Ovid Wins First District Title in 30 Years by Beating Fulton Saturday

The Ovid Romans won the Class C district basketball championship for the first time in 30 years Saturday when they swamped Fulton 70-53 with a fourth-quarter blitz at St. Johns. Tournament Manager Dwane Wirick of St. Johns presents the trophy to the happy Romans while a screaming crowd of Ovid fans looked on. Coach Jerry Meredith is seated above the team. Story on the victory and the tournament on Page 7-A.

Fowler school plan OK'd

FOWLER—A $270,000 addition to the Fowler High School as approved by district voters Saturday by a vote of 328-154, the result of a decidedly different feeling by district patrons than last August when the same proposal lost 179-169.

School Supt. Donald Smith said the school board will instruct architects Warren Holmes of Lansing to proceed with drawings of plans for presentation to the school board. At the same time, application will be made to the Municipal Finance Commission for permission to sell bonds for the building program.

THE expansion program calls for enlargement of special areas, new counseling facilities and adequate classrooms, rest rooms and storage area. The present high school, designed to house 175 students, actually handles 190 now. Enrollment is expected to reach 276 by 1970.

4 cars collide on icy US-27

Four cars were involved in a collision in both lanes of US-27 south of Boicet Road in DeWitt township at 7:55 a.m. last Friday. No one was injured.

The Clinton County sheriff's office reported Floyd H. Barnes, 40, of R-5, St. Johns, was traveling south and was passing two trucks when he lost control on slippery pavement. The car skidded across the median strip and hit one driven by Barbara J. Bonleko, 23, of Lansing, who was going north.

She lost control of her car, which hit one ahead, driven by Ellen J. Bender, 70, of Lansing. The Bonleko car then swung onto the median and hit a southbound car driven by Douglas Holstein, 41, of R-1, DeWitt, who was making a left turn.

Bond issue passage spurs architects for Ovid-Elsie job

The Ovid - Elsie school board has told its architects to proceed with final plans and working drawings for the new school facilities in the new district after voters approved a $2.6 million bond issue last Tuesday.

The final plans won't, however, include a swimming pool and outdoor athletic facilities at the high school, because that proposal—for a $200,000 bond issue—was turned down.

THE MAIN $2.6 MILLION bond issue passed by a total vote of 1,186 to 915, a margin of 271 votes. That issue will provide money to build a new high school at the corner of Hollister and Colony Roads halfway between Ovid and Elsie, an addition to the E. E. Knight Elementary School in Elsie, an addition to the Ovid Elementary School, construction of a new elementary school in Ovid and conversion of the present high schools in both communities for use as junior highs.

Ballot Two was for $200,000 for the swimming pool and outdoor athletic facilities. That proposal was turned down by a vote of 1,070 to 1,029—a margin of only 41 votes.

BY MARGINS OF over 200 votes, two other proposals for the mutual assumption of debts and assessment of 2.6 mills for two years to retire the debts also passed. The 2.6 mills will be levied for just one year.

The mutual assumption ballot, Number Three, was approved by a vote of 1,164 to 937, a margin of 227 votes. The 2.6 mills ballot, Number Four, passed by a 1,183 to 947 vote, a margin of 236.

A total of 2,111 persons voted on the first three proposals, which were limited to property owners who were registered voters. All registered voters in the district were eligible on Ballot Four, and 2,143 persons did vote.

OVID - ELSIE Schools Supt. Robert Beauchamp called the turnout a "good, solid substantial" one, the biggest one in the history of the two districts.

Here's a breakdown of the vote:
OVID PRECINCT—Ballot One, 607 yes, 498 no; ballot two, 526 yes, 577 no; ballot three, 605 yes, 500 no; ballot four, 616 yes, 501 no.

ELSIE PRECINCT —Ballot

One, 578 yes, 417 no; ballot two, 503 yes, 493 no; ballot three, 559 yes, 437 no; ballot four, 557 yes, 447 no.

There was a total of 10 spoiled ballots on issues one and three, 12 spoiled on ballot two and 13 on ballot four.

VANDER MEIDEN and Koteles, Grand Haven architects, have been given instructions by the board of education to proceed with the final plans and working drawings. At the same time, Beauchamp said, applications for the $2.6 million in bonds will be made.

While these two procedures will take some time, Beauchamp said all haste is being made, and the board has set a target date of September 1966 for completion and occupation of the new high school. No date for receiving of bids has yet been set.

THE BIG PROJECT, of course, is the high school, which will have 35 teaching stations in a campus-type layout. Library facilities will be provided on one side of

E. Essex voters OK annexation

Sometime within the next two weeks the East Essex School District will become a part of the St. Johns School District, the result of a favorable annexation election last Saturday.

East Essex voters approved the annexation by a nearly 3-1 margin, 102 persons voting yes and 36 voting no. On the accompanying proposal to increase millage for school operation to 4 1/2 mills, the voters also approved by a count of 95-41, a more than 2-1 margin.

THERE WERE two spoiled ballots on the millage vote.

The annexation will become official when the East Essex school board turns over its records to the St. Johns school system and dissolves itself as a board.

The East Essex election was the first one of a series of perhaps 32 that will be taking place between now and July 1. St. Johns Supt. Earl Lancaster said all but a couple of the districts have the cafeteria, and the eating area will double its purpose as part of the seating space for the auditorium, which in itself will have 400 permanent seats.

There will be three guidance and counseling rooms, conference rooms and a special education room for problem students. Vocational courses will be expanded by facilities that will be available for adult education programs, too.

THE NEW OVID elementary school will be located at the east end of First Street on the Harold Fink farm. It will face west on Mabbitt Road, about halfway between Mason and McBride roads.

Plan dinner for Todd

Mr and Mrs Floyd F. Hydon of Olivet, co-chairmen of Eaton County Volunteers for Paul Todd, US Representative, announce that a Get-Acquainted Dinner in honor of Todd will be held at the Masonic Temple in Charlotte on Saturday evening, March 27.

made arrangements for an election.

THE EAST Essex vote was considered an important one because it was the first and because there was some opposition by persons who favored joining the Fulton High School district, adjacent to the west.

Two other elections were to have been held Wednesday. Marshall School District in Greenbush and Rowell School District in Duplain Township had elections on the same annexation proposal.

FRENCH AND Richmond districts in Greenbush and the Plowman district in Riley Township will vote on annexation March 20. In all of the elections, the polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the school.

The East Essex School is one which will be expanded by the addition of extra rooms in the future, making it one of several centrally-located grade schools serving rural students. It will eventually have seven rooms, including an all-purpose room and cafeteria.

Wants to withdraw error-bid

An error of $100,000 in their bid for work on the St. Johns water treatment plant has prompted the Clark Construction Co. of Lansing to ask that the bid be withdrawn from consideration by the city commission.

Leon Clark, president of the firm, appeared before the commissioners last Tuesday night and told them about the error. The company's bid on Feb. 16 was $433,566 for construction of the plant, and was the low bid of six received.

CLARK said an error in computing or transcribing was made in grouping their sub-contracting bids together, and that their general bid should have been $533,566 instead of $433,566.

He asked that the city allow Clark Construction Co. to withdraw the bid.

THE COMMISSION and the water project engineers, Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May of Ann Arbor, have taken the request under consideration.

The next lowest bid for the job was $474,950 by the C & C Construction Co. of Fort Wayne, Ind.

The bids were taken under advisement again by the engineers to make further detailed studies, and they will report at the next meeting of the commission next Tuesday night.

NO ACTION was taken last week on the bids for construction of a 400,000 gallon steel ground-level storage tank and cast iron water mains and waste force mains from the plant.

Cars bump at corner

Two cars collided at the intersection of Washington and Scott streets in DeWitt Friday morning, but no one was hurt. DeWitt police report a car driven by Lula Rice, 60, of DeWitt, slid on ice into the rear of one driven by Sharon Singletary, 31, of 702 Cedarwood, DeWitt, stopped for a stop sign at the intersection.

BICYCLE licenses will be sold at all St. Johns schools on March 16, 17 and 18. It will be appreciated if parents will have all children cooperate.—St. Johns City Police.

Village election turnouts 'fair'

Village elections drew good to poor turnouts around the county Monday. Special issues in two villages helped bring out the voters there.

At Ovid, a liquor by the glass proposal was rejected, and at Maple Rapids, a water bond issue passed by a small margin.

Ovid had a turnout of 486 voters, by far the most of any village in the county.

The liquor by the glass proposal was defeated more soundly this year than a similar measure four years ago. The vote Monday was 294 against it and 186 in favor. Six ballots were voided.

RACES FOR several village offices also spurred the turnout at Ovid. Harvey Darling, the incumbent village president, won reelection by a margin of 304 to 172 over Paul Nemanis. Mrs. Clara Tubbs, running without opposition, was reelected as clerk and got 386 votes.

Mrs. Audrey Bancroft received 363 votes for treasurer. She was unopposed, although the name of Arlene Irner had been entered against her; Mrs. Irner declined to run for the office.

LAWRENCE Woodworth won reelection as trustee for a two-year term with 307 votes, and two other seats were won by Cliff Saxton with 242 votes and Richard DePond with 283. They replace David Houghton and Marshall Monroe, who did not seek reelection. Also running for the three seats were Larry Martin, who polled 209 votes, Edgar Kelly with 120 and Larry Byrnes with 183.

Duane Chamberlain was reelected assessor with 369 votes. He was unopposed.

A $30,000 BOND issue to finance improvements to the Maple Rapids water system was approved by a vote of 81 to 43, but the margin was only five votes over the three-fifths majority required by law. The village board will now seek state approval for the sale of $20,000 in general obligation bonds and $10,000 in revenue bonds. The money will be used for new wells, a new pumping station and new water mains.

In a spirited race for three seats as trustees at Maple Rapids, incumbent Albert Brunner lost out to Robert Stephens by one vote.

Stephens polled 67 votes and Brunner 66. Stephens has been serving on the board of trustees, filling out a one-year vacant term.

OTHER TRUSTEES elected for two years were incumbents Rowland Lowe with 87 votes and George Abbott Sr. with 77 votes. Nina Freed got 47 votes and Lewis Britten got 55. For a one-year term, Virgil Halsted won election with 70 votes, defeating Terry Speer who got 65.

The other village officers were running without opposition. Elston Hicks received 133 votes for president, Helen Howe 111 votes for clerk, Marjorie Rumsey 111 votes for treasurer and William Aldrich 128 votes for assessor.

DESPITE THE water issue and the trustee contest, only 137 ballots were cast, representing less than half the 295 registered voters.

At Fowler, a sticker candidate, John Spicer, polled 112 votes to win one of three trustee seats. He defeated Bill Braun who got 39 votes, treasurer, 80; Aloysius Droste, assessor, 80; and John Lehman 69, Gerald Miller 68 and Harold Schmitt 70, all trustees.

Down at Eagle, only half the registered voters turned out, numbering only 30. John Cooper was reelected president with 27 votes. Other officials and their vote totals are: Mayme Smith, clerk, 28; Kathryn Mominnee, treasurer, 25; Elva Smith, assessor, 29; Ronald McCrumb 29, William Mominnee 23 and Margaret Fish 26, all for trustees. Ed Rose received four write-in votes for trustees.

AN AVERAGE number of voters—79—went to the polls at Elsie and reelected Kelly Carter president with 73 votes. Other officers are Mrs. Alice Blunt, clerk, 69; Orpha Clement, treasurer, 69; and Stanley Loznak, assessor, 61. Eldon Baese received one write-in for president.

Robert Blunt, the only incumbent trustee, was reelected with 62 votes. New candidates winning the other two seats were Merle Baese with 60 votes and Oliver Darling with 42. They defeated Leslie Sturgis with 33 votes and Don Brewbaker with 15.

Hubbardston had a small turnout of voters—only 32—and each of the unopposed candidates received 32 votes. The officers elected were Albert Cunningham, president; Virgil Tait, clerk; Manual Cusack, treasurer; James R. McGinn, assessor; Harold Cunningham, Gilbert Wohlfert and Clifford O'Grady for two-year trustee terms; and Joe Burns for one-year trustee term.

WESTPHALIA voters totaled 81, the best turnout in several years despite the fact there were no contests for village offices. All candidates ran unopposed. Elected were: Gregor Thelen, president, 67 votes; Donald Schafer, clerk, 77; Harold Wie-

St. Johns Mayor Jack Smit is scheduled to go to Deckerville the same day. The village of 798 persons is located in Sanilac County.

County 25th in Christmas Seal donations

Clinton County ranks 25th among the 83 counties in the state of Michigan in percentage of increase over last year's Christmas campaign donations. As of Feb. 26, county residents had contributed a total of $4,521, compared to $3,581 at the same time last year and the $3,793 total at the end of the campaign.

Clinton's percentage was 119 per cent of the 1963 campaign total. With the recent announcement that Schoolcraft County in the Upper Peninsula had exceeded its previous campaign, all 83 Michigan counties have gone over the top.

Intangibles tax return aid offered March 22

Assistance in the preparation of intangibles tax returns will be provided to St. Johns area residents Monday afternoon, March 22, by Elmer Hecht Jr., representing the Michigan Department of Revenue.

"He'll be in the probate court room at the Clinton County Courthouse from 1 to 5 p.m. Intangibles tax returns are due not later than April 30.

INTANGIBLE personal property subject to the tax includes all mortgages, land contracts, bank accounts, cash, postal savings accounts, accounts and notes receivable, corporate stocks, corporate bonds and other similar types of property.

The department has issued a warning to all owners of property, such as outlined above, to file the necessary return forms prior to April 30. The Revenue Department is constantly engaged in checking stockholder lists, mortgage records, income tax returns and other data for the purpose of discovering evasions of the Intangibles Tax Act. Failure to file a return when a tax is due subjects the taxpayer to severe penalties.

THOSE desiring this advice or assistance are requested to bring with them full information concerning their holdings, including the face or par value, and income received therefrom during the year, and a copy of the previous year's return.

New City DPW Building on North US-27

Mud and snow cover the rear grounds at the new Department of Public Works building on North US-27. City of St. Johns DPW crews have been using the building since before Christmas, and now with the approach of spring, Supt. Rolland Ordiway hopes to be able to put the finishing touches on it. The rear lot will probably be graveled this spring, with blacktop being put down eventually. See story on Page 7-B.

Table new zone law for study

The St. Johns Planning Commission last Tuesday formally turned over the proposed new city zoning ordinance with the recommendation that the city commission pass it.

The city commission tabled it for further study. Action on the ordinance will be delayed until a full commission can be present; Mayor Jack Smit is presently on vacation. The commission indicated it would probably be the middle of April or later before the 72-page document went into effect.

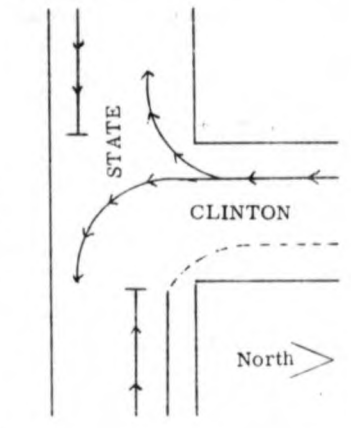

Persons interested in lessons in ballroom dancing or golf still have time to call the recreation department, Director Roger Kowalski said this week.

City to get right turn signal at Clinton, State

St. Johns City Manager Ken Greer has been given authority to request a right turn signal to be installed at the corner of State Street and Clinton to permit west-bound State Street traffic to turn right onto Clinton.

Greer read a letter from the State Highway Department last week at the city commission meeting, stating that the department would install such a light if the city requested it. The state, however, did not favor such a device.

THE LIGHT would be a flashing red arrow that would govern west-bound traffic only at the time the regular stop light was red. Cars wishing to turn right onto Clinton Avenue would be permitted to do so after coming to a complete stop and yielding to pedestrian traffic crossing at the east side of the intersection.

Dotted line represents traffic governed by flashing red light at time other east- and west-bound traffic is stopped for regular signal.

90-mph chase in town ends with $100 fine

A rural St. Johns youth was fined $100, assessed costs of $19.90 and placed on a year's probation on a charge of reckless driving after a wild police chase around St. Johns early Sunday morning.

The fine was assessed against Dennis R. Henderson, 17, of R-6, St. Johns, by Municipal Judge Alba Wert. It was Henderson's first offense.

HE WAS arrested shortly after 12:30 a.m. Sunday by City Officer Ed Teachout, who gave this account: He said he saw Henderson about 12:30 a.m. and started to follow him when he thought Henderson was going just a little over the speed limit. When Henderson ran a stop sign at Higham and Spring streets, Teachout turned his red light on.

Henderson, the officer said, sped away, going east on Higham to Swegles and then south to Townsend at speeds up to 90 miles an hour. Teachout then continued the chase west on Townsend to Lansing, north to Short Street, east to Ottawa, north to Buchanan and then east again to Swegles at speeds again of 90 miles an hour.

WHERE THE street ends, the Henderson car ran off the road and into a field, where two tires blew out. The car came to a stop almost up an embankment onto US-27.

Taverns ask longer bar hours

Tavern owners in St. Johns will be allowed extra hours to sell over the bar if a proposed ordinance amendment is passed. The request for the change in the city law came at the city commission last week from four city tavern owners who recently got liquor licenses.

The request came from Don Mazzolini (Bruno's Wonder Bar), Jim and Rosemary Nuser (The Roadhouse), Henry Pewoski and Henry Skopek (H & H Lounge) and Donald A. and Beatrice Frechen (Frechen's Tavern).

PRESENT CITY law reads that the taverns cannot serve over the bar except for the hours of 2 p.m. to 12 midnight on Sundays and 7 a.m. to midnight on weekdays. There are a number of other exceptions concerning holidays, etc.

The tavern owners requested that the ordinance be changed to coincide with the state law in all respects. On the basis hours, it would mean the tavern could sell over the bar from 2 p.m. Sunday until 2 a.m. the next day, and on weekdays from 7 a.m. until 2 a.m. the next day.

THE COMMISSION had no ready objection to the proposal and the commissioners instructed City Atty. Harold Reed to draw up the amendment. Because of the necessity of reading the amendment several times at different meetings, and the fact that it won't go into effect until 20 days after passage, new hours for the taverns won't be effective until at least the last part of April. And this is if the city finally does approve the amendment.

Federal-Mogul Plant Has Imposing New Look from North Mead Street

This imposing facade belongs to the Federal-Mogul plant and is the north side of the new 120,000 square foot addition. This picture was taken looking southwest from Mead Street. A truck loading area will be located on the north side at the east (near) end of the building. Cold weather earlier this winter delayed pouring of concrete on the interior of the building, also delaying completion. Edward A. Idzkowski, plant manager, said completion is expected now by about July 1. The new expansion will cost $3 million and will nearly double the floor area of the St. Johns plant.

Elsie man gets US patent on sleeve bearing process

ELSIE— Myron R. Tethal of 331 N. Second Street, Elsie has received a United States patent on a "Method and Apparatus for Forming Sleeve Bearings."

The patent, No. 3,169,302, was awarded Feb. 16. The application for the patent, which consisted of seven claims of originality, was filed June 20, 1963.

SLEEVE bearings are well known and are in the shape of a sleeve or tube within which a shaft turns. In many instances, a sleeve bearing is provided with an insert or bushing which supports the rotatable shaft in the bearing. The bushing may comprise an interior layer of bronze, aluminum or other common bearing material which is secured to a steel backing.

It is common practice to provide the bearing surface of the above-mentioned bearing with a longitudinally extending oil groove, closed at either or both ends, to insure an ample supply of lubricating oil for dispersion along the rotatable shaft. However, when the sleeve bearing or its bushing are of relatively short length in relation to the diameter of the bearing, it is customary to provide the bearing surface with a helical or spiral oil groove.

entirely satisfactory because of costs involved.

To cope with this problem, Tethal has devised a novel method and apparatus for efficiently, rapidly and inexpensively producing bushings for the aforementioned sleeve bearings while at the same time providing the internal surface of the bushing with the desired helically shaped grooves.

IN ACCORDANCE with his invention, each bushing is made from a circular disc which is placed in, and is acted upon by, a conventional reciprocating punch press. As described in detail in the specifications and drawings of the patent, the reciprocating punch or mandrel of the press is provided with two oppositely positioned, helical projecting portions which form the desired grooves in the bushing that is pressed from the disc during each downstroke of the press.

As a feature of the invention, the mandrel is caused to rotate during the reverse stroke of the press so as not to destroy the helical grooves.

2 drivers uninjured as cars hit in Fowler

Two drivers escaped without injury after a collision Sunday afternoon on M-21 in Fowler. David L. Miller, 18, of R-2, Fowler was making a left turn to go north on Main Street and had nearly cleared the intersection when his car was hit by one driven by Michael Sundararajan, 24, of Flint.

A HELICAL or spiral groove is relatively long and tends to supply the oil film more uniformly along the bearing surface than would be the case if a longitudinal groove were employed. However, according to Tethal, the prior methods of producing such a helical groove have not been

F-M Credit Union holds annual meet

Daniel Boncha was elected to the board of directors of the Federal-Mogul Credit Union at the organization's annual meeting Saturday evening at the VFW Hall in St. Johns.

Boncha will replace Don French when the board meets for reorganization tonight (Thursday). Other members of the board of directors are Harold Phillips, Maryellen Clark, Frank Swagart, Elliott Berkhausen, John Thrush and Beverly Tabor.

ONE HUNDRED and eighty-two persons attended the annual dinner meeting and dance which followed. The Rev. Gerald Churchill, pastor of the Congregational Church of St. Johns, spoke and showed color slides of Alaska, where he lived before coming to St. Johns last summer.

New members elected to the credit committee of the credit union during the business meeting were James Randall and Orville Sillman. They replace Bill Dohoney and Paul Bishop, whose terms expired. Also on that committee is Robert Baese.

JACK ROGAN was reelected to the supervisory committee, and he'll serve with Joyce Crosby and James Lotridge.

Some 748 Federal-Mogul employees are members of the credit union, which had total assets at the close of business Dec. 31 of $602,174.56. There were 341 loans in effect as of that date. The credit union has doubled its gross in the last three years, those at the meeting were told.

The credit union has loaned $3,484,813.37 since its organization in 1955.

THREE DOOR prizes were awarded at the conclusion of the meeting Saturday evening. Ernest Tweedie won a 19-inch television set, Shayne Smith won an automatic camera and Ray Peck was the winner of a transistor radio.

Measles not harmless, doctors urge immunization

"Science has done its part, now it's up to the parents to rid themselves of the misleading notion that measles is a harmless disease."

With this warning, an intensive campaign for immunization against measles was announced by F. W. Smith, M. D., president of the Clinton County Medical Society.

In reminding parents of the danger of measles, the medical society is joining in the statewide drive launched against the disease by the Michigan State Medical Society.

OLIVER B. McGillicuddy, MD, president of the Michigan State Medical Society, said the campaign, which will run throughout the month of March and continue to mid-April, will emphasize the importance of immunizing all children between the ages of nine months and 15 years against measles, except those who have had measles or have been previously vaccinated with the live-virus vaccine.

In announcing the statewide educational effort, Dr McGillicuddy revealed that, while measles occurs throughout the year, the number of cases reported grows progressively worse during the spring months, with a peak usually occurring during May.

CONTRARY TO popular belief, Dr McGillicuddy pointed out, the number of deaths resulting from measles has been higher than those from polio through the years and, of course, is even more so now that polio immunization has become widespread. In fact, he added, just measles deaths alone in 1963 far exceeded the total number of actual cases of polio reported for that year.

In Michigan, he explained, 48,752 cases of measles were reported during 1963 and more than 30,000 were reported in 1964. Only about 10 per cent of all measles cases are ever reported.

Dr McGillicuddy also revealed that 27 children died in Michigan in 1963 and 11 in 1964 as a result of measles. By contrast, he said only one death has occurred as a result of polio in the state over the past four years.

"THIS IS a highly invasive disease," he said, "and now it's completely preventable. It is estimated that between 90 and 95 per cent of the population will have measles before they reach adulthood. Even so, only 6 million children in the United States have been vaccinated since the Enders live-virus vaccine was made available in March 1963.

"There are still 20 million susceptibles," he said, "with the birth rates adding about four million more every year."

Florist speaks to Woman's Club

The St. Johns Woman's Club under the leadership of Mrs Van Hoag, president, voted to sponsor a girl to be a delegate to Girl's State again this year. Mrs George Brooks asked the members to write their congressmen, expressing their opinion about changing the present immigration law. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs Floyd Robinson Wednesday, March 3.

With the aid of such articles as Florists Wire and Oasis, Mrs Lyle Fenner from Woodbury's Flower Shop arranged flowers in containers. She said that it is not necessary to have many flowers in order to create an attractive bouquet. She explained how to condition flowers so that they will remain fresh.

A CENTERPIECE of iris and carnations and huckleberry green that Mrs Fenner had made was used for the tea table. The tea committee was Mrs Glenn Osgood, chairman, and Mrs Leo Pouch, Mrs Leonard Campbell and Mrs John Hannah.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs John Rumbaugh of 425 Meadowview Drive on March 17, at 1:30 p.m.

Brian VanVleet, 7, son of Mr and Mrs Bruce VanVleet of R-5, St. Johns, is one of a larger number of Clinton County youngsters getting measles shots this month. Here Dr F. W. Smith of St. Johns, president of the Clinton County Medical Society, administers the shot to Brian while nurse Mrs Smith hides the youngster from the needle. Brian was not unaffected by it all.

TWO KINDS of vaccines are actually available, it was explained. There is the live-virus type, which is a weakened measles virus producing what is believed to be permanent immunity with a single injection, and a killed-virus preparation, requiring booster shots at stated intervals.

While it is true that the majority of children get over measles, it is at best a distressing and uncomfortable disease characterized by high fever, cough, and disfiguring skin rash. In its least serious aspect, compared to possible permanent physical or mental damage, it accounts for more than 30 million lost school days every year.

EPIDEMICS, when they occur, strike hardest in the lower socioeconomic groups where nutrition and general health conditions are poor. However, all children, especially those in the pre-school period from nine months to 6 years of age, are particularly susceptible to measles and its more serious complications.

Among the most dreaded of these is encephalitis, an inflam-

DAC state assembly meeting in Monroe

Coueurs de Bois Chapter of the Daughters of the American Colonists met at the home of Mrs Tom Hancock Saturday, March 6, for a noon luncheon which was served by Mr and Mrs Hancock.

After the luncheon, the meeting was conducted by Mrs Hancock, the regent. Mrs Brisbin, registrar of the DAC gave a resume' of the chapter's members and work done during the year.

Nearly 1,500 pages of genealogy were written by the members, she said, including a book by Miss Virginia Ford and her sister, Mrs Fletcher Robinson, which has been sent to the national DAC library in Washington. A history of Ingham and Livingston counties was purchased and sent to the library also, she said.

MRS JUANITA Caskey of Williamston, state regent and a member of the Coueurs de Bois Chapter, reported that the chapter made the largest contribution in Michigan.

Mrs Floy Divine of Lansing, a former resident of Round Lake, gave a memorial service for Mrs Daisy Duncan Wille who died on Feb. 24. Mrs Wille was the former Daisy Galloway of Lansing and had joined the DAC through her mother's family, the Henry Burts.

Mrs Blanche Coggin of the While many affected children recover, others are left with permanent brain damage resulting in partial paralysis, inability to speak properly, seizures, or mental retardation. Some die. In very young children, brain damage might not show up until later when a teacher may discover that a child is slower mentally than his classmates or that he has become a behavior problem.

"These are risks no parent should take," Dr McGillicuddy declared, "and we urge that all susceptible children from nine months to 15 years of age be vaccinated before the measles season reaches its peak."

IF A CHILD has had measles before, of course, there is no need for vaccination, since he will have built up his own natural immunity.

Couple bruised in 2-car crash

Rex B. Hoover, 23, and his wife Joyce of 207 S. Prospect Street suffered bruises Saturday morning in a two-car collision on M-21 a half-block east of Kibbee Street in St. Johns.

Their car was hit from the rear by one driven by Dean H. Worrall, 26, of 710 E. Baldwin, as Hoover was turning right into a driveway. He reportedly had his turn signals on.

Worrall was ticketed for failure to have his car under control. Officer Ken Bunge investigated the accident, which occurred at 11:10 a.m. Saturday.

Car swerves off highway, upsets; Flint man hurt

A Flint man, 24-year-old Tracy E. Saxton, was injured early Saturday morning when his eastbound car swerved off the left side of the road and overturned in a field.

A passenger, Richard Vath, 24, of Flint was unhurt. Saxton was taken to Owosso Memorial Hospital for treatment of his injuries.

VATH TOLD Clinton County Deputies Stanley Kajdas and Ramon Terpening their car met another one coming head-on at them, and that he (Vath) swerved the car to the left to avoid the oncoming car.

Saxton's car tore down a fence owned by Walter Hott of 4153 E. M-21. The accident occurred 500 feet east of Chandler Road. The car wound up far enough off the road that Clinton deputies were unable to locate it until Shawssee deputies returned Vath to the scene to show them.

Street mileage up; 'bad' streets fewer

St. Johns has increased its total miles of roads and at the same time reduced its mileage of inadequate roads during the last eight years, City Manager Ken Greer told the city commission last week.

His annual city inventory of all streets and roads was made for the State Highway Department. The report shows 10.44 miles of major roads, 24.83 miles of local roads and 3.99 miles of trunk lines, for a total of 39.26 miles of roads in the city limits.

THIS IS further broken down into terms of either adequate for traffic needs and condition or inadequate. The State Highway Department establishes the specifications for these two classifications.

There are 9.91 miles of adequate major roads and .53 miles inadequate; 18.35 miles of adequate local roads, 6.48 miles inadequate; 2.49 miles of adequate trunk lines and 1.50 of inadequate. That makes a total of 30.75 miles of adequate road in the city and 8.51 miles that's inadequate.

BY COMPARISON, the 1956 report showed 22.59 miles of adequate road and 13.17 miles inadequate. This is an increase of 3.50 miles of roads in the eight-year period and a reduction of 4.66 miles in the amount of inadequate road.

In accordance with requirements of the State Highway Department, Greer also has submitted a two-year projection of street "needs" that would be "desirable" for St. Johns during that period.

THE MAJOR projects—storm sewers, curb and gutter and new gravel, and bituminous paving—on the major and local roads of the city total $171,860 for 1965-66 and 1966-67.

"This doesn't mean," Greer said, "that the city will do these projects in their entirety, but only that it would be desirable."

By comparison, the city spent a total of $72,526.76 on these projects during fiscal 1963-64, and during the first six months of fiscal 1964-65 spent $124,120.18.

"THESE TOTALS equal $196,646.94 for what would be a two-year period, but were unusually larger undertakings than we normally have done in the past," Greer said. "It would appear therefore, that a projection of $171,860 for the next two years wouldn't be too far reaching."

"How would you like to go to a medical convention, all expenses paid?"

St. Johns Redwings Team Statistics

As was evident throughout the season, Al Werbish and Clark Berkhausen were the big guns that made the St. Johns Redwings the terror of the West Central Conference.

Scoring statistics show Werbish as the leader with 331 points in 16 games, an average of 20.7 points per game. Berkhausen scored 325 points in 16 games for a 20.3 average.

THE VALUE OF THE two can be readily seen in the wide gap between their averages and the others on the team, although each player certainly shared his abilities and contributed to the overall success of the team.

Here is the compilation of scoring for the 16 games of the regular season, including each player's best scoring night.

St. Johns bows out as rally fails; Ithaca wins

★ ★ ★ Team beats St. Louis in semi-finals

The St. Johns Redwings got too far behind a spirited Ithaca team in the finals of the Alma Class B tournament Saturday night and bowed out of the state tourney running despite a strong fourth-quarter rally.

The final score was Ithaca 76, St. Johns 68.

The Redwings were down by 20 points, 62-42, as the fourth-quarter started, and they pulled to within three points two times in the final minutes. Al Werbish hit eight straight points and Clark Berkhausen two to start the fourth quarter, and it was 62-52 before Ithaca finally scored.

BERKHAUSEN then hit three baskets, Werbish got one and Berkhausen two more during a span of two minutes to reduce the deficit to 67-64 with 2:23 left in the game.

Ithaca countered with two baskets, but then Bill Sitrine popped in a pair to make it 71-68 with 1:45 left. But that was all St. Johns could do, and Ithaca scored two more baskets and a free throw to wrap up the scoring.

THE REDWINGS never were ahead in the game. Ithaca jumped off to a 6-0 lead as the game opened and steadily built the margin up to 24-13 at the end of the first quarter. Despite 12 points by Berkhausen in the second period Ithaca maintained their scoring pace and even built their lead by one point, leaving the floor at the half with a 43-31 lead.

COACH BILL Swears' Redwings, who wound up the year with an overall 16-3 record, were bothered by the same hot and cold spells that have hindered them in the last part of the season. They made only four of 14 field goal attempts in the first quarter, but in the final eight minutes of rally they made 11 of 13 tries. Their overall shooting percentage was an excellent .565. From the free throw line, however, they made only 16 of 30 free throws.

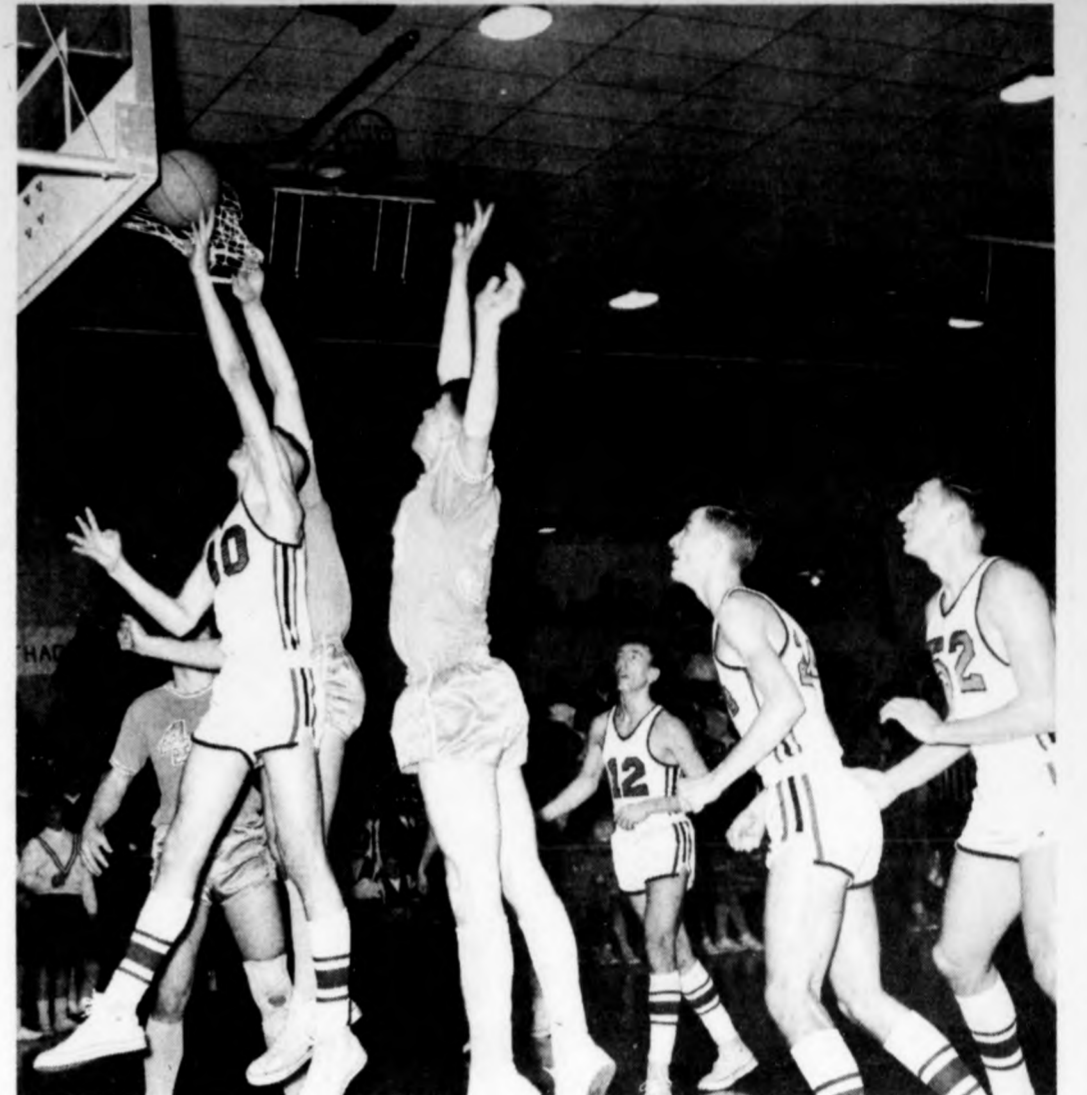

Ithaca, by comparison, shot a good .461 from the floor and only made eight of 22 free throws. Despite their lower shooting percentage, they made eight more field goals than did St. Johns, and they took 24 more shots than did the Redwings.

CLARK Berkhausen had his best scoring night of the year, ringing up 29 points. Al Werbish had 24, while Al Anderson had 7 and Bill Sitrine and Jim Leonard 4 each. Gary Becker and Doug Lundy were the only other St. Johns players to see action, and neither scored.

Anderson led the Wings in rebounding with 12, while Werbish pulled down 11 and Leonard 5.

ITHACA'S VICTORY came through balanced scoring. Tom Carter and Roger McCloy each had 17, while Roger Pearson had 14 and Jim Goodrich 12. Wayne Fortney, the fifth man, had 9.

St. Johns 13 18 11 26-68
Ithaca 24 19 19 14-76

St. Johns' Al Anderson (40 in white) hooks up a rebound shot from under the basket for two points against Ithaca in the Class B district championship game Saturday night at Alma. Closing in for possible rebound are the Redwings' Clark Berkhausen (12), Jim Leonard (25) and Al Werbish (52). St. Johns lost the game 76-68.

enough to keep the Wings ahead by margins of from one to three points. A goaltending call against St. Johns gave St. Louis a 44-44 tie at the end of the third period.

THE REDWINGS turned hot again as the last eight minutes started. Berkhausen scored on a layup and a jump shot. Al Anderson canned two free throws, Werbish scored on a fast break and Jim Leonard hit two consecutive 20-foot jump shots, making the score 56-44.

After St. Louis scored, Leonard hit another jumper. Then the Sharks scored five points in a row to narrow the score to 58-51 with 4:01 left in the game. But Berkhausen reserved the tide for St. Johns with two free throws and a layup in quick succession.

IN THE LAST two minutes Werbish scored on a drive and a rebound layup and Berkhausen scored a free throw to keep St. Johns ahead despite a desperate press by the Sharks.

Despite their erratic play, the Redwings shot well from the floor, connecting with 26 of 50 attempts for a percentage of .520. From the charity line 15 to 21 shots fell through for a .714 percentage.

St. Louis shot well, but their percentage was far below that of the Wings—39 per cent on 22 of 56 shots.

AL WERBISH did a yeoman job with 26 points and 24 rebounds, while Berkhausen's 23 points came as sparks for the Redwings' two big explosions. Al

Anderson picked off 15 rebounds and got a total of 7 points. Others scoring were Jim Leonard 8, Ortwein 2 and Sitrine 1.

Coach Bill Swears, happy though not satisfied with the victory and the way the Wings played, acknowledged that the team missed Doug Lundy greatly. Lundy was sidelined prior to the Ionia regular-season game with an ankle injury.

FOR ST. LOUIS, Coach Joe Holcomb got balanced scoring, with Dennis Edgar, Frank McClintic and Fred Mallard leading the way with 13, 12 and 11 points respectively.

Score by quarters:

Fulton's Bill Cartwright (34) puts up a layup for two points in the Fulton-Ovid district final game Saturday night despite the effort of Frank Gazda (21) to block the shot. That's Ovid's Bob Gazda (31) and Dennis Love (33) waiting to help with a rebound.

Bath, DeWitt, Laingsburg, Fowler bow

DeWitt, Fowler, Bath and Laingsburg all dropped out of the district tournaments in their first games last week.

At Lansing Sexton, where DeWitt and Fowler were playing in the Class D tournament, Webberville which beat both of the county teams, won the championship with a 76-61 victory over Portland St. Patrick, the Central Michigan Class D Conference co-champion with Webberville.

AFTER A first-round bye in the Class C tournament, Bath lost to Williamston 61-45, and Williamston went on to defeat Fowlerville 48-46 Saturday night for the championship.

Perry, which beat Laingsburg in the first round of the Owosso Class C tourney, lost out to Byron 83-79 in an overtime championship contest Friday night.

THE DEWITT Panthers lost out in the Sexton Class D tourney when they fell to Webberville 70-59 in the first round. They closed out their basketball season with an overall record of eight wins and nine defeats.

The Panthers stuck close to the Spartans much of the way, trailing by only 15-13 at the first quarter and 28-26 at the half. But midway through the third quarter, Webberville's Dusty Weaver, Ron Hoag and Jerry Arnold went to work, scoring 11 points while DeWitt could get only 4.

THAT MADE the score 46-36, and DeWitt was unable to get any closer than nine points the rest of the way, despite Lenny Ward's eight straight points in a two-minute span.

The much shorter DeWitt team rebounded Webberville in the first half but lost that advantage in the last two periods. The Panthers shot well and hit 48 per cent in the second half even in the face of Webberville's rally.

The unsung conquering hero is the man who succeeds in conquering his bad habits.

ROGER CORYELL paced the Panthers with 16 points, while Pat Weston added 11, Bill Watson 15, Jim Dalman 9, and Ward 8. Hoag led Webberville with 18 points.

The Fowler Eagles, who had drawn a first-round bye in the Sexton "D" tourney, came out on the short end of a 57-47 decision with Webberville in the semi-finals Friday night. It was the first time since 1957 that Fowler hasn't won its district championship.

BOTH TEAMS started out slowly, with Fowler controlling the backboards and holding a 7-5 lead at the end of the first period. But while Webberville got only one field goal in the first period, they warmed up fast in the second and rolled up a 24-15 lead by halftime. Fowler continued cold and didn't score in the second period until it was half over.

THE SLOW start was to plague Fowler the rest of the evening. During the second half the Eagles and Webberville played on even terms.

Luke Koenigsnecht set the pace for Fowler with 19 points while Jim Koenigsnecht had 10. Roger Conley scored 9, B. Thelen 5, N. Thelen 2 and Jody Wohlfert and Jon Thelen 1 each. Ron Hoag's 15 points was high for Webberville.

OVER AT Owosso, Laingsburg bowed to Perry 76-66 in the opening (semi-final) round last Wednesday night. Bob Kruger had 20 points to lead Laingsburg,

Romans push by Fulton in finals

Regional Score

At Big Rapids—Grand Rapids Lee 64, Ovid 61.

The Ovid Romans came on strong in the last quarter Saturday night to dump Fulton High School 70-53 and become the only Clinton County team to win a district basketball title this year. The district Class C tournament was played in St. Johns.

Making it doubly sweet was the fact it was Ovid's first district title in 30 years. The last trophy was won in 1935.

THE HISTORY-MAKING title

Dalman, Micka on 'C' all stars

Two county players have been named to the Central Michigan Class C All-Conference first team, and another pair were named to the second team.

Making the first team were Jim Dalman of DeWitt and Tom Micka of Elsie. Frank Gazda of Ovid and Roger Coryell of DeWitt are on the second team. All four are seniors.

Rounding out the conference first team are Robert Lardie of Perry, Dick Agostini of Portland and John Nowak of Portland. On the second team, besides the Clinton boys, are John Davidson, Bill Johnson and Fred Reahm, all from Portland.

GIVEN honorable mention were Mike Hawley and Lee Woodworth of Ovid; Leon Nurenberg and Don Werner of Pewamo-Westphalia; Chet McGonigal, Jim Sober and Bruce Miller of Bath; Bill Watson of DeWitt; Bob Kruger and Bill Antcliff of Laingsburg; Dave Bott and Don Donckel of Perry and Riley Quinn of Portland.

which never seriously threatened Perry.

The Ramblers held at 45-30 lead at halftime. They were led in scoring by Bump Lardie and Dave Shanski with 28 and 22 points respectively.

Laingsburg closed the basketball season with an overall record of seven wins and 11 losses.

THE COUNTY'S only representative in the Class C district tournament at Lansing Sexton High School—Bath—lost out to Williamston in the semi-final round Thursday night. Both teams had drawn a first-round bye.

Bath did have an advantage at one time over Williamston, but it was short-lived. The score was 14-12 in favor of Bath at the end of the first quarter, but then the Hornets rang up a 14-7 second period advantage to take a 28-21 halftime lead.

BATH FELL farther behind during the second half. The Bees were unable to hit well from the floor on their field goal shots, despite five buckets in a row at the start of the third period. They wound up the night making only 16 of 61 attempts for an average of only 26 per cent.

Chet McGonigal led the Bees in scoring with 14 points while Bruce Miller had 11, Jim Sober, 9, Terry Wood 3, Rusty Woolfe, Wess Parks and Roger Friend 2 each and Art Six and Al Conley 1 each. Gaffner had 14 to lead four Williamston scorers in double figures.

LINE SCORES:

was not won easily, however, as the Fulton Pirates set a rugged early pace. They scored the first six points, and the Romans couldn't get on the scoreboard until four minutes of the game had passed. They finally tied it up at 9-9, but Fulton jumped ahead 13-12 at the end of the first period.

Ovid got its first lead with 1:35 remaining in the first half, but again it was temporary, and Fulton had a 31-29 halftime lead.

THE ROMANS didn't establish any clear-cut lead until 3:46 remained of the third quarter, when they took a 44-40 lead. Fulton knotted it up a 46-46, but then Ovid's Mike Hawley sank two free throws after the buzzer had sounded to give Ovid a 48-46 lead at the end of three quarters.

The Pirates made their final show of strength in the first minute of the last quarter. They held a 50-49 lead over Ovid with 6:48 left in the game, but they didn't score again until Jerry Drummond dropped in a free throw with 1:40 remaining. By then the Romans had a 64-51 lead, and the game, for all practical purposes, was over.

DENNIS LOVE was the big scorer for the Romans, canning seven field goals and 12 of 13 free throws for 26 points. Hawley scored 20 points, while Frank Gazda had 7, Len Huyck 6, Bob Gazda 5, Doug Behrens 4 and Lee Woodworth 2.

Bill Cartwright set the style for Fulton's balanced scoring attack with 15 points, while Terry Thomas had 12, John Roberts and Drummond 10 each, and George Conklin, Chris VanSickle and Eldon Whitford 2 each.

MIKE HAWLEY and Dennis Love were the top scorers Thursday night for Ovid, each getting 14 points. Frank Gazda had 13 points, Woodworth 7, Martinez 4, Huyck 3, and Bob Gazda, Dan Tubbs, Dean Simpson and Behrens 2 each.

The 50th annual Michigan Highway conference will be held next week at Grand Rapids.

Some places on new grades and some spots on local roads are impassable and many others are rough and badly rutted. Some roads had to be closed last week because of high water or bad washouts.

WEATHER conditions have made repairs impossible in most cases. Water and spring break-up problems are the worst since 1960, and could exceed those of that year when frost goes out.

Ceramics new interest of art students here

Art I and II classes at St. Johns have been working with ceramics recently under the direction of Mrs. Geraldine Niergarth.

Art I students have made many beautiful and interesting figurines by shaping and molding moist clay. This is known as the free form method. Students in the more-advanced art classes have designed and made dinner plates, as well as several other decorative objects.

SINCE the classes do not have a potter's wheel, they had to make and use their own molds, as well as fire and glaze their products. First the figurine is shaped or molded into the desired form. If color is wanted, it is painted and then fired in the kiln. Next a glass-like liquid is brushed over the object and it is fired again.

This glazes the figurine. Finally after it is cooled it is mounted on wood for a professional touch.

Showing the various steps in the pottery process are Richard Irrer (holding a piece of clay), Georgia Huhn (molding clay), Jean Benson (doing some touchup work) and Louise Hicks (painting a finished product). Other completed articles are displayed on the table.

City basketball race finished?

City League basketball was to wind up last night (Wednesday) with the last of the regularly scheduled games, but there could be more action. If Miller's Tavern and Clinton Tractors both win, the second half of the season will end in a tie, and a playoff will be necessary.

Such a playoff game would be next Wednesday evening at the high school between the two teams. If Clinton Tractor should win the playoff game, the same two will meet the following week to decide the city championship.

Miller's won the first half race and could sew up the championship by winning the second half, too. If they don't, the championship game will have to be played.

Mrs Cobb talks to Elsie WSCS

ELSIE — "Serving the New Age: Opportunities in Outreach," a lesson on Methodist missionaries and deaconesses, was presented by Mrs A. W. Cobb Wednesday evening before the WSCS of the Elsie Methodist Church.

The March meeting was held in the recreation room at the home of Mrs John Beery with 30 members present.

Mrs Cobb opened her talk by reading from old family papers to illustrate early missionary work.

She also chose two books from which excerpts were given. They were "As Among the Methodists," the deaconess story, by Elizabeth Meredith Lee and "In Darling Obediency" by Eloise A. Woolever.

From her own first-hand information she told of missionaries, Lora Mae Mort Temple of this community who worked in Sibiu, Sarawak and Malaysia on the island of Borneo, and Treva Overholt who is now retired missionary to Lima, Peru, and a cousin, who spent years in the Philippines carrying on missionary work.

Foundations for this new age, she said, with Peace Corps workers in all parts of the world, were laid by the early missionaries in promoting Christianity and preparing the way.
Mrs Frances Pearl led the devotions in connection with the missionary story.

Mrs Charles Kridner presided for the business meeting. Reports of the MMPA dinner, Friends of the Library and cards and sick calls were made.

Mrs Clifford Geiger reported that a member, Mrs Leo Onstoft is a patient at the Ford Hospital in Detroit. Her address is Unit 1, Room 102.

Knitting of bandages for a leper colony in Korea has been lagging and Mrs Frances Pearl, secretary of supplies, reminded the women to complete the project as soon as possible.

Plans complete for Day Apart

ELSIE — Mrs Charles Kridner announced the Day Apart services at the Greenbush Methodist Church on March 12, opening at 10 a.m. Mrs Kenneth Folkers, spiritual life cultivation secretary of the Michigan Conference, will be the speaker. Women are to take sack lunches. The worship will be under the direction of Mrs George N. Lauer, Central District spiritual life cultivation secretary of the WSCS.

A letter from Mrs Charles F. Belshaw, district treasurer, reminded the members of the goals set up as an anniversary recognition of 25 years as WSCS. Mrs Howard Peltier was instructed to send the remainder of the local pledge for the year.

A letter from a former member, Mrs Leafy Garrett of Millford, was read describing the early days in Elsie as a member of the local Ladies Aid Society, a forerunner of the WSCS.

Mrs Kriner asked the members to bring their world banks to the next meeting, April 7, which will be held at the parsonage.

After the program, Mrs Lyle Dunham, Mrs Leslie Sturgis and Mrs Merie Baese served refreshments using a St. Patrick's decer.

Winkler boy feted on 13th birthday

ELSIE — Nine boys helped Frankie Winkler celebrate his 13th birthday at an all night slumber party Friday. They went to Ovid's Tri-Ami Bowling Alley where Terry Latham and Calvin Woodard were the winning bowlers.
Mrs Frank Winkler served cake and ice cream. The late movie on television and a pillow fight were entertainment along with pizza and hamburgers at midnight.

The boys arose early Saturday morning for a basketball game at school with DeWitt. They lost by one point. The guests at the party were: Glen Halterman, Greg Mead, Gilbert Rios, Joe Vostri-zansky, Ricky Doubrava, Calvin Woodard, Terry Latham and Johnny and Frankie Winkler.

Several members of the West Elsie Extension Group met with Mrs R. C. Parks to tie off a quilt. Materials had been donated and blocks pieced previously by the women. It was presented to the Lyle Dunham family whose home was damaged by fire recently.

Boy Scout troop is reactivated in Elsie area

ELSIE — The local boy scout troop was reactivated Wednesday night with Keith Thornton as leader. Ronnie Sills and Dennis Mead assisted in leading the Scout oath and scout law. Thornton instructed the new members in requirements for Tenderfoot tests. He discussed future plans for the boys including a five-mile hike Saturday, March 13.

Application blanks and other boy scout information were given to the new boys who were present. These included a special record calendar, distributed in the interest of boy scout membership in the community by James and Marie Hurst of the J & M restaurant.

The program featured Louis Marzek of Duplain and some of his arrowheads and other Indian artifacts. His collection contains over 1100 arrowheads, many tomahawks, spears, neck bracelets and hair ornaments.
He explained their use by the Indians and stated that he will bring the remainder of his collection for display at the next meeting.

Teams were chosen for several games, including basketball, at the close of the program. Then followed the Circle closing with "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" with all boys taking part.

Boys 11 years and older are welcome to join the local Boy Scout Troop No. 76. They meet each Wednesday evening from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the American Legion Hall.

Trading Post dates are March 19 to 27

ELSIE — Mrs Lawrence Hess and Mrs Platner are co-chairmen of the Spring Trading Post that will open March 19 and continue through March 27. They distributed work schedules to the women and gave instructions for its operation on the second floor of the Blackford Building on Main Street over Welcome Inn.

Music was furnished by Mrs Earl Seybert, who played accordion selections.

At the close of the program, refreshments were served by Mrs Donald Richards, Mrs Everett Rule and Mrs Viva Scott. Hostesses, Mrs Myron Tethal and Mrs George Bennett, presided at the coffee and tea services.
The next meeting will be held in the same place with "Art in Various Forms" as the program, to be presented by Mrs Geraldine Niergarth of St. Johns.

Mr and Mrs Sidney J. Keys, Mrs Margaret Edwards and Donald Willard visited the former's uncle, Ezra N. Keys, at the Gladwin Nursing Home on Sunday afternoon. Mr Keys, now 96 years old underwent surgery in January for amputation of a leg. They also visited their cousins, Mr and Mrs Arthur Martin at Budd Lake.

Women in business, professional fields

BY PATRICIA HOLMES

Working women everywhere are being honored this week for National Business Women's Week. A special salute is given to people who have advanced the status of women by pioneering the opening of professional fields to women, managing the schools where our youngsters are taught and the businesses that contribute to our economy. Clinton County has its share of women leaders in business and the professions.

Above—It is said that behind every good businessman there is a good secretary and who could give better testimony to such an axiom than a president of a bank? Lewis W. Wolf, president of Clinton National Bank agrees that his secretary is his right hand girl. She is Miss Irene Speck of 715 North Ottawa. Miss Speck, who started with the State Bank 30 years ago as secretary and occasional teller, took the title of assistant cashier when they consolidated with the National Bank to form Clinton National in 1961. While her duties include such paper work as making out savings bonds and reports, she is more often thought of as the president's Girl Friday.

Right—Mrs Ethel Huot of 36-45 South US-27, principal of the Swegles Street School for the past 15 years, had 10 years of administrative experience behind her when she started. She was principal of a suburban Ingham County school for 10 preceding years. She received her Bachelor of Science degree from Central Michigan University and recently earned a Master of Arts in administration from Michigan State University. She is a member of the Delta Kappa Gamma Sorority, the National Education Association and the Michigan Elementary Principals Association. A teacher of more than 30 years, Mrs Huot now divides her free time equally between her home and her cottage at Higgins Lake.

Left—Dr Norma Eleeson was the only woman dentist in Clinton County and its surrounding area from 1921 until just recently. A lifetime resident of Maple Rapids, Dr Eleeson was one of five women graduates from the University of Michigan School of Dentistry in 1921. For the past 43 years she has practiced dentistry in her residence at 407 Maple St. in Maple Rapids. Some of the patients that come to her today belong to the fourth generation of families she has served. The great-grandparents of Rodney Bissell, son of Mr and Mrs Richard Bissell of 209 East Union St. in Maple Rapids, who is having his regular check-up, were among Dr Eleeson's first patients. The patients that prefer to travel many miles in order to be treated by Dr Eleeson do so because she reportedly "pulls teeth without pain."

Above—A 17-year employee of General Telephone, Mrs R. V. Padgett of 306 West Gibbs began as a long distance operator, was promoted to supervisor in 1957 and last September took over the position of chief operator. As chief operator, her duties include making out the payroll, hiring and firing, although Mrs Padgett said she has not had to fire anyone in many years, and keeping line records for St. Johns and its tributaries and Grand Ledge. She is responsible for 18 operators and must schedule their working hours. At the most, nine or 10 operators are present at one time. She takes calls only in the case of an emergency and in the absence of the supervisor she answers questions that the operators have about their work, as she is doing for Mrs Charles Stevens. In the foreground is Carol Smith, a new operator.

Right—An interest in retailing and a fondness for contact with the public spurred the opening of the Mary Frances Shop by Mrs James Crosby 3 years ago. The shop, located at 102 North Clinton, began as a specialty shop and has expanded to include all lines of women's apparel. Except for the aid of three part-time employees, Mrs Crosby has complete charge of the store. She is buyer, salesgirl, bookkeeper and maintenance man. Contrary to what many people think, Mrs Crosby said, the shop is not a diversion for her, but a full time job which has its frustrations as well as its joys. In addition to successfully managing a store, Mrs Crosby is a wife and a mother of three children. Besides the reasons given above, Mrs Crosby said she decided to open a store because she felt there was a need for it.

Big summer, spring offering of tourist events

Michigan communities throughout both peninsulas are preparing to host spring-summer vacationers with a record offering of more than 200 events, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Turkey shoots and county fairs wind up the summer activities list, which includes everything from mushroom hunts to rodeos and from antique shows to unlimited powerboat races.

FESTIVALS, carnivals and scores of other outdoor events staged against Michigan's water background are liberally scattered throughout the activities planned to entertain visitors this year.

In the immediate future, these events occupy the center of attention: Sport Show at Lansing through Monday; antique show at the Light Guard Armory in Detroit today through Sunday; Blue Water Sports Show at Port Huron Friday through Sunday; and the horticulture show at Manistee next Tuesday through Thursday.

Copies of the 1965 March-September Calendar of Events are available by writing the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing 48926.

Average motorist

How close are you to being the average motorist?

The average suburban commuter drives 6-1/2 miles to work. His wife—if she is lucky enough to have a second car—drives four miles for shopping. The average family drives 11 miles for medical and dental care, and 4-1/2 miles for recreational activities or church.

The average pleasure ride is 15 miles, and the average vacation trip is 276 miles.

Organize cleaning to ease work load

BY BETTY KETCHAM
County Extension Agent
Home Economics

Homemakers consider cleaning one of the most tiring jobs they have to do.

Work-saving rules can make any job easier—even house cleaning.

A new publication, "A Clean House with Modern Methods," prepared by home management specialists of the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service, offers suggestions to help make your house cleaning easier.

THE AMOUNT of cleaning you do in your home depends on the number and the age of your family members. It also depends on their standards of cleanliness.

Work saving rules can make your house cleaning job easier. When you apply work-saving suggestions you will save time and energy, reduce fatigue and gain an increased feeling of accomplishment. It's also interesting to search for ways to get a job done more efficiently.

ONCE YOU have established basic work plans, there are several ways you can lighten the work load:

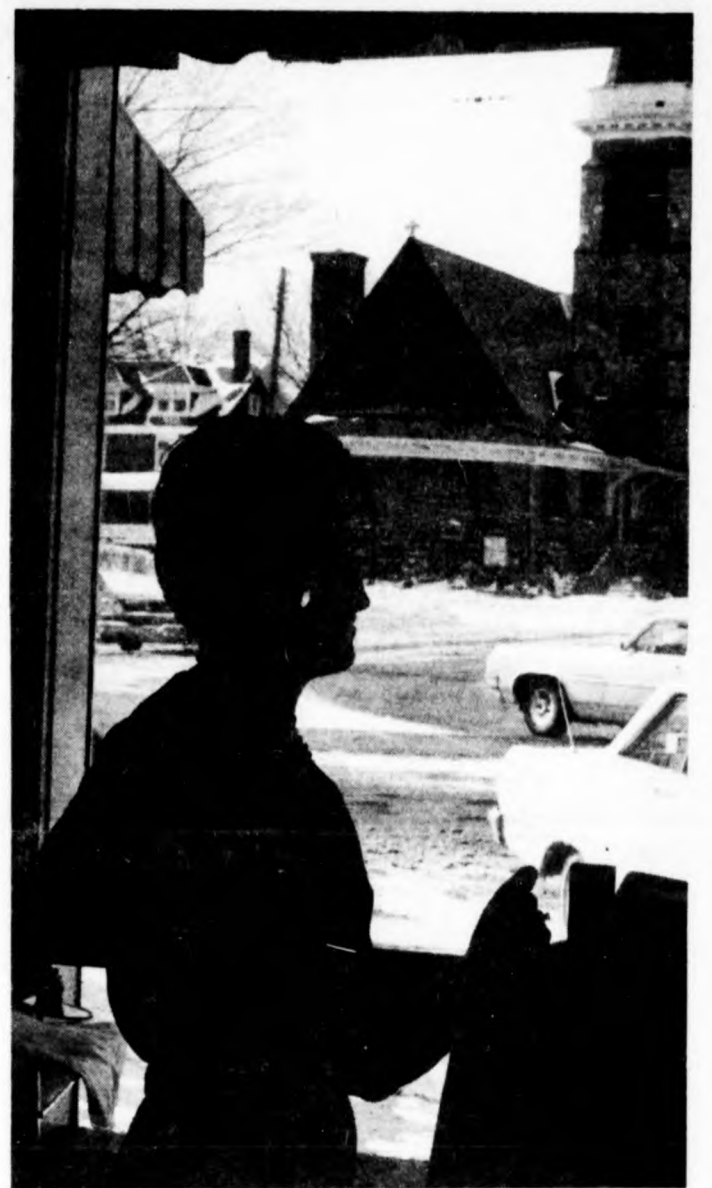

- Prevent dirt from collecting by frequent light cleaning, use of special fabrics and other dirt-saving devices.
- Provide convenient storage.
- TAKE ONE job at a time.
- Suit your efforts to your needs—not to "what the neighbors think." The authors also point out several guides for cleaning:

- Make the best use of your body.
- Use the best tool for the job.
- GET THE most good from your vacuum sweeper.
- Try new products with an open mind.
- Improve the order of work.

Don't expect the impossible, but remember that work-saving rules can be important tools in reaching the goal of a clean, orderly home.

IF YOU want more information on work-saving rules, you can order this publication free of charge from Clinton County Extension Office, Courthouse, St. Johns. Ask for "A Clean House with Modern Methods," Extension Bulletin 478.

Illegitimate partners in legitimate business

Legislators and law enforcement officials must find ways to thwart organized crime moving into legitimate business. The ominous threat of criminal control of important segments of the American economy must be eliminated.

Mention of organized crime conjures up visions of loan sharking, extortion, labor racketeering, narcotics, bootlegging, prostitution, gambling, murder.

It does not so readily bring to mind Wall Street brokerage houses, real estate firms, banks, and major industrial concerns; yet the funds amassed by the underworld are being used to infiltrate at an alarming rate the world of legitimate business, industry, and finance.

UNDERWORLD operators, acting in concert, involve businessmen in situations which virtually ensure an eventual take-over of their firms. Employing extortion and loan shark operations, executives of the crime syndicates force their way into partnership in financially hardpressed firms.

Entry into the business may, however, be legitimate. Underworld executives may simply invest their profits from the rackets in corporation stock until they have a controlling share. Employing dummy fronts, they remain invisible. Thus their involvement is hard to prove; and, if proved, sufficient evidence to indict for criminal conspiracy is difficult to obtain.

A TAKE-OVER of legitimate businesses by the syndicates can play havoc with the economic foundations of society and gobble up the savings of the unsuspecting public.

Banks fail for unexplained reasons; brokers promote the stock of fraudulent companies; relators build homes with substandard materials; unscrupulous operators drain firms of their capital, forcing them into bankruptcy.

We look hopefully to the forthcoming report of the Senate Permanent Investigations Subcommittee which has been delving into organized crime. The American people deserve clear-cut recommendations on ways to return legitimate business to legitimate businessmen.

New map proves our world keeps changing

Keeping up with the world is even harder than many people think. The National Geographic Society's new world map, its first since 1957, shows a good many changes in that short time.

Thus a new volcanic island, named Surtsey, appeared off Iceland in late 1963, and has grown to almost a square mile. Recent eruptions of Sicily's Mt. Etna, one of the most famous of all volcanoes, have added 253 feet to its height. The present figure is 10,958 feet.

The magnetic poles, which attract the needles of magnetic compasses, are known to vary their location. Both have shifted several miles since the last previous Geographic map.

OF MORE CONCERN to average users are the political shifts. Old nations sometimes take new names, and sometimes are swallowed up.

Aden Protectorate at the south end of the Red Sea is now the Protectorate of South Arabia. Two familiar African countries, Tanganyika and Zanzibar, have merged both in name and politically; together they are now called Tanzania.

Similarly, Malaysia is the name now given to the 1963 federation of Malaysia, Singapore, Sabah (which was once known as British North Borneo) and Sarawak.

Netherlands New Guinea is now part of Indonesia and entitled West Irian. Its capital, formerly called Hollandia, has changed its name, first to Kotabaru and now to Sukarnapurs.

So don't let anyone tell you the world is standing still. It's changing.

One of my duties one time a month is compiling the "Back Through the Years" column which appears on this page every week. Finding newsy items to repeat 10, 25 and 50 years later is sometimes difficult, particularly in the years farther back.

But while the news items themselves are hard to find, the phrasing of the articles is interesting and enjoyable. This search of the files also frequently turns up an interesting item for my column; the following is one of them, picked up from the March 25, 1915 issue.

MY AUTO 'TIS OF THESE

"My auto, 'tis of thee, short cut to poverty—of thee I chant. I blew a pile of dough on you two years ago, and now you quite refuse to go, or won't or can't.

"Through town and countryside, you were my joy and pride; a happy day. I love thy gaudy hue, thy nice white tires so new, but now you're down and out for true, in every way.

"TO THEE, old rattle box, came many bumps and knocks; for thee I grieve. Badly the top is torn, frayed are thy seats and worn; the whopping cough effects thy horn, I do believe.

"Thy perfume swells the breeze, while good folks choke and wheeze, as we pass by. I paid for thee a price, 'twould buy a mason, twice, now everybody's yelling 'ice'—I wonder why.

"Thy motor has the gripe, thy spark plug has the pip and woe is thine. I too have suffered chills, ague and kindred ills, endeavoring to pay my bills since thou were mine.

"GONE IS my bank roll now, no more 'twould choke the cow, as once before. Yet, if I had the mon, so help me John—amen—I'd buy myself a car again and speed some more."

Who the clever author of the items was is not revealed in the 1915 issue of the Clinton County Republican. What makes this doubly enjoyable is that the "song" has as much meaning now as 50 years ago.

When the home team wins

By W. E. DOBSON

I've played a bit of football,
And spent time with other games,
Where the "college try" was featured,
And spectators know first names;
Came to know what's called team spirit—
Sticking by through thick and thin—
And such days I live all over,
When I watch the home team win!

Yes our town was small but cozy,
Never gained much real renown.
But we never were impartial,
When opponents came to town;
'Beat 'em up' the banners shouted;
Pep rallies increased in din—
'N we locked up business places
Just to help the home team win.

Grandstands weren't so grand, I'm ownin'
'N we had no reserve seats,
No one knew about concessions—
We went home to get our eats;
Stadium debt was also missin',
Even though assets were thin,
And we loved to play for nothin'
But to help the home team win.

Many are our old Alumni,
Who have moved to bigger fields,
Where they shine in big time effort,
'N fer some there's healthy yields;
So I join them in rejoicin',
While suggestin' it's no sin,
That they won their spurs 'n glory,
Back there helpin' home teams win.

Let's curb the smut peddlers

IF THERE'S ANY special time for inventory of moral standards, it's probably the Lenten season which is now upon us. And on Ash Wednesday, of all days, I received a mailing from an advertising specialty supply house offering for $5 proofs and reproduction rights to 536 "excruciatingly funny" cartoons.

This outfit in Arlington, Texas, offers not only these lousy cartoons but, as a bonus for prompt reply, they'll send me 1,700 gags and jokes . . . "all the latest and best, and the right to use these in your own printing."

Then they continue: "We are the greatest collectors of blushing, but printable, humor in America."

THE SAMPLES of the "blushing" cartoon humor they enclose are enough to turn your stomach. Most of them feature bare chested women with oversize mammary glands.

I don't argue about the illegality or the obscenity of this kind of stuff, but it sets me to wondering what sort of people we're becoming if we've made traffic in trash like this profitable.

I'm not prude. I'll laugh along with the next guy at an off-color story if it needs to be that way to be funny. But there is a cut-off point between humor and plain filth.

WHAT DISTURBS ME is that Arlington, Texas, supplier boasts that his firm rates AAA1 in Dun & Bradstreet, the nation's top credit reference. It must be they sell enough of this junk to prosper.

When smut peddlers brazenly solicit my patronage and tell me their business is good, I begin to wonder about my own loosely-assembled moral code. Am I just old-fashioned? Has our national taste descended to a point where what I consider vulgarity has become stylish?

Or has this post-war generation slipped pretty badly in its sense of values?

SINCE IT'S DIFFICULT for me to admit to being an old fogey, I have to think that somehow we've lost our grip on a decent moral code. A case in point is the restaurant situation which has developed in Southern California.

There, according to newspaper reports, statuesque models in topless bathing suits, bikinis and lingerie mingle with the noon diners, chatting, flirting and playing hob with midday business discussions.

Some restaurants even provide belly dancers to break the monotony of the blue plate specials.

THE TELEPHONE BOOTH, an eating place on Hollywood's Sunset Strip, features three models daily, all nude from the waist up. They are called hostesses, and are allowed to pour coffee but not serve food. They parade around from table to table, inquiring about the patrons' health, family and the state of the union.

Waitresses in the same restaurant are more demurely dressed in bra and panties.

The Quail is a larger establishment in California's San Fernando Valley. Lunch hour there is enlivened by a pair of belly dancers who twirl and undulate on a small stage to the strains of recorded hoochy-koochy music.

At The Quail, too, models in topless attire chat with diners, most always men. Because the place is located in an industrial section, the clientele is less sophisticated in appearance than some of the others, we're told.

AS I SAID earlier, there's no special time to evaluate the standards which are becoming a part of our national life. But Lent is a good season to think about them and resolve that each in his own way will do something to help improve the moral tone.

You don't have to be a fuddy-duddy to discard a salacious book or magazine; or write to a newspaper or TV station which carries advertising in poor taste; or to disapprove openly of the fellow who peddles what you regard as obscenity.

The quiet determination of sincere people to rid the community of such influences can accomplish much.

If there's a judgment day for horses, the future looks none too bright for Dick, 13-year-old gelding owned by Dr. A. C. Henthorn of St. Johns. Charged with high crime, Dick, a "cow pony," can produce no defense nor offer any excuse . . . In an unprovoked, malicious and premeditated attack, with intent to do great bodily harm, Dick did violently maltreat, kick, bite and trample another of his kind in a successful attempt to rend and destroy. The fact that his victim was a member of the fair sex, so to speak, makes the crime still more heinous. She has gone to the happy hunting ground, but Dick still lives to do penance for his dastardly deed.

Bement Library Book Shelf

By Elizabeth Millman

"The River Plate Republics" from Life World Library is written by J. Halcro Ferguson. This describes the three nations of South America—Argentina, Paraguay, and Uruguay—which are linked by the great river, La Plata. Each country is different in its development. Paraguayans change little as they are tucked away in the heartland of South America. Uruguay has had great success in developing its democratic institutions, but not so much in meeting its economic problems.

Argentina, the largest of the three, has one of the richest agricultural areas in the world and only needs more stable politics and economic policies to become one of the power nations of the world.

THE BOOK is a good description of life in this part of the world and should help us have a better understanding of our South American neighbors.

"A Covenant With Death" by Stephen Becker is a story of a murder trial. In the southwest in 1923 a man is charged with the murder of his beautiful wife. The story is told by the judge in the trial. It has a very unusual development for such a trial and is a gripping story of life and death.

"Mostly in Clover" by Harry Boyle is a series of reminiscences of his childhood spent on a farm in Huron County, Ontario. His descriptions of the rural world in which he grew and his love for the outdoors are the outstanding features of the book. He describes his family and all their foibles, as well as the long succession of hired men who helped his father. It is a nostalgic story of the simple life of other days.

THE BOOK, "Hotel," by Arthur Halley, is a stirring, exciting book set against the background of a large hotel in the city of New Orleans in 1964. Through five days the story carries the reader through the fortunes and conflicts affecting the hotel, from its guests to the highest management. It is a fascinating glimpse into the inner machinery of a large establishment and the author is a master storyteller.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Romney's national political aspirations getting stronger

National political aspirations in Michigan's second-term governor are becoming stronger, according to an increasing number of capitol observers.

Much of the conclusion is based on a combination of factors. One is Gov. George Romney's recent position statements on national and international matters.

He avoided any such statements like the plague during his first term.

FREQUENCY of the governor's acceptance of bids to speak at events outside his home state is another. It still being early in the legislative session, Romney appears to have spent nearly as much time outside as in Michigan since his inauguration.

This is nearly opposite his first-term policy of accepting a minimum of invitations to speak in other states.

Still a third cause of speculation about Romney's hopes in 1968 was his recent decision to personally participate in "Operation Europe Tour."

THIS LONG-planned event will take the governor, Secretary of State James M. Hare, legislative and business leaders on a 10-day trip abroad in an attempt to widen Michigan's business outlets.

It was reported with apparently sound foundation back in January that Lt. Gov. William Milliken would be the governor's official representative on the trip. As heir apparent to the chief executive's chair and a leading businessman in Traverse City, Milliken was seen as a wise choice.

The spotlight covering the rather unique tour venture now will fall on Gov. Romney, increasing his national and international exposure.

LESS THAN a straightforward approach to the job could easily result in a questioning of findings by opponents.

Since part of his responsibility is job performance audit, it goes without saying that his facts must be accepted by all if his recommendations for improving program performance are to be considered for their merit.

WITH an eight-year term ahead of him, the new appointee may see service under both parties. Where he now has been appointed by a Democratic legislature while a Republican governor is serving, the tables could easily be turned completely during his tenure.

This makes it all-important that he drop any partisan inclinations from the start. Failure to do this could make his job much more difficult if and when any power changes occurred.

TRAFFIC deaths of Michigan roads during the first two months of this year were nearly 20 per cent below the horrible record set in 1964, but officials emphasize this encouraging drop should prompt new diligence.

The official 1964 death count for Michigan was 2,091 persons. This represented an increase of 13 per cent over the previous year.

The shocking toll last year prompted Gov. George Romney to make traffic safety legislation a major goal in his current program.

HE HAS CALLED for mandatory driver training for all ages, greater uniformity in accident reporting, stricter law enforcement, an increase in state police manpower, and a controversial change in the alcohol-test law.

These and other recommendations, culled from the views of many experts in the traffic safety field, would initially cost more than $3 million, Romney has said.

MICHIGAN'S new legislative auditor faces a tough job in the early months of his tenure.

Appointed strictly on a partisan basis and although he meets the Constitutional requirement of being a certified public accountant, Albert Lee must now view his work on a strictly non-partisan basis if he is to succeed.

The Constitution gives the legislative auditor the responsibility of auditing the executive branch of government and the privilege of complete independence from the executive branch.

BY ELMER E. WHITE
Michigan Press Ass'n.

THE GOVERNOR has become one of the many state officials who say, as he puts it, "The fulfillment of our public responsibility demands that we take immediate and informed action to stop Michigan's highway carnage and the 'massacre of the innocent.'"

Most who share this view contend that the action must be taken now, regardless of cost and despite the encouraging drop which has occurred in traffic deaths so far this year.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

Crow Month moon means worst is over

March may come in like a wild beast and go out like a gentle one; or it may be that the Weather Man will decide the other way around. That is the reputation the third month has established.

But there is one point that is certain. February is behind us and the equinox is not far away. Fields and meadows, hillsides and ridges may still be deep with snow, but in the slanting rays of the climbing sun, you can see a tinge of red in the maples' buds while crows call from the elms along the field's edge.

THERE IS something about the crows' voices on a windy, sunny day when a gold platter of sun is crossing the sky, that tells the countryman the worst is over and that spring is not too distant.

County retail sales up 43% between '58 and '63

Clinton County's 337 retail establishments had $40.1 million in sales in 1963, an increase of 43 per cent from 1958. The US Bureau of the Census has just reported. The last previous business census conducted by the Census Bureau, an agency of the US Department of Commerce, was in 1958. This report was based on the 1963 census of business.

Retail trade in the county meant jobs (exclusive of proprietors) for 1,086 men and women and a yearly payroll of $3.3 million.

IN VOLUME OF business, the county's food stores had sales of $9.8 million, an increase of 51 per cent from 1958. In other retail business, the county's eating and drinking places had sales of $2 million, and gasoline service stations had sales of $4.1 million. Auto dealers and related retail trade establishments had sales of $9.8 million, general merchandise group stores had sales of $1.3 million, and lumber building materials, hardware and farm equipment dealers had sales of $5.5 million.

For the state as a whole, the Census Bureau reported 69,758 retail establishments with sales of $10,855.3 million, up 22 per cent from 1958.

CENSUS REPORTS to be issued during the next few months will give state and county figures on wholesale and service trades, manufacturing and mineral industries.

Figures on number of establishments and sales volume for major types of retail establishments in each county are provided in the printed report: 1963 Census of Business, Retail Trade, Michigan, available for 60 cents from Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C. 20402, and at US Department of Commerce field offices.

Control Structure Helps Conserve Soil for Elmer Rademacher

Erosion control structures for soil conserving purposes are coming in handy these days of thawing weather, Clinton County farmers are observing. Melting snow is saturating the soil, and ground water runoff is a major problem for some farmers. Not so for Elmer Rademacher of Westphalia Township, who here watches a control structure on his farm channel ground water toward the Morris Drain, which is just visible in the background at the left.

Warn farmers to think twice before raising dairy steers

Dairy steer operations are rapidly gaining popularity throughout the Midwest. But farmers should think twice before adding this enterprise to their operation, according to a Michigan State University agricultural economist.

"The Holstein steer enterprise is not likely to be profitable on a full-time, efficient dairy farm with a milk production average of 13,000 pounds or more," reported C. R. "Ray" Hoglund. "Five extra cows may add as much to net income as 50 steers."

SPEAKING AT MSU's Farmers' Week, Hoglund noted that adding a dairy steer enterprise, rather than expanding the dairy herd, is likely to be more profitable when the dairyman does not want to milk more cows or would find it too costly to add small numbers to his herd.

"If an operator is approaching retirement age or has no sons to carry on the dairy enterprise, it is usually not good business to invest heavily for a larger dairy operation," he noted.

"THE DAIRY steer operation also fits in best when there is a surplus of forage and labor on the farm. This may also be a more profitable move when milk production per cow is less than 10,000 lbs. or if the price for milk is low."

The MSU agricultural economist pointed out that investment to house and store feed for a dairy steer operation depends on present buildings and storage on the farm. "When it becomes necessary to construct new loose housing sheds and silos for a 50 Holstein steer operation, investments are increased by $6,400 to $7,600, depending on the forage feeding program," he said.

Hoglund ALSO noted that it is usually not profitable to feed Holstein steers to the same finish as beef steers. The amount of grain fed depends on whether the steers will grade higher and whether they will sell for a higher price.

"Steers early this year were priced at $16 at both 400 pounds and at the 1,000 pound market weight," he said. "Feed and other costs are about the same as they were in early 1964."

"NET INCOME, after deducting depreciation, repairs, insurance and interest on the new investments, the cost of the 400 pound calf and all feed, veterinary expenses and other costs, was about $1,100 for the steers that received no grain and $1,200 for those getting moderate feedings."

"If the grain fed steers brought a dollar extra per hundredweight, net income would probably have increased by $500," he said.

Hoglund ADDED that most dairymen can increase volume by adding more cows, by improving production of crops and live-

The weeds left by mechanical row cultivation can cost farmers 10 to 40 per cent in lost corn yields, reports a Michigan State University crop scientist.

"A basic weakness of the row cultivator is the poor control of weeds in the row," says William Meggitt. "It is much more effective when combined with other mechanical or chemical weed control practices."

He notes that a post-emergence application of 2,4-D is being used on more corn fields than any other herbicide. It controls most annual broadleaf weeds, but it is ineffective on grassy weeds. The amine form should be used to reduce the possibility of corn injury.

"IN RECENT years," says Meggitt, "pre-emergence applications have gained wider use because of their potential for season-long weed control. Their usage would even be greater if results from them were more consistent."

"When rainfall is adequate, pre-emergence applications of herbicides work fine. The water disperses the chemical throughout the upper layer of soil, working it in close to germinating weeds."

"Without enough rain, farmers should be using a rotary hoe or cultivator to supplement the herbicide."

THE MSU crop scientist points out that atrazine is the most popular pre-emergence weed killer in Michigan.

"Pre-emergence application of atrazine controls most annual weeds for the entire season," he says.

"Our most serious perennial weed, quackgrass, can be controlled effectively with fall or early spring applications of atrazine or by a combination of amitrol-T before plowing and atrazine pre-emergence."

BUT ATRAZINE at rates over two pounds per acre in one season or two pounds per acre in more than one season has the potential for carry-over injury to crops such as small grains, white beans and soybeans planted the following year. These residues are most serious where rainfall is relatively low. Sugar beets should not be planted following corn treated with atrazine.

"Mixtures of atrazine with linuron (Lorox) and prometryne show promise of reducing these residual effects without injuring the corn or reducing weed control effectiveness," says Meggitt.

PRE-EMERGENCE applications of linuron have been cleared for control of broadleaf and grassy weeds. However, corn does not have a high degree of tolerance to linuron used alone, and some instances of corn injury have been reported.

Meggitt notes that research is continuing to find those chemicals which can help farmers supplement or even eliminate cultivation.

The finished product counts — an ounce of accomplishment is worth tons of good intentions.

Men who know when to keep still should be credited with having a fine command of language.

ASC PROGRAM

Over 500 in county sign up for feed grain program

W. M. SMITH
County ASC Manager

As of Feb. 18, 1965, 12,280 farms in Michigan have been signed up for participation in the 1965 feed grain program. In our county over 500 have signed up as of March 4.

Eligible farms are those which grew one or more of the three feed grains, corn, grain sorghum or barley, during the program's base years, 1959 and 1960.

THROUGHOUT THE nation, 223,821 of the total 3,186,149 eligible farms had been signed up to take part in the program during the first four days of the signup period. Acreage signed up for diversion totaled 5,374,800 acres, including 3,989,800 acres of corn, 1,046,900 acres of grain sorghum, and 337,400 acres of barley. This represents a diversion from base acreages totaling 10,506,100 acres, or 51 per cent of the base, on the participating farms.

Believe some plants develop 'antibody' defense to disease

Some plants resist disease because they develop a defense mechanism something like antibodies which give animals immunity to disease.

Mark Stahmann, University of Wisconsin biochemist, has been studying the chemistry of healthy and diseased plants and concludes that plants which resist a disease really have the ability to stop an invading organism.

INVASION OF A disease organism sets up a chemical battle within a plant. The invader—usually a fungus—secretes enzymes outside of the cell that break down plant pectin and protein. The products of this breakdown, or hydrolysis, are water, sugars and amino acids. The invading parasite feeds on these products, and the softening of the tissue gives it an easy pathway to penetrate deeper into the plant.

Secretion of the enzyme, called a pectinase, sets up a counter-attack by the plant which is being invaded. The plant cells secrete oxidase enzymes which form phenols or quinones. These chemicals combine with protein and neutralize the enzymes of the invader.

COMBINATION of the enzyme with actual plant chemicals destroys some of the plant tissue in the area of the disease invasion, but this doesn't matter much to a plant because, unlike an animal, it can sacrifice some of its anatomy and still survive.

Other plant diseases attack in the same way. Diseases that at-

The 1965 feed grain program in general is similar to that for 1964. Growers may participate by diverting a minimum of 20 per cent of their feed grain base acreage and devoting it to conserving use. In return, they become eligible for acreage diversion payments, price support payments, and loans on their entire 1965 production of corn, grain sorghum and barley.

THIS YEAR, for the first time, eligible feed grain and wheat cropland acreage may be substituted provided producers sign up and participate in both programs.

While it is not necessary for farmers to indicate at signup whether they plan to use the substitution provision, it is suggested that interested producers discuss details with our personnel at signup time, since the use of substitution provisions can materially affect the levels of payment.

MANY FEED grain producers are requesting an advance payment, which is one-half of their diversion payment.

We urge producers not to wait until the last week to signup. Our regular office hours are from 8 to 12 and 12:30 to 4:30 Monday through Friday. For your convenience we will be open, Saturdays, March 13 and 20.

Feed grain signup ends March 26, 1965.

Metallurgy new Scout subject

Boy Scouts learn the primitive methods of making fire by friction, but they also learn modern vocational skills. The newest science subject is made available to Boy Scouts and Explorers in the metallurgy merit badge, according to Robert Backus, chairman of the advancement committee of the Chief Okemos Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Requirements for the metallurgy merit badge include the collection of five rocks that contain at least one metal each and samples of 10 kinds of metal found around the home. The Scout must choose three of these and describe in five hundred words how they are separated from their ores.

THE SCOUT must also describe the different fields of metallurgy and select three fields that depend on modern metallurgy (such as electronics, aircraft industry, automotive industry, space exploration, and building construction) and show samples of metals used in these fields.

Demonstrations are also required to show mechanical properties of metals, strengthening of metals, how to identify metals, and effects of corrosion and protective coating on metals.

THE SCOUT also must collect and describe the properties of four alloys, and he must construct out of suitable materials models of crystal structures found in metals.

Set 4-H dates for leaders

"Slim and Trim" classes for 4-H foods leaders will be held today (Thursday) from 1 to 3 p.m. at Smith Hall. They're designed to give leaders information to work with their 4-H'ers this summer.

Two other dates food leaders have been advised of are April 29, date for a meeting in East Lansing for 4-H foods leaders from several counties, and May 13-14, dates for the Camp Kett overnight trip. There will be a county quota for the camp Kett trip, so leaders should notify the county extension office of their intentions to attend.

MARCH 22 is the deadline for reports from the 1965 winter 4-H clubs. Information contained in the reports, along with recommendations of the 4-H leaders, will be used in picking winners for the annual 4-H trips.

Trips to be awarded, and the number to receive them will be: Barry County (12-year-olds), 20 members; Yankee Springs (14-year-olds), 20 members; Detroit (14), 20 members; Traverse City (14-18-year-olds), 25 members; Club Week (15-18-year-olds), 12 members; Chicago (16-18-year-olds), 4 members; and Canada (16-18-year-olds), 4 members.

Top spellers aim for county finals

The top spellers in all of the county rural grade schools will compete again this year for trophies to be awarded by the Clinton County News. The contest has been scheduled for April 6 at the Eureka School, starting at 1:30 p.m.

Last year 74 pupils participated in the finals.

Three trophies will be awarded—one to the top speller in the sixth, seventh and eighth grade—by the Clinton County News, sponsor of the contest in cooperation with the Rural Teachers Club.

MRS VIOLET Phinney, teacher at the Cedar Lake School in Victor Township, is in charge of the contest. She'll be assisted by Mrs Fidelis Cameron of Eureka School in Greenbush Township and Mrs Esther Kramp of the Chapman School in Riley Township.

Only one pupil from each of the three grades will be permitted to enter from each rural school.

Between now and April 6, each school will be holding its own spelling contest in order to determine who will represent them in the county finals.

THE SPELLING contest will be a written one. The rules are:

- (1) Words will be pronounced, read in a sentence and then pronounced again.
- (2) Dot 1's and write legibly.
- (3) Capitalize words that should be capitalized.

(4) Four batteries or more of words will be pronounced as needed.

(5) TWENTY-FIVE per cent of the contestants will be eliminated with each battery of words.

(6) One contestant from each school, from each of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades may enter the contest.

(7) Judges may prepare lists of words from any lists they wish to use. The lists will not be published.

(8) Pupils will write with pencils. They must bring their own pencils.

ARRANGEMENTS for the spelling contest were made with Mrs Stanley Welton, president of the Rural Teachers Club.

K of C Mortgage Goes Up in Smoke

Touching a match to the mortgage on the Knights of Columbus building at Westphalia are three of the original founders and directors of the Westphalia Knights of Columbus Building Corp. Left to right are William C. Hanses, secretary; John A. Thelen, treasurer; and Julius M. Pohl, president. The mortgage burning ceremony was held at the recent past Grand Knights Banquet. The K of C council home and bowling alley building were built in 1949 and the last payment on it was made in 1963.

No 'dream building' yet, but DPW happy in new quarters

The Department of Public Works for the City of St. Johns is looking forward to the day when all of its equipment is housed at its new garage building on North US-27.

Because of an anticipated tight city budget, that time is probably not in the immediate future, but the department is happy to be at least based at the new garage.

ROLLAND (Rollie) Ordway, superintendent of the Department of Public Works, admitted there are a lot of finishing touches to be put on the new building yet, but what the department has is far better than the old quarters.

The department moved its headquarters from the old water building at the corner of Ottawa and Gibbs streets before Christmas, and slowly its equipment has followed. Before too many weeks, Ordway hopes to have all but a few vehicles based at the new garage.

THE CEMENT block structure, located just west of the sewage disposal plant at the north edge of the city, has been built mostly by city employees whenever time has been available. Other work has been done by outside personnel.

The building, about 48 by 100 feet inside, contains a spacious office, storage room, locker room for city employees, a mechanic's work room and the large garage for parking of vehicles and mechanical repairs to them.

ORDWAY said he intends to move a 10 x 30-foot building from the old garage to near the new building to help with storage. A large salt bin has been built to store salt used on the city's streets.

Eventually, Ordway hopes to have a pole-type building constructed at the site. This will make it possible for all of the city's equipment to be stored there.

With the thawing weather has come a serious mud problem. Ordway said plans call for black-topping a large area to the rear of the garage, but just how soon this can be accomplished is not known. If it is not this year, the area will be graveled.

ONE OF the big projects for this spring will be widening of the entrance of the DPW building and the sewage plant and construction of turning lanes in both the north-bound and southbound lanes of US-27. A crossover will also be built straight out from the widened driveway.

Ordway said the State Highway Department will do this work, not just because of the extra city equipment traffic at the site but because of the trailer sewage dumping facility located there.

LAST FALL the dumping facility was opened to the public. Trailer owners whose trailers have self-contained toilets are invited to pull into the site and dump into the city's disposal system. The increased trailer traffic is another reason why Ordway hopes for early black-topping of the area.

The trailer facility has been given widespread publicity on the "Michigan Outdoors" television program and in numerous trailer-interest magazines. Ordway looked for heavy use of it this summer by tourists.

AS SOON AS weather permits this spring, the new DPW building will get an exterior coat of paint, the front lawn and landscaping will be started and exterior lights will be put up. Four mercury vapor lamps will light the area, two being on the rear of the garage, one farther to the north of the building and the fourth near the trailer dumping facility.

As a rule true reflections come from thinking, not looking into mirrors.

June 20 set as date for Soap Box Derby

June 20 has been set as the date for the 1965 Clinton County Soap Box Derby, to be held again on Clinton Avenue in downtown St. Johns.

Derby Directors Bernard Feldpausch and Jerry Shoemaker have urged all boys from 11 through 15 years of age interested in an adventure in accomplishment to enter the race and build cars.

"THE DERBY is an exciting competition which richly rewards work, perseverance and ingenuity," they said. "This is the only race of its kind, one in which a boy designs, builds and drives his own coasting car in supervised competition."

"We encourage all boys who want to join the fun to enter the derby now so they can begin planning their racers."

ALL EARLY entrants will be awarded a trip to Akron, Ohio, to the All-American Soap Box Derby. Boys in the eligible age group may enter the Clinton County derby by going with parent or guardian to Bee's Chevrolet for registration. All those registered will receive a copy of the official Soap Box Derby rule book and brochure.

The winner of the derby here will receive a $500 savings bond, a trophy and a starting berth in the 1965 All-American Derby finals in Akron. The Clinton County champion will compete with approximately 250 other local champions from the United States and several guest nations for $30,000 in college scholarships.

THE DERBY officials say they expect to see a new record set for the number of entrants. The derby is growing every year as more boys become aware of the fun of participation. "This increasing awareness of the derby and the prizes offered should combine to make the 1965 derby our most successful so far," Feldpausch and Shoemaker said.

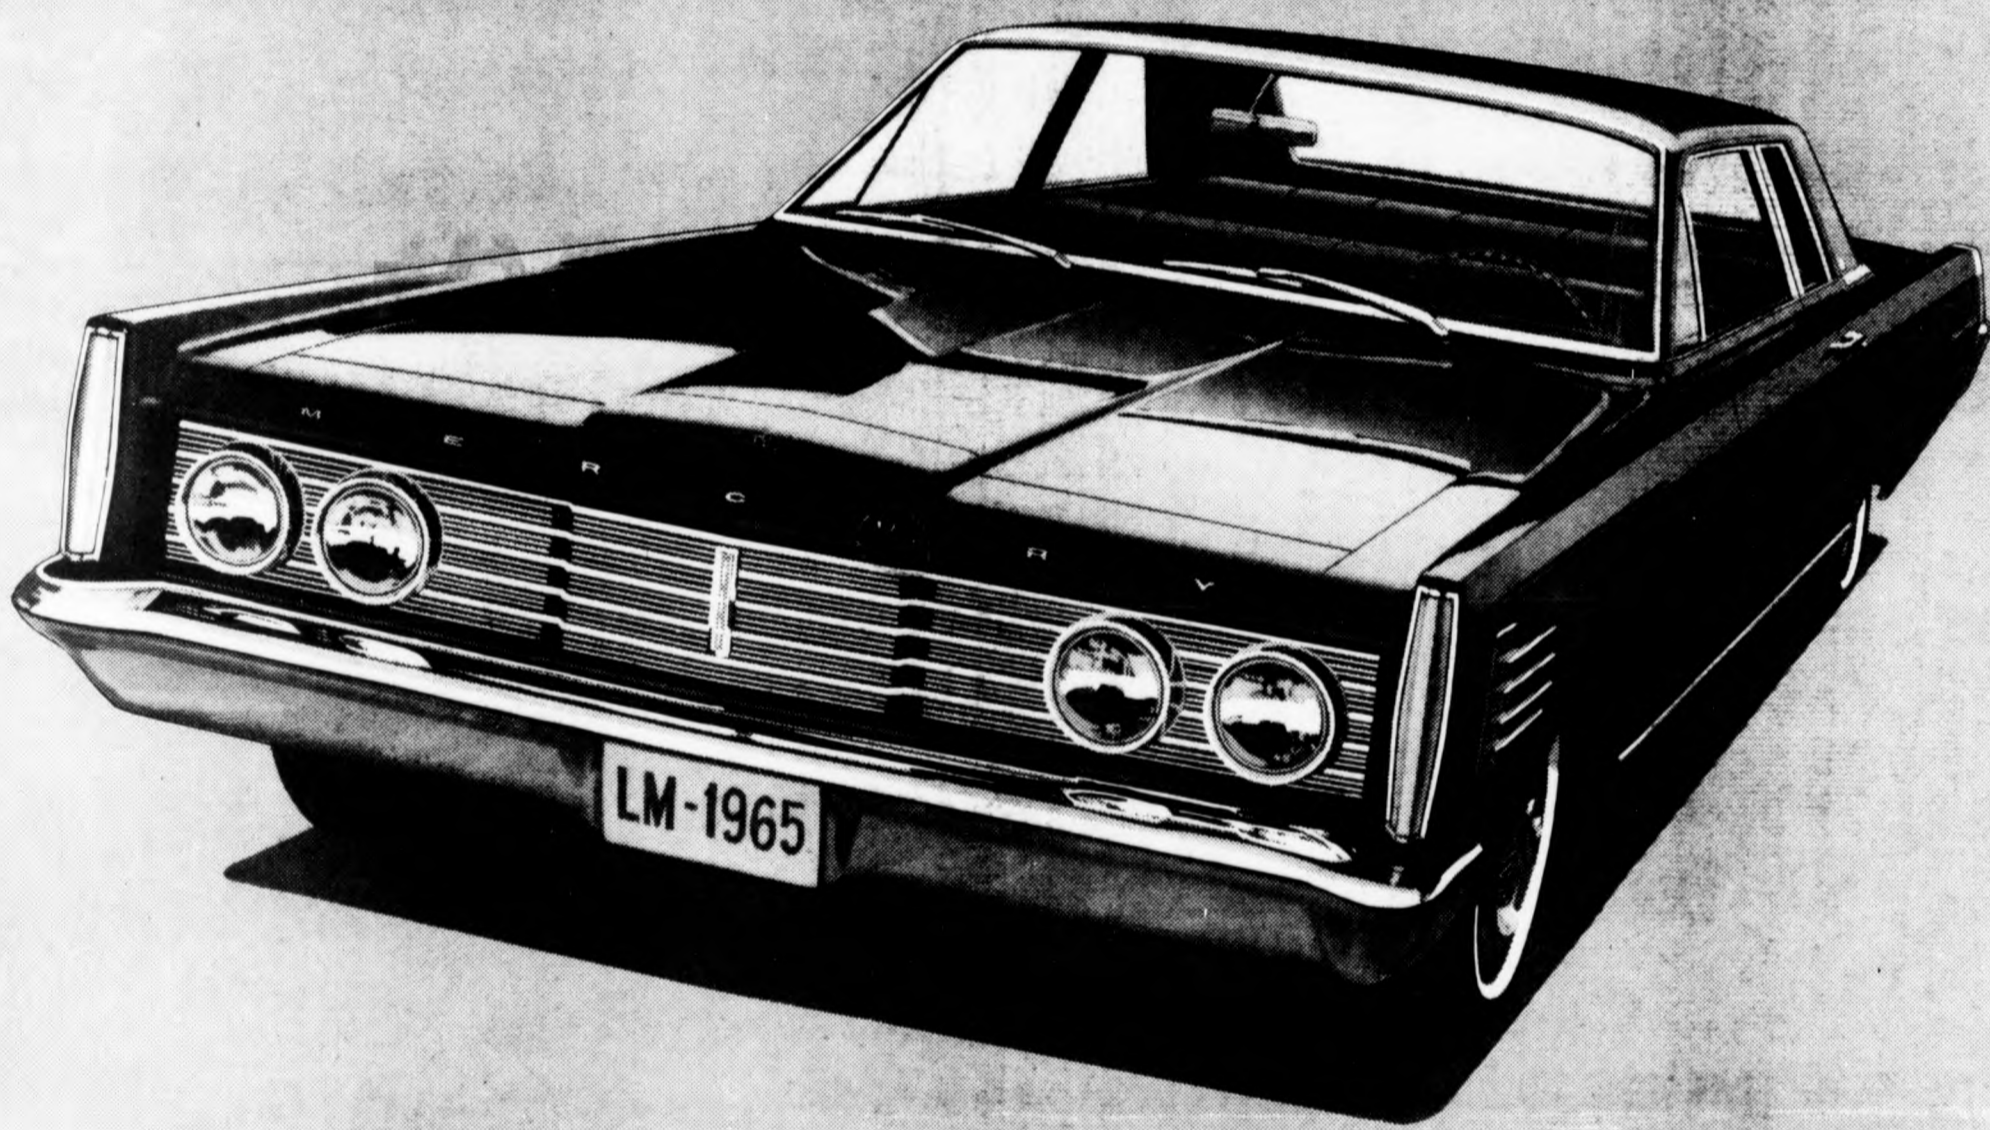

A series of information sessions and construction clinics will start soon to aid boys in building cars that are fast, safe and comply with derby rules. Registration was started early and the instruction program set so that all entrants will have plenty of time to build and test their racers.

SELF-REFLECTION
The ability to criticize is an asset—just don't forget to use it freely on yourself.

The three sons of Mr and Mrs Ray Rademacher of 819 S. Clinton Avenue will be among the entrants in the 1965 Soap Box Derby June 20. Tom, 14, was a contestant last year, so his car is all done except for some resanding and repainting. Gary, 12 (at left with his father), and Dick, 13, have started theirs from scratch. Their father gives them some pointers as they work on the "undercarriage" of their cars. Race officials are urging all contestants to get an early start on construction.

License plates, not tabs, in '66

Michigan's more than 4-1/2 million vehicles will be adorned by new license plates again in 1966.

"It's clearly a mandate of the people," Secretary of State James M. Hare said, after being assured by appropriations committees of the Legislature that the added appropriations would be forthcoming.

"JUDGING from strong sentiment expressed in the many letters we have received in favor of annual license plates," Hare said, "the people of Michigan do not wish to return to tabs even though it does save the state some money." Pro-rated over the entire state, it's about a nickel per vehicle owner. I don't think this is too much to spend extra on each car-owning taxpayer in light of the tremendous amount of money spent in other areas.

"We should reflect our good times economically," Hare said. "And Michigan presently is in the throes of a booming economy."

In obedience to the divine nature, man's individuality reflects the divine law and order of being. —Mary Baker Eddy

CURRENT Operating bills in the amount of $21,241.60 and payrolls in the amount of $26,992.49 were approved. The Financial Report of all funds was presented and reviewed.

The following resolution was presented:

WHEREAS: The St. Johns Public Schools District has proposed to annex certain rural school districts; and

WHEREAS: Certain of those districts proposed to be annexed have bonded indebtedness;

Youth pulls 2 from Park Lake

PARK LAKE—Stanley Bragg, 12, and his sister, Joydice, 11, were rescued from the water of Park Lake Saturday afternoon by a youth who took the youngsters home and then left without waiting for thanks.

The children told their parents, Mr and Mrs Tillman Bragg, that they were walking on the ice of Park Lake when it gave way. The children were dumped into the water, which was only about shoulder high, but they were afraid to move for fear of getting into deeper water.

Terry Wood, 17, of 5226 Drumheller Road heard their cries for help, they said, and lifted them to safety on stronger ice. He then took them home, but left for work at a Lansing service station before he could be thanked.

Senior Citizens offer alteration, mending service

A sewing, mending and alterations service is being established by the Senior Citizens of St. Johns in an attempt to expand their money-making operations and "provide a community service which will be potentially beneficial to all concerned."

Persons interested in taking advantage of the service should call Mrs A. B. Crane, Mrs L. W. Skutt or Mrs Roy Ormsby in St.

Johns or Mrs Andy Main of Ovid to make arrangements for the type of work to be done.

Prices being charged by the Senior Citizens for the service include: 25 cents for turning a shirt collar; $1.25 to $1.35 for replacing a zipper; $1.25 to $1.50 for shortening a skirt; $1.25 to $1.50 for lengthening a hem; and 5 cents to $1 for ordinary mending, depending on the amount and type of mending.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

By REP. LESTER ALLEN of Ithaca

The 73rd Legislature is now in its second month of deliberations and is beginning to get down to serious business as various controversial bills and procedures come to the floor.

The most significant activity revolved around the decision of the Democrats to scuttle Governor Romney's budget bills. They said this was a necessary action in order to enable the Legislature to consider new programs and new expenditures. The new Constitution clearly prevents consideration of other programs until after the governor's proposals are acted upon. By the maneuver of reporting the budget bills out of committee and defeating them on the floor, the majority party pretends the constitutional provision is satisfied technically.

REPUBLICANS opposed this move by pointing out that this constitutional mandate is a part of the overall philosophy built into the new Constitution to insure fiscal responsibility. By defeating the governor's budget, the Democrats are not only defeating the purpose of the fiscal sections of the Constitution, but also paving the way for passing new spending programs without first taking a look at the total financial picture. Republican legislators are of the opinion that this move will open the door for spending programs which will throw the budget out of the black.

I am receiving many letters opposing the proposal to allow Sunday liquor sales. If the measure passes, liquor can be sold on Sundays in local communities if the resident voters approve. Proponents argue that such a measure will be valuable for tourist and convention business. Opponents believe that six days of liquor sales per week are sufficient and further point out the increased menace of more drunk drivers which may well increase Michigan's already high traffic accident rate. The facts are that there is no possible way of stopping the passage of this legislation if the majority party chooses to pass it.

I INTRODUCED two bills to the House this week. Last year, the legislature passed a measure exempting tools, jigs and dies from personal property tax assessment. In view of this, I felt it was only fair and just that a similar bill be passed to exempt drills, planters, plows and combines, tools which represent a high investment by the farmer but which are actually in use only two or three weeks out of the year. Also included in this proposal is a provision to exempt feeder cattle which are to be fattened and marketed within 10 months. The resultant loss in revenue to the local units of government will be paid from the state general fund by the same formula used in the exemption for tools, jigs and dies.

Personally, I believe this to be another "piecemeal" piece of tax legislation and, in the event of a general tax revision, I believe we should exempt all personal property from assessment. I know of no other tax so inequitably levied and for which there appears to be no fair or just method of figuring impartially to all those concerned.

THE OTHER measure I introduced allows small truckers to transport livestock to and from the market without purchasing a special license to do so.

12 1/4c Investors Selective Fund dividend OK'd

The board of directors of Investors Selective Fund Inc. has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 12-1/4 cents per share derived exclusively from investment income, Harold K. Bradford, chairman and president, announced.

THE DOLLAR amount of the dividend approximates $541,000, distributed among about 7,500 shareholders.

Investors Selective Fund, Inc. currently has approximately 4,418,000 shares outstanding compared with 3,664,100 shares at the same time last year.

You've been speeding, and you get a ticket. You don't like it, but you know you've been wrong. With little or no argument, you pay your fine.

You've been staying home from church on Sundays for one of a dozen reasons. Maybe you like to sleep late. Maybe the minister in your church preaches dull sermons. Maybe you don't consider yourself the church-going type. Whatever your alibi—nobody's going to come after you.

This is a summons you'll have to serve on yourself. For an infraction of God's law is something that can't be ignored. Until you declare yourself guilty, you will be deliberately shutting yourself off from the greatest fellowship in the world. No judge in history has ever pronounced a sterner sentence.

75 to take test for Merit Scholarships Saturday

Seventy-five students at the Rodney B. Wilson High School plan to take the 1965 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMSQT), B. Stanley Pocus, principal, announced today.

The test will be administered at the school at 9 a.m. Saturday. All students who wish to be considered for Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1966 should take the test Saturday.

THE NMSQT is a three-hour examination of educational development. The test is the first step in the eleventh annual competition for four-year Merit Scholarships provided by the National Merit Scholarship Corp. and by sponsoring corporations, foundations, colleges, associations, unions, trusts, and individuals.

The number of scholarships awarded in any year depends upon the extent of sponsor participation. In 1964, some 1,652 Merit Scholarships were awarded; 1,146 were provided by 227 sponsors and 506 by the Merit Corp. There are 4,880 Merit Scholars attending 485 colleges in the current academic year.

THE TEST scores of students who are examined Saturday will be reported to their schools before May 15. The scores are used by counselors in many high schools to help students make decisions about college attendance and field of study. Many students who do not expect to win a scholarship take the test in order to learn more about their individual strengths and weaknesses in the areas measured by the test.

More than 14,000 semifinalists, the highest scorers in each state, will be named early next fall. Names of semifinalists are published in a booklet which is distributed to all colleges and to other sources of financial aid for under-graduates. Further, their names and test scores are sent to the two colleges that they list as their preferred choices at the time that they take the NMSQT. The order of preference is not shown.

APPROXIMATELY 38,000 additional students, selected on a national basis, receive letters of commendation for their high performance on the qualifying test.

Their names and test scores are sent to their first- and second-choice colleges.

Each semifinalist will be asked to take a second examination. Those who repeat their high performance and meet certain other requirements will become finalists in the competition. Winners of Merit Scholarships will be selected from the finalist group on the basis of school records and recommendations, test scores, extracurricular activities, leadership ability, and accomplishments outside the classroom.

Each finalist is awarded a Certificate of Merit attesting to his outstanding performance.

THE SCHOLARSHIP stipends are based on financial need. The minimum award is $100 and the maximum is $1,500. The average stipend awarded to freshman Merit Scholars in 1964 was $757 annually, or about $3,000 for the four years of college. Supplementary grants are usually made to the colleges that the scholars attend.

Each scholarship constitutes a form of educational insurance, since the stipend may be increased at any time if the student's financial situation changes during the four-year term of the scholarship.

Every year children are injured because some motorists do not obey the law about not passing stopped school buses. It is illegal to pass a school bus which has stopped, with its red lights flashing, unless it is on the opposite side of a divided highway or in areas where students can disembark directly onto curbs.

Tanker Jackknives, Turns Over on Icy US-27, But Driver Escapes

The driver of this tank truck escaped unhurt Friday morning about 5:45 a.m. when it overturned on US-27 just south of Parks Road. The driver, Douglas A. Reed, 32, of R-1, DeWitt, said his south-bound truck dropped off the left edge of the highway, skidded about 200 feet on the median, jack-knifed and turned over. About 3,100 gallons of the 8,600 gallons of fuel oil aboard escaped into the ditch. The remaining fuel oil is shown being transferred to another tanker behind the overturned one. Deputy Sheriff Fred Corson directs traffic past the wreck on icy US-27.

Maple syrup time is here

The threat of winter may still be in the air, but the sap is running and hundreds of Michigan farmers are beginning to harvest their first cash crop of the year — maple syrup. For some it will be an important source of income.

Last year Michigan ranked fifth in the nation in maple syrup production, marketing 96 thousand gallons for over half a million dollars.

IT TAKES 28 to 30 gallons of sap to make a single gallon of pure maple syrup, which makes the finished product cost more than other syrups. But if you buy Michigan maple syrup, you can be sure you're getting the real thing.

Each year inspectors from the Michigan Department of Agriculture Food Inspection Division collect samples of maple syrup throughout the state and send it to the department's laboratory in Lansing where chemists can quickly detect imitations. Pure maple syrup must weigh 11 pounds to the gallon, and nothing can be added if it is labeled as pure maple syrup. The quantity and name and address of the producer or packer must appear on the container.

THE MAPLE syrup you buy in the store is seldom "pure maple syrup," but corn syrup with a relatively small amount of maple syrup added to give it that distinctive flavor.

Historians point out that Indians used maple sap as a sweetener long before white men came to Michigan.
