CD center proposal hits same impasse

Civil Defense Director Charles Frost's bid for a civil defense emergency operating center ran up against a familiar impasse Monday—lack of a starting point.

After over an hour of discussion whether an emergency operating center should be figured into the county's building program, the whole matter was tabled until a "starting point" could be reached.

Charles Coletta, supervisor from St. Johns, identified the impasse. He said Frost was wanting to know what the board wanted in the way of an emergency operating center, and the board wanted to know what they should have, in the thinking of civil defense people "in the know."

COMING OUT with the answer to Frost's question was impossible until Frost supplied the professional advice, Coletta said.

The emergency operating center would house communications equipment and county officials in a shelter area from which county government and law and order could be carried out during and after a nuclear attack.

WHEN THE present courthouse wing was in the planning stages there was talk of locating an emergency operating center under the patio in front of the main courthouse entrance. The east basement wall of the new wing was even constructed of a heavier concrete, and thicker, to accommodate an emergency operating center (EOC) shelter at some future date.

"Just because we put the heavier wall there doesn't mean the board made a decision in favor of an EOC," Board Chairman Almond Cressman of Olive Township said.

APPEARING with Frost at the supervisors' meeting Monday afternoon were Capt. Jack Nemrava of the Michigan State Police and Bill Powell of state civil defense headquarters.

Both men talked for some time, with Powell explaining a philosophy of the EOC and answering several questions. They then watched and listened as the board followed a complicated route that finally saw the idea tabled.

FIRST, Essex Township Supervisor John M. Settingington made a motion that the county request a feasibility study of such an EOC (including architectural proposals), with half of the cost of the study to be paid by the federal government on a matching fund basis. The motion finally got a support from Ray Mayers of Benning.

Ernest Carter of Watertown asked "Are we ready for it (the study)?" Derrill Shinabery of Greenbush then proposed an amendment that the civil defense and building and grounds committees of the board first determine if the county wants a feasibility study made. Willard Krebel of Riley seconded the amendment.

COLETTA then gave his diagnosis of the impasse that had been reached again. He said civil defense ought to supply some recommendations for the board to approve before any actual study is made.

Mayers then offered to withdraw his support of Settingington's original motion, but Settingington said he wanted it to stand; "We've waited long enough now," he said.

George Austin of Ovid then moved that the motion be tabled until a later date, and that motion carried with only Settingington's objection.

POWELL, the state civil defense man, agreed that he had the board's answer to what was wanted, and he said such plans for an EOC would be provided for the board.

Powell and Capt. Nemrava had given the board some background on the purposes of an EOC. Capt. Nemrava noted that the emergency operating center could be used for many other daily chores in addition to being an EOC. He said that most people don't realize that "we can survive" nuclear fallout by being in shelters, and he noted that government would be necessary to keep order after people are able to come out from their shelters.

Capt. Nemrava said he felt an EOC was an "absolute must for your county government." He said the center's communications would include broadcasting facilities, an emergency radio network and state and national network.

FIFTY PER CENT of the cost for an emergency center itself would be paid for by the federal government on a matching basis, he said.

Powell recommended that space in the center be provided for all of the supervisors, "because you're the governing body. We have to have the capability to come out after the radiation has

Fire Damages Coykendall Home

A St. Johns fireman steps through a burned out window in the attic of the Frank Coykendall home after the roof of the house on M-21 west of St. Johns was ruined by fire last Wednesday about 12:30 p.m. Firemen estimated damage at about $5,000, though they said the downstairs of the home was not extensively damaged. The fire apparently started from a spark from the chimney. Bedding, furniture and clothing were thrown out on the lawn.

DeWitt city, township plan separate fire departments

DeWITT — The City of DeWitt and DeWitt Township will soon be going their separate ways on the matter of fire protection.

The township last Thursday turned down an "ultimatum" proposal by the city and decided to set up the township fire hall at Township Hall No. 2 on Wieldand Road in Valley Farms.

The city now will purchase its own fire equipment.

THE CHANGE will take place by Jan. 1. A group of Valley Farms men have been taking fire-fighting training for some time in anticipation of a piece of equipment being housed in the community. The training was started before the township-city disagreement came about.

The township fire department, which has been based at the municipal building in DeWitt, will be forced to discontinue fire protection service to portions of Riley, Olive and Watertown Townships because of the greater distances involved once the move is made.

RILEY AND Olive townships will have to negotiate either with the City of DeWitt or with St. Johns for fire protection in the southern parts of those townships. St. Johns now services fire calls in the northern parts of those two townships.

Township Supervisor Oliver Angell of DeWitt Township said the trustees felt it would be unfair to township residents to pay tax for fire protection when city residents would not be taxed, under the city's fire protection proposal.

ANGELL SAID that DeWitt city residents had paid about $2,100 in taxes annually for fire protection while it had the status of a village. Since June 10 when it became a city, the City of DeWitt has not actually paid taxes for fire protection.

DeWitt will now set up its own city fire department, apparently, and progress has reportedly already been made in that direction. City Clerk Ray Price said the city would probably negotiate with Watertown, Riley and Olive concerning fire protection in parts of those townships.

THE DECISION to go separate ways came last Thursday at a meeting of township trustees. They rejected a City of DeWitt proposal that read like this: the township would retain ownership of the fire equipment; trucks

2nd polio vaccine clinics set Nov. 14

The second dose of Sabin oral polio vaccine will be given to 9,634 county residents Nov. 14, but the committee making the plans for it are hoping for a much bigger turnout.

The first doses of the vaccine were given Sept. 19. About 35,000 doses were available, but only 9,634 persons turned out to get the two drops of vaccine on a cube of sugar.

PERSONS WHO had the first dose are reminded that the second is necessary to provide complete immunization against the dreaded crippling disease.

Persons who didn't get the vaccine in September can take their first dose at the clinics Nov. 14 would be housed in the DeWitt City Hall and volunteer firemen in the city would operate the trucks; the township would assume responsibility for all costs of operation and for fire protection and inhalator service to the city without cost. Remuneration for all services to the city would be offset by housing and storage space provided by the city without cost.

The city had made that proposal after it had rejected this township proposal: the township would pay $600 a year rent for use to the fire hall; the city would be charged $500 a year retainer for fire protection, $110 for each fire call and $15 for each inhalator call. The city would also share in any year - end deficit of the department.

Several thousand extra doses will be available to take care of those who missed the first clinic.

THERE WILL BE no actual charge for the vaccine, according to Dr. F. W. Smith, president of the Clinton County Medical Society, and Francis Schafer of Fowler, chairman of the Clinton County Polio Vaccine Committee. But the committee is asking for a 50-cent donation to offset the cost of the vaccine.

It will be administered at the same eight sites around the county that were used in September.

Violators of plat act new target

The violation of county and state plat acts must stop, and the Clinton County Board of Supervisors echoed their own words Monday with a promise to enforce the law.

Mrs. Marie Belknap, county register of deeds, appeared before the board and asked their complete backing of her in an effort to enforce the plat act. She said there have been several such cases brought to light recently and she said she is sure there are others which should be reported.

LAST WEEK Robert VanVleet of Olive Township was found guilty in circuit court of violation of the plat act. Mrs. Belknap said she was approached by an attorney later, and he asked why all violations were not prosecuted.

Mrs. Belknap said her office has plenty to do to keep busy but she said she would bring charges against violators if the board wanted it that way. The supervisors were loud in their approval. "I feel we should go along and stop it," George Moore of Duplain said.

THERE was general agreement to support further prosecutions. Mrs. Belknap asked supervisors to let her know of plat violations in their respective townships so that she could pursue the cases through to court.

Fulton juniors plan mystery-comedy

The Junior Class of Fulton High School will present their play entitled "Here Comes Charlie," which is a combination of comedy and mystery. It is to be held at the Fulton High School gym Nov. 12, 1965, at 8 p.m.

Clinton Red Cross, Ingham-Eaton merge

Merger of the Clinton County chapter of the American Red Cross with the Ingham-Eaton chapter has been approved, it was announced Tuesday by Richard Newman, chairman of the Clinton chapter.

The new merged unit will be known as the Mid-Michigan chapter of the American Red Cross.

It will serve Eaton, Clinton and Ingham counties with the exception of the village of Hubbardston, which is now being served by the Ionia County chapter.

The merger approval was signed Sunday at the annual meeting of the board of governors of the American Red Cross, which sets the policies of the agency nationwide.

IT WILL be formalized this Sunday at the annual meeting of the Ingham-Eaton counties chapter. That meeting will be at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Michigan State University Chapel.

Five names of Clinton County people will be submitted Sunday for election to the board of directors of the new Mid-Michigan chapter. The terms of the new members may be staggered in policy with the present board policy of Ingham-Eaton, but this decision on the length of terms had not been made yet Tuesday.

THE BOARD consists now of 33 members from Ingham and Eaton, and the five from Clinton will bring it to 38. By-laws of the Red Cross call for a board of at least 30 in Ingham-Eaton. Seven members of the board make up the executive committee.

Clinton County residents will benefit in two specific ways from the merger, according to Rollo McCall, executive director of the Lansing Red Cross Center.

One will be in service to military personnel and families, he said. "The Clinton County chapter has done a fine job in this service," McCall said, "but because we are bigger it pays us to have a little more extensive setup."

THE LANSING office of the Red Cross has its own teletype unit, which Clinton County will now be able to use in sending messages to or receiving them from personnel in the service. The teletype will expedite the messages faster than other means.

Clinton County residents with emergency messages may call the county Red Cross office in St. Johns, the message will be relayed by personnel here to Lansing and then put on the teletype network to the destination.

Twenty-four-hour teletype service will be provided in Lansing.

ANOTHER advantage emphasized by McCall was disaster service. He said the Lansing office, which now will serve Clinton, too, has a written disaster plan which, assuming the merger would take place, was drawn up to include Clinton.

The plan has gone to the extent that a contact man for the Red Cross has been obtained in St. Johns. He is Charles Shawnee of 400 E. Higham Street, McCall said, and he will immediately alert the Red Cross of any disaster in the St. Johns area.

McCALL SAID IT is the hope of the Mid-Michigan chapter that more such contact persons can be found in the various parts of the county. "We ultimately want to have volunteers trained so that

Chest 'temperature' up to 60% of goal

Five groups working on the Clinton County Communities Chest drive this year have reported in with their completed campaigns, according to a Chest report Tuesday morning.

At that stage the total amount of donations stood at $17,698.60, some 60.3 per cent of the goal of $29,350.

Five separately conducted phases of the drive are complete. St. Johns industry and employees, under the chairmanship of Larry Sexton, plant manager at Sealed Power, donated a grand total of $8,372.40, about half of the total amount to date. The industry drive is completed.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS of St. Johns donated $1,268. Other final totals are Clinton Memorial Hospital $328.50; Village of Ovid $2,050.40; and Greenbush Township $306.75.

Added to those final figures were the tentative amounts reported as of Tuesday: St. Johns businesses and employees $3,950.20; St. Johns individual contributions $810.60; Bingham Township $254.75; DeWitt Township $295; and county offices and road commission, $62.

"We know there's a great deal of money yet to come in," Communities Chest Treasurer Charles Huntington said Tuesday morning, "and we're confident we can reach our goal."

THE MONEY DONATED to the Communities Chest this year will be divided among nine charitable and youth agencies. They are the American Red Cross, Girl Scouts of America, Boy Scouts of America, Salvation Army, St. Vincent de Paul Society, Rehabilitation Medical Center, 4-H Fair fund, Lansing Mental Health and Child Guidance, and Michigan United Fund. The Michigan United Fund, in turn, supports 18 state and 20 national agencies.

2 in county seek state FB offices

Two Clinton County Farm Bureau members will be candidates for state offices when the 46th annual meeting of the Michigan Farm Bureau is held at Michigan State University Nov. 9-11.

Robert Zeeb of DeWitt Township is a candidate for director-at-large on the board of directors, and Mrs. Lewis (Jeanette) Babbitt of rural Eagle is a candidate for the office of state women's vice-chairman.

THE THREE-day state session is called annually to elect directors and adopt a slate of policy statements for the coming year. Over 600 voting delegates, representing 71 county Farm Bureau units throughout the state, will take action on hundreds of resolution issues ranging from improved marketing and export trade to tax relief.

Zeeb will be a candidate for a spot being vacated by Walter Wightman, past president of Farm Bureau, who reportedly will not seek reelection. Zeeb has served on the Clinton County Farm Bureau board the past three years and was elected to another three-year term at the county annual meeting several weeks ago. He has been a member of the General Telephone plans $388,200 spending in St. Johns area in '66

Expenditure of $388,200 during 1966 to improve telephone service and facilities in the St. Johns district was announced last week by General Telephone Co.

The planned spending is part of a $5,634,958 budget for improvements in the company's central division next year. The figure compares to $3,700,000 planned for 1965 and $4,200,000 actually being spent this year.

In the St. Johns district, the new construction expenditures will be more than $103,000 over the 1965 budget.

ON THE ST. Johns exchange, some $191,700 will be spent to complete the upgrading of service in the southeast rural area, started in 1965. Another $2,300 will be spent to start upgrading service in the north rural area and extending the base rate area.

primarily the reduction of number of parties on party lines.

Two toll positions will be added at a cost of $1,000 and $19,300 will be spent for providing carrier equipment for service between St. Johns and Pompeli, Muir and Maple Rapids. Some of that work will be completed in 1967 and some in 1968.

THE CARRIER equipment enables many conversations - usually from 2 to 24 - to be carried on at the same time over a pair of wires. The equipment "scrambles" the signals at the sending end and "unscrambles" them at the receiving end. It is the same technique used in radio receiving.

Another piece of carrier equipment will be installed for service between Carson City and St. Johns, this at a cost of $53,800. Four ticketers (the equipment which automatically records toll calls) will be added in 1966 and provisions will be made for eight others in 1967. Total cost of the ticketer project in 1966 is $19,200.

THE construction improvements on the St. Johns exchange account for $287,300 of the $388,200 St. Johns district budget. Other exchanges in the district are at Ashley, Carson City, Fowler, Maple Rapids, Middleton, Palo and Pewamo.

At Fowler, $1,200 will be spent for rural upgrade. There'll be rural upgrading on the Pewamo exchange, too, as well as the addition of 80 lines, all of which will total about $9,700.

A total of $4,100 will be spent on several projects for the Pewamo exchange. They include work on 250 line and terminal replacements, new customer dial office building, transfer toll terminal, rural and urban upgrade, and purchase of land.

IN THE Grand Ledge district are the exchanges for Bath and DeWitt. Work on 160 line and 300 terminal addition for the Bath addition will amount to $20,800. On the Grand Ledge exchange in 1966, there will be completion of rural relief and base rate area extension plans and 300 terminal addition projects begun in 1965.

Other work on 600 line and 400 terminal addition and trunking 500 lines, as well as a new toll cable to Lansing, will start in 1966, with completion in 1967. Total work in the DeWitt exchange in 1966 will amount to $193,900.

IN THE central division, the record service improvement and expansion program is equivalent to nearly $80 for each of the 70,300 telephones in the division, Central Division Manager R. D. Trezise said.

"Continuation of our program to accomplish our primary objective of reducing all parties per line to a maximum of four in suburban exchanges will receive major consideration in 1966," he said.

"Our 1966 program represents an increase of $2 million over our 1965 central division expenditures and will include improvement and expansion projects in both local exchanges and long distance service."

GENERAL Telephone's central division is bounded by the exchanges of Woodland, Grand Ledge and Williamston to the south, Lakeview to the west, Barryton and Mount Pleasant to the north, and Linden to the east.

Trezise, in announcing the 1966 service improvement and expansion plans for the central division, provided the following expenditures by category:

-Exchange outside plant and the associated additional central office switching and terminating equipment, plus expenditures for private branch systems, construction, line, and cable trucks - $2,294,500.

-CONSTRUCTION of additional long distance cable and related plant facilities - $1,116,000.

- "Routine budget" expenditures (including replacement of vehicles, tools, furniture, telephone instruments, and outside plant that has reached its maximum useful life) - $1,924,000.

- Building additions - $300,400.

"Our largest individual exchange project will be replacing the Mount Pleasant central office, a $1,078,000 project," Trezise said. "The new central office is scheduled to be placed in service in August."

SETTERINGTON then arose to ask the board a question. "We've heard this story many times until it's getting boring," he said. "But we haven't done anything about a decision. We're spending the people's money for a civil defense office and we're not getting what we could out of it.

"Do we think the people would not want us to do this? Why don't we put it up to the people? Shouldn't we do something along the lines of a building authority so that someday we can take some action instead of just listening to facts and doing nothing about it?"

Then came his motion, the amendment and the tabling.

Exchange holds crop show

The St. Johns Exchange Club held its annual Crop Show last Thursday night at the Bingham EUB Church, with about 40 Exchange Clubbers, 4-H boys and their fathers attending.

Don Walker, extension 4-H youth agent, showed color slides concerning 4-H Club activities and goals. Entertainment was provided by Julia Silvestri with the accordion and Mary Ann Butler who sang, accompanied by Mrs. Bruce Fowler on the piano.

The dinner was served by ladies of the church. Exchange Club President Charles Huntington had charge of the meeting.

Give Over Half of Township Quota

Teachers in the Bath Community School system contributed just over half of this year's Bath Township Communities Chest goal of $603. Dorene Gamble, Bath School Communities Chest chairman, takes a check from teacher John Parker, symbolic of the donations received, while Doris Wilkins, high school building chairman, pins a Chest contributor button on his lapel. Some 892 people in the township benefitted from Chest agencies in 1964-65.

THE CLINICS will be open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Nov. 14.

Sponsors of the county clinics are the Fowler Jaycees, the Clinton County Medical Society, the Clinton County Health Office and the Central Michigan Assn. of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons.

The vaccine is easy to take, the sponsors pointed out. Called Oritime and manufactured by Lederle Laboratories, two drops of the orange or red-orange liquid is put on a cube of sugar and the cube is popped into the mouth and eaten.

THE VACCINE contains live polio virus which sets up an immunity to the disease within the body in about 10 days to two weeks. The oral vaccine has been used millions of times around the country and state.

It replaces to a great extent the Salk polio shots and is a lot easier to administer to children because it doesn't hurt. In fact, health officials here recommend that the oral vaccine be taken even by persons who have been taking the Salk shots, since the oral vaccine provides immunity against intestinal polio which the Salk shots didn't.

DeWitt man promoted

Charles J. Arnold of DeWitt has received a promotion to physical research engineer IV for the State Highway Department.

A 1959 graduate of Michigan State University, Arnold received a MS degree in applied mechanics in 1961. He is a registered professional engineer.

He joined the State Highway Department in 1955 and took leaves of absence to complete his engineering education.

His most significant work has been in the development of techniques for instrumental pile driving and studies of the effects on bridge life of various types of loading.

Youth fined $164 on 2 charges

Lawrence L. Schneider, 19, of Cutler Road, R-2, DeWitt, was fined on two charges Monday by St. Johns Municipal Judge Alba Wert. Schneider was arrested at 2:47 a.m. Sunday and charged with reckless driving and assault and battery. He was fined $75 plus $19.90 on the driving charge and $50 plus $19.90 costs on the assault charge.

Reclassification stirs supervisors

The reclassification of the deputy abstractor job for the county created quite a hassle at the supervisors' meeting Monday, but the classification was eventually raised, and the job was done away with, leaving two abstractors instead of one.

The salary and clerk hire committee recommended to the board that the deputy be raised to a "6" classification instead of "5" giving that position a salary range of $4,200 to $4,900 instead of $4,000 to $4,700.

THE matter was first brought up at the morning session, then was tabled until late in the afternoon. After some discussion, the question was called for and at about the same time John Setterington, supervisor from Essex Township, called for a study of all classifications of courthouse employees.

He was ruled out of order, and on an aye and nay vote the original motion by Gerald Shepard of Bath, chairman of the salary and clerk hire committee, was passed by a vote of 13-6.

VOTING against it were Setterington, Walter Nobis of Lebanon, Almond Cressman of Olive, Ernest Carter of Watertown, Walter Thelen of Westphalia and Ray Price of the City of DeWitt. Maurice Gove of Bingham, Willard Krebel of Riley and Harold Reed of St. Johns were not present for the voting.

MIDDLETON — Saturday, Oct. 23, the FHA Region 11A annual meeting was held at Alma High School. Fifty FHA girls attended from Fulton High School. They were accompanied by Mrs Keith Wright, Mrs Joseph Gavenda, Mrs Robert Baxter, Mrs Ralph Wood, Mrs William Aldrich, Mrs Harold Todd and Mrs Ray McKinney, chapter advisor.

Highlights were a talk by Darrell Thomas, instructor, family life education department at Flint Community Schools, on moral values. His talk was entitled "How to Say No to an Occup." A slide presentation by Richard Arnold, farm editor Station WKAR on "Your Neighbors Near and Far," election of officers, and a panel moderated by Mrs Thelma Graper, state assistant FHA advisor, were also featured.

OFFICERS FROM Fulton taking part in the program were Lana Aldrich, parliamentarian, who conducted the election, and Nancy McKinney, secretary, who was in charge of roll call assisted by the Fulton chapter. Mrs Lillian McKinney was regional advisor.

New officers elected for the coming year from Fulton were Brenda Blomaster, parliamentarian, and Betty Todd, co-secretary with Suzie Wardin from Hemlock, there being a tie for that office.

Tool Shed, Grainery Near Maple Rapids Leveled by Fire

A tool shed and grainery on the Ralph Blomaster farm at the corner of Grove and Maple Rapids roads in Essex Township burned to the ground shortly before noon Tuesday. Another storage shed, shown here in background, was saved through fast work by the Maple Rapids volunteer fire department. Here St. Johns firemen pour water on the fire after they were called when the Maple Rapids crew ran out of water. No estimate of damage was available Tuesday afternoon, and no cause of the fire was reported. Smoke was visible from the north edge of St. Johns when the St. Johns department was called.

Bond issue date on school citizens committee's agenda

A multi-million bond issue for a new school building program in the St. Johns District definitely will be put up to the voters of the district. But when? That's one of the questions a school citizens committee will tackle when they meet tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m. in the basement of the Congregational Church. Another recommendation to be made by the committee tonight likely will be whether or not to join the Lansing Community College District.

To keep your ambition in the future tense devote more of your time eyeing the goal.

School bids OK'd at Fowler

FOWLER— Bids for the construction of the new addition to the Fowler High School were approved Monday night by the board of education.

Low bids approved were: general contractor, Ackerman Construction Co. of Bath with a bid of $161,262; plumbing and heating contractor, Hendrickson Plumbing and Heating Co. of Lyons-Muir with a bid of $74,852; electrical contractor, Martin Electrical of Lansing with a bid of $25,110.

TOTAL OF the low bids is $261,224, slightly less than the $270,000 bond issue voted by the district last March.

School Supt. Donald Smith said the new addition will be attached to the present school on the north and extend to the north and west. The addition will house new classrooms, new counseling facilities, rest rooms and enlarge on special areas needed.

The present high school was designed to house 175 students and at the present time is accommodating 190 students. With the new addition the school will be able to accommodate approximately 325 students. Present enrollment projections call for approximately 270 students by 1970, said Smith.

A STARTING date for construction has not been set, but the general contractor said he would start as soon as materials arrive and the weather will permit. Completion is set for 240 days after beginning.

Halloween quiet in Clinton

How was the Halloween weekend in Clinton County as far as law enforcement officials were concerned? "Well, not too bad, and yet . . ." was the way Sheriff Percy Patterson put it.

And yet there were incidents, some serious and many just petty pranks. There was the usual amount of soaped windows and overturned items. Pumpkins were found smashed on streets, sidewalks and porches all over St. Johns and the county.

EGG THROWING was a favorite pastime of pranksters this year, it seemed. They made sidewalks slippery in many spots. In St. Johns, one 18-year-old youngster was caught in the act and was fined $25 and $4.90 costs in municipal court for doing it.

Windows were reported smashed at the Richmond School, Stoney Creek School and Banner Grange. LaVern Silm reported someone had poured honey into the gas tank of a new $12,000 tractor left in a field along Lowell Road off Price Road.

IN ST. JOHNS, Police Chief Everett Glazier had "a lot of egg throwing" and two broken windows reported, but otherwise there was very little destruction.

City's tax bill hits $580,490

Winter tax bills for City of St. Johns residents will total up to about $580,490 this year, according to a recent report by City Assessor Donald Clark.

The total tax rate will be $70.90 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation. The city tax rate is $30 and the total school and county rate total $40.90.

The city will spread the tax of $92,683.63 for county general fund; $3,029.41 for intermediate school district; $13,100.16 for special education; $245,628 for city general operating expenses; $147,686.18 for school general operating; and $78,273.46 for school extra operating.

The figures apply only to the city of St. Johns.

Ask parents attend school open house

Principal B. Stanley Pocuis has announced that for American Education Week all parents of Rodney B. Wilson High School students are urged to attend one of the two open house programs scheduled for Monday and Tuesday nights, Nov. 8 and 9.

If possible, parents whose last names begin with A through L are asked to come on Monday night, and M through Z on Tuesday night. If, however, the scheduled night is not convenient, parents may pick the most convenient date.

STARTING AT 7:30 each evening, all teachers will be in their respective classrooms to meet with parents for short get-acquainted sessions. If longer conferences are needed these will be scheduled later at the convenience of both teacher and parents.

Since the first report cards for the year were distributed last week, this will give parents an excellent opportunity to discuss the progress students are making in each of their classes. Also, all departments will have on display recent work completed by students, as well as some of the facilities and equipment used in the various classrooms.

All other schools in the St. Johns system will also be having open house programs during the week of Nov. 8 through Nov. 12.

Supervisors OK $5,500 for furniture

The Clinton County Board of Supervisors made some decisions on new furniture for their new meeting room at their session Monday.

They approved the purchase of chairs and individual 42 by 24 desks with legal size file cabinets and a drawer in each. There'll be 24 of them, including 30 x 42 desks for the chairman and the clerk.

THE COST of the desks, chairs and spectator benches will be between $5,500 and $6,000, according to Lorenz A. Tiedt of St. Johns, chairman of the records and equipment committee. The committee was given authority by the board to proceed and purchase equipment to furnish the room.

Truck driver cited for crash

A truck driver was ticketed last Tuesday following a collision on US-27 just north of Hyde Road. William Gandert Jr. of Lake, Mich., was cited for failure to have his vehicle under control after it hit the rear of a car driven by Mildred Eichorn, 57, of Ashley.

Both vehicles were going south on US-27. Mrs Eichorn told Deputy Sheriff Ray Terpening she was slowing to turn into a farm market. Gandert said he could not turn out to pass the Eichorn car because of another auto in the passing lane, and his truck hit the rear of the car.

Mrs Eichorn and a passenger, Eleanor Fogleson, 54, of R-1, St. Johns, complained of pains resulting from the crash.

MRS DALE EUGENE CASHIN

Parke-Cashin vows spoken in Berea

The marriage of Miss Sammie Donna Parke, daughter of Mrs AlCurtis Parke, Berea, Ky., and the late Mr Parke, and Dale Eugene Cashin, son of Mr and Mrs Charles W. Cashin of St. Johns, was solemnized at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening, Oct. 2, in a candlelight ceremony at the Berea Baptist Church.

The Rev O. B. Mylum officiated at the double ring ceremony performed before an altar decorated with palms, ferns and candelabra with ivory tapers. The tapers were lit by Miss Jeannie Morris, Dayton, Ohio, cousin of the bride.

Mrs Morris Todd, organist, presented a program of wedding music. Mrs Homer Jennings was the vocalist.

ESCORTED by her uncle, Samuel G. Jones, the bride wore a floor-length gown of organza over taffeta with a full cathedral train ending in scallops. The fitted bodice, with scoop neckline was accented with Chantilly lace. The lace motifs were repeated on the long-tapered sleeves and the A-line skirt. Her elbow-length veil was attached to a crown of lace and pearls. She carried a cascade of white roses.

Miss Linda Eula Parke was her sister's maid of honor. Her floor-length gown of emerald green brocade featured a scoop neckline and bell-shaped skirt. She wore a matching sheer silk organza stole and circular veil and carried yellow Fuji mums.

MISSES Rose Marie Taylor and Beverly Lear, bridesmaids, wore floor-length, empire silhouette gowns of sapphire blue brocade and pale blue crepe. Watteau trains of sapphire blue fell from the shoulders to the floor. Their headpieces were sapphire blue tulle attached to crowns of blue velvet and brocade roses. Their bouquets were of yellow Fuji mums.

Little Miss Jodi Ballard, niece of the bride, was flower girl and carried a white basket of rose petals. Her floor-length dress was of pale green and white silk organza over taffeta with white lace bodice.

JOHN CURT Romans, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. Ronald Cashin of St. Johns, served his brother as best man. Ushers were William R. Ballard, Charles William Romans, and AlCosby Parke of Berea and Robert Plowman of St. Johns.

A RECEPTION, immediately following the ceremony, was held in the fellowship center of the church. Assisting with the serving were Mrs William R. Ballard, sister of the bride and Misses Connie Doyle and Carol Mitchell and Mrs Vernon R. Bandt of St. Johns. Mrs Ronald Miller, cousin of the bride, presided at the guest book.

After a wedding trip to Gatlinburg, Tenn., and the Smokies, the couple will reside in St. Johns.

City Brevities

Mr and Mrs Glenn Hopp and daughter, Luann and Mr and Mrs Richard Hopp of Riley and Mrs Ruth Molnet of St. Johns were Sunday guests of John Hopp for a potato pancake dinner.

Mrs Mary B. Gillson of rural St. Johns, attended the wedding and reception at Durand Saturday evening for Michael Hill and Joyce Hall.

Mrs Gertrude Gregory of Lansing spent the weekend in St. Johns with Miss Birdalme Smith.

Miss Beatrice Tomasek and Joe Wollam and Mr and Mrs Frank Tomasek attended the MSU-Northwestern football game Saturday.

MISS CONNIE CROWELL

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Connie Crowell, to Dale Martens, son of Mr and Mrs Maynard Martens of R-2, DeWitt, is announced by her parents, Mr and Mrs George Crowell of East French Road, St. Johns.

The couple plan a February wedding in St. Peter Lutheran Church, Riley.

MR AND MRS ANTHONY A. WARNKE

Sharon K. DeVuyst Anthony Warnke wed

Pink gladioli and big white mums decorated the altar of St. Paul the Apostle Church at Ithaca at 11 o'clock Saturday morning, Oct. 2, for a double ring wedding ceremony and nuptial Mass between Sharon Kaye DeVuyst and Anthony August Warnke with Father Charles L. Ganley officiating.

Mr and Mrs Arshane DeVuyst of rural Ithaca are parents of the bride. Mr William H. Warnke of rural St. Johns is the bridegroom's father.

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father wore a white satin brocade gown with a fitted bodice and a scooped neckline. The floor-length gown had long sleeves that formed points over her wrists. A bow fell from the back over a bouffant skirt featuring a chapel train. The bouffant-illusion veil was fastened to a rose and pearl pendent. She wore a diamond and pearl pendent, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses and white carnations with ivy and tied in lover's knots on a white-covered missal.

Mrs Janet Armbrustmacher served as matron of honor. Mrs Karen Munson and Mrs Marian Fisher, were bridesmaids. All wore street-length dresses of dark emerald green velvet bodices and mint green crepe sheath skirts. Their dresses had scooped necklines and they wore detachable overskirts over the sheath skirt of the dresses. They wore matching headpieces of dark emerald green velvet. The attendants carried bouquets of pink roses and tinted pink carnations.

ALLEN Armbrustmacher served as the best man. Grooms-men were Maurice Tait and Bernard DeVuyst.

Larry DeVuyst and Max Tait were ushers. Mrs Joann DeVuyst attended the guest book.

The bride's mother wore a blue-green brocade dress with black patent accessories. The bridegroom's stepmother wore a beige dress and black accessories. Both wore corsages of pink roses and pink carnations.

IMMEDIATELY following, a buffet luncheon and reception serving approximately 225 guests, was held in the church basement with Mr and Mrs Richard DeVuyst acting as host and hostess.

Mrs Joann Van de Perre cut and served the wedding cake. Mrs Ruth Ann Cratsenburg, Mrs Marjorie Brown, Mrs Kathleen Butler and Mrs Diane Richardson also assisted in serving at the reception.

Helping at the gift table were Miss Phyllis White, Miss Myrna Muscott, Mrs Mary Johnson and Mrs Beverly Schneider.

Blue Star Moms to hold quilting bee Nov. 11

When the Blue Star Mothers Chapter No. 88 met in the Drop-in Center last Tuesday, Oct. 26, there were ten more pair of mittens handed in, now making a total of 100 pair for distribution when needed. There were 17 members at the meeting.

A message was read from the Veterans Facility at Grand Rapids in regard to their holiday needs. The final decision was tabled until next meeting to plan what part this chapter will take in making the patients' Christmas more pleasant. One of the Chapter's completed quilts will be given to a family who recently burned out.

AN INVITATION was read from the children of Mr and Mrs Albert Gillison to attend a reception at the First Methodist Church Nov. 7 to honor their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mrs Mae Ward is acting as chairman of the card committee due to the illness of Mrs Bernard Barrett.

The members of the Chapter will hold an old fashioned quilting bee at the Drop-in Center Nov. 11, beginning at 6:45.

FOLLOWING the meeting refreshments were served and a social period enjoyed. Mrs Mable Maler read a poem, "The Ghost Will Get-ya, Too!" and the mystery prize was won by Mrs Lyle Steves.

On Oct. 28, Mrs Edna Eldred presented an American flag to the Eureka Cub Scouts from the Blue Star Mothers Chapter No. 88.

MR AND MRS JUDDSON D. BANCROFT

Pasch-Bancroft Nuptials at Fowler

Miss Joan Joyce Pasch, daughter of Mr and Mrs Fred W. Pasch of R-1, Fowler, and Juddson Dee Bancroft of Maple Rapids were united in marriage at St. Paul Lutheran Church in Fowler on Saturday, Oct. 23. Rev Herbert Schmidt officiated at the 1:30 p.m. double ring ceremony. The church altar was decorated with vases of white glads and white mums.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr and Mrs A. D. Bancroft of West Hyde Road, Maple Rapids.

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza over net and taffeta styled with a square neckline of scalloped lace, long pointed sleeves of organza and a full skirt with scalloped lace over skirt which ended in a chapel train. There was a V-shaped bustle of roses. She wore a floor length mantilla with scalloped lace edge and she carried white mums and carnations and red roses with ivy, in a cascade arrangement.

Matron of honor was Mrs Paul Blesner while bridesmaids were Mrs Harold Smalland and Mrs Darroll Hunt, the former two being friends of the bride, and Mrs Hunt, a sister of the bridegroom. Their persimmon-colored gowns were styled with semi-belled floor length skirts with three-quarter length sleeves. Their headresses were matching bows with rose, and small veil attached and they wore matching satin shoes and white gloves. Their necklaces were strands of pearls, and matching earrings, gifts from the bride.

LITTLE Christine Hunt, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She was dressed identically to the bride, and carried a basket of white and bronze mums and petals and ribbons. She wore a pearl pendant, a gift from the bride.

Delbert Bancroft was best man for his brother, Groomsman were another brother, James Bancroft, and Darroll Hunt, a brother-in-law. Seating the guests were Donald Graff, Herbert Pasch, Jerry Walker and Jerry Tipton. Ring bearer was Christopher Smith, cousin of the bridegroom.

Mrs Robert Eldridge was organist and accompanied Richard Carpenter and Curtis Swanson, who sang "Wedding Prayer," and "Lord's Prayer."

FOR HER daughter's wedding, Mrs Pasch wore a red and black two-piece knit suit with red and black accessories. Mrs Bancroft donned a navy blue dress of jersey with which she wore red accessories. Their corsages were white mums with red rose buds.

A dinner and reception was held in the VFW hall in St. Johns, but previous to that the newlyweds visited the great-grandparents of the bridegroom in Lansing. The wedding cake was made by Mrs Alfred Koenigsnecht and the bridegroom's cake made by Mrs John Jackson were cut by Mrs Lyle Bancroft and Miss Eunice Graff respectively. Mrs James Bancroft presided at the coffee service and Mrs Delbert served punch.

MISS JULIAN Selhke attended the guest book and Miss Anna Mohnke and Mrs Cathy Boughner took charge of the gifts. Hosts for the reception were Mr and Mrs Erwin Tiedt and Mr and Mrs Robert Willard. There were 200 guests at the ceremony and 350 at the reception.

Special guests were Juddson Bancroft of Ovid, grandfather of the bridegroom and Mr and Mrs Dee Elwood, also of Ovid, grandparents of the bridegroom. Other guests were from Ovid, Elsie, Maple Rapids, Fowler, Laingsburg, Middleton, Lansing and St. Johns.

Following a short trip to the western part of the state, the new Mr and Mrs Bancroft are at home on West Townsend Road, St. Johns. The bride graduated from St. Johns High School in 1962 and is employed at Central National Bank in St. Johns and the bridegroom graduated from Fulton High School in 1961 and is employed at Motor Wheel in Lansing.

Clinton Women at 44th District WC Federation

Representing 33 clubs in six counties, 140 delegates, visitors, district, state and General Federation officers attended the 44th annual convention of the West Central District, MSFWC, Thursday, Oct. 28 at the new Methodist Church of Caledonia and the new Kent County Airport.

The Caledonia Woman's Club served as hostesses for the day and presided for an early coffee hour.

USING THE theme "May All Be One," the morning session included a council of club presidents by Mrs James Quinn of Rogers City, MSFWC president and annual reports by Mrs Marian Sagendorf of Greenville, West Central district president and Mrs Eugene Voyt of Grand Rapids, Junior Director.

Presidents of the County and City Federations were given and departmental information by Mrs C. L. Rose, MSFWC First Vice President.

This year's innovation was a series of workshop sessions on conservation, education, fine arts, home life, public affairs and international affairs with state and division chairmen in charge.

MRS BRICE Maddox of Grand Haven directed the morning inspiration and other musical features of the program.

The noon luncheon was given in "Recognition of Our District Jewels." The Caledonia High School mixed choir provided selections during the luncheon hour.

Several Diamond Jubilee awards for the West Central District were distributed in cooperation with the 75th anniversary of the GFWC.

AMONG THOSE given to Clinton County clubwomen were: Ovid-Duplain Library Club, 86 years old and St. Johns Woman's Club, 70 years; Mrs George Brooks of St. Johns, longest record of service—52 years; and Mrs Sidney J. Keys of Elsie, outstanding service from the Woman's Literary Club. All received certificate awards of merit and corsages.

Francis J. Pierce, Jr., of Grand Rapids, one of three winners of the Congressional Medal of Honor in the West Central district, spoke briefly on the women's part in contributing to the Congressional Medal of Honor Grove, which honors the deeds of those Americans who so gallantly gave above and beyond the call of duty.

Mrs James Quinn spoke on "Wishers and Doers" emphasizing the part women's clubs can play in removal of obscene literature from newstands.

AFTERNOON speakers were Mrs Zulo Schroeder, education chairman of GFWC; Mrs Robert van Claricom, 2nd vice president, MSFWC; and Mrs L. Neil Dalby of Lakeview and Mrs Cameron Carruthers of Bancroft on Girlstown.

Mrs Arthur Davis and member of the Vernon Woman's Club presented an impressive memorial service and a summary of the morning workshop sessions was given by chairmen of the various departments.

An interesting tour of the new Kent County Airport was led by Mr Ross, aeronautical engineer. It was learned that 100 planes were based there and it is expected by next year to have jet service.

THE US Weather Bureau is also located in the Airport Tower and its teletype, maps and weather reports in code which were deciphered by the forecasters, proved very informative to the visitors.

A reception honoring the "District Jewels," the district past presidents and state and district officers and chairmen preceded the banquet held in the Golden Eagle Room overlooking the runway with its colored night lights.

John F. Denman, manager of the State and Local Governmental Relations Dept. of the Ford Motor Company, banquet speaker

Couple Honeymoons at Niagara Falls

SHEPARDVILLE — Newlyweds Mr and Mrs Dick Fivecoat are now at home in the new North East Apartments on North East Street Ovid after a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada.

Sandra Jean Orweller and Dick Fivecoat were married in a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening, Sept. 25 at the First Baptist Church in Ovid. Rev Wallace Lewin officiated at the 7:30 p.m. double ring ceremony.

THE CHURCH altar was adorned with baskets of white and blue tinted gladioli and chrysanthemums and silver candelabra.

The new Mrs Fivecoat is the former Sandra Jean Orweller, daughter of Mrs Alice Orweller and the late Paul Orweller of Shepardsville. While the bridegroom's parents are Mr and Mrs Lawrence Fivecoat of Shepardsville.

The bride, escorted by her brother, Dean Orweller, approached the altar wearing a full-length organza gown with scalloped sequin neckline and sleeves, bouffant lace trimmed skirt and train. She wore a full-waist-length bridal veil with orange blossom crown. Her bridal bouquet was of blue and white tinted roses and mums with cascades of ivy. She also was carrying a white Bible, gift of the bridegroom.

SHARON KAY Orweller, sister of the bride was maid of honor. Janice Ann Orweller and Paula Alice Orweller also sisters of the bride were bridesmaids. They all wore identically styled empire dresses of blue taffeta, trimmed with nylon lace and blue velvet ribbon. They wore matching headpieces and each carried matching bouquets of blue and white tinted gladioli and mums with cascades of ivy.

The flower girl was Tammy Thomas, daughter of Mrs Bonnie Thomas of Ovid. She wore a matching floor-length gown of blue taffeta with train and matching headpiece. Her bouquet was identical to the bridesmaids'. Ring Bearer was Brian Taylor, son of Mr and Mrs Robert Taylor of Ovid.

CHARLES Johnson of Ovid was best man, while Richard Taylor and Albert Crippen of Shepardsville were groomsmen. Serving as ushers were Alvin Woodhams of St. Johns, Robert Orweller of Elsie, Larry Weir and Robert Taylor of Ovid.

Organist was Mrs Gwenn Personous of Ovid, and vocalist was Mrs Edith Walker of St. Johns, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's mother chose a two-piece aqua blue lace dress over taffeta with white hat and matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue taffeta sheath with nylon embroidery, white hat and matching accessories. Both mothers wore matching corsages of blue tinted white carnations and mums with ferns.

A RECEPTION was held at the Ovid Veterans Hall for the 300 invited guests, who came from Detroit, Garden City, Pontiac, Howell, Fowlerville, Mason, Lansing, DeWitt, Flint, Davison, Owosso, Elsie, Corunna, St. Johns, Ovid and Shepardsville. The Hall was decorated in blue and white with bouquets of gladioli a gift of Mr and Mrs Ira Birmingham. Mrs Joyce Woodhams, sister of the bride cut and served the wedding cake, and friends and relatives of the newlyweds served the guests.

The bride and bridegroom assisted by their wedding attendants opened the wedding gifts and thanked the assembly of guests.

THE ARNOLD Stevens Orchestra of St. Johns, was engaged to play dance music during the reception, and Sam Sherwood of Ovid did the calling for the dances.

The bride is a 1963 graduate of the Ovid High School and has since been employed at the Toledo Commutator Co. of Owosso. The bridegroom also attended the Ovid High School and is employed at Olin Containers Corp.—Packaging Division of Owosso.

MISS LOUISE KAY RHYNARD Mr and Mrs Baisel Rhyard of 4591 Howe Road, Bath, announce the engagement of their daughter, Louise Kay to David Thompson, son of Mrs Virginia Zimmerman and Mr Bernell Thompson of Wayland. A Nov. 26 wedding is planned.

Alpha Eta of DKG celebrates 10th anniversary

The 10th anniversary meeting of Alpha Eta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma for Clinton and Shiawassee counties was at the Owosso City Club last Saturday with a luncheon. The special guests were five state officers from Lansing, Saginaw, Flint, Detroit and Hillsdale.

Iota State President Mrs Helen Ross Fullerton from Detroit spoke to the members about Delta Kappa Gamma and about her duties as well as her pleasures as she travels around the state to the many chapters. She said "a 10th birthday is a good time to look back and an inspirational time to look ahead to a better organization." She stressed the idea that one of the original and present hopes of the society is to fine, to sponsor and to encourage leaders. The influence of this Honorary Teacher's Society is being felt around the world through scholarships, fellowships, Grants-in-aid, seminars in contrast in education and life around the world. Intraparticular comments were given on membership participation in the many phases of the chapter and in national and international cultural opportunities. DKG is beneficially and helpfully involved in peoples around the world.

Mrs LEONA Beckert, local chapter program chairman, introduced Miss Ruth Barber from Hillsdale College, who is a state founder of Delta Kappa Gamma, and who also helped organize this chapter ten years ago. Seventeen of the 21 charter members were present at this meeting. Miss Barber spoke briefly about birthday and organization memories.

Miss Catherine Riggs, state membership chairman of Saginaw, reminded the members that Alpha Eta was the 31st chapter in Michigan. Ten years ago she was then state president and she participated at the City Club in Owosso then as she did this year.

Miss Wilma Adams is state treasurer of DKG, and a member of Mu Chapter in Flint. Mu Chapter sponsored Alpha Eta and presented them with a white Bible. Miss Adams has visited here several times.

STATE Historian Miss Lelah Jakes of Saginaw, also present at the first meeting, recalled persons and accomplishments in education and civic projects during the last 10 years.

Other guests spoke briefly urging teachers to take more active part in the directing and planning in educational policies in Michigan.

Mrs Thelma Rule of Elsie, gave "Highlights Through the Years." Miss Letah Stewart, first president, showed slides taken during the past ten years.

Programs for the meeting were made by Mrs Geraldine Niergarth of St. Johns, featuring a 10 in candle form. There were 40 present.

THE CHRISTMAS party was discussed. Dennis Morrison was appointed to check on getting the music and also make the necessary arrangements for the dinner.

It was suggested that two couples be named as advisors for the Service Club.

A DISCUSSION was also held on the subject of whether the required number of years to be eligible for membership in the Service Club should be dropped to nine years instead of ten years.

Refreshments were served following the meeting.

Notice of Plat Act
The Michigan State Plat act provides that a lot, tract or parcel of land cannot be partitioned or divided into more than four (4) lots, tracts or parcels of land, unless it is platted in accordance with the terms of the Act. The only exception is if lots, tracts or parcels of land are partitioned or divided into lots, tracts or parcels of land of ten (10) acres or more in area.
The Act provides for both criminal and civil penalties for not complying with its terms.
It has come to our attention that some owners of land are violating the terms of the Plat Act. They may be doing so because of ignorance of said terms. However, everybody is assumed to be familiar with the Act, and ignorance of it is no excuse, and will not protect a person who violates it.
This Notice is printed to inform the Public of the terms of the Plat Act, and also, warn those who violate the Act, that they will be prosecuted.

'Numbers game' at prison means license plates

There's a huge "numbers" game going on inside Jackson prison right under the noses of state authorities, and they don't seem the least disturbed about it. As a matter of fact, they all are highly complimentary of it.

The numbers in this case are those stamped on the nearly 4 1/2 million sets of 1966 license plates being readied for distribution starting Nov. 1. Plates have been produced at the prison since 1918.

VEHICLE LICENSE plate revenue in Michigan is very profitable. Total revenue from the sale of 1965 plates this year will gross more than $85 million. Profits from the sale are used by the state to build and maintain highways and roads.

An early October check of the 1966 run of plates at the prison revealed that it was well past the half-way mark. It will be the second year in succession for full-sized plates after tabs were used on 1959 and 1962 plates.

Secretary of State James M. Hare, who orders plates, determines colors, and finally sells them through his more than 200 branch offices throughout Michigan, said there was no doubt in his mind that the state's motorists wanted "full-size plates instead of tabs."

"FRANKLY, I THINK we ought to provide plates every year," Hare said. "Sure, we save money in tabbing, but since the state is now financially solvent and drivers want plates, I am hopeful that the Legislature will continue to appropriate sufficient funds to provide them."

Hare said this year's plates have blue letters and numbers on a beige (light tan) background. It's the first time the combination of colors has ever been used.

Most people seem to take license plates for granted. Few know that motor vehicle registration in Michigan goes back to 1906. License plates themselves were first issued back in 1910... more than a half century ago.

BETWEEN 1906 and 1909, a round, lightweight metal dashboard disc was issued in Michigan. This was a little larger than a silver dollar. As an outside adornment on their cars, the small number of car owners in Michigan bought numbers and placed them on a stout piece of leather to display as a plate.

Licenses were actually spawned in New York state where the first car registration began in 1905. At that time, there were less than 20,000 cars in the entire country.

Cost of a set of plates in 1910 was $2. Today, plate fees in all 50 states run to nearly $2 billion annually. Michigan grossed nearly $83 million in 1964. Total for this year will likely be three to four million more.

LAST YEAR, more than 4 1/4 million sets of plates were issued, including 3.3 million for passenger cars. This is a far cry from the 109,685 issued in 1916, the first year for which there is a record. Hare said he expected that about 4 1/2 million plates would be sold by the close of the licensing year.

Plate-making is a nine-month-a-year operation at Jackson Prison, according to Raymond Thompson, who has been supervisor of this operation for many years. About 180 prisoners are engaged in the work. Many have been at it for years.

Thompson says a whopping 2,500 tons of 28-gauge galvanized steel coil will be used in making the more than 10 million individual plates.

LAST YEAR WAS the first that Michigan used galvanized steel to make plates. It was felt that the special coating would make the plates tougher and more resistant to Michigan's harsh winters in the event the three-year-cycle of tabbing plates was continued, said Hare.

"Since we don't know what the Legislature will do next year, and as a precautionary measure in the event we are forced to tab again, we have once more decided on galvanized steel." According to Hare, this adds a penny to every set of plates.

The secretary of state said that if Michigan ever returned to tabbing system, that it would be changed radically from the metal tabs used in the past. "Our plans called for a sticker type tab which would be easy to affix to the plates," said Hare. "Once on, it couldn't be removed short of mutilating it. And nobody would have gotten their hands cut or pinched in the cold trying to put tabs on."

Clinton County Sheriff Percy Patterson shows old license plates that hang on the wall of the jail building entrance hall. This particular display runs from 1909 to 1940, and he has most of the others in a box ready to be put up. The plates were discovered about a year ago in a box in the vault of the county treasurer.

AGAIN THIS YEAR, the double-letter, four-numeral system will be used starting with "0001." This combination, according to Hare, will be used until "we run out of combinations. Then we'll have to go to a three-letter, three-numeral system such as some of the larger states have had to adopt," Hare said.

License plates are not only good revenue producers, they are often used to extol the virtues of a particular state. This is done through slogans.

For instance, Florida calls itself "The Sunshine State." Nebraska is the "Beef State;" Arkansas, "Land of Opportunity;" Louisiana, "Sportsman's Paradise;" New Mexico, "Land of Enchantment;" Wisconsin, "America's Dairyland."

MICHIGAN IS the only state which has a double plug with the slogan, "Water-Winter Wonderland." Actually, it's a three-barrel approach. It promotes Michigan's water resources for industry as well as its water recreation and its growing winter sports activities. Michigan first used the Water Wonderland slogan back in 1954.

Michigan rates compare favorably in the price of plates. Formula based on 35 cents a vehicle hundredweight has not changed since the mid-1930's, said Hare. And then it was dropped from a higher ratio. Average set of passenger car license plates costs nearly $12.

This year, because of the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Act collections, all insured motorists will be paying an extra $1 at the

AUTOMATION AND SCHOOLS

Just as the Industrial Revolution shook the world during the 19th century, automation is creating a crisis today. While the standard of living for many of us is going up and up, large segments of chronic unemployment are also being created. These unemployed—the victims of automation—are largely those whose jobs have been taken over by machines or who have no marketable skill in today's technically-oriented world.

The burden of educating and retraining these workers is falling heavily on our schools. In many schools, special programs are being developed for those youths who need saleable job skills immediately after high school graduation; in these communities there is a growing awareness of the need for continuing education and retraining.

Slow-moving Favorites remain on top in flag football leagues get emblem

But even if you are not a farmer, you should know the significance of the triangle, because you'll be seeing it more and more in the future.

THIS 14-INCH high emblem, with a fluorescent orange center and reflective red border, is a product of research conducted by Ohio State University under the sponsorship of the Automotive Safety Foundation.

The flags, reflectors and lights merely alert you to the danger, but the SMV emblem tells you what the danger is.

As a motorist, do you know what a brightly colored triangle mounted on the back of a vehicle means? Knowing might save your life.

It identifies a slow-moving vehicle—one traveling 25 m.p.h. or slower on the highways. One such vehicle is a farm tractor, which usually travels between 10-15 m.p.h.

IF YOU'RE A farmer, you've probably experienced seeing or hearing an auto barreling down on you while you were on a tractor. You also probably remember cringing a little, hoping the driver of the car could judge how fast he is approaching you.

Bee's remained on top of the adult flag football pack last week with a resounding 16-7 victory over the Electrifying Eight. They jumped off to a 6-0 halftime lead when Tom White hit LeRoy Martens with a touchdown pass late in the second quarter.

In the third quarter the game loosened up, with White first hitting Bob Parsons with a 22-yard aerial for six more points. The "Eight" came storming back, with DeMastrey hitting Hansen all alone in the end zone for a TD, and Gary Urban ran the extra point. With time running out in the game, White passed to Roger Parsons for the last six points.

AFTER A SCORELESS first quarter in the Roadhouse-Referees tilt, Hub Waite opened the second period with a 12-yard touchdown run. He added the extra point. In the third quarter, Larry Paksi took a pass from Waite and rambled the last 10 yards to paydirt. Again in the third period the arm of Waite teamed up with Ralph Edeger for six points. Larry Paksi got the extra point.

In Kid's Flag Football, the 49'ers won their first game of the season by upsetting the Redskins 19-14. Dan Yurek raced 53 yards for the first score and also added the extra point. A Tom Pung pass to Dan Zuker covered 71 yards and another score. IN THE EARLY moments of the second half, Zuker again tallied six points making the score 19-0. In the fourth period, John Warstler of the Redskins finally got them on the scoreboard with a 16-yard scamper. Tom Lynch ran the extra point. With time running out, Eddie San Miguel intercepted a pass and raced 43 yards for a touchdown. Tom Lynch ran the extra point.

The Colts remained unbeaten with a 14-6 victory over the Lions. Ken Schueller returned a punt for 60 yards for one touchdown for the Colts. Ray Schueller of the Lions plunged two yards to tie the game at 6-6. The Lions fumbled in their own end zone to give the Colts an 8-6 lead, and in the second half Allen Henning hit Ken Schueller with a 10-yard pass for the final touchdown.

Girls (Boys Too) Find Powder Puff Football Interesting

The Bath cheerleaders took to the field last week and defeated the Girls Athletic Assn. 12-8 in the annual Powder Puff football game. Here the GAA quarterback, Kathy Smith, opens a play for short yardage against the cheerleaders. Others in the GAA backfield are Dixie Rounds (farthest from camera) and Marilyn Brown, Roberta Six (foreground) and Sue Eschtruth are on the offensive line. Cheerleaders Candy Peterson on the line and Judy LeClear in the backfield set out to stop the play.

Ashley romps to fourth win

Ashley High School won its fourth game of the season Friday as they romped over New Lothrop 38-0. In its first six seasons of football Ashley had never won more than one game, but now is assured of a .500 season with its win Friday.

Dave Polash scored three touchdowns for Ashley Friday and passed for a fourth when he threw to Dave Yelsik for 25 yards.

POLASH'S TOUCHDOWN runs were one, four and 10 yards and gives him 60 points scored for the season.

Ashley's other touchdowns were by Fred Felton and Tom Felton with Roger Keck kicking two extra points. Floyd Brown and Tom Felton recovered fumbles for Ashley.

Ovid takes Bath, 25-0

After a rough loss last week, Ovid's Romans came back Friday to win 25-0 over Bath with four ball carriers scoring in four different quarters to notch the victory, their second of the year.

Jerry Gazda started it in the first quarter with a two-yard plunge, then caught a pass from Dean Flegel for the only extra point of the game.

IN THE second period Albert Crippen scored on a six-yard run and was followed in the third quarter by Flegel who ran 18 yards for the score.

Dean Simpson concluded the scoring for Ovid when he went in from six yards out in the fourth quarter.

CRIPPEN AND Gazda led the Romans with 133 yards and 125 yards respectively as Ovid rolled up 408 yards rushing for the night.

Fulton-Middleton 33 to 7 winner

MIDDLETON-The Van Sickle brothers led Fulton-Middleton for the second straight game here Friday night as the Pirates solidified their hold on second place in the Tri-Central Conference by whipping Central Montcalm, 33-7.

Randy Van Sickle, a sophomore, scored three touchdowns and an extra point and brother Chris tallied once as Fulton finished its league season with a 3-1 record. Randy gained 178 yards on 13 carries while Chris had 80 yards on 10 rushes.

Chris scored first on a 40-yard run in the first quarter with Randy adding the extra point. Randy then scored three touchdowns, two on 20-yard keeper plays in the second and third quarters. He also scored in the third period on an eight-yard run. Greg Daniels added the final score on a three-yard plunge Carl Hagenbaugh kicked two extra points.

ROBERT SPENCER

Robert Spencer, 10, son of Mr and Mrs Robert W. Spencer of 103 S. Swegles Street, has been named a zone winner in the Punt, Pass and Kick competition. He will compete at 1:30 p.m. this Saturday at Sexton Memorial Field in Lansing for the state championship. Bob scored a total of 216 points in the St. Johns competition Oct. 9, and a comparison of other local scores from this same Ford dealership zone showed him to be the zone winner. Bob won first place last year in the 9-year-old age group.

Name winners in 'coon hunt

Ed Mullins of Pottersville won first place in the recent coon hunt at Fowler in which 66 coon were taken by a small army of hunters.

Max Bashore and Vince Scharboneau of St. Johns tied for second. Roy Armbrustmacher of Fowler was third, Lyle Chick of Maple Rapids fourth, Louis Fink of Westphalia fifth, Mark Weber of Fowler sixth, Barney Dally and Bill Burns of Hubbardston seventh, Elwood Reaume and Barry Sillman of Fowler eighth and Paul Weber and Ernie Myers of Fowler ninth.

THE LARGEST coon taken weighed 24 3/4 pounds, and the smallest, at 6 1/2 pounds, was captured by Dick Schmitz of Fowler. Leo Motz introduced a new way to bag a coon by using a harpoon.

Hunt officials said a very enthusiastic crowd, with many spectators participating, took part in the three-hour hunt Oct. 23.

Bowling secretaries . . .

Bowling secretaries are requested to turn in the results of each week's bowling to the Clinton County News within two days of the bowling date to insure publication. The news staff would appreciate being able to spread their work out over the week rather than cramming all the writing into the final day on Tuesday, which is busy with its own events.

Swim club formed in St. Johns

Formation of a swimming club, sanctioned by the AAU and which will swim in competition with other clubs, has been announced by Coach Larry Cramer and the St. Johns Rotary Club.

Sixty-five St. Johns area boys and girls between 10 and 17 years of age are already signed up as members of the team. They will use the pool at Waverly Junior High School in Lansing every Saturday afternoon for their practice and conditioning sessions.

CRAMER SAID Tuesday that the Rotary Club has agreed to sponsor the local team. They will swim this winter and next summer in scheduled AAU-sanctioned competition against other teams.

Cramer said he hopes to set up the first competition for about Dec. 15 with a Lansing team. The first practice session for the team will be this Saturday afternoon from 1-3 at the Waverly School at 3131 E. Michigan Avenue.

Cramer as head coach will be assisted by Herb Estes, with Glenn Huntley and Wayne King also as assistants. Captains for the swim team are Debbie Meyer and Scott Bennett.

A MEETING has been scheduled for tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 in the St. Johns Municipal Building for team members and any others interested in the swim club. Cramer said parents are particularly invited to the informational meeting.

Individual and relay swimming events and diving contests will be part of the competition for the St. Johns swim club. During a summer state swimming meet, St. Johns finished 15th out of 18 teams in the state in swimming, and the diving team came in fourth.

Ron Brown rolls as Fowler wins

Ron Brown, the junior half-back from Fowler, led his team to victory Friday as he scored five touchdowns as Fowler rolled over Webberville 33-6. Brown now has 66 points scored for the season.

Fowler started its scoring in the second quarter when Brown went 25 yards on his first TD. Webberville came right back to score in the same period when David Waite intercepted a lateral and ran 10 yards for the touchdown, to make the score 7-6 Fowler at halftime.

BROWN broke the game open in the third quarter when he scored three times on runs of 40, 8 and 12 yards, his final score coming in the last quarter on a two-yard plunge.

Fowler's extra points were scored by Neil Thelen, John Weaver and Gail Rowell, all on runs.

Brown intercepted two passes and Frank Witgen one as they teamed with Neil Thelen, Jim Halfman, Bruce Thelen, Chuck Thelen and Ken Koenigsnecht to hold Webberville to a minus three yards in the second half.

FOWLER rolled to 249 yards rushing with seven first downs as they were holding Webberville to three first downs and 73 yards rushing. Webberville also picked up 43 yards on passes.

Fowler's season record is now 6-1 with a 5-1 record in the Central Michigan D league where they finished second to Pottersville. Fowler's only loss this year was to Pottersville by a score of 7-6.

ABUSE IS COSTLY
Hunting on another man's land is a privilege, the Conservation Department reminds sportsmen. Abuse of that privilege has but one result — loss of a place to hunt.

Elsie, Portland still deadlocked

Elsie met Portland Friday in what was to be the deciding game in the Central Michigan C League. The league champion is still in doubt as these two teams battled to a 7-7 tie, and takes the league championship down to this week's game for a decision.

Elsie and Portland now boast 5-0-1 records in league play and by deadlocking Friday they leave the door ajar for Perry to share the title.

IF PERRY defeats Elsie this week and Ovid wins over Portland, there would be a three-way tie. If Elsie and Portland win, there will be a two-way tie. An individual champion is also possible if either Elsie or Portland falls while the other wins.

Friday's game was a battle of defenses as both teams had allowed only two touchdowns to be scored against them so far this season. Hemlock and Ovid have been the only teams to score against Elsie in their first six games.

St. Johns JVs ramble over junior Vikings, 40-0

By SUE DURNER

Unleashing a devastating ground attack, the St. Johns JVs ran their winning streak to 22 consecutive games at Lakewood last Thursday. The final score was 40-0.

The first time St. Johns handled the ball, in fact on the second play from scrimmage, Tom Rademacher raced 40 yards for the first score of the onslaught. Salemi's extra point was good.

ST. JOHNS' second touchdown of the evening was also accounted for by Rademacher, this time on a 15-yard dash. The extra point try by Salemi was good, and St. Johns led 14-0 with six minutes left in the first quarter.

With 1:40 left in the first period, Don Palmer got into the scoring act by receiving a 10-yard pass from Norm Love and scampering the remaining 30 yards into the end zone. As the quarter ended, St. Johns led 20-0.

THE SECOND period was a repetition of the first, belonging to St. Johns. John Markman scored the fourth touchdown after Bob Cochrun intercepted a Lakewood pass at about midfield and carried it to the Lakewood 40. From there, Markman plunged through the middle and outraced the secondary into the end zone.

Brent Law accounted for the fifth touchdown for St. Johns by taking a hand-off from Love and rambling 25 yards around his right end. The extra point, by Cochrun, was good and the Redwings led with 3:10 to go in the second quarter, 34-0.

THE FINAL SCORE of the evening came on a picture play. The play started with Salemi taking a hand-off from Love and in turn handing off to Dave Howe who sped around his own right end without a hand being laid on him. The try for the point was missed, but by that time, it wasn't neces-

Portland had allowed only Saranac and Perry to score in their first five games. Both scores Friday were only the third time either team had allowed an opponent to score.

Portland's touchdown came in the first period of play on a 57-yard pass from Doug Davids to Gary Craft. Denny McCrumb kicked the extra point.

ELSIE CAME back in the second quarter to score its lone TD when Joe Guysky plunged into paydirt from three yards out. Guysky also ran for the extra point.

Portland had another chance late in the fourth period but their drive faltered on Elsie's 17-yard line and a field goal attempt was wide.

ELSIE HAD WON five straight games after losing their opener of the season to Hemlock by a score of 7-6. Portland had won six straight and now has a 6-0-1 overall record. Elsie is now 5-1-1 overall.

To show how St. Johns controlled the game, Lakewood did not penetrate beyond the St. Johns 44-yard line. St. Johns accumulated a net yardage of 238 yards to only 79 for Lakewood.

COACH DOUG Japinga commented after the game that it was one of the better played games of the year and complimented all boys who played, saying that they did a fine job.

The JVs have one more game, meeting Ionia at St. Johns tonight (Thursday). If St. Johns wins this game, it will be their 23rd victory, spanning the last three seasons.

Gordon missed the two tie games, Elsie-Portland and Pewamo-Westphalia-Laingsburg.

SIX contestants were close behind with only three wrong and of these one had picked the tie between P-W and Laingsburg, but missed on the Purdue-Illinois and St. Louis-Bullock Creek games.

Besides the two tie games the Illinois win over Purdue and the Bullock Creek win over St. Louis caught most of the contestants off stride.

ANOTHER $20 awaits the winner of this week's contest, so make your calculations (or guesses) and mail it to the Football Contest, Clinton County News, or drop it off at our office.

Lakewood defense melts, Wings win

St. Johns broke open a tight ball game with Lakewood Friday night by scoring two touchdowns in the fourth quarter to win 20-6.

The first three quarters were played much as expected—defensively. The Redwings scored early on their second time with the ball but then were shut out until past the halfway mark of the fourth quarter.

Lakewood did not have much luck against the Redwings until the second quarter when they put their first four first downs together for a drive of 56 yards that produced a touchdown.

THE VIKINGS' highly-touted defense did hold St. Johns at bay for most of the game, as far as the scoring went, but the Redwings didn't seem to have any trouble picking up yardage. They moved for first downs regularly throughout the game, but it usually took three and several times four plays before the necessary yardage was attained.

Statistics gave St. Johns a wide edge of 223-78 in rushing yardage, and in first downs the Redwings had 14 to 6 for Lakewood.

St. Johns had five in the first half to four for Lakewood; the Vikings' were all in their touchdown drive.

THE REDWINGS kicked off to open the game, but they immediately set up a stiff defense that forced the Vikings to punt. The Redwings had to do the same, and so did Lakewood again. This time St. Johns got the ball on the Lakewood 38 with the aid of a stiff southerly breeze blowing against Lakewood.

The Redwings chopped away toward the goal line, picking up short yardage for 10 plays before Lee Hill finally dove into the end zone from less than a yard out. Gary Boyce's kick was wide, and the score stood at 6-0.

THE WINGS FORCED Lakewood to punt again before the quarter was over, and then the Vikings took the ball back after another St. Johns punt. Two quick plays, a pass from quarterback Dave Bjork to Tom Barnum for 10 yards and a reverse down the right sideline by Tom Hewitt for 16 yards got the Vikings rolling.

They marched to the one, and then Hewitt knifed in for the touchdown with 5:17 left in the half. The kick for the extra point was wide, and the score remained tied through the half.

St. Johns appeared to have another drive underway when they got the ball back, but a Gene Rademacher pass was intercepted on the Lakewood 45.

LATE IN the third quarter, the Redwings began a drive for the lead touchdown. Starting on their own 39, they moved easily to the Lakewood 19. Lee Hill then broke up the middle to the 9, but fumbled when he was tackled, and the Vikings recovered.

The Wings again forced Lakewood to punt, and this time the Redwings were not to be denied. Starting on their own 49, they used up only 10 plays in making it down to the Lakewood 5, from where Lee Hill rambled into the end zone. Runs of 16 and 9 yards by Boyce were key plays in the drive.

BOYCE'S KICK for the important extra point was good, but a 15-yard penalty nullified it and set the ball back on the 17. But Boyce rifled his second kick 37 yards against the wind and between the uprights to make it 13-6.

St. Johns' Bob Every intercepted a Lakewood pass on the 47-yard line and ran it back 13 yards to set up the final insurance touchdown for the Wings a few minutes later. After moving to the 15, Gene Rademacher hit Dennis Springer with a bootleg pass good for the touchdown with 51 seconds left in the game. Boyce split the uprights with his kick, and that was the game.

RADEMACHER HAD a hard time hitting his receivers throughout the game, completing only two of eight attempts, those for a total of 31 yards.

The Redwings picked up 224 yards rushing and lost only one yard all night for a net of 223.

Laingsburg, P-W in scoreless tie

Defense was what the fans saw at Pewamo-Westphalia Friday as P-W and Laingsburg played to a scoreless tie in a Central Michigan C league contest.

It was the third tie of the season for Laingsburg who has yet to win a game. It was also the second tie for Pewamo-Westphalia, which has won one game.

PEWAMO-Westphalia reached the one-yard line in the fourth quarter, but was unable to score, while its defense never let Laingsburg inside their 40-yard line.

Most people find plenty of time to plan the work, but few find time to work the plan.

Hill Scores a TD for St. Johns

Lee Hill of St. Johns (11 in white) sprawls into the end zone for St. Johns' first touchdown against Lakewood Friday night at St. Johns. No. 82 for St. Johns is end Dennis Springer. Lakewood defenders identifiable are Darrell Carr (62) and Bill Allen (30). St. Johns won 20-6.

Perry win keeps title hopes alive

Perry's hopes for a share of the Central Michigan C League championship were kindled anew Friday as they romped past DeWitt 47-0.

The Ramblers were paced by Duane Kiesling who scored two touchdowns in the first quarter and kicked four extra points during the evening.

PERRY STARTED quickly as Kiesling scored on a 14-yard run on the sixth play of the game and then later in the quarter he intercepted a DeWitt pass and went 51 yards to paydirt. Dave Shanski picked up another 6 yards in the first quarter on a 43-yard run.

In the second period Bump Lardie connected on a 24-yard pass to Daryl Goings for another TD. He repeated again in the third period on a 12-yard pass play. Bruce Head added another score in the period on a 23-yard pass interception.

IN THE FOURTH quarter defensive lineman Charlie Dinaso recovered a DeWitt fumble in the DeWitt end zone for the final tally of the game.

Perry, which is 5-1-1 for the season, meets Elsie this Friday and a win over Elsie would assure them a share of the league crown if Portland should also win.

Senior Citizens entertain

Clinton County Senior Citizens were happy to welcome 96 members of the Owosso Golden Age Club at the regular meeting on Oct. 26. There were also guests from Lansing, Flint, Huntington, Ind., Ann Arbor and Ovid, bringing the attendance to 180 persons.

The invocation was given by Captain Herbert Lund of the Owosso Salvation Army. After a bountiful potluck dinner, Chairman Hill introduced the officers of the Owosso club: president, Roy Field, vice president, Tom McQuestion; secretary, Beulah Small; chaplain, Frances Lemunyon; and treasurer, Grace McCullough.

FOLLOWING a short business meeting Mrs. Elzie Exelby, program chairman of the local club, introduced the program chairman from Owosso, Mrs. Ruth Stichel and Mrs. Freida Schautz. The Owosso group put on an excellent program consisting of songs, readings, piano solos, comic skits and two original poems by Mrs. Alice Grinnell. One of their members who took part in two skits is Mrs. Emma Ginter who is 91 years young. Everyone had such a good time it was suggested that exchange visits between Owosso and St. Johns be made an annual event.

The Senior Citizens bazaar held at the Drop-in Center on Oct. 29 was voted a success.

The next regular meeting will be on Tuesday, Nov. 9. It will be election of officers.

WONDERING ABOUT ADVERTISING?

Here Are Some Facts To Consider!

ADVERTISING VALUE

The true value of advertising lies not always in the actual offering of merchandise for sale, but in a subtler manner . . . the keeping before the public eye the name of your place of business and the names of the products you carry.

The average consumer of the articles you sell, when he has no immediate need of those articles, does not buy. But the constant association of yourself and those articles in persistent advertising in the Clinton County News will in time produce results.

Mr. Merchant:

1. Your advertising message in the Clinton County News goes into more homes in Clinton County than any other kind of advertising.
2. Every big store in America built its business with newspaper advertising and relies on it today.
3. A full page advertisement in the Clinton County News cost less than TWO CENTS per family you reach.
4. Your advertisement is a part of the Clinton County News that everybody wants to read.
5. You get thousands of SHOW WINDOWS. People can see what you want to sell . . . pictures, prices and descriptions.
6. Clinton County wives and mothers plan their buying while they're reading the Clinton County News. So do their menfolks.
7. Your Clinton County News is more carefully read, by more members of each family, than any other advertising medium, and its readers believe in it.
8. Your national manufacturer and distributor can join you in advertising the products you have to sell.

Bannister High School alumni hold banquet

BANNISTER —The 22nd Annual Bannister High School Alumni banquet was held recently in Wesley Center at the Bannister Methodist Church. The tables were colorfully decorated by Mrs Bob Bishop and Mrs Betty Boog.

After registering, Mrs Harry Grenlund pinned pictures on the back of each person and by asking each other questions, tried to guess what the picture was.

Following the meal, the business meeting was held. Mrs Marcella Brown, assisted by Mrs Maxine Kremer, completed the duties of the secretary. Special music by the Boog children, Kay, Douglas, Larry and Gary began the entertainment. Mr and Mrs Clarence Cornwell led in group singing. They used words with a Bannister version to the tune of "When You Wore a Tulip."

The alumni drive to Bannister each Fall to visit and much time was spent doing that. Mr White, former high school superintendent and Mrs Ellen Salisbury, a former pupil, won prizes for coming the longest distance.

Activities of WSCS and MYF at Bannister

BANNISTER —The current series of study on the book of "Acts" was concluded this week at the Bannister Methodist Church. The Methodist Youth Fellowship performed a play "God's Work in Our Time." The symbol, consisting of a dove, representing God and the Holy Spirit, the cross, representing Christ and His Church, and a globe, representing the world, was drawn by Jeffrey Leydorf and displayed during the play. The play depicted the need of compassion and concern for others. The class expressed appreciation to the young people for their part in the program and also to Mrs Ray Canfield who conducted the classes.

"Trick or treat for UNICEF" were the words used by the Bannister MYF on Thursday evening as they went from house to house. They collected $30 to help the underprivileged children of Europe. They gathered at the home of Rev and Mrs Burnham to count the money and enjoy the refreshments.

A call to Prayer and Self-Denial program was presented on Friday by the Bannister Woman's Society of Christian Service. The theme was "Expect Great Things from God, Attempt Great Things for God." The speaker for the afternoon was Miss Mamie Baird, a retired missionary. Guests attended from Chapin, Elsie and Ashley.

Rev and Mrs John Burnham and Mr and Mrs Donald Hinkley attended the Spiritual Life Retreat at Mystic Lake this past weekend.

Eagle

Mrs Charles Higbee

The Junior MYF enjoyed a hay-ride Saturday night chaperoned by Mr and Mrs Fred VanAmburg and Mr and Mrs Gerald Selden after which they returned to the home of their leader, Jack Cooper, for a wiener roast.

The Senior MYF had their Halloween Party in the basement of the church, complete with witches, goblins, tricks and treats of cider and doughnuts. Rev Gerald Hedlund is the leader of this group.

The WSCS will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 to work on their projects for the bazaar. They will meet in the basement of the church.

The Builders Class will serve a chicken supper Saturday night starting at 5 p.m. It will be family style. The Senior MYF will have a bake sale there also. The public is invited.

This community extends its sympathy to the family of Roy Stiffler, a former resident of the village, who passed away last Wednesday at his home in Portland.

Mr and Mrs William Ingier were Wednesday evening dinner guests at the home of Roger Lippincott in Lansing. Saturday the Ingiers had as their guests, Mrs Ingler's daughter, Esther Preston from St. Louis.

Mr and Mrs Ingier attended a farewell dinner for Richard Price who left for the induction center Nov. 2.

Robert Smith from Kalamazoo spent Sunday afternoon with Mr and Mrs Frank Smith and Mrs Hazel Shaddock. Mr and Mrs V.O. Howe were callers at this home Sunday also.

Miss Kathy Higbee is staying in Portland this week with her aunt, Mrs Alvin McCrumb. They have a new baby boy, born last Wednesday, Oct. 27. He will be called Todd Allen.

Richard Price, son of Mrs Raymond Woodard, left Nov 2 to join the armed services. He does not know at this time just where he will be stationed. He was given a farewell party by his relatives at the home of his uncle, Lynn Volk, Sunday.

Urge students to participate in foreign exchange

OVID — There will be an important meeting for parents and students interested in the Youth-for-Understanding Foreign Student Exchange program, Sunday, Nov. 7 at 4 p.m. in the Front Street United Church. Parents and their children who may be interested in the 1966 summer program and those who are interested in having a foreign student in their home for the 1966-67 school year, are cordially invited to attend this meeting.

District chairman, Mrs Reynolds Kynast, from Saginaw, will be present to discuss the program in detail and to answer any questions. Parents and children from Ovid, Owosso, Durand, Chesaning and Corunna will be present. Refreshments will be served.

Two Ovid High School students have already been accepted for the 1966 Summer Exchange Program—they are Cynthia Saxton and David Bates. It is hoped more will apply; also, we hope to have more students from abroad come to Ovid, for the school year. Ellen Radke from Germany, was with us last year and Ann Sundell, from Sweden, is with us this year. We are extremely proud of these fine young people, and we look forward to a continuation of the program in Ovid.

Mrs Kynast will also talk briefly to the MYF and their parents at the 7 p.m. meeting, preceding the Pledge Service and installation of officers.

Ovid-Elsie bids due by Nov. 8

OVID — Sealed bids for the purchase of general obligation bonds, to be issued by the Ovid-Elsie Area Schools, of the par value of $200,000, will be received by Stanley R. Loznak, secretary of the Ovid - Elsie Board of Education, at the administration building, 146 W. High Street, Ovid, until 8 p.m., Nov. 8, at which time all bids will be publicly opened and read.

The bonds are to be issued for the constructing and equipping a swimming pool and athletic field in connection with the new Ovid-Elsie High School, now under construction.

Style show to aid Crescent Club scholarship fund

OVID — Fall and winter clothes and jewelry, hair styling, cosmetic display, music and refreshments and prize drawing await all who attend Fireside Fashions at 8 p.m. Monday, Nov. 15 in the Main Street United Church at Ovid.

This Crescent Club project is to support the scholarship fund. Each year one or more seniors are presented a scholarship for use at the school of their choice. There will be guest models from the Ladies Library Club of Ovid and Duplain and from the Acme Society.

Tickets may be purchased from Mrs John Goebel, ticket chairman, or from any Crescent Club member. Tickets also will be sold at the door.

Church here adopts code for teenagers

A code of ethics for teenagers was recently formulated and approved by parents and students of St. Joseph Church in St. Johns.

The code covers not only religious duties but also dating, smoking and drinking, dress, entertainment and school duties.

The adopted code follows:

7th and 8th GRADE STUDENTS

This is not the time for the kind of entertainment that belongs to more advanced years. The desire of younger children to do what older children do should be discouraged, because it is the major source of problems that arise.

1) Play, home and group activities should be emphasized; 2) no mixed dancing parties should be sponsored, although dancing activities of an instructional nature are permitted; 3) no dating should be permitted; 4) smoking should be vigorously prohibited by parents; 5) children of this age should be off the streets at night; they should be in the home after dark, or otherwise under parental care.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

Religious Duties: The Family—1) Confession and Holy Communion at least once a month; 2) daily Mass and Holy Communion as often as possible; 3) children should participate in the regular family devotions in the home, in other words rosary and seasonal prayers; 4) regular attendance at weekly religion classes provided by the church; 5) in case of problems, consult the parish priest.

Home Entertainment—1) Young people should feel free to welcome friends in their homes; 2) they should not entertain at home unless parents are present to supervise; 3) home gatherings should be planned, and only approved guests should be admitted.

Smoking and Drinking—Smoking should be discouraged among high school students; the use of alcoholic beverages should not be permitted.

Literature—1) Good literature should be regularly supplied to the home; 2) young people should join with parents to prevent the reading, sale and distribution of indecent books and magazines; 3) the family should refuse to patronize a merchant who displays such material.

Movies—1) The Legion of Decency ratings on movies should be available in every home; 2) families should not patronize theaters which consistently show poorly rated pictures. Check the ratings in the vestibule of the church for the more recent ratings.

Dating—1) High school freshmen should not date (dating as here used is a prearranged appointment with one of the opposite sex); 2) only group dating (more than one couple) for 10th graders; 3) dating allowed for 11th and 12 graders with parental approval; 4) steady dating should not be permitted in high school.

Work at Home—Every young person should perform regular and definite tasks in and about the home; this applies to both boys and girls. Payments for such duties should not be expected.

Homework—Since a school policy which does not require homework falls short of both the potential and the needs of the child, young people should be expected to study for a definite period of time (usually not less than an hour.)

COMPANIONSHIP—1) Choose your companions carefully; you are what they are; 2) young people should give their parents an opportunity to meet their friends; 3) young people should respect their parents' opinions of their companions.

Finances—1) Use of young people's earnings should be supervised by parents; 2) young people should save a portion of their earnings; 3) young people should contribute to the support of the church.

Dress—1) Tight or revealing clothing, for boys or girls, can be a bad influence to others and should be avoided; 2) beach clothes are not acceptable for street wear; 3) shorts for girls or boys are never to be worn in church.

TV—THE FAMILY should rate TV programs just as critically as it does movies. TV watching in the evening should be restricted to approved programs for a limited period, such as an hour, during the school week.

Use of a Car—1) No young person in high school should have exclusive control of a car; 2) taking out a car "just to drive around" is a constant source of trouble.

OSGOOD FUNERAL Home is St. Johns' member of the Order of the Golden Rule. As such, all of its personnel are pledged to serve always to the best of their ability, and to abide by the Order's motto: "Service measured not by gold, but by the Golden Rule."

Michigan goose hunters bagged nearly 40,000 birds last season for their highest kill in more than 10 years. Their latest take more than triples the state's 1962 goose harvest.

Almost anyone can keep an expense account today, but it takes a real genius to make it tally with the cash.

ARTHUR BOND

Bond licensed funeral director

Arthur P. Bond, a staff member of Osgood Funeral Home in St. Johns, is now fully licensed as a funeral director and embalmer, it was announced this week by the firm's co-owner, Bob Sirrnie.

To receive his license, Bond had to meet rigid requirements as set down by the State of Michigan.

BOND IS A graduate of Rodney Wilson High School in St. Johns and of Wayne State University, where he completed courses in the College of Mortuary Science. He also had two years of pre-mortuary education at Lansing Community College.

The 46-year-old Air Force veteran is married to the former Vianna Heathman. He and his wife and three children reside at 1189 E. Walker Road in St. Johns. Another son, Bruce, is serving with the US Navy; another daughter, Mrs. Linda Walling, lives in St. Johns.

BOND SPENT eight years serving with funeral homes in Lansing before joining the Osgood Funeral Home staff in 1961.

In making the announcement, Sirrnie said, "Bond now brings to three the number of licensed personnel who are available at Osgood's to serve this area's bereaved families."

"I'm sure I don't have to tell all the folks who know Arthur that he's a great asset to our firm and a credit to the funeral profession."

Clinton does its part in raising GNP

The upswing in business, locally, enabled Clinton County to do its part in the past year in moving the gross national product to a new high.

It was made possible, chiefly, by an increase in local consumer spending for goods and services.

The facts and figures are brought out in reports from the Department of Commerce and in data released in other marketing studies.

THE GROSS national product (GNP) represents the dollar value of all goods and services produced in this country. It is the generally accepted measure of the state of the economy.

During the past year it broke into new high ground, reaching $629 billion. This was $40 billion more than in 1963 and $68 billion more than in 1962.

Most of the gains were due to greater consumer spending by the American public. Through their purchases, they accounted for no less than 62 per cent of the total GNP.

BY WAY OF comparison, all federal spending, together with all outlays by state and local governments and all capital investments by industry, came to less than 38 per cent of the total.

In Clinton County, consumer spending in the year amounted to $52,398,000, the figures show.

Some $44,456,000 of it went for merchandise purchased in local retail stores and an estimated

Clinton National offers checking free to some

Free personal checking accounts for many customers of Clinton National Bank and Trust Co. in St. Johns and Elsie are to be introduced on Dec. 1, according to an announcement this week from John A. Rumbaugh, vice president and cashier.

Free checking service is being offered to persons over 65 years of age, to customers who maintain a minimum monthly balance of $300 or more in a personal checking account and to non-profit organizations.

PRESENT checking account customers of the bank who are over 65 need only stop in at one of the bank's offices prior to Dec. 1 and notify them that they qualify for free service, Rumbaugh said. No proof of age is required.

The bank will continue the present schedule for business accounts and will also provide ThriftCheck accounts for persons who prefer not to maintain a $300 minimum balance in regular checking accounts.

Complete details of the bank's new free checking services appear in an advertisement on Page 1-C.

Arrested on 2 counts

Francis J. Gasco, 28, of Lansing was arrested by state police in Bath Township last Wednesday for two traffic violations. He was later fined in St. Johns $50 plus $15 costs for reckless driving and $5 plus $5 costs for driving without an operator's license.

According to legend, the yard was established by King Henry I as the distance from the tip of his nose to the end of his thumb when his arm was outstretched.

It was Halloween week at school!

At Sage School northeast of St. Johns, the 25 children under the supervision of teacher Mrs. Dorothy Siegrist had a Halloween party Friday, and there were lots of scary faces there when the photographer dropped in. The children made a number of Halloween masks out of papier mache, and they'll be on display Nov. 11 at an open house.

Mrs. Marietta Boldrey's kindergarten, first and second graders at Olive Center School presented this picture on a photographic visit to that school on Pratt Road Friday. A Halloween party was in progress. Mrs. Boldrey has 25 children in the three grades; 23 were on hand Friday.

Mrs. Rita Snyder's third, fourth and fifth grades line up in their room at Olive Center School Friday to show what their Halloween costumes looked like. There are 24 children in the room.

ROCHESTER COLONY — The Rochester Colony Home Economics Extension group met at the home of Mrs Joe Bancroft Tuesday evening, Oct. 26 when 12 members answered roll call to "Another Nation of Interest and Why."

Mrs Richard Hebel, chairman, conducted the business meeting and distributed "Share-A-Loaf cards" to be filled by individual members and added to the club donation.

Mrs Ray Hamer, county council member reported on a meeting to be held at Smith Hall, Nov. 9 from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. A potluck dinner at noon and a lesson on "Textile News and Views" will be given from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

A portion of the morning program will include an explanation of the reorganization of the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service and reasons for the change.

An international study lesson was presented to the group when Mrs Elmer Thornton showed slides on Latin American policy issues, "Handwriting on the Wall," by Dr Garland P. Wood, MSU Agriculture Economist. The script, narrated by Mrs Al Rademacher, dealt with the country life of people in Columbia and the major issues facing that country.

All members received a summary of the slides and script and the brochure "Challenge to Americans."

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs Ray Hamer, North Watson Road, Nov. 23, 7:30 p.m.

Fifty dollars in coins was collected and counted by the MYF group of the Duplain Methodist Church after their "Trick or Treat" for the UNICEF program Sunday evening, Oct. 31.

Wool clothing contest set

All girls between the ages of 10 and 21 who are interested in entering the "Make It Yourself With Wool Contest" of District 4 must do so before the Nov. 10 deadline.

This sewing contest is sponsored by the American Wool Council in cooperation with the Women's Auxiliary to the National Wool Growers. Prizes are awarded throughout the district, state and national levels. The top national prize aimed at every girl who enters is the European Holiday, 14 days via jet to Rome, Paris, London and Ireland.

COUNTIES included in District 4 are Clinton, Genesee, Livingston, Ingham and Shiawassee. Contestants from all of these counties will compete on Nov. 20 at Anthony Hall on the Michigan State University campus. A style show featuring the wool garments constructed by the contestants will be open to the public at 2:00 p.m.

Entry blanks may be obtained in local fabric stores or by contacting Mrs. James Cretcher, 3436 Jolly Road, East Lansing.

From 1930 to 1960, homicides with firearms decreased 25 per cent on a per capita basis; suicides dropped 9 per cent.

home of Mr and Mrs Wilbur Warren on east Price Road. Mrs. Jim Huyck will have charge of the program.

The Cemetery dinner put on by the Reed Assn. at the Underhill home on Wednesday was well attended and $25 cleared.

Horton Grange will meet on Friday evening, Nov. 12 at the Exelby home with a potluck supper served before the meeting. Roll call to be answered by a current event.

On Sunday, Oct. 24 about 30 relatives and friends called on Otis Balcam at the Bauerle home near DeWitt to wish him a happy 89th birthday. A beautiful birthday cake centered the dining table from which refreshments were served.

The Sunday evening service held by the Price and Shepardsville Churches at Shepardsville on Sunday evening was well attended. The bible study conducted by Rev Huhtala and the musical numbers makes these meetings very interesting and well worth the hour's time spent attending them. The next Sunday evening service will be held at the Price Church on the evening of Nov. 14 with public invited. A refreshment hour follows each service.

Otis Balcam has been quite ill. He is at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Clarence Bauerle on Clark Road. His address is Lansing, R-4.

Mr and Mrs Russell Smith and son, Ricky have moved into the Claude Underhill house, formerly known as the Fred Baker farm.

Joe Jorae and daughter, Debbie of Ovid were Sunday visitors at the Louis Jorae home.

Mr and Mrs Elzie Exelby spent Sunday with Mr and Mrs Clarence Bauerle and father, Otis Balcam. Hunter's in this vicinity are finding pheasants and rabbits very scarce. There seem to be plenty of fox and raccoon and these animals do not help the pheasant or other small wildlife.

Work is progressing on the new parsonage being built by the Grove Bible Church.

The three miles of Price Road between Chandler and Shepardsville roads, which is under construction, has been sanded and now open to traffic.

Scientists at Michigan State University predicts that meat 'substitutes' now being experimentally produced from plant proteins will be in commercial production by 1980. Most consumers of the substitutes will be people who must be on special diets.

County Line News

By Mrs Doris Fisher

"Renewed by Vision" was the sermon topic Sunday at Salem EUB Church, another in a series of sermons on "Renewal" by the pastor, Rev Ralph Conline. Mrs Gayla Phillips, accompanied by the choir, sang. Mrs Margaret Conline sang "Sorry, I never Knew You," closing the service. Mrs Glenn Schlart was organist.

Lighted Jack-o-Lanterns and spooky faces were on the lawn of Mr and Mrs Dennis Phillips Sunday evening for the Salem EUB Youth Fellowship Halloween party. Program included games and carving a pumpkin into a Jack-o-Lantern contest.

There will be a hymn sing at the Methodist Church in Bannister Sunday evening, Nov. 7 at 7:45 p.m. Salem EUB is one of the participating churches.

Thank offering boxes and Christmas gifts for the Lapeer State Home are to be brought to the November meeting of the County Line EUB Women's Fellowship Friday evening, Nov. 12 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs Ralph Conline. Election of officers will be held.

WORTH OF DIRT

Can You Imagine One Cup Of Soil From Your Farm Paying You Back $170.00?

There's no trick to this statement. It's what you can expect to see happen every time you have 10 acres of your farm tested. The National Plant Food Institute recently completed a study of a whole group of farmers who fertilized by soil test. Then they compared yields per acre with another group of farmers who fertilized but did not have the help of soil test recommendations. The National Plant Food Institute found that the soil test farmers harvested an average of 17 more bushels of corn per acre!

Figuring that the average soil test represents ten acres, and with corn selling at $1.00 per bushel, simple arithmetic proves that a cup of soil meant $170.00 to the soil testing farmer.

This fall is the time to test your soil. We pay all of the costs of soil testing for our customers. All samples are sent to the M.S.U. Lab. for testing.

"Best Foot Forward" is the title of the junior class play to be presented Nov. 19 and 20. The play is under the direction of Miss Judy Nason.

Tryouts were held Thursday and Friday, Oct. 14 and 15. Those chosen were: Joe O'Leary, Dutch; Dave Waltz, Hank; Don Randolph, Green; Jerry Lewis, Satchel; Chuck Stockwell, Dr Reeber; Barb Kurplia, Miss Smith; Deb Meyer, Minerva; Sue Kentfield, Ethel; Gay Bond, the Blind Date; Monica Hatta, Miss Delaware Water Gap; Gary Sillm, Old Grad; Tom Smith, Bud; Don Kreamer, Prof. Lloyd; Doug Schafer, Jack; Kathy Bashore, Helen; John Burnham, Chester; and Marilyn Metz as Gale.

MONDAY NIGHT, Oct. 18, the Future Teachers' initiation was held. Robert LaBrie talked about teaching and its requirements. Cayle Beagle conducted the meeting and the new members were installed.

It was decided to go to MSU Nov. 13 for a workshop and to attend the MSU-Indiana game that afternoon. Having a car wash and making pom poms were also discussed.

WORK HAS begun on Varsity Night, which will be held on Nov.

13. Some of the entertainment will include the Wilsonaires in their new burgundy outfits; the Wilsonettes showing off their blue outfits; the Faculty Dixie Land band and many others. This promises to be even greater than last year's show.

Saturday, Oct. 30, the band traveled to Northwood Institute in Midland. They did the program and half-time shows. After the game, the band was given a tour of the campus.

A NEW CLUB has been formed and already has 57 active members. This new club is the Swim Club, and Debbie Meyer is the captain. Meetings are every Saturday afternoon at the Waverly pool. The colors are navy and burgundy. The club is being sponsored by the Rotary Club.

GAA has started their annual volleyball tournaments. The first round was held Thursday night, Oct. 28, and they'll continue until a winning team is finally determined.

ON OCT. 26, Keith Parr presented an interesting assembly dealing with the marvels of chemistry. Parr has a tremendous background in science and he is very much interested in it. All of the students enjoyed the assembly.

Thursday, Oct. 28 the freshmen were formally initiated into Rodney B, and the sophomores had their revenge. The committee of Jeff White, John Salemi, Kay Ann Rademacher, Jane a Geller, Andre Lewis and Kathy Buck decided what the freshmen were to wear. The boys were to wear skirts above their knees, their gym suit, paper hat and the sign saying "Sophomores A Go Go." The girls wore their gym suits, a pair of old pants over the gym suits, a poncho and the same sign that the boys had. Their hair was ratted on the sides and flat on top.

THE YEARLY magazine campaign was begun Nov. 2 and will continue for two weeks.

General manager is Jim Welsh who will supervise the program. Finance manager is Margaret Cortright. Joanne Howell and Chuck Stockwell are the publicity managers. Judy Williams is subscription manager.

The quota for this year is $4,800, which is about $5 per person. The profit from the campaign will again go to finance the paid school assemblies.

Prizes will be awarded to students who sell over $5 worth of subscriptions. One boy and one girl will be given a trip to Chicago from the $30 club.

JEFF WHITE, a sophomore at Rodney B, took a science course at Lansing Community College this past summer. He didn't receive any credit for the course while those from Lansing received half a year credit. Jeff said that he took the course for experience as he is interested in science. Jeff received a certificate of honor for his project on X-ray radiation of plants.

THE STUDENTS at Rodney B, contributed $89.10 to the Communities Chest campaign.

The annual Latin Club initiation was held Oct. 25. The first year Latin Club members were Getting Ready for Education Week at Olive Center

Sixth, seventh and eighth graders at Olive Center School launched their preparations for American Education Week (Nov. 7-13) last week by designing posters that will be displayed at the school. Four of the posters are displayed here by the students in Mrs Maxine Sigafoose's room at Olive Center.

PTA sponsors open house

ELSIE - American Education Week will be observed by the Parent - Teachers Assn. as open house is being held in the Junior and Senior High School classrooms Monday evening, Nov. 8. Members of the Future Teachers Club will be on duty in each room to give information to the visitors.

Parent - teacher conferences will be held the first part of December.

The meeting will begin with a short film "Adults in a Hurry" and a brief business session after which a coffee hour and the open house activities will follow.

Knight Elementary School and the rural schools will have displays arranged in the high school gymnasium.

Awards given Cub Scouts

ELSIE - The October Pack meeting of Cub Scouts was held Monday night in the Knight Elementary School. There are 39 boys in the Cub Scout program.

Den No. 3 presented the flag ceremony after which the National Anthem was led by Charles Green, Jeff Keck, Garry Bernath and Danny Pumphord.

A puppet skit was given by Danny Egbert, Jimmie Micka and Ralph Lockwood.

A demonstration on "How to fold an American flag" was enacted by Douglas Keck and Ken Albaugh.

$84.50 collected for UNICEF by Elsie MYF

ELSIE - The Intermediate and senior groups of the Methodist Youth Fellowship under the direction of their counselors Mrs Alpha Grubough and Mrs Lyle Dunham, knocked at doors late Sunday afternoon asking for coins to help the needy children of the world.

Instead of the usual candy, apples and other treats, they collected a total of $84.50, which they will send to UNICEF to help provide food and medical care for 56 million poor children and mothers in 118 countries.

Others who assisted with the drive were Mrs Richard Lannen and Rev Gordon Showers. They met at the church where Jennifer Keys, president of the Senior MYF distributed the necessary UNICEF information and schedules for canvassing the community by means of a village map.

Hot chocolate and cookies were served to the young people after the drive. The intermediate group should be given much credit for their part in the collection because of their fine turnout in attendance.

The senior group remained for a brief meeting with devotionals by David Showers.

Names were recommended for the Areas of Fellowship, Witness, Faith, Citizenship and Outreach and will be voted upon during next Sunday's meeting at 7:00 p.m. in the MYF Chapel.

At that time Rev Showers will present the lesson study and Sharon Dunham will lead the worship service.

Receives honors

ELSIE - Miss Mary Helene Vleck was presented a certificate of honor for scholastic distinction at a special Honors Convocation at Nazareth College, Thursday evening.

Alvin M. Bentley of Owosso, a member of Gov. Romney's Citizens' Committee on Higher Education, gave the address at the Convocation. Because of Bentley's work in higher education, Nazareth College conferred upon him an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

Mrs Frank Vleck attended the ceremony and reception which followed.

Miss Joan K. Tomasik now Mrs C. F. Vacik

ELSIE - St. Cyril's Catholic Church in Bannister was the scene of a lovely fall wedding, Saturday morning when Joan K. Tomasik and Clarence F. Vacik were married in a double ring ceremony. The Rev Father Clarence D. Smolinski performed the wedding Mass.

The bride's parents are Mr and Mrs Joe Tomasik Sr., of Elsie while the bridegroom's parents are Mr and Mrs James Vacik Sr., of 4600 Weiss Street, Saginaw.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of silk organza accented with Chantilly lace, seed pearls and crystal. The bell-shaped skirt was fashioned with a detachable Watteau train while long tapered sleeves completed the bodice.

The bridal veil of silk illusion was held in place by a silk organza Dior bow accented with Chantilly lace, seed pearls and crystal. She carried a cascade of red roses.

Miss Ann Hatta of St. Johns was maid of honor and wore a floor length gown of royal blue taffeta with a Watteau train. Her matching floral hat was designed with bouffant veil and she carried a cascade of white Fuji mums.

The Misses Betty Bartek of Elsie, Sandy Doubrava of Owosso and Mary Ann Sipka of Lansing, a cousin of the bride, served as bridesmaids. Their gowns were identical to the maid of honor but in light blue. All had cascading bouquets of white Fuji mums.

Shelley Vacik of Saginaw, niece of the groom and Bonnie Gregor of Corunna, cousin of the bride wore flower girls and wore white frocks complemented by miniature cascade arrangements of red roses and white streamers.

Dennis Vacik of Saginaw was ring bearer for his uncle's wedding. Lawrence Vacik of Saginaw served as his twin brother's best man while groomsmen were James Vacik Jr. of Saginaw, brother of the groom, Joe Tomasik Jr., brother of the bride and Ronald Stork of Saginaw.

The bride's mother wore a mocha two-piece knit suit with dark brown accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a mint green two-piece knit suit. Both had corsages of red roses.

Mrs Frank Winkler was organist for the traditional wedding music assisted by the St. Cyril's Girls Choir. White chrysanthemums and red roses were used for the altar.

A wedding breakfast was held at the Bannister Slovak Hall following the ceremony and a reception at six o'clock.

After a two-week wedding trip through the north and western states, they will reside at North Graham Road, Freeland.

The new Mrs Vacik graduated from Elsie High School and has been employed at the Elsie office of the Clinton National Bank and Trust Co. The groom, a graduate of Arthur Hill High School in Saginaw is associated with the Vacik Builders (Contracting).

Luncheon honors birthday

ELSIE - Mrs Pearl Munson was guest of honor at a buffet luncheon at the home of her son and wife, Mr and Mrs Emory Price. The occasion was Mrs Munson's birthday anniversary.

The serving table was centered by a large cake decorated in autumn colors and made by Mrs Carl Winans.

For entertainment, another son, William Price showed colored slides taken at former family gatherings and also some travel pictures.

Thirty - three guests were present from Flint, Lansing, St. Johns, Vernon, Shepherd, Ovid, Laingsburg and Elsie.

Boy Scouts have Halloween party

ELSIE - A large Halloween mask with the word "Welcome" on the door of the darkened American Legion Hall greeted the Boy Scouts as they arrived for Tuesday night's meeting.

Leader Keith Thornton met the boys and directed them to tables where they lighted candles for a session of ghost story-telling. Punch and cookies were served.

This was followed by an inside treasure hunt from notes previously placed by the leader. Several other action games such as "dunking" for apples and basketball were played, before the meeting closed with the regular Scout Circle closing.

Don't drive down the highway like an irresistible force—you may meet an immovable object.

Future teachers install officers, entertain guests

ELSIE - Officers of the Kate Finch Future Teachers' Club were installed during an impressive ceremony Tuesday evening in the high school gymnasium.

Mrs Geraldine Hawes was in charge of the installation. Other sponsors are Mrs Thelma Rule and Ronald Hoshal.

Sharry Moore served as mistress of ceremony and welcomed the mothers and guests.

Barbara Warner and Kathryn Melvin sang "I Believe," with Jennifer Keys as accompanist.

Janice Kelley and Sharon Dunham sang a selection from "Sound

Greenbush WSCS observes 25th anniversary

SOUTH GREENBUSH—Greenbush WSCS met at the church Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Refreshments of ice cream and anniversary cake, made by Mrs Mable Swagart, were served.

Edith Stockwell, president, opened the meeting with a prayer and conducted the business meeting.

The meeting was then turned over to Mable Swagart, Spiritual Life Secretary, who conducted devotions using Exodus 4:2, "What is in Thine Hand?"

Jeanette Rosekrans read "The Ritual" for enrollment ceremony for the WSCS that was used by the society on that September Sunday in 1940.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society was organized in 1870 and the Aid Society in 1891. Mrs Bessie Miller had charge of the union of these two societies in 1940. Of the 20 charter members only seven still remain.

Mrs Jeanette Rosekrans was the first president of the new WSCS. She read two articles on the 25th anniversary written by Mrs Porter Brown General Secretary and Mrs Glenn E. Laskey President of the Women's Division. Mrs Emma Whitlock conducted a Litany of Commitment in which the members pledged their lives, time, talent, service, gifts and their prayers anew.

The group looked over old records of the treasurer and other interesting articles which are the possessions of many of the members.

Sunday, Nov. 7 is the family victory dinner at 1 p.m. at the Greenbush Methodist Church. This is a cooperative meal. Each one is also asked to bring friends with them.

Also, on this day we will honor Mr and Mrs Elmer Swagart for their many years as teachers in our Sunday school.

4-H HAYRIDE

The French Corners 4-H Club were entertained at the home of Mr and Mrs Vernon Kowalk Saturday evening.

The club went for a hayride later returning to the Kowalk home for a wiener roast.

Dennis Whitlock spent the weekend with his parents, Mr and Mrs Stanley Whitlock. Sunday morning, he was accompanied back to East Lansing by his grandparents, Mr and Mrs E. O. Whitlock. They attended church at the University Methodist Church.

Mrs Grace Stevens and Mrs Gladys Silvernall called on Mrs Nina Powers Wednesday afternoon. Mrs Mable Welling from Lansing was a visitor there also.

Mr and Mrs John Beck were Sunday dinner guests in the Wilbur Flowers home.

The Richmond School had their Halloween Party Thursday afternoon. Mrs Ethel McCumber of Pompeii and Mrs Ethel Randolph of Eureka were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs Ralph Silvernall.

Randy Flowers came home Monday from the Clinton Memorial Hospital, where he had been a patient for several weeks. He started back to school this week, Monday.

Mr and Mrs Arthur Lewis of Lansing and Mrs Lottie Northrup of Mason were Monday luncheon guests of Mrs Ernest Wakefield. In the afternoon they called on Mr and Mrs Hiram Stevens.

Mrs Orrin Blank returned home Friday from the Clinton Memorial Hospital where she spent the past 10 days undergoing tests and therapy treatments. Mrs John Glowney of Flint called on her niece and family, Mr and Mrs Charles Rasdale.

A near catastrophe was averted Sunday morning when Darrell Buck returned home from church.

He found the house filled with smoke. The floor around the register was well charred. This house will be remembered by many as the W. A. Silvernall home.

Mr and Mrs Oral Hill of Lansing were Sunday visitors in the Hiram Stevens home.

The French School children had their Halloween Party last Friday afternoon.

Mrs Pauline Graham and daughter, Ann, visited the former's parents, Mr and Mrs Hugh Hefelein near Round Lake. It was Mrs Hefelein's birthday.

Mr and Mrs Vernon Kowalk attended the homecoming game at MSU Saturday. Mrs Kowalk's father was captain of the 1915 team. This team was honored that day.

Mr and Mrs Don Phillips and family of Lansing visited the latter's parents, Mr and Mrs Percy Kingsburg, Sunday.

Mrs Grace Stevens and Mrs Helen Fowler were Sunday dinner guests of their son and brother, Mr and Mrs Miron Stevens, of Lansing.

Mr and Mrs Kenneth Grieve and son called on Mr and Mrs Louis Utes in Ionia Saturday afternoon.

Mr and Mrs Rhinard Schulz called on Mr and Mrs Albert Schulz near DeWitt Sunday.

THE NEWS in Brief

The City of St. Johns pumped a total of 409 million gallons of water during 1964, the US Department of the Interior, Geological Survey, Water Resources Division, noted in a letter to the city last month. The maximum day during 1964 was 1.57 million gallons. The total pumpage for 1964 averaged out to 187 gallons per day per capita, figuring a 6,000 population for the city . . .

George S. McIntyre, new associate director of the Cooperative Extension Service at Michigan State University, will be guest speaker at the Fall Rural Recreation Field Day this Saturday at the Apple Mountain Ski Area and Fruit Farm in Freeand. The program gets underway at 10:30 a.m. . . .

CLINTON County had achieved only 63.3 per cent of its 1965 quota for sale of US savings bonds through September. The state percentage at the same time was 77.4 . . . The American Red Cross has proclaimed it has no connection with efforts being made in this country to collect blood, funds or other relief supplies for Viet Cong or North Vietnam . . .

The robin will be absent from posters and other promotional material for the 1966 Michigan

Week; the 1966 emblem will show a Mackinac Bridge tower and three soaring sea gulls . . . All registered nurses of the Lansing area are invited to attend the "Fall Clinical Sessions" Nov. 4, 11 and 18, sponsored by the Capital Area Nurses Assn. They'll be held at two Lansing hospitals. . . .

NORTH STAR Lines Inc., which operates a bus route through St. Johns, will put three new air-conditioned lavatory - equipped buses in service in February . . . Michigan State University will open its doors to a diverse group of foreign students again over the Christmas holidays to help promote better world understanding and peace on earth . . .

Road Commission Weekly Report

The Board of Clinton County Road Commissioners held their regular meeting Wednesday, Nov. 3. The board opened bids for the November and December gasoline requirements. They also opened bids for a new dragline bucket. Final decisions on these bids will be reported next week. The commission discussed centerline striping, tree cutting and several drainage and construction problems.

THE Centerline Road bridge was opened to traffic last week as reported but railings are still to be added. The Howe Road bridge across the Looking Glass river is still ahead of construction schedule and it looks like it would be opened to traffic this year as was predicted.

Construction crews have been working on Price Road and the hauling crews have been putting sand lift on Herbison Road, DeWitt Road and Stoll Road in DeWitt Township and Price Road in Victor Township.

MAINTENANCE crews have been busy with culverts, washouts, trees and badly pitted and rutted local roads.

State maintenance crews brought in the picnic tables last week. This annual job is always done the week of Halloween as we don't want the goblins to get the tables first.

Income for October was $15,203.17. Disbursements were $74,641.55. Motor Vehicle Highway Funds for the last quarter, received this week, were $142,685.70.

New Girl Scout Leaders in Training

Textiles news to highlight meeting at Smith Hall

It's no secret that the textiles industry is growing at an ever-increasing pace. Helen Meach, extension home economist in the Clinton County area, will present an inside view of the new fabrics and developments in the textiles world Nov. 9, at 1 o'clock at Smith Hall.

Mrs Meach recently returned from a two-day workshop at Michigan State University where she studied the textile developments.

ONE OF THE newest developments, a durable press finish, will be a highlight of her presentation. She'll also discuss bonded and laminated fabrics, selection and care of knits, which have become so popular in the past few years.

Since many fabrics made of blends of two or more fibers are rising in popularity, Mrs Meach will give an explanation of selection of blends, how they are formed and what they should do, as well as what the consumer can expect from a blended fabric.

18 attend special PTA meeting

A PTA meeting of parents of children in the five special education rooms of St. Johns were held last Wednesday.

A potluck supper for 18 parents and teachers in Mrs Welsh's room at Central School was followed by a movie on special education in Mount Pleasant. David Mankey ran the projector for the group. A discussion period, led by Mrs Daale Maier, teacher at the Orchard School, followed the movie.

The attendance award went to Mrs Maier's room. Plans were made for a Jan. 26, 1966 meeting.

Mrs Seeley hosts to Ruth Circle

The Ruth Circle of the First Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs Floyd Seeley Oct. 26 for a dessert luncheon with Mrs Harold Haight co-hostess. Fourteen members and three guests were present.

During the business meeting it was voted to remember our Golden-Link members at Thanksgiving time. A special collection was taken, and four sewing kits given out to be filled for World Community Day offering.

The program was "Prayer and Self-Denial" and was presented by Mrs Gayle VauConsant. Devotions were given by Mrs Dolina MacKinnon.

Girl Scouts Help Start March of Dimes Campaign

Girl Scouts of Troop 272 of St. Johns helped get the new March of Dimes campaign under way Saturday by stuffing addressed envelopes with March of Dimes material. Working at the John Caudy home at 208 S. Wight Street were Shirley Johnson, Scout Leader Mrs James Griffin, JoAnn Kanaski, Kathy Geller, Mary Ann Kanaski, Diann Kanaski, Patty Mabie, Pat Shinabery, Linda Liszewski and Cindy Liszewski. Others not pictured were Diane Cunningham, Marcia Galvach and Pamela Hettler.

Bement Library Book Shelf

By Hila Bross

New to our biography section is Bill Severn's FRONTIER PRESIDENT: THE LIFE OF JAMES K. POLK. Our 11th President was the youngest man ever to enter the White House when he began his only term at the age of 49 in 1844. Perhaps the fact that he had grown up in the wilds of North Carolina and Tennessee led him to be extremely interested in frontier country, and it is to his credit that more than 500,000 square miles of new territory were added to the nation's area during his administration. Texas and some far western states were included in the annexation.

Educated as a lawyer, he served in the Tennessee state legislature and in Congress, where he was twice speaker of the House. He was a staunch supporter of Andrew Jackson. Legend has it that he liked to wear dotted neckties, and during his heyday they became very popular. This is the origin of the term "polka-dot."

VETERAN Novelist D. E. Stevenson has done it again. Thirtieth in her long list of published fiction is KATHERINE WENTWORTH, story of "a pretty, courageous widow, faced with the task of bringing up three children and making her way alone in the world." This story is laid in Edinburgh, Scotland, city of Miss Stevenson's birth.

This author was born Dorothy E. Stevenson, and in 1916 she married Major James R. Peplow of the Highland Light Infantry. The Peplow family still makes its home in Scotland.

One critic has remarked that "her books have a sanity and balance not too common in modern fiction." For this reason Stevenson fans are legion, and they will welcome KATHERINE WENTWORTH to our library shelves.

DEVOTEES OF Ian Fleming will be interested in knowing that we now have eight of his books

How resistant is stain-resistant?

BY HELEN MEACH Extension Home Economist

"Don't expect miracles from a stain-resistant fabric."

"These days you can find everything from neckties to luggage and automobile seat covers advertised as having stain resistant finishes. "But whether they completely live up to the claims is another story."

"However, before you condemn a stain resistant finish as unsatisfactory, check the label or tags that come with it. Most manufacturers give you a clue to the type of stain resistance to expect. Some resist only oily stains, others only water stains. A few are effective against both.

A FINISH THAT resists one kind of stain may not resist the other. "In fact, some finishes used to repel water-type stains actually attract oily stains." For example, your raincoat may show more oil stains at the collar and sleeve edges because of the water repellent treatment.

The finishes aren't 100 per cent effective, nor are they completely permanent. A finish might resist a minor stain, but succumb to the same type of stain if the substance remains on the fabric for a long time or if it comes into contact with the fabric under different pressures and temperatures.

"AND SOME substances just penetrate a fabric quicker than others. "A thick, creamy gravy doesn't soak into your husband's tie as fast as a rich, but thin, soup."

The do-it-yourself aerosol cans of stain resistant finishes are some help. They usually aren't as effective as a factory finish, but they're better than no finish at all, particularly for things like upholstered furniture, she advises. Be sure to follow the directions on the aerosol can carefully.

PROMPT removal of the stain on stained fabric, whether it has a stain-resistant finish or not, is still as important as ever.

A smart shopper is "in the know" and "buys with care." She recognizes what quality means to her and her family and so she looks for those features which they consider most important.

For shopper clues to use and care ask for Bulletin No. 403 at your Cooperative Extension Office; there is no charge. The bulletin is called "Give Labels a Try Before you Buy."

Napkin folding art enhances table setting

Paper napkins can be elegant as well as handy. It's all in the way you fold them. They can be decorative or practical to hold place cards or silverware.

For a decorative, space-saving napkin idea for buffets, try this upstanding style. Unfold a dinner napkin. Then fold it into a triangle with the point at the top. Turn the lower edge up about an inch, turn napkin over, and roll, beginning at one side. When it is all rolled, tuck in the point at the other side, and stand the napkin on end.

Another simple fold puts a twofold napkin in shape for a place card. Unfold once so the napkin is a square. Placing it with the open points at the bottom, turn the top point down about a third and fold the side points under so they overlap in back. The place card fits under the front flap.

To make a napkin into a silverware holder, unfold the napkin, then turn each point in to meet in the center. Fold the resulting square into a triangle with two points meeting at the top. Fold the left side over one-third. Then fold the right side over one-third and tuck the point between the layers of the left side. This leaves a pocket for silverware.

A little experimenting will turn up many more napkin ideas to dress up your dinner table.

It is regrettable that the creator of James Bond, detective, is not around to know that enthusiasm for his work now amounts to a cult. Since his death in August 1964, at the age of 56, all of his books have been reissued and one or two books have even been written about him. It should be noted, however, that enthusiasm for this kind of hard, frank writing is not shared by the entire reading public.

JANN T. STROUSE

Dentalman J. T. STROUSE, USN, (left), son of Mr and Mrs Don Strouse of 206 W. McConnell, St. Johns, assists Lt. Jimmy E. Albright, Dental Corps, US Navy, of Knoxville, Tenn., extract a bad tooth from a small Vietnamese child during a Navy dental team civic action visit to Hoc Mon, a small village 20 miles northwest of Saigon, Republic of Viet Nam.

A member of the Dental Department of US Navy Headquarters Support Activity, Saigon, he is playing an active part in the department's civic action program.

Volunteers from the department... They are trained and ready to meet the new face of war... said the "Big Red One" commander, Major General Jonathan O. Seaman, as Sgt. 1c THOMAS N. BARRETT debarked here with other members of the 1st Infantry Division.

Sergeant Barrett, whose wife, Ann, lives at 79 Park Avenue, Worcester, Mass., is assigned as a section chief with the division which was ordered to duty here as a result of President Johnson's announced troop build-up in Viet Nam.

"The Fightin' First," as it is also known, participated in 18 major campaigns during World Wars I and II, earning 15 battle streamers.

Sealed Power sales, earnings increase

Sales by Sealed Power in both the third quarter and nine months of 1965 rose to an all-time record for these periods, Paul C. Johnson, president announced last week.

With third-quarter sales volume reaching $10,611,000, an increase of 8 per cent over the same period last year, net earnings rose to $869,000, a gain of one per cent over the 1964 third-quarter total of $862,000. This was the first time Sealed Power's third-quarter sales topped the $10 million mark.

ed Power shipments to the original equipment market should likewise be higher than any quarter this year. Although no substantial improvement in the demand for replacement products is foreseen for the balance of the year, overall corporate sales and earnings should establish new records in 1965.

During their Oct. 26 meeting, the board of directors declared the regular 25 cents per share quarterly dividend to be paid Dec. 10 to shareholders of record on Nov. 19.

Welfare merger will save money, Lockwood says

The passage of the Welfare Merger Bill, signed by acting Gov. William Milliken last week, will result in a savings for Clinton County through the blending of the county social welfare and state social aid agencies, Senate Republican Leader Emil Lockwood (R) St. Louis, reported to his district today.

On the basis of the expenditures for the past 12 month period, ending June, 1965, Clinton County would have received $16,667.07, Lockwood noted.

THE CHANGES of the allocation formula from 30/70 per cent to 40/60 per cent would have increased Clinton County's monies from $23,438.59 to $40,105.66. The new Act, effective Oct. 1, 1965, provides for matching funds of 40 per cent direct relief, administrative and net operating costs of medical care facilities.

The act further provides, Senator Lockwood said, that with the state-county agency merger, if a county spent more than 1 mill of its assessed valuation on welfare, the state and federal government will assume all costs beyond that amount.

A literal application of the new formula in counties with costs exceeding 1 mill would probably result in a decrease, but the law is permissive which allows the state to pay more where local economic conditions warrant.

Thus social welfare departments will pay more than 40 per cent, so that the county would not have a reduction in state funds, Lockwood said. The total welfare costs in Clinton County, according to information received by Senator Lockwood during the consideration of the bill, amounted to $100,264.15.

The two welfare agencies in Clinton County were voluntarily merged several months ago.

False security

Don't be lulled into a false sense of security because of the overwhelming success of Salk and Sabin vaccines in controlling polio, cautions the American Medical Assn.
 These vaccines have not eradicated the viruses which cause this paralyzing disease; they only trigger the body's defenses to build up anti-bodies that can combat the viruses. All persons who have not been properly immunized against polio are still vulnerable.

Help for home town should come from all

In addition to the business establishments that are listed every year, our Chamber of Commerce membership reports occasionally name a few—but very few—individuals as contributing sponsors.

So it appears that for all practical purposes the only members of our community who are genuinely interested in its betterment are businessmen.

Not so? Do the men and women who work in local plants and raise families and stand on the opposite side of the cash registers in local stores really care about the future of the area.

IF THEY DO, what keeps them away from activities of the one organization that can do the most for our community—the Chamber of Commerce?

Maybe it's because of that one word, "commerce." The organization perhaps should be called the "People Who Live Here Club."

The many local residents who do indeed love the community and have as great an interest in its welfare as the businessmen could greatly help the retailers and other businessmen and professional people carry forth the projects for betterment of the entire local area.

IT'S TRADITIONAL that the burden of support of civic betterment activities falls primarily on local businessmen. It's always been that way, but there's no reason why private individuals from every walk of life throughout the area cannot join in such pursuits.

WE ARE ON A drunken, spending spree which can lead only to disaster. No one wants to work. No one is required to work. There are more government jobs than there are civilian jobs.

Lazy man's 23rd Psalm reflects national disease

Poetry is not usually accepted by The News for publication, but here is a parody which appeared in the Eastern Idaho Farmer which is both humorous and tragic.

It reflects the disease which is eating at America in the form of socialism and socialism's undercutting of initiative of America and Americans.

SOCIETY IS MY shepherd; I shall not work It alloweth me to lie down on a feather bed It leadeth me beside the still factories, It destroyeth my ambition, It leadeth me in the paths of a gold-brick for politics sake

IT IS HOPED that some legislators and congressmen might well read this parody with a conscience twinge, especially in the area of spending money supplied by taxpayers.

Counties on a one-man, one-vote basis?

A GUEST EDITORIAL FROM Official Michigan Magazine

Confusion lies ahead for Michigan County government should the Supreme Court uphold the Kent County Circuit Court ruling that boards of supervisors must be reapportioned on a one-man, one-vote basis.

We think too many in Michigan take it for granted that the ruling will be upheld. We do not regard it as a foregone conclusion.

While the present scheme of apportionment may have flaws, it is clearly a legal one under Michigan's constitution. The question before the court is whether Michigan's rule for county boards comes within the ban of federal decisions which are compelling state legislatures to reapportion seats in both Houses into districts of equal population.

WE DIFFER WITH those who hold that the same rule must necessarily apply to county boards. We think it should, both for legal and practical reasons.

On the legal side, a county board of supervisors, in Michigan and similarly in many other states, is in fact a conference of representatives of cities and townships. It is not a legislature of elected representatives of the people.

In one sense of the word, it is not an elected body at all, and at most only a partially-elected one. Township supervisors, of course, are elected, but they are elected primarily as administrators of township affairs.

SIMILARLY, MANY MAYORS and councilmen and other city officials serve on boards of supervisors ex officio, or by reason of having been elected to some other office.

Were the board called by some other name, we would not even think of it as an elected body. We would recognize it for what it is—a conference of delegates.

A county board is primarily an administrative rather than a legislative body. Its limited powers to enact ordinances are in furtherance of its administrative responsibilities.

SO, WE ASK, WHY should a rule affecting elected Legislatures be applied to a subsidiary group that is neither elective nor a legislature?

Whether or not our legal reasoning is sound, however, is less important than the practical effects of the suggested reapportionment. For if the end result is a gain, we should make the law conform and jettison the precedent.

We don't see a gain in prospect. While the existing practice may yield less than ideal results in a changing world, the alternative offered is worse.

A supervisor who represents a township or city on a board of supervisors now represents an entity that already has a community of interest in government. A supervisor representing a district artificially-created for the sole purpose of equalizing the number of constituents represents one that has no other common purpose than the simple chore of electing him.

UNDER THE EQUAL population district principle, we can anticipate cutting our cities into two to 20 districts, with some overlapping other cities or townships or parts thereof. We can foresee townships divided and combined, with fractions attached to city districts in which township residents are outnumbered.

We do not believe that a county board elected from districts of equal population will be any more representative of county-wide interests than one composed of representatives of the municipal and township governments within it.

Some critics have attacked county boards as undemocratic because so many of their members are appointed rather than elected. We would remind those critics that no appointed member serves except at the pleasure of the elected officials of the constituency he represents, and as provided for in city charters adopted by popular vote.

These charters are subject to amendment to provide for elected supervisors if the people in that city so desire. We see nothing undemocratic in a procedure which permits an elected government to appoint representatives to an administrative body.

Moreover, the presence of these appointees, and in the alternative, ex officio members already serving in government, assures to the county board the membership of men and women of proven experience in government in their home communities. For an administrative body, there can be no finer method of selection.

We have a particular quarrel with those theorists who in their zeal for the proliferation of officialdom would disqualify the holder of any other office or position of public employment from service on the county board.

BY THIS ONE STROKE, they would disqualify up to 99 per cent of the experience in this field from participation in the transition election. They would separate the functions of a township supervisor by requiring that two persons do the work of one—one to administer township affairs and the other to sit on the board, even though the districts they represent might by accident be coterminous.

The proposals in this area have been so far-reaching that they would disqualify a professor of political science in a state university, or the unpaid appointee to a civic advisory committee, from service on the county board.

It if turns out that we must, under a dictum we hope the Supreme Court won't impose, institute elective boards from equal population districts, let us have the good judgment not to disqualify persons most experienced and best qualified to serve.

MOREOVER, IF WE draw a clear line between county and municipal service, we are likely to stimulate competition for power and prestige. Instead of cooperation between cities and townships in the solution of county problems, we will be creating an incentive to destructive rivalry between the county government and its municipalities.

If the ills that now plague us are confusing, the suggested cure can bring chaos.

We urge that the present Michigan apportionment setup as applied to county boards is sound in law and in principle. We do not contend that it is perfect. Some amendments are in order.

WE SUGGEST THAT IT is timely to broaden the population factor to bring about a proper balance between urban and rural constituencies. It need not be absolute. Let us preserve unity and forswear fragmentation.

We think that no township should have less than one vote on county boards; we also think that a populous township should have as many votes as a city of equal size.

RAMBLIN' with Rink

BY LOWELL G. RINKER

The clouds are filled with snow this day, and according to some rumors floating around it is supposed to snow. There were a few flakes in the air about 10:45 this morning (Oct. 28), but the sun is shining through the big canyons in the clouds, and I don't think we'll get any great amount today.

This has set me to thinking and wondering about what the upcoming winter has in store for us. Will it be long or short? Mild or hard? Will there be lots of snow or just cold and little snow?

I HAVEN'T read any news reports yet about the Indian in Washington who tells about winter by observing the behavior of the salmon, or the guy who predicts by how deep the fish are swimming in Lake Michigan.

A glance at the Farmer's Almanac doesn't give one a good picture, since the only almanac we have is for 1965, and it only covers the weather through the end of this calendar year. The forecasts for the last two months this year don't seem too bad in one section of the book, but another part doesn't sound good.

For instance, the little rhymes that run along the side of one column in the monthly data on moon, sun, tides, etc., contain some foreboding information. Example: Starting about the 21st of this month are these words: "Get ready, get set, go—rain and snow." "Elementary, Mr. Watson, it's cold and wintry."

THEN IN December: "Pours and roars." "Woolies don from now on." "Button up overcoats or expect sore throats." "Warmth now's a warning, storms are a-borning." "Pitter-patter, frozen water." "Much colder we fear as snows greet the New Year."

The day-by-day forecasts in the Almanac foresee a lot of rain and unsettled weather during November, with only snow flurries the last four days. Heavy rain they forecast for the first part of December, changing to rain, sleet and snow, then back to rain, then more rain and finally snow. Precipitation should be about 2.91 inches above average in December, the Almanac predicts.

SQUEAK Hyler of St. Johns thinks we may well have a rough winter. He was telling me last Saturday about shooting a squirrel that when being skinned out had more fat on than he's ever seen. Others have remarked that there seem to be far fewer than the normal amount of nuts laying under nut trees; the consensus is the squirrels are storing up more than normal because they're expecting a bad winter.

Maybe there's something of that same "sense" in humans, too. Maybe that's why when we bought our home last summer I made sure we had a garage to protect the old bus from the winter. Already this winter (?) I've rejoiced at being able to leave the house in the morning and drive off without having to scrape the windshield and my knuckles in order to see.

BUT IF the winter gets too hard and the snow flies too much, it may take time for me to get to work. There's a good 25 yards of driftable driveway between my garage and the street.

Whether my instincts about a garage had anything to do with the coming winter or not we'll just have to wait and see. I rather think it was only coincidental; I learned many moons ago not to second-guess the weather.

Well done St. Johns, you're now a convention city.

A lot of people couldn't quite conceive how St. Johns could host a convention the size of the State Grange session that was held here a short time ago.

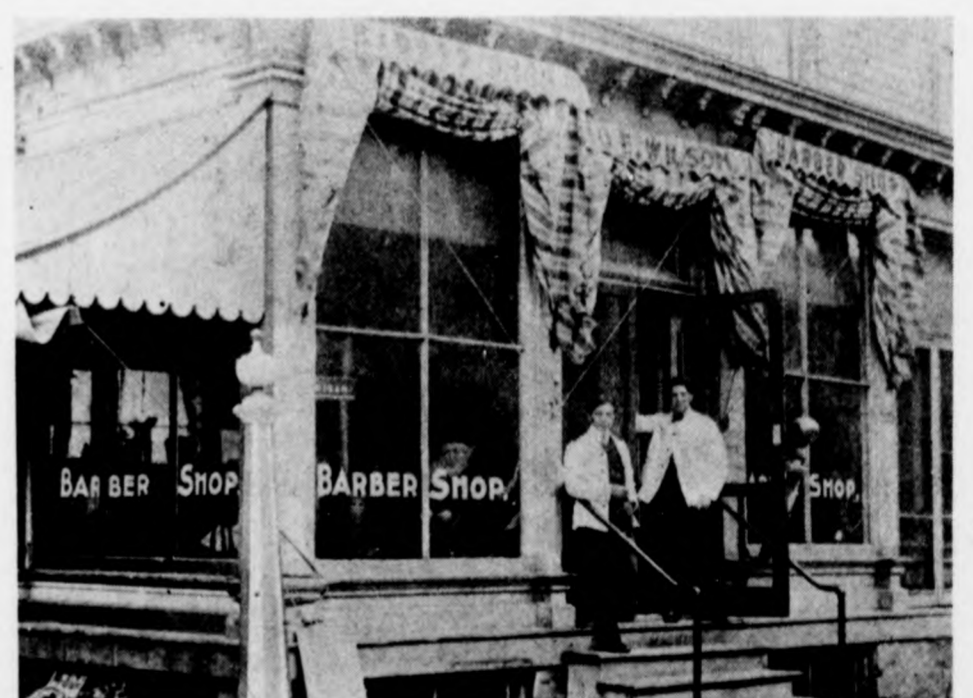

But a few people, a little foresight and months of hard work went into working out all the big and little things that must be considered in an undertaking such as this turned out to be.

IN THE PAST WEEK, since the Grangers were here, I've talked to merchants and local Grange officials and all the comments have been "very good." This is not to say that everything went as planned. There were a few minor setbacks or problems that arose, but those in charge took care of these in stride.

From this convention we found that in St. Johns we do have the facilities needed. We found that we have people who will work without recognition to do something for our city. We also found what a

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Romney looking more like presidential candidate

BY ELMER E. WHITE Michigan Press Assn.

Looking more and more like a national political candidate, Gov. George Romney has increased speculative reporting by a number of his agency appointments under the government reorganization law.

Inadvertently, or perhaps by design, he has placed in strategic positions several men who could be pulled out easily to work full-time in a national campaign by 1968 because they would have accomplished much of the important initial reorganization.

Whether these men, like former Congressman Jack McIntosh who was named chairman of the new Commerce Department, will be used in this way remains to be seen.

INCREASED TRAVEL out of the state for speaking engagements and the recent trip abroad which included Viet Nam add impetus to what had looked like a low-key test of the Republican winds.

Sitting here in Michigan it is very difficult to determine whether Romney is getting any encouragement for a bid to be the party's No. 1 candidate three years hence.

Many of the "men on the street" in other states know of him. For those who heard much of the fiscal problems of Michigan in past years, Romney looks like a good prospect because the cash crisis stories are no longer in print. The "minor" happenings which loom large in Michigan headlines for just a day rarely get published outside the state.

DIFFICULT AS IT is at this early date to clearly read the Governor's goals and possible progress toward these goals, a word of caution might be worthwhile in trying to get an accurate reading of his potential.

It isn't too many years ago that nearly every political writer in the state was booming then Gov. G. Mennen Williams as presidential timber. If he was unable to get the No. 1 slot, he surely had a better than average chance to be the Democratic vice presidential candidate, they said.

A DIRECT parallel is probably impossible between Williams and Romney. It must be remembered that when Williams was looking for his big chance, his party had a wealth of capable men with similar aspirations. Only two could get on the ticket and he wasn't one of them.

As of now, the Republican Party is in essentially the opposite situation. A willing candidate with good background and personality is sought.

Even in politics, it helps to be in the right place at the right time.

SOMETHING NEW was seen along Michigan's roadsides this year which state officials hope will grow considerably in size and gain widespread public recognition.

Started by 23 roadside farm stand operators in eight southeastern counties, the Michigan Certified Farm Markets Assn. originated the use of a rectangular marker to designate high-standard operations.

The farmer members now number 37 in 15 counties scattered around the state, just over a year after establishment of the organization.

IDEA BEHIND the association is to guarantee motorists fresh-picked, top-quality farm produce and discourage borderline or fly-by-night stand operations.

Placement of the association's markers means the stand operators adhere to a rigid code of ethics covering condition of merchandise, price marking, advertising, building cleanliness, and parking facilities.

One of the stipulations of the code requires sufficient advance signs visible from the highway so the motorist has time to slow down, thus preventing a traffic hazard.

"You're like a hermit. You never throw anything away."

That's what mom used to say and maybe she had it figured just about right. Age hasn't improved the situation. We're still reluctant to part with some of our old friends.

Like the torn and tattered ball glove that's in such bad shape it probably couldn't handle a fast ball from our two-year-old Robert. It really would be a shame to part with this after all the hours we spent breaking it in—oiling, shaping, softening with saddle soap, oiling. . .

AND WOULDN'T it be great if this was Robert's first glove? Throw out the old ball glove? Forget it.

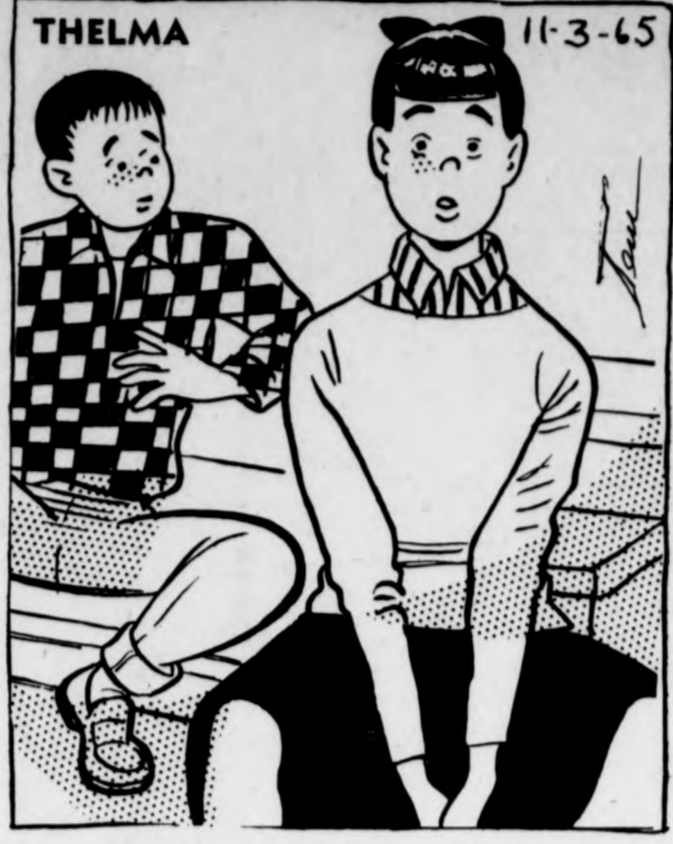

How about cleaning out the clothes closet and sending a load to the Salvation Army? Great idea. But what's going to go?

Certainly not all those old shirts that are so good for working around the house. The medium-size shirts? We'll go on a diet and they'll be OK. Same goes for those pants with the 34-inch waists. It would be admitting defeat forever if we gave those away.

THAT OLD GOLF club that's been kicking around four or five years? Well, there's always that cold winter evening when it might make a good refinishing project. Swell club, great feel. . . Just needs a little work. . . one of these days.

What about those boxes of old school notebooks and papers? Might be something in there we could use, some information that might prove valuable. Sure, there is probably a lot that could be thrown out. But it'll take careful sorting. Good job for a rainy day.

Local postal employees in on new PEP plan

St. Johns Postmaster J. D. Robinson announced last week that all St. Johns Post Office employees will be asked to take part in the new postal efficiency plan announced recently by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski.

"The postal efficiency plan includes comprehensive programs for improving postal service and reducing costs," Robinson said. "It is our way of helping President Johnson fulfill his pledge to provide more effective and economical government services."

SEMI-ANNUAL reports will be made to the President, and realized savings will be reverted to the Treasury or applied to improving postal service.

A local committee will be organized to fulfill the two purposes of the plan: 1. Reduced costs; 2. Improved services.

Ideas generated by individual employees will be taken up by the committee. Accepted ideas will be passed on to Washington for possible application on a national level. Employees whose ideas are adopted nation-wide will be given national awards. The postmaster general will personally oversee the programs.

Postmaster Robinson will be chairman of the local committee to implement PEP.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

Golden needles enhance autumn

HAYDEN PEARSON

The American Larch, often called Tamarack or Hacmatac, is an unusual tree - a deciduous conifer that sheds its leaves or needles each autumn. On brown-gray November days the golden needles paint soft pictures on the lowlands. There are places where the spire-shaped, slender trees contrast with the dark green of hemlocks and spruces. There are spots around lowland edges where the yellow shines above the bare branches of alders and swamp maples.

From dawn through sunset time, the golden hue blends with the browns and grays of the countryside. On a sun-bright day, the color glows and shines; on a gray day the soft hue seems deeper and richer. It is a slender fragile looking tree, and its spired top reminds one of a church steeple - a golden finger pointing the right direction for man's thoughts.

THE LONG, fibrous roots of the tree were used by Indians in making canoes. "Give me of your roots, O tamarack! Of your fibrous roots, O Larchtree!" wrote Longfellow in "Hiawatha." The wood itself is hard and coarse grained and has been extensively used for railroad ties, poles and fence posts.

In very early spring the Larch is dotted with deep red, seed-bearing flowers, standing erect at the tips of branches. The tiny cones in fall are light brown and stay on the tree for a year after the scales have loosened and the seeds have fallen. The Larch is not so important as the pines and spruces as a commercial tree, but these November days its mellow color is welcome accent on the faded landscape.

Extension home economists' plan seen as improvement

Reorganization of the Cooperative Extension Service to make the best use of available resources will mean better service to rural Michigan families. This is the expectation of Mrs. Loa Whitfield, assistant director of the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service.

Mrs. Whitfield, who directs the MSU extension family living education program in the state, firmly believes that the recent shift from a home economics agent in most individual counties to positions in 28 areas within the state will mean better programs. Some 42 home economists have been assigned to serve these 28, multi-county units.

"BECAUSE home economics has so many parts, it's difficult for one person to be an authority on all," she says. "If two home economists serve an area, they have an opportunity to specialize. This means better information for the current needs of families."

Not all areas will have two full-time home economists. In northern Michigan, one staff member may serve two, three or even five counties. But here again, home economists will cooperate between areas to provide better education in family living.

MRS. WHITFIELD adds, "There is merit in having a co-worker. They not only supplement each other, they also stimulate each other."

She explains that area home economists will be involved in state-wide programs to reach rural people with common problems . . . the working mother, the young homemaker, the family with pre-school children. Other programs will be aimed at helping the rural families who have limited resources.

Extension home economists will continue their work with extension family living education study groups. "This is one of the best ways of helping people become aware of the available knowledge," Mrs. Whitfield stressed. She added that people seem to be more interested in education and keeping up with the ever-changing needs of modern life.

LOCAL LEADERS will continue as an important part of the extension program, she continued. "Through the years we've had hundreds of strong, local leaders which made possible the developing and carrying out of our programs. Now those leaders are making it possible for home economists to teach in areas where help is needed most and where leaders are less qualified to do the teaching."

Extension home economists will also provide training in home economics projects for 4-H volunteer leaders. They will teach the subject matter to the leaders who pass it on to the thousands of girls enrolled in 4-H home-making projects each year.

New certified roadside markets popular

Fresh-picked, top quality farm produce is assured Michigan travelers who stop at roadside markets displaying a new "Michigan Certified Farm Market" sign.

The attractive green, white and cream rectangular markers may be displayed only at farm stands adhering to a rigid code of ethics, said Melvin Andrus, marketing specialist with the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Andrus makes regular visits to check the certified roadside markets.

THE MICHIGAN Certified Farm Markets Assn. was formed a little over a year ago by 23 roadside stand operators in eight southeastern Michigan counties. It has grown to 37 members in 15 counties around the state.

Members subscribe to a code that includes offering only high-quality merchandise in good condition, plainly priced and described. They adhere to grade standards and employ honest advertising in their promotion.

MARKET BUILDINGS must be clean and attractive, and adequate parking facilities must be maintained. There must be sufficient advance signs visible from the highway so the motorist has time to slow down, thus preventing a traffic hazard.

The success of the Michigan Certified Farm Market program is indicated by the organization's rapid growth, which seems to indicate the shopper prefers this type of roadside stand.

Members seem to appreciate being checked for compliance with the code of ethics, said Andrus. He indicated members are quick to make corrections in their operations or facilities.

Ready to Get License Plates?

Automobile Club of Michigan license plate clerk JoAnn Labadie and Secretary of State James Hare draw attention to the new procedures for obtaining 1966 auto license plates, which went on sale Monday. For the first time, Michigan motorists must show proof of public liability and property damage insurance or pay a $35 fee to get their license plates.

Need Yule tree permits

With Michigan's $5 1/2 million Christmas tree harvest gaining momentum this month, persons cutting and shipping trees and greens are reminded that a bill of sale is required for all trees and boughs in transit, according to C. A. Boyer, chief of the Plant Industry Division, Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Approved forms for shipment of trees and greens are available through Boyer's office in Lansing and at offices of county agricultural extension directors, the Michigan Department of Conservation, the Michigan State Police, and local sheriffs.

THE CHRISTMAS Greens Law was enacted in 1962 to deter shipment of illegally harvested evergreens. Boyer said it applies to shipment of even single trees throughout the year, with exception of the period between Nov. 30 and Dec. 31. During December, he said, up to two trees per person may be transported without the permit.

Other laws apply to trees with roots attached, according to Boyer. Plants with roots are considered nursery stock, and a nursery inspection must have been made prior to movement. This is to prevent spread of serious plant pests and diseases.

IN ADDITION TO enforcement of the Christmas Greens Law, the division's work involves inspections to assure the public of disease-free sources of trees and plants, as well as protection of Michigan's state tree, the white pine, from the damaging blister rust.

No changes in cross-compliance in '66 farm plan

The US Department of Agriculture does not intend to make any basic changes in cross-compliance features for 1966 farm programs, Frank Light, chairman of Michigan ASC State Committee, said last week.

The new farm program will be effective when the Food and Agriculture Act for 1965 becomes law.

Cross-compliance is an often misunderstood phrase, said Light. Perhaps "offsetting compliance" is better and easier to understand, he said. Actually what is meant is that a producer will not reduce production on one farm and offset it by increasing on another.

TO BE ELIGIBLE for program benefits, wheat and feed grain producers will be asked to comply with program provisions for the particular commodity on the participating farm. In addition, participants will be asked to not exceed their allotments or base acreages, whichever is applicable, on any other farm in which they have an interest.

Participants are also asked to maintain their normal soil conserving acreage. This means that the producer should continue his normal farming pattern without increasing the amount of soil depleting crops, Light pointed out.

Weather is big factor in state peach future

Peach production in Michigan should increase from 33 to 100 per cent between now and 1980, depending on the weather.

A team of Michigan State University scientists points out that Michigan's peach acreage fluctuates more than most other fruit crops, primarily because of cold injury to trees. They note that bearing peach acreage has gradually climbed to 20,300 acres in 1960, but was again reduced to 18,400 by the cold winters of '61-62 and '62-63. Production dropped from an average of 3.4 million bushels during 1958-61 to 1.6 million in 1962 and 2 million in 1963.

IF MICHIGAN continues to produce 4 per cent of the US crop, it should be producing slightly over 4 million bushels of peaches by 1980. But the scientists say that projections of long time production and processing trends indicate that Michigan should be producing approximately 6.7 per cent of the US crop in 1980, or 6.7 million bushels.

A 1980 bearing acreage of 20,000 to 25,000 and average acreage yields of 300 bushels would give Michigan a production of 6 to 7.5 million bushels. But whether Michigan reaches this level of production will depend primarily on the extent of cold injury during the 1970s.

THESE PROJECTIONS were made as part of Project '80, MSU's futuristic look at Michigan's rural potential by 1980.

Michigan's blueberry production will probably increase 25 to 50 per cent between now and 1980, according to Michigan State University scientists.

They say that most of the increase will be due to increased acreage, since little change in yield is expected. Any increase in yield from improved cultural technology will probably be offset by crop loss and damage as growers harvest most of their crops mechanically.

Find less oak wilt disease

Fewer locations than a year ago where oak wilt disease is present were disclosed by the 1965 survey just completed although 11 southern Michigan counties were covered as compared to seven a year ago.

Final figures have not been tabulated by the Michigan Department of Agriculture's Plant Industry Division, but persons conducting the survey say the decrease was readily apparent.

OAK WILT disease surveys were conducted in Cass, Van Buren, St. Joseph, Branch, Hillsdale, Jackson, Washtenaw, Ingham, Calhoun, Kalamazoo and Barry counties. In past surveys the disease, a fatal one to all kinds of oaks, has been found in 22 counties in the southern part of the state.

The disease is not exclusively a Michigan problem. It has been discovered in at least 19 mid-western states. The destructive disease represents a serious threat to the state's oak woodlands. It is estimated 700,000 acres of southern Michigan woodlands are of oak type. The annual value of these products is $4 1/2 million.

OAK WILT disease is easily spotted from the air by a yellowing of the leaves in the tops of oaks. This is caused by a plugging by a fungus of the water conducting vessels within the tree. The fungus is thought to be carried by root grafts. Certain insects and rodents are suspected of carrying the fungus from spore mats that form on diseased trees.

Careful aerial surveys conducted by trained observers are backed up by ground crews who check the locations reported to them. Control consists of girdling diseased trees and those within a 50-foot radius and filling the girdled portion with substances that will destroy the tree rapidly, if possible before spore mats form.

Oak wilt disease has been known since 1929 but was not discovered in Michigan until 1951.

Nowadays fairs are places of fun and amusement, but the first "fair grounds" were neutral sites where men from different tribes could trade without fear for their lives. The fairground was regarded as a holy place, and it was believed the gods would punish anyone who fought or cheated there.

Dairy farm expansion should be well planned

Many farmers who expand their dairy business become concerned that they are not able to meet increased costs immediately. L. H. (Hi) Brown, Michigan State University agricultural economist, says this happens for several reasons.

First in an effort to increase the number of cows in the new enterprise, the farmer does not "cull" as heavily and leaves too many "boarder" cows that are not making a profit. And, the stock of moving the herd into a new environment some times causes average milk production to drop off.

Holstein herds classified for body type

The herds of 11 Registered Holstein breeders in this area have been classified for body type by John H. Stewart of Denver, Colo., an official inspector for the Holstein - Friesian Assn. of America.

The results, as announced Monday, are:

George W. Baird and Sons of DeWitt, 12 animals classified; one "very good," six "good plus" and five "good."

Wesley Erickson of Elsie, 35 animals classified; three very good, 15 good plus and 12 good.

FRANK C. Rivest Jr. of Elsie, 40 animals classified; three very good, 24 good plus and 13 good.

Mark A. Eaton of St. Johns, 32 animals classified; one excellent, two very good, 11 good plus and 16 good.

Leon Miller of St. Johns, 30 animals classified; six very good, 14 good plus and 10 good.

Dana Sue and Kathy Hazle of St. Johns, four animals classified; one very good and three good.

RICHARD Sellman of St. Johns, one animal classified very good.

Donald Witt of St. Johns, six animals classified; two good plus and three good.

John G. Fricke of Middleton, 33 animals classified; five very good, 22 good plus and six good.

Harold Greenhoe of Carson City, 26 animals classified; three very good, 12 good plus and 11 good.

Forrest Troub and Son, 37 animals classified; seven very good, 17 good plus and 12 good.

Ground wheat can replace corn pound-for-pound in rations for growing and finishing hogs when price relationships are favorable, says Robert Hines, Michigan State University animal husbandry specialist.

ON THE other hand, expenses go up rapidly because of interest, payments, insurance and other costs.

"It is easy to underestimate the amount of capital needed for purchases," Brown explained. The dairyman often runs short of long-term financing and has to resort to a lot of short-term credit. High principal payments can "sink the ship," Brown asserted.

"IT TAKES 6 to 10 years to get on top of an expansion and this is why it should come only after a lot of careful planning," Brown commented.

Brown believes the slower way of expansion is perhaps the best for most farmers. Buy the land and get it paid for first, he advises. Land does not depreciate like buildings and machinery, but has a tendency to increase in value.

Brown says the second move is to get good crop production machinery. When the land and machinery are pretty well paid for, the farmer is in a flexible position and can more easily expand the dairy herd and add buildings. He is also in a good situation to get better and cheaper credit.

"THE MAN who plans to be a modern dairyman in 1975 or 1980 must start planning now," Brown asserted. "He should take every opportunity to visit modern dairy units and get ideas. He should spend some time with building layout ideas and build with long-range plans for expansion," Brown believes.

ASC PROGRAM

1965 crop corn loan available through ASCS

W. M. SMITH County ASC Manager

Corn producers who participated in the 1965 feed grain program and wish to store their corn, either in an approved warehouse or in eligible farm storage, can get a loan.

material, 2 per cent or less, 1 cent per bushel; and moisture content 14 per cent or less, 1 cent per bushel. These premiums are in addition to the support rate of $1.08 per bushel.

mature on demand but not later than July 31, 1966.

FOR MORE details on price support loans please contact our office.

The 1965 total county corn support rate is based on national average total support price of $1.25 per bushel, consisting of price support payment of 20 cents per bushel and loan rate of $1.08 per bushel. The 20 cents per bushel price support payment was paid to corn producers with their feed grain diversion payments this fall.

Eligible producers may get a farm-stored loan as soon as corn is harvested and in storage. There used to be a 30-day waiting period for farm stored loans, but now there is no waiting period and a producer can get a loan a few days after making application.

We have new aerial photos of our county. At present we are transferring information from our old photos over to the new photos. We are sending out letters to farmers asking them to come to our office and help outline their permanent field boundaries; this will enable us to compute the field acreage for their farm.

THE COUNTY loan rate for corn grading No. 3 or No. 4 on the factor of test weight only, but otherwise No. 3, except for moisture, is $1.08.

APPLICATIONS are made at our ASCS office with a fee of $3 per application. A corn producer can request a loan on all of his eligible production on one application, even if the corn was produced on different farms that the producer has an interest in; of course the producer must have participated in the feed grain program on all farms to make the corn eligible for a price support loan.

Farmers participating in programs in 1966 will receive an aerial photo copy of their farm which was flown in 1964.

The premiums for corn grading No. 2 or better is 1 cent per bushel; broken corn and foreign

Corn producers who wish a warehouse-stored loan must get a warehouse receipt from the warehouseman where the corn is stored. Be sure you know the warehouse is approved for CCC storage before you store your corn if you want a loan.

Please stop at our office at your earliest convenience to outline field boundaries so we can give you field acreage on your photo copies. We hope to have copies of your farm for you shortly after the first of next year.

Corn loans are available through June 30, 1966, and loans

Corn silage harvesting in mid-December might make some farmers shake their heads in wonder, but mature corn silage is fast gathering boosters, and more research is going into this "new crop."

Mature silage shows promise

Silage made from mature corn chopped and ensiled in late fall or early winter shows promise as a dairy ration. Some dairymen and beef producers are trying it and reporting highly satisfactory results.

lar and 60 per cent in mature silage.

Mature silage was found to contain 5,980 pounds of grain per acre against 5,040 for regular silage. Total digestible nutrient in mature silage was 8,314 pounds per acre. In regular silage it was 7,533.

By waiting an extra month or more after the conventional time for silage cutting, these farmers find that they get more dry matter per ton and a feed that's high in digestible energy.

ALTHOUGH THE green weight per acre decreases from 20 tons of regular silage to 13 tons for the mature silage, the dry matter yield increases a thousand pounds per acre, according to these figures. All but 60 of the 1,000 pounds is calculated to come from an increase in grain yield.

MANY OF those who favor the idea are owners of gas-tight silos, which are able to handle this low-moisture material with a minimum of spoilage. Moisture levels for the silage run 50 per cent or less. However, in one college test, late corn harvested at 54 per cent moisture was successfully stored in a conventional silo.

At the regular corn silage stage, the grain yield is figured at 90 bushels an acre. By allowing the corn to reach complete maturity, the grain yield is 107 bushels—an increase of 17 bushels, with 781 pounds more total digestible nutrient produced per acre.

When making conventional corn silage, moisture content is about 70 per cent. At this stage, the grain is not fully developed and the ears account for a smaller per cent of the plant's total dry weight. Since there is a fair amount of moisture, some nutrients are lost through seepage.

One advantage of delayed silage cutting is that it permits some farmers to utilize roughage for which they might not otherwise have silo space. After a summer filling has been removed, it can be replaced with the late cut. This could save putting up another silo.

SHOWING the feed advantages of mature corn silage are some figures compiled from Cornell University research and the book, Morrison's Feeds and Feeding. These figures show moisture content was 70 per cent for regular silage and 50 per cent for mature silage. Green weight in pounds per acre was 20 tons and 13 tons for regular and mature silage, respectively.

There's little question that corn increases in nutritive value as it matures. Research at several colleges bears this out. Significant advances in digestible energy were shown with each advance in stage of maturity—from pre-silk to full dent. Decreases in digestible protein occurred simultaneously.

Dry matter per acre was 12,000 pounds for regular silage and 13,000 pounds for mature silage. Stalks and leaves contained 44 per cent dry matter in regular silage and 40 per cent in mature silage, while ears showed 56 per cent dry matter in regu-

In checks at Ohio State University, beef cattle fed mature corn silage ate more dry matter and gained slightly faster than those fed less mature silage.

AGRICULTURE in ACTION

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

It was corn, as such as anything, that clattered Khrushchev. He tried—he came to America's great cornlands to carry away the secret of corn, but he just couldn't get it to grow in Russia as it does in Iowa or Michigan. He still blames the seed or soil, or the Russian weather, yet none of these are at fault. It is the political system that is wrong.

Again the national Mechanical Corn Picking Contest, just held on the Victor Knierim farm southeast of Adrian, has pinpointed the vast difference between American and Russian agriculture and revealed once more for the world to see, the so-called "secret" of American productivity.

THERE, THE mechanical monsters moved through the fields at amazing rates. The fat ears were plucked from the drying stalks and, according to the type of machine, either deposited freshly husked into trailer wagons or shelled off as golden grain.

And if you would like to buy one to impress the neighbors, the "combination head" (for both husking and shelling) alone costs around $5,000. When mounted on the self-propelled base machine, the unit price goes to, or over, the $16,000 mark.

HARDEST OF ALL for Khrushchev to understand was that such machines can be developed by private enterprise and without the "helpful" planning of the state. Even more unbelievable, that common farmers—the "peasants" (in his terms) of America, could actually afford to buy such a mechanical monster for use on his own, uncollectivized family-sized farm acres.

Americans are reaping the benefits of this country's farmers' freedom to change, and the speed and magnitude of mechanical change on American farmers is hard even for Americans to believe. Our farmers now own nearly half of the world's tractor population!

BUT THE proof of the pudding—and for that matter, whether it is pudding or potatoes—lies in the per-man production. One Russian farmer feeds himself and only six others, and the food is 75 per cent starch.

One free enterprise American farmer feeds himself and 31 others, and the food is mostly high protein.

Russian food production is now at the level reached in this country back in 1870!

N. F. O. STATE CONVENTION

The N.F.O. State Convention was held at Howell on Saturday, October 16, 1965. Over 400 delegates were present. He stated that agriculture was the biggest business near Howell and he was amazed that agriculture had not organized sooner for a fair price.

introduced and gave a very enlightening speech. He opened by saying that we can achieve our goal in a short time if we get full cooperation from our members. Any organization goes through stages: 1) Ignored. 2) Ridiculed. 3) Vigorous opposition. 4) Recognition and 5) Acceptance. We have passed through the first 3 stages, are in the 4th stage now and are about to step into the final stage. He then explained the meat situation. How 85 per cent of the meat retailed in the U.S. is through the chain stores and 50 per cent through the 5 largest. The biggest one dictates the price. So you have one man who tells the farmers what their production is worth. Each morning at 6:30 the yellow sheet comes out and the chains tell the processor how much they will pay. After that everything is left their cut and what is left the farmer receives. The packers were unable to rescue their own business from the chain stores. But last spring the N.F.O. farmers joined together under marketing arrangements and took the pricing privilege from the chain stores for the first time in years. When the spring work began the chains made one great effort to break the marketing arrangements. The price of hogs dropped $3.00 cwt., the loins were selling wholesale at 63c a lb. and they were retailing them at $1.49 per lb.

John Kuch was re-elected National Director for the State of Michigan. It was stated that Michigan only needs to charter 5 more counties and we will be eligible for our second director.

Richard Sunkin, grain co-ordinator for Ohio, Indiana and Michigan was introduced. He explained how the grain program will work. Anton Peters, grain co-ordinator for Michigan was introduced and he explained how the edible bean program was working.

Ray Auvil, meat co-ordinator was then introduced and he briefly explained his method of knowing how much meat each processor gets from N.F.O. and what grade it is. He stated that the farmer should not be satisfied with the crumbs from the rich man's table, but get up and sit at the table. Some farmers have a few dollars invested and get a few pennies dividends and are so worried about losing them. They have already forgot that these same stockyards were generous last year and gave them 15c for hogs and 17c for steers.

The state of Iowa produces 23 per cent of all the hogs in the U.S. At their state convention they pledged to double their membership by April 1.

At this point a telegram from Rep. Paul Todd was read, wishing the best for our convention and organization.

The Economists accurately predicted the number of hogs which would be marketed and through the years they have been very accurate. Until this year they also had been very accurate in price. This year they predicted hogs at $16 in April, $18 in June, $20 peak in August and then tapering off. But, we had $20 cwt. in April, $26 in June and $25 in August. Many of the economists could not put their finger on the reason for the price increase. Our economists said the price of pork was up due to a shortage in beef. The Chicago Tribune reported that the slaughter of cows was 30 per cent above 1964, heifer kill 11 per cent above 1964 and calf kill 7 per cent above 1964. In order to create a beef shortage the farmers must have kept the steers back for breeding stock. The Kiplinger letter, a very conservative edition, knows where the extra money comes from.

Joe Kurka, State Legislative Representative, gave his report. He reported on the two milk bills in committee. H.B. 2185 is a price posting bill which will raise the price to the consumer and gain nothing for the farmer. It is merely a bill to protect the processors from each other. H.B. 2971 is a commission bill which would regulate the whole industry from the farmer to the consumer. It could net $1.00 per cwt. more for the farmer. Georgia and Alabama have commission bills and the farmers receive $6.60 to $6.70 for milk and the consumer pays 28c or 30c per quart. Tennessee has a federal marketing order and the farmers receive $5.50 cwt. and the consumer also pays 30c a quart for milk.

YOU won't know yourself!

Dressing up is always fun! Whether it's Hallow'en, Mardi Gras, a Hawaiian luau or a masquerade ball, almost everyone of every age enjoys wearing a costume. It makes us feel "different" . . . less restrained and more light-hearted. Perhaps it's a relief to leave our everyday self at home for a while. For many of us, that tired, worried, unhappy self is far from satisfactory but we seem to be stuck with it.

Yet consider this. The burden of self that we carry is unnecessary . . . and we have a standing invitation to lay it down! One of the joys of following Jesus is that we must "leave self behind." There is no place in the Christian life for worry or woe, because the logical sequences of faith in God are contentment and serenity. Yes, the gloomiest pessimists become clear-eyed optimists when they are filled with the light that only God can give.
