A new look for County News building on 110th birthday

The County News is all dressed up for its birthday. Contractors finished the new front of our building this week — just in time to coincide with the publication of the first issue of our 110th year.

Kind and interested friends say our newly-remodeled plant looks pretty nice. The renovation project, now nearing completion, has taken nearly 18 months and will involve the investment of an estimated $70,000.

THE NEWS IS now equipped with the most modern machinery for the production of printing by both letterpress and photo offset processes. Type can be set "hot" (on lead slugs) or "cold" (photo and strike-on composition). We use whichever method is most efficient for the job at hand.

Office and production space have been enlarged to occupy fully both floors of the News building. Except for the completion of an air conditioning system and a few other construction details, the remodeling is done.

AT 110, THE Clinton County News is the oldest business establishment in the area. Age hasn't dimmed our luster nor our determination to keep abreast of the newest developments in newspaper and commercial printing processes.

Our thanks go to Clinton people for the confidence which has made possible our continued progress.

$250 acre set for land price

Vacant grade A land — the best there is — should sell for about $250 an acre in Clinton County, the board of supervisors decided last week. Economic factors can lower or raise that price, but $250 is about the basic price.

That's the figure they presented for the H. L. Yo Co. to use in their computations, at the request of the Yo Co.

In other business last Thursday:

LORENZ TIEDT, chairman of the salary and clerk hire committee, reported that Sheriff Percy Patterson has a man in mind to handle the driver license office that will be established soon in the courthouse, and that the sheriff feels he will also need an additional secretary to handle operations there.

John Hall of the VFW and Dale Robinson, commander of the St. Johns American Legion post, showed the board a metal veteran's grave marker which they are having made in a drive to mark graves of veterans all over the county.

THEIR ORIGINAL request in December was for the board to stand behind the purchase of 100 markers, but Hall said surveys have showed the need for at least three times that amount. The board turned the matter over to the veterans committee with power to act.

Money paid for the markers would be recovered from the townships in which the cemeteries are located. The markers are being made by Advance Castings in St. Johns.

RICHARD KERR, the county's new equalization director, was introduced to the board.

The board directed the drawing up of a resolution asking for a $1 increase rather than a 50-cent increase in driver license fees for the new photo licenses being planned by the secretary of state. The resolution would call for 50 cents of the $1 increase to be returned to the county level to offset some of the increased cost of operating the photo licensing.

Soft drink machines damaged, looted here

Soft drink machines at two St. Johns service stations were pried open and their money boxes taken during the early morning of April 26, city police report. Ken Price of Ken's Sunoco Service, 901 N. US-27, told police his machine had been broken into and about $3 taken. A check at Swatman's Standard Service station at the corner of State Street and US-27 showed a machine there also damaged and its money box gone.

Proposes higher county budget

A tentative budget of $870,350 for operation of county government in Clinton in 1966 was approved by the county board of supervisors last Thursday and will be presented to the tax allocation board as it meets this week and in May.

The proposed budget calls for taxation of 5.8 mills ($5.80 per thousand dollars of state equalized valuation) to raise $626,015 not covered by the estimated cash balance or cash receipts during 1966.

The total proposed budget figure for 1966 is $22,088 higher than the 1965 budget adopted last fall. It anticipates revenues during the year of about $130,000 — $12,000 more than 1965 — but there'll be a smaller cash balance to start the year — around $114,335.

Supervisor Derrill Shinabery of Greenbush Township, chairman of the appropriation and finance committee, presented the proposed budget to the board. He called it a "very realistic budget" and said it had been drawn up and thought over carefully by his committee, which also includes Lorenz Tiedt of St. Johns and Almond Cressman of Olive Township.

THE BIGGEST proposed increase in spending is in the social welfare department, where $120,000 is proposed for 1966. The 1965 budget called for spending of only $65,000 in that department.

Shinabery said that proposed figure of $120,000 is more near the normal needs of the Welfare Department. Last year's budgeted amount was cut down to $65,000 during the 1965 year. That would be an impossibility again, because the surplus has been used up. The $120,000 proposed is still much less than 1964 amount.

THE WELFARE Department's allocation in 1964 was $160,000. Last year's tentative budget had reduced the figure to $134,000, but further study showed the department could get by on $65,000 during the 1965 year. That would be an impossibility again, because the surplus has been used up. The $120,000 proposed is still much less than 1964 amount.

Increases of $1,000 are proposed for the following categories, bringing them up to the figures listed: Treasurer, $16,000; register of deeds, $13,000; abstract department, $19,000; jail, $20,000.

OTHER LARGER increases include: Sheriff department, $10,000, up to $60,000 to take care of increased cost of operating driver license business; county health department, $3,000, up to $18,000; friend of the court, $3,000 up to $15,000; building and grounds, $11,000, up to $35,000; justice court, $4,000, up to $16,000; elections, $3,000, up to $8,000; revolving fund, $8,000, up to $12,000; Tri-County Planning Commission, $12,000, up to $15,000.

Many of the individual increases are due to requests for added personnel and/or services, Shinabery said.

SEVERAL NEW items were included in the budget proposal. One is for $6,000 for circuit court assignment clerk, a new, full-time position established only late last year. Another item is $25,000 for county personal property reappraisal. Shinabery said there are no concrete plans for such reappraisal, but there has been a lot of serious talk for such a project. He said the item was put in the budget just in case something like that might be undertaken.

There were also decreases in amounts of money planned for various departments and items. The public improvement fund is down from $54,411 last year to $50,000 proposed for 1966. Shinabery said there has been a lot of talk about a civil defense operations center under the new courthouse patio, and he said this fund could be used for that if the board decided to have the center.

OTHER DECREASES proposed are: zoning, $1,000 down to $20,000; civil defense, $1,000 down to $7,000; board of supervisors, $1,000 down to $21,000; auditor general, $15,000 down to $35,000; county coroners, $500 down to $1,000; and soil conservation clerk, $250 down to $2,750.

While the tentative budget was approved, final adoption of a budget will not come until next October after ruling by the tax allocation board on the county's millage request.

7 more school districts OK annexation, only 6 yet to vote

The St. Johns School District grew by leaps and bounds last week as seven rural districts voted to annex.

They bring to 26 the number of districts that have joined St. Johns since early March. Six more elections are scheduled in the next two weeks.

Here are the results of last week's seven elections:

OLIVE CENTER voted last Thursday, and their voters approved annexation 52-15 and an additional 4 1/2 mills 48-18. That district is in Olive Township. The remaining six district all voted Saturday.

Union Home in Greenbush Township voted 29-11 in favor of annexation, 25-14 in favor of the millage proposal. Cramer in Bingham Township voted 31-7 on annexation and 27-11 on millage. Serviss District in Ovid Township approved annexation 19-5 and millage 16-7.

LAMB DISTRICT in Bingham Township OK'd annexation 18-7 and millage 18-7. Merriew School District in Olive Township approved annexation 27-9 and millage 28-8. Page District in Greenbush Township and southern Gratiot County voted 37-17 on annexation and 34-20 on millage.

Two of the final six scheduled elections will be next week. On Saturday, voters in the Kincaid District in Riley Township will go to the polls from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Next Tuesday, May 4, County Farm District voters will decide the annexation question in their district, with the polls open during the same hours.

AS OF MONDAY of this week, 17 of the boards of the various districts turned their school records over to the St. Johns board, thereby dissolving the rural boards.

Merle Beach, Cedar Lake, Krepps and Stoney Creek districts will vote on the annexation question May 8. They are the last of 32 districts to vote.

Jail 4 youths on drinking charges

Four Clinton area youths were arrested by state police Friday and Saturday on charges of minors in possession of alcoholic beverages.

Mark L. Zell, 19, of 106 N. Swegles Street, St. Johns, and Virgil L. Martin, 18, of R-2, DeWitt, were arrested Saturday. Frank Ledesma, 17, of 3305 Lake Lansing Road, and Waldo T. Paddock, 20, of 3407 Lake Lansing Road, both East Lansing, were arrested Friday.

All the arrests were made by state police in DeWitt Township. All the youths appeared before Justice of the Peace Gordon Willoughby, and all drew fines of $25 plus $19.90 court costs and were sentenced to two days in jail.

County had nominee for 'Mother of Year'

A St. Johns school teacher, Mrs Dale Anderson, was one of 15 women in the state considered for the title of Michigan's Mother of the Year, awarded Monday in Detroit.

She was not picked as the winner, but the Lowe Methodist Church's Women's Society of Christian Service, which nominated her, still feel they made an excellent nomination.

MRS ANDERSON has raised five children. Capt. David Anderson, 28, is now in the Air Force and is stationed at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., as aide-de-camp to Maj. Gen. George B. Dany, commander of the Western Transport Air Force. He and his wife have two children.

Daughter Pat, who returned last year from two years in the Peace Corps in Lima, Peru, is now working on her master's degree at Michigan State University. Son Jack is a junior at MSU where he's taking up civil engineering.

ANOTHER daughter, Mrs Roger (Gail) Fitzpatrick, is the mother of two children, and she and her family are living in Detroit. Son Al, a senior at Rodney B. Wilson High School, will go on to Michigan State next fall.

Mrs Anderson and 14 other women from all over the state were chosen to appear at a merit award dinner Monday at Northland in Detroit. At that time Mrs Harold L. Frier of Cadillac was announced as the Mother of the Year in Michigan.

MRS ANDERSON said she was deeply honored for having been nominated for such an award.

She is a fourth grade teacher at Central School in St. Johns, where she's helping to bring up 36 other children. She and her husband live on Paxton Road in Essex Township, where Mr Anderson operates a 360-acre dairy farm.

Women's cars crash at city intersection

Cars driven by Evelyn Putnam of 304 E. Walker Street, and Doris M. King of 1204 S. Lansing Street collided at the corner of High and Spring streets about 4:15 p.m. Friday.

Mrs King was ticketed for running a stop sign after her westbound car pulled into the path of the northbound Putnam car.

County equalized value up $2,802,000 in year

Equalized valuation for county tax purposes rose $2,802,737 during the past year, according to the annual equalization report made to the board of supervisors by Supervisor Ernest Carter of Watertown, chairman of the equalization committee.

Total equalized value (as close to 100 per cent as possible) this year is $107,933,687, compared to $105,130,950 last year. Assessed valuation this year totaled $50,905,073.

THE EQUALIZED valuation in each township is the figure on which taxes are figured, rather than the assessed valuation. The equalized valuation averaged for the county about 2.121 times that of the assessed valuation.

All but four taxing units showed increases in equalized valuation, with the City of St. Johns, Ovid Township and the southern tier of four townships leading the way in increases.

THE LARGEST increase in equalized valuation was in DeWitt Township, which rose $991,400 from last year to a figure of $16,706,682 this year. St. Johns showed an increase of $540,029, Bath Township was up $226,161, Watertown was $334,295 higher this year, and Eagle showed an increase of $107,545. Ovid was up $629,961. Westphalia Township was also among the leaders with an increase of $98,556 in equalized valuation.

Duplain and Victor Townships showed drastic drops this year. Duplain's equalized valuation was $162,856 under last year's, while Victor was $102,770 lower. Also showing loss were Greenbush by $18,270, and Lebanon by $40,890. It was the second year in a row for a loss in Duplain Township.

THE EQUALIZATION report was accepted on a roll call vote of 17-2, with Supervisors Derrill Shinabery of Greenbush and Raymond Mayers of Bengal casting dissenting votes.

Supervisor Carter, in making the equalization committee's report, pointed out that the same ratios and other equalizing factors were used by the committee this year as were used last year because of the inability of the State Tax Commission to provide new ones as a result of incomplete studies they are making in the county. But he said the committee did check and they were able to ascertain that assessing was being done the same as in the past.

OTHER members of the equalization committee were Walter Nobis, George Austin and Lorenz Tiedt.

Ovid resident opens Muskegon river resort

Mrs. E. Ruth Cummings of Ovid has taken over management of the Big Bend Restaurant and Motel on the Muskegon river, near White Cloud. She plans to be open from May 1 through deer season.

Mrs. Cummings was formerly associated with the Arnette Dinetto in Owosso.

Terrible timer tumbles

For many months the county board of supervisors have been grumbling about the clock on the wall in their meeting room. It was at least 10 minutes slow.

And there was no way of resetting it. The clock reset button had at one time been broken off. As a result, time had a way of creeping up on the supervisors. It was always later than they thought.

LAST THURSDAY the problem solved itself. At about 11:10 a.m. (exactly 11, that clock said), the clock slipped off the wall, hit the back and then seat of a chair and smashed itself to death on the floor.

The supervisors, interrupted in their deliberations, smiled cheerfully at one another and told surprised visitors only three chairs away about their past clock plight. The sheriff, broom in hand, appeared within a minute and tidied up the room.

BEFORE the supervisors adjourned for the day, the clerk was instructed to obtain a new clock. Time had finally run out for the old one.

2 new Boy Scout troops formed

Two new Boy Scout Troops have been formed in the Chipewaga District of the Chief Okemos Council, which includes all of Clinton County.

Troop 585 of Ovid, sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars has 20 boys, with John Bashore as the Scoutmaster. Troop 573 is a new one sponsored by the Eureka Christian Church; it has eight boys under the direction of Scoutmaster Howard Worden.

Scouting activities in the district in the next week include Eager Beaver Work Days at Northwoods Camp Saturday and Sunday, and a district committee meeting next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the community room at the Clinton National Bank in St. Johns.

DALE ROBINSON

Dale Robinson Rotary prexy

Dale Robinson, local oil distributor, has been named president of the St. Johns Rotary Club for the year beginning July 1. He will succeed Frederick M. Lewis, St. Johns attorney, who has headed the club for the past year.

New vice president of the club will be F. Earl Haas, county extension director. Re-elected were Dwane Wirick, secretary, and Kenneth Munger, treasurer.

Serving the club for two-year terms on the board of directors are Lorenz A. Tiedt, Robert S. Gay and the Rev. Howard A. Smith. Directors on the board for one year are Robinson, Haas, Delbert and J. D. Robinson.

2 school board seats to be filled in June election

Two seats on the St. Johns board of education will be up for grabs June 14, and residents of the newly annexed rural districts are reminded they will be eligible to vote and to put up candidates.

Terms of Board President Kenneth Munger and new member William McCarthy will end this year. Both have already taken out nominating petitions and will seek reelection.

MUNGER is seeking reelection for a four-year term. McCarthy will run for a three-year term; he was appointed to his present seat in January replacing Lorenz Tiedt who had resigned. The appointment is effective only until the next regular election, and whoever is elected will fill the remaining time of the original term.

The present school board consists of five city residents and two from rural areas. Supt. Earl Lancaster said state law limits the school board to seven members. There is nothing said in the law, however, as to the ratio of city-rural representation on the board.

ANY PROPERTY owner or spouse thereof in the St. Johns district, which includes all annexed areas, will be eligible to run for the two vacancies. Nominating petitions can be picked up from the office of the superintendent of schools.

Petitions must be signed by 50 registered electors of the St. Johns District and returned to the superintendent's office by 4 p.m. Saturday, May 15.

Sealed Power notes record first-quarter sales, earnings

Sales and earnings of Sealed Power Corp. in the first three months of 1965 were greater than for any previous first-quarter period, according to a report to stockholders at a meeting April 20 by Paul C. Johnson, Sealed Power president.

Net sales reached $10,541,000 this year, increasing by 4 per cent over the $10,117,000 recorded a year ago. This sales improvement reflects higher shipment of piston rings and miscellaneous precision parts to the automotive vehicle producers, whose production schedules were maintained at high levels during the first quarter in response to continuing strong sales of new automobiles, trucks and farm equipment.

SALES OF replacement products, however, in both domestic and foreign markets, showed a slight decline as compared to 1964. A pause in the industry rate of the replacement market for engine parts has existed for almost a year now and appears to reflect the low registration of vehicles produced during the six-year period from 1956 to 1961. These vehicles are considered to be the principal users of replacement parts at the present time.

Net earnings this year totaled $882,000—an increase of 3 per cent over last year's first-quarter earnings of $858,000. Such earnings were equivalent to 69 cents per share based on 1,286,287 shares outstanding on March 31, 1965, and 69 cents based on 1,247,374 shares outstanding a year earlier, adjusted for the three-for-two stock split issued in 1964.

In an attempt to help rural voters, the St. Johns board of education has agreed to set up five voting precincts. One will be in St. Johns and the others in the school buildings at East Essex, Eureka and Olive Center and in the Riley Town Hall.

SUPT. LANCASTER said the board hasn't yet determined who will vote at which precinct, because school annexation elections are not complete. Sometime after the final elections May 8 the board will determine the precinct boundaries.

ACCOUNTING FOR the current year's improved earnings performance was a reduction in the provision for federal income taxes, since pre-tax earnings declined by 4 per cent due largely to the lower sales volume of replacement products.

In this report to the stockholders, Johnson stated that the outlook appears favorable for an improvement in operating results during the second quarter. Shipments to the original equipment market are expected to equal the first quarter's high level and to exceed shipments in the second quarter last year.

IN THE Replacement Market, it is anticipated sales volume will rise seasonally, exceeding sales in the first quarter this year and at least matching the level of sales in the second quarter last year. If these sales projections are realized, some improvement in earnings can be expected.

At the annual meeting of shareholders April 20, an increase in authorized common stock from 1,500,000 to 3,000,000 shares was approved. The new $10 par value per share stock is identical to the shares previously authorized. Sealed Power common stock has no pre-emptive rights.

In other action, shareholders re-elected all directors of the company and the board of directors, in their organizational meeting held the same day, re-elected all of the present officers. The directors also declared the regular 25 cents per share quarterly dividend to be paid June 10, 1965, to shareholders of record May 20, 1965.

Plan July 4 celebration this year in St. Johns

After a five-year lapse, there'll again be a big Fourth of July celebration in St. Johns.

The wheels are already in motion for a carnival, games, contests and a big fireworks show Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 2, 3 and 4. St. Johns firemen originated the plans, but they'll be assisted this year by the St. Johns Rotary Club, St. Johns Lions Club and the St. Johns Jaycees.

RAY KENTFIELD, Jr., heading up the arrangements for the firemen, said a contract has been signed with the World of Pleasure Shows for a carnival for the July 4 celebration, which will be held at the city park.

The carnival will include a ferris wheel, three children's rides, two or three other major rides and about 10 concession stands. Kentfield said the carnival firm is the same one that has been in St. Johns before for firemen-sponsored activities.

ONE CHANGE in the schedule of previous celebrations is tentative change in the fireworks programming. Kentfield said plans now call for one giant fireworks display on Sunday night, July 4, whereas in previous years there had been fireworks on all three nights.

As in the past, the firemen will build their own fireworks.

Tentative assignments call for the Lions Club to run the eat stand and the Jaycees to provide entertainment during the day Saturday and Sunday. The firemen, because of past experience, will assist in all aspects of the program.

A STEER WILL be raffled off during the three days. All proceeds during the three-day Independence Day celebration will go for the community projects of the service clubs involved and for safety equipment for the fire department.

The last such Fourth of July celebration was five years ago, in 1960, Kentfield said. He said the main reason for the lapse has been the difficulty in getting a good carnival show for the July date, because of the heavy demand for them then. And, he said the program has gotten to be a much bigger job than when firemen first took on the project many years ago. This year a carnival was available and the service clubs agreed to assist.

2 autos collide when driver hits brakes, skids

David E. Moss, 18, of R-1, St. Johns, was ticketed for failure to have his car under control following an accident Saturday morning at US-27 and Sturgis Street. His car collided with one driven by Kenneth L. Devereaux, 39, of 502 S. Swegles.

Devereaux's wife, Olive, suffered bruises in the crash.

Police Officers Lyle French and James Stiffler reported Devereaux's westbound car was struck in the right side by Moss' car, going south on US-27. Devereaux was stopped between north and south-bound lanes when his car was hit by Moss', which skidded off the pavement for about 65 feet.

Call for speedup in water study

Two items of major importance to Eaton, Ingham, and Clinton County residents—water resources and community fallout shelters—were discussed by members of the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission at their April session last Thursday.

Passed unanimously was a resolution calling for a speed-up in a study of ground water supplies in the region. The survey, now being made by the US Geological Survey, is to be completed in three or four years, instead of the original six.

PRESENTLY, almost all water used in the three counties comes from ground sources. As population expands, more and more water will be needed, and the survey is expected to provide data that will permit various area political units to effectively plan for and meet these needs.

The $120,000 study will be financed through $60,000 provided by the US Geological Survey, and $60,000 from the planning commission and the area's various water supply systems. Planning Commission Executive Director Robert N. Young said the speed-up will not result in any additional costs.

Commission members also heard preliminary data on a community fallout shelter program being carried out by the planning unit, the area's civil defense and law enforcement agencies, and the US Army Corps of Engineers.

THE AIM OF the program—which is to be completed in June—is to determine which buildings in the region can be used for shelters, assign residents of specific areas to specific shelters, determine if additional shelters are needed and if so, where they should be built.

Also announced at the April meeting was completion of part three of a series of manuals entitled "Guiding Land Subdividing," that are being prepared as an aid to government officials and private citizens involved in subdividing projects. About 900 of the books will be sent to government officials in the near future, and others will be made available to persons concerned with subdivision development.

PART THREE of the series includes such data as standards and design details for subdivisions, as well as information on determining the best locations for developments. A check list, which itemizes all of the steps a subdivider should take, is included in the manual.

Grange considering city for convention

St. Johns will probably be the site of the 1965 convention of the Michigan State Grange.

Three representatives of the Grange told the Chamber of Commerce St. Johns would undoubtedly be the site if necessary space is available when needed next October. Almond Cressman of St. Johns, a member of the executive committee of the State Grange, was one of the three representatives.

THE GRANGE was extended a written invitation by the St. Johns

Chamber, officially inviting them to the city. The C of C also pledged its support and assistance in working with the Grange to formulate their plans, provide information and assistance on housing and dining, local tours, etc.

The Grange representatives indicated that in addition to rooms in motels and hotels, rooms will also be needed in private homes. The Grange convention reportedly would draw about 500 people.

PERSONS having space available for rent in their private homes are asked to stop in at the C of C office at 222 N. Clinton Avenue so they can fill out an accommodations form. These will be kept on file for future convention use.

Chamber Secretary - Manager Mrs Betty Minsky said that within a few days local clubs, churches and businesses would receive forms to be filled in relative to their facilities and services. These, too, will be kept on file for future use in convention work.

Circuit court slate involves only 2 cases

Circuit court activity in St. Johns Monday involved only two cases. Douglas King of 505 S. Capitol, Lansing, was sentenced to 15 days in the county jail for violation of financial responsibility, with credit given for time already spent in jail since his arrest. Fred Lewis was appointed as attorney for Donald Redmond of rural Bath, who is charged with arson of a car. He was remanded to justice court for pre-examination next week.

Firemen have hot time with car

Firemen had a hot time with one car last week. They answered two fire calls on it. The first was last Tuesday afternoon when a car belonging to Gordon Harris of 209 S. Emmons caught fire at the corner of Ottawa and McConnell streets. Saturday morning the same car caught fire at the corner of Walker and Brush streets.

The first grass fire of the season burned over about eight acres of vacant land Thursday afternoon on the Rolland Jury farm 4 1/2 miles west of St. Johns on M-21. The fire started along the Grand Trunk railroad tracks near where a railroad section crew was at work. No damage was reported.

A resuscitator run was made by the department Sunday afternoon to the Ken Williams home at 603 N. Garfield Street.

Professor Metz (Kaye Fish), a noted cockroach expert (second from left), has just brought the wheel-chair-bound Sheridan Whiteside (James Moore) a colony of cockroaches in one of the funny episodes of "The Man Who Came to Dinner," the First Nighters' play scheduled for May 7 and 8. Mrs Stanley (Rosalee Ludwick) takes the professor's coat, while the butler (Henry Dellar) holds the "colony" and the maid (Treva Hill) looks skeptical.

First Nighters ready again with new comedy hit in wings

Without waiting for the sun to set on their first theatrical hit, the St. Johns First Nighters theater group is just about set to stage their second play, "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

Work on the play has been in progress practically since the curtain fell on "See How They Run" in January. The new play, also a comedy, was chosen in mid-February, and tryouts and rehearsals were under way by the first of March.

"THE MAN WHO Came to Dinner," a three-act play by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart, will be presented by the First Nighters next Friday and Saturday nights, May 7 and 8. Curtain time at the St. Johns High School Auditorium is 8 p.m.

Mrs Hila Bross and Mrs Joan Davidson will direct the play, assisted by Wayne Hicks. The Kaufman-Hart comedy drew smash reviews when it was first produced on Broadway in 1939, and it elevated Monty Woolley to stardom. It was later made into a successful motion picture.

"THE MAN WHO Came to Dinner" revolves around the character Sheridan Whiteside (played by James Moore), who is a world-famous radio-television personality and popular lecturer and author. Whiteside is in a small Ohio town called Messalla on a lecture tour, and while visiting the home of a local manufacturer, Ernest Stanley (Roger Kowalski), he slips on their doorstep and is marooned in the Stanley home as the result of a fractured hip.

Whiteside is a cynical, sarcastic bombast who disrupts the entire household in which he is staying and dominates the lives of those about him. The Stanley living room is monopolized by the irascible invalid, ex-convicts are invited to meals, trans-Atlantic calls bring a $1,530 phone bill, and the arrival of strange gifts from his friends further destroy domestic tranquility.

OTHER performers in the cast include: Rosalee Ludwick as Mrs Ernest Stanley; Maxine DeYoung as Miss Preen, a nurse; Charles Caudy as Richard Stanley, the son; Judy Reese as June Stanley, the daughter; Henry Dellar as John, the butler; Treva Hill as Sarah, the cook; Theda Murdock as Mrs Dexter; Cynthia Jones as Mrs McCutcheon.

Joan Hopko as Maggie Cutler; Wayne Hicks as Dr Bradley; Loi DeGroot as Harriet Stanley; Eugene Livingston as Bert Jefferson; Kaye Fish as Professor Metz; Joan Davidson as Lorraine Sheldon; Steven Hopko as Beverly Carlton and as Banjo; Dan Bross as Wescott and Roy Brisendine as the radio technician.

GENERAL admission and reserved seat tickets are now on sale. They will be sold tomorrow evening between 7 and 9 from the box office of the Clinton Theater. At other times they are available from any First Nighter member or at the Warren Insurance Agency or Chamber of Commerce office.

Plan data book to lure industry

Through the efforts of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce, Consumers Power Co. will soon print a "Data Guide Book" on St. Johns, for use by Consumers and the Chamber of Commerce in attempting to lure additional industry to St. Johns.

On Monday of this week, George Hillman of Consumers Industrial Development Department at Jackson and Mrs. Betty Jane Minsky, manager of the St. Johns C of C, spent the day researching the various aspects of St. Johns, with the result that all of the necessary material for a complete guidebook was compiled.

HILLMAN ADVISED that immediately this will be typed by Consumers and a copy sent to Mrs. Minsky for immediate use. Then, within the next few weeks photographs of St. Johns buildings will be sent and the entire booklet printed.

Mrs. Minsky stated that considerable help was secured in compiling the information, especially that on tax structure, water, sewage and etc. from City Manager Ken Greer. The Clinton County News is cooperating by making photographs from their files available for the booklet.

IN EXPLAINING the Data Guide, Mrs. Minsky explained that it is a compilation of information about a community which can be of vital use in securing new industry. It is the Chamber's intention to keep the information current and Consumers Power Company has advised the C of C that they will reprint the booklet every year if revised information is supplied them.

Ask city vacate White Street

A public hearing on a request for the city to vacate White Street on the east side of town will be held May 4 in the city commission chambers at the Municipal Building.

The street, which is not presently in use, is just east of the Eberhard Store on East State Street and runs northerly from State to Walker Street.

EBERHARD'S, reportedly looking to future expansion of their store, asked the city to vacate the street since it is not being used. The city commission last week passed a resolution of intent to vacate and instructed the city attorney to draw up an ordinance vacating the short street.

The hearing on the ordinance will be held next Tuesday.

Library Visit Is A Family Affair for Davises

Reading is popular with people of all ages, and for the Jack Davis family of 300 S. Kibbee Street, St. Johns, it's also a family affair. Mr and Mrs. Davis, Ann, 11, and Sue, 9, visited the Bement Library open house Sunday together, and they found something for everyone. An estimated 100 persons attended the open house, despite a steady rain all afternoon. Cookies and punch were served.

Billy Graham film on World's Fair tonight

"World's Fair Encounter," a new Billy Graham motion picture, will be shown tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. at the St. Johns Assembly of God, corner of US-27 and East Baldwin Street.

The movie is based on the story of two young people who actually visited the fair during the first season of its operation. Pamela Baird, a Walt Disney talent contest find, plays the role of a graduate nurse from Montana, Jean Luc Ray, making his acting debut, portrays a Swiss-French exchange student who is enrolled as an architect major at a New York university.

THE CULTURE and heritage of many of the world's communities are emphasized by visits to a number of the colorful international pavilions. The story climax takes place in the Billy Graham Pavilion where the wide-screen motion picture, "Man in the 5th Dimension," makes its impact on the film's principals. Their impressions become a symbol of the actual response by thousands who have seen the film at the World's Fair.

Nearly 1-1/2 million persons are patients in hospitals on any given day. About half of them (720,874) are in psychiatric hospitals.

Explains Library Card System

Librarian Mrs. H. F. Millman of the Bement Library got some questions about the card index system at the library from Caren Dietrich, 8, daughter of Mr and Mrs Jack Dietrich of St. Johns. Her brother, Stephen, 6, and Kathy Rinker, 4, crowded in to hear the answers, too. The question and answer session came at Sunday's open house commemorating the 25th anniversary of the library.

Boards OK 4 transfers to Fulton

Transfer of four parcels of property from the St. Johns School District to the Fulton District were approved Monday night by the joint county boards of education of Clinton and Gratiot Counties. Thirty-seven other proposed changes were rejected.

Property transferred included parcels along Hoover Road in Essex Township belonging to James Lowe, Albert Moritz, John Patton and Ivan Harlow. Their parcels had formed a small "peninsula" that jutted into the Fulton district and were immediately adjacent to the Fulton District.

THE LAND involved was in the former East Essex School District which voted in March to annex to St. Johns. The transfer of the four parcels was not contested by the St. Johns board.

St. Johns did protest the proposed transfer of a number of other parcels, including some that St. Johns Supt. Earl Lancaster said could have divided the former East Essex District into two sections. It included a band of parcels across the center of the district north of the East Essex School.

THE JOINT boards of education of Clinton and Gratiot heard the petitions since the school districts involved are in both counties.

The 37 parcels that were denied transfer to Fulton included four in the old Union Home District; all the others were in the former East Essex District. St. Johns protested to many of the transfers on the grounds that the parcels were not contiguous to the Fulton District.

2 drinking fines given Adrian youth

Raymond Onato Saenz, 19, of rural Adrian was charged with two drinking offenses in St. Johns Saturday night. On a charge of minor in possession he was fined a total of $29.90, and for "consuming alcohol on a public highway" he was fined $29.30. St. Johns Municipal Judge Alba Wert assessed the fines.

Much lead was mined in England in the first century A. D. by the Roman conquerors.

The bodice was fitted with a wide portrait neckline, frosted with patterned lace and trimmed with pearls. The three-quarter length sleeves were of lace, applied on tulle and scalloped on the bottom. The extremely full skirt was adorned on the front with medallions of the lace. A square chapel train of the lace was fashioned at the back in Watteau effect, held in place by an organza bow.

A reception in the church dining area for relatives and friends followed the ceremony. Session routine for commission

A relatively short and uneventful session of the city commission was held last Tuesday evening, with mostly just routine business being handled.

The commission accepted the resignation of Timothy M. Green as city associate municipal judge and also instructed the city attorney to draw up an ordinance repealing the earlier ordinance that provided for an associate judge.

THE RESIGNATION of Roger Kowalski as city recreation director also was accepted.

City Assessor Don Clark was instructed to prepare assessment rolls for a sewer line on North Oakland Street in Orchard Glen Subdivision, and for curb and gutter in the 100 and 200 blocks of Elm Street. Public hearings on the necessity of the two projects were held last Tuesday night.

THE ELM STREET project will not be carried out or assessed, however, until at least 1966.

A public hearing is scheduled for May 4 at 7:30 p.m. on a proposal for water mains in the 100 and 200 blocks of Oak Street, 100 block of North Scott Road, 100 and 200 blocks of West Steel Street and the 1000 block of East State Street.

Cost of the project is estimated at about $15,800, requiring 700 feet of eight-inch main, 1,200 feet of six-inch main and necessary fittings, and 300 feet of 10-inch cast iron water mains, City Manager Ken Greer said. He said each of the blocks in the project is needed either to replace a bad galvanized line or to eliminate an existing deadend line.

Ask Illinois firm to settle here

The St. Johns Chamber of Commerce has been working with an Illinois based firm in attempts to have them locate in St. Johns. The firm is a highly-rated national women's apparel organization with over 800 retail stores and nine factories. They are also the largest manufacturer of exclusively designed women's apparel in the country.

Betty Jane Minsky, Chamber manager, said that in 1964 the firm produced 80 new stores and that they have a goal of 100 for 1965.

INFORMATION relative to all vacant buildings suitable for retail use has been sent to the firm, along with a strip map of the business community and pictures of vacant store fronts.

Mrs Minsky stated that during the past two weeks she has attempted to complete a file on all vacant buildings which would be suitable for retail or industrial use so that as the Chamber comes in contact with people who might be interested in expanding they will have the information available to pass on to them.

AMONG THOSE vacant buildings on which the Chamber has secured information are the Schellenberger buildings, Tim Green's building next to Jim's Insurance, the vacant locations in the shopping center, the former car agency building located on North US-27 and Hicks Bowling Alley. Information is also being secured relative to specifics on the former Kline Distributing building.

"Being new to St. Johns, there is a chance I have missed some building that might be vacant. If this is the case, it would be nice if anyone knowing of any other vacant buildings would call the Chamber office so that we can get them listed in our vacant building file, too," Mrs Minsky said.

Big business

Steel, American's biggest industry, produces 8 per cent of all value created by manufacturing in the nation, according to Pennsylvania State University. The industry employs more than a million people and accounts for 1/40 of the total US economy.

Chamber queen signup Friday

The St. Johns Chamber of Commerce reminds girls 16 or over and attending St. Johns High School, that this Friday at noon Chamber Manager Betty Jane Minsky will be at the High School to register girls in for the big "C of C Queen's Contest."

One girl will be selected as "Miss St. Johns of 1965" and will reign over Chamber of Commerce activities during the coming year.

ARRANGEMENTS have been made to have the girl selected queen crowned on Monday, May 17, by visiting Mayor Ward Hillman of Deckerville, when he is here for Mayor's Exchange Day.

Girls competing in the contest will sell C of C Booster Buttons at $1 each, beginning this Friday. They will sell until Monday, May 10, at which time all girls will be checked in and the top seven sellers determined.

THESE SEVEN girls will be hosted to a "Judging Dinner" at Walker's Restaurant on Wednesday evening, May 12, at which time they will have dinner with three out-of-town judges who will select one of them queen and pick a runner up.

Announcement of the girl selected will be made during Michigan Week on Mayor's Exchange Day.

Baseball team splits games

The St. Johns baseball season finally got started last Wednesday, and after the first week the Redwings owned a 1-1 record. The Wings slipped by Ovid 6-4 in extra innings last Wednesday and then lost a 2-1 game to Corunna Thursday.

Dennis Springer pitched both games and got credit for the win at Ovid and the loss at Corunna.

THE WINGS HAD their bats loaded for bear against Ovid, but they had to play into the eighth inning before getting the victory. Lee Hill, Jim Pope, Lee Crawley and Gene Rademacher each got two hits, and Rod Hayes and Springer had one each.

Ovid bounced ahead after the first inning, 2-1, then St. Johns went ahead in their half of the fourth with two runs. Ovid tied it up again in the same inning. St. Johns scored one in the fifth, and Ovid tied it up at 4-4 in the seventh inning.

THE WINGS scored twice in the eighth inning to win it for Springer, who allowed Ovid seven hits and gave up three walks.

Coach Bill Swear's diamondmen got only five hits against Corunna in a rather dull game.

Orin Acre wins fish tournament citation

Fishing in the Metropolitan Miami Fishing Tournament on a recent vacation in Florida, Orin R. Acre of R-1, Elsie, won an angling recognition for landing a 15-pound, 7-ounce snook in the spin casting division.

Acre fished out of Drop Anchor Trailer Park at Goodland, Fla. He was awarded a citation for his outstanding catch. The fishing tournament ran from Dec. 13 to April 18.

as far as excitement goes. Both teams scored a run in the second inning, and Corunna got their winning one in the fourth.

Springer gave up only three hits during the game, along with a walk, but five St. Johns errors helped the Corunna cause. Gary Boyce paced St. Johns attack with two hits, while Crawley, Rademacher and Dave Hill had one each.

THE REDWINGS "B" team played Fowler Thursday and defeated the Eagles 13-1. Tom Bulard pitched in the game that was called at the end of four innings.

Golfers add 2 victories

The St. Johns Redwings golf team added two victories to their record last week by defeating Stanton-Central Montcalm last Wednesday and Ithaca Thursday. Their overall record now is 3-1.

The Central Montcalm match was the closest, with the Wings winning 167-169. Against Ithaca the score was 171-178.

SCORES FOR the two days were as follows: Dennis Hankey 42 and 39. Gary Becker 39 and 41, Dick Creece 42 and 43, and Bob Orwein 44 and 48. Medalist in the Central Montcalm match was Mike Bloss of Central with a 37, while Hankey was medalist against Ithaca with his 39.

The junior varsity split its matches and now has a 1-2 overall record. They defeated Central Montcalm 205-210 and lost to Ithaca 186 - 218. Individual scores included Tom Pautke 49 and 52, Ted Bedell 50 and 47, John Ricker 53 and 49, Steve Rutkowski 53 against Central, and Joe O'Leary 60 against Ithaca.

Lots of Youthful Activity at City Easter Egg Hunt

Children scramble wildly for Easter Eggs Saturday at the St. Johns City Park, where an estimated 300 youngsters turned out despite a chilly wind. Dicky Bellant and Joey Lorenc tied for the first place award, a bunny, in the pre-school division. In the kindergarten to Grade 3 division, Patty Moore won a bunny, Greg Mueller a 3 1/2 ounce chocolate egg, Sandra Barkley and Christy Foster chocolate bunnies. In Grades 4-6, Chris Hyler won a bunny, Mathew Fryover won a chocolate egg, and Maurine Lewis won a chocolate rabbit. Recreation Director Roger Kowalski said the turnout was good even though the egg hunt had been postponed a week by snow.

Tennis men roll along; record 4-0

The St. Johns tennis team won three matches in the last two weeks, running their record to 4-0. Greenville fell to the Redwings 5-0 April 15. Mason was edged out 4-3 April 21, and the Wings beat East Lansing 4-3 last Thursday.

Against Greenville, the Wings had little trouble. Kurt Acton beat Ken Kraus of Greenville 6-1, 6-2; Al Werbish beat Steve Totten 6-1, 6-2; and Bob Vollbracht defeated Bob Wood 6-4, 7-5.

IN DOUBLES, Bill Sirrine and Jim Cronkite won 6-0, 6-0, and Tom Danley and Bill DeGroot defeated their opponents 6-2, 6-3.

Mason was a little more formidable. Acton, playing as the No. 1 singles man, defeated his man 7-5, 6-0, but the other singles players lost to Mason. Werbish lost 3-6, 6-1, 6-8; Vollbracht lost 3-6, 0-6; and Nick Williams was beaten in three sets 7-5, 4-6 and 7-9.

BUT ST. Johns pulled the match out with three doubles victories. Sirrine and Cronkite tipped their opponents 6-4, 6-1; Dave Pocus and Tom Danley won 6-3, 6-1; and Terry Green and Jeff Blackman were victorious 6-1, 6-0.

It was Mason's first loss of the year after two victories.

One of the toughest matches Coach Bill Swears anticipated for the year was played at East Lansing last Thursday, where the Wings handed East Lansing their first set-back of the year, 4-3.

JOHN GOOD of East Lansing defeated Acton 6-1, 6-1, but Al Werbish bounced back with a 6-2, 8-6 victory over Bill Struck. Vollbracht lost to Al Mouradian 4-6, 6-3, 7-9 and Williams lost to Bruce Baker 1-6, 1-6.

Again, the Redwings swept the doubles play. Sirrine and Cronkite won their match 6-3, 6-1; Pocus and Danley were victorious finally 1-6, 6-0, 6-1, and Green and Blackman won 6-3, 6-3.

ST. JOHNS' record is now 4-0; East Lansing was 3-1 after the Thursday match. Swears pointed out the East Lansing team has not lost a conference tennis match in about three years.

Hospitals assets in 1963 amounted to $21 billion, more than $17 billion of which was in physical plants.

The moving picture, produced by the Murphy Products Co. of Burlington, Wis., contrasts Americanism with Communism. The narrator is Dr Robert R. Spitzer, president of the Murphy firm.

Duncel was introduced by Van Hoag, program chairman for the meeting.

3 more teams finish as bowling season ebbs

Three more bowling leagues wound up their seasons last week.

The American Legion Club won the Night Hawk League title with 87 wins and 45 losses, only one game ahead of Beck's Farm Market. Blued Oil finished third only four games off the pace. Beck's and the Legion shared team scoring honors last Tuesday, as they have done much of the year. Beck's had the high game of 918, while the Legion shot a 2465 high series.

BILL SMITH fired a 243 high game to pace individual Night Hawk Bowlers, while Sonny Cornwell had a 592 high series and a 227 game. Other 200-or-better games were rolled by Greg Snyder 209, Marvin Hayes 207, Art Motz 202, Hank Schmid 201, Bob Cole 201 and George Smith 200.

The season is all over in the Capitol League, too, but there the race wasn't so tight. Strohs captured first place by 10 1/2 games over Frechen's Tavern and 12 over third place Moorman's Feeds. Seventh place Western Auto took scoring honors on the final night Monday with a 973 game, and fifth place Central Michigan Lumber shot a 2538 high series. Bob Pratt had a 256 game, while Harold Pease came up with the best series, a 570.

THE ROSE Johnson, Seamstress, team bowled high game and series in the Westphalia Woman's League's final week of bowling last Tuesday. The team had scores of 862 and 2390. Theresa Thelen's 255 game and 573 series were high. Drewry's Beer won the league championship with a record of 95 wins and 37 losses, while the Rose Johnson team finished third second eight games back.

IN OTHER leagues, the weekly action continues.

Three women tied for high game honors in the Tea Time League last week. Dorothy Neller, Agatha Mankey and Connie Cronkite all had 168 games. Iola Adair had the high series, however, with a 482. The high team game and series were rolled by Central National Bank with scores of 743 and 2143. Marian Orweller picked up the 5-7 split.

RICHARD DAIRY has a scant half-game lead over the KPs in a tight Mixed League race that's nearing its end. The KPs came on strong Friday by bowling the high game of 668 and the high series of 1861. Bill Burnham was high for the men with a 205 game and 566 series. Gert Kolehmainen had a 201 game and 497 series to pace the women bowlers in the league.

Jo Rogers picked up the 3-7-10 split and Lillian Tiedt and Ruth Delo got the 6-7-10 split last Thursday as a feature of the Nite Owls League bowling. Fourth place St. Johns Lumber Co. had the best team night with an 848 game and 2454 series. Rosie Nusser had a 205 high game, and Jo Rogers bowled a 509 series. Jim's Insurance leads H & H Lounge by two games.

THE FIRST Nighters are not to be outdone in close races. In that Monday night league, Woodbury's holds a razor-thin half-game lead over the Independents. The fifth place Mary Frances Shop had a 790 game and 2167 series to pace the teams, while Cecile Ritz had a 189 high game and a 502 series and Anna Hattata had a 517 high series.

Mobil Gas' lead over South Riley Grocery is only 2 1/2 games as the Twin City League race goes right down to the wire, too. Mobil had a 926 high game last Wednesday, while South Riley countered with a 2619 high series. Bruce Woodbury's 212 game and 585 series took individual scoring honors.

DEAN'S HARDWARE and Jim's Insurance were locked in a tie for first place in the City Classic League last Thursday, with Rhyndard's, H & H Lounge and Dick's Barber Shop all tied for third only three games back. Dean's had the best game and series last week with scores of 1038 and 2810. Nick Hattata fired a 248 game, while Jim Lance's 634 series was high. Ed Kaminski had a 623, John Spousta 618 and Emery Havens 600.

The Hillbilly 4 lead the Bowlettes by two games in the Coffee Cup League race. The Hustlers, in seventh place, shot a 575 game and 1593 series last Thursday. Rose Ritter had a 194 game and 461 series. Pearl Haught picked up the 6-7 split.

Pat Moore picked up the 4-7-10 split, and Billie Gutshall got both the 5-10 and 4-10 splits.

Thinclads run past Lakewood

The St. Johns High School track team won its first meet of the season last Wednesday afternoon by beating Lakewood 56-49 in a conference dual meet at Ionia.

Lakewood scored five points for first in the pole vault when their only vaulter was able to make the starting height and was unopposed in the event. First places in the 12 other events were divided equally between the two schools, but the Redwings dominated the other scoring with seven second places and six thirds.

THE REDWINGS were ahead by a scant two points going into the final event, the mile relay. But the St. Johns team of Dan Hynes, Bob Showers, Doug Lundy and Dave DeGeer won the event with a time of 3:42.5.

Other point winners were:

Clark Berkhausen (4:56.5), second, and Albert Moore (4:56.7), third in the mile run; Dave DeGeer, first (2:06.6), and Al Koenigsnecht second (2:09.4) in the half mile; Doug Lundy first (53.9) and Bob Showers third in the open quarter.

Lundy's good jump of 17 feet 11 inches was broad for first place in that event, and Jim Leonard placed third. The Redwings picked up four big points in the shot put when DeGeer finished second and Dan Ritter third.

Elsie nips Ovid in track meet

OVID— The Ovid Romans, Elsie and Perry collided in a triangular track meet last Wednesday, with Elsie squeaking by Ovid by a half-point. Elsie scored 51 points, Ovid had 50 1/2 and Perry had 32.

Dick Hall got a first in the 440-yard dash with a time of 56.7. The mile relay team of Terry Binger, Ray Chamberlain, Dick Hall and Mike Martinez placed first with a timing of 3:54.8.

Our apologies

The recipient of one of six township government awards for long service was erroneously identified in last week's Clinton County News story and picture. T. B. Simpson, Peace Township justice of the peace, was the honored officer, not T. B. Thompson as reported in the story. Simpson was honored for 10 years of service.

Wolfpack victim of no-hit game

LAINGSBURG— Portland High School's Fred Reahm tossed a no-hit baseball game at Laingsburg last Tuesday, winning it by an 11-0 score.

Reahm walked one Laingsburg batter in the first inning, and that turned out to be the only Wolfpack traffic on the bases during the game.

Portland scored regularly, but their big bursts were two runs in the second inning and five in the third. The Raiders got seven hits and committed no errors. Laingsburg committed three errors.

A collection of rocks, containing many types of minerals, crystals, oras and arrowheads from the United States and Canada, is now on display in the science room at Central School. Richard Vitek picked for safety patrol trip to Washington, D.C.

Fourteen-year-old Richard Vitek of St. Johns will represent 155 St. Johns-area safety patrol members at the AAA National Safety Patrol Rally in Washington, D.C., May 6-9.

Richard, a patroller at St. Joseph School, will be the guest of Automobile Club of Michigan during its annual all-expense-paid trip to the nation's capital.

HE WILL BE among 130 Michigan patrol members representing 65,000 fellow patrolers at over 2,500 schools. Each patroller has spent about 180 hours at street corners protecting classmates during the past year.

Michigan youths will join 25,000 patrolers from 20 other states and the District of Columbia upon arrival in Washington May 7. They will march in a five-hour morning parade down Constitution Avenue, annually the longest parade in Washington.

THE PARADE pays tribute to the safety efforts of the nation's 850,000 patrol members. Seventy-five bands and 80 floats will be featured. Automobile Club of Michigan's patrolers will carry "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" banners—a safety slogan familiar to this state's motorists and pedestrians for the past four years.

Patrollers from 105 Michigan communities chosen to make the trip will converge on Detroit by bus May 6 from Muskegon, Kalamazoo and Saginaw. The three buses from these points will join a Detroit bus at the Veterans Memorial Building that afternoon in a Greyhound caravan to Washington.

THEY WILL spend May 7 and 8 seeing the sights of Washington and will be returned to their homes by Sunday, May 9.

As a highlight of this year's trip, two Three Rivers youths will receive the AAA Gold Life-saver Medal. Recipients are Donald Brunner, 12, and John Abel, 13, both of Barrows School. Al-

RICHARD VITEK together, 13 youngsters from across the nation will receive the gold medal for actually saving a fellow student's life.

SINCE THE national patrol program was launched in 1922, the traffic death rate of children between 5 and 14 years of age has been cut in half.

Youth talent winners listed

1,000 see youth exhibits

An estimated 1,000 persons wandered through the Hicks Building in St. Johns last Friday, Saturday and Sunday to look at more than 300 displays of talent by youth of Clinton County.

It was by far the biggest youth talent show, which is sponsored annually by the St. Johns Rotary Club. The ground level and downtown location of the exhibit this year was attributed as a major reason for the increase in visitors.

THE BIGGEST crowd was on Sunday afternoon, despite a steady rain. Exhibits ranged from model cars to knitting handwork to paintings to complicated scientific displays.

A blue velvet dress and coat by Lynda Libey of rural Elsie was judged the best exhibit by a girl, and a regulation pool table built by Allen Sibley of rural DeWitt was termed the best by a boy. Other prizes were given for the best displays in each of the four age groups.

The number of entries exceeded 300 when they were brought in last week, although only about 275 had been registered. Organ music by Terry Wilson Sunday made browsing through the exhibits a little more cheerful.

Explain duties of State Police to Lion's Club

ELsie— Cpl. Jack Bouck of the Michigan State Police was guest speaker at the Ladies Night sponsored by the Lion's Club...

Now stationed at the Mount Pleasant Post, Bouck told of his experiences during 13 years with the State Police.

AN OPEN discussion followed, during which questions were asked concerning the duties of the State Police in time of national emergencies, disaster and atomic attacks.

He said the State Police play a vital role in notifying people in the state of such emergencies. Referring to the recent tornado disaster, Bouck stated that he was on the switchboard at the time and no calls came through due to broken rural facilities which prevented warnings to some areas.

Jack Hawes presided over a business meeting. The four re-ceptacles placed by the Lions Club on Main Street for collection of rubbish have been repainted and returned to their locations and two new ones have been ordered, he said.

A Facial For Mt. Rushmore

A crew of daring specialists from the National Park Service will climb 6,050-foot Mt. Rushmore in South Dakota's Black Hills this spring to give the granite countenances of Presidents Washington, Jefferson, "Teddy" Roosevelt and Lincoln their annual "facials." Strangely, the basic ingredients in these treatments is linseed oil, the same material used by Egyptians 5,000 years ago to preserve their mummies and today the ingredient in house paint that protects against sun and weather, according to research experts of the National Flaxseed Processors Association. Preservation of the giant carved faces—each 60 feet long—is a large undertaking. The repairmen patch cracks resulting from weathering with Sculptor Gutzon Borglum's original compound, a mixture of linseed oil, white lead and granite dust, so future generations can admire this memorial to our great presidents.

Recruit now farmers told

Farmers needing seasonal labor to grow or harvest crops should make immediate plans to recruit the workers they require, Manuel Chiunti of the Lansing Farm Labor Services Office said today.

According to Chiunti, continued high non-farm employment will reduce the number of workers interested in seasonal farm activities. Also higher wage rates offered by other states may attract workers who formerly came to Michigan for farm work.

CHIUNTI SAID his office, a branch of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, is contacting employment offices in other states in an attempt to secure needed workers for Michigan. Many migrants are now leaving their homes for employment in other states. Unless workers are contacted at their homes it is difficult to arrange to have them come to a particular farm.

Chiunti urged farm employers to contact his office, 531 E. Shiawassee, Lansing.

Family surprises Harry Ballinger on 75th birthday

Harry Ballinger was surprised on his 75th birthday when a pot-luck dinner was brought in by his seven children and their families.

Cards were in play during the afternoon, with high being awarded to Mrs. Francis Drya and John Ballinger, and low to Francis Brya and Mrs. Max Ballinger. Mrs. Ballinger also won the traveling prize.

Guests included Mr and Mrs

Francis Brya and family, Mr and Mrs Nell Harte and family, Mr and Mrs Robert Ballinger and family, Mr and Mrs Max Ballinger and sons, Mr and Mrs John Ballinger and girls, Mr and Mrs George French and girls, all of St. Johns, and Mr and Mrs Ernest Bothe and family of DeWitt.

Teacher speaks to Farm Bureau

Thirteen families of Parker Center Farm Bureau viewed slides of Mexico at the April meeting held at the home of Mr and Mrs William Fox, with Mr and Mrs Robert Fox as co-hosts.

Miss Dorothy Hostetler, a teacher in the Grosse Pointe Schools and a sister of Mrs Wilbur Brandt, showed colored slides taken on a vacation trip to Mexico. She also displayed a collection of jewelry, baskets, weaving and other souvenirs which she had purchased there.

THE BUSINESS meeting was conducted by Raymond Doyle, vice chairman, who welcomed new members, Mr and Mrs Fred Tolles, and several members who had returned from a winter's stay in Florida.

During a discussion on removing the tolls for crossing the Mackinac Bridge, the group favored reducing the fee to $1 per vehicle but not eliminating it entirely. Byron Kissane led a discussion on farm-owned supermarkets.

Lunch and a social hour followed the meeting.

The next meeting will be on Wednesday, May 26, instead of the usual meeting date. Harold Shipley will show slides on the flag and the history of United States.

United in marriage

EAST VICTOR—William L. VanDeusen and Mrs Nona B. Jury were united in marriage on Saturday, April 17, at the home of the bride. The ceremony was performed by the local justice of the peace, William R. Jaques.

The couple's attendants were Tarry Donaldson, brother of the bride, and Ruthann Miller of Okemos. Also attending were the bride's four children by a former marriage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home for the immediate families and a few close friends. The newlyweds will reside at the farm of the bride on Price Road.

Beaver Patrol Wins Boy Scout First Aid Competition

Morriss gets highest adult Scouting award

William Morriss of 208 West State Street, St. Johns, was presented with the highest adult Scouting award a local council can make—the Silver Beaver Award—last Thursday evening at the annual Appreciation Dinner of the Chief Okemos Council, Boy Scouts of America.

The award was a surprise to Morriss. He was one of four men who received the Silver Beaver Award. The others were Clark Azelborn of Lansing, Russell Brüngrer of Grand Ledge, and Roy Greenman of Lansing.

THE SILVER Beaver Award is presented for "noteworthy service of exceptional character to boyhood in the area under the jurisdiction of this council."

Over 170 Scouters attended the annual Appreciation Dinner, held in the Michigan State Union Ballroom. It was the largest such dinner ever held; it is held each year to honor outstanding adult Scouters who have made contributions to Scouting.

THOSE receiving special recognition were Karl Story, Gen. George Moran, Robert Refior, Max Lorenson and Donald Perkins. Speaker for the evening was Robert L. Lalley, assistant vice-president of the Michigan National Bank. He is a retired FBI agent, and his subject was "The Future of Our Youth."

Chief Okemos Council serves Clinton, Ingham and Eaton counties plus Portland and Danby Townships in Ionia County.

A great many people favor rigid revisions of most everything except themselves.

The Silver Beaver Award, Scouting's highest for adult leadership, is presented to William Morriss of St. Johns by Leon North of District 7, Grovenburg.

Den 1 presented a skit and the Cubbie Award was given to Den 5 who served refreshments.

The Pine Box Derby winners were Joe Fernholz, Eric Bond and Bill Bearndt.

There will be a committee meeting at Shirley Bonds on May 3 and a roundtable meeting in Eureka on May 11 at 7:30 p.m.

Church circle plans banquet, district meet

On Tuesday, April 27, the Elizabeth Circle of the First Methodist Church met in the country home of Mrs Theron Richards with Mrs Gordon Luther as co-hostess. A dessert was served at 1:30 p.m. to the 13 members present.

The Chairman, Mrs Merle Redman, opened the business meeting.

The flower chairman, Mrs Fred Hansen, reported sending Easter greetings to the five golden link members and cards to two members who were ill. Members reported making eight sick calls.

Attention was called to following dates: May 5, an all-day district meeting in Ithaca; May 6, Mother-Daughter banquet at the Methodist Church; and May 7, Council of Church women at 1:30 p.m. in the Bengal UB Church.

Mrs Walter Thornton had the worship service and Mrs Henry Wood the program, using the title, "Our Children and Theirs."

The next meeting will be held May 25.

Odd Fellows here observe national own anniversary

St. Johns members of the Odd Fellows were to hold services Wednesday evening at the Temple in observance of the 146th anniversary of the founding of their order and the 105th anniversary of the granting of the local charter.

Special attention was called to the memory of Thomas Wilder, founder of Oddfellowship in North America.

GOV. GEORGE Romney's proclamation of this week as Odd Fellows Week in Michigan calls attention to the Odd Fellow purpose "to endeavor to enlighten the mind without taking from the individual any of his rights or privileges."

It also refers to the goal to "elevate the character of man through the systematic teaching of the basic principles of friendship, brotherly love and truth."

TO CLIMAX the week's observance, the ladies of Banner Rebekah Lodge No. 139 will initiate a candidate at their regular session Monday evening.

Honor area sailor for honesty

Navy Seaman Mack Bret Struble, son of Mr and Mrs I. G. Struble of R-1, DeWitt, makes $99 a month, before taxes.

An inexperienced bank teller recently gave him $198 too much when he was cashing pay checks for several of his shipmates. The bank was closed when he discovered the error, but when it reopened the next morning, Struble was there to return the money.

"AFTER I'D given everybody their money and counted mine, well, I had $198 left," he recalls. "I thought about the money and the fact it wasn't mine. I thought about the person who'd overpaid me and what might happen if the money wasn't returned. There wasn't but one thing I could do."

The money had been missed. The bank was exceedingly glad to see it. Their gratitude was expressed in glowing terms in a letter to Struble's commanding officer, Commander W. J. Hess, skipper of Assault Craft Unit Two of the Naval Amphibious Base, Little Creek, Va.

COMDR. HESS immediately ordered a special ceremony at which he presented Struble the letter of appreciation and an official commendation to become part of his service record.

College loan program fills a genuine need

Almost half the American high school students in the top 20 per cent in scholastic aptitude fail to enter college, a study has shown. Most halt their educations because they cannot afford to go further.

The cost of a college education has risen so rapidly, in fact, that it is a burden for well-fixed families. For public institutions, the average cost is estimated now at $1,560 a year; at private institutions, $2,-370.

ALL THIS IS why the college scholarship loans and work projects included in the poverty program seem to us to be among its most valuable parts. Last year the initial legislation under the program provided funds to help 150,000 needy students to go to college by paying them for part-time work on campuses or in their communities.

A new administration proposal, again part of the poverty program, would broaden this plan and also make loans to needy college students available on a wider basis.

NONE OF THIS could logically be called a dole, although of course it will be called that and it will be called "socialism" as well. Work must be performed for the work payments; the loans must be repaid.

What could be more responsible than that? What can do more to encourage individual initiative and self-sustenance than enabling more people to earn higher educations?

ONE OBJECTIVE of these programs is to produce more teachers for what is fast becoming a critical shortage. Our annual "production" of Ph.D.'s is less than half the number needed in college teaching alone, and only half of these Ph.D. graduates are going into teaching.

By enabling more students to go to college and then to graduate school, we will be helping to fill that shortage.

Not all the poverty program looks so obviously sound as these parts. But the more the generalities about this program are left behind and the more specifics such as these are considered, the more reasonable the program appears.

Bible displayed may not be a Bible read

Everyone knows that the Bible is the top seller of all time, and that sales continue at an enormous pace. But everyone does not know, if only because it has just been disclosed by a worldwide survey, that there is not a single copy of the Scriptures in half the world's Christian homes.

The American Bible Society, which conducted the survey, estimates that one person out of five in North America has a Bible. But it also says that throughout the world only one out of every eight professed Christian owns a New Testament.

THESE AND RELATED figures take on special importance when one considers that even among the minority of Christians who own a Bible or New Testament, possession does not mean that these books so fundamental to the Christian faith are much read.

Though it is impossible to obtain accurate figures on this point, there is reason to think that consistent reading of the Scriptures is the exception rather than the rule among Christians. The bulk of churchgoers appear to read the Bible sporadically, if at all. Systematic perusal of the Scriptures is not common, on the whole.

THIS IS OF great significance because the biblical writings are the very wellspring of Christian belief. Both faith and intellectual commitment to belief are reinvigorated by frequent return to this wellspring.

A Bible on a shelf or table is at best a reminder of belief, and at worst a mere cipher in the statistics of book sales.

A Bible thoughtfully read is a contribution to the living strength of faith.

For the Mom Who Has Everything

RAMBLIN' with Rink

BY LOWELL G. RINKER

A frequent request made of newsmen in weekly journalism is one that sounds something like this: "Now, please, put it on the front page where everyone will see it!"

We hear it here at the Clinton County News with about the same frequency as our counterparts in other communities. We'll agree that, without a doubt, the front page of the newspaper is attention compelling—it should be. But never make the mistake of thinking our newspaper stops there.

IF WE THOUGHT people read only the front page, we'd probably print only one page each week and quit there.

But like we said, our newspaper doesn't stop there. St. Johns and Clinton area businessmen are confident people read the other pages of the Clinton County News, too, for they are willing, interested and eager to advertise their products on our inside pages.

A newspaper is a good deal like a store, as a matter of fact. The front page corresponds to the show window. Inside you'll find the goods you're after, both in news and in advertising. Without the ads, we couldn't print the news.

AS FOR NEWS, the inside pages of the County News are chock full of news and information for everyone. There are special interest areas for women, sports fans, rural and farm people. There are special pages—church columns, editorials and columns, classified pages and legal notices. And there are many pages which have just general news—items people may or may not know about but in which they still show a keen interest in reading.

Never fear, however, to request the front page on an item you think merits it; we'll always consider it. But we must consider your item with all others. And if we choose another item over yours for the front page, please don't be miffed. The inside pages of the Clinton County News are as well read as the front, and your item WILL be read.

What's In A Name?

BY W. E. DOBSON

As I travel round the diggin's, I have noted allergy To a form of designation, In our daily repartee, Though it seem a minor item, Just to try some folk to please, I suggest that senior citizens Best be Junior Retirees.

No, we won't indulge in kidding, We who own a silver thach, And on whom the DDS's, Strive to make the molars match; Mebby we are not fit subjects For the tales of birds 'n bees; But it sounds a little smoother To say Junior Retirees.

Seniority is somethin' Of a true and noble state, That requires ample seasonin', And we feel we hardly rate; 'Fur as I kin note there's no one Craves last apple on the tree, Can't we label each new convert As a Junior Retiree?

Words are merely mental pictures, But too oft they do connote Every senior in our sanctum A be-whiskered billy-goat; Can't we do a job of selling, Use tact and diplomacy.— Dignify each new elected As a Junior Retiree?

Comfort for C-plus students

A RESEARCH study of 1,072 leaders in business, education and government listed in "Who's Who in America" revealed that a majority of them had averaged C-plus to B in grades during their college years.

This doesn't mean that the way to get into "Who's Who" is to avoid getting A. But the lack of connection between who's at the top of the class at one time and who's at the top of the nation in these fields a generation later does indicate that school grades don't measure some important things.

THE REASONS for a student's not getting the best grades may be poor ones, such as laziness and inefficiency, just as there are poor reasons for getting high grades, such as overly-narrow interests or caring more for marks than for learning.

But there are also valid reasons why many students get less than the highest grades, such as the development of interests and abilities not contained in the curriculum.

It should be noted that the three fields included in the research study mentioned—business, education and government—require aptitude in the skills having to do with getting along with people.

GRADES PROVIDE needed incentives and useful measurements. But it is healthful to be reminded that life and human nature are too complex and varied to be caught by grades and pinned for all time, like butterflies in an exhibit case.

I suspect that most of those listed in "Who's Who" are more outstanding for continuing to learn and grow after graduation than for their high grades while in school.

CLYDE ANDERSON of St. Johns, who is one of Michigan's most avid collectors of old firearms and other memorabilia, is rightfully concerned about proposed new federal regulations of the gun business.

Clyde is fearful that public clamor for such legislation since the assassination of President Kennedy may result in laws so burdensome that private ownership of guns will be all but eliminated.

Such harsh legislation, most people would agree, is not in the best interest of sportsmen, collectors and others who have a legitimate right to keep and bear firearms. It's to be hoped that Congress will come up with some reasonable compromise that will restrict improper dealing in guns without handicapping the average law-abiding citizen.

MRS DONNAH HAMPTON of St. Johns stopped in last week to hand us a copy of a miniature "St. Johns Daily News" issued were back on Dec. 17, 1894. It appears to be an advertising sheet distributed by merchants of that day under the editorship of one C. F. Knapp.

The principal advertiser was the St. John Mercantile Company which was selling, among other items, four pounds of mixed candy for 25 cents.

The little newspaper was found among items saved by the late Mrs Janie Bearndt, an aunt of Mrs Hampton.

Reader tells Bob to look at good, too

ON THIS APRIL 15 with income tax so present in the minds of all of us, my thoughts travel to Bob Ward's letter I just read in the County News.

Maybe you haven't thought of it, but in this day and age of income tax, property tax, personal tax, school tax, sales tax, gas tax, excise tax, amusement tax and numerous other taxes, you have indulged many many times in the only thing man can do without being taxed for—namely gripe, criticize and find fault with everything and everybody. Of course as yet no one has been hurt, but sooner or later they could be.

NOW BEFORE YOU sound off, I want you to know that you aren't the only one who does those things. Every mortal man or woman does on occasion, but gosh darn it, Bob, you go whole hog about it and one of these days one of those boys from Washington is going to pick up a copy of the Clinton County News and realize what a good thing we grippers have got going and slap an amusement tax on.

And then we're going to get hurt. I don't know about you, but I'll be up for tax evasion the first thing. This may sound way out, as the younger set say, but you give it little thought. It could happen.

NOW, YOU don't know me, Bob, but anyone who does knows that I won't shut up on such a few words, so I'd like to comment on your current letter and some of the past ones.

Many times you have written how you have gone into a bar and seen people drinking beer and whiskey, how bad you feel about it, and the sin they commit, so I can't help but wonder why the heck you keep torturing yourself by going back again and again.

THEN I remember something a dear friend of mine (and anyone else who knew him), the late Fred Frisbie of Maple Rapids, said a number of years ago to three local ladies who were loudly criticizing a young girl for what they thought they knew she did.

He heard them out and smiled

Letters to the Editor

Herbert sums up the farmer's plight

SINCE DEC. 31, 1964, there has not been any more cheap labor brought in from Mexico. I see by the papers, in a story written by Dan Reed of Farm Bureau, that farmers are groggy from labor punches.

Did you see the ads this last week by the pickle companies? Contracts are superior to others in previous years. We will find out now what we should have been receiving the last 10 years. This cheap labor has always benefited industry more than farmers.

I ALSO read where the Soviet Union is the largest butter producer; in 1963 production was 932,000 tons in spite of severe drought, while the US was second with 725,000 tons. Butter is retelling for more than $1 pound there; under capitalism it is retelling as low as 59 cents a pound. The only reason for price difference is that in Russia they tell you to produce it and in the US they ask you to produce it.

I sent for a book, "The One and Only Solution to The Farm Problem," written by Donald Despain, 4627 St. Paul Avenue, Lincoln 4, Neb. The writer gives two reasons for writing the book—first, because no one else dares or cares to write it, and second, he has no one else to write it.

AGRICULTURE IS the only industry that must sell at buyers' prices but must buy at the sellers' prices, and not one other industry has made an honest, sound, practical effort to lift the farmer out of this unhappy and uneconomical predicament.

Agriculture is the only industry that cannot pass cost losses and taxes on to the consumer. All other industries do.

I WONDER IF anyone has heard of the Boggs Bill. Well, it seems to me all the enemies belong to it. As in this book, it asks who are the enemies of America who would wreck our economy, export our capital and heavy industry, raise taxes and throw American workers out of jobs.

These enemies belong to the Boggs Bill: National Assn. of Manufacturers, US Chamber of Commerce, Farm Bureau (Now, Bob, you may have a chance to write to Charles Shuman, your president of Farm Bureau), and D. D. Eisenhower and R. Nixon.

WHAT ARE THESE enemies doing? They build plants abroad, hire cheap labor, use cheap raw materials, pay low tariffs and undersell home industries. The average hourly wage in Japan is 23 cents per hour; in West Germany 69 cents; Belgium 75 cents. US hourly wages in 1959 were $3.72, four times those of Belgium, five times those of West Germany and eight times those of Japan.

I wonder, Bob, if you ever thought of what is going to happen when two out of three farmers leave the farm. These farm organizations are bickering among themselves and try their best to keep farmers divided, because that is the advantage of huge corporations, chain stores and others interested in making a profit on the farmers' loss.

ALL IS PLANNED for the future. Can you grasp what this will mean for the future when there is no more family farms, just a few corporations to control it? What do you suppose these corporations will charge for food then?

Sincerely,
 CARL HERBERT

City improving water plan in 1889, too

I HAVE BEEN reading in the April 8 issue of the Clinton County News about the vast improvement plan which is being carried on in our city. It is quite a coincidence that I ran across an item that could be compared to this account.

I was reading in an old paper which, by the way, is marked First Year—Number 1, sample copy to all, and dated Sept. 6, 1889, and it is about a similar water improvement program.

UNDER THE heading of "news-lets," it states, "Work on the new waterworks is progressing in a satisfactory manner, and Supt. Fildev thinks they will be

It's easier to get mixed up this year in Lansing

Things seem more loused up in the Legislature this year than usual. This is probably not the case. It is just that there are more things to be mixed up about, so the confusion looks worse.

A record number of bills was introduced, more than could be properly processed if legislators worked until Christmas, then took half that day off. Most of these bills will lie in committees to be considered next year, but probably to die.

THE BASIC issue is the measure of the governor's strength measured against that of the opposition Democratic party. Democrats have the power to push anything through the Legislature they wish. Leaders understand party discipline very well and know how to exercise it.

The only thing which keeps them from writing their own ticket completely is the threat of a governor veto. It takes two-thirds of the elected members of each house to override such a veto. Even if the votes can be mustered, the time element can delay or defeat vetoed measures.

WATCH THE jockeying in efforts to reorganize state government. This is a basically important issue and one which can be important for a long time, once resolved. If the Legislature does not come up with a plan to group all the state's boards and commissions under 20 or fewer departments by Dec. 31, the Governor can proceed with his own plan.

The balance here means that Gov. Romney can get some of what he wants, even though the Democrats don't want to give it, in return for not vetoing the arrangement of the Democratic legislature approves. On the other hand, if he demands what the Democrats think is too much, they will take their changes with a veto and seek to rearrange legislatively whatever the governor puts into effect after Jan. 1.

Michigan's habit of electing a legislature dominated by one party and a governor from the other may reduce efficiency of party politics, but it also sets up a built-in check to keep things from moving too fast.

UNIQUE EFFORTS in medical progress are being seen at an increasing pace and Michigan is in the news of these advances nearly as much as any other single state.

One of the efforts now under way is a process to restore hearing or delay deafness through added knowledge of the courses of ear diseases and disorders.

Michigan has two of only 300 facilities in the nation participating in the Temporal Bone Banks Programs for Ear Research, sponsored by the Deafness Research Foundation.

OPERATING on a basis similar to the eye banks now located throughout the country, the Michigan ear "banks" are in Ann Arbor and Detroit.

Contributions of the inner ear after death to the program allow research which cannot be conducted otherwise because the nature of this portion of the body prevents its examination in a living human.

In Michigan, the ear bank program is being coordinated by the Association for Better Hearing in East Lansing, but doctors specializing in ear surgery also can provide information on the donor program.

BIGGER AND bigger state government is more than just a saying in Lansing this year. The bigness has been applied in the Legislature to its own operations first, before agency budget requests were even formally before it. There is no indication yet whether the legislature's generosity with state funds will spill over into budget considerations. On every floor of the capitol can be seen offices with new carpeting and other furnishings where the legislature expanded its facilities and moved previous occupants to other, rented quarters.

STAFF SIZE has been increased by several factors. One was the lack of experienced Democratic supporters available to run the intricate legislative process.

Many Republican appointees in House and Senate patronage posts were kept on, but given assistants from Democratic constituencies where previously only one person handled the job. The GOP appointees are scheduled to be relieved as soon as the assistants learn their duties.

Legislators seemed to suddenly become image conscious this year. Funds were made available for both sides to hire high-priced public relations personnel.

SALARIES WERE upgraded in several posts to meet the demands of individuals who were sought to fill the jobs.

The question of whether this bigger government will also produce better government still remains to be seen. Estimated cost to date is nearly $1.5 million over and above what was appropriated last year for 1965-66 fiscal year legislative operations.

OK new pipeline through county

A new 12-inch gas transmission pipeline across southwest Clinton County has been authorized by the State Public Service Commission.

There was also the same problems for parents that face them now. I read where an Ovid resident placed a note in that paper stating he thought parents ought to know where their children were as evening comes on, as he was sure there were more becoming places for girls than on the platform at the depot to watch the trains come in.

BY THE WAY, this paper was printed in their office at State and Spring streets. The price was four months for 25 cents, or 75 cents a year. There were 8,000 of the first copy.

An ad in this paper states the Detroit Free Press sold four months for 45 cents. The champion corn husker could husk 175 bushels in a day. It states that "a letter can now go around the world in 60 days."

COUNTRY FLAVOR

The green tide tells man certainties still prevail

HAYDEN PEARSON

Toward the end of April there comes a day when one suddenly realizes the bleached gray and drab brown have disappeared and the land is green again. The green tide comes slowly some years. It arrives almost overnight if a period of warm days and steady rain blesses the land.

One morning, crossing the farmyard to the barn, the green fields shine in the slanting rays. It may have been nearly a month ago when one noticed the first ripples of the tide. Along the south side of the woodlot a tinge of new color was mixed with the brown. Then the first thin strands were woven along the brook banks.

NOW, SUDDENLY, the countryside is green. The upland pasture has new color and the meadow mowings are glowing with a soft sheen. Lawns are green carpets and a man knows he has a summer's work ahead. The Master Planner has waved his wand and a new season is here.

Each has favorite signs to tell him when true spring has arrived. The heart is hungry for the resurrection and glad of the affirmation of a promise that has never failed. There is the music of birds at dawn and the opening of buds on the bough.

IN A WORLD of seething tension, ruthlessness and greed, it is sometimes difficult to anchor one's belief to the verities. But as Year moves toward the fifth month and the green tide sweeps over the countryside, a man knows that the certainties still prevail.

John blows out candle on his first birthday cake

BY PATRICIA HOLMES

One year ago, on the morning of April 27, a baby was born in Clinton Memorial Hospital. He was unique in the sense that there was not another baby exactly like him in the world and he was average in physical, mental and emotional terms.

He weighed 7 pounds and 4 ounces and measured 19-1/2 inches long. He reacted to the needs of sleep and food, little more.

His father, Larry Karber, owner of a block and tile company in St. Johns and his mother, who cares for three other children, Sharon, 5; Dean, 4; and Janis, 20 months; live at 817 Church Street.

the living room floor. Pulling pots and pans out of the cupboards is nothing new to him. But fitting the right lid on the right pot is a new challenge which he's begun to tackle, as is stacking blocks.

SELF-FEEDING appeals to the 12-monther because he can eat what he likes and throw the rest on the floor.

"Johnny can feed himself eggs quite well," Sharon said. His mother said he tends to like the food that he can feed himself.

"He liked the lollipops that the Easter Bunny brought him," she said, "and can handle them pretty well. Generally, he can eat everything but his meat."

Johnny's vocabulary is limited to two words, mama and dada, but he has never had a communication problem and still doesn't. He fussed when he wanted his bottle at 6 months and now, his mother said, he gets what he wants through his facial expressions.

His shorter morning and afternoon naps have been combined into one, 5-hour nap.

NEVER afraid of strangers, Johnny was generally good natured.

Winter colds, inoculation after-effects and teething put a premium on a baby's smiles and since Johnny is teething now he needs his bottle to maintain both a good disposition and his diet, Mrs Karber said.

"He hardly ate anything for about two weeks," she said, so it's necessary that he keeps his bottle a little longer.

Although Johnny's little body probably will never undergo as many changes in the period of one year again, he still has a long way to go and a lot to learn for the growing and learning processes never end.

Suggests discretion in nylon zipper use

BY BETTY KETCHAM
Comm'y Extension Agent
Home Economics

Nylon zippers are used most advantageously in heat-sensitive fabrics and in areas of little strain.

This conclusion is the result of a research problem conducted by Judy Stam, extension specialist in textiles, clothing and related arts at Michigan State University.

Nylon zippers were designed to be light-weight, self-healing and flexible. They can be dyed a multitude of colors, making them more attractive to consumers. They are also warmer to the touch.

Mrs Stam suggests that the consumer exercise discretion when using the nylon zipper. Her study lists several disadvantages which should be considered.

The fasteners have a low melting point. Therefore, a pressing cloth is necessary if the fasteners are used in fabrics requiring a hotter heat than is needed to press nylon.

NYLON zippers also have a tendency to separate under strain. The coils may become distorted while ironing if handled while still warm or if too much pressure is applied.

When applying a nylon zipper, the stitching line must be followed carefully to avoid loosening the coil. The wider head may also necessitate a wider seam at the top.

Mrs Stam suggests:

1. Close zipper before washing, dry cleaning, ironing or pressing.
2. Treat as a synthetic fabric.
3. Use a press cloth if fabric requires a heat hotter than nylon.
4. Lubricate surface of zipper with beeswax or its equivalent if it becomes dry and difficult to operate after laundry or dry cleaning.
5. General rule: Use minimum heat with minimum pressure for a minimum time when pressing.

MAY 4, is Home Economic Extension Day. This year's theme is "Know Your Country."

The Senior Citizens Rhythm Band, The First Nighters and the Clintonaires will furnish entertainment throughout the day.

Dr Arthur Mauch, agricultural economist, from MSU will discuss "Michigan, Today and Tomorrow." Mauch is the writer of a column in the Michigan Farmer and works with Human Resource Development.

He will speak at 1:30 p.m. Everyone is invited to come and look into the future with him.

New dessert taste for all occasions

Desserts set the stage for leisurely talk and relaxation, the happy ending to a meal. Desserts may be simple, of fruit and cheese, to climax an elaborate feast, or may be a wonderfully fancy feature with a flair to cap a light meal or afternoon tea.

One favorite quite simple to make, yet rich and satisfying to the palate, is this Sour Cream Raisin Cookie Pie. The crust you'll find in your grocer's dairy case in the form of a roll of refrigerated butterscotch nut cookies. Sliced, arranged in a pie plate and baked, they make a crisp, sweet base for the sour cream and raisin filling. The wonder-working raisin used here, comes from a can of raisin pie filling. This pie, however, is one you'll serve often. It's certain to win a place in everyone's affections, no matter how many times it appears.

SOUR CREAM RAISIN COOKIE PIE
 1 roll refrigerated butterscotch nut cookies
 1 can (2 1/2 cups) raisin pie filling

1/2 c. dairy sour cream
 1 egg, slightly beaten
 1/4 tsp. cinnamon
 Lightly grease and sugar the bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie pan. Cut cookie dough into slices 1/8-inch thick. Line bottom and sides of a pan with cookie slices, overlapping slightly to form a scalloped edge (use about 1/2 roll). Bake at 375 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes, until light golden brown. Cool.

Combine pie filling, sour cream, egg and cinnamon in saucepan. Cook until thickened, stirring occasionally. Cool; spoon into cookie crust. Chill until firm, about 2 hours. Makes 9-inch pie.

East DeWitt, Park Lake churches plan conference

The East DeWitt Bible Church and Lakeside Chapel of Park Lake will co-sponsor a missionary conference from Wednesday, May 5, through Sunday, May 9. The sessions begin each evening at 7:30 p.m. with the Keener Team and Rev Lewis Wood.

Mr and Mrs B. Lehman Keener are deputation secretaries for the Unevangelized Fields Mission and were former missionaries in Haiti for nearly eight years. Rev Lewis Wood has taught in the Union Bible Institute, Natal, South Africa, with the Africa Evangelical Fellowship.

THE KEENER team has a unique method of presenting the work of contemporary missions. They use such innovations as dramatic presentations and audio-visual materials, attempting to make the cultures of people in other lands more meaningful to Americans and explaining what Christian missions are doing.

While in the two churches they will inform youth about current youth problems in the various mission fields. One of the highlights of the conference will be a "Teen Rendezvous" Friday evening at the East DeWitt church when the Keeners will be demonstrating by a number of techniques what teenagers are like in other cultures. Preceding this presentation the Rev Mr Wood will show a recent film on the work of Christian education in the Union Bible Institute in Natal.

ANOTHER highlight of the missionary conference will be a ladies' tea on Thursday, May 6, at 2 p.m. with Mrs Keener as the speaker. The host church for this tea will be Lakeside Chapel. The women's societies of the following churches have been invited to the tea: East DeWitt Bible, Bath Baptist, Bath Methodist, Chapel Hill Methodist, and Laingsburg Baptist.

The conference will conclude May 9 with the Rev Mr Wood speaking to the Sunday school at the East DeWitt Bible Church and at the morning worship service at Lakeside Chapel. The Keeners will conduct a joint assembly of the Sunday school at Lakeside Chapel and speak at the morning service at East DeWitt Bible Church.

The nursery and toddler rooms at both churches will be open for all services during the missionary conference.

C of C has new brochures handy

Additional brochures for free distribution to residence have been received by the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce. These are: "A Playtime Guidebook" to counties located in Eastern Michigan; a brochure on the points of interest in Eastern Michigan; and an accommodations and attractions booklet put out by the Michigan State Tourist Council.

Mrs Betty Jane Minsky, secretary-manager of the Chamber, stated the brochures received previously have met with wide acceptance and that people were beginning to stop in at the Chamber of Commerce office at 222 N. Clinton Avenue to pick them up. She reminded readers that the new 1965 Michigan State Highway maps are in.

Fog, rain and snow were NOT major causes of highway accidents in 1964 that claimed 48,000 lives. About 90 per cent of the crashes occurred in clear weather on dry roads, according to an authoritative survey just released.

Jayceettes plan Soap Box Derby queen contest here

Clinton area folks will have an opportunity this year to choose a queen to share in the festivities of the Soap Box Derby June 20.

The St. Johns Jayceettes are sponsoring a Soap Box Derby Queen Contest, in which girls between the ages of 11 and 15 will have from now until May 12 to enter. The chosen queen and her court of four other girls will have a place of honor in the parade preceding the Derby.

FINAL SELECTION of the queen will be done by county residents through 5-cent donations to the Michigan Assn. for Emotionally Disturbed Children, a major project of Jayceette chapters throughout the state.

The public will vote on 10 girls selected by a St. Johns Jayceette committee that will screen and judge essays on "The Value of Being Soap Box Derby Queen." The essay is required of all girls entering the contest and must have a minimum of 25 words.

MRS MICHAEL Ludwick, Mrs William McCarthy and Mrs John Martin are in charge of the contest, but all 15 members of the Jayceettes will be helping in the selection of the 10 best essays. They'll be judged on originality, sincerity, etc.

The accompanying entry blank is the official registration form for the contest and will be found only in this week's and next week's issues of the Clinton County News. Parents must sign the entry blank, and a photograph of the entrant should be attached.

THE BLANK, photograph and essay must be sent to Mrs Ludwick by May 12, the deadline for entry. Judging of the essays will be done in the days immediately following the deadline, and the 10 winners will be announced at the Michigan Week luncheon for the visiting exchange mayor May 17.

From then on, the Clinton area public will make the decision on who will be queen. A half-dozen or more canisters will be placed in business houses around St. Johns and the county. Each will have the pictures of the 10 chosen girls and each will have 10 partitions where money may be dropped in. Votes will be counted at one for each 5 cents donated.

PUBLIC VOTING will begin May 19. The girl who receives the most votes will be named queen, and the next four, ac-ording to number of votes, will make up the queen's court.

The queen will be crowned the day of the Soap Box Derby and will ride in the pre-race parade on the Jaycee float. She'll also attend, with her parents, the banquet following the race.

"THE CONTEST will be serving two purposes," Mrs Ludwick, general chairman of the contest, said. "First, it's a community project and will give the girls an important part in the Derby events. And second, it will aid our statewide MAEDC project."

The Jayceettes in the state sponsor the costs of boarding emotionally disturbed children in other homes after their release from hospitals or children's home. Each local chapter contributes money toward the state project, which has been carried out by the Michigan Jayceettes for three years now.

"THIS IS A place where we feel we can do some good," Mrs McCarthy, local chapter president, said. "Emotionally disturbed children differ from retarded in that they more often can be rehabilitated. Through our cooperation with the Michigan Assn. for Emotionally Disturbed Children, we feel we are helping straighten out young people who have problems and are giving them a better chance in life.

"All money given in the voting for the queen will be used for MAEDC, so all persons voting can share in helping the emotionally disturbed."

None of the voting money will be used for expenses in the contest; that will come out of the treasury of the local Jayceettes.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

REP. LESTER J. ALLEN of Ithaca, 89th District

The Legislature has moved past the midway mark in its deliberations, and nothing meaningful has been considered in the area of the state budget and general appropriation measures.

Considering the lateness of the session and the rapidly approaching new fiscal year, this situation could develop into a disaster. By this time last session, the House had already acted upon and passed appropriations. If the majority party does not begin some serious study soon, the House will be forced to act upon this all-important legislation without sufficient consideration and preparation.

This inaction on the budget is a result of the majority party's decision to kill Governor Romney's budget bills in order to pass new spending programs before providing for general services. Republicans contend this is contrary to the intent of the new Constitution. The state's revenues will be expended before provision has been made for the regular budget of all the State agencies serving the people of Michigan.

THIS WEEK the Senate passed a bill changing the Workmen's Compensation Act which provides that every employer is now subject to payment of medical and surgical benefits for each person in his employ. In addition, all employers having three or more employees are subject to weekly compensation benefit payments which range from a minimum of $75 per week to employees with one dependent, or 2/3 of the employee's wages (whichever is the lesser) to a minimum of $95 per week to those with five dependents, or 2/3 of the employee's wages (whichever is the lesser). In case of total disability, payments are increased to $100 per week.

NOTE: Agricultural employees now come under this Act effective May 1, 1966.

Republicans in the House hope to amend this bill (S. B. 114) and I will certainly work to have agricultural employees exempted, although, outnumbered as we are, I am not optimistic about my chances of success.

REPUBLICANS are further deeply concerned because this bill boosts compensation insurance costs for injured workers to the employer almost 50 per cent and such an exorbitant increase will tax Michigan industry to such an extent that our state can no longer be competitive with comparable, surrounding states in attracting new industry. Needed new jobs will not be available and physical standards will be set so high that many persons will be excluded from employment which they might otherwise secure. S. B. 114, in its present form, does not meet the standard of equity for injured employees, potential employees, industry, and the general economic growth of the State of Michigan.

Board OKs $880 for Woodhaven

Payment of $880 for services rendered by the Woodhaven School to eight retarded children from Clinton County was authorized by the county board of supervisors last Thursday.

The payment is half of what was requested by the Woodhaven School for tuition and summer program for the Clinton County youths. The school is in Watertown Township and is operated by the Greater Lansing Assn. for Retarded Children. It works with children mostly beyond school age in Clinton, Ingham and Eaton counties.

THE COUNTY board's education committee, headed by Maurice Gove of Bingham and including Lorenz Tiedt of St. Johns and George Moore of DuPlain, visited the school recently on invitation. Gove reported to the board Thursday and recommended that the county pick up the cost of tuition ($200 for each child) plus $160 for the summer program.

This totaled $1,760, representing the amount due from Clinton County families for the training of the mentally retarded youngsters. He said it was felt that the $200 a year for each child at the school was far cheaper than the expense of likely sending the children to a state institution if the school was not operating.

GOVE's motion to pay the full $1,760 that had been billed was amended so as to pay half the amount, and the amended motion was passed for $880.

Zing into spring! Chevrolet Impala

Chevrolet Impala Super Sport Coupe—one of two bucket-seated beauties for '65.

People who buy other big expensive-looking cars get one thing you won't (big expensive-looking payments)

It looks like a big car. And is—by almost any standard you want to apply. Width? Nobody builds a car as much as one inch wider. Length? It grew three inches this year. Roominess? Every closed model's got three inches more shoulder room, front and rear, and more leg and foot room up front too. Luxury? Nice little touches like the look of mellow walnut across the Impala's instrument panel. And big touches. Like the fineness of the same Body by Fisher workmanship that makes some of America's most expensive cars look so expensive. How about the ride? Chevrolet engineers took the Jet-smooth one and smoothed it out even more this year. Also made it more stable by widening the wheel stance. Price? That's where Chevrolets fall way short of the other big expensive-looking cars. But we wouldn't have it any other way. Would you?

One last question: How soon can you make a good spring buy on a Chevrolet? One last answer: Just as soon as you can get down to your Chevrolet dealer's.

Science hopes to find cure before new corn virus hits Michigan

Midwest corn fields are being damaged by a new virus disease. But scientists here hope to find a "cure" before the disease gets to Michigan.

Elmer Rossman, Michigan State University crop scientist, reports that corn dwarf mosaic accounted for a loss of at least 5 million bushels of corn in Ohio in 1964. Conceivably, the disease could move into Michigan—even though it hasn't been found here yet—and Rossman and his colleagues want to be ready for it.

HE IS CURRENTLY working on what he calls the "best solution" for stopping the disease in its tracks: the development of resistant hybrids.

"On the basis of 1964 corn breeding trials conducted in Ohio, Mississippi and Kentucky, several sources of resistance appear promising," he says. "But most of the material rated as 'resistant' is too late in maturity for Michigan. This can be corrected, however, by crossing these late maturing resistant varieties with early maturing materials."

ROSSMAN notes that a number of crosses of early maturing Michigan inbreds were made with late virus resistant inbreds in his Florida winter corn breeding research nursery this past winter. These will be ready for evaluation and further breeding work this summer in a virus research nursery near Portsmouth, Ohio—one of the centers of corn virus infection.

Last winter, more than 1,000 inbreds and hybrids were given virus resistance tests on seedling plants in the greenhouse by Dr. A. J. Ullstoup, USDA scientist working out of Purdue University. Rated as highly resistant in these tests was Michigan 550, a variety released for certified seed production which will be available to Michigan farmers for the 1966 planting season.

"RESISTANCE of Michigan 550 and other hybrids needs to be rechecked under field conditions in the virus nursery this summer before we can recommend the hybrid as virus resistant," comments Rossman.

The MSU crop scientist is also advising Michigan farmers to keep a lookout for the disease this year. Farmers should begin checking their corn fields starting a month after the crop emerges.

"IF SYMPTOMS develop, the farmers should contact their county extension agents," says Rossman. "Suspected plants will then be sent to MSU for diagnosis to determine if the dwarf mosaic virus is present."

There are several symptoms of dwarf corn mosaic which can be easily recognized:

1. A faint light yellow streaking on leaves 30 days after the crop emerges.
2. REDDISH purple color of the leaves develops later.
3. Stunting or dwarfing of the plant to one-third to one-half normal height.
4. Several ear buds on a node, or ear buds developing at several nodes. (Silking may be delayed or completely lacking, producing poor grain fill and lower yields.)
5. Increased shank length; tendency to develop more "suckers" and "flag leaves."

6. BRACE ROOTS developing at several nodes above the soil line.

7. There are indications that infected plants may be more susceptible to stalk rot in the fall of the year.

Rossman points out that dwarf corn mosaic is transmitted by the corn leaf aphid. Further research may show that other species of aphids and other insects may also be possible disease transmitters.

THE MSUCROP scientist plans to study about 150 to 200 hybrids in the virus research nursery in Ohio to find varieties resistant to corn dwarf mosaic. He's optimistic that resistant varieties can be found in time to keep the disease from becoming a serious threat to Michigan's corn crop.

The virus disease was first discovered in California in 1942 and in Texas in 1945. A serious outbreak of the disease was reported in Yazoo County, Miss., in 1962. It spread to 12 counties in southern Ohio in 1963 and to all but six counties in 1964.

"THIS GIVES GOOD evidence that the disease can spread rapidly," reports Rossman. "Some farmers in Mississippi, Arkansas and Missouri have been forced to quit growing corn entirely.

"That's why we hope to have resistant varieties before the disease becomes a problem in Michigan."

Oat yields may suffer from corn weed control residues

Simazine and atrazine help keep weeds down in corn, but they sometimes take their toll in oat yields the following crop year.

K. P. Buchholtz, a weed control specialist at the University of Wisconsin, has just completed a five-year study to determine the effects of various crop management practices on expected crop injury from herbicide residues in the soil. The results of this study should prove helpful to farmers now planning their planting operations.

ALTHOUGH his results come from experiments on oats, the same factors apply to other sensitive crops such as wheat, peas, beans, soybeans and some legume forages which may follow corn in the rotation. Buchholtz's experiments were conducted on loam soil.

The rate of application of either simazine or atrazine is a most important factor in cutting oat yields. The normal rate of two pounds per acre of the chemical on corn reduced the yield of oats the next year by an average of 19 per cent. Applying four pounds per acre of either of the chemicals on corn cut the oat yield 62 per cent the following year.

AN APPLICATION of one pound per acre in corn caused only a slight reduction in oat yields the following year, and this occurred in only one case out of 12.

Buchholtz suggests that farmers might make lighter applications of the chemical and sacrifice some weed control in corn to reduce oat injury the following year. At lighter rates, timing of the applications is more important. One timely corn cultivation will generally take care of weeds not controlled by the herbicide.

BUCHHOLTZ also found that granular applications of either of the herbicides rather than the wettable powder form left larger residues in the soil and caused more injury to oats the following year.

The kind of soil tillage makes a difference in the injury of oats. Some farmers don't plow but disc the corn stubble and plant in the disced seed bed. Buchholtz found that oats planted following plowing showed less injury than oats on fields which were disced in fall and spring without being plowed.

SOME FARMERS apply weed chemicals before planting corn (pre-emergence). Others put them on after the corn is up (post-emergence). Post-emergence treatments have one month less time for the chemical to break down in the soil. As might be expected, post-emergence treatments caused more injury to oats the following year because of less chemical breakdown.

Soil and air temperatures also influence the amount of injury oats will suffer when simazine or atrazine residues are left in the soil. Oats have more injury when the previous year was cool or dry. Warm soils stimulate the kind of soil bacteria that break down herbicide residues. Moisture in the soil also creates ideal conditions for breakdown.

WARM AIR temperatures may stimulate faster movement of water from the soil through the oat plant and out into the air. This rapid transpiration moves the harmful chemical residues through the plant faster and may increase oat injury.

Buchholtz confirmed the knowledge that some oat varieties are more sensitive than others to chemical injury. He says that the Portage, Beedee and Fayette varieties of oats are the most sensitive to chemical residues. Farmers who plant Minhafer and Garland oats can expect less injury from chemical residues.

Government Day top Michigan Week feature

Michigan's annual observance of "Our Government Day" will take place on Monday of Michigan Week with attention being focused on government at all levels in St. Johns and Clinton County.

Michigan Week, May 16-22, gives communities an opportunity to feature some aspect of social and economic life on each day. A highlight of Government Day will be the annual exchange of mayors and village presidents with more than 300 communities participating. St. Johns will exchange with Deckerville on this day.

MAIN OBJECTIVE of the day is to acquaint all citizens with local, county and state government, its officials, functions and services. Programs vary in different communities due to size and facilities. Open house and guided tours of all municipal facilities is advocated.

Many state institutions hold open house on this day, or on some other day such as Tuesday, "Hospitality Day," when state police posts are traditionally open to the public.

STUDENTS and other citizens should attend sessions of their government such as meetings of the board of supervisors, village

Win Land Judging Contest

The Clinton County Soil Conservation District's land judging contest was held recently on the Miller Brothers farm at Shepardsville and Wildcat roads, with a team from Elsie High School winning. In upper photo, Loren VanOstran, district director, presents a trophy to the team, made up of Dean Acre, Carl Moore and Jim Rivest. Following Elsie were Pewamo-Westphalia, Ovid, St. Johns and Bath. At right, Rivest receives a pen and pencil set as the high individual scorer. He was followed by Carl Moore of Elsie, Greg Price of Ovid and Phillip Thelen of Pewamo-Westphalia. Junior directors of the district made arrangements for the contest. Papers were corrected by vocational agricultural instructors under the direction of George McQueen, Extension agent. Land area pits were developed by Karl Pregitzer, Soil Conservation Service soil scientist.

Crabgrass takes a backseat

Yes, lawn lovers, there are grasses tougher than crabgrass. And they're called fine fescues.

"Anyone looking for a rough, tough, enduring companion to Kentucky bluegrass for the really tough spots of shade and poor soil should consider these fescues," reports Carter M. Harrison, Michigan State University crop scientist. "Not even crabgrass can hold up as well."

"Crabgrass likes good soil and has to have sun. Fertilizer meant for the lawn is just the addition to make crabgrass grow faster."

"BUT WITH the fine fescues—varieties such as Chewings, Creeping Red, Illahee and Penn-lawn—poor soil, drought and shade are taken in stride."

Harrison explains that fine fescue is probably the one component of a lawn seed blend that really takes hold under the trees where there is not much moisture and the tree gets first crack at fertilizer.

"The better lawn seed mixtures combine fine fescues and blue-grasses for a winning combination that eliminates all the niches in a lawn," says Harrison. "The fine fescues are especially important for the so-called 'shade mixtures'."

RECENT research has shown that fine fescues sprout fast, have seedling vigor, make a stand quickly and thrive in low fertilized areas.

"But they are not at their best where summers turn really hot, especially if they are mowed close," reminds Harrison. "But for the northern half of the country, it's hard to find a better companion for Kentucky bluegrass than fine fescue."

Damaged seed coats costly to bean growers

Damaged seed coats cost Michigan field bean growers as much as one-half million dollars during some years, says a Michigan State University farm crops specialist.

does low moisture. Beans containing 17-18 per cent moisture are quite tough and not easily damaged, but beans containing less than 15 per cent moisture are highly susceptible to injury.

"Checked beans are a major problem some years and the exact damage depends on moisture conditions at harvest," says Milt Erdmann.

Although checked seed coats are damaged at harvest, variety selection and date of planting can help curb unnecessary losses.

SPECIAL care is needed with early varieties as low relative humidity found during August easily damages beans. "Growers should consider planting early varieties so they mature in September when the possibility of checked coats is lower," adds Wayne Adams, crops scientist.

WHILE checked coats remain on the bean, the check or break is visible to the naked eye. Beans with checked seed coats are undesirable because of the possibility that more serious damage is likely to occur later. Checked beans generally split further with handling which influences the acceptance of canning beans besides indicating poor germination in seed beans.

Threshing too hard, dropping and banging beans in loading or unloading causes bean damage as Susceptibility to seed coat damage also differs among varieties. California red kidney beans—selected specifically for that area—are especially susceptible to checking and should be avoided by Michigan growers. They also mature 10 days later than Michigan dark red kidneys.

MICHIGAN GROWERS should plant Michigan certified Charlevoix red kidney seed or western certified seed of the Michigan red kidney type, says Erdmann.

The Agricultural Conservation Program, which began in 1936, is an important part of a coordinated effort to help farmers attain soil conservation objectives. The total effort includes, research, education, technical assistance, cost-sharing, and such indirect aids as credit.

The Agricultural Conservation Program operates as a farmer-government partnership by providing a share of the cost of approved soil, water, woodland, and wildlife conservation practices.

The share provided by the government is an evidence of the interest of all the nation's people in insuring supplies of agricultural products.

ACP ASSISTANCE is made available for conservation over and above what farmers would carry out with their own resources and on their own initiative. The assistance may be in the form of financial aid or materials, or services to obtain the needed conservation.

With the population expansion that is predicted for the future, everyone should do all the soil, water and erosion conservation they can.

OUR ASC County Committee urges all farmers to carry out much-needed conservation this year, such as permanent vegetative cover, green manure, winter cover the liming materials on farmland.

We know there is a lot of conservation that farmers do at their own expense, but for the farmers who do need assistance to carry out conservation practice we suggest you contact your county or community committeeman for information about different practices. You will have to contact the ASC county office at 100 South Ottawa Street, St. Johns, Mich. in person or by phone and make request for assistance before you start a practice to be eligible for assistance.

Dairymen told to feed cows to full potential

"Many lactating dairy cows are grossly underfed in early lactation and overfed in late lactation.

"A cow will never reach her potential for high milk production unless she's fed enough," claims a Michigan State University dairy scientist.

L. D. Brown points out the feeding high levels of grain to lactating dairy cows "does not necessarily guarantee high milk production." Cows must have the genetic potential to respond to high energy feeding.

IF AN ANIMAL has this potential, says Brown, she should not be "short changed" at feeding time. He points to recent MSU studies which emphasize the importance of "adequate feeding" in early lactation.

"In the first study, cows fed extra grain from 45 days after calving until the end of lactation produced considerably more milk than similar cows fed normal levels of grain," he reports.

"We then conducted a second study to determine how long extra grain should be fed in a lactation to obtain maximum milk production response. We found out that cows fed free grain for only the first 45 days of lactation produced just as much milk as cows fed free choice grain for the entire period."

BROWN says that milk composition did not appear to be affected by the level of grain fed. This has led to the recommendation that maximum milk production can be obtained by feeding high grain levels early in the lactation and then decreasing the energy level as lactation progresses.

Brown recommends the following feeding plan to get high milk production and profit:

— Feed free choice the best quality hay or silage available to all cows.

— Feed sufficient grain to keep cows in good state of flesh during the dry period.

— APPROXIMATELY two weeks before calving, begin increasing the grain at rates sufficient to have the cows consuming 18-20 lbs. of grain per day at the time of calving.

— After calving, gradually increase grain until the cow reaches maximum milk production or appetite. Then reduce grain to lowest possible level without influencing milk production.

— As lactation progresses, decrease grain following the decline in milk production.

"THIS method of feeding challenges each cow to her maximum production and thus provides the dairyman with the necessary information for a strict culling program," contends Brown.

Dow Anhydrous Ammonia: Lowest cost form of nitrogen in the field.

The reason is, anhydrous ammonia gives you far more nitrogen per pound than any other nitrogen fertilizer. Which means it takes far less DOW ANHYDROUS AMMONIA to do the job than it does with any other form of nitrogen fertilizer. If you're planting corn on corn, it will take 150 to 200 pounds of nitrogen per acre to decay the old stalks and still have the nitrogen you need for high yields. Supply this nitrogen with DOW ANHYDROUS AMMONIA and you may save $6 to $8 an acre. And boost crop yield quality and feed grain protein content while you do it.

It's so long-lasting one application is all you need. See us today for details. And save some money for a change.

By Elizabeth Millman This is National Library Week. The keys again used as a symbol, and their slogan this year is "Open Your Future, READ." This is the week to make a special effort to visit your library. It is also our WEEK, as we are combining our Silver Anniversary celebration with it. As this is written it is too early to know how many of our good friends visited us at our Open House on Sunday but we hope that many of you did so. WE ARE deeply appreciative to the Clinton County News for the full page of pictures and articles telling our story. The library is a community project and it needs the support of all of you. Your librarians had the opportunity to visit two other libraries this week. On Wednesday afternoon we attended a council meeting for the Ingham County Library system at Mason of which we are now members, and on Thursday morning the meeting of District Two of the Michigan Library Assn. THIS WAS held in the new Lansing Public Library. Both of these libraries are spacious and uncrowded. The Lansing City Library is the result of many years of work and planning. The builders have planned well for future expansion. We hope that such plans will soon materialize for the expansion of the Bement Library. Taylor Caldwell, author of many successful novels, has taken her readers back to the time of Caesar and Pompeii in her latest, "A Pillar of Iron." The hero is Cicero, with many other vivid characters of history peopling its pages. The author has done a most painstaking job of research, even translating hundreds of the letters of Cicero in the Vatican Library. ALISTAIR Maclean's novel, "The Guns of Navarone" was published originally in 1956. It was made into a very exciting movie. It is now back in hard cover print by popular demand. This is the story of five men who were chosen to silence the guns that controlled the approaches to the eastern Mediterranean island of Kheros. A British garrison on the island had to be evacuated. To reach the guns walls of rock had to be scaled. It is very exciting reading. Supervisors differ, but board finally endorses new park

Individual supervisors were divided on the question, but the county board last Thursday went on record favoring and encouraging the establishment of a state recreation area southeast of St. Johns. Supervisor Don Clark of St. Johns brought the matter up when he said he thought it was too bad the board did not express their enthusiasm for the project to the Conservation Department when its representatives presented the plan April 13. HE CALLED for a resolution supporting and approving the plan. It eventually passed by a vote of 13-6 after a half-hour or more of discussion. Voting against such a resolution by the board were Supervisors Raymond Mayers of Bengal, Maurice Gove of Bingham, William Hufnagel of Dallas, Claude Underhill of Victor, Ernest Carter of Watertown and Walter Thelen of Westphalia. The Conservation Department's plans are for a 2,698-acre park in Ovid and Victor townships, including a 550-acre lake. The park would be bounded by Shepardsville Road on the west, Taft Road on the north, Jason and Price Road on the south. The eastern boundary of the park would be about halfway between Upton and Hollister roads. THE PARK WOULD take in all of Section 34 and part of Section 35 in Ovid Township, and all of Sections 3 and 10 and parts of Sections 2 and 11 in Victor Township. Supervisors of Victor and Ovid Townships were asked their opinions prior to the voting. George Austin of Ovid said he thought the people there are accepting the fact that the park is going in. He said some are, of course, reluctant to sell, but they felt it was a reality and there would not be serious opposition. Austin said he felt the park would be an asset. CLAUDE UNDERHILL, Victor's supervisor, said he didn't think the roads in the area were adequate and he thought it would take considerable in county funds to make them so to handle the amount of traffic anticipated. He said he had reservations about the plan until he knew more about it. Underhill said he couldn't see where the park would benefit the county directly, particularly since it would be taking away some of the county's tax base. Derrill Shinabery of Greenbush commented that he had sympathy for those who would be uprooted, but for the general good of the county he said he thought the park was worthy of the board's endorsement. Gerald Shepard of Bath pointed out that while tax money would be lost on buildings, the state still pays taxes on the land, and so the whole tax base would not be lost. CHARLES COLETTA of St. Johns volunteered the thought that with a universal increase in spare time and decrease in working time, more people would have more time for recreation, and the proximity of such a recreation area to St. Johns and the whole county would be extremely valuable. Young drivers, those under 25 years of age, continue to have the worst driving record. In 1964 they were involved in 29 per cent of the accidents that resulted in 48,000 traffic deaths while accounting for only 15 per cent of the driving population.

Highway shoulder project scheduled

Bids on highway construction projects totaling more than $11 million will be opened in Lansing May 11, and one of the projects estimated at $80,000 concerns US-27 in Clinton and Gratiot counties. The Clinton portion is prime and double seal coats on shoulders on US - 27 from St. Johns north to the Gratiot County line. Non-skid surface treatment on each outside shoulder on US-27 from 2.2 miles south of Rhaca north to the Isabella County line rounds out the project.

Farmer Peck's Wife

Homespun Philosophy of a Duplain Township Housewife

A 23-year-old Oleander tree for Farmer Peck

Funny, isn't it, how we have something that means a lot to us that doesn't make much sense to anyone else?

But just why does there have to be a rhyme or a reason for everything?

How about having something you like "just because"?

THAT IS the category in which our oleander tree has been for years. Or at least the family thought that was the reason for having it around. Because Mom wanted it . . . even though the big goofy thing made living almost un-navigable at times.

Well, the oleander tree is like a lot of things. Keep it long enough and it will come into style.

Big, goofy plants are in style. My tree has come into its own. No one feels like kicking it out now. It receives compliments galore. Many have even wished they had one like it.

HOW ABOUT that! Don't things like that make you grin all over in spite of trying to keep a straight face? Oh, boy, life surely is funny.

There are 35 big fragrant flowers on it. Besides there are many buds. It is almost unbelievable to see it because you would swear they are artificial. Folks feel the flowers to make sure that they aren't being fooled. You know how that is . . . the kind they make nowadays look so real.

That tree has been getting a trimming along through the years so it has not all gone to top . . . thanks to an Extension Clublesson where pruning houseplants, some kinds that is, was stressed instead of letting them grow rampant and spindly.

NOW WHEN it gets ready to take off for the ceiling it gets nipped. It has a nice compact shape as a result.

When Mother gave it to me it was then seven years old. We brought it home from Capac making us all scooped over and barely able to see to drive.

Pete wasn't happy over the inheritance! (Actually I think he intended to live through getting it home . . . and then trip and fall in getting out of the car to break it.)

Mother and Dad Crowell were with us. Dad and Pete kept up a running commentary on how or what could happen to it. Did you ever have your Dad side against you and for his son-in-law?

WELL, THAT tree continued to be a source of much joking between Dad and Pete for two reasons: They knew it riled me . . . and men like to comment on plants shutting off the view through a window. The third reason is that if it isn't that it would be something else. (Many times I was glad he kept to the tree . . . it was familiar and safe ground!)

It has been 16 years since we brought the tree home which makes it 23 years old. It's become a part of the family. No one ever says anything about it taking up too much room or shutting off the view—or anything.

And poor Pete! How I misjudged his teasing. He didn't hate it. He knew it meant a lot to me because it was my mother's and even more so after she died. We live so far from the cemetery that it's hard to put flowers on the grave . . . and having the tree and tending to it makes it seem that there are flowers for her.

Which there are! And more beautiful ones couldn't be imagined.

Road Commission Weekly Report

Some improvement in weather conditions the past week made it possible to gain a little on the many road repairs to be made. Maintenance is far behind and construction schedules are also off to a very late start.

The Board of Clinton County Road Commissioners discussed these problems at some length last meeting. Because of the late start and the high cost of repairing spring break-up damage, an ambitious construction program for this summer may suffer some set-backs.

IN ADDITION to the bridge program some of the projects scheduled for this summer are Upton Road in Bath Township,

Law Day USA, May 1, 1965

In many areas of the world today the principal of individual freedom and equality is being challenged. Our nation is committed to a role of leadership in meeting that challenge and in preserving the values of our free society.

The system of representative government under which we live, with its ideals of equal justice, equal opportunity, and protection of the rights of all citizens, is built upon a body of laws of our own making, and administered by independent courts. The system depends for vitality and strength upon broad citizen participation and understanding. This includes voluntary compliance with the rule of law and an informed awareness of the responsibilities of citizenship.

It is appropriate, therefore, that by Act of Congress, and by official proclamation of the President of the United States, a special day has been set aside on which the American people are asked to give thoughtful attention to the place of law in our lives. This nationwide observance known as Law Day USA, will take place on May 1.

The eighth annual observance of Law Day USA this year will offer to all Americans a timely reminder of the priceless values of freedom under law. It will also provide significant evidence of the world of the determination of our nation to uphold freedom and justice and the institutions which make them possible.

NOW, THEREFORE, WE, the Mayor of the City of St. Johns, and the Judge of the Circuit Court for the County of Clinton do hereby join in proclaiming Saturday, May 1, 1965 as Law Day USA in the City of St. Johns, and call upon all citizens, organizations, schools and churches to recognize this special day and to join its observance.

Dated at the City of St. Johns, this 22nd day of April, 1965

Michigan Week Hospitality Day on a Tuesday

All citizens have many opportunities to participate in Michigan Week, but Tuesday, May 18, which is Hospitality Day, brings the handiest opportunity of all, advises William McCarthy, St. Johns Michigan Week chairman.

Families and neighborhood groups traditionally celebrate Hospitality Day by having special get-togethers and also by extending the hand of friendship to newcomers in the community, McCarthy points out.

Each citizen in his own way can express the friendliness of his neighborhood and community.

THE COMMUNITY'S friendliness to the people from other places who visit on business or recreation can be emphasized in many ways on Hospitality Day. The local committee offers many suggestions for participation by groups and individuals.

In many places the serving of free coffee and doughnuts or Michigan fruit juices or other local product to all visitors from outside the community has become the practice. Placing of permanent or temporary welcome signs at the entrance to the community on all highways can be a successful club or community project.

GREETING of visitors at the city limits, at the airport, bus depot or railroad station with refreshments, literature on the community and its attractions and a welcome handshake, is an annual undertaking in many places. Police are always willing to cooperate in the program.

Open House programs are the rule all over on Hospitality Day. All state police posts extend a special welcome to visitors annually on this day. Hospitality Day is also a time to give full recognition to the state's growing tourist and resort business.

STATEWIDE the observance of Hospitality Day is directed by the Michigan Hospitality committee of Michigan Week, whose chairman is Ron Gamble, immediate past president of East Michigan Tourist Assn.

Banks Offer Choice of Ways To Finance Modernizing

Like death and taxes, one of life's certainties seems to be home improvements. If the house is new, there is usually a basement or attic to finish off, or a porch to add. If the house is older, the homeowner needs to begin thinking in terms of additions or repairs.

The cheapest way to finance home improvements is to save ahead. But if you don't have the time to accumulate such a fund, you can borrow the money you'll need.

Here is a brief description of six ways to finance your home improvements through your bank:

FHA Title I Loan. You can borrow up to $3,500; take three years to repay loans under $600; and up to five years on larger amounts. Generally, you pay five dollars for every $100 you borrow. Interest is discounted; the cost is deducted from the loan at the very start. Remember to add total interest charges to the amount you borrow when you apply for your loan. Then, you will get the actual dollars you need for home improvements.

To qualify, your improvements must be "built-in," or become a permanent part of the property. The Federal Housing Administration insures Title I Loans. So it insists they substantially protect or improve the basic livability or utility of your property.

FHA Section 203k Loans. If your home is at least 10 years old, you can use the FHA 203k plan for improvements costing up to $10,000. Terms up to 20 years can be arranged and the interest rate cannot exceed six percent per year.

Loan proceeds can also be used to pay municipal assessments or similar charges against the property such as for water or sewer facilities, sidewalks, curbs or other public improvements.

Conventional Bank Installment Loan. It is usually more flexible as to purpose, amount, and terms of repayment. Banks make them entirely on their own. Thus, they are not subject to FHA regulations. And you may finance non built-in improvements like wall-to-wall carpeting, swimming pools, landscaping.

Open-end Mortgage Loan. If your mortgage contains an "open-end" provision, you may be able to borrow more money on the same mortgage. The amount will depend on how much money you still owe.

Mortgage Refinancing. If you have a conventional mortgage, you may be able to retire it. Then get another in a larger amount to include money for your home improvements. Most often, it will involve a new title search, recording, and other extra fees. But, the over-all cost will still be lower in most cases than Title I or other short-term loans.

Personal Loans. You won't be able to get as much money here. Many state laws limit the amount you can borrow. Also repayment periods are usually shorter. But it is worth investigating, if other avenues are closed.

What to Look For When Choosing New Paint Rollers

Thinking of sprucing up the old homestead with paint, on a "do-it-yourself" basis? To give the painting job a professional look, there's a fast, modern way to apply paint — with a roller.

Here are some key points to look for in selecting a roller, or set of rollers.

First, what's it made of? Newest trend in roller coverings is the synthetic fibers — among them, Dynel, a modacrylic fiber.

Second question to ask is: How long is the nap? This has nothing to do with sleeping on the job! It refers to the length of the individual fibers on the roller cover.

The length of the nap determines the wicking capacity of the roller and how much paint it can hold ready to roll on. The right length varies with the surface to be painted.

Long-nap fibers (five-eighths of an inch and over) are recommended for rough-textured surfaces; short-nap (one-quarter inch or less) or standard-nap (three-eighths to one-half inch) for smoother surfaces.

Next, is the shape and size right for the job? Special shapes and widths of paint rollers are designed to give optimum performance on anything to be painted around the home.

Some shapes available and the jobs they do are: "Two-wheeler" contour-painting roller spreads around pipes, poles, downspouts.

The "rough-coater" is a long-nap roller of varied widths for rough-textured concrete, brick, cinderblock, stucco, wire mesh and chain-link fencing.

"Donut" style is recommended for corners, underlap of siding, contoured molding and similar shapes.

The "sashie" eliminates need

Ingenuity Can Create Convenient Center for Home Entertainment

Constructing a home entertainment center for the family does not necessarily mean adding on a whole new room. Using available space, ingenuity and a bit of imagination, part of a room can be attractively converted into an entertainment center that everyone will be able to enjoy.

A built-in unit may be simple or elaborate as space, needs and budget dictate. It may make use of ready-made cabinets, chests and bookcases that lumberyards sell.

House TV Set
A cabinet of wood built into a wall can house a TV set, solve a space problem and also serve as a decorative asset. Many homes have structural features that provide unused space within the walls for an extra cabinet to be wholly or partially built-in.

A free standing storage partition can also take many forms. It may be a waist-high planter unit with TV space and shelving or cabinets. It can extend from floor to ceiling to serve as an actual wall, or within a foot or so from the ceiling to give the feeling ENTERTAINMENT CENTER BUILT IN to the wall of a room provides space for the television set, with storage space above for books, souvenirs and trophies. The TV set can be shut away when not in use, leaving shelves handy to the desk. Knotty grade Ponderosa pine paneling used for walls as well as built-ins helps to unify the room.

Adjust to Needs

ual needs. The unit can be designed with upper cabinets enclosed by doors which can be opened from either side and a TV set which swivels and is also accessible from either side.

Bookshelving could be added and hi-fi equipment or a writing desk with a top which folds when not in use.

When utility factors have been considered to determine the design of entertainment installation, the next question is what materials to use. Popular for such interior projects because they are easy to use and easy to live with are the woods from the Western Pine region, suggests the Western Wood Products Association.

Choice of grain, texture and natural color is wide, and different woods accept a variety of finishes.

Paint Plans Create More Color Harmony

When color styling two adjoining rooms, care should be taken to make the transition from one to the other a smooth one so that the two do not clash.

The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association suggests two methods which help achieve a harmonious look.

One method is to paint the walls of the two rooms the same color and to repeat the color of the floor covering of one room on the ceiling of the other. A second idea would be to reverse the wall and ceiling colors of the two.

Still another plan might be to take a lighter or darker hue of the colors in the first room and use it in the second.

BATH ACCESSORIES
Showerfold Door Corporation is marketing a tub and shower enclosure and shower floor in decorator colors and designs. The enclosure is made of DuPont Alathon folding panels on an anodized aluminum frame. The non-skid flooring comes in embossed marbled colors.

Modern Appliances Merit Consideration In Remodeling Plans

Families planning to remodel or redecorate their homes this spring might well consider purchasing new, updated appliances, too.

Just about every major kitchen appliance has gone through many design changes to meet the needs of modern living. New range models, for example, are fully automated, slimmed down and color-coordinated. Often, a range may be the key appliance in a kitchen modernization plan, says the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association.

If the "built-in" look is desirable, the homemaker can find a wide variety of units. In some models, the oven and surface units can be separated. Still others feature "wafer-thin" tops which can be installed over a drawer. The oven unit often includes such advanced features as programmed cooking which automatically sets the temperature desired.

If a built-in doesn't fit into the budget, there are "set-in" or "slide-in" models which resemble built-ins but are actually combination range, oven and broiler in one for easy counter installation, featuring chrome stripping along the sides for a built-in look.

Eye-level ranges eliminate a common homemaker's complaint... stooping and bending. All controls on this type of range are at eye-level, and oven and broiler are within easy reach.

Conventional free-standing ranges are available in a wide variety of styles and sizes, many with luxury features such as automatic heat control and rotisserie.

A helpful appliance that is becoming a standard in many kitchens is the electric dishwasher, available in several models.

The built-in style is ideal if cabinet space is available near the sink. If no space is handy, a portable model that can be rolled to the sink at dishwashing time and stored elsewhere is a good choice. The convertible is a variation of the portable that may be installed as a built-in if desired.

New refrigerator-freezers offer many extra convenience features. They not only hold more food, but have automatic ice makers or cube trays that make cubes available at a touch, and the popular no-defrosting feature.

It takes dollars to convince some people you have sense.

Trend Is Up In Improvements

Although baseball, bowling, boating and fishing each has a claim to fame as an important national pastime, there's a new challenger coming up fast — home improvement!

Most recent complete figures, from the U.S. Bureau of Census, show that the nation's homeowners spent a big $11,733,000 for home improvement in 1963, points out Executive Director Edgar Hall of the National Home Improvement Council.

To see just how home improvement activity has grown, look back a decade or so. During the first five months of 1953, three billion dollars was spent on home improvement.

During the corresponding period in 1963, that figure zoomed to four billion, four hundred million!

Projecting the 1953 outlay for five months to an estimated 12 months gives a figure of eight billion dollars, versus 1963's 11 billion, 733 million.

New Method Brings More Home Quiet

New idea in remodeling offers a priceless feature for better family living — more quiet in the home.

There are now steps which can be taken to control irritating sounds within a room or between rooms, in existing homes or apartments, according to Robert A. Costa, president, Insulation Board Institute, Chicago, Ill.

These steps utilize just two IBI standard industry products — acoustical ceiling tile and sound deadening insulation board.

To control noise between rooms, a plan has been developed for an auxiliary wall of sound deadening insulation board and gypsum wallboard, which can be placed next to the existing wall.

The sound-stopping auxiliary wall uses two-by-three-foot wood studs placed 24 inches apart, on two-by-three-foot wood floor and ceiling plates. There is a three-quarter-inch space between the new wall and the existing wall.

The new studs are faced with half-inch sound deadening insulation board with the nail heads dimpled. Half-inch gypsum wallboard is then applied vertically with the joints offset 12 inches with respect to the sound deadening board joints, by installing with drywall laminating compound. The gypsum wallboard is temporarily blocked around the perimeter until the laminating compound has adequate bond. The gypsum wallboard joints are then taped and finished and the entire perimeter of the new wall is sealed in place.

As a final step, noise is more effectively confined in a room if the door is of the solid core type with vinyl gasketing and a snug-up threshold.

To control noise within rooms, consider insulation board acoustical ceiling tile. Soft surfaces absorb noise; hard surfaces reflect it. Acoustical ceiling tile is essentially a "soft" material which absorbs up to 70 percent of the excess noise striking its surfaces.

Sound enters the tiny openings in the surface of the tile, and the sound energy waves are reduced or eliminated by the soft porous fibers.

New Paneling Presents Room Treatment Ideas

SIMULATED WOOD GRAIN paneling partitions a large room into two rooms, creating a "conversation area," as well as a room serving more general purposes. Panels used here have three-dimensional random-plank grooves and gypsum core which prevents shrinking, warping, provides fire safety. The panels can be cut to size by "scoring and snapping." To do this, cut the predecorated surface with a sharp knife, guided by a thin board with straight edge. Scored panel is then positioned (left) so the piece to be removed is overhanging a straight edge parallel to cut mark. Press the free end until gypsum core snaps. Cut back paper to remove excess piece. Fashion Grain Decorator Panels are from National Gypsum Company.

Homeowners who are adding new rooms, remodeling an attic or a basement or searching for new ways to liven up existing rooms in the house might do well to look to modern paneling as an attractive answer to many problems.

The growing popularity of the new panelings may be attributed to their ease of installation, diversity of colors and textures, minimum maintenance and multitude of uses.

They can be used as wall coverings or room dividers, can enclose cabinets and other storage spaces.

Among the types of paneling now available, hardboard is gaining increasing importance for many reasons.

Through the magic of wood chemistry, hardboard paneling is available in a vast array of surface finishes for every room in the home and for every budget. Just recently, hardboard manufacturers have developed paneling products which simulate travertine marble, die cut filigree patterns and wood grain finishes.

There's Variety
Homeowners can choose from wood-grained finished panels simulating walnut, cherry, birch, oak, elm, pecan and teak. Some of the panels are perforated to add beauty to storage walls.

With the variety of grains, textures, colors and widths available, paneling can act to change the optical size of a room. In cases where rooms seem cramped, lack light, or where the ceiling is too high or too low, the pattern of panel installation can do much to improve room appearance.

For instance, where a ceiling is too high, paneling can be installed horizontally, or vertically where the ceiling seems too low. Light colors, in simulated wood grains or other textures, can give a dark room more of a bright look.

Serve as Dividers
Filigree and die-perforated panels in wide variety serve especially well as room dividers, decorative accents against a solid wall, or as lacy indoor screening painted the same color as a wall.

While paneling is most attractive, it can be the easiest of materials to keep clean. The pre-finished surfaces wipe clean of grease marks and other dirt with a swipe of a damp sponge or cloth.

Textured or die-cut hardboard can be painted with a brush or spray equipment to make it a color which may not be readily available otherwise.

Yet another wall covering is simulated wood-grained paneling with a gypsum core, offering the extra advantage of added fire safety.

Plywood Can Look Good Either Way

Plywood, particularly fir, can be made attractive whether its grain is covered with a solid paint or it is finished to show the natural look of the grain.

First the surface must be sanded as smooth as possible and left completely clean.

To hide the surface completely, brush on a coat of pigmented penetrating sealer, and after it has dried, smooth with sandpaper and remove all sandings.

If the top coat is to be a gloss enamel, the second coat should consist of equal parts of enamel undercoat and the top coat. If the top coat is to be a latex, apply a second coat of the resin sealer and sand lightly before applying final coat.

If a natural finish is desired, select a wood with an attractive grain and sand as much as possible.

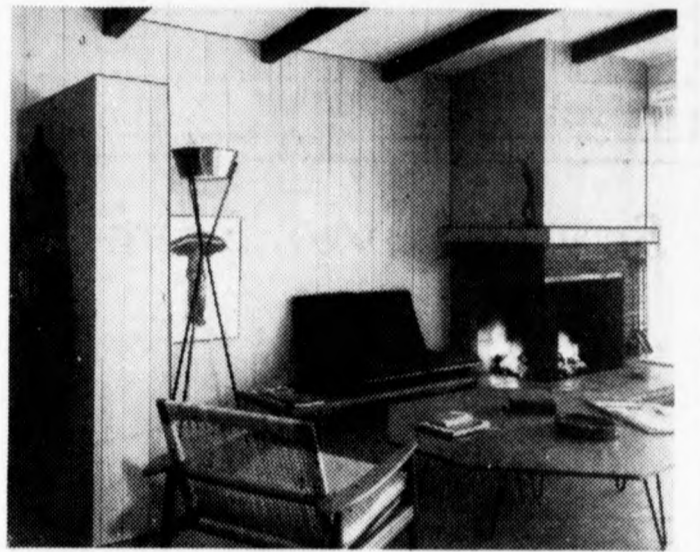

Now brush on a coat of clear penetrating resin sealer. After this has dried, sand again with a fine paper. To color the wood to some degree, apply a coat of wood stain, a coat of colored penetrating sealer or tint clear resin sealer with color in oil, reducing 25 per cent with paint thinner. Whichever is used, it should stand for a few minutes and wiped off to get the desired color.

This, too, should be sanded lightly when dry, and then one or two coats of varnish of the desired sheen brushed on.

For modern, blond effects this should be done after the first coat of sealer has dried. Thin white pigmented resin sealer or enamel undercoat 50-50 with odorless paint thinner and brush on the surface. After it has dried and been wiped off, the surface should be protected with one or two coats of varnish.

FROM THE GARAGE TO THE STUDENT'S corner goes this factory-finished hardboard. Originally designed as a garage liner, paneling has lower three feet fashioned as a solid wainscot, with top perforated to act as storage wall for books, souvenirs.

LASTING BEAUTY PLUS LOW MAINTENANCE cost is feature of prefinished hardboard paneling used to refinish this smartly casual room. Panels are scuff-resistant and easily cleaned with a damp cloth. Blond Cherry panels are by Celotex Corporation.

Right Color on Walls Will Show Faces in a Flattering Light

When it's tooth-brushing time in the morning, will the face in the bathroom mirror look cheery and bright or haggard and wan?

A lot depends on the color of the bathroom walls and trim. The right choice of hues in repainting the bathroom can make a big difference.

Walls painted in some yellows and greens reflect a most unflattering light. Pink, rose coral and peach tones reflect a warm, healthful glow that starts the day off right. Pure green and gold are good choices. Blues with a touch of red are warmer and more flattering than pure or greenish blues.

Experts recommend semi-gloss or gloss enamel when painting bathroom walls for many reasons. Enamels keep moisture vapor from entering walls and damaging plaster. Enamels are also easy to keep clean, can be scrubbed often and are more mildew-resistant.

Before applying enamel, dirt should be washed away to insure adhesion of the paint and to prevent peeling. Glossy areas should be dulled with sandpaper or steel wool.

To make a bathroom look larger, walls and wood trim should be painted the same color. More than two accent colors in an average sized bathroom are distracting — accents should be picked up in towels or curtains.

DUST COLLECTOR

Cut cleaning time when drilling in plaster by catching dust and grit in paper bag taped to wall below area where hole is being drilled.

AVOID ACCIDENTS

To make mats or small area rugs non-skid, coat the backs with a nonslip spray, or attach adhesive-backed rubber strips.

Some Rhododendrons Now Are Fragrant

The Dexter hybrid rhododendrons are reported to have fragrance, adding another quality to the broadleaved evergreens, which long have been popular. These hybrids, like the beautiful "swamp azalea," have an enticing perfume, says the American Association of Nurserymen.

Rhododendrons have considerable ornamental interest. They are evergreen, except for certain azaleas. They have lovely flowers. There is a wide range of colors. They are hardy, readily available and have good plant form, while prices are reasonable and they are long-lived.

Four major interstate pipeline companies supply Michigan with natural gas.

Commercial Printing, Reasonable Prices, Top Quality, Quick Service—Clinton County News

Here's Cool News

Air-conditioning in all its forms has become extremely popular, almost to the point of being a way of life.

New developments in air-conditioning occur all the time, with manufacturers constantly trying to improve and perfect their products.

Among the newer models, there is the Mobilair 500, a two-model series of compact room air-conditioners introduced by Westinghouse. These have 5,000 BTU's, yet cost less than an attic fan installation. They can be plugged into any standard household outlet, and may be installed by the purchaser within five minutes into any standard window.

A central air-conditioning unit which is installed in the attic and requires no conventional ducts has been developed by the Stewart-Warner Corp. and dubbed the Stow-Pac. The models have from 24,000 to 36,000 BTU's, are easy to install and need no outdoor condensing unit.

The Skuttle Mfg. Co. is marketing a permanent, washable filter media of "open-pore" polyurethane foam developed by Scott Paper Co. It can be easily cut to fit any window type air-conditioner and lasts for the life of the unit, as well as being resistant to mildew, germs and fungus.

The homemaker who dislikes the look of conventional air-conditioners yet wants the cooling power they provide may find the new wood-fronted models to her taste.

A new solid-wood front model by Amana is styled in genuine walnut veneer, said to blend with any decor while also lowering the noise level of the unit.

Westinghouse has introduced the Southerner series, which is reversible, walnut to cherry finishes, and which is said to approach the cooling capacity of some central air-conditioning while following the trend to furniture-styling.

Fedders Corporation suggests the use of their compact model in nurseries or children's rooms. Aside from maintaining a comfortable temperature, ideal for longer, restful napping, the model dehumidifies the room and filters it for dust, pollen and harmful irritants.

Along these same lines is American Standard's electric home humidifier, for attachment to a warm air furnace system. Said to be easily maintained, the model evaporates up to 11.1 gallons of water a day from the air of an average six-room house.

TILE CARE

Cam Kote, a tile care product by Cambridge Tile Co., coats ceramic floor tile, seals tile joints.

ALL-PURPOSE TAPE

An aluminum-foil, pressure-sensitive tape with a weather-proof adhesive coating is offered by Johns-Manville. It can be used to repair almost any object of wood, metal, plastic, won't rust or corrode.

Niches Add Charm To Rooms at Low Cost
 A wall niche can often add charm and distinction to an otherwise conventional room. Such a feature can be added to the average home at little expense or effort. It is particularly easy to do when a room is to be redecorated. The space between wall studs will provide for a niche about 13 inches wide and as tall as desired — assuming there are no ducts, pipes or conduit in that part of the wall. To build the niche, metal lath is bent to the desired shape, and is nailed to the studs. The corners are reinforced with metal corner bead and plaster is then applied. For Classified Ads — 224-2361

Making Old Kitchens New Again

EFFICIENCY AND BEAUTY MEET IN TODAY'S MODERN KITCHENS. Remodeling plan suggested here uses a "tropical island" theme for attractive appearance. Basic layout is a convenient "L." Electric appliances have copper-tone finishes that blend with yellow countertops, walls and flooring. Refrigerator, mounted on wheels, glides out easily for cleaning. Extra-large oven of the range includes a rotisserie. Home laundry area is placed conveniently just behind the kitchen. Hotpoint appliances.

LIGHT THE WAY TO MEAL PLANNING and preparation in the kitchen, with lighting fixtures in the right places. In the kitchen shown here, general over-all illumination is augmented by a fixture that may be pulled down for scanning recipes or raised to add more light to other areas. Suggested by Progress Manufacturing Co.

QUICK WAY TO "remodel" a kitchen is with steel cabinets that boast plastic panels which can be quickly changed to show a different color or grain.

Trees Memorialize Nation's Patriots

A grove of "trees that look at God all day and lift their leafy arms to pray," has been dedicated at Valley Forge, according to Frederick Brown Harris, D.D., Chaplain both of the U.S. Senate and Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge. The grove will be a living national memorial. Each tree "will speak" the name of a patriot who has won the nation's highest "medaled honor." The grove will be planted where George Washington kneeled and prayed, in refusing a peace that "crucified liberty," according to Chaplain Harris, who added: "How movingly appropriate that 50 acres of that same sacred soil should be consecrated forever to the nurture of growing trees whose roots draw strength from the same rivers of water which nourished the firm faith of the Founding Fathers."

The Chaplain concluded: "There are tongues in these trees, and the word they shout is Freedom at any cost."

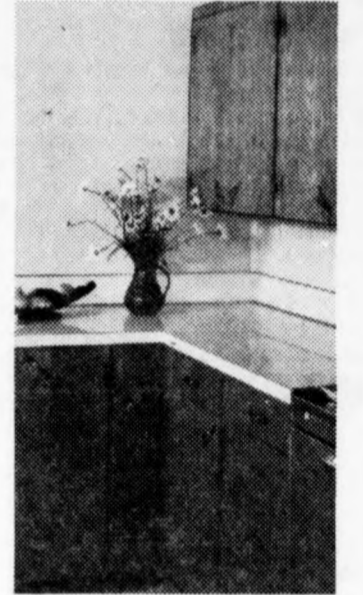

Defend what is right by attacking all wrong vigorously.

NEW TREND IN KITCHEN remodeling is to show off the floor, and make it easier to clean, by mounting base cabinets on legs. Vinyl asbestos tile floor here is highlighted by metallic feature strips. Photo from Better Floors Council.

NEW ANGLE FOR SPRING remodeling of a kitchen is this slightly slanted mounting of the built-in range, set almost flush in an all-ceramic-tile counter. Backsplash and floor are also entirely of decorative ceramic tile.

NEW CABINETS brighten a kitchen. These are of flakeboard, a man-made material of compressed wood flakes, with outside layers of hardwood veneer. By Georgia-Pacific.

Landscaping Financing Made Easy

A survey shows that 87 percent of all home owners "believe landscaping adds more to the resale value of their property than the landscaping costs."

Apparently nine out of ten home owners want beautiful home grounds. It pays both in upping the resale value, as well as in living a healthier, more enjoyable family life.

Suppose you want landscaping. How do you finance it? There are several ways the home owners can go about this. FHA home improvement loans are available from banks, up to $3500 being allowed for landscaping. For as little as five to 10 percent of the value of the home, a sound landscaping plan can be carried out.

Banks and Savings and Loan Associations also will, in many cases, allow private loans to be made, or added to the mortgage.

Once the loan is arranged for, the home owner can then select a good landscape nurseryman to do the work.

In many cases, prominent nurserymen will arrange for the loans. Repayment must be made within five years. Many landscape nurserymen also will prepare plans which can be carried out piecemeal until the whole job is completed. For example, the foundation planting may be done first, a garden living room installed secondly and children's play areas or fruit garden third, or in any other order, depending on what is desired.

Flowers, Foliage Add Quick Color

Proper selection of professionally-grown container plants and shrubs makes "instant landscaping" an interesting, economical "do-it-yourself" hobby for home owners.

An abundance of good ground-cover plants is always available at your florists' or garden center store. Use them as you please to re-decorate outdoors.

For quick color, take home some geraniums, petunias, azaleas or year-round chrysanthemums in red clay pots. For permanent plantings, you can either empty the healthy root ball from the pots, or plunge your plants, clay pot and all, up to their rims.

LUBRICATE SCREWS

Lubricating the threads of a wood screw with soap, paraffin or a candle stub before trying to drive it home makes the job easier and eliminates danger of breaking screw when driving into hardwood.

Insulation Adds to Living Ease, Cuts Costs of Heating, Cooling

A recent government report published by the U. S. Department of the Interior has recommended insulation as the solution to the high operating costs of home heating and cooling. While insulation cannot eliminate the costs of home heating and cooling, it will certainly help to make the most use of fuel by keeping heat in the home and not letting it seep through to the outdoors. And cooling costs can be reduced by insulation that helps to keep hot air out.

New research on the part of home insulation manufacturers has gone far to produce insulation that can be installed in most homes fairly easily and without large expense.

There are many types of insulation materials. They include: mineral wool, rock, glass, slag, paper pulp, gypsum, asbestos, cork, aluminum foil, vermiculite, cotton and other mineral and vegetable materials. Two forms of insulating materials commonly used are batts and blankets. They come with what is known as a vapor barrier on one side of the material and are vapor-permeable on the other.

For a long time it was thought that the effectiveness of insulation should be judged by the thickness of the material. This has, however, been found to be untrue. The factors which determine the effect of insulation, besides thickness, are density and conductivity.

Any local home insulation dealer should be able to help in finding the proper type and thickness of insulation needed in a particular home, and it does vary.

The tools needed for the installation of insulation are simply a sharp knife for cutting and fitting, and a good, heavy-duty staple gun for solid attachment. The latter can usually be rented at any hardware store.

In hard-to-get-to corners, or ceilings, particularly in attics where joists are exposed, there is insulation which can be poured from a bag into any crevice. In this case, it is best to call in professional help, as it entails the use of a pneumatic hose. This type of insulation is also used in homes where studs for stapling are not readily available.

Here are some hints which should be helpful in the installation of insulating materials:

- The vapor barrier of the batts or blankets of insulation should face the heated side of any room.
- The insulation, whatever material, must be butted tightly — gaps will let the heat escape.

PROPER INSULATION DOES MUCH TO cut heating and cooling costs, since it holds in the heat in winter and does the reverse in summer. In accessible area, such as the attic, the homeowner can easily install insulation himself. Insulation here by Johns-Manville.

NOISE BETWEEN ROOMS CAN BE REDUCED with this auxiliary wall which can be installed next to the present wall, according to a plan developed by the Insulation Board Institute. A special IBI-rated sound-deadening insulation board controls flow of sounds.

- Eaves, vents, attic louvers should not be covered as they are important to air circulation.
- The staples holding the insulation should be no more than six inches apart.
- Insulation, for complete effectiveness, should be packed tightly around windows, door framing and other such spaces. This can be achieved by cutting a piece of vapor barrier to cover the areas and form unbroken protection.
- Pipes should be protected from winter freezing by insulating between them and the wall. For this separate pieces of vapor barrier can also be used.

Wallpapers Help In Dressing Up Problem Rooms

Kitchen ceiling too high? Wall areas broken by beams and soffits? It's time to remodel!

If the family budget doesn't call for a major remodeling job just now, there still is a solution. Try remodeling tricks with wallpaper.

The many new border patterns now available in wallpapers are designed just for such problem areas, in the kitchen or elsewhere. To meet all decorative needs, there are border patterns of various depths, from two-inch widths to as deep as 18 to 20 inches.

Two-inch moldings are available in four-yard rolls, pre-pasted for easy handling and immediate use. Other patterns, up to 20 inches in depth, are particularly useful in modernizing the out-dated kitchen, or the kitchen with too high a ceiling.

Several of the deeper patterns are ideal for disguising and dressing up broken wall areas. One manufacturer has just presented a collection of 51 different wallpaper borders, plasticized for greater washability and pre-pasted for easy handling.

These borders range from eight to 18 inches deep and each pattern is designed so that it can be trimmed to fit specific areas.

Still another group of borders highlights bright primary colors, as well as black and white. These have been specially designed to contrast with a ticking stripe for walls.

New papers for kitchens feature such design themes as potted plants, fruits, vegetables, copper pots, antiques, bottles, mugs or herbs.

Illuminating

For homeowners planning to illuminate gardens, patios and terraces, a new product of interest is a low-voltage outdoor lighting system developed by AMF Wen-Mac Corporation.

The system eliminates the need for an underground conduit installation, and retails for less than 70 dollars.

It includes six self-contained sealed-beam units with interchangeable lenses in varied colors — pink, blue, amber, green and clear. The units clip onto a 100-foot cable like Christmas tree lights.

Unique feature of the system is the use of a current-reducing transformer with an output of only 12 volts costing an average of two cents a night to operate.

Time Is Here To Clean Up, Fix Up Home

Spring time is synonymous with house clean-up and fix-up. And it's a job that the whole family can share, and enjoy, too.

Modern cleaning tools and supplies and the vast abundance of repair materials have made the job of cleaning and fixing up a home somewhat easier, but the job is still a big one. There's sure to be a chore for each member of the family, no matter what his or her age.

First item on the agenda is to make sure all the materials needed for the tasks ahead are on hand. When buying supplies, read the information on the bottle, can, tube, or whatever, carefully. Make certain you know what you are using and how to use it.

Put Them to Work

Now, on to the job of cleaning up. Mom might supervise the cleaning of the inside of the house while Dad takes to the outside. The youngsters can be responsible for many indoors, outdoors, garage and basement clean-up jobs.

Spring clean-up time is a good time for Father to check the walls and roof of the house for trouble spots.

On the roof make sure that all shingles are still in place, nailing down or replacing the ones that aren't. Check for cracks around the chimney, and corrosion in flashing which, if severely damaged, should be replaced.

Check Guttering

Temporary repairs on the roof can be made with a coating of roofing cement, especially useful for minor cracks and rust spots.

The guttering of the house is probably one of the most important spots to check. Make sure that guttering is completely cleared of all debris that has accumulated during the winter. Re-inforce hangings which have worked their way loose and replace the ones which have deteriorated.

As Dad works his way down towards the foundation of the house, he should check the walls for cracks, filling them with caulking. Window panes, lintels and window heads should also be checked for cracks and filled with putty or caulking. These items should also be checked on the inside of the house.

For Foundation

At the base of the home, check for connections between the wood of the house and the ground, separating all such connections with some sort of cement to assure more protection from termites.

Around the foundation, see that all holes are filled with sand or gravel and topped with sod. These holes, if not filled, may cause rain leakage.

On the average, one in seven persons probably will be hospitalized sometime this year.

New Bill Expands Lending Power of Savings and Loan Associations

Homeowners in search of ready cash for home repair and remodeling may find expanding opportunities for convenient financing from their local savings and loan associations.

The new Federal Housing Bill presages greater activity for federally chartered savings and loan associations in the field of home improvement financing, according to Eugene M. Mortlock, president of the United States Savings and Loan League.

The new bill increases the percentage of assets which a federal association may invest in home improvement loans from 15 to 20 percent and raises the maximum amount of a single loan from $3,500 to $5,000. Savings and loan experts believe this legislation may also encourage state governments to grant similar lending powers to state chart-

Make Garden into Living Room

GARDEN LIVING IS HAPPIER THESE DAYS with landscaped patios, terraces and outdoor cooking and recreation areas in fashion across the country. Gardening has become a favorite pastime for many Americans who say that it is "good for the health." But, health isn't the only good part of gardening. The beauty that can be achieved with a bit of imagination and ingenuity is "good for the eyes," too, says the American Association of Nurserymen.

Rose Most Desired As National Flower

Every large and unbiased survey ever made selects the rose as America's most beautiful flower.

The rose, in Christian religion, is emblematic of a paragon, or one without peer, according to the American Association of Nurserymen. The rose reigns supreme; it can be grown practically everywhere in the United States. It is the most beautiful of flowers with widespread cultivation.

Most flowers are beautiful, but the most emblematic flowers of leadership should be, if any flower is named, the national flower of the United States. The rose best fits the requirements.

electricity to the panel from the power line.

Increase Energy
This will increase the supply of electric energy "on tap" — opening the way for installation and use of major electric appliances such as built-in ovens and surface units, high speed electric clothes dryers, dishwashers, garbage disposers, air conditioners — and many more.

Next, a survey of the branch circuits which carry current from the main panel to lights and outlets will undoubtedly turn up a need for extra circuits to feed small appliances, electric power tools, entertainment equipment and so on.

This doesn't mean that old wiring must be worn out. New branch circuits simply relieve the old ones from overloading and permit the use of several appliances at once without risking a "blackout."

Of course, extra outlets will be needed, to permit lamps and appliances to be connected conveniently and neatly, eliminating tangles of extension cords.

While all this is being done, most homeowners will take advantage of the opportunity to acquire some of the beautiful lighting fixtures they've seen and admired in new model homes.

ELECTRICITY

If you are planning to build or remodel your home this year . . . be sure to get an experienced technician to do your wiring. Your electrical system is one of the most important things in your home. One properly installed — with quality products will give you years of carefree service.

A TYPICAL LANDSCAPE PLAN for an average home consists of plant arrangements for beauty, flowers, shade and year-round color. Below is more detailed description of the above diagram.

Most families take pride in living in beautiful natural surroundings. More and more families are developing the grounds around their homes into inviting, beautiful "outdoor living" rooms.

These "outdoor living" rooms furnish restful retreats for adults, places for teenagers to entertain and play, and for the smaller children to play safely, and to learn about growing things.

Landscaping can accomplish the beauty; each family member can enjoy it. Seventy-two percent of home owners are critical of neighbors with poorly kept grounds — they think of them as too poor to do anything about beautifying, or lazy and shiftless.

On the other hand, they think of families living more beautifully as good citizens, refined and educated.

For individual members of the family, good landscaping can accomplish a great deal.

It is wholesome and educational for children. One industrialist planted a tree for each of his seven children, who watched the trees grow. They experienced the natural flowering and fruiting of the trees, the beneficial shade, the foliage color changes with the seasons, the nesting of birds and many other natural phenomena that helped to enrich their minds, while tree climbing helped strengthen their muscles.

So valuable did these trees become to the family that they spent thousands of dollars just to transplant them when they moved to new homes.

With a beautiful property teen-agers are encouraged to entertain at home on terraces and in "outdoor garden living" rooms.

Parents living on beautifully planted properties have much pleasure in putting their "own mark" on the property in the form of trees and shrubs and better living. Young trees, planted when families are young, mature with the family and represent close family ties.

From that time forward, they can make full use of the modern electrical appliances and equipment which are part and parcel of everyday living in today's homes — both inside and out. A wiring modernization job opens up a new world of living comfort, while adding to property value.

Better Wiring Can Boost Home Comfort and Value

Almost any home improvement or remodeling job calls for some electrical work. Therefore, wise owners give their homes complete electrical modernization jobs while other work is being done.

Any electrical contractor who specializes in home wiring improvement will arrange to make a thorough check of the present wiring system, in order to determine just what changes are necessary in order to increase the home's "Housepower." As a rule, this survey is offered without charge or obligation.

In most homes built ten or more years ago, the wiring survey will reveal a need to enlarge the main electric service panel and to increase the size of the wires which feed

Families Move Out into the Fun

The great migration to the great outdoors is on again! Families don't have to travel far, however, to enjoy the benefits of relaxing comfort and invigorating activity out of doors. Nowadays, more and more families are making sure that the outdoor life awaits them right outside the back — or front — door.

Like indoor living, outdoor living requires planning for maximum enjoyment. Terraces, patios, decks, shelters, screened or otherwise enclosed porches and sports areas are some of the choices, and the family's needs and wants, the weather and, of course, the available space all influence the decision.

Available space may be the ruling factor in deciding on the location and type of an outdoor living area. Some other points to keep in mind are:

What does the family prefer? The tastes of shade or sun worshippers, relaxers and the sports minded should be considered.

How many children are there in the family and how old are they? Teens may prefer a dance area, while youngsters want to play games.

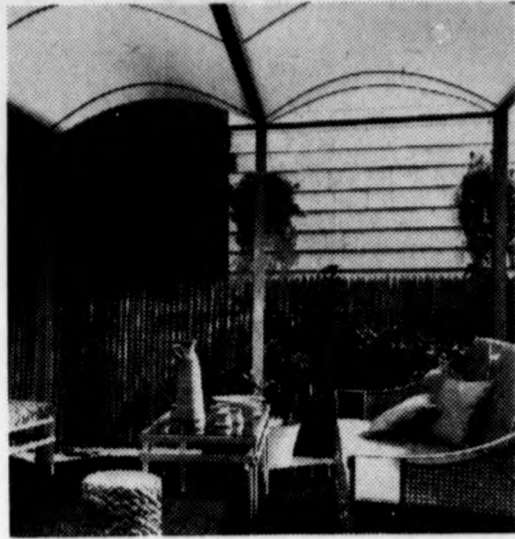

What is the local weather like? Extra protection from rain or sun may be needed.

At what angle does the sun hit the yard at the time the outdoor living area is most likely to be used for sports?

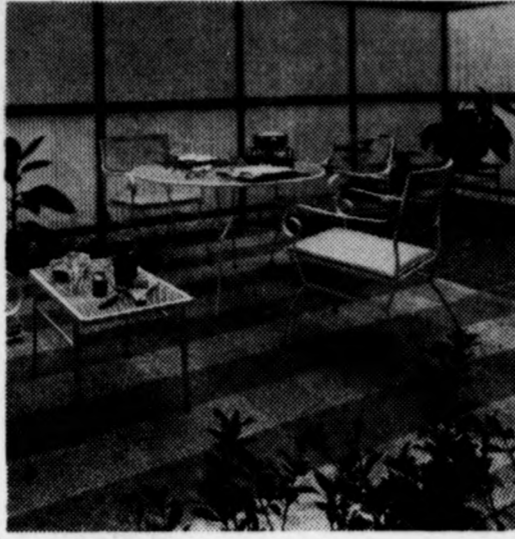

Is a longer season for outdoor living important to the family? Choosing a sunny spot for the terrace, deck or whatever will extend use into the early spring and late fall, while moveable sunshades can offer protection from the mid-summer sun.

Both patios and decks are increasingly popular as outdoor living areas. Patio is the name applied to any open space area, which may or may not have a covering or floor, while decks are a variation on the patio.

A deck can be a small platform for use as an outdoor dining area or larger for more diversified use. At ground lev-

Outdoor Furniture Gets New Life with Paint

Lawn furniture that has taken a beating from exposure to the elements last summer can be re-vitalized with a little paint and a minimum of elbow grease, says the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association.

According to the association, there are three very important things to remember to restore a sparkling look to weather-beaten outdoor furniture. These are proper surface preparation; good application of a quality coating and effective color styling.

In preparing the surface, be sure it is completely clean, scrubbing it thoroughly to remove all dirt. All loose or blistered paint from previous coats must be sanded away. Any glossy areas should be sanded to provide "tooth" for the new paint. All rust must be removed from metal furniture or wooden furniture with metal attachments.

When the furniture is ready to be painted, a quality enamel may be brushed or sprayed on. With the brush method, allow the paint to flow on generously, cross-stroking to spread coating evenly and catch any excess.

The spray method is most recommended for wicker furniture, but remember to cover the surrounding area with dropcloths or newspapers. It is a good idea to choose a calm day if the job is to be done outdoors, to make sure the least dust will be blown onto the wet paint.

White is the traditional color for outdoor furniture, because it adds freshness and in the case of metal furniture stays the coolest under long exposure to the sun.

Container Plants Seen as Answer To Weed Invasion

Now gardeners can achieve that happy goal — "weedless" gardening — with potted plants. No more last ditch efforts to fight off August's annual invasion of weeds with container gardening. Just sit back and watch the plants thrive, virtually without weeds. And it's no trick at all for gardeners who are raising professionally-started plants in red clay pots. Plant growers and nurserymen start seeds and bulbs and root cuttings in soil that has been sterilized by steam at high temperatures.

Investing in Comfort

A modest investment that can add a double value to a home is the dream of most improvement-minded homeowners. Central air-conditioning fulfills this dream, while being easy to install and inexpensive to operate in most homes.

The first added value is air-conditioning's contribution to year-round comfort. The second is that it increases the resale value of a home, usually by considerably more than its cost.

There now are an estimated 2.5 million homes with air-conditioning, and the U.S. Federal Housing Administration has said that within a few years houses without it will probably be obsolescent. Homes with central air-conditioning have a considerable advantage, therefore, on the resale market.

Once it is decided to air-condition a home, there are many points to be considered, such as what size and type of air-conditioning will be most effective, whether existing heating ducts can be utilized, importance of insulation, operating costs, assurances of quality and more.

Because it is built into the house, central air-conditioning gives a home more value. It takes up less interior space, is less obtrusive, more durable and is less expensive to operate than room air-conditioners.

If the house has a forced air heating system, the best bet probably will be a "split system" which locates the condensing unit outside the house and usually places the rest of the system on top of the furnace. This saves space and ordinarily makes it unnecessary to undertake any expensive structural alterations.

Frequently, existing heating ducts can be used for a cooling system, but a lot depends on the size and location of the ducts. The advice of an engineer or contractor should be sought.

If heating ducts are used for cooling, the problem of getting a balanced system arises in multi-level houses. Since hot air rises, most heating systems locate ducts and registers in the lower portion of rooms, and direct most of the warm air to the lower level. But cool air settles, so some adjustment must be made.

This can be accomplished by putting dampers on branch duct lines, so that in the summer most of the air flow can be directed to the upper levels, and by installing multi-directional registers which can direct the air flow into a room up or down, depending on the season.

If the home has more than the FHA-prescribed minimum of insulation, it will cut the operating costs of a heating-cooling system. Insulation of ducts is also vital. Bare metal can "leak" a lot of warm or cool air.

Size of the house, layout of the rooms, number of people in the family all have an effect on operating costs. The amount of glass exposed to East or West affects it too. . . . The sun adds to the cooling load of air-conditioning.

To determine the size equipment needed to cool the house, the climate, number of occupants, exposed glass area, size and layout of the house and insulation should be taken into consideration.

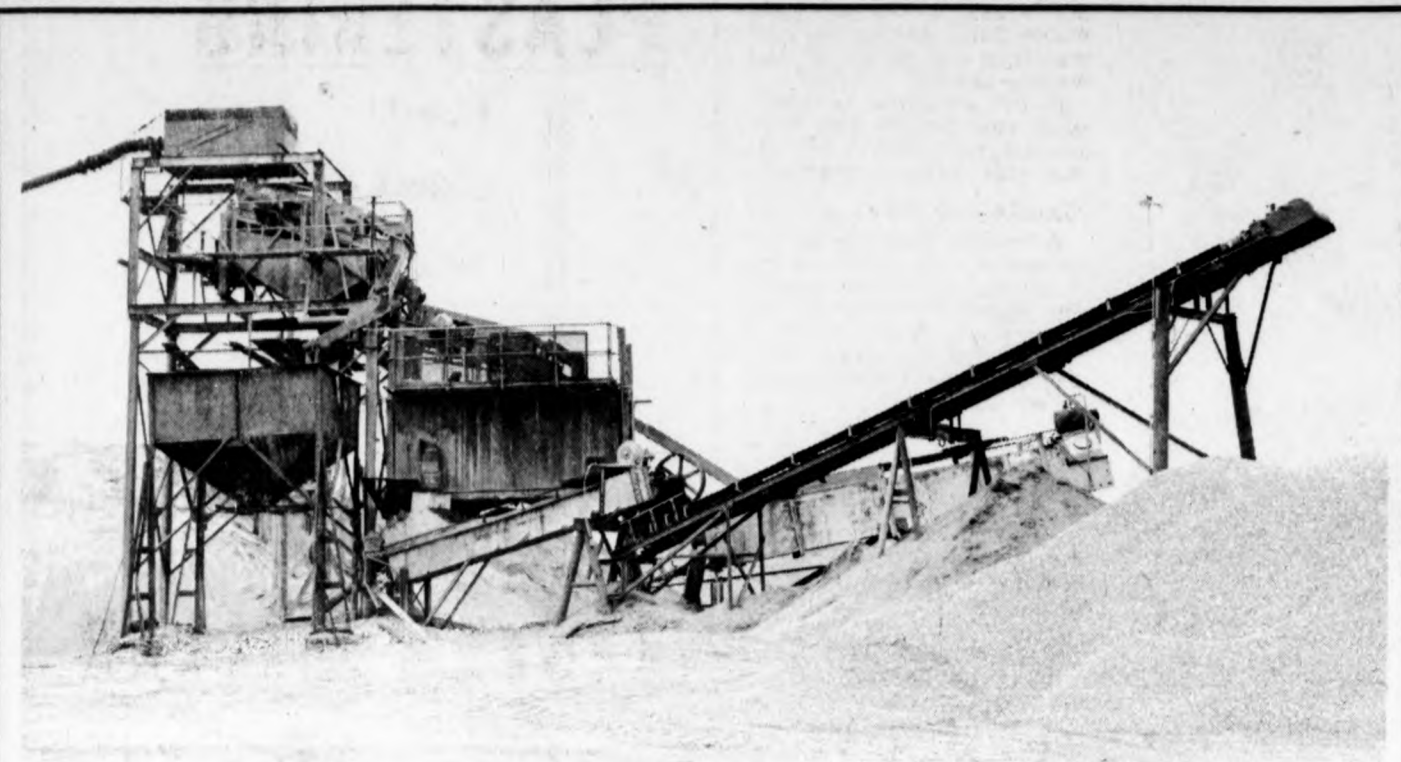

An estimate should be made by a reliable air-conditioning contractor using "ARI Standard 230-62," a guide developed by the Air-Conditioning and Refrigeration Institute and accepted by FHA.

Until a few years ago, equipment was sized by "tons," "horsepower," and "amperes." There is now a program to standardize such ratings as Btu/h. Most manufacturers adhere to this standard, enabling the buyer to judge the capacity of one unit against the other.

The "ARI Seal of Certification" is another assurance of quality, meaning that the manufacturer has agreed to submit test data to the ARI engineers for rigorous testing.

Planning Can Bring Remodeling Rewards

Inside, outside and all around the house, from the basement to the roof and from the indoor family room to the outdoor patio and garden, there's something going on in many, many homes these days — a considerable "something" in the way of home improvements. Families intent on making the old new again, on increasing living space and bettering existing space, on boosting the comfort, convenience, beauty and enjoyment of the entire home and adding substantially to property values, too, are going into action now to make sure their own particular improvements get off to a good start and reach a satisfactory conclusion.

Whether the plans involve repairs, remodeling or expansion, or all three, rewarding results do depend greatly on the "good start." Sound basis for home improvements of any kind is to determine first just what the home needs to put it in top shape and assure the successful completion of new projects. A modern, automatic kitchen, for instance, can't be a dream come true if the house wiring isn't up to the added electrical load, and a central heating-cooling system is apt to be a costly disappointment if the conditions of walls, windows and doors causes dissipation of warm or cool air, in season, to the great outdoors.

Covering Home

Aging and weathering of exterior surfaces often occur when a house still remains structurally sound. This soundness can easily be retained by covering the house with a portland cement masonry coating on a metal lath base to create a brand new facing.

A great variety of finishes is available. For instance, marble or granite chips may be troweled on to provide a choice of textures and colors.

Metal lath makes it possible to use this technique over a variety of materials such as wood siding, brick, cinderblock and concrete, resulting in a new exterior with any desired color.

Due to the versatility of metal lath, shapes may be changed at the same time.

Wiring

Do fuses blow or circuit breakers trip frequently? Do the lights dim when an appliance goes on? Are long extension cords strung around a room? These are signs of a wiring problem — inadequate wiring, inadequate outlets.

Plumbing

Most common plumbing problem is the loss of water pressure from corrosion in the pipes. To test water pressure, turn on all the faucets in the house and flush the water closet.

If water from the faucets dries to a trickle, it can mean future plumbing troubles. Any lime-like accumulations around valve stems is an indication that the valve is leaking.

Hot Water System

Trouble brewing in a tank hot water system shows up first in rust and leaks around the pilot light and burner.

A family of five persons, which has a washing machine, should have a water heater with a minimum capacity of 40 to 50 gallons.

Insulation

To check for adequate wall insulation, place one hand against the inside surface of an exterior wall on a cold day. If it feels much colder than the surface of an interior wall, too much heat is escaping.

Wood Structure

Most common problem in the wood structure of a house is termite damage. Termites eat away at the inside of a beam, leaving no visible signs of their presence. Use a probing tool such as an ice pick. If the pick sinks into a beam with relative ease, termites may be at work.

Roof and Gutters

Loose shingles should be nailed back in place and broken ones replaced. Check the chimney for bird nests or other obstruction which can create a fire hazard. Also examine gutters and downspouts, clearing out accumulated leaves and other debris.

Basements

Signs of a wet basement are dark stains on the walls and floors, flaky cement on the walls and mildew around the wooden beams.

If the home has a crawl space between the first floor and the ground, it is important that it be properly ventilated.

Heating System

A heating plant should be cleaned at least once a year, at the end of the heating season. Inspect the inside of the furnace and boiler for signs of cracking and rust. Check the base for rust and general deterioration.

RING WASHERS

Keep washers and nuts neatly organized on an ordinary spring-type shower curtain ring which snaps open or closed like a key ring. Ring can be hung wherever handy.

SIMPLIFY SANDING

Sand hard-to-reach corners and inside of curved moldings or edges with a sanding stick, made by wrapping sandpaper around a dowel or other stick of appropriate size and shape.

Space-Saving Furnaces Are New Trend

Whatever the type of heating in the home, and whatever the fuel, today's newest trend is certainly towards the compact, space-saving furnace.

Furnaces that will heat an entire home are now so compact that they can be tucked away in a closet. Or, if the furnace is located in the conventional area, the basement, there can still be plenty of room left for a family room or laundry center.

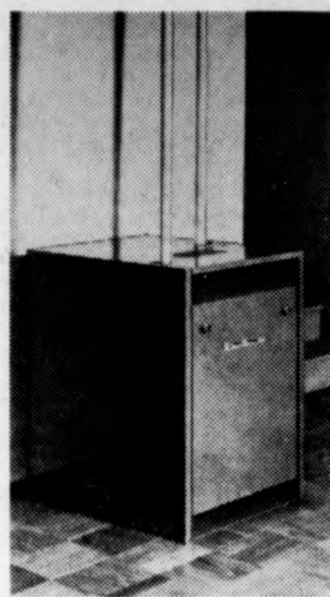

Still another trend is toward the combined heating-cooling system. Homeowners planning to modernize the heating plant might well consider a system that will control the home "climate" in hot weather, too.

When the question of the type of heating to be used comes up, the new developments in hydronic (hot water) heating are worth attention, suggests the Better Heating-Cooling Council.

Over-sized and inconvenient radiators can now be eliminated and replaced by compact wall-hugging, baseboard units which allow much more HIDDEN IN a closet is electric furnace which can heat an entire home. It can also be combined with central air conditioning. By American Furnace Co.

space, and are out of the way. If an entire heating system is to be replaced, hydronic equipment can frequently be connected to existing piping of an old steam or gravity-type hot water system, reducing material and labor costs. New lines of finger-size tubing are easily installed and normally do not require alterations in home construction.

Before installing any heating, it is advisable to get in touch with a heating contractor who will help with the choice of the type of fuel to be used and will also make sure that other remodeling projects will not hinder the heating modernization. His counsel at an early stage may save many problems and expenses.

How to Check On Storms, Screens

Combination storm and screen windows contribute a lot to living comfort — and they contribute still more if they're carefully chosen for lasting performance.

When buying storms and screens, test the units for ease of operation, making sure they work without frantic tugging.

Examine cut-away sections for construction and design. Heavy-gauge extruded aluminum for the frames assures rigidity.

The insect wire screening is an important factor in trouble-free service. Quality windows and doors come equipped with aluminum screening made under a standard issued by the U. S. Department of Commerce, which governs quality of the wire, its tensile strength and mesh size.

Examine the hardware. It should be heavy-gauge aluminum, simply designed but strong.

Beware of skimpy fittings. One indication of quality is the use of substantial gussets (triangular metal reinforcements).

CLEANING WALLPAPERS
Use a warm iron and clean blotter to remove grease stains from wallpaper. Hold blotter over stain and press in place for several minutes. Heat will soften grease and blotter will remove it.

GO MODERN
The most important reason for re-landscaping is the renewal of beauty with more modern combinations of foliage, flowers, barks, and colorful berries. The world has been combed for new plants that will thrive in this country.

Growing Fruits for Family

There is an idle area on every home property that can be put to work raising fruits and vitamins for a growing family. A home fruit garden can become a valuable asset, too, as trees and shrubs produce flowers, fruits and berries for the family table.

While home-grown fruit does help with dollar-stretching advantages that give the food budget more flexibility, its benefits don't stop there. Fruit-bearing trees and shrubs add beauty, giving double pleasure with their flowers that bloom in the spring, their colorful fruits in summer and fall.

Home grown fruit is educational for children. It is a mouth-watering and happy experience for them. It is a gladdening sight to see peaches, pears, plums, apples in flower and fruit, a cellar full at harvest time with a row or two of canned delicacies from your own trees and garden.

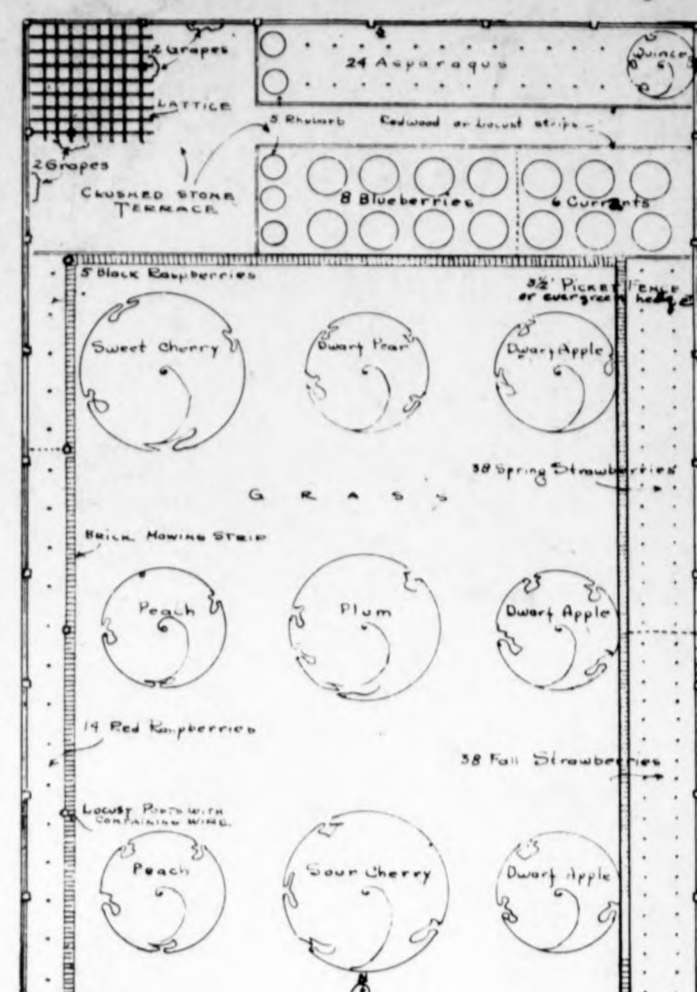

Surplus fruits help in stocking the home freezer, too.

In Southern areas of fruits that can be grown is fantastically large, oranges, avocados, grapefruit, mangos, figs, persimmons and many others, according to the American Association of Nurseriesmen.

Dwarf trees, if available in the type of fruit, are preferred by many families as they require less space, less time to come into bearing, and they are easier to care for. Fruit trees require care, but all-purpose spraying with a simple trombone-type sprayer takes only 15 minutes every ten days or so. Dwarf trees require little pruning, sometimes none.

Success of the home fruit garden depends first of all on proper planning.

For information on the types of fruit-bearing trees and shrubs suitable for planting in this area, consult a local nurseryman. He will be able to help with suggestions for planting and care of the home fruit garden. State extension departments, too, are often a good source of suggestions.

DWARF FRUIT TREES COME TO THE aid of homeowners who want to produce tree-ripened fruits even on small plots. A simple plan for planting can be drawn up on paper, as the plan above. Figure eight to 10 feet apart for dwarf fruit trees, six inches to a foot for strawberry plants, three feet for raspberries, two to three feet for blueberries. Diagram from American Association of Nurseriesmen.

Flowers, Foliage Add Quick Color

Proper selection of professionally-grown container plants and shrubs makes "instant landscaping" an interesting, economical "do-it-yourself" hobby for home owners.

An abundance of good ground-cover plants is always available at your florists' or garden center store. Use them as you please to re-decorate outdoors.

For quick color, take home some geraniums, petunias, azaleas or year-round chrysanthemums in red clay pots. For permanent plantings, you can either empty the healthy root ball from the pots, or plunge your plants, clay pot and all, up to their rims.

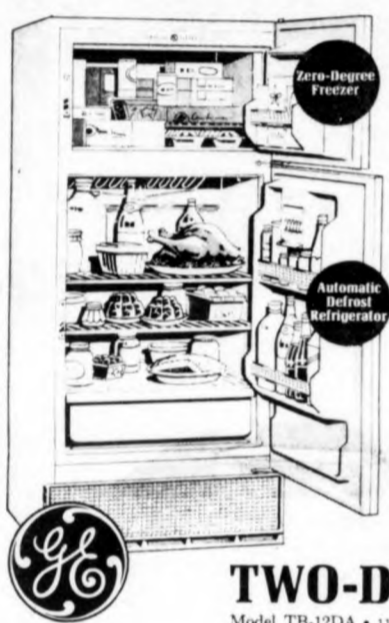

Price, Quality and Service

clip onto one-half-inch thick pressed fiber backer boards, without nailing. The siding overlaps to an eight-inch width exposure.

Preformed vinyl corner caps and J-strips for vertical trim at openings are part of the builder's package.

Important safety features of this siding are that it will not support fire or conduct electricity.

Its high insulating value helps to reduce heating and air conditioning costs.

Brick Veneer

Although brick as a construction material is at least 9,000 years old, men are still discovering new ways to use it around the home. Today, brick veneer is mounting in popularity as a means of resurfacing and renewing home exteriors.

Brick veneer offers qualities of durability, permanence of color, variety of texture and low maintenance. Cost of veneering over old walls, with brick, is often lower than a homeowner may suppose.

Since brick is primarily a locally-produced building product, some varieties and colors may be available only in certain areas. However, in most sections of the country, there is a wide range of brick veneer colors, from white to black, and a great variety of textures, not to mention the many pat-

Diagram Shows Use of Various Plants for Landscaping

A typical landscape plan for an average home property consists of plant arrangements for beauty, flowers, shade and year-round color. A healthful garden living area is included.

The large circles illustrate trees — shade trees near the terrace or garden living area, evergreen trees at rear corners. The planting near the driveway and front door is known as the foundation planting. It presents a colorful, green appearance 12 months of the year.

The garden living area in the rear is attractively planted with trees and shrubs to provide colorful flowers at various seasons, such as dogwood, rosebushes, pieris, Pyracantha, which has brilliant orange or red berries in the fall, Hydrangea, Viburnum and other shrubs.

To obtain the best plant and tree selections for your area the American Association of Nurserymen advises you contact an established nurseryman.

Siding, Veneers Give Exteriors New Life

When it's time to give the exterior of the home a new lease on life, both the possibilities and the advantages are many. With any of a wide choice of sidings and masonry veneers, old walls can be re-covered and renewed, and the result is that the home becomes more attractive, is better protected against the elements and increases in value, too.

For the older home, re-siding provides an opportunity for basic changes that update the exterior by eliminating objectionable architectural details. More recently built homes, in developments where the houses are all pretty much alike, can take on a distinctive, custom-styled appearance with a wise selection of siding colors and textures.

Many modern low maintenance materials are available for exterior renewal projects—sidings such as aluminum or asbestos cement; masonry veneers such as brick, stone or simulated stone.

Mineral Fiber

Factory-finished mineral fiber siding offers a number of benefits.

Mineral fiber siding is color-coated with acrylic plastic, an extremely durable finish. The siding itself, to which the acrylic coating is bonded, is fireproof, warp-proof and rot-proof.

It can be installed right over old walls — over brick, stone, stucco, clapboard or shingles. Installation is done with non-staining nails in colors to match the siding.

When properly installed, the wall needs no attention or servicing other than perhaps an occasional sanding to remove surface dirt.

Mineral fiber panels are available in 12 inch by 24 inch and other sizes, with a choice of deeply embossed colors and textures ranging from brilliant pastels to deeper decorative shades.

Rigid Vinyl

Home renovation with a new rigid vinyl siding provides low maintenance and safety features and insulating qualities, along with attractive appearance. Made entirely of tough, rigid vinyl, this type of siding will not chip, corrode, wear away, blister or peel.

Among the advantages provided with this siding is that no painting is required. An occasional water hosing to remove dust and dirt is said to be sufficient to maintain the siding.

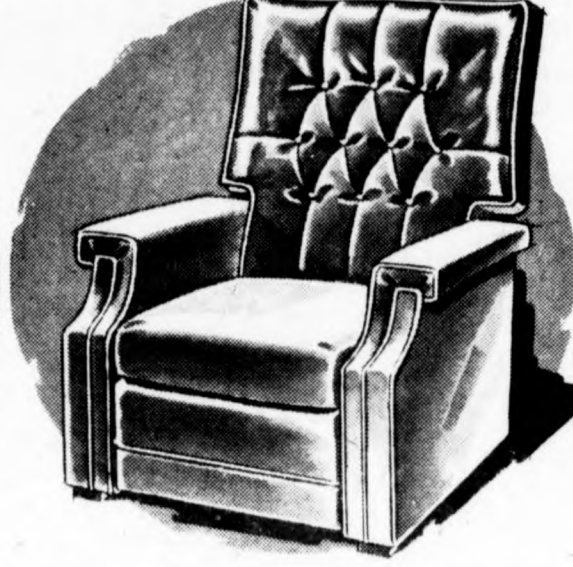

One type of rigid vinyl siding on the market is a complete system of .045 gauge white rigid vinyl clapboards which

Exchange Club votes to send 10 boys to camp
The St. Johns Exchange Club voted last Thursday to send 10 boys to the Mystic Lake YMCA Camp this summer as one of their major youth projects.

The boys would go for 12-day sessions. The camp, for boys 8 through 16 years of age, is on US-10 west of Clare. Decisions on how the boys will be picked have not been made by the local Exchange Club.

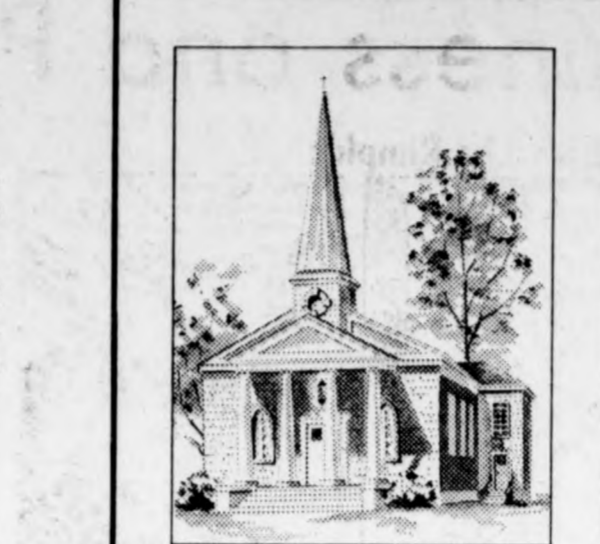

Lee Matthews of the Lansing office of the Michigan Insurance Information Service was guest speaker at last Thursday's meeting of the club. He talked about "Unsung Heroes," who he said were the 2,800,000 average drivers who must bear the brunt of the increases in insurance rates caused by a small percentage of bad drivers.

Program chairman for the day was Leon Brewbaker.

20 Minutes Too Fast?
There lives a man in Coventry, England who says the world's time is 20 minutes too fast. He claims that in 1922 the clocks were changed 20 minutes, and he refuses to have his life cut short by that many minutes. He says his watch has never stopped since that year; and it is 20 minutes "behind the fool's time that everyone else keeps." The man admits that he has been discharged a number of times for being late to work. He has missed many train connections. And he is always 20 minutes late for appointments. His wife keeps what he calls "fool's time," hence there is some friction in his home life. He confidently boasts: "But they won't beat me. I am going to die 20 minutes late to show them I was right." Whether the man is right or wrong regarding "fool's time," he is wrong about dying 20 minutes late. God says, "It is appointed unto men once to die . . ." (Hebrews 9:27). Thus when that time comes, God will not be denied. "Behold now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation" (II Corinthians 6:2). He will thus be ready for his entrance into eternity, whenever that time might be. The same applies to us all, whoever we are.

Comfort... In Time of Sorrow. A story is told of an Indian woman who lost her only child. In great grief she asked a priest to return life to her child. Knowing the sorrow which many suffer, he told the woman to obtain a bowl of rice from a home that had never known sorrow and he would restore the child. After seeking earnestly, the woman returned without the rice. All had suffered sorrow! You need only read a newspaper to learn of sorrow all around you. Tragedy has come to everyone at some time. Persons who have accepted Christ as their personal Saviour find comfort in Him. But many individuals have no one to whom to turn in time of grief. The shortest Bible verse says, "Jesus wept" (John 11:35). If the Son of God knew grief, how much more will the frail human. However, because He suffered all for us, He understands our sorrows and has said, "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest" (Matthew 11:28). Christ, "Who comforteth us in all our tribulation..." (2 Corinthians 1:4), is sufficient for the most difficult of situations. Perhaps your sorrows seem more than you can bear. Write for help and literature of comfort in your time of adversity.
