New Year's Babies

MAPLE RAPIDS — The first baby born in Clinton Memorial Hospital in 1987 was Troy Christopher Hollis, shown here with his mother, Kathleen. Troy was born at 7:47 p.m. Jan. 1, weighing seven pounds, 10.5 ounces. Troy's father is Rich Hollis. The Hollis family lives in Maple Rapids.

WESTPHALIA — Joyce and Greg Gage enjoy the company of their newborn son, Jordan Jeffrey Gage, who was born weighing nine pounds, five and a half ounces, at Carson City Hospital. Jordan was born at 2:09 a.m. Jan. 1. The Gages live in Westphalia.

No traffic deaths over holidays here

For the third consecutive year there were no New Year's Eve traffic injuries or deaths in Clinton County, said the Clinton County Sheriff's Department last week.

There were two arrests for drunk driving in the county, said Sheriff Terry Haneckow. One arrest was made in St. Johns and one was made in Elsie, he said.

On New Year's Eve last year there were also two arrests in the county. The previous year there were four — which means the county is sharing a trend with other areas of the state toward less holiday drunk driving.

Haneckow said the trend could be attributed to increased public awareness of the dangers of drunk driving.

"I'd say the publicity we give out this time of year probably helps," he said.

The last New Year's highway death in Clinton County was when 1984 became 1985.

Alcohol is involved in at least half of all traffic deaths.

No smoke-filled rooms for County Commission

By RICH WERTZ
Editor

Last week, in the Clinton County Board of Commissioners Room, the desks of Commissioner Earl Lancaster and County Administrator Bill LeFevre sported caricatures of the two pipe smokers with their respective smoking implements.

Commissioner Walter Nobis, a cigarette smoker, sported a sign on his desk that said "Smoking Area."

Glenn Webster's desk contained nothing special for the occasion, although the commissioner himself sported one of his customary cigars.

This was the last commission meeting before Michigan's new Clean Indoor Air Act went into effect Jan. 1. Thereafter — at least until a way could be found to designate part of the meeting room a smoking area — meetings were to be no-smoking affairs.

"Could be some short meetings," commented LeFevre.

THE NEW law stipulates that people "shall not smoke in a public place or at a meeting of a public body, except in a designated smoking area."

A "public place" includes any indoor area owned or operated by the state or by local governments. Also included is any indoor area not government-owned but which is an educational facility, health facility, auditorium, arena, theater, museum, concert hall, or art exhibition room, used by the general public.

The law also says that if a public place consists of a single room, no more than half of it may be designated for smoking.

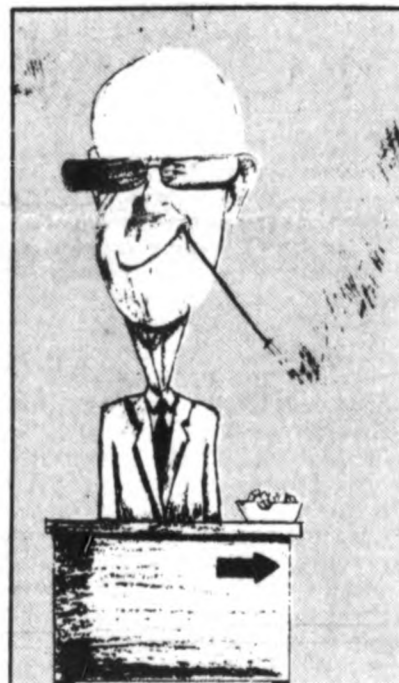

DESPITE the fact that three of the seven of them are smokers, commissioners at their last "smoking" meeting adopted a smoking policy to put the county in compliance with the new state law. Smoking is now prohibited in county facilities except in areas designated by "Smoking Permitted" signs. A survey of county employees will be conducted to find out where the smoking areas should be located.

The vote on the smoking policy was 5-1. (Commissioner Roger Overway, hospitalized with a leg injury, was absent.) Earl Lancaster, between puffs on his pipe, cast the lone "no" vote. But Lancaster was hardly making a stand for the rights of smokers.

"I don't think it's stringent enough," said Lancaster of the policy, explaining later that under the new law it is possible part of the board room could be designated a smoking area.

Lancaster — who said he took up smoking at the age of 40 and that as a faithful runner he is in better health than many a younger man — said he is in favor of a complete ban on smoking in the meeting room.

EARL LANCASTER — Melissa Nobis, daughter of county commissioner Walter Nobis, penned this caricature of her father's colleague.

"He's always offered not to smoke," said Commissioner Lois Bracey, a non-smoker who sits next to Lancaster at the meetings.

Commissioner Richard Hawks, also a non-smoker, commented on the increasing amount of evidence showing that "second hand" smoke is harmful to non-smokers as well as smokers.

BATH Township Supervisor Richard Brook, asked county health department director Joe Latoff, if his department is committed to strict enforcement.

Latoff replied that the first efforts of the health department are customarily educational in nature.

"For the recalcitrants," he said, however, "we do have enforcement efforts."

There being apparently no recalcitrants among county government officials, no one smoked at the commission meeting of Jan. 2.

The concert will include songs written by many of today's contemporary composers as well as some of their own compositions. The Bruntons have conducted many adult and teen choirs throughout the mid-Michigan area, and they travel in the United States and Canada.

The concert is open to the public.

Commissioners paid $66,879

Clinton County taxpayers paid their elected county commissioners a total of over $66,880 in salaries and reimbursement for travel expenses during 1986, county records show.

That included $38,700 in base salaries for the seven commissioners, $22,818 in "per diem" salaries for meetings attended, and $5,361 in reimbursement for travel expenses.

Travel reimbursement of $1,701 helped put Commissioner Robert Van Driesen at the top of the list of payments received. Van Driesen, chairman of the criminal justice committee, received a total of $11,911.

However, Van Driesen could be topped by Chairman Roger Overway, who received $11,096 in the first 11 months of 1986. Overway was hospitalized with a leg injury last week and his December expense report was not available.

As the chairman of the board, Overway's base salary was $6,400. Other commissioners' base salaries were $5,300 each, with the exception of the base salary of Richard Hawks. As finance committee chairman Hawk's base salary was $6,800.

Besides a base salary and travel reimbursement, commissioners are paid a "per diem" amount for meetings attended. The commissioners all received $390 in per diem for regular board meetings except Overway and Commissioner Lois Bracey, who were each paid $360. The two of them each missed one board meeting.

Commissioners' per diem for committee meetings ranged from a low of $1,958 for Glen Webster to a high of $4,520 for Van Driesen.

Webster came in at the low end for total payment received. His $7,968 for the year included $350 in reimbursement for travel expenses.

Roger Overway briefly hospitalized

Roger Overway, 1986 chairman of the Clinton County Board of Commissioners, was hospitalized last week with a leg injury.

Overway said he did not know the cause of the ailment.

"I don't know," he said. "It just swelled up."

While hospitalized for two days with the ailment, Overway missed the Dec. 30 meeting of the commission.

THE ONLY commission meeting he has missed all year.

"This is the first time he's ever been hospitalized," commented Commissioner Robert Van Driesen, who chaired the meeting in Overway's absence. "It's only the third meeting he has missed in 13 years."

Overway was on crutches but in attendance at the Jan. 2 meeting of the commission.

Webster elected commission chair

Glenn Webster was elected chairman of the Clinton County Board of Commissioners by a unanimous vote Jan. 2.

Webster was re-elected to the commission in November and represents District 1 of the county's seven commission districts. In 1986, he was chairman of the building and grounds committee.

Robert Van Driesen was unanimously elected vice chairman. Van Driesen represents District 7.

Cheerleaders take third place trophy

By RHONDA WESTFALL
Sports Editor

The St. Johns High School Varsity cheerleading squad took second runner-up honors at the National Cheerleading Competition in Nashville, Tenn. on Dec. 29 and 30.

Over 3,000 cheerleaders from 238 teams across the United States took part in the competition, with many parents and friends on hand to lend encouragement and support to their respective squads.

The Redwings, with Michelle Lindquist as varsity advisor, were one of the 81 squads entered in the "large, varsity division," which was a classification for squads with nine or more team members. The squad originally qualified for the competition during their stay at summer cheerleading camp when they were

'The girls made friends with other cheerleaders from across the country...' — Coach Lindquist one of the regional winners from the state of Michigan.

"WE WERE extremely surprised," Lindquist said of the team's finish and trophy. "We only started putting our routine together about two weeks ago when we received final approval to attend the competition from the St. Johns Board of Education. Most of the teams had been preparing for months."

Each squad performed a four-minute routine including dance, pyramid, gymnastics, and cheers. Preliminaries were held on Dec. 29, with the top 20 finishers in each division advancing to the finals on Dec. 30.

First place winner in the Redwings' division was a co-ed team from Napa, Idaho, and first runner-up was a squad from Attala, Alabama.

St. Johns team members include: Jody Sternburgh, Missy Cartwright, Jennifer Olmsted, Mandy Martens, Darcy Grennell, Pam Armstrong, Vickie Flegler, Tammy Graham, Gina Fuentes, Leighanne Darnell, Sandra Klaver, and Kathryn O'Dell.

All costs for the trip and competition were paid in full by the parents of the squad, with no cost to St. Johns school district.

The team also received a trophy in a special category for Best Cheer Execution.

"The competition was really only a small part of the overall event," Lindquist said. "The girls made friends with other cheerleaders from across the country, attended seminars on safety, heard a motivational speaker at the opening ceremony, and exchanged many ideas with other groups. It was a very good learning experience for all of us."

Photographs of the event are on page 1C.

Bill Schuette Reports Rules change

Bill Schuette

On Dec. 19, 1986, I announced the United States Department of Agriculture released the final rule establishing the terms and conditions for eligibility in the disaster payment program. The final rule was published in the "Federal Register" on Dec. 24 and represents a significant change from the proposed rule.

Under the final rule nonprogram crops such as Michigan's pride, dry edible beans, vegetables and other crops important to mid-Michigan will be considered individually when determining if producers in disaster affected counties qualify for compensation under the 1986 disaster payment program.

Eligibility for disaster assistance requires a producer to have suffered a 50 percent or greater loss of production of individual nonprogram crops in 1986 due to excessive rains or flooding.

The original regulation called for an average loss of 50 percent or greater for all crops, instead of treating them individually.

In addition, the value of harvested nonprogram crops will be taken into consideration in determining eligibility for disaster payments as well as payment level.

This is a significant and welcome change. Credit again goes to Mid-Michigan producers who fought for fairness and equal treatment from USDA and won. Loss for program crops, however, will be taken into account using loss of actual production.

Producers eligible for disaster program assistance must file an application for their disaster payments during the period Jan. 12 through Jan. 30, 1987 at their county ASCS office. I strongly urge any farm families who may be eligible to contact their local ASCS office as soon as possible. It is not necessary to wait until Jan. 12.

Bill Schuette is the 10th district representative to the United States House of Representatives.

Editor's notes

Prognostications, etc. Rich Wertz

No forecasts for 1987 from this newspaperman. I am sick unto death of 'em. All this soothsaying and prognosticating, and predicting which star will get married and which divorced and what fashions are going to make a comeback — the only things I could care less about are the conjugal rituals of British royalty.

I tired of resolutions, too. Down with 'em, I say. The only thing worthwhile among all the hype that appears in the daily newspapers this time of year is the annual report about the Unicorn Hunters, who each year release a New Year's Dishonor List of Words Banished from the Queen's English.

And even the Unicorn Hunters were a tad disappointing this year. They took on such easy targets as "live audience," "foreign imports" and "same difference." I want to know when they are going to do something about getting rid of the word "utilize" which is the most dreadful word coined on the planet Earth since

I digress. Here is an anti-prognostication tale:

"Spring's here," says he, walking into a convenience store to buy a big ol' cup of Hi-C.

"Ain't it though," comments the clerk. He is wearing tennis shoes. Can jump over tall buildings in a single bound, the day is that sunny and warm. This is last Sunday. Earlier, he had turned the heat on low in his car and drove with the windows open and imagined it was April with sunshine coming through the windshield as through a magnifying glass. It didn't take much imagining, what with the sun all flowing over the fields and sparking on the water and everything.

"I had rather expected a blast of cold winter today," says he to the clerk.

"One never knows, do one?" says she. He doesn't mind the winter. The snow is real pretty, at least until it isn't, and lots of people like winter sports such as skiing. He doesn't mind winter at all but absolutely adores the spring.

By the time you read this, 'twill no doubt be winter again.

But then, one never knows, do one?

Comment meant to refer to hurt and anger

To the Editor:

I would like to clarify a comment I made at the Dec. 15 school board meeting which was included in the article about the meeting. The quote was accurate; however I don't believe I was clear enough in expressing what I meant.

I said in regards to the question of extending Mr. Gabriel's contract, that I feared we were an unforgiving and unforgetting community. I intended for that comment to refer to the hurt and anger which still exists regarding the superintendent of schools.

I clearly recognize that St. Johns is a caring community where people are willing to express their feelings, beliefs, and opinions. I enjoy being part of this community and appreciate the opportunity to serve on the Board of Education.

Donations high at SJ Lutheran blood drive

To the Editor:

The Dec. 22 blood drive at St. Johns Lutheran Church resulted in a new high of 134 pints of blood. One hundred thirty-eight were present with four donors deferred. There were five first-time donors.

The St. Johns community should be commended for such a good turnout, especially at this time of the year when everyone is so busy. It took 35 volunteers to help make this possible.

We wish to thank McDonalds for their "Be Our Guest" cards, and also each and everyone of you who helped to make this drive a success.

Trials and tribulations of a model mother

To the Editor:

Well, the holiday season is over and now it's time to pick up the pieces. I mean that literally. You see, a little over a year ago my two boys entered the "plastic model era." Oh, it started out harmless enough with a small plane kit that our oldest had won at a school carnival. Then came the ships, larger planes and rockets.

And Mommy, in her naive state, saw this as a learning experience. Small hands could learn dexterity and young minds could learn to read and follow directions.

The planes and ships were fine. They have propellers, wheels and masts. But this year we graduated to "car" models. Car models are just like real cars in that they have motors with little motor parts — a test of anyone's stamina, especially that of a mother who isn't sure where the motor goes. (I get confused; we owned a VW once.) But unlike big car motors, if you can't figure out where a part fits on a model you can glue it anywhere it looks good.

Since 9 o'clock Christmas morning our livingroom has been covered with a blanket of newspapers. It's worse than when we were housebreaking our puppy. Each son has erected his "shrine" for the model construction. They build two or three at once so as to get them done fast and be "bored" the rest of the school break.

The smell of model glue permeates the air along with accusations that "so and so stole my steering wheel." The missing part finally located — it was accidentally glued to the milk carton in the refrigerator (well, it makes sense to me) — the construction goes on...and on...and on. With my brother it last until he was 16 — when he started putting together real motors.

Tomorrow, with vacuum cleaner in hand, I reclaim the livingroom. All spare model parts unearthed go into my jewelry box. (Why, I don't know.) Soon Mommy will make her own model — of an auto salvage garage.

I wonder where I'll find the glue.

$1.2 million water project set to begin in Watertown Twp.

A $1.2 million water pipeline will be constructed in 1987 in Watertown Township to serve expected industrial and commercial development along the Grand River corridor.

"What we're attempting to do is provide this service at the lowest possible cost," said Township Supervisor Thomas O'Bryant. "We're anticipating a lot of growth in the next two to four years."

O'Bryant said building owners in the area who have sprinkler systems in their buildings will notice a decrease in their fire insurance costs because of the system.

The township will issue $480,000 in bonds to help pay for the water project. Clinton County commissioners last week pledged the full faith and credit of the county behind the bond issue.

The money from the bond sale will be paid directly to the Board of Water and Light for that utility's "up front costs," said O'Bryant.

The bond issue will be repaid by a one-time assessment of $19.63 per foot on property served by the pipeline. The assessment will be made over 15 years.

Besides the money from the bond issue, the BWL will spend about $751,000 on the project. Of that, $350,000 will be recovered by a 10 percent surcharge paid by users of the system over a ten-year period.

The balance, about $400,000, is the cost to the BWL for upgrading its system in Lansing to handle the additional service. That amount will be absorbed by the BWL, O'Bryant said.

DEVELOPMENT AREA — This map details the section of Watertown Township to be served by a new $1.2 million water pipeline, to be financed through the selling of bonds.

THE PIPELINE will run parallel to N. Grand River Ave., beginning with a pumping station near Airport Road in the southeast corner of the township. The BWL currently has water service to the edge of the area that borders the township.

The pipeline will run north on Grand River for about two miles. A feeder pipeline will run north on Felton Road to serve an industrial area that includes five about small firms and vacant land.

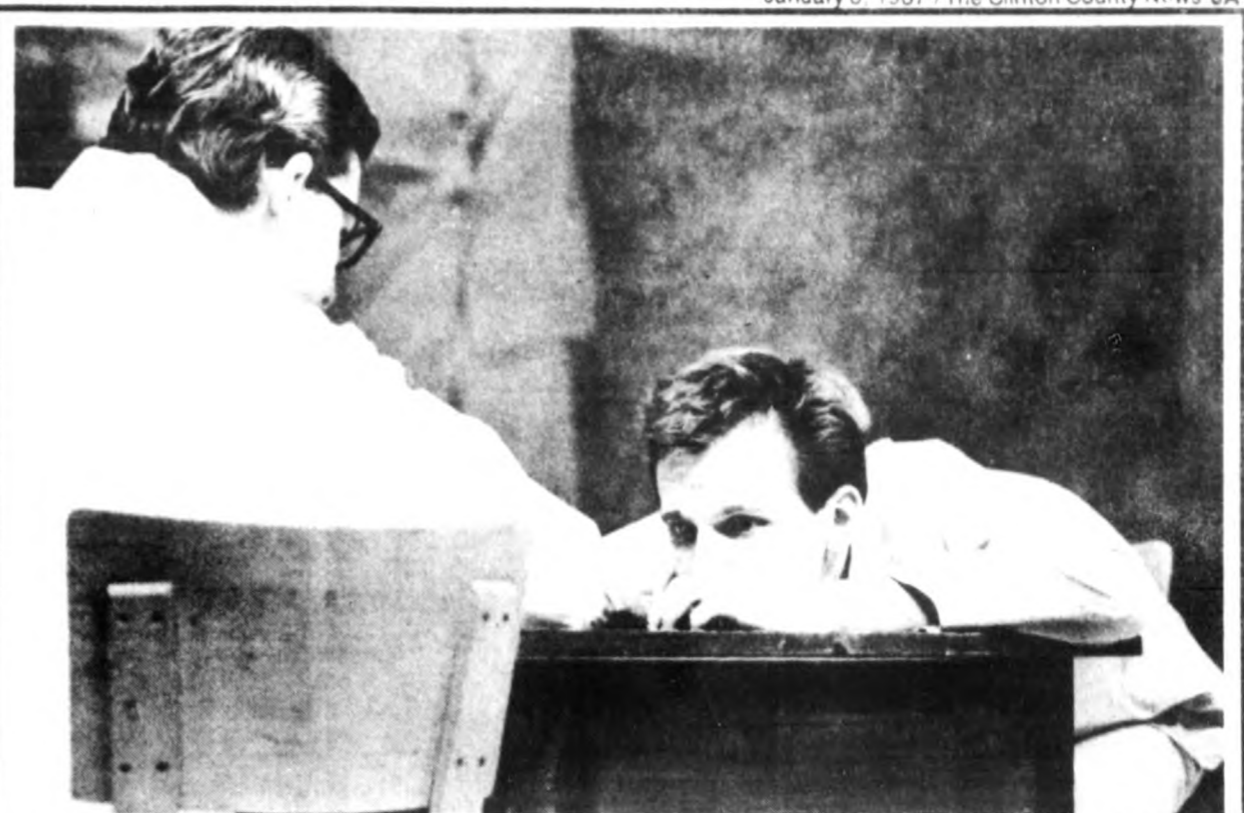

A second feeder will run south on Industrial Parkway for businesses and expected development there.

The area served by the pipeline will be bounded on the south and east by the Watertown Township line and on the north and west by the I-69 expressway.

The pipeline could be extended later if those who would benefit are willing to pay for the extension, said O'Bryant.

O'Bryant noted that with the new water system the Grand River corridor will have all the services needed for development. The township is also spending over $500,000 to clean and renovate county drains in the township, he said. In 1979 the township installed sanitary sewers in the same area, he said.

GTE says bills now easier to read

There could be light at the end of the tunnel for GTE customers who have a difficult time understanding their monthly telephone bill.

Changes in the company's bill design are being made that should make the bill more understandable, according to Max Preston, state vice president-general manager for GTE. The first of these changes will be implemented early in January.

"We've recognized for some time that the billing design we use has been unsatisfactory to our customers," said Preston. "Several things have caused this problem. One of the most significant has been the continuing deregulation of our industry. This led to some major changes in the way we must bill for services provided."

"For example, long distance companies wanted separate pages on our bill for their services. This caused more pages. And, after the first of the year, AT&T has a requirement to have their customers call them for questions about their long distance charges," Preston said.

Sesquicentennial Balls held in three locations

Tickets went on sale Dec. 22 in Lansing, Marquette, and Detroit for the official Sesquicentennial Balls commemorating the 150th anniversary of Michigan statehood on Jan. 26.

"This is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for everyone in Michigan to join together across the state and celebrate all that Michigan was and will be," Sesquicentennial Commission Executive Director Merri Jo Bales said.

Part of the money from ticket sales will be used for the new state museum now under the construction in Lansing, Bales said.

The Lansing Ball will be held in the State Capitol Rotunda the evening of Jan. 26, with music provided by the Michigan National Guard Army Band, The Senate, House, and old Supreme Court Chambers also will be open for the occasion. It is the first time in more than 100 years that there will be dancing in the State Capitol.

On the same evening, official Sesquicentennial Balls will also be held at Northern Michigan University in Marquette and at the Detroit Institute of Arts (DIA). Each of the three official balls will feature the cutting of special sesquicentennial birthday cakes and a toast to the 150th anniversary of Michigan statehood.

Tickets are available for the Capitol Ball and dinner at Lansing's new Radisson Hotel for $65 per person. The DIA celebration is priced at $150 per person for cocktails, dinner, and dancing. Tickets for the balls alone at the State Capitol and DIA are $25. The Marquette dinner and dance is $25 per person. Black tie is preferred.

For full ticket information, telephone: Lansing, Mary Olson, (517) 887-0270; Marquette, Russell Magnaghi, (906) 227-2512; Detroit, Anthony Adams, (313) 224-3420.

Bruce Bernath has arrived for duty with the 25th Infantry division, Schofield Barracks, Hawaii. Army Pvt., Bruce Bernath, son of John and Marilyn Bernath, 8951 Maple Rapids Rd., Elsie, Bernath is an infantryman.

THE CHANGES scheduled for the January bill include:

- A smaller, easier to read design.
- A single payment stub instead of multiple stubs.
- Simpler language to describe some of the customer charges.

Another important step GTE is taking to improve customer understanding is a simplified summary page at the front of the bill. This modification will begin in mid-1987.

"We've recently identified these problem areas as generating the most customer confusion about our billing format," Preston said. "We will implement these changes as soon as we can. We also are working to overcome the problem of having too many pages on the bill."

Preston said the new bill design is not the end of the company's effort to improve its billing procedure.

"Customers soon will see major improvements in our bills, but we're certainly not finished with the process," Preston said. "A GTE task force is working on a major overhaul of our entire billing system. We plan to make additional changes in the near future; those will make our bills even more readable."

Courthouse to have a new phone system

Callers to Clinton County government offices will soon be able to dial direct instead of having to go through a central switchboard.

That will be the most obvious change to the public when a new $123,868 GTE telephone system is installed at the end of March.

The new system will eliminate $30,000 in annual equipment rental charges, said Clinton County Administrator Bill LeFevre. He said the new system will also eliminate the need for one full-time staff position.

"The system will pay for itself in reduced charges in less than four and a half years," said LeFevre.

ZCBJ lodge has Christmas event

By JOANNE FORNUSEK

More than 75 children took part in this year's ZCBJ lodge Christmas program. The youngest children entertained the audience by playing Christmas carols on their rhythm band instruments. They were accompanied by Eddy Fornusek Sr., on his accordion.

Svate Mikulas (Fr. John Hoogterp) arrived to tell the children the story of the birth of Christ. As he told the Nativity Story, the older children acted out the parts of Mary and Joseph, shepherds, angels and kings. Svate Mikulas then gave each child an apple. He was assisted by an angel, Cheryl Ladiski.

Jingling bells announced the arrival of Santa Claus (Frank Mach). Santa and Svate Mikulas distributed gifts to all the children.

New laws

Dawn Harris

Do it yourself wills — You may feel that as a family you need not think about a will yet, but have you ever thought about what would happen to your children if both you and your spouse died? Unless you would like the courts to decide, you had better designate guardians for your children in your will.

A new law provides a simple form with instructions which can be used without the assistance of a lawyer, for people whose financial situations are relatively uncomplicated. The form covers the distribution of assets, the designation of a personal representative, and the designation of a guardian if minor children are involved.

The statutory will is probably not appropriate for families who wish to use several different options for dividing property; have had more than one marriage, with children from an earlier marriage; have complex business and/or real estate holdings, and need tax planning because of substantial assets.

The forms for the Michigan Statutory Will are available without charge through your state legislative office. For Gratiot and Clinton Counties, call 517-373-0834.

Child care centers — The governor has signed into law a bill that gives parents the legal right to make unannounced visits to child care centers and to visit a center prior to enrolling a child. The bill would assure that licensed child care centers do not have policies that forbid unannounced parental visits. Supporters felt that such legislation helps to reduce the possibility of sexual abuse.

Treatment information — The governor recently signed into law a bill that would require a physician who is treating a patient for breast cancer to inform the patient orally and in writing about all of the medically viable alternative methods of treatment. This information must be in terms that the patient can understand, and it must include a description of the procedures involved, and the advantages, disadvantages and risks of each. The bill applies to medical doctors, osteopathic physicians and surgeons. The penalty for violation is a reprimand and/or fine. A standardized written summary prepared by the Dept. of Public Health could be used. Upon receiving this information, the patient will be asked to sign a form, which will prohibit that person from bringing a civil action against the physician on the basis of information received.

Warming up

Mona Ellard

Are you tired of the winter chill? Have you had your fill of sweets and snacks? Does the cold weather make you famished? If so, then warm up your appetite with these "Hot From The Hearth" recipes chocked full of hearty ingredients and specially seasoned with convenient dry soup mixes.

These savory, all-in-one dish stews and soups are perfect for lunch, dinner, or even as a warming pick-me-up snack.

Nothing hits the spot better than something hot and hearty on a cold winter night. So follow these simple and quick recipes and you'll soon be ladeling out a delicious meal.

Warm-Up Winter supper

Serve this hearty stew with a loaf of warm fresh bread and your table is complete

Hearty Beef Stew

(Makes about 6 servings)

- 2 pounds beef cubes
- 2 tablespoons oil
- 1/2 teaspoon caraway seeds
- 1 1/2 cups beer
- 4 medium potatoes, quartered
- 1 pkg. (10 ozs.) frozen, cut green beans
- 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 1 envelope of dry beefy onion or onion soup mix
- 1/2 cup water
- 4 carrots, cut into 2-inch pieces.
- Toss beef with flour. In large skillet, heat oil, and brown beef. Add dried soup mix and caraway blended with beer and water. Bring to a boil, then simmer covered 30 minutes. Add potatoes and carrots and simmer covered 30 minutes. Add green beans and simmer covered an additional 10 minutes or until beef and vegetables are tender.

A Taste of the Emerald Isle

In the middle of winter it's always a treat to add a change to your family's meals. Why not make a chowder using corned beef and cabbage? If you include Irish soda bread you will have a taste of the Emerald Isle.

Harrigan's Corned Beef and Cabbage Chowder

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
- 2 cups coarsely shredded cabbage
- 1 envelope dried noodle soup mix with chicken broth
- 2 cups milk
- 1/2 cup thinly sliced celery
- 2 cups water
- 1 cup thinly sliced carrot
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 1/2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 1/4 pound thinly sliced cooked corned beef, cut into thin strips

In large saucepan, melt butter and cook celery and onion until tender. Stir in water, cabbage, and carrot. Bring to a boil, then simmer covered, stirring occasionally, 15 minutes or until vegetables are almost tender. Add noodle soup mix, then mustard and flour blended with milk. Bring to the boiling point, then simmer, stirring constantly, until chowder is thickened, about 5 minutes. Stir in corned beef; heat through, but do not boil. Makes about 5 cups chowder.

A Lo-Calorie Meal

Now that we have gorged ourselves on the holiday treats and stuffed ourselves at the holiday tables, many have resolved to lose weight. Why not try using cauliflower? It is an excellent source of many vitamins and minerals plus it has very few calories. My family really enjoys cauliflower soup and the following recipe is unique in flavor — it's seasoned with a dash of nutmeg.

Cream of Cauliflower Soup

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 pkg. (10 ozs.) frozen cauliflower, thawed and pureed
- 2 1/2 cups milk
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1 envelope golden mushroom soup mix
- 1/8 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- In medium saucepan, melt butter and cook celery until tender. Stir in cauliflower and golden mushroom soup mix and nutmeg blended with milk. Bring to the boiling point, then simmer, stirring occasionally, until soup is slightly thickened, about 5 minutes. Makes about 4 servings.

Lastly, you can make a meal with a kick! Try this streamlined version of the famous French casserole. Add crusty bread and a crisp green salad and it will be magnifique!

Hearty Pork Pot

- 2 tablespoons oil
- 1 envelope golden onion soup mix
- 1 bay leaf
- 1 cup water
- 1/8 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
- 1 lb. Polish sausage, sliced
- 1 lb. boneless pork, cut in 1-inch cubes
- 1/4 teaspoon thyme, crumbled
- 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce.
- 2 cans (20 oz. each) kidney beans, drained.
- In large skillet, heat oil and brown pork; drain. Add onion soup mix, thyme, and a bay leaf blended with tomato sauce and water. Bring to a boil, then simmer, stirring occasionally, 20 minutes. Stir in beans, hot pepper sauce, and sausage.
- Preheat oven to 350° F. Turn mixture into 3-quart casserole and bake 20 minutes or until heated through. Makes about 6 servings.

LONG SHADOWS AT SLEEPY HOLLOW — Morning sun, shining through trees on an island in the lake at Sleepy Hollow State Park, casts long shadows across the snow.

Outdoors

The last buck

Dick Bradley

The last special deer seasons have pretty well expired now. The bows and guns have been put away for another year and only the memories are left to be seasoned and enhanced by passing time. But I still have one thought to share, an experience that may tend to dull the pangs of disappointment for hunters, such as I who failed to put fresh venison in the freezer.

It was Nov. 30, last day of the regular gun season. The weather had warmed and the sky was overcast, threatening rain rather than snow. I had been out in the morning and the only rustling of leaves I had heard materialized into a waddling porcupine. Its slow, noisy, shinning up a tree had provided almost all of what I had seen. When he finally settled in an upper crotch of a tall tree to nap, I decided to go back to the cabin for coffee and a rest of my own. The buck scrape that I had been hunting over had not been visited that morning, even though some tracks in the nearby mud appeared to be fresh. Other hunters in the area apparently shared my luck for no nearby shots had been fired.

The snap of a dead twig from the area of the buck scrape startled me...

When mid-afternoon arrived the weather was even more ominous. Not a single hunter passed the cabin and I was greatly tempted to stay by my own warm hearth. Still, the spot where I had been that morning was a good one, and I reasoned that the lack of hunters might encourage the deer into more activity. Besides, I was curious to see if that sleepy "porkey" was still in the high tree crotch.

The porcupine was clearly visible before I got to my stand. I wondered casually if the breeze that was gently moving the tree had a soothing, rocking effect on his slumber. I decided that is probably did.

My eyes swept back and forth from the scrape at my left to the frozen bay of the lake to my right. Almost nothing was moving but the occasional leaves and branches disturbed by the wind. More than an hour after my watch had begun, however, my eye detected a movement near the lake. I was finally able to identify it as the twitching ear of a young doe, picking her way toward me. I continued to watch behind her and noticed only that the daylight was fading. No other deer appeared from that direction.

The snap of a dead twig from the area of the buck scrape startled me. Barely 75 feet from where I sat I was able to make out the shape of a fine buck, standing directly behind the young doe. I was sure my decision to hunt that final afternoon was about to pay off. But the fading light, the lack of a snowy background and the considerable thick trees and bushes were a definite factor. As the two animals frolicked in their pre-mating ritual, I found it impossible to get a clear shot. The twilight deepened as I waited. It was soon obvious that no shot could be made.

I slipped the safety back on my gun and slowly began walking back toward the cabin. Surprisingly I was not overcome with disappointment. Instead, I was awed that this handsome buck had survived the efforts of heavy hunting pressure in the area. Not only had he survived but was insuring the continuance of his species.

It will be reassuring to know that some of the spindly-legged fawns of next spring may be his children. It is also reassuring to be reminded that there can be more gained from a hunt than a store of venison.

Residents asked to watch for eagles

Michigan's bald eagle population has recovered somewhat following a serious decline in the 1960's and early 1970's when excess pesticides in the state made their way into the birds' food chain.

Bans or tight restrictions on pesticides in Michigan and protection of eagle nest sites has enabled Michigan's eagle population to come back from 78 pairs in 1976 to approximately 125 pairs this past summer.

About 70 eagles have been counted in recent years during an annual mid-winter eagle survey conducted by the Department of Natural Resources. Most sightings have been in the Upper Peninsula and the Roscommon-Mio areas in the northern Lower Peninsula.

However, the eagles have been seen in Clinton County. Only a few weeks ago, during deer hunting season, local farmer and school board member Neil Barnhart, and a hunting companion, spotted one of the birds.

Between Jan. 1 and 15, Michigan residents are urged to watch for eagles wintering in Michigan to assist in a cooperative survey conducted by Michigan's Nongame Wildlife and the National Wildlife Federation.

The survey is being conducted to learn how many of these magnificent birds of prey are present in Michigan in early January.

"Although some bald eagles fly south for the winter in search for food," reported Tom Weise, Department of Natural Resources endangered species coordinator, "many do remain in Michigan and will often be seen perched in trees near open-water feeding areas."

Anyone sighting an adult bald eagle that clearly displays a white head and white tail within the Jan. 1-15 dates should send a postcard with the date seen and locality of the eagle, along with a return phone number to: Eagles, Michigan Nongame Wildlife Fund, Department of Natural Resources, P.O. Box 30028, Lansing, MI 48909.

Thin ice

Marilyn Loudenslager

Last week we talked about safety tips to use when playing or working on ice. We talked about ice depth and how to recognize areas where the ice may be thin. Keeping these tips in mind when you're on the ice can help to prevent an emergency, but it's also important to know what to do in case of an emergency.

What do you do when you go through the ice? To find an answer to this question we went to the DNR for the following suggestions:

1. Turn on your back and kick to work your way out of the hole; your clothes will offer some flotation.
2. Get out of the ice in the direction you walked on.
3. Do not stand; rather, roll away from the hole until you feel you can safely stand.
4. Work fast; you have just minutes before the cold water will affect your reasoning.
5. Your clothes will soon freeze; walk to safety quickly. If you are going to your car, remove your keys before they freeze in your pocket.

What do you do when assisting someone who has fallen through the ice? Stay on solid ground; avoid getting on the ice if possible. If a person must assist from the ice, they should lay flat and spread their weight as much as possible. Rescue gear (ladder; rope tied around victim; etc.) should be used.

A person removed from cold water may appear to be beyond help, but still may be successfully resuscitated. Don't give up! Start cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) and transport immediately to the hospital.

Knowing the procedure to follow in case of an emergency is very important. Using these tips and your common sense can turn an emergency into a minor mishap that you can tell about for years. Marilyn Loudenslager is the agriculture agent for the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Aid deadline is Jan. 30

Farmers in the declared counties eligible for emergency disaster grants and/or loans for crop losses caused by drought, heat, flood, hail or excessive moisture in 1986 are reminded by the Michigan Department of Agriculture (MDA) that they must apply for assistance at their county Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service

(ASCS).

The ASCS staff will certify acreage and production losses to determine eligibility. Farmers should bring copies of 1986 records, such as delivery receipts, seed, fertilizer or spray receipts, and production by usage records for the past three years. Farmers needing assistance in preparing documentation of non-program crop losses should contact the Cooperative Extension Service's Emergency Management Assistance Team (EMAT).

All crops, program and nonprogram, are covered and payments are limited to $100,000 for Federal PIK grants and $200,000 for Michigan zero-interest loans.

Deadline for application for a Federal grant is Jan. 30, 1987. Eligible farmers can expect to receive a PIK certificate within 45 days of application. Farmers have until June 30, 1987, to apply for the State Disaster Loan Program.

Deer problems

Giles Roehl

A word from Nancy Butler may save you some valuable time and even dollars.

Are you familiar with the old wives' tale about using human hair to repel deer from orchards and other tender plants?

Well, it appears there is some truth to the old adage — at least where Alabama deer are concerned. Researchers working with the Alabama Agricultural Experiment Station evaluated deer repellents in grower's plantings and at the research station. They found that an ounce of human hair bagged (in what was not specified, but how about nylon hosiery?) and hung in orchard trees or in a perimeter of trees can provide protection for 10 months. As might be expected, the hair bags were less effective in areas with high deer population, although some control was provided.

This is great news for the gardeners who have been supporting the local white tail population against their will. Sympathy for hungry Bambies or Rudolfs only goes so far when they eat all the tender shoots on fruit trees and flowering ornamentals. Minor feeding may only disfigure the plant and reduce or eliminate a fruit crop. Major damage can kill the plant, however. In the past, commercially available repellents have been marginally effective. Fencing has rarely been a feasible control measure as deer are superb jumpers. As such, many gardeners have had problems year after year.

Fortunately, there is no reason to suspect that Michigan deer will be any more immune to hair amulets hanging from trees than their Alabama relatives. It is likely that the hair bags will need to be replaced more frequently, perhaps every few months, in cold winter temperatures. Another possibility is that more bags may be needed per plant as the objectionable human aroma will spread less far in cold weather.

Nonetheless, this sounds like a simple, inexpensive control that is well worth trying. All you need to do is take your "Bambi Bag" (similar in most ways to a doggy bag) with you the next time you go to the barber or hair dresser!

Giles Roehl is the director of the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Conservation corner

Tillage club

Eileen Gillespie

The Clinton Soil Conservation Tillage Club will hold their next meeting on Jan. 14, 1987, at the Dutch House of Beef, located just five miles east of St. Johns on M-21, at 12 noon.

Following a lunch on your own, Gerry Grigar, conservation agronomist, will speak on the different concepts of conservation tillage.

Come join us for lunch and learn more about a tillage method that is being used more and more in our Clinton County area.

Conservation tillage definitions and types of systems

Conservation tillage — any tillage and planting system that maintains at least 30 percent of the soil surface covered by residue after planting to reduce soil erosion by water; or where soil erosion by wind is the primary concern, maintains at least 1,000 pounds of flat small-grain residue equivalent on the surface during the critical erosion periods.

No-till or slot planting — The soil is left undisturbed prior to planting. Planting is completed in a narrow seedbed approximately one to three inches wide. Weed control is accomplished primarily with herbicides.

Ridge-till (includes no-till ridges) — The soil is left undisturbed prior to planting. Approximately one-third of the soil surface is tilled at planting with sweeps or row cleaners. Planting is completed on ridges usually 4 to 6 inches higher than the row middles. Weed control is accomplished with a combination of herbicides and cultivation. Cultivation is used to rebuild ridges.

Strip-till — The soil is left undisturbed prior to planting. Approximately one-third of the soil surface is tilled at planting time. Tillage in the row may consist of a rototiller, in-row chisel, row cleaners, etc. Weed control is accomplished with a combination of herbicides and cultivation.

Mulch-till — The total soil surface is disturbed by tillage prior to planting. Tillage tools such as chisels, field cultivators, discs, sweeps, or blades are used. Weed control is accomplished with a combination of herbicides and cultivation.

Reduced-till — Any other tillage and planting system not covered above that meets the 30 percent residue requirement.

4-H recognition

Theresa Silm

Everyone seeks some form of recognition for his/her individual abilities and accomplishments. 4-H provides young people with numerous opportunities for recognition.

The desire for recognition is a powerful motivator. Everyone wants some degree of prestige, status or attention. People strive for the elusive "pat on the back." We all need to "be somebody" in the eyes of our peers.

Recognition means different things to different people and everyone has different individual needs and different motivating forces. Some individuals seek extrinsic awards, such as plaques and trophies, while others simply seek personal, intangible recognition, such as the satisfaction of having done a job well.

In 4-H, recognition achieved through rewards can take several forms. Blue ribbons at the county fair are one form of recognition, but there are a variety of other county, state and national awards available to 4-H members as recognition for outstanding project achievements.

One opportunity that 4-H members may take advantage of is the Michigan telawards program. This is the process that Michigan uses to select members to participate in the national awards program.

4-H members who wish to participate fill out an awards information sheet. The information requested is then used by an awards committee appointed by the 4-H council to select the county representative in each of the project areas.

County winners then complete a second report form that is used to determine the district and then the state winners.

It's hard to explain the system without making it all sound difficult which it really isn't. Members and/or leaders who are interested in learning more about the Telawards program should contact the Extension Office for additional information. The forms are available in the office now and need to be returned by Jan. 16.

Theresa Silm is the 4-H youth agent for the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Five rules for communicating with elderly

Findlay Manor News

Happy birthday to:

Margaret Hoadley, Jan. 1
Ila Rickerd, Jan. 6
Joe Hayner, Jan. 10
Ed Sehlke, Jan. 13

Cards and letters are always welcome.

Communication can be a frustrating and difficult task for the aging person who has speech, hearing and/or mental disabilities. Communication is the means we use to relate and share our thoughts, feelings, attitudes, needs, desires, pains, turmoils and crisis to others. It is very important to keep communication open and less uncomfortable for the persons trying to communicate.

Communication can be improved with persons with almost any type of disability when a few simple rules are maintained. Here are five rules to remember for the normal aging person.

1. Do not pretend to understand what is said. This will only give a false sense of communicative competence.
2. A quiet environment can make communication easier.
3. Be patient and give the person plenty of time to respond.
4. If the person goes off on a tangent while speaking, bring them back to the topic on hand.
5. If a person shows some comprehension difficulties, use shorter sentences and a slower rate of speech.

Another communication barrier is hearing loss. These six rules will make a difference.

1. Early detection can be accomplished through routine annual screenings.
2. Get the person's attention by calling them by their name, by touching them, and/or making eye contact prior to speaking.
3. It helps to speak at eye level to help facilitate speech reading.
4. Speak in a moderately loud voice, in a normal rate and tone.
5. Check hearing aid batteries regularly.
6. Communicate in a quiet and well-lighted environment free from distraction.

Practiced, these aids will serve both parties to the conversation, and help maintain a normal, frustration-free conversational relationship with our elderly loved ones.

VADA BELLOWS and her daughter together enjoy a special visit by a 4-H clown.

Those visits are truly appreciated

By JUNE SQUIRES

Many of you don't see me, but I've watched you come and go as you visit your loved ones during the holiday season.

You wear many faces: the little children with the glow of anticipation on their rosy cheeks, husbands, wives and friends remembering Christmas Past — a little saddened by circumstances that have required their presence at the nursing home but still enjoying the moment because the family is together.

It's refreshing to see so many visitors during the holidays, but for many of the residents the holidays are the only time they have a visit from friends or relatives.

During the new year, why not plan to visit often? Your visits can include one of the many activities: picnics, fishing trips, Tiger baseball game, programs featuring the residents, one-on-one activities, or just stop by to say hello.

The warmth and love of family, friends and community is very important to the well-being of our residents and is deeply appreciated by residents and staff.

Pirates keep perfect record alive in 77-70 cage triumph

By RHONDA WESTFALL
Sports Editor

The Pewamo-Westphalia boys basketball team was the only area team in action last week — and the only team in the area with a perfect winning record.

The Pirates handed Perry's Ramblers a 77-70 loss in the non-league game played on P-W's home court, upping their overall record to 6-0 on the year.

Although the final tally ended up in the favor of Coach Ron Kramer's team, the Pirates trailed from the opening basket through the first minutes of the second quarter before finally hitting their rhythm.

When they did, tying the game at 16-16 at the 6:35 mark of the second period, there was no stopping them for the remainder of the game.

"I was pleased with the quarter," Coach Kramer said. "We shot well for most of the game and rebounded fairly well. Perry is a good team."

The tie was followed by six, quick points for Pewamo-Westphalia, with Dane Hengesbach picking up two baskets and Glen Stump putting in the last off a steal to make the score 22-18 in the Pirates' favor and force a time-out call by Perry.

The Pirates continued their scoring barrage throughout the balance of the quarter, keyed by Glen Stump and Jeff Smith. The duo combined for 16 of Pewamo-Westphalia's total 28 points in the period, with the hot-handed Pirates connecting on 12 of 15 shots from the field during the quarter.

A shot by Smith with just :02 showing on the clock before the end of the first half gave the Pirates a 40-29 lead going into the lockerroom.

Pewamo-Westphalia was never behind for the balance of the game, outscoring the Ramblers in the third period which ended in a 59-44 score. Although the Pirates did allow Perry to close in the final period, they held on to the lead and earned the win.

"We let down late in the game," Kramer said. "We did not maintain our intensity."

The Pirates shot 53 percent from the field on the night and made good on 21-33 attempts from the charity stripe.

Jeff Smith paced Pewamo-Westphalia's attack with 20 points and five rebounds. Dave Stump had 14 points, Glen Stump added 11 points and dished off eight assists. Dave Spitzley was good for 10 points, Dane Hengesbach had 8 points, Dave Hengesbach had 6 points, and Pat Smith had 5 points.

Coach Kramer's team takes to the road this week (Jan. 6) for a non-conference game at Bath before resuming their CMAC schedule on Friday at Portland St. Patrick.

The Pirate junior varsity added another win to their perfect 6-0 record, defeating Perry 72-39.

Sealions swim

St. Johns Sea Lions begin their 1986-87 season with a total of 124 young members. Head coach of the youth swim program again this year is Fred Meyer, assisted by Mrs. Jan Newhall. Helping out on a part-time basis are Sid Lounds, Al Nelson, and several members of the St. Johns High School girls swim team.

The age breakdown for this year's program is: age 8 and under girls — 11; age 8 and under boys — 14; age 9 and 10 girls — 26; age 9 and 10 boys — 21; age 11 and 12 girls — 27; age 11 and 12 boys — 10; age 13 and 14 girls — 6; age 13 and 14 boys — 9; age 15-17 girls — 4.

Competing in the Michigan Team Swim League again this season, the Sealions have dual meets scheduled with teams from Flint, Saginaw, Oscoda, Ann Arbor, Chesaning and Mt. Pleasant.

Golden Gloves set for Lansing

The 41st annual Lansing District Golden Gloves Tournament, sponsored by the Capitol Caravan Shrine Club, begins on Jan. 21 at the Lansing Civic Center. Boxers from the St. Johns Club under the guidance of Chuck DeSander will take part in the event.

The tournament will be limited to three nights this year, continuing on Feb. 4 and 11 after opening night action. The three-night format is being used this year to provide more bouts per night and better entertainment for the public through more interesting fights, according to Ed Purchis, general chairman of the tournament.

All seats are reserved at $4, $5, and $6 with tickets on sale at the Civic Center box office from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays and Saturdays.

Lansing tournament champions will go on to Grand Rapids on March 13 for the State Golden Gloves finals. Champions crowned there will be eligible for the National Championship finals in Knoxville, Tenn., the week of April 12.

Spikers ready for action this week

By RHONDA WESTFALL
Sports Editor

Area girls volleyball teams begin their 1987 seasons this week with non-league games scheduled for Mid-Michigan B teams, St. Johns and Ovid-Elsie, and Central Michigan Athletic Conference teams beginning their league schedules.

Following are brief previews of Redwing and Marauder teams with spots on CMAC teams from Fowler, Fulton and Pewamo-Westphalia included in next week's season opening reports.

St. Johns

Redwing Coach Bernie Fox has high hopes for this year's Varsity volleyball team with four members back from last season's County Tournament Championship team.

Returning are seniors Janice Rademacher, Debbie Bensinger and Shelly Langlois and junior Kerry Porter. Rademacher, an all-around player, will captain the 1987 Redwings, while Bensinger and Porter will see duty as hitters.

Juniors who were moved up to the Varsity during the 1986 season are: Gina Schneider, hitter; Angie Pung, setter; Lisa Ebert, setter; and Karin Tetens.

The balance of the 11-member squad includes juniors Jill Moore and Mindy Martinez, and junior transfer student from Dexter, Kelly Daley.

"She (Daley) played volleyball on her high school team in Dexter and should be a fine back-row player for us," said Coach Fox. "We will miss both Brenda Eiseler and Mary Murphy from last year's team. It will be hard to find anybody with the quickness and agility of Murphy, and Brenda's intimidation at the net."

"We do have people that can find the court and will have good movement in the back row."

The MMB league looks to be more evenly matched this year, according to Fox, with a number of schools competing for the top spot.

"Ovid-Elsie is traditionally strong, and Chesaning will give us all we can handle," Coach Fox said. "Corunna and Ionia both could be tough this year as well."

St. Johns opens their season with a triangular meet on Jan. 7 versus Belding and Forest Hills Central. The match will be played at Belding beginning at 6 p.m.

Ovid-Elsie

The Ovid-Elsie Marauders, under the direction of Coach Doug Long, will return seven members from last year's team, four of whom saw action as starters.

Back in 1987 are seniors Sheila Platner, Jamie Jones, Jami Martin, and Courtney Schneider. All were starters on the 1986 Class B district championship team and should lend experience and know-how to Coach Long's team this season. Platner and Schneider are hitters, Jones is a setter, and Martin will see double-duty as a hitter and setter.

Also returning from last year's Varsity is senior hitter Julie Kioski and juniors Carrie Darling and Bonnie Patrick. Darling is a hitter, while Patrick can either hit or set.

"We will probably have to get into the year a little before we will know how well we will do," Coach Long said. "We don't have a hard hitter like Shelby (Terpstra) back this year, but defensively we should be okay."

Other members of the 12-person squad include: senior, Amy Thornburg, and juniors, Sue Zalecki, Ginny Woodbury, Denise Thering, and Kristen Gibbons.

Coach Long concurs with St. Johns Coach Bernie Fox's estimation of an MMB league that will see more evenly matched teams.

"Any number of schools could be in the running for the league title," Long said. "St. Johns has quite a number of players back, and Corunna could surprise a lot of people this year."

Ovid-Elsie's junior varsity team got their season off to a good start by taking the championship trophy in a 28-team invitational held in Saginaw. The J.V.'s are coached by Jeff and Brenda Hettinger.

"It was a good way for them to begin their season," Coach Long said.

The Marauders opened their schedule with a home game versus Durand last night (Jan. 5). They play a non-league game at Pewamo-Westphalia on Jan. 7 and will be at Frankenmuth on Jan. 9.

"It's in the Bag"
by Bob Beck

The carrot is actually very versatile, a 24-carat vegetable useable in a wide variety of dishes. It can be served for any course from soup through dessert. It's amazing to consider today, but in ancient Greece and Rome, carrots were known, and made use of, but not as food. Instead, physicians prescribed them as medicine.

The carrot is one of those vegetables we take for granted now, and is widely used the world over. It makes a fine first-course or main-course soup, is indispensable as an ingredient in virtually any stew, is a wonderful side dish with about everything and can be the foundation of a splendid relish or salad.

In recent years the carrot has achieved new heights of popularity in the revitalized carrot cake, which, incidentally, originated long before the interest in "natural" foods.

The most prestigious among carrots may well be the mini-sweet, tiny-sweet or finger-carrot. This tiny bit of 24-carat gold is the sweetest of all carrot varieties. Mini-sweets are a direct descendant of the Belgian variety formerly available only as a canned import.

Carrots are another of those always-available, well-priced vegetables that are loaded with the things that are good for you. You know, Beck's and carrots have a lot in common.
