Notes Open house

ST. JOHNS The public is invited to join the staff of St. Johns schools at an open house for Superintendent of Schools Earl Gabriel, who has taken a new position with the Michigan Association of School Boards.

The open house will be held Sunday, March 29, from 4 to 6 p.m., at the St. Johns High School cafeteria.

Capitol performance

LANSING State champion St. Johns theatre students will perform their award-winning production of "Story Theatre" at the state Capitol Building on March 19.

Director Robert Koger announced that Rep. Gary Randall is expected to present the students with a resolution of tribute for the Redwing theatre champions.

The event will take place Thursday, March 19, at noon, at the rotunda of the Capitol Building.

Peace Links

LANSING The Rev. Mark Graham, Elsie Dove and Nola Lambert represented St. Johns at a United Methodist Women's legislative day at which they were asked "to put peace at the top of their agendas."

Betty Bumpers, founder of Peace Links, an organization aimed at increasing the number of people who have made a commitment against nuclear war, told the 250 people in attendance, "With our silence we have let our country come to the brink of nuclear confrontation..."

"Now we simply must insist that new ways be found to settle conflict. I am convinced that if we put as much time, energy and effort into finding peaceful solutions as we do into weapons of destruction, there is no question that would be on a new, safer course."

Also at the event, held at the Lansing First United Methodist Church, there was a panel presentation on Michigan education issues and workshops on a range of social issues.

Clinton to close

ST. JOHNS The Clinton Theatre will close April 2 after 51 years of showing movies in downtown St. Johns.

"It is sad," says owner Bill Clark. "It's a terrible thing but a one-screen theatre in the industry these days is a dinosaur."

Clark purchased the Cinema III theatre in the Southpoint Mall and will hold a grand re-opening of that theatre on April 3.

Clark is the third owner of Cinema III in the last two and a half years. He anticipates running the theatre profitably, however.

"I know I can," he says. The biggest advantage he will have over previous owners is that he will not, as he says, have to compete with the Clinton Theatre.

Clark says he will also lower ticket prices at the Cinema III from $3.00 to $2.50.

He will continue a video cassette business but will reduce the daily rental fee from $2.50 to $2.00, he adds.

What will happen to the Clinton Theatre? That remains to be seen, says Clark, who with his wife, Jean, in 1985 refurbished the theatre to look much as it did when it was built in 1935.

One thing is certain, says Clark — "It will no longer be a theatre after 51 long years."

Fleeing car strikes county policeman

Two juveniles are lodged in the Clinton County Jail following a chase early Monday morning in which one of them allegedly struck a Clinton County Sheriff's Deputy with a stolen car.

Deputy Michael Lynch was treated for minor injuries at Clinton Memorial Hospital and released. Sheriff Deputy Randy Burns gave this account of the chase:

Two white males, age 17 and 18, of Shiawassee County, each stole a vehicle in Owosso. They were spotted at about 1:10 a.m. in St. Johns after failing to pay for gasoline they had obtained from two gas stations. They were chased by one St. Johns Police car and one Sheriff's Department car.

At one point the officers had the two juveniles boxed in. Deputy Lynch got out of his car to apprehend one of the juveniles but the juvenile started his car in motion in an attempt to flee, striking Lynch and throwing him onto the hood of the car.

The deputy fired three shots at the fleeing car, hitting it at least once.

One suspect was apprehended at Jason and DeWitt roads and the other at Krepps and Townsend roads. One of the cars reportedly rolled over in the chase.

Burns said the two juveniles are lodged in Clinton County Jail pending investigation and the issuance of warrants against them.

Police did not release the names of the juveniles.

Two from district seek top school job

The St. Johns Board of Education will interview candidates for the position of Superintendent of Schools on Friday night (March 20).

The meeting, at 7 p.m. in the library of Rodney B. Wilson Middle School, is open to the public.

Two assistant superintendents, Gordon Vandermark and Steve Bakita, have applied for the position, said Board of Education trustee Neil Barnhart.

Supt. Earl Gabriel, whose resignation from the $50,000-yearly post is effective March 30, will become the assistant executive director of the Michigan Association of School Boards.

IN OTHER St. Johns school news: The school board and the bus drivers union have tentatively ratified a contract pending an agreement between bargainners for each side on the interpretation of certain language in the contract.

Bargainers are scheduled to meet this week to work out an agreement, said Bruce Irish, president of the St. Johns School Bus Drivers Association.

Irish said he will not sign the contract unless the two sides come to an agreement on several definitions.

School board members last week set aside bids for insurance coverage for the school district and asked the bidders to make presentations to the board on their packages at a meeting in April.

Several local insurance agents, a Lansing company and the Michigan Association of School Boards, have submitted bids for insurance coverage. Trustee Neil Barnhart said he has questions about the MASH package, adding that the MASH insurance is a "pool" that is not regulated in the same way as regular insurance companies.

Injured woman 'critical'

A St. Johns woman remained in critical condition on Sunday with injuries she sustained in a Wednesday evening traffic accident.

Linda Jean Doty, 26, of 1013 Church St., was seriously injured at 10:30 p.m. March 11 when the car she was driving traveled through a stop sign at Price Road and struck an empty tanker truck on US-27.

She was taken to Sparrow Hospital in Lansing where a hospital spokeswoman said she is in critical condition on Sunday evening.

The driver of the truck, Harold R. Peterson, 51, of Alma, was not injured in the accident.

Want land cheap? The DNR has a deal for you

By BONNIE POWELL
Staff Writer

If you attend a Department of Natural Resources auction during the next few weeks you might be able to make a great deal on a piece of property.

There will be 74 properties in Clinton County, varying from vacant properties to some with structures and housing, sold by the DNR at auction March 19.

The area properties are among some 2,000 lots being offered for sale, due to non-payment of taxes, at public auctions across Michigan. Auctions begin at 10 a.m. in the Clinton County Courthouse.

Property Specialist Gary Hartsuff says land can go for as little as $10 or as much as $2,000 (minimum bid) for the properties. "We take a long look at the property and try to set a minimum," says Hartsuff. "But even though we know it may be worth $10,000, we might put a minimum of $2,000."

BY THE time the properties get to the DNR, they are already nearly five years in arrears on their taxes and are simply sold to the highest bidder to get them back on the tax rolls, according to Hartsuff.

"It's unbelievable. People come up with anything and everything (excuses for why they don't pay their taxes)," says Hartsuff. "I haven't got all the answers."

"Some are in financial trouble," he says, but buyers of auction property will tell him they "offered someone $10,000 for a property five years ago, then bought it for $3,000 from the DNR at auction."

IN CLINTON County the townships of Watertown, Ovid, Duplain, DeWitt, Eagle, Victor and Bath have property for sale. A property in the city of St. Johns has a minimum bid of $200.

ERIN GO BRAUGH — Circuit Court Judge Timothy Green explains why he is captivated by his Irish heritage: "It's all in your taste," said the old lady as she kissed the cow.

Ireland is green and...

Green is for Ireland!

By RICH WERTZ
Editor

"You've got the right guy for Irish. He's still got Irish dirt underneath his fingernails." — Joe Yurick, bailiff for the Circuit Court in St. Johns, to a reporter looking for a St. Patrick's Day story.

A leprechaun smokes a pipe in the corner and gazes bright-eyed toward the center of the room. The walls are graced with Irish flags, scenes of Ireland, gnarled shillelaghs. There are Irish magazines, Irish newspapers, and green paper shamrocks.

This is the office of Circuit Court Judge Timothy Green, who has a certain enthusiasm for things Irish.

"It's all in your taste," said the old lady as she kissed the cow," says Judge Green.

In the judge's case it is also in the family tree. Both his paternal and maternal grandparents were Irish — "So I's a hundred and ten percent," he says.

His paternal grandparents came from Tipperary and Limerick, adjoining counties in Ireland "famous in song and limerick, where the River Shannon flows." Judge Green remembers a painting in his grandmother's home during his childhood — a view down a river past a bridge to a castle. Once, when visiting Tipperary and Limerick, he unexpectedly saw the scene in person.

"I looked down the River Shannon and there was the scene from the painting," he says. "It was King John's Castle."

That was not his only visit to Ireland. Judge Green and his wife, Elma, have visited Ireland every year but three since 1963. They stay in a friend's house in the County Galway overlooking the ocean on the west coast of Ireland. "You look straight across — 3,200 miles is Boston," says Judge Green.

THE JUDGE has of course kissed the Blarney Stone. Kissing the stone embedded in the parapet of a castle in the County Cork, the Irish believe, bestows upon one the gift of eloquence.

"That came about when Queen Mary — when was it? Oh hell, the middle of the 16th Century — wanted the Earl of Cork to do certain things," says Judge Green. "And he gave her a song and dance and she said, 'Oh, that's so much blarney.'"

Asked about the mythological Irish love of drink, the judge says he shares the traditional Irish appreciation "for the finer things in life."

"An Irishman is never drunk," says the judge, "so long as he can (Continued on page 3A)

How can anyone feel good about stealing?

To the Editor:

It was last Monday night, March 9, that we were at the St. Johns High School swimming pool with our Cub Scout boys. When we got out of the pool and were getting ready to leave the school we noticed that we both had money taken out of our purses.

We reported this to the person in the swimming pool area and were told there was nothing they could do, that we should have either locked our purses up (which you have to furnish your own lock to do) or have taken our purses into the pool area with us and watched them.

Well, we learned our lesson but what about the persons who took (stole) our money? The money isn't the biggest concern we have. Our concern is why are kids doing these things and at such a young age? Don't they realize what this type of behavior will lead them into?

Both of us love kids and would like to see kids enjoy life and become respectable individuals in the future along with good, positive self-esteem. How can anyone really feel good about themselves when they have to steal from others? Sad!

Why are they doing this at such a young age? Are we (parents) not teaching them or are kids getting so much and getting away with so much that they just take what they want? We had good families and good upbringing and are thankful for it because it helped us avoid this situations.

Kids — is it really worth it to put yourself through the guilt or are you past that? It may lead you to bigger crimes, then jail. We care about you and would hope that you will read this and think twice about what you did. Be nice to yourself, earn your money and it will mean a lot more to you in life.

Everyone else — make sure you don't take money into the lockers with you.

Dig into pockets to help Clinton Memorial

To the Editor:

Let's get together as a caring community and save our hospital. We have had six children born at Clinton Memorial Hospital. I couldn't have asked for better care than I had. That goes for the complete hospital staff that had anything at all to do with my stay.

That goes for all the care our family had the many times we had returned to Clinton Memorial for major and minor surgeries and other ailments for many years. We were taken care of as though they cared.

We know we have a good hospital — let's fight to keep it.

This means we have to help support it now by digging deep into our pockets and donating whatever we can. Remember no matter how small or big a donation, it all adds up to our own interests. We will benefit. Please help. We know our community does care.

Thoughts on the DeWitt recall election

To the Editor:

The comment written by Joyce Whitlock regarding the recall of our township trustees is false. During my encounter with the board of trustees over having the ordinance changed so I could keep operating my beauty shop in our apartment complex, they were all very helpful and understanding, especially Bruce Angell. Our township needs more officials and trustees like Mr. Angell who cares for the community and the people — to make our township grow. I would like to see a person as Mr. Angell take over the supervisor's position.

Joyce Whitlock states she's not taking out revenge — well I think she's mad because her son is one of the officials being recalled (Gred Whitlock). With my encounters with him he doesn't do his job. Mr. Whitlock ran unopposed for the clerk job. If he had someone running against him, I don't believe he would have gotten the position. He's too much of a yes man. As to the other officials, Mrs. Reed is a fine person, very helpful and does her job well. I would love to be able to give myself a $22,000 a year raise — how about it Mr. Mann!

Again, I would like to congratulate our board of trustee's for doing a good job.

I have been a DeWitt Township resident for 31 years.

Mom's flu is occasion for kitchen warfare

To the Editor:

At this moment there are three days worth of dirty and semi-dirty clothes scattered around the living room. There are bowls with soggy cereal lining the kitchen counter tops, empty milk cartons in the refrigerator, toothpaste and other unidentified substances "growing" in the bathroom sink, and even a head of cabbage on the TV.

Mommy's been in bed with the flu.

You usually start out brave when you feel the first twinges of nausea. Your head is pounding and you support yourself on the stove as you cook breakfast for the troops. (This is known as the "martyr stage.") The flu is always a good time to prey on one's family's guilt but usually no one notices anyway.)

Finally you can't make it anymore. You feel as though you could die, or worse yet, that you might live. You crawl into your bedroom, shut the door, and utter those immortal last words, "Be quiet so Mommy can rest."

Now we all know that this is a signal to your children to stage open warfare on the kitchen. Every dish, spoon, pot, pan, and anything edible including celery leaves, will be fair game.

It doesn't take long. You lay in bed and hear the rattling of dishes and the banging of cupboard doors. But you're too sick to move. On the other hand, crashes followed by, "Now you did it!" will get you to emerge from hiding or at least bang on the wall for quiet.

It is an unwise mother who allows herself to get sick on Friday night because she must spend the next 48 hours of her 48-hour flu with children home from school. In such cases suicide is an interesting alternative.

With any luck you will be so sick that you won't hear the banging, crashing, and screaming, the radio or TV, or even the water that has been running in the bathroom for the last three hours.

Yes, but this too shall pass. Monday morning finally comes. The sun's rays that broke through your bedroom window also shines on the piles of clothes, crusty dishes and half-eaten sandwiches — and of course the head of cabbage on the TV.

Don't even try it. Crawl back in bed and pull the covers over your head. Tomorrow is another day.

Dillingham Comments

Michigan farming

By Fred Dillingham

Farming conjures up quaint images of the past but today agriculture is big business and a big part of Michigan's future. Because of agriculture's importance, the Senate created an agricultural credit task force last October to study problems confronting Michigan farmers and offer long-term solutions. After many long hours and much hard work, the task force presented its report.

The 12-member panel targeted three key actions the state should take, starting with investing more money in research and education. The report suggests state dollars should be invested in the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station and the Michigan Cooperation Extension Service's "Enriching Michigan's Future" program. Supporting research and education has paid big dividends in the past for Michigan's farmers.

A second major recommendation is that Michigan develop an environmental policy which ensures safety without jeopardizing agricultural production. Since environmental regulations often impact heavily on farmers, I believe that agricultural officials should be involved in any such discussions.

Furthermore, the state should also do more to promote agribusiness and expansion. Agriculture and food represent our second largest industry in the state, producing $2.6 billion in sales, with $1 billion being shipped out of state. Michigan has a huge potential for agricultural expansion, but we must begin working now to capitalize on that potential by encouraging the attraction, retention and development of agriculture and agribusiness.

Because of dramatic drops in the value of rural property values, many communities are struggling with a drastically reduced tax base, which may affect many local services, including schools. The task force recommends as I do, monitoring local funding in rural communities, and suggests the state support retaining programs in those areas for displaced farmers. They also favor increased managerial support for farmers in trouble.

I along with my senate colleagues are committed to seriously considering new, progressive and innovative programs to help our second largest industry thrive and grow. We all agree on one thing: Michigan has tremendous potential. To achieve that potential, we must set an agenda based on a vision of the future — a future with Michigan at the forefront of agricultural development.

SJ drain clean up contract arranged

The Federal-Mogul plant in St. Johns has contracted with a company to clean up sediments that apparently made their way from the plant into the St. Johns drain, said Plant Manager Robert Claycomb last week.

O.H. Materials, Inc., of Findlay, Ohio, will remove sediments from a one-mile stretch of the drain, that runs from US-27 into the Hayworth Creek. The drain is fed by pipes beneath the city.

Studies conducted by environmental consultants revealed that non-hazardous levels of metals — including lead, zinc, copper and nickel — were found in soils along the drainage bed.

The metals apparently made their way into the drain by way of water discharged from the Federal-Mogul plant, according to the Department of Natural Resources. The contract with O. H. Materials is the final phase of a cleanup agreement between the DNR and Federal-Mogul.

All the work will be confined to the right of way and property owned by the City of St. Johns. O. H. Material anticipates starting the project this month and completing it in April.

Claycomb said O. H. Materials is a nationally recognized expert in cleanup work and that he expects the project to go smoothly.

Federal-Mogul, with headquarters in Southfield, produces a range of products for the transportation, farm equipment, construction and aerospace industries.

Soup for RAVE

HOT SOUP FOR A GOOD CAUSE — Kroger Assistant Head Cashier Marlene White hands Co-Manager Ross Barber the first cup of Clinton County bean soup offered to Kroger shoppers last Saturday. The soup was free but donations to Relief After Violent Encounter were taken. Valley Marketing and Countrymark of St. Johns donated the beans and Kroger donated the rest of the ingredients for the soup.

The DNR has property deals for you

Sale books describing properties are available from the DNR or the county courthouse.

The lengthy process undertaken before a property is sold at auction gives the owner ample time to pay their taxes, says Hartsuff. "People don't realize it's such a long process."

First the county treasurer has the property up for tax sale. If taxes still aren't paid, the property is deeded to the state. Owners are notified they have a certain amount of time to pay the taxes.

"If they don't pay, we can retain it for state use or it can be deeded back to the city or local government," says Hartsuff. "Properties reviewed and not needed by the state or local government are put up for auction to the highest bidder."

What's the catch? According to Hartsuff, there is none. All taxes owed on the property are cancelled.

If there are assessments to be paid, the buyer is aware of that up front.

"Rule number one is to visit the property and make sure it's usable," says Hartsuff. Not all of the land will be buildable. "You could get a pig in the poke!"

The state retains mineral rights, rights of ingress and egress to watercourses, and any archaeological findings on the lands. And you, of course, have to start paying the taxes!

TITLE insurance companies, however, say there is a catch. Nearly all of them refuse to issue title insurance on the properties. Without title insurance, you can't get a mortgage.

Deeds issued by the state used to be as "good as gold" but a court case in 1974 apparently upset the apple cart. A property was sold in just such an auction and an heir who claimed he was promised the property by the previous owner, was given the property over someone who purchased it at a land auction. This made the insurance companies nervous.

Nervous enough to refuse title insurance. For many who hope to buy the land at a tax sale, that could render the property pretty worthless.

William Shaw, branch manager at Lawyer's Title says they will give title insurance in some cases, if the buyer can get a clear deed from the people who lost the property.

The buyer won't know that though until he actually buys the property from the state.

Stewart Title and Trans America won't issue title insurance under any circumstances. Ron Wescott of Trans America says the DNR won't even give a warranty deed on the tax sale properties.

In the previous court case, it was ruled that if one past owner or heir is not notified about the sale, the tax sale could be overturned, says Wescott.

Gary Hartsuff says the DNR follows the law and notifies everyone, but Wescott says, if the DNR is sure everyone is notified, "why don't they give the warranty deed?"

Hartsuff says they tell buyers to be aware, they have had some properties come back several times. People buy them, can't use them, or can't get title insurance, even though everything is done legally. The risk is up to the buyer.

19 SJHS Band Members will tour China

Over 200 students representing 92 different Michigan School districts converged on St. Johns High School over the weekend of January 9th and 10th. At stake were 181 positions on the 1987 Michigan Lions All-State Band and a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to accompany that group on a summer tour that will include Hong Kong, Canton, Taipei, and two ports of call in Hawaii.

For the students involved in the two-day audition procedure used to select the best musicians available, the preparation for the tryouts began some time ago. Applications by each student were due at the Lions state headquarters on December 30, 1986. Most of the bandmen, with assistance from their local directors, then selected an audition piece for those tryouts and began to practice in earnest.

St. Johns High School students who will contribute their talents to this year's band will be:

Mike Bangs	Paula Pardike
Gina Becker	Christine Perez
Kristin Curtis	Claudia Perez
Steve Desprez	April Rohrbach
Krista Ely	William Scott
Mike Giesecke	Steven Sjoborg
John Kuenzli	Detl VanCamp
Michael Martindale	Sheryl Vitek
Marci Moore	Mary Wilsey
Patrick Niemi

The Lions and St. Johns Band Students are seeking additional ways to provide funding for this trip.

Capitol Federal launches new promotion to help raise funds for trip

Now through March 31st, 1987, Capitol Federal is giving $5.00 for every new Savings or Checking account opened to help raise money for 19 St. Johns High School band members "1987 China Tour".

That's right. And, anyone in the St. Johns community can help.

Capitol Federal's St. Johns branch employees say the promotion is a great idea. And it's easy!

Here's all you have to do: Stop in to the St. Johns office! Choose between a Savings account, which still pays 5 1/2% interest. Or, if you want the convenience of writing checks and earning interest, open a 5 1/2% interest bearing Checking account. Both accounts require a minimum deposit of $100.00 to be eligible for the promotion.*

"Our Passbook Savings still pays 5 1/2% interest so people can get a very good rate and help out the kids at the same time," states Ken Kralik, St. Johns Branch Manager.

Capitol Federal President Robert Clark says "We like to take part in worthy community causes. This is a brand new promotional idea for us, and we're optimistic that it will be successful in helping send the band members to China."

Hopefully, with your help we can help the dream become a reality for 19 St. Johns High School students.

Fewer appeal to Board of Review

The number of St. Johns property owners who appealed their property tax assessments decreased compared to last year, said City Assessor Diane Edwards.

This year 116 property owners appeared before the Board of Review to request changes in their assessments compared to about 150 last year, she said. The across-the-board increase of 4.4 percent on residential property was also smaller than the five percent increase last year, she said.

She said about two-thirds of those who came to the board of review will see adjustments in their assessments. Most of them were able to show that comparable properties had sold for less than the city assessed value on their own property, Edwards said.

Those who were unsuccessful can still appeal to the Michigan Tax Tribunal. Forms are available at the Treasury Building, 430 W. Allegan, Lansing.

Green is for Ireland, con't.

Do not mistake an Irish appreciation for "the finer things" for tolerance of those who abuse the privilege — "I look with disfavor upon those who operate a vehicle while under the influence," he says. "I have absolutely no sympathy."

Judge Green has another Irish credential — he is a graduate of Notre Dame University. On his wall hang photographs of himself and his son with Eamon DeValara, leader of the Irish rebellion against England in 1916 and president of the country from 1930 to 1971. The topic of conversation when the photograph of DeValara was taken, says Judge Green, was the Notre Dame football team.

And on a file cabinet there is a card that says on the cover, "There is something in this St. Patrick's Day card that's guaranteed to bring a warm glow to the heart of every true Irishman!"

Inside the card: "Notre Dame 52, Southern Methodist 0."

Conservation corner

Clean air

By Eileen Gillespie

about air
Eileen Gillespie is the district administrative assistant for the Clinton Soil Conservation District.

"We Care About Clean Air" is the theme of the 1987 National Wildlife Week, March 15-21. This 50th annual observation, sponsored by the National Wildlife Federation, focuses attention on how important clean air is to plants, wildlife and humans. Without it there would be no life at all. Clean air is a mixture of invisible and odorless gases, mostly nitrogen and oxygen, but with small amounts of water vapor, carbon dioxide, neon, helium and hydrogen.

On a clean day the supply of invisible air appears endless and without it, plants, wildlife and humans could live for only a few minutes. Each day a person breathes about 35 pounds of air, and in a lifetime will take some 625 million breaths which leaves no doubt that we need air, particularly clean air, and lots of it.

Unfortunately, no matter where in the United States you live, your lungs probably absorb dangerous pollutants along with life-giving air. Ninety percent of the air pollution starts with our cars, trucks, power plants and industrial manufacturing facilities.

For humans, some pollutants can decrease the amount of oxygen in the blood. Other pollutants may cause or worsen respiratory diseases or even cause death in the case of high concentrations. Air pollution also harms plants and wildlife as well.

In wildlife, as in humans, air pollution can harm lungs and central nervous systems. Although it is difficult to pinpoint the damage to terrestrial wildlife, air pollution harm to aquatic wildlife has been well documented. Plants, too, are victims of dirty air. Air pollution can stunt plant growth, reducing the food supply for both people and wildlife.

At the top of the list of the poisons that go into our air are a half-dozen that might be called "The Big Bad Six" which include carbon monoxide, sulfur dioxide, nitrogen oxides, lead, particulates and ozone.

Another problem caused by air pollution is acid rain. Coal-burning power plants, factories and cars give off smoke that contains chemicals. These are carried by the wind into the atmosphere where they mix with water vapor in the air to form acids. The acids fall to earth as rain, snow, sleet, mist and fog. The acid rain will not burn you as each drop has only a tiny bit of acid in it.

People and governments have been concerned about clean air for a long time. Fortunately, there are ways that can help to reduce the pollutants in our air. Setting air quality standards, applying techniques for cleaning air in industrial facilities and conserving energy are three very important ways.

Some other ways to aid in the reduction of pollution include walking instead of driving, using public transportation when possible, reducing the amount of electricity used, avoid burning of trash and leaves, buying products in returnable or non-plastic containers and reusing and recycling whatever you can.

Because of the pollution and acid rain created by our modern technology, we must continue to care

For Reading Month

Students make placemat winners

For the fourth consecutive year, Clinton County students participated in a contest to design placemats used by four McDonald's restaurants in the area. Winners are chosen from each of the local districts in Clinton County. McDonald's then has the winning designs printed onto placemats that are used throughout the month at the McDonald's restaurants in St. Johns, Alma, Portland, and Owosso. All four restaurants are owned by Charles McCann, a long-time supporter of the project.

The students whose placemats were chosen this year are: Tammy Branstetter, DeWitt; Chad Feldpausch, Fowler; Dale Mulder, Ovid-Elsie; Lisa Thelen, Pewamo-Westphalia; and Jessica Wierman, St. Johns. Those students met and talked with Sen. Fred Dillingham at the St. Johns McDonald's last week. McDonald's provided the students and their families with a free supper and gave each student an athletic bag. Coordination of the project is a joint effort between Marianne Graham, office manager of McDonald's, and Jenny McCampbell, coordinator of gifted and talented programs at the Clinton County Intermediate School District.

The Trommaters have performed at many area functions including the St. Johns Mint Festival, Clinton County Arts Council Folk Art Festival, and other area benefit programs. They will be a featured group of the Flint Folk Art Festival this summer.

Both Donohoe and the Trommaters compose much of their own music, ranging from soft ballads to hand-clapping, toe-tapping renditions. Tickets for the concert are $3 for adults, $2 for students, or $10 for a family. Tickets will be available at the door on the night of the performance or can be obtained at the Gallery and Gift Shop, US-27 and N. Clinton Ave. in St. Johns. An art exhibit by students of Judy McEnaney will also be on display in the auditorium lobby.

judges with Sharick's photo receiving the highest score of all pictures submitted in the competition. Fitch's portraits of Denise Egres and Bryan Weller were honored as red ribbon photographs, and a folio set of eight proofs of Egres also received a red ribbon.

Sharick, Martindale and Egres are students at St. Johns High School, and Weller is a student at Ovid-Elsie High School.

Challenge motivates new chairman of County Democrats

By RICH WERTZ
Editor

Jim Sjoberg, the new chairman of the Clinton County Democratic Party, is perhaps better known as one of the leaders of the movement that last year ousted six St. Johns school board members.

That was only one of the changes he has helped instigate.

By profession, he works to increase the quality of worklife and the level of worker involvement at General Motors in Lansing. He and a management representative — both of whom are paid by GM — work together on the project that began about five years ago.

"I was part of the crew that originally stated that process in Lansing," he recalls.

WORKER involvement in workplace decisions. A new school board. New faces in county political scene. Jim Sjoberg's political philosophy, to use a basketball analogy, might be described as "opening up the inside game."

The Democrats, he says, are the party of "the common folk — middle income and below."

"To me the Republicans have always been for the rich, the extremely rich and the powerful — although, that's changing. I see more independents than anything else these days."

He concedes that county Democrats have a tough road to travel. "The bottom line..." he says, "...we're still in the center of a conservative, Republican area." But Sjoberg says it is precisely that toughness of the road that keeps him interested.

"That's what motivates me — it's the challenge," he says. "If everything is running very smoothly, I suppose, I wouldn't want to be involved."

Tactically, he is aggressive and not given to keeping quiet when he is riled. At a recent school board meeting

Jim Sjoberg

Sjoberg asked the board to adopt a resolution of tribute for a youth organization he is involved with. Trustee Thomas Irrer, whom Sjoberg helped recall from office a year ago, made a comment Sjoberg considered a vindictive and inappropriate allusion to the recall election. Whereupon Sjoberg responded by calling Irrer a "jerk."

It was a mistake, Sjoberg says, for which he later apologized to several board members — with the notable exception of Irrer.

"That sort of outburst is wrong and I was wrong for doing it," he says.

But, he says, Irrer's remark was a "cheap shot" and Sjoberg still believes the board did not pass the resolution because it was requested by Jim Sjoberg.

DESPITE the rocky scene described above, Sjoberg says, he thinks the recall was successful.

"I think a lot of good came out of the bad," he says.

The 40-year-old father of three children, all of whom graduated or will graduate from St. Johns schools, has been involved in a number of fine art and other school activities. Recently he served on a North Central Accreditation school district evaluation committee.

County Democratic agenda: candidates and membership

By RICH WERTZ
Editor

The Clinton County Democratic Party will get bigger and Democratic candidates will come forth to challenge the Republican grip on county political office if new party chairman Jim Sjoberg has his way.

"Our number one priority right now is to make the party grow, to make it more interesting," he says.

Sjoberg is the last to say that goal will be easily obtained. Right now, he says, the county Democratic newsletter goes to 350 homes.

"Realistically, if we can double that in a year it would be a challenge," he says. "Because the bottom line is that we're still in the center of a conservative, Republican area."

Still, he says, there are 5,000 people in the county who are identifiably "labor." Also, he says, farmers in the county may come around.

"They talk about farmers being die-hard Republicans," he says. "I see that changing."

SJOBERG concedes that during the last few years county Democrats have not been very visible on the political scene. In fact, seeing a Democratic candidate on a county ballot is a rarity.

"We hope to change that," he says. "I'd be foolish to say they'll win just because we put them in there."

He won't talk specific names but Sjoberg will say county Democrats intend to go after county offices in upcoming elections — the County Commission and County Prosecuting Attorney offices in particular.

The way he sees it, county offices are held by a closed circle of Republican leaders — and Sjoberg says he wants to open that circle up.

"There's a ton of good people in our community — if you'd only allow someone else to come in and get involved and not always have the same people," he says.

BESIDES PARTY growth and candidate recruitment, Sjoberg says, county Democrats will become more aggressive and involved in the statewide and 10th Congressional District Democratic organizations.

"Bill Schuette taught us a lesson," he says. "In total, he says the future looks challenging but bright."

"Next year will be the year of the Democrats," says Sjoberg. "Obviously."

"It's in the Bag" by Bob Beck

Consumers prefer resealable packages, which allow one to use only a portion and save the rest, according to a survey conducted by the Package Designers Council. The study, "Consumers' Perceptions of Food Packaging," was carried out in supermarkets, where shoppers were questioned about their preferences in packaging.

The study shows that among four packaging characteristics found to be of importance to consumers, three concern storage life. Those three are: storage life of unused portion, ease of resealability, and ability to store at home. The fourth factor is ease of recognizing contents by the package exterior.

Sixty percent of those polled said packaging influenced at least some of their purchase decisions.

The objective of the study was to provide guidance to the package design industry in order to improve food packaging relative to consumers expressed needs.

With smaller families and more singles living alone, consumers require smaller portions of food. And, since consumers expressed strong concerns about being able to reseal food packages, new packaging will feature ease of resealability.

Many food and packaging companies are working together to create better packaging. As new packages are introduced you'll be seeing them here at Beck's, along with the best food values. Now then, that wraps it up for today.

Saying no to peer pressure taught

Teenagers from Clinton, Gratiot and Montcalm counties will teach a program on "How to Say No" to peer pressure at area junior high schools in the coming months.

Wes Burk and Kimberly Morris of Ashley Community Schools, Julie Kioski and Lisa Meadows of Ovid-Elsie High School, Jamie Alexander, Wilberta Kreegen and Jodi Mall of Central Montcalm School, Dan Burns, Stephen Drake and Tanya Matchett of Greenville High School, Paulette Green and Roger Marble of Ithaca High School, Angela Paul and Benjamin Wardwell of Lakeview High School, and Trevor Villet of Montabella High School recently completed a training course to teach the program.

The message of "How to Say No" focuses on teaching teens how to say no to sexual involvement, and pressure from peers to drink, smoke, cheat, lie or take drugs. Grouped into teams of two, the peer educators will present programs at Breckenridge, DeWitt, Howard City, Ithaca, Lakeview, Pewamo-Westphalia and Vestaburg. The program was presented last year at Ashley, Bath, Elsie, Fowler, Ovid, P-W, and St. Louis.

"How to Say No" is coordinated and managed by Mid-Michigan District Health Department, funded by the Department of Social Services. For more information contact Mary Ann Morris, health educator and program coordinator at 831-5203, or county coordinators Judy Meiklejohn at 224-2195, Jennifer Law at 875-3681, or Deborah Frost at 831-5237.

DeWitt Township recall targets say they'll fight

By THOMAS O'TOOLE
Staff Writer

"We're gonna get out and fight it, of course." So says C. Frank Mann, Supervisor of DeWitt Township, in response to the Clinton County Election Commission's approval last Wednesday of the recall petitions filed against him and board members Gregory Whitlock, Alta C. Reed and Michael Verlinde.

Mann, Whitlock, Reed and Verlinde have adopted the strategy of fighting the recall effort as a group. They were represented at the hearing by DeWitt attorney Dan Skorich.

The recall petitions challenge a broad range of official conduct, chiefly the wisdom of the raises these officials extended to themselves in the 1987 budget and a charge that they are unresponsive to the needs of township citizens.

Approval of the petitions by the elections commission means only that the allegations contained in the petitions are clear enough to be fairly debated and defended. It is not a decision as to the truth or falsity of the petitions. All of the allegations in the petitions have been vehemently denied.

The Recall Committee of DeWitt Township, the group behind this particular set of recall petitions, will now have 90 days to gather enough signatures to place the issue on the ballot this summer. State law requires the signatures of 25 percent of the township residents voting for governor in the 1986 election. This is about 700 signatures, according to Pat Relyea, co-chair of the recall group.

THE ON-AGAIN, off-again recall effort against DeWitt Township trustees Bruce Angell II, Douglas Hammond and Charles Rademacher is back on track with the recent filing of a second set recall petitions against the three trustees. With this new filing, all township elected officials are once again subject to a recall drive.

Frederick Belbeck, a plumbing inspector for the township, filed the petitions last Friday, charging that Angell, Hammond and Rademacher are not carrying out their duties as trustees and that they unnecessarily interfere with the operation of the police department.

Belbeck refused to comment or elaborate on the substance of the petitions.

Clinton County Clerk Jane Swanchara has set a clarity hearing for these petitions on March 23, at 10:00 a.m. in St. Johns.

Findlay Manor news

By ROBERTA DIANDA-MOTZ

Today's nursing homes emphasize living. They are for convalescents of all ages who expect to fully recover, as well as those who need long-term care. When possible it is best to "shop" carefully (in advance) for a nursing home. Now is the time to prepare by visiting different homes, discovering how they operate and comparing costs. By devoting enough time to this job you will learn what nursing homes are all about.

Nursing homes provide different types of nursing care, skilled, intermediate, or basic, and residential care. It is important to know what type of care the nursing home is licensed for and also what type of care the future patient may require. The latter usually is determined by your doctor. All facilities in Michigan must meet minimal state regulations in order to operate. Nursing homes participating in medicare and/or medicaid programs must also meet federal requirements in order to be certified for participation in those programs. Licensing and certification inspections are then carried out by the Michigan Department of Public Health.

Both levels of nursing care deal with rehabilitative intervention and can include physical and occupational therapy and speech and/or hearing therapy. In addition, skilled nursing care may include IV's or tube feedings, sterile dressing changes, treatment of deep skin wounds or frequent suctioning procedures that must be performed by licensed nurses.

A basic patient requires assistance with activities of daily living along with periodic observation and assessment of nursing care needs. This patient may need positioning in bed, administration of medications, assistance or training in ambulation or transferring and help with meals, grooming and toileting. Even though a person may require total care, when this care can be provided by an aide under the supervision of a nurse, this patient will be considered "basic care."

It is important to remember that there is no difference in the quality of care necessary between "basic" and "skilled;" the difference is in the intensity of the care needed.

Residential care provides safe, clean, sheltered living to functionally independent individuals. Residents are provided dietary and housekeeping services, medical monitoring and social, recreational and spiritual activities. By relieving these individuals of the anxieties of old age and their disabilities, they are able to enjoy a fuller, more productive lifestyle.

To know what nursing homes are like you must visit several facilities and talk to various people about them. Not all homes are licensed for the same types of care. Most nursing homes with excellent ratings do have waiting lists, but do not let this stop you. Place that prospective patient on the list, be persistent, and call, call, call.

Happy birthday greetings to Helen Boylan on March 20, Charlie Good on March 21, and to Leona Robinson on March 23. Cards and letters are always appreciated here at the Manor.

Fowler students live out history

Fifth grade students at Most Holy Trinity School in Fowler brought history to life as part of their study of the birth of the United States.

Students began by writing reports on a famous person from the 1700-1900's. A summary of basic facts were taken from the reports and memorized. Next, each student prepared a costume similar to what their chosen character would have worn. A card with the character's name and date of birth and death was attached to the students' costumes along with a "button" for the "live" museum presentation.

Parents and friends were invited to the presentation held in the school hall on March 5. The famous persons were stationed around the room in various poses, and came to life when those in attendance pressed their button, sharing their life history.

When the presentation ended, the characters froze back into their original positions until their buttons were pressed again.

Refreshments were served. Karen Brown and her fifth grade students thank all those who attended the historical event.

Tornados!

By ROBERT J. FERRY
Clinton County
Emergency Services Coordinator

This is the first in a series of articles about tornados. It was prepared by Ferry in conjunction with Tornado Safety Week, March 22-28.

How tornados Are Formed

Except for weak tornados and waterspouts in coastal areas, tornados usually develop from strong thunderstorms. Seen as an appendage to a thunderstorm cloud, a tornado funnel is initially composed of nothing more than condensed water vapor and is itself a cloud. When the circulating wind in the funnel reaches the ground, it picks up dust and debris which eventually darkens the entire funnel.

Tornados are formed when layers of air meet with contrasting temperature, moisture, density, and wind flow. Many theories have been advanced as to the energy necessary to generate a tornado, but none has won general acceptance. The two most common theories see the creation of a tornado as either the effect of thermally induced rotary circulations or the effect of converging rotary winds.

Currently, scientists seem to agree that neither process generates tornados independently. More probably, tornados are produced by the combined effects of thermal and mechanical forces, with one or the other force being the stronger generating agent.

If there are questions to how tornados are formed and why they move the way they do, there is no question about the devastation these storms can cause. Tornados have the potential for tremendous destruction through the combined action of strong rotary winds, the impact of windborne objects, and the partial vacuum in the center of the vortex.

Tornado Destruction

Often a series of tornados is formed from the same thunderstorm, and there have been instances when a single thundercloud has spawned two or more funnels simultaneously. As the parent thunderstorm moves along, tornados may form, travel along the ground, and dissipate or lift, followed shortly by other tornado touchdowns, and so on.

On the average, tornado paths are only a quarter of a mile wide and seldom more than 15 miles long. Tornados usually move from the south, southwest, or west at about 30 miles per hour. It's the longer-lived tornados, usually moving at more than 40 miles per hour, that are responsible for most tornado-related deaths.

Every tornado is a potential killer and many are capable of great destruction. Tornados can topple buildings, roll mobile homes, uproot trees, hurl people and animals through the air for hundreds of yards, and fill the air with lethal, windborne debris. Sticks, glass roofing materials, lawn furniture all become deadly missiles when driven by a tornado's wind.

Next: When tornados occur and how to save lives.

FUN QUIZ — 4-H'ers participate in a 4-H Quiz at Rodney B. Wilson Middle School.

Are you a whiz? Try the 4-H Quiz

By HEATHER RISSELADA

4-H quiz bowl is a type of game. On Feb. 26, Theresa Silm gave an example of what a quiz bowl would be like.

She divided the members into two groups — two rabbit 4-H'ers and two goat 4-H'ers on each team. She asked questions about either goats or rabbits and whoever knew the answer pressed a button in front of them. She knew who pressed the button first because a light would flash on a rectangular object attached to the buttons.

If the answer was right, you got a point for your team. If the answer was wrong, your team lost a point.

All 4-H'ers interested in a quiz bowl can compete throughout the year.

Eagles on road to regionals with 56-35 district win

By RHONDA WESTFALL
Sports Editor

One year ago, they defeated Mt. Pleasant Sacred Heart 72-61 to capture the district trophy.

Last Saturday, Fowler earned Class D district title 56-35 when they soundly thumped the Shamrocks 56-35 in the championship game at Piggott Gym in Fowler.

Certainly, Eagle fans were happy and pleased with their teams' win — but were they overly excited. Not really.

Winning basketball districts is something that Fowler teams are just "supposed" to do. Sort of like breathing, sleeping, eating — just a natural act.

Now, should Coach Dennis Smith's team win their regional game tonight versus Port Hope and go on to win the championship game on Friday facing either Flint Holy Rosary or Kingston — then, there might be some genuine excitement in the air.

"I guess the fans kind of expect us to win," Smith said matter-of-factly.

Having already been to the Silverdome last November, Eagle fans are anxious to make the trip to Millington High School tonight, and who knows, maybe even to Crisler Arena in two weeks?

THE FIRST STEP toward that trip came when Fowler defeated Ashley in their opening district game last Tuesday 67-50. Never trailing in the contest, senior guard Jim Andros paced the Eagles with 18 points, 6 assists and 5 steals. Kurt Simon added 13 points to Fowler's totals and had 7 rebounds, while Matt Hufnagel had 10 points and Rex Thelen had 8 points.

The win advanced Fowler into a Thursday night game with Mt. Pleasant Beal City, which the Eagles ended up winning 64-47.

The fast-paced game saw the Eagles ahead 10-5 with

:45 left in the first period, only to have Beal City close the gap to 10-9 with two quick baskets at the close of the quarter.

The Mt. Pleasant team took a 15-14 lead over Fowler mid-way through the second stanza, when Kurt Simon took command picking up a foul and a basket on a drive in the lane. Missing his shot from the line, Simon got the rebound and put the ball in to put the Eagles ahead 18-15.

Fowler closed the half out on top 26-19 on a pretty shot by Hufnagel with :02 left on the clock.

Third-quarter action saw the Eagles gradually pull away from Beal City, controlling the game on both ends of the floor. Ahead 41-27 at the beginning of the fourth quarter, Fowler put the game completely out of reach early in the period scoring points off from fast breaks, steals, and by taking advantage of Beal City's defense.

A LOP-SIDED 57-35 score with 4:48 left in the game brought Fowler fans to their feet when Beal City called for time out, and the game ended with all Eagle players having seen playing time.

"They (Beal City) were one of the best teams we've seen all year," Coach Smith said. "They made us work very hard."

Overall, Fowler shot 57 percent from the field. Kurt Simon was the leading scorer with 18 points, and had 7 rebounds and 4 blocked shots. Andros and Hufnagel netted 12 points apiece, and Rex Thelen and Joe Simon each had 10 points. Andros had 5 assists and Simon had 7 rebounds.

The Saturday afternoon championship game with Sacred Heart was a study in contrasts to the Beal City contest. The Shamrocks attempted to throw Fowler off balance with a slow-paced, patient offense and skin-tight defense.

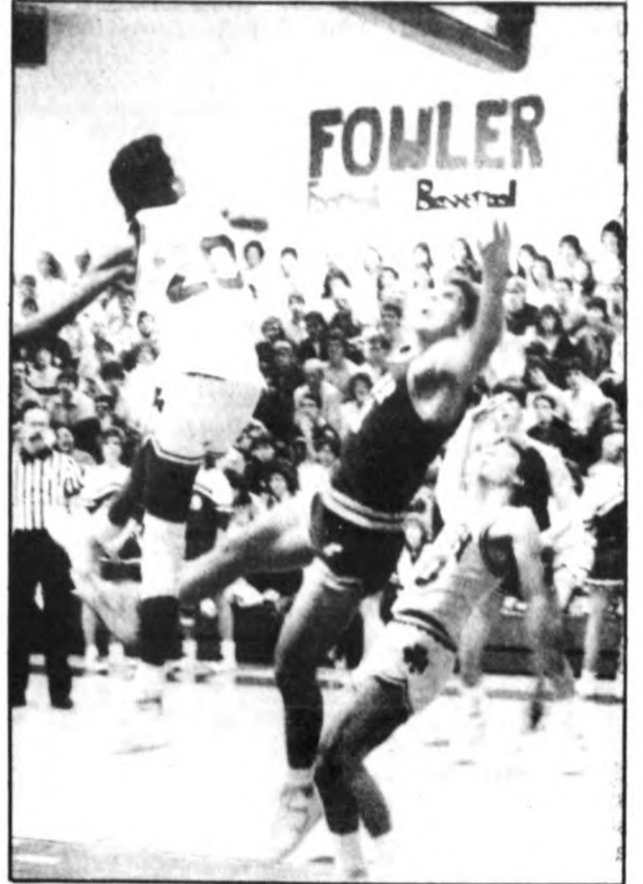

To a certain degree the plan worked. The Eagles had trouble finding their rhythm, trailing Sacred Heart 7-6 at the close of the first quarter.

Shots that would not drop were the name of the game throughout the majority of the first half — for both teams. Fowler shot 39 percent from the field for the game, while the Shamrocks made good on just 15-52 attempts for 29 percent overall.

"Sacred Heart was content to let the clock run and keep the score down," Coach Smith said. "We were a little tight to begin with, and when you're involved in that type of game it makes the players even more reluctant to shoot because they know it will be awhile before they get the ball back again."

A stringent Fowler defense allowed the Shamrocks to score just two points in the entire second quarter, sending the Eagles into the lockerroom ahead 15-9. Once again, Hufnagel put in the last shot of the half, a soft-jumper with :02 seconds remaining on the clock.

FREE THROWS and a quickened Eagle pace enabled Fowler to pull away from the Shamrocks in the ensuing two quarters. The Eagles made good on 22-27 attempts from the charity stripe in the game, the bulk of which came in the second half with Rex Thelen canning 9-9 to help Fowler ease their way to victory.

"We felt our free throw shooting was excellent," Smith said. "That's what we have to do. Our defense was also very good."

Kurt Simon ended as the game's leading scorer with 22 points. He had 10 rebounds as did brother Joe Simon who tallied 8 points. Hufnagel had 12 points, and Rex Thelen had 11 points and 7 assists.

Tonight's game with Port Hope will not be the first time that the two schools have clashed in regional basketball action. The Eagles defeated Port Hope when the two teams played in a 1976 regional game.

"They are a good, fundamental basketball team," Smith said. "They have an outstanding 6'5" player and a 6'2" player who scored 20 points in their district championship win."

"We will go into Millington and just play our game — right now, we're just happy to be out of the districts."

P-W earns second straight Class C district crown

Pewamo-Westphalia Coach Ron Kramer probably hopes that Ithaca High School hosts his Pirates' Class C district basketball games for many years to come.

For the second straight year, the Pirates won their district championship at Ithaca — eliminating host Ithaca last Wednesday 59-49 and bringing home the championship trophy with a 68-66 Saturday night victory over Shepherd.

"It was really a big win for us," Kramer said. "Everybody played very intense, heads-up ball. It was one of the finest efforts of the year for us."

Much of the play in the opening half was a shooting contest between the Pirates' Glenn Stump and Jay Travers from Shepherd. Stump and the four-year starting guard from Shepherd each scored 20 points in the first half.

"It was a back-and-forth game in both the first and second quarters," Kramer said. "The offensive production was great — Stump really inspired the whole team to play well."

Pewamo-Westphalia erased a 20-19 score in favor of Shepherd at the end of the first period, to take a 39-36 lead into the lockerroom at halftime. Dave Stump and Dave Spitzley each tallied 7-first half points to help the Pirates go ahead.

THE PACE slowed in the third quarter, with the Pirate defense stymying Shepherd and allowing P-W to increase their scoring margin to 54-44 at the close of the quarter.

"The kids played excellent defense," Coach Kramer said. "Shepherd was running their offense, but they could not get an open shot off."

The decisive fourth quarter saw Shepherd take the lead, 62-61 with just over two minutes remaining. A pair of free throws by Dave Stump gave the lead back to P-W, 63-62. The lead exchanged hands twice more when Travers made a basket, followed by a 19-foot swisher from Dane Hengesbach.

With :58 left on the clock, the Pirates held the lead 65-64 and controlled the ball down to the :27 mark when Shepherd was forced to foul. Although the shot was missed, P-W quickly got the ball back, and with :13 second remaining Glenn Stump was sent to the line where he upped the ante to 67-64 making both ends of a one-and-one.

A basket by Shepherd with :05 seconds left made the score 67-65. Shepherd called for a time out, was assessed a technical because they had no time outs remaining, allowing Stump to put the game away for P-W when he made good on the "T" shot.

GLENN STUMP led his teammates in scoring with 30 points, and had 7 assists and 4 steals. Spitzley had 14 points and 7 rebounds, Dave Stump had 12 points and 4 rebounds, Dane Hengesbach had 5 points and 3 rebounds, Jeff Smith had 4 points and 2 rebounds, Dave Hengesbach had 4 rebounds and 1 point, and Pat Smith had 2 rebounds and 2 points.

In their Wednesday night win over Ithaca, 16 consecutive fourth-quarter free throws helped the Pirates maintain their lead and earn the 59-49 victory. Glenn Stump was 10-10 from the charity stripe in the final quarter.

Leading P-W in scoring were Glenn and Dave Stump, each netting 16 points. Spitzley had 9 points and 9 rebounds, Dave Hengesbach had 5 points and 13 rebounds, Jeff Smith had 6 points, and Dale Jandernoa had 4 points.

The Pirates remain at Ithaca High School for regional action, playing their first game this Thursday (March 19) against New Lothrop at 7:30 p.m. Howard City/Tri-County and Saginaw Catholic Nouvell square off in other regional bracket with the winners meeting in the championship game.

"We were happy to get the district win," Coach Kramer said. "The kids deserve a huge amount of credit. We could not have beaten Shepherd if the kids wouldn't have worked as hard as they did all year."

"They never abandoned our defense. They stuck with it and believed in it all year and it really paid off."

Games people play Should thinking

By Rhonda Westfall

Thoughts on St. Johns basketball.

Recently, I was introduced to a concept of thinking aimed at dealing with frustrations and eliminating negative ideas. Called "should" thinking, it's based on the "should haves" that people often use in daily conversation.

Following St. Johns' loss in their district opening basketball game last Tuesday, I tried some "should have thinking." The conversation between myself and me went something like this:

Myself: They really should have won that game.

Me: Why should they have won the game?

Myself: Because they appeared to be a better team than Flint Carmen.

Me: But, everyone knows it's a fact that the better team or the better person does not always finish first, right?

Myself: Yes, that's true. But, they had the opportunity to win in the end and somehow they didn't. They should have won.

Me: But why? Was it unusual for them to be in the position of being close to winning, but ending up losing?

Myself: No. They had chances to win a lot of other games this year but lost quite a few by close scores at the end.

Me: So, they were really doing the same things that they had done all year, right?

Myself: Yes, I guess you're right about that.

Me: Therefore, because they performed in the same manner in this district game as they had during much of the year, it follows that they really should have lost the game. It was the perfectly normal thing to happen, right?

Myself: Well, when you put it that way, yes — they should have lost. I feel a lot better with that negative thought gone.

That whole fictional conversation sounds like I'm being pretty flippant, doesn't it? In all honesty, it was not intended to put down or make fun of the situation at all.

I have nothing but admiration for the entire Redwing team. I have a feeling that not too many people can really empathize with what this group of young men has gone through in the past several months.

I have watched them play — never did they appear to me to be slacking off or not trying their best. I would have to say that they did a commendable job under what were at times very adverse conditions.

Fingers have been pointed by many people during the season at what they perceived the problem with St. Johns basketball to be. Many people have criticized the coaching staff, persons have named the athletic department as the culprit, and some people have called for a total change in the top administration.

Meanwhile, the players did their best on Tuesdays and Fridays.

Some people wanted the sophomores off the team, some people said there were too many juniors on the floor, and some people said the seniors just weren't any good at all.

And, the players played each Tuesday and Friday. The officials were blamed for calling too many fouls, sometimes the officials didn't call enough fouls, and often the officials were blind as bats.

Where were the players? Out on the floor, trying to do the best job they could while listening to all the talk, speculation, and second-guessing from the stands.

Down deep inside, I feel bad for them. They must have been hurting inside too, knowing that they really had little control over the situation they found themselves in.

Maybe some things could have been done differently during the year, maybe they "should" have won some of those games. But, they didn't.

I have the privilege of calling several of the players my friends, and I'm proud of them for hanging in there throughout the season.

You should have done your best — and I think you did.

PIRATE CHEERLEADERS had a lot to cheer about last week as the Pewamo-Westphalia basketball team won their second consecutive Class C district title in games played at Ithaca High School. Coach Ron Kramer's team defeated Ithaca last Wednesday 59-49, and took the championship trophy with a 68-66 win over Shepherd on Saturday.

Flint team puts end to St. Johns cage season with 60-58 district tilt

By RHONDA WESTFALL
Sports Editor

March Madness came to an abrupt end for the St. Johns varsity basketball team last week when the Redwings were edged out 60-58 by Flint Carman-Ainsworth in their opening Class A district game played at Owosso High School.

"The key to the loss was free throws," St. Johns Coach Keith Haske said. "We missed seven attempts in one-and-one situations."

St. Johns played even with the Flint team throughout the first quarter, tying the score at 6-6 on a three-point play by Tom Penix mid-way through the stanza and ending the period down by a 19-16 margin.

Second-quarter action was hot with both clubs picking up the pace, and pent-up frustrations ending in a brawl just prior to halftime. With the score standing at 30-24 in favor of Carman, the Redwings began a scoring barrage off a basket by Jim Martens.

A TRIP to the line by Matt Wilcox, steal by Clark VanBuren, followed by a basket by Bill Keenoy knotted the score at 32-32 with 1:43 left in the period.

On the ensuing play, VanBuren gave St. Johns a 34-32 lead making good on two foul shots, and the Redwings carried the slim margin of difference into the lockerroom at the half.

Martens picked up St. Johns' only two points in the opening minutes of the second half, as Flint outscored the Redwings 10-2. Following a time-out call by Haske, St. Johns regrouped and closed the gap back to 44-42 off from baskets by Penix and Wilcox.

Two points by Penix tied the game once more at 46-46, and one more basket by the big junior put the Redwings up by one point, 48-47 at the close of the third period.

"It was an ebb-and-flow game all night," Coach Haske said. "Everytime we got even and went ahead, Flint came right back."

THE REDWINGS increased their lead to 50-47 early in the final stanza only to have Carman tie the score at 50-50, then when the margin of difference to 55-50 with 4:34 showing on the clock.

The closing minutes of the game saw Penix tie the game one final time at 58-58 with :53 seconds remaining. The Redwings forced a turnover at the :33 second mark, setting themselves up for a chance to win.

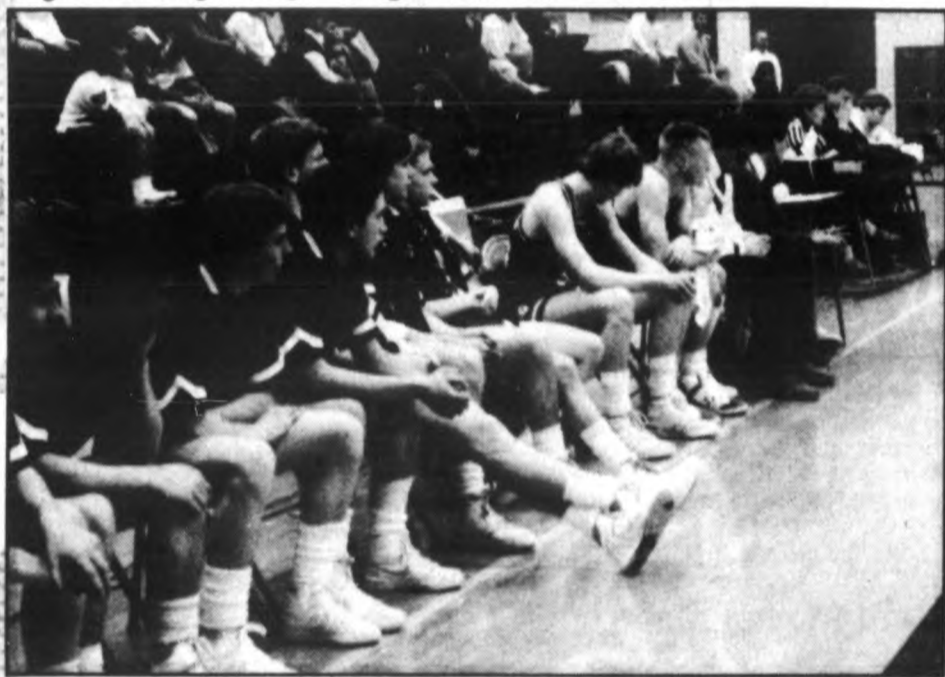

The scenario went as planned — but with Flint as the winner rather than the Redwings. Following a St. Johns turnover, Carman's shot taken with :06 remaining was good for the 60-58 win.

Penix led St. Johns in scoring with 18 points and had 6 rebounds. VanBuren had 12 points, Wilcox netted 10 points, Martens had 6 points, and Keenoy had 4 points and 7 rebounds.

St. Johns ends their 1986-87 season with a 8-12 record overall.

O-E ousted in class B

Ovid-Elsie played well, but a Haslett-dominated first half proved to be the Marauder's downfall in last week's Class B district game played at Corunna High School. Coach Bob Foreback's squad was eliminated from district competition by the Vikings by a 84-44 score.

Pressure defense and a fast-breaking offense allowed the Haslett cagers to amass a 48-19 lead by halftime. Ovid-Elsie came back to play even with the Vikings in the third stanza, but by that time too much damage had already been done.

Jeff Conklin led the Marauders in scoring with 10 points, Troy Barnhill and Wayne Bowman had eight points apiece, Bob Foreback added seven points, and Nick Hurst had 4 points.

Ovid-Elsie ends their season with a record of 7-14.

Redwing gymnasts take fourth in regional meet at Freeland

The St. Johns gymnastics team placed fourth as a team in state regional competition held on Saturday at Freeland High School, ending the day with 126.15 total points. First place went to Freeland with 136.55 points, Midland Dow was second with 131.2 points, and Traverse City placed third with 131.05 points.

Individually, Christine Ebert and Linda Strickland advanced to the state finals which will be held at Grand Rapids Creston High School this Friday and Saturday.

Ebert scored a 9.0 in vault, good for sixth place, and finished tied for eighth in floor exercise with a score of 8.85. Strickland placed eighth on bars, scoring 8.2. Ebert finished eighth all-around with a score of 33.85, but only the top six place finishers advanced to the state meet in all-around. "She (Ebert) really wanted to move on in all-around," Redwing Coach Sue Cerny said. "The sixth place score was 34.75, so she was over one point away. The scoring seemed to be a little tougher than at our conference meet."

The senior All-American placed ninth on beam and was twelfth on bars.

Gwynn Sharick also finished in the top 20 individually, placing fifteenth on bars, seventeenth all-around, and twentieth on beam. DeAnn Fox was twenty-seventh on beam and twenty-eighth on floor exercise.

"Some of the individual scores look like we did not do too well," Cerny said, "but to place fourth at this level of competition means that we did do very well. This is the highest place finish that St. Johns' girls have ever had at the regionals." Coach Cerny is optimistic about the chances of both Ebert and Strickland to compete well at the state meet.

"I know they both will be practicing hard all week, working on adding a few new things to their routines," the coach said. "They will be pulling out all the stops."

Competition begins at 6 p.m. Friday evening, continuing at noon on Saturday.

Pirates, Bears eliminated in class D hoop action

The 1986-87 basketball season came to an end for both Fulton and Ashley last week in Class D district play in Fowler. The Bears were eliminated in their first district game by the host Fowler team 67-50, while Fulton's Pirates were defeated by Mt. Pleasant Sacred Heart 61-53 in their district opener.

FULTON
A zone defense employed by Sacred Heart spelled doom for Coach Larry Walden's Pirates. "Sacred Heart opened with a man-to-man and we handled that well," Coach Walden said, "but when they switched to their zone we lost all our momentum."

Ahead 12-7 early in the contest, Fulton was stalled when they tried holding the ball hoping to draw Sacred Heart out of the zone. Mt. Pleasant closed the gap to 12-11 at the close of the first quarter, then went on to break the game open in the second quarter taking a 31-20 lead into the lockerroom at the half.

Despite the fact that the Pirates had their best shooting percentage night of the year, making 43 percent of their shots from the field, they could not catch up with the scrappy Sacred Heart team.

"The kids played hard — harder than they've ever played," Walden said. "They are a bunch of great guys — it's been a real pleasure being involved with them this season."

Scott Cater, a senior on the Pirate team, finished out his roundball career at Fulton in grand style leading the team in scoring with 17 points and hauling down 16 rebounds.

"He did a super job on the boards," Walden said. "Most of his points came off from offensive rebounds."

Other Fulton scorers were Mike Martin with 13 points, Roger Skaryd with 9 points, and Tod Koone with 8 points.

"We played about as well as we could play," Ashley Coach Gary Schestag said of his Bear's game with Fowler. "We felt we did force them into making some mistakes and played much better than the first time we played them."

Behind 17-12 at the end of the opening period, the Bears trailed the Eagles 37-24 at halftime.

Ashley shot an even 50 percent from the floor — their best shooting percentage of the season.

"Fowler was a little more aggressive offensively than the first time we played them," Schestag said, "but we played better team defense on them. We had to rely almost strictly on perimeter shooting to score our points. We did not shoot a free throw all night and they closed off the inside game on us also."

Jim Skaryd and Rick Saylor led the Bears with 10 points each, Charlie Howes had 8 points, and Mike Morris and Mike Turner netted 6 points each.

"If you look at our win/loss record (2-19) it doesn't say much," Coach Schestag said, "but the kids never gave up. They came back in alot of games when we were down by 15 points or more and did it honestly — not against the reserves from the other teams. The kids kept me going."

Hayes swims well for Wildcats

Monica Hayes, St. Johns High School graduate, helped the Northern Michigan University swim team to a second place finish in the annual Mid-West Independent Championships for the second straight year. Hayes also helped the Wildcats in their 172-94 home, dual-meet win over North Dakota, and to repeat as champions at the North Dakota Invitational. She also swam in meets with Michigan, Eastern Michigan University, and the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay.

At the championship, Hayes finished third in the 100 freestyle, seventh in the 500 freestyle, ninth in the 100 breaststroke, and was a member of the 200 freestyle team that set a pool and meet record of 1:37.53.

At the invitational, Hayes placed fourth in the 100 freestyle, 100 breaststroke, and 200 freestyle, and took fifth in the 50 freestyle. She was a member of the winning 200 and 400 medley relay teams and swam on the second place 800 freestyle relay team.

Hayes was second in the 200 and 50 freestyles, third in the 100 distance, and swam with the second place 400 freestyle relay team in the Wildcats' dual-meet win over North Dakota. She was second in the 50 and 100 freestyles and swam with the winning 200 freestyle relay team against Michigan. Versus EMU, she was third in the 100 breaststroke, fourth in the 50 freestyle, swam with the winning 200 freestyle relay team, and was on the second place 200 medley team.

Eiseler is Lady Cardinal

St. Johns native Brenda Eiseler has been a key member of the Saginaw Valley State College women's basketball team, helping them to an impressive 23-1 season record.

Eiseler averaged 5.3 points per game with a 50 percent field goal percentage and 61.1 percent free throw percentage. The freshman center averaged 10.9 minutes of play per game and an average of four rebounds a game.

"Brenda has done a good job making her presence felt on the court recently," said Head Coach Claudette Charney. "She is adjusting well to college level basketball and we are looking forward to having her back next year."

Eiseler tallied 121 points and 93 rebounds on the season.

The Extension Service has been very busy the week this is being written during something called Program Review. Because of this, and because I have been hearing a lot from someone who has been hired to work with the families who are facing problems that are different from normal, I have asked Phyllis Roehl to write this column. Phyllis is the new Rural Outreach Service Worker for Clinton, Eaton and Ingham counties. She will be working principally in Clinton County.

Phyllis has a farm background and has degrees in communications, psychology, and sociology. She has also taught at the state university level. Because she has worked with me for a number of years, she can understand and relate to the current difficulties of the farmers and the rural communities.

Here is what Phyllis has to say about the program she is working with:

Working With The Farm Community

By Phyllis Roehl

Did the flood last fall further complicate your farm financial situation to the point where you feel everything combined is wearing on you and your family? Do you want to talk to someone confidentially but you're not sure who? Or are you seeing a neighbor, friend or acquaintance hurting but you're not sure how to respond to him or her?

Support groups, such as the Caring Farmers started by the Cooperative Extension Service, is an excellent way to talk out problems, get information and support others.

But now another way is possible. As a rural outreach worker, I will come and talk confidentially with you and/or your spouse or family in the privacy of your home, if you wish.

It's normal to withdraw when our world collapses around us. But it's very hard to recover from a difficult experience that way. Chronic stress — difficult situations, like the farm situation we are in now, that continue to pressure us over a period of time — can produce real medical problems for us. It can also cause us to act in a way that damages family relationships or friendships. We may hurt the very people that we love and rely on most when we least want to do so.

It's important to understand what's happening to us — we're really victims of a disaster. The farm situation was bad enough without the flood added. Dealing with it all at once may be more than some people can or want to handle alone.

Because of the type of lifestyle that it is, farming forces its families to learn ways to deal with much of the stresses they face. However, few farmers have had to face as large or as many problems all at one time as they are having to face now. That is why learning additional coping skills or stress management techniques can help normal people deal with abnormal situations. In the support groups we will concentrate on topics such as how to deal with our own stresses, how to respond to others who hurt, rebuilding self-esteem, as well as credit and bankruptcy issues, and other topics at the groups request.

As a rural outreach worker, I will concentrate on three areas. First, I will work closely with those support groups already existing. I will help other groups get started in other parts of the county. Secondly, I will work with individuals or families at their homes or at other neutral locations. And finally, I plan to coordinate the many existing agencies designed to help, letting people know where the help they need is available.

In a way it's like taking a step back into our history, back to times when our pioneer families used the neighbor-helping-neighbor approach to cope with their difficulties. It's a bit ironic that as we celebrate 150 years of Michigan statehood and our Constitution's 200th birthday, that we revive practices that our forefathers used to help us in today's situation.

Contact me at my home (224-2225), temporarily at the counseling center on Mondays and Fridays (224-6729) or through the Cooperative Extension Service Office (224-3288).

Giles Roehl is the director of the Clinton County Cooperative Service.

Agricultural news Feed

By Marilyn Loudenslager

Dairy farmers can evaluate the efficiency of their heifer feeding program by periodically weighing and measuring the animals to check for proper growth.

"A heifer feeding program, just like a feed program for lactating cows, must be periodically evaluated," said Herbert Bucholtz, Michigan State University animal science specialist. "Weight gain and wither height are the best evaluators of the heifer program, much as milk production is for lactating cows."

Heifers from six months old up to breeding age should be gaining 1.2 to 1.8 pounds per day, depending on the breed. If heifers gain more than the recommended amounts, they can become overfat. This additional fat will first collect on the heifers' internal organs, where it cannot be detected except by checking the animals' weight.

Some of the extra fat collects in a heifer's mammary gland, reducing the number of milk secretory cells. This is why many fat heifers, particularly those that were fed excessive nutrients from 6 to 14 months, don't milk as well as heifers that did not gain above recommended levels.

During a heifer's growth cycle are several opportune times to weigh and measure the animal, such as vaccination times for brucellosis, IBR and BVD, when changing pens, at breeding time and again just before calving. By weighing and measuring heifers several times, a dairy farmer can calculate daily weight gains to assess the feeding program. If the animal's weight is above or below recommended averages, the feeding program can be adjusted to increase or slow weight gain.

The most desirable feed program is based on high quality forages, either hay or haylage, such as alfalfa, clover, trefoil, grasses and small grain forages. Corn silage can be fed but at a rate less than 50 percent of the total feed ration on a dry matter basis. If more than 50 percent of the heifer's diet is corn silage, the animal may become undesirable fat.

Grouping heifers according to body size ensures each animal will have a chance to eat her fair share. If heifers from six to 24 months are housed in one group, the larger heifers will push the smaller animals away from the feed bunk and waterers.

Heifers from six to 24 months should be housed in at least three separate groups. For holsteins, the weight and age groupings would be: six to eight months, 400-500 pounds; eight to 12 months, 500-700 pounds; and 12 to 14 months, 700-800 pounds.

A total mixed ration feeding system is the best way to put rations together for a heifer feeding program. One ration formulation can fit the needs of all heifers from six to 24 months — the only difference is that the larger heifers will eat more.

A more thorough explanation of the heifer feeding program is available in the book "Raising Dairy Heifers for More Profit," published by MSU. Other chapters cover preventive medicine, reproductive management, artificial insemination and other heifer-related issues. To order the book, which sells for $15, write: Bill Bickert, 120 Farrall Hall, MSU Dept. of Agricultural Engineering, East Lansing, 48824-1323. IN WASHINGTON — Lee Ormston, second from left, of St. Johns, who is the director of the Seventh Farm Credit District, met in Washington recently with Rep. Bill Schuette, Tom Murphy, left, of Mt. Pleasant, and Larry Buegler, right, chief executive officer of the Farm Credit Service, also attended the meeting. The officials discussed issues concerning farm credit lenders and agriculture problems.

More disaster aid possible, says Schuette

The House Agriculture Committee on March 10 passed an amendment offered by Rep. Bill Schuette that would authorize additional money to disaster-stricken farmers in mid-Michigan and across the nation who were hard hit by floods and drought in 1986.

The amendment to the Acreage Diversion Pilot Program Act of 1987 will provide for the additional amount needed for farmers to receive dollar-for-dollar reimbursement for crops lost as a result of last year's droughts and floods.

"Dollar-for-dollar assistance is something I and many members of Michigan's agricultural community have been working diligently on for weeks," Schuette said. "The Agriculture Committee has accepted this amendment as a result of much hard work, and I am thankful they realized the necessity of this additional assistance."

Rep. Schuette added he expects the full House to consider the bill this week.

ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS MEETING APRIL 1, 1987

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of the St. Johns Zoning Board of Appeals will be held on April 1, 1987 at 7:30 p.m. in the Commission Chambers, 121 E. Walker St., St. Johns, MI 48879.

PURPOSE: An appeal for a variance from Ransom Briggs, to grant a variance which would allow construction of an additional twelve (12) unit apartment building at 906 E. Sturgis Street. The requested variance from the ordinance would allow 2503 square feet of lot area per family unit, when the zoning ordinance requires 4000 square feet of lot area for each unit.

A request for an interpretation of the zoning administrators opinion that a variance is needed for a rear yard set back. The applicant suggests the portion of the building located within ten (10) feet of the rear yard line should be allowed under section 5.70(6), rear yard projections.
