School Board says no

School door-to-door busing left standing on the corner

By MARTY ACKLEY

A move to reinstate door-to-door busing in the St. Johns school district hit the canvas again last week, but insistent parents have warned the St. Johns Board of Education that the fight is not over yet.

By a vote of 4-2, the board defeated a motion to reinstate the door-to-door busing in the district's outlying areas. Board member Gary Whitford abstained.

That form of busing was eliminated back in 1979 when the school board made some $150,000 in cuts. A move to reinstate door-to-door busing has been made several times since.

Assistant Superintendent Gordon Vandermark explained to the board and the audience that reinstating door-to-door busing would increase bus mileage by 242 miles, and at an estimated cost of 80 cents per mile, would cost the district $29,040 for the remainder of the school year.

Add to that, he said, an increase in hours for the drivers which would mean $15,856, would bring the total cost to $44,896.

The district would get back some 25 cents back on the dollar, however, from the state as reimbursement. So the bottom line cost to the district would be between $30,000 and $33,000.

That cost didn't seem to matter to many of the parents and even some board members since minutes earlier an audit of the district showed a balance of $766,269 in the fund equity.

"We must have been saving money not having the program," commented board member Leonard Puetz, who along with Neil Barnhart, were the only two board members to vote for the reinstatement.

Puetz added, "We cut as a necessity. I think we should put it (busing) back since we have the money now."

Barnhart noted that the district is willing to spend $1,000 to send three bus loads of students to Ferris State College for a day and fund other extracurricular activities, yet is not willing to reinstate the door-to-door busing program.

Board President Robert Craig, one of the four to vote against the reinstatement, said that he is not against reinstating the door-to-door busing, but would also like to look at restoring the other cuts made several years ago.

"To key in on busing alone," Craig state, "is unfair to our kids. While we are discussing priorities, we've got to look at other ways as well to use our money to improve the education for our children."

In agreeing that the question of door-to-door busing is not over yet, board member Thomas Irrer said, "We have other options that cost less than door-to-door busing. If this doesn't pass, the administration can keep studying the situation and try to find a way to please most of the people most of the time."

Craig even went as far as to say that the school board may even put something on the ballot for voters next spring to decide the issue.

In other action, the board rescinded a pay freeze taken by the district's administrators, counselors and other non-union employees, and established a compensation schedule to the sum of $79,446. The concessions and freeze dated back to Sept. 8, 1982.

The school district's business manager, Rick Terres, told The Clinton County News that those retroactive increases to the non-union employees and administrators, as well as the back pay to the teachers and several other budget adjustments to be made at the November meeting will drain around $300,000 from the fund equity.

What's next?

With the interment of the DeWitt Sesquicentennial Time Capsule on Tuesday, residents of the now 150-year old town may ask themselves, "What do we do now?"

For some, like insurance agent Willard Reed, it's get back to business.

"I'm going to settle down and go back to work," Reed said. "It's easy to get involved and spend more time than you should on something like this. And if you're not careful, you will spend too much time."

For people like Peg Guilford, the Chairman of the Sesquicentennial Committee, it's being able to sit back and feel proud of a job well done. There was a successful Sesquicentennial Celebration and a renewed pride in DeWitt.

"We had an excellent turnout," Guilford said, "and we had fun."

"I set two goals for the Sesquicentennial. One is that I wanted the youngsters to see what it was like 150 years ago, to give them even the smallest taste of what it was like. That people had to get by without all these modern conveniences.

"The second," she went on, "was to generate a community spirit within the town."

Those goals, it may be safe to say, were met handsomely.

Guilford said there were so many people who have come into her hardware store in downtown DeWitt and told her what a great show this was or that was. People from DeWitt, she said, that she had never seen before.

"There's a lot of enthusiasm in the town, a community spirit," she said. "Success builds success. I don't think we'll lose it."

For people, young people, of the DeWitt Middle School, the end of the Sesquicentennial Celebration means waiting another 50 years to dig back into the Time Capsule and re-live the thoughts and predictions they had as children.

The letters to the future, DeWitt's Bicentennial, were written and sealed in three fiberglass containers and buried six feet deep with the Time Capsule.

Fifty years from now, one ambitious 61-year-old DeWitt native will remember that she wrote:

"In the year 2033 I will be sixty-one years old. I will be the president's wife. I will sit around all day and drink tea. I will have the best clothes there is. I will have diamonds on every finger and every toe. Also I will have a diamond necklace and earrings. By the year 2033 there probably will be diamond shoes, so I will have these also. We will live in a castle made of diamonds. We will also have maids, butlers, servants and chauffeurs to do all of the work for us."

Many of the returning adults will be reminded how they predicted the vast control computers will have on the lives of everyone.

"Our school will have computers installed everywhere," writes one boy, "even in the bathrooms! On desks too! Each student will have his or her own to do their work on and the teacher will have a master computer of all the students and could tell what they were doing so they wouldn't cheat."

High rolling Superintendent

Pewamo-Westphalia School Superintendent Roy Thelen was relaxing one Wednesday night by rolling his bowling ball at the Knights of Columbus Lanes in Westphalia.

But as the frames slipped by, the atmosphere got a little tense. When a bowler opens a game with nine straight strikes, everyone is anticipating three more strikes and a perfect game.

"I refused to think about it (the perfect game) until the tenth frame," Thelen said. "At that point, everybody stopped and watched. It's not that big of a deal. There's only six lanes in the whole place."

But that handful of onlookers raised quite a roar when Thelen finished with three strikes. It was the first perfect game ever at the lanes, which have been operating since 1948.

Thelen's reaction after rolling the 300? "I was relieved," said the superintendent, a 170-average bowler whose previous best game had been 256.

Central National Bank sold to firm

The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago has granted approval for American National Holding Company to acquire the Central National Bank of St. Johns.

American National Holding Company is based out of Kalamazoo and holds eight banks in West Michigan — Niles, South Haven, Ludington, Allegan, Portage, Three Rivers, Battle Creek, and Kalamazoo.

It just announced earnings of $1,378,000 in the third quarter, the best results for a three-month period in the history of the company. For the nine months, earnings increased over 32 per cent, also a record for the company.

The Central National Bank of St. Johns serves the Clinton County and East Lansing markets and offers the company an opportunity to expand into one of Michigan's most dynamic markets, according to American National Executive Vice President James H. Walters.

"It looked like an attractive bank in both the short and long runs," Walters told The Clinton County News. "The Lansing area is very attractive and expected to grow in the future. It is consistent with the kinds of markets we are dealing with now."

"It's a logical extension of our banking markets," Walters went on. "There is potential there. Plus it has many positive factors — good education, government, agriculture, tourism, and a substantial residential base."

Walters said Central National Bank of St. Johns is well run and in good communities and does not foresee any changes in the name, management, or board of directors.

He concluded by saying he expected the new affiliation to be consummated soon, around year's end, and is expected to make a positive contribution to the earnings of the company next year.

The American National Bank and Trust Company of Michigan will begin celebrating its 50th Anniversary on Nov. 1.

Hit-and-run injures woman

The DeWitt Township Police Department is still trying to track down a car involved in a hit-and-run accident which left a Lansing woman in critical condition.

The accident occurred Saturday, Oct. 15 around 3:30 p.m. on Daggott Road north of State Road in DeWitt Township.

Mrs. Mae Homer, 57, 15300 Airport Rd., Lansing had been dropped off by the side of Daggott Road by her husband who then proceeded to pull down the gravel to park their truck.

They were going to pick chestnuts.

While her husband was parking the truck, Mrs. Homer was struck from behind by a vehicle which then backed away from her and sped away.

Mrs. Homer's husband got a view of the automobile as it left the scene of the accident and found his wife laying on the ground.

She is listed in critical condition at Sparrow Hospital in Lansing.

Authorities are looking for an older model GM car, possibly a two-door, and maroon in color. They expect the car had received some damage to the front passenger's side.

The area in which the crime occurred is "very rural," according to a police spokesman, and only people familiar with the area would likely be using it. That, he says, is helping in the ongoing investigation.

The DeWitt Township Police Department is also seeking drunk driving charges against a DeWitt man who caused a personal injury accident early Sunday morning when turning into the parking lot of a local bar.

Raymond Taylor, 27, of 602 Cherry St., DeWitt was southbound on Northeast Street turning into the parking lot of the Stardust Bar around 2:15 a.m. when he struck an oncoming car.

The other car was driven by Tim Halcomb, 26, of 215 E. State Road, St. Louis, Mich.

Both drivers, and four passengers in the Halcomb vehicle, were hospitalized at Sparrow Hospital in Lansing.

The passengers were, Annie Eva, 21, 1208 N. Pine, Alma; Richard Eva, 51, 2270 Smith Rd., Eaton Rapids; Yolanda Compas, 21, 1208 E. Pine, Alma; and Brenda Edgar, 25, 109 Brunswick, DeWitt.

In other happenings around Clinton County:

The Clinton County Sheriff's Department investigated a one-car accident Saturday in Watertown Township.

A vehicle driven by Douglas Scott Morefield, 20, of 13116 Summer Lane, was westbound on Heribison Road near Forest Hill when the driver stated he was trying to light a cigarette and angled across the road and struck the cement guard rail of a bridge.

Morefield was taken to St. Lawrence Hospital in Lansing by Grand Ledge Ambulance. He was cited for careless driving.

The Sheriff's Department is also investigating the shooting out of four windows at the Eureka Elementary School sometime last week.

Authorities believe a pellet gun was used in the shooting. Three of the windows were the wire mesh type on some doors and one was a 5-by-5 plate glass window.

Damages were estimated at $300.

In a similar incident, James Andros of Fowler reported that someone broke a window at the Waldron Elementary School in Fowler. The window was smashed by an unknown object. Damage was estimated at $100.

A larceny occurred last week at the Gambles store in Fowler. Taken was a five-piece set of open end wrenches, Thosen brand, size three-eighths to three-quarters. The value of the property stolen was set at approximately $25.

Alan Martin of Fowler reported to the Sheriff's Department that someone broke into his vehicle while it was parked on Dexter Trail south of Price Road last Sunday and stole a cassette tape case containing approximately 20 tapes. He estimated the loss to be $200.

Tools were also stolen from the garage of Ken Himebaugh of Wacousta last weekend. The tool box taken was a Craftsman and contained various tools. There was no value listed for the items and no suspects at this time.

The Clinton County Sheriff's Department also investigated 12 property damage accidents in the past week, three of which involved minor injuries where drivers sought their own treatment.

The Bath Township Police Department reported a breaking and entering and larceny at the Fort Bernie Party Store on I-69 early Monday morning. Taken were lottery tickets and $150 in cash. The incident still remains under investigation.

There were a total of 92 complaints throughout Clinton County over the past week and 31 arrests made, 15 for operating a vehicle under the influence of liquor.

JTPA starting in the county

The Tri-County's Youth Development Corporation (YDC) has started in JTPA program.

What is JTPA?

It stands for the Jobs Training Partnership Act which has replaced the CETA program as the federally funded jobs program.

YDC will be providing various employment and training activities for out-of-school or part-time students who are 16-21 years old and live in Clinton, Eaton, or Ingham County.

The programs will consist of job seeking skills workshops, counseling, assessment, information and referral, work experience and tryout jobs. A limited number of youths will receive work experience of 20 hours per week in a non-profit organization for up to four months.

During this time they will develop a good work reference and improve their basic jobs skills such as dependability, ability to get along with supervisors and co-workers, reliability.

A new program available under JTPA is try-out jobs. This program places youths for 250 hours of training in a private-for-profit business. The employers commit themselves to hire the youths upon successful completion of the fully subsidized training period.

This will open up opportunities for youths who might have difficulty getting the job due to lack of experience, education, etc., to prove themselves on the job prior to going on the business payroll.

Those wanting further information on these or other YDC programs can contact the agency at 601 S. Capitol St., Lansing

More needed like Barbara

Thank goodness for people like Barbara Boughton.

In case you haven't been keeping up, Mrs. Boughton and a group of highly concerned citizens living in Clinton County's Watertown Township have been scrutinizing, sometimes even badgering, local officials about the running of their township.

They have been keeping close tabs on the way the township spends taxes, assess taxes, conducts business, and deals with township-wide issues.

If only every governmental body had a group like this one watching them maybe things would run more openly.

We're not saying that all governmental bodies are corrupt, or even for that matter Watertown Township. What we're pointing out is people should carry a more devoted interest in the running of their government.

Countless times while covering local council or board meetings, we the reporters, are the only ones present. We sometimes wonder if anyone really cares how their city or township is run and how their money is being spent.

We sincerely believe the efforts Boughton and her group are putting forth will straighten out the mismanagement Watertown Township has suffered over the past several years.

They will make that township a fine place to live and help it through the so-called "growing pains" Watertown is experiencing.

In these days of political apathy, when most people tend to say "They'll just tax us and spend it anyway," or "Let them run the government, that's what we elected them for," it's gratifying to see citizens get involved.

We wish more people will follow the glowing example Mrs. Boughton and her group have displayed. It may make your local government run more efficiently and responsibly to know that someone is watching and taking notes.

October is beautiful

Is October the peak of nature's splendor? Many writers think so.

Only springtime, with its flush of new growth and life — especially around here where winter seems so long — rivals October as nature's most glorious.

The color of autumn has different nostalgic flavor than spring.

Fall colors represent dying leaves, the end of a season, the closing of a year and cycle. Spring represents the beginning, something new.

Whatever the reader's choice, one of nature's two most colorful and beautiful seasons is at hand.

Those wise enough to walk through fields and forests on glorious fall days will find a new appreciation of power greater than man's.

Memory Lane...

By RUTH DELO

224-7028

Many of you can look back and remember dates very easily. Others have to have a reminder of some sort. Here is your reminder as to when the Secretary of State's Office moved.

This was from the issue of Republican News of Oct. 6, 1955.

License plate office moved to PX Store

Jack Anderson, proprietor of the PX Store in St. Johns, has been named deputy secretary of state for Clinton County and is now handling the sale of auto license plates from his store at 218 N. Clinton Ave.

Harry Patterson was formerly the secretary of state's deputy and sold license plates at his implement establishment just east of the city limits on M-21. He gave up the job when the attorney general ruled some time ago that license plate offices must be located within the city limits of county seats.

Anderson has named Miss Harguerite Swagart as his assistant and she will be active manager of the office.

School name change

"St. Johns Public Schools of Clinton County, Michigan," will be the official legal name of the local public school system in the future. This was decided Wednesday night at the October session of the Board of Education.

Known for many years as Bingham School District No. 4, the change of name is in conformity with a new statute enacted by the 1955-56 Legislature.

For practical purposes the short name of "St. Johns Public Schools" will be used, the board decided. The long legal name is for use in legal documents, identification of school bonds, insurance and property affairs. Memorandum of the change of name will go to the County Board of Education and to the State Department of Public Instruction.

On recommendation of Supt. Lancaster, the board also voted to expand the high school parking lot which was paved and put into use for the first time at the opening of the school term in September.

Hawaiian Paradise

By RUTH DELO

You people who have been lucky enough to go to Hawaii in the past few years will know whether this description of Hawaii differs from what you see now.

St. Johns people find perfect climate in Pacific Islands.

"Everything in the Hawaiian Islands seems to be conducive to comfort and a person who spends his life there without becoming at least moderately lazy must possess a good deal of will power," said Robert G. Allison of St. Johns who, with his wife and Mr. and Mrs. George H. Chapman, have just returned from a trip to the beautiful isles of the southern seas.

According to Mr. Allison, the St. Johns party "took in" everything on the islands from the awe-inspiring crater of Kilauaë to the celebrated beach at Waikiki where the bathers are said to swim to the tune of ukelele music.

On Aug. 6 we embarked on the steamer Matsonia and arrived in Honolulu on the island of Oahu six days later. Honolulu is a city of 307,000 people and is the largest metropolis of the islands. The Japanese number 120,000 and the pure Hawaiians only 20,000.

After reaching the port we drove 23 miles overland to Schofield Barracks where Mr. Allison's sister lives. We made our home there part of the time and stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Chapman at the Alexander Young Hotel in Honolulu.

One of the most interesting trips during our visit was the 192 mile ride by boat to the island of Hawaii on which the famous volcanoes were located. We drove to the crater Kilauaë, the most active volcano at the present time.

As we looked down into the crater, steam could be seen rising from far below and suddenly a land slide occurred on the pit opposite us and millions of tons of dirt rolled to the bottom. The ground under our feet was warm as a result of the eruption in May.

On the island of Hawaii there are 21 sugar plantations and mills. On the way to Hawaii we passed the island where 515 lepers with the relatives and attendants are isolated from the rest of the world.

The Hawaiian climate leaves nothing to be desired. The temperature is so pleasing that it is never noticed and the nights are just cool enough for restful sleep.

Newly hired Assistant Post Master Brenda Chapa sits at her desk at the St. Johns Post Office. She began her duties last week. (Photo by Marty Ackley)

Woman gets P.O. position

By MARTY ACKLEY

Brenda Chapa's appointment last week as the assistant postmaster for the St. Johns Post Office is not only significant because she is the first woman to hold that position, but to her, it's the reassurance that there is room for women in today's United States Post Office.

The 29-year old wife and mother of two children from Laingsburg has been steadily rising in the Post Office since her hiring eight years ago.

She started first as a clerk, then moved on to become a letter carrier then a carrier supervisor — the position she was at when she applied for and then promoted to her new duties at St. Johns.

She explained that for the past eight years, she has worked at the main post office in Lansing. Some days putting in 10-11 hours of work. That was one reason why she chose to apply for this job.

"My family suffered," she said. "Working here in St. Johns will give me more time to spend with them. I want to be closer to my family."

Chapa is the mother of a 10-year old daughter and nine-year old son, and the wife of a computer programmer for the State Treasury Department.

But she added that taking the assistant postmaster's job here in St. Johns was also a challenge to her.

Her duties as Supervisor of Postal Operations will consist of supervising the entire operation in St. Johns, from the clerks to the carriers, and do most of the bookwork when the postmaster isn't there.

Another challenge Chapa is facing is the acceptance of the male postal workers.

On her way up the postal management ladder, other women postmasters told her that men tend to not open up and say what they really mean, like they would to men superiors.

"So far," Chapa pointed out, "a few of the guys have opened up, but some are still a bit quiet. I expected that though, a lot of guys resent the authority of a woman."

Chapa seemed sure though, that the men will accept and respect her because she is a hard worker and a good supervisor.

Not happy with Blanchard

Cropsey, Randall agree on Ag. Dept. Director

Clinton County's two state legislators, Sen. Alan Cropsey (R-DeWitt) and Rep. Gary Randall (R-Elwell), endorsed the appointment of Dr. Paul Kindinger as the new director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

"The selection of Paul Kindinger as the new director to replace Dean Pridgeon is a victory for Michigan agriculture," Randall said.

Both Randall and Cropsey added they were pleased Kindinger won over former state Sen. John Hertel, who was Gov. James Blanchard's personal choice for the position.

"Dr. Kindinger brings to the position impressive credentials and a thorough background in agriculture. I'm happy that qualifications won out over politics in this important decision," stated Cropsey.

In addition, Cropsey expressed disappointment that Gov. Blanchard blasted the Agriculture Commission for choosing Kindinger over Hertel.

"It's disappointing that the governor should be so ungracious about the appointment of such a highly qualified person to fill this slot, simply because the Commission did not agree to fill this position with Blanchard's political crony," said Cropsey.

Randall said, "It is encouraging for all citizens of Michigan to know that the Agriculture Commission is above partisan politics. The members of the Commission based their choice on what is best for Michigan agriculture, not what is best for Gov. Blanchard's political career."

Kindinger is a former deputy director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture and was former director of Marketing and International Trade for the department. He is currently deputy director of the Cooperative Extension Service at Michigan State University. He also holds a doctorate in agricultural economics.

"With the credentials that Paul Kindinger has, Michigan agriculture will be in good hands throughout his tenure," Randall stated.

"Agriculture is Michigan's second largest industry, and it also has the most room for growth. The members of the Commission who chose him should be commended, and the governor should be pleased with the selection."

Pictures compensate schools

By MARTY ACKLEY

SMILE!
You're getting a refund. Well, actually the schools are getting the refunds. And according to administrators for the St. Johns School District, all the money refunded from the sale of students' school pictures are going back to the classrooms.

"In all cases, the money is returned to the schools," commented Roger Feeman, principal at Central Elementary and Elementary Coordinator for the St. Johns Schools. "The money either goes back for individual classroom materials or over to the PTOs (Parent-Teacher Organizations), which in turn, gets back to the schools through special funds and projects."

The money in question comes as a commission of sorts for the sale of the annual school pictures. It is returned to the individual schools by the contracted photographer, in the case of St. Johns Schools, by Fitch Photographic Studio of St. Johns.

The schools receive up to $1 on every picture package sold. The exact amount depends on the different packages. Elementary schools are offered their choice of four different packages, three with the dollar commission, and the high school and junior high school have their choice of three packages, two with the dollar commission. The other, smaller, packages return less than a dollar commission.

The commission is in compensation for the schools' help on the day of the shooting along with their bookkeeping and organization in the sale of the picture packages.

Feeman said Central and Riley Elementaries, the district's two largest elementaries, have received as much as $284 through the commission process.

And all of that, he reiterated, goes back to the schools in the form of purchasing computers for the elementaries, to classroom activities, educational games, or playground equipment.

At the secondary level, the money is channeled in another direction.

According to St. Johns High School principal Bill Swears, all of the commission money returned to the high school and junior high is funneled directly back to the schools' yearbooks.

"Whatever money is made," Swears said, "goes directly to the journalism class and used to keep the cost of the yearbook down. It's been that way for years."

"Our goal is to keep the price of the yearbook as low as possible to allow as many people as possible to buy them," stated Swears.

The average price of a yearbook is $18-20. But with the help of the picture commission, the St. Johns High School yearbooks will run about $12.50.

Swears says the total cost of the yearbook is funded through the picture commission, the advertising sales, and the retail price of the books to the students.

"Our goal is to break even," Swears said.

But according to some parents, mainly of elementary students, they could care less about "break even," they just want an "even break."

The issue of the picture commission was brought to the attention of the Board of Education last week by boardmember Neil Barnhart. He told the board he received phone calls from a couple of parents who told him they weren't happy with the idea of having the extra dollar added to the price of their children's school pictures.

"Some felt, who say have five kids, that the $5 extra they spent on the pictures could have been spent on lunches or something," Barnhart said.

"The high school is all right, with the money going to offset the price of the yearbook. But the elementaries are different because people who don't buy their pictures, and don't pay the extra dollar, benefit just as much from the money returned as those who did pay the extra dollar."

"I'm not really against it," he said of the commission system. "It's just that nobody seemed to know about it. They (the parents) claim they should've known about it. A lot of them thought it was some sort of a cover-up. In fact, I don't think anybody on the board knew about it before I brought it up."

Barnhart feels the schools should ask the parents at the PTOs what they want. That they should have something to say about the extra dollar going toward the commission.

Feeman said one elementary school, East Olive, wanted to drop the commission program at their school altogether to make the price of their picture packages lower. But he said that would cause nonunity among the elementary schools.

Changes, he said, should be done district-wide to keep things uniform and that the administration is going to study the situation at the elementary level.

'Pay As You Go'

Anyone who's ever been courageous enough to tear up their credit card after finally getting caught up with their debts knows the satisfying feeling it brings, says Congressman Don Albosta.

And that is the direction he hopes the national government will take through a bill sponsored by one of his House of Representatives colleagues.

Albosta was one of the original co-sponsors of the bill which will bring about a "Pay As You Go Budget."

The 10th District democrat calls it one of the freshest, most intelligent proposals to come along in quite some time.

The goals of Pay As You Go aren't really hard to understand, he explains. It's based on the idea that if we do not add more money to the deficit as time goes on, normal economic growth will rapidly lessen the deficit in just a few years.

The non-partisan Congressional Budget Office says the plan would cut the 1984 deficit to $150 billion, compared to the $169 billion debt which is part of the budget resolution.

By 1986, the Pay As You Go budget would reduce the deficit to a much more manageable $49 billion — less than half the $127 billion level that is expected in the budget resolution.

"Had Congress had enough vision to adopt Pay As You Go last year when it first came up," Albosta states, "we could have balanced the budget by 1985 rather than having to cope with an inexcusable deficit of more than $150 billion at the time."

"Furthermore, the Congressional Budget Office reports Pay As You Go is the only budget procedure that would bring about quick reductions in the debt, while all the other proposals only make matters worse," said the Congressman.

Under the plan, Congress would have to do some adjusting in its habits and start paying for every new dollar it spends above current levels in every single program, either by raising new revenues or by cutting back on spending in another area.

The bill requires that if legislators want to approve new spending, they must be prepared to pay for that spending.

If these steps are followed, no matter what new spending is finally approved, Albosta says, the result will be the same: a balanced budget, or surplus, by 1985.

"By bringing the deficit under control and thus the need for government borrowing, interest payments on the debt would dip by $60 billion over three years, which would make interest rates a lot more bearable," he said. "And all of us would welcome that action."

Conference denies expansion

Lakewood and Greenville will not be entering the Mid-Michigan 'B' Conference next season, following a vote of conference schools Oct. 12 in St. Johns.

The schools were denied entry by a 4-2 vote. St. Johns, Ovid-Elsie, Chesaning and Corunna voted against the expansion, while Alma and Ionia supported it.

Conference president John Malcom, principal at Chesaning, said the action means the conference would not expand before the 1985-1986 school year. However, Ionia athletic director Charles Kohloff was authorized to chair a committee to explore further options for expansion.

Malcom said a special meeting would probably be called in a couple of weeks to look into expansion of the conference. He declined when asked to name schools under consideration.

County powers joust

Pewamo-Westphalia's Michelle Wieber fights through St. Johns players Pam Sehlke, Brenda Eiseler and Janine Scott, and later battles Scott for the ball last Thursday. P-W won the battle of Clinton County powers, 51-47, as detailed on page 14. (Photos by Bob Stern)

Pirates await Fowler

Even though Pewamo-Westphalia has yielded its Central Michigan Athletic Conference crown after two seasons, the Pirates won't lack incentive for Friday's game.

Unbeaten Fowler is coming to town. No one needs to tell P-W fans what that means.

"I think every kid at Fowler and P-W looks forward to this game," said P-W coach Mike Folk. "There's a lot of kids that are related to each other. The rivalry is discussed at family reunions."

Fowler coach Steve Spicer didn't call his team the underdog, but he emphasized the point that recent history is on P-W's side. The Pirates beat the Eagles, 6-0, in 1981 and, 8-7, in 1982, each time ruining Fowler's chance for an undefeated season.

"They're not a bad football team, even though they've lost four games," Spicer said. "I think they've been more jinxed at times than anything else. Our kids have never beaten their kids."

Folk offered a counterpoint to Spicer's recent-history theory.

"They beat us for the last 100 years before that," he said, jokingly.

A victory for Fowler would clinch its first outright conference championship since 1979. A loss would leave the Eagles sharing the title with the winner of Friday's Fulton-Portland St. Patrick battle.

A defensive struggle could be in the making, since Fowler has allowed only 24 points in six games. P-W's defenders have also been stubborn, yielding 52 points in six games.

Last week against winless Pottersville, P-W proved that its offense is, indeed, capable of scoring. The Pirates whipped Pottersville, 29-8, to keep alive their hopes for a winning season.

In four previous losses and one victory, the Pirate offense had produced 17 points.

"We got some breaks," said Folk. "It was kind of the opposite that has been happening to us in the last few weeks."

The first break came in the first quarter, when Ron Schafer intercepted a Pottersville pass and raced 75 yards for a touchdown. Tom Schafer ran in the conversion.

Two more Tom Schafer runs capped touchdown drives in the first half as P-W built a 22-0 lead. A 49-yard, six-play drive ended when he ran 3 yards, and a 80-yard, 17-play march was capped by a 4-yard jaunt.

A 62-yard burst off tackle by Tom Schafer in the third quarter completed the P-W scoring. Ron Schafer then kicked his third extra point.

P-W's offense rolled up 267 yards despite the loss of quarterback Kris Werner, who dislocated a finger on his throwing hand and missed the second half. Tom Schafer carried 15 times for a career-high 185 yards.

Folk expects Werner back for the Fowler game, but leading rusher Joe Trierweiler has been lost for the season with a knee injury. Trierweiler was hurt early in the Pottersville game while playing defense.

Folk said he could enlist some junior varsity players this week to bolster his team's ranks. P-W dresses 17 players on the varsity.

"At this point, we have a little bit of depth in our line, but we don't have much in our backfield," he said.

County picks

Fowler stands at 6-0, but none of the other Clinton County football teams has a winning record.

Sorry to report, neither are we above .500 when it comes to picking the games. Entering the seventh week, we are 17-17 (.500).

With three weeks of games remaining, we plunge forth.

Fowler vs. Pewamo-Westphalia: With halfback Joe Trierweiler (out with a knee injury), P-W's chances would have been better. Though the Pirates will be fired up to scuttle Fowler's bid for an outright conference title, don't bet against the Eagles. Fowler's punishing defense has yielded an average of four points per game. Fowler 14, P-W 7.

Corunna vs. St. Johns: The Cavaliers are big and physical, but watch out when they fall behind. The passing game just isn't there. St. Johns running backs will also be more prepared after last week's bout with the flu. St. Johns 17, Corunna 6.

Ovid-Elsie vs. Alma: Alma's tough running backs and quarterback Eric Smith pose too many problems for the O-E defense. O-E's passing game, potent early in the season, hasn't produced much yardage lately. Alma 24, Ovid-Elsie 8.

DeWitt vs. Charlotte: The winner escapes the Capital Circuit cellar. DeWitt is banged up on defense with injuries to linebackers Darrin Fitzgerald and Jon Holland, which is good news for winless Charlotte. It's Homecoming for the Orioles and time for their first victory. Charlotte 13, DeWitt 6.

Haslett vs. Bath: The visiting Vikings are regaining their winning ways of past years. The Bees haven't won in three weeks and mystified coach Bob Popp last week with a flat performance against Perry. Haslett 22, Bath 12.

DeWitt and Bath fall in Homecoming tests

Lansing Catholic Central and Perry were Homecoming wreckers last Friday for DeWitt and Bath.

Lansing Catholic Central, leader of the Capital Circuit league, dumped DeWitt, 20-6, and Perry topped Bath, 35-6.

It was DeWitt's fourth straight loss after opening the season with two victories. Bath tumbled for the third straight time and also fell to 2-4.

DeWitt scored its touchdown on a 59-yard pass from Tim Miller to Joe Wheeldon on the game's final play. Bath also scored on a long pass play — a 45-yarder from Jeff Penrod to Chris Brower.

Bath hosts Haslett this week while DeWitt travels to winless Charlotte.

Eagle defense stifles Fulton

Fowler coach Steve Spicer said his statisticians had Fulton for only 53 yards total offense last Friday.

When Fulton's stats revealed a 60-yard total, the point was obvious.

Fowler's punishing defense was what won the game, 13-0, kept the Eagles unbeaten and gave them at least a share of the Central Michigan Athletic Conference championship.

"Their front seven are good football players," said Fulton coach Leo Rosencrants, whose team had never been held below 100 yards total offense in five previous victories. "They dominated the line of scrimmage."

Fowler's defensive dominance was evident in the first quarter, after Fulton's Greg Dodge returned an interception to the Eagle 32. Fowler held on down, and Fulton never got any closer to the Eagle goal-line.

Fulton made a critical mistake in the second quarter which led to a Fowler touchdown. On a fourth down and one situation from the Pirate 40, Fowler set up in punt formation. The Eagles were going to kick, but Fulton jumped offside to give Fowler life at the 35.

Simon scored the touchdown when he took a pitch-out and cut inside for a 2-yard run.

In the fourth quarter, Fulton moved the ball near midfield. Fowler's Dan Simon, Dan Hufnagel and Bill Payne sniffed out a fourth down screen pass to halt the drive.

Fowler then attempted to run out the clock, but Tom Simon had other ideas. From the Fulton 40, he ran off tackle, broke to the outside, shook off some would-be tacklers and powered into the end zone with 1:27 left. Bob Simon added the extra point.

Simon finished with 93 yards in 24 carries, bumping his season total to 858 yards. He needs only 180 in the final three games to top the school record of 1,037, set last season by Jim Farley.

He also can throw. Fowler hadn't used an option pass this year, but the former starting quarterback tried three against Fulton. He completed two for good yardage and overthrew another one to a wide-open Joe Bertram which might have produced a touchdown.

The Eagles went into the week with a slim 1.6 point lead over Gobles for the final berth in their region. Now, they have a 6.2 point lead over Saginaw Michigan Lutheran Seminary and an 8 point lead over Gobles.

For what it's worth, the Eagles are tied for 10th in The Detroit News' Class D rankings, sixth in The Detroit Free Press and fifth in The Associated Press poll.

Redwing title hopes dim

It seems impossible, but St. Johns football coach Joe Gonzales can see it happening.

He wouldn't be all that surprised if Ionia, owner of one victory, shocks once-beaten Chesaning Friday.

That happening, coupled with a St. Johns victory at home over Corunna Friday, would give the Redwings a share of the Mid-Michigan 'B' Conference championship.

"Ionia's played Chesaning very rough," Gonzales said. "I saw Ionia against Greenville on film, and if their receivers would have hung on to the ball they won have won."

The Redwings lost their chance at an outright championship when Chesaning stopped them, 14-7, last Friday at Chesaning.

"I didn't feel we played up to our potential," Gonzales said. "I don't know why. Some played well, some did not."

"There was more intensity against Ovid-Elsie (during a 35-12 victory). Some of them had never been in a championship game."

Chesaning drew first blood after a 73-yard Brian Bates punt had pinned the team deep in its own territory. The Indians marched 94 yards for a touchdown.

St. Johns tied it in the third quarter when Bates passed 8 yards to Chris Loucks and then kicked the extra point.

The Redwings were then driving for the go-ahead touchdown when misfortune struck. Loucks broke free in the Chesaning end zone, but Bates' pass was behind him. Todd Kobayashi intercepted it, and the Indians drove 80 yards to score the winning touchdown.

St. Johns defense again yielded more yardage than Gonzales prefers as Chesaning rolled up 349 yards total offense. More importantly, Chesaning frequently converted on long-yardage situations on third and fourth down.

St. Johns could muster only 179 yards — 88 on the ground. Starting running backs Chad Munger and Pat Makara rushed for only 35 yards in 17 carries after missing most of the week's practices because of the flu.

Gonzales said neither was 100 percent for the game, but he refused to alibi. "That's part of the game," he said.

DeWitt's golfers bid for state title

Mike Soltysiak isn't predicting his team will bring DeWitt its first state golf championship on Saturday. Coaches are seldom that assured.

But after his Panthers finished third in their Class C regional at Webberville last Friday to make it to the state meet, his confidence in their ability zoomed.

"I just wanted to get out of our regional, because I think our regional will be harder than the state meet," Soltysiak said. "I think the winner of the state meet will come from our regional."

Detroit Country Day won the regional with 320 strokes, followed by Grosse Pointe Woods-University Liggett with 323 and DeWitt with 323.

One intangible in DeWitt's favor Saturday is the state championship course — Portland Country Club. Though the Panthers only played there once this season, for the Clinton County meet, it was one more time than most of the other schools. More importantly, the Panthers were able to practice on the course this week and get accustomed to the 5,400-yard layout.

"It's the kind of a course where our putting and short games will have to be very sharp," Soltysiak said.

Bob Magness, John Fabian, Mike Seifert, Kelly Lathrop and Jeff Burgoyne will represent DeWitt at the state meet. The school's best previous placing in golf came in Soltysiak's first year as coach, 1981, when the Panthers finished sixth.

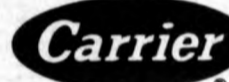

For what it's worth, two members of the team already know something about winning state titles. Lathrop and Seifert were members of DeWitt's 1983 state championship baseball team.

Ovid-Elsie hands Ionia its first football victory

Hopes for Ovid-Elsie's first winning season in four years dimmed last week when the Marauders fell to Ionia, 19-16.

Ovid-Elsie fell to 3-3 overall, 1-3 in the Mid-Michigan 'B' Conference. Ionia picked up its first win in six games.

Scott Gardner played a good game defensively for O-E, recording 21 tackles. Running backs Mark Koyné and Jon Martin each scored a touchdown, and Mark Schneider kicked a 35-yard field goal to account for O-E's scoring.

O-E dominated the statistics, piling up 257 yards to Ionia's 172. Koyné rushed for 78 and Martin 70, and Schneider threw for 88 more.

The Marauders continue a stretch of road games by traveling to Alma this week for the conference finale.

Pewamo-Westphalia tames St. Johns

Pewamo-Westphalia's girls basketball team is ranked sixth in this week's Class C poll of Michigan coaches, but the Pirates may be good enough to warrant recognition in a Class A listing.

Last Thursday's 51-47 victory over Class A St. Johns gave the Pirates another shot of confidence as they prepare for the second round of Central Michigan Athletic Conference play.

"I didn't want them to be intimidated by the fact that they are a Class A school," said P-W coach Carol Bogard, after her team had handed St. Johns its second loss this season. "A lot of the kids had seen them play at Fowler (a 38-32 St. Johns victory). I think that helped a lot. We knew we matched up pretty well."

St. Johns coach Beth Swears came away impressed with the 11-1

Pirates after the game, which marked the first girls basketball match between the schools.

"P-W is a very solid club," Swears said. "They should go a long way at tournament time."

Lynda Rademacher led P-W with 16 points, 13 rebounds and five blocked shots. Michelle Wieber had 15 points and 14 rebounds. Jackie Bauer also cracked double figures with 10 points.

Brenda Eiseler grabbed 17 rebounds for St. Johns as the Redwings became the first team this year to rebound P-W. St. Johns had 32 rebounds to the Pirates' 31.

Janine Scott and Lisa Thelen both had their best games of the season, Swears said, with 13 and 14 points, respectively. Scott had five steals and Thelen had three assists.

Last Tuesday, St. Johns stayed unbeaten in the conference by beating Chesaning, 39-35. Eiseler, averaging 12.4 rebounds and 11.7 points per game, had 16 rebounds in that game.

In other games involving county schools, Bath had its lowest offensive output of the season in falling to Stockbridge last Thursday, 49-15.

Wendy Foote scored six points to lead the Bees. She came into the game with an 18-point scoring average and had never scored fewer than 10 points in Bath's previous nine games.

Stockbridge ruled the rebounding, collecting 44 to Bath's 26, and often stole the ball before the Bees could set up their offense.

"Their press hurt us," said coach Tom Campbell. "It was just one of those games when nothing was clicking offensively."

Starting the second round of Ingham County League play, Bath was 2-5 - 2-8 overall.

Ovid-Elsie moved to 9-2 by beating Owosso, 67-43, last week. Mary Perrien led the Marauders with 20 points, followed by Shelby Terpstra with 14 and Teri Woodbury with 11.

In games involving county schools Tuesday, St. Johns beat Corunna, 50-31; Pewamo-Westphalia whipped Laingsburg, 72-39; Portland St. Patrick routed Fowler, 61-21, and Perry downed Bath, 43-33.

St. Johns guarded its one-game lead in the Mid-Michigan 'B' Conference with its victory, as Eiseler had a season-high 23 points and 15 rebounds. Scott continued her recent fine play by chipping in 10 points.

"She's up on the wing and taking the ball to the hoop nicely," said coach Swears of Scott.

St. Johns swimmers down 0-4 Panthers

Teams heading in opposite directions converged in the DeWitt swimming pool last Thursday, and the results were predictable.

St. Johns beat DeWitt, 98-64, for its fourth consecutive victory. The Panthers, featuring eight first-year swimmers and only four returnees, fell to 0-4.

St. Johns captured seven of the 11 events, thanks largely to freestyler Polly Dietz and stroke swimmer Missy O'Connell.

Dietz won the 200- and 500-yard freestyle events, and O'Connell won the 200 individual medley and 100 backstroke. O'Connell also teamed with Theresa Koenigsknecht, Sandy Wolfram and Kelly Boatz to win the 200 medley relay.

Other Redwing winners were Beth Coger in diving and Connie Newhall in the 100 freestyle.

Kelly Smith played a part in three of DeWitt's victories, as she won the 50 freestyle and 100 butterfly and helped on the 400 freestyle relay team. Missy Cook also swam on the freestyle relay and won the 100 breaststroke.

DeWitt showed improvement last Saturday by placing sixth at the St. Joseph Invitational. Battle Creek Lakeview won the meet with 204 points. DeWitt scored 129.

Cook took third in the breaststroke and Smith was fourth in the butterfly to pace the team.

St. Johns runners whip Eastern

St. Johns boys swept the first four places last Thursday in a 17-44 cross country rout of Lansing Eastern.

The Redwing girls also had an easy time with the Quakers, winning 19-42.

Brian Deveraux, Tom Rayman, Andy Brockmyre and Loren Partlo finished ahead of all Lansing Eastern runners in the boys race. Darren Scott took seventh place.

In the girls race, Tina Simmon finished first and four teammates - Kim Heibeck, Bobbi Bulyard, Julie Maples and Diane Upton - finished third through sixth.

The Redwing boys, 7-2 after the Eastern meet, enter Saturday's Mid-Michigan 'B' Conference meet at Chesaning favored to win or share their fifth consecutive conference championship. The girls, defending conference champions, are tabbed a notch below Alma this season.

Redwings surprise at regional

The St. Johns girls tennis team, fresh off its fifth consecutive Mid-Michigan 'B' Conference tennis championship, pulled some surprises at the Class A regional in Midland last Friday.

Though no Redwings qualified for the state meet, all of the doubles teams won their first-round matches. The No. 1 team of Kim Horton and Claudia Goulich made it to the semifinals before losing to a team from Alpena, 6-3, 6-3.

"We did a lot better than I thought we were going to do," said coach Melanie Humphrey.

St. Johns finished its season with a 7-3 record.

Linnell named St. Johns MVP

Junior Grant Linnell was named the Most Valuable Player Wednesday night at the St. Johns golf team's banquet after earning a spot on the Mid-Michigan 'B' Conference second team.

Linnell led St. Johns and finished only one stroke behind the conference medalist last Tuesday, when he fired an 82 at the conference meet in Chesaning. St. Johns finished fifth in the meet, 20 strokes behind champion Chesaning.

At the Class A regional in Clio last Friday, St. Johns placed 17th out of 22 teams. Dave Rademacher's 92 in what coach Paul Sternburgh described as "hurricane conditions" led the team.

DeWitt tennis team ends season

One of its doubles teams placed second, but DeWitt could score only three points last Friday at the Class C tennis regional in Ann Arbor.

DeWitt's total tied Dearborn Heights Riverside for fourth place.

The No. 3 doubles team of Michelle Scholten and Ronda Thornton beat teams from Lansing Catholic Central and Ann Arbor Greenhills to advance to the finals against Williamston.

The No. 1 doubles unit of Dawn Kelly and Teresa Bordui beat Riverside in its opening match before losing to a team from Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard, 6-0, 6-0.

Kindinger named Ag director

"We are confident that we will be able to work very constructively with Dr. Paul Kindinger for the betterment of Michigan agriculture," said Elton R. Smith, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau, in response to the announcement by the Michigan Agriculture Commission of their decision to hire Kindinger as the new director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

"His strong agricultural background, including his years of service in the Michigan Department of Agriculture and at Michigan State University, will be especially valuable in his new role," Smith said.

Kindinger was chief of marketing and international trade and was later promoted to assistant director of the MDA before accepting his current position as assistant director of MSU's Cooperative Extension.

"His belief in the great potential of growth for Michigan agriculture is well-known to farmers who recognize his abilities as a spokesperson for agriculture. We believe Paul Kindinger meets the qualifications our board of directors determined were necessary for an effective MDA director," Smith said.

The qualifications outlined by the Michigan Farm Bureau board, submitted to the Ag Commission last month, were: "recognized experience in the agricultural industry, a strong communicator, possess the ability to work with all segments of Michigan's diverse agricultural industry and have demonstrated organizational/administrative skills."

Nation's farm income boosted

Most of the improvement in net farm forecasts for 1983 are the result of increased government payments to farmers, according to Robert Craig, manager of Michigan Farm Bureau's Commodity Activities and Research Division. Farm Bureau economic researchers recently forecast national net farm income of about $20 billion, up more than $5 billion from 1982 and the highest level in five years.

"Farm Bureau's $20 billion net farm income figure is 'realized' net income and excludes several non-spendable items that the federal government includes in their income estimates," Craig said. "USDA just predicted that the net farm income range is going to be between $25 and $29 billion."

"I think that most of the improvement in income this year for both models — Farm Bureau's and USDA's — comes as a result of the increased direct government payments to farmers, such as the PIK (payment-in-kind) program or the dairy support program, as well as a reduction in production expenses, due primarily to the government's wheat and feed grains program," he said.

Craig said that the agricultural economic situation for Michigan is different than other parts of the nation.

"You've got to divide Michigan's situation into two areas. Certainly, our crop production has done much better than the rest of the country and with the high commodity prices we're enjoying at the present time, our cash crop farmers are going to do very well, much better than the rest of the nation. We were not devastated by the drought like so much of the midwest was, and that certainly will benefit our Michigan agricultural economy."

"The other sector we have to look at specifically is the dairy industry. Our dairymen, as with all dairymen across the nation, are going to have a lower net farm income, due to the new full $1 per hundredweight assessment the federal government is collecting to help pay for the dairy price support program," Craig said.

Chicken industry opens in January

The broiler chicken industry breaking ground in west Michigan means many benefits for Ionia County.

At an update meeting recently held at Hope College, Dr. Cal Flegal, MSU Poultry Extension Specialist, reported that Michigan only produces 5 percent of the chicken we eat. It is for this reason that New Holland Farms headed by Dr. Rascod Sharif is developing the broiler chicken industry in west Michigan.

New Holland Farms will begin building Phase I, a $15 million dollar investment in grower houses and processing plant, in January of 1984. Phase II will begin later in 1984 with another $18 million investment in grower contracts and expansion of the processing plant located near Holland. Phase I of New Holland Farms has already received state approval for loans.

All of this growth in agriculture will affect the west Michigan area including Ionia County. The first benefit will be 1,500 new jobs developed in this area. Feed for the 25 million birds will provide new corn markets for Ionia County grain farmers. It is expected that an operation this size will deplete much of the corn produced in Muskegon and Ottawa counties and draw more corn from surrounding counties. Another benefit will be closer market for spent hens.

As the world population expands, U.S. farmers will play a vital role in global food production and supply.

Who will feed people in 2000?

Almost lost in the course of a day's news was the item that the world population has now reached 4.7 billion people.

According to the Census Bureau, the world has grown by nearly 1 billion people since 1970. The latest figures seem to indicate that the world is on target for what is expected to be a 10 billion population within a hundred years.

In the past, there have been dire predictions that we won't be able to feed our expanding population. In fact, one writer predicted that by the year 2000, we would see food shortages and revolution in the world as "have-not" nations try to wrest their needs from neighbors.

Fortunately, that scenario is less in vogue today. Nobel Prize winner Dr. Norman Borlaug says we could double food production in 40 to 60 years if we don't slash funding for agricultural research. Borlaug says many of the developing nations are still cultivating their land with very primitive methods resulting in a low food yield.

According to a United Nations report, even with good progress in agriculture, only half of the countries of the world will be able to feed themselves by the year 2000. The other half will have to look to their neighbors.
