

Judge stops future work on Ice Pond

The Ice Pond Drain hassle which has been a matter of serious contention in the Clinton area for more than four years was culminated this week with the issuance of a permanent injunction against the project by Circuit Judge Michael Carland of Owosso.

After hearing several days of testimony last week, Judge Carland declared that "the present Ice Pond Drain is adequate . . . any further work is unnecessary . . . and to allow any further expenditure of public moneys on the project would be a fraud upon the public."

The action came as the result of litigation instituted against the County Drain Commissioner by the City of St. Johns and a group of Bingham township farm property-owners.

JOINED with the City in fighting the drain were Donald Tolles, Fred W. Hansen, Donald I. Puetz, Harry Lance, Joe Zelenka, A. J. Castner, Mrs. Eva L. Rice and Earl Andrus.

The group was represented in court by Attorney Alba F. Wert of St. Johns, Robert Baker, Alma lawyer, pleaded the defendant's case.

As witnesses for the plaintiffs in the suit, Attorney Wert called County Drain Commissioner Dale Chapman; Bingham property-owners Donald Puetz, Donald Tolles, Arthur Castner and Fred Hansen; Loren B. Woodworth, Grand Rapids drainage engineer; Kenneth Anderson, former St. Johns city manager; and Kenneth Greer, St. Johns city assessor.

WERT ARGUED that the estimated $20,000 to $30,000 to be spent in completing the Ice Pond Drain would be wasted. He claimed that the Baker Street interceptor storm sewer installed by the City of St. Johns at a cost of $35,000 had greatly alleviated the necessity for the Ice Pond project.

He also introduced testimony to show that the present outlet for the Ice Pond drain was not equipped to accommodate an additional flow of water.

He pointed out that in the near-clubburst on Sunday, June 21, the area adjacent to the Ice Pond project drained more rapidly than the properties below the drain.

THE ICE POND project was instituted by petition in April of 1960. It became briefly a political issue in the 1960 primary campaign involving Arthur J. Davis, former County Drain Commissioner, and Dale Chapman, the incumbent. Chapman defeated Davis in the primary and was elected to office in November, 1960.

While Chapman has maintained a neutral position in the controversy, he has never actively supported continuance of the project and appeared relieved this week that the hassle was ended.

During the four-year period of litigation two temporary injunctions were issued against the project by the late Circuit Judge Paul R. Cash. One was sought by the City of St. Johns and a later injunction was issued at the request of Prosecuting Attorney Frederick M. Lewis, representing the county Board of Supervisors.

A THIRD temporary injunction was issued Nov. 12, 1963, by Circuit Judge Marvin Salmon of Ingham County. This came on the request of Attorney Wert, who entered the case as a replacement for St. Johns Attorney Leo W. Corkin, who was elevated to the Circuit Court bench last year.

Judge Corkin disqualified himself from sitting on the drain matter because of his previous connection with the case.

Labor contract signed at Saylor-Beall plant

Members of Local No. 925 (UAW-AFL-CIO), St. Johns, and the management of Saylor-Beall Manufacturing Co. here have reached agreement on a three-year labor contract.

Announcement of the successful culmination of two months of negotiations was made jointly by Raymond J. Torpey, Saylor-Beall's plant manager, and Dan Johnson of Ashley, president of the local and chairman of the workers' bargaining committee.

The agreement provides a 29-cent per hour package of wage and fringe benefit increases spread over a three-year period — 15 cents in 1964, 6 cents in 1965 and 8 cents in 1966.

THE AGREEMENT was ratified by 85% of the union's membership.

Workers voted 35-17 last March to recognize the union as their bargaining agent at Saylor-Beall. Negotiations on a contract began in April and continued through a two-month period.

When union personnel at the plant had voted to strike if necessary, no work stoppage was ever seriously threatened and negotiations were concluded in an atmosphere of general good feeling.

ASSISTING Chairman Johnson on the local's bargaining committee were Lon Canum and Lawrence Smith, both of St. Johns. Sitting in with Torpey and representing management was Kenneth Lang, Lansing attorney.

Corp Johnson, regional union representative attached to the Lansing office of the UAW-AFL-CIO, also played a part in the negotiations. Federal and state mediators were in attendance at the bargaining sessions.

OFFICIALS of the local expressed complete satisfaction with the new contract. "We're happy with the outcome of the negotiations," said the local's president, Dan Johnson.

Cobb switches to State Senate race

State Rep. Andrew W. Cobb (R-Elsie), victim of a Democratic gerrymander in legislative redistricting ordered by the Supreme Court, has decided to seek the Republican nomination for State Senator in the 30th senatorial district.

Cobb's withdrawal from the race for State Representative leaves incumbent Rep. Lester J. Allen (R-Ithaca) unopposed for nomination in the new meandering 88th district which snakes 100 miles north from Grand Ledge, through parts of Clinton, all of Gratiot and up to and including the City of Coleman in Midland county.

THE NEW 30th senatorial district covers an area in which Rep. Cobb is better known. It includes all of Clinton, Gratiot and Shiawassee counties; major portions of Eaton and Montcalm counties, plus Locke and Williamston Townships of Ingham County.

Other announced candidates for Senator in the district are incumbent Sen. Emil Lockwood (R-St. Louis), and Lamont Maier, former chairman of the Shiawassee County Board of Supervisors.

REP. COBB is a veteran of 16 years of service in the House. He was first elected to fill an unexpired term as State Representative from Clinton County.

ANDREW W. COBB

He has served as chairman of the Agriculture Committee of the House and has been a member of such other committees as Military and Veterans' Affairs, Elections, Revision and Amendment of the Constitution, Retirement and the Legislative Audit Commission.

Cobb and his wife, Jean, are graduates of Michigan State University and live on a dairy farm near Elsie which he owns and operates in partnership with his oldest son.

His civic and community activities include president of the Elsie Local of the Michigan Milk Producers Association.

Cancer unit gets $11,027

Clinton county people gave $11,027.98 for cancer in the 1964 campaign. Final figures for the May drive were released this week by Dr. R. L. Wohlers of St. Johns, Cancer Crusade chairman.

The total was the highest ever. "Our dedicated workers who went all-out to obtain this amount to help fight this dread disease deserve the credit for such splendid results," said Miss Hazel Williams, County Chairman of Volunteer Activities for the local cancer unit.

A total of $2,372.77 was contributed in the City of St. Johns. DeWitt township and village gave $1,562.47. Other county areas and their contribution totals include:

BATH AND Park Lake $172.47; Bengal $219.30; Bingham $374.72; Dallas and Fowler $574.40; Duplain and Elsie $767.79; Eagle $822.38; Essex and Maple Rapids $406.50; Greenbush $289.35.

Lebanon $118; Olive $336.66; Ovid and Ovid village $1,000.45; Riley $231.24; Victor $280; Watertown $748.97; Westphalia $650.50.

8 escape harm in 2-car crash

Eight persons were involved in a two-car crash Friday at M-21 and Tallman Road. None was injured.

Sheriff's Deputy Hilary Hafner, who investigated, said a car driven by Richard Priest, 48, of Maple Rapids, traveling east on M-21, had stopped to wait for oncoming traffic to clear before turning north on Tallman.

A CAR driven by Claude R. Fox, 41, of Muskegon, struck Priest's car in the rear.

Van Priest, 19, was a passenger in Priest's car. In Fox's car were his wife, Dorothy, 36, and their children, Jeffery, 2, Claudia, 13, Cheryl, 11, and Doree, 6.

School will start (yawn) earlier now

Mothers will have to get their youngsters up a little earlier for school next fall.

The St. Johns board of education, in a year-end meeting last Wednesday, decided to start school at 8:30 a.m. for pupils in kindergarten through sixth grades. In the past they have started at 8:45.

Lancaster explained that because of class schedules, teachers felt there was not enough time in the day to properly cover necessary material. It was felt the additional 15 minutes would do the job.

Car hits cow

Wendell J. Blemaster, 36, of Maple Rapids, reported to the sheriff's office Thursday that he had struck a cow the night before on Forest Hill Road north of Kinley Road.

Blemaster said he was traveling north and the cow came out from a ditch on the east side. The cow was later shot.

Doug Hankey hoists up for all to see the trophy he won Sunday in becoming the state amateur golf champion. His parents, Mr and Mrs Robert Hankey, stand with him in front of a sign made by country club members. Mrs Hankey holds gold cuff links and a medal which her son also won.

Doug Hankey wins state amateur golf title at Charlevoix

Doug Hankey, determined to make a good showing even if defeated, won the Michigan Amateur Golf championship Sunday when he found he couldn't make a bad mistake at Charlevoix.

Hankey, at 19 became the youngest amateur titlist since Chuck Kocsis turned the trick at the age of 17 back in 1930.

Hankey, on the road to the championship, had to beat out several former champions, and in the semi-finals Sunday morning he dumped defending champion Bud Stevens of Detroit 2 and 1.

In the afternoon finals against Steve Uzelac of Detroit, he kept his game on a steady pace while Uzelac was having trouble on the back nine with four straight bogies.

THE MATCH ended when they halved the 14th hole both with bogie 4's.

"I went up there with the idea of giving everybody a run for it," Hankey said. "I didn't think I'd get this far. But my game stayed together and I didn't make mistakes."

"We checked out of our motel each morning, figuring I'd be eliminated. But nobody was playing better than I was, and I beat them."

AS HANKEY proceeded toward the championship, a good sized cheering section developed for him.

Buddy Barry Dean, also of St. Johns, qualified for match play but lost his first-round match with Tom Draper of Birmingham, 4 and 3. "I was unhappy, because Draper had to shoot under par to beat me, and I played a good game," Dean said.

BILL PAUTKE, sales manager at Saylor-Beall Manufacturing Co., also entered the tournament, but his 165 score for 36 holes was too high to earn him a berth among the 64 qualifiers for match play.

Dean, after his first-round match play loss, stayed on to team with Bob Neller of Walnut Hills Country Club at Lansing to win second place in the best-ball tournament with a four under par 68. Dean fired a two under par 70 actual.

HE ALSO caddied for Hankey in the final rounds. The two longtime friends had played golf for 16 years, together for about 10 years, and they had agreed earlier that if one was eliminated, he would caddy for the other.

"Doug's chipping and putting were superb all week," Dean said of Hankey's game.

"JUST BEFORE match play," Hankey revealed, "I changed my putting stance, and it helped me out a great deal on short putts."

It was the putting that got him off and away against Uzelac in the finals. He ran in a 30-foot birdie putt on the first hole, exploded from a trap and made a two-foot par putt on the second and dropped a 20-foot birdie on the third to win all three holes.

HANKEY THEN bogied three holes, and Uzelac was only one down at the turn. But while Uzelac bogied the next five holes, Hankey played par golf to sew up the championship.

Against Stevens in the semi-finals, Hankey birdied the seventh to 10th holes, a section that (See HANKEY Page 2)

ROBERT FORBES

State police said the car, driven by Forbes, ran off the right side of the east-bound lane for 500 feet and struck the bank of a drainage ditch.

MR FORBES' passenger was John Andrew May, 21, of R-2

Portland. Both were dead at the scene.

The two were employed at Snowden Construction Co. at Trenton and were on their way to work on a sod laying project near Howell. The accident occurred at 5:20 a.m. and Mr Forbes apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

MR FORBES was born May 27, 1946, at Evart, Mich., the son of Mr and Mrs Louis Forbes. He lived most of his life in the St. Johns area and attended Rodney B. Wilson High School in St. Johns.

Surviving are his parents; three brothers, Orvin of Grass Lake, Larry of St. Johns and Louis Jr. at home; six sisters, Mrs Lynda (Donald) McLeod of Grand Rapids, and Jean, Ellen, Susan, Penny and Amy at home; and his grandparents, Mr and Mrs James Ferguson of Barryton and Mrs Louisa Forbes of Evart.

Funeral services will be Thursday at 2 p.m. at the Hoag Funeral Home, the Rev Duane Brewbaker of the Church of God officiating. Burial will be in South Bingham Cemetery.

Union and Saylor-Beall Reach Agreement

Two months of negotiation between the new UAW-AFL-CIO union and management of Saylor-Beall Manufacturing Co. was culminated last week when agreement was reached on a three-year contract. Left to right in the picture above are Russell V. Allman, managing partner of the firm; Raymond J. ## GOP will elect 73 delegates at primary Petitions are in circulation this week in Clinton County election precincts for nomination of delegates to the Republican county convention.

According to the terms of a new Michigan statute, names of delegate nominees for each precinct are to appear on the August primary election ballot. Previously, delegates in Clinton County have been chosen by write-in votes.

CANDIDATES FOR delegate posts must be qualified electors. To get their names on the ballot, they must file nominating petitions bearing the names of 15 to 20 voters in their precinct. Petitions must be filed with County Clerk Paul Wakefield on or before Tuesday July 1.

County Republicans will choose 73 delegates at the primary. Ink White, GOP county chairman, said the allocation was based on one delegate for each 100 votes cast for the Republican candidate for Secretary of State at the November, 1962, election.

THE allocation of delegates for the county's 25 election precincts is as follows:

Bath 1, two; Bath 2, two; Bengal, two; Bingham, three; Dallas, four; DeWitt 1, three; DeWitt 2, two; DeWitt 3, two; DeWitt 4, one; DeWitt 5, three; Eagle, three; Essex, three.

Greenbush, three; Lebanon, one; Olive, three; Ovid 1, three; Ovid 2, three; Riley, two; Victor, two; Watertown 1, two; Watertown 2, two; Westphalia, three; St. Johns 1, seven; and St. Johns 2, seven.

Post office closed on 4th

The St. Johns Post Office will be closed all day Saturday in observance of the Fourth of July. Postmaster J. D. Robinson announced this week.

Out-of-town mail will be dispatched on regular holiday schedules.

The office will be open Friday as usual, and all deliveries will be made on the normal weekday schedule.

15 names on ballot for Elsie-Ovid election

Fifteen persons have filed petitions for places on the new Elsie-Ovid school board. The deadline for filing was last Wednesday.

Election of the board and voting on three other matters will be July 24.

FIVE PERSONS are seeking two seats for four-year terms. They are Stanley Loznak, Don Craig, Jack Schwark, Joe Kurka III and Gordon Tubbs.

Filing petitions for three-year terms were Francis Johnson, Raymond Stewart, John Sincropl and Merle H. Green. Only two will be elected.

SEEKING THE two seats for a two-year term are Harold Green, Ellsworth Cook and Robert Cornell.

Aspirants for a one-year term are Robert Hubbard, Frank Rivest Jr. and Kenneth Austin. Only one will be elected.

HAROLD Green, Tubbs, Hubbard and Craig were members of the old Ovid board, while Rivest, Loznak, Cook and Stewart were on the Elsie board. Loznak, Harold Green, Stewart, Johnson, Cook and Craig served on the interim board appointed the first of last month by the county boards of education of Clinton, Shiawassee, Gratiot and Saginaw counties.

Because of the long-range nature in setting up the new district, the terms of office of the new board will run longer than they will after the new district has been operating.

The one-year term will expire June 30, 1966. The two-year term will end in 1967, the three-year term in 1968 and the four-year term in 1969, again all on June 30.

ALSO TO BE voted on are three other matters. In one, voters will be asked to grant permission to transport resident students. Robert Beauchamp, school superintendent at Ovid, pointed out that voters previously had granted this permission in the separate Elsie and Ovid school districts, but when the districts merged, the permission did not automatically transfer.

Therefore, Beauchamp said, the electorate must grant permission to the merged district to transport students in the district. That permission would stand until taken away by the electorate.

ANOTHER measure to be decided by voters will be the board's request for an additional two mills a year for three years for operational expenses.

A third measure to be voted on would set salaries for board members. The proposition calls for salaries of $100 a year to the president and four trustees, $200 a year to the secretary and $300 a year to the treasurer.

IF APPROVED, the salaries would stand until changed by the electorate. The board would not have the power to change them.

Voting precincts will encomwhich Judge Carland made permanent with his order this week.

THE ICE Pond drain originates in the northeast section of St. Johns, flows northerly under the Grand Trunk railroad and joins the Upton Drain at Walker Road. The Upton flows into Hayward Creek and finally into the Maple River.

Attorney Wert introduced testimony in court last week to show that a clean-out of the Upton Drain, petitioned in 1959, had actually proceeded south some two, 200 feet into the Ice Pond area.

There is, Wert claimed, a three-foot free fall from the tile at the end of the Ice Pond drain into the deepened ditch. He said water from the Ice Pond drain runs too fast at flood times for the 48-inch tube under Walker road to accommodate.

City brush pick-up schedule clarified

St. Johns city officials are anxious that local residents understand that city crews make their regular pick-ups of brush left at the curb only on the last Friday of each month.

Occasionally on rainy days the city crew is also available for brush pick-up, says City Assessor Kenneth Greer. Small accumulations of brush are picked up by the Mead Dray Service on their weekly rounds if properly tied, says Greer.

pass each of the old districts. All who previously voted in the Elsie district will vote at Precinct one in the Elsie High School gym. Precinct two will be the entire old Ovid school district, and the polling place will be the Ovid High School gym.

VOTING PLACES will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. July 24. In order to vote, residents must have registered with their township clerk—not village clerks—by last Wednesday, June 24.

Hankey

Stevens had played in 10 under par up to the semi-finals. But Stevens managed only one birdie in that span.

HANKEY said his chip shot on the 16th hole, when he put the ball a foot from the cup from 20 yards out, was probably the turning point. He won the hole when Stevens three-putted.

A mental error in the quarter-final match against Cal Cooke of Grosse Ile almost cost him the title.

ON THE 16th hole, Hankey landed on the apron of the green, in line with Cooke's shot. Cooke asked him to mark his ball.

"But I had a towel around my neck and was wiping my forehead. Without even realizing it, I had the ball in the towel," Hankey said.

Cooke called the hole, because a player isn't allowed to clean his ball until he has reached the putting surface.

THAT EVENED the match, and both players bogied the last two holes. But on the 19th and deciding one, Cooke far overshot the green, and Hankey was able to win the match.

The tournament started last Wednesday, and Hankey and Dean started their qualifying rounds at 7 a.m. that morning in 45-degree, windy weather. But Hankey fired two rounds of 77 for a 156 score, and Dean qualified with a 78 and a 77 for a 157.

DEAN'S FIRST round was a good one, but he lost. Hankey met a good friend, Norm Waara of Portland and beat him 3 and 2. Friday afternoon he downed an experienced Dr. Robert Corley of Jackson 4 and 2.

Saturday he extended his streak in a close match, beating Harold Brink of Grand Rapids 2 up. Then he beat Cooke and Stevens to reach the finals.

Hankey was the 1961 Class B high school medalist and runner-up in 1962. His father, Robert Hankey, is pro-manager at the Clinton County Country Club.

WHEN Hankey won the tournament, word spread fast around St. Johns, and when he and Dean returned by car to the country club shortly after 8:30 p.m. a crowd of about 50 members was on hand for a welcoming reception.

What does the champion do now? Both Hankey and Dean will play in the best-ball tournament at Alma in mid-July, and they will defend their best-ball title at the country club July 25 against many of the players who were in the state amateur tourney.

HANKEY IS an automatic qualifier for the Michigan Open Golf Tournament later this summer, and Dean is planning on trying to qualify.

Michigan has 13,432 manufacturing establishments with 809,590 employees.

Doctor treats pair after rural collision

Two rural St. Johns men were treated at a doctor's office here following the collision of their cars on Kinley Road shortly after noon Monday.

Gerald L. Becker, 20, and James S. Snyder, 25, both of R-2, St. Johns, were drivers of the cars involved.

ACCORDING TO Deputy Sheriff Hilary Hafner, Snyder was traveling east and swerved into the left lane of Kinley road to avoid hitting a cat.

He then saw Becker's car approaching and started to swerve back, but his and Becker's car collided in the center of the road after Becker had skidded in trying to stop.

THE ACCIDENT occurred a half mile west of US-27 about 12:30 p.m.

Snyder was ticketed for failure to yield right-of-way.

Crash shakes up passenger

Two cars were involved in an accident early Saturday morning on US-27 just south of Townsend Road.

According to the sheriff's office, an auto driven by Howard Crawford, 60, of 423 W. Center Street, Ithaca, went through a barricade on the highway, and flying gravel hit a car driven by Harold H. Fisher, 36, of Lincoln, which then went onto the shoulder.

A PASSENGER in Fisher's car, Barbara Brownell, 29, of 3411 Piper Road, Lansing, was taken to Clinton Memorial Hospital for a medical check and advised to see her family doctor the next day.

Crawford was ticketed by Deputy Gaylord Foote for failure to have his car under control. Crawford was traveling north and Fisher south at the time of the accident about 1:10 a.m. Saturday.

Abrams returns from C-C Seminar

THE seminar, sponsored by the United States Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with MSU, drew 1,000 persons from all over the nation.

ABRAMS SAID the seminars went into such subjects as economics, industrial development and motivations in addition to a rigid daytime agenda.

2 hurt slightly in Sunday crash

A one-car accident early Sunday morning injured two persons, neither seriously, on DeWitt Road north of Kinley Road.

A car driven by Ronald W. Every, 19, of 105 Floral Avenue, ran into a ditch and rolled over. Every was taken to Clinton Memorial Hospital for treatment, and a passenger, Claudette Decker, 16, also of St. Johns, was taken to Clinton Memorial Hospital by an unidentified person, according to the sheriff's office.

To begin kids' story hour

A story hour for children of kindergarten through second grade will be held July 7 in the children's room at the Library. It will be held each Tuesday afternoon during July from 3 to 4 o'clock. Only children of the age group described are asked to attend as too great a range of ages makes it difficult for the story teller.

The story-teller-lady will read stories, tell stories, and have stories dramatized for these children. She also promises a nice treat for the group at the end of the four weeks.

Mrs June Peel served as matron of honor. She wore a ballerina length gown of pink satin brocade with a matching veil.

THE bridesmaids, Miss Dawn Warren and Miss Sharon Thompson, wore ballerina length gowns of blue brocade satin with matching veils and carried pink and white mums.

Plan 6 games a day in summer baseball

The summer recreation baseball program got under way this week, and a full schedule of games is set up to run through Aug. 18 in leagues for three different age groups.

The schedule, released last week by Baseball Program Director William Smiley, calls for two games each weekday in each league.

GAMES WILL be played at 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. Practice sessions will be held during the afternoons from 1 to 4.

Two hundred fifty-five boys have signed up for the program, and Smiley promised all boys will play in each game. Boys will not be removed from a team by going on vacation, but Smiley said that if he continually misses for no reason, or if he acts in an unsportsmanlike manner even after being warned, he will be removed.

BOYS 8 to 10 years of age have been assigned to one of nine Little League teams. Each team will play 16 games. There are 154 boys involved here.

Boys aged 11 to 12 will play in the Pony League and will have 24 games. There are only five teams in this league, consisting of 56 boys.

FORTY-FIVE boys between the ages of 13 and 15 will play in the Midget League and are scheduled for 30 games. There are only four teams in this age bracket.

Teams in the 8 through 12 age bracket will play under National Little League rules and will play five-inning games. Boys 13 to 15 will play National Pony League rules and six inning games.

TEAMS WITH less than six boys showing up for a game must forfeit, Smiley said. Boys arriving late may begin play at the start of the next inning.

"We have made an attempt to even up the teams," Smiley said, "but we are certain that one team in each league will have more success than the others."

BATTING order for each team will be as the boys are listed in the following rosters. Smiley said the order would be reversed later in the season. This is to assure all boys get equal opportunities to bat.

'We'll move fast' with new platform: conservation chief

With the promise that "we're going to move ahead fast now," Director Ralph A. MacMullan last week previewed the Conservation Department's new platform for progress during the 27th annual meeting of the Michigan Conservation Clubs in Kalamazoo.

MacMullan hit upon 10 major "planks" as the framework for meeting the state's steadily changing needs in resource management.

REORGANIZATION. Leading off with the Department's reorganization, he explained, "We have moved from a more cumbersome structure to one designed to make possible more rapid shifts into new programs, more integrated planning, and a more concentrated use of the talents of our employees."

Personnel, MacMullan noted a serious lack of "new blood" in the Department's ranks and added that recruiting efforts will be stepped up to seek out young men and women, with emphasis upon filling field positions.

PLANNING and Programs. The department's third "plank" involves a soul-searching look at all plans and programs now in motion to see if and how they measure up to modern-day demands. From this, policy statements will be drawn up to chart the course of future action.

Legislation and Laws. The director pointed out that some conservation goals can only be reached by the way of new legislation. To this end, the department will arm each legislator with more information about its needs.

Steps must also be taken to overhaul Michigan's existing conservation laws which have grown in a somewhat disorderly way, according to MacMullan. "The department stands ready and willing to work with the Legislature in simplifying these laws and passing new ones," he stressed.

FEDERAL AID. With the state's conservation program bogged down by money problems in recent years, MacMullan reported the department is going to make every effort to see that Michigan receives its fair share of federal aid which is available for resource management.

Also, to avoid duplication of efforts and overcome shortcomings in coordination, the department is going to take a lead role in helping shape other federal programs before they are put into effect.

FINANCES. In other area of finances, MacMullan said the hunter and fisherman have borne the burden of many conservation programs too long.

"We are going to push actively in the months and years ahead to find new sources of funds for conservation work," he vowed. "One of these will be a system of cost-sharing with local communities."

WATER problems. The department's new platform will place high priority on coming to grips with the state's rapidly growing water problems.

"We are losing the battle to save our inland shorelines from uncontrolled dredging and filling," he reported. "With so much at stake, you can be sure the department will not give an inch in this fight. However, we can't hope to bring order out of confusion until a set of legal tools is provided which will regulate shoreline changes."

RECREATION. Instead of meeting recreational needs as they arise, efforts will be increased to develop big, ranging studies and programs to place Michigan ahead of its mushrooming leisure-time demands.

Pioneering new fields. Spurred by the ever-widening circle of responsibilities, the department will probe into "a ranging variety of social studies, the use of computers, new methods of communication, deep analysis of pesticide problems, and many other fields."

SELLING THE program. The department's entire platform will be bolted to an accelerated effort of "selling" each of these "planks" to the people of Michigan, MacMullan explained.

He went on to say, "We are going to place much greater emphasis on our information and education programs... on getting down to pay dirt... to the grass roots opinions which ultimately make or break our resource programs throughout the state."

Ashley man makes his ideas pay off

William Lator of rural Ashley is an idea man, and he makes it pay.

He farms 40 acres near Ashley, but he works also for Oldsmobile at Lansing, and his suggestions to the company on improvements in assembly line techniques has made him $13,825 in the last nine years.

HIS LATEST two ideas netted him $6,850, the largest award ever made by Oldsmobile. A check for $6,000 was presented him for his new method of assembling fender moldings. An additional $850 award went to Lator for an idea involving pre-assembly of bolts and lock washers.

TO CHEER ON . . .

Allan Smith tops field of 55 on hot afternoon

Undaunted by heat, Allan Smith, son of Mr and Mrs Aloysius Smith of Westphalia, drove his soap box car to the Clinton County Soap Box Derby championship Sunday in St. Johns.

Allan, 13, thereby won a $500 savings bond and an all-expense-paid trip Aug. 15 to Akron, Ohio, for the National Soap Box Derby championships.

HE ALSO received a trophy, and his name will be engraved on the John Lynam Memorial trophy, to be placed in his school until next year's derby.

Race officials estimated about 6,000 people were on the street at the beginning of the afternoon of racing, but as boys were eliminated and as the heat of the day (over 90 degrees) built up, the crowd slimmed down.

ALLAN RACED seven times in his "Red Flame" car, and was beaten once in the third heat. But he came back to win the championship.

His mother said Monday that Allan did not realize he had won until adult helpers and friends lifted him from his car, placed him in a convertible next to Olympic gold medal winner Terry McDermott and told him he was going to Akron.

MRS SMITH said the family was up near the start of the 975-foot course. She said they saw their son cross the line first but did not realize it was the championship heat.

Allan had worked off and on for about two months on his car, which weighed 148 pounds with him in it—two pounds under the limit.

FINISHING second was Robert Schaefer, and third place winner was Gary Roach, both also of Westphalia. Roger won a movie camera and Gary a bicycle.

Sixteen boys won prizes donated by St. Johns merchants. Finishing fourth through 16th, and their prizes, were: Dean Patterson, wrist watch; Mike Davidson, bicycle; Tom Rademacher, wrist watch; Kim Bancroft, transistor radio; Steve Glance, bicycle; Donald Pung, Kodak camera; Frederick Epkey, transistor radio; David Feldpausch, model gas airplane; Nate Ellis, spinning rod and reel; Junior Schlarf, fielder's glove; Gary Taylor, model destroyer; Norman Love, sweater; and Richard Bishop, shirt and slacks.

PRIZES WERE also awarded to Terry Salters for best brakes, Terry Torpey for best upholstery; Tom Rademacher for best construction; and Allen Harris for best design.

Bernard Feldpausch, director of the derby, said only 55 boys were in the race, five others having missed it because of the change in dates. The race was rained out on its original date of June 21.

CARS OF THE winners of each heat were transported up Brush street back to the top of the Clinton avenue hill by a fleet of six pick up trucks.

Feldpausch said between 200 and 300 persons were involved in the planning and carrying out of the derby events.

HANDLING THE running of the 93 heats were race directors Bob Prowant and Bob Cole. In charge of the pre-race parade which drew much applause were Leon Brewbaker and Fred Meyers.

Preceding the downtown activities, two parachutists from the Aeronauts Show Team out of Dickinson Airport jumped into the city park from a height of about 7,000 feet shortly after 1 p.m. Several hundred spectators gathered at the park to watch. The chutists landed within 30 feet of their mark.

Never give up! — McDermott says

"I tried the first time, and I didn't make it, but I came back and I won."

It was Terry McDermott speaking, and 55 young boys who had raced their soap box cars earlier in the day listened attentively as the Olympic gold medal winner urged them never to give up.

"SOMEONE HAS TO lose," McDermott said, "but the real winner is the person who can lose and still come back to try again. I did, and with God's help, I'm sure, I won."

"And you don't have to be from a big town to be a big winner."

McDERMOTT, WHO presented an autographed program to each of the race participants during the later awards ceremony, praised the St. Johns program and urged that the derby be continued, because "things like this help to build our youngsters into better athletes and better people."

"And we need those kind of people."

OTHER SPEAKERS also praised the race contestants. Bill McCarthy, president of the Jaycees, told them that "regardless when whether you won or lost, you have gained a great deal from it. By your ability to build these cars, you have all shown you are champs."

Larry Sexton of Sealed Power told them they had used their talents of the fullest and that "you are a source of great pride to your parents. You are all winners for what you have done, because you have shown you can follow through on a job you started."

JACK IRISH OF Federal Mogul told the boys to appreciate those people who made the race possible. He also said that "the fact you went ahead though knowing you might not win will make you a winner later in life. Always keep fighting and keep an eye on the finish line."

Some 200 persons attended the chicken dinner in honor of the boys at the VFW Hall following the race.

'Cheating Hart' rolls to oil can win

The oil can trophy this year went to Kermit Hart of Federal-Mogul who drove his racer to victory over Lawrence Sexton and Robert Gay.

Hart, who got away from the starting line with some assistance, turned on his "jet" engine to win the race by about five or six car lengths.

"WE OWE our success," he told the crowd afterward, "to hard work, long hours and the fact we cheated."

BOYS MARCH in a group during parade that preceded race. Leading the way is starter Jim Light.

BERNARD NELLER (left) waves the flag to bring in two racers at the end of one of the 93 heats in the derby.

The high court's wallop to outstate Michigan

The Michigan Supreme Court decision on apportionment of state House and Senate districts stinks to high heaven. It is purely partisan and the bewildering violation of county and municipal lines can't be justified by any stretch of the "one man-one vote" principle.

Clinton was badly treated, but our situation is no worse than that of a score of other state areas. The Austin-Kleiner plan, favored by the high court, was quite obviously designed to pit veteran Republicans against each other and leave vacuums in outstate areas that might go Democratic.

This is the reason for the strange and meandering districts that fit together like a jigsaw puzzle.

HOWEVER objectively you look at the situation, it's a mess and a shameful trespass upon the rights of the outstate minority. We're at a loss to explain how Chief Justice Tom Kavanagh, the former Carson City lawyer, could be a party to leadership in throwing such a gut punch at his old neighbors.

We long ago conceded that rural domination of the Michigan legislature is a thing of the past. But we believe that outstate counties don't have to be chopped up to achieve this goal.

We're not lawyers, but we can't envision that the recent US Supreme Court apportionment ruling contemplated any such abortion as the Michigan court has visited upon us. The people are still supreme and we hope they have an opportunity to speak out through the referendum process.

Goldwater gets a dirty deal from news media

Readers of this page know by now that the editor is no Goldwater partisan. But he tries to be a reasonable guy and he believes most sincerely in fair play.

This is why the rotten treatment accorded to the Arizona Senator by many segments of the news media irks us.

You'd think from the reams of copy turned out by the metropolitan columnists and the snide remarks of radio and TV commentators that Goldwater was some kind of disloyal citizen.

AGREE WITH him or not, fair-minded people must concede that Barry Goldwater is an accomplished, intelligent, attractive fellow who has served his country well. He doesn't deserve the castigation he regularly receives at the hands of the smarties who take their missions so seriously.

It's our personal feeling that continuation of this kind of thing will eventually boomerang to the Senator's benefit at the coming convention and, quite possibly, in the November election if he wins the nomination.

Saylor-Beall settlement good news for our town

Good news for the Clinton area this week is word of an amicable settlement between labor and management at Saylor-Beall Manufacturing Co. in St. Johns.

Both union and company representatives appear to be reasonably satisfied with the results of their two months of negotiations. There have been no work stoppages and differences that previously existed seem to be ironed out for at least the three-year period of the contract.

WE JOIN OTHERS in our congratulations to both sides for getting together in a friendly way to discuss their problems.

Saylor-Beall continues to face tough competition in the air compressor field and only through the enlightened cooperation of workers and management can the company sell its product and prosper in today's market.

RAMBLIN' with Rink

BY LOWELL G. RINKER

A person who doesn't like coffee (such as myself) doesn't enjoy drinking it unless there are interesting people with him making interesting conversation. Though a non-drinker, I have had several enjoyable cups of coffee with several enjoyable groups of people since arriving in St. Johns.

Out of one of these, I feel, could come a new phase of the English language which could have worldwide importance. Allow me to explain.

DURING A coffee conversation with Percy Abrams, Joe VanRooyen and Charles Barnes, one of the topics was the English language and how hard it is to understand, even for those who know no other language. This set me to thinking, and I have come up with the Rinker Adjective Rating System which I should like to introduce to you.

The only confusing thing about this is that the basis of the system is the adverb, not the adjective. You will notice that in the English language there are certain adverbs which are meaningless, though used much of the time. For instance: "very."

WE OFTEN say a woman is "very pretty" or that a meal is "very good." But actually, just how pretty is "very pretty," or how good is "very good?"

Now at long last comes the answer scholars and scientists have been searching decades for. My Adjective Rating System will do away with the adjective-modifying adverb entirely and will make child's play out of the once difficult English language.

Once it catches on.

ADVERBS SUCH as "very" and "extremely" will be thrown out of the dictionary. Instead all adjectives will receive rating potentials of 25.

Therefore, if you mean a dinner is scrumptious or out of this world when you say it is "very good," you really mean it is "25 good." Or, the food might be just "16 good." Understand?

JUST THINK. No longer will there be questions about the exact degree of meaning when you use an adjective. People will KNOW, but because you use the Adjective Rating System.

This is also in keeping with the time. What with our all-numbering phone dialing, ZIP codes, credit card numbers, serial numbers, etc., it seems time for the English language, too, to use numbers to advantage.

With a little study, I'm sure you will find that this is a 25 good system and its author is a 25 mental case.

Things Worth While

BY W. E. DOBSON

It's nice to know at the close of the day, Of some little good you have done, Though you added not much to the sum total of The progress of life neath the sun; To feel that somehow and in some tiny way, There were steps toward a far distant goal, There's a satisfied air and a freedom from care, If you added your bit to the whole.

It's nice to know as you journeyed among The friends that you met by the way, That a smile or a hand-clasp you offered in trade, May have brightened an else gloomy day; That the contacts you made as you toiled afield Marked you thoroughbred thru' and thru', That somebody's day holds a red letter mark Because of a meeting with you!

It's nice to know in the game that you played That you gave of your best to the cause, Though others scored more of the hits or the runs, Or rated the greater applause; That teamwork was present in all that you did That the effort you made was sincere, Though the critics might pan you still played the man, Nor gave ground to panic or fear.

It's nice to know in the sunset's glow, When life's longer shadows fall, That—errors not withstanding, You played a good game of ball; That you did your bit in some worthy cause That you had a part in the fun, And with honest pride to know inside, Some part of a job well done!

Democrat colleague praises Harvey

Democrat Congresswoman Martha Griffiths of Detroit demonstrated surprising nonpartisanship last Thursday when she told me our 8th district US Representative Jim Harvey is one of the ablest members of the Michigan delegation in the House.

She's real high on Jim and thinks he got a raw deal in the recent redistricting which makes him run for reelection in an area where he is pretty much a stranger. Harvey would be in a position to be chairman of the Banking and Currency committee in the House if and when the Republicans return to power, Mrs Griffiths says.

WE DREW Martha as a seatmate on a crowded plane en route from Washington to Detroit last Thursday. After staring at each other with some embarrassment for a second or two, we identified ourselves and then embarked on a political discussion that continued all the way to Detroit's Metro airport.

Martha, whose age I'd guess on the sunny side of 50, is a native of the Missouri Ozarks who took her law degree at the University of Michigan. Both she and her husband are attorneys and at one time were associated in practice with former Gov. Williams.

Before she went to Congress she was a Judge in the Detroit Recorder's Court and served in the Michigan House of Representatives. She's a pleasant, intelligent gal the likes of whom I'd like to see more of in our Congress.

GOING TO Washington from St. Johns on a one-day business trip is no great trick these days. You can leave here at 6 a.m. and be back comfortably by 8:30 p.m.

I was on a Northwest Orient flight, leaving Detroit at 8:15 a.m., and returned via the same airline, reaching Detroit at 6:30 p.m. Since you gain an hour in the eastward flight, you can get in a pretty full day in the nation's capital. Both breakfast and supper are served in flight.

It was my first experience with an airline breakfast and I was pleasantly surprised to find properly poached eggs atop a slice of ham and toasted English muffins. How caterers keep the eggs warm and soft for what must be a half-hour period between kitchen and serving is a mystery to me.

IN THE WAY of incidental intelligence, I can report that the Johnson girls and their friends sunbathe atop the roof of the White House.

They've moved a couple of portable cushioned lounges out on the roof and strung up a few beach towels. We couldn't help but observe the goings-on as we sat comfortably on an 8th floor veranda overlooking the President's home from the old Washington Hotel.

MODEST BRUCE Fowler, new general manager at Egan Ford Sales, didn't tell me about his personal contributions to the well-being of his former home town when I talked to him a couple of weeks ago.

I've since learned that Bruce is a former Mayor of Williamston and that he has recently resigned as a member of their City Council. He played a prominent role in Williamston's recreation program and had numerous other civic activities.

The Ingham County News at Mason, commenting on Fowler's departure from Williamston, says: "Mr and Mrs Fowler and their five children have lived in Williamston since 1937. The Fowlers were married there in 1946."

I trust this is a misprint; and I'm glad to see that someone else in this business gets fouled up on their dates now and then.

THE BOB CONNS, who have been going through the trunkful of mementoes in the attic of the former Wilson home on Maple street, are finding many interesting treasures.

Some letters and documents date back to the 18th century. Many of them were originally the possessions of Mrs Wilson's family—the Charles F. Kipps, St. Johns pioneers.

Several museums have expressed an interest in the Wilson personal property, furniture and bric-a-brac. The Conns are having some difficulty deciding what course to pursue in disposing of the interesting historical stuff. The documents and letters are pretty fragile and should be under glass.

Compliments for the County News

CONGRATULATIONS on your successful conversion to offset process. Bill Graef sent us a copy of your first edition, and I must say it is very impressive.

I was particularly impressed with the halftones and the sharp type face that this process makes possible. Needless to say, the full color process caught my eye immediately.

His Dad locked up with 1910 jury

MY FATHER, Alex McNeill, was in the jury picture (June 11 issue). Also Claud Crook of Maple Rapids and Jesse Bancroft of St. Johns.

I was 12 years old at the time and I remember that Dad got locked in the jury room one night and didn't get home, so my brother and I had all the chores to do that night and the next morning before we went to school.

Our best-known "Typo" gets more national recognition

IT'S NOT often that your sheet gets quoted nationally, but it did last week. Note cartoon enclosed (see above) with the credit to your paper. It ran in our Glendale (Calif.) News-Press, among others.

We have been watching your change-over to offset. The result is a big improvement—particularly in photo reproduction.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This now-famous "typo" appeared in our publication several years ago and has since been picked up by Readers' Digest, as well as other magazines and newspapers.

Tupper sends his congratulations

JUST RECEIVED my copy of the new Clinton County News. Congratulations on a swell job. A couple of my neighbors have made similar changes but cannot compare in any way to the swell job you have done.

As a matter of fact, I have yet to see a California weekly that could compare in any way to either The Republican-News or the new Clinton County News.

Being a printer of the "old school" it's a little hard to admit that anything would look better than hot type.

Very best of luck and again congratulations for a real honest-to-goodness swell job.

Praise from MSU for the new News

FIRST I WANT to commend you for the fine new process which is giving you such a wonderful print with your "new" newspaper. I like it very much and I think you and your staff deserve commendation.

Second, I certainly thought your Thursday, June 25, edition with the County Extension Report was very well done. I am sure your rural readers along with many city readers appreciated the opportunity to learn more about the work of this organization.

I plan to drop by the next time I am through and see your new operation.

Massachusetts ballot disturbs political scientists

BY ELMER E. WHITE
Michigan Press Ass'n.

POLITICAL scientists who more or less objectively view every aspect of their field daily have risen almost en masse against the Massachusetts ballot approved by the Legislature.

Prior to enactment of the law putting into effect the "office block" ballot, a group of 26 political scientists at Michigan colleges and universities advised against its use.

SINCE THE ballot was approved, some of these same 26 and other political science instructors have vowed to fight the use of this new voting method.

Describing their opposition as nonpartisan, six of these men, faculty members at Michigan State University, have formed a committee to fight use of the ballot.

Samuel Krislov, spokesman for the Citizens Committee for a Free Choice Ballot, said the long-range effect of the Massachusetts ballot "is to really weaken both political parties."

THE BALLOT removes the choice of voting a straight party ticket. It requires a voter to check his choice for candidates for each office open.

Discouraging voters, providing advantage to "name" candidates and certain ballot position holders, and returning the long-hated bedsheet ballot are the main objections given to the Massachusetts plan.

KRISLOV SAID the ballot represents a step backwards and "can only confuse and complicate the task of the voters and weaken popular control of government."

The backward step, contends the Committee spokesman, comes in the fact that it reverts to a longer ballot. This is a change from the new Constitution's aim to reduce the number of ballot choices to be made.

COMMITTEE members will not participate in the petition drive being directed by the Democratic Party to prevent use of the ballot this fall, Krislov said.

Their main hope is to broaden the committee to each college campus in the state and make available speakers to discuss the issues at public meetings.

Krislov and his colleagues said statistics in states currently using the Massachusetts ballot showed that voting for lesser offices drops off very sharply when compared to the ballot now used in Michigan which allows either straight party or individual choice voting.

TREATMENT and rehabilitation of juvenile offenders could take a major step forward in the next few years with the increased use of so-called halfway houses in Michigan.

Probate officials optimistically view the use of halfway houses as a means of providing adequate rehabilitation facilities for minor offenders while leaving the Boys Training School for youth who need closer supervision.

IN THE past, probate judges throughout the state have lamented the fact that many youths accused of relatively minor crimes, and even some major offenders,

Congratulations to the "Clinton News." The beautiful clear type is a joy to read and the pictures made all the brides look lovely, and the grooms—handsome. The Bement Library appreciates the publicity it receives in the "best county paper of them all."

More summer reading has come in in the shape of interesting novels.

"FATHER TO THE Man" by Bentz Plagemann tells the story of a few years in the life of a young man. It starts before his entrance into Princeton, follows him through a tour with the Coast Guard and ends when he wants to marry. The answer to the question "when does a boy become a man" is pointed up as the hero strikes out to call his soul his own. Most readers will recognize something of themselves in the story.

VERA CASPARY tells the story of a Jewish war orphan who grows up in a Nazi prison. Later as a singer in a Vienna cafe she meets her future husband. "A Chosen Sparrow" is a haunting novel which brilliantly depicts contemporary Austria. The author has created a very sympathetic heroine in the lost and bewildered girl who becomes a brave and courageous woman.

"For Time and All Eternity" by Paul Bailey is a story of the Mormons. It involves a young and attractive woman who rebels against the plural marriage customs of the time as she is urged to become the fourth wife of one of the Elders.

A SERIES of story-hours is being planned through July. More details will be found in another news story.

Days are long, evenings pleasant on porch in July

HAYDN PEARSON

It is the good old summer time again and meadows and fields, upland pastures and rock-ledged ridges lie quiet and warm in the heat of the high-circling sun. The solstice has passed and Year has begun the long slide downhill to the short daylight period in December.

The patches of earth that men plowed and seeded a few weeks ago are lined with growing crops; grasses on the hillsides begin to change to the amber-brown of maturity. The royal purple of milkweed splashes color in the fence corners; along the walls and fences, stubby maroon candles begin to form on scraggly sumacs.

THERE ARE days of quiet heat when a brassy sun shines in a pale blue sky and lawns turn brown; there are times when black clouds billow into dark masses and the gods joust with flashing red spears. Young birds flutter in the hedgerows; barn swallows swoop and circle, climb and dive as they hunt insects for their young in mud nests against barn rafters.

One can almost feel the steady pulse of Nature as crops reach higher and apples begin to swell on the boughs. Not now the pulsing urgency of spring; this is the time of growth for many plants and the period of fruition and seeding for others.

JULY IS a good month in the annual cycle—the height of summer. Days are long and the evenings pleasant as a countryman sits on his porch and watches the sun sink behind the mountains.

This is the good old summer time and one's heart is glad for the interlude between spring and the first tinge of fall coolness.

Liquor by the Glass Proposal Tuesday, November 3

This is not and should not be termed a moral issue inasmuch as we are not seeking anything unusual or which sets a precedent. Spirits are now available to 87.3% of the American public and was endorsed by the people of Michigan in 1933 by a margin of almost 3 to 1. The public should be able to make its own choice of beverages under properly supervised conditions.

Positive control of the licensed establishments serving spirits by the glass will be supervised by the St. Johns City Commission, the community leaders you have selected. The Commission will determine who will be licensed to sell spirits by the glass and will exercise the enforcement of local and state regulations governing the sale of spirits.

No city in Michigan where spirits by the glass has been made available has ever reversed its stand on this issue!

In a poll of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce members, the results were 3 to 1 in favor of spirits by the glass.

BIG, NEW, WORK-SAVING, MONEY-SAVING REFRIGERATOR-FREEZERS

Today's modern refrigerator-freezers end all defrosting in both refrigerator and freezer sections. This means no frost ever . . . no food packages, ice cube trays or walls . . . no defrosting drudgery ever . . . no scraping, no chipping, no prying, no messy pans of water to empty (or spill).

In addition, the new refrigerator-freezers will:

- Store enough fresh and frozen foods to last for weeks.
- Save extra trips to the market.
- Keep leftovers fresh and tasty until needed.
- Save money because the large freezer compartment allows you to buy meats, vegetables and baked goods when prices are low.

Campers should check out county, local camp sites

The peak camping period in Michigan is at hand and, despite addition of several hundred campsites, the "No Vacancy" sign is expected to be hanging on the gates of some of the most popular parks soon.

Increasing interest in camping in recent years has kept the demand ahead of the supply, although Michigan has more than 10,300 campsites in state parks ready for 1964 visitors.

THE MICHIGAN Tourist Council advises campers that they should consider the more than 4,000 campsites in state and federal forests and in county and township parks if they find their favorite state park full.

In addition, camping is permitted on most of the more than seven million acres of public forest land in the northern two-thirds of the state, even though there are no designated campsites.

STATE PARKS offer the most complete facilities, in most cases, with bathhouses, flush toilets, electricity and concession stores. For use of these facilities a $2 annual or 50 cent daily park permit is required in addition to a $1 daily camping fee and a 25 cent daily use charge for electricity if desired.

Until Labor Day, campers are limited to 15 days in any one state park, with an additional 30 days during other months of the year. No reservations are accepted for state park campsites.

Some of the county and township parks also charge a fee to cover maintenance, and campers should inquire about these charges locally.

In public forests outside designated camp grounds, no permits or fees are required and there is no restriction on camping except during the November deer season when a registration card, available at license dealers, is required.

MANY OF the camping areas outside state parks offer spectacular scenery, excellent fishing and uncrowded conditions which more than made up for more primitive facilities.

A directory of Michigan camping facilities is available free of charge from the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing 48926, Mich.

Public Apathy

In one week we were stunned with three examples of a disease called "apathy" that should make us ashamed of human beings. The first, involved a woman in a New York parking lot, stabbed three times while 40 neighbors watched from their windows. The second, an eighteen-year-old switchboard operator was raped in broad day light and when she broke loose and was pursued by her assailant, fifty people ignored her plea for help. The third, when two nine-year-old boys drowned while fifty people lined the shore, not offering a helping hand to the man who did what he could but failed in the rescue. The moral weakness developing in our people should be a cause for concern. Our hope is that more people would become Christians, because generally, Christians are people who are not afraid to get involved. They have involved themselves in the issue of the cross of Christ and have publicly taken their stand for what He stood for and believed. It takes courage, especially in some countries, to become a Christian. An apathy toward Christianity has long been in existence. A Lutheran church in Livonia, Michigan, has a large cross in front of the church with this inscription, "Is it nothing to you who pass by?" Most people answer in silence—nothing!

WONDERFUL PRIVILEGE

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

We are proud of our freedom... whether it be freedom of speech, freedom of assembly (the ayds have it), freedom of the press, or freedom of religion. Of all these, we sing: "Let freedom ring!"

Freedom of religion is not the property of the clergy, but of all the people. Every schoolboy knows that the Constitution says so. It guarantees freedom of worship... freedom to honor God according to one's own conscience. It is a precious gift.

How you worship is your business! That you must worship, ah, that's God's business! Choose the church to honor God with your fellowman... thanking God for this wonderful privilege. For, so often in other lands, such worship is forbidden and outlawed. Sunday is His day! Make it your day!

AGRICULTURE in ACTION

by M. L. Woell

Cattlemen, already worried about low beef prices and foreign imports, may have new wrinkles added to their foreheads by two recent laboratory announcements concerning synthetic meat.

A "protein synthesis by fungi" has been accomplished by Dr. William Gray of Ohio State University, who reports that the new process converts carbohydrates and inorganic nitrogen into protein within the tissue of fungi, and represents a "total synthesis of protein." In some cases the resultant product had a 38 per cent protein value as compared to the 35 per cent of dried chipped beef, now considered the meat of highest protein value.

At Michigan State University, Dr. Theodore Irriter of the Foods and Nutrition Department, tells of "meatless meat" now possible from spun protein fibers. In most experiments, soybeans provide the base material although grass and sugar beet tops have been successfully used.

The fibers simulate meat to an unbelievable degree, duplicating with great faithfulness the white meat of chicken or turkey. "Pork" chops, ham, filet mignon, dried fruits, nut kernels and many vegetables can also be imitated.

What does this mean to Michigan cattlemen? Not much for now. Currently the cost of spun protein fibers are about the same as for meat of good quality.

4-H Talent Show set for July 18

The Clinton County 4-H Talent Show will be Saturday, July 18, at 8 p.m. in Smith Hall. The 4-H Service Club is sponsoring the event.

Current 4-H members who completed projects in the past year will participate, and there will be large and small group acts in instrumental, dance, vocal and dramatic novelty divisions.

THE PUBLIC is invited. A small charge will be made for admission so those participating can be recognized.

"Hands Extended" is the theme for the state Share-The-Fun Programs for 1964, according to Donald Walker, county extension agent for 4-H Club work. Two large group and two small group acts will be selected from those July 18 to participate in the district talent show Aug. 4 at Marshall High School.

The fungi protein experiment remains exactly that--an interesting experiment.

Although meatless-meat will have some obvious advantages such as no bones, fat or other waste, there are self-evident disadvantages. No one will convince a true lover of fine beefsteak that any laboratory process will come near to the aroma or edibility of a really fine cut of meat. There are other, more subtle differences, too, tied to the complex amino acids of proteins and fats, which must be fully explored.

Cite need for better drainage

BY HARRY HARDEN
 Soil Conservation Technician

Many of our level farms in Clinton County, like the Duane Bunce farm, need complete four-rod spacing tile systems. This article is written to encourage farmers to take a better look at their flat lands or depressional areas.

The Clinton County Soil Conservation District, organized nine years ago, has come a long way in educating cooperator land owners on the importance of applying good soil conservation practices. The technical phase of the district program includes the US Soil Conservation staff here in St. Johns.

SERVICES provided to land owners by our staff include a detailed tile design to fit the soil type involved on each separate farm. Each tiling job requires its own individual design. Assistance may be obtained by land owners requesting help through the district or ASC office here in St. Johns.

There are approximately 15,000 acres that have been properly drained in the district, with approximately 50,000 acres yet to be tiled with a complete system.

ONE OF THE most important aspects of a good drainage system is the outlet.

There is a great need for farmers to be more concerned with their drainage ditches. Many drains are in critical need of deepening and widening plus a good seeding on the banks while the drain is under construction. A good ditch permits ground water and tile water to run freely throughout the year and to have adequate freeboard.

AS AN investment, a good drainage system will pay for itself in increased crop yields in a few years.

Farmers who wish further information regarding this conservation practice can contact the SCS office in St. Johns.

Nicotine sulfate may improve pork

Nicotine may be bad for humans, but indications are that it's great for pigs.

Farm Journal reports that Canadian scientists have found that nicotine sulfate added to pigs' rations makes them leaner and higher grade, at less cost per pound of gain.

It seems that nicotine stimulates the release of a hormone by the pig's adrenal gland, making them produce more lean tissue and less fat.

THE NICOTINE sulfate costs about three cents per ton of feed. For finishing 50 hogs, it would cost 39 cents to save from $7.50 to $20 in feed. A 25-cent premium per hundredweight would mean an additional $2.50 to $10 return by increasing from five to 10 the number of hogs selling in the No. 1 grade.

Feeding nicotine to pigs by farmers has not yet been approved by the Food and Drug Administration.

Clinton on quarantine for cereal leaf beetle

Clinton and several surrounding counties have been placed under quarantine for cereal leaf beetle, but Clinton County Agriculture Extension Agent George McQueen said there shouldn't be any crop losses here.

Parts of Washtenaw and Oakland counties also were quarantined.

The adult cereal leaf beetle is only three-sixteenths of an inch long. Its head and hard wing covers are metallic-blue-black, and the legs and front part of the thorax just behind the head are orange-red. The beetle feeds off tender green shoots of grain.

"Surveys just completed have found infestation to be very, very light in the county," McQueen said. "It is not expected to cause any crop damage or much trouble to farmers."

THE significance of the quarantine to Clinton farmers won't be known, however, until next Monday when McQueen meets with officials of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Information on what farmers must do under the quarantine provisions will be available after that.

The Extension office in the courthouse has much information on the cereal beetle itself, and more will be forthcoming when local regulations are established.

THE QUARANTINE order was signed June 22 by Director G. S. McIntyre of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, which has the responsibility of preventing spread of plant pests and plant diseases within the state. Thirty counties are under quarantine.

Agriculture products that traditionally cannot be moved outside a regulated area without an inspection certificate include barley, oats, wheat and other small grains, corn, uncleaned grass and forage crop seed, hay, straw, fodder, plant litter of any kind, sod or harvesting machinery.

OTHER counties placed under quarantine June 22 were Gratiot, Livingston, Shiawassee, Genesee, Isabella, Lenawee, Mecosta, Monroe, Montcalm, Newaygo, Oceana and Saginaw.

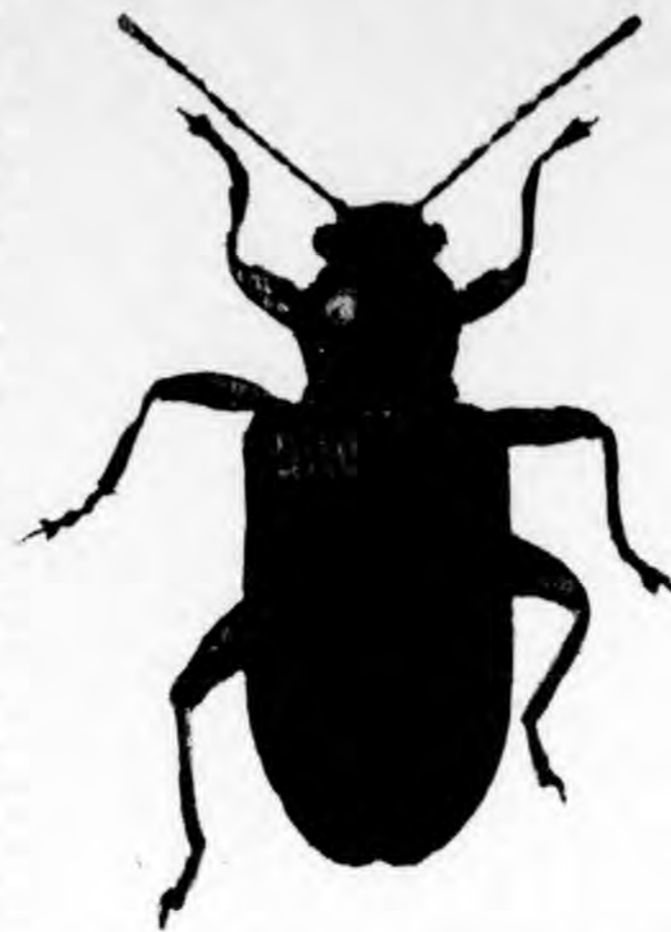

THE quarantine to keep it from spreading will bring some inconvenience to farmers, McIntyre said, but cost of treatments will not be large.

Tests are underway nationwide to determine which chemicals will most efficiently control the beetle and how they can be best applied in grain fields, but to date about the only control to keep them from spreading is the quarantine.

The beetle was first reported in this country in 1962 at Gallien in Berrien County. How it arrived there probably never will be known. It has been a destroyer of growing grain in Europe for more than half a century and has been found in Siberia and as far south as Morocco in Africa. Some years half the grain crops have been destroyed in some countries.

ARTICLES other than grains which may require inspection or treatment are any other farm products; equipment; trucks, railway cars or other means of conveyance; used crates, boxes or bags; soil; or any other products that may transport the cereal leaf beetle.

Information on this will be available from the county extension office after July 6, the Michigan Department of Agriculture's plant industry division in Lansing, or the US Department

Bacteria, too, change with dairying problems

MADISON, WIS.— Farming methods in the last 10 years have changed many aspects of dairying, including the kind of bacteria that usually spoil milk.

Bulk tanks of rapid cooling have pushed many of the traditional milk spoilage organisms out of the picture. Some important ones taking their places are those that grow at low temperatures. Bacteriologists call them psychrophiles.

WHILE THE usual milk souring bacteria won't grow at temperatures of 38 and 40 degrees such as are found in bulk milk coolers, the psychrophiles can grow at these temperatures. They can, in time, cause high bacterial counts, can give milk undesirable flavor and can cause defects in butter and cottage cheese.

Modern dairying knocked out most of the problems with common bacteria and left low-tem-

New bulletin on corn insects control available

Two entomologists with the Cooperative Extension Service at Michigan State University have released a new extension bulletin entitled, "Michigan Corn Production Insect Control," George McQueen, Clinton county agent, announced.

Ray L. Janes and Gordon Guyer remind farmers that "the ideal field corn growing operation on any farm considers a unified program of both cultural and chemical use for insect problems." This bulletin points out methods of eliminating or reducing pest problems in Michigan cornfields through the use of insecticides and common sense cultural practices.

THEY HAVE listed and described 13 important insects and the damage they can do, control instructions, and the name and amount of insecticides per acre to use in suppressing these pests.

For a copy of this bulletin, contact your county extension office or write to: Michigan State University, Bulletin Office, Department of Information Services, P. O. Box 231, East Lansing.

More than 2,000 acres of sugar beets were grown without any hand labor in Michigan last year.

Wheat to sell under new standards Atomic lighthouse

Area wheat farmers will sell this year's wheat crop under a new set of wheat standards, says George McQueen, agriculture extension agent in Clinton County.

The new grades should mean less foreign material and dockage in wheat this year, points out McQueen. One of the main changes in the standards that went into effect June 1 is that maximum damage has been established for "total defects" for each numerical grade of wheat. These defects include damaged kernels, foreign material not readily removed and shrunken or broken kernels.

STILL ANOTHER change has eliminated moisture as a factor in determining the "sample" wheat grade. Moisture content for wheat grading "tough" has been reduced to 13.5 per cent for all classes.

New test weights for various wheat grades have also been determined. Test weight is an indi-

Warm weather food care vital

To reduce chance of food poisoning during the warm summer months, keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold. This particularly applies to picnic-goers and cook-out devotees.

Often, during warm weather, food poisoning cases are reported to the Michigan Department of Agriculture because meals are exposed to summer temperatures without adequate refrigeration after the food is prepared.

FOODS THAT are especially susceptible to food poisoning organisms unless they are properly cared for are potato salad, puddings, cream sauces, mayonnaise, cream fillings and salad dressing, particularly those in which cream and eggs are used.

During hot weather, microbiologists in the department's laboratory detect bacterial contaminants in food samples submitted by the Foods and Standards Division, which has responsibility in this state for the wholesomeness of food. These food samples are taken in cases where people, often picnic-goers, became ill after eating certain food.

FOODS AND Standards Chief J. L. Littlefield cautions that foods to be eaten hot should be kept heated during the time between preparation and eating. In the case of cold foods, chilling and good refrigeration are suggested between the time the dish is prepared and when it is served.

Littlefield and workers at the department's laboratory suggest food to be served cold should be kept at a 45-degree temperature or less. Temperatures of 140 degrees or higher should be maintained for hot foods. Keeping food at room temperatures is hazardous in either case.

Michigan mines nearly 20 percent of the nation's salt. It has enough salt to supply the entire nation "forever."

Atomic lighthouse The first nuclear-powered lighthouse has been put into operation by the U.S. Coast Guard, in Chesapeake Bay, Md. Power is supplied by a 60-watt isotopic generator, designed to operate unattended for 10 years, that has no moving parts and is heavily shielded to reduce external radiation to safe levels.

2 Clintonites leave Wednesday for Army

Two Clinton County men will leave for induction into the Army next Wednesday.

They are Gene George of R-1, Fowler, and Lyle Nichols of R-2, DeWitt. They will be sent to Detroit and then will be assigned for basic training.

TWENTY-THREE others from the county will be called this month for pre-induction physical examinations.

The local selective service board will not begin until August a program of physical examination of 18-year-old registrants being started in many counties this month.

These examinations do not mean a speed-up of the draft, it was pointed out by Col. Arthur A. Holmes, state director of Selective Service.

A TOTAL of 768 registrants who have registered at the age of 18 since January will be delivered by Wayne County local boards for examination in July. Similar calls will be assigned to all other Michigan local boards starting in August.

These examinations will be conducted in addition to the regular physical examination of some 2,500 older registrants who are approaching the age of induction.

PURPOSE OF the early examinations for 18-year-olds is to enable those who are found qualified for military service to make definite plans for their future careers.

The early examinations will also enable those who are found not qualified to seek promptly such education, training or health services which can be of benefit to them. Selective Service has initiated a program for referral of disqualified registrants to community rehabilitation agencies.

ONLY 18-YEAR-olds who are not deferred will be ordered for early examination. This will eliminate students, married men and registrants who have enlisted in regular or reserve units of the armed forces.

Early examination of 18-year-olds will have no effect on the time when young men will actually be called for induction. The present order of induction under which all eligible older registrants under age 26 are called first has not been changed. Current average age of men ordered for induction is 23 to 25.

License appeals show increase

Michigan drivers who are appealing loss or restriction of their driving privileges seem to be moving up along with the increased activity in the driver improvement program.

Secretary of State James M. Hare said license appeal boards reported an increase of 175 cases over May of 1963 and that June "would likely be an even bigger month."

IN THE FIRST five months of 1964, including May, 2,726 cases were appealed by motorists, an increase of nearly 300 over a similar period of 1963. These cases are persons who feel that the driving restrictions meted out to them should be rescinded or modified. The appeal board is composed of a representative of the secretary of state as chairman, and representatives of local police jurisdiction and of the attorney general's office.

"A good percentage of the restrictions set are upheld by the license appeal boards, although we do have cases where licenses are restored completely and others where drivers are permitted restricted driving privileges," Hare asserted.

IN MAY, a total of 351 appeals were denied and 130 others were dismissed when errand drivers failed to show up for the hearing that they asked for in the first place. On the other hand, 90 suspensions or revocations were modified, 71 others restored with some restrictions, and 50 others given back full driving privilege.

Says World's Fair wonderful experience

CHAPMAN DISTRICT—Mrs Evelyn Heinlen spent several days at the World's Fair as a member of a teacher's group on travel study course from Central Michigan University.

At the fair she attended many of the exhibitions. However, some of the outstanding ones were Ford, General Motors, Land of Lincoln and the Catholic exhibit. She also attended several theaters as this was a course of theaters.

SHE WAS IN very close contact with Liz Taylor but was evidently not overwhelmed. Other stars she saw on the stage were Richard Burton, playing Hamlet in Hamlet and Rudy Vallee in another, also many other notables.

She had an opportunity to see the usual tourist high-spots of New York such as the Empire State building, Statue of Liberty and had meals at Sigaro's in Greenwich Village and Lindy's where all the important people of the stage go for refreshments.

SHE REPORTED a wonderful experience but, very glad to be back "on the farm."

Mr and Mrs Roy Auten and family were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs Thelma Atkinson of St. Johns.

Mrs Hazel Stevens and Mrs Mary Strong attended the Riley-Olive Aid meeting Thursday at Mrs Maude Davises' home in St. Johns.

Mr and Mrs Roger Heinlen and family were weekend guests at the Evelyn Heinlen home. Mr and Mrs Darrell Pope, Mr and Mrs John Hoag and Miss Beth Smith were Sunday dinner guests in the Gerald Pope home. Darrell has returned to his home after spending three weeks in the University Medical Center in Ann Arbor.

Mr and Mrs Paul Halstead are becoming tent enthusiasts. This week they stayed in an eastern Michigan state park.

DAVID H. HILLER, seaman, USN, son of Mr and Mrs Bert H. Hiller of R-3, St. Johns, participated aboard the Navy frigate USS John S. McCain in a combined sea-assault and airborne combat training exercise called "LIGTAS" May 12 to June 10 under the direction of the South-East Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) in the Philippines.

"LIGTAS," meaning "Saved" or "Rescued" in the Philippine language, was sponsored by the United States and hosted by the Republic of the Philippines.

All member nations participated in the exercise which was part of a SEATO general counter-offensive to be used if an "enemy" should invade South-East Asia and gain control. The exercise tested the effectiveness of the SEATO forces to assault and regain control of the areas behind the "enemy" advance.

The operation was designed to train allied forces in the planning and execution of this type of assault. Closer working relationships and understanding among member nations was an important objective of this training.

"LIGTAS," the second training exercise of this year and the 27th since 1956, was part of a long-term schedule announced by SEATO Headquarters in November 1963, to maintain joint military defense.

THE YOUTHS were elected from the 1161 teenagers from all parts of the State of Michigan who participated in the annual "51st State," designed to instruct and educate the boys in principles and values of a democratic and constitutional form of government.

The two simulated political parties, Federalist and Nationalists, loudly caucused in direct limitation of national conventions at this "learn by doing" seminar in Democracy.

YOUTHS selected to attend the eight-day American Legion sponsored conclave were chosen for their qualities of leadership and good citizenship. Wolverine Boys' State goes beyond politics to include glee club performances, organization and operation of a newspaper, softball games, a swimming clinic, variety show and many other activities.

'Pigs' in pipelines

Pigs and pipelines might seem an odd combination to farmers and consumers but they make sense to pipeline maintenance crews. Unlike four-footed porkers, pipeline "pigs" are inflated spheres pushed through the lines to clean out foreign materials. Because of the spheres' tendency to roll off course into branch outlets, Tube Turns, Louisville, developed a pipeline tee with a heavy steel grid that prevents their passage into the outlets. The closely spaced grid blocks spheres that might squeeze by conventional outlet guard bars.

5-week job of compiling city resident directory ends

M. V. Lewis and his wife May, of Westchester, Pa., were expected to leave St. Johns Tuesday after completing their work on the new St. Johns city directory.

Lewis and his wife, along with six fulltime or parttime St. Johns women, spent about five weeks compiling lists of names, addresses, phone numbers, and other information for the book.

LEWIS WAS preceded in town by about six weeks by an advertising salesman for the book. Lewis said Friday his own job was strictly compilation.

The book, published by the Mullin-Kille Co. of Chillicothe, Ohio, is to be published this fall.

THE BOOK contains cross-reference sections. One lists telephone numbers in numerical order and gives the name of the telephone subscriber. Another section lists streets and a run-down on who lives at what address.

The main section of the book will contain a listing of all persons 18 years or older. Wives names will be shown in parentheses following the husband, the number of children in the family will be given, and this will be followed by a description of where the husband works and what his job is. If the wife works, she will have a separate listing.

THIS SECTION will also tell the residence phone number and whether the resident owns or rents a home.

St. Johns women hired by the Lewises to aid in canvassing the community for the information were Mrs Everett French, 411 S. Church Street; Mrs Edgar Prowant, 790 S. Lansing Street; Mrs Richard Courtright, 609 N. Morton Street; Mrs Robert Miller, 405 S. Church Street and Mrs Ralph Safford, 401 E. Cass street.

Mrs Safford will continue to do later checking and verifying of names for the book.

INFORMATION blanks were left at all business places and industrial plants to obtain names, addresses and phone numbers to be used in verifying information received from the homes.

Lewis said the work was mostly bringing up-to-date the directory which the company published here in 1961.

HE SAID the area covered, and which will be listed in the book, is bounded roughly by Scott Road on the east, Kinley Road on the north, Parks Road on the south and DeWitt Road on the west. Population shown in the book will, therefore, Lewis pointed out, be greater than that actually inside the city limits.

The Lewises were to travel to Petoskey from here where they will canvass for Petoskey, Boyne City and Charlevoix.

Time was when we mined gold in Michigan. In a 15-year period late in the 19th century, the Ropes mine in Marquette county produced $650,000 worth of gold.

Computers create jobs

Computers aren't killing jobs, they're creating them. Data processing consultants point out that their industry is growing so fast it could employ all the college graduates produced by our schools during the next ten years.

Computer authorities believe, however, that many people who haven't completed high school also can be trained to work with the mechanical brains and have launched a program to prove the point.

Anti-Americanism turned to love by hospital ship

About a year ago, the American hospital ship, Hope, dropped anchor off Trujillo, Peru, a hotbed of anti-Americanism where her arrival touched off "public demonstrations of disgust and distrust."

Her mission: To train medical personnel, to fight pain, and as a corollary, to present a side of the United States that few Peruvians then knew.

THE HOPE has returned to New York. Mission accomplished?

Dr William B. Walsh, founder of the unique foreign aid project, gives this picture of Trujillo when the ship docked—

"The city was plastered with Cuba Si! Yanqui No! signs. Many medical students were wearing Castro-style beards. I was stopped on the street and warned not to go into the slums—where the Communists have their greatest strength—unless I used them as intermediaries. Not being a hero, I didn't argue."

That was May 26, 1962.

IN THE next 10 months the ship's medical staff performed more than 2,000 major operations, treated 46,000 diseased persons, inoculated 80,000 against poliomyelitis, 56,000 against other infectious diseases, and in other ways—through distributing milk, medicine, supplies, etc.—reached 500,000 Peruvians in 10 cities and towns.

—In spite of the Communist threats, about 100 clinics were set up in the slums. Doctors and nurses worked there, unharmed.

MAGICALLY, the atmosphere of hostility of the Americans began to evaporate.

"Within a month," Dr Walsh says, "the 'Yanqui No!' signs began to disappear and so did the beards. They're all gone now."

Then, in July, a military junta overthrew the government. Disorders broke out in Trujillo—sparked by a rumor that the Hope was about to pull out because of the revolution!

AN OFFICER and a squad of soldiers hastily came to the ship and guaranteed the safety of the Americans. They stayed to lunch and each donated a pint of blood to the ship's blood bank.

"The only buses that kept running anywhere during that period," Dr Walsh says, "were those marked 'Servicio Hope.'"

ANOTHER gauge of the ship's impact came in the last days before she left Peru. These events took place:

More than 40,000 people crowded into a stadium in Trujillo for farewell ceremonies that lasted eight hours.

Every member of the ship's medical staff—85 doctors, nurses, technicians and librarians—was called to a dais and introduced individually to the crowd. Among them was Jacquelin Harris, a laboratory technician. She is a relative of Dr Ralph Bunche, Undersecretary of the United Nations.

A NEWSPAPER editorial captioned "The 'Gringos' Won't Leave Us" went on to say: "'Gringo' is no longer a synonym of Yankee capitalism, of injustice, of economic monopoly. 'Gringo,' since May of 1962 has meant for Peruvians he who saves lives and alleviates pain."

When the Hope sailed, she was garlanded with flowers.

THIS before-and-after picture of her experience was described last week by Dr Fernando Cabezas, president of the Peruvian-North American Medical Association, in a statement to the House Foreign Affairs Committee. He said:

"Trujillo has been for many years the cradle of anti-Americanism on the coast of Peru. No other (Peruvian) town has been so responsive to Castro's Cuba. And no other city... could have made better public demonstrations of disgust and distrust at the arrival of the ship."

THE Peruvian operation was the Hope's second. In 1961, she sailed on a similar mission to Indonesia and South Viet Nam.

Dr Walsh, 43, an ebullient, persuasive, ever-optimistic Washington (D. C.) physician, is the creator and moving spirit behind Project Hope. It began four years ago when President Eisenhower asked him to help in the people-to-people project.

Dr Walsh persuaded the Navy to de-mothball a hospital ship, now the Hope. The Grace Line operates her at cost. Dr Walsh raised the money, largely from private organizations and individuals, to finance the operation. It costs $2.8 million a year to run the ship alone.

PHARMACEUTICAL firms have donated large amounts of drugs, medicine and other equipment.

The doctors and nurses are volunteers—at considerable financial costs to themselves. The nurses are paid $300 a month, which is less than half what they would earn in a large hospital. Dr Walsh said one nurse left a $12,000 a year position to go on the Peruvian operation.

YET, A number who gave up the better part of a year to work in Southeast Asia in 1961 were "repeaters" on the trip to Peru. He named 5 doctors, 37 nurses, 12 technicians, and a medical librarian in this group. Some doctors are "rotators," devoting three months to the Hope, the next three to their private practice, etc.

In three years, Dr Walsh has all but abandoned his own practice. "I'm earning a hell of a lot less money now," he says, "but having a lot more fun."

THE HOPE'S primary objective in a given country is to train local doctors and nurses—and even primitive midwives—in the latest medical techniques of American hospital methods. They then train others in their country. Dr Walsh said 24 nurses came from Bolivia to Peru to work on the Hope.

What's next?

He said Peru recently completed a $3.5 million hospital and has asked Project Hope to operate it. A number of American doctors and nurses already have signed up. "The Peruvian government provides everything, apartments, food, cars," Dr Walsh said. "All the foundation will pay is their salaries, about $200,000 a year."

NEXT HE said, he wants to establish a chain of health stations along a remote stretch of the Amazon river. "The average life-span there is 24 years," he said. "The people there are dying early from ailments that are both preventable and curable."

Finally, when the Hope is ready—she is re-fitting in New York now—he expects to take her to Ecuador next autumn. Why Ecuador?

"Well, they've invited us," Dr Walsh says. "And besides, I was spit on in Ecuador. Must be anti-Americanism there, too."

Ever make dilled green beans? here's a recipe!

BY BETTY KETCHAM
County Extension Agent
Home Economics

Here's a chance to get your supplies ready and make some unusual pickles—dilled green beans. They are easy to prepare and quick, too. Food specialists at the US Department of Agriculture developed this recipe.

Dilled Green Beans
Green beans, whole, 4 lbs. (about 4 quarts). Hot red pepper, crushed, 1/4 tsp. per pint jar. Whole mustard seed 1/2 tsp. per pint jar. Dill seed, 1/2 tsp. per pint jar. 1 clove garlic per pint jar. Vinegar, 5 cups. Water, 5 cups. Salt, 1/2 cup.

Wash beans thoroughly; drain and cut into lengths to fill pint jars. Pack beans into clean, hot jars; add pepper, mustard seed, dill seed and garlic. This will fill approximately seven pints.

COMBINE vinegar, water and salt; heat to boiling. Pour boiling liquid over beans, filling to 1/2 inch from top of jar. Adjust jar lids as required for the type of lid used.

Process in boiling water for five minutes. (Jars will cool the water, so start to count processing time as soon as water in canner returns to boiling. Remove jars and re-tighten seals if necessary. Set jars upright, several inches apart, on a wire rack to cool.

SHAKE THAT can if you're having trouble using spray starches. Here are some suggestions from home economists at the University of Illinois.

Shake the can vigorously before every use. Protect the ironing board cover and any nearby furniture. It's hard to keep the spray in a small area. If the can has been standing without use for more than a day, spray the first burst of starch into the sink. Clean the soleplate of your iron often.

What color towel?
An assortment of colored hand towels is a worthwhile investment. Instead of saying "Go wash your hands," ask "What color towel would you like to dry your hands on?" Ask this innocent question with selection of pretty towels over your arm! Almost any child will be diverted from the requirement of washing hands to the fun of choosing his favorite color towel. This comes on also works well with young guests.

Invert colander
When frying meat, place a colander upsidedown over the frying pan. It will keep the meat from splattering but will also let the steam escape.

Former saleswoman reaches 90th year

BY MABEL OPPENHEER

A St. Johns resident, who entered retirement in 1946 climaxing a 50-year career as a saleswoman on Clinton Avenue, celebrated her 90th birthday Sunday.

Mrs Lena Moore of 111 W. Steel street, was honored at a birthday dinner at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr and Mrs Olney Moore. Guests were Mr and Mrs L. O. Titus and Mr and Mrs M. S. Moore of Lansing.

MRS MOORE was honored at a retirement party when she resigned July 1, 1946 from a position she held 20 years at Boron's Rug Store in St. Johns. Her long career was begun and ended in association with E. F. Boron who was a co-worker when she started working at the Hicks Store in 1896. She also worked for Noble Burnett and later for George Chapman after he purchased the department store which was located for many years on the present site of the J. C. Penney Co. store.

Mrs Moore recalls when the streets of St. Johns were not paved and there were no street lights. "I remember one time when we came downtown to a political campaign event. The parade included many marchers carrying torches to light their way." "It must have been a Republican event," she added with her usual sense of humor, "Pa wouldn't have come down to a Democrat meeting."

ONE OF the familiar sights of her early days on Clinton Avenue was Dick Gay and his dray truck racing to the fire barn when the fire whistle blew. The first team there pulled the fire truck to its destination.

"We used to have good times at parties and dinners with store employes," she said, "Mr Chapman frequently invited the group to his home for dinner."

Many of her contemporaries are no longer here. She keeps in touch with Mrs Jean Corbin, by telephone, however.

Room dividers are ideal for small apartment

If your first home is a one room apartment, try using wallpaper for the walls in a decorative pattern, then use a room divider—perhaps folding or sliding doors, a grouping of bookshelves, or a folding screen—covered with the same wallpaper, to separate the "areas" to lend a personalized charm and to tie-in both areas.

FOR INSTANCE, if you have one large room which must serve as living, dining, bedroom and galley kitchen, stack eight sectional 9 inch bookshelves—four facing the kitchen area, four facing the living room area, back to back—to screen out the kitchen area and to provide much-needed storage space for kitchen utensils and serving dishes, and for books and other personal items which can add to the decorative scheme of your living room.

To remove coffee film from thermos
To remove "coffee" film from thermos bottle, clean frequently by pouring in one tablespoon raw rice and cup of warm water. Shake well, rinse.

Avoid odor absorption in cork by covering with waxed or cellophane paper each time used.

Line your vegetable crisper with paper toweling to prevent vegetable spoilage. The towels absorb any moisture which accumulates at the bottom.

A solution of salt and vinegar will quickly clean unacquainted brassware or copperware.

Mrs Lena Moore spends much of her time viewing television, reading, and taking care of her home at 111 W. Steel Street. She celebrated her birthday which actually occurred Monday at a dinner party at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr and Mrs Olney Moore of 608 S. Oakland Street.

SHE CAME to St. Johns in 1878 from Hamilton, N. Y., where she was born June 29, 1874. "My mother's cousins lived here," she explained, "and they wrote that it was such wonderful country so my parents decided to come."

They stayed with the cousin until spring when they moved into St. Johns. "I'll never forget riding over those corduroy roads, bumpity-bump-bump in a spring-seated, lumber wagon," she said. The roads were constructed of logs laid side by side.

SHE REMEMBERS of the Steel Hotel and the State Capitol at Lansing being built when she was a tiny lass. She recalls riding to town in "the surrey with the fringe on top" a far cry from the lumber wagon. But, that was later replaced by the automobile and supplemented by the trains and airplanes.

What did they do for fun? "We had one of the first Victrolas with the morning glory horns and the cylindrical records," she said. "Since no one else had one, they either came to our home to listen or we took the Victrola and went to friends' homes for afternoons or music."

"WE HAD ice skating and roller skating parties," she reminisced. "The band played for roller skating parties in the old feed barn that stood where the post office is now." "For five cents," she added, "we could see a movie at the nickelodeon." During the season, they often went to the Dan Riden farm to watch him make maple syrup.

She doesn't attempt to pass on any philosophy to others but the Golden Rule has been her philosophy during a long, long life.

Hers was a girl-and-boy-next-door romance. Only the boy-next-door was gone for a long time and returned to marry the girl. When their son, Olney, was only four years old, however, Mr Moore died and she was faced with the responsibility of bringing up her son alone. She lived with her parents who helped her and when working became feasible, she began her long career.

BESIDES her son and daughter-in-law, her family includes a granddaughter, Mrs John Heskett of Danville, Ill., and a great-granddaughter, Tenley, 2, who is "just about perfect."

Mrs Moore is an early riser. She lives alone, keeps her home immaculate, and likes to read and watch television. Neither her hearing nor her eyesight is impaired, her memory is excellent and she is well-groomed, a characteristic lacking in many people as they grow older. Like some of the rest of us, she needs her earrings to feel that her dressing is complete.

SHE HAS liked to travel and has been to Washington, D. C., Boise, Idaho, and to Florida.

She doesn't feel equal to keeping up her memberships now but is a former member of the First Methodist church, Radiant Chapter 79, OES and the American Legion Auxiliary to Edwin Stiles post 153.

Television Is 'for the Birds'

"We just enjoyed TV so much we thought we'd share it with the birds," was Mrs Rudy Yurco's joking explanation for the antennas decorating the birdhouse at 987 N. Lansing street. The house, newly located next to the Yurco's home, causes many passersby to slow down and look because of the unique antennas. The Martin (bird) family would not comment on how TV reception was in their home.

With some interruptions early in the week the black-top crew finished the prime and seal coats on new construction this last week. This week the crew is seal coating.

Jay Barrett said his roadside spray crew had finished DeWitt township and had moved to Ovid township.

THE LAST new truck that was purchased this year came in last week. The underbody scraper still has to be mounted. Equipment replacements so far this year have cost more than $71,000.

The second application of calcium chloride will start in about a week. The dust control program will be completed about Aug. 1.

LES DRAGOO, county road engineer, returned to work this week after a week of camping in northern Michigan. Orville Jones, shop foreman, was also up north last week.

Bernard Zeeb and George Libey, road commissioners, and your road clerk attended the eight-county council of road commissions last week. The meeting was held at Owosso and the guest speaker was Sgt. Frank Devlin of Michigan State Police, who talked on rural road safety. It seems that a large percentage of our traffic accidents and fatalities happen on rural roads. Most of these happen to people close to home—on a road they travel often.

ROAD commission employees will have next Friday off. They observe the Saturday holiday a day early.

July 3 is the regular commission meeting. The commission will meet on this day, as usual.

THE AYLING Cunningham Asphalt Paving Co. of Tecumseh, Michigan is the paving contractor for the US-27 improvement. They expect to get started with the paving on July 6.

Looking Backward
A Glimpse of the Past by Ira "Sawmill" Birmingham of Shepardsville

While fishing at one of Michigan's finest lakes, I met an old Swedish gentleman, a cabinet maker of note.

He had served an apprenticeship of three years in Sweden, getting board, clothing and at end of his service, a set of hand tools.

USING NATIVE oak, curly and birdseye maple, he made joints you couldn't see or feel. (Lumber had been kiln dried). He showed me a job he was working at, but with a little encouragement, he told me how he and his recent bride had been in Chicago, he working at his trade, when Mrs O'Grady's cow kicked the lantern over, starting the worst fire in American history.

I find the date: Oct. 8, 1871, which I think coincides with what Grandfather Birmingham called "The year of the big smoke," when nearly the whole "Thumb of Michigan burned over."

AN OLD Cyclopeda states that the area burned comprised three and one third square miles. Seventeen thousand four hundred fifty buildings were destroyed and 100,000 persons left homeless. The money loss about $200 million. No mention in old Cyclopeda of lives lost, but my friend said there some as well as quite a few people missing.

Horses, wagons, even wheelbarrows were at a premium.

BUT A STRONG back to carry invalids, heirlooms or perhaps small children to supposed safety commanded high prices.

Then a change in direction of wind compelled another move.

While the ashes were still hot, plans were made for a new Chicago, much of it of brick or stone.

MY FRIEND proudly showed me a set of carpenter's tools, presented to him by the city upon his promise to use them in rebuilding, which he did for some time. But he and his wife didn't like city life and moved to Northern Michigan.

His wife died and his grownup sons lived in Detroit, coming to spend summer vacations with him in the very neat cottage he had built.

P. S. WHAT WAS the name of the small Northern Wisconsin lumber town wiped off the map by an explosion of "marsh gas" in the summer of 1871? I remember reading about some 600 lives lost and the opinion, many years later, of a scientist who said the gas was a product of decomposing vegetation under water on a hot day. His theory was that a breeze had carried the highly explosive gas into town, where it had been touched off, consuming all oxygen outside of buildings. Then as people rushed outside, buildings exploded from lack of outside pressure.

Stress gun safety to 4-H

The Prairie 4-H Gun Club made plans for a picnic at Long Lake on July 25 at its general meeting. Former members of the club are welcome to attend.

Phyllis Dershem, Dorothane Mills and Paula Barrett gave demonstrations.

THE CLUB held its first meeting at the East Essex schoolhouse. The Gun Club has 30 boys and girls which makes it the largest club within the Prairie Club. E. J. Bottum and Warren Eldridge are the adult leaders and Rex Ferguson and Jon Bottum are junior leaders.

"Gun Safety with the 22 Rifle" was discussed by Jon Bottum to his first and second year members.

"FIELD Shooting with the Shotgun" was the project of the third and fourth year members meeting with Rex Ferguson, junior leader. Both leaders stressed the importance of gun safety.

Postmistress Mrs Dorothy Korroch of Eagle tries out a new letter sorting machine in use at the Detroit Post Office. Watching are J. D. Robinson, St. Johns postmaster; Mrs Erma H. Robinson, postmistress at Eureka; and J. V. Baese, postmaster at Elsie.

County postmasters see fast sorters

Postmaster J. D. Robinson of St. Johns and three other Clinton County postmasters recently got a first-hand look at some of the new mail handling equipment being used by the Postal Department.

Robinson, Mrs Dorothy Korroch of Eagle, Mrs Erma Robinson of Eureka, and J. V. Baese of Elsie attended the 29th annual convention of the Michigan Chapter of the National Association of Postmasters of the United States in Detroit.

WHILE THERE the group visited the Detroit General Post Office, the most mechanized in the nation, and saw some of the new equipment.

"It was extremely interesting to see the tremendous strides the post office department is making," Postmaster Robinson said, "in devising and putting into operation effective machinery for coping with the ever-increasing volume of mail."

AMONG THE equipment seen by the Clinton County people was a modern letter-sorting machine capable of making up to 390 separations of mail in a single sortation, a massive parcel post and sack-sorting machine, and the sophisticated Mark II facer-canceller machine which faces and cancels letters at the rate of up to 30,000 per hour.

The postmasters were told that in the near future the first automatic address reading machine in the world will be installed in the Detroit Post Office as a first step in ultimately providing the means for automatic sorting of mail by ZIP-code.

"ALTHOUGH mechanization of this sort is designed principally for use at very large post offices," Robinson pointed out, "offices like our own here in Clinton County and postal patrons everywhere will benefit in terms of better service."

Robinson, county director of the Michigan chapter of the postmasters, received a certificate indicating 100 per cent Clinton County postmaster membership in NAPUS.

What's in a Name?

Hopp

Hopp has been used extensively as a surname for a number of centuries. According to some authorities on the origin of names, it is of English usage and signifies "descendant of Hop or Hob" which are shortened forms of the personal name Robert.

Hopp may also be a transformation of the popular surname Hopper which was often applied, when surnames first came into vogue, to those who danced professionally at fairs or festivals. There is also reason to believe that Hopp may be of German origin, being obtained from the German "hupfen" which signifies "to hop or jump."

LEONARD HOPP served as a private in the Northampton County, Pennsylvania militia at the time of the Revolutionary War.

According to "The Pennsylvania German Pioneers," published by the Pennsylvania German Society and listing the immigrant arrivals at the Port of Philadelphia from 1727 to 1808, Frantz Hopp arrived on the ship "Hamilton" Nov. 9, 1767.

HERMAN HOPP (1872-1961) was the founder and president of Hopp Plastics Co., New York City, a substantial manufacturer of plastic measuring devices, credit cards, computers and other products.

Percy R. Hopp (1879-1950) of Wappingers Falls, N. Y. was known widely as a manufacturer of boxes and Venetian blinds.

RALPH HARVEY HOPP is professor of chemical engineering and associate director of the libraries, University of Minnesota.

Henry Hopp is known internationally as an authority on forestry and agriculture. A graduate of Syracuse University where he received the degree of doctor of philosophy in 1936, he joined the scientific staff of the US Department of Agriculture in the same year and has since advanced steadily through the ranks of the organization. As his latest report position, he is agricultural attache to the US Embassy at Bogota, Colombia.

EUGENE S. HOPP is a distinguished physician and specialist in diseases of the ear, nose and throat. He practices his profession in San Francisco where he serves also as professor at the University of California Medical School and has performed valuable research work on cancer of the mouth.

William Beecher Hopp is professor of zoology at Indiana State Teachers College, Terra Haute.

ASC PROGRAM

Wheat allotment for '65 to be same as '64

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman on June 19 proclaimed a national wheat allotment of 49 1/2 million acres for the 1965 crop. It is the same as the 1964 allotment.

The US Department of Agriculture simultaneously announced the allocation of the allotment, less reserves, among the states. All except Hawaii are listed as commercial wheat States.

INCLUDED in the national allotment for 1965-crop wheat is a national reserve of 20,000 acres for additional allotments to be issued on the basis of relative need due to, new areas coming into production of wheat during the last 10 years. It has been the same amount for several years.

A special acreage reserve of 100,000 acres is being established for the first time as provided by the Agricultural Act of 1964. This special reserve is for additional allotments to eligible farms in counties where wheat is a major income producing crop. It will be used in adjusting allotments for eligible old wheat farms. Each state shared proportionately in providing these reserves.

NO NATIONAL marketing quota will be in effect for the 1965 crop of wheat.

It is estimated that 1,995 million bushels of wheat will be adequate for the national supply in 1965-1966. This quantity, less a projected carryover of 795 million bushels on July 1, 1965, results in a probable production need of 1,200 million bushels from the 1965 crop.

While the 1,200 million bushel figure, when adjusted to yields and other crop factors, indicates need for a 44.6 million acre allotment, present law requires that the national allotment cannot be less than 49 1/2 million acres. So the statutory minimum is being used for the 1965 crop.

ALTHOUGH THE 49 1/2 million figure is the announced allotment, current legislation also provides increases in allotments on small farms. Thus the State total allotment shown does not reflect an estimated additional 3.8 million acres which could result in increases on farms with less-than-15-acre allotments.

The national allotment has been apportioned among the states on the basis of acreage seeded for production of wheat during the 10-year period, 1954-63, with adjustments for abnormal weather, the so-called Antuso amendment concerning loss of acreage history through overplanting, and for trends in acreage. County allotments, determined in essentially the same manner, will be apportioned among individual farms

W. M. SMITH
County ASC Manager

according to past acreage of wheat, tillable acres, crop rotation practices, type of soil, and topography, with special provisions for small farms.

THE 1965 WHEAT allotment acres for Michigan is 801,600 acres—compared with 823,224 acres for 1964.

Clinton County received 27,097 acres for 1965 compared to 27,786 acres of wheat allotment for 1964.

Roadwork bids include 2 projects in Clinton

The State Highway Department opened bids Wednesday on 38 road projects, including one concerning Clinton County.

An estimated $40,000 will be spent on chemical spraying of roadsides for weed control in southwestern Michigan, including Clinton, Allegan, Barry, Berrien, Branch, Calhoun, Eaton, Kalamazoo and St. Joseph counties.

Completion of the project is to be Oct. 10.

You can tie tighter packages if you wet the string first. The string will shrink and tighten when it dries.
