

A creche standing alone without any of the nonreligious symbols of Christmas affirms the most fundamental of Christian beliefs — that the birth of Jesus was not just another historical event.

Rather, to the believer Christ's birth was an act of divine intervention in human affairs that set his birth apart from all others.

I agree with the witness who described Birmingham's secular purpose. "A creche is consistent with the recognition of Christmas Day, Holiday that's granted and the significance of that date as being the birth of the Christ Child."

He also testified, "there are nativity scenes in every church around, whether it be at City Hall or any other place does have a religious significance to me."

This reaction to a creche is normal, and presumably universal. It is a religious symbol.

Dillingham Comments Right to farm

By Fred Dillingham

Michigan farmers will have a more secure right to farm under new legislation recently passed by the Michigan Senate.

Senate Bill 534 provides Michigan residents and environmentalists safeguards while at the same time establishes a clear process for protecting farmers that practice acceptable management techniques from being subject to nuisance lawsuits.

Although the Right-to-Farm act was established in 1981, a policy for "generally accepted management practices" was never defined, thus offering Michigan farmers little or no protection under the act. In fact, a recent Ingham County Circuit Court decision reinforced the need for the legislation by saying, in effect, protections under the Right-to-Farm act are non-existent.

The new legislation sets up a process requiring the state agriculture commission to determine what are "generally accepted agricultural and management practices." This policy is to be determined in cooperation with Michigan State University's College of Agriculture and Natural Resources, the Cooperative Extensive Service, the Agricultural Experiment Station, Soil Conservation Service, and the Department of Natural Resources.

The goals of the legislation are twofold. First, farmers who are following generally accepted practices must have assurances they won't be forced out of their livelihood. And second, the people of the state need assurances that this industry is being environmentally responsible.

Agriculture is big business in our state, a $17 billion industry, and as such should be afforded the attention and protection granted to other industries. This legislation protects both responsible farmers and our environment.

Fred Dillingham represents Clinton, Livingston, and Shiawassee counties in the Michigan Senate.

Sheriff offers tips on safe holiday season

Clinton County Sheriff Terry Haneckow offers tips for a safe holiday season since shoppers are especially vulnerable to burglary, theft, and other crimes as crowds grow more intense.

"As large numbers of people venture away from their homes to shop, opportunistic criminals are capitalizing on the holiday spirit," says Haneckow.

Following are personal safety tips to observe for happier, safer holidays:

- Park in lighted parking lots and always lock your vehicle.
- Store packages and other valuables in trunk or storage area where they'll be out of sight.
- Always walk in well lit areas with a companion if possible. Be aware of people around you.
- Make sure your car keys are in your hand when you leave a store. This will prevent any delays at your car.

• Before re-entering your vehicle, always check the back seat for intruders.

• Consider carrying a whistle or a noise making device and sound it off if you are in trouble.

• Never leave young children alone at home, in a car, or any public place. Teach them how to get help from a cashier if they are separated from you at a store.

• Be discreet about money in your wallet; avoid flashing it when buying merchandise. Use a credit card or check when possible. Women should hold purses tight and never set them on the floor or counter. Men should carry wallets in their front pockets.

• Keep doors at home locked and keep a light on inside while away.

"Despite all the precautions," says Haneckow, "Christmas is a time for joy and celebration. With a little extra caution, Clinton County residents can ensure a safe and happy holiday."

Yvonne and Thomas Trierweiler
Thelen-Trierweiler
Reside in Westphalia

Red and white bows decorated the pews at St. Mary's Church in Westphalia for the Oct. 17 wedding joining Yvonne Marie Thelen and Thomas Daniel Trierweiler in marriage. Fr. James McDougal officiated at the double ring ceremony attended by 400 friends and relatives of the couple.

The bride is the daughter of Roger and Bernice Thelen of Fowler, and the groom is the son of Gerald and Jeanette Trierweiler of Westphalia.

Special music at the 12:30 p.m. wedding included "Endless Love," "Always," and "Just You and I."

For her wedding the bride wore a white satin wedding gown with wedding ring collar and sheer yoke with fitted bodice of schiffle lace and pearls. The gown featured a basque waistline and fitted satin sleeves with puffed insert at the shoulder with pearl accents. Elba Sunshine Club

By BITA OBERLIN

The Elba Sunshine Club met at the home of Mildred Bradley on Dec. 3, with 18 members present and three guests, Ann Bakita, Genevieve Santrucek, and Maxine Kramer.

Before the delicious meal, "Happy Birthday" was sung for Jean Moore, Joanne Halteman, Bita Oberlin, and Tammy Sopocy. After the meal, President Diane Bradley called the meeting to order and opened with the Bible reading of Luke 2, given by AnaBel Peck.

Roll call was answered with "How much shopping we had done for Christmas." Minutes of the last meeting and treasurer's report were read and approved.

Bina Oberlin read a thank-you from Charlie Brown, who gives new toys to children. Cards were sent to Ed Hehrer and Alice Fornusek. Jo Kridner and Marie Schriener sent a dollar each for the collection. Connie Sopocy made a motion, seconded by Margaret Moore, to have Bina Oberlin make up the boxes for Christmas to take to the Routleys, Chuck Strnad, Ed Hehrer, Martha Corday, Irene Mikulka, Alice Fornusek, Ceilia Kramer, and Arnold Ripley, with the help of Joanne Halteman and Karen Bakita. It was suggested that a card be sent to Joe Skaryd, and that persons who want to send Christmas cards to servicemen or women should get addresses from Bina Oberlin.

Bina Oberlin read a poem, "My Christmas Gift," by Grace Easley. Connie Sopocy read "Faith" and "Five Secrets of Lending a Helping Hand" by Virginia Evansen. Barbara Wilson won the door prize of a Christmas decoration.

Holiday dress

By Dawn Harris

Holiday parties and celebrations offer lots of opportunities to eat and drink - that's why it is so easy to view them as a time when sensible eating habits do not apply. But, all too often large holiday dinners, office parties, and gourmet gift baskets can result in extra pounds. The good news is they do not have to.

Today I would like to give you a few diet tips to help you and your guests stay slim during the holidays.

If you are a guest: Attend cocktail parties and dinners dressed in flattering knits or other slenderizing attire. If the garment just fits or is figure revealing, chances are you will be more conscious of how much you eat since overeating will "show" immediately. A snug waist or tight belt helps, too.

Do not go to parties with an empty stomach. Eat light throughout the day and have a low calorie snack to help curb your appetite.

Arrive "fashionably late" to dinner parties. This way you will be less tempted to sample too many hors d'oeuvres during the cocktail hour.

Limit consumption of alcohol to no more than one drink. Remember that alcohol is not only high in calories, but it may also weaken your resolve to eat discriminately. If you know you want wine with dinner, save on calories by sticking to low calorie, non-alcoholic drinks such as tomato juice, club soda, or mineral water beforehand.

No need to totally deprive yourself of holiday desserts. If the homemade pumpkin pie or the warm apple strudel are your absolute favorites, allow yourself one or two bites.

Remember the third of fourth bites do not taste any better than the first two.

While the abundance of parties and dinners may make it difficult to lose weight during the holidays, a little planning with moderation in mind will help maintain weight.

COME LET US HELP YOU SELECT THE PERFECT CHRISTMAS GIFT for your special lady.

AP program at St. Johns

By ROBERT KOGER
SJHS Publicist

In 1986, a total of 25 applicants were accepted into the Advanced Placement English program offered at St. Johns High School. The program allows high school students to earn English college credits prior to college entrance.

In order to qualify for the AP class offered during a student's senior year in high school, students must have passed college English I and II which are both full year courses usually taken during their junior and senior years. Because of that, students who want to take the special AP program during their senior year will need to have entered it beginning with their freshman year.

The following procedure is used at St. Johns for freshman who wish to enter the AP program. A letter is sent to all parents of freshman in Oct., explaining the program and a parent information is held in Nov., where a general overview of the program is given. Applications are then distributed with students who apply taking an AP entrance exam. Approximately 50 freshmen have applied for the program at St. Johns in the past two years.

Candidates are reviewed on the basis of application, entrance test results, recommendation of the English 9 instructor, recommendation from the school counselor, and previous standardized test scores from the Iowa Basic Skills and Stanford achievement tests.

This year, all candidates will receive a letter of acceptance or rejection prior to Christmas. Once accepted into the program, the student's schedule of English classes is re-arranged to provide for the department's prerequisites for AP English. Freshman exit from the regular freshman English program at the end of their first semester and take the sophomore basic writing course during the second semester.

During their sophomore year, AP students take the college English I course, followed by college English II in their junior year, and a full year of the AP course in their senior year. In addition to these courses, students must also fit the required semester of speech into their schedule which gives AP English graduates 4½ English credits upon graduation.

In the senior AP English class, students cover studies in American, English, and world authors not covered in college prep courses, along with world mythology, and actual coaching for the required national AP English exam.

If the students score high enough on the exam they may be able to obtain college credit for their AP efforts while in high school.

Findlay Manor news

Special "Birthday Greetings" to Lucile Winger. Cards and letters would be appreciated by everyone at the Manor.

Older people frequently complain about sleeping problems. Common complaints include difficulty in getting to sleep, frequent awakening, and night-time restlessness. While research has failed to conclusively show that older people need less, more, or the same amount of sleep as younger people, they have found that older adults' sleep stages are different. The older person doesn't reach the deepest level of sleep as often, which can result in easy awakening.

A sleep problem commonly overlooked is the person who "cat-naps" during the day and then fails to sleep the usual amount at night. Older people often fail to consider these naps when complaining about their inability to get a good night's rest. Having failed to sleep the usual amount at night, the person feels justified in taking an afternoon nap.

Another factor is the lack of structure in some seniors' lives. The daytime hours are no longer scheduled with work and household demands. Freed from these constraints, the periods of activity and rest may shift into an unusual pattern of late night wakefulness or early rising. While the person may be getting adequate rest, it is not at the usual time.

The re-establishment of former sleep and activity cycles can alleviate this concern. Older adults involved in meaningful activities during the day often find night-time rest more satisfying.

Sleep is often used as an escape from boredom or feelings of depression. In order to avoid painful problems or a lack of activity, the person sleeps excessively. Sleep may be used temporarily as a way of coping with a difficult life adjustment.

The person having a hard time accepting an unpleasant reality may escape through sleep, but soon discovers that the problems are still there upon awakening.

Both prescribed and over-the-counter medications used to aid sleep are often misunderstood and hence misused. The effectiveness of sleep-inducing drugs is usually limited to only a few nights. If used every night, effectiveness diminishes and the person is unable to fall asleep as expected.

Many people believe that the drugs induce sleep quickly. In fact, it can take up to an hour for such a drug to start working. When sleep doesn't come as quickly as expected, many people are tempted to increase the dosage of the drug. Despite the general knowledge of the potential dangers of this practice, many people ignore common sense and increase the dosage or combine medications with alcohol. The results can be fatal.

There are many safe, practical ways to encourage sleep. Moderate exercise during the day aids the body's ability to rest. A daily walk can be invigorating and healthful. Caffeine should be avoided in the evening. Routine sleep habits also improve one's ability to fall asleep, and a relaxing activity such as reading or watching television prior to going to bed can help fall asleep.

Tie a red ribbon to your car urges local MADD chapters

The public is invited to join Mothers Against Drunk Driving in a national awareness program during the holiday season. The program encourages you to "choose to make a difference" by tying a red ribbon to the left door handle, mirror, or outside antenna of your vehicle.

The ribbon is a visual symbol to join MADD in its hope for a less violent holiday season and to remind everyone not to drink and drive.

Clinton County Sheriff Terry Haneckow says the sheriff's department vehicles will have red ribbons attached on their patrol cars and other departments in the county including St. Johns, Ovid, Elsie, DeWitt, DeWitt Township, Bath Township, and the Michigan State Police out of Lansing will take part in the project.

Haneckow warns drivers who choose to drive under the influence can expect no favors if caught. "We do not take drinking drivers home only to jail," warns Haneckow. "More than half of all fatal accidents have involved drunk drivers and it will not be tolerated in Clinton County."

Humphrey attends exercise meeting in D C

Melanie Humphrey, an aerobics instructor and owner of Melanie's Dance Exercise in St. Johns, recently attended the three-day International Dance-Exercise Association Educational Conference in Washington, D.C.

Over 1,200 instructors and business owners from around the world participated in the sold-out event at the Omni Shoreham. Humphrey took part in lectures, workshops, and activity sessions on nutrition, sports physiology, and governmental regulation.

"The convention showed me how far we have come as an industry and how important it is to stay up-to-date with the latest research and techniques," says Humphrey.

Humphrey is nationally certified by the IDEA Foundation and the National Dance Exercise

Association. IDEA, with 14,000 members in 38 countries, is the world's largest professional organization for aerobics/dance exercise professionals. IDEA promotes safe and effective exercise through networking and education of its members.

Melanie's Dance-Exercise Headquarters is located in St. Johns with 23 other locations throughout the state.

Handmade bears abound at store of former SJ person

Alma Finley of 501 E. Walker, St. Johns, says her daughter Kennie's and husband Ron Kemp's new business of "Bear Necessities" is located at 305 N. Hamilton, Saginaw.

The new store originally opened for customers to come in and enjoy themselves with an assembled army of teddy bears to sell to collectors, children, or people who have to buy one because they are so cute.

Handmade bears or the very important bear includes the likes of William Shakespeare, Rembrandt, Audrey Hepburn, (in My Bear Lady), Clara Bearton, or even Bear Ruth.

There are more than 1,000 bears ranging in size from 1 1/2 inch trinkets to enormous animals. The variety of bears is also reflected in the price range, which goes from next to nothing up to $300.

Redwing grapplers roll to victories

The St. Johns varsity wrestling team came away with two match wins in their opening season quad meet at DeWitt High School. The Redwings scored a 36-32 victory over host DeWitt, and defeated MMB rival Ovid-Elsie 37-33.

Earning wins for Coach Bob Ballard's team in the match with DeWitt were the following grapplers: Dan Zelenka decided Kevin Johnson 9-2 in the 112 pound class; Mike Buckley decided Randy Smith 16-5 in the 119 pound class; Mike Hartenburg pinned John Holland-worth at 4:58 in the 126 pound class; Troy Martin pinned Scott Seida at :54 in the 145 pound class; Jim Cain decided Ray Canales 15-0 in the 155 pound class; Dave Pope pinned Lance Kingsburg at 3:35 in the 185 pound class; Scott Sturgis pinned Jeff Drushel at 1:20 in the 198 pound class; and Scott Greenfield won by forfeit in the heavyweight class.

Scoring in the St. Johns/Ovid-Elsie match was as follows:

Turel Elowski (98 lb. O-E) won by forfeit; Larry Ordway (105, O-E) won by forfeit; Zelenka (112, SJ) pinned Jeff Empie at 1:19; Buckley (119, SJ) pinned Cory Arndt at 5:02; Hartenburg (126, SJ) decided Craig Love, 18-2; Kevin Ladisky (132, SJ) decided Kip Scott, 10-3; Jason Walker (138, O-E) pinned Chad Housler at 3:11; Martin (145, SJ) decided Kevin Baker, 9-2; Rick Coleman (155, O-E) decided Cain, 12-7; Zane Ballard (167, SJ) pinned Mark Geiger at 1:37; Steve Sopocy (185, O-E) pinned Pope at 3:37; Sturgis (198, SJ) pinned Mike Smith at 2:33; Dave Holley (Hvy. O-E) pinned Greenfield at 2:45.

The Redwings wrestle at home tonight (Dec. 15) with Lansing Everett, before their opening MMB match of the year with Ovid-Elsie on Thursday, Dec. 17, also a home match for St. Johns.

Rapids Ottawa Hills last week, but in the end, the fast and quick Indian team emerged as 62-52 winners.

"We gave it everything we had," Coach Beth Swears said, "but it just wasn't enough."

Although the trapping defense used by the Indians plagued the Redwings throughout the game played at Lansing Everett High School, St. Johns managed to take an early 7-5 lead thanks to the sure-shooting of Anne Brocker. The junior forward netted the opening basket of the game, and went on to score 7 of the Redwing's 18 points in the first quarter.

Brocker's baskets were augmented by a pair of buckets canned by Kristin Kloeckner and one shot by Gina Schneider in the period which closed with the Redwings trailing by a 13-17 score.

THE TEAMS continued to exchange baskets in the second stanza, until midway through the period when the Indians exploded to take a 27-19 lead. Two jump shots by senior Kerry Porter cut Ottawa Hills' lead back to 27-23, before the Indians ran off another string of points to up their scoring advantage to 36-26 with 1:33 left in the half.

A called technical on the Indians saw Porter ice both "T" shots, and a closing seconds basket by Schneider pulled the Redwings back into striking distance at 36-30 at the half ended.

Third period action saw Brocker hit her first two attempts of the half, allowing St. Johns to cut the deficit back to 4 points, 38-34. The Indian defense again gave the Redwings trouble as St. Johns committed 6 turnovers in a 3-minute time span which enabled Ottawa Hills to pull away to a 48-36 lead.

The Redwings narrowed the gap to 10 points, 50-40, by the close of the quarter as a result of a basket by Porter and a closing seconds shot by junior Gina Manas.

THE FINAL period followed much the same pattern, with St. Johns' turnovers caused by the fierce Indian press nullifying any ground which the Redwings managed to gain. St. Johns could get no closer than a 57-50 margin of difference made possible by a Porter basket at the 2:45 mark.

A series of last-ditch 3-point attempts fell short of the mark for St. Johns, while Ottawa Hills converted on 3-4 shots from the charity stripe when the Redwings were forced to foul as the game ended.

Brocker led St. Johns in scoring with 21 points, Porter had 15 points, and Kloeckner had 6 points.

The Redwings end their 1987 season with a record of 19-5.

Games people play

Yeah — and Boo!!

By Rhonda Westfall

Who would have thought back in September that St. Johns and Ashley would send representatives into the final rounds of the state girls' basketball playoffs?

Possibly their coaches — Beth Swears and Carl Wayer.

Looking back at pre-season comments made by the pair of veteran cage mentors, both anticipated that their teams would be contenders for league titles if they worked hard and improved as the season progressed.

They certainly did that. Congratulations to both teams and their coaching staffs.

My personal compliments to every member of the Redwing team, Coach Swears, and the parents of the girls. Not only did the team show tremendous poise and determination under the consistent pressure applied by Ottawa Hills in last week's quarterfinal meeting between the two clubs — they showed a lot of class.

Not once did I see a St. Johns player question an official's call, become visibly upset by the physical style of play, or display any kind of action which could be termed "hot dog," or "cry baby." They simply continued to try to do their best to win the game.

Their composure on and off the court was impressive — they represented themselves and their school well.

The St. Johns boys' basketball team could stand to take a lesson from the excellent attitude displayed by the girls.

Ashley felled by Martin

By RHONDA WESTFALL
Sports Editor

It would have taken more than pebbles and a sling shot for the Ashley girls basketball team to slay the "giant" Martin cagers in their Class D state semifinal game last Friday night.

The tall, powerful Martin team was simply too much for the Bears to handle, as the Carl Wayer coached team was forced to settle for a 54-37 loss.

Despite that fact, Ashley fans yelled loud and long for their Lady Bears throughout the contest played at Grand Rapids Kenowa Hills High School. However, the Bears had no one who could match All-State Martin player, Julie Davis, who used her 5'11" height advantage to tally 26 points in the contest.

"She (Davis) is a good player," Coach Wayer said. "They were the better team on the court."

THE BATTLE opened with the Clippers netting the first points of the game while blocking Sheila Keck's opening game attempt for the Bears. Ashley got on the scoreboard at the 6:15 mark when Lisa Wingle put the ball in off an Bear rebound.

A basket by Angie Felton with an assist by Chaunda Shaw tied the game at 4-4 — the only time that the Bears would see a tie score for the duration of the long contest.

Cold Bear shooting, coupled with strong defensive pressure applied by the Clippers saw Ashley fall behind 19-7 at the close of the first quarter.

Things went from bad to worse for Ashley in the second period as the Bears continued to miss shots on their offensive end, while the Clippers capitalized on each Bear miscue. Connecting on just 5-24 shots from the field in the first half, and making good on 3-10 attempts from the charity stripe, Ashley found themselves deep in a 35-13 hole at the end of the first half.

Even though they played fairly even with Martin in the second half of the game, and outscored the Clippers 13-7 in the final stanza, too much damage had been done in the early going to allow for a come-from-behind upset.

"It was nice for this team to go as far as they did in the playoffs," Coach Wayer said.

Chaunda Shaw finished as the Bear's leading scorer with 9 points, Keck had 7 points, and Annmarie Fabus netted 5 points.

The Bears end their 1987 season with an impressive 21-5 record. This was the second time that Ashley had seen semifinal action, losing to Ewen-Trout Creek in 1985, and falling to Leland in the Class D state finals in 1980.

Coach Wayer has a career record of 224-64 in his 13 years of coaching.

Ashley boys winners in St. Pat cage game

Balanced scoring and fine defensive play helped the Ashley boys basketball team to post a 53-50 win over Portland St. Patrick last Tuesday night.

The Bears' Friday night opening Mid State Athletic Conference game with Webberville was rescheduled to Jan. 12, due to the Lady Bears' participation in the Class D state semifinal game.

Last Tuesday's non-conference meeting with the Shamrocks saw Coach Gary Schestag's team build a slim 14-13 first quarter lead up to 31-24 by halftime. Both teams played even in the third quarter, with the Bears holding on to win in the final stanza.

Three Bear players ended the contest in double figures: sophomore Charlie Howes scoring 15 points, Pat Cordray netting 12 points, and Tommy Lamey scoring 11 points. Cordray also had 15 rebounds and Howes cleared 13 boards.

The victory gives Ashley a 1-1 record going into this Friday's home contest versus Mt. Pleasant Sacred Heart.

More GLAHA hockey stars

Two area youth who are hockey players in the Greater Lansing Area Hockey Association were inadvertently omitted from the story in last week's Clinton County News about St. Johns youth involved in GLAHA.

Players who should have been included are: Chris Lyon, 14-year-old son of Ronald and Dolly Lyon, and Nathan Nelson, son of John and Kathy Nelson.

Nathan, a fifth grader at Riley Elementary School, is in his first year in the squirt division of GLAHA. Ryan, a freshman at St. Johns High School, was named the "Most Outstanding Player" in his division last year.

We regret the omission of both hockey players names.

Fowler cagers outlast Wolfpack in overtime

Prognosticators who predicted an intense ballgame in the early season cage meeting between Fowler and Laingsburg last Friday night certainly knew what they were talking about.

Tied at 44-44 at the end of four quarters, Coach Dennis Smith's Eagles pulled themselves together to earn a big CMAC overtime win from the Wolfpack, 51-47.

"Golly — what an important game this was," Smith said following his team's victory. "Laingsburg has some very talented ballplayers — and they're just going to get better as the season goes on."

"Once they begin to mesh, they'll really be tough."

The game was filled with excitement from beginning to end. With Fowler holding a 12-11 lead going into the final seconds of the first stanza, Laingsburg worked the ball for a last second shot — which they made with :04 left on the clock to take a one-point lead.

Not to be outdone,

Fowler's Troy Irer made a once-in-a-lifetime shot, sending the ball into orbit from foul line to foul line for a swishing 3-pointer as the quarter buzzer sounded.

"That really gave us momentum going into the second quarter," Smith said. "It was an unbelievable shot."

THE EAGLES' momentum carried throughout the second period, allowing them to take a 27-21 lead into halftime, on into the final stanza when they held a 38-30 lead.

The fourth quarter saw the momentum begin to shift in favor of the Wolves, as they overcame the 9-point deficit and knotted the score at 44-44 to send the game into overtime.

"Their point guard did a super job of getting them back in the game," Smith said, "and we began to panic somewhat. We didn't fall apart, but it was a good lesson for the kids that you just can't let up in any game."

Once in the OT period, the Eagles put Laingsburg on the ropes thanks to an opening basket by sophomore Jeff Armbrustmacher. Senior Matt Hufnagel upped the ante to 48-44 with a fine offensive effort that saw him go up and over a Wolfpack player to tip the ball in.

A Laingsburg 3-pointer cut the Eagle lead back to 48-47, but Hufnagel scored the final points of the game, making a driving layup on which he was fouled, and canning the free throw to ice the victory.

Hufnagel paced the Eagles with 13 points and 9 rebounds. Tony Schafer had 12 points, and Armbrustmacher had 7 points.

The Eagles have two tough road games in store for themselves this week as they travel to Saranac tonight (Dec. 15) and the "pit" at Portland St. Patrick this Friday. Both Saranac and Fowler are undefeated on the season, 3-0 and 2-0.

Fowler's junior varsity also provided thrills for the Eagle fans as they defeated a fine Wolfpack club 56-53.

"We were really tickled about that," Coach Smith said.

Marauders composed in tight game with Hornets

"It was anybody's ballgame with 30 seconds to go," Ovid-Elsie Coach Bob Foreback said of his Marauder's basketball game with Central Montcalm last Friday night.

However, that final 30 seconds was filled with some wild and woolly action that resulted in a 71-64 victory for Ovid-Elsie.

After having led throughout the non-conference contest played on the Marauder's home court, an Ovid-Elsie cold spell allowed Central Montcalm back into the game, with the Hornets holding a 62-60 lead with 1:30 left on the clock.

A basket by O-E's Mike Price put the Marauders on top by one, followed by a Hornet 2-pointer which gave them back the lead.

Followed by a shot from Jason McCreery to give Ovid-Elsie the lead again, 65-64.

That brought the game to the 30 second mark — and the beginning of some wild action. McCreery came away with a loose-ball steal from Central Montcalm, made the ensuing basket on which he was fouled, and gave O-E a 68-64 lead with the free throw shot. The entire play resulted in a technical foul being called on the Hornet coach — and McCreery made 1-2 "T" shots to up the Marauders' lead to 69-64.

Another technical, called on the Hornets for slapping the backboard, sent McCreery to the line again where he made both foul shots to end the hairy contest.

"It was a nice win for us," Coach Foreback said when the dust had cleared.

McCreery led the Marauders in scoring with 24 points, sophomore James Teelander had 15 points, Wayne Kennedy netted 14 points and cleared 13 rebounds, and Price had 8 points.

The Marauders take their 1-1 record on the road this week, meeting Carson City tonight (Dec. 15) in a non-league game, before the opening of their MMB league season at St. Johns this Friday, Dec. 18.

O-E's junior varsity defeated Central Montcalm 73-57.

Redwings lose squeaker to East Lansing cagers

By RHONDA WESTFALL Sports Editor

The St. Johns boys basketball team turned in 30 minutes of stellar play in their home game with East Lansing last Tuesday night — but it was marred by the final 2 minutes of play which saw the Redwings engage in an ugly brawl which probably cost them a win.

Down by just 2 points, 57-59 at the 2-minute mark, and with the momentum on their side, the Redwings chose to retaliate for a Trojan cheap shot received by Tom Penix on the East Lansing go-ahead basket. The fight that erupted under the Trojan basket on their ensuing drive, resulted in a double-technical call and cancelled St. Johns' fine come-behind performance.

The Redwings would not score again, and East Lansing went home with a 67-57 victory.

Playing tough, defensive basketball for much of the game, St. Johns tied the score at 18-18 to close the first quarter courtesy of a 3-point basket by Clark VanBuren. The senior forward swished another 3-pointer through the hoop early in the second period to tie the score again at 21-21. A following basket by junior Mike Lambert gave the Redwings their only lead of the night, 23-21.

The Trojans came back to outscore St. Johns in the remainder of the period and take a 38-28 lead into the lockerroom at the half.

Third period action saw VanBuren tally his third 3-pointer of the night at the 5:20 mark to cut East Lansing's lead back to 41-34. Redwing team play put the ball in the hands of Penix inside where he quickly pulled St. Johns to within 3 points, 43-40. Following a Trojan score, consecutive baskets by Jim Martens and Andy Ball narrowed the gap to 45-44 before a final charity shot by East Lansing gave them a 46-44 lead going into the fourth quarter.

The Redwings tied the game once more at 48-48 when Martens hit both ends of a one-and-one with 6:28 left to play. With hard-fought play under both baskets becoming the norm, the Trojans took a 53-48 lead into the last 5 minutes of action.

A 3-point shot by Penix at 2:55 tied the game again at 57-57, and it appeared that the Redwings were on their way to an upset of the Trojan squad. That was not to be, however, as the final minutes of play turned sour for the St. Johns team.

VanBuren led St. Johns in scoring with 21 points. Penix had 13 points, Scott Aylsworth netted 9 points, and Martens had 6 points.

The loss drops the Redwings to 0-2 as they travel to DeWitt for a non-league clash tonight, Dec. 15, before opening their MMB league season at home this Friday with Ovid-Elsie.

St. Johns junior varsity dropped a 71-61 decision to the Trojans.

P-W takes win in meeting of Pirate cagers

In the first Central Michigan Athletic Conference meeting for both clubs, the Pewamo-Westphalia basketball team outmanned Fulton enroute to a 62-28 victory last Friday night. Fine defensive play, coupled with 54 percent field goal shooting helped the P-W Pirate team in the game played on their home court.

"Everybody contributed — in the true sense of the word," P-W Coach Ron Kramer said of his teams' win where all Pirates saw playing time and 12-14 team members scored.

"We played better defensively and rebounded better than we did in our first two games," he said. "I'm encouraged to see us playing together."

On the opposite side of the coin, Fulton Coach Randy Traub had nothing but praise for his Pirate team despite the fact that they came away with a loss.

"The kids never let up — they never gave up," he said. "I'm really proud of the way they hung in there."

"Pewamo-Westphalia did a good job on the boards and their press forced a lot of turnovers on our part that they converted into baskets."

Leading all scorers was P-W junior, Tim Wieber, who ended the game with 20 points, 11 rebounds, 7 steals, and 3 assists. Other P-W scorers included Tom Thelen with 8 points, B. Stewart Schafer with 6 points and 7 assists, Tony Schneider with 6 points and 6 rebounds, Randy Hayes and Brian Barker with 4 points apiece. Jason Spitzley had 5 rebounds for the Pirates.

Pacing the Fulton team was sophomore Jim Wight who scored 11 points, connecting on 5-5 shots from the field.

"He (Wight) did a very good job for us," Coach

Traub said.

Mike Simmons also had "a very good game," according to the coach, scoring 9 points, clearing 5 boards, and getting 2 steals.

IN OTHER GAMES last week, Pewamo-Westphalia defeated Dansville 53-44, while Fulton was upended by Carson City 68-32. Both were non-league contests.

The "tall and talented"

Dansville club posed some problems for the Pirates in the Tuesday, home contest.

"We didn't play our best ball against Dansville," Coach Kramer said, "but they did some things that threw us off also. They played a match-up zone which was pretty effective for a couple quarters."

It took the Pirates until late in the third period before they finally got on track, going on a scoring rampage that erased a 36-30 deficit and allowed them to walk away with the win.

B. Stewart Schafer led the Pirates in scoring with 14 points, Weiber netted 11 points, and Dale Jandernea had 10 points.

In Fulton's Tuesday night game at Carson City, the Pirates inability to put points on the board due to Carson's defense and hot shooting, again led to a large halftime deficit (33-15) from which Fulton could not recover.

Simmons led Fulton in scoring with 12 points.

Two home CMAC contests are on tap this week for the Fulton squad — Bath tonight (Dec. 15) and Pottsville this Friday, Dec. 18. The Pirates take a 0-1, 0-3 record into the games.

Conservation corner Christmas trees

By Eileen Gillespie

Strange as it may seem, you can improve the environment by buying real Christmas trees! Christmas trees are not cut from the woods. They are planted, cultured, and harvested by Christmas tree growers for your holiday season.

Christmas tree growers plant at least three trees for everyone they cut. Therefore, by buying real Christmas trees you are keeping Christmas tree growers in business and they are planting more trees assuring woodlands for future generations.

While Christmas trees are growing, they supply oxygen for humans and animals through the photosynthetic process. One acre of young trees will supply enough oxygen for 18 people. Young trees, because they are growing more vigorously, supply more oxygen than older trees.

The Christmas tree producer by continually planting and harvesting trees, helps provide an oxygen supply. Thus, when you buy real trees, you are assuring an air supply for your family.

Not only do growing trees provide oxygen, but they help reduce air pollution. The needles of evergreens take many of the harmful gases out of the air and turn them into harmless products. The needles also filter dust and dirt from the air and deposit them in the ground. Air pollution is reduced by Christmas trees while they are growing.

While evergreen trees grow they provide an excellent habitat for many birds and animals. Song birds nest in their limbs, laying their eggs, and feeding their young; hidden from their enemies.

In turn, they eat the insects in the area and help make life more enjoyable. Rabbits find shelter under the branches and feed on the grass between the trees. Many species of birds and animals make their home in Christmas tree plantations.

Evergreen trees prevent soil erosion and restore worn out land by adding a new layer of top soil. While the trees are growing, the needles and limbs break the force of falling raindrops, and let them trickle gently into the soil. The roots of the trees hold the soil on our steep Michigan hills. The needles that fall to the ground rebuild the top soil that was washed away in previous years.

After the trees are harvested and the field is replanted, the roots of the harvested trees decay, adding more humus to the ground. Christmas trees help keep the soil on our Michigan hills.

Real Christmas trees do not contribute to the energy crisis. While they are growing they take their energy from the sun and soil. On the other hand, the manufacturing of artificial trees requires the energy from non-renewable natural resources such as coal, oil, or natural gas. The sun given energy stored in real trees can and should be restored to the soil after the Christmas holiday.

After the holiday season, real trees should not contribute to pollution. Your tree can be set up in the yard as a shelter for birds for many weeks. Food for wild song birds can be placed in the limbs where they can eat out of the snow and be safe from predators.

Or the limbs from real trees can be used to mulch flower and shrub beds. The limbs and needles will soon decay; adding humus to the soil. Thus, the cycle of nature is continued.

When artificial trees are disposed of, they are thrown in a trash pile. They will not decay. The energy used up in the production is lost and they add to the pollution problem. Real trees should not pollute.

Evergreen trees on our hillsides not only renew and enrich the environment, but they add to the beauty of our state. In the winter, when the leaves have fallen from most of our trees, evergreens promise the return of spring and remind us of the immortality of life. The young trees help break the drabness of the winter scene and add to the beauty of our hills.

By buying and using real Christmas trees, you keep the producer in business. While he is producing trees, he helps nature clean the air, supply oxygen, replenish the forests, control erosion, provide habitats for wildlife, and beautify our hills.

And when you use a real tree, you are carrying on a centuries old tradition. The production of these trees did not use up any of our natural resources, but actually helped replenish many of our renewable resources.

A real tree brings you untold benefits while it is being produced, joy during the holiday season, and can even be useful after Christmas. By buying a real Christmas tree each year, you can make a real investment in a better environment. Or you could grow your own.

The Clinton Soil Conservation District has a tree seedling sales program beginning in mid-January. We will then take orders for an assortment of different pine and spruce tree seedlings. Other types of seedlings will also be available at that time.

Eileen Gillespie is the administrative assistant of the Clinton Soil Conservation District.

Injury odds

By Marilyn Loudenslager

Dr. Edward Doss, Michigan State University safety specialist, recently published some interesting data about risk of injury from engaging in various activities. The information originated from U.S. Assistant Surgeon General Dr. Vernon Houk.

You would have a one in a million chance of injuring yourself by doing any of the following:

- Driving 500 miles in a car.
- Flying 2,500 miles on a commercial airline.
- Rock climbing for 1½ minutes.
- Just being alive for 20 minutes at age 60.
- Being alive for 24 hours at age 12.
- Living 70 years within the legal limits of pesticide exposure.

What's new

By Giles Roehl

We have lots to be thankful for during the holiday season. Clinton County is a great place to live. Let's look at some of the latest information about our county.

Do you think of Clinton County as being one of the top ten agriculture counties in Michigan? Recent statistics released by the Department of Agriculture lists Clinton County as ranking ninth in the number of milk cows, seventh in number of sheep, eighth in acres of wheat, tenth in dry beans and oats, sixteenth in hogs, and twentieth in corn and barley production.

In addition, we also produce apples, potatoes, sugar beets, carrots, and pumpkins for the state marketplace.

As with all of agriculture, these commodities require varying degrees of care and concern. Often today's agriculture is referred to as the time of management rather than the machine age. Often we need to be reminded that the first three letters of management, MAN, are the key letters. Man is what spells the difference between economical production of a commodity and a production cost too large to continue.

We encourage those involved in agriculture production to participate in the various programs offered through your Cooperative Extension Service to be one of those that put the importance of man first.

Happy Holidays!

Giles Roehl is the director of the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.

If you've never used classified, you've missed a great people-to-people form of communication.

• Living 70 years on contaminated soils.
Also, when thinking about injury risks, remember that agriculture is the number one most hazardous industry to work in. Mining and construction follow close behind.

An astounding fact is that anyone working on a farm has a one in five chance of being involved in a serious injury in any given year!

Statistics show that 20 percent of all the nation's farm workers are injured each and every year! Think about that as you plan daily activities for yourself, family, and employees. Take every opportunity to assess and reduce risk.
