Rainbow

MAPLE RAPIDS Gratiot County commissioners last week approved hiring STS Consultants of Lansing as engineers to build a new earthen dam/spillway that will recreate Rainbow Lake. The conduit style of the dam and hiring of the Lansing firm were both recommended by the Rainbow Lake Maintenance Corporation, owner of the dam site.

The new dam will have a greater capacity and provide better control of lake levels than the one which washed away as a result of flooding last fall. Replacement costs are estimated at $800,000 and will be paid for by property owners. Work on the dam will begin later this year or next spring when engineering studies are completed.

Assessments for the project will not begin until next year and, depending financing, could run from 7 to 20 years. The assessment district will follow the original plat used when the lake was developed about 20 years ago. Approximately 350 homes and 800 vacant lots are involved.

Rivendell breaks ground in St. Johns

BREAKING GROUND — Rivendell senior vice president of marketing, Ellen Murphy, helps CANDO director Bill Dutton (center) and St. Johns Mayor John Aehrhart break ground for the new Rivendell Children and Youth Center. The multi-million dollar project is expected to be completed in six to eight months.

Psychiatric facility serves state youth

By RHONDA WESTFALL
Staff Writer

Groundbreaking ceremonies for Rivendell Children and Youth Center were held last Friday at the site of the facility which will be located on Townsend Road, just west of Oakland Street on the south side of St. Johns.

The 43,000-square foot, 64-bed facility will provide psychiatric services to emotionally disturbed children and adolescents between the ages of 5 and 18 years. Due to the specialized nature of the program, it will serve the entire state.

"Rivendell is a plus for the continued growth of the city," St. Johns Mayor John Aehrhart said in remarks made prior to the groundbreaking. "It will generate 120 jobs, half of those being degreed jobs, and provide many other benefits for the community. It will open up the south end of St. Johns for future development and aid in the development of our industrial park."

AREHART ALSO SAID that because of the project, the city plans to pave Townsend Road from US-27 to Lansing Street, and pave Lansing Street north to Oak Street. The water loop on the south side will be completed and repairs made to sanitary sewers, he said.

Rivendell will contribute $50,000 to help with off-site improvements. The estimated cost of the project is $5.5 million with construction expected to be completed in six to eight good weather months.

The facility will be a polygon-shaped, single-story building with the 20-acre site developed to create a campus-like environment.

Along with Mayor Aehrhart, Bill Dutton of CANDO and Rivendell senior vice president of marketing Ellen Murphy helped at the groundbreaking. Rivendell's publicity coordinator, Kathleen Kennedy, cited all three individuals for their efforts in bringing the facility to St. Johns. She also noted that St. Johns City Manager Randy Humphrey, Paul McNamara of Clinton Memorial Hospital, Probate Court Judge Marvin Robertson, and Fred Olmsted of juvenile court were instrumental in the project.

A NUMBER OF individuals representing Clinton Memorial Hospital, probate and juvenile court, and St. Johns City and Clinton County officials were also on hand to welcome Rivendell into the community.

"Many, many people were involved in bringing Rivendell to St.

Johns," Dutton said.

"This has been a long battle," said Murphy. "We could not have done this without the support of the community. Rivendell is very picky in where it locates its facilities. We are very proud to become a part of the community and honored that you have welcomed us here."

"This is just the first step in getting to serve emotionally disturbed youngsters of the state," she said.

Rivendell of America corporation was formed approximately four years ago. Corporate members represent different mental health specialties including psychiatry, psychology, social work, rehabilitation counseling, special education, and program administration.

SJ school board elects first woman president

By RHONDA WESTFALL
Staff Writer

Jeanette Adams has become the first woman elected as president of the St. Johns Board of Education.

Adams, beginning her second year as a board member and the only woman serving on the board, was nominated by member Neil Barnhart at the board's July 6 organizational meeting. She was elected on the second ballot by a majority vote. Kevin Kirk and Robert Craig also were nominated for the position.

"If I may give an acceptance speech, I could sum it up in one word — help!" Adams said to other board members. "Don't hesitate to give your advice or opinions."

In subsequent voting, Craig was elected vice president, Kirk was elected secretary, and Jim Parr was elected treasurer by unanimous votes.

In later conversations with President Adams and St. Johns School Supt. Steve Bakita, the superintendent noted that he feels this board will be one that will be able to work well together.

"THEY MAY DISAGREE from time to time on philosophy," he said, "but they are all working together toward the same goal — quality education for all our students. I look forward to working with them to achieve that."

Adams echoed Bakita's opinion and presented what she perceives as major goals of the board in the next year.

"We are working with an extremely tight budget with almost no leeway," she said. "We face the need for millage to build and operating millage. We will need a great deal of community input and community support in the finalization and design for a new middle school."

Jeanette Adams

"That is probably the major thing I see the board dealing with — although, as we all know, there were several unforeseen events in the past school year that we were forced to handle which we had no idea would be on our agendas," she said.

Staying "in tune" with the administration and building a working relationship with administrative personnel were also cited as key factors by Adams as objectives of the board.

"They (the administration) deal with the day-to-day problems in the district and then bring them to us," she said. "We are not only looking at the here and now, but also at the future of education in St. Johns."

"WITH INPUT FROM the community and administration, we must attempt to come up with facilities that will be adequate for the district for the next 50 years," she said.

Other actions in the organizational meeting included setting dates and times for board meetings for the 1987-

88 school year, and passage of a variety of resolutions for depositories for business operations. The board also tentatively scheduled the first of its goal-setting meetings for a Saturday in September.

In the regular meeting which followed the organizational meeting, the board approved a resolution to borrow against anticipated taxes. The resolution passed on a motion by Kirk, seconded by Barnhart.

Supt. Bakita passed out copies of petitions received by himself and board member Kirk from Village Square Apartments and Clinton Bank and Trust to have tax assessments decreased. Bakita noted that the administration wanted the board to be aware of the filing of the petitions, but foresaw little impact from the filings.

"We are in-formula," he said, "and at this point this is just for your information. Our biggest concern would be in the event of a debt levy. If we get into a school bond issue this could have some impact."

BAKITA ALSO INFORMED the board of a dispute on a parcel of land located by Swegles School which the school district purchased at the annual DNR tax sale for $50. The original owners of the parcel have contested the legality of the sale, saying that it was improper for the city of St. Johns to put the parcel on the tax sale. The consensus of board opinion seemed to be that it was a problem between the owners and the city, not themselves.

Topics which will be included on the July 20 agenda include: presentation of a candidate for elementary school principal and staff employment, teacher aide contract, possible report from the school facility committee, and discussion on the Michigan Model and grades 4-6 human sexuality curriculum.

Clinton County 4-H Youth Fair turns 50

By RHONDA WESTFALL
Staff Writer

"Happy Birthday" to — the Clinton County 4-H Youth Fair.

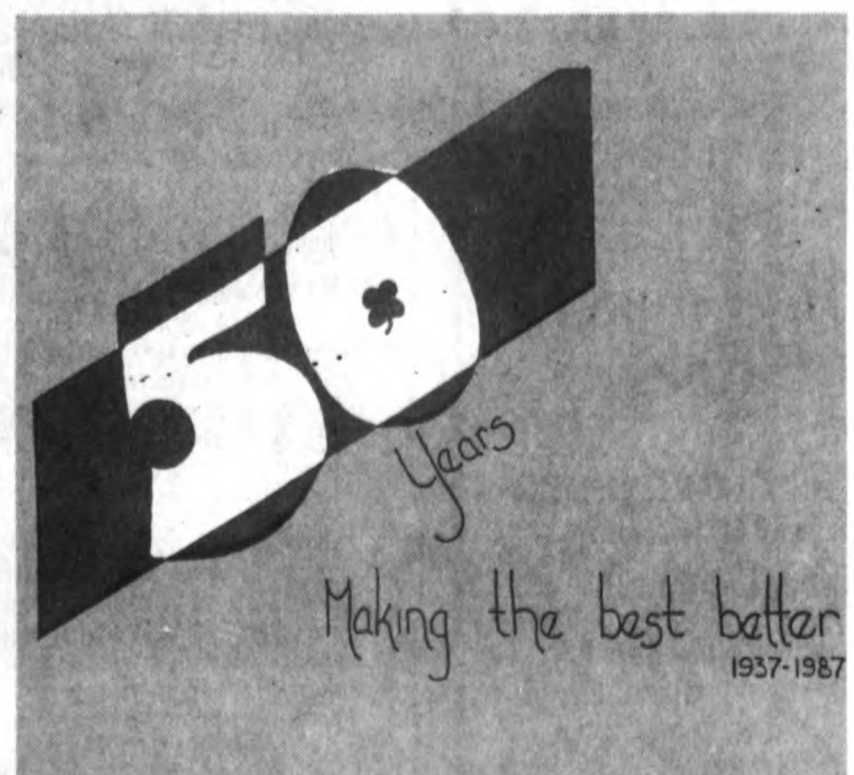

"50 Years — Making the Best Better" is the theme for the 1987 fair with many special events planned in honor of the fair's 50th birthday. The fair runs Aug. 3-6 at the fairgrounds, located near the St. Johns City Park.

An opening night birthday party is scheduled for Monday beginning at 8 p.m. on the fair stage. Past fair board directors and their spouses have been invited to dinner with a birthday cake, cookies, and punch ready for all fair-goers. Special recognition will be given to previous members and leaders who traveled the farthest, and to exhibitors and leaders from the early years of the fair in Clinton County.

The River City Boys will perform from 8:20 to 10 p.m. on the stage with plenty of room for dancing as well as visiting with old friends. Members and leaders have put together numerous displays of early fair exhibits and other special exhibits for the 1987 fair.

Regular daily features at the fair include the baby animal tent, food stand, and snack shack. Visiting hours in the baby animal tent are from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. with free horse rides given at 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. Demonstrations and educational exhibits will be given at various times each day.

As in past years, different specialty sandwiches will be featured in the food stand each day. Roast lamb and hot lamb sandwiches are the menu item on Tuesday, hot pork sandwiches will be available on Wednesday, and barbecued chevon is the specialty on Thursday. The food stand opens at 11:30 a.m. each day.

The snack shack opens at 8 a.m. each day with coffee, milk, and fresh rolls available for fair-goers. New on the menu this year are nachos with hot cheese sauce. Proceeds from the food stand and snack shack are used to finance 4-H trips and educational programs throughout the year.

A SPECIAL Sesquicentennial Farm Tour is planned for Wednesday. Tour buses leave the parking lot at St. Johns High School every half hour from 2 p.m. until 6:30 p.m.

First stop on the tour is Kirnovic's Dairy Farm, a modern dairy facility typical of many Michigan dairy farms. Traveling to the next stop, buses will pass the Michigan Milk Plant in Ovid where the large silos are used for holding milk prior to processing into dry milk and butter.

The next stop is Green Meadows Farm, an ultra modern dairy facility with 1,500 milk cows and the capacity to milk 32 cows at one time. En route back to St. Johns, the buses will pass the oldest settlement in Clinton County as well as typical Clinton County cash crop farms of mint, corn, and soybeans.

Last stop is a tour of Countrymark grain elevator in St. Johns, the marketing point for many cash crops grown in the county. Back at the 4-H Fair, participants will enjoy a glass of cold milk and sandwich at the food stand compliments of the Clinton County Dairy Tour Planning Committee, Clinton County Young Farmers, and area businesses.

Also on the agenda for Wednesday are Homemaker's Day events and the annual livestock sale. In connection with the St. Johns Mint Festival, a "Cooking With Mint" contest will be held with five classes in both junior and senior divisions. Included are cookies; cakes and pies; candy; other desserts; and jams and jellies.

HOMEMAKERS (both male and female) may enter projects in Homemaker's Day. Classes include homemade pies, cookies, candy, yeast rolls, decorated cakes, homemade cakes, canning, sewing, knitting/crocheting, needlework, and flower arranging. There is a $1 entry fee per person with individuals allowed one entry per class.

The livestock sale is one of the annual highlights of the fair for all 4-H youth livestock owners. Ten market goats, ten veal calves, ten pens of rabbits, market chickens, ducks, turkeys, 120 hogs, over 50 lambs, and 38 steers will go through the sale ring. Sale time is 5 p.m. in the judging pavilion located in the center of the fairgrounds. Each buyer at the sale will be invited to a special Buyers Appreciation Dinner, set for Sept. 15 at Smith Hall in St. Johns.

These and many, many more events have been planned by over 2,000 persons who hope to make the 50th birthday of the Clinton County 4-H Youth Fair a memorable one.

Applauds decision

To the Editor:

I would like to applaud the St. Johns Board of Education and its recent decision to adopt a sex education policy in the school curriculum that prohibits the teaching of any method of birth control other than chastity.

In the United States, over 1,200,000 teenagers get pregnant each year and the number is increasing. Many teenagers do not seek advice on birth control until after they suspect that they are pregnant. It is obvious that today's teens are not getting all of the information on birth control that they need at home. At one time, it was supposed to be up to the parents to teach their children about sex. Now, for those parents who were too embarrassed, too tired, or too ignorant about the subject, it is necessary to teach this subject in school.

Part of a healthy attitude toward sex includes being knowledgeable about birth control. They need to know not only for prevention of pregnancy, but also to protect themselves against sexually transmitted diseases and the risk of contracting AIDS. We need to deal with these problems right now, face reality, not bury our heads in the sand.

Chastity is the only 100 percent sure method of birth control, but it is not an alternative for everyone. The decision whether or not to become sexually active is a personal one; no one else can make it for you. I believe that today's young adults need to know their options before making their own decisions.

Offers additional facts

To the Editor:

I would like to thank the Mid-Michigan District Health Department for its recent efforts to inform and educate the public about an issue of vital concern to us all. "The Home Teaching Module on AIDS" which we recently received was very informative. My wife and I were pleased to see the AIDS phenomenon referred to as an epidemic, which it surely is, with an estimated 1 1/2 million infected with the virus in the United States and an estimated 10 million in Africa. (Not to mention other parts of the world.)

Having grown up and attended schools in Clinton County, where we presently reside, we too are concerned that the people of this and all communities be given, (as the health department notes) "specific, accurate, and detailed knowledge about the subjects." We also wholeheartedly agree that, given the scientific facts, we as parents have a crucial role to play in educating and shaping our children's beliefs, values, and behavior. Because of our concern, we feel there are additional scientific facts that should be brought to the public's attention. Much of the information we would like to share is taken from a book by Gene Antonio, "The Aids Coverup?" 1986, by Ignatius Press. After reading this letter, further questions could be answered by either referring to Mr. Antonio's book or calling the health department.

The "Basic AIDS Information" (page one of the health department module) describes how the AIDS virus (HIV) causes death indirectly by breakdown of the immune system. This indirect method of death is well publicized. The little known fact is that the AIDS virus is also capable of killing directly by destroying the brain cells, (AIDS virus encephalopathy) with no damage to the immune system. Currently these cases of AIDS-induced brain disease are not included in the category of full-blown AIDS (though just as lethal).

We have to question the statement (on page one, paragraph two): "HIV is a virus which is not easy to catch." The sheer number of people estimated to have the virus (millions) leads us to a more logical assumption.

The information given under the heading "Stage 1: Asymptomatic Carrier" (page one) was excellent. It is especially interesting and of such great importance that it needs to be re-emphasized that, although the people in this stage one show no signs of the disease they are still perfectly capable of infecting others. It should be further noted that once infected with the AIDS virus a person will remain infected for the rest of his/her life and remain capable of spreading the disease. The health department module states, "A person may stay in stage one several months or it may last for seven years or more." This may lead one to believe that once contracted, the virus might somehow disappear. The statement could be clarified. If a person in stage one does not progress to stages two and three they will continue to carry the virus for as long as they live, capable of spreading the virus, capable of entering stages two and three at any time, and capable of being affected directly by progressive AIDS-induced brain disease.

On page two of the health department module it is stated: "Donated blood is now tested for HIV and is very safe." This statement might better read: "Donated blood is now tested for HIV and is safer than before it was tested." Because of technicalities involved it is still possible for some virus-infected blood to be missed by this test. Although the blood supply is safer than it was before 1985, it is not known just how safe it really is.

The health department module correctly informs us of the known risk factor involved because of the presence of the AIDS virus in semen, blood, pus, and urine. The module fails, however, to mention that the virus has also been isolated from saliva and tears.

Quoting from Gene Antonio's book, "The Aids Coverup?" page 107, "In a study reported in the October 1984 issue of Science, respected Boston hematologist Dr. Jerome Groopman, along with researchers from the National Institute of Health, found the AIDS virus contained in saliva of persons at risk for AIDS, both those with ARC and those who were asymptomatic." The Center for Disease Control soon thereafter (Jan. 11, 1985) stated "There is a risk of infecting others by...exposure of others through oral-genital contact or intimate kissing."

The health department states: (page two of module) "HIV is not passed through air, water, food, or common objects such as toilets, door knobs, telephones, office machinery, or household furniture." Again quoting from Gene Antonio's book (page 109) "The Sept. 18, 1985, issue of the British medical journal Lancet contained a study by a team of French researchers from the Viral Oncology Unit at the Pasteur Institute revealing that the AIDS lentivirus can remain infectious outside the body for up to 10 days." In light of this and other studies done on the toughness of the AIDS virus outside the body, it seems a caution would be in order rather than reassurances that casual contact is nothing to worry about.

"Protect Yourself from AIDS" (point No. 3, page three of module) states: "No sex is the safest of all." This statement could be prefaced with "For those not married..."

The health department module urges those who do have sex to practice "safe sex." Safe sex is defined as something where no body fluids are exchanged. The condom is said to give some protection or be a means to achieve the practice of "safe sex." The specific information lacking here is the actual effectiveness of the use of a condom.

We applaud the health department's efforts to inform the public and encourage them to continue to make us aware of important changes regarding the AIDS epidemic. At the same time we are disappointed by the lack of certain facts that should have been available to our public health department but were not presented in the teaching module. I would finally like to thank Dr. Nowak, medical director of the Mid-Michigan Health Department, for taking the time to listen to my concerns regarding the "Home Teaching Module on AIDS." I would also like to assure Dr. Nowak and anyone reading this letter, that the intention here is not to attack or discredit the work of the health department, but only to present further, factual information.

If this additional information strikes fear in some, I believe that fear itself can be used as a viable tool in stopping the AIDS epidemic. Fear of the consequences of breaking man-made laws prevents us from certain behavior. Fear of consequences from breaking God-given laws can also prevent and change behavior.

"The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom..." (Proverbs 9:10).

In the house of representatives Parole standards

By Gary Randall

Legislation that would establish minimum standards before dangerous prison inmates could be paroled or placed in the community has been introduced in the Michigan house.

The bill (HB4654) sponsored by both Republican and Democrat members of the house corrections committee, addresses some of the serious problems brought about by prison overcrowding. The overcrowding is forcing parole boards to review many more inmates.

Unfortunately, prisoners have been placed prematurely in halfway houses and other community settings before they are ready.

This legislation would establish a mechanism under which clear standards must be met before the prison system can place an inmate on parole or in the community and requires that public safety be a principal consideration.

Dillingham Comments Drug testing

By Fred Dillingham

Drug abuse is a curse that affects not only the individuals involved, but everyone around them. The problem presents special dangers in the workplace, which is why the Senate is considering legislation that I have sponsored that would allow drug testing of employees.

While providing a means for employers to ensure that drug abuse doesn't invade their workplace, S.B. 407 has inherent safeguards to protect the individual worker from misuse of the testing. Testing is only allowed under four possible situations.

Testing is allowed if the employer has reasonable cause to suspect drug use. It is also permitted if employees are working directly with the public, or in a position where they could affect the health and safety of co-workers, but only if everyone in a similar position is tested. A worker who operates heavy machinery or nuclear power plant controls, for instance, could pose a serious safety threat to fellow workers and even the general public.

My legislation also specifies the employer must universally test employees if they test one worker. For small companies of less than 100 workers, that means testing all employees over a specific period of time. For larger employers, with thousands of unrelated jobs and divisions, universal testing must be done within specifically outlined categories, which include management levels.

Testing must be done by licensed laboratories, and a sample large enough for three separate tests must be taken. If the first test results are positive, a confirming test is required. If the second test is positive, the employee would be asked to make a written explanation. Only if a third and final test is positive would the results be sent to the personnel office.

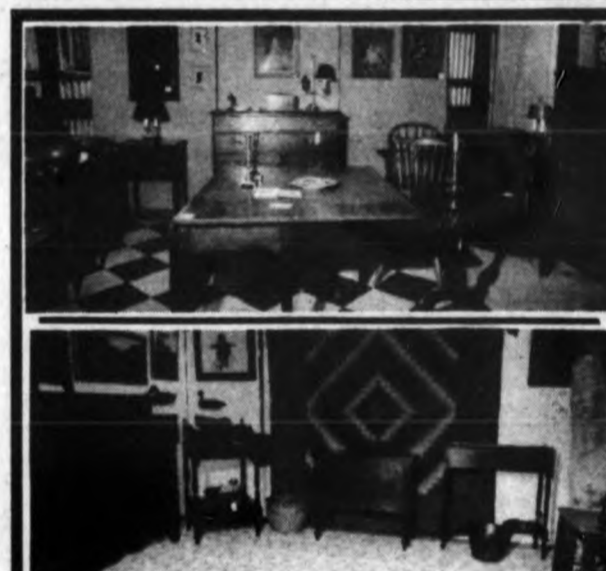

An added safeguard is the requirement that employers make clear to all employees which drugs are subject to testing and grounds for disciplinary action. And information can only be provided to the company regarding those drugs which are on the employer's list. The legislation is designed to be superseded by any collective bargaining agreement on drug testing made between employers and workers.

There is no way to make drug testing in the workplace a pleasant or easily accepted thing. Drugs themselves are an unpleasant reality of modern society. Drug abuse raises costs, threatens safety, and rips apart the very fabric of our lives. This bill may help end the tragedy of drug abuse, at least in one setting, and for that reason the Senate will be considering this bill seriously over the next few months.

Fred Dillingham represents the 30th District in the Michigan Senate.

"It's in the Bag"
by Bob Beck

It wasn't until about 1600 that men in Western Europe stopped using their daggers as food tools and settled for table knives. Kitchen knives evolved slowly, mostly because of a lack of technology.

If you plan on cutting up meat or poultry, you need a good 6-inch boning knife. Select one made of forged high carbon steel. High carbon steel sharpens to the best edge but requires storage care to prevent rusting. Test the steel by clicking with a fingernail. It should ring. After clicking, be sure and count your fingers.

Take heed, home cooks are wrong in wanting to stick their cutting knives into a dishwasher - or to soak them. It distorts the temper of the blade and can loosen the handle. They are wrong, too, in wanting knives they never have to sharpen. Knives you don't have to sharpen are very hard, but never really sharp.

Remember, once you take a knife in hand, make sure it is sharp. There is a general agreement that dull knives are more dangerous than sharp ones, because so much more force and pressure is needed to make them do the job.

We have given you some "sharp" advice about knives, so it seems only reasonable that we do the same about "cutting" food prices. Shop Beck's for a "shear" delight.

Ovid girl dies, three injured in car accident

An Ovid youth was killed and three other young people injured in an automobile accident last Tuesday evening on Walker Road, just east of Scott Road in Clinton County.

Angela Marie Steele, 17, died when she lost control of the car she was driving, causing it to leave the roadway and roll over, according to the report filed by the Clinton County Sheriff's Department. Preliminary investigation revealed the vehicle was westbound on Walker Road when it left the road, throwing three of the four occupants from the vehicle.

No one was wearing seatbelts, the report said.

Passengers in the car were Daniel Joe Geer, 18, from Ovid who was treated and released from Clinton Memorial Hospital the night of the accident; Troy Lee Archuleta, 13, from Rock Spring, Wyo., also treated at Clinton Memorial and released on Wednesday evening; and Kathryn Anne Moore, 17, from Elsie who was reported in "fair to good" condition at Clinton Memorial on Friday.

Assisting at the scene of the accident were the St. Johns Police Department and Clinton Area Ambulance Service.

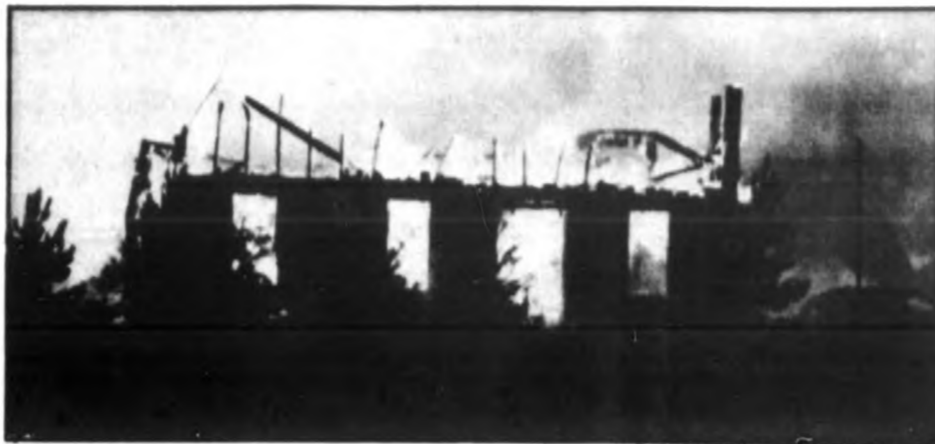

In a separate accident Thursday afternoon, a 7-year-old youngster was critically injured when he swerved into the path of an oncoming car while riding his bicycle. The accident occurred on Shepardsville Road, one-half mile south of Price Road, in Victor Township.

According to the preliminary report filed by the Clinton County Sheriff's Department, Eugene Edward Kim veered into the path of a car driven by Debra Ann Huss, 24, of 1665 Burrows, East Lansing. The youth is the son of Edward Kim, 1025 Washington St., Owosso.

He was taken to Sparrow Hospital where his condition was listed as "critical" upon admission and had improved to "serious" on Friday afternoon.

No charges were filed. However, the accident remains under investigation.

BARN BLAZE — Lightning struck a barn in rural Clinton County when fierce afternoon thunderstorms swept through the area last Thursday. The St. Johns Fire Department answered the call and contained the fire to the barn, located on the corner of County Farm and Centerline Roads in Olive Township.

Lightning causes fire

Lightning was the cause of a fire last Thursday which destroyed a barn owned by Robert Broughan, 925 W. Centerline Road, in Olive Township of Clinton County.

St. Johns firefighters responded to a call by a neighbor who saw lightning hit the wood and mortar structure. There was no one home at the time of the fire.

Fire Chief Clare Maier said the St. Johns unit answered the call and began putting water on a number of buildings adjacent to the barn. There was no appreciable damage to the other buildings or to the house, he said.

Because the fire was located in Olive Township, St. Johns firefighters notified the city of DeWitt when they reached the scene.

"We do not have a contract with Olive Township," Maier said. "This was not our territory, so we turned the fire over to DeWitt."

The St. Johns unit had the blaze well under control when DeWitt reached the scene.

Lost in the fire was a pick-up truck, parked next to the burning barn, and a mobile trailer parked near the barn was damaged, Maier said.

An estimate of damages was not available.

Arraigned for rape

Martin Gerard Quinn, 30, of 4059 Woodbridge, Lansing, was charged with first-degree criminal sexual conduct for the alleged rape and beating of a DeWitt woman.

District Judge Jeffrey Martlew bound Quinn over to Clinton County Circuit Court for arraignment on Aug. 14. Quinn is being held on a $1 million bond.

At a preliminary court examination last Tuesday, the woman identified Quinn and described the details of the assault. She says a man surprised her after she returned home from morning classes at Lansing Community College. She says he was hiding in a closet. After tying her up, he gagged her and placed tape with gauze under it over her eyes.

The victim says she pleaded with him to not hurt her child, because she was pregnant. After sexually attacking her, he fled the home.

She says that after he left, she freed herself, got a gun from the house, and went to get help.

The victim says as she was driving down the road she saw a sheriff's deputy behind a car, and saw the man who had just raped her. She says she drove over and told the officer that the man had just raped her. She says that Quinn attempted to drive off and the deputy stopped him.

Attends honors class

Michael Gehoski, a mathematics teacher at St. Johns Public Schools, has been selected as 1 of 25 teachers from throughout the United States to participate in an Honors Teacher Workshop this summer at Michigan State University. The workshop lasts four weeks, from June 22 to July 17.

During the last week of the workshop, participants will form the nucleus of a three-member resource development team committed to work with other mathematics teachers in the area during the upcoming school year and summer.

The major focus of the workshop is on the work of the Middle Grades Mathematics Project which has been developed by members of the mathematics department at MSU during the past decade.

Many internationally known leaders in mathematics education are participants in the workshop. The workshop is funded by the National Science Foundation.

Jury duty

By Dawn Harris

More Michigan citizens now have a chance of being chosen to serve on a jury. A state law passed in 1986 noticeably increases the potential pool of jury members by calling jurors from lists of drivers licenses and state-issued personal identification cards instead of from voter registration rolls.

The Secretary of State's office estimates that 95 percent of Michigan adults who are eligible for jury duty have either drivers licenses or personal identification cards (usually issued to elderly persons or to non-drivers) and that only about 85 percent of the eligible adults are registered voters. Supporters felt this new legislation, which takes effect in August 1987, would provide for better representation of juries of minorities and young adults, two groups that tend to be underrepresented on voter registration rolls. They also noted this method would provide more accurate address information than voter registration lists.

This new legislation does not make other changes in practices and procedures of jury duty in Michigan. Jurors will be chosen on a random basis from these new rolls. Persons who are over 70 years old or who are unable to read and write are automatically excused from jury duty. Exemptions based on occupations, such as law or medicine, no longer exist.

The reimbursement rate for jury service is $15 per day, $7.50 per half-day, and 10 cents per mile. In most cases, jurors will be excused from serving if it is determined that financial hardship would result.

Dawn Harris is the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service Home Economist.

Elsie plans special events

Elsie, the Borden Cow, will make her second consecutive appearance at the Elsie Dairy Festival planned for July 16-18 in the village of Elsie. It will be one of Elsie's only Midwest appearances of the year, and is one of the many attractions scheduled for the second annual festival.

The U.S. Post Office in Elsie will issue a special cancellation design in honor of the dairy festival all three days. A station will be set up at Williams Hardware, corner of Main and Ovid streets, in downtown Elsie.

Rides and games by Cook Amusement Company will be located on the Elsie Main Street midway during all three days, and raffle tickets for a chance to win a 1987 Ford Ranger pickup will also be on sale each day of the festival. Tickets are $20 each for the truck donated by Dick Hallead Ford in Elsie.

Visitors will be able to tour Green Meadows Farms, the world's largest registered holstein operation, located at 6400 Hollister Road south of the village limits. An information booth will be located on the bank lawn sponsored by the Dairy Diplomats. Along with events scheduled for all three days, helicopter rides will be offered on Thursday and Friday and hot air balloon rides will be given away on Thursday. A community picnic is planned for Thursday at 6 p.m. as well as the prince and princess pageant to determine Elsie's first Dairy Festival Prince and Princess.

Friday events include a bake sale sponsored by Elsie Baptist Church, ice cream eating contest, tractor pull at 7 p.m., and street dance beginning at 9 p.m. The "jail" opens on Friday with the Keystone Cops patrolling the midway throughout the day.

The Milk Buds, a family entertainment group from Wisconsin, will perform from their milk wagon at 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. on both Friday and Saturday. Other Saturday festival activities include a pancake breakfast at the Elsie United Methodist Church, community fun walk beginning at 9 a.m., and bake sale sponsored by the Elsie Women's Literary Club.

The annual dairy festival parade gets underway at 11 a.m., followed by a chicken barbeque sponsored by the Ovid-Elsie High School FFA chapter. A Las Vegas party runs from noon to midnight at the Elsie American Legion, and a pony pull is planned for 3 p.m. at Elsie Junior High.

Festivities conclude on Sunday with a community church service outdoors on Main Street near the Methodist and Baptist churches featuring gospel singers "The Calvary Men."

Recreational vehicles are welcome for the weekend. Phone (517) 862-4311 for more information on any Dairy Festival event.

'Milk Buds' grace stage

Quickly now: what has eight heads, has entertained thousands of spectators and hails from the state of Wisconsin?

It is the "Milk Buds," the team of ponies fronting the entertainment group, The Schottler Family, that will grace the stage of the 1987 Elsie Dairy Festival, July 16, 17 and 18 in downtown Elsie.

This spring, festival organizers announced The 'Buds — actually the Schottler Family Ponies from dairy-rich Somerset, Wis. — would be featured entertainers. In parades since 1974, the Schottler Family Ponies have been seen and enjoyed by thousands of people of all ages. Because the family wanted them to be associated with the dairy industry, and because people were frequently comparing the ponies to the Budweiser Clydesdales, in 1982 the majestic horses were named "The Milk Buds."

A very attractive and impressive unit, The Milk Buds have performed in parades in all weather; from the heat of summer to the cold of the St. Paul (Minn.) Winter Carnival; in rain as well as snow; in "wall-to-wall" people, and rodeo-style. The ponies are definitely "attention-getters."

The Milk Buds are a family of ponies. Seven of the eight ponies in the hitch were raised on the Schottler Family Farm. The eighth one is Corky, the father of the seven. The Schottlers have always been able to provide one or two foals for additional appeal. All have four white socks and some white in their tails. They provide an exceptionally attractive exhibit in their stalls, as well as on parade.

Because the Schottlers place a high value on family endeavors, and they need at least four people to handle the ponies, they have formed a group to provide music for additional entertainment, and have developed family entertainment with a very broad appeal. As a lady in Rhinebeck, N.Y., said, "Those ponies are great, but the rest of the show is even better!"

The family roster includes Joe, 19; Lisa, 16; Stephanie, 12; Theresa, 8; and Nick, 6; in addition to Mom and Dad. The music includes many happy songs, as well as a few of their own "commercials."

"We strive to emphasize positive family values," says Mr. Schottler. "We enjoy meeting people and intend to continue to do our best to bring our 'warm fuzzy' entertainment to people across the land."

Other attractions of the 1987 Dairy Festival will include a giant midway downtown on Main Street; the second-straight appearance of Elsie the Borden Cow, food, and fun and games for every member of your family.

SJ man joins Peace Corps

St. Johns resident Gerald Schutzenhofer has been accepted into the Peace Corps. He will be leaving for the Philippine Islands on Sept. 13 after completing orientation sessions in the United States.

As a Peace Corps volunteer, Schutzenhofer will be serving in a primary health care program. He will be responsible for establishing and maintaining rural health clinics. In addition, he will devise programs to improve diet and nutritional levels.

Schutzenhofer has been employed by the McCann Management Company in St. Johns since 1982. He graduated from Southern Illinois University with a degree in marketing in 1962.

Currently, 5,700 Americans of all ages and occupational backgrounds serve as Peace Corps volunteers in 61 developing nations. During the next 12 months, the agency expects to place a near record number of Americans in agriculture, forestry, fisheries, education, health, and skilled trades programs.

A particularly urgent need currently exists for U.S. citizens with extensive carpentry, masonry, plumbing, or general construction experience. In agriculture, individuals are sought who have commercial farm experience raising crops, small animals, beef or dairy cattle, bees, or who have participated in 4-H, FFA, or FHA programs.

Peace Corps officials note that a college degree is not required for many job assignments. However, an individual should have at least three to five years of full-time work experience. There is no upper age limit.

Applications are now being sought across the state. Individuals interested in obtaining more information on Peace Corps job opportunities should call (313) 226-7928, Ext. 454, or write: The Peace Corps, 477 Michigan Ave., Room M-74, Detroit, MI 48226.

City race set for November

With just three candidates running for seats on the St. Johns City Commission, there will be no need for a primary election in August, says St. Johns City Manager Randy Humphrey.

"It would have taken at least five candidates to require a primary election," Humphrey says. "Now, the commissioners' election will take place during regular November voting."

Two seats will be filled, with incumbents Ben Munger and Raymond Parr running for reelection, and Robert Wood also having filed his petition for the election. Both seats are for four-year terms.

Crystal Raceway will play host to S.T.A.R.S. in two nights of racing

S.T.A.R.S. will race at Crystal Raceway in a two-day special event, the Great Lakes North-South Shootout, on July 25-26. Michigan's late models and S.T.A.R.S. will vie for the $30,000 purse that goes to the winners. What is S.T.A.R.S.? It's an acronym for Short Track Auto Racing Stars.

Who are the S.T.A.R.S.? Racers expected to take part in the event are: Jeff Purvis, three-time World 100 winner and NASCAR/Busch All Star Super Series Champion; Charlie Swartz, Dirt Track World Championship winner, Hillbilly 100 winner, and World 100 winner; Jack Boggs, Dirt Track World Championship winner, two-time Hillbilly 100 winner, and 1985 S.T.A.R.S. champion; Larry Moore, two-time World 100 winner, Hillbilly 100 winner, and multi-titled at several tracks; and John Mason, 1984 S.T.A.R.S. National Champion.

The race, along with the $30,000 purse, are expected to bring the finest weekend of dirt racing in the regular 1987 season. Michigan drivers expected to participate include Kris Patterson, Gene Playter, Denny Anderson, Roger Wing, Bob Flinn and many more.

Advance tickets can be reserved by mailing money orders to: Crystal Raceway, 4666 Garfield Rd., Middleton, 48856, before July 21. Tickets will be held at the gate. Two-day adult grandstand tickets are $20 (Sat. $10, Sun. $15). Children's tickets for all ages through 12 are $5 per day. Two-day pit passes are $30 (Sat. $15, Sun. $20). No one under 14-years-old is allowed in the pits. Youth aged 14-17 must have a waiver signed by their parents.

An autograph and camera session is planned for 3-5 p.m. on Sunday at trackside. Only fans with July 26 tickets may participate.

Santa Claus visits Crystal

Following are schedule changes for races at Crystal Raceway.

July 18: PROS racing series will not run. Santa Claus will visit with children and bring gifts for each one.

July 25-26: Two days of racing, not one. Santa Claus will be back at the North Pole, not at Crystal. The S.T.A.R.S. racing series will be at Crystal. Drivers from the southern and eastern states will run against local late model drivers. An autograph session will be held on July 26 at 3 p.m. for that day's ticket holders. Time trials at 6:30 p.m., races at 7:55 p.m. both days.

Golf marathon at Highland Hills will aid cancer victims

Clinton County golf enthusiasts are in full swing! On July 17, the "Longest Day of Golf" will be played at Highland Hills Golf Course, located on South US-27 and Alward Road near DeWitt.

A Highland Hills golf foursome comprised of Assistant Golf Professional John Watkins, Pat Leary, Jamie West and Dennis Reppengagen will play as many holes of golf as possible from sunrise to sunset. Pledges will be made for each hole played with the proceeds going for programs run by the American Cancer Society.

"American Cancer Society programs serve cancer patients, support cancer research education projects and further cancer research both locally and throughout Michigan," said Watkins, chairman of the event.

Persons interested in making pledges in support of the foursome may call Highland Hills at 669-9873.

Annual Buick outing well attended

Keelean tourney is success

The Seventh Annual Keelean Buick Open went off without a hitch at the Clinton County Country Club on June 27-28 with 120 golfers participating in the two-day event.

The open, sponsored by Keelean Buick, Pontiac, GMC in St. Johns, featured a different format from past years where low gross and low net scorers went on to play in the Pro-Am day at the Buick Open held at Warwick Hills Golf Club in Grand Blanc.

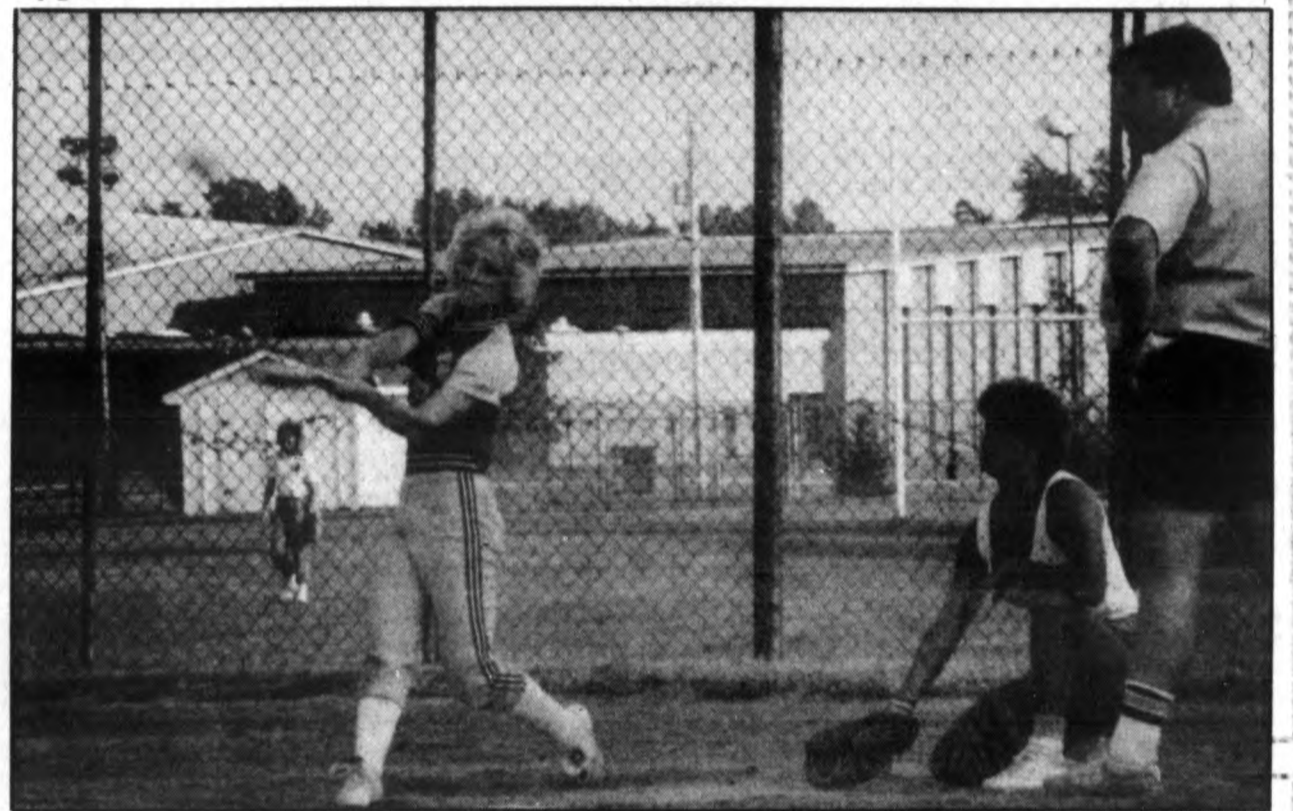

"General Motors elected not to use that format this year," said Frank Keelean, owner of Keelean Buick. "We decided to have our tournament anyway and awarded a two-day, one-night golf excursion to the six top golfers."

Saturday's low gross score went to Dan Schueller of St. Johns, while Jeff Dean of St. Johns had the low net score.

A two-person team event was played on Sunday with golfers divided into an A and B flight. Winners in the A flight were Bruce Whittemore and Doug Weese, both of Lansing. B flight winners were Maynard Bailey and R. Andrews of St. Johns.

Golfers from Lansing, Holt, DeWitt, Holland, South Haven, as well as from the St. Johns area took part in the open.

"It was a good two days of golfing for persons who belong to the club and everyone in the area," Keelean said.

League season winds down for Palominos

By RHONDA WESTFALL
Sports Editor

The St. Johns/DeWitt Palomino League team earned a split in league play with Vandervoorts of Lansing last week. They won the opening game 3-1, but were shut-out in the second half of the twin bill 8-0.

The split gives the team a record of 8-4 with just one league doubleheader left on the schedule. The team, sponsored by Melville Emblem of DeWitt, faces the East Lansing American Legion team tonight (July 14) in their regular season finale. Game time is 4 p.m. at Lansing Sexton's field.

Andy Ball was the winning pitcher in the opening game win with Vandervoorts, pitching all seven innings. He gave up four hits, struck out two batters, and walked two.

St. Johns/DeWitt picked up one run in the top of the fourth when Jerry Duwell singled, stole second, and advanced to third on a fly ball hit by Tim Cleaver. An infield groundout by Dan Dorn plated Duwell.

Vandervoorts tied the game with a solo home run in the bottom of the fourth, and the Melville Emblem team put the game away with two runs in the fifth. Ball and Dwight Pierson both drew walks to open the inning. Scott Heibeck advanced both runners off a sacrifice bunt, and a single by Mark Campinen of DeWitt allowed both runners to score.

The 8-0 second-game loss went just five innings as a result of an eight-run-rule which the league employs. Tom Bates pitched the first 2 2/3 innings and took the loss. He gave up seven runs on six hits. Duwell pitched the remaining 1 1/2 innings, giving up one run on three hits.

Singles were registered by Dale Hawkins and Mark Rosendale of DeWitt, and Barry Kiel and Duwell of St. Johns.

"We really didn't get any big opportunities to score in the game," Coach Doug Parker said.

Vandervoorts plated four runs in the second inning — all on errors — three runs in third with two coming off a home run, and one in the fourth, also as a result of a home run.

"The East Lansing Legion team is supposedly the best team in the Lansing area," Parker said of his squad's game tonight. "It's made up of the best kids from all the Lansing area high schools and they play 40-50 games during the summer."

The St. Johns/DeWitt team plans to play in the Palomino State Tournament during the week of July 20th in Waterford. Details for the double-elimination affair were not available as of press time.

Burgess memorial run set

The Wayne Burgess Memorial Fun Run is scheduled for July 19 with a 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. sign-in at the St. Johns City Park. The event is sponsored by the Gold Wing Road Riders, Chapter U, in memory of Burgess who passed away one year ago.

All motorcyclists are invited to take part in the run. There will be door prizes, cash prizes, and pins available.

New sunfish category named for Master Angler DNR program

An new category of "Hybrid Sunfish," with a minimum entry weight of 12 ounces, has been established with Michigan's Master Angler Award Program, administered by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

The hybrid sunfish is described as any fish of the sunfish family (genus Lepomis or Ambloplites) that has hybridized (crossed) with another sunfish.

Michigan sunfishes that will hybridize include the bluegill, pumpkinseed, rock bass and warmouth bass and the longear, orange spotted, green and redear sunfishes.

Entries for the 1987 award year may be submitted up to Jan. 10, 1988. A new state record hybrid sunfish will be announced at that time.

The Master Angler Award Program, created in 1973, recognizes anglers catching large species of Michigan fish that meet minimum entry weight requirements. A master angler patch is awarded to all qualifying entrants. To date, nearly 5,000 anglers have participated in the program.

Outdoors Fishing tips

By Dick Bradley

You say you don't think you'll bother reading this because you'll never catch a fish big enough for mounting? They tell me that about 75 to 80 percent of all mounted specimens are caught by people just like you and me. The thing is that if you do get lucky it might be a "once in a lifetime" chance to have a trophy preserved, and you at least want to have a choice as to having it mounted.

Don't clean the fish. At least don't do it unless you know exactly how. You want to preserve the shape and color of the fish as much as possible, so wrap the specimen in a damp, lightly salted cloth as soon as you have the chance. Freeze it if you can, for even better results. The problem is that many larger fish are caught while on vacation, quite a ways from home, and freezing is out.

Don't even consider eating the trophy. Eat the smaller ones and just try to keep the big fellow cool and in shape. If you have a camera with you, get some good color pictures of the fish. This will greatly assist the taxidermist in restoring your trophy to the appearance that you remember. He is an artist, after all, and will appreciate the help that a good picture gives.

Just for a moment let's assume that you are out in a boat, battling a giant largemouth bass. You see that he is the biggest you've ever had on a line and the idea of mounting the fish flashes through your mind. What to do?

If you are a real "cool headed" individual in pressure situations you will play out that fish until it is exhausted. The reason being that fish, especially big ones, will do a lot of damage to their fins and tails, thrashing about on the bottom of the boat or even in a net. A really nice mount depends mightily on the condition of the fins and tail, and even though they can be reproduced, the originals are much better. The trick, then, is to whip the fish thoroughly before boating him.

The real answer to getting the best mount is of course getting the trophy to the taxidermist as soon as possible. He is a pro and can do a lot for your fish for the three to five dollars per inch that he charges. You can see that he has the best chance to make the mount lifelike by taking the steps that you can follow. Wrap the fish in cool, lightly salted cloth, take good pictures of it, emphasizing color, keep it thrashing to a minimum, and of course, don't clean it.

This just might be the summer and I certainly do qualify as one of the 75 to 80 percent of the fishermen who are unlikely to catch a trophy fish. You probably do too.

Conservation corner Natural resources

By Eileen Gillespie

Natural resources affect people and people affect natural resources. Many problems and opportunities arise from this mutual relationship.

Many qualities or attributes of nature are customarily described as "natural resources" — soils, climate, plants, minerals, and others. But these are not really resources for human welfare until appropriate amounts of human energy, resourcefulness, capital, and managerial capacity have been applied to these qualities of nature to transform them into materials or services useable by people.

Oil existed in the ground for many centuries. But until it could be brought to the surface, it could not be transformed into products useable by people. Fish in the sea or in the river are a potential resource, but not an actual one unless some means exist for catching them. The finest soils likewise are a potential resource, but not an actual one until some means for tillage and some crops adapted to the climate and the soils exist so that food and fiber can be grown for human use. One could multiply these examples many times over.

Application of human energy, resourcefulness, capital, and managerial capacity must be efficient in terms of the value of the output compared with the value of the inputs, if the resource transformation process is to continue and be logical. For instance, by using extraordinary inputs, one might grow bananas on a cold mountaintop, yet the results would be so inefficient as to make the whole enterprise unreasonable.

Natural resources, defined broadly as suggested here, are always scarce in relation to human wants or demands. Not only is nature limited, as in the acreage of the most productive soils, for instance, but human efforts are also limited. It is precisely because natural resources are scarce in relation to demand that they are valued. And to help protect these valuable resources, such as soil and water, conservation is needed. We must protect the valuable topsoils that are so important to our survival. And to guard against impurities reaching into our natural water supplies.

The Clinton Soil Conservation District is one of your local agencies which works with you to save and preserve our natural resources for future generations to come. If you have a problem with conservation or would like a question answered concerning your soil, why don't you give us a call at 224-8769?

Eileen Gillespie is the administrative assistant for the Clinton Soil Conservation District.

the flooding problems in the fall of 1986.

The use of this no-interest money should free up approximately one half million dollars during each of the next three years, improving our farm economy nearly $1,500,000. This is a great help to our total economy for a county such as ours, dependent on agriculture for a large portion of its income.

Agricultural news Slip-resistant

By Marilyn Loudenslager

Cutting grooves into smooth concrete floors will eliminate the risk of cows injuring themselves by falling on the slippery surface.

"Don't wait to do something about a smooth concrete floor until you have to cull one of your best cows because she did the splits," says Tim Harrigan, Michigan State University Extension agricultural engineering specialist. "Cutting grooves into a worn and slippery floor is the most effective way to make the surface safe for both human and animal traffic."

You can get good results by cutting grooves that run the same direction as the traffic flow in alleys, but for the best results, diagonal grooves cut to form a diamond pattern are recommended. The diamond pattern provides an edge to catch a sliding hoof, regardless of the direction of the slip.

Grooves cut into alleys that are cleaned with a water flush system should run parallel to the direction of the water flow. Diagonal grooves or diamond patterns will impede water flow and lower the effectiveness of the flush system.

When cutting grooves in a smooth concrete floor, dairy farmers should try to provide a surface on which the cow's hoof is in contact with a groove at all times. Cut grooves 1/2 to 3/4 inch wide, 3/4 inch deep and on 3 1/2- to 4-inch centers to provide adequate traction for the animals.

The cost of hiring a contractor to cut grooves into a floor ranges from 40 to 50 cents per square foot, depending on the amount of aggregate in the concrete.

Muriatic acid, which is used to etch concrete, is not recommended because it is difficult and dangerous to handle. Anyone using muriatic acid must wear rubber clothing and gloves. Fumes from the acid are toxic, so a gas mask is also required. Cows should not be in the barn when muriatic acid is being used. Adequate ventilation is required.

The acid will also interfere with the microbial activity of septic and liquid manure systems, so dairy farmers will have to collect and haul away any waste acid after treatment is completed.

The use of heat to expand air in voids in the concrete, causing the surface to pop off, is another method that is not recommended because of the cost and potential risk of injury to cows and humans from flying pieces of jagged concrete.

The use of a scabber or scarifier to hammer the surface of the concrete will usually not provide long-term relief because the machines generally do not cut deep enough. Heavy animal traffic or daily scraping will soon reduce the effectiveness of this treatment.

Marilyn Loudenslager is the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service Agriculture Agent.

Earns Eagle rank

Achieving the rank of Eagle Scout is not an everyday occurrence — in fact, it's a rarity. David Chamberlain, a 1987 graduate of Ovid-Elsie High School, was awarded the prestigious Eagle Scout ranking in special Eagle Court of Honor ceremonies held at the Ovid VFW Hall recently. The son of Don and Sue Chamberlain of Ovid, David built a foot bridge over the creek at Ovid's Gumaer Village Park as his Eagle Scout project.

Pack 575 in school, earning all 25 skills and the Arrow of Light. He joined Troop 585 in September of 1980 and has earned 22 merit badges during the past seven years with the troop. Among his badges earned are Citizenship in the Community, First Aid, Citizenship in the Nation, Citizenship in the World, Environmental Science, Wilderness Survival, Emergency Preparedness, and numerous athletic badges.

He entered scouting in 1978 and was captain of both the boys' swim and track teams. He also participated in many other school functions. A member of St. Johns Episcopal Church in Ovid, David has been active in church activities including serving as acolyte for church services since he was 8 years old. Brother Mike Herman of St. Johns Episcopal Church gave the benediction at the Court of Honor ceremony. This summer, David is serving as camp counselor at Camp GordonWood in Ortonville, an Episcopal Church camp. He plans to attend Michigan Tech this fall where he will study engineering.

Church hosts concert

Festival of Praise, solo, and instrumental music has been specifically designed to include the audience in worship. It includes new gospel songs as well as familiar praise choruses and traditional hymns. West coast arranger/writer Terry Winch has written the vocal and instrumental arrangements. Festival of Praise will present the music from their sixth album on Light Records, "Jehovah," described as perhaps the most important musical of the decade. Festival of Praise, now in its 11th year, has sung in more than 2,500 churches and civic auditorium concerts in the United States and Canada, and has been featured regularly on several nationally teleed programs such as the "700 Club," "100 Huntly Street," and the "PTL Club." They have appeared annually at the Christian Artists Music Seminar at Estes Park, Colo., MUSiCalifornia, and Lexicon Music workshops. Their current program was recently described by a leading churchman as "the finest worship experience we have ever seen." For more information contact Pilgrim United Methodist Church, corner of Parks and DeWitt Roads, St. Johns, or call 224-6865 or 224-4423. Babysitting will be provided and a freewill offering will be taken to support the ministry of this group. The public is invited to be a part of this service.
