ELLY M. PETERSON
U S Senate nominee

Romney, Elly, Johansen win

Incumbent Gov. George Romney easily won the endorsement of his party in the statewide Republican primary Tuesday in a contest with former State Senator George N. Higgins, a Detroit area auto dealer.

In his November bid for reelection, Romney will face Democrat Neil Staebler of Ann Arbor, present Michigan Congressman-at-large, who was unopposed for the gubernatorial nomination of his party at Tuesday's primary.

IN THE only other statewide race, Mrs. Elly Peterson of Charlotte emerged as the Republican nominee for US Senator. Mrs. Peterson was victorious in a three-way contest which also involved James F. O'Neill of Livonia and Edward A. Meany Jr. of Grand Haven.

Mrs. Peterson will run against incumbent US Senator Philip A. Hart, unopposed Democratic nominee, in the November general election.

IN THE contested Congressional race of interest to Clinton voters Tuesday, incumbent US Representative August E. Johansen of Kalamazoo won the 3rd district Republican nomination. He was opposed by Dwight L. Stocker Jr. and Harry F. Schanning, both of Kalamazoo.

Johansen will face Paul H. Todd of Kalamazoo, who was unopposed in the Democratic primary, in the November election. The 3rd Congressional district includes all of Clinton County except Bath and DeWitt townships.

AUGUST JOHANSEN
Congress winner

Republican and Democratic nominees for lieutenant governor, attorney general and secretary of state will be named at state conventions of the two parties later this month.

FOR THE 6th Congressional district, which includes Bath and DeWitt, incumbent Charles E. Chamberlain of East Lansing was unopposed as the Republican nominee. His November opponent will be Boyd K. Benedict, East Lansing, who was nominated without opposition on his ticket Tuesday.

Principal business of the convention will be to choose nine delegates and nine alternates to the Republican State Convention in Detroit on Saturday, Sept. 19. Also to be named are 11 members of a party Executive Committee who will serve with county and legislative nominees in the selection of a County Republican Committee following the November election.

Bentley to speak at Clinton GOP Meet Sept. 12

Alvin M. Bentley, former Congressman from this district and chairman of Gov. Romney's blue ribbon committee on state educational matters, will be keynote speaker at the Republican County Convention in the courtroom at the Courthouse in St. Johns Saturday, Sept. 12, at 2 p.m.

Delegates eligible to vote at the county convention are those elected from the county's 25 precincts at Tuesday's Republican primary. It has been customary for the Clinton GOP, to seat as delegates at the convention all interested Republicans who attend.

The city's fire trucks were parked on Walker Street for several nights early this week while the floor of the fire department garage received a fresh coat of gray paint.

White, Hoag and Serrine get GOP nominations

A margin of 34 votes won the Republican nomination for prosecuting attorney for Norman J. White, youthful St. Johns lawyer, in Tuesday's primary. White polled 1,942 votes to edge Alba F. Wert, former prosecutor, whose total was 1,908.

It was a nip-and-tuck battle all Tuesday evening as returns trickled in from the county's 25 precincts. It was not until Olive Township reported at 2 a.m. with a 36-vote plurality for White that the winner was determined.

In the only other Republican county contest, Van Hoag and Robert Serrine, both of St. Johns, won over Lee Rummell, DeWitt, for nomination as Coroners.

Mrs. Pauline White of Victor won the nomination for Register of Deeds in the only contested race on the Democratic ballot. Her margin was only 38 votes over Mrs. JoAnn Carpenter of Ovid. Mrs. White's total was 412; Mrs. Carpenter had 374.

THREE CLINTON County legislative candidates were defeated in the Republican primary. Rep. Andrew Cobb of Elsie, trying for nomination in the new 30th State Senatorial district, lost to incumbent Sen. Emil Lockwood of St. Louis.

Lockwood piled up big pluralities in Gratiot and Montcalm to overcome Cobb's lead in Clinton and Eaton. A third candidate, Lamont Meier of Byron, carried Shiawassee and Victor H. Meier of Williamston was leading in the two townships of Ingham included in the district.

James C. Matthews of St. Johns, in an uphill fight for State Representative from the new 87th district, lost to Blair G. Woodman of Owosso. Norman VanEpps, another Owosso candidate, was second in the race.

Harmon Cropsey of Watertown was defeated in his bid for nomination in the 88th State Representative district by Lester J. Allen, Ithaca incumbent.

Unopposed Democratic nominees for legislative posts in Tuesday's primary were — Joseph H. Kurka Jr., Ovid, State Senator in the 30th district; Sanford Volker, Owosso, 87th district State Representative; and Leroy E. Vincent, 88th district State Representative.

WITH RETURNS FROM the nonpartisan primary still incomplete early Wednesday, it was impossible to determine the six candidates who will be running for the three judgeships in the 66-county 3rd district Court of Appeals at the November election.

Leaders included John W. Fitzgerald of Grand Ledge, Donald E. Holbrook of Clare, Allan C. Miller of East Tawas, Robert G. Howlett of Grand Rapids and Maurice Black of Saginaw.

Unopposed Republicans who won nomination for county office in Tuesday's primary are: Percy J. Patterson, sheriff; Paul Wakefield, county clerk; Velma Beaufore, county treasurer; Marie Belknap, register of deeds; and Dale R. Chapman, drain commissioner.

Democrats without opposition for nomination to county offices are: Joe R. Kurka, sheriff; Lavina C. Ferden, county clerk; Robert E. VanDriesen, county treasurer; and G. Robert Harmon, drain commissioner.

Bank sues Bond on $37,693 debt

John F. Bond, former St. Johns insurance man, is named as defendant in a suit for $37,693.84 filed in Clinton County Circuit Court Tuesday by the Clinton National Bank & Trust Co.

Others of Bond's creditors are known to be considering legal action on notes which they hold, but have not yet taken their claims to court.

IN ITS suit, the bank alleges that Bond obtained loans on the basis of financial statements which misrepresented his assets and failed to disclose his liabilities. "The indebtedness was fraudulently created by false representations," the suit charges.

THE TOTAL amount of Bond's indebtedness has never been formally disclosed. A number of local people are understood to hold personal notes which he issued. He was also obligated to at least two other banks in the area.

THE BANK'S suit is the first major legal action started against the former insurance man since he ran into financial difficulties in September of last year.

In its suit started this week, the Clinton National Bank is represented by the Lansing law firm of Anderson, Carr and Street.

Don Mazzolini of St. Johns was granted a $2,500 uncontested judgment against Mr. and Mrs. Bond on a note which he held. This judgment was given by the court in April of this year.

Fowler school millage defeated

Fowler school voters Saturday turned down a request for additional millage to build a $260,000 addition to the high school.

The vote was 179 no and 169 yes, with only one spoiled ballot.

The school board had called the expansion of the building necessary to take care of an increasing enrollment. Some 190 students are enrolled this year, and the building is designed to house 175 students.

DONALD J. Smith, superintendent, said the board will not meet until its regular session Sept. 10 to determine what course to follow after the outcome of the vote. He said the vote would not affect this year's school program but will set back by at least a year any building plans.

Plan rummage sale

BATH—The Ray Barker unit of the American Legion Auxiliary of Bath will sponsor a rummage sale and bake goods sale Saturday, Sept. 12, at the Memorial Hall. Persons wishing to donate rummage are asked to call Mrs. James Bell, Mrs. Yvonne Cowdry or Mrs. Arlene Hansen.

Pleads innocent on drunk count

A Lansing man pleaded not guilty Monday to a charge of driving under the influence of liquor, and a justice court trial under Justice of the Peace Alba Wert has been set for Sept. 23.

Eugene D. Johnson, 36, of 3101 Palmer, Lansing, was arrested Friday after the car he was driving missed a corner and went through a guard rail at the corner of US-27 and Webb Road.

DEPUTY SHERIFF Fred Corson, who arrested Johnson, said Johnson was traveling north and while attempting to turn west onto Webb Road took the corner too wide and hit the guard rail.

Johnson was released on $300 bond. The bond was continued Monday morning by Justice Wert after Johnson pleaded not guilty to the charge.

4 vehicles in crash at 27-21

A wild, four-vehicle smashup at the intersection of US-27 and M-21 Sunday evening resulted in injuries to three persons, and three others escaped injury.

According to city officer Edward Teachout, a car driven by John Bradley, 25, of 107 S. Lansing was making a left turn onto M-21, starting west, when his auto was struck by another driven by Ann E. Bralnard, 21, of Flint, traveling south on US-27.

THE IMPACT of the crash forced Bradley's car into a motorcycle driven by Harold Taylor, 17, of 701 E. Walker Street, St. Johns and then into an auto driven by Carl Pierson, 39, of R-5, St. Johns.

Bradley and Miss Bralnard suffered bruises, and Taylor suffered cuts when he was thrown off the cycle. They were taken to Clinton Memorial Hospital by Hoag ambulance but were not admitted.

PIERSON was unhurt, and his wife, Patricia, and daughter Kathy, 14, passengers in the car, also escaped injury.

Firemen Douse Hayfield Fire

Firemen pour water on a hayfield fire on the Keith Shafley farm southwest of St. Johns shortly before 11:30 a.m. last Wednesday. The blaze started reportedly from tractor exhaust. It burned about a quarter acre of grass and cut hay, but there was no damage listed. The fire was one of several that kept St. Johns firemen hopping about the area during the week.

All schools in county in session next week

Time has all but run out on some 12,000 Clinton County youngsters. Summer vacation ends Tuesday for most of them and the second week of school begins for some of the others.

School officials all over the county were anticipating higher enrollments. Some districts affected by annexation will show huge increases.

In St. Johns, where school starts next Wednesday, about 948 students will be enrolled in high school, compared to 926 last year. Junior high students should number about 217, an increase of 18 or so from last year, and 850 children are expected in the elementary grades. This will be over 30 higher than last year.

OVERALL, it looks like St. Johns will have over 70 more students than there were last year.

Forty-three rural and grade school districts in the county will take about as many pupils as 48 of them did last year—somewhere around 2,700. While annexation decreased the number of districts, the population increase in the county has more than taken care of that deficit in the other districts, according to County School Supt. Carl Bates.

Seven high school districts in the county outside of St. Johns also will show big increases overall.

AT OVID 485 are expected in high school when it opens next Tuesday, and that's an increase of 52 students. The grade school enrollment really blossomed with the annexation of surrounding rural districts. Some 850 grade schoolers are expected, an increase from 259 the previous year.

At Elsie, 1,000 students are expected Sept. 8, compared to 956 last year. The first full day of classes is Sept. 9.

Personnel of the Local Board No. 19, Clinton County Selective Service, have been awarded certificates of appreciation in recognition of their "outstanding public service to the nation."

IN TRANSMITTING the awards issued in the name of the President and the National Director of Selective Service, Col. Arthur A. Mr and Mrs Charles Jegla of R-4, St. Johns are shown with the new triplets that bring their group of children to nine. Mr Jegla happily donned the hospital gown that allowed him to hold one of his new offspring. Mrs Jegla said "I know all of their names but I don't know which of the babies they belong to, yet."

New parents of triplets thrilled with new roles

BY MABEL OPPENNEER

Mr and Mrs Charles Jegla of R-4, Pratt Road, "hit the jackpot" in odds of 1 to 7,910 Saturday when they became parents of triplets at St. Lawrence Hospital. Within minutes, their family was increased from six children to nine.

The gas dispensers are pumping faster at Jegla's Shell Service at the corner of Clifford and Saginaw Streets near Frandor, in Lansing as the new father of three new income tax deductions thinks, too, about more shoes, more food, and more of everything else for his family.

AND AT the hospital, Mrs Jegla, besides enjoying the attention the multiple births of her babies has brought, is busy arranging a schedule for her duties when she takes her precious bundles home. One of the nurses told her "Gee, I'm tired already, just thinking how much you're going to have to do." But, Mrs Jegla said "I think it's just a matter of making a good schedule and sticking to it."

"Of course, I am thrilled," said Mrs Jegla, "with having all the babies at one time but it seems like a dream—like something that happens to somebody else." To her knowledge, there have been no multiple births in the backgrounds of her husband or herself. "We have some cousins that are twins," she said.

THE BABIES have finally been named. They are Janet Marie, who weighed five pounds, three ounces; Jeffrey Davis, five pounds, 10 ounces; and Julie Kay, five pounds, 13 ounces.

The 27-year-old mother had no inkling that she was to bring home more than one baby. "I suspected there might be more and we had selected two names," she said. But Dr Martin Kozachik of Portland could hear but one heartbeat. So he discouraged her belief.

AS DR KOZACHIK approached the new 30-year-old father, Jegla inquired "Has my wife had her baby, yet?" "Babies" Dr Kozachik corrected him. An Jegla was a bit stunned with surprise when he learned that there were three.

Waiting for their new sisters and brother to come home on Labor Day will be Kathy 7; Karen 6; Douglas 5; Gary 4; Debbie 2; and Charles (Chucky), 20 months.

The first bonus for Mrs Jegla's achievement came when the hospital administration moved her from a ward to a private room. Then the Sisters and personnel staff sent in a dozen red roses and three cradle medals. The trio are reportedly the first triplets born in St. Lawrence for eight years.

have been kept busy with telephone calls, "Is it true?"

The home rented by the Jeglas will still house their brood. "We'll just have to do a little rearranging," Mrs Jegla said. They both admit that this occurrence added triple responsibilities. But, they are real happy about it and not at all perturbed.

Stimulates growth

Artificial atmospheres in greenhouses, created by enriching their carbon dioxide content, stimulate plant growth, according to Cardox, Chicago. Tests show this system also reduces heating costs because injecting the gas directly into the greenhouse atmosphere reduces the need to draw it from the outside.

S. Riley bombs Dean's twice to win city softball championship

South Riley Grocery won the city softball championship playoffs last week by winning the last two of three games with Dean's Hardware.

Dean's won the opening game Aug. 24, 5-3, but South Riley unloaded their bats in Tuesday's and Wednesday's games, winning 10-5 and 11-2.

SOUTH RILEY was the winner of the first round of the summer city softball season, and Dean's captured first place in the second round. A best-two-out-of-three series was played between the two to determine which would receive the first place trophy.

The final game started off as a well-played pitchers duel, with the score 1-1 after 3 1/2 innings. South Riley then opened up, scoring two runs in the fourth, and four each in the fifth and sixth innings.

JIM DALMAN and Bill Cole touched losing pitcher Mervin Hallead for home runs. Dalman's came in the fifth inning with two men on, and Cole hit his in the sixth with one man aboard.

Don Rademacher had a solo homer in the sixth inning for Dean's one of only three hits Dean's was able to get off winning pitcher Bud Pontius. South Riley had 12 hits.

Hallead struck out two South Riley batters, and Pontius fanned one. Both teams made three errors.

THE TROPHY and uniform patches were presented to the South Riley team by City Recreation Director Roger Kowalski.

Recreation program readied

Roger Kowalski, trying for as little slack time as possible, plans to get his city fall recreation program in motion by the end of this month.

Although the program has not yet jelled, Kowalski said activities planned include arts and crafts, bridge instruction, 16 weeks of square dance lessons, flag football for fifth and sixth graders, and men's and women's recreation nights later in the fall.

ARTS AND crafts is a new activity this year, and Kowalski urged interested people to call the park office or write to the recreation department saying what they would like to see in this phase of the program.

He said any other suggestions about the fall recreation program would be welcome and would be considered by the recreation board.

MEMBERS of the recreation board are Mrs Alan Dean, Mrs William Morris, Fred Meyer, Lorenz Tiedt, Charles Coletta, Raymond Kentfield Jr. and, ex-officio, Kowalski.

Redwings open football drills; Mason here for opener 18th

It won't be any bed of roses, but the St. Johns High School Redwings are expected to show football fans some real action this season.

The West Central Conference appears to be much tougher this year, and Coach Bill Smiley allowed that his team "could" lose six games. But on the other hand, he is anticipating a good year "with a good bunch of boys."

THE TEAM officially began practice Monday under Coach Smiley and assistant Coach Frank Rosengren for the varsity, but the team members have been working out on their own for several weeks under the direction of co-captains John Vitek and Ken Love.

The Redwings open the football season Sept. 18, playing host to Mason. For the first time, there will be nine games this year, seven of them conference contests.

WHILE SMILEY looks at the coming season with mixed emotions, he is confident the Redwings will make a good showing.

"Our seniors are good," he said, "and if our young kids develop, we should be in good shape."

The Redwings have 14 lettermen on the team, 12 of them seniors. Upperclassmen make up almost half of the 32 players listed on the team roster.

SMILEY, beginning his fourth season as head football coach, said his strongest position is his ends. He has three seniors back in those spots, and Smiley said they all have "fabulous hands and are as good receivers as any."

They are Bob Krumm, standing 6-1 and weighing 179 pounds, Al Werbish (6-1, 180), and Les Warner (5-9, 153).

LETTERMEN trying for the tackle spots are Dave Hamer (5-10, 173), and Jim Pope (6-0, 187). Returning for duty at the guard positions will be Jerry Kubica (5-9, 150) and Dave Hill, a junior, (5-8, 160). Co-captain Ken Love is top contender for the center position. He's 6-0, 178.

demacher (5-9, 144), called signals for the junior varsity last year, will be giving him a run for the starting job.

Seniors Dave DeGeer (5-10, 160), and Gary Crawley, (5-11, 159), a transfer student from last year's state champion Sexton team, are top contenders for left halfback. At right half, Bill Sirrine (5-8, 142) and junior Lee Hill (5-6, 146) are battling for the starting nod.

A SUMMER auto accident may keep Co-captain John Vitek (5-9, 159) from seeing action at full-year's state champion Sexton back for a few games, and that

Build new ramp for bleachers

City crews have completed their work on a new elevated ramp for the erection of bleachers on the east side of the football field at the city park. A retaining wall, with steps leading up from field level, has been constructed, and about four feet of dirt has been filled in behind it. The purpose is to raise the elevation of the bleachers there in the same manner as the bleachers are on the west side of the field.

Archers' signup deadline Sept. 15

Archers have until Sept. 15 to register through the Conservation Department for hunting deer this fall at the Fort Custer Military Reservation near Battle Creek, where whitetail concentrations are the highest known in Michigan.

Pre-registration is required to hunt there on weekends and during the first 10 days of the general Oct. 1-Nov. 5 archery deer season. For each of these days, free hunting permits will be issued by the Department to the first 300 sportsmen who apply for them.

To spread sport among as many hunters as possible, each permit will cover one day only.

66 boys turn out for JV team

What kind of year the St. Johns High School junior varsity football team will have is always a question at the start of the year, but the coaching staff is anticipating an average or better than average year.

Whether they'll be able to equal last year's unbeaten mark is doubtful. The team will play eight games this year, one less than the varsity.

Head JV coach is Doug Japings, and he is assisted by Bill Swears, Tom Wilson and Dale Knight.

All JV games, with the exception of the opener, will be Thursday nights at 7:30 on the opposite field the varsity plays on. The JV opener will be Saturday, Sept. 19 at 1 p.m. at Mason.

Sixty-six boys, 22 of them sophomores, are on the JV team roster. They include:

John Salemi, Dennis Ley, Mark Smith, Joe Kellen, Mark Bennett, Gary Hambleton, Bill Bartholomew, Mark Witt, Steve Gregor, Sterling Boldrey, Don Ebright, John Markman, Ted Loomis, Mike McKay, Terry Hart, Kurt Knight;

Redwings

spot likely will be filled by John Sickles (5-7, 138). Darryll Kelley (6-0, 203), a transfer student from Turgis where he played defensive linebacker, is the other experienced man on the squad.

Coach Smiley said he expects to get a lot of help from the following juniors, all members of last year's undefeated junior varsity team: Jim Leonard (5-11, 143), defensive safety; Ted Rahl (5-11, 214), tackle; Don Hungerford (6-0, 153), Al Koenigsnecht (5-10, 161), and Ron Bond (5-9, 156), all guards.

ALSO expected to see lots of action are Gary Price (5-6, 146), Roger BeeBee (5-7, 153), Tom McKenzie (5-7, 134), Doug Salters (5-9, 159), John Hospodar (5-10, 143), Rod Hayes (5-8, 160), Roger Parsons (6-1, 190), Dennis Henderson (5-8, 180), Steve Jorae (5-11, 154), and Jack McCurry (5-11, 190).

"We lack ability," Smiley admitted, "but we've got the go. The guys have a lot of spirit. They won't allow anybody mediocre to beat them."

THE REDWINGS will have a good sized line this year, with not many of the players under six feet. Smiley said that with all the football equipment on "we'll look real big."

The backfield crew will be small in height. They'll have good team speed but will lack a real fast man.

"Our passing game should be better than average for high school," Smiley said. "We'll be hampered some by short quarterbacks, but if they can get the ball out there, we've got good receivers to catch it."

THE contenders for the league title this year, Smiley figures, will be Hastings, Grand Ledge and Alma. The Redwings will play those three teams on consecutive Friday nights starting Oct. 2 and will have their true test of strength then.

"Ionia and Lakewood are definitely darkhorses," the coach said, "but definitely will have to be reckoned with. Greenville is much improved, with most everyone on their team back, and should be rated about like Lakewood. So should Charlotte. In fact, there won't be any weak sisters in the league this year."

"THE LEAGUE winner will lose a ball game or two."

St. Johns' only non-conference games will not be easy, either. Mason has a speedy outfit, and Gabriels won their league championship last year.

Drag racers' penalties clear, but case oh so confusing

Drag racing turned out to be an expensive sport, indeed, for two Lansing men early Saturday morning. And when one of them gave police his brother's name instead of his own, it turned out to be a confusing case for law officers and the court.

State police were called about 3:10 a.m. Saturday by a resident along DeWitt Road. He complained that several youths were drag racing. When the state police arrived at the corner of State Road and DeWitt Road, they could hear the motors roaring.

WHEN THE cars began racing, state police joined in and stopped the others near Stoll Road after reaching a speed of about 90 miles an hour. One of the cars caught fire during the race, and the police had to put the flames out.

When that was done, they arrested Edward L. Ellis, 22, of 304 W. Mt. Hope, Lansing, and Clifford A. Clark, 21, of 405 N. Pennsylvania, Lansing. They were both charged with driving on a suspended license and drag racing.

HERE IS where the case began to get confusing. Clark gave the name of his brother, rather than his own, and said he didn't happen to have his license with him. The tickets were written out in his brother's name. Clark then took the two tickets home and put them in his brother's car.

The next morning the brother appeared in the court of Justice of the Peace Gordon Willyoung, who fined and sentenced him and made out a deposition. Then Clark realized the jail term was involved and put up a squawk, implicating his brother, the real driver.

THIS brought memories back to Willyoung's office personnel about a similar case three years ago. The police were called, Clifford Clark was brought in by his brother and the state trooper who handled the case was routed out of bed to straighten the matter out.

When all came out in the wash, it was found that Clifford Clark had pulled the same stunt with his brother in 1961 and that he also had had his driver's license revoked three times.

CLARK WAS then fined $100 plus $19.90 costs and sentenced to 60 days in the county jail on the drag racing charge and $100 and $19.90 on the suspended license count.

The sentences do not run concurrently. If he fails to pay the drag racing fine he will stay in jail 90 days; if he doesn't pay the license fine, he will sit out another 60 days after he finishes the 90-day term.

ELLIS, whose car caught fire, drew similar penalties but on opposite charges. On the charge of driving with a suspended license, he was fined $100 and $19.90 costs and sentenced to 30 days; for drag racing he was fined $100 and $19.90. The alternative to paying the fines is 90 days in jail on the driving count and 60 days on the drag racing charge.

Confused? Join the lawmen who are still hashing this one over.

THE YOUTHS were arrested and fined under a new drag racing law that went into effect only three hours before the arrest.

The band was to make a 15-minute appearance at the fair, and four other senior citizen bands in the state were to appear. There was no competition scheduled this year.

THE SENIOR Citizens in St. Johns number 220 in the club. The group meets the second and fourth Tuesday between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. at the VFW Hall.

Roy Westendorf and Eben Smith of the Clinton County NFO watch as truckload of cattle rolls past them into stockyards Friday. Most trucks stopped, however, while NFO members told the farmers of their cause. No force was used and there was no trouble.

NFO stops trucks entering stockyards, activity is orderly

The Clinton County NFO set up an information booth and stopped trucks moving into the Wolverine Stockyards in St. Johns last Friday, but stockyards officials said it had little effect on the weekly auction.

Truckers who wanted to were not prevented from going on into the stockyards.

The NFO's action was orderly and there was no trouble. A larger number of people than normal at the stockyards was reported, many of them apparently just to see what developed.

Seek lease bids for Ashley P.O.

The Post Office Department is seeking competitive bids for an improved building to house its postal operations at Ashley. Postmaster General John A. Gronouski has announced.

Under the department's lease construction program, a contract will be awarded to the bidder who designates a building suitable to the department's needs and agrees to improve it according to departmental specifications and then lease it to the department on a month-to-month basis.

THE DEPARTMENT'S capital investment will be limited substantially to postal equipment. The building will remain under private ownership, with the owner paying local real estate taxes.

Bidding documents will be available after about Sept. 1 and may be obtained from A.C. Vandenberg, real estate officer, Post Office Department, P. O. Box 2427, Room 218 Grand Rapids, Mich. 49501. The real estate officer will supply bidding forms, specifications, lease provisions and other information. Bids must be submitted to the real estate officer by Oct. 2.

Jaycees finish work on football programs

The St. Johns Jaycees have completed solicitation for advertising for the football program brochures they will be selling at the St. Johns home football games.

Lavern Kremer, secretary, said the Jaycees wish to thank local merchants for "their fine cooperation given our members" during the solicitation period. Participating advertisers are urged to ask for their free program at all home games starting Sept. 18.

THE Jaycees are co-sponsors of the Punt, Pass and Kick competition being planned for Oct. 10. All interested participants are urged to get their registration forms from the school, Egan Ford

LORENZ TIEDT of the Wolverine Stockyards Co. said he could not see that the NFO's activity at the gate or the withholding action in general has affected receipts at all locally. "How can you measure it?" he asked.

Although he admitted he did know some farmers withheld livestock, he said week-to-week fluctuations, plus seasonal differences, combined with a heavy rain Friday afternoon made it hard to tell what the effect was.

PRICES stayed substantially the same, he said.

County NFO President Roy Westendorf and Eben Smith stopped most trucks entering the stockyards Friday and talked to the farmers, explaining the NFO plan and asking them to turn back. Most of them proceeded after a few minutes of talking, and a few trucks went through without stopping.

No force was used to stop the farmers, and there was no trouble reported.

JIM PRINCE of the Wolverine Stockyards management pointed out that recent articles in the Wall Street Journal and the Drivers' Journal say the 23-state NFO withholding action is fizzling but that a lot of county units have not yet been informed of that.

Westendorf admitted many farmers brought animals to the stockyards Friday believing the holding action was off. But he said many told them (NFO) they were selling only the animals that had to be sold and they were still holding other animals on the farm off the market.

HE SAID the NFO will have an information booth at the stockyards again Friday, but he refused to say whether trucks would be stopped again in the manner they were last Friday.

Other information trucks and tents were being manned in various parts of the county.

Sales Inc. or any St. Johns Jaycees member.

The Jaycees said they wished to thank Frank Roseengren and the city recreation department for their help and cooperation in last week's swimming meet. Despite a weather postponement, the meet was successful, with high interest shown and many records broken, Chairman LeRoy Hansen reported.

THE REGULAR Jaycees dinner meetings will begin Sept. 8 at Daley's Restaurant at 6:30 p.m. All members are urged to attend because an interesting program is scheduled, Kremer said. Any young men between the ages of 21 and 35 interested in joining the Jaycees are asked to contact Membership Chairman Roger Feeman.

2 county taverns looted of change

Two county taverns were broken into last week and vending machines and games emptied of change. But the thieves didn't get much for their work.

On Aug. 24 the Club Roma at 5942 W. Grand River Road was entered after the thief or thieves removed a side window. A juke box, pin ball machine, pool table and bowling machine were pried open.

THE MACHINES had only recently been emptied of money and were operated only one day before the theft. The amount the thieves got was believed to be under $5.

The same characteristics were involved in the breaking and entering of Vince and Paul's Tavern at Fowler Friday night. Billiard table, bowling game, pin ball machine, juke box and cigarette machine coin boxes were pried open.

A DRAWER in the cash register and back bar were opened. The loss was estimated at less than $20.

A window at the rear of the building was removed. Tracks in the mud indicated there were two subjects involved. The county sheriff's office is investigating both cases.

"A HARD DAY'S NIGHT"

County nurse performs many services in area

BY MABEL OPPENHEER

A firm voice softened by a note of kindness inspires confidence and courage to residents of Clinton County who find themselves in need of telephoning Mrs Luella Canfield of Ovid, Clinton County Nurse.

In July, Mrs Canfield started her fourteenth year in her position that she instituted in the county. Since that time, her office has grown to embrace many programs, clinics and duties, and another nurse, Mrs Princess Parker of DeWitt, has been added to the department.

MRS PARKER takes care of the area south of Price Road and Mrs Canfield supervises the northern part of the county besides her administrative duties.

"Sometimes," Mrs Canfield said, "I think we are a clearing house for all problems, but we are always glad to find help for everyone." When she is approached on problems outside her jurisdiction, she tries to give guidance to the proper authority.

SHE WAS a nurse at Clinton Memorial Hospital when she was asked to take her position. "I didn't know if I would like the change," she said, "but it was a challenge and I'm so glad I made the right decision for I have enjoyed the work."

She has found the results of the tuberculosis and diabetes clinic held last spring very rewarding. "Twenty-two cases of unknown diabetes and one case of tuberculosis were revealed which would have otherwise been advanced cases," she explained. "We also found, as usual, that the doctors were real cooperative."

ONE OF the programs she is real enthusiastic about is the sodium fluoride program for prevention of tooth decay that she organized and is maintaining.

The group has built up in St. Johns schools from 200 to 800 students receiving the treatment. The goal is 1,000. The program, started in the school, had to be conducted during the summer months.

Of equal interest is the hearing and vision testing conducted in alternate years through the schools. Mrs Geneva Cornell, who was trained by the state health department, is the vision and hearing technician for these clinics.

MRS LUELLA CANFIELD

LAST September, a clinic was conducted for the kindergarten pupils entering school which revealed many defects at an early age. She hopes to conduct a clinic in the near future for pre-school children.

She conducts clinics for crippled children and has a record of every crippled child in the county in her office. She makes recommendations for treatment and referrals to physicians or agencies for therapy.

SHE IS program chairman for the Clinton County Easter Seal Society and makes the recommendations for the expenditure of its funds. Many of these disbursements are for eye glasses for older people which the Lions Club program does not reach. Most of the society meetings are held at the health department office.

Space is maintained there for the hospital equipment of the Easter seal society which is available to all residents of the county. "We work in conjunction with the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars which have their equipment stored at the local funeral homes," she said. "If necessary equipment is not available here, I can usually borrow it from Ingham County or some other source."

"I WORK with the supposedly seamy side of life," Mrs Canfield admitted, "but I couldn't see some worthy but unfortunate child deprived of help because of lack of funds or knowledge.

Her office was closed through July and August but, she said, "We're as close as the telephone to doctors, hospitals and other agencies needing information or service." And, she came into the office for emergencies.

For relaxation, she knits.

Her work is closely linked with the Clinton County Social Welfare Department and carried on through its recommendations.

She dispenses most of the Salvation Army funds because of William Morris, chairman who lives in Lansing, being out of contact with people here.

Mrs Canfield has three children, Ray Canfield of near Banister, Mrs Stanley (Joan) Galehouse of near Ovid, and Ed Canfield, a 1964 graduate who will enter Central Michigan University this fall. She also has two grandchildren.

The suggestions are also applicable to information submitted on civic activities.

1. STORIES should be typewritten, if possible, and double-spaced. If handwritten, they should be written legibly on one side of the paper only.

2. Advance notice of meetings is preferred and this must be in our hands no later than 2 p.m., Monday of the week it is to appear. If there is a special news angle to the meeting, then a follow-up story is in order. Otherwise, the advance story is considered satisfactory coverage. The news items may be placed in the outdoor copy box at the entrance of The County News when the building is closed.

3. WHEN listing names, please use this form: Mrs John L. Jones or Mrs J. L. Jones, NOT Mrs Mary Jones. A first name and initial or two initials should be used. It is correct for a widow to be listed by her husband's name rather than her own, and the proper form for divorcees is a combination of the maiden and married names, such as Mrs Smith Jones. However, if a widow has used her own name, Mrs Mary Jones, so many years that she would not be identified by the use of her husband's name, we do accept her usage.

4. Put the most important thing that happened at the meeting or event in the first paragraph of the story.

5. DON'T forget to include the hour, day and place of the event. The daytime phone number of the publicity chairman should be added at the bottom of the page on all items turned in by her.

6. When including the name of a speaker, be sure to identify him or her with her place of residence and title.

7. KEEP in mind that editors can use only material that is of interest to all of their readers, not just members of your own club. Omit routine details such as the secretary's and treasurer's reports, and phrases that would puzzle other readers like "escorted to the East."

8. When listing club officers, please list names first, officers second, as: Mrs Robert L. Smith, president.

9. Write objectively, never in the first person.

Decorative table cover is back

The decorative table cover—long, fancy, and topping a circular table—is back in style. Unlike its Victorian predecessors which were really elaborate dust-catchers, the modern version is as practical as it is elegant.

You can stitch up a fancy skirt for your table that will be easy to keep fresh and new. Choose a colorful cotton fabric and edge it with a decorative trim. A gay cotton cover can transform the oldest, least attractive table into an important and useful piece of furniture.

To keep long-tasseled fringe from tangling while laundering, tie every 6 or 8 stands together with a string at the tips.

Mrs Earl Pierson now has quilt

This quilt of white and turkey red calico, was made in 1894 and quilted by members of the DeWitt Baptist Church. A charge of 10 cents was made for each name embroidered on the blocks. The proceeds were used to help finance the church. After its completion, the quilt was presented to the pastor, Rev Edward Way and his new bride, the former Bessie Armenta Reynolds. The blocks were made by members of the different organizations in the community. Near the center of the quilt are noted names and years of service of the pastors of the DeWitt Baptist Church from the year 1841. This quilt is now in the possession of Mrs Earl Pierson, having been in the Reynolds family since its presentation to the Rev Mr and Mrs Way.

Drop-outs reject study of impractical subjects

BY MRS GEORGE THOMPSON

MAPLE RAPIDS—At this time of year when preparing children for school, the disturbing question rises again, "Why so many 'drop-outs' during a school year?"

The question prompted an interview with a number of known drop-outs in the Clinton County area. Some were needed on the farm or in the home because of parental health problems; opportunities for employment with substantial earning power (rare) and promise of advancement without further education; early marriage or lack of interest.

THE ATTITUDE that required subjects made a mandatory study of something never expected to be put into use scheduled a daily routine dreaded by the student seemed most prevalent.

In some instances educational benefits were not stressed by the immediate family; the curriculum, or parts of it, were talked down to the student. There was the problem of the slower student who became discouraged by the rapid advancement of the more apt student and gave up school for something he felt he could handle more readily.

IT IS THE feeling of Dr Ann Galbraith of Central Michigan University that these views may be overcome by teaching creatively; that the interest of the student is developed in the beginning of his school life.

"Sound principles should be able to be transferable from one grade level to any other grade level," she said. "The curriculum of the schools is divided roughly into thirds, composed of social studies, the language arts, and the exact sciences."

"THE FINE arts and physical education fit into the picture, too. Creativity should smoothly flow through all of these areas. Experiences in creativity are highly correlated between the fine arts and the exact sciences."

The invitation to attend a creative workshop instructed by Dr Galbraith was accepted with happy anticipation.

Twenty-five volunteer students averaging 11 years of age surrounded Dr Galbraith as she demonstrated her technique. With a firm, well modulated voice she kept absolute control and held the interest of each child as she encouraged each to participate, in an orderly manner, in the activities of the class. It is interesting to note that only one student dropped class, to vacation with his parents. To those teachers observing her methods at both elementary and secondary levels, she was accomplishing the almost impossible.

THE CLASS was observed from the free re-writing of "Jack-and-the-Beanstalk" through the preparation of the stage props and the presentation of the play. A tape was made of the first writing, rerun, and improved upon. All teachers were instructed in the operation of audio-visual machines and assisted where needed. The actual writing of the play, props and cast were done by the children with only the gentle guidance of Dr Galbraith and assisting teachers.

The natural release of knowledge and imagination were encouraged. In the aggregate ability of the class a new and entertaining "Jack-and-the-Beanstalk" resulted.

A COLLECTION OF materials donated from community resources were shaped into a colorful stage setting. Chicken wire, card-board boxes, old newspapers, discarded paints were soon to become Jack's house, the giant's house and a tall, tall beanstalk.

At first glance one might suspect the workshop to be merely a class in crafts. It is the enrichment program for all areas of teaching—art, writing, dramatics—science, mathematics. Writing is an important facet of the program as is art work. All aspects of creativity mesh together to form a meaningful teaching program.

The teachers attending the class in teaching creatively explained their own particular use of the method. John Thompson of Sandusky, divides his fifth grade class into rows. Each row assumes the name of an American Indian tribe. The Indian way of life is applied to the class from instruction of "pow-wow." John finds the method successful in achieving class cooperation and discipline.

Marie Harrison of Edmore, demonstrated the construction of kindergarten musical instruments from scrap material. A violin, bass fiddle, drum, tambourine, triangle and maracas took shape from bits of metal, flower pots, tin cans and were played by the teachers.

WINNIE Kingsley's book, "The Kindergarten Way" was a decided point of interest and discussion.

Fred Comer of Davison, presented negro racial problems using actual newspaper clippings and negro folk songs via tape. He will prepare another tape using the same methods presenting the other side of the story. This will be on secondary level. Mr Comer will be on the teaching staff of Henry Martin, former Fulton

Trying to repeal law of supply and demand

The determination of the National Farmers Organization to force meat prices up by withholding livestock from market has met with some temporary success in this area and elsewhere throughout the country. Local farmers with whom we've discussed the matter have readily admitted that their cooperation has been something of a "desperation" move.

Farm folks are justifiably concerned about the licking they appear to be taking in the marketplace. Prices for the foodstuffs they produce have declined during a period when the rest of the economy has enjoyed a continuing upturn.

The NFO's present livestock withholding activity has the tacit support of the Democratic national administration which wants to see farm prices go up in this election year; but NFO methods are endorsed by hardly anybody else.

ALTHOUGH THE present NFO action is aimed at meat packers, its result in the long run will be an attempt to compel the consumer to accept higher prices for beef, pork and lamb. The NFO wants to force a contract with packers which would provide a sort of guaranteed market for livestock at prices substantially above current levels.

This would be a pretty ideal situation, if it worked. Anybody who produces anything would like nothing better than a year-round, guaranteed market for his goods. In fact, producers of a number of crops—corn and wheat, for example,—already enjoy such a market in a generous government. So you can't much blame the NFO for wanting the same sort of deal for livestock.

THERE'S AN important difference between livestock and some other farm crops, however. Livestock can't be easily stored away in bins, like grain, to await more favorable market prices. And while it can be held off the market for awhile, it has to be fed in the meantime. That adds to production costs; and even if withholding action forces prices up a few cents, by the time this withheld livestock gets to market the farmer gains little if anything.

It's a pretty rough chore to repeal the law of supply and demand. And unless an election-sensitive Washington administration decides to launch a massive livestock-buying spree to bid prices up, we can't believe the NFO will pull it off. If nothing else, the effort does dramatize the farmer's present plight and makes the nation more conscious of the important contribution agriculture makes to the total economy.

Let's have a safer Labor Day weekend

Labor Day is a youthful institution, as national holidays go. But its place in the national life is secure and honored. It provides a formal and well-earned salute to all working people, within and without the unions. And this is a tribute that goes beyond the changing problems and controversies that have to do with labor legislation and labor's rights and privileges.

Too, Labor Day has another special characteristic. It gives most of us a three-day holiday in this age of the five-day work week. And millions of people take advantage of it to journey in search of new sights and scenes, or to go again to favored vacation spots.

UNHAPPILY, however, that bright prospect is not realized for an appallingly large number of us. They are the victims of Labor Day's toll of deaths and injuries. The mishandled automobile becomes a killer of almost warlike dimension. The toll of drownings steadily mounts and ignorance or disregard of the rules and precautions that are essential to safe boating are big factors in this.

If all of us this coming Labor Day period would use just rudimentary caution wherever we go and whatever we do, the expected accident toll would be reduced spectacularly. How about it?

Virginia homesteaders report on their doings

I WAS told that things would be different down here in Dixie, but it's like going to a flea circus; you can't believe it until you see it.

This is one of the fastest growing areas of the United States, for what exact reason I am not sure as yet. The school system here, a county system at that, has grown one third, from 60,000 to over 90,000 pupils in just three years, and about 10 years ago, was only enrolling about 20,000 students.

Subdivisions, apartment buildings and shopping centers are going up at a most rapid rate, and there is still lots of room for more growth. This area is located just outside Washington, and at least half of the residents work in our nation's capital, and use northern Virginia as a bedroom suburb.

WE ARE in the process of buying a $22,000 home in Fairfax, a rather cheap home by local standards. The $25,000 is the rule rather than the exception, since so many wives work and thus families have two or more paychecks to help meet the costs of living in this area.

Real estate moves fast here. One agent told us he had gone to a person's house to obtain a listing for putting his house on the market, and before he could get to his office, the house was sold.

Property appreciates at a rapid rate also, since land is getting a bit harder to secure and prices are now, in this area, about $9,000 per acre, or just a bit higher than in St. Johns, if you don't mind a tongue-in-cheek comment.

SINCE WE are still in the process of getting moved in, we haven't had time yet to go see our money at work in Washington. This is the tourist month, we are told, and a bad time for

Nigerian youth seeks new friends

FOR A LONG time I have been seeking American people of both sexes. Lucky for me I came across your beneficial name and address. I am told that you are a good, faithful and trustworthy editor. I therefore take my pen to write you these few lines of pleasant words.

I am an African boy of Nigeria and live in Lagos, the capital. I am 18 years of age and 5 feet 4 inches tall. I have black hair, dark eyes and brown complexion. My hobbies are footballing, table tennis, dancing, music and films.

EVERYBODY in overseas should kindly seize the opportunity of writing to me and I will please them and make them sure that they have a good friend. To make friends with each other is evidence of good living and neighborliness.

I will be waiting for letters from Clinton people. They can be sent Air Mail which is 25 cents. I will be very much delighted if you can publish this.

a local resident to go sightseeing.

Motels in this area, 13 miles outside of Washington, get much of the overflow of tourists. We had a poor experience with our first night here. A friend had reserved a room for us at only $11 per night and was told that since I was to be a school employee, the usual price of $14 would not be charged.

After we had been in the room for two hours, the manager came to the door and said that first of all, the $11 rate was only effective for a week's rent, or $77 in advance please, and also, the personal check I had given his wife earlier was not proper motel procedure. In other words, he was after an extra $3, so we told him to go jump in the lake and left for parts unknown.

Some friends put us up for the night, showing what we hope is more realistic southern hospitality.

BY THE way, congratulations to Ken Greer on his appointment as city manager. He seems to have done a very good job in the two months he's been here, and maybe he can help get St. Johns downtown development plan off the ground, and into operation.

More from the Virginia homesteaders at a later date.

Burdock and carrot in our alfalfa

I LIKE Bob Ward's comments, especially about weeds. It is really a shame how weeds along the roadside are taking over the county. And in some cases spreading into the fields so that the second-cutting alfalfa looks about one-third Queen Anne's Lace (wild carrot).

If the roadsides are cut eventually, it is "most" always after the burdock and carrot have gone to seed. Visitors from away must think we have gone to seed.

WE HAVE just returned from a trip into North Dakota and it is very noticeable how the roadsides are kept trimmed in that state—also in Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Whose responsibility are the county and township roads? In many cases a couple of turns with the farm mower would make the roadsides look much better.

Warns of new electronic tricks

TODAY'S CITY teenagers are getting quite a kick out of "tape sessions." Particularly so when the jokers among them resplice a tape for laughs. There is danger, however, when kids, if innocent are made to look like the worst kind of morons.

Much has been said about privacy intrusion—in the Congressional Records, in a recent television news special, and in some magazines. These things are not of imagination, cut fine. It's for real.

Unions shirk their responsibility

PEOPLE KEEP asking me about the miserable strike that has stopped the publication of Detroit's newspapers these past seven weeks.

As one who has been associated with the publishing business for quite a spell, I'm well aware that there are usually two sides to every story. In this particular instance, however, I've come to the conclusion that the demands of the Paper and Plate Handlers' unions verge on the outrageous.

As I write this, the end of the strike is not in sight. But even if The Free Press and The News are back on your doorstep by the time you read it, the following explanation will help you understand the problems that have developed.

HERE, IN question and answer form, are excerpts from a letter sent by publishers of the Detroit newspapers to a group of Detroit civic leaders:

Q. Why have there been so many newspaper strikes?

A. A newspaper is a highly perishable product; yesterday's newspaper is useless. Newspaper unions have been able for years to extract exceptional contract terms and special working conditions by playing upon the papers' desires to publish every day. Some newspaper unions have come to believe that, because of a newspaper's perishable nature, they can obtain concessions that could not be obtained from a manufacturer able to stockpile his products.

Q. How long does a pressman work? How much is he paid?

A. Under the contract ended by their strike, day-shift pressmen work a 5 day 37 1/2-hour week with a base pay of $140.55. Pressmen working at night have a 5-day 35-hour week with a base pay of $141.70. Because of overtime and penalty pay clauses in the contract, these pressmen have average annual incomes of more than $11,000.

Q. Is penalty pay the same as overtime?

A. No, it is different. It often occurs prior to the time that a man has completed his 37 1/2- or 35-hour work week. In this sense it is time-within-time. For example, it is not uncommon for a man to work five shifts in a week and to have two or more of these paid for at overtime rates of pay. Our newspapers pay penalties and overtime every day, even in emergencies. Take, for instance, the day President Kennedy was assassinated. Pressmen at the Free Press were asked to come in one hour early at overtime rate to help get the news to the public as fast as possible. The union refused until each man had been guaranteed another full day's pay—$28—for that single hour.

Q. How long does a paper handler and plate handler work and how much is he paid?

A. A paper handler and plate handler works a 5-day 37 1/2-hour week, with a base daytime pay of $121.65 and night pay of $126.90. Their terminated contract also included many premium and penalty provisions that brought their average yearly income to more than $8,300.

Q. What improvements had the newspapers offered the striking unions?

A. Both unions had been offered contract settlements as good as, or better than, those accepted by all the other unions.

Q. What else are the unions demanding?

A. The pressmen have insisted on these additional demands:

1. Time-and-a-half pay for a regular shift within the 35 hour week on Saturdays at the Free Press. In effect, the pressmen at the Free Press are demanding for anyone who works Saturday a 28-hour 4-day week plus a guarantee of time-and-a-half for seven hours on Saturday.

2. Additional manning for an 8-unit press. Although engineering studies showed that the presses could be operated with fewer men, the newspapers reluctantly agreed at the bargaining table to a union demand for 15 men. After the issue appeared to be settled, the pressmen demanded 16 men.

3. A paid 15-minute washup time daily or company-provided work clothes. . . . What it boils down to is simply a demand for an additional $5 a week on top of the $8.30 wage increase which had been offered.

THIS IS ONLY management's side of the story, of course. The unions undoubtedly have grievances that haven't been publicized. But the average workers in GM, Ford and Chrysler factories make around $7,000. As long as these striking newspaper workers are making from $8,000 to $11,000, plus countless fringes, I can't believe their situation is desperate.

They've achieved a status where they owe some responsibility to the reading public. And they owe the publishers more understanding and less pressuring. An $11,000-a-year man should be able to sit down and negotiate differences with the boss without reaching for a picket sign.

He should also be able to remember that there used to be a Detroit Times and many men who worked there are still looking for jobs as good.

BRENTON'S book, "The Privacy Invaders," and Packard's "The Naked Society" are non-fiction best sellers. They've been favorably mentioned in Life magazine's book review and also by columnist Inez Robb.

Brenton's chapter on The Electronic Invaders explains how it is possible to change completely the sense and meaning of a person's words on tape, and so skillfully that even an electronic technician can't discover it. Syllables of one word can be used in building up other words needed in a planned conversation.

VANCE PACKARD, in chapter two, writes of a device (induction coil, etc.) that, selling for less than five dollars, can feed a telephone conversation into a tape recorder (makes the conversation fade for one of the two parties, maybe?) and more such stunts too numerous to mention here.

In Brenton's book it is surprising to learn that some "trusted" telephone employees allow themselves to become paid assistants to such snoops.

THEY ARE both part-time farmers. The latter has seven children and a herd of 45 cows and says he gets up at 4:30 a.m. and gets the boys started with the milking before he goes to work at 6:30 a.m. in Owosso.

His son, about 16, was with him so I asked the father about cigarettes. He said: "None of us use them. We can't afford them." He probably couldn't do the work he does if he used them, either.

I also found the $10,000-a-year man doesn't use them either and he is sure a picture of health at 48.

SO THESE non-smokers seem to get a big dividend in health as well as income from not using tobacco.

Christian and moral principles still pay off in a big way.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Repeats safety proposal of I-route coffee shops

BY ELMER E. WHITE Michigan Press Ass'n.

Ideas for cutting down motorist fatigue and thus reducing road mishaps pour into the State Highway Department and other offices in Lansing by the dozens.

Manufacturing and non-manufacturing injuries during the first six months of the year.

The department has not drawn any conclusions on whether the increase in compensable workmen's injuries was attributable to the current business boom which keeps more men at work.

SOME 18,154 compensable injuries were reported to the state Workmen's Compensation Department through June this year.

This represented a 26 per cent increase in injuries over the last six months of 1963 and a 12 per cent hike over the first half of last year.

Injury rates in manufacturing and non-manufacturing were about the same. In the manufacturing firms, the increase recorded was 27 per cent over the July-December 1963 period, and the non-manufacturing rate was a 25 per cent hike.

FAILURE OF the state Apportionment Commission to reach agreement without court appraisal this year may have provided a foretaste of a similar deadlock to be seen within the next year.

Another commission created AS A MEMBER of the Legislature, Michalski would have a voice in appropriations to the Highway Department which would be needed to put his plan into effect.

Barring any change in federal highway policies, however, the coffee shops in rest areas appear out of the question.

A SLIGHT modification to Michalski's plan might be feasible, however. It could instead provide for the creation of off-free-way rest areas where a motorist could drive up an exit ramp to the coffee shop and just across the road to the entrance ramp with a minimum of interruption to his trip.

Extensive encouragement to private businesses to locate eating facilities immediately adjacent to exit ramps might be advisable as a means of keeping the state out of the restaurant business.

TRAFFIC accident rates was not the only area of safety which took a turn for the worse this year.

State Labor Department statistics show a poor record in both under the new constitution has similar earmarks of deadlock. This is the Highway Commission, to be composed of four persons with no more than two from the same political party.

The Apportionment Commission was named by the two major political parties, four members from each. The governor will appoint the Highway Commission but must make it an evenly divided body.

ARGUMENT CAN be made that the Highway Commission's job is not a political one. Its responsibility is to appoint a competent highway engineer-administrator to serve as Highway Director at the pleasure of the Commission.

It can be anticipated, however, that Republican Commission members will be able to find a person to fill the requirements of the post who has faithfully served their party during the years. The same can be said of the Democrats on the Commission.

A STRONG challenge lies ahead for this new Commission to avoid following the pattern set by the Apportionment Commission.

Strong hope still exists that the motoring public can be served in the future by a basically non-political highway director who has at heart the interests of the entire state.

Another commission created

Looking Backward

A Glimpse of the Past by Ira "Sawmill" Birmingham of Shepardsville

Nearly 40 years ago, on a warm moonlit evening, I was sitting on neighbor Loren Stevens' backstep, having a quiet visit with him, but with melon thieves on my mind.

The old barn was built about 100 years ago by Great-Uncle David Birmingham in old-fashioned style, one end being 33 feet from the legal center of what is now Birmingham Road. (not named for me).

I CARRIED a strong flashlight and pencil and paper, trying to get car license numbers before melon stealing rather than after, when chances would be slim.

Two cars from Colony way passed very slowly and I ran to the barn, peeked around the corner and listened.

The leading car turned off the gravel road and stopped, the rear car doing the same.

I COULD hear better than now, so got what a man said: "What you stoppin' here for? The answer was "Right out across the pasture is the Birmingham melon field."

The man in the rear car yelled "Not me! Why, man, if I got caught in there I'd get four years!"

So much for the probation system.

I FELT that I didn't need his car license number, but how about the gang in the leading car?

I couldn't see the license plate.

RAMBLIN' with Rink

BY LOWELL G. RINKER

One of my major problems is making mistakes. While this happens in all phases of my life, it most frequently occurs in typing.

This is of grave concern to me, since my job requires that I be able to type with a certain amount of proficiency and speed. And since I do a lot of typing in extracurricular matters, it might be expected that mistakes would be rare and that my copy would be clean and easy for the typesetters to read.

WHILE I have not approached them for a critique of my abilities, I am sure my copy is not the best. I am proud to say, however, it is not the worst I have ever seen.

Errors aren't really the problem in newspaper copy they are in, say, manuscript typing. When I make a mistake here, I just X it out, retype the word and go on. No erasing is necessary.

BUT WHAT frosts me is my uncanny ability to make errors in X-ing out a word. Time and time again I'll hit two or three different keys in trying to make X's through a word. This usually results in the X not showing up where it's supposed to and the several keys jamming together near the ribbon.

It's all time consuming, to say the least. In all fairness, the boss should know that I may at times spend up to 15 minutes a week X-ing out my mistakes. (Hopefully, he figured this into my schedule when he hired me.)

THE ONLY knowledge I have gained from this study of my typing ability is that the toughest word to X out is the word X, and that the faster I try to get something done the more mistakes I make. (As one person stated it, "The hurrier I go, the behinder I get.")

But in the interests of all concerned, and to please my high school typing instructor when I see her at our 10-year class reunion, I shall

If one were a philosopher, he would probably take a more optimistic attitude. But the countryman has seen many revolutionary improvements in the last half century and he is opposed to them. It may be progress to consume alphabetical vitamins, frighten good food to death in pressure cookers, and drink a meal instead of eating it. But it isn't a scheme of which Grandfather would approve.

We wish more citizens knew the satisfaction of blueberries and milk for supper. Naturally, one wants his regular noon meal of fried salt port, boiled potatoes and green peas, accompanied by cream of tartar biscuits, grape jelly and bread n' butter pickles. And for dessert, of course, he wants about a quarter of a deep, juicy, cinnamon-tinged fresh-apple pie.

4 from county attend Oliver demonstrations

Four area people, representing Oliver dealerships in St. Johns and Bath, attended Oliver Corp.'s "Growing O" field demonstrations near Bowling Green, Ohio, last Friday.

Attending were Harold Phillips, owner of Phillips Implement Co. of St. Johns and his son Warren, and Willard F. Cable, vice president of Cable Enterprises, Inc., and Allen Cable with the Oliver dealership at Bath.

THE "SNEAK preview" was presented under tight security precautions to dealers from throughout several area states. Features and capabilities of Oliver's new products for the coming fall, winter and spring seasons were demonstrated under actual field operating conditions in competition with other makes of machines in the same size classes.

"Our local independent retail dealers are the key to Oliver's success," Oliver President S. W. White Jr. said, in describing the program. "Our top management is closer to its dealer organization than any other company in our industry, or for that matter, any company our size in any industry. We all come out and visit with them in their own neighborhood at least twice a year."

"WE FIND this also enables our dealers to bring directly to their customers first hand knowledge of the latest developments and technological improvements in machinery and equipment."

Develop hybrid carrot

The first hybrid carrot to be developed in the United States is a product of the Wisconsin Agricultural Experiment Station. The new hybrid, named Hybrid Gold, was released provisionally July 1. Full release will come in January, 1966, after its performance has been tested further under western U.S. conditions where seed will be produced.

The new hybrid was developed by Warren H. Gabelman, University of Wisconsin vegetable breeder, with the assistance of Paul Hansche and Ronald Engle. The parents of Hybrid Gold are a pollen and sterile inbred W93A and a new synthetic variety, Wisconsin 33.

County 4-H'ers in Washington

Four Clinton County 4-H Club members were greeted by Congressman August E. Johansen when they visited the nation's capitol recently. The four were attending a 4-H Club citizenship training course at the National 4-H Club Headquarters in Washington. Left to right are: Mike Borton, R-4, Lansing; Betty Feldpausch, Fowler; Congressman Johansen; Larry Brya, St. Johns; and Shirley Steinhardt, DeWitt.

A HYBRID is not used for seed production, but is maintained by crossing of the parents for each new generation. Since the carrot is a biennial plant, it produces seed only in the second year of growth. Seed of the new variety that is planted this year will produce seed in 1965. By the growing season of 1966, limited seed should be available for commercial growers.

Gabelman says the new hybrid carrot is vigorous and uniform with large, well-colored roots. Commercial carrots are quite variable, having a tendency to be rough and slightly green at the crown. Hybrid Gold is uniform for shape, size, color, and smoothness.

COMPLETION date for the work is Nov. 15.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackle has named Richard Bacon project engineer on the job.

Drop-outs

Schools superintendent, at Fennville this fall.

MRS FRANCIS (June) Husted of near Maple Rapids, a graduate of Fulton High School, collected and placed on display an arrangement of creative arts. Her collection included a crocheted spread done by one who is blind; oil paintings by one suffering arthritis; embroidery by an elderly person; unusual drawings by children, some of them retarded; carvings and basket weaving. Thus proving her contention that creativity is not only beautiful but unlimited.

This young woman seemed to be everywhere. Her alert, receptive mind was evident in her abounding energy as she moved from place to place appearing where needed, when needed. A table or prop to be balanced, a table cleared, a card to be held for viewing. At the same time engaging her fellow teachers in conversation learning new ideas and methods, interviewing children hoping to learn a better approach to teaching. Occasionally, she stopped to make notes on the ever-handy clip board from which she compiled the required pages of written work.

IT WAS not at all surprising to learn that Dr Galbraith felt she had earned an "A".

PROTECTION

BY W. E. DOBSON

"I worked too hard," the father said,
"For what I have today,
"No boy of mine will work as hard,
If I can have my way;"
And so it was when fortune smiled,
Provision he did make,
That Junior should be sheltered,
From such a rash mistake.

"My school was rough," the teacher said,
"When I am a school head,
"The discipline will be less stern
Kind words will rule instead;—"
True to his word the prexy made
Arrangement on occasion,
To ban all forms of punishment,
Rely on moral suasion.

The legislators in their turn
Found cause for more child care,
And laws were passed to guarantee
Youth must have time to spare;
So what had been a "share the work"
Around the home or farm,
Became a "spare the boy" instead,
Lest he shol
Lest he should come to harm.

Some real concern is warranted,
And should never be denied,
But what is best for all concerned
Is harder to decide;
Somehow at times I wonder,
In our struggle to be free,
If we are not enjoying
Too much youthful liberty!

Readers who enjoy biography will like "My Darling Clementine: The Story of Lady Churchill" by Jack Fishman. Though many books have been written about her husband, this is the first book to be devoted to her. And this is really a dual portrait, as it presents Lady Churchill to the public as well as an unknown Winston Churchill as he is seen through his wife's eyes. But she emerges as a fascinating personality and she has been the active partner through all the political life of one of the most exciting men of the twentieth century.

Another book of autobiography is Groucho Marx, "Memoirs of a Mangy Lover." This is Marx at his wackiest as well as his wittiest as he tells stories on anything that takes his fancy from polygamy to poker.

IN "THE LOST ART" Burton Bernstein records conversations we hear every day. They are conversations you might overhear on a bus, on the street or in a store. The people are the kind you see about you every day. Bernstein writes for the New Yorker, and the illustrator, James Stevenson, has cartoons in that magazine very often. Judging from the book conversation is indeed a "lost art."

"Cry of Peacocks" by Dayton Rommel is the story of power politics in a big company. She tells about big business today, what it does to people who work for corporations or who try to stand up to these modern business giants. It is an action-packed novel in which Northern drive and Southern pride meet head on.

"A DRAGON For Christmas" by Gavin Black is a novel of modern China. The picture of Red China rings true and makes an exciting story as a mystery is included with many complications of plot. The author knows a great deal about New China and he takes the reader into a chilling world.

On two occasions during the past few months we have received letters from authors thanking us for reviews published in this column. One was from David Westheimer who wrote "Von Ryan's Express" and who lives in California, and the other from Faith Baldwin from Connecticut acknowledging our review of her book "The Lonely Man." The thoroughness of their clipping services is amazing, and we are flattered that they thought our reviews worth a response. The Clinton County News covers a wide territory.

Same Uniform Feedmaking Plus 13 New Features

This is a good time for a Mix-All demonstration! There are 13 new features to show you. Come on in. You'll see the new auger feeder drive that loads ingredients at hundreds of speeds. See the high-speed unloading transmission that empties 2 tons of feed in 5 minutes. Then, there's the new concentrate hopper at the rear, the calibrated tank, and 9 other new and useful features.

GRINDS, MIXES, DELIVERS RATIONS

ONE THING GEHL HASN'T CHANGED, though. The Mix-All still grinds and mixes with uniform precision. In the mill, 66 thin, reversible steel hammers cut (not pound) ingredients on a big 507 sq. in. grinding surface. The ration is thoroughly mixed in the 2-ton hopper. We'd like to prove all this with a demonstration. Why not ask us?

Soil, water conservation is "big business" for all

BY ORVILLE BEACHLER
Soil Conservation Technician

The amounts of equipment and materials that are used annually to install conservation practices are amazing. According to a recent issue of the newsletter of the National Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts, almost 100,000 pieces of equipment, worth more than $1 billion, consumed over $40.6 million worth of fuel, oil, grease and tires in installing soil and water conservation measures.

Thousands of gallons, 1.7 million gallons of motor oil, 7.7 million pounds of grease and $4 million of tire wear.

These estimates were compiled from 1963 county-by-county data and include only conservation work installed with Soil Conservation Service technical help on private lands.

Earth moved in installing engineering-type conservation practices amounts to 669 million cubic yards per year.

Materials consumed annually in installing conservation practices include 393,000 cubic yards of concrete, 2.2 million feet of corrugated pipe, 13.3 million feet of large steel pipe, 2.6 million feet of asbestos-cement pipe, 6.2 million feet of water pipe, 240,000 sprinkler heads and 10.7 million feet of aluminum pipe.

prove that conservation is big business. They demonstrate the tremendous investment being made by landowners, soil conservation districts and government agencies in improving our land and water resources.

These figures tell the extent that business and industry share in the conservation effort and its benefits. Manufacturers, contractors and suppliers of equipment, tires, construction materials and petroleum products have an important stake in the success of soil conservation district programs.

SO, IN addition to the primary benefits of soil and water conservation, such as an improved tax base, fewer floods, better water supplies, more recreation and more stable agriculture, there are major economic benefits to business and industry.

THESE FIGURES, which are expected to increase annually,

Truly — "Conservation is everybody's business."

Open grazing least profitable

You'll make more money off pasture lands if you strip graze or green-chop, according to recently completed Michigan studies.

The five-year research on summer feeding programs shows rotational grazing, strip grazing, green-chop and stored-feed feeding all return more milk per acre than open grazing.

ACCORDING to New Holland's "Grassland News," the research shows changing from open to rotational grazing can earn an extra $350 net income for the dairyman with 27 cows, in addition to paying for fences and other equipment. A change from rotational to strip grazing can add another $237 to net income. The income increases result from more efficient use to pasture lands.

The Michigan studies show strip grazing requires 16 per cent less land and green-chop feeding 33 per cent less land per cow than rotational grazing. Stored-feed feeding is even more efficient, using 36 per cent less land than rotational grazing. Efficiency gains over open grazing are even greater.

THE TREND to fewer but larger farms, and the difficulty in finding extra crop land to rent or buy is encouraging dairymen to improve growing and feeding practices. As a result, strip-grazing, green-chop and stored-feed feeding are gaining wide favor as methods for boosting output without increasing acreage.

In strip grazing, an electric fence is used to limit the cows to a fresh strip of forage. When they have grazed off all the forage, the fence is moved ahead a short distance. The confined grazing area practically eliminates forage waste from trampling and fouling. Fences need to be moved once or twice daily, and the grazing cycle should be repeated every 20 to 40 days, depending on the weather and the crop, says the "Grassland News."

GREEN-chop feeding requires good management, too. If you chop more feed than the cows can eat in a short time, it may heat, spoil and become unpalatable. But you must produce enough to insure a sufficient supply—unless a hay supplement is available.

Stored-feed feeding has the advantage over green-chop of less time spent harvesting, the feed of uniform quality. Stored-feed operations can also be highly mechanized for maximum efficiency in handling and storing.

A COMBINATION of different pasture systems is often most desirable. It might be better to graze pastures early in the spring while they're succulent and when the field work load is extra heavy. Feeding from storage and green-chop could be used to advantage later, after first flush of pasture is past.

Poultry litter feed fattens cows cheaply

Poultry litter (chicken manure), fortified with some energy feed, vitamins and minerals, makes a cheap ruminant feed for fattening beef cows and dairy replacements.

Use of this new feed reportedly is causing some controversy in Maine, where feed runs higher than in the Corn Belt.

MAINE farmers have to find a cheap feed if they are to go on raising beef and producing milk, and some of the sharpest cattlemen in the state think they have found it in chicken litter.

They may be in conflict with Maine law in feeding litter to reproducing dairy cows. The best use of the feed may be in raising replacement stock.

AFTER TWO years of feeding, some of the problems are well known. One of the worst is getting the hardware out of the litter. It takes a good strong magnet to pull out staples, nails and other bits of steel. Another is that the feed must be kept dry if the cattle are to eat it. And another is the necessity of mixing the feed. This cannot be overemphasized.

Cutting feeding costs and accomplishing a good weight gain are not the only advantages of this mixture. Another is that calf scours have been markedly reduced.

AGRICULTURE in ACTION

by M. L. Woell
MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic—This is the beautiful Caribbean Island where in 1492 Christopher Columbus discovered America. It remains beautiful, but it is now a hungry land, where modern "explorers"—a Michigan farmer among them—have been searching for new ways to feed people.

Among delegates to a week-long session where farm leaders examined new farm methods and ideas, has been Walter Wightman of Fennville, Mich.

A FRUIT and livestock farmer, Wightman serves as president of the Michigan Farm Bureau. He was one of four delegates to this Alliance for Progress meeting representing the American Farm Bureau Federation, and through it, the United States.

Wightman found the Republic to be a place where people appear to be either very rich, or very, very poor. Tractors are seen only on experimental farms. Livestock production is largely experimental, too. Some Hereford cattle are found, and a Brahma-Charolais cross is being attempted.

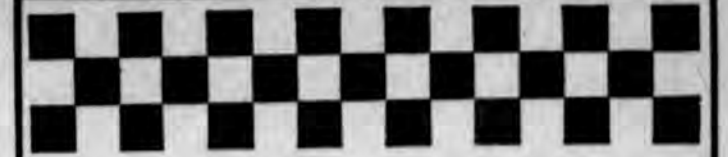

THE BACKS, heads and hands of farm people are the chief agricultural "tools" with the cane slashed and loaded by hand onto bullock carts. Farms are either very large or very small. Largely it is a "banana" economy. . . . bananas and sugar-cane, and that cane product—demon rum.

The tiny nation has been torn by recent civil strife. Large numbers of Army officers are much in evidence. Evident, too, are the guarded gateways to officials' homes and the guarded conversations of the citizens.

CHIEF AMONG the ideas examined by the delegates who gathered in Santo Domingo from 11 countries, was the possibility of some kind of land reform. Much of the land is now owned by government. The people have not developed a community spirit or learned to help themselves. Some methods of returning the land to responsible individual ownership appears a "must," as does some form of farm credit program.

Wightman's conclusion after a few days is that the main problem is government ownership of "nearly everything."

"THE people are smart, clean, and pleasing—but for one am not about to go there to live," he said.

It was voted to graduate the following students who had completed the requirements for graduation: Larry Mosher, Stanley Suchowesky and Charles Gilbert.

THE MATTER of transporting parochial school children who reside in the St. Johns Public School District, in conformance with the new school bus law, was outlined by Mr. Lancaster. Under this law, it is the obligation of the district to transport children residing in the district who attend St. Peter School in Riley Township. It was voted to contract with St. Peter School to do their own transporting, with the understanding that they be reimbursed in the amount of transportation included in the State Aid.

Mr. Lancaster reported that there are about 16 elementary pupils involved in that portion of Clark District recently annexed to the St. Johns Public Schools, and that arrangements have been made to transport these pupils to the St. Johns Schools until such time as complete annexation takes place and an elementary school is erected in that area.

A SUGGESTED policy regarding the duties and responsibilities of department heads was read, and in accordance with board policy, was tabled for one month.

A proposed new policy in connection with dismissals, to conform with the new Tenure Act, was also presented, and was tabled for one month.

There being no further business, upon proper motion the meeting adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
RAYMOND G. PARR,
Secretary

New phone book in mail this week

One of the most frequently used books in St. Johns, Fowler, Maple Rapids, Muir and Pewamo—the telephone directory—is in the mail to General Telephone customers this week, W. F. Graef, district manager for General Telephone, said Monday.

"The new directory is as attractive as ever," Graef said. "ILLUSTRATED on the mint green cover are several telephone instruments, including the beautiful Starlite and compact Spacemaker telephones, which are only half the size of a regular phone.

"On the back cover, three valuable phone instruments for business are shown," he said, "and more names, Yellow Pages and information are included in the directory than ever before."

More than 5,300 directories will be distributed throughout this area, all with up-to-date information.

GRAEF suggests customers leaf through their old directory.

"You may find something valuable in it," he said. "Money, important letters and notes, as well as cherished addresses, have been found in telephone directories. Also, you'll want to transfer the frequently called numbers you have written to the new book.

"Housewives and homeowners will be especially pleased with the Yellow Pages this year," Graef said. "The classified section of the telephone directory has been expanded to give better identification to different types and classes of businesses.

THE FRONT inside cover of the new directory has space provided for frequently called numbers. Information to simplify long distance or emergency calling is also listed and rates to the more frequently called out-of-town points are on page four.

Witnesses get invitation to Bible meeting

The St. Johns congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses received an invitation this week to attend a three-day Bible conference in Greenville Sept. 18 - 20.

Raymond Parker, presiding minister, in discussing the arrangements for the semi-annual event with the congregation said, "the theme of the conference will be 'Speak The Word of God With Boldness.'"

THE WATCHTOWER Bible & Tract Society of New York has arranged the conference to assist all Jehovah's Witnesses in the area to "better equip themselves as ministers for an expanded service to the community."

The conference will be composed of sixteen central and western Michigan congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses and is expected to draw 1,000 delegates.

Identify man who aided injured cat

The unidentified man who stopped to aid an injured cat last week has been identified as Douglas Wakefield, 21, son of Mr and Mrs Otto Wakefield of 708 Spring Street.

The cat, however, died. C. J. Shawnee of 106 S. Ottawa, told the Clinton County News last week he saw a young man get out of his car on Clinton Avenue near the railroad tracks and go to the aid of a cat which had apparently been hit by another auto some time earlier.

Shawnee said he thought the act of kindness deserved some publicity even though he didn't know the youth's name.

Artists invited into windmill mark contest

Local artists are invited to enter a contest to design a trademark for Windmill Island, a unique Dutch cultural and horticultural center now under development in Holland, Mich.

The focal point of Windmill Island will be the only known full-scale operating windmill in North America. It is being imported from the Netherlands through special arrangements with the Dutch government which has declared all such windmills within its borders national monuments. This is the last windmill that will be permitted to leave the Netherlands.

THE SAIL tips of the mill when erected in Holland, Mich. will tower 125 feet above an authentic Dutch rural setting. The area will also include pioneer Dutch structures including a millers house and barn. There will be dikes, canals, and extensive Dutch gardens planted and cultivated by horticulturists trained in the Netherlands.

The mill is now being dismantled for shipment by sea where it will be reconstructed in time for the annual Tulip Festival in May, 1965.

THE CONTEST is open to all residents of Michigan. Professional training is not required. A sketch of the windmill will be supplied to all contest entrants for their guidance in creating a design.

First prize will be $50. Each contestant may submit as many entries as he wishes. Entries close Oct. 15, 1964. Entry blanks and contest rules may be obtained by writing Windmill Island Information Office, 4th at Central, Holland, Mich.

Richard Witt on staff at Fennville
 Mr. and Mrs. Olen Witt visited their son and daughter-in-law, Mr and Mrs. Richard Witt at Fennville Sunday.

Richard Witt has accepted a position with the Fennville Herald and has been employed there since May.

He was formerly on the staff of the Clinton County News.

The only bright spot in these inflated times is that it's still possible to get five pennies for a nickel.

Mr. "K" and the Bible
 You have probably noticed that Premier Khrushchev mentions God, the devil and the Bible in his speeches. Mr. Khrushchev himself, "the only school I finished before the revolution was the church parish school" (Eastern Orthodox). The priest had drilled him thoroughly in the Gospel and he was a model student. It is also said that Mr. Khrushchev committed the four Gospels to memory. It is for this reason that he often quotes from the Bible in his speeches. Yet, he is not a Christian and through his influence Christianity is being suppressed. What have we to learn from his experience? Simply this—a knowledge of the scripture is not enough. A mere exposing of ourselves or our children to the contents of the Bible will never make a Christian. Though we must begin with a knowledge of the Gospel found in the Word, it must be obeyed by a personal trust in Jesus Christ and a surrender to Him as Lord and Saviour. Only then will the regenerating work of the Holy Spirit do His transforming work in the life, whereby that individual is born from above. Knowledge must be believed and acted upon if it is to be of benefit. Have you expressed your faith by receiving Christ as your Lord and Saviour?

Wake 'em up Gabriel!

There isn't much music coming out of that horn. But one thing's certain: this little fellow is making plenty of noise.

If it happens to be Sunday morning, when the family sleeps late, this sturdy musician isn't going to receive much praise. His lungs are strong, though, and he's going to sit there and toot that trumpet until Mom or Dad takes it away from him.

All of his playmates are at Sunday School, so you really can't blame him for trying to while away the idle hours. Unfortunately, his parents haven't got the Church-going habit, so this boy will probably grow up like them and sleep away the hours in which he could be getting spiritual nourishment.

You've got the right idea, Gabriel. Wake them up to their responsibility!

Name new members to county FHA unit

New committeemen have been appointed as members of the three-man Clinton and Shiawassee County Farmers Home Administration Committees, the agency's County Supervisor Forrest O. Potter announced this week.

Lewis E. Hodge of R-1, Bancroft, succeeds John G. Priksky of R-1, Ovid, as a member of the Shiawassee County FHA Committee. Elmer L. Smith of R-2, Laingsburg, succeeds John W. Schumaker of R-4, St. Johns, as a member of the Clinton County FHA Committee.

THE NEW committeemen, whose appointments are for a three-year term, begins July 1. Serving with Hodge on the Shiawassee County FHA Committee are Kenneth L. Telfer of R-2, Owosso, and D. Waldo Stinson of R-4, Owosso. Serving with Smith on the Clinton Committee are Raymond D. Thornton of R-1, Elsie, and Francis H. Motz of R-3, St. Johns.

Local Farmers Home Administration County Committee review applications by farmers and other rural families for several different types of agricultural, housing, and water loans made in the county for which they serve. In addition, the committee confers with the county supervisor regarding the adapting of national loan policies to local conditions.

DURING THE past fiscal year ending June 30, a total of $271,130 in Farmers Home Administration loans were made through the agency's local county office. Each loan is accompanied to the extent necessary by technical farm and financial management assistance.

County Supervisor Potter says that both Hodge's and Smith's practical farming experience will enable them to make a real contribution to the county committee action when they review loan applications.

'Clam' down

Clam juice may someday help in the cure and control of polio, flu and cancer. The US Public Health Service reports that a substance called "paolin" in the juices of bivalves is effective in reducing death rates in mice infected with those diseases.

Monument firm to assist with time capsule site

One of the world's foremost manufacturers and distributors of memorials and monuments, whose local authorized dealer is Bouchey Monument Co. 1014 N. Clinton, St. Johns, has both a vital and unique role in an unprecedented international effort to record man's achievements for civilizations 5,000 years hence.

Rock of Ages Corp. has joined a world-wide venture, instigated and planned by Westinghouse Electric Corp., to preserve for evaluation by untold numbers of future generations a documentation of civilization in the 20th Century—most significantly the notable achievements in science during the past 25 years.

BOUCHEY, Rock of Ages authorized dealer, said participation in this ambitious historical project is being highlighted at the

Westinghouse will be preserving this revelatory record of human experience when its Time Capsule is buried at the site of the Pavilion in October 1965.

PLACED within the slim, torpedo-shaped crypt, measuring seven and one-half feet in length and built of a super stainless steel alloy developed by Westinghouse, will be carefully selected data pertaining to such developments as atomic power, man in space, "wonder" drugs, polio vaccine, commercial television and jet aircraft.

A select panel of 14 distinguished Americans has been named by Westinghouse to designate the data to be contained in the Time Capsule.

The 1964 Time Capsule is designed to update the documentation of 20th Century civilization contained in the Time Capsule I, buried in 1938 at the site of the 1939-40 World's Fair.

TO HELP pinpoint location of the Time Capsule for futurians of 6939 A.D.—the date when both Time Capsules will be unearthed from their resting places 50 feet below ground and their contents examined and evaluated—is a unique memorial built of timeless, durable Rock of Ages Sealmark Blue Gray granite.

Selected by Westinghouse to fabricate this distinctive memorial, skilled craftsmen of the Rock of Ages Craftsman Center in Barre, Vt., used the most modern cutting tools on the gemlike granite to create an enduring memorial.

The 1964 Time Capsule, a model of the 1938 Time Capsule and the Rock of Ages memorial are focal attractions at the Westinghouse Pavilion.

Ear makeup

Now 'ear' this! What may be the ultimate in modern makeup materials is being pushed by a New York cosmetic manufacturer. He's promoting makeup in delicate shades of pink or silver for m'lady's ears!

THE MEMORIAL is shaped in the form of a tapered drum, which measures seven feet in diameter and two and one-half feet high.

It is representative of granite craftsmanship of the highest caliber, said Rock of Ages president Robert S. Gillette. We are confident it will withstand all the rigors of time and weather for 50 centuries, thereby insuring location of this civilization's unusual legacy to futurians.

LOCAL kindergarten children demonstrated new games, aids and educational devices. The teachers also constructed teaching and motivational aids to use in their classrooms this year.

Alba Wert, center, St. Johns trailer enthusiast, demonstrates the use of a new trailer flushing facility at the St. Johns sewage treatment plant. Looking on are Ken Greer, left, St. Johns city manager, and Jeri Toben, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce tourism committee. Trailers are invited to pull up to the pipe and flush their sewage into the city system. A water hose at right aids in this process.

New brochure, new facilities polish city's tourism image

A new Chamber of Commerce brochure, and some new facilities being planned by the chamber and by the city, are bringing St. Johns to the attention of more and more tourists.

The new brochure was produced through the efforts of the chamber's tourist committee and has been distributed to all points of entry into Michigan.

"IT'S NOTHING fancy and it's similar to last year's brochure," Chamber Secretary Percy Abrams pointed out. "But some changes and some additions had to be made. It is surprising the number of calls that are received in reference to it and St. Johns facilities."

One of the facilities not mentioned was just completed last week, too late to be included in the brochure. It is a facility at the city sewage treatment plant on North US-27 where tourists with trailers can dump their sewage.

A NEW SIGN facing the highway tells passersby of this service. Trailers with the self-contained units are invited to pull into the sewage plant grounds and up to a pipe specifically built for this purpose. Sewage can then be dumped from the trailer through the pipe into the city's sewer system.

The pipe is capped, and the cap is chained to prevent anyone from making off with it.

ANOTHER project approved by the city commission at its Aug. 18 meeting is the construction of surfaced areas for trailer parking in the southwest corner of the city park. This would be for overnight trailer parking for tourists who want to get off the road.

The facilities of the park would be provided free, but parking would be limited to one or two nights. The site chosen is near toilet facilities, and there are water and lights in the immediate vicinity.

THE CITY plans to clear trees and brush from the area, possibly fill in low areas and build a surfaced parking area. The project will be limited to four trailers, and the parking areas will not necessarily be side by side.

Early ideas include a small fence of some sort to enclose each of the parking spaces to increase the attractiveness of each.

ANOTHER PLAN, more of a long-range nature, is to make the wooded area of the park into a "singing forest." This is a project being undertaken by the Chamber of Commerce, but it's presently stymied by some technical problems.

The idea is to provide appropriate recorded music from speaker units in different areas of the park forest. The music would come from only one speaker at a time, and an automatic device would change the music from one speaker to another at regular intervals.

CHAMBER Secretary Abrams said that when a change is made, the volume in one speaker would be decreased slowly at the same time volume is building up in another. At times this will have a stereophonic effect, he pointed out.

The wires to the speakers would be underground, and the speakers would be hidden from view. Equipment for the "singing forest" would be housed inside the park buildings.

ABRAMS EXPECTS the technical problems to be overcome, but he had no idea when the "singing forest" would be singing.

Hurricane Cleo touches lives of Elsie pair

ELSIE—Hurricane Cleo brought worries to the Sidney J. Keys family here, as three of their five children and their six grandchildren live in Miami.

Telephone service was out for some time but they finally reached their daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Wilson, who assured them of her own family's safety although she hadn't been able to contact her brother, Bud and sister, Jeanette.

MRS. WILSON described the hurricane as a horrifying experience when its eye roared over like a high freight train. Then there was the deadly silence with only the sound of crickets.

Electric power was not expected to be restored for a few days, she added, so they were forced to cook on a charcoal grill or by "canned heat."

WATER damage to their house had been lessened as Mr. Wilson had used heavy cardboard between jalousie-type windows and screens. They said they were prepared with sufficient supplies and drinking water because of previous warning by television and radio.

This was the second hurricane experienced by the Wilsons since moving to Florida nine years ago. The previous one brought a deluge of rain but Hurricane Cleo was far more destructive with its high velocity of wind but less water damage.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Keys, Jennifer and Jack, Terry Lathan and Mrs. Dorothy Kaspar spent Sunday at the State Fair in Detroit. Mrs. Kaspar who has been visiting her sisters, Mrs. Keys and Mrs. Margaret Edwards at St. Johns the past week, returned to her home there and Jennifer remained to spend the week with her aunt.

Martha Cobb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cobb left Monday morning for a week's stay in Pittsburgh, Pa., as the guest of her former MSU roommate, Miss Kathy Hoffman.

Elsie teacher trains to instruct students who are homebound

ELSIE—Mrs. Gladys Vincent has enrolled in special classes for the handicapped children given by the University of Michigan at the University Medical Center in Ann Arbor.

She will attend classes on Saturday of each week until the end of December.

Mrs. Vincent has been hired as an additional teacher in Shiawassee County because of the large number of homebound children. SHE RECEIVED her bachelor of science degree from Central Michigan University and her master's degree from MSU. Because of her special training in chemistry and higher mathematics, the board members believe that she will be of specific value to the high school students who are homebound or confined to the hospital as the result of illness or an accident.

Mrs. Vincent has been teaching in the Ovid Elementary Schools the past ten years and previous to that time she was teacher of the Mead School west of Elsie, for seven years.

Father and son watch Lions train

ELSIE—Oliver Darling and son, Dennis, were among the special guests who spent a day at the Detroit Lions Training Camp at Cranbrook School in Bloomfield Hills, Wednesday.

They watched the Lions in their morning work in progress and at noon were served lunch with them at the camp. There were interviews with the players and a chance to secure autographs.

Rep. Andrew Cobb was a guest of the Michigan Beef Feeders Assn. meeting and luncheon at Michigan State University. This was the dedication of the Michigan Beef Feeders Research Barn recently completed at the college.

Metered Hitching Post

2-month Europe tour extended to 14 months

ELSIE—A two months vacation tour to Europe was extended to nearly 14 months, when Miss Paula Brown accepted a teaching position on the US Army Base at Frankfurt, Germany.

Her students were all blind children of the American families and some diplomats stationed there. The pupils ranged from the first to the eighth grade.

MISS BROWN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brown of rural Elsie will return to her teaching duties next month in the Michigan School for the Blind at Lansing, where she previously taught following graduation from Michigan State University. She will teach Braille in the third grade and continue graduate work at MSU while living in East Lansing.

A year ago last June, Miss Brown and Miss Louise Moyer of New York City, left for the two month's tour.

WHILE IN THE British Isles, they made their headquarters with the English family of Pauline Powell, a co-worker with the girls while at summer camp for the blind near Hardwick, Vt.

They toured England and its north country going into Scotland to Edinburgh, Isle of May and Glasgow. They went by boat to Ireland where they rented a car and made a tour of the island through Belfast, Dublin and the west coast. Learning to drive on the left side of the road was a new experience for the girls.

AFTER returning to London for a few days, they went on to the Hague in the Netherlands and Cologne, Germany, where they took the Rhine River boat trip.

At Frankfurt, the two young women parted company as Miss Moyer, a home economics teacher, was offered a position on the military base in Ethiopia, Central East Africa, and Miss Brown accepted the position in the Frankfurt base.

Miss Moyer returned home this summer but will return to Mannheim, Germany to teach this fall.

DURING Miss Brown's stay at the base, she took many weekend trips with other teachers. There were tours of Nurnberg, Mannheim, Heidelberg, and Friedberg where they saw the hill-climb races by sports cars.

There was also a troop train trip through the Berlin Wall into East Germany; the fascinating Paris, France; frequent ski trips to Lucerne and Berne in Switzerland; and Munich for the Bavarian Festival "Oktoberfest."

During Christmas vacation, Miss Brown spent a week in Austria and Florence, Italy, with more skiing.

A TEN-DAY Easter vacation found her journeying to Majorca, the largest of the Balearic group of islands in the Mediterranean, off the coast of Spain. A resort island, with fine beaches and beautiful scenery, it attracts a great tourist trade with its many outdoor sports.

Rapidly becoming a sports car enthusiast, Miss Brown included the Grand Prix on her agenda at Monte Carlo where she also saw Prince Ranier and Princess Grace and family.

Other points of interest were Nice, France, where sports cars were raced through the hilly streets leading to Monaco; the French Alps with snow in May; the Swiss Exposition, held only once every 25 years at Lausanne; and the fast driving on the Autobans.

THE ITALIAN Alps where Miss Brown was involved in an accident, caused much excitement and confusion with her driver speaking English, the other driver, French and the policeman, only Italian. She never did learn the details of the accident.

This summer, before returning home she toured several other countries. They followed the French Riviera through Marseille across the Pyrenees to Barcelona and Valencia, Spain.

From Cathagena, they went to Granada in southern Spain and saw the famed Alhambra built more than 600 years ago and still one of the finest examples of Moorish architecture. They attended the Music Festival featuring the leading Spanish artist, Jose Antonio.

NEXT was Malaga and Gibraltar where it was necessary to go through British customs but Miss Brown said she was disappointed in the bareness of the Rock.

Driving through Portugal, they toured the capital city of Lisbon, built on seven hills. Miss Brown found Portugal much more progressive than Spain.

They began their return trip by driving to Spain's capital city, Madrid, where they toured the famous Prado National Museum and other attractions.

THEY attended the Festival of Bulls with three days of bull fights in Pamplona in northern Spain. They left Spain at San Sebastian and drove across France and Switzerland to Frankfurt, Germany, concluding the month's travel of over 5,000 miles.

Following a few days at Frankfurt, Miss Brown made a 24-hour train trip into the Scandinavian Peninsula where she stayed with a Swedish family and toured the city.

By bus she went to Oslo in Norway, where she spent four days, then to Denmark where she spent a day at Copenhagen with her former roommate, Kay Higbee, and husband from Lansing.

SHE RETURNED by train to Frankfurt and prepared to leave for the United States. She flew from Luxembourg to New York City where she spent two days at the World's Fair. She also attended the musical "The King and I" at the new Lincoln Center Theater.

After visiting friends in Concord, N. H., and Vermont, she returned home. She plans to return to Europe in a few years to complete future travels in Italy, Greece, Austria and possibly the USSR.

Road Commission Weekly Report

The big road construction news is the reopening of the US-27 northbound lane for four miles south of St. Johns. Traffic has been diverted in this area since May.

Also in construction news was final acceptance on the contract for three bridges on Colony Road, Ruff and Dexter of Lansing expect to work on all three concurrently and hope to have them finished by Dec. 1.

THE BOARD of Clinton County Road Commissioners will meet in regular session Thursday, Sept. 3. The Board will discuss county line road agreements with Ionia County and attempt to set up a meeting with the Ionia Commission.

School is starting around the county this week and next week. We ought to remember that in 1963 there were 341 school bus accidents, 11 accidents to children leaving or going to a school bus and 217 accidents that were associated with the stopping of a school bus. These accidents resulted in three deaths and 419 injuries in Michigan last year. We had better be especially alert in the vicinity of a school bus.

THE roadside cleanup crew have collected a number of license plates. We have farm plates, trailer plates and car plates. If you have lost a license plate please check with the road commission.

Also available at the Road Commission office are 1964 State Highway Road maps and the latest printing of Clinton County Road maps. We have ample supplies of both and there is no charge.
