Flames destroy Bath area produce plant

There is no indication yet as to the cause of a $100,000 fire which destroyed the C. W. Roberts Produce Co. Plant southwest of Bath last Friday evening.

State police fire investigators probed the ruins of the building Saturday and again Monday in an attempt to establish the cause.

THE ADDRESS of the destroyed firm is 15621 Chandler Road, but the building sets perhaps a half-mile east of Chandler on a private access road. The plant was used primarily for packaging produce. About $8,000 worth of onions—the only produce there at the time—was destroyed.

C. W. Roberts, owner of the firm, said earlier reports that damage might be $500,000 were not true. He said it would be close to $100,000.

ROBERTS, who has owned and operated the business for 12 years, said much of the loss was in machinery in the oldest of three wings of the building. The other two wings, whose roofs collapsed first, were added to the original structure since Roberts bought the firm.

A new concrete block office building apart from the main plant was not damaged.

by exploding bottles of propane gas. When one bottle—used to power lift trucks moving produce—blew up, it shot flames that scorched an area about 25 by 40 feet and ignited the tires of a truck parked outside the building.

It and two other trucks parked next to it were pushed or pulled away by firemen. The trucks were the only pieces of equipment saved. Although one truck was damaged, produce inside was not hurt.

BATH TOWNSHIP Fire Chief Abbot Nelson said he asked for the state investigation of the blaze because there "is no apparent cause" for the fire.

"I do not believe it was caused by faulty wiring," he said.

Ovid-Elsie voters pick school board Friday

Ovid-Elsie school district voters will go to the polls Friday to elect a board to run the affairs of the new unit.

Four separate ballots await voters. The most important is the election of seven men, out of 15 on the ballot, to sit on the Ovid-Elsie Area School Board.

ANOTHER ballot will be used to authorize the new board to operate school buses, a purely routine action but a necessity under state law. The third ballot will be for voting on proposed annual salaries for members of the board, consisting of $100 for the president and trustees, $200 for the secretary and $300 for the treasurer.

Proposition III, the fourth ballot, asks voters to approve a millage increase of two mills for a three-year period to provide additional funds for operating expenses.

THE RATE, if approved, would be the same the present Elsie district is paying; Ovid voters would reportedly have been asked to OK the increase whether the merger was made or not.

Seeking the seven spots on the new school board are:

—FOR two four-year terms, Stanley Loznak, Donald Craig, Joseph R. Kurka, John M. Schwark Jr. and Gordon Tubbs;

—FOR TWO three-year terms, Merle H. Green, Francis E. Johnson, John D. Sincropl and Raymond D. Stewart;

—FOR two two-year terms, Ellsworth L. Cook, Robert P. Cornell and Harold Green; and

—FOR one one-year term,

Gravel was dumped from an overhead bin, windows in a shed were broken and a motor was filled with grease. A grease gun was taken apart and thrown in the sand.

The vandalism was believed to have taken place Sunday night. Deputy Sheriff Hilary Hafner investigated.

Car vandalized

Linda Smith of 825 N. Clinton reported to city police vandalism of her car during Sunday night. She said spark plug wires and the air cleaner were removed from her car, the hood, right front and rear fenders and trunk were scratched and holes were cut in the top of the car and in the front seat.

House and Senate Primary races to hold GOP interest

Jury finds no cause for action

A Circuit Court jury sitting in St. Johns Tuesday found no cause for action by the State Farm Insurance Co. in a civil suit against G. C. and Nyle W. Lytle, R-2, Breckenridge.

The action grew out of an accident on South US-27, near the Wheel Inn here, on Dec. 10, 1960. A car driven by Raymond Murton, 53, of Essex township, was involved in a collision with the rear end of a tractor-trailer unit operated by Nyle Lytle, 24. The unit was owned by his father, G. C. Lytle. Murton was insured by the State Farm company.

THE LYTLE truck was making a cross-over from the US-27 southbound lane to the Wheel Inn when the accident occurred. The plaintiff's attorney charged that the tractor-trailer unit had halted, occupying the northbound lanes of the highway.

Murton, driving north, testified that he didn't see the truck and trailer in time to avoid hitting the rear end of the unit.

Attorneys for the defendant argued that Murton should have been able to stop before hitting the unit.

THE CASE was the first jury trial to be heard in St. Johns by Circuit Judge Leo W. Corkin since his appointment to the bench last year. Serving on the jury were:

William Bunce and Harriet Field, St. Johns; Lionel Foote and Ralph Paseka, Bingham; Ivah Kleuckling and Leonard Theelen, Riley; Marie Ford, Greenbush; Leon Hoppes, Bengal; Walter Kaufman, Sr., Duplain; Marian McCrumb, Eagle; Ruth Resoner, Bath; and Arlene Salisbury, DeWitt.

Attorney for the plaintiff was William Marks of Ionia. Timothy M. Green of St. Johns represented the defendants.

LARRY H. ROHRER

Area man killed in Germany

A DeWitt airman, Larry H. Rohrer, 22, son of Mr and Mrs Harold G. Rohrer of R-1, DeWitt, was killed last Thursday in Germany when his motorcycle and a truck collided.

The accident occurred near Bucholz, Germany. Airman 2. C. Rohrer had been serving with the military police at Hahn Air Base in Germany since February 1962 and would have been discharged from the Air Force next February.

HE ENTERED the service in September 1961 and took basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex.

Airman Rohrer, active in wrestling at Lansing Eastern High School until graduation in 1960, was on the wrestling team at his base in Germany and had recently participated in a tournament in France.

Contested races for State Representative in the new 87th district and for State Senator in the new 30th district appeared to be of major interest to Clinton Republicans as the deadline for petition filing expired Tuesday at 4 p.m.

Four candidates, including Andrew W. Cobb of Elsie, are seeking the GOP nomination for the State Senate post. Three are in the race for State Representative from the new 87th district and among them is James C. Matthews of St. Johns.

The only purely local contests in the Republican primary are those for Prosecuting Attorney and the two Coroners.

Opposed for the Republican prosecutor nomination are Alba F. Wert and Norman J. White, both St. Johns attorneys. Frederick M. Lewis, the incumbent, is not a candidate for renomination.

A Democratic contest for nomination to the office of Register of Deeds developed when Mrs JoAnn Carpenter, Ovid, and Mrs Pauline White, Victor Township, both filed petitions at the County Clerk's office.

THREE CLINTON funeral directors have filed for the two Republican nominations for the office of Coroner. They are Van W. Hoag and Robert R. Serrine, both of St. Johns, and Lee Rummell, DeWitt. Hoag and Serrine are incumbents.

Other incumbent Clinton county officers are unopposed in the Sept. 1 primary election.

Democrats have filed for nomination to five county offices—Sheriff, County Clerk, Treasurer, Register of Deeds and Drain Commissioner. Except for the Register of Deeds race, their candidates are without opposition.

IT WAS not certain late Tuesday if there would be a nonpartisan primary for Judges of the new state Appellate Court, 3rd district, of which Clinton is a part. At least five candidates had filed for the three posts to be filled in November.

Seven or more must file to necessitate a primary and harassed workers at the Elections Division of the Secretary of State's office could not be certain until after checking petitions Wednesday how many candidates had qualified.

Incumbent Circuit Judge Leo W. Corkin, St. Johns, and incumbent Probate Judge Timothy M. Green, St. Johns, are unopposed for nomination and it will not be necessary for them to participate in a nonpartisan primary.

Here is the incomplete and unofficial rundown of candidates who had filed for the various state and county offices at 4 p.m. Tuesday:

Governor—George N. Higgins, Royal Oak, and George W. Romney, Bloomfield Hills, incumbent.

Barring bad weather, the new lane of US-27 south of St. Johns should be open by Aug. 10.

That was the word this week from R. F. Durfee of the Road Construction Division of the State Highway Department. He said the contractor, the Johnson-Greene Co. of Ann Arbor, was to work Tuesday in getting the road ready for the first application of asphalt.

Curb, gutter installation work starts this Friday

The $55,000 job of installing curb and gutters on more of St. Johns' streets began Friday.

Acting City Manager Kenneth Greer said the Kenneth C. Roberts Concrete Construction Co. of East Lansing will be in the city that day to start curb and gutter construction.

GREER ASKED city residents Tuesday for their cooperation during the time streets are torn up. Particularly concerning residents on the streets affected, he asked that they watch construction progress closely.

He said that when work nears a resident's home, he should, for his own convenience, park his car on a street not being worked on, to assure that he doesn't get trapped in his own driveway by the excavating and concrete work.

GREER SAID the city ordinance prohibiting parking at night on city streets will be waived during the construction period.

"The cooperation of residents will be greatly appreciated," he said, "and will allow us to get the job done that much faster."

THE FOLLOWING streets will receive curb and gutter under the project:

100, 200, 300 blocks of East Lincoln; 600, 700 blocks of North Spring; 100, 200 blocks of West Ross; 300 block North Prospect; 300, 400, 500 North Morton;

Grand Ledge man a hit at Rotary

A former St. Johns man presented Rotary's most entertaining program in recent years at Tuesday noon's meeting of the local club, Jerry D. Anderson, Grand Ledge outdoorsman, showed pictures and talked about a May, 1963, fishing trip in the wilds 250 miles northeast of the Canadian Soo.

Anderson's father, the late Don Anderson, was a former manager of the Spaulding (now Dean) hardware here. His grandparents were the late Mr and Mrs Monroe Smith.

PRIOR to showing his unusual pictures, Anderson reminisced briefly about his youth in St. Johns and recalled friendships with many local people. He is presently in the sporting goods business in Grand Ledge and manufactures archery equipment.

His slide pictures illustrated a rough canoe trip through seldom-traveled wilderness in northern Ontario. He accompanied the pictures with a rapid-fire humorous commentary.

MR AND MRS DUANE L. WINELAND

Reside in St. Johns after North Star rites

The Church of the Nazarene in North Star was the setting for the candlelight ceremony where 250 guests witnessed the marriage of Colleen Eckelbarger and Duane L. Wineland.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kiel Eckelbarger of Ithaca and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wineland of St. Johns.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Ephert Eckelbarger of North Bradley. Prayer was given by Rev. Roy Eckelbarger of Riverside, Calif. Both are uncles of the bride.

The church was decorated with candelabra, palms and an arrangement of red roses.

THE BRIDE wore a gown of lace decorated with organza puffs and iridescent sequins. It featured long scalloped sleeves and a scalloped neckline. The skirt ended with a short chapel train. The mid-arm length bouffant veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of lace, pearls and crystal. Her bouquet was a corsage of red roses and stephanotis atop a white Bible with white satin streamers, ivy and lovers knots. Her only jewelry was a cultured pearl pendant, gift of the groom.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by him and her mother.

Jeanene Eckelbarger was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Phyllis Walker, friend of the bride, with Karen Wineland, sister of the groom, as junior bridesmaid. Their mint green street length, taffeta brocade dresses featured scalloped necklines and short scalloped sleeves. The waistlines came to points with three tiny bows falling to the hemline in the backs. The dresses and matching headpieces were designed and made by the bride and maid of honor. They each carried a corsage of red roses on a white backing with fern streamers.

THE RINGS were carried to the altar by Jim Galloway, friend of the bride. Flower girl was Kimberly Wineland, niece of the groom. She wore a white organza dress with lace appliques and carried a single red rose.

Dale Wineland, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, LaVern Counsellor, and David Eckelbarger of Ithaca, brother of the bride were groomsmen. Ushers were David Wright and Larry Wineland, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Eckelbarger chose a pink two-piece lace dress for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Wineland wore a blue two-piece lace and linen dress. Each had a corsage of red roses and white carnations.

Lois DeVuyt accompanied Glen Beck as he sang "I Love You Truly," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

SPECIAL guests were Mrs. Mary Pendell, great-grandmother of the bride, Clifford McVeigh, grandfather of the bride, Willis Wineland, grandfather of the groom, and Miss Carrie Severance, aunt of the groom.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the North Star Town Hall. Presiding at the guest book was Linda Bangs. The wedding cake was served by Ardith Frisbey of Ithaca and Joyce Eckelbarger of Goldsboro, N. C., aunts of the bride. The cake was baked by Mrs. Pauline Merchant and decorated by Mrs. Pearl Gabrion. The groom's cake was served by Carrie Rhynard, aunt of the groom. Coffee was served by Reva Eckelbarger of Riverside, Calif., aunt of the bride, and punch by Sue Benesh. The ice cream was served by Jack Eckelbarger and Jim McVeigh, uncles of the bride. The gift table was attended by Dawn Frisbey, Lou Ann Eckelbarger, Linda Kinney, and Sue Thayer.

Camper Terry Green meets Republican VIPs

Terry Green, 17, is having probably the most interesting and memorable summer of his life. Topping it off last week was the fortune to meet presidential nominee Barry Goldwater and Govs. William Scranton of Pennsylvania and Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

Terry is the son of Mr and Mrs Timothy M. Green of 605 W. Higham Street. He is presently in the closing stages of a six-week camping trip through the western United States with about 80 other teenagers, sponsored by Parker Pennington, a professor at Michigan State University.

Green said his son didn't say how they had managed to get into the Cow Palace, let alone stay there and meet the three prominent Republican leaders. Terry said they were on television six or seven times Sunday afternoon, Monday and Tuesday morning.

THE REST of the group was camping on the outskirts of San Francisco. The Pennington Camp makes use of outdoor facilities and camping equipment on their tours.

The group left Michigan June 20, and they expect to return Aug. 1. By then the campers will have been to Wisconsin, the Dakotas and Black Hills, Las Vegas (they spent the Fourth of July there), Mexico, California, Oregon, Saskatchewan, Minnesota and Interlochen. The last few days will be spent at the famous music camp.

JC's annual swim meet set for Aug. 13

The annual Junior Chamber of Commerce-sponsored swimming meet will be Aug. 13, Pool Director Frank Rosengren announced last week.

Registration for entry in the meet will begin Monday at the pool.

THE MEET is sponsored by the St. Johns Jaycees, who buy the ribbons given to the winning contestants in the meet's various events. Rosengren said several changes are being considered in the events this year, and they will be announced later.

Last years swimming meet drew about 70 different contestants, with most of them entered in more than one event. A crowd of 500 spectators lined the fence outside the pool to watch.

THIS YEAR, Rosengren said the recreation department is planning to erect bleachers outside the fence so that between 400 and 600 persons can watch in comfort.

The meet will start at 6:30 p.m. Aug. 13.

The May music festival at the University of Michigan has been part of the University life since 1880. It features artists of national fame and has been the occasion of distinguished first performances of many musical compositions.

Women golfers take advantage of good weather

Wednesday was the annual Green Tee Cup Day for the women golfers at the Clinton County Country Club.

Only 19 golfers turned out and Mrs Julius Becker was the cup-winner (39 with handicap). Mrs George Judd and Mrs Kenneth Munger tied for low putts with Mrs Munger winning the draw and the ball.

Because the day was so nice and golf so enticing, there was only one table of bridge. Mrs Olney Moore held high score.

FOUR club members will play in the Central Michigan Tournament at Portland on July 21, 22 and 23.

At All Club day at Ithaca, Mrs Charles Dickenson won a ball for her low actual of 46, Mrs William Smith for low handicap with a 41 and Mrs Oliver Montague for her low 15 putts. Mrs George Judd won a door prize.

July 29 is All Club Day at Clare. Those desiring to go may make their reservations with Mrs Lorenz Tiedt.

Hole-in-one for Schueller

Paul Schueller, loan officer at the Clinton National Bank and Trust Co., got the second hole-in-one of his golfing career Saturday afternoon.

On his second round with Glenn Capin and Dr Robert Beach, Schueller holed the 200-yard eighth hole. It is a par three hole, and trees and a creek make it a rather difficult one—normally.

SCHUELLER SAID that during his first round, he dropped his tee shot 10 feet in front of the pin on eight, but the ball stopped. On the second round, it continued to roll and went in the hole.

He shot a 35 on the first round and a 39 on the second for a 74 total.

SCHUELLER'S previous hole-in-one was about 10 years ago on the easier seventh hole.

The only other hole-in-one scored on the eighth was by Paul Jopke of St. Johns about eight years ago, according to Robert Hankey, Pro-manager of the country club.

Tryouts for Little League baseball were held last Thursday and were rained out Monday. They'll be held again Thursday night at 6 p.m. Waiting for Jeff Barrett to finish his tosses are other pitcher hopefuls.

Rainouts complicate city softball standings

The City Softball League winds up its regularly scheduled season Thursday night, but makeup games remain to be played before final standings can be computed.

Because of a June 8 tie game between Benson's and Gladstone's Pure Oil, the championship of the first round Class A play is still in doubt. At present South Riley Grocery leads the first round standings with a 6-3 record.

THE TIE game between Benson's and Gladstone's was scheduled to be replayed Wednesday night, and if Benson's emerged winners, they would tie South Riley, necessitating a playoff next Thursday, July 30, at 9 p.m.

If Gladstone's won Wednesday night, South Riley would have the first-round title outright.

IN THE SECOND round, Dean's Hardware is setting the pace, but they have still not clinched the championship.

The Class B teams wind up scheduled play Thursday night with games scheduled at 7:30 and 9 p.m. But they, too, have makeup games to play before the title is clear in that league.

Here is the way things shaped up in both leagues after Monday night's competition.

CLASS A Standings as of Monday

Boys do well at state meet

St. Johns boys did well Saturday in a track meet at Central Michigan University which drew amateurs of all ages from around the state.

Bob Spencer, head track coach at Rodney B. Wilson High School, and his assistant, Frank Rosengren, took seven students to the meet, which is run under college and olympic standards.

DAVE DEGEER of St. Johns placed second in the half-mile run, and Dale Kelly tossed the 16 pound shot 39 feet. Others turning in good times in various events were Al Koenigsnecht, Don Hungerford, Albert and Tom Moore and Phil Anderson.

Rosengren said Monday the boys have been working out all summer and keeping in good physical shape for events such as this.

Overbrook still has openings

There are still two openings in the Overbrook Open Golf Tournament for course champion flight and openings in flights B, C and D.

The flag day tournament for members only will be this Sunday. Flags can be set any time on Sunday.

DARRELL Miller and Dick Troub still lead the Monday Night Men's League with 18 points, while in the Thursday Night Men's League a first-place tie exists between Farmer's Elevator and Miller's Pure Oil. Each has 21 1/2 points.

88 tee off Saturday in best-ball tournament

A field of 88 Central Michigan top amateur golfers will begin teeing off at 7:30 a.m. Saturday in the ninth annual Clinton County Country Club Best-Ball Tournament.

At stake will be the title won last year by Doug Hankey and Barry Dean. They were the first local twosome to win the tournament, and they did so with a six under par 102.

THE ALL-TIME tournament pace was set in 1957 when Dave Hill and Ducky Andrews of Jackson posted an 11 under par 97 to win. Hill is now playing as a professional.

Hankey, the 1964 Michigan state amateur champ, and Dean were runnersup in last week's Alma best-ball tourney.

TOP FLIGHT area golfers pose a problem for the two local men. Arlin Dell, who two weekends ago won the Lansing Public Championship, will team with Jim Matthews of the local club. Bud Reniger, former Lansing Public champ, will play with Fred Beheymer Jr. of Lansing.

Mike O'Neil Jr. of the local club will team with Gary Pageau of Detroit, who was the first day medalist at the 1964 Michigan amateur. Phil Marsten and John Kurzynowski of Jackson and Doug Wallacker and Lou Sosnowski of the Midland-Bay City area all are rated high in the amateur ranks.

JOHN HOPKO of the local club will be teaming with Otto Schubel of Lansing, who is one of the leading Lansing area golfers. Jack Curry, who won the local bestball tournament in 1960, will team with Art Kirchen of Lansing.

Other local teams entered are the father-son team of Ken and Greg Penix, the brother team of Bennie and Scott Munger, Glenn Capon and Gene Wild, Dennis Hankey and Ralph Lynam, and William Pautke, whose partner is not known at this time.

HOPKO AND Pautke, co-chairmen of the tournament this year, said the classy field includes teams from Detroit, Lansing, Flint, Bay City, Saginaw, Alma, Jackson and Houghton Lake.

The country club course is reported in top shape for the field of golfers. The public is invited to watch at no charge.

Nobody repeated in 8 tourney years

None of the previous winners in the eight years of the Clinton County Club Best Ball Tournament have repeated their victory the following year. Here are the winners of the tournaments so far:

- 1956 Howell-Stelzer, 103
- 1957 Hill-Andrews, 97
- 1958 Mueller-Majda, 101
- 1959 Morris-MacCallum, 101
- 1960 Curry-Cushion, 98
- 1961 Green-Stevens, 101
- 1962 Hunt-Bleech, 101
- 1963 Hankey-Dean, 102

HOPKO SAID teenage boys who would like to caddy Saturday during the tournament are badly needed. Those interested should report to the country club.

Here is the schedule for teeing off:

- 7:30, Carl Koenigsnecht and Stan Forbes, Vern Davis and Os-

1 Safety Shielded PTO

Easy Hookup
An extra margin of operator safety is afforded by the completely shielded, heavy-duty three-point PTO shaft. A spring-loaded plunger locks PTO drive to tractor quickly and easily.

2 Heavy-Duty Jack

Convenient, screw-type jack provides high leverage, quick, easy adjustment for hookup and unhooking. Screws up out of way when not in use.

3 Primary Gear Box

Heavy oil bath gear box lets you work with a large tractor without danger of damage. Cast iron case on gear box, plus precision-cut alloy steel gears mean smooth operation, extra-long gear life.

4 Over-Running Clutch

Designed to protect your tractor, the over-running clutch lets the cylinder clean out when power is shut off. Allows easy gear shifting and eliminates backlash when de-throttling.

5 Triple V-Belt Drive

Power is carried to the cylinder through a triple V-belt drive with a constant tension idler... you set it and forget it. Provides positive, smooth power flow, cushions shock loads, lengthens machine life.

6 Convenient Hitch

Tongue has three operating positions and one transport position. Change positions with simple, tapered pins. No wrench required. Heavy cast steel hitch has wide bearing surface, distributes weight evenly with less wear. Five leveling positions let you adjust to tractor drawbar with a single pin. Strong, adjustable safety hitch pin is standard equipment.

7 Discharge Chute

Large, 12" discharge chute swings a full 90° for side or rear delivery into your truck or wagon. Chute design lets you hook wagon up close and is standard design for use with two-beater wagon. Deflector hood adjusts from your tractor seat to let you fill wagon every time.

8 Tires

Check gas appliances for monoxide threat

With the arrival of warm weather and the vacation season, the number of accidental carbon monoxide deaths due to faulty automobile exhaust systems and home heating systems diminish, but the threat of carbon monoxide from other sources remains.

These sources of potential death are the bottled gas appliances, such as heater or refrigerator, in cottages and travel trailers.

Although these types of appliances are perfectly safe when functioning properly, they have been known to produce lethal quantities of carbon monoxide in the small confines of trailers and cottages, and bring family vacations to a tragic end in a number of instances.

STATE Health Commissioner Dr Albert E. Heustis, who has a trailer equipped with both a bottled gas heater and refrigerator, urged other house trailer and cottage owners to have their bottled gas appliances cleaned and checked by competent service personnel prior to use.

However, he stressed the recent case in Grand Rapids in which a man's death was attributed to carbon monoxide from a bottled gas refrigerator which had just been cleaned—but not completely—prior to his death.

According to the report of a health department engineer who investigated the house trailer following the man's death, the ceramic burner head of the gas refrigerator had been cleaned, but the flue tube was partially plugged with carbon deposits.

"IT IS our opinion," the engineer reported, "that this resulted in incomplete combustion and the generation of carbon monoxide."

After cleaning the flue system and adjusting the flame, the engineer reported that carbon monoxide was no longer being produced.

"Our engineer finished the job that someone else started and failed to complete," Dr Heustis said. "Tragically, a man died in the meantime. However, his death can serve as a warning to others. It is important in the servicing of a gas refrigerator that particular attention be paid to the heating unit and flue system. The servicing procedure must include thorough cleaning and whatever adjustments are necessary, if carbon monoxide problems are to be avoided."

FORTUNATELY, the problem of carbon monoxide has been eliminated from new travel trailers and mobile homes with the adoption by the American Standards association of recommendations sponsored by the mobile home industry.

In all new models, fuel-burning appliances are vented to the outside and the combustion system separated from the atmosphere of the trailer.

However, the potential of accidental carbon monoxide exposure still exists in older models and in cottages. The pamphlet, "Vacationists Guide for Most Efficient Use of LP-Gas Appliances," which illustrates properly functioning and malfunctioning equipment, can be obtained by writing to the Michigan Department of Health, Lansing 48914.

CAPTAIN ANDERSON strolls the flight line in front of a MATS Douglas C-133 Cargomaster, the world's largest cargo airlifter. The C-133 is designed for carrying bulky objects, such as rockets, intact at altitudes up to 30,000 feet.

CAPTAIN ANDERSON is briefed on an assignment from Maj. Gen. George B. Dany, commander of the MATS' Pacific air arm. Anderson is the general's aid-de-camp.

Anderson, a MATSman worth note

St. Johns man in AF booklet

Capt. David D. Anderson, a St. Johns man, is doing a job the US Air Force figured was worth note.

And so they have included him in an informational booklet telling about the Military Air Transport Service.

Capt. Anderson, 27, is the son of Mr and Mrs Dale W. Anderson of Paxton Road, R-1, St. Johns. He's one of 12 United States Air Force Academy graduates featured in the booklet, "A Dozen Diplomats," recently published by MATS headquarters.

THE BOOKLET, designed to acquaint USAFA cadets and Air Force ROTC cadets in colleges and universities with MATS, includes three pages of copy and pictures about Anderson.

He is a 1955 graduate of Rodney B. Wilson High School and was one of the first graduates from the Air Force Academy in 1959.

ANDERSON, assigned to Travis AFB Calif., is aid-de-camp to the Western Transport Air Force (WESTAF) commander, Maj. Gen. George B. Dany. After graduation from the Air Force Academy, he spent a short tour at Andrews AFB, near Washington, D. C., and went to Travis a little over three years ago.

"I didn't get married right away," Anderson related. "I waited four days after graduation."

HE IS MARRIED to the former Robin Lee Tracy, daughter of Mr and Mrs Robert L. Tracy of Arlington, Va. The couple have two children, a daughter, Cindy, 3, and a son, Gregg, 1 1/2.

Before being selected as General Dany's aide, Anderson was assigned to the 84th Air Transport Squadron where he was a navigator in Douglas C-133s. Over a three-year period he flew some 2,500 hours, became an instructor and then a navigator flight examiner.

HIS CREWS hauled missiles to Cape Kennedy, bomb samples from Christmas Island, and nearly everything else—from somewhere to somewhere.

Today his flying has taken on a different complexion. As an aide, he travels with the general several days a month and still maintains proficiency as a C-133 instructor navigator.

IN RECALLING where flights had taken him, Anderson came up with a list of well over 50 locations. Reading like the table of contents in a National Geographic, it included spots like Itazuke, Japan; Bodo, Norway; Elmendorf, Alaska; Drux, France; and just about every spot in the United States where missiles are built, stored or launched.

The C-133 Cargomaster Anderson flies is the USAF's only outsized cargo aircraft. It can carry a Minuteman, a Thor, an Atlas or just about any large bulky piece of cargo in one piece.

CRUISING AT nearly 300 miles per hour and flying at pressurized altitudes up to 30,000 feet, it is also used for smaller jobs.

"When you move behind a desk, I suppose there's temptation to let yourself relax a bit physically," Anderson said, "and if nothing else I try to keep myself in shape riding my bike (a 10-speed French racing bike) when the weather's good."

AND IT'S NOT unusual to find him playing squash, handball or bowling. Standing an erect six feet two inches and weighing in at a slim 200 pounds, Anderson keeps fit in his job.

"The job sure is broadening," Anderson said "Every day there's a new experience."

And, being an aide is a busy life for the family. There are a lot of social obligations and a continual stream of demands and challenges.

SINCE STARTING to work as an aide last October, Dave Anderson has gotten an insight to many MATS activities most young captains would never get. Attending WESTAF staff meetings four days a week, visiting MATS airlift units throughout WESTAF and keeping abreast on Reserve activities in the command keeps him well-informed.

"I hope to attend graduate school some day," Anderson said, "but now I have to be satisfied with taking a correspondence course when I can fit it in my schedule."

HE ALSO has a sense of humor. "One of my good points," he says, "is to take very good notes. But, unfortunately, one of my bad points is I lose 'em."

Anderson's wife, Robin, keeps busy too. Besides being occupied with the children, she manages to squeeze in bowling in a league, teaching Sunday School and numerous other activities with the Officers' Wives Club. A graduate of Colorado Women's College in Denver, Mrs Anderson was a model before marriage and grew up in a military atmosphere.

OF ALL THE trips her husband has taken since becoming an aide, he recalls one to Utopia Creek, Alaska, a remote radar site, as one of his most interesting.

"There, viewing Shoehorn Operations, as it's called, we accompanied a C-124 Globemaster on a resupply run. We landed up-hill, on the side of a mountain—a thrill a minute.

"YOU'VE really got to give those MATS Globemaster crews a lot of credit for the fine job they are doing, especially in such hazardous and remote spots," he said.

In spite of his many trips, Anderson hasn't had a chance to get to Lima, Peru, where his sister Patricia is about to wind up a tour with the Peace Corp. She is due to return to the United States in a few weeks.

CAPTAIN ANDERSON sits in tight, but plush, layout in front of the navigator's panel of a Douglas C-133 Cargomaster.

MRS ANDERSON, the former Robin Lee Tracy of Arlington, Va., holds the couple's son, Gregg. They also have a daughter, Cindy.

MEMO TO THE CADET CORPS:

What is it like to live and work as a MATSman around the world? Here are 12 answers.

I believe they are typical of the 89,500 of us working together in MATS to successfully complete our global missions.

An assignment in MATS seems to have a special effect on a person. The symptoms are simple: professional pride in the job; the trained ability to turn in a good day's work, literally anywhere in the world; plus the personal satisfaction of doing real airlift -- rescue -- weather -- or photo and charting missions.

MATS has jobs to do in either global or brush-fire war, or in the daily cold war, all over the world. Doing their part in these tasks are 160 alumni of the Air Force Academy.

Certainly, being a MATSman offers an interesting variety of career opportunities, both in the air or on the ground.

Farmers need new approach to pricing -NFO speaker

A new approach to the law of supply and demand is needed by farmers, Clinton County rural people were told Saturday night.

Al G. Herman, national NFO director from Waynesfield, Ohio, told folks at an ice cream social sponsored by the Clinton County chapter of the National Farmers Organization that if co-ops would join behind NFO, farmer prices in dairy, grain and meat could be set within two months.

HERMAN was a substitute speaker at the social. National NFO vice President Erhard Pfingston was unable to attend because of a briefing and planning meeting in South Dakota.

"The supply and demand is outmoded and no one uses it anymore except the farmers," Herman said. "That is why a new approach for the farmer is needed. NFO was organized for the sole purpose of bargaining for a fair price for the farmer."

"IN THE last 10 years," he said, "prices have been getting lower each year. In 1964 farm prices are 5 per cent less than 1963. Those in 1965 will be lower than 1964 unless we do something to change the pattern."

"If the co-ops would join behind NFO, we could set our prices within two months in dairy, grain and meat. When the prices of all three major commodities are raised to a fair level, each farmer will continue to raise the same products he is now raising."

Sealed Power earnings up

Paul C. Johnson, president of Sealed Power Corporation, announced this week that sales and earnings of Sealed Power in the second quarter and first half of 1964 were at an all-time high for these periods.

With second-quarter sales volume reaching $10,608,000, up 7% over the $9,900,000 recorded in the corresponding period last year, net earnings rose to $899,000—a gain of 21% over last year's second-quarter earnings of $740,000.

FOR THE six months period, Sealed Power net sales amounted to $20,725,000, increasing by 9% over the preceding year's total of $18,941,000, while net earnings rose 32% to $1,757,000 from $1,335,000 in 1963.

Such earnings were equivalent to $2.09 per share based on 838,873 shares outstanding on June 30, 1964, and $1.62 per share on 824,881 shares outstanding a year earlier, adjusted for the 10% stock dividend issued in 1963.

Johnson also reported that the corporation's Board of Directors, at their July meeting, declared the regular 25 cent per share quarterly dividend to be paid Sept. 10 to shareholders of record on Aug. 21.

P-W teachers of 2 years get tenure

All teachers with two or more years of service in the Pewamo-Westphalia Schools will achieve tenure status on Sept. 8, according to William Steinke, superintendent.

The decision to place all teachers with two or more years of service on immediate tenure was made by the board of education at its regular meeting this month.

TEACHERS with less than two years of previously rendered service will become probationary teachers according to the new State Wide Tenure Act. This means that these teachers during the first two school years of employment shall be deemed to be in a period of probation and a written statement of satisfactory or unsatisfactory service must be provided to the teacher at least 60 days before the close of the school year.

UNDER THE terms of the new Tenure Act, teachers with two or more years of service could be denied reappointment and not receive tenure status by a unanimous vote of the board of education after Aug. 27, when the Tenure Act becomes effective, and prior to Sept. 8, when school convenes.

The club was rated first internationally at the recent convention of Key Clubs at Dallas, Tex.

Ralph is the son of Mr and Mrs Ralph A. Dellar of Park Ridge, Ill.

The land gave farmers a good midsummer yield

Clinton's golden wheat crop pours in

Bill Kissane, Bingham Township farmer, stands before wagonload of the wheat he took this year off farms operated by him, his father (Byron Kissane) and brother (Bob Kissane). Among the three, they had 50 acres in wheat and got an average of about 55 bushels per acre.

Max Easlick and son Richard, 13, harvested a 13-acre wheat field for Mrs. Mary Zvonek in Duplain Township last Thursday and got a yield of 50 bushels or better per acre.

Albert Chant of rural DeWitt (left) and Robert Henning of rural St. Johns push piles of wheat through the grating at the elevator.

One of Clinton County's crops of gold—winter wheat—poured into the county's elevators this week after an early rain delay.

The pace was described by one elevator as "tremendous." The three silos at St. Johns Cooperative Co. were filled by Sunday night, and the wheat that continued to come in was trucked to U.S. government storage bins on the east side of US-27 near the cemetery.

THE SILOS at the cooperative company hold 110,000 bushels.

The price being paid for wheat in the county dipped to $1.26 per bushel Monday from $1.28 last Thursday when the harvest started. It is expected to drop another one or two cents in the next few weeks, one source said.

The government loan rate on the wheat crop is $1.30.

THE PRICE IS apparently causing many farmers to store their wheat crop until the prices improve. St. Johns Cooperative Co. reported half or more of the farmers there were storing.

While it has been a bad year so far for wheat prices, it has been a good year for the wheat crop itself. Farmers have been reporting yields of from 50 bushels to the acre to as high as 60 bushels. The average appears to be about 55 bushels.

THE GRAIN has been testing out at 55 pounds per bushel, compared to the U.S. government certified wheat weight of 60 pounds.

In addition, the crop is clean. Foreign material is running only 1 per cent to .5 per cent dockage, whereas in some years the figure runs between 4 and 5 per cent.

RAIN THE early part of last week held up the start of the harvest, and it wasn't until Thursday the elevators began to get the crop. It came in heavy and steady through the weekend, but by Monday the number of trucks began to dwindle noticeably. The last wheat is expected before the weekend.

The biggest day for St. Johns Cooperative Co. was Saturday, when 216 trucks were unloaded.

Wheat is being shipped out to Saginaw terminals by truck at a pace about equal to that coming in from the farms.

THERE WAS no way yet this week to obtain figures on what the total yield will be in the county, but a million-and-a-half-bushel year has been predicted.

The wheat situation, complicated as it has been, is even more complex on the 1964 crop. Under the new wheat program passed by Congress in April, the loan rate of $1.30 is 52 cents lower than on the 1963 crop.

THOSE FULLY complying with the program will receive certificates worth 70 cents per bushel on 45 per cent of the normal production of the farm allotment if planted, and 25 per cent of the normal production.

The 70 cent certificates apply to the producer's share of the domestic market. This effectively raises the domestic price to millers by 70 cents over the market and the export price to 25 cents over the market.

PARTICIPATION in the program was heavy among the large wheat farmers in the West, but relatively few signed up in the Midwest. In Michigan, 23 per cent of the farmers representing 35 per cent of the acreage signed up.

Those producers who have complied with their acreage allotments will be eligible for the $1.30 loan rate, regardless of whether they have diverted acreage to qualify for the certificates and diversion payments.

Almond Cressman, Olive Township supervisor, had 48 acres in wheat this year and averaged 50 bushels to the acre.

Charles Robbins, Ovid Township farmer, was busy Thursday harvesting wheat from his field on St. Clair Road. Rain the first part of last week delayed the wheat harvest in Central Michigan.

A proposed merger which affects Clinton people

News of big business mergers are generally just casual reading for Clinton area people. Few of us hold sizable stock interests in the corporations involved and we skip over their doings with only passing interest.

But last week's announcement of a proposed merger between Federal-Mogul-Bower Bearings, Inc., and Sealed Power Corp. is a different matter. Both companies have operated successful divisions in St. Johns for nearly 20 years and they represent our principal industrial base.

FULLY 700 MEN and women are employed directly by the two companies in St. Johns and scores of others look to F-M and Sealed Power for some indirect part of their livelihood. Together the two companies pump nearly $5 million in payroll into the local economy. They pay thousands of dollars in local, state and Federal taxes.

Both corporations have been good citizens of the Clinton area and it's our hope that as a combined operation they'll be doubly valuable to us and to those who operate and own the companies.

THIS IS A rapidly changing business world in which we live today. The necessity for mergers and consolidations to promote management, sales and distribution efficiency was never greater.

Happily, although they make different products, Sealed Power and Federal-Mogul sell to pretty much the same group of customers in the new equipment and replacement field. Both operate on a worldwide basis and are recognized leaders in their specialized industries.

It seems apparent that improved sales and distribution of their products is a key factor in the proposed merger. Since the St. Johns divisions of these companies will continue to prosper only so long as their products sell readily in the competitive market, the merger can be regarded with favor by Clinton people whose livelihood is linked with their success.

The issues in November will be clearly defined

After all the shouting and seeming confusion, Republicans did what was anticipated at San Francisco last week. The Goldwater-Miller ticket for President and Vice President puts the issue of Conservative vs. Liberal squarely up to the voters in November.

There was no shilly-shallying in the Goldwater camp when it came to choosing a Vice Presidential nominee. There was no attempt to "water down" the ticket with a more moderate running mate. The candidate for Vice President, Rep. Bill Miller of New York, is of much the same mind as Senator Goldwater. And, if anything, he's more articulate.

THE GOLDWATER nomination is confirmation that conservatism has long been on the rise in the U.S. We're careful to say "conservatism" and not "extremism".

Quite obviously Senator Goldwater's record and his actions are not those of an extremist. All the talk about his possible election in November carrying the country back to the dark ages of the 18th century is pure bunk.

Senator Goldwater and his supporters believe sincerely that the trend to an all-powerful Federal government must be interrupted if individual freedom is to be maintained. This will be the campaign issue and its full discussion during the coming months will be healthy for the country.

'How Was the Old Vacation, Howie?'

RAMBLIN' with Rink

BY LOWELL G. RINKER

There are certain times in the life of this chap when it is a pleasure and an irritation at the same time to sit in front of the television set and not have it on.

Such was the case last week. Not being particularly involved with politics, I enjoyed not watching most of the Republican National Convention. But I was irritated because I couldn't watch anything else.

I MUST ADMIT I am more of a slave of the tube than I would like to be. Many programs I don't mind missing, as long as there's something else to watch, but I get rather heated when the Dick VanDyke Show is displaced by a situation comedy the likes of politics.

Perhaps I'm being too hard-headed about this. But there is more involved than just missing the Dick VanDyke Show. What it boils down to is a criticism of network news programming.

THE NETWORK news departments do a pretty good job of keeping tube slaves like me informed of current events by their live coverage. But at times it seems they go overboard. With the Republican Convention last week I feel there was not enough interest nationwide to have all three major networks spending the greatest part of their prime time covering the convention.

A half-hour or hour news program late each evening could surely wrap up the goings-on of the day in such a fashion that the listener and watcher would have a good picture of things. The afternoon and evening news reports are used for this now.

AND SINCE almost every viewer also reads a newspaper, he usually gets a more comprehensive report and a more understandable one from it.

The live coverage of a political convention is a fine public service for television networks, but it would also be a public service if even one of the three networks would continue their regular programming for the benefit of the millions who don't want to watch the convention.

THIS IS probably wishful thinking. But at least we millions now have a brief time to enjoy TV again before the networks dive into the Democratic National Convention.

A Dog Revolving Door

BY W. E. DOBSON

There's every sort of problem
'N some grieve while some annoy,
Everybody makes adjustments
If our home life we'd enjoy;
I am not a Major Hoople
But if Major had the floor,
He would note the need and patent
A dog revolving door.

Every door is just two-sided,
There's an inside and an out,
But which side is the right one,
Has every dog in doubt;
'N no sooner he's decided
Then he begs for an encore,
I'm sure the only answer
Is a dog revolving door!

It needn't be so fancy,
Surely Major could devise,
An entrance and an exit
To screen out the bugs 'n flies,
Home work load would be lessened
By hours if this chore,
Were quite eliminated,
By a dog revolving door.

The patent rights could cover
Arrangements for the cat,
So both in-come and out-go
Could be had in nothin' flat;
Man's pride in his inventions,
Is purely due to soar,
Once he has solved the riddle
Of a dog revolving door.

There's further fields for study,
Foot wipers must be supplied,
And tests for germs or odors,
Else passage be denied;
The world at large is waiting
To purchase by the score,
'N pay tribute to the maker
Of a dog revolving door!

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY

Hart warned: "Don't go too far!"

MICHIGAN'S US Senator Phil Hart has taken a lot of kidding and, let's face it, gotten a lot of publicity mileage out of his campaign to bring about what he terms "truth in packaging."

It started with the number of cherries in a packaged cherry pie and has gone onward and upwards through a gamut of food market products.

The Senator's preoccupation with these matters bothers Howard Poole, editor of the Davison (Mich.) Index. Here's a copy of a recent open letter which Howar J released:

U.S. Senator Hart
Washington, D.C.

Dear Senator Hart:

I have received your most recent form letter, sent at public expense, which recounted the progress you are making in your "truth in packaging" program.

I thought it just splendid that no longer is the breakfast cereal labeled "bran with raisin flakes" but now is absolutely factual and says "bran with raisin-flavored flakes."

On second thought, it really doesn't make much difference to me. The stuff wasn't fit for humans under either label, so I fed it to my horse. While he's smart, he can't read labels so he's happier.

I suppose you should be congratulated on making the soap manufacturers fill their detergent boxes right to the top. It hasn't helped this clumsy fellow, though. I liked that extra air space at the top, for it gave me more room to maneuver in poking out that pesky spout. Now I punch out the triangle on the dotted lines and a stream of soap comes out with it.

And I really don't think I'm getting any free soap as the result of your efforts. If there's more in the package, I reckon I'm paying for it. My pappy always told me, "Son, there's no such thing as a free lunch."

I'm glad, though, that you've got all the other problems tended to in Washington so you can take care of these little matters like raisin-flavored bran flakes. I would like to offer a word of caution, though.

A lot of women say your campaign against false fronts is all well and good—but don't carry it too far.

Yours truly,
Howard Poole, Editor

IT BOTHERS ME that there's a tendency these days to blame everything that's new and inconvenient about local, state and Federal government on the recently-enacted Michigan constitution.

Since I played a small part in the framing of the new document, it's understandable that I should resent such uninformed criticism.

Newspapers and legislators, who should know better, often pass the buck to the constitution when they explain some change to a reader or constituent.

Recent cases in point—a newspaper article which said that the statute providing for the printing of political party delegates' names on the primary ballots is a constitutional enactment; a fellow editor's comment that school consolidation is required by the new constitution.

ONCE AND FOR all—the new Michigan Constitution contains a very limited amount of statutory detail. It was intended only to establish broad guidelines and provide framework upon which the legislature and the courts could build. Wherever possible, the document steered clear of specifics.

With respect to the complaints mentioned earlier, it should be pointed out that the Constitution's entire Elections Article contains only eight short paragraphs, plus a more lengthy section establishing the people's right to the initiative and referendum. The complete Education Article is condensed into nine short sections and there is not even remote reference to school consolidation.

THIS IS NOT to argue that delegates to the Constitutional Convention were infallible in their judgments. I'd be the first to admit that honest mistakes were made.

Most notable error, of course, was in the idealistic Apportionment Commission set-up which we were convinced would work. We thought we could set up a reasonable apportionment formula and depend upon a bipartisan commission, equally divided, to agree upon a fair shake in setting up legislative districts.

That it didn't work is now a matter of history. Now I'm more than ever convinced that apportionment is a matter for the legislature itself. They've never done much of a job at it, but in the long pull they come up with a better solution than commissions or courts, who only seem to mess it up.

The first wheat of the season was brought to St. Johns elevators Monday, 72 cents per bushel being paid. The yield will probably be the largest in years, some farmers reporting 30 or more bushels to the acre.

On Monday evening next a special meeting of the council and board of public works will be held for the purpose of considering the advisability of sinking a 12-inch well.

Lovers of good amusement no doubt will be pleased to hear that Kelley & Brennan's Big Dramatic Co. will return to St. Johns for a week's engagement, starting Monday, July 27, in what promises to be the dramatic event of the season.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Romney-Staebler battle in November near certain

BY ELMER E. WHITE Michigan Press Ass'n.

ONLY A SUDDEN, unexpected surge in the conservative voice at the polls Sept. 1 could provide a change from the near certainty of a Romney-Staebler gubernatorial contest in November.

Barring a GOP primary upset by Ferrdale auto dealer George N. Higgins over Gov. George Romney, the spotlight then focuses on who will hold down the No. 2 spot on the Michigan ballot in the first election under the team principle.

UNDER THE new Constitution, the lieutenant governor candidate for each party will be nominated at convention and run on a ticket with the gubernatorial nominee just as the President and vice president run as a team.

Previously, nomination to the No. 2 slot was by petition or filing fee just as for governor and other offices. This system resulted in the 1963-64 situation where the governor was a Republican but a Democrat held the lieutenant governor's chair.

THREE MEN have openly announced interest in the Republican nomination. On the Democratic side, open availability remains a big question mark.

Hoping for the Republican nod are former Lt. Gov. Clarence A. Reid of Detroit, House Speaker Allison Green of Kingston, and State Sen. William G. Milliken of Traverse City.

REID WAS the party's nominee in 1962 but was bested by Democrat T. John Lesinski by just over 3,000 votes. He previously served as presiding officer in the Senate in 1953-54.

Closest to Romney's moderate Republican views is Milliken, now completing his second term in the Senate. Green is generally viewed as a conservative but was instrumental in gaining House passage of Romney's program during the past two years.

Green has served seven terms in the House, four of them as majority floor leader and this past term as speaker.

Romney has given no indication as to which he prefers, if any. He did no team campaigning with Reid two years ago.

ELIMINATION OF two present Democratic Administrative Board members from the No. 2 possibilities list by their entry in Congressional races left only one prominently mentioned candidate.

State Party Chairman Zolton A. Ferency has denied aspirations for the post, however, and there has been doubt expressed about his acceptability to Neil Staebler.

FERENCY'S selection as state party chief in 1963 was vigorously opposed by Staebler.

Candidates for the No. 2 spot will be chosen by the parties in mid-September, after the primary vote.

Thus, many Democrats are looking to the Congressional contests for other prospects for lieutenant governor.

IN SEVERAL districts, incumbent Democrats will be pitted against each other. To a loser in one of these combined districts may go the spoils of the lieutenant governor's slot on the state ticket, say several Democratic leaders.

Annual issuance of license plates will be resumed next year if Secretary of State James M. Hare and two state senators have their way.

THE RESUMPTION of annual plates, abandoned in 1959, will be formally proposed in the Legislature next year by Sens. John T. Bowman (D-Roseville) and Robert VanderLaan (R-Grand Rapids).

Hare said he fully supports the idea and hopes Michigan citizens will express their sentiments on the matter when the time comes.

SINCE THE unforgettable cash crisis year of 1959, new plates have been issued only every three years with tabs sold in the other years.

Pleas in this session to either issue annual plates or make the three-year ones of more resistant metal went unheeded. Many motorists have paid the $1 or $2 fee this year to replace unreadable, corroded 1962 plates now in use with tabs.

Costs of the change to annual plates have not been computed, but Hare, Bowman and VanderLaan think the price of readable plates would be worthwhile.

MICHIGAN'S 14,000 blind residents are being short-changed on state services, according to one expert in the field.

The state's lag has also resulted in failure to use four-fifths of the federal matching funds available for blind aid, says Dr. Edward Fitting, supervisor of services for the blind.

With only seven full-time state employees doing work for the blind, Fitting said Indiana is the only state which spends less money than Michigan to operate its agency.

"Looking backward"

BY IRA "Sawmill" BIRMINGHAM

Do you find life dull? Here is what will change your outlook. Just try growing melons for market, especially muskmelons.

Unless you have first trapped them, those little native mice that live in hollow trees and stumps and are called "Deer-mice" will start digging up your seed soon after dark. You find the huls, minus the rich "meats" and from that time till the last melon is sold, you must fight frost, weeds, bugs, several kinds of fungi and Mr and Mrs James Crow.

FROST? Melons can't take even a little.

Some years ago four 80-rod rows were just emerging, the light sandy soil was very dry and East Lansing predicted frost. A half century old Planet Junior hand cultivator had a little steel plow which I put in the place of the two cultivator blades and very carefully plowed a furrow over the melons.

Yes, the weather man was right; we had a killing frost.

NEXT MORNING I "borrowed" my wife's broom and swept the sand off. No damage.

Now about those pesky crows: Are they not the smartest thing in feathers? Did you ever see one light on any building?

I didn't, but here is what they do: Suppose your watermelon is 18 inches long—they light on it and put a round hole one and one half inches in diameter, exactly twelve inches from the stem end, several inches deep, throwing out the seed.

AND WILL they ever touch that melon again? Never. They choose another melon next time.

Some folks talk about "eating crow."

That's their privilege, but here is what I saw: Some young crows were being taught by their parents to eat ripe yellow transparent apples when I knocked a couple of them down with a shotgun.

OUR WISE old mother cat didn't approve of tender young crows being eaten by her kittens. You should have seen her box their ears and express her disapproval of crows for food by cuffing them away from crows in the "Squab" stage.

While crows were ruining a nice lot of melons a dozen or more years ago, I was advised to bait steel traps with over-ripe eggs, that they couldn't resist the temptation.

THAT MAY have been true, but what got caught was a skunk instead. Phew! A 25-20 Savage rifle finished the skunk and from a safe distance.

That rifle was bought for the express purpose of discouraging crows from a melon diet.

So I began shooting at them early in spring and remember a crow on a limb that was in the water on Maple River flats.

THE STEEL jacketed bullet threw water all over that bird and must have either hit one leg or else thrown a silver of wood that injured one leg, for when it flew up to a tree limb, it couldn't stay on top.

Perhaps 'twas the same one that was limping around behind the plow, picking up the big white grubs.

Let's give them credit for the good they do.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

First mess of peas has special sort of meaning

HAYDN PEARSON

The Old Farmer's Almanack is a worthy publication, but it has never learned to divide a country year into the proper seasons. It clings to the traditional, safe and obvious system of four seasonal periods.

The fact is, as good country-men have always known, the year is divided into such periods as first fresh apple pie, first roast pork after butchering, first maple syrup, and the first mess of peas. One cannot say that one season is better than another as the ball of time unwinds behind one's footsteps.

BUT SOMEHOW the first mess of peas always has a special meaning. It means a tasty crop from the good earth—a crop that confirms one's faith in the promise that as a man sows, so also shall he reap. The countryman, who has an aversion to bending over as he harvests, raises his peas on a six foot wire trellis. He enjoys poking along the green, lush barricade with basket on arm and plucking the long, handsome pods.

Peas originated in middle Asia and were prized in Europe when travelers brought back first seeds. They were called "both a fashion and a madness" in France by Madame de Maintenon in 1696. Mendel used peas in his epochal studies of genetics. The Black Eye is the most famous of all varieties.

THE COUNTRYMAN is glad to know that peas have a long and interesting history. And he wants his peas a special way. Open two biscuits and place them in a soup plate. Butter the halves well and pour on about a pint of peas and plenty of juice. Perhaps the rods on Olympus did not eat peas this way, but one feels sure they would have if they had known about it.

Bement Library Book Shelf

By Elizabeth Millman

Since the negro's struggle for recognition is so much a topic of the day, it is only natural that many fiction writers should use that theme for their novels. One of the best of these is "Look Away, Look Away" by Ben Haas. This is the story of the black and white boy who grow up together even as they go their separate ways. The Negro becomes a national leader of his people as the white boy rises high in politics in his state.

The story of the conflict is all in this book, which is a powerful novel of our times and of our major American crisis.

MARGARET Kennedy has written many charming books, but is best known for her "The Constant Nymph." Her new novel, "Not in the Calendar," is a family story involving the lives of a large tribe reaching from the 1880's to 1938. Its heroine is a warm and friendly woman, and the book is refreshing to read after so many novels with violence and frustration as their theme.

Faith Baldwin has written 61 books and in her last, "The Lonely Man," she has created a compassionate character Widowed in early life, the story shows the efforts of her hero to create a meaningful life for himself. Miss Baldwin's many fans will find this a satisfying book.

ELIZABETH Taylor's new book "The Soul of Kindness," is a story with a London background. It is a story of a self-sacrificing mother who stifles her husband and daughter with kindness. Her insight in human motivation is revealed through the gradual unfolding of everyday relationships. (The author is not the Elizabeth Taylor of "Cleopatra" fame.)

For mystery readers, Howard Haycraft and John Beecroft have edited one of their Mystery Omnibus called "Three Times Three." This has selections from all the best mystery writers such as Raymond Chandler, Dorothy Sayers, Frances and Richard Lockridge and the like.

HERE IS GOOD reading for almost everyone and for every taste. The second story-telling hour was held last Tuesday afternoon with a fine group present. The children and the library are very grateful to Mrs Cook for offering her talents for this service.

Read Luke 6: 27-36

Grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. To him be the glory both now and to the day of eternity. Amen. (II Peter 3:18, RSV)

My husband and I were missionaries in China when Hual Yuan was a student in the mission high school. One Sunday in the Bible class he was challenged to yield himself to Christ in a new and complete way. This he did.

There was a man in the city who had wronged him and whom he hated. If Hual Yuan saw this man coming toward him, he would duck into a shop or an alley to avoid having to meet him.

The next Sunday, we asked Hual Yuan whether his stand for Christ the previous week had made any difference in his life. He answered, "You know, I met on the street the man whom I have disliked so much. Before I knew it--and to my utter surprise--I found I loved him."

Surely this experience of love and forgiveness brought a new degree of glory to this young Christian.

PRAYER: Our loving heavenly Father, we thank Thee that Thou hast provided for our continual growth in grace. We beseech Thee to fill us with the fullness of Thy life and may we grow into thy likeness. Help us evermore to dwell in Thee and Thou in us, in the Savior's name we pray. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: When we commit ourselves to Christ, He changes us increasingly into His likeness. —Francis Taft Pyke (Maryland)

MORE THAN MONEY . . . PEOPLE ARE OUR BUSINESS

Peter got the saving habit early . . .

Peter first got acquainted with us when Dad brought him in to make regular deposits in his own Savings Account. He's learning what the savings habit means . . . education and opportunity for him. Later, he'll learn that it's always a good habit to count on us for every banking service, just as his parents do. How about you?

Faith's Challenge

There is something very special about a boy and his dog. The dog so obviously wants nothing more than to devote his life to his small master. He takes his boy on faith . . . and, inevitably, the boy lives up to it.

For faith creates a challenge. If someone believes something good of you, you find yourself eager to measure up to that standard.

God looks for the best in all of us. Regardless of what may have happened yesterday we are, today, welcome in His Church. He has faith in us. Should we have less than faith in Him?

Many forget oats in alfalfa seeding

Although many farmers are harvesting oats this month, the state's acreage has been declining during recent years.

Leyton Nelson, Michigan State University crop scientist, points out that the state's oat production dropped 325,000 acres between 1957 and 1963.

THE REDUCED oat acreage, where about 70 per cent of Michigan's alfalfa seedings are made, means more seedings will be made in the spring or summer without a companion crop. Only one-quarter of the state's one and one-half million acres of alfalfa is now seeded in late July or August.

Nelson and M. B. Tesar, MSU crop science researcher, point out that planting alfalfa in the spring without a companion crop and harvesting two and one-half tons of hay later the same year is now a possibility. Better yet, it provides farmers with about the same income that would normally be furnished by growing oats as a companion crop.

THE CROP scientists say this alternative has been attractive to a few farmers even though it is necessary to use a herbicide costing $5 to $12 per acre when planting in the spring.

However, both agree the newness of the practice has greatly limited its practical acceptance to date among farmers.

Cooking feed grain

Grandpa may have been onto something real good when he cooked the grain he fed his livestock.

University of Arizona scientists have found that the feeding value of milo or barley was stepped up markedly by cooking, according to Farm Journal.

Cooking added $7.20 per ton to the value of milo for yearling steers, over the dry, rolled grain, and increased daily gains nine per cent for barley.

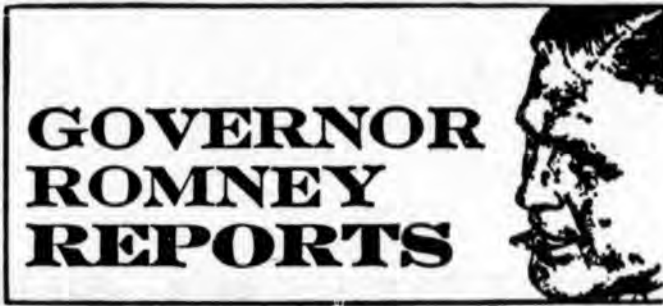

THE GRAINS were steamprocessed for 20 minutes, compared with five minutes or less for the usual steam treatment in rolling.

In reporting on this new feeding idea, Bruce Taylor of the U of Arizona said: "The finished product looks like something you'd add cream and sugar to and start eating. It smells good, too."

NFO Officials Talk

Al G. Herman (seated right), a director of the National Farmers' Organization, talks over NFO activities with Clinton County President Roy Westendorf prior to Saturday night's ice cream social at the Ranch Roller Rink. Looking on are Stanley Welton, (left), Clinton County NFO meat bargaining chairman, and Philip Wing, assistant organization director for Clinton, Ionia, Isabella and Montcalm counties. Herman is also a member of the National Dairy Commodity Committee of NFO. He substituted for Erhard Pfingston, national vice president, who was not able to attend.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

I've been reporting to you the last couple of weeks on the gains we've made in the fields of education and mental health here in the state of Michigan.

A third area where dramatic improvements are being made is in helping to solve problems of youth. Part of the improvements come from money, part from attitude. For example, we have sharply expedited opening of more beds at Boys Training School at Whitmore Lake—290 more beds will be opened yet this year.

WE HAVE started an extensive halfway house program, with two halfway houses already underway and eight more to begin during the coming fiscal year. This is a pioneering approach. Only one other state (Washington) has any halfway houses, and that state has only one. We have increased our rehabilitation, parole and probation services.

But the problems of youth are broader than detention and correction. Following the approach that the best positive way to help young people is to make them employable, we have taken many important steps.

WE HAVE undertaken a sound work-study program. We are increasing emphasis on vocational education. After years of trying, Michigan has begun pilot programs for combining in-school training and work experience for dropouts and unemployed youth, and cooperative training programs for unemployed young people. We have adopted vocational programs for the disabled.

We are continuing our participation in the cooperative Manpower Training and Development programs to the extent of $4 to $5 million a year, and we have put Michigan in a position to take part in the 1963 federal vocational education program when federal funds are finally made available. This program should result in $19 million worth of vocational education in Michigan in the next three years.

THE PROBLEMS of youth cannot be adequately handled or the opportunities for youth adequately exploited in a single program or by a single piece of legislation. It requires a broader approach, which begins ultimately with home and family attitudes and actions. Detention and correction are only phases of the total program of helping young people. Providing jobs is important, and training young people so they can fill these jobs is vital.

The state cannot do all these things alone, and SHOULD not do all of them alone. The total problem requires a cooperative approach that begins with individuals and families, includes neighborhoods and voluntary groups, reaches into community and local government for concern and action, and includes the state and federal governments in partnership roles.

A FOURTH area where we have made gains is in the field of SOCIAL WELFARE. Michigan has become qualified to participate in the ongoing federal program for Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed. Under our program, about 33,000 needy parents and children were transferred from direct relief to ADC-U with higher average monthly benefits, plus savings of about $6 million to local governments.

Monthly maximum payments for old aged assistance recipients in convalescent homes were increased from $90 to $140, and for those in their own homes from $80 to $90, saving another $2 million for local government.

WE INCREASED allowable income levels to permit an estimated 22,000 more needy senior citizens to qualify under the Medical Assistance for the Aged act.

In addition, we adopted a pooling program to make private medical and hospital insurance more readily available for senior citizens.

We broadened the definition of disability under the Aid to Disabled program to help disabled persons.

WE ADOPTED the work-relief program, whereby direct relief recipients must participate in work or training programs if required by the county.

Annual sale of certified seed is more than $150 million, according to the Department of Agriculture. The return to the farmer in increased crop values is 10-20 times that amount in terms of quality, yield and weed and disease control.

A good stand of grasses and legumes is over 300 times as effective in saving soil, and 6 times as effective in reducing run-off, as a clean-tilled crop on the same kind of land.

ASC PROGRAM

Says higher flour prices not justified this year

W. M. SMITH County ASC Manager

The following statement on wheat and flour was made in Washington by Secretary Freeman on July 9, 1964:

All indications point to a very satisfactory transition from one wheat program to another during the past two or three months. This is the product of close cooperation between the Department and the grain and milling trades.

THE KANSAS City Star reported July 5 that "the transition from the old to the new wheat program on July 1 at the Kansas City Board of Trade was as smooth as if the grain trade had been equipped with an automatic transmission."

At the same time there are reports that millers have raised flour prices and that bakers may raise bread prices as the new wheat program goes into effect. There is no justification for any substantial increase in flour prices this year, nor will the price of wheat and flour justify higher bread prices. In fact there is strong reason to believe that the announced flour price increases of up to 80 cents a hundredweight cannot be sustained.

DURING JUNE, for example, millers paid less for a bushel of wheat than at any time in the past 18 years. In Kansas City the average price of wheat declined by 56 cents between April and June, or an equivalent decline of about $1.31 per hundred pounds of flour.

Flour prices during June, however, were quoted at about April levels and were slightly above May levels. Mills operated at about 25 cents above the June 1963 level in June 1964. This action created a large flour inventory to carry bakers through the first weeks of the new crop year. Even at the June asking price for flour from this inventory the milling industry likely would enjoy strong profits, since it obtained the wheat at very low cost. But the higher July asking price on this inventory is clearly out of line and the lack of any substantial sales to date would indicate the baking industry reflects this view.

Pick 13 4-H'ers for state show

Thirteen 4-H members who gave demonstrations last Tuesday at the 4-H Demonstration Day will give them again at the State 4-H Show.

Donald Walker and Betty Ketcham, county extension agents for 4-H Club work and home economics, said they felt the demonstrations last week were "all worthy efforts" of which the members should be proud.

JUNIORS named to give their demonstrations at the state show were: John Hunt on soil and water conservation; Carol Buck on flower gardens; Lexa Swatman on food; Gail Johnson on personal improvement; Martha Mihalyl and Jane Peterson on photography; and Teri McQueen on rabbits.

Seniors chosen were: Sue Wickerham on clothing; Carolyn Plaza on bread; Joyce Plunkett on cakes and pies; Linda Spousta on foods; Sandra McQueen on rabbits; and Dianna McQueen on V. G. production.

Nationally, Michigan's state parks rank fifth in daily attendance. In 1963, they drew over 13,500,000 visitors.

Michigan state parks lead the country in campground visitors. Last year, about 935,000 people recorded nearly three million camper days at these public recreation areas.

List safety tips for electricity

"Safer American Families Everywhere" is the theme of the 21st annual National Farm Safety Week, proclaimed for this week by President Johnson.

- Use only heater cords (asbestos or special rubber) with heating appliances, and don't interchange them between appliances.
- Use waterproof covered cords if they might get wet.
- PREVENT electric shock or burns by never touching open wires or sockets. Be sure hands are dry when handling connected equipment. Don't use forks or other metal objects to remove toast from the toaster.
- Don't immerse thermostats in water.
- Use detachable thermostats only in appliances of the same brands.

Fair entry deadline July 30

FOR MORE information about the use of electricity in the home, write to Betty Ketcham, county extension agent, home economics, at the courthouse in St. Johns, for the free extension booklet, CE 29, "Electricity in the Home."

The fair will run from Aug. 17 to 19 at the fairgrounds behind the city park.

"THE PARADE on Wednesday night (Aug. 19) will be by clubs again this year," Walker said, "and each club will be responsible for its own exhibit in the parade."

"If the club wishes to show other than livestock, we'd encourage you to do so on a float or in some original way. As each club parades, the leaders will give the names of the youngsters involved as they cross in front of the bandshell."

Freeze-drying promises better vegetable quality

MADISON, WIS.—Vegetables dehydrated by freeze-drying will be a higher quality product as a result of promising new research at the University of Wisconsin.

The research should improve the market for vegetables in dried soup mixes and other specialty products.

Food chemists Kenneth G. Weckel and Duane Wosje concentrated their research on freeze drying of vegetables with emphasis on peas. When peas were dried down to 2 or 3 per cent moisture by freeze-drying and then "rehydrated," they returned to a level of 82 to 87 per cent of original moisture content. Sitting the pea coat increased rehydration by 2 or 3 per cent.

OTHER vegetables and their rehydration values were corn, 90 to 95 per cent; carrots, 78 to 83 per cent; green snap beans, 78 to 82 per cent; rutabagas, 88 to 92 per cent; and lima beans, 75 to 80 per cent; rutabagas, 88 to 92 per cent; and lima beans, 75 to 80 per cent.

Rehydration values didn't vary with variety and fairly constant for each kind of vegetable. One notable exception was lima beans. Where most varieties of beans had rehydration values of 75 to 80 per cent, Green Seeded Fordhook variety rehydrated to a value of 92 to 94 per cent.

The researchers have developed suggested procedures for freeze drying peas. They recommend blanching peas at 185 degrees for 10 minutes followed by draining. Then they are frozen.

FREEZE drying is done under a near vacuum, about 1/1400 of an atmosphere pressure for 12 hours while temperatures climb from -10 degrees to 110 degrees.

Preliminary tests by a taste testing panel showed that the Perfection pea variety was preferred to Alaska peas. Size four peas had better flavor than other sizes after storage for three months at temperatures up to 100 degrees.

Raw flavor was carried over in peas unless they were blanched at least at 180 degrees for 10 minutes or more.

HOW DID vegetable quality stand up under freeze drying? Weckel and Wosje found that all vegetables got a little more firm after freeze drying and rehydrating. Color of all rehydrated samples suffered almost no loss during processing. An exception was carrots which held color well through freezing but faded during cold storage.

Michigan has the largest number of state park campsites in the nation—about 10,750. Available on a "first come, first served" basis, most of the sites are hooked up with electricity.

Bumble bees needed to put z-z-z-zip in crop pollination

Bumble bees are good crop pollinators, but we need more of them to do an effective job. How to get bigger populations of bumble bees has been studied for several years by John Medler, University of Wisconsin insect specialist.

Medler told about some of the problems of rearing bumble bees when he spoke to the 12th International Congress of Entomology meeting in London, England, July 8-16.

HE SAID bumble bee colonies should be managed in nesting boxes so the environment can be controlled and so they can be moved around easily for pollination. He told about several problems of rearing bees in nesting boxes which limit the size of colonies.

Getting healthy queens to start new colonies is a problem, Medler said. He gets queens from the field after they emerge from hibernation in the spring, but there is no sure way to tell whether they are healthy or of uniform age.

ONLY 15 PER cent of the normal queens confined to the nesting boxes ever establishes a colony. Medler doesn't know how this compares with conditions in nature, but he believes this number also is low. Established colonies then must fight the rigors of predation, desertion, disease and possible experimental mismanagement. Some species of bumble bees are more successful than others in establishing laboratory colonies. Even among the best, though, the first workers produced in the colony are smaller in size than in natural colonies.

Laboratory rearing of bumble bees must also provide a place for queens to hibernate and survive. Although some other workers report about 85 per cent survival of bees in metal containers of vermiculite at about 34 degrees, Medler found this method to be a failure. Low survival of queens indicates that temperature, humidity and other factors in the laboratory can cause troubles during hibernation.

MEDLER REPORTED many bumble bee queens are subject to disease. He examined queens from colonies and often found bacterial and other infections. A common one is Nosema, a parasitic disease which is also common to honey bees. A nematode found in 12 per cent of the queens makes them sterile.

Colonies of bumble bees in nature are generally small, Medler told the inter-national audience. They may have anywhere from 30 to 100 workers, depending on the species of bumble bee. Medler has established new record-sized colonies for all species which now range from 100 to 475 workers per colony, probably high above natural numbers.

MUCH LESS is known about the social "caste" system of the bumble bee than is known about honey bees. There seems to be a large variation in development of worker bees, the group that contributes most to the success of the

To make a ton of hay at 10 per cent moisture, reports the American Grassland Council, 7,000 pounds of water must be removed from 9,000 pounds of fresh cut forage.

Park improvements
Through 1963, more than $5 million worth of improvements had been completed under Michigan's state park bonding program. These include additional campsites for 8,450 people, picnic areas for 4,000 more recreationists, expanded parking for 1,500 cars, four new lake impoundments, and a number of other facilities.

Attends meeting on eye disease

Dr. Albert H. Nelson from St. Johns attended, with over 100 doctors of optometry, a regional Glaucoma Symposium in Lansing, July 19 and 20.

Glaucoma, an eye disease characterized by an increased internal pressure of the eye ball, often results in impaired function, occasionally resulting in blindness. Its early detection is the prime consideration of the optometric practitioners.

THE PROGRAM was geared towards the latest techniques and instrumentation in its detection. Featured speakers at the symposium were Dr. Paul Shulman, professor of ophthalmology at the Illinois College of Optometry, and Dr. John H. Carter, professor of physiological optics at the Pennsylvania State College of Optometry.

The clinical sessions featured the latest instruments in measuring ocular tension including the electronic tonometer developed at the School of Optometry at the University of California. The latest techniques in the study of the visual field were also presented.

AGRICULTURE in ACTION

Whether we care to believe it or not, "planners" for a controlled American agriculture are not too far behind the thinking and beliefs of those who administer the Soviet Union's collective farm program!

A recent article in "Kommunist" by Sergel N. Bratus, prominent Soviet jurist who heads Russia's legislative research institute, pinpoints the similarity.

Said Bratus: "One of our troubles is the one-and-same agency acts as a partner in a contract, and at the same time has the right to supervise, to control, and to give orders."

THINK ABOUT that a minute. Does it not describe programs of total "supply-management" controls that have been proposed by Dr. Willard Cochrane, and others—for American agriculture?

Small wonder that Nikita Khrushchev is having trouble keeping the peasants down on the farm. As long as they and their farm managers are pushed around by bureaucrats who "supervise,

WITHOUT THE pride of ownership, Soviet farming will remain at today's low levels regardless of fertilizers, new technology, irrigation or other "cures" which the Party has tried time and again.

We hear stories that the biggest plague to Russian agriculture and production is drought. First Party Secretary Fyodor S. Kolomiets has admitted openly that "the drought is not so terrible, if only one has the right attitude toward the land." The peasants of Russia seem to have lost the "right attitude." They have lost the incentive to produce.

THE AMERICAN farmer has always had that incentive that freedom to produce. But how long will he be able to retain it if we are controlled, supervised, from Washington?

Plan auctions at Smoky fire damages '64 Sidewalk Days home here

Sidewalk Sales—Aug. 6 and 7 this year—will have a new feature: an auction sale.

The mid-summer sales event, sponsored by the St. Johns Business Unlimited, will offer merchandise at sale prices on the sidewalks outside stores.

THE AUCTION sale will have items donated by merchants. The items will be put up for sale between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. the second day of Sidewalk Days, Aug. 7, in front of the Wieber Building in the middle block of downtown St. Johns.

As a finale to Sidewalk Days, a used auto, donated by Cowan

Mercury, a set of four tires donated by Pohl Brothers and an outboard motor donated by Hettler Motor Sales will be auctioned off Aug. 7 at 9 p.m.

President Ray Parr of Business Unlimited named the following committees to work on later projects: Fall promotion, William Barber, chairman, Mary Crosby, Norman Rehmann, Max Field and Ed Stephenson; Christmas promotion, Al Dean, chairman, Lester Lake, Ed Heathman, William Barber, Don Low, Ken Dickens, Gordon Stoner and Don Frechen.

Truth is stranger than fiction to many a fisherman's widow.

An apparent short in a washing machine started a fire last Thursday afternoon that caused well over $200 damage.

The fire was at the home of Ralph Paseka, 1683 S. Scott Road in Bingham Township.

WHEN firemen arrived shortly after the alarm sounded at 2:04 p.m., heavy smoke was pouring out of the basement windows. Several of the volunteer firefighters donned oxygen tanks and masks before entering the house to knock down the blaze.

Mrs. Paseka, who was alone at home at the time she discovered the blaze, said she had been washing clothes in the basement but was upstairs while a load was washing. She said she smelled smoke, then discovered the fire and called firemen.

MRS. PASEKA said she had no idea how the fire started, but she assumed it was probably a short.

She said her conventional washing machine was burned by the fire, in addition to draperies, clothing and shoes also in the basement. There was considerable smoke damage to the kitchen, bathroom and bedroom upstairs. Plumbing and electrical services inside the home were also damaged, she said.

Botulism is threat in pickle preserving

BY BETTY KETCHAM County Extension Agent

Heat process your home canned pickles to maintain the texture, color, and flavor or pickled fruits and vegetables.

Process these pickles in a boiling water bath (rather than cold-pack or open-kettle canning). This will inactivate enzymes which might cause off-flavors and destroy spoilage-causing microorganisms such as yeasts and molds.

MICRO-organisms in pickled foods are not considered potentially dangerous—as long as acid content is high to begin with and remains high during storage.

However, if the spoilage micro-organisms survive processing, they may begin to grow within the jar of food and reduce the acid content.

Then in this low acid condition, botulism spores, if present, could start to grow and produce a deadly toxin.

RESEARCHERS have worked out processing times to make it safe for you to "Make Pickles and Relishes at Home." This is the title of a new bulletin that you can pick up at the Extension Office.

Single copies of this publication can also be obtained free from the Office of Information, US Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. Just send a postcard with your name and address. Ask for HG-92.

DON'T SHAKE or poke melons. Use your nose instead of your fingers. You can judge cantaloupe by the way it smells and the way it looks. But don't rely on how it feels or how it sounds.

Marketing specialists of the US Department of Agriculture say that feeling the blossom end of a melon to find out if it's ready to eat is not always a good test. If you're the first one to do it, that's all right. But what if a few other shoppers have made the touch test before you?

THE SAME thing is true about shaking a melon to see if the seeds are loose—another sign of ripeness. The seeds may rattle because so many other people already have given it a shake.

The most reliable way to get a good cantaloupe is by smell and sight.

Look at the netting. It should be coarse, corky and well-defined, and the color under the netting should be turning from green to yellow. Look at the stem end. There should be a slightly sunken, smooth, well-calloused scar.

Smell the melon. If it smells good, it should taste the same.

DeWitt gourmet collects 300 cook books for art

FAYE HANSON

DEWITT—One of the most unusual book collections in the DeWitt area is that owned by Mrs. Raymond (Brownie) Locher of Lehman Road. It consists of over 300 cook books. Mrs. Locher has been cooking since she was a small girl; her mother, Mrs. Albert Berlin, was an excellent cook and encouraged her in this pursuit.

One of her most prized cook books is a hand written one handed down to Mrs. Berlin from her mother then on to Mrs. Locher. It was compiled previous to 1887. It contains such quaint recipes as stone soup (you actually use a clean stone in this soup), red-clover blossom wine, carrot-wine and a recipe for hand lotion.

Mrs. Locher has collected cook books in most of the states in the United States and some from Canada. On declaring one on re-entering the United States from Canada last summer, the inspecting officer told her that a Canadian cook book should be worth a million dollars. She told him if he kept the cook book he'd have to keep her. She got the book duty free!

One of the older books that doesn't have a date in it was compiled by the women of the Presbyterian Church of Morrice. It was called "Crumbs and Comfort" and called for such good old-fashioned ingredients as "one good coffee cup of yellow sugar" and a "little lump of butter." Many of the recipes called for one cup of butter plus one cup of thick sour cream.

THE ADS in this book would date it before 1900. One such ad for the M.J. and B.M. Buck Co. of Lansing offered 14 pieces of furniture for $22. This included bed, bureau, commode, spring, mattress, two sham holders, two quilts, rocker, two chairs, stand and two pillows. They also paid freight on the furniture.

Another interesting book was compiled by the St. Johns Congregational Church in 1908 and was printed by the Republican News.

MRS. LOCHER has been cooking as long as she can remember and says her older sister, Alberta, (Mrs. Arnold Huhn) usually got stuck with the dishes.

She enjoys Swedish dishes and other people's cooking and is always preparing a dish to take to the home of a friend in the time of illness. She makes dozens of fruit cakes and over 30 pounds of home made candy each Christmas time.

THE LOCHERS have two daughters, Nancy Ann, a student at St. Johns High School and Martha Jean, who is a student at Brown School. They, along with husband, Raymond, are her chief critics and are willing to try anything once.

Mrs. Raymond Locher not only collects cook books—she uses them. With 300 books of recipes in her library, she is never at a loss for something new. A gourmet at heart, she never hesitates to entice a coveted recipe from any hostess.

Many of Mrs. Locher's cookbooks are gifts from friends who know of her hobby.

Mrs. Locher is a Sunday School teacher at the DeWitt Community Church, a past matron of the DeWitt Eastern Star lodge and a member of the St. Johns Child Study Club.

In addition to collectors items, she has many up-to-date cookbooks. Following are some of her favorite recipes:

CHOCOLATE CAKE WITH BLACK WALNUTS

8 tsp. cocoa dissolved in 5 tsp. boiling water 4 eggs beaten separately 1 1/2 cups sugar 2 c. sifted flour 1/2 tsp. salt 1/2 c. sweet milk 1/2 c. butter 1 tsp. baking powder 1 tsp. vanilla Cream butter, add sugar, egg yolks and stir in the chocolate mixture. Add milk, then flour and whites of eggs alternately. Add vanilla and one cup of black walnut meats. Bake in layers at 350 degrees for about 25 minutes. Frost with chocolate icing.

SOUR CREAM MUFFINS

1 egg (beaten) 1 c. thick sour cream 1 tsp. melted shortening

1 1/3 c. enriched flour 1 1/2 tsp. baking powder 1/2 tsp. soda 1/2 tsp. salt 2 tsp. sugar

Combine beaten egg, sour cream, melted shortening, and sifted dry ingredients. Mix just until flour is moistened. Batter will not be smooth. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full. Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees, for 15 to 20 minutes.

MOTHER'S BUTTERSCOTCH COOKIES

2 c. brown sugar 2 eggs (beaten) 1 c. butter 1 tsp. soda 1 tsp. cream tartar 1 tsp. vanilla 1/2 tsp. salt 4 c. sifted flour 1 c. nut meats

Cream shortening and sugar together. Add beaten eggs. Mix together with the rest of the ingredients. Shape into rolls and let stand overnight in refrigerator. Slice and bake at 350 degrees for about 12 minutes.

CHICKEN CASSEROLE

3 c. cooked chicken, diced 3 c. cooked rice 2 c. chicken broth 1 1/2 c. milk 3 tsp. butter 2/3 c. flour salt to taste 1 small can pimientos (cut up rather fine) 1 small can of mushrooms (or 1 can mushroom soup.)

In a casserole, put a layer of Serving the sacrificial luncheon were, left to right, Mrs. Wayne Peck of the West Elsie Extension Study Group; Mrs. Burton Tabor of the West Elsie group; Miss Betty Ketcham, county extension agent, home economics, a guest; Mrs. Raymond Thornton, Green School group, chairman; and Mrs. Duane Green of Elsie No. 1 group.

Serve sacrificial meal

BY MABEL OPPENNEER

In conjunction with their study on Foods and People, a sacrificial luncheon was served Wednesday by three Elsie area home economics extension groups at the Duplain Methodist Church. As a result, approximately $20 will be sent to "Meals for Millions" for distribution overseas.

The menu centered around a vegetable beef soup fortified with Multi-Purpose Food (MPF). Cornmeal muffins with MPF, coleslaw and coffee completed the meal. And this reporter can vouch for the tastiness of the food.

Fairer sex needs more protein

After 40 year of age, the average woman consumes less than the daily recommended amount of protein, according to one study. Women between 40 and 59 years had diets 9 per cent below par in protein; women 60 to 69, 18 per cent; and those 70 to 79 years old, about 12 per cent short. The American Meat Institute reminds readers that meat is the "yardstick of protein foods" not only because it has a rich concentration of protein, but because its protein is the high quality kind.

rice, then a layer of chicken. Cover with gravy made from the broth. Add milk, butter, flour and salt. Dot with pimientos and mushroom (or soup). Repeat with a second layer of each and sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs and paprika. Bake at 350 degrees about 45 minutes.

More of Mrs. Locher's recipes will be published in a further issue.

The newspaper-covered table was centered with a bouquet of colorful weeds for the sacrificial meal.

MPF IS manufactured by General Mills Corporation for Meals for Millions, a non-profit organization concerned with the world's malnourished people. It is a scientific mixture of vegetable protein, vitamins and minerals that provides maximum nutrition at a minimum cost. It has been called the "three-cent meal."

It is bland in taste and acquires the flavor of food with which it is eaten so that people are able to add it to their familiar foods.

SHIPMENTS have been made to established agencies and institutions all over the world. The Albert Schweitzer Hospital at Lamborene has received the food. India, Brazil, Japan and Mexico are producing their own versions of MPF.

Green School Extension Study Group served as a host for the luncheon. Members from Elsie No. 1 group and West Elsie group were on the committee.

August now popular Clinton bridal month

June WAS the month of brides.

For years, the first month of summer was considered the month-of-all-months for weddings. Every girl dreamed of a "June wedding."

Times are changing and Dan Cupid seems to be directing the climax of romance toward August with some other months easing into popularity with young lovers.

RECORDS show that 34 marriage licenses were issued in the office of Clinton County Clerk Paul Wakefield during June of this year.

Thirty-three licenses to wed were issued by Wakefield's staff in June of 1963 and, mind you, 35 couples applied for licenses in August of 1963. October ran a close third with 27 applications for the permits that allow a couple to spend their lives together.

COULD THE increase of the marriage license fee have a bearing on the drop in the issuance of licenses since 1963? In September of that year, the licenses began to cost $3 instead of $2.

In 1962, 36 licenses were issued and, in 1961, 37. The chances are that an extra one dollar doesn't stop romancers on their way to the altar.

Nuclear plants add to state tourist interest

The explosion that rocked a remote western desert air base on July 16, 1945, has been tamed at two locations along the popular recreational beaches of Michigan's Great Lakes.

The test blast of the first atomic bomb demonstrated the potential energy which is now being harnessed and carefully guided into areas contributing to the progress of modern civilization.

AIDING IN the task of harnessing atoms for useful purposes are the waters of Lakes Michigan and Erie which pour into the condensers at Big Rock Point near Charlevoix and the Enrico Fermi plant near Monroe.

These are the nuclear research and development laboratories of Consumers Power Company at Charlevoix and the Detroit Edison Company at Monroe. Here, scientists and others in the atomic energy field maintain a proving grounds for equipment which one day may light the homes of millions of Americans.

ENERGY produced at Charlevoix already is channeled intermittently into the electricity-producing system of Consumers Power. In the testing process, different fuel loads are tried in an attempt to discover the most practical means of producing nuclear power.

The Detroit Edison plant is conducting similar experiments.

A by-product of both nuclear plants is their attraction to tourists and other vacationers.

A visitor information center at Big Rock Point includes a small auditorium used for explanatory talks to groups. Visitors may watch the actual work in the plant through closed-circuit television.

AT THE press of a button, mysteries of the atom are explained, and viewers may look at a cutaway scale model of the plant, accompanied by a recorded narrative.

The Enrico Fermi plant offers an Atomic Information Center where visitors are also initiated into the ways of the industrial atom.

plants cater to teachers and students as an aid to curriculum studies and to create more interest and awareness in the nuclear sciences.

TOURS THROUGH the Enrico Fermi Atomic Information Center are conducted Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Advance arrangements for visits by large groups may be made by contacting the Detroit Edison Co., 2000 Second Avenue, Detroit.

The Information Center of the Big Rock Point Nuclear plant is open to visitors daily throughout the summer months from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Large groups will be accommodated by contacting the information center at Charlevoix in advance.

Directory deadline is Friday

The closing date for the St. Johns, Fowler, Maple Rapids, Muir and Pawamo phone directory is Friday, General Telephone District Manager W. F. Graef said today. Customers who wish to make corrections in or additions to the directory are urged to call the St. Johns General Telephone business office before Friday.

"We 'lock-up' the directory right after the closing deadline and send it immediately to the General Telephone Directory Company in Des Plaines, Ill., for printing," Graef said. "The directory company, which prints millions of phone books each year, operates on a deadline basis much like a newspaper, and for this reason we cannot accept any changes after the July 24 date."

"BECAUSE OF this emphasis on firm cut-off dates for entries, however, the directory company can assemble, print, bind and return the new St. Johns phone directory in a relatively short period of time," Graef said.

Ask the lady of the "ELECTRICALLY HEATED HOUSE" how she likes it!

"Electric Home Heating? It makes me feel as pampered as a queen! I can hardly believe house heating could be so completely carefree. All I do is "tune in" the climate I like best for every room and forget it for the entire season.

"It's hard to explain . . . but the warmth of Electric Heat is so different . . . so gentle, even and draft-free . . . like bringing the sun indoors. I like it too, because it's so clean and quiet.

"Best of all, it's nice to know that whatever the weather outdoors, my family is enjoying the constant comfort of ideal temperatures indoors . . . with wonderful Electric Heat and Air Conditioning."
