Plan Sabin polio vaccine clinics in county Sept. 19

The Sabin oral polio vaccine will be offered to Clinton County residents at mass immunization clinics at nine sites Sept. 19 and Nov. 21.

The announcement was made this week by the Fowler Jaycees, the Clinton County Medical Society and the Clinton County Health Office. All three groups are co-operating in the sponsorship of the clinics.

THE SABIN vaccine is administered orally — usually with a few drops on a cube of sugar. It provides lifetime protection against all three strains of polio after the two doses of the vaccine are taken.

It is a live virus which stimulates the body to produce immunity to the virus which produces paralytic polio. Unlike the Salk polio vaccine, it is taken by mouth instead of being injected under the skin.

SOME 50,000 doses of the vaccine were ordered May 18, according to Francis Schafer of the Fowler Jaycees, county Chairman of the Clinton County Polio Vaccine Committee. The vaccine will be delivered—frozen—on the morning of the first clinic.

Schafer is presently lining up persons around the county to take charge of the operations at each of the nine "feeding" stations. They will be located at specific sites to be named later in St. Johns, Elsie, Maple Rapids, Fowler, Westphalia, DeWitt, Bath and Valley Farms. St. Johns will have two stations to accommodate the larger population.

OID IS NOT included in the Clinton County clinics program because that community has already been serviced by Sabin clinics under sponsorship of Shiawassee County.

Dr. F. W. Smith, chairman of the Clinton County Medical Society, is in charge of arranging for the presence of a physician at each of the clinic sites. County Nurse Mrs. Luella Canfield, RN, has a similar duty with the nurses, and Don Roesner will arrange for the pharmacists.

Communication and financial chairman is Roman Koenigsnecht, and Lowell Rinker will handle publicity.

THE POLIO vaccine, called Orimune, is manufactured by Lederle Laboratories, a division of American Cyanamid Co., of Pearl River, N.Y. It is being ordered for Clinton County through a Grand Rapids outlet.

The vaccine that will be used here is a trivalent vaccine, meaning that it will give protection against all three known kinds of polio. Clinics in many communities in the early days of the Sabin vaccine provided monovalent vaccine, and each dose offered protection against one type of polio; thus, three doses were necessary.

ALTHOUGH ALL three are combined in the one trivalent vaccine, two feedings are necessary to insure full protection, the three sponsoring agencies pointed out. The two doses will provide lifetime immunity, they said, under normal conditions.

A 50-cent donation will be asked of all families who use the clinics, but no one will be turned away.

Propose community antenna TV system

The possibility of establishing a community antenna television system for General Telephone customers within the city limits of St. Johns was announced by a meeting of the city commission Tuesday night.

In a letter to City Manager Ken Greer, P. A. Betty, operating vice president of General Telephone Co., said such a project is being considered by GenTel's affiliate, GT & E Communications, Inc.

"CUSTOMERS connected to this antenna system would be provided a reliable high grade television signal on all channels offered for the area contemplated within the city," Betty said.

"While exact rates and the number of channels have not been determined at this time, we feel that the rates applicable for this service, and the number of channels offered will be similar to those now in effect for the same type CATV services existing elsewhere in the state of Michigan."

BETTY REQUESTED that the intent of the company be explored further with the St. Johns city commission. He asked that, "if it is their pleasure," the commission "grant approval to issue a license for our affiliate GT & E Communications, Inc., to operate such a CATV system within that specified area."

The commission's reaction was not known at press time Tuesday evening.

4th of July fun-filled for Clinton

Thousands had "Fun on the Fourth" in Clinton County as near-perfect summer weather made the celebration of Independence Day an enjoyable family event.

The biggest of the celebrations was in St. Johns, where an estimated 7,500 gathered at the city park for an evening of amateur entertainment and a half hour of fireworks.

OTHER THOUSANDS were on hand at Westphalia for the annual St. Mary's Parish Festival. Here it was strictly local groups with games of skill, handicraft items and just plain entertainment. It was a perfect day for visiting with friends, and thousands did just that.

There were 13 amateur acts on the St. Johns park bandshell stage Sunday night, and the youngsters played before an estimated 1,500.

Country club here building swim pool

By the middle or latter part of this month, members of the Clinton County Country Club will be taking dips in their modern, new swimming pool.

The 24- by 50- by 40-foot pool now under construction immediately south of the clubhouse, practically under the first tee on the golf course. The pool will be 40 feet wide at its shallow end, 24 feet wide at the deep end and will be 50 feet long.

AT ITS deepest point there will be 9 1/2 feet of water. A one-meter diving board, similar to the small board at the St. Johns swimming pool, will be available.

MRS. ROBERT MERRILL

Mrs. Robert Merrill of 509 E. Walker Street has resigned as a member of the St. Johns Library Board after serving on that group for 25 years. She had been secretary of the board since it was formed in January 1940. Mrs. Merrill's letter of resignation was accepted by the city commission Tuesday night with the same reluctance that the library board also accepted it.

The pool is part of a long-range improvement program at the country club. Plans for a 15 by 78 1/2-foot porch on the west side of the clubhouse already are in the hands of the architect, and work will start on it before too long.

Farther in the future are such facilities as exercising rooms, watered golfing fairways and development of winter sports. "We want to make this club one for the entire family to use," Ralph Lynam, president of the country club board, said.

THE POOL was one of the improvement projects brought up in a serious vane this spring at the country club's organizational meeting. The Rollick Distributing Co. of Grand Rapids, which builds "Award Pools," was hired.

Excavation for the pool began last Tuesday morning, with that phase of the work being done by Searles Excavating Co. of St. Johns. Randolph Ready-Mix began the delivery of concrete for the floor of the pool Friday morning.

WITH THE completion of the concrete work and installation of about 2,500 square feet of patio area around the pool, the finishing plaster coat will be put on the floor and walls of the pool. Swimmers will be able to get wet immediately after this phase is done in about a week or so, Lynam said.

The country club's "Marble-lite" pool is one of the biggest types of pools built by the Rollick firm. The size of the pool here is bigger than the one at Williamston and is wider, though not longer, than the one at Grand Ledge, Lynam said.

THE COUNTRY Club board plans to provide classes in swimming for its members and will have qualified, certified instructors. Teaching lanes will be set up to run across the wide, shallow end of the pool.

Members of the country club board are Lynam, Larry Sexton, Ed McLuckie, Gene Wild, Tony Tiedt, Paul Schueller and Ken Penix. Robert Hankey is the club manager.

Catholics drop first grade plan

St. Joseph Catholic School has dropped plans for operating its first grade this fall, and the 89 students registered there will have to be absorbed into the public school system.

The announcement was made late last week by Bishop Joseph M. Green and Earl Lancaster, superintendent of St. Johns Public Schools.

The decision to not operate first grade classes was made June 25 by the new parish school board, Bishop Green said.

He said no results have been achieved in attempts to hire three teachers for next year, and this lack of teachers was the big reason for the decision.

"WE COULD HAVE let this go and kept trying to get teachers up to the last of August," Bishop Green said, "but chances are we wouldn't have had any luck then either. We made the decision now so that our school and the public school can have more time to make definite plans."

No definite plans have been made yet for handling the pupils in the public school system. Supt. Lancaster said arrangements have been made to rent space in the St. Joseph School for holding classes there, but now there is still the problem of teachers for them.

THE PUBLIC school district has no choice but to accept the students who reside in the district, Lancaster said. But which students go to which schools is the question to be worked out. Lancaster was to present the problem to the school board at its regular meeting Wednesday night.

The dropping of the first grade at the St. Joseph Catholic School is only temporary, Bishop Green said, because of the lack of teachers for next year. A similar situation arose about three years ago, he said, when the public schools took the children for a year.

ST. JOSEPH School has an enrollment for next year of 575—which includes the 89 students signed up for the first grade. Bishop Green said this all-time-high enrollment also had an effect on the decision of the parish school board.

There are now 40 students per room at St. Joseph School, much more than in the public school system. With the higher enrollment, Bishop Green said, it would

Telethon Wednesday hunts blood donors

Previous blood donors will be asked Wednesday to pledge another pint in order to help keep Clinton County in the national Blood Bank program.

Local Red Cross volunteer workers from St. Johns will call previous donors and ask for pledges of a pint of blood at the semi-annual visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile to St. Johns July 20. Local officials hope to get 225 pints of blood this summer, which would be a new record here.

THE BLOODMOBILE will set up facilities in the basement of the First Methodist Church between noon and 6 p.m.

Volunteers who will conduct the Bloodmobile Telethon next Wednesday night are Mrs. Leonard Puetz, Mrs. Jerry Stone, Mrs. Steven Hopko, and Mrs. Thelma Acton. Mrs. Kenneth Spicer, chairman of the Bloodmobile drive here, will also be present.

MEMBERS OF the St. Joseph School Board include Dr. James Grost, Mrs. Norman Irner, Lewis Kramer, Anthony Kuntz, Bob LaBrie, Herman Pohl and Dennis Rademacher.

ONLY TAXPAYERS are eligible to vote, according to Mrs. Stanley McCrumb, president of the Eagle Village School Board. Polls will be open Saturday from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Eagle Village Hall.

THE TRANSFER of the students from the parochial school to the St. Johns Public Schools has not entirely erased Bishop Green's teacher problem. He still is one teacher short for next year.

THE new parish school board was named by the bishop recently to represent the various categories of people in the St. Joseph Catholic Church parish. Bishop Green said this was in line with a diocesan-wide effort to form school boards to help to better communications between the school and the parish and the public.

ISSUE NO. 3 is for the assumption by the Eagle voters of their pro rata share of the 1962 unlimited tax bonded indebtedness of the Portland Public Schools.

High school age students from the Eagle community have been going to Portland High School on a tuition basis for several years. It is eight miles from Portland and about six from Grand Ledge.

Bond, finance officer; Clare Feneis, chaplain; Rex Sirrine, historian; Walter Russell, adjutant; Peter Welter, sergeant-at-arms; and Dale F. Eagle votes on school annexation

EAGLE — Eagle Village School District voters will decide Saturday whether or not to annex to the Portland Public Schools District.

Three issues will be voted on, and each must pass in order to complete the annexation. Issue No. 1 is the annexation proposition itself. Issue No. 2 is for limitation of 3 mills which may be assessed against the residents of the district for three years to provide additional operating funds. This 3-mill tax is presently in effect in Portland.

High school age students from the Eagle community have been going to Portland High School on a tuition basis for several years. It is eight miles from Portland and about six from Grand Ledge.

ONLY TAXPAYERS are eligible to vote, according to Mrs. Stanley McCrumb, president of the Eagle Village School Board. Polls will be open Saturday from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Eagle Village Hall.

THE Eagle village school district is one of three Eagle area districts which will eventually vote on the annexation to Portland. The Eagle 9 (North Eagle) district has scheduled an election on the same question for July 26. The Eagle 8 (Brown) district has also received state permission to hold an annexation election.

Looking over the plans for the new Clinton County Country Club swimming pool with the contractor are several of the directors of the club. Left to right are Larry Sexton, President Ralph Lynam, contractor Gary Hicks of Grand Rapids, Ed McLuckie and Robert Hankey, country club manager. The pool, taking shape behind the men, is expected to be finished yet this month.

Local Adventists taking part in big convention

Among more than 300 ministers, teachers and youth leaders assisting at the annual Adventist Convention at Grand Ledge is Bernard K. Mills, pastor of the St. Johns Seventh-day Adventist Church. Pastor Mills is helping to "pitch camp" for the convocation which will run from July 8-17.

Sabbath school and church leaders of the local congregation on North Lansing Street are laying plans this week for participation at the 97th annual camp. "Our members will transfer their regular Saturday program to this large religious convocation," Carl Mosher said. "Our offerings will be given there and officials of our local Sabbath school will function there if asked to."

DR R. L. WOHLERS, elder of the local church, said that worship services for St. Johns members would also emanate from the Grand Ledge campsite for the two weekends. He indicated that members will hear top church officials at the two Saturday morning services.

"This is the most looked-forward-to religious occasion of our church," Dr. Wohlers said of the coming session. "Members will hear spiritual messages from out-standing church officials, fellowship with other Adventists from all over Michigan and some neighboring states and will emphasize the spiritual direction of their lives."

THIS SATURDAY morning, July 10, at 10:45 a.m., the speaker will be Pastor W. E. Murray of Washington, D. C., who is a general vice-president of the denomination's General Conference.

Features of the 10-day session include a full line of meetings beginning with the early morning devotional service at 6:30 a.m. and climaxed with the evening preaching service at 7:30 p.m. Leading church officials from the international headquarters of the church, Washington D. C., will be among the guest speakers.

The Grand Ledge campsite is a temporary "city" having well-laid out streets and avenues and "house" numbers for the cabins, tents and trailers. Traffic police and watchmen are on 24-hour duty.

EACH FRIDAY evening at sunset, the Seventh-Day Adventists usher in their day of worship which lasts until sunset Saturday. No work or commercial activity will be carried on at the 42-acre campgrounds during that time, in accord with Biblical instructions on which Adventists base their worship beliefs.

The public and all friends of the church are always welcome at any and all services of the church.

RHONDA Woodbury, 12, of St. Johns, was judged the best act on the basis of her organ numbers, "Stout-Hearted Men" and "Tea for Two." Awarded second-place honors was Julia Silvestri, 13, also of St. Johns, who played three numbers on the electronic accordion.

Third place was The Hi-Steppers, made up of Ruth Willette, Wendy Ward, Linda Cole and Pam Moore, all of St. Johns. Mary Ann Butler, 12, of St. Johns, was fourth, selected on the basis of her soprano vocal number. Fifth place went to Scott Younglove of R-1, DeWitt for his vocal solo.

The contestants were judged both Saturday and Sunday evenings, with the selection of the winners being made Sunday, Friday night they performed, too, but it was in the form of a rehearsal.

Others on the talent program were Meredith Jones, 7, of Owosso, with several vocal numbers; Vito Silvestri, 11, of St. Johns, accordion solo; Pam Moore, 10, of St. Johns, a tap dance; Mary Ann Schrauben, 14, of Fowler, accordion solo; Robert Wesner, 13, of Fowler, accordion solo; Susan Diehl, 16, of St. Johns, piano solo; and Hoagy and the Hurricanes (Eldon Hofacker, Douglas Mole and Chipper Seward of Ovid) with several rock 'n roll numbers.

THE TALENT show was put on by the St. Johns Lions Club, with Ralph Lynam as chairman and master of ceremonies, and Jerry Knupp as co-chairman. Assisting with the arrangements and scheduling was Bonnie Sharick.

The St. Johns firemen gave away several items during the evening. One was a steer, won by Mary Masarik of St. Johns. A girl's bicycle was won by Margerite Rositas of 700 S. Church Street, St. Johns, and a boy's bicycle went to Billy Root of Ann Arbor.

THE HIGHLIGHT of the evening was a 30-minute fireworks display viewed by more than 7,500 people scattered around the city park and as far away as Townsend Road to the south. An estimated 3,000 were in the grandstands on either side of the football field.

The brilliant fireworks display, put on by the St. Johns Fire Department, drew spontaneous bursts of applause from the happy crowd numerous times during the display. A finale burst of fireworks and bombs drew continued applause and horn-honking.

Annual Chamber dinner tonight

The St. Johns Chamber of Commerce's annual dinner meeting will be held tonight (Thursday) at the Clinton County Country Club.

The dinner at 7:30 and program at 8:30 will be preceded by a Dutch treat cocktail hour at 6:30. The program will consist of a slide presentation by Larry Cook and James Home of the Michigan Conservation Department dealing with the new Sleepy Hollow State Park.

Results of a mail election carried on this week for three new Chamber board members will be announced at the meeting.

Car hits rear of stopped auto

No one was hurt Friday evening in a rear-end collision at US-27 and Cass Street in St. Johns. City Police Officer James Stiffler reported a car driven by Russell L. Rieves, 17, of 308 Clement Road, Lansing, had stopped in the traffic lane waiting for the traffic light to change.

Another car driven by Jerry M. Bugant, 20, of R-1, Carson City, hit Rieves' car in the rear. Both were driving north on US-27. The accident occurred at 6:10 p.m.

Telethon

by the General Telephone Co., and William Graef, local GenTel manager.

The volunteers will call as many previous donors as they can and ask them if they will give another pint of blood July 20. Persons who are not contacted next Wednesday evening, but who would like to give a pint of blood, are invited to call Mrs Bob Rand at 224-4485, or Mrs Howard Woodbury at 224-2838.

"WE'D LIKE TO be able to know how many persons will donate so that we can be sure to have ample Red Cross facilities here July 20," Mrs Spicer said in explaining the Telethon. "Please try to let us know if you can come. But if you can't let us know, come anyway."

"Walk-in" volunteers — those who come in to donate a pint of blood on the spur of the moment — are extremely important to the continuing Bloodbank program in Clinton County. Mrs Spicer explained that with the normal amount of deaths, people moving and people not being home, the number of previous donors who can be depended on constantly decreases.

"THE WALK-IN blood volunteers keep our number of donors at a healthy level," Mrs Spicer said. "We like to see first-time donors, even if they aren't able to let us know they're coming."

The Telethon workers will answer questions concerning the Bloodbank program. In brief, it is a program which allows any county resident to obtain needed blood free of charge anywhere in the United States; only a fee for administering it is charged. But in order to have this advantageous status, Clinton County must produce a relatively equal number of pints of blood to replace that used up by residents. Blood given at the Bloodmobile visits keeps the county in the program.

LAST WINTER'S record - high number of donors — 215 — created a traffic jam at the Bloodmobile site, but Red Cross officials here think they have that problem licked if it should occur again.

A number will be issued to each person coming in to donate blood, and the system will make it sure no one will lose their turn in the line.

THE TWO and a half hours after 3:30 are usually the heaviest in number of donors, and persons who can donate between 1 and 3:30 are asked to do so. This will cut down on the waiting time for the donor and also for those who aren't able to come until after 3:30.

Head Start classes begin

Project Head Start, the summer program aimed at giving the slow, shy, immature or underprivileged child a needed head start on kindergarten next fall, rolled into motion Tuesday. About 225 youngsters attended the first classes in 15 rooms around Clinton County.

In St. Johns School District, three classrooms were in session, and each had the limit of 15 pupils per room. They were located at Perrin-Palmer and Swegles schools in the city and at the Olive Center school in the rural part of the district.

ELSEWHERE IN the county, there were three rooms of Head Start classes at Sheridan Road School, two each at Valley Farms and Bath, and one each at Ovid.

Elsie, Fowler, DeWitt and Pewamo-Westphalia.

The Project Head Start program in Clinton County will continue through Aug. 13. It is aimed at offering opportunities for a child's growth and development along the lines of education. It deals with all aspects of a child's educational and physical preparations for entering school with other children next fall.

EACH OF the 15 classrooms in the county has a certified teacher and two assistants.

The Clinton County Road Commission's annual employee picnic will be held July 26 at the St. Johns Municipal Park, according to Bruce Woodbury, picnic chairman.

Disputed water bill cut in half

The City of St. Johns and Richards' Dairy came to an agreement last Tuesday night over a long-standing outstanding water bill in the amount of $1,864.76.

The bill was for some 12,000,000 gallons of water metered at the then - Matthews Ice Cream Plant at 110 W. Walker Street during the last two quarters of 1964. Payment had been withheld pending a study by the city.

BILL RICHARDS Jr., the present owner, and James C. Matthews, the former owner, pointed out that the two readings of six million or more gallons each was about three times more than they had used in any quarter prior to those two, or in the first quarter of this year.

The city claimed the meter was checked out and found to be operating even in favor of the ice cream plant, and that the water-using equipment at the plant was capable of using the amount of water charged for.

RICHARDS and Matthews pointed out that tests made in the presence of city representatives showed that the city's water pressure was not capable of putting enough water through the meter, even at times of peak pressure, to account for so much usage. Besides, they repeated, the readings for those two quarters were not anywhere near in line with previous readings, and the ice cream plant had made no changes in their water requirements.

The water bill for the two quarters had not been paid pending a study of the situation. But Richards and Matthews, and the city, all wanted the question be settled.

THE COMMISSION finally voted to chop the water bill for those two quarters in half, making it $932.38 for the two quarters. The dairy firm has already paid its water bill for the first quarter of this year, based on a metered amount similar to readings prior to the trouble, or about two million gallons per quarter.

2-car collision injures 3

Three women and a young boy were injured last Wednesday morning in a two-car collision at the corner of State Street and Oakland Street in St. Johns.

Most seriously injured was Mrs. Clara C. King, 70, of Co-runna, whose car reportedly ran the stop sign at the intersection and slammed into the other car broadside. It was driven by Mrs. Sharon K. St. John, 23, of 200 W. Gibbs Street, St. Johns.

MRS. KING suffered cuts and bruises and was hospitalized at Clinton Memorial Hospital. She was discharged Thursday. Mrs. St. John and her two-year-old son, Kurt, suffered bruises; they were treated at the hospital and then released.

City Police Officer Lyle French said that after the collision, Mrs. St. John's auto swerved into a no parking sign and a tree on the northeast corner of the intersection, taking a huge chunk of bark off the tree. Her car was extensively damaged in both the right side and the left front.

MRS. KING was given a ticket for failure to yield the right-of-way.

She was traveling north on Oakland Street when her car collided with Mrs. St. John's car, going east on State Street. The accident occurred at 9:50 a.m.

June water use figures reported

June water usage by customers of the City of St. Johns amounted to 43,919,000 gallons—7,500,000 gallons more than in June last year.

The monthly water report issued this week showed an average pumping rate per day during June of 1,463,966 gallons. The highest amount of water pumped was 1,731,000 gallons on June 22; the smallest amount was 1,256,000 on June 1.

During June 1964, some 36,388,000 gallons of water was used, an average of 1,229,600 gallons per day.

This is the car driven by Mrs. Sharon St. John, which struck a no parking sign and tree last Wednesday morning at State and Oakland streets in St. Johns. The car also has a caved-in right front door where it was first hit by another car, which caused Mrs. St. John to lose control. She and her two-year-old son suffered bruises. The driver of the other car was hospitalized.

Musical 'Lute Song' next for Ledges players

Exotic China comes to life next week as Dave Hundhausen and Margaret Woodbury star in the Ledges Playhouse presentation of the "Lute Song," a musical play.

This lively story, playing July 13-17, was first shown on Broadway with Mary Martin as the star. The story has an ancient Chinese background. It relates the tale of a young Chinese scholar persuaded by his father to leave home and family to gain high honors in an emperor's court.

ONCE AT THE court, he is, however, commanded to marry a princess of royal lineage and join the royal household. His young wife remains at home caring for her husband's parents and maintaining Chinese life in the traditional manner.

The story of the devotion between this young couple divided by circumstances makes up the major thread of the tale. A point of great interest in the production is the journey of the wife in search of her scholar husband. This takes her to an auction where hair is bought and sold. Through a colorful, mystic, oriental scene, genres appear to offer help.

MURRELL GEHMAN will be seen as the young princess who assists the couple in bringing the play to a happy conclusion. Lael Woodbury and Patricia Pierce will be seen as the parents, all of whom are familiar to Ledges Playhouse patrons. Ray Jones will play the role of the prince.

Playing this week is the exciting mystery, "The Sound of Murder."

While most other bears hibernate for the winter, the polar bear stays awake and is very lively all year long.

Included were about 200 old tires, valued at 75 cents each, from Jack Rhynard Tire Service, 1411 N. US-27. July board session routine

The Clinton County board of Supervisors bounced back quickly after the Fourth of July holiday and conducted their July business into the late afternoon hours Tuesday.

The work was of a routine nature, and much of it concerned their own procedures and direction of activity. William Buck, mayor of the new City of DeWitt, was formally seated as a member of the board of supervisors, bringing the number on the board to 21. Another DeWitt member, still to be appointed by DeWitt, will be seated on the board at a later date.

AMONG THE items of business brought before the board Tuesday were these:

—The board approved payment of $11,573 to the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission as the county's share in the operation of that commission.

—Supervisors authorized the building and grounds committee to see that "suitable interior walls" be provided for the new supervisors room in the new courthouse. The motion was made by Supervisor Derrill Shinabery who said he thought a building as fine as the new courthouse wing should have walls of better quality than painted concrete blocks which are provided for in the contract. The motion carried unanimously, with the building and grounds committee now having power to act in the matter.

—CONSERVATION Department personnel informed the board that two special antlerless deer hunting areas are planned in the county for this fall. They include the Maple River area in northwestern Clinton County and the Rose Lake area in southeastern Clinton, extreme northern Ingham and southwestern Shiawassee County.

Board Chairman Almond Cressman remains hospitalized at Clinton Memorial Hospital with a blood clot in his leg, and he was unable to attend the meeting. The chair was occupied by immediate past Chairman Charles Coletta.

Firemen and passersby inspect the charred automobile belonging to Dave Jackett of Davison, Mich., after it was destroyed by fire Sunday afternoon.

Firemen take time out to battle car fire

St. Johns firemen took time out from their festival activities Sunday afternoon to help a Davison motorist in distress, but they couldn't save his car.

The department got an emergency call from a citizen's band radio user that a car was on fire at French's Corners four miles north of St. Johns. Two trucks were dispatched—one from the city park—to the scene, but the car was totally destroyed.

THE 1965 PLYMOUTH was driven by Dave Jackett of Davison, who was driving south on US-27. Defective wiring or a cigarette tossed from another car was tentatively blamed for the blaze, which started in the back seat of the auto.

Jackett noticed the fire about a half-mile north of French's Corners. About a quarter-mile north he tossed out the back seat onto the roadside, but the car continued burning, so he drove to the corner restaurant. It was closed, however. The citizen's bander came along and radioed for help.

JACKETT HAD some singed hair but was not hurt. The fire reduced the inside of the car to ashes and melted metal.

The fire call came in about 2:30 p.m. Later in the afternoon, firemen got another call—this time to get a cat out of a tree at 301 E. Walker. The cat eluded them.

Car backs into another

Two cars collided on Ross Street Saturday morning as one was backing from a parking place at Central Michigan Lumber Co. Police Officer Lyle French said Charles L. Frost, 23, of 110 N. Lansing, was backing out of a driveway and struck an eastbound car driven by Onalee M. Shipley of 701 N. Mead. Frost said a parked truck blocked his view as he was backing.

Dangerous age

Two-year-old boys run a higher risk of accidental injury than any other age-sex category, a recent New York City study indicates. Male Toddlers of this age group had a 75 per cent higher accident rate than all other classifications.

Higgins-Stone vows repeated at St. Joseph

Miss Eugenia Ann Higgins, daughter of Mr and Mrs Kenneth Higgins of Albion, and John Peter Stone, son of Mr and Mrs Frank Stone of St. Johns, exchanged nuptial vows Saturday, June 26, at St. Joseph Catholic Church in St. Johns.

The bride wore a white silk dress of sheath style and cocktail length and a white lace coat. A petted headdress held her veil. She carried white pompons and yellow roses in a colonial bouquet.

Her maid of honor, Miss Allison Kay Knox of Saginaw, wore a white and yellow print dress and carried yellow and white daisies.

DR THOMAS Stone of Garden City was best man.

A dinner at Daley's Restaurant followed the ceremony.

The newlyweds then left on a wedding trip to Florida and the Bahama Islands. When they return, they will make their home at 1312 Haslett Road, Apt. 8, East Lansing.

The bride is a 1964 graduate of Central Michigan University and was affiliated with the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. Her husband, a 1963 graduate of the same school, was a Pi Kappa Phi fraternity.

Gladys Motz, daughter of Mr and Mrs Joseph Motz, 5191 E. Park Road, St. Johns, has earned a place on the Alma College Dean's List for the spring semester, according to Miss Molly Parrish, Alma College Registrar.

Placement on the Dean's List is for recognition of outstanding scholarship during the previous semester. A 3.50 (B-plus) average is required for this honor.

Mrs Eisinger new library board chairman

Mrs Virginia Eisinger was elected chairman at the first annual meeting of the Clinton County Library Board July 1. Mrs Elizabeth Hess was named vice chairman and Mrs Beulah Balantine secretary.

The board voted to distribute the balance of the 1964 penal fines money to the existing libraries in the county on a per-capita basis of the number of registrations outside their service area.

THE ALLOTMENTS were as follows: St. Johns $5,974.00, DeWitt $979.10, Ovid $1,008.10, Elsie $924.35, and Maple Rapids $100.

Ovid has been established as a district library this year and Fowler has started to work for a library. Westphalia and Bath have approached the board with tentative plans for libraries in the near future.

Cracked crocs?

Crocodiles in the Nile River are "stoned" all the time without ever touching a drop of liquor. According to zoologists, the huge lizards swallow about 10 pounds of stones to overcome their natural top-heaviness. Without the stones as ballast, the crocs would wallow in the water like empty cargo ships.

PROTECTION AGAINST BIG BILLS

For protection against big medical and hospital bills, the average American family today spends about $75 a year in insurance premiums. That's a good buy . . . no question. But here's an even better buy: For only $32 a year, the average family gets all the potent prescription drugs it needs to keep big medical and hospital bills from ever coming up. That's why we say . . . TODAY'S PRESCRIPTION IS THE BIGGEST BARGAIN IN HISTORY

7,000 DEATHS THEN ... 310 NOW Two decades ago, 7,000 children died every year of whooping cough. Last year, only 310 children died of whooping cough. What explains the difference? It's the new wonder drugs . . . unknown two decades ago. Priceless drugs? Sure! Yet the price of the average prescription hasn't gone up any more in 20 years than has the price of a pound of coffee. SHIRLEY COBB

ALAN COBB

Two Cobb children to visit Finland

ELSIE—Mannerheimintie 87A-12, Helsinki, Finland, will be home of 11-year-old Alan Cobb and his sister, Shirley, during the next five weeks.

Their parents, Mr and Mrs Andrew W. Cobb, and other members of the family will see them off from Metropolitan Airport in Detroit. They will return Aug. 14.

They will visit their Finnish "sister" Pirkko Irmell Kukkonen and her parents, Mr and Mrs Nillo Kukkonen.

Pirkko lived with the Cobb family as an exchange student during 1962 and 1963, graduating from Elsie High School along with Martha, another of the five Cobb children.

When Pirkko returned to Finland two years ago, she invited the family to visit her native land.

ALAN RESOLVED to make the trip as soon as he could save the necessary funds. He began a 4-H chicken project and since then has delivered fresh eggs to customers every Saturday.

As Alan's plans progressed, his sister, Shirley, who is a senior at Michigan State University decided to forego her summer school term and accompany her young brother. She saved her money from employment at the MSU Kellogg Center.

A home economic major, Shirley plans to do some research on Finnish foods while there.

They will visit Johannes Vagren, a cousin of their father who lives with his family in Vasa, Finland.

SINCE Alan has completed two years of 4-H work and Shirley, 11 years, they plan to include a visit to the Finnish National 4-H Officer for an exchange of ideas.

Recently, Alan and Shirley appeared on "Rural News Reel," a Detroit TV program to discuss their 4-H activities and plans for the trip with Dick Arnold, coordinator.

Upon their return, they will again be interviewed on this farm hour program.

When Pirkko lived here with the Cobb family, she was also initiated into 4-H work.

She chose sewing and food preparation as projects.

PIRKKO'S father, a philatelist, is manager of the Postal Museum and her mother, Aune, has a position with the Finnish Foreign Trade Assn.

Pirkko has completed two years at the University of Helsinki where she plans to continue her study of languages and prepare for diplomatic service.

Shirley, who has been spending the past three weeks with her parents before leaving for Finland, was recently tendered a Bon Voyage and birthday party by her colleagues and staff of State Room, Kellogg Center, where she has been employed the past year.

Next fall, she will practice teach in home economics at Flint, while Alan will enter the 6th grade at Elsie's Knight Elementary School.

Park echoes with sounds of young boys, baseball

Scheduled baseball competition between boys participating in the St. Johns Recreation Department summer program got under way last Thursday morning at the city park.

Four teams are playing in each of the PeeWee, Midget and Pony leagues. As of Friday, some of the teams did not have a full nine-man roster, but they were close to it, and the boys were playing games.

BOYS WHO want to play on the teams, but who have not yet signed up, still have time to do so, according to Recreation Director Ron Dugas. Registration for the teams will continue through next week, he said, to allow as many boys to play as possible.

Coach Bill Smiley, who heads up the baseball program of the Recreation Department, conducts individual and team coaching sessions each weekday morning between 8 a.m. and 9 a.m.

AT 9 A.M., PONY League games get under way on the main diamond and usually last until about 10:30, when the Midget League teams begin their games. The PeeWee League games are played at diamond No. 2, east of the main diamond, at 10 a.m.

The PeeWee League players are between the 8- and 10-years-

Prepare new diamond for Little League use

A new baseball diamond in St. Johns for use by Little League teams is being prepared on land owned by Saylor-Beall Manufacturing Co. just off Scott Road.

The diamond may be ready for play during the week of July 19.

Use of the land for the Little League play was donated by Saylor-Beall, but they cautioned against any permanent facilities there because of possible eventual use of the land for industrial or other purposes.

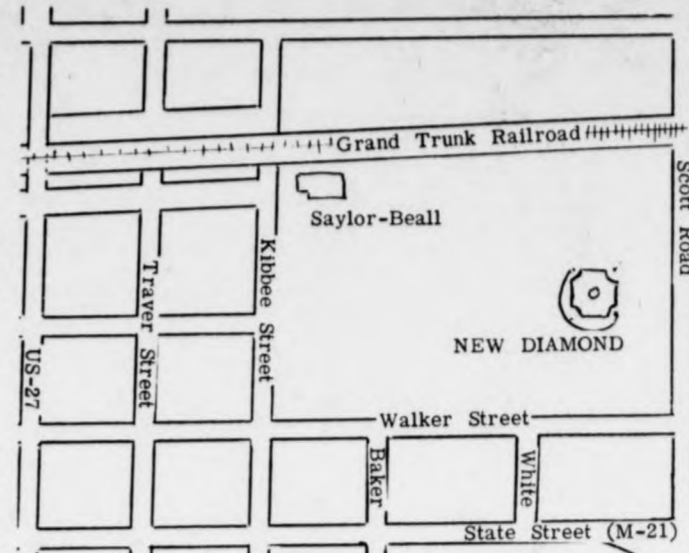

"THE LITTLE League program is a very good one," Saylor-Beall General Manager Russell Allman said last week. "The kids always have a real good time and they're well supervised. We're glad to be able to help them out."

There has been a real need in St. Johns for a baseball diamond to augment the two at the city park. William Smiley, high school coach who is heading up the Little League program, said the new diamond for the Little League will take the burden of the city's park diamond, which is much in demand.

LITTLE LEAGUE managers and coaches were instrumental in working out arrangements for the use of the Saylor-Beall land for the diamond. These men include Jack Downing, Gordon Matter, Lyle French, Lee Pederson, Sheldon Parker, Elton Hufnagle, George Eberhard, Roger Shutes, Louie Eisler, Sonny Estes, Norm Rademacher, Herb Estes Jr., Elliott Berkhausen, Ken Spicer, Ray Rademacher, Bob Roof, Bob Lublow and Ed Riley.

The new diamond is located on a 14-acre plot of land, with an entrance off Scott Road halfway between Walker Street and the Grand Trunk Railroad tracks. Home plate is at the northeast corner of the diamond, and foul lines run west and south. The left field foul line is about 200 feet or so from Scott Road.

THE DIAMOND will have a grass infield and outfield and dirt base paths. It will be a regulation Little League field—60 feet between bases, 180 feet from home plate to center field fence

Map locates the new baseball diamond for Little League now under construction just off Scott Road.

Women's swim classes set

Swimming classes for adult women will begin this Monday evening at 8:30 at the St. Johns swimming pool.

Registration can be made any evening at the pool. A fee of $5 will be charged for the two-week, 10-lesson course. Classes will meet Monday through Friday evenings between 8:30 and 9:30 p.m.

The swimming pool will be closed to others during the time of lessons. During those two weeks, open swimming will be permitted only from 7 to 8:30 p.m. instead of 9 p.m.

Hire summer tennis instructor

Dick Cornwell, a member of the undefeated St. Johns High School tennis team this past spring, has been hired as tennis instructor for the city's summer recreation program. Instruction will begin this Monday and will be held from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays, according to Recreation Director Don Dugas.

A tournament will be set up later in the summer.

Girls invited for softball

St. Johns girls who would like to play organized softball during the morning hours are invited to sign up for teams at the St. Johns City Park. Junior high and high school - age girls have already been organized into two teams and are already playing.

A tightrope performer is termed a "funambulist."

Overbrook golf leaders

Completed scores in the Loblolly Emery League show Jon Farrer and Keith Shaw with 47 1/2 points, while Roger Miles and Mike Millet have 46 1/2 points. Gordon Gerrell and Bill Sweet are given the lead in the Monday night league on the basis of completed scores.

Dennis Leslie with 27 1/2 points leads Rick Troub with 26 points in a 14-man Junior Tournament. In the Ladies League, J. Schultheis and Leatha Troub have a six-point lead over Fran Caris and Emma Troub in a nine-team competition.

Rainbow Inn leads the way in the Thursday night League with 94 points, while Miller's Pure Oil has 83 1/2 points.

GAS (NATURALLY)

Natural gas step-rates are like "quality-discounts" . . . the more you use, the lower your rate. That's why, if you're using gas for one or two major services, you shouldn't deny yourself the advantage of all 8 services, you'll pay for them at the lowest rate of all.

Gas appliances cost less to buy, less to install, last longer, require few replacements and service calls.

YOU ARE INVITED TO

OPEN HOUSE Saturday and Sunday

July 10 and 11—1 to 9 a.m.

See Directions Below

Mrs Evelyn Brown, Consumers Power Co. Home Economist is pictured at the gas-fired patio grill outside the Westphalia Blue Star home. You can have all the fun of a "charcoal" cookout without all the tedious preparation and with a new Patio Gas Grill, dependable gas gets you ready in minutes the finest steak you ever ate. With the lid closed, you can barbecue the tenderest ham or chicken . . . slowly . . . with or without hickory chips . . . because you control the heat, just as you do in your kitchen. As every backyard chefs knows, true "charcoal" flavor doesn't come from charcoal (which is flavorless) . . . but from the dripping of natural juices on the hot coals. A Patio Gas Grill achieves the identical effect with permanent ceramic briquettes. When the cook-out is over, simply turn up the flame to full volume and all residue will be consumed naturally.

CONSUMERS POWER CO.

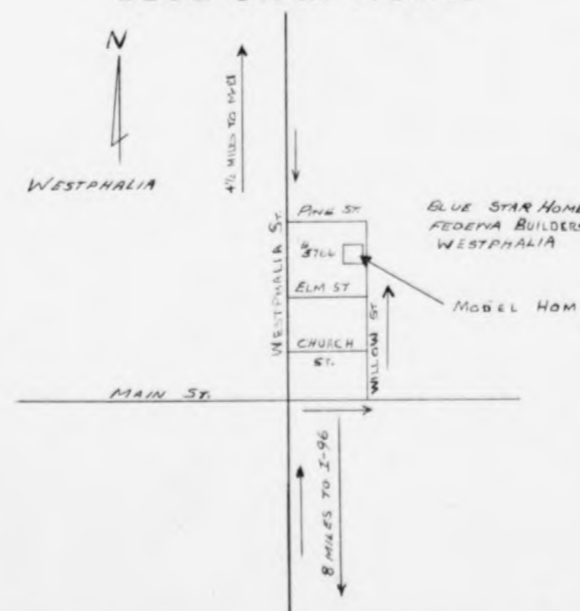

Mrs Brown invites you to put yourself in this enviable kitchen picture . . . you're always at ease cooking with gas. No hurried rush-rush to prevent burning, boiling, no fervent praying for dinner to hurry and get done.

When you cook with gas in a Blue Star home just slip that beautiful roast in the oven . . . or place a chicken or turkey on the rotisserie spit — set temperature — time control. Your automatic gas range does the rest. Not a worry — not a finger do you turn till you are ready to serve.

And, a natural gas range does not heat up the kitchen. It's superbly insulated, keeps heat inside the oven, the broiler, or warming oven, right where it belongs.

ASC PROGRAM

Project Simpler aimed at cutting program costs

W. M. SMITH County ASC Manager

A new ASCS project is called "Project Simpler." This is a nation wide intensified effort to make administration of the farm program simpler and more economical while still more effective in service.

You may recall last December President Johnson referred to his top priority goals as efficiency and economy in government. Secretary of Agriculture Freeman also has spoken out many times on his continuing interest in these two management goals. Now the secretary has directed all agencies of the United States Department of Agriculture to put into effect as soon as possible a management improvement and cost reduction program.

PROGRAM Simpler has been launched by the Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service to further simplify and improve program provisions, instructions and procedures, forms, communications, and work methods.

The objectives of this project are to simplify operations, reduce costs, and improve service to farmers. We have made good progress in the past, but we want to find new ways to improve our programs and our service.

The success of Project Simpler will depend in large measure on our employees. We are asking each ASCS employee to take a close look at every job he does. Also, to search for easier and better ways of doing that same job at less cost and at the same time improve our service. Special incentive awards will be given for practical suggestions.

SECRETARY OF Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has invited farm and business organization leaders throughout the country to make suggestions. The Michigan ASC Committee is following this

Fowler area girl youth exchange

More than 600 young people, including Cindy Loudbeck of R-1, Fowler, left Detroit Metropolitan Airport in June on missions of good will and international understanding under the auspices of the Youth for Understanding Program.

Miss Loudbeck, who attends Fulton High School at Middleton, is now in Germany as an exchange student. She'll stay for two months with a host family.

ORGANIZED TO "develop international understanding through a living experience with a family in another country," the program is both interfaith and interracial in its scope. A group of 90 adult leaders accompany the group and will call in the homes of their host families.

Youth for Understanding is also spoken of as the "Michigan Teenage Exchange," because it brings youth from Europe and Latin America to Michigan. A farewell for the 400 European young people who have been here this year will be held in Northville July 28. Another 650 European teens will arrive during August to join Michigan families in more than 200 communities.

All-gas home reflects Westphalia liberalism

WESTPHALIA— The open house to display a new all-gas home this weekend at Westphalia is serving a double purpose. Not only will it call attention to the modern uses of natural gas, but the open house will reflect a trend in progressive Westphalia.

The trend is to steady growth of population and with it the steady growth of home building. The subject of the open house this Saturday and Sunday is typical of an estimated 10 new homes that will be built in the west-central Clinton County community by the end of this year. But what makes this house unique is its use of natural gas for all the appliances.

CONSTRUCTED by Fedewa Builders, Inc., of Westphalia, the six-room ranch-style home is located at 5766 Willow Street, a block east and a little north of St. Mary's Catholic Church.

The open house will be from 1 to 9 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

All the appliances are gas-operated. This includes the heating plant for the home, water heater, kitchen range, outdoor yard light and a patio grill.

THE CONCRETE patio at the back of the home is one of the extra features of the home. Besides its three bedrooms, kitchen with a dining area and living room and one and a half baths, it has a family room with sliding glass doors, and a two-car garage.

A new gas-fired grill, employing ceramic materials to hold heat, is located on the patio. With direct, over-the-fire broiling or barbecuing, a simulated charcoal flavor to meat is attained. A front, bakelite control knob polices all stages of burner operation from off to high. The entire burner chamber is lined with insulating firebrick. This new model has heavy gauge steel construction, thick asbestos millboard insulation with a heat-reflective aluminized steel inner liner.

ANOTHER GAS attraction of the "Blue Star Gas Home" is its outside gas light. Located on the front lawn of the new Westphalia home, the modern "torch" burns clearly with beautiful yellow flames that can easily be adjusted. Once installed, they require practically no maintenance and give many years of trouble-free service.

Homeowners who have used gas for cooking, water heating and home heating are quick to praise the clean, dependable, fast and inexpensive way gas does the job. The Westphalia "Blue Star Gas Home," which has 1,350 square feet of floor space, utilizes the advantages of gas to the fullest.

THE ADVANTAGES of gas in all phases of home operation will be explained and demonstrated during the two days of the open house by Mrs Evelyn Brown, Consumers Power Co. home economist.

A large number of Westphalia and Fowler area contractors has a part in building the "Blue Star Gas Home" and in furnishing it for Saturday and Sunday's open house. It was constructed, of course, by Fedewa Builders, Inc., and they now have the house for sale.

THESE other area businesses had a part: Westphalia Furniture provided the furniture for the open house; Thelen Hardware handled the paints and varnishes used in it; Wieber Lumber Co. of Fowler provided the rough and finished lumber and the other building material.

Smith Plumbing Co. did the plumbing work, and Schafer Heating handled that end of the project. Wiring was done by Westphalia Electric, and plastering was done by Lester Miller. Excavation work at the start of construction was done by Miller Brothers.

THIS COMMUNITY cooperation on the building of homes is indicative of the way Westphalia people operate. The same procedure has been used many times in the past as Westphalia has continued its growth.

Village Clerk Donald Schafer said about six or seven new homes have already been built this year and about three more are in the planning stages. This is pretty much the same pattern of growth Westphalia has had in the five years previous to this one, when some 44 new homes were built.

THE BUILDING boom of 50 or more houses in six years has resulted in an extremely modern looking residential community. It has a population now of approximately 620 persons, Schafer estimated, compared to 559 in the 1960 census.

While home building keeps construction workers on the job full-time, many other improvements in the town and community stand out in retrospect. A number of new business places and business additions have been constructed in the last few years. The beautiful St. Mary's Catholic Church is only a little over three years old, having been built at a cost of nearly a million dollars.

PEWAMO - Westphalia High School, built in 1960 mid-way between the two communities, is another example of modern thinking and economy of Westphalia area folks. So is the work of the Fowler Jaycees in preparing a new community park.

The construction of the all-gas home, which will be open for public inspection this weekend, is only one of many modern methods Westphalians are employing to make their community a better place to live in.

Last 'self-help' instructors meeting Tuesday

The last of a series of four medical self-help meetings for future teachers of the public classes will be held Tuesday evening in the fire hall at Fowler.

This session will concern infant and child care, emergency child birth and communications skills. Principal instructor will be Dr Herman Ziel of the Michigan State Health Department.

THE MEDICAL self - help classes are designed to teach a selected group the first - aid methods to use in an emergency when there is no doctor around. The group taking this first round of classes will become instructors during the fall when classes are opened to the public. About 18 persons are taking the instructors course.

Reinhart Billing returned to his home on North Watson Road July 1, from Saginaw Veterans' Hospital where he had been a patient several days.

Mr and Mrs Wesley Davis and daughters, Carol and Linda of East Colony Road, spent the 4th of July weekend at Houghton Lake. Their guests were Mr and Mrs Robert Sanford and son of Lansing.

Mr and Mrs Harvey Stodinger of East Colony Road vacationed last weekend at their trailer home on Long Lake, north of Ionia.

The Walter Kaufman Jr. family entertained guests from Elsie over the 4th at their cottage at Houghton Lake.

Mr and Mrs L. S. Lewis of Pompano Beach, Fla., called on their nephew, Kirk Burl, of North Watson Road last week, their mother, Mrs Minnie Lewis, a patient at the Rivard Nursing Home, and went on to their summer home at Bear Lake.

Mr and Mrs George Libey of North Watson Road recently called on Peter Hankey who is a patient at the Rivard Nursing Home.

Vacationing with their brother Kirk Burl and family this week are Ron and Jeff Burl of Lansing.

Mrs Julia Rhynard was surprised Friday, June 25, when her nephew and family from Denver, Colo. paid her a visit at the Pohl Countryside Home where Mrs Rhynard is a patient. Another visitor at the home was Muri Ranshaw of Lansing who called on his mother, Mrs Della Ranshaw.

Volunteer workers at the Rochester Colony Community Hall the past week have changed the appearance of the building with fresh paint on the exterior doors and window trim, in preparation for the installation of combination storm windows for the building.

Mr and Mrs Kirk Burl attended the banquet and convention of Food Wholesalers at the Civic Center in Lansing last Tuesday.

13 in county get notary authority

Commissions as notaries public for Clinton County were delivered to 13 county residents during the three months that ended June 30, according to County Clerk Paul Wakefield.

The notaries include:

DOLORES Barrone of 1192 Dill

Road, and Allen J. White of 414 N. Logan Street, both DeWitt; Ella M. Dilts of R-3, David J. Johnson of 309 E. State Street, Julla Jury of R-2, Arlene Williams of 3288 S. Williams Road, Paul A. Schueller of 308 Church Street, and Catherine Stevens of 301 W. McConnell, all of St. Johns.

Darolyn L. Pierce of 8051 Clark Road, and Ruth M. Reasoner of 6428 Clark Road, both of Bath; Evelyn Northrup of R-1, Box 358, and Joyce Whitlock of 15750 Brook Road, both Lansing addresses; and Edward J. Schmidt of 7157 E. Saginaw Road, East Lansing.

The greatest danger from "silo gas" is during the first 12 to 60 hours after filling. It's a good idea, however, to be careful for at least 10 days after filling.

Children of grade school age across the country are attending Vacation Bible School this summer. These Fowler youngsters are participating in one facet of Vacation Bible School at St. Paul Lutheran Church in Fowler, the recreation period, which follows the opening service and the lesson.

Many Attend Vacation Bible Schools

A project, coordinated to the lesson of the day, concludes each day's activities. Carol Benjamen, one of many volunteer teachers and a member of the church, helps Terri Tiedt with her project.

Left to right, David Messer, Mike Eldridge, Donnie Watts and Martin Redman are served lunch, after which they will participate in practice singing. The schools are generally two weeks long, give the children insight into the teachings of the church and conclude with a program by the pupils, during which time they display their handiwork.

Picture groupings accent room

Picture groupings can serve many purposes. They can focus attention on one specific area of a room, highlight a large piece of furniture or introduce a needed color accent.

The choice and placement of a grouping of framed pictures should relate to the available wall space, the lines of furniture beneath it and also follow the rules of good balance.

The first step in composing a picture grouping is to mark off an area on the floor approximately the same size as the wall space where the grouping will hang.

THIS IS where you will do your initial trial and error work before punching holes in the walls.

For a large grouping, begin with one important or key picture and build your arrangement around it. The key picture may be in the middle, top or bottom of the grouping.

Arrange and rearrange your secondary pictures around the key picture until you get a pleasing overall effect.

Don't spread the pictures too far apart. A narrow space between pictures will tend to give the grouping a cohesive feeling rather than a flyaway effect.

IF POSSIBLE, try to keep the bottom line of the grouping even. Aim for balance so that the eye will flow smoothly from one picture to another. If your vision is continually drawn to one side of the grouping, rearrange the pictures for better balance.

After you have finalized your floor grouping, cut out a piece of paper large enough to hold the complete grouping. Lay the paper on the floor and draw the outlines of the pictures as arranged on the paper. Mark the spot where the nail or hook will go. Tape the paper to the wall space, drive the hooks, then remove the paper and hang the pictures.

MRS NORMAN RADEMACHER

The kitchen is a favorite spot for Mrs. Norman Rademacher of 110 North Kibbee, president of the Altar Society of St. Joseph Catholic Church. Next to cooking, sewing is her favorite pastime. Mrs. Rademacher has seven children, Mrs. Daniel Becker and Donald, both of St. Johns, Diane, a student at Michigan State University, Gene, 17, Kay Ann, 15, Daniel, 13 and Karen Ann 11. In addition to her present office, she is a past office holder of the St. Joseph Home-School Council and is a member of a card club.

Days hot? Chiffon's cool

The darling of dessert cookery is cool chiffon pie. It is a double winner for summer menus because it delights family and guests alike and it is so simple for the hostess to make. Fruit Festival Pie involves a new technique of gelatine cookery. By combining icy-cold evaporated milk and hard-frozen concentrated lemon or limeade with gelatin, the pie takes less time to reach a firm consistency—it will set after about an hour in the refrigerator. Garnish the pie with sliced strawberries, peaches or other fruits.

until melted. Stir in remaining 1/2 cup water and almond extract. Whip chilled evaporated milk in small bowl of electric mixer on high speed until soft peaks form, about 2 minutes. Fold into gelatin mixture. Turn into crumb crust; chill until firm, about one hour. To serve, garnish with sliced fruit.

YIELD: one 9-inch pie.

*To chill evaporated milk, pour into ice-cube tray and freeze until soft ice crystals form around edge, 12 to 15 minutes.

Meat grading tips for outdoor cooks

By BETTY KETCHAM
County Extension Agent
Home Economics

Have you ever wondered why the prices on hot dogs differs so much? The reason is on the label.

There are three kinds of hot dogs. The ingredients make the difference. Read the label to see which kind you want to buy. "All beef" hot dogs really are all beef. "All meat" hot dogs are a combination of beef and pork. They cost less than the all beef ones.

cooking. Ground beef will sizzle less than hamburger and you'll get more servings per pound because ground beef contains less fat. Ground beef has only 20 per cent fat. When the label reads "hamburger" you should know that, according to state law, this ground beef can contain up to 30 per cent fat.

Fryers are good cooked on the grill too. This time of the year fryers are abundant and low priced. A 2 1/2 pound fryer is ideal for barbecuing.

SOME OUTDOOR chefs like to charcoal broil chuck roasts. These are good—I know from experience. Marinades and meat tenderizers help to make them more tender.

Potatoes are rather high priced now, so you might like to have macaroni salad instead of potato salad. Rice makes an inexpensive substitute for potatoes and can be used in casseroles that make good picnic food.

FRUIT FESTIVAL PIE

- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
- 1 1/2 c cold water, divided
- 1/2 c sugar
- 1/8 tsp. salt
- 1 can (6 ounces) frozen lemonade or limeade concentrate, kept frozen
- 1 tsp. almond extract
- 1 c icy-cold evaporated milk*
- 1 9-inch crumb crust
- Sliced Fruit

Sprinkle gelatine over one cup water in medium saucepan. Place over moderate heat; stir constantly until gelatine dissolves, 2 or 3 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in sugar and salt. Add undiluted frozen concentrate; stir

Keep mud outside

To stop mud before it tracks, place plastic matting at the doors. The mats serve as storage areas for muddy shoes before anyone enters. Clean-ups easy—just shake off dried-up mud and wash.

Regular hot dogs, wieners or franks are beef and pork plus 4 per cent dry milk solids. These regular wieners are the least expensive.

Car kills cows; 4 persons hurt

Four persons were bruised and shaken last Wednesday evening when the car they were in collided with three head of cattle on US-27 in Greenbush Township.

None was seriously hurt, and they refused medical attention. They included the driver of the car, Charles W. Kuripila, 40, of 405 E. State Street, St. Johns, William Thelen, 9, Stanley Thelen, 37, and Renee Thelen, 10, all of 205 N. Swegles Street, St. Johns.

TWO OTHERS in the car, Patrick Thelen, 7, and Charles Thelen, 8, were not injured, Deputy Sheriff Stanley Kajdas reported.

Kuripila's southbound car was passing a semi-trailer truck near the intersection with Colony Road about 11:10 p.m. June 30 just as three steers walked in front of the semi and into the path of Kuripila's car. Two Herefords were killed by the car, and a Black Angus was so badly injured it was shot.

The cattle were owned by Alden Livingston of R-3, St. Johns.

Nature center preserves state's prehistoric past

Papyrus, coconut palms and bamboo grow in their once-native habitat in a secluded glen just a few minutes north of Kalamazoo.

Visitors to the 300 acres of unspoiled wilderness that make up the Kalamazoo Nature Center find the past and present growing side by side.

The sub-tropical plants are part of a living exhibit in the Center's humidity and temperature controlled Sun-Rain Room. In this plastic, geodesic-domed structure Michigan's prehistoric past is still alive and plants from other lands, which were native to Michigan millions of years ago, thrive in an artificial climate.

THE NECESSARY humidity is provided by a pool, three waterfalls and a spray of rain pouring over the 54-foot, 2 1/2 story exhibit. Six hundred tons of boulders, moved into the region by the great glacier, augment the display.

A spiral ramp circling the area provides viewing room for visitors.

Designed by Alden B. Dow, the Interpretive Center dominates the landscape and contains working quarters for the Center's staff as well as the Glen Vista room, which provides a panoramic view into an undisturbed realm of nature. Through the 30-foot window, visitors look into the beech-maple forest where Michigan birds and animals may be viewed. Observers are delighted by visits of deer, fox and other wildlife attracted to the area by food.

DIRECTLY BELOW the window, at the foot of a hill, a trout-filled stream courses through a ravine. Fishing is not permitted.

In addition to the exhibits inside the building, three nature trails have been cut through the grounds.

The Marsh Trail takes the visitors along ponds and into fields. Beechwood Trails follows hills and valleys, snakes alongside the stream and ends where great beeches raise their 100-foot height to the sun, reaching from the shadows of the forest they have created. Foot paths cross Fern Valley becoming trails among the low-growing flora.

ALSO OF interest to the visitor are such attractions as the farm animals exhibit, a collection of native wild animals and a demonstration farm which features special tours conducted seasonally.

Unique in this country, the Kalamazoo Nature Center was established by private endowment and is supported by public membership, for the purpose of research, education and conservation.

The Center is open to the public all year, except Mondays, according to the Michigan Tourist Council. Public guided tours are conducted April through October, and a nominal admission fee to the area is charged.

Charge driver whose auto hurt 2 troopers

Leonard Tallman, 35, of 90 Ralph Street, Lansing, has been charged with felonious driving as the result of an auto crash on US-27 near State Road June 27 which injured two state policemen, one critically.

The felonious driving charge encompasses a number of driving violations, according to the Clinton County prosecuting attorney's office. Among them are such violations as driving under the influence of liquor, failure to yield the right-of-way, and crippling and maiming.

TALLMAN, arrested June 30 on the felonious driving charge, demanded examination before Justice of the Peace Gordon Willoughby, and the examination was scheduled for 1:30 p.m. July 9. He is free on $2,000 bond.

Trooper Lyle Swanson, 31, of Lansing, the most seriously injured of the two policemen, is well on the road to recovery and was removed from the intensive care list at Sparrow Hospital last week. He was thrown from the police car after the crash and was then dragged about 25 feet by Tallman's vehicle, which pulled from a tavern parking lot and hit the police car broadside. Trooper Paul Thibodeau, 35, of Haslett was the driver of the police car; he suffered cuts and bruises.

St. Johns woman visiting Australia after 18 years

A reunion with her family in Australia after an absence of 18 years is now being enjoyed by Mrs Jack Hudson of 207 N. Mead Street, St. Johns.

Mrs Hudson flew to the "down under" country June 13 to spend three months with her parents, Mr and Mrs L. E. Sharrock of New Lambton, at Newcastle, New South Wales. Accompanying her is her two-year-old son, Todd.

IT WAS HER first reunion with her family since she left Australia as a war bride in 1947.

The absence of large, shady trees in Newcastle gardens and streets was one of the foremost impressions Mrs Hudson had of Australia. The high quality of woolen materials and knitted goods in the stores also impressed her, according to a news story in the Newcastle newspaper.

Mrs Hudson said most Michigan homes were surrounded by trees and she was surprised to find that many had been cut down in Newcastle. The houses themselves she rates as "lovely and equal to anything we have in the States."

THE NEWSPAPER article quoted others of Mrs Hudson's impressions:

"Mrs Hudson is also impressed with Newcastle stores and shopping facilities and has been buying woolen materials and knitted goods to take home to her other children, Robyn 17, Cindy Lu 15 and Ricky 11.

"It snows from November to April in Michigan, and while we have central heating in buildings and transport services, there is plenty of call for warm woolen out of doors," she said.

"Our stores don't have nearly the variety in this field."

AUSTRALIA IS a great sheep-raising nation, which would account for the great selection of woolen goods. But it is ironic that the need really isn't as great. Newcastle, which is located 80 miles from Sidney, is still so near the equator that even in winter—which they are experiencing now in the Southern Hemisphere — the temperature normally is about 65 degrees.

Annual Slovak Day set July 18

The eighth annual Michigan Slovak Day has been proclaimed by Gov. George Romney for Sunday, July 18, and a gala civic celebration is planned at Owosso by the Michigan District Slovak League of America.

Joseph Palus of 9095 Island Road, Elsie, is chairman for the event, which will feature Slovak songs and music by the Cornell Sisters, a professional musical trio from Ecorse. Bedrick Smeage's Band, which will play for the dance at 6:30 p.m., is the oldest polka band in Michigan.

EVENTS WILL start with noon lunch and refreshments July 18 at the ZCDJ Park on Owosso Avenue midway between Corunna and Owosso. The program will begin at 3 p.m. and will include a talk by State Sen. Joseph S. Mack of the 38th District. Dancing will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Victor Wallo of Flint is president of the Michigan District Slovak League of America.

Enters model car in Contest

John E. Burnham, 15, of Scott Road, St. Johns, has submitted an eligible entry in the 1965 Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild model car competition.

The young model builder's entry will be judged against many hundreds of others in his age division for scholarships and cash awards totaling $117,000. John is competing in the junior division, with other boys 11 through 15.

COMPETITION judging began June 21 and will continue for four weeks. The judges will be professional General Motors stylists and Detroit area industrial arts instructors. The model car entries will first be judged for state and regional awards for which cash grants of $150 - $25 will be offered in each state.

GLEANER Combines save more grain because they have a longer separating area . . . made possible by the "down-front" cylinder. Space used for feeding in other combines is used for separating in GLEANER Combines. Overall machine length is held to a minimum; separating capacity at a maximum.

Every Foot is a Working Foot . . .

1. Wing-type beater agitates material as it leaves cylinder . . . separation starts.
2. A majority of separation takes place at the raddle, where clean grain falls through suspended straw and is conveyed to cleaning shoe.
3. Second beater agitates straw again as it flows from raddle area to walkers.

4. Rotary straw walkers separate remaining grain from straw, complete the separating job.
5. Air blast from top fan winnows grain . . . aids separation, begins the cleaning job.
6. All grain is delivered to front of adjustable end shaker-type shoe for finish cleaning.

Ordinance provides for sale

A lengthy ordinance providing for the sale of $200,000 in additional water revenue bonds to pay for the St. Johns water improvement program was passed by the City Commission at its regular meeting Tuesday evening.

Ken Greer told commissioners in answer to their question. The commissioners agreed that with all the red tape involved in such sales, the city would probably not get the money until toward the end of the year.

It was the second reading of the ordinance, which was introduced at the commission's special meeting last Tuesday night. It details the procedure and forms for the sale of the bonds. The additional money will be used to pay expenses of the water program over and above the $850,000 bonds authorized by voters early in 1964.

THE ordinance will be printed in full in next week's Clinton County News.

ADDITIONAL improvements to the water program after the passage of that bond issue accounted for the additional costs. The sale of this $200,000 in bonds does not need voter approval because the money will be paid back by revenue from the water system.

Eric O. Halsted of Maple Rapids and William R. Sirrine of St. Johns recently got a preview of Western Michigan University campus life during a visit to WMU for its summer orientation program. Purpose of the program is for the students to map out future study programs, meet their counselors and learn their way around university buildings. They remain on campus for a day and a half to get many of the preliminary requirements out of the way.

The additional money will be needed this fall, City Manager

News of Interest to Clinton County Farm Bureau Families

Will dairy legislation pass?

Consumers hit by new farm bill

Both consumers and farmers would be hurt by the bread and rice tax bill recently introduced in Congress by the administration, according to E. J. Bottum, president of the Clinton County Farm Bureau.

Under the wheat certificate plan being proposed, US consumers would pay twice as much for American wheat as foreign buyers. The plan gives the secretary of agriculture authority to use government surplus stocks to control the market prices farmers get for their wheat.

WHEAT USED for food in this country would be supported at rates as high as $2.50 per bushel, including a loan of $1.25 and another $1.25 for certificates which processors must purchase and which is added to the price of flour.

US wheat sold to foreign buyers, including Communist countries, would go for a straight $1.25 per bushel. The farmer would get his $2.50 only on that part of his sales made for domestic use under certificate quotas.

A SIMILAR certificate plan for rice would raise the cost to consumers from 5 to 7 cents per pound.

It is estimated by the Administration that the wheat and rice plan would raise consumer prices by $300 million.

"Consumers should not be duped into accepting the higher bread and rice taxes with the notion that they are doing the farmer a favor," Bottum said.

"WHEAT producers voted down a similar proposal in a nationwide referendum in 1963. Eighty per cent of our Michigan farmers rejected the idea at that time."

With room for expansion because Michigan is a beef-deficit state, interest is increasing in beef raising and there are several outstanding herds. In 1964, Michigan marketed 675,000 cattle and calves worth more than $90 million.

H.B. 2165 to be acted on in fall

The 1965 legislative session is now history except for a fall session which will convene to consider fiscal reform and certain bills tabled before this summer's adjournment. Dairy farmers and the entire dairy industry can be justly proud of their success during this year. While they did not receive favorable consideration on all they would have liked, the end result was favorable.

Dairy unfair trade practices H.B. 2165 is still alive and will be considered again this fall.

AFTER SLIDING through the House with an impressive 81-11 vote, it ran into real trouble in the Senate. All seemed to be going well and the necessary votes for passage were assured when a Madison Avenue type of "write your senator" blitz hit on the day the bill was to be taken up.

Many of the dairy farmers in the county saw the crying baby ads in their newspaper. The same ad was used on flyers and stuffed in shoppers' sacks at food markets. Senators were besieged with hundreds of letters from irate housewives who had been misled by the grossly distorted "facts" of the ads. Some senators received nearly as many phone calls as letters. The senators were obviously shaken.

WHEN IT APPEARED that H.B. 2165 would be lost unless amended, the Senate leadership proposed a substitute. But after that was adopted, it was tabled. The last night of the session enough votes were obtained to take the bill from the table. It was then amended to restore much of the original language, but after prolonged debate, it was again tabled by a vote of 18-17.

In so doing, however, the leaders of the opposition pledged to place it on the agenda for consideration again this fall. With this done, the Senate adjourned.

AS MANY county dairy farmers know from personal involvement, the fight on H.B. 2165 has been bitter. Without the concerted effort put forth by all the dairy industry and particularly that of Farm Bureau members, the bill would have been lost. The dairy industry owes all members on the Farm Bureau who helped a vote of thanks.

There is still much to be done if H.B. 2165 is to pass this fall. During the summer recess, interested persons should contact their senators and obtain his assurance of support. Even if he voted for the bill, he will need to know that he has the support of his people back home. The emotional campaign which was waged against the bill creates a situation not easy to go against. Senators will need to demonstrate considerable courage to support H.B. 2165 now. Everyone can help!

Super Multi-Mouse

Super Multi-Mouse is the name of a new oil well perforating gun, which, lowered into the well at the end of a steel shaft, fires explosive charges into rock formations to open passages for oil into the shaft. Charges used have velocities (in air) of up to 25,000 feet per second.

Cancer cure maybe

New evidence that cancer is caused by viruses has been unearthed at Argonne National Laboratory. The organization says it has found a filterable agent that produces bone cancer in mice. If it can be proved that viruses cause cancer, the prospects for eventual prevention and cure of the disease are much brighter, says Argonne.

Winners of the Camp Kett Young People's Citizenship Seminar trip July 12-16 receive their envelopes of instructions from Mrs. Lewis Babbitt, chairman of the committee that picked the Farm Bureau-sponsored youths. At left is Roger Smith, 17, a senior next year at DeWitt High School, and in the center is Chuck Openlander, 16, a junior at Grand Ledge High School.

Area youths selected for citizenship seminar at Camp Kett July 12-17

Charles Openlander of rural Grand Ledge, son of Mr and Mrs Herman Openlander, and Roger Smith of 15118 Turner Street, DeWitt, will be representing Grand Ledge and DeWitt high schools respectively at the second Annual Farm Bureau-sponsored Citizenship Seminar. A week-long conference being held at Camp Kett July 12-17, it will be attended by young people from over the entire state.

Clinton County Farm Bureau, under the direction of the Citizenship Committee, conducted an essay contest within the Grand Ledge and DeWitt schools asking only those entering be residents of the county.

EIGHT STUDENTS chose to enter the contest and submitted essays telling why they wished to attend the seminar. Assistance in the judging was given by teachers and principals from the two schools, who then submitted background information such as scholastic ability, attitude toward good citizenship and interest in our country's future.

Cost of the seminar is $50 per student, including room and board. Business places in the

T. C. Petersen, director of program development division of the American Farm Bureau Federation, was a featured speaker at the annual two-day Officer's Training Workshop sponsored by the state Farm Bureau Women's Committee.

The cool north woods surrounding Camp Kett was a welcome change for Clinton County's officers who attended July 7 and 8. Mrs. Dorothy Ward, Essex Township; Mrs. Harry Rosekrans, Greenbush; Mrs. Lester Sehlke, Riley; and Mrs. Raymond Mayers, Bengal, were among the group.

PETERSEN'S topic was "Women in Farm Bureau," as he stressed the fact that their role is even more important today. He named areas in Farm Bureau's over-all member program where women must take an active part.

The conference included discussion groups on safety, the commodity program, public information and understanding and a talk by Michigan Farm Bureau President Elton R. Smith on the future of the organization.

MARLIE DREW, former regional representative for this area, led a discussion on "People Involvement and Motivation."

Annual picnic Sunday

The entire Farm Bureau family will find an afternoon of enjoyment at the St. Johns Park on Sunday, July 11. The annual picnic is planned for that day beginning at 1:30 p.m.

A potluck dinner will be served in Smith Hall with ice cream being furnished by the Farm Bureau. Members are asked to bring their table service, beverage and a dish to pass.

THE WOMEN'S Committee will be in charge of the dining room.

They are planning also on activities to be held during the afternoon including a ball game at the main diamond, swimming for those who wish and a complete line of games, races and outdoor fun for the children. All members are invited to attend and to bring the whole family and guests if they wish.

UNICO POWERCRUISER
NEW CONSTRUCTION ADDS 35% BETTER TREAD WEAR!

We had a fine tire in our old Unico Powercruiser, as many of our friends and customers will confirm. But this new POWERCRUISER is far better than we expected. An impartial, independent test fleet ran tread wear tests on both tires. The NEW POWERCRUISER was given a control rating of 100. The best the old tire could do was 74. A little arithmetic shows that means 35% MORE tread wear for the all-new POWERCRUISER. Won't you stop in and get our new POWERCRUISER trade-in for your present tires. We'll try to make it worth your while.

Soundness of current prosperity is tested

The frantic activity of the stock market the past few weeks have given some Americans pause to think about the soundness of their prosperity.

Depressions are not inevitable. Neither is prosperity. Economic conditions are, very simply, caused by men and how they act.

WE DO NOT think that Mr Martin's sober speech is going to create a depression psychology. To the extent that he questioned the glowing euphoria that has been emanating from the rest of the official team in Washington, he has probably achieved his purpose.

There are some maladjustments in the economy—for instance, overbuilding in commercial real estate in some sections of the country. What is remarkable is that there are not more serious excesses; they have normally appeared much earlier during a business upturn.

We are concerned over the rapid increase in installment debt during the past two years. Consumer debt has been rising at a faster rate than personal income.

WE ARE ALSO concerned about the international monetary system and its overdependence on the dollar. While United States deficits are now being cut, it is becoming clear to many for the first time that these deficits have been the source of world liquidity and the basis for the huge increase in international trade.

Irresponsible attacks on the dollar could not only weaken international commerce, but could have repercussions on domestic economies, including ours, which no one can foresee.

Growth is normal. It is not always even, but we do not find anything unusual or unnatural about a mature industrial nation adding to its economic strength year by year.

Better understanding of fiscal and monetary measures, the virtual lack of inflation since 1958, better inventory control on the part of business—all these factors indicate that we are learning how to manage ourselves better.

PERSUASION DANGEROUS

(From The Gratiot County Herald, Ithaca)

The public is being treated to a striking, and in some respects disturbing, demonstration of how the government can marshal its forces to influence opinion on a question of vital importance.

It would be hard to find reasonable fault with this if the administration spokesmen were merely arguing for current policy, with those who disagree given equal opportunity to present their views.

This is not the case. And to the extent that what the government is doing tends to quash or at least discredit contrary opinion, this campaign of persuasion is not in the public interest.

IN HIS NATIONALLY televised press conference, Secretary of Defense McNamara spent some 40 minutes commenting on US military action in North Vietnam and arguing in support of administration policy. This was to be expected.

But it is significant that those who oppose this policy cannot afford TV time for rebuttal. The President and his top officials have almost unlimited opportunity to make their views known.

This is especially true when it is evident that a national consensus has not been formed. It was the lack of a consensus that goaded Secretary of State Rusk into charging that critics of US policy were "talking nonsense about the nature of the struggle."

SPECIFICALLY, it was the tide of disagreement in the academic community that prompted Rusk to say with some petulance, "I sometimes wonder at the gullibility of educated men in the stubborn disregard of plain facts . . ."

A top administration spokesman has thus virtually said that all who disagree with the administration are gullible and foolish. Is such an attempt to discredit opponents of policy fair, is it in keeping with the democratic tradition of open dissent—and above all, is it the way to reach a sound national consensus on a course of action? We think not.

The Wilderness? What Wilderness?

RAMBLIN' with Rink

BY LOWELL G. RINKER

Since moving to our new residence at 303 S. Traver about three weeks ago, I have had the occasion to walk to or from work about a dozen times.

This is not a great distance, but it is about twice as far as I had to walk at our previous residence on North Lansing Street.

THIS IS GOOD, however, for walking does a person good, and after a period of getting used to it, all the stiffness and soreness will go.

So far I have only had one day of marginal weather during my walks to work. Most of the time this is in the morning, and since I usually come in about 7 or 7:30, the morning air is still fresh and unaffected by the heat of the day.

THE PARTS OF town I walk through are very pleasant, much like all other sections of St. Johns. The trees along the streets add to the coolness, and the well-kept homes along the way help to get a fellow in the mood for a day's work.

Living five blocks east and three blocks south of the office, there is a large number of alternate routes I can take on my walks to work, and thus I don't think I'll ever be tired of the same scenery all the time.

I HAVE BEEN toying with the idea of buying a second hand bicycle to use on the days when Ann has the car. This would also provide some good exercise and also cut down the transit time, which now is only a leisurely 11 minutes.

Whichever way — walking or pedalling — I get to work will be enjoyable, until maybe winter. Just what my feelings about walking to work will be then I can't say now. But bad weather has never really deterred me in these respects.

Poverty's Political Pull

By W. E. DOBSON

There always has been poverty— Always will be I suspect; It's not a brand new malady; 'Er a new breed of insect; But now it's deep in politics; The papers all are full Of folks who seek to capitalize On poverty's political pull.

The mayors and the governors, 'N legislators too, All seek to climb the wagon To some fair rendezvous; So they can run their fingers thru' Our Uncle Sam's choice wool, There's votes for all who'd cash 'em In poverty's political pull.

Our Congressmen are infected By this new political turn— There's plenty plums of patronage For which they ever yearn; When greenbacks are fer grabbin' They'd seek a stinky full— There's no dearth of drawer fingers In poverty's political pull!

Our noble servants of the poor, Who write our country's laws, Are reckonin' they too need help— 'N writin' Santy Claus; They're asking fer a new five grand— They are so wonderful; Such is the power of precedent, In poverty's political pull.

One flaw is in the program— The "carryin' charge" is great; With so much administration, There's too little to administrate; The not-too-rich taxpayers, As is quite understandable, Are also pleadin' poverty, In poverty's political pull.

St. Johns native is top ad man

NEWSPAPER AND advertising trade papers these days have been featuring stories about a St. Johns native who founded and continues to boss one of the nation's leading ad agencies.

He is Leo Burnett and the agency which bears his name is marking its 30th anniversary.

I'm indebted to Mr and Mrs A. L. Woodbury of St. Johns for a copy of the most recent tribute—an article from Consumer Advertising magazine—which was sent to them by their son, Malcolm Woodbury, who operates his own ad agency in Sacramento, Calif.

Stories in a somewhat similar vein have already appeared in Editor & Publisher and Printers' Ink, leading trade journals.

OLD-TIMERS HERE will recall Leo as the oldest of the four children of Mr and Mrs Noble Burnett. The father operated a dry goods store on Clinton Avenue. The mother was the former Laura Murdock of St. Johns.

Leo's early exposure to the practical side of advertising came from doing showcard lettering for his father's store. As a youngster he also worked in the County News print shop and did some reporting for the weekly newspapers here.

When their offspring approached college age the Burnetts moved to Ann Arbor and all the youngsters were educated at the University of Michigan. Leo studied journalism and received his U-M degree in 1914.

HE BEGAN a short-lived newspaper reporting career on the Peoria (Ill.) Journal, but soon moved to Detroit where he became editor of a house-organ for the Cadillac Motor Co. He later was advertising manager for Cadillac.

After serving a hitch with the US Navy in World War I, he left Cadillac with a group of other executives to found the LaFayette Motors Co. in Indianapolis. When that company moved its operations to Wisconsin, Burnett stayed in Indianapolis and entered the advertising agency business as a copy writer.

In 1929, he moved on to Chicago where he became vice president and creative director for Erwin Wasey & Co., one of the larger advertising agencies of that day.

HE LEFT ERWIN Wasey to found his own agency six years later. He began with three major accounts—Minnesota Valley Canning Co. (now Green Giant), the Hoover Co., and Realsilk Hosiery Mills.

In the 30 years since, the Leo Burnett Co. has increased its clientele to a point where its gross billings exceed $164 millions. From a small eight-man set-up, it has grown to a company which employs nearly 1,300 people in five American offices in the US and Canada, and one overseas office in London.

The Burnett list of clients reads like a Who's Who in American business—Allstate, Brown Shoe, Campbell, Green Giant, Kroehler, Maytag, Phillip Morris, Pillsbury, Motorola, Sante Fe, Parker Pen, Pure Oil, Procter & Gamble, Swift and Vick, to name about half.

LEO AND HIS wife, Naomi, live on a 140-acre farm near Lake Zurich, about 40 miles northwest of Chicago. His main interests, other than advertising, are his family and his farm. There are three grown children, two sons and a daughter. One son is an engineer, the other an architect, and the daughter is happily busy as a homemaker. The Burnetts have 11 grandchildren.

Scores of honors have come Burnett's way through the years. He was one of the guiding forces in the founding of the national Advertising Council. He has been the recipient of the advertising industry's Gold Medal Award. In 1957 he was recognized as one of Chicago's 100 outstanding citizens by Loyola University.

Perhaps a throwback to his St. Johns upbringing was Burnett's introduction of the apple as a sort of unofficial trademark for his company. To emphasize the friendliness and comfortable attitude he expected clients to find at his agency, he began placing big bowls of fine apples on his reception desk. Through the ensuing years, untold thousands of apples have been consumed by employees and passers-through.

LEO BURNETT hasn't forgotten St. Johns. I've corresponded with him a couple of times in the past decade. Once was in conjunction with the Centennial Celebration here in 1956. He promised to come, but was delayed at the last minute.

On another occasion, I solicited an account with which he was associated. I didn't get any business but I got a lot of pretty good advice.

This has been my usual experience with heads of large advertising agencies. Over the years I've had family ties with the founders of Erwin Wasey Co. and Arthur Kudner, Inc., both large Chicago-based agencies. I've never been able to get a nickel's worth of preferment for this publication from any of 'em.

If we merit the business, we get it. If not, I get friendly letters of explanation and counsel. This is disappointing to a fellow who hopes to generate a little extra business for his newspaper, but continuing proof that good agencies survive because they look after what they consider to be the best interests of their clients.

Back Thru the Years

★ Interesting Items from the Files of The Clinton County News

10 YEARS AGO From the Files of July 7, 1955

An ordinance restricting the use of city water for lawn sprinkling to even-and-odd numbered days alternately for even-and-odd street numbers was adopted by the city commission at the regular session Tuesday night.

Twenty-one prisoners, the largest number ever confined at one time in the Clinton County Jail, spent the Fourth of July holiday weekend in custody, Sheriff Percy Patterson reported. There were 19 men and two women held.

All day last Thursday crews of State Highway Department traffic checkers were busy at the trunk-line entrances into St. Johns making a survey of travel habits of those cars entering and leaving the city.

25 YEARS AGO From the Files of July 4, 1940

One hundred and eighty-five persons sought documentary proof of their citizenship in the Clinton County clerk's office in June. This number, which is about 3,000 per cent above average monthly demands for birth certificates, was inspired by the ruling that no aliens shall be employed in industrial plants and the more recent red tape set upon the Canadian border.

Motor vehicle law violations continue to keep peace officers busy and provide most of the work for minor courts in Clinton County. Figures released this week by Prosecutor Charles W. Austin reveal that out of the 258 persons brought to book during the six months from Jan. 1 to June 30, the great majority, 193 to be exact, were arraigned for breaking the rules of the road. And those 193 did not include the 12 drunk drivers who faced a more severe charge.

Dr and Mrs S. T. Williams and daughter Diane will leave St. Johns for Ann Arbor about Aug. 15. Dr Williams has sold his office equipment and dental practice to Dr Herbert L. Oatley of Lowell, who will arrive in St. Johns about Aug. 1.

50 YEARS AGO From the Files of July 8, 1915

The Independence Day celebration held July 5 was a good example of what St. Johns can and will do. The streets were well crowded with people from many nearby towns and cities as well as the residents of this city and locality. The citizens of St. Johns were awakened long before the usual hour by cannons and giant crackers.

Supt. of Public Instruction Keeler and Auditor General Fuller have announced that the next apportionment of primary school money will be at the rate of $7.85 per capita. Clinton County had 6,290 children of school age at the last apportionment, which would give this county $49,376.50.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Lieutenant governorship still a stepping stone?

Lieutenant governor of Michigan has been a stepping-stone position in the past and incumbent William G. Milliken hopes to continue the tradition.

The three men who preceded Milliken in office since 1955 have each stepped into higher posts: Phillip A. Hart to the US Senate; John B. Swainson to the governor's chair and then a court post; T. John Lesinski to the new State Court of Appeals.

Milliken, at 43, reportedly is Gov. George Romney's choice for the next GOP chief executive. Even when the Traverse City businessman first came into the State Senate it was reported he had his sights on the governor's chair.

NOW IN THE No. 2 spot, perhaps largely by virtue of the Constitutional change which elected the governor and lieutenant governor as a ticket, Milliken is trying to keep his public image good and clear.

His office has taken to publication of a periodical entitled "Dateline Lansing" which details his activities in addition to the standard job of presiding over the Senate.

THE FIRST edition published in May noted his first five months in office involved speeches to "many thousands of persons" and traveling more than 14,000 miles on state businesses.

His public exposure has been enhanced by the governor's frequent trips outside the state and Milliken's resulting assignment to many local activities where the chief executive's presence is requested.

SPECIALIZED POLICE work is rapidly becoming a reality, unheard of only a few years ago.

The use of lie detectors has required an expertly trained police officer for several years. Most often, however, the lie detector expert has worked in an ordinary job within his department.

Within the past five years or so another class of specialists has been added to the state police organization. The use of tracking dogs also necessitated training men to efficiently handle the animals in seeking to find missing persons, evidence or criminals.

THE MILES AND miles of waterways in Michigan also creates the need for still other experts within state police and local law enforcement agencies.

Several sheriff's departments throughout the state now have specially trained boating patrols on busy, large lakes and rivers. State police maintain several teams of skindiving experts at various posts.

The latter, given the title of underwater recovery teams, are volunteers drawn from within the state police ranks who train at a water-filled clay pit near Williamston, diving as deep as 100 feet.

USE OF THE teams is primarily to recover bodies, cars, weapons and evidence.

Underwater recovery teams, just like the lie detector experts, remain permanently assigned to regular police duties. But it appears there may be a day soon when these and the dog trackers and boat patrol units will be full-time specialists within the broad law enforcement organization in Michigan.

PRECEDENCE WENT by the boards recently when the State Board of Education issued a policy statement that teachers have the right to strike the same as do other workers.

"We would hope that no teacher group in this state or nation would resort to this means except as a last resort, but they should have the same right as any other citizen," said a board spokesman.

Prior to the board decision, teachers were deemed included under the Hutchinson Act, which calls for the firing of public employees involved in a strike. The board said this act should be repealed.

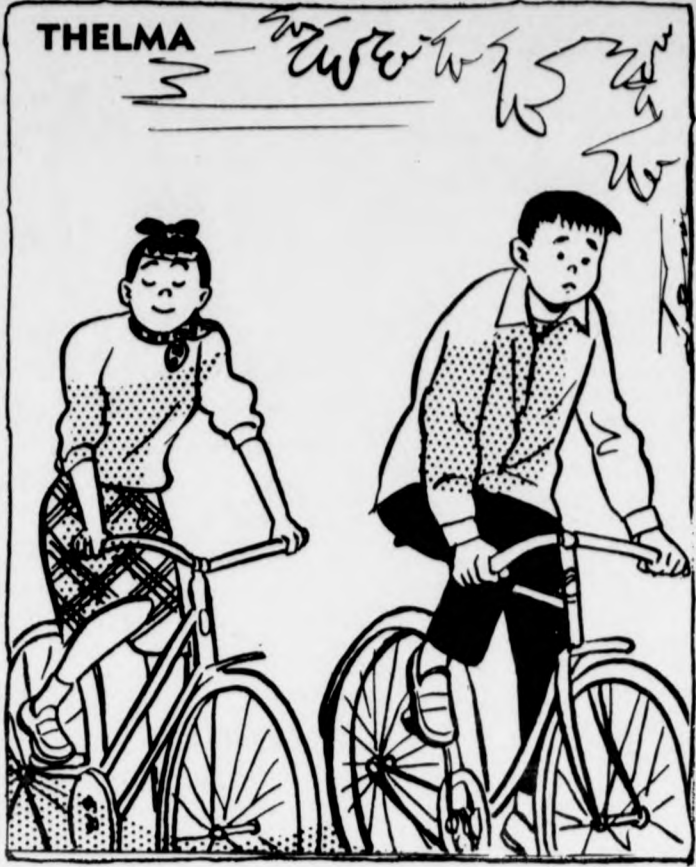

PRESUMABLY the board considered the idea that the educated teacher and local board of education will properly weigh the various problems in any given labor dispute.

Responsibilities come with all rights. Many teachers now feel the responsibilities placed upon them have long outweighed their rights where local education policies are concerned.

SALARY compensation and fringe benefits are not the only areas in which teachers have occasionally complained, although these do lead the list. Overbearing boards of education and overly heavy teaching loads have also

"Is Paris Burning?" is the question Hitler screamed at his generals in August 1944 when the American troops were liberating the city. Orders had been given by Hitler that Paris was to be defended to the last man and that nothing but ruins should be left.

Larry Collins and Dominique LaPierre have spent several years in research, studying hundreds of documents and other German military records to gather material for their book, "Is Paris Burning?" It was an unusual set of circumstances that saved the city with all its treasures from total ruin. The authors have told this bit of modern history in an extremely interesting way using many personal experiences in the narrative.

resulted in a good share of teacher-community problems.

Since the State Board of Education's statement appeared designed primarily to give teachers more leverage in employee-employer disputes, it is to be hoped the policy will serve just this purpose. If the statement of policy is used as a blackjack, it would appear the board's philosophy will have been misinterpreted.

THREE MORE volumes of the series, "The World and Its Peoples" have been received. One, "Austria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, and Poland," gives the history, ancient and modern, of central Europe. The other two volumes deal with China, Hong Kong, Taiwan and Mongolia. Besides the history, the art and culture of the people are given. The books are beautifully illustrated in color and in black and white. The library now owns 15 of the books in this series.

For teenagers, "One By Sea," by Scott Corbett, and "Flight Into Spring," by Bianca Bradbury, can be recommended. They are both historical novels of early life in the colonies. The library has much good reading for this age group and enjoys good patronage from them.

MOST PEOPLE think of libraries as a place where books are kept. But libraries are a place from which books circulate. More than a 1,000,000 books go out of America's 7,500 public libraries every day. And libraries of today perform many other services, giving opportunities to all for enjoyment and improvement.

It has been a privilege for me to be a part of this service as the librarian of the Bement Library. Today, June 30, is my last day in this position and this column is my swan song. I hope that it has given some pleasure and information and I have appreciated the response it has brought.

I KNOW YOU will support my successor, Mrs. Bross, as you have me and keep up the circulation! Anybody want to hire a retired, but not TIRED, librarian?

Quiet waters of brook sing a July-muted song

HAYDEN PEARSON

Creeks and brooks run quietly between their banks on the way to a distant sea. Only a few weeks ago leaping brooks laughed and sang as they hurried downward from their birthplace on the highlands. They dashed down rocky ridges and swirled across upland pastures to swell the streams that flowed through meadows on their way to the large rivers.

As Spring's urgency subsided and the green tide rolled over hills and valleys, the waters began to subside. Beneath a July sun, slow moving brooks sing a muted song as they move between grass and willow-lined paths. Kingfishers sit motionless on the branches and the soft hum of insect wings among the grasses and daisies blends with the quiet music of the stream.

WE KNOW THAT water is a constant factor in our world. Some 300 cubic miles of water fall on our planet each 24 hours. We suffer both from periods of too much rain and too little. There are areas on the Earth's surface that are deserts and other areas that are rainy jungles. In our climate some brooks dry up in summer.

But the meadow creeks and brooks flow steadily through the hot days of summer. No longer the gay, hurrying waters of spring. Now the streams flow peacefully through lowland woodlands and open meadows and fields. Man, if he will, can spend a peaceful interlude by the quiet waters and in the low-pitched, unhurried song hear chords that calm the heart.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

I MUST tell you of a strange experience I had recently. About the middle of May I received a reminder from your office that my subscription would expire sometime in June. Being busy at the time, I put the envelope in a conspicuous place in the office at our store in order that I should not forget to mail my check.

However, in the meantime, I was laid up with a sore back, having two crushed vertebrae in my back, and I was finally taken to the hospital where I stayed for three weeks.

DURING THE first week at the hospital I asked my wife to bring The Clinton County News along when she came to visit me. This she did and laid the paper on the stand next to the bed.

The first thing I noticed was a reminder in fairly large red letters at the top, which said, "Your time is up."

THE FOLLOWING morning our undertaker, Mr. Geller, also peeked in the door of my room, and I began to wonder then what the reading "Your time is up" really meant or could mean.

I am now back home and recuperating, thank you. I am enclosing herewith my check for renewal of my subscription.

Respectfully, HILARY A. SNITGEN Westphalia

Horse-pulling contests back at the State Fair

The return of the popular horse-pulling contests and other changes in the agricultural exhibit plans are announced for this year's Michigan State Fair, Friday, Aug. 27 through Monday, Sept. 6 (Labor Day).

In addition to horse-pulling, the changes listed by Robert McLachlan, agriculture exhibits director, are:

Both light and heavy horses will be competing in the contests, which have been absent from the State Fair for 12 years.

ROBERT ZEEB of Bath, State Fair Authority member who is chairman of the premium exhibits committee, predicts a record number of agriculture entries this year.

— Junior livestock judging contests are added, with Future Farmers of America and 4-H Club members participating in 12 classes judging beef cattle, sheep, and swine.

— A CLASS FOR best display of vegetables has been added.

— A class of most unusual vegetable (but not overgrown or misshapen) has been added.

— Several technical changes have been made, covering such points as quality of hay sold to exhibitors, rules in the dairy cattle department, and changes in premiums awarded.

DEADLINE for entries of livestock, horses, and agriculture is Aug. 6.

The premium book is now ready for mailing. New exhibitors should indicate which section—livestock and agriculture, horse shows, or community arts—is desired when writing for books and entry forms. Address is the Michigan State Fair, Detroit, Mich., 48203.

Michigan farms produce a variety of products, and the state is the leader in the production of field beans, sour cherries, cantaloupes, late celery, cucumbers for pickles, strawberries and tomatoes. Michigan farm products yield an income of approximately $750 million per year.

Road Commission Weekly Report

The Board of Clinton County Road Commissioners held their regular meeting on Tuesday, July 6. They opened bids for the July and August requirements of gasoline and for six-months supply of diesel fuel.
Dale Chapman, drain commissioner met with the board to discuss mutual drainage problems. The commission discussed construction plans and progress and the delay of the bridge program due to withdrawal of Federal Aid.
THE BUREAU of Public Roads has threatened to withhold federal funds since the Supreme Court decision on control of right-of-way in the sign controversy. The County Road Assn. summed up the situation as it stands, as follows:
"Upon passage of the legislative deadline of June 25, it appeared that the two houses had agreed to disagree on their two versions of the sign bill. A conference of members of both houses was to visit Washington and receive first-hand information on federal policy and to clear the way for the Bureau of Public Roads to release the funds.
"HOWEVER, the conference has been delayed until the 7th or 8th of July, causing more delay and probably eliminating many contract lettings for county federal aid projects.
"Many counties have expressed concern that the lateness of the letting would cause many projects to run past the normal construction season and would cause bidding prices to be higher. The best information indicates that there will be no letting earlier than August 12 and possibly not until September."

CITY COMMISSION PROCEEDINGS

The special meeting of the City Commission was called to order by Mayor Smit at 8:30 p.m. Present: commissioners Kentfield, Irner, Sirrine, Coletta, Smit; Absent Commissioners, none Present: City Manager Greer, City Attorney Reed, City Clerk Clark.
ITEM NUMBER 1. Consideration of the $200,000 bonding Ordinance for the completion of the Water Project. The following ordinance was offered for the first reading:
ORDINANCE NO. 185--An ordinance authorizing the acquisition and improvements to the water supply system and sewage disposal system of the City of St. Johns, providing for the issuance of revenue bonds of equal standing with the outstanding revenue bonds to pay part of the cost, thereof provided for other matters relative to said bonds and the securing thereof.
ITEM NUMBER 2. Consideration of the storm sewer, sanitary sewer and water main projects for the 1965-66 fiscal year.
City Manager Greer presented the location map for the water and sewer main extension improvements, prepared by Williams & Works, consulting engineers, pointing out proposed water and sewer main extensions previously approved by the City Commission.
MOTION by Commissioner Kentfield, supported by Commissioner Coletta, the city manager and city attorney be authorized to prepare a contract between the City of St. Johns and D & W Construction Co. with reference to the construction of numerous sanitary sewers, storm sewers and water mains at miscellaneous locations throughout the City of St. Johns. Motion carried.
Mr James Matthews and Mr William Richards appeared before the City Commission, presenting information with reference to an irregular water bill indicating an extremely high consumption. After considerable discussion it was moved by Commissioner Coletta, supported by Commissioner Kentfield, to reconsider the water bill at 110 1/2 W. Walker, reducing said bill to $932.38 and a 10 per cent penalty to be added if not paid within 10 days. Motion carried.
MOTION by Commissioner Coletta, supported by Commissioner Irner, the salary schedule for the 1965-66 fiscal year be approved as presented. Motion carried.
Mayor Smit declared the meeting adjourned at 9:50 p.m.

Manager: "You're 30 minutes late. Don't you know what time we start work here?"
New office boy: "No, sir. They're always working when I get here."

17 county 4-H'ers to attend club week

Nine girls and eight boys from Clinton County 4-H Clubs will be among more than 1,000 4-H'ers from every Michigan county participating in 4-H Club Week at Michigan State University next Tuesday through Friday.

The youths were selected to take part in the 47th annual event on the basis of outstanding 4-H Club records. The program, which carries the theme "Destination—Leadership," reflects the concern of 4-H Club leadership in Michigan young people in line with a changing United States and world.

CLINTON COUNTY representatives at Club Week will be:

Linda Baese, Delores Fritz, Sonja Goscinski, Barbara Hess, Diana McQueen, Jane Sherwood, Anne Shinabery, Betty Wadell, Rita Washburn, Larry Blizard, Larry Brya, Alan Miller, James Nichols, James Roof, Allen Sibley, Douglas Thurston and Douglas Witt.

This year's 4-H Club Week emphasis will include world understanding and human relations. In the opening session, State Senator Guy VanderJagt of Cadillac will challenge 4-H Club members to actively seek leadership roles at all levels during their life.

A BETTER appreciation for the work of the United Nations is the goal of the world understanding sessions. Delegates will be trained to take active leadership to involve teenagers and adults in programs that will increase understanding of the United Nations.

Extensive use of closed circuit television will play a big part in discussion of human relations throughout the entire week. Some 90 discussion groups will explore the meaning and cause of discrimination, prejudice and other social problems concerning human relations. Club members will attempt to seek alternative solutions to problems and determine roles they can assume in their home communities, the state, the nation and the world.

THE ANNUAL club week is sponsored by the 4-H Club department of the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service. Events will be centered at Shaw Hall.

Without Michigan, the national leader, America's supply of pickles would be considerably smaller. Last year growers sold 115,140 tons of pickling cucumbers to processors for more than $7 1/2 million. Other growers realized more than $1 1/2 million from the sale of 78,000 hundred-weight to the fresh market. Michigan is first in picklers and 11th in slicers.

Here Comes the Chesaning Showboat

The 1965 Chesaning Showboat will sail on Monday for a six-night run through Saturday, July 17, with top professional acts, the frolicking endmen and colorful Showboat chorus. This year's Showboat, the 24th annual production, will be another top hit of minstrel and vaudeville-type entertainment, two hours of fast-moving show in the manner of the old Mississippi River showboats. Included in Showboat Queen Karen Ann Pushman's court is Pam Loznak of Elsie.

New reason for alfalfa troubles?

Alfalfa doesn't do well on flooded or poorly drained fields, and most farmers blame this on a lack of oxygen in the soil. But it may be that waterlogged soils are harmful because they create manganese toxicity.

That's a conclusion based on experiments by E. H. Graven, O. J. Attoe and Dale Smith at the University of Wisconsin.

THE SOIL scientists tested this by growing alfalfa in pots which were waterlogged for short periods. Then they measured the amount of manganese in the plant. (Manganese toxicity is the reason for poor alfalfa on many unlined soils.) Much like increasing soil acidity, waterlogging makes the element manganese more soluble and mobile in the soil. The roots of the alfalfa plant then pick it up readily and transport it through the plant.

When the scientists flooded one group of pots for four days and left the others normal, they found a decided difference in the amount of manganese in the alfalfa plants growing in the pots. The soil that had been flooded produced nearly four times as much manganese in the alfalfa plants as in those that were kept properly drained.

MANGANESE content stayed high in the next three cuttings, indicating that plants absorbed the element in large amounts after the waterlogged conditions were past. Where the toxicity was severe, plants first wilted, then became pale green, and finally had an early death.

Graven, Attoe and Smith found that soils that were not as acid gave less trouble with manganese toxicity under flooding conditions. This indicates that liming may be a safeguard against manganese toxicity and caused toxic conditions to decline rapidly.

THE SCIENTISTS say that manganese toxicity may be more important than a lack of oxygen where waterlogged soils won't support alfalfa. Manganese poisoning in plants resulting from flooding is especially likely in greenhouses where drainage in pots or benches is not adequate.

Expect wide spread of Dutch elm disease

It looks like a "good" year for Dutch elm disease. That's the way E. B. Smalley, University of Wisconsin plant disease specialist, expresses it.

By a "good" year, Smalley means that conditions are right for the disease to spread. A relatively wet spring, like this year, gives elms a long period of susceptibility to the Dutch elm disease fungus. In a moist year elm trees may be susceptible to the disease through July and into August. To add to the problem, many trees have poor vigor after going through last year's drought.

BUT ELM TREES are a little like people. Some get sick sooner or recover more slowly than others. Some elm species are susceptible to Dutch elm disease, and others show some degree of resistance.

Canada, Great Britain, Europe, Russia, Korea and all parts of the United States have contributed elms to a Wisconsin experimental nursery. Some of these show more resistance than others. For example, elms from Asia have the most resistance to Dutch elm disease, European elms are only moderately resistant, and American elms least resistant.

ELM SPECIES differ in resistance too. Slippery elm, for example, is more resistant and is also good for shade and lumber, Smalley says. Resistant elms will be breeding stock for stronger elm varieties.

Leaves of plants big protein source

Agricultural scientists have always considered the seed the most important source of protein in a plant, but an increasing world population may some day put a great demand on leafy parts of the plant as protein. Looking ahead of this possibility, two University of Wisconsin biochemists have studied the protein value of the leaves of 25 common crop plants.

Walter Akeson and Mark Stahmann compared average protein yields of 10 crop plants grown for forage and 15 that are grown for seed. They found that alfalfa yielded the most protein per acre, expressed as essential amino acids, of common crops. The second highest yield came from soybean seed, followed by corn leaves, clover and cowpea forage.

AMINO ACID yield of alfalfa averaged 300 pounds per acre, soybean seed 185 pounds, corn leaves 170 pounds, and soybean forage about 150 pounds.

Since corn rates fairly high as a protein source, the researchers compared the protein value of corn leaves, corn grain and corn converted to protein when fed to an animal. Protein in corn leaves was 200-300 pounds per acre, depending on the processing of the leaves. This compared to 234 pounds of protein per acre from corn grain, and under 87 pounds per acre when fed to livestock.

Sidewalk sales set Aug. 5, 6

The oldest annual sales promotion in St. Johns — Sidewalk Sales Days — is scheduled for Thursday and Friday, Aug. 5 and 6, according to an announcement this week by the Retail Division of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce.

This will be the eighth year for the staging of the sales event where merchants display their specials on tables and stands on the sidewalks in the business district. In the event of rain on either of the two sales days, it will be continued to Aug. 7.

RETAIL merchants who are not located on Clinton Avenue but who would like to participate in the Sidewalk Sales Days are urged to call the Chamber offices, and efforts will be made to find space for them in front of vacant buildings or stores that will not be utilizing all their space.

Fine for eczema, insect bites, foot itch, other surface rashes. NOW at Finkbeiner's, Fowler and Gaspie's, St. Johns.

The dairy cow was the best protein converter, followed by the broiler, layer and turkey.

STATING THE protein value another way, Akeson and Stahmann figure that protein from corn leaves yielded 2 1/3 times as much as when converted to milk, three times as much as broilers and four times as much as turkeys and hogs. So when protein is limited, processed corn leaves would be a much more efficient source of protein than feeding to livestock.

Considering alfalfa processed for protein, Akeson and Stahmann calculated how the cost of this kind of protein compared with the usual protein sources. Both on a wholesale and retail basis, alfalfa forage was about equal to soybean meal, cottonseed meal, linseed meal and tankage—9 to 12 cents per pounds of protein.

THE SCIENTISTS couldn't find much information on the cost of extracting protein from alfalfa leaves, but processing would probably run cost higher than other protein feeds now in use.

Though protein isn't likely to become competitive today, the scientists want to have the information available when protein shortages become more acute in other parts of the world. If processing should become economical, they might also be able to use such sources as pea vines, roadside weeds and water plants as protein feeds.

I Always Grow My Best Crops with "Na-Churs" Liquid Fertilizer

Here's why:
My "Na-Churs" man tests my soil every year and tells me the right plant foods to use, to keep my soil in top shape and grow me the best crop. I, like many other good farmers, have always been in the market for a plant food that you could feed throughout the growing season. Now we have what we want. We use "Na-Churs" as a foliage feed on our corn, beans, hay, etc. By this we are getting higher quality, even growth, earlier maturity and more profit per acre for us.

Peace Corps tests Saturday

Peace Corps placement tests will be administered this Saturday at the post offices in Grand Rapids, Lansing and Saginaw and at the federal building in Flint. Testing begins at 9 a.m.
The placement test is not passed or failed and it cannot be studied for; it measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language. If, for example, test scores indicate limited language-acquiring ability, the Peace Corps tries to place the applicant in an English-speaking area. The test is used by the Peace Corps only as a tool in the matching of volunteers and jobs.

3 area detours affect motorists

M-47 in Shiawassee County is closed for construction work between Owosso and Oakley. Traffic is routed from the junction of M-47 and M-21 east on M-21 to M-13, then north to M-57, then west to the junction of M-47 and M-57. It adds 26 miles to the route and will be effective until Oct. 31.
IN IONIA County, M-66 traffic will be detoured from the intersection of M-66 and M-44 west on M-44 10 miles to M-91, then north on M-91 to M-46, then east on M-46 six miles to M-66. This detour adds 14 miles to the route and will be effective until Aug. 1.
In Ingham County, an M-99 detour runs to the west on Miller and Waverly Roads around construction work at the I-96 and M-99 over pass. This detour adds only one-half mile. It will be effective until October.

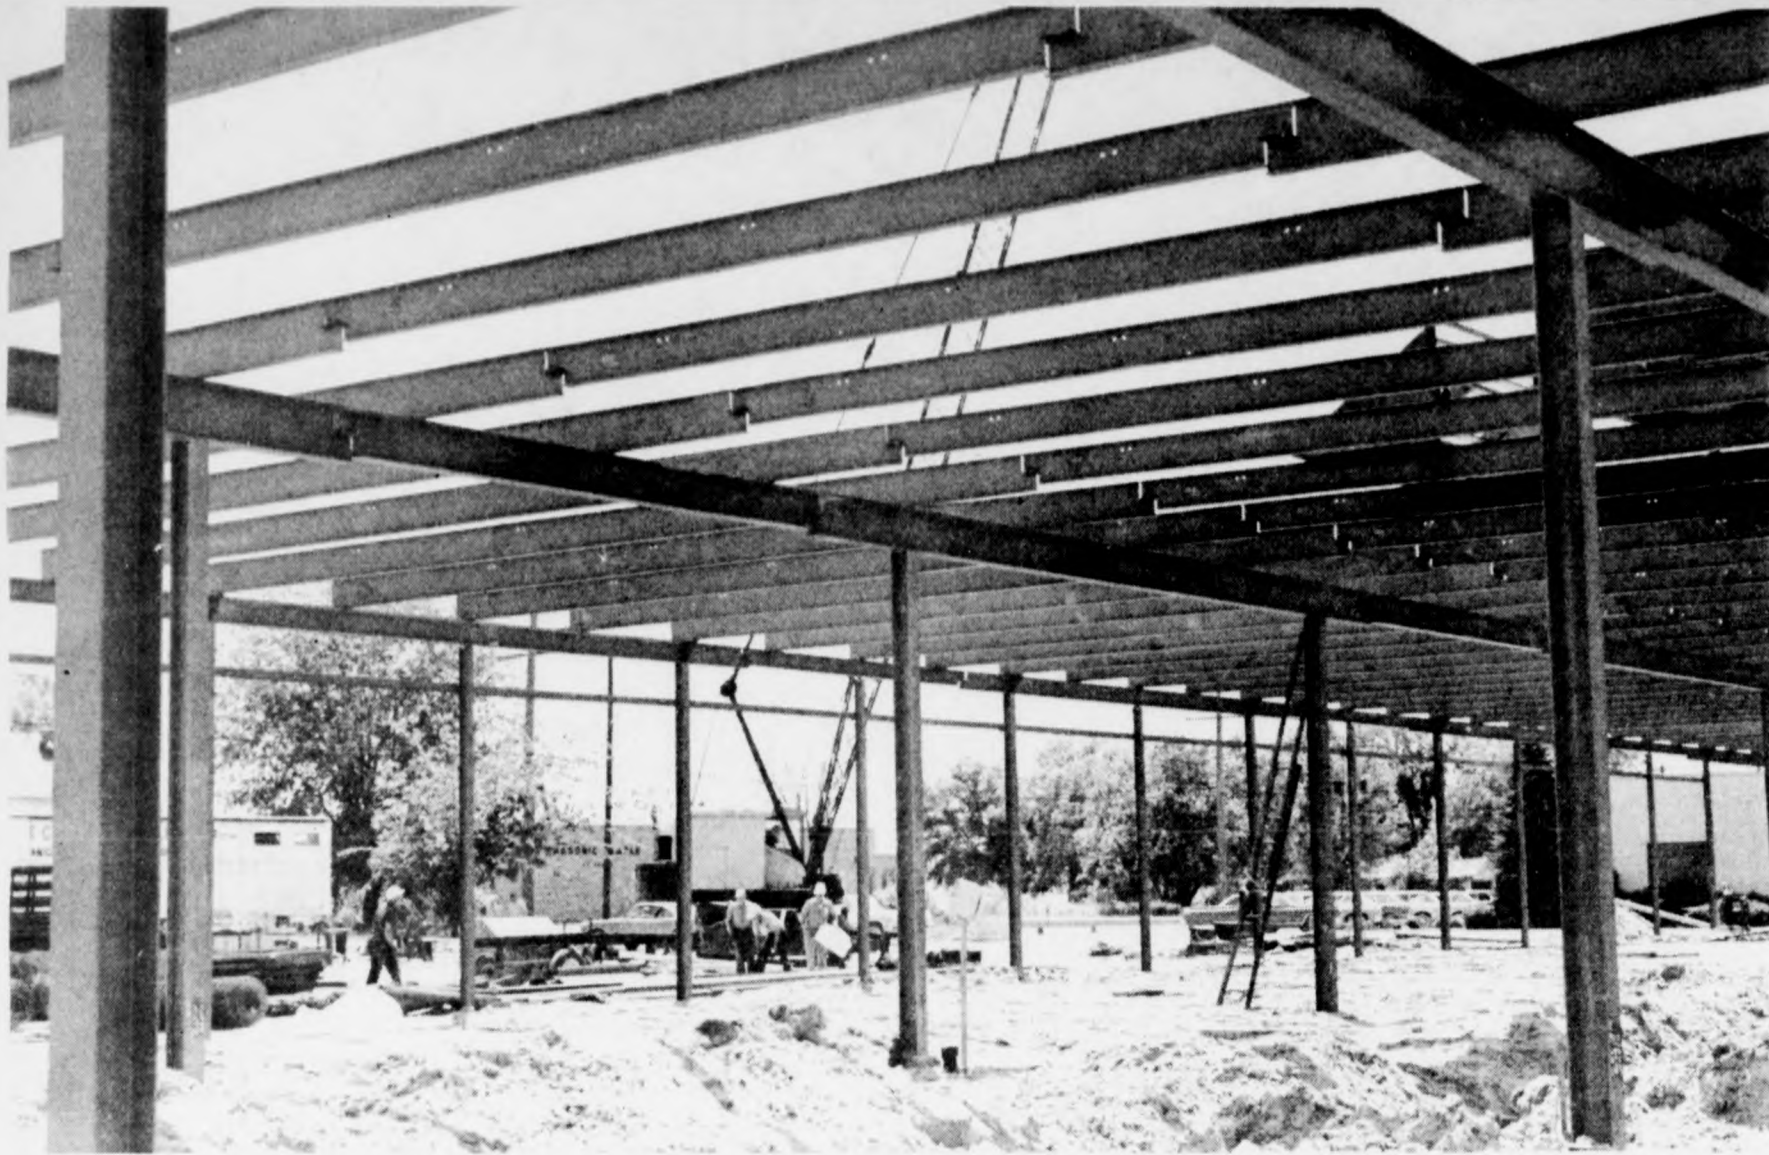

STILL WATERS

Who would guess that just out of sight there's a six-lane turnpike! Thousands of people drive past this peaceful place every day, and never know it exists. Occasionally, through a break in the sheltering trees, someone glimpses shining water and green pasture-land in the distance... then the road curves, and the lovely scene is forgotten.
Many travelers hurry along life's road with empty hearts and unseeing eyes, never realizing what the transforming beauty of the Christian faith could mean to them. Because they always expect to find happiness around the next bend, they overlook the still waters of spiritual peace.
In the quiet, hallowed atmosphere of the Church, God answers man's deepest needs. Through prayer and worship, our souls are strengthened and restored. And when we continue our journey, we are not alone. God is with us.

New Steel Framework of Sealed Power Addition Shows Its Expanse

Steel framework for the new $2 1/2 million addition to the Sealed Power Corp. plant at St. Johns is now up, and it gives passersby a picture of the expanse of the new building. The steel framework was completed early last week, shortly after this picture was taken. This view looks southwest toward the Masonic Temple in the background and toward the existing plant in right background.

Disturbing trends in Michigan population

Michigan's population is growing. Its unemployment rate is low. Everything looks rosy.

Or does it?

A University of Michigan sociologist, David Goldberg, has just finished helping to estimate the 1964 population of each of the 83 counties, and is has found a disquieting trend continuing:

MORE PEOPLE are moving out of state than are moving in. And the new arrivals are not as well educated as those departing.

The university's Population Studies Center, of which Goldberg is associate director, has been estimating the state's population annually since 1957 with near-perfect accuracy. Its estimate for 1964 is 8,100,000—a 3 1/2 per cent gain from the 7,823,194 counted in the 1960 census.

THE GAIN IS all in births over deaths, not in people moving in.

Of the 83 counties, 27 lost population in those four years. Eleven of the 15 in the Upper Peninsula lost. The remaining losses were chiefly in the northern Lower Peninsula.

Most of the big gains were in metropolitan areas—the counties around Detroit and the Flint-Lansing area. One exception was Iosco County, where Wurtsmith Air Force Base at Oscoda contributed to a jump of 3,500 people, or 21 per cent. Another exception was Otsego County, where a new plywood factory at Gaylord accounts for a 650-person gain, or 9 per cent.

WAYNE COUNTY, like giant metropolitan areas around the country, lost a little in its population, but nearby Macomb, Oakland and Washtenaw more than made up for this.

But of more interest to Goldberg is the evidence that people are moving out. Net out-migration from 1960 to 1964 was 190,000 people. Hundreds of thousands more than this left, of course, but this is the net loss even after the arrival of hundreds of thousands of others.

THE FIGURE for 1956 to 1960 was 250,000 net loss.

"This raises questions about the economic adjustment of the state," Goldberg says. "What if the image of a prosperous Michigan were accepted nationally, and we had a net in-migration? Could the economy accommodate these people? What would the unemployment be then?"

Unemployment in Michigan at the moment is running between 3 1/2 and 4 per cent, well below the national average. But Goldberg asks, "Is unemployment low because more people are leaving than coming?"

THIS NET OUTFLOW is relatively new to Michigan. From 1910 to 1955 the balance was in the state's favor, mainly because of the growth of the automobile industry and war production. The tide turned in 1956.

Michigan is losing people to other regions. Those are also the people in whom it has the biggest investment. This experience has been very similar to that of the Census Bureau's East North Central region as a whole—Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin.

FROM 1955 to 1960, according to census figures, those who moved out of this region were generally better educated than those moving in. For example, this region lost to the Middle Atlantic states men with a median education level of more than 16 years—college graduates. Its gain from this region was men with a median level of 14.8 years in school. To minimize age and racial differences, this comparison is only of white males aged 25 to 29.

Though these figures are now five years old, Goldberg finds the trend continuing.

"WE'RE STILL losing more than we're picking up," he says, "and we're doing badly in the trade."

Where are Michigan people going? Everywhere, but the biggest net loss has been to the West. The biggest total loss, to the South, has been partly balanced by in-coming Southerners.

WHY? SOMETIMES, of course, to retire in a more hospitable climate. But frequently the reason is opportunity for financial success. Michigan does not lack such opportunities, but they are mainly for the technically trained men. Men with a broader background in business, science and the arts, Goldberg says, are more likely to do better elsewhere.

Goldberg gets his figures from varied sources: births, auto registrations, voting lists, sales tax returns. One of the most reliable—and one that has consistently shown a net outflow—is the annual Michigan School Census of persons under 20.

HE CONCEDES that there might be an error of 2 1/2 to 3 per cent in the 1964 population estimate of any given county, even though the estimating technique is the best so far devised. He says any error in the 8,100,000 estimate for the state as a whole is much smaller than 2 1/2 or 3 per cent.

His Clinton County estimate is 42,000 for 1964, compared to 37,969 population in 1960.

Average wage for employees in the for-hire motor carrier industry in 1963 was $6,642, reports American Trucking Associations. The figure is 28 per cent higher than the average for all private industry.

AGRICULTURE in ACTION

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

Leaving things undone improves farm wildlife

Whether for "home consumption" or as a means of supplementing farm income, wildlife is a valued part of the rural scene. But many species have not fared well in the face of big farming with big fields, big equipment and big cleanup.

bility to farming and cutting it out won't add a nickel to farm revenue. But letting it stand can make a field habitable to pheasants and rabbits where otherwise they couldn't survive.

IF YOU HAVE firebug tendencies, remember that scorched earth and game crops don't go together. Brush piled in a fence corner will afford good game cover for years. And a grown-up ditch bank can serve multiple needs of nesting and protective cover for a variety of farm game.

All in all, say Remington experts, good game management can be thinking small and acting shiftless. Improving the farm for wildlife involves a lot of little things and mostly they are things better left undone.

Many landowners would like to improve the lot of pheasants, rabbits and quail, but they are stymied by the same bigness in thinking. Many farmers look upon game management as involving a major redesign of their fields, and they despair that big farming and game can go together.

IT'S GENERALLY true that the best conditions for upland game are found on lands that duplicate patch farming conditions of 50 years ago. But that doesn't mean that improvements are out of reach on modern-day farms that feature bigness and uniformity. Game management can be a lot of little things as well as a major overhaul of land use and practices.

Line fences, access roads, drainage-ways and field borders are part of the farm landscape—large or small. How these are handled can make a notable difference in conditions for wildlife. If you're a big-field farmer looking for low-cost, even no-cost, ways of jazzing up the game supply, take a fresh look at these peripheral sites.

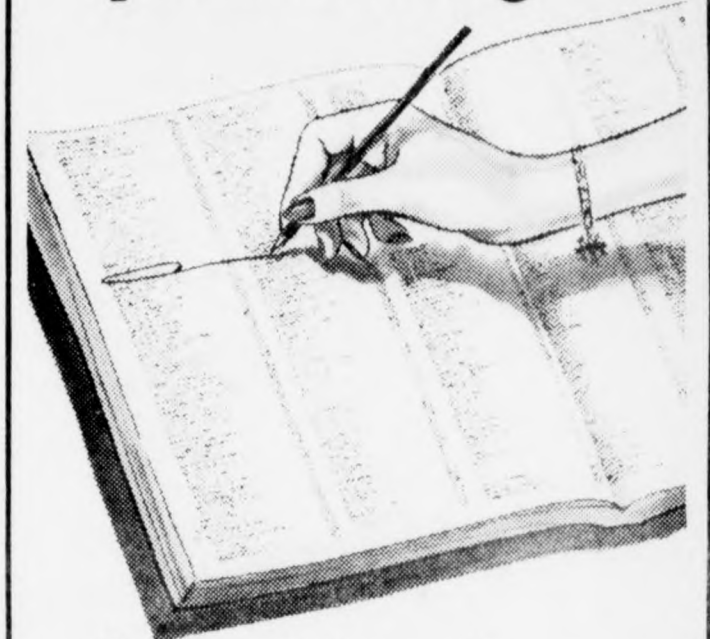

IF IT HAS been your practice to mow such idle areas, consider this: mowing costs time and money and in most cases serves no good purpose. Very few weeds are controlled by regular cutting, but the removal of such linear strips of cover can mean the difference between having a convey of quail on the site and not having one.
