

Merger proposed by Federal-Mogul, Sealed Power

Directors of Federal-Mogul-Bower Bearings, Inc. of Detroit, and Sealed Power Corporation of Muskegon, Tuesday, voted to submit to their shareholders a plan to merge the two companies.

Both companies own and operate plants in St. Johns.

The announcement was made in Detroit by G. S. Peppiatt, Chairman, and James O. Wright, President, of Federal-Mogul-Bower. Simultaneous announcement was made in Muskegon by Paul C. Johnson, President of Sealed Power.

SPECIAL MEETINGS of the shareholders of both companies to vote on the merger have been set for Sept. 28. Approval requires two thirds majority of the shares of each company.

The merger agreement provides that Sealed Power shareholders would receive one share of Federal-Mogul-Bower Bearings stock in exchange for each share of Sealed Power stock owned by them.

Federal-Mogul-Bower's shareholders will also be asked to enlarge the company's nine-man board of directors to 11, and to elect Johnson and Gordon E. Reynolds, Sealed Power's executive Vice President, to these new positions.

IF THE MERGER is approved by shareholders, Sealed Power will be operated as a division of Federal-Mogul-Bower Bearings, Inc. Johnson will become General Manager of the Sealed Power Division and a Vice President of Federal-Mogul-Bower.

Other members of the Sealed Power organization will continue with their present responsibilities.

SEALED Power produces piston rings, pistons, and cylinder sleeves for original equipment and service applications. Federal-Mogul-Bower manufactures sleeve, ball and roller bearings, oil seals and specialized aerospace components.

Both companies serve a broad range of original equipment customers in the automotive, farm implement, construction equipment and other industries, and they are major suppliers of replacement parts to wholesalers.

Officials of the two companies said, "Both concerns have many years of experience in serving the same types of customers in both the original equipment and service fields. The proposed merger of our two companies will permit us to perform a better job of serving our customers' needs, both here and abroad."

Delegates file for places on Primary ballot

An equal number of Republicans and Democrats—33 of each—filed nominating petitions with County Clerk Paul Wakefield before the 4 p.m. deadline Tuesday to get their names on the Sept. 1 primary ballots as candidates for delegate to their respective county conventions.

Republican nominees came from 12 of the county's 25 eligible precincts. Democrats filed from only six precincts.

Republicans have allocated 73 delegate seats to their county convention on the basis of Republican vote cast in the county's precincts at the 1962 general election.

County Democrats are choosing six delegates from each of the county's 25 precincts for a total of 150.

ELECTION of convention delegates in this year's primaries is in accordance with a new statute which requires candidates to file nominating petitions. The petitions carry the signatures of at least 15 qualified voters in the precinct which the delegate seeks to represent.

Write-in votes will also be counted, as in the past; but delegates who file petitions will have their names printed on the special primary delegates' ballot.

Candidates filing before Tuesday's 4 p.m. deadline were:

Seek 200 donors for Bloodmobile here next Tuesday

The Clinton County Bloodmobile will make its semi-annual appearance in St. Johns Tuesday between noon and 6 p.m. at the Congregational Church.

Volunteer leaders of the community project are hoping to receive 200 pints of blood from donors to keep the county's program of free blood to residents going.

CLINTON County is a member of the Red Cross Blood Bank region, headquartered in Lansing, and anyone living in the county is eligible to receive needed blood free in any part of the county.

By donating to the Blood Bank program, residents can help keep the program going and may some day make use of it themselves.

MRS KENNETH Spicer of 804 E. Baldwin Street is St. Johns chairman for the Bloodmobile program. She said young donors and those with rare types of blood are specifically needed.

She said blood donated Tuesday will help offset that used by county and regional residents. Many persons with diseases of the blood use large quantities, but most of the blood used in minor, unpublicized cases where only a few pints are needed at a time.

SIX HOUSEWIVES who worked Monday night telephoning past donors got 150 definite pledges for blood, and 17 other persons said "maybe" to donating a pint.

The women made 218 actual phone contacts with residents from a central telephone station at the General Telephone Co. business office. Use of the office for this purpose was donated by GenTel and its St. Johns manager, William Graef.

MRS SPICER said other calls to prospective donors are being made this week by wives of American Legion, VFW and Lions Club members. She said she figures well over 250 pledges will be necessary to get the 200 pints needed.

One hundred nine other residents—also past donors—who were not home Monday night will be called again by the volunteers.

EIGHT hundred pints of blood were used last year by Clinton See BLOODMOBILE Page 2

Rain holds up "good" Clinton wheat harvest

Most of Clinton's golden wheat remained in the fields early this week as a steady drizzle kept farmers from harvesting what was called a "good crop."

Early in the week the St. Johns Cooperative Co. had received from farmers only about 25,000 bushels of wheat, "hardly even a start," according to Manager John Hall.

If drizzles such as the area got the first two days of this week persist, quality of the wheat could be affected adversely.

Over a million and a half bushels of wheat are expected to come off Clinton County farms, according to Extension Agent George McQueen. He said the crop this year was a good one, although it does not top one of about four years ago when yields ranged from 55 to 70 bushels per acre.

THIS YEAR forecasts indicate farmers will get about 45 bushels or more per acre from 35,000 acres in wheat production.

Market price early this week was $1.28 a bushel, compared to the Commodity Credit Corp. loan rate of $1.30 bushel.

"There is enough demand for soft white wheat grown here that farmers are usually assured of meeting the support price," McQueen said.

THE WHITE wheat is grown from roughly Lansing north, and it usually commands a better price than the hard red wheat grown south of Lansing. The white flour coming from it is considered more desirable than red, and it is used as pastry flour.

According to McQueen, a lot of farmers hold their wheat in their own or in commercial storage to sell at a later date when prices may be better. Those who take a government loan on their wheat at the time of harvest and storage get $1.30 a bushel.

INTEREST is paid by the farmer on the loan at the time the farmer redeems it and sells his wheat on the open market. If he doesn't sell on the open market, there is no interest and the government takes over storage of the wheat.

According to John Ferris of the Cooperative Extension Service at Michigan State University, Michigan wheat prices usually increase by at least 15 cents per bushel between harvest and December.

Vincent to run for legislature

Leroy Vincent of Elsie has announced his candidacy for State Representative in the new 88th district at the Democratic primary on Sept. 1. The district includes the western and northwestern townships of Clinton County, all of Gratiot County and parts of Eaton and Midland counties.

HE HAS served as a member of the Elsie board of education, as village assessor and as a member of the board of review. He is the present chairman of the Clinton County Democratic Committee.

Vincent indicates that his primary interest in the legislature would be the promotion of a sound fiscal tax reform program.

"LAST YEAR the advance was 40 cents," he said. "This year a more normal season increase is expected, allowing only modest storage profits. The picture would improve if the European and Russian crops are smaller than expected.

"As a rule of thumb, storage prospects look best if harvest prices are below $1.30 in Central Michigan. If harvest prices are above the $1.30 level, gains from storage would likely be small."

JOHN HALL noted that in some areas there appears to be more use of farm storage this year. He warned that the federal Food and Drug Administration is keeping a close watch on the quality of grain, and farmers "should take care to keep their wheat in storage clean. If it becomes contaminated it would have to be sold for feed."

Hall said the St. Johns elevator did get some dry wheat but only dabs of it. "Weather is the determining factor on the crop now," he said.

THIS YEAR'S harvest actually started early last week, McQueen said, with a few farmers opening up their fields on Tuesday, July 7. Friday the work started again and the pace picked up fast Saturday only to be stopped by the rains.

Once the weather breaks, the elevators here, at Fowler and at Ovid will be busy as farmers harvest the wheat and truck it in for sale or storage.

County people in various parts of the country. About 546 pints were donated in replacement last year.

One hundred thirty-four pints of blood were used by 87 persons at Clinton Memorial Hospital last year, Mrs Spicer said.

MRS SPICER said blood costs about $35 a pint for those people not under a Blood Bank program such as the one in Clinton County. There is an additional hospital charge—usually between $15 and $25, she said—for administering the blood, and even county residents must pay it.

"But there's quite a difference in paying $15 and paying $50," she said. "That's why we don't want to lose the program and why we want everyone to donate a pint of blood Tuesday."

THE BLOOD collected here will be sent directly to the Lansing Regional Blood Center where it will be typed and stored. The Red Cross office here at 204 N. Ottawa Street will get a list of the donors and their types of blood.

The office then will prepare cards containing the information and send them to the donors.

ALL HELP for the Bloodmobile is on a volunteer basis, according to Mrs Richard Newman of R-2, DeWitt, who is co-chairman with her husband for the county. Food is also brought by volunteers and given to donors. The Red Cross' part in the plan is only in collecting the blood.

"ONE OUT of four persons in the county will need blood at some time," Mrs Newman said, "and as long as this program can be kept going blood will always be free to them. Our free programs we offer will point this out."

Damage was estimated at between $250 and $300. Edward Stephenson, store manager, said only the building was damaged and there was no harm done to merchandise in the window.

RIDING IN the car with Mrs Pohly was her husband, W. Y. Pohly. The car suffered extensive damage to the front fender and bumper.

EAGLE— An arrangement of yellow and white daisy mums adorned the altar of the Wesley Memorial chapel in East Lansing for the candlelight service which united Barbara Loraine Howe and Ronald Eugene Hamlin in marriage, Saturday, June 27, at 7:30 p.m.

Rev Harold Jacobs of Grand Ledge officiated at the double ring ceremony, as he did at the marriage of the bride's parents on that same date 23 years before.

MR AND Mrs Marvin L. Howe of Eagle are parents of the bride, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr and Mrs Elmer E. Hamlin of Webberville.

Barbara chose a floor length gown of embossed taffeta, with three-quarter length sleeves and panel back. Her shoulder length veil was fastened to a crown of pearly flowers. A cascade arrangement of daisy mums surrounded a corsage of white orchids. Her only jewelry was a silver necklace, gift of the bridegroom.

THE bride's sister, Miss Marilyn Gayle Howe, was her only attendant. She wore a street length gown of yellow tulle over taffeta, with cap sleeves and her matching bill-box hat featured a yellow bow. She carried a basket of white daisies.

Richard Hamlin was his brother's best man. Miss Ruth Ann Hamlin, sister of the bridegroom, was soloist. Robert Hamlin, another brother of the groom, and Douglas Howe, brother of the bride, seated the guests. Miss Maridell Lynn Howe, sister of the bride, had charge of the guest book.

THE MOTHER of the bride wore a rose sheath dress, with matching hat and white accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations. The groom's mother wore a navy crepe dress with pink hat and accessories and had a corsage of white carnations.

A reception for 200 guests followed in the church parlors, where the serving table featured arrangements of white daisies and yellow candles. Aunts and cousins of the bridal pair served the refreshments.

Both young people attended Michigan State University. The bride is now employed in the pathology laboratory at St. Lawrence Hospital, and the bridegroom is engaged in dairy farming. They are residing at their farm home near Webberville.

MR AND MRS LARRY DEVEREAUX

St. Johns man wed in Sheridan rites

Miss Peggy Ann Plath, daughter of Mr and Mrs Donald R. Plath of Sheridan, became the bride of Larry Lynn Devereaux, son of Mr and Mrs Mahlon P. Devereaux of 703 Church Street, St. Johns, June 27.

Baskets of white mums, pompons and gladioli with green fern, and candelabra adorned the chancel of Sheridan Congregational Church for the double ring candlelight ceremony performed by Rev Woodrow W. Hall.

THE BRIDE wore a floor length gown of chiffon over taffeta, fashioned with a lace bodice, chiffon, wrist-length sleeves and a scalloped neckline. Her fingertip veil fell from a pearl tiara and she carried a snapdragon corsage on a white Bible with cascading rosebuds and streamers.

Ginger Plath of Sheridan was her sister's maid of honor. Sharon Pendell and Judy Seat of Carson City were bridesmaids. Their street length gowns of blue chiffon over taffeta were designed with a white scalloped lace and blue chiffon bows with matching tulle. They carried pink and white colonial bouquets.

AS FLOWER girls, Tamera Kae and Rhonda Rae Smith of Lakeview wore floor length dresses of white dotted swiss and carried baskets of pink and white rose petals.

Richard Pease of St. Johns served as best man. Lonny Devereaux, brother of the bridegroom, and Terry Griffin were groomsmen. Kenneth Salsbury and Chuck Plath of Sheridan seated the guests.

"BECAUSE" and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by Ferris Thompson of Fenwick accompanied by Marcia Jenks at the organ.

Mrs Plath chose a two-piece dress of aqua lace with white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs Devereaux wore a blue lace sheath with blue and white accessories. Their corsages were of pink carnations.

Mr and Mrs Richard Davidson of Utica, the bridegroom's uncle and aunt, were hosts for the reception for 125 guests in the church parlors.

Randy Rumzek celebrates ninth birthday

Eleven friends were in attendance to help Randy Rumzek celebrate his ninth birthday. The birthday cake was in the theme of the day, and decorated in red, white, and blue, with flags marching around the outside.

The boys went fishing in their first game, and Steven Church totaled the most points to become the winner.

The next game was a candy kiss toss through, and Terry Burnes came out highest in this after trying in the first round with Edmond Thelen, and Kerby Merz.

IN THE three-legged race, the winners in this were Denis Burns and David Blossy.

Fireworks began popping next, with his father, Thomas Rumzek supervising.

Randy then opened his numerous gifts, after which refreshments were served.

Then came the call "Play Ball," and the boys had a rousing game, until their parents came to pick them up.

Other boys attending were John Van Zee, Gary Fuller, Brian Stevenson, Vedell Isham, Rodney Case. Also attending were Randy's two great aunts, Mrs Merle Bartels, and Mrs Marguerite Ripley, from Kalamazoo.

Church holds ground-breaking

The members of the Bethel Mennonite Church of R-1, Ashley, held a ground-breaking service June 30.

The pastor, A. Lehman Longenecker had charge of the service. Other participating members were Vernon Snyder and Milo Summer, elders; Milton Sharick, Truman Bontrager and Phillip Summer of the building committee.

THE PLANS call for moving the building back farther from the road, adding a lobby and an extension for the rostrum and enlarging the main auditorium for a seating capacity of approximately 200. The basement will contain a kitchen, fellow ship room, additional classrooms, a sewing room for the Women's Missionary and Service Auxiliary, furnace room and storage.

The church is located along US-27 about midway between St. Johns and Ithaca.

Organize horseshoe tourney

Horseshoe tournaments for young and old are being organized by the city recreation department and will be played at the city park.

Roger Kowalski, recreation director, said the tournament will be run on a challenge basis in two classes—male and female 16 and over, and male and female under 16.

THE OBJECT, Kowalski said, is to move or stay at the top of a "ladder." Participants can challenge anyone within two spots above him on the ladder, and the challenge matches must be played within four days of the challenge at the city park.

The winner takes the spot of the loser on the ladder, if it is to his advantage. If the match cannot be played in four days, it is forfeited to the challenger.

ORIGINAL places on the ladder will be assigned as entries are received. Persons may sign up by phone or in person at the city park office between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. His or her name and phone number is required.

Little League gets "go" sign; tryouts tonight

Seven dads Monday night gave the signal to "go" with an organized Little League yet this summer, and the first of two tryout sessions is set for this Thursday night at 6:30.

The seven met Monday evening with Recreation Director Roger Kowalski and baseball Director Bill Smiley to discuss prospects for the Little League.

FOUR TEAMS, at least, will be organized, with between 12 and 15 boys on each team. All boys between the ages of 8 and 12 interested in playing baseball in the evening are invited to turn out Thursday night and again Monday night for tryouts between 6:30 and 7:30 p.m.

Boys should report to a table, which will be set up near the softball diamond, where they will be registered and given a number to wear on their shirts.

ALL MANAGERS and their assistants for the league plan to be present to watch the boys working out and will keep track of good players by jotting down those players' numbers.

Boys are reminded to appear for tryouts both nights in order to give the managers a good chance to observe talent.

AT 8 p.m. Monday night, after the final tryout is over, the managers and coaches will meet alone to bid among themselves for players whom they would like on their team.

Managers and assistants who attended the meeting Monday

Tuesday, July 21
Portland at Miller's Tavern at 9:15 p.m.; Fowler Quads at Sunfield at 8:30 p.m.; Grand Ledge at Becker's Furniture at 8 p.m.; Ashland Oil at Roadhouse at 9 p.m. night were Jack Downing and Lyle French; Lee Pederson, Sheldon Parker and Elton Hufnagel; George Eberhard and Louis Eisler.

OTHER interested adults who would like to assist these men are urged to contact any of them. Smiley said at least three adults are being sought for each team, so that there will always be someone present to take charge.

The coaches will work under the manager and will coach the bases.

BOYS WILL be "bought" with a mythical amount of money by the managers and coaches next Monday night. Only about 50 of the boys who try out will be accepted for league play.

Smiley pointed out that the Little League being organized will not interfere in any way with the recreation department's summer daytime program, and those teams and leagues will continue as they have been.

LITTLE LEAGUE games will be played on the softball diamond early in the evening, the exact time to be announced later.

Regional quarter-midget races in area Sunday

The Capitol Quarter-Midget club will be host Saturday and Sunday to the Region 4 Invitational midget car races.

About 100 cars—powered by 2-horsepower motors—are expected. All will be driven by youngsters between the ages of 4 and 15. Cars and drivers are expected from Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Pennsylvania and as far away as California.

THE RACES will be held behind the Pigeon Inn on US-27 north of State Road in southern Clinton County. No admission is charged.

Qualifying races will be held all day Saturday. There will be racing Saturday night, with the main events and features set for Sunday. All feature races will be 40 laps on the 1/20 mile track.

BOYS WILL BE racing for trophies in novice stock class (beginners), junior stock (up to age 8), senior stock (age 9 and over), modified stock, B-modified stock and AA class stock.

The Capitol Quarter-Midget Club is a member of the American Quarter-Midget Assn. The local club, consisting mostly of Lansing area youths, has races each Wednesday.

CARS ARE owned by adults and usually driven by their children, according to Billy Glisson, a member of the board of directors. David Smith is president of the club.

Swimming signup today

Registration for St. Johns children to take swimming instructions will be held this morning (Thursday) at the pool from 9 until noon.

If extra space is available in swimming classes, other children will be accepted Friday from 9 a.m. to noon.

Lessons learned by experience seldom need explanations.

This is the architectural style the city commission chose last week for the new city water treatment plant scheduled to start late this year. Detailed plans of the interior workings of the plant are not complete.

Water plant to be started this year

The city's new water treatment plant will probably be under construction by this fall and in full operation within 18 months.

The city commission last week approved an architectural style for the building, which will be located in the block bounded by Lansing, Ottawa, Lewis and Gibbs streets. The site is in the present well field area.

THE TREATMENT plant will cost an estimated $496,000, which includes $5,000 to revise piping in the present system to bring water to the plant. When completed, all water used in the city, whether for residential or manufacturing use, will be treated and lime-soda softened.

Interior plans for the building are only tentative, but they were shown to the commission by Ray Smit, engineer for Ayres, Lewis, Norris and Day of Ann Arbor. Portions of the treatment system will be outside the building.

OF THE total cost, $409,300 will be spent for construction, with the other $81,700 earmarked for financing, administrative, engineering and legal fees.

The treatment plant is part of the water program under an $850,000 bond issue approved by voters in January. General obligation bonds have been sold, Acting City Manager Kenneth Greer said, and the money is available for use.

NEW WATER rates passed by the commission June 16 are now in effect, and revenue from collections will be used to retire the bonds.

Smit, in his report to the commission, said all new water mains connected with the project have been installed and pressure tested. Some minor cleanup work is yet to be done, he said.

FOUNDATIONS and walls of the well houses were reported complete and by this week masonry work was expected to be under way.

Steel for the new water tower south of Clinton Memorial is already on the site and erection of it is expected to start in a week. The foundation was expected to be done last week, with about seven days to lapse to allow concrete to set before tower building starts.

THE TOWER is expected to take about 3 1/2 months in construction.

The entire water improvement program is now about half completed, Greer said.

Workmen are in the final stages of construction of the base for the new water tower south of the hospital. Framework was nearly complete last week prior to pouring concrete. Visible in the background is steel which will be used later.

Curb, gutter work to begin this month

The Kenneth C. Roberts firm of East Lansing was low bidder last week for doing the city's curb and gutter work this year.

The Roberts bid was $1.55 a foot, which is the amount affected property owners will be assessed for the improvement.

TOTAL CURB and gutter projects in various parts of town will cost in the neighborhood of $56,000, according to Acting City Manager Kenneth Greer. Work will probably start by the end of the month.

Cost of construction of catch basins, leadouts from them to storm sewers, excavation and other such work will be absorbed by the city and will not figure in the property assessments. Total cost of the work this summer should be about $3.25 a foot, Greer said, with only the $1.55 being assessed.

SPECIFICATIONS for the curb and gutter work included for the first time this year requires the contractor to back fill and rough grade behind the new curbs. This had not been spelled out in past years and had resulted in extra cost and time to the city in obtaining dirt for the backfilling. This year the contractor will have the responsibility.

Richard Steinhouse, 18, of 609 N. Lansing Street, St. Johns, was sentenced to two years on probation Monday by Circuit Judge Leo W. Corkin after he was found guilty of larceny from Walker's Cafe last Dec. 11.

IN ADDITION to the probation, he was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail but was given credit for time he had been in jail prior to the circuit court trial. He is now free. He was also assessed $200 court costs.

Blame high weeds for crash

A two car crash blamed on high weeds which hampered the view of both drivers resulted in a little girl being shaken up last Thursday.

The crash occurred at the corner of Howe and Bower Roads. Cars driven by Herbert E. Pingel, 61, and Anthony Feldpausch, 65, both of R-1, Eagle, collided.

PASSENGERS in the Feldpausch car were Arthur Bartlett, 27, of R-1, Williamston, and his 5-year-old daughter, Laura. She was shaken up, but she did not require immediate medical attention and was taken home by her father.

Deputy Sheriff Bruce Wilcox said in his report on the accident that weeds and an embankment blocked the view so that neither driver could see the other until it was too late to avoid the accident.

Fast, all crop combining for every farm... that's the

MASSEY-FERGUSON LINEUP OF SELF-PROPELLED COMBINES

Massey-Ferguson 300 Here's a breakthrough in combine design that provides a new yardstick for capacity and economy of operation. The first ever with CENTER-BALANCE body design and featuring the M-F saddle type grain tanks to keep the weight way down low and to distribute it to both sides of the machine.

CONSOLE-CONTROL for the first time ever, table lift, traction speed, reel lift, cylinder speed concave setting, separator drive, tank unloading, unloader spout, table drive—all controlled from the operator's seat.

Massey-Ferguson 72 The M-F 72 SP combine is the "light heavyweight" champ of harvest fields, sized and priced just right for medium to large farms. Nothing near its size can match the M-F 72 in capacity and ability to do a fast, clean harvesting job. It has all the features: Balanced separation, long open bottom straw walkers and low profile. The M-F 72 has a 28-inch cylinder, 10 or 12-foot cut.

Here is a low-cost, self-propelled combine engineered to meet the needs of small to medium-sized farms. Less than 9 feet wide and only 8 feet high, it goes through farm gates easily, along the highway safely with unloading auger folded. It fits your storage shed and fits your pocket book—yet it has many of the Massey-Ferguson big combine features.

Your Massey-Ferguson Super will pay for itself in savings. See This Famous Lineup of MASSEY-FERGUSON SELF-PROPELLED COMBINES TODAY AT

St. Johns C of C installs new officers, hears about F - M's expansion plans

Hart talks at annual meeting

"If I sound like I'm bragging a little—it's because I intend to," said Kermit Hart, aggressive manager of the St. Johns division of Federal-Mogul.

Hart was the principal speaker at last Thursday evening's dinner session of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce and he told in detail of the planning and work that had gone into the $3 million addition to the local plant which is scheduled to get under way later this summer.

The plant addition, announced last month, will nearly double Federal-Mogul's floor space and provide employment for an additional 100 workers, Hart said. Their present work force numbers 520.

HART PRESENTED factually the story of efforts of the St. Johns staff of Federal-Mogul to bring about the expansion of their facility here.

He pointed out that a decision was made by his company early in 1963 to build and equip another plant to manufacture bearings, bushings and washers similar to those produced in St. Johns.

We in St. Johns were convinced that it was in the company's best interest to expand here rather than erect a new plant elsewhere, Hart said. Concerted effort on the part of all the local management team was responsible for a broad decision favorable to St. Johns, the plant manager said.

HART WAS flanked at the dinner meeting by several of his management associates. Introduced were: Edward Idzkowski, plant engineer; Donald Gilson, personnel manager; George McCurry, maintenance supervisor; and Arthur Wood, plant accountant.

"These men and many others worked long hours helping to develop the materials which we presented to the company's board of directors in support of the project," Hart said.

He expressed his appreciation of city officials for their cooperation in bringing about realization of the plant expansion.

HART traced Federal-Mogul's growth here from 1947 when they employed only 34 workers to the present day when their payroll exceeds $3.7 million annually. He estimated their 1965 payroll at an amount in excess of $4.5 million.

"Almost every American-built auto on the highway today has at least one part produced at Federal-Mogul in St. Johns," Hart said.

Lawrence G. Sexton, manager of the St. Johns division of Sealed Power Corp., introduced Hart to the Chamber of Commerce audience. He spoke highly of Federal-Mogul's accomplishments here and pointed out that a community's industrial development potential was often closely associated with the expansion of its existing plants.

Name Exchange district head

Kermit Hart, manager of the St. Johns division of Federal-Mogul-Bower Bearings, Inc., told members of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce last Thursday night about his company's $3 million expansion project here. He stands (above) pointing to one of the charts which he used in his explanation.

There are 271 members of the post here.

National American Legion Commander Daniel F. Foley of Wabasha, Minn., will be honored speaker at the opening session of the 46th convention at 7 p.m., at the Pantlin Thursday.

CONVENTION highlights in addition to formal convention sessions, include a three-hour parade through downtown Grand Rapids Saturday at 3 p.m., finals of the junior and senior drum and bugle corp competition at Houseman Field Friday at 7 p.m., and a band concert at 8 p.m. Saturday following band competition.

Climaxing the convention will be the election of the 1964-65 Michigan department commander Sunday. The convention will end following joint memorial services of the Legion and Auxiliary at the Grand Rapids Civic Auditorium.

Michigan ranks second in plum production and third in apple production besides being among the top four states in production of strawberries, pears, grapes, grape juice, wine and fresh grapes.

Feldpausch takes over presidency

St. Johns Chamber of Commerce got off to an auspicious start for the new fiscal year last Thursday evening when upwards of 80 members attended a dinner meeting at Daley's restaurant on South US-27.

Bernard Feldpausch, former president of St. Johns Business Unlimited, was installed as the chamber's new president. Feldpausch, manager at Pohl Brothers auto agency here, succeeds Robert Prowant, local restaurateur who led the chamber through a successful year in 1963-64.

IN A BRIEF address following his installation, Feldpausch outlined eloquently the objectives which he set for the chamber during the coming year.

"We must be an organization which works for the betterment of the entire community, and not just for the economic and business welfare of the area," he said.

A principal challenge to all chamber members, he pointed out, is that of providing worthwhile employment for the 630 boys and girls who graduated from county high schools this past June.

"WE MUST make the Clinton area attractive to those young people," he said. "They are our greatest resource; if we don't provide opportunity for them here we lose them to other communities."

Other new officers introduced were: James McKenzie, local insurance man, vice president; John Rumbaugh, vice president and cashier of the Clinton National Bank, treasurer; and Max Field, publisher of the St. Johns Reminder, a new member of the board of directors.

PERCY J. ABRAMS, executive secretary of the chamber, read a report of the organization's progress during the past year.

He urged increased attention to the community's potential for industrial development, service to agriculture, and tourist promotion. He said that small conventions attracted to the city during the past year had provided stimulus for the local economy.

Dr Robert L. Wohlers, retiring treasurer, reported on the chamber's finances. He pleaded for increased support among members for the group's activities. "Our present budget is not sufficient to carry on the extensive program required to keep St. Johns moving ahead," he said.

City police have busy 6 months

Police Chief Everett Glazier reported 117 traffic accidents occurred in St. Johns during the first six months of the year.

In his report to the city commission last Tuesday night, Glazier also said his force made 304 arrests for violations of the law other than parking. Some 143 complaints were recorded and investigated, but many others were handled without a record being made.

THERE ARE 294 property inspections made by city police, who also repair and collect from parking meters, handle food and tavern inspections, direct traffic for funerals, athletic events and other such occasions, work with justice of the peace courts, and handle other such duties.

Glazier said there are presently five police officers, in addition to himself, and two radio men. Officers get three-weeks annual vacation and work six-day weeks with an extra day off every fourth week. Altogether, there are 548 man days off every year, in addition to unplanned sick leaves.

GLAZIER'S request for additional police help because of the difficulty in assigning adequate police protection was discussed briefly by the commission last Tuesday night.

Buck, Stoddard to be honored

Five-year service awards will be presented to city employees Harry Buck and Clarence Stoddard at the annual employee picnic in August.

The city commission voted last week to hold the picnic again, but no date has been set. About 150 employees and members of their families attended last year, and about 200 are anticipated this time.

THE CITY recognizes its employees with awards for five, 10, 15, 20 and 25 years of work. Buck and Stoddard will receive certificates noting their length of service.

Concession stand work completed

Improvements around the concession stand and office at the city park have been completed, Acting City Manager Kenneth Greer told the city commission last week.

New cement walks have been installed around the stand, and a concrete retaining wall has been built at the northeast edge of the building to prevent soil from washing down onto the track.

It takes know-how to cash recreation crop

The politicians and the metropolitan press want farmers to sell recreation instead of farm products.

At first glance it looks good. We have more food than we can use. More than half of our farms are too small or the land is too poor to provide a decent living. There is a growing demand for recreation—especially in places like Clinton County near the cities.

So the answer seems obvious: Farmers should put in camp grounds, riding stables, fishing ponds, golf courses, hunting preserves, ski slopes and swimming beaches. All that's needed is some government money to finance it.

WE HAVE TALKED to people in the recreation business. And we've talked to local Agriculture Department field workers. Most of them are highly skeptical.

The average farmer has about the same chance of being a successful resort operator as the resort man has of becoming a successful farmer.

Recreation is big business and it's highly competitive. The failure rate is high. The capital needs are increasing.

A ROPE AND a lift no longer make a ski resort. It takes more like a million dollars.

Some signs and birds don't make a hunting preserve. Today's "sportsman hunter" has dough to spend and he goes to the spot which offers some extras in the way of special service and refreshment.

Now and then we will hear some amazing success stories. A farmer with 80 acres of sand, 10 cows, 10 kids and a mortgage will become comfortably wealthy from his fish ponds. But for every story of this kind, there will be 20 stories of professionals coming in with the know-how and the capital to buy and develop big resorts.

We're for Matthews in State House race

It's good to have a mature and personable young man like Jim Matthews of St. Johns who's willing to stick his neck out and offer himself as a candidate for State Representative in the new 87th Michigan district.

Jim has no illusions about the odds against him. The district in which he seeks the GOP nomination includes all of Shiawassee County and only about half of Clinton's population. The Clinton area involved is comprised of Bath, DeWitt, Olive, Victor, Ovid and Bingham Townships—plus the City of St. Johns.

AT THIS WRITING there are two other announced candidates—Norman VanEpps, Owosso lawyer, and Blair Woodman, retired Shiawassee County Agricultural Agent.

VanEpps and Woodman appear to be able and affable fellows, but we'll string along with Matthews. There are more than enough lawyers and pensioners in the legislature already.

In his 20 years of experience in a small business, Matthews has learned the problems which most folks in this area face. He has a splendid record of achievement in civic affairs and he's been active politically for the past decade.

With solid Clinton support and a lot of hard campaigning in Shiawassee, Matthews has an outside chance of winning the nomination. We wish him well.

RAMBLIN' with Rink

BY LOWELL G. RINKER

The cover of the spring edition of the Michigan Heart Association "Challenge," carried a state map listing the percentage of deaths which came from all cardiovascular causes in 1962.

Clinton County's percentage was an even 62, and only 11 other counties had a higher rate. Six of them were in the Upper Peninsula, with Keweenaw ranking highest with 77.4.

SINCE THE state percentage is 55.5, Clinton is considerably above average, unfortunately.

The percentages, taken from State Board of Health statistics, are generally higher for the quiet rural counties, where there are relatively more aged persons, and lower in the industrialized bustling counties, where the young and striving live, the magazine pointed out.

OUR VOLUNTEER firemen are right proud of their new fire truck, and rightfully so. It's a sweet machine and no doubt will make an important difference in fighting fires.

Firefighting is by far not the safest job, and it's a good that the firemen have this equipment to work with. It's sure not a glory job otherwise, as this little item points out:

FIREMEN: BURNED BEFORE THEY START
"When the fire trucks are delayed 40 seconds in traffic, people say: 'It took 20 minutes to get there.'"

"When the trucks race at 40 mph, it's: 'Look at those reckless fools.'"

A storm that was nothing short of a calamity struck this section of the county a little before noon on Monday, and when the fury had been spent, devastation and heavy loss lingered in its wake, some farmers losing by fire and many more by water and hail.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY

Seldom a campaign like this one!

IF, AS I SUSPECT at this writing, Senator Goldwater is handed the Republican presidential nomination, you can look for a no-holds-barred, rough and tumble campaign starting shortly after Labor Day.

Pitted against each other will be two real "pros" and it appears that there will be no shortage of funds for promotion purposes. Radio, TV, newspapers and other media will be loaded with political propaganda for the next three months and you'll be pretty sick of the whole business by Nov. 3 when you cast your ballot.

LEFT TO THE two protagonists, Goldwater and Johnson, the campaign might have been conducted on a fairly high plane. But they aren't going to be able to exercise much control. The hotheads among their adherents will see to it that you are bombarded with all sorts of mean and vicious rumors and charges.

The onslaught of questionable literature began weeks ago for those of us in positions of editorial responsibility. Some of the stuff has merit, but the great majority of it finds its way quickly to the wastebasket.

In my memory of presidential campaigns there has been nothing quite comparable so far as the intensity of the barrage of letters and circulars emanating from the various groups supporting the two candidates.

THIS IS NOT limited to organized efforts. Individuals get into the act in surprising numbers. And they're sincere in their determination to convert the editor.

An unsigned letter this week, post-marked from St. Johns, takes me to task for recent comments with respect to bad treatment Senator Goldwater had been receiving from the press. "I'm surprised that you stand up for Senator Goldwater!!" says the writer (double exclamation marks are always an indication of emphatic disapproval).

"He is radical on everything," the letter continues. "He believes in throwing a bomb into Cuba. He is against Civil Rights. He wants to do away with the UN and he is against everything good . . . No one can beat President Johnson. He will win with the greatest majority ever—even greater than FDR had in his early reign."

IN CONTRAST is a signed letter from a former college roommate, lawyer Owen W. Crumpacker of Hammond, Indiana. Owen is in a tizzy because a mutual friend, Tom Kleene, president of the Detroit Press Club, introduced Gov. Scranton at a pre-convention appearance in the motor city.

Crumpacker, who represents a considerable body of opinion in Indiana, has been a Goldwater backer from the start. He even goes so far as to suggest that Gen. Robert E. Wood, of America First fame, is a leading candidate for Vice President on the GOP ticket.

WHO'S TO DO a proper job of sorting the wheat from this kind of chaff? There's no question of President Johnson's lead at the present moment. He'd win hands down if the vote were tomorrow.

But in three months of rough campaigning, the American people are going to be subjected to treatment such as they've never had before. The faithful will remain faithful, for the most part. The independents, who represent the balance of political power, will decide the issue.

The political camp which most successfully sows seeds of doubt will win the day. Because he presently commands the widest support, President Johnson has the immediate edge. Barring a major stumble in policy or a national catastrophe in economic or foreign affairs, he should win handily in November.

But never underestimate the power potential in the concentrated Goldwater attack. His eager and enthusiastic backers will never stop working until the last ballot is cast.

WHILE I REGRET the brickbats to be thrown, I'm grateful to live in a country where you can heave 'em without fear of serious reprisal.

While something of a schism has developed between the two wings of their party, the Republicans are not in serious trouble. They'll survive as they have in the past. The national welfare requires it.

One-party governments are for dictatorships. The American tradition calls for two strong parties, one keeping check on the other.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Frequent stops combat highway, heat fatigue

BY ELMER E. WHITE Michigan Press Association SUMMER WEATHER is rarely given direct blame for highway mishaps, but most experts agree it is a factor.

Usually, however, this factor is teamed with the increased motor traffic, shorter tempers, and others to cause the disasters which occur on the roads.

HEAT WAVES, which cause distorted visual patterns for otherwise tired motorists often are listed among weather conditions contributing to accidents.

Even brief rest periods on a summer outing can mean a big difference between highway safety and roadside tragedy.

Michigan's roads offer one of the most convenient means of getting these rest periods. The rest areas scattered throughout the state also offer a close look at some of the beautiful scenic spots at roadside.

REST AREAS provide rest room facilities, picnic tables, parking areas for cars and trucks, telephones in some cases, a state map, and drinking water.

Just over 30 rest areas are maintained on main routes. Many others are placed by community and county officials.

THE steadily increasing rate of highway accidents and deaths points up the need for use of these roadside facilities. Deputy State Highway Commissioner Frederick E. Tripp describes rest periods as "an effective means of reducing driving fatigue, an important feature of any highway safety program."

Visitors to Michigan's Capitol during the next two years will find an empty display case on the main floor rotunda. The void represents progress in preserving a segment of historical mementoes.

SOME 211 historic battle flags carried by Michigan regiments during the Civil War, Spanish-American War and the two World Wars are displayed in the rotunda cases.

Last fall the first batch of flags, many of them barely holding together in shreds, was shipped to West Point for restoration.

Deterioration of the flags continue while they are on display because of the strain placed on the cloth by its own weight, notes Floyd Haight, chairman of the Civil War Centennial Observation Commission.

IN TIME THE flags would eventually have been destroyed by the process. At West Point, each flag will be sandwiched between two layers of nylon netting dyed to match the flag colors.

By hand stitching the three layers together, the nylon net takes the strain off the flag when it is hanging. The nylon will not deteriorate with age, Haight said. Three years will be required to complete the restoration because of the amount of hand work involved.

MAIL-ORDER purchasing is at an all-time high in the country and is, on the whole, a convenient means of acquiring quality goods and services without leaving the house.

One notable exception, however, is a segment of the mail order business especially active during the summer months, according to the consumer protection division of the state attorney general's office.

This exception is labeled by the division as the diploma mill business, a mail order operation aimed at offering various types of schooling in special fields.

QUICK ACTION is taken when educational frauds are brought to the attention of local or state officials.

An example of the action taken recently involving a mail order firm offering help to persons seeking civil service jobs. The attorney general's investigations showed the outfit employed no teachers to fulfill the promise of a 24-lesson course with placement counseling.

NOTES SIGNED by prospective students were quickly sold to a finance company, which was not responsible for the original seller's promises, and the firm ignored complaints of students who received mimeographed sheets labeled lessons.

The firm was put out of business in Michigan, but past experience has taught the consumer protection division that such outfits often switch to another operation, such as air hostess training, meat-cutting schools or some other field when put out of operation in one area.

WITH SCHOOLS and colleges overcrowded, the demands for education and specialized training are great and the opportunities for fraudulent diploma mills are ripe.

There is a quick, easy way to self-protection against these frauds, consumer protection division representatives emphasize.

Before signing or paying anything for mail order learning, check if the outfit is listed with the State Superintendent of Public Instruction as an accredited institution.

Reverse Gossip

BY W. E. DOBSON

The daily contacts have been made, The hours of labor end, We come again to hearth and home And visit friend to friend; We pass our own opinions on Each chapter, line, and verse, And seldom choose in choosing, To gossip—in reverse.

Too oft imagination Has all too big a play, As we chronicle-in passing The happenings of the day; So the message—somewhat garbled, Serves the innocent to curse, When it could have been an asset If we'd gossip in reverse.

Have you ever been a party To a "character suicide?" When each juicy bit was added In the form of an aside Never meaning to be cruel, You would stage a neat reverse, And convict by innuendo? Can't we gossip in reverse?

Folks must talk, and talk repeated, Too oft gains in sordid lore, Every gory added detail Screams aloud for more and more! Could we not with equal effort, Build for good and not for worse? For a goal that's worth the winning, Try our gossip in reverse?

Just suppose we start a chapter Labeled "True though absent friends," With a good word for the missing, As one of our major ends; Should the chapter grow and flourish Members meet and oft rehearse What a power for good is started, Just by gossip—in reverse!

Tree branch starts pole fire

A shorted transformer and resulting fire Wednesday morning sent St. Johns firemen scurrying to the corner of Floral Avenue and Clinton Avenue.

The fire siren sounded only once about 9:45 a.m. before it was silenced when the electricity went off. Consumers Power Co. reported many parts of town were affected, most for only about three minutes.

A BRANCH from a tree fell across the transformer near the corner, causing it to short out. Part of the branch burned. A Consumers crew was called, and after careful work, the situation was taken care of.

The flash which resulted when the branch fell was visible from as far as the city pumping station on West Gibbs Street, three blocks away.

TV for birds not unique, she says

WHAT IS unique about the TV antennas on the martin house pictured in the July 2 issue?

In 1951 Mrs Leon Crampton erected a martin house complete with fireplace and TV which I believe was the first one up. In 1957 we put up a martin house with TV, the plans obtained from Mrs Crampton.

These same plans were also used in Rudy Yurco's bird house. But TV, is not new nor is it unique.

It always brought a little chuckle to Mrs Crampton because Mrs Warren Coffman had told her that their son was a little perturbed because the birds had TV and he couldn't understand why they didn't have one.

Rain on roof is music to ears in dry summer

What is the most welcome sound in the complete symphony of the turning year? The Master Conductor wields the baton over a vast orchestra; and as the baton rises and falls while season follows season, the music is rich in harmony for him whose ear is attuned.

There is the thrilling music of early spring when brooks leap down from the highlands and bluebirds sing from apple trees in the old orchard; there is the haunting melody of insect wings in the summer meadow and the chirp of crickets from the aster bed beneath the kitchen window as dusk closes off the mountains at the end of a brooding day.

BUT WHEN a drought has laid its searing hand on the land for a long period, when field are parched and clouds of dust rise from country roads, there is a special music that one waits for through long, hot, dry days.

WHEN the traffic light falls at a busy intersection, one sees vehicles lined up in all directions. Cars inch forward, no driver sure of what the others are going to do. There are near collisions, Brakes screech. After watching something like this, or being in the midst of this kind of a traffic jam, we complain less about traffic lights.

Freedom in everyday life means adjustment and harmony with rational laws and regulations. It is quite as true in our relationship with God. Living apart from Him may give the illusion of liberty, but such independence really curtails our freedom and self-fulfillment. To come to the best in life, we need the direction and guidance that God gives us through Christ.

We have the greatest liberty in our lives when we walk with God, responding to Him as He speaks to us through His Word and in the urgings of our conscience.

PRAYER: Father, forgive us rebelling against Thee. Teach us that harmony in our spiritual life and poise in dealing with others comes when we are in close relationship with Thee. May we walk with Thee today. In Christ name, Amen.

The Yardener
In a Pinch
Pinching is a garden operation that can do a lot of good.
Plants, if given the chance, will sprout all over the yard. A simple nip of a growing plant will check this situation.
This situation is especially true of sun-loving plants that grow in the shade. Just pinch out the tip bud as soon as two or three leaves appear.
Except for "mums, not many perennials can be pinched.

John is thinking about "what he wants to be." No, he doesn't want to be a jet pilot, nor a nuclear physicist, nor a lawyer, nor an actor, nor a doctor, nor yet a banker, baker, or chemist. John has decided. He wants to be a MINISTER.

I wondered if his father or his uncle or anyone else in the family is a minister? Strangely enough, no! He won't make a lot of money, and knowing John, he certainly won't particularly like the idea of getting up to "preach" to people. Definitely he won't have a big shiny car to make his calls. I wondered why John had decided to devote a lifetime to service in the Church.

I asked John for a frank answer and he told me many small accumulative experiences which boiled down to this: A strong Christian influence from family, friends, and church kindled a spirit of awareness and devotion which seems to be latent in every human heart. Of course, we can't all be like John. Few of us have received the stimulus to devote our entire life to the Church. But some of John's spirit does dwell in all of us. Too often we are unaware that we possess this miraculous gift from God. Rekindle your spirit by going to church this Sunday.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Twenty-seven Corn Belt hog feeders made their cost records available as a service to other hogmen. All of them followed the Purina Program, kept careful records.

Feed costs included Purina Hog Chows, corn (at local market prices), grinding and mixing and delivery charges, routine medication, hogs lost. Records covered average feeding periods from 52 lbs. to 207.9 lbs. Five of these feeders made a pound of pork from only 3.17 lbs. total feed!

These records show how profitable Purina feeding can be. Come in. Let us tell you about results your neighbors get on Purina.

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

Only about one-quarter of Michigan's wheat growers signed up for the government certificate program for 1964. These growers will collect a government check for the normal yield of their allotted acres.

But in or out of the program, all wheat can be sold for the going market price. This price is ranging down to the support price level of $1.30 or below at this harvest time. The farmer's conundrum is, "Will the price recover a bit—and how much?" To store or not to store—that is the question.

PART OF the puzzle depends on what the government may do with present stocks on hand. These can be sold under the present law at 105 per cent of the support price, plus carrying charges. Released stocks can peg the wheat price near $1.30.

It could work out all right if the farmer has storage space at home. He might gain by holding. There is plenty of soft wheat this year, but demand might increase as sales abroad expand. Or wheat farmers in neighboring states might hold the bulk of the crop off the market for awhile and prices could improve.

BUT IF THE farmer has to pay for storage, it will run him from 1 cent to 1 1/2 cents per bushel per month. Will price increase, if any, keep pace with these costs? The risk is greater here. And no matter how you slice it—it's a gamble.

Farmers have little hope of getting much above the support price—no matter what the demand. With millers having to pay a tax of 70 cents a bushel for all wheat milled and exporters paying 25 cents a bushel to ship wheat, little bonus will reach the farmer's pocket. And they are not apt to find millers in the mood to pay a bonus to the farmer and the government, too.

SOME FARMERS may decide to feed their wheat and save their corn. But since the government dumped feed grains on the market in 1962 and enriched import quotas on livestock from Australia and New Zealand, livestock is not exactly a "mint."

The new law leaves both farmers and millers scratching their heads.

In production of peaches, Michigan stands near the top nationally, with a harvest that in some years has reached nearly 4,000,000 bushels.

Quarantine should affect only distant shipping by farmers

Treatment of Clinton County farm products against the cereal leaf beetle will not be the problem it is in some area counties, according to county extension Agent George McQueen.

Normal marketing channels for Clinton farmers are such, McQueen said, that most products will not be shipped outside the 32-county area quarantined by the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

HOWEVER, some county elevators probably will be treating grain when railroad box cars are loaded for shipment.

Information on the quarantine and how it applies to farmers was received by the Clinton County extension office last week and is available to interested persons.

McQUEEN SAID farmers contemplating selling hay at any time of the year should, in particular, check with his office soon on requirements for that product. Hay shipped out of the quarantined area is definitely illegal, he said, unless it has been fumigated.

Not much hay is shipped any distance, he pointed out, but most of that which is sent to the north-eastern states, which is outside the quarantined area.

IN THE PAST, shippers who have failed to fumigate and get a certificate regarding a quarantined product have been billed for the cost of fumigating at the end of the shipping route. The shipper is then also liable for fines under the quarantine provisions.

Local fumigation of hay and straw is done at no expense to the producer, McQueen said.

HE SAID the agriculture department has increased the number of inspectors working on the beetle quarantine, and roads are being watched closely for movement of farm products out of the area.

The products include, besides the hay and straw mentioned, barley, oats, wheat and other small grain, corn, uncleaned grass and forage crop seed, fodder and plant litter of any kind, sod, and harvesting machinery.

TREATMENT of machinery will, in most cases, be unnecessary unless it is being shipped from local areas to distant points. Clinton is surrounded on every side by at least one or two counties also under the quarantine, and shipment within the area is not hampered.

Special treatment for sod cer-tification was listed by the extension office. In order for sod to be moved out of the regulated area for cereal leaf beetle, fields must be treated with one-half pound of actual dieldrin per acre.

THIS treatment must be applied under the supervision of an inspector. When treatment has been completed, a dealer-carrier agreement will be made which will allow the owner to issue a certificate to accompany each load leaving the regulated area.

The dieldrin treatment must be repeated every three weeks.

The treatment can also be made using two pounds of actual Sevin per acre, but this must be repeated every five days.

MSU geophysicists are mapping Michigan underground to provide new clues to the location of substantial oil and other mineral deposits buried under a mile-thick covering of glacial deposits.

Leaf-saving gentleness and ability to handle a low-fiber crop are essential in making vitamin-and-nutrient-rich forage from early cut hay.

Says forage gives 80% of nutrients

Forages produced on the farm are cheaper feed than either purchased or home-grown feed grains. Unfortunately, too few farmers are getting the full benefit from forage because of lack of quality, says Dr Robert E. Wagner, American Potash Institute agronomist.

Dr Wagner says quality forage is full of food value, cows eat more of it and digest it easier. Quality forage also provides cattle with 75 to 80 per cent of required nutrients, he reports.

TOO OFTEN, grains or other concentrates are fed to overcome low quality in forage, Dr Wagner said in an article in the New Holland Grassland News. In such cases, grain usually becomes the major part of the ration with forage as the supplement . . . Instead of the other way around.

But, agricultural college research indicates the more expensive, grain-heavy ration may deprive cattle of some of the nutrients and vitamins naturally available in lower-cost, quality forages.

Dr G. F. W. Haenlein of the University of Delaware notes most concentrates lack vitamin A potency. Yellow corn provides some of this potency, but only one-eighth as much as good quality forage.

RESEARCH at Iowa State University shows shortages of vitamin E as well as vitamin A in finishing cattle rations where hay is withheld.

The benefits of a low-cost, high quality forage feeding program with resultant increased production have been measured in dollars and cents by Dr M. E. McCullough of the University of Georgia.

Dr McCullough found that with poor forage and low grain feeding, milk production per cow was 7,500 pounds and income per cow was $281. Feeding high grain with poor forage upped production to 10,000 pounds and income to $324 per cow. But, a ration of good quality forage and low grain resulted in an average of 11,600 pounds of milk and an income of nearly $500 per cow.

EQUALLY convincing figures were obtained in a hay quality test on a 50-cow herd in Ohio. The digestibility of 66.8 and 55.8 per cent meant an additional grain requirement that cost an extra $4,770 for the herd over a six month period. Each cow needed 15.2 pounds more grain per day to maintain production when fed the lower quality hay.

The most critical factor in assuring quality in forage is early cutting. The value of cutting hay in the bud or early bloom stage has been proved countless times in research in every area of the country.

ONCE THE forage is cut, opportunities to increase its nutrient content are over. From then on it's up to the farmer to use the best harvesting and storing methods available to him. Farmers should look for a system that will get the crop out of the field and into storage with a minimum of handling and leaf loss.

Plastic being tested for honey

Plastics have become important in marketing of honey, and now they probably will become just as important in its production.

US Department of Agriculture entomologist B. F. Detroy, working at the University of Wisconsin, has been experimenting with plastic honeycombs and frames that could be mass produced in one piece. Beekeepers now buy beeswax honeycombs which they assemble into wooden frames.

PLASTIC honeycombs and frames have been successful in tests over the last two years. Detroy says plastic is more durable than wood, keeps its shape better, and is more uniform.

Plastic frames also should increase the efficiency of a mechanical honey uncapper which was recently invented. Plastic frames do not swell and jam the machine as wooden frames sometimes do.

THE BEE specialist says plastic combs may also be useful in the control of foulbrood and other bee diseases. This is because plastics can be sterilized by boiling in water after use. Beeswax combs in use today would melt in boiling water and cannot be sterilized this way.

Detroy is also testing several types of thermoplastics with various cell sizes and different colors. So far they have tested green, black, milky white, clear and several shades of yellow.

IS THE FAMILY FARM DYING OUT?

No. Families still own and operate the vast majority of America's farms. But the family farm is changing. Modern methods, machinery and equipment have changed today's farms from an individual family operation to a multiple family "corporation". Fathers and their sons and even their grandsons operate a modern farm together as a family "corporation". The representative of this family "corporation" in the market place is the modern farm cooperative. The co-op gives today's farmers a strong voice in the marketing of their product. Co-ops also provide many special services and guarantees which an individual farmer could not provide alone. The result of this united effort is a more stable market for the dairy farmer and, for you, an uninterrupted supply of wholesome fresh milk. One of America's leading dairy cooperatives is Michigan Milk Producers Association.

150 4-H'ers test foods at field day

New foods, nutrition, terrariums, taste panels and what to exhibit at fair were discussed at the 4-H Home Economics Field Day Thursday.

One hundred and fifty 4-H boys and girls and leaders participated in the day's activities.

MRS LYLE Fenner showed how to assemble terrariums. She suggested many native materials that could be collected on summer vacations. This makes a wonderful family project—and a terrarium made of materials collected by the family will serve as a reminder of the wonderful vacation they had.

Tropical plants can also be used to make an interesting terrarium. Mrs Fenner also discussed some of these and told how they could be used.

TERRARIUMS are just one of many projects that members can take if they enroll in indoor gardening during the winter project year.

Eileen Bell, district consumer marketing agent, showed the members the latest in packaging and new foods. Foods prepared by the new explosion-puffing method were also on display.

ONE OF THE events was a "What Is It" table that displayed old food in new forms. The youngsters were able to smell, taste and feel these items which consisted of dehydrated onions, frozen dried beef, dried pumpkin, instant cheddar cheese, quick cook dried beans, dried prune flakes, instantized flour and instant chocolate drink.

Many of the children identified the instantized flour as dried milk or instant potatoes.

THEY COULDN'T tell the difference when they didn't see the bottles. The members and leaders tasted homogenized milk and low fat milk, and they couldn't tell the difference.

Low fat milk is skim milk with added dry milk solids and butter fat.

ANOTHER taste panel gave the members a chance to sample four fruit juices and indicate their preference. These were apple juice, cherry juice and two blends of apple and cherry juice in different concentrations. This taste panel was set up by Marketing Services, Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Exploring Foods and Nutrition is the new title for the Creative Cookery project. Members who attended the meeting realized that the world of food is tremendous and we can look forward to many new ideas in the future.

Don Walker, County extension agent for 4-H, and Betty Ketcham, County extension agent for home economics, feel that some of the youngsters attending this meeting will help develop foods for the future.

Wool and lamb promotion deductions set for 1964

Deductions for financing the wool and lamb producers' self-help promotion program to be made from payments for the 1964 marketing year under the National Wool Act will continue at the same rates as in the past, the US Department of Agriculture announced June 16.

Deduction rates will be 1 cent per pound from shorn wool payments, and 5 cents per hundred pounds of liveweight from unshorn lamb payments. These rates are the same as those made from payments received by producers from the inception of the program.

THE 1964 marketing year is the calendar year, Jan. 1 through Dec. 31. Payments for that marketing year will be made beginning in April 1965. The promotion program is conducted by the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc., under an agreement with the secretary of agriculture providing for advertising, sales promotion and related market development activities on wool and lamb as authorized under the National Wool Act.

The present agreement covering the four years for which the Act was extended in 1961 was approved in a producer referendum held in 1962. The 1964 marketing year is the third of those four years.

THE ORIGINAL agreement between the council and the secretary of agriculture was entered into upon approval of producers in a referendum in 1955. Under that agreement deductions were made from the payments for the first four years of the wool payment program of the original National Wool Act. A second agreement was entered into following a referendum in 1959 to cover the three years for which the Act was extended in 1958.

CONCRETE MASONRY

"Grade A" sanitation is easier. A concrete masonry barn is simple to keep spotless, ready to pass any inspection. Hard-surfaced walls wash down easily. The barn stays draft-free and dry in all kinds of weather.

More pigs per litter. A concrete masonry farrowing house is the modern pork producer's maternity hospital. It's easy to sanitize and keep disease-free.

Today's concrete masonry has new versatility. It is made with a variety of aggregates and, for decorative uses, there are new shapes and patterns. Construction is quick, too, with concrete masonry. Every time a block is laid, nine-tenths of a square foot of wall is built.

Moderate in initial cost, concrete masonry lasts a lifetime with little upkeep. It's easy to insulate. There is no rust, no rotting. Weather, rodents or termites can't hurt it. And there's extra fire safety.

Lightning smashes drive, damages Horwath home

Mrs. Thomas Horwath inspects damage done to her kitchen by lightning last Tuesday. Copper tile on the wall was knocked off or blackened. Through the kitchen door can be seen torn curtains and a hole in the roof caused by a chunk of concrete knocked out of the driveway.

Thanks to a telephone call, Mrs. Thomas Horwath probably avoided serious injury or death last Tuesday evening when lightning struck.

The lightning bounced around outside and inside the home at 3400 E. Centerline Road and caused damage later estimated at $1,000.

MRS. HORWATH had been working around a counter in the kitchen and had stepped about 10 feet away to talk on the phone when the bolt hit. It blackened the wall around the area she had been working in, blowing some of the copper wall tile blocks off the wall and seemingly welding others together.

As it was, Mrs. Horwath said the hand with which she was holding the phone was burned slightly and the side of her face where she was holding the phone was numb.

BLUE SMOKE flew by her, she said, and when she turned debris was starting to scatter about.

The lightning gouged six-inch deep holes in the Horwath's concrete driveway, and one 20-pound chunk of it crashed through the roof of a breezeway next to the kitchen door.

OTHER CHUNKS were scattered around the yard for up to 100 feet. Windows in the garage and breezeway were knocked out.

The Horwaths had been home only about 15 minutes when the bolt hit about 5:15.

While St. Johns firemen were en route to the Horwath home, another alarm was turned in from the A. M. Seibert home at 1007 S. Church Street. A sump pump there shorted out when water apparently leaked into the basement. Smoke filled the basement and drifted into other parts of the house, prompting the fire call.

MRS. SEIBERT said the only damage was to the pump motor.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Horwath inspect broken windows caused by lightning or chunks of concrete last Tuesday evening. The lightning blasted holes in the driveway and tossed chunks as far as 100 feet.

One fuse in the inside fuse box was blown completely clear of the box.

The phone went dead soon after the bolt hit, and Mrs. H. Horwath had to go as far as US-27—almost four miles—before finding a phone that was working. She called the St. Johns Fire Department.

NO FIRE developed, however.

In addition to the slight burn, Mrs. Horwath received a minor cut on the right elbow from flying debris.

The lightning apparently hit the end of the concrete driveway and traveled along the steel mesh-reinforcements. At the end of each section, huge craters were blasted out of the drive. From there, the lightning apparently skipped to the house where it inflicted the interior damage.

SOME ELECTRICAL lines in the house continued to function, but others were knocked out by the lightning.

Consumers high tension route stirs Swegles-Sturgis residents

A Consumers Co. proposal to reroute a 46,000-volt electric line along Swegles and Sturgis streets has raised the ire of property owners in that area.

About 20 of them appeared before the city commission last week, asking that the commissioners intervene. They said the guy wires and additional lines involved would be an eyesore and would be detrimental to property values.

THEY ALSO charged the appearance of their trees would be ruined by the power lines going through them.

Both sides—Consumers and the property owners—were represented by attorneys. The conversation, heated much of the time, went on for an hour before Mayor Jack Smit closed off talk.

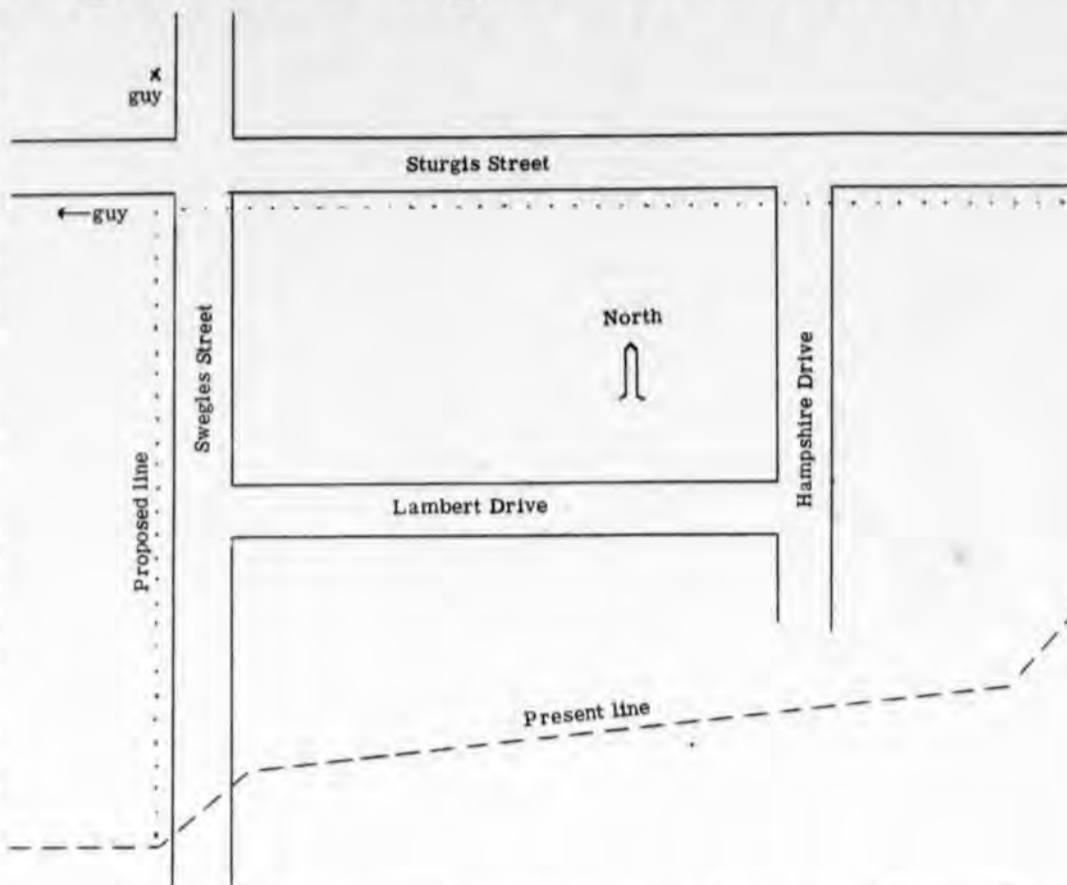

PROPERTY owners did not get the commission's intervention, but several of the commissioners expressed the hope the two sides could straighten the matter out themselves.

Consumers has a franchise with the city of St. Johns which gives that firm the right to use city streets for their lines. Clarence Merritt, an attorney representing the power company, said Consumers felt this route would be the best for them.

HE SAID Consumers has no legal right-of-way for the route their line now follows from Swegles street diagonally across undeveloped land to US-27 and up Kibbee Street. Since the area will someday be developed, he said, they did not want to go to court to have to keep the line there.

The property owners, represented by attorney Norman White, said they thought it would be better to route the line along any proposed street in the subdivision. They said this would be better now before the area is developed than to "ruin" property that is already developed.

MERRITT SAID the franchise gives them the right to put the poles where they wish on city property but that Consumers did not wish to be an unpleasant neighbor. He said trees along South Swegles back of the hospital have been purchased by Consumers and that poles would carry the new lines above trees on East Sturgis.

Merritt said that to follow proposed streets in the area south of the present Prince subdivision would require too many expensive square corners for the line. Only two would be required by following the Swegles-Sturgis route.

CONSUMERS proposes to bring their line up Swegles on the west side of the street to the southwest corner of Swegles and Sturgis and then take it along the south side of Sturgis east to Kibbee Street.

One guy wire would be run west along existing poles and finally to the ground in front of the hospital parking lot, out of residents' way, Merritt said. The only one that would cause any problem, he said, would be on the northwest corner, where it would have to be tied to the ground. Guy wires are an absolute necessity on square corners, he pointed out.

IN THE END, the commission would not make the motion requested by the property owners, because Mayor Smit pointed out, the city would not interfere with the franchise it had granted to the power company.

The problem was left up to the property owners and Consumers to work out.

Extinguisher stolen

Max Ballinger of R-4, St. Johns, reported to the sheriff's office last Thursday that someone broke a window in his front door, entered the house and took a fire extinguisher. Nothing else was disturbed.

More than a million residents use the services of Michigan's 324 public libraries every week.

City wins safety citation

St. Johns has been named one of 39 Michigan communities to receive an award as a winner in American Automobile Assn.'s 25th annual National Pedestrian program.

St. Johns, competing in the under 10,000 population class, had no deaths and one pedestrian injury in 1963 to win a Pedestrian Safety Citation.

COMPETING IN the group were 668 cities from across the nation, which reported a total of 115 deaths and 2,296 injuries.

Ceremonies honoring St. Johns will be held at a later date to be announced by the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Clothesline art show Saturday at Nashville

Area artists are invited to attend the 14th annual Clothesline Art Show in Nashville on Saturday, July 18. The show, a popular yearly event in this area, will be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in Central Park, in downtown Nashville.

The show is open to all artists amateur or professional and there is no entrance fee or any limit on the number of paintings each artist may exhibit. Each artist is responsible for displaying and arranging his own exhibit.

THE PAINTINGS and other works of art are strung on clotheslines in the shady setting of this downtown park. The novelty of such a show, with pictures ranging from everything to quiet rural scenes to the most exciting abstracts, ink sketches, silk screen prints and pastels are all on exhibit during this show and most of them are for sale.

In conjunction with the Art Show, the Nashville Harvest Festival will be in full swing during the week end.

Poles like this rigged on square corners of power line routes are one of the things folks near the corner of Sturgis and Swegles streets are protesting.

Active TB cases up here in '63

Clinton County is one of 40 in the state where there was an increase in new active cases of tuberculosis last year, the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Assn., state Christmas Seal agency, reports.

The Michigan Department of Health records show there were nine cases discovered in the county in 1963, compared with two cases in 1962.

IN THE ENTIRE state, 2,433 new cases of active tuberculosis were discovered—an increase statewide of 145 cases.

Twenty-nine counties reported a decrease and in 14 others the figure remained the same.

There were two cases of tuberculosis in males for every one in females. Although most of the tuberculosis cases were discovered in adults, and nearly half of these were in persons over 45 years of age, children under 10 accounted for 308 (or one in every eight) new cases.

"THIS INCREASE is not exclusively a Michigan problem, but here in Michigan we are intensifying our efforts to do something about it and to reverse the trend before there is an even greater upsurge," J. Irving Nichols, MTRDA executive director, said.

"We must face the fact that tuberculosis is a stubborn disease which in the last five years has just about held its ground against our best efforts.

"WE HAVE NO new weapons with which to fight it. What we must do is make better use of the weapons now available and our association is gearing up to help public health officers throughout the state to help intensify the battle."

Nichols said efforts in Michigan are being fashioned to coincide with recommendations of US Public Health Service changes aimed at reducing the TB case load by 50 per cent in the next 10 years.

China painting is hobby of Wacousta resident

WACOUSTA—Mrs Carl H. Miller of Wacousta hasn't traded in her paint brush for a travel trailer but trailering is interfering in recent years with her 50-year-old hobby of china painting.

She learned the delicate art of china painting when she was 16. She took instruction and became proficient in it then but when she married, she forsook the time-consuming and expensive pastime until her children were grown and she again needed the outlet for her energies.

HOWEVER, in recent years, the habit she and her husband have of meeting friends, who also have travel trailers, in various areas of the country during the winter months has limited her time with her art.

In 1948, Mrs. Miller resumed the intricate painting and, since that time, has decorated many pieces of Bavarian and Japanese china. She has painted innumerable tea sets and single pieces plus several complete sets of service for 12 and 8. Her daughter, Mrs Frank Wright of Wacousta, and her granddaughter, Mrs Roger Waldo, also of Wacousta have each received a set of service for 12.

SHE RECEIVED instruction in china painting in Jackson and Howell and taught a year in a ceramics studio in Lansing. She has also conducted classes in her home but she no longer does this.

She exhibited in the World Market at the Lansing YWCA; won a first prize at the Senior Citizens fair in Lansing; and has displayed and demonstrated her work in many arts and crafts shows throughout the area.

In addition to her table china, Mrs Miller hand paints cuff links for both men and women, brooches, earrings and necklaces. She estimates that she has given away more than she has sold of her china pieces. She trims and edges most of her delicately shaded painting with gold or platinum.

A LARGE variety of flowers are represented in the beautiful patterns which she designs herself.

Poinsettias, violets, iris, roses, buttercups and pine cones adorn pieces which she has painted and are displayed in a large glass-encased cupboard in her dining room.

Mrs Carl H. Miller holds a teapot that matches the china dinner service she painted for her daughter, Mrs Frank Wright. Beside her are displayed many of the pieces of china she has decorated through the years and been able to keep. She makes gifts of many pieces of her work.

The designs are painted on blank pieces of china and, since some of the pieces require firing three or four times, depending upon the pattern, she has her own kiln for convenience.

BOTH MR and Mrs Miller have spent most of their lives within a few miles of their present home. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in 1963 with open house planned by their daughter, Mrs Wright, and their son, Vaughn Miller of Lansing.

The winter months may find the couple in Florida, California, Arizona or points between. Often they join friends with travel trailers and spend the winter in one place or tour along together.

MRS MILLER is also active in the Wacousta Community church and in the Order of Eastern Star. She is a past matron of the local chapter of OES and served as Grand Adah of the Grand Chapter of Michigan.

County native active in world china art

A native of DeWitt is recording secretary of the Michigan China Painting Teachers Association that will host the International China Painting Teachers Organization in Detroit's Cobo Hall July 24, 25 and 26.

Among area residents who plan to attend the event are Mrs Nida Dunham of Elsie and Carlotta Boettcher of East Lansing.

MRS YATCHMAN is the former Ruth Henning, daughter of Mr and Mrs Rhine Henning of DeWitt. After attending Michigan State University in 1948-49, she married Mr Yatchman and moved to Detroit. She was active in Clinton County 4-H Clubs during the time that Roscoe Smith was county agent.

Now a resident of 1562 Mill Street in Lincoln Park, she has taught china painting for 10 years in adult education at Lincoln Park and Allen Park, at Downriver YWCA and in home classes. She attended the international convention at Dallas, Tex. in 1960, and at Long Beach, in 1962. She will attend the Detroit event.

SHE IS recording secretary and editor of the bi-monthly teachers magazine sent to about 800 members. She is also recording secretary of the Michigan China Painting Teachers Ass'n. and corresponding secretary of the International China Painting Organization.

The aim and purpose of the organization are: to improve artistically by an exchange of ideas and techniques; to have china painting recognized as a fine art; to have conventions every two years to check on improvement and to attend seminars; to establish a museum dedicated to the fine art of china painting.

CONVENTION hours on Friday and Saturday will be 10:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. and on Sunday from 12 noon to 6:00 p.m.

Slim, green onions are now abundant

A green onion is exactly that — an onion that's harvested green, or young. These slim summery vegetables usually are early white or bulbless varieties of onions, the US Department of Agriculture explains.

Green onions are on the market all year, but are most abundant now through August. And most Midwest food stores are carrying ample supplies now.

FOR THE best quality green onions, choose bunches that have green, fresh tops and medium-size necks that are blanched (white or pale) for two or three inches. They should be young, crisp and tender, advises USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service.

Contrary to the cool, dry storage necessary for dry onions, green onions should be kept cold and moist. Store them in plastic bags in the refrigerator and use within two days.

GREEN onions offer a way to add zest to your spring-summer meals. They are a savory morsel eaten plain or chopped and added to a tossed salad. The tops add both flavor and color when chopped and added to cottage cheese also.

Do you think of green onions only as a relish or salad vegetable? Why not cook them, and serve like asparagus. Tender green onions-on-toast are a real delicacy.

GREEN ONIONS ON TOAST Allow six or seven finger-size green onions to each serving. Cook, green tops and all, in lightly salted boiling water until tender, about 20 minutes if onions are young and fresh. Season with melted butter or margarine and serve on toast.

For variety, pour cheese sauce over onions on toast.

To clean carvings

To clean crevices in carved pieces of furniture, use a cotton-wrapped orange wood stick or wooden skewer.

Cleaning wicker

Wicker furniture should be cleaned by scrubbing with a stiff brush moistened with warm salt water. Salt keeps the wicker from turning yellow.

Vacuum small rugs

When you use a vacuum cleaner on small rugs, run it diagonally across the rug and off the edge so that suction won't roll it up.

Summer passes; and now it's canning time

BY BETTY KETCHAM
County Extension Agent
Home Economics

Where has the summer gone? It just doesn't seem possible that already my October and November calendar has begun to fill up. But I guess there's still time to put up a few pickles, make some jam and perspire a bit.

If you haven't already, it will soon be time to reach for the canning kettle or the freezing containers and capture the good flavor of summertime fruits and vegetables for wintertime meals. Whether you raise the product yourself—or buy it at a roadside stand—food that you put up yourself is always something special. But you are the one to determine whether it saves you money.

Food specialists in the US Department of Agriculture offer these suggestions for proper processing:

For fruits, tomatoes and pickled vegetables, use a boiling-water bath canner. Tomatoes should not be canned—open kettle method.

FOR ALL low-acid vegetables use a steam pressure canner. Be sure it is in good working order and that the gage is accurate. Process the full time prescribed.

Wash all fruit and vegetables thoroughly. Use running water; wash several times.

Thoroughly cleanse jars and lids. Rinse with hot water.

Check the seal on the jar a day after canning. Tap the center of the lid with a spoon. A clear, ringing sound means a good seal—and good eating come wintertime.

HAVING trouble with perspiration stains? Here are some suggestions from textile specialists at the US Department of Agriculture.

Perspirations stains that have yellowed and set by aging frequently cannot be removed by simple methods such as rubbing a detergent into the spot and washing or by using a mild bleach.

ON WASHABLE white or color-fast fabrics these stains can usually be removed with a stronger bleach treatment.

One good method is to sprinkle sodium perborate, or a powdered bleach containing it, directly on the stain, then dip in very hot or boiling water. The stain should be removed in a few minutes. Then rinse well.

Do not use this method on wool or silk.

NOTE: I owe an apology to the members of the Green School Extension Group. I failed to give them credit for the books that were donated to the Elsie library.

Ladies—don't blame "Rink"—he brought the cut lines up for me to check. I did, but I guess I was thinking in terms of the county report and not a group picture. I'm sorry—but I know that all the people who have enjoyed those books appreciate your efforts. I do too—so I hope I'm forgiven, because I do enjoy those visits with your group.

2 here get taste of WMU

Janet K. Martin and Scott B. Munger of St. Johns were among incoming freshmen at Western Michigan University who recently got a two-day advance taste of campus life.

Under the direction of Dr Donald Davis, director of the Counseling Bureau, the freshmen learn of their future programs of study, meet with the counselors and see a bit of the campus. It is not all work and some social life is planned too.

WHEN they return to the campus in mid-September, the students will be completely registered and have their fees all paid. They will only need to attend the orientation meeting for all students Sunday, Sept. 13, and attend their first classes Tuesday, Sept. 15.

The Storm Didn't Stop Them

Despite the storm, 18 children attended the first story hour in a series of four Tuesday afternoon in Bement Public Library. Mrs Wayne (Beatrice) Cook, a local retired teacher, volunteered her time to tell stories to the small fry. The story hours, sponsored by the library, will continue through July on Tuesdays from 3 to 4 p.m. Mrs Harold Millman, librarian, left, confers with Mrs Cook before the group of children.

First Nighters choose comedy for first play

"See How They Run" is the play selected as the first presentation of The First Nighters, local little theater group. Mrs Doris Cramer, spokesman for the play selection committee, announced the choice at the meeting of the organization July 6.

Casting will begin soon on the fast-paced comedy, according to Roy Brisendine, president of the group. Eight parts are to be filled, including that of a cockney maid, an aunt totally tipsy after her first bout with liquor, and a clergyman, agast at the goings-on. Mrs Cramer will direct the play, which is of English origin.

AS PART of their program for

Coffee gives flavor to summer drinks

Summer drinks need not be the dieter's downfall. Take a look at this frosty trio. Each is perfectly delicious summer refreshment, yet there's scarcely a calorie in any of them. Fact is, these feather-weights are planned with calorie-counters in mind.

What is the magic flavor ingredient? Why coffee, of course. Coffee, in three different, delectable ways.

THE TOWERING frosty on the left, so gracefully adorned with lemon peel, is a combination of instant coffee and dietetic cola. To the far right is iced coffee spiced with cardamom and garnished with a pineapple-and-cherry kebab. Between the two is rich coffee poured over ice cubes, without benefit of soda pop or spice.

Coffee Coola: Place one tablespoon instant coffee in each tall glass. Fill glasses half full with dietetic cola beverage. Stir to dissolve coffee. Add ice cubes. Fill glasses with cola beverage. Garnish with strips of lemon peel.

EASY ICED Coffee: Prepare coffee ice cubes ahead of time. Brew a little extra coffee at

Road Commission Weekly Report

Some of the summer projects were delayed last week by rains. The paving on US-27 was delayed and the county programs were a little off schedule.

Fry Construction Co. started the Wood Road bridge across the Looking Glass River last Thursday. Wood Road is closed from Howe Road to Round Lake Road, and will, of course, remain closed for several weeks.

THE SEAL coating crew is doing sections of Francis Road, Price Road and Wright Road this week. They should finish all seal coating by next Monday or Tuesday.

Brine trucks are working in the county again. The second application of calcium chloride was spread in Watertown and DeWitt townships last week. Bath, Riley, Victor and Eagle township will be completed this week.

G. L. McLravy, consulting bridge engineer, still hopes to make the August bid letting with the three bridges on Colony Road. These bridges will be grouped into one contract, as they are close together in Essex Township. In Lebanon Township there are nine road crossings and one relocation involved in the Catlin-Waters drainage project.

Fred Crowell, State maintenance and county construction foreman, returned to work this week after a weeks vacation. Les Dragoon, county road engineer, was off two days last week with a bad summer cold.

Call lack of library service serious in Tri-County area

Lack of library services in parts of Ingham, Eaton and Clinton counties is perhaps the most serious problem brought out by the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission's study on cultural activities, according to Bruce Brown, commission associate planner.

Speaking at the State Library last Thursday to some 40 librarians and trustees from the Tri-County area, Brown said the study showed numerous areas within Eaton and Clinton counties are presently unserved by any type of library facility.

WITHIN the region, 43 per cent of the total area and 18 per cent of the total population are unserved by library facilities. In Clinton and Eaton counties, approximately 50 per cent of the population is unserved. Many of these areas contain scattered rural populations which are difficult or impractical to serve within a community library facility.

Brown said the study disclosed the need for a tri-county system such as a regional library to fully meet the library needs of the area and urged the group to study the advantages of such a cooperative. Such a system could provide a central reference collection for use by all citizens, thus adding a quality of service otherwise unattainable.

ECONOMIES can be gained through a central purchasing arrangement, in addition to more efficient use of library personnel, book collections and other library materials.

Referring to library locations, Brown said the study disclosed that the present practice of locating public library branches in school building isn't desirable and that steps should be taken to replace them with permanent facilities located and designed to provide complete library service. Many branch and local community libraries now in town halls or village halls are not as desirable and accessible as a branch facility within a shopping area.

ALTHOUGH bookmobile service provides a valuable supplement to library facilities, it shouldn't take the place of a branch or community library building. Within the densely developed Lansing area, extensive bookmobile service should be replaced with well-located and sufficiently stocked branch libraries, the study disclosed.

Genevieve M. Casey, state librarian, stressed the need for co-operation among the Tri-County libraries in light of new legislation and reviewed the implications of a new state aid law, federal grants and penal fine legislation.

MRS FANNIE Noonan, director of library state aid, discussed legal organization and reviewed the structure of district, county and regional libraries, agreements and federated systems.

The librarians will hold individual meetings with their boards and will plan a general meeting in the fall to develop further plans toward regional library systems.

3 vacancies on school staff

There are presently three vacancies on the teaching staff of Rodney B. Wilson High School in St. Johns.

Supt. Earl Lancaster said the positions are for teachers in industrial arts, girls physical education and high school social science.

Michigan is a leading producer of plantation-grown Christmas trees, with over 10,000 growers.

Eunice Graff wins nursing scholarship

Miss Eunice Graff of Fowler is one of 11 Michigan high school seniors to win 1964 Michigan Blue Cross nursing scholarships.

Miss Graff is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Paul Graff of Fowler. She and the 10 others won out in a field of 610 contestants entered from throughout the state. The 14th annual competition was conducted and winners chosen by the scholarship committee of the Michigan League for Nursing.

ALL THE scholarships were for $300. Checks for that amount will be sent in the winner's name to their chosen school of nursing. Miss Graff, a May graduate of Fowler High, will attend the University of Michigan this fall.

The winners all had high scholastic ratings, aptitude for the nursing profession and were active in important extra-curricular activities. The nursing League said that in addition to the written application, consideration was given to the high school principal's report on each applicant. Financial need was a factor in the final selection of winners.

BLUE CROSS started the scholarship program in 1951. The cost for the entire 14 years was less than one cent for each of the 31/2 million Blue Cross members.

Land Bank pays $1 1/2 million

The Federal Land Bank of St. Paul paid out $1,629,544 in dividends this week to the 87 Federal Land Bank Associations in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and North Dakota which own the capital stock of the bank, according to Floyd L. Parmelee, manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of St. Johns.

The association initiates and services Land Bank loans in Clinton, Gratiot, and Shiawassee counties and now has more than $9,000,000 million in long-term real estate loans.

THE HEART-BEET OF MICHIGAN

During 1963 Michigan farmers harvested and delivered over one million tons of beets to the state's five sugar factories for processing. This crop produced over 279,000,000 pounds of pure sparkling sugar for sale exclusively in Michigan during the current marketing year.

In an average year, the beet sugar industry of Michigan will derive from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 from the sugarbeet crop. From this crop Michigan sugarbeet growers will receive approximately $15,000,000 in company and conditional payments.

These dollars which the sugarbeet growers and processors of this state receive for sugar produced in Michigan affect economic units all around their own horizons and far beyond Michigan's 17 county beet producing area. Remember, every time a sugar beet grows—so does Michigan.

Bill Swears, standing, confers with one of his summer typing students during a class at the high school. The 23 students include two adults and eight 8th graders. They are those who haven't or won't be able to take typing courses during the regular school year.

23 learning to type in 1st summer course

Twenty-three students, ranging from eighth graders to adults, are taking typing instruction this summer under the teaching of Bill Swears, head of the high school commercial department.

The non-credit course is taught daily from 8 to 10 a.m. and runs for six weeks. Tuition is $20.

Swears said the adults are taking typing to help them on their jobs, and the students are taking it to help them on their work and other high school assignments.

HE POINTED out the younger students in the summer course will not take typing in the regular school year because of tight individual class schedules. The course allows them the opportunity to learn the art.

Students learned the lower three rows of the keyboard during the first week of classes and are now reinforcing that knowledge and learning other symbols. Later lessons will deal with manuscript and report typing.

THE COURSE was offered this summer for the first time.

3-car chain crash on US-27 hurts 3

A three-car chain-reaction accident, in which four cars were involved, injured three persons Saturday morning.

The crashes occurred about 8:30 a.m. on US-27 a short distance north of the Parks Road intersection.

MOST SERIOUSLY hurt was Mrs Leona Wilcox, 65, of 309 S. Pennsylvania Avenue, Lansing, who was admitted to Clinton Memorial Hospital. She was released Monday morning. Information on her injuries was not released.

Treated and released Saturday were Daniel Wilcox, 10, of 219 8th Street, Lansing, and his mother, Mrs Grace Wilcox, 40.

ACCORDING TO Deputy Sheriff Hilary Hafner, a car driven by Clara G. Swanson, 44, of Detroit suddenly slowed and pulled to the shoulder of the highway without signaling. Another car driven by Raymond R. Clatterback, 44, of Greenville, Ohio, stopped to avoid hitting the Swanson car.

A car driven by John D. Wilcox slammed into the rear of Clatterback's auto, and a fourth car, driven by James R. Parks, 26, of Holt, hit Wilcox's car.

IRENE Clatterback, 46, Barbara Hosler, 28, and Michael Hosler, 5, passengers in Clatterback's car, were not hurt, nor was Les Parks, 24, of 2094 Dean Street, Lansing, a passenger in Park's car.

Hafner ticketed Mrs Swanson for an improper turn. She was assessed fines and costs of $8.30 by Justice of the Peace Robert Wood.

National NFO officer slated

Erhard Pfingston, national vice president of the National Farmers Organization, will be speaker Saturday night at a public ice cream social at the Ranch Roller Rink, sponsored by the Clinton County NFO.

"We feel this is a tremendous privilege and opportunity for the farmers and merchants of Clinton County and surrounding counties to find out something about NFO," county President Roy Westendorff said.

"THERE ARE two reasons why farmers do not understand our program — they either haven't had it explained to them or they don't want to understand it," he said. "Saturday night they'll have a chance to hear about it and to understand it."

Marge Staley is in charge of the ice cream social and will be assisted by other NFO wives.

Hearings July 21 on 4 street jobs

Public hearings will be held at the next city commission meeting July 21 on three water main projects and one curb and gutter job.

One concerns the installation of a six-inch replacement main in the 1000 block of South Clinton Avenue and a new main in the 1100 block. Installation will cost $3,300 for the approximately 680 feet needed between Elm and Oak streets.

THE CITY'S special assessment policies of charging $1 per front foot for replacing the old galvanized line and $1.50 per foot for land where no water line exists would bring in about $1,440.

Seventeen property owners would be involved. The two blocks have received tentative approval for curb and gutter and in keeping with the city policy of having both sewer and water in the street prior to blacktopping, the city has termed the installation of the water main a necessity in the public interest.

ANOTHER hearing regards a water main in the 800 block of East Walker Street. Water mains are already in the 700 and 900 blocks, and it would require about 390 feet of six-inch main at an estimated cost of $1,950 to complete the street. Roughly $428 would be recovered through special assessments.

The street there is gravel and is not scheduled for curb and gutter. Three property owners would be affected.

A PROPOSED six-inch main in the 300 and 400 block of East Lincoln Street would tie into two dead-end mains on Mead and Swegles Streets. This would require approximately 780 feet of new main at an estimated cost of $3,900.

Roughly $1,260 would be recovered from special assessments against five property owners.

CURB AND gutter are proposed in the 100, 200 and 300 blocks of East Lincoln to make a street 40 feet wide. This is wider than the normal 31 feet residential streets so as to handle Federal-Mogul traffic.

An estimated 2,400 lineal feet of curb and gutter would be put in at a total cost of $5,950. Roughly $2,820 would be recovered through special assessments to 13 property owners.

Calls elevator rewarding career

Youths interested in agriculture but who have a limited opportunity to farm may be interested in a Michigan State University short course leading to a career in the elevator industry.

John Hall, manager of the St. Johns Cooperative Co., pointed out that there were at least two jobs for every graduate this year. The jobs carried starting salaries of $4,000 to $5,200 per year with opportunity for advancement.

THE ELEVATOR and Farm Supply Short Course at MSU offers an 18-month training program to prepare young men for key positions in the feed, grain and farm supply business. It consists of 12 months of classroom instruction on the MSU campus plus six months of paid work experience in a farm supply store or elevator.

Hall and an employee, John Thomas, are both graduates of the course. Hall said he would be glad to talk to prospective students about the course, or information could be obtained by writing the Short Course Department, 120 Agricultural Hall, Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Soil samples taken from frozen ground provide just as accurate samples, though they are more work to obtain. Some farmers use a brace and a 1-inch bit. Spread the sample on paper and let it thaw out and dry at room temperature.

Dean Ormsby finalist for national 4-H delegate

Dean Ormsby, 16, of St. Johns is one of 10 state 4-H Club members nominated for attendance at the National 4-H Club Conference in Washington, D. C. next spring.

The selections were announced at the closing assembly of the 46th annual 4-H Club Week on the Michigan State University campus last Thursday.

Rain coming down in buckets accompanied by loud claps of thunder did not prevent the first session of our Children's Story Hour from getting off to a good start. Eighteen youngsters appeared and enjoyed the stories and dramatizations. Having their pictures taken for the Clinton County News added to the fun.

The story hour will be held each Tuesday afternoon during July from 3 to 4 o'clock. Attendance is limited to children of kindergarten- through- second-grade ages.

THREE BIOGRAPHS of Lenin have been published recently. Of these the Book-of-the-Month Club has selected Robert Payne's "Life and Death of Lenin" as their choice. He is a man who has made the greatest impact on the 20th-century. Without him there would have been no Russian Revolution.

Though he called himself a Marxist, he changed Marx teachings to suit his own purpose. He believed that he was born to make life happier for the people, but at the end of his life he is quoted as saying, "My conclusion is in direct contradiction with which I start. Starting with unlimited freedom, I end with unlimited despotism." When he lay dying he apologized to the Russian people for his crimes. He was poisoned by his successor, Stalin.

LIFE NATURE Library has "The Mammals" as its latest book. It is written by the naturalist, Richard Carrington. Mammals have risen in evolution side-by-side with mankind and have been extremely useful. Food and drink, clothing and cover, transportation and many other services from chemicals to companionship have been provided by mammals.

There are many other species who are regarded as enemies of man and which have had an unrelenting war waged against them, so that many have become extinct. The book shows the vast variety of mammals and the manner in which they solve their problems of existence.

IN NEW fiction we have "The Spire." Written by William Golding, it is the story of a priest who claimed he had a vision that told him to build an immense spire reaching far into the heavens. It was called Jocelin's Folly as it had a very insufficient foundation so that it appeared to be constantly on the verge of falling. The story is written as an allegory pointing out man's sins.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

Last week I reported on the progress Michigan has made in the field of education in the last two years. The Legislature has written an enviable record of achievement in this field, but other areas have not been ignored.

One area given a great deal of much-deserved attention is the field of mental health. This week I would like to report to you what we have done in this critical area of concern.

DRAMATIC and necessary gains have been made in the mental health fields. Last year, the Legislature provided for re-organization of our state Department of Mental Health and increasing emphasis on community cooperation and initiative in providing care for mentally ill and mentally retarded.

Since then, we have been searching for the best qualified person possible to head up our state program, and Dr Robert Kimmich who assumed duties on July 1 is certainly one of the most eminently qualified individuals in the country to tackle this assignment.

THE 1964 Legislature has made available another $4.2 million to expand and improve nearly all aspects of the mental health services of our state, including $1.3 million more for care of mentally ill, $1.5 million more to further carry out the community mental health services program, and $566,000 more for intensified training and research. These sums are in addition to the higher costs of continuing our program as it is now being conducted.

In addition to these program enrichments, we are providing during the next year 930 new beds for retarded children at Plymouth, Mt. Pleasant, Gaylord and Fort Custer. And we are underway on planning for a new facility in West Central Michigan. The shocking waiting list of 1,800 children, which was the case on Jan. 1, 1963, will be reduced substantially by these new facilities.

BUT in addition, we are now placing emphasis on day care centers, out patient treatment, and foster home care. We cannot tolerate a waiting list of 1,800 children who deserve care but are not receiving it.

In both education and mental health, Michigan is taking substantial steps to help people. The record of our Michigan Legislature of 1964 in these two fields is an outstanding record.

'Anne Frank' on Ledges stage

The prize-winning "Dairy of Anne Frank" will go on the Ledges Playhouse stage Tuesday through Saturday of next week. The play, winner of almost every prize to be won in theater, including the Pulitzer Prize and the Critics Circle Award, is a timeless story of a young girl's courage during wartime.

CONNIE Hipwell will be Anne Frank in the Ledges production. With "Anne Frank," the Ledges Playhouse begins the second half of its summer stock season. Four plays remain on the schedule. The season ends Aug. 22.

Ending this Saturday is "Angel in the Pawnshop," a Broadway comedy-fantasy.

Price Church sets annual picnic date

PRICE— Price Methodist Church and Sunday School will hold the annual picnic at the home of Rev and Mrs Rudy Wittenbach at Lowell Sunday, Aug. 2.

The group will meet at the Lowell Church at 11 a.m. for church service and potluck following. Guests will bring their table service and a card table. No services will be held at the Price Church that day.

Michigan is an industrial giant, ranking 2nd among the 14 leading industrial states in productivity as measured by value added per employe and ranking third by value added per man hour.
